PRESIDENT HARDING'S CONDITION CRITICAL

GENERAL BUSINESS OUTLOOK IN SIXTH FEDERAL DISTRICT SHOWS SLACKENING UP

ALONG SOME LINES OF ACTIVITY WHICH IS USUAL FOR THIS TIME

Retail Trade Shows Favorable Comparison With Last Year

(By The Associated Press)
ATLANTA, Ga., July 30.—General business conditions in the Sixth Federal Reserve district, as in other parts of the country, have exhibited a slackening in some lines of activity which is usual at this time of year, according to the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve bank, made public Saturday. The review covers business and agricultural conditions in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee. Retail trade, as reflected in reports made to the Federal Reserve bank by 80 representative department stores in this district, showed a more favorable comparison with last year during June than has been the case in any recent month, except March—the peak month for the spring and summer of 1923. March business reported by these stores in 1923 was almost 24 per cent greater than in March last year, but a part of this increase is attributed to the fact that this year Easter came earlier and that practically all Easter buying was done in March, while last year some of it came in April.

Wholesale trade for June shows a slowing up which is due, at least in part, according to the review, to the usual seasonal influences which bring a period of quiet during mid-summer. Reports received from 190 retail and wholesale merchants are by no means pessimistic, and most of them state that with a fair out-turn of the agricultural crops of this section, the fall and winter months should prove satisfactory from the standpoint of the volume of business.

Agriculture, the review points out, has a dominating influence upon the condition of business all through the south, and especially where cotton is the money and principal crop raised. The purchasing power of the farming population is directly dependent upon the outcome of the crop, and business conditions are usually favorable or unfavorable as agricultural production is favorable or otherwise.

The second report issued by the Department of Agriculture, through its Bureau of Agricultural Economics, shows that the condition of the cotton crop in the United States during the period from May 25 to June 25 declined from a condition of 71 per cent of normal to 69.8 per cent, which taken with the estimated acreage, indicates a probable crop of 11,412,000 bales for the season. No state in the Sixth Federal Reserve district has a crop condition as high as the average for the United States, the nearest approach to that figure being Louisiana, where the condition is 68 per cent of normal, says the review. Two of these states, Alabama and Mississippi show a condition equal to that of June 25, 1922, while the other four states show a lower condition.

May rains followed by a wet June caused a 22 point drop in the condition of cotton in Florida. However, the indicated crop of June 25 was 29,000 bales, compared with a production of 25,000 bales last year.

The condition of the crop in Georgia declined nine points from May 25 to June 25, most of the deterioration having taken place between May 25 and June 10. Labor has been extremely short and a large number of women and children are reported to be engaged in cultivation of the crop.

While cotton in the sixth district does not come up to the general average of the United States, there

SEPARATE TRIAL FOR GARRETT'S IN VIRGINIA

Larkin Garrett Will Be Tried Before His Brother

(By The Associated Press)
CUMBERLAND COURT HOUSE, July 30.—Judge White, sitting in Cumberland county court today granted motion of state for separate trials in case of R. O. and L. C. Garrett, charged with murder of Rev. E. S. Pierce and Larkin Garrett will be brought to trial first. Decision came after a stiff legal fight by the defense counsel. When R. O. Garrett will be tried is not indicated by the state and may depend on the outcome of his brother's case.

Mysterious Explosions in New South Wales Blow Up Pipe Lines

Of British Empire Steel Corporation.
(By The Associated Press)
SYDNEY, New South Wales, July 30.—A series of mysterious explosions occurred here today. Pipe lines supplying plant of the British Empire Steel Corporation, where strike is in progress were blown up at several points forcing works to close. Police advised several men were seen fleeing from the scene of one explosion.

has been an increase in the acreage planted in the six states and increased use of fertilizer as well as weevil poison. However, reports indicate that there are a larger number of weevils active this year than before.

