DEPENDS ON THE VIEW

Hard times? Mebbe, it depends on where you be. It makes a heap of difference where you stand an' what you see!

Hard times? Mebbe, if you're the common sort o' gent. Who figgers that the most in life is interest an' per cent?

In walking around the streets of Sanford I note that in many places the sidewalks are obstructed by palm trees and other shrubbery that are a constant menace to the people who are obliged to either get off the walks entirely or brush against these trees and get their eyes poked out or spoil their clothing.

There is an ordinance that forces owners of chickens in the city limits of Sanford to keep them penned where they are so many feet from the pavement. The ordinance ought to have these pests penned everywhere in the city limits and keep them from destroying the gardens and plants of the people who are trying to beautify Sanford.

With the Kaiser and the Czar quarrelling, King George peevish the French Prexy coveled with war chiggers and the Emperor Joseph with the prickly heat, I sigh for another round of country or city politics wherein one could at least get a little rest over Sunday.

I am glad to note that the Commercial Club will meet next Friday night to discuss the best means of infusing salt into the veins of the sleeping city and wake it up from the coma into which it has fallen regarding advertising the city and getting ready for the big bunch of tourists that are bound to come to Florida this winter.

It is not the time to lay down on the job for this war making hard times is all bunk. The war in Europe will make Florida great in many ways and we should be ready to catch the shakels when they fall this way.

the outside should be kept on the outside in all things that come in our way in the future. If you are for your city you will show it by coming into the Commercial Club and helping to boost.

How is cleanliness next to God? Why some of these societies that cares for waifs got three children the other month. They were dirty, bad tempered, ugly, and their eyes looked like the eyes of wild animals.

President Thomas R. Marshall today gave his first expression on the European war. He was careful to say that he spoke only for himself.

"I know nothing of the relative rights and wrongs of the contending parties, but I have believed for ten years that war would come. Nations are much like individuals and a man who makes an armory of his house for purposes of self defense is quite liable to find an occasion when he thinks it necessary to use those weapons in self-defense.

My dream is that, without a great war, the impending danger will teach the nations of the world the United States included, that as there is no personal dishonor which may not honorably be left to the settlement of the courts, so there is no national dishonor which may not safely be left to a tribunal for peaceable settlement.

War, or no war, the hour is coming when the world around, governments will prefer to feed rather than to kill their citizens. We have not been so patient ourselves in the past as to justify us in criticizing our brethren abroad.

If the fight goes on, one of the problems of statesmanship will be to devise a plan for carrying the products of our fields and factories to those who may need them and yet maintain not only a diplomatic, but a genuine impartiality between the nations engaged in the conflict.

Gladstone's Domestic Rule. Mr. Gladstone once said that he had solved the domestic problem in this way: "Whenever Mrs. Gladstone insists I submit; and I whenever I insist she submits."

Idea for the Gas Range. It is not well known, but a mirror will reflect heat as well as light. Almost any bright surface will do if a bright piece of tin were placed under all the burners of a gas range so that heat would be saved.

Pre-Cooling Plant

The Orange County Citizen says: We gave an account of the pre-cooling plant, which is to be built by the Winter Park Citrus Growers Association, several weeks ago. Final arrangements were made last week and the contract signed so that work will be begun soon. No expense will be spared to make the plant an up-to-date one in every respect.

To Plant More Celery

An increased acreage in celery will be one of the features of the farm development work through Manatee county next season. George F. Miles, County Demonstration agent, is authority for the statement that, at the present time, indications point to a greater acreage being planted in the two products mentioned than occurred last season.

According to Mr. Miles, the crop situation looks rather favorable throughout the county. The demonstration agent is on the job with both feet these days. He is going hither and thither over the country, imparting good advice to farmers about the growing of this and that crop, and the excellent yield which will take place in all lines of agricultural pursuits will redound to the credit of this capable, energetic county official.

The grapefruit crop, Mr. Miles says, is in fine shape, and he predicts a larger crop than the preceding season.-Sarasota times.

A Big Apple Crop

Washington, Tuesday. Revised estimates on the 1914 apple crop of the United States based on a careful investigation in the principal producing sections gives a total, barring a serious setback between now and harvest, of between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 barrels, compared with 26,000,000 barrels last year, and 35,000,000 barrels in 1912.

Therein is the Difference. A highbrow can retire to his study and emerge with the announcement that he has discovered a subconscious cosmos, and we call it new thought.

Must Work to Attain Success. You will find no stopping place along the line of progress; there may be relays of new impulses, but no stopping places. Work intelligently, work with energy and force to achieve success, and if you persevere success will surely crown your efforts.

GIRLS BOAST MANY NAMES

Father, Mother, Callers, Servants, All Have Own Designation for Chinese Young Women. Detroit.—A Chinese girl does not start life with one name and bear it with her for the rest of her days, as does the member of a Christian family. A fond father will call his baby girl his "Moonbeam," while his son goes under the designation of a "Phoenix," says the Detroit Times.

Paris.—Labertesque is dead, and with his death a figure that belonged to old French romance has passed away, for Labertesque was Cyrano de Bergerac and d'Artagnan rolled into one, and set down on the Paris boulevards, where he kept alight for years the flame of chivalry, gallantry and picturesque swashbuckling.

When he lifted his slouch hat with a medieval flourish you could almost see a cloak and sword behind his lounge suit. He rolled his name grandly as he delivered his challenge to those who were luckless enough to merit his anger.

QUEEN WINS WOMEN

Entertains Leaders of International Council in Rome.

Elena of Italy Has Special Talk for Each at Reception—Queats Treasure Bonbons With Picture of Ruler on Them.

Rome, Italy.—The social events of the international council of women were intensely interesting, writes Ida Husted Harper. At the top of these events must be placed, of course the reception by Queen Elena. It did not include all of the several hundred members of the council—that would have been too much to expect—but she welcomed the board of officers, nine; the presidents of national councils in twenty-three countries and the chairmen of the nine standing committees, over forty in all, as the old and the newly elected officials were included.

Each has her own impressions of "the greatest event in her life," but all agree that there was simplicity and cordiality in the manner of the queen that won every heart. As Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, president of the United States council, expressed it: "She seemed to forget her royalty and was a lady more than a queen—we were all women together."

It was indeed marvelous how the queen could speak a few appropriate words to each of so many women representing different countries, as a few sentences will illustrate. To Mrs. May Wright Sewall, after asking what was her special work, she said: "Peace is the cause in which I also have the greatest interest," and when Mrs. Sewell answered: "We cannot have it until the women of every country feel their responsibility," she replied: "Yes, that is most important and I hope your efforts will meet with success."

To Gipsa Krog, pioneer of the woman movement of Norway, she said: "I have visited the public institutions of Christiania and was much pleased with them." She expressed deep sympathy to the president from Finland, and lingered for some time with Dr. Anna Cabanoff, the representative from Russia, asking her especially if the woman physicians and university graduates took an interest in the benevolent and charitable institutions and worked for social betterment.

"I have always been fond of Hungary," she said to Madame Rosenberg, who is representing its president Countess Apponyi. "Its people have suffered so deeply for it. Lotzin went there as a child and tried to learn the language, but it was too hard. I liked the sweetmeats so much that even now I have them sent to me."

"Sardin seems very near to me," she said to its president. "My relatives have been on its throne, but of course I love my own Montenegro best of all." And when the answer was made: "It must be hard to leave it even to be a queen," her eyes filled with tears.

After every one had been greeted the doors of the grand dining salon were thrown open and the queen, preceded by the lady in waiting, the chamberlain and six footmen, led the way into it and remained while tea was served, after which she again shook hands with every one and retired.

"It is just like our teas at home," said the American delegates, "except that we would never let that handsome tablecloth touch the floor all around." The queen is tall, slender and very graceful, with large dark eyes and masses of wavy black hair.

BIG FOOD TRUST IN EUROPE

Cost of Living Will Be Affected According to Whether It is a Good Trust or Not.

Paris.—Hints that have been appearing in the press for some time regarding the formation in the near future of a European preserved food trust are taking definite shape. HAVING ICE WAR

Fernandina, August 13.—Europe is not the only place having war. There is an ice war in Fernandina and although it may seem paradoxical it promises to be a hot ice war. The price of ice last year was 80 cents a block of two hundred pounds. The city put in a municipal plant which went into operation near the first of June and named a price of $3.50 a ton and in small lots 60 cents a cake of 300 pounds and 15 pounds for 5 cents. This price existed until the first of this week when the Southern Utilities Company made a price of $2.00 a ton, 10 cents for 50 pounds. The people are keeping cool under the circumstances and many industries which depend on cheap ice are developing some of which could not exist without cheap ice, and the shrimp canning business and fish shipping business is growing to enormous proportions. It is more than probable that the city plant will continue operations as they can make ice cheaper than most any other plant in the United States of its size and according to the figures given out from the books of the Utilities plant as to the cost of producing ice, they are losing about $3 or $4 a ton at their present selling price. A great many customers of ice say they will patronize the city plant while there are others who believe in the prayer: "Bless me and my wife, my son, my dog and his wife, us for ice no more" and also the old adage, "Let every man take care of himself and the Devil take the hind most man." These people say that the ice men who come around and give the biggest lump of ice will get his price...

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK GOOD

War Scare Makes Temporary Embarrassment
New York Aug. 13.—Developments in the financial world today were more equanimous. The faithful report of gold brought revealed a decrease in gold holdings, amounting to $10,000,000, according to the report of the Federal Reserve Board. The gold holdings of the Federal Reserve Bank showed an increase of 12 1/2 million tons, the amount of business on hand at the first of the month being the largest of five months. Steady progress was made toward clearing up the tangle among stock exchange houses and customers caused by the closing of the market and the consequent chaos which produced a confusion of stocks quoted today in most instances approximated the figures which prevailed at the time business was suspended. In the money market there was no important change. No money was offered on call in the open market and the demand was reported light. A few call loans were made at the banks at 6 per cent. For a small amount of ninety days 7 per cent was paid today. Sentiment improved over the week end in the open market for mercantile discounts and paper was purchased more freely although the total was still small. Long term paper was almost in demand with six per cent ruling for all dates. Although attempts were made to do business in the foreign exchange markets and some transactions were carried through in the purchase of grain bills, there was still great difficulty in realizing upon credits resulting up from merchandise exports. This was generally the case of the continent and in some instances in London. International bankers still little difficulties was being experienced in regard to letters of credit, for small amounts, although foreign banks were unwilling to advance large sums.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

There will be an ice cream Social Wednesday evening, Aug. 19th, at the Moore's Station Church, lemonade, popcorn and peanuts will also be for sale. Every one is most cordially invited from Sanford and surrounding places. Proceeds to be used toward finishing the church.

AUSTRIAN AND GERMAN MOVEMENTS ARE BEING CLOSELY GUARDED

FIERCE FIGHTING IN PROGRESS ALL OF YESTERDAY NEAR HALFLIN

London, Aug. 14.—The war of the nations of Europe today became further regularized with the formal declaration of war on Austria-Hungary by Great Britain. The strength of the British fleet in the Mediterranean is unknown as no movements of warships have been made public since the first outbreak of hostilities. It is known, however, that France has the bulk of her fleet in the Mediterranean, so that no apprehension exists here as to the safety of trade routes, though that sea now that it seems certain that the German cruisers, Goeben and Breslau are out of action. The official press bureau here describing today the disposition of British cruisers in the Atlantic and elsewhere expressly urges traders of all nations doing business with Great Britain to send their cargoes confidently and boldly to sea in British or neutral ships in all directions except the North Sea, where, owing to mines and the probability of naval operations in progress, it is not to be given. Although a command yesterday, passenger services are again running. In the event of a change in the disposition of British cruisers, it must be remembered in considering all the published reports of military operations that these dispatches emanate almost exclusively from the side of the allied French and Belgian armies. Nothing whatever is known of the German and Austrian movements, and the result of past operations is made public from those quarters. The strict censorship exercised over the whole field makes it difficult to estimate the value of the news received. The struggle for the possession of the Belgian forts surrounding Liege has recommenced and reports of artillery and cavalry engagements are a factor in indicating the possible beginning of a great battle on Belgian soil. The bulk of the German forces is believed to be concentrated on the frontier between Liege and the Duchy of Luxembourg. This leads to the conclusion that Germany's frontier facing Russia can be only lightly guarded, probably by newly organized armies of reservists called to the colors.

London, Aug. 14.—England today declared war upon Austria-Hungary.

as a result of the latter's military operations in the direction of the French border in conjunction with German troops. A state of war between the two countries has existed since midnight last night.

Brussels, via London, Aug. 14.—The fighting yesterday between the Belgian and German armies in the vicinity of Diest lasted the entire day, and constituted the first considerable battle of the war. It will be known as the battle of Haelen. Shell were still falling at 7:30 in the evening on the roads around Diest. The battle centered around Haelen in the Belgian province of Limburg, extending to Diest, in the north of the province of Brabant, after passing around Zoelheim.

At 7 o'clock last evening all the country between the three towns mentioned had been cleared of German troops, except the dead and wounded who were thickly strewn about the fire zone. Upward of 200 dead German soldiers were counted in a space of 1000 square feet. A church, a brewer's and some houses in Haelen were destroyed. Two Philips towers were destroyed in the Belgian trenches. Great quantities of booty were collected on the battlefield, and this has been stacked in front of the town hall of Diest. Many horses also were captured.

Paris, Aug. 14.—An official communication says the forts at Liege are holding out, and that the Belgian troops to the west of the city are on the offensive, and after a sharp struggle drove the Germans back and recaptured ground that they had. The Belgians have blown up a number of bridges on the railway lines in the German rear, in the Landen district thus cutting them off from the base of their supplies.

French Artillery In Action
The artillery of France is one of the most efficient branches in the nation's army. The gunners are well drilled, and the guns are of the latest type. Field practice has always been insisted on by officials, and the result has been the high standard of efficiency that has been established. In the picture is shown the latest type of guns in action.

CORNER STONE LAYING

New Methodist Church Was Started Under Auspicious Circumstances

The beautiful new building that will soon grace the lot at the corner of Park Ave. and Fifth Street and be occupied by the Methodist congregation of this city, was really started last Tuesday at 3:30 when the corner stone of the new edifice was laid by the Masons in their beautiful ritual for the occasion. The exercises incident to the corner stone laying were held in the far opposite the building site, and were well attended by a large concourse of Sanford people and many from a distance. The Methodist choir rendered the doxology and after the invocation by Rev. J. E. Wray, of Orlando, Bishop Henry E. Morrison made the address that was replete with ennobling and enlightening thought and he was listened to with wrapt attention by those present. Bishop Morrison is one of the patriarchs of Methodism and his presence and address added much to the occasion. The historical sketch of the Methodist church in Sanford, was delivered by Dr. A. E. Phillips, and his personal recollections of the early days and the struggles of the church in the wilderness was most interesting not only to those of his hearers who were here at that time, but to the younger generation. This sketch will be published at a later date in the Herald, if possible. After the exercises at the park, the Masons headed the procession to the church lot and here the imposing ceremonies of the laying of the corner stone were carried out. E. L. Miller as Worshipful Grand Master, had charge of the ceremonies and the following officers took part in the exercises: Deputy Grand Master, L. R. Phillips, Grand Senior Warden, C. I. Rumph, Grand Junior Warden, O. L. Taylor, Grand Treasurer, G. W. Spencer, Grand Secretary, W. E. Hourcholder, Grand Senior Deacon, O. J. Miller, Grand Junior Deacon, D. D. Caldwell, Senior Steward, R. L. Mason, Junior Steward, L. P. McCaller, Grand Chaplain, W. B. Rogers, Grand Master, F. P. Foster, Master Architect, K. Metzger, Grand Chaplain, F. D. Stummeyer.

The stone was placed by Worshipful Grand Master Miller, with the attendant ceremonies, in which several numbers were rendered by the choir and after the benediction by Grand Chaplain Stummeyer, the exercises were concluded by the placing of the following articles beneath the stone.

OUR OPPORTUNITY

The United States Should Supply Potash and Camphor

About two and a half years ago much was heard of the search of the national scientific authorities for a source of potash in this country in order that our agriculturists and fertilizer manufacturers might be made independent of the German potash mines, that country, having practically the monopoly of the potash supply of the world. We were told much of the wealth of potash, to say nothing of iodine and some other valuable chemicals, to be found in the "kelp" which piles itself up the Pacific coasts. A dried lake bed had also been found in California, we are told, which was calculated to produce great quantities of the indispensable aid to agriculture and the Geological Survey seem to have grown tired of the subject. At least they talk no more of the giant seaweed or the wonderful lakebed as a possible offset for German exactions. Now the Kaiser is getting all Europe by the ears at least, the countries of Europe not in the triple Alliance have vexed him by their invincible stubbornness and the limited supply of potassium salts which this country was enabled to procure from Germany bids fair to be cut off altogether. What a favorable time for a potash declaration of independence! Surely if there is anything in that line to be found in the seaweed crop or the California Lake bottom our patriotic American capitalists will exploit one or both to them and give our farmers an adequate and cheap supply of these valuable salts. For once duty and self interest might pull together here like a pair of well-matched horses. Camphor is another article of highest value for a supply of which we are principally dependent on foreigners. Japan may be drawn into the general mixup, is almost sure to be a rich cargo of camphor essential an element in smokeless gunpowder would be an invaluable prize to any of Japan's enemies. The government has been taking steps to make this country independent of Formosan camphor as Japan's captured island. Let us hope that the culture of camphor will be all the harder in case of a general European war into which England's Asiatic ally may be drawn; and that the camphor industry may be so firmly established in the South that we may furnish the bulk of the world's supply long after the nations have ceased to snap and snarl at each other and have resumed their wonted attitude of "watchful waiting" after the strongest have successfully performed their coveted task of deglutition and have lain down to enjoy the digestion of the weaker.—Times Union

The Present European War And The End of The World

The above will be the subject of the discourse to be delivered by Rev. George Hyman at the Baptist next Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. The reception committee is arranging to comfortably seat the large audience which is expected to attend. The Church is located at the corner of Park Ave. and Sixth St. just back of the new building being erected. At 7:45 in the evening, Mr. Hyman will speak on "A game of Baseball."