The review states that commercial failures in the sixth district in June were substantially smaller, both from the standpoint of the total number and total liabilities of defaulted concerns, that during June last year, debits of individual accounts at 25 principal cities for the week ending July 11 totaled $234,000,000, as against $192,000,000 for the same week last year. Savings deposits reported to the federal reserve bank by 99 banks showed an increase in June over May; and an increase of about 14 per cent over figures for June last year.

Imports for May, 1923, through the port of New Orleans totaled $19,092,150, which is almost double the value of the receipts a year ago, and the highest for May in the history of the port, with the exception of the record-making year of 1920. The customs collections at New Orleans for the period ending June 30, 1923, totaled $25,212,106 showing an increase of over $9,000,000 over the amount collected for the year ending June 30, 1922.

Lumber production by 142 mills reporting to the Southern Pine Association for June was somewhat larger than during June last year, while orders and shipments both showed recessions.

The building situation, as reported by 23 cities in the Sixth district, has not shown any material change during the past month. However, building permits issued at 16 large cities in the district during June totaled the third largest figure on record—an aggregate of $3,152,763.

Cotton consumption in the cotton-growing states, as in the United States at large, was somewhat smaller in June than in May, but larger than June, 1922.

The great need of France, now as always, is less politics and more twins.

FROM CASE OF PTOMAINÉ POISONING, COMPLICATIONS HAVE ARISEN THAT BAFFLE HIS PHYSICIANS IN 'FRISCO

Personal Physician Has Called in All the Eminent Medical Authorities of California to Diagnose Peculiar Symptoms.

(By The Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—President Harding will be rushed back to Washington by special train as soon as he has recovered from the present illness sufficiently to travel, probably within two weeks. Two San Francisco physicians, who were called into consultation by General Sawyer last night were again in conference with Gen. Sawyer this morning. Secretary Work, of the Interior Department, also met with the consultants.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—President Harding today is a sick man. How serious is his illness his physicians have not said beyond a statement issued last night saying "New symptoms had arisen during day indicating complications in case of the president." But was regarded sufficiently serious last night to cause cancellation of the president's entire California program and to bring about consultation into which two leading California physicians were called.

Four physicians participating in the consultation concluded their meeting early today without issuing any statement although Brig. Gen. Sawyer, personal physician to the president, had previously announced a bulletin would be made public. None of the four physicians would make personal statement. The consultants were Dr. Sawyer, Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the Interior and former president of the American Medical Association; Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president Stanford University and present head of the American Medical Association and Dr. Charles Cooper, of Stanford University, heart specialist. The calling of Cooper, together with other developments indicated effect of possible complications on president's heart action being watched closely.

Definite decision has not been reached before meeting of the Reichstag at the end of next week."

REPORTS OF REVOLUTION MOVEMENT IN GREECE IS WITHOUT FOUNDATION BUT RUMORS ARE STILL CIRCULATING

In European Press and Looks Like Something in the Air

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, July 30.—Legation announced there was no truth in reports of Republican revolutionary movement in Greece. It is said these unfounded reports have been appearing for some time in European press and that only last night the legation here received denial from the Greek government. Reports have reached the British government of an attempt to set up a republic in Greece in place of the monarchy, Ronald MacNeill, under secretary of foreign affairs, told the House of Commons.

CHICAGO TEMPLE OF METHODISM TO COST $3,100,000

CHICAGO, July 30.—The new Chicago Temple built by the Methodist Episcopal church at a cost of $3,100,000 located in Chicago's loop at the intersection of two of the busiest thoroughfares in the world, will be ready for its official occupancy October 3, when the Rock River conference of Northern Illinois convenes.

The total value of the building, one of the tallest churches in the world, and the ground on which it stands will figure nearly $6,500,000.

The height of the structure from street to top of spire will be 556 feet, with 21 stories devoted to church use. The doors of the temple will be open to worshippers day and night.

TO ELIMINATE SEABOARD SOUTH FLORIDA STATION

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 30.—The Seaboard Air Line railway has asked the state railroad commission for authority to discontinue the road's facilities at South Tampa and to eliminate that point as a prepay station.

CATTS MAY BE GOVERNOR OF STATE AGAIN?