ENTERTAINED ORPHANS

The children of the Orphanage at Enterprise were entertained at the Star Theatre Saturday, coming over upon the invitation of Manager Herndon. Needless to say the children enjoyed the pictures and went away happy. Manager H. B. Leach of the Home wished to publicly thank Mr. Herndon for his courtesy and thoughtfulness in behalf of the children.

CARD OF THANKS

I take this method of thanking our friends individually and collectively for their kind services and attention during the illness and death of husband and father. Mrs. Furen and family.

Then Prohibition Will Do No More

(By John C. Trice.)

A couple of weeks ago a perfectly well intentioned gentleman declared through the County Record of Blountstown, that ninety per cent of the crime, sorrow and suffering of the Country was traceable to the use of intoxicating beverages, and therefore chargeable to the account of infamies kept against the saloons. Forthwith came the announcement of the embargo now taking shape and involving the whole of Europe, where "Strong drink" has little place and intemperance is very rare.

Naturally we might have assumed on the authority of the West Florida gentlemen, that our atlatlans had got mixed over their "fruit of the vine," and given their places to less hilarious and more reliable students of sociological economics, but a "bible student" has saved us the trouble. We are gravely told by the latter that the maniacal action of the European nations in flying at each other's throats over the arrest and punishment of an assassin is but the fulfillment of the prophecy of John, foretold in Revelations. If Europe is destined to see and experience all the things that John saw take place preceding the Millennium there is likely to be an increased demand for the products of the distillers to keep European nerves from breaking. But there is some consolation in the divination of the afore-said Bible student. There is to be a period of peace. Think of it, if he recounth well and John was feally and truly prophesying, the devil will be chained for a thousand years, and peace will reign over the face of the earth. "Do you know what that means? No, I am not joking, neither am I now attempting to be funny or barbaetic. There certainly can be no peace as long as prohibitionists and blind tigers are extant, in any considerable numbers.

Talking about "blind tigers," the current issue of the Fort Myers Press takes the correct view. That paper so thoroughly "dry" that it refuses to carry whiskey advertising and places my articles under that heading. Yet it solemnly declares in a leading editorial that if present conditions are to continue down there it would be wise for the town to vote for open saloons. The fact is the tigers at Fort Myers have grown so old and cunning in their lawlessness that they well nigh have to a strange hold upon the community, and some people are beginning to see it. Saloon men are not angles by any manner of means—no more than other business men—but there is one God's blessing they bring to any community. They soon rid it of the curse of blind tigers. And they are the only antidote for that trouble. But Fort Myers is perhaps doomed to suffer yet a while longer. The prohibitionists are pretty strong, under the mistaken impression they are aiding temperance and the good old tigar men will march up to the polls and vote prohibition with them for a vastly different reason.

Thus they perpetuate their business of selling kill-me-quick chemically made knock out poison for double the price of honest liquor. Barnum was correct when he declared the American people enjoyed being humbugged, and his divination does not apply alone to the show business.

WILL SHOW BRITISH

American to Tell England How to Run Railroad.

Henry Worth Thornton, Picked by English Directors to Take Charge of Great Eastern Road, Will Demonstrate U. S. Methods.

New York.—"Your best chance of success," said Henry W. Thornton, "comes when you are in your shirt sleeves."

Thornton is the young American railroad man who was recently picked out to take charge of the Great Eastern railroad in England.

The member of the board of directors who did the picking tactfully added to his declaration that Thornton is the best young railroad man in America for such a position, the cause being that English railroad men have run to seed.

"They do not grow," said the director, wagging his head like a mechanical bear. "They do not expand. Their field of vision is limited."

However that may be—and English railroads resolved themselves into a lodge of sorrow when they read it and then began to gather bricks for Thornton—the American youngster has been growing and expanding ever since he got into railroading.

After he had graduated in football and engineering at the University of Pennsylvania he applied for a job to John C. Sims, then secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. He had a letter of introduction from a man of influence.

"Hum," said Sims, when he read the letter. "This gets you a job, but it don't hold the job for you, young man. I'll carry you on the salary list for two years. But if by that time you haven't been promoted, salt won't save you. I wouldn't have that sort of a man on the right of way."

Thornton was on his third promotion at the end of two years. He has been moving upward ever since, but he has never gained a step by flattery, back-bending or lying. If the opinion of the men who have been nearest to him is to be taken at par.

On the other hand, he hasn't hesitated to fuss with his superior officers, and fussing with the official family of the Pennsylvania railroad is commonly reputed to be as dangerous an occupation as biting the tip of a stroke of lightning.

On one occasion a baggageman on his division had climbed up to the tender, where he had no business to be, just before the engine rolled into the ditch. The baggageman was killed, leaving a destitute family.

"Give me $1,000 for the widow and kids," Thornton asked of headquarters. "Not a nickel," said headquarters coldly. "It was the baggageman's fault that he was killed."

"Maybe," said Thornton, with the big jaw setting. "But meanwhile a young widow and three boys are in danger of starvation. I'm going to put her on my payroll at $45 a month, and when her name comes off mine comes with it."

She's still there, so far as any one knows. Perhaps that incident helps explain why Thornton was selected to take charge of the Great Eastern, for the position of general manager on an English railroad is equivalent to that of president of the United States. The Great Eastern handles a greater commuting traffic than any other road in England, and its short haul business, during the summer resort season, is perhaps the greatest in the world.

But, according to the commuting public of England, its directing heads assay heavily in pure bone. Ticket sales are never stopped, no matter how badly the line may be blocked. Trains are held in smoke-filled tunnels, rather than permit a step aside from routine procedure.

"Any one can handle engines and cars and tunnels," said a railroad man, "but Thornton is a wonder at handling men. That's why England took him."

He must not only teach the railroad using public of England to love the Great Eastern, which entails a complete reversal of all the laws of human nature, but must also win the loyal support of the Great Eastern's employes.

In a way, American railroaders add their methods will go on trial with Thornton in England. This may not seem fair, but it is the fact.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

Endeavorers of Florida need not forget that they have State officers. The following have recently sent letters broadcast. Mrs. S. L. Jackson, State Junior superintendent; Mrs. Ruth Wyandt, Quiet Hour Leader; Rev. Geo. Waldron, Vice president, Treasurer George Cavanagh, and the secretary in behalf of the Headquarters Fund.

Our Lord is sometimes called "the Prince of Peace." His followers do not seem in some parts of the world to be serving Him very faithfully now.

Next Sunday the Juniors study about "What shall we do with our Failures?" Psalm: 37:23-24. To us the answer might be, for old as well as little Endeavorers: "Don't grow discouraged, but, wiser now from having these failures, try again."

How many of our societies have help to our special C. E. home cause, The Children's Home Society? It was the secretary's long-desired opportunity to visit the Home this Spring. It is at 1944 Riverside Ave., Jacksonville, and any one interested in its splendid work should look it up when in the metropolis any time. How many out-of-Jacksonville Endeavorers have?

Miami Congregationalists now have two societies, Young People and Junior; the last has been organized this Endeavor year, and both are indeed welcome into our State Union fellowship.

The Kissimmee Gazette has in its last paper among the news-items from Union Center, the following: "Mr. and Mrs. Lawson entertained the Christian Endeavor society and its friends. Games were played until a late hour when everyone departed saying they enjoyed 'every minute.'" About thirty-five were present. So strangely enough no mention is made of refreshments, usually a climax both to social and news of it.

We have not had a word from either the Congregational or Presbyterian in Sanford for several weeks. It is coming toward time for the district convention to be held in the Celery City so they had better stay wide awake from now on.

United Brethren young people are still enjoying the great union revival underway in Tampa. News from Gainesville says the Junior Society has suspended for the summer but older workers are having good meetings right along. Its a fine topic next Sunday, "Our Social Life for Christ" and it ought to be of great benefit every where in Senior societies.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Calron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

FLORIDA ALL RIGHT

While every section in the world will more or less feel the depressing effects of the war, Florida will be less disturbed and will have more to gain by the strife than any other region on the globe.

No matter what the final outcome of the war will be, Florida will offer to those who leave the old world and seek new homes on this side of the Atlantic the most attractive field for labor.

In the land of flowers in peaceful, prosperous America, whose lands will not bear the marks of bloodshed and devastation, a hearty welcome to come and abide with us.

Florida needs these high class immigrants as much as the latter need a land where a higher and greater civilization makes peace supreme and a unity of brotherhood steadily broadens the scope of success.

Tourist travel to Europe will be seriously hampered by the war. Conditions in the warring countries will not right themselves to normal for a long and indefinite period after hostilities actually cease.

The winter resorts on the peninsula will be liberally patronized the coming season. The thousands of tourists who would otherwise have visited European countries will be with us instead.

Our winter population will be increased many fold. To entertain these visitors it will require additional hotel and resident accommodation, thousands of pounds of additional groceries, meats and all the necessities of life.

Florida will benefit in another way Her geographical advantages will wrest a lion's share of the commerce from South American ports, which has heretofore gone to warring nations.

So it will be seen how extensively and substantially Florida will be benefited by the war. We have the natural advantages and we are equally as certain that they will have a telling effect in our behalf.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

THE WAR SCARE

The war scare is a nightmare that confronts the people of every country at least once in every ten or twenty years. It makes but little difference whether the war is in this country or some other country, the very name of war gives the trusts a chance to raise the price of foodstuffs and they always raise it.

However, we needs must reckon with the trusts every time the wind changes and the sooner the government eliminates these highway robbers from the present order of business the sooner the people of this country can suit their incomes to the price of food-stuffs.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT It is not the amount of money an individual, a firm or a community spends that counts, but what is received in return for the expenditure.

capital out of the fact that the expenditures for the city of Denver during its first year under commission government were heavier than under the old system.

"Denver reports, after one year's trial of commission government, that it is considerably more expensive than the old way, but suspicion that there is something dubious or wrong about this conclusion is warranted.

"Of course, commission government like any other, can be good or bad. Its mere adoption does not solve one municipal problem, the only claim ever made for it being that it makes the solution of municipal problems easier and gives more definiteness to the responsibility of officials.

"Denver should be more interested in the question whether it got its money's worth than in the amount it spent, and on the answer to that question depends the verdict of its experiment with the new plan.

Among the really good pieces of advertising matter going out of the state of Florida is that of the Osceola Journal which left the press last week and contains fifty-four pages of fine descriptive matter and richly embellished with half tone cuts.

The Special Edition of the Journal was in magazine form and is just the right size to take with the people who are looking for information regarding Florida. Now is the time of year to advertise your locality and there is no better plan than the special editions of the local papers.

The Commercial Club meets tonight and those who attend will see the real boosters of Sanford, and if you want to see those who do not think enough of their city to help boost, you can note those who are absent without excuse.

Another corner stone for a fine new Sanford church has been laid and still the good work goes on.

The Way Things Look At last the personnel of the Federal Reserve Board is complete, and organization of the new currency and banking system can proceed.

The new system is not ideal, and it unfortunately must be given its first trial in a time of vast difficulty. But it is yet immeasurably better than what we have had before.

Nevertheless, the old system goes out in a blaze of glory. Never in its fifty years of service to this nation has such a strain been put upon it, probably, as during the last two weeks.

The change to the new order is no matter of rule of thumb. The calling of the national banks' subscriptions to the capital of the reserve institutions at a time when we are issuing emergency currency to keep them strong would in itself seem a somewhat paradoxical step.

That certain commodities this country imports from Europe would rise immediately in price on the outbreak of war was to be expected whether the sea was open to commerce or not.

us who feel we must have them can afford to buy.

But certainly until the way is open to transport our own products to Europe there is no occasion for hurry in rushing up prices.

However great disasters follow war, somebody profits, Men grow rich and by honest means in our own Civil War. They had something to sell the demand for which was increased by the war.

We are experiencing now and shall experience for some time the effects of shock and surprise, the dislocation of the security market and the natural tendency to slow up and prepare for the worst that may come.

War Upsets Apple Men New York, Monday.—Apple exporters are back from Boston, where they attended the annual meeting of the International Apple Shippers Association, and it would be difficult to find a bluer lot of men.

Not since 1896 have there been such ideal prospects for the apple crop in this country. At the convention reports were made from all apple sections, which showed that the yield would probably be 60,000,000 barrels for the entire United States, a record breaker.

As a great deal depends upon the outlet for foreign countries, the closing of the seas by the European war is a hard blow to the growers as well as shippers.

Although every county in New York will have apples to sell, the shippers do not know what they can do with the fruit.

Last year was a poor export year and only 2,000,000 barrels of apples went abroad. In 1912, when there was a big crop, 3,000,000 barrels were exported.

It was predicted yesterday that by September 1 apples as fine as any ever grown will be offered on push-carts at one cent each.

But while the situation is menacing to apple growers, California and Fla lemon growers may profit greatly by the closing of the seas.

Big Shoe Sale

In another part of this issue, is the announcement of the big Shoe Sale of the Sanford Shoe & Clothing Co. in which they expect to place their entire stock of shoes on sale at very low prices. In many instances being below the original cost price. This is a real opportunity for the shoe buyer to get his shoes for their full and proper value. In order to give the public better service, we have these sales of one kind of merchandise at a time instead of placing the entire stock of goods on sale.

In this big shoe sale the buyer can be assured of attention at all times, and experienced clerks will be at the ready to give the trade the best of the sale. The sale is next Tuesday, Aug. 18th, and will last for ten days.

Now is the time to lay in your supply of fall and winter shoes. The children will soon be starting to school and will need shoes. The young men and girls will be starting to college and need shoes, and the stay at homes will need shoes. The prices on all leather goods will advance if the war continues, and this is your opportunity to buy and lay in your shoes at rock bottom prices. Shoes may never be as cheap again in Sanford, so come early and get your best selections. Sanford Shoe & Clothing Co.

WHAT A FRIEND IS

The Star finds the following complete description of a friend in an exchange. The Star is glad to say that it has met several who measure up to the requirements:

A friend is a person who is "for you" always, under any circumstances. He never investigates you.

When charges are made against you he does not ask proof. He asks the accuser to clear out.

He likes you as you are. He does not want to alter you.

Whatever kind of coat you are wearing suits him. Whether you are on a dress suit or a hickory shirt with no collar, he thinks it's fine.

He likes your mood and enjoys pessimism as much as your optimism.

He likes your success. And your failure endears you to him the more.

He is better than a lover because he is never jealous.

He wants nothing from you except that you be yourself. He is the one being with whom you may feel safe. With him you can utter your heart, its badness and its goodness. You don't have to be careful.

There are many faithful wife husbands; there are few faithful friends.

Anybody can stand by you when you are right; a friend stands by you when you are wrong.

Like the shade of a great tree in the noonday heat is a friend.

Like the home port, with your country's flag flying, after long journeys, is your friend.

A friend is an impregnable citadel of refuge in the strife of existence. It is he who keeps alive your faith in human nature that makes you believe it is a good universe.

He is the antidote to despair, the elixir of hope, the tonic of depression, the medicine to cure suicide.

When you are vigorous and spirited you like to take your pleasures with him when you are dying you want him near.

You give him without reluctance and borrow from him without embarrassment.—Ocala Evening Star.

Notice of Meeting

The Commercial Club will hold an important meeting in the city hall on Friday night, August 14th and every member is urged to be present as matters of importance to the city and county will be taken up. All of the business men who have not enrolled as business members are especially invited to attend and give in their names, as an active campaign of advertising the city's resources will be inaugurated at once and whatever helps Sanford will help every business man in the city. There are other matters of vital interest to the city and county that the club should handle and it is extremely important that this meeting be well attended.

Which?

Is woman more interesting than man, or the reverse? Man varies more. He has more genius in exceptional individuals, and less of genius-like insight in the average person. He competes; woman endures. He builds externally, she at home. He fights, she preserves. Our worthless opinion is that men are more interesting than women, but that woman is more interesting than man.—Harper's Weekly.

DRILL BORES SQUARE HOLES

Land of Steady Habits Produces Mechanical Novelty Formerly Regarded as Impossible.

New Haven, Conn. — Bridgeport's prominence as a commercial and manufacturing center has brought it still another line of manufacture, which will be commenced in a short time, the manufacture of rotating drills to bore square holes.

A few years ago even scientists would have said that it was absolutely impossible for a rotating tool to bore a true square hole, yet it has been done by the simplest sort of mechanism, which can be attached to any lathe or milling machine.

To describe the drill and its process is somewhat difficult in language adapted to the lay mind not especially versed in mechanical motions. The principle involved is that of moving a triangular shaped drill or cutter in a square master guide, or cam. For boring different sized holes it is necessary only to change the drill, as the master guide is adjustable.

HAMEL WISHED A QUIET END

Rather In Solitude of Sea Than In Crowd, He Told Friend Before His Disappearance.

London.—A writer in the Aeroplane, in discussing Gustave Hamel's disappearance, says:

"It is a peculiar fact that only a few days before his disappearance, Hamel, in discussing the Atlantic flight with some friends, said that if his machine came down in mid-Atlantic had was not picked up he would prefer such an end to being killed in an aerodrome or an exhibition flight, with all the fuss and sensation among the crowd."

Somewhere at the back of his mind I think he had some idea of the dignity of dying in the solitude of the sea to being killed in the act of amusing a mob of sightseers, and he was right.

That he should have gone in what was to him the trivial feat of crossing the channel in the frony of fate, but it came somewhere near being such an end as he desired."

Pittsburgh Professor, Now Worth Millions, Won't Quit Work in the Schoolroom.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Prof. E. M. Wollank of the chair of languages at the Pittsburgh Normal, who may be the richest schoolmaster in the United States, will stay in the schoolroom and work, despite his wealth.

Professor Wollank and his son will soon get a $25,000,000 estate in Berlin. The estate is that of a great uncle whose will provided that it go to the male descendants of the Wollank line after a certain time. The time has expired and the professor and his son, who is a banker at Delhi, La., are the only heirs.

The possession of at least twelve and a half million dollars will not mean the retirement of the professor, he asserts. He intends to stay in the schoolroom until age retires him. He couldn't be happy elsewhere, he says.

Small Boy Killed by Fowl.

A fowl killed a two-year old child at St. Henry's France a few days ago. The little fellow was playing outside his parents' house when a large Cochin China cock attempted to take a piece of bread from his hand. The child and the cock struggled for the bread, and the cock attacked the child and hurt him so badly that he died shortly after.