Sidney J. Catts, former governor of Florida and unsuccessful candidate for the United States senate, announced his intention today of entering the 1924 gubernatorial race.

Since his vindication in federal court at Pensacola on charges of peonage while he was chief executive of the state, the former governor has lived on his farm near DeFuniak Springs.

He said he has decided after careful and prayerful consideration to yield to the urgent solicitation of friends in all parts of the state, and would in due time make formal announcement.

"If Governor Bloxham, my kinsman," he said, "could be elected twice as governor of Florida, why should not I also?"

He added that he believed he had a right to be vindicated by the people as he had by the courts of the land.—Orlando Sentinel.

It may be that a vote of confidence merely expresses each other leader's fear that he might get Poincare's job.

MANY KILLED SUNDAY TRAVEL TRAIN AND AUTO

Indiana, North Carolina and New York Furnish Sunday Catastrophes

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 30.—Nine persons were killed late Sunday when a Pennsylvania east bound passenger train crashed into an automobile which had started across the tracks at Liggett eight miles west of here.

The train was traveling about 50 miles an hour and was two hours late because of another accident near Highlands, Ill., in which four persons were killed.

According to G. G. Gillispie, in charge of the Liggett telegraph tower, who witnessed the accident, the tragedy was caused by the attempt of the driver to cross the tracks ahead of the train. The automobile was struck directly in the middle, the occupants being hurled in dismembered fragments for a distance of about 200 feet.

WADESBORO, N. C., July 30.—Ben Downer, a young man of Lileville was instantly killed, a Miss Webb of Georgia, was probably fatally injured and a Miss Wall, of Lileville was hurt when Seaboard Air Line train No. 31 struck an automobile in which they were riding at a grade crossing near here Sunday afternoon. The injured young women were brought to a local hospital.

NEW YORK, July 30.—William I. Gottlieb, president of Gottlieb and Rabinowitz, Inc., garment manufacturer, and four young women employees of his firm, were killed early Sunday when a Long Island passenger train crashed into an automobile in which they were returning from the beach.

The accident occurred at the Merrick Road crossing in Rockville Center when, according to witnesses, Gottlieb's car smashed through the crossing gates directly in the path of the speeding train.

Wreckage and bodies were hurled or carried for more than 100 feet and the front of the automobile still was wedged into the locomotive when the train came to a stop 1,000 feet down the track.

Death apparently came instantly to four of the five victims. One of the young women was alive when she was lifted from the wreckage, but died as she was being placed in an automobile to be rushed to a hospital.

One of the young women was identified through letters as Miss Margaret E. Lewis, of Manhattan.

LIGHT OF PUBLICITY ON REPARATION NEGOTIATION THROUGH AIRING SUBJECT

BIG LAKE OKEECHOBEE IS VERY HIGH

Weather Conditions Are Making High Waters Unsafe

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, July 30.—Prevailing weather conditions cause Lake Okeechobee to still remain at elevation too high for safety, but everything possible is being done to hold the lake in check and provide local drainage along canals for protection Chief Engineer Elliott of the Everglades drainage district stated. There has been a rise of eight-tenths of a foot in the lake since May 15.

Near Vancouver, it Was Lost in the Fog

(By The Associated Press)
VANCOUVER, B. C., July 30.—The tug Tyee, of Seattle, was reported to have piled up on the reef somewhere in the strait of Juan de Fuca in dense fog making the tenth vessel in trouble in these waters in four days.

Another good endurance test is to picnic in a tree and wait for somebody to come and drive—the Jersey bull away.

Florida's Minerals And Other Resources Will Be Compiled

By Geologists Who Will Make Complete Report.

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 30.—Dr. R. M. Harper, geologist who in recent years has surveyed the vegetation and geography of northern Florida, and later compiled a companion work for the central part of the state, probably will complete the work late this year by making similar surveys for the southern tip of the peninsular state.