A well-known lawyer in Boston had a horse that always stopped and refused to cross the mill dam bridge leading out of the city. No whipping, no urging, would induce him to cross without stopping. So he advertised him: "To be sold, for no other reason than that the owner wants to go out of town."

Undeserving.

Three Germans were engaged in a confidential talk while dining in a Broadway cafe a few days ago. Gordon Craig

Soldier of Fortune — by Randall Parrish

Copyright, 1912, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

SYNOPSIS

Gordon Craig is hired by two men, Vall and Neale, for $10,000 to go south and impersonate Philip Henley, ostensibly to save an estate for Henley, who, they say, is in prison. Craig is to take with him a woman to impersonate Mrs. Henley.

Suspected of burglary, Craig is cleared by a young woman wandering in the street. She is out of work and hungry. They talk in a restaurant.

She is an actress, deserted by her wealthy, drunken husband. She consents to go south with Craig.

Mrs. Bernard is a good woman and will play the part of Mrs. Henley to help Craig. They arrive at the rundown Henley plantation and are greeted by a rough looking overseer.

Coombs, the overseer, and a mysterious negro, Sallie, seem to be the only persons on the plantation. Craig is awakened by a shot and finds a man murdered.

CHAPTER VI.

I Get Into the Game.

SAW the affair now from a new viewpoint. I was not so sure, so certain, that I understood the entire truth.

Coombs was no plantation overseer, but a mere Texas bully. The very appearance of the man told that, and those neglected, weed grown fields were another proof. What was he here for, then? And Sallie? Lord, I could despise that Texas rough, but the snaky eyes of the woman made me shiver and look about apprehensively. Then there was the dead man. There was wrong somewhere surely—cowardly crime, murder!

With the first return of daylight I would seek out Coombs, tell him what I had seen and compel him to confess the truth. Then I should know how to act, how to approach her and explain. My nerves steadied as I sat there in the silence, and my mind drifted to the woman sleeping across the hall. Then I also fell asleep in the chair.

The gray of dawn was on the windows when I awoke, my body aching from its unnatural position. With loaded pistol in my pocket I slipped into the hall. The faint light revealed its shabbiness, the grimy rag carpet and discolored walls. Some spirit of adventure led me the full length until my hand was upon the latch of that last door. I could not resist an impulse to look upon the dead man again by daylight and thus assure myself of the reality of what seemed only a dream. All was exactly as I recalled it to memory—the stained walls, the dirty floor, the table littered with cards, the overturned chair and the motionless body of the dead man. From the wound in the head a dark flow of blood stained the floor, and as I bent closer I noticed the eyelids were lowered over the dead eyes. Shot as he had been, killed instantly, the hand of the assassin must have performed this act. Then surely this killing had been no common quarrel, but a planned assassination, the culmination of some prearranged plot.

This knowledge, while it set my heart throbbing in realization of new danger, yet served also to stiffen my nerves. My thought was not so much concerned with myself and my own danger as with that of the young woman whom I was bound to protect.

I closed the door on the silence and stole quietly downstairs. There was no movement, no sound in the great house. The front room, hideous in its grimy disorder, was vacant, and I opened the front door noiselessly and stepped forth into the spectral gray light of the dawn. The first glimpse about was depressing enough. The house itself, big and glaring as it was, was nevertheless little better than a ruin. Several of the windows were broken, and the steps sagged and trembled under my weight. The front yard, a full half acre in extent, was a tangled mass of bushes and weeds, a high, untrimmed hedge shutting off all view of the road. From the foot of the steps a narrow passage trampled into the dirt circled the corner of the house, disappearing within a few feet.

Convinced that this must lead to the rear and possibly the negro cabins where Coombs slept, I followed its tortuous windings, although half afraid to desert my guardianship of the house even for this purpose. Still there was little to be feared so long as Mrs. Bernard remained securely locked in her room. Perhaps by the time she awoke and appeared below stairs I could find a reasonable explanation of all this mystery—something to smile over, rather than fear.

I emerged into a somewhat clearer space of ground at the rear. The kitchen was an ell, constructed of rough boards, but with shingle roof. The door stood ajar, and I glanced in, only to find the room empty, the pots and pans used the night before still unwashed.

There was nothing there to interest me, and I crossed a narrow space of grass to where a broken picket fence was visible amid a fringe of weeds. No description can fitly picture the gloomy desolation surrounding that ramshackle place. Evidently this fence, now a mere ruin, had once served to protect a garden plot. But I saw merely a tangled mass of wild vegetation, so thick and high as to obstruct the view. Narrow footpaths branched in either direction, and I chose to follow the one to the right, thinking thus to skirt the fence and learn what was beyond before approaching the negro cabins on the opposite side. To my surprise I found myself suddenly standing on the bank of a narrow bayou, the water clear, yet apparently motionless, the opposite shore heavily timbered. Owing to a sharp curve I could see scarcely a hundred yards in either direction, yet close in beside the shore a light boat was skimming over the gray water. Even as I gazed, the fellow plying the paddle saw me and waved his hand. In another moment the bow grounded on the bank and its occupant came stumbling up the slight declivity.

He was a medium sized, wiry looking fellow, with olive skin and small mustache, dressed in brown corduroy, a colored handkerchief wound about his head in lieu of a hat. As he came to the level where I stood he stopped suddenly, staring into my face.

"Sacre! I thought eet vas Coombs. Who are you, m'sieur?"

"I came in last night," I replied eagerly, "and was just looking about a bit."

The black eyes searched my face, and I noted his right hand touch the hilt of a knife in his belt.

"What water is this?" I asked, ignoring his action. "Bayou?"

"Oui, m'sieur."

"Are we near the sea?"

"Twenty-seex mille. You not know where you are? 'Tis odd you not know, m'sieur."

I laughed, enjoying his bewilderment, yet not realizing how to turn it to better account.

"Oh, no. I came by train in the night and am a little busy as to location. You live about here?"

"Som' time. Then off again—sailor. Where Coombs? You know, m'sieur?"

"No, I don't," I acknowledged. "Asleep in his cabin likely."

The creole, for such he undoubtedly was, made a swift resolve.

"'Tis like, m'sieur. I find out. Maybe you come too."

The last was more of an order than a question. I gave it no apparent heed, but turned in the direction of the cabins. I had no reason to avoid Coombs. Indeed, I desired to see him, and I had no intention of permitting this lad to suppose that I feared his veiled threats. Without so much as glancing back at him I advanced along the footpath, my hands in my pockets. Yet my mind leaped from point to point in eager speculation. Little as I liked Coombs this creole was even more dangerous. The one was a rough, the other a venomous snake. So far as the original purpose of my adventure was concerned it had already largely faded from recollection. The swift recurrence of more startling events dominated.

"Ze right; turn to ze right, m'sieur," said a voice behind me, and then I saw Coombs standing before the door of the second cabin.

"What does this mean, Broussard?" he growled savagely. "Where did you pick up that fellow?"

"At the landing," the creole hastened to explain. "How could I tell? He said he knew you, m'sieur."

"Oh, he did, hey? Well, all I know about him is that he blew in here last night with a woman. Claimed to be young Henley and took possession of the place. I reckon it's about time I saw some papers to prove what yer are, young feller, 'fore yer go snoopin' round at daylight. What's yer game anyhow?"

The man's bluster gave me my clew. The thought suddenly occurred to me that for some reason he was more afraid of me than I of him.

"You can see my authority, Coombs, any time you are ready to exhibit your own," I returned coolly, leaning back against the side of the cabin and staring him straight in the eyes. "If you are the overseer here, then it is my money that is paying your wages, and from the look of things you'll not hold the job long at that."

Coombs did not cringe, but my tone brought him uneasiness.

"The niggers won't work," he returned gruffly. "Thar ain't a nigger on the place."

"Apparently white men enough banging around. What's the matter with the niggers?"

"Ghosts," and the fellow laughed. "Maybe yer've seen 'em?"

I straightened up, stung by the sneer in his voice.

"No, but I've seen something more to the point—a murdered man."

"What?"

"Just what I said. There was a man killed last night in that back room upstairs. Shot in the head through the window. I heard the shot and investigated. His body lies there now."

I saw Broussard's snaky eyes flash across toward Coombs' face, but the latter remained motionless.

"It's a d—ll!" he ejaculated roughly. "There is nobody there!"

"Easily settled. Come with me, and I'll show you."

Rather to my surprise neither objected to the test, and we tramped in single file toward the house. Some precaution kept me at the rear, and I followed silently to the room of the murder.

There was the furniture as I remembered it, the dirty walls, the opened window. But the overturned chair stood against the wall, the cards were stacked on the table, and there was no body lying on the floor. Coombs let out a harsh laugh.

"Well, where's yer dead man? I reckon ye don't see none, hey?"

"No," I insisted, "but I did see one—twice. The body lay there where the stain shows on the floor. It has been carried away within half an hour."

"A likely story. Who could do the job? Nobody round this shabing but Sallie, an' we. I sure ain't been in here, an' I reckon it wasn't Sallie. So cut it out, young feller. After breakfast you an' I'll have a talk an' find out a few things. Come on, Broussard, an' let's talk over that matter o' ours."

The two went down the stairs together, and I closed the door of the rear room and stepped out into the hall. Sallie was in the kitchen, for I heard her voice questioning the men as they passed through. Out of the window I caught a glimpse of them both disappearing through the weeds toward the bayou.

That dead body had not moved itself. Human hands had accomplished the deed during the brief period of my absence outside. Whose hands could have done it? Not those of Coombs, surely, for he could not have passed me and attained the house while I was in the garden unseen, nor Sallie, for she possessed no strength to more than drag the dead man to some near-by covert. With the possibility of this in mind I searched the vacant rooms of that floor, closets and all, thoroughly, but to no result. There was therefore but one conclusion possible—unknown parties were involved. We were not alone in the house in spite of its apparent desertion.

I paused in doubt before Mrs. Bernard's door, convinced this was the truth. Should I tell her frankly the story of the night, my vague discoveries, my suspicion? I surely had no right to deceive the woman or keep her with me. I had determined myself to face it out—to risk life, if need be, to learn the truth. But I had no right to involve her further.

I rapped at the door twice before there was any movement within. Then her voice asked who was there, and at my answer she came out fully dressed, fronting me with questioning eyes.

"The night has rested you," I said smilingly, my heart beating in swift appreciation of her beauty. "Are you ready for breakfast?"

"For anything to escape the loneliness of that room," she replied seriously. "If I really look rested it is not from sleep, for I have passed the night in terror. My slumber was fitful and filled with dreams. But I am sure of some things—my door was tried twice, and I heard some one prowling about the hall."

"That might have been I," I interrupted, "as I was out there during the night," but I certainly never tried your door."

"You had a light?"

"Yes."

"I saw that shining over the transom. It was much later when my door was tried—not long before daylight, I think. Whoever it was passed out the front hall window on to the porch roof. My light was burning, although turned low, and no doubt he saw me sitting up, wide awake, on the edge of the bed, for he had disappeared by the time I gained sufficient courage to approach the window and look out."

"Climbed down the trellis probably," I said, deeply interested. "It appears strong enough to support a man. I wish you had got sight of the fellow."

She lifted her hands to her head.

"But I was so frightened. My head throbs now with pain. I was frightened last night in the darkness. I confess I completely lost my nerve and would have run away if I could. Perhaps I even said things which made you believe I regretted my action in coming with you. But I am more myself now, and I mean to remain and discover what it all means. Can you guess why? Do you not suspect who I am?"

"Who are you? Only as you have told me."

"And I told you only a half truth. I am the wife of Philip Henley." Her cheeks flushed, a touch of passion in her voice as she faced me. "That is the truth. Do you suppose that I would ever have come here with you otherwise? No matter how desperate my condition was, that would have been impossible. I should have despised myself."

My surprise at this avowal kept me silent, yet I could not conceal the admiration from revelation in my eyes. She must have read aright, for she drew back a step, grasping the knob of the door.

"I—I wanted to tell you yesterday—all the way coming down here. But I wanted to discover just what you were like."

CHULUOTA SNAPSHOTS

We are needing rain in this section, in fact, we have been needing more than we have been getting for some time.

Several of our people are suffering from colds.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamp, Bradford and Mrs. Effie Bradford and the former three children, Guy, Bonnie and Percy, of Oxford Fla., spent Wednesday night with Mrs. M. E. Jacobs on their way to Ft. Taylor, to visit Mrs. Annie Simmons.

Miss Bertha Jacobs spent Saturday and Sunday visiting friends at Daytona.

Miss Rosa Jacobs is visiting her sister, Mrs. Theo. Aulin at Oveido this week.

Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs who was called to Oveido owing to the illness of her daughter Mrs. J. C. Partin, came home Tuesday, reporting Mrs. Partin some better.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brumley left Wednesday for a short vacation which will be spent at Mr. Brumley's boyhood home in Misa.

Mrs. J. R. Johnson left last week for a vacation to be spent in Ill. J. Tilden Jacobs spent Wednesday in Orlando attending business affairs.

Miss Sadie Blakburn is visiting Miss Bessie Hodges at Christmad this week.

Quite a number from here attended church at Christmas, Sunday.

The picnic last Friday, was a very pleasant affair. The racing in the afternoon attracted quite a crowd.

Mrs. P. E. Culley is visiting her parents at Conway this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Tilden Jacobs entertained the Sunbeam band at their home Saturday evening. A hide bower was arranged out-doors, enclosed with pot plants and flowers. The red and blue flowers making a very pretty effect, combined with grey moss. The program consisted of songs, recitations prayers, and a talk on what little children may do to be little missionaries. Following the program delicious ice cream and cookies and grapes were served.

The children had a great time playing after the refreshments were served.

Mrs. J. Tilden Jacobs entertained the Woman's Missionary Society, last Thursday night. The dining room was attractively arranged for the place of meeting. Mrs. N. C. Jacobs conducted the meeting and led us through our subject "Missions in Florida," very entertainingly.

All joined in a general song practice which was much enjoyed. The young men were invited to join the young ladies in these services and it is quite pleasant to note the interest manifested by them. We hope to see the cause still continue to prosper.

PAOLA POINTS

Again our little neighborhood has been saddened by a visitation from the "stern maulader". On the evening of August 3rd, Mrs. Ferrell, mother of Mrs. B. W. Smith, passed quietly away, the death coming very suddenly and unexpectedly. Mrs. Ferrell had been ill for about two weeks, but was never considered in a dangerous condition and seemed very much better, well started on the road to recovery. Only a few hours before the end, she was sitting up in bed, holding a little grandchild and playing with it. She made no complaint of feeling worse, but almost immediately after eating her supper, peacefully breathed her last.

Mrs. Ferrell had been a resident of Florida for nearly half a century, coming here from Georgia soon after the close of the Civil War, with her husband and infant daughter. For the past several years, she has lived here, in a tiny house of her own, in near her daughter's, as she was an especially independent and energetic character, and preferred her own little home instead of making herself a member of any other family. She was seventy-eight years of age, capable and cheerful, living quietly and attending to her own affairs, up to within a short time of her death. Mrs. Smith herself, is now quite ill; but at last accounts, was improving, and we hope will soon be fully recovered.

Mrs. Smith and family have the sympathy of their many friends and acquaintances in these sad and serious days.

Harry Garwood is sick, threatened with typhoid fever, it is said. Hope it may turn out only a threat, and the young man soon be "himself again."

Flora Pearson has been in Sanford for a week or more assisting in the care of Mrs. W. H. Taylor, who has been quite sick, but is up and around again.

Frances Pearson is at home again after a visit of several weeks at Loughman.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Smith, Jr. and baby boy are visiting their parents. Everybody is sorry to hear that Mrs. W. C. Cleveland is "really and truly" selling out at Banana Lake, preparing to depart from us permanently. We are sorry to lose such energetic and successful people.

MOORE'S STATION

Sunday the 16th Rev. Bartlett, of Enterprise will be here to preach morning afternoon and evening. Everybody welcome. Come.

Rev. T. B. Lawrence, wife and daughter, Miss Margaret, are moving back from Jacksonville and will reside in their home on Beardhall Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Grier and children have returned from their visit in Charlotte N. C. Mr. Grier brought back a nice team of mules to use on his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wood are building themselves a little house on land they recently purchased of Frank Cowan on Cameron Ave.

Dr. and Mrs. Delamater of Cameron Ave. have returned north and rented their farm to Mr. Clifford Bell's brother of Charlotte N. C.

Mr. Bell, we understand has taken possession and Dr. and Mrs. Delamater are leaving this week for their old home in Chicago, Ill. where the Dr can be treated for his nerve trouble. H. H. Chappel has enclosed his porch with screen and is now painting his home the most beautiful of all colors for a country home-white. Mrs. H. M. Gilbert is recovering from quite a serious illness of several weeks.

The drawbridge at Geneva ferry is receiving a coat of paint, Mitchell Brothers doing the work.

A number of men from the Co. that are furnishing the brick for our roads were here last week. Fred Williams, city engineer is inspecting the brick and the poor ones are being replaced with good ones. Beardhall Ave., from Cameron City to Geneva Ave. will be completed this week. Bricks are being hauled onto Geneva Avw. now.

GENEVA ITEMS

Mrs. Ella and Mrs. Harris of Lakeland who have been visiting Mrs. J. W. David left last week to continue their vacation the former going out among the mountains of the West, the latter visiting on the East Coast.

Mrs. Wings of Jacksonville, representative of the Seves Food Co., displayed these goods last Thursday at the store of L. M. Rehlinger.

Miss Clara Phillips of Sanford is visiting at the home of her father.

Mrs. J. H. Huddleston left last Saturday for a two weeks visit to her daughter, Mrs. Yerkes in Jacksonville.

Rev. Hope of Oveido passed through Geneva last Thursday from Titusville, where he attended conference.

Miss Ethel Rose of Lockhardt, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Moran for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Messingill, who recently moved to Geneva from Chuluota have found it necessary to return to their former home in Tennessee, leaving last Thursday.

C. W. Culpepper has been on the cripple list for several days, suffering from an inflamed foot.

Miss Blanch Pattishall is home again after a stay of several weeks to different points in the state.

Mrs. Fannie Lee and her daughter, Mildred, of Sanford are visiting Mrs. Lee's father, Mr. Vaughn.