Dr. Harper has just arrived here to assist Herman Gunter, state geologist, in compiling statistics and reports on the state's mineral and other natural resources. He is thoroughly familiar with the state, having done his first research work in the state in 1910 when he made a study and compiled data on Florida's peat deposits.

Graduating from the University of Georgia in the class of 1897 with Clifford Walker, the Empire State's present governor, Dr. Harper entered the service of Georgia as forestry collector for the geological survey, and has been continuously in the service of Georgia, Alabama and Florida, and Arkansas, since as botanist or geographer since that time.

CHAIN SYSTEM WILL HAVE TEN STORES IN ST. PETERSBURG SOON

ST. PETERSBURG, July 30.—Grocery stores will be so numerous here next season that householders will be able, no matter where they live, to find a grocery store within a block or two of their homes. There is now being organized here a company to put in at least ten stores, on the chain system. They are to be known as the Sanitary stores and arrangements have been made to open two on Central avenue, one near First street and one near Sixth street. Others will be opened from time to time in various parts of town.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS WHICH IS TO ADJOURN IN NOVEMBER

NO REPLY TO NOTE

From France or Belgium and is Very Doubtful if Early One Will Be Received

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, July 30.—Premier Baldwin told house of commons today no reply has yet been received from France and Belgium to Great Britain's reparation communication and that it is very doubtful whether anything would be received which could be published in Thursday's debate.

Light of publicity seems likely soon to be thrown on the present reparations negotiations through airing of subject in the house of commons, which is to adjourn Thursday until November. The French-Belgian ambassadors were to deliver to Lord Curzon this afternoon replies of these governments to Great Britain's recent reparations note. The German ambassador had appointment to see Curzon afterward. There will be a full meeting of British cabinet tomorrow morning to consider the note and it is expected that tomorrow night the house of commons will engage in debate regarding the Ruhr, which will end secrecy of recent allied negotiations. It is anticipated Premier Baldwin will outline British policy in the course of debate.

DAYTONA WILL BOND FOR IMPROVEMENTS

DAYTONA, Fla., July 30.—The city commissioners have selected October 1 as the date for submitting to the people in an election an ordinance for the issuance of bonds of $200,000 for the waterfront; $200,000 for improving certain streets, paving and installing drainage facilities; $100,000 for construction of an extension to the sanitary system, and $100,000 for water works improvement, and $10,000 as partial payment of building a new fire station.

Railroad Commission Cannot Collect Claims For Live Stock Killed

Cost Value of Cow Can Be Collected By Due Process of Law.

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, July 30.—The Florida railroad commission is without authority to collect claims for persons whose live stock is killed by railroad trains, according to a letter by Lewis Thompson, secretary of the commission, to L. J. Stokes, of Meekins, Fla. It is the belief of the commission, however, that cash value of a cow may be recovered if the owner can prove negligence on the part of the railroad.

The letter follows: "Enclosed for your information is a copy of the laws covering this subject. We are under the impression that where an animal is killed in the station grounds that it would be necessary for the owner to bring suit to recover damages and prove negligence on the part of the railroad company. You will note under section 2874 that if a jury or judge finds a verdict for not more than the amount tendered by the railroad company, the court shall render judgment against the plaintiff.

"We think you could recover full cash value of your cow, in the event that you bring suit and prove negligence on the part of the railroad, but would suggest that you consult with an attorney, as this is a question to be settled by the courts, and one over which we have no jurisdiction."

ENEMIES OF WOMEN

AT NEW MILANE THEATER ON TUESDAY NIGHT "Enemies of Women," Cosmopolitan Corporation's production of the Vicente Blasco Ibañez story of the same title, with Lionel Barrymore and Alma Rubens featured in two leading roles, opens at the Milane Theater on August 2, for a 2 day's engagement. Alan Crossland was the director, Joseph Urban designed the settings and John Lynch prepared the scenario.