Mrs. Williams, who has been in Miami for quite a while, is now with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Harri Lake Harney continues as popular as ever, the watery store-house still abounding in the finey tribe and free to all who will come. Last week there were five fish-frys there. A party of some eight at ten from Orlando are spending several days and two Geneva families are also enjoying the breezes of the lake.

Mrs. Tarbel and daughter, Miss Thusa, enjoyed a day in Sanford last week, going over as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pattishall in their car.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose of Lockhardt spent Sunday with their relatives Mr. and Mrs. Moran, returning in their auto in the afternoon.

The ice-cream supper, given for the Baptist Church at the hall last Thursday night was largely attended, despite the threatening weather. Every thing was sold and a very neat sum realized. The Baptist do, indeed, feel grateful to all who so generously donated material, and so liberally patronized this supper; and also extend thanks to the owners of the beautiful piano for the music which was much enjoyed.

Geneva had a tackey party at Lake Harney last week which afforded an abundance of fun for all who attended. Really, mothers could hardly recognize their children, or husbands know their wives, so comical were they dressed. Every station in life was represented from the clodhopper to the dude, from the bashful school-girl to the abominable old maid. The committee, Messrs. Dooly, McLain and Bonnel, decided W. L. Seig and Mrs. C. W. Culpepper, the dude and the old maid, deserved the prize—a pumpkin pie.

The election of school trustees lastweek resulted in Messrs Kilbee, W. B. Haulerson and Homer Nicholson being chosen.

S. P. Smith is the proud owner of an auto-truck to use in connection with his business.

SICKENED BY CALOMEL

If you ever saw anyone made sick by calomel you won't want any more calomel yourself. There's no real reason why a person should take it anyway, when fifty cents will buy a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a good remedy that perfectly and safely takes the place of dangerous calomel, which is only another form of deadly and poisonous mercury.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting vegetable liquid which will start the liver just as surely as calomel, and which has absolutely no after-effects.

Children and grown people use Dodson's Liver Tone without any restriction of habit or diet. L. R. Phillips & Co. sell it and guarantee it to take the place of calomel, and will refund your money if once it fails in your case.

JAPAN SENDS ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY

FOUR AUSTRIAN WARSHIPS WERE SUNK BY THE FRENCH NAVY

KAISER HAS STARTED FOR THE FRONT TO TAKE COMMAND OF GERMAN TROOPS

London, August 18.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Nish, Serbia, under date of Sunday says: "A naval battle between French and Austrian warships began off Budua, Austria, in the Adriatic, at 9 o'clock this morning. The French squadron, coming from the southwest, attacked the Austrian warships. Two Austrian ironclads were sunk, one was set on fire and a fourth fled toward Cattaro. The fight lasted over an hour."

London, Aug. 18.—The official press bureau of the war office and admiralty has issued a statement saying that French troops, in the course of a rapid advance along the valley of the Schirmeck, have taken a thousand prisoners.

The scene of the fighting of the last few days in the upper Alsace announcement continues, shows the great destructive effect of the fire of the allied artillery. Trenches abandoned by the enemy are filled with dead and wounded.

London, Aug. 18.—A dispatch from Paris to the Havas Agency says French troops have occupied the town of Schirmeck, twelve kilometers (seven and one-half miles) beyond Saales, in Alsace. They took twelve field guns, twelve caissons and eight rapid fire guns. The French cavalry then pushed on to Muelbach and Lutzelbausen.

KAISER STARTS FOR FRONT

London, Aug. 18.—A Reuter dispatch from Paris says a message received there from Berlin announced that the German Emperor started this morning for Mainz with his general staff.

DEPARTURE CONFIRMED

London, Aug. 18.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Central News says Berlin reports that the German Emperor has left for the front.

LEAVES FOR MOSCOW

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A Reuter dispatch from St. Petersburg says the Russian Emperor and Empress, Prince Alexis and the Imperial guard Duchesses have left for Moscow.

WILL EXPEL ENEMIES

London, Aug. 18.—A special dispatch received here says that France and Germany will be expelled from Monaco in accordance with an agreement between France and the Principality.

WILL TRANSMIT MESSAGE

Washington, Aug. 18.—Owing to cable interruption, Japan has not been able to deliver its ultimatum to Germany and the United States will undertake to communicate it to Berlin.

BULGARIA BESIEGED

London, Aug. 18.—The official bureau issued a statement today saying that a state of siege had been officially proclaimed in Bulgaria.

AUSTRIANS INVADE SERBIA

London, Aug. 18.—A Vienna dispatch to Reuter's Telegraph Co says it is semi-officially announced that the Austrian troops have invaded Serbia at several points.

F. J. Schumpert is in the city for a few days much to the gratification of his many friends. He is still in the employ of the Southern Railway demonstrating the farm products of Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas, and at present making headquarters in Alabama. He came down to close a deal for his fine farm on Union Ave and we all hope that selling his farm will not cut him off our visiting list for he numbers his friends in Sanford by his acquaintances.

AFTER THE TRUSTS President Wilson Wants to Know Why Prices Have Advanced

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Wilson has directed Attorney General McKeynolds to investigate recent increases in prices of foodstuffs and to take up the question whether any persons responsible can be prosecuted.

The president sent the following letter to the attorney general: "The rapid and unwarranted increase in the prices of foodstuffs in this country upon the pretext of the conditions existing in Europe is so serious and vital a matter that I am taking the liberty of calling your attention to it."

"I would be very much obliged if you would advise me whether there is, under the existing law, any action which the department of justice take, either by way of investigation or legal process, and what federal legislation would in your judgment be justifiable and warrantable in the circumstances."

"I feel that this is a matter which we cannot let pass without trying to serve the country. Certainly the country ought to be defended if possible against men who would take advantage of such circumstances to the price of food and the difficulties of living."

The president took up the question of increasing prices the first thing on Friday and was impressed by the pressure of the situation. He at once decided that legal action should be taken if possible and that if there were no law covering the question new legislation should be passed.

Officials and the president considered that in many cases the increases were wholly unjustifiable. When he returned from Mr. Wilson's tour of inspection, he found that the department of commerce and department of justice to report what action they were taking. The situation, however, was wholly apart from that and he probably would have taken action before had it not been for the death in the White House.

Special agents of the department of justice throughout the country and investigators of the department of commerce are available to collect evidence for any action the attorney general may think warranted. The department of labor also has a corps which has become very expert in gathering evidence of the increased cost of living.

Mr. D. L. Thraasher of Sanford, is visiting at the home of his sister here. He expresses himself as being very much pleased with this part of the state, and would remain longer but his position of mayor of the little city of Sanford will not permit a prolonged absence. Clearwater Sun.

BUSY MAYOR

Mr. D. L. Thraasher of Sanford, is visiting at the home of his sister here. He expresses himself as being very much pleased with this part of the state, and would remain longer but his position of mayor of the little city of Sanford will not permit a prolonged absence. Clearwater Sun.

BRANAN—LIENHART

Mr. Chas. A. Branan, of Orlando and Miss Bertha H. Lienhart, of Ovid, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, at Orlando. Dr. J. E. Wray officiating. The best wishes of a host of friends go with the young couple.

INVESTIGATING HIGH COST

Washington, Aug. 15.—Reports to the department of justice today show that the investigation into food prices is progressing in every state and almost all the large cities. Federal Grand Jury is now sitting in Chicago and will be the medium for the Chicago inquiry according to a statement made by district attorney Wilkinson.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB HELD FINE MEETING FRIDAY

WAS FIRST SESSION OF THE SEASON—FIFTY MEMBERS WERE IN ATTENDANCE

The first early fall meeting of the Sanford Commercial Club was held in the City Hall last Friday night and was a general get together meeting of the 'right sort' and one that made its impress upon the members and visitors present. The Commercial Club seems to be entering upon a new era of prosperity and benefit to the community at large and the club will take a most active part in the upbuilding of Sanford and Seminole County during the next twelve months.

President Lake called the meeting to order at eight o'clock and stated that it was time for the Club to get busy upon the eve of another fall and winter season and clearly and concisely stated the many good things to be accomplished by the concerted action of the club.

A committee composed of R. J. Holly, W. E. Watson, J. D. Davison, A. E. Yowell and E. F. Householder were appointed by the president to attend the next meeting of the board of county commissioners and urge upon them the necessity of a better road between Sanford and Ocoona. A Finance Committee composed of A. J. Powers, Geo. G. Herring, and F. P. Rines was appointed to solicit funds for the advertising campaign for the ensuing year.

It was then brought to the attention of the club that an up town ticket office was essential during the winter season now approaching and that properly placed before the A. G. L. R. they would accede to such a request and the following committee was appointed to wait upon the officials: A. P. Connolly, C. O. McLaughlin and C. R. Walker.

The matter of the St. John's river being designated as the East Coast Inland Water Route and the present inland canal becoming government property was also brought up. The secretary requested to write the Senators and Representatives regarding same.

Walter Adams, of Louisville, Ky., being present and interested in Sanford was called upon to make a few remarks and gave his impressions of the city from the viewpoint of the stranger and prospective investor.

C. R. Walker made a most happy address upon the bulkheading of the lake front. Major Powers upon the club and the social features as a get together proposition. Judge Herring upon the club as the motive power behind Sanford and the work of similar organizations. Thos. Emmet Wilson upon Sanford from the recollections of a pioneer and the progress of the city, and many others gave short talks that were very helpful and demonstrated the feeling of the community as to the great work of the club.

In all the meeting was one of the best that has been held in some time and before adjourning it was decided that the club meet every two weeks in order to get started upon the great work of boosting Sanford and Seminole County, and the next meeting should be larger if possible.

The Club will meet again on Friday night, August 28th, and there will be many interesting details to be given at this meeting and a full attendance is desired. The Club expects to take on new life and many new members and there will be a great awakening among the men of Sanford and a general get together spirit that is bound to accomplish great things for our city.

FLORIDA FACTORIES

Florida has more than 5,000 manufacturing establishments of all kinds with a total capital investment of about $75,000,000. In these establishments nearly 90,000 people are employed at a total wage of $42,000,000. Florida has great lines of industry which are so widely known that one may not have been impressed by the fact that in manufacturing surpasses a number of older States. Industrial Index.

SANFORD MAY GET A GOVERNMENT BUILDING IN 1920

SOME ACTION SHOULD BE TAKEN AT ONCE TO AVOID UNNECESSARY DELAY

Postmaster Haskins has received a letter from the Supervising Architect at Washington stating that about 12 million dollars worth of public buildings are on the way and in process of formation and all of those whose appropriations were made in 1913 would not be built until about the year 1920.

Last week City Engineer Williams surveyed the lot recently purchased by the government and staked it off and it was the hope of the people that work on the new building would commence at once, but this last word of advice would intimate that it will be several years yet before we have the pleasure of receiving our bills in the new post-office.

That it is will be several years unless we can do something regarding the new building for there is no reason why the architects office at Washington should be so far behind with the work. Hon. Frank Clark is now the Chairman of the Public Buildings Committee and since he obtained the appropriation for Sanford he can be depended upon to hurry the matter along. A little work along this line would be of great help and the Commercial Club and the citizens in general should strive to have the work start before the year 1920. If it is necessary to wait until 1920 for the building we may as well forget about it and be content with a Republican postmaster and the present inadequate building.

The Sanford Hotel Co., in perfect good faith have sold the lot at a very reasonable price expecting the building would be erected at once and enhance the value of their other holdings but at the present rate of building the joke seems to be on the people of Sanford and the lot will have whiskers on it before it becomes a godsend.

Nation Facing Meat Famine

Economic experts of the Federal Government are giving the high cost of living problem thoughtful consideration and are investigating the high prices of meat. The Department of Agriculture, has just completed a census of the meat-producing animals of the United States and finds that there has been a decrease of 4,183,000 head and an increase of 1,765,500 in value during the past year. On January 1, 1914, the herd numbered 144,507,000 compared with 148,690,000 head a year ago.

The bulk of the nation's decreased meat supply is in the swine herd. Compared with last year the number of hogs in the United States has diminished 2,185,000 head; cattle 175,000 head and sheep 4,763,000 head. The major portion of the increased values is credited to the beef animals. The value of all cattle, excluding milk cows, when compared with last year, shows an increase of 688,000; swine have gained $9,842,000 in value, white sheep have decreased $1,476,000.

NEW COCA COLA PLANT

The Sanford Coca Cola Bottling Co. having moved into their new Home on First Street take pleasure in inviting all their customers and the public in general to call in and inspect their new factory.

All employees will be glad to show visitors the up to date and sanitary way in which Coca Cola and Soda Waters are bottled as well as the system of washing and sterilizing the bottles every time before they are filled again and explain anything that could be of interest to their visitors.

TURKISH TROOPS ARE REPORTED MARCHING TOWARD GREECE

FROM OVER THE STATE

General Manager Wardsworth, of the Alachua County Fair, is calling the attention of proposed exhibitors to the necessity for beginning preparations at once of the products they propose to put on display at the November fair. In conversation yesterday he announced that he wanted to caution the people against waiting too long before turning close attention to this work. His experience, he said, with first year fairs in counties was that the average man and woman paid no attention to the exhibits they proposed to make until just previous to the opening of the fair, which, he said, was a tremendous mistake, and which he was anxious for the people of Alachua county to avoid this year.

According to the report on Occupations recently issued by the Director William J. Harris, of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, there were 322,087 persons 10 years of age and over in Florida in 1910 engaged in gainful occupations. The gainful workers thus formed 42.8 per cent of the total population of the State (752,619) and 57 per cent of the population 10 years of age and over (564,722). In 1900 the 201,570 gainful workers of the State formed 38.1 per cent of the population and 52.3 per cent of the population 10 years of age and over. The male gainful workers in 1910 numbered 248,926, or 83.2 per cent of all males 10 years of age and over as compared with 164,989, or 80.7 per cent, in 1900. The female gainful workers in 1910 numbered 74,161 or 27.5 per cent of all the females 10 years of age and over as compared with 37,581, or 20.6 per cent in 1914.

Should anyone desire to construct an ark after the formula of the late Mr. Noah, the celebrated "gopher wood" of the Bible is to be found in Gadsden county, Florida. The "gopher wood" is known scientifically as Torrey Taxodium and it is found only on the Gadsden county side of the Apalachicola river, for a distance of seven or eight miles below the junction of the Chattahoochee and Flint rivers, and along the banks of the Nile, in Egypt. During recent years the tree, which grows to goodly size, and in some respects resembles the pine, has attracted a great deal of attention from scientists and many have visited Chattahoochee for the purpose of studying the tree in its native state.

Lake City is the proud possessor of a fire truck, which increases the efficiency of the fire department to a great extent. The truck is seventy horse-power, with triple pumps and 1002 feet of hose, extra length ladders and all improvements. The engineer from the manufacturer will make a practical demonstration on the streets in a short time.

Two British ships have sailed from Pensacola in spite of the fact that the German cruisers are seizing every ship they can get their hands on. They are the first to leave since the war was declared between Germany and England, but it is thought others will leave if arrangements can be made. The Oceans sailed with a cargo of over three million feet of lumber, bound for Genoa Italy, while the Alton sailed with two hundred and forty six thousand bushels of wheat for Liverpool.

It is thought that the flint rock deposits in the Everglades will save the city of Miami about $100,000 in its program of paving. It is estimated that about 60,000 yards of the rock will be needed and the cost will be $3.50 delivered through the Lauderdale canal. This rock will have to be used as the surface rock around the city is too soft for the paving operations.

Mr. and Mrs. Wisner expect to leave today for Coronado Beach where they will spend a month enjoying the salt breezes and Billy will fish in the endeavor to break the record.

THE GERMAN FORCES ARE STADILY PUSHING THEIR WAY AHEAD THROUGH MEUSE VALLEY

London, Aug. 18.—Official dispatches say Greece has received information that Turkish troops are crossing Bulgarian territory and in the direction of Greece. The Hellenic government, in consequence of these reports, has notified Turkey that if this news should be confirmed corresponding military and naval measures will be taken immediately by Greece.

The German forces are pushing forward through the Valley of the Meuse, and still more extensive operations are in progress along the Alsace-Lorraine frontier, where the French and German armies are in contact. Japan has sent an ultimatum to Germany demanding the withdrawal of German warships from the Orient and the evacuation of Kiau Chau, a German protectorate in China.

This territory comprises an area of 200 square miles, with 200 square miles additional in the bay; Taing Tau, the seat of the Governor of the territory, is the port where the German warships mobilized at the outbreak of hostilities.

Japan's ultimatum gives Germany until August 23 to comply with her demands. Owing to cable interruptions, however, Japan has not been able to deliver the ultimatum to Germany, and it is announced from Washington that the United States will undertake this task.

Pekin reports that three British regiments have been ordered to withdraw in readiness to go aboard transports, and it is presumed they will co-operate with the Japanese land forces, if the force of arms is resorted to.

In Tokio, the Japanese ultimatum has created a deep impression, and the Japanese Premier and Foreign Minister have counselled the Japanese to maintain a calm attitude.

A state of siege has been proclaimed in Bulgaria.

The United States cruisers, Tennessee and North Carolina, bearing gold for Americans in Europe, have arrived at Falmouth.

A SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE

The Herald has always contended that Sanford offered more to the sportsman of the country than any other section of the United States and facts and figures can be obtained to prove the statement. There may be places that offer larger game but none offers such a variety and to the Sanford man who knows the possibilities of his city the stories of the north and northwest where one little fish or a small bag of game constitutes a weeks sport the great fishing and hunting grounds of the Upper St. Johns river are great.

There is no season of the year that the fisherman cannot have a good days sport on the upper St. Johns river or the myriad of fine clear water lakes abounding in Seminole county.

As one instance of the sport to be found here Geo. A. DeCottes, the well known attorney of this city returned yesterday from a day spent on the upper river and brought back 24 fine bass that made an average weight of 121 pounds of fish the largest weighing 15 1/2 pounds and it probably weighed more at the time of capture. The entire string was placed on a line in the Sanford House grounds and a photo made of them and if any other section of the United States can show anything better for a few hours sport the Herald will take back our assertions. Other parts of Florida may do equally as well but certainly no other state can come up to the mark, and we doubt if any other part of Florida can offer such diversified sport as Seminole county and especially the upper St. Johns river.

What a place for the new tourist hotel here in Sanford.