Blasco Ibañez proved in his brilliant "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "Blood and Sand" that his stories have particular screen quality. Perhaps his ability in colorful description of characters, and scenes is responsible for the ease with which his stories have been brought to the screen. In "Enemies of Women," the drama of regeneration of man and woman, is laid in the background of Russian society life, shifting to Monte Carlo, and thence to Paris. Under the revels of Russian courtesans, the tragedy of the gambling tables at Monte Carlo and the love of a man and woman, there is the constant rumbling of the cannons of war. The story has practically every element in its required for a great screen drama.

Joseph Urban has designed magnificent settings for the Russian palace of Prince Lubimoff, the French villa of Alicia, a replica of the Casino, and the Monte Carlo home of the Prince. Alan Crossland, the director, has had his opportunities in a number of sets, fight, fashion and emotional scenes as well as in his war episode. Besides the two featured players the cast includes Pedro de Cordoba, W. H. Thompson, Gareth Hughes, Gladys Hulette, William Collier, Jr., Mario Majeroni, Paul Panzer and Betty Bouton.

The new Chicago Temple built by the Methodists will cost over three million dollars. It may be a good bit of advertising to build such an edifice but we believe the money could be used to better advantage. However, not being a Methodist we really have nothing to do with spending any of the money.

Pavlova says that Egyptian women are the prettiest. We don't believe it. However, not having travelled in Egypt we could not pass judgment—only we would like to rise and remark that when Egypt raises them more beautiful than Florida—just trot them out. We would like to see them.

Man in Tampa saw that city grow from 1,000 inhabitants to 100,000. Almost as old a man as the editor of the Herald. We have witnessed this city grow from 100 to 1,000,000 and "then we woke up" got breakfast and went to work on this rag of freedom with the dream that some time we might be as rich as Croesus or Wallace Stovall.

The Tampa Tribune says President Harding had nothing to do with the elimination of the twelve-hour law and darkly hints that the stage was all set by the Steel Trust to bring the president into the limelight as a public benefactor. Since the twelve-hour law has not been eliminated we suppose it would be polite to wait until it is wiped off the Steel Trust books before giving credit to anyone.

WILL OHIO FURNISH ANOTHER MARTYR?

Press dispatches today state that the condition of President Harding is very serious. It was first pronounced "Pomarine poisoning" but complications have arisen that are serious enough to cause his personal physician much alarm and he has called in all the eminent medical authorities in California. It could be pomarine poisoning and we who have gone through the sufferings of pomarine poisoning know what the president has suffered for there is nothing quite as painful and quite as filled with after effects to the stomach and other organs of the body. However, in the case of our president it brings to mind the possibilities of some arch fiend being able to take the life of the president by the poison route. We hope such is not the case. We do not want to think that America or her possessions have such a man as an inhabitant and yet—

Garfield was an Ohio man and he was shot by an assassin. McKinley was an Ohio man and he was shot by an assassin. Are we to witness another Ohio boy dead upon the altar of sacrifice to his nation and to his people?

THIS IS THE ACCEPTED TIME.

Now is the time for every good citizen of Sanford to climb on the band wagon and toot his horn for a bigger Sanford. With the magnificent start that we have taken in the face of many difficulties it would be foolish to lay down on the job when it is half finished. This is the time to go ahead with all improvements and make larger ones. This is the time to vote bonds for improvements and see that they are started before the winter season. This is the time to advertise and go after new business. This is the time to be more active than ever. Don't think of taking a summer sleep when so much work is before us. We can rest after we have built a city of twenty thousand people for then the city will go forward with its own momentum.

INFORMATION FOR FARMERS' RELIEF.

The Sioux City Live Stock Record makes what looks like an original suggestion for the relief of the many illa with which the farmers of this country are afflicted, either in fact or in fancy. The Sioux City contemporary wants to know:

"Why not give the cure by elimination a try-out? We have been trying legislation, bureauation, regulation and damnation for some ten or more years; in fact, that's what we have been running to ever since the Wilson theory bug broke into the White House on the Mill, down Washington way, and found a hatching place. We have gone stark mad on curing by legislation. And where has it got us? Nowhere, and worse. That's the answer."

"DOING IT YOUR OWN WAY." OR Sioux City Live Stock Record makes bold to assert that the rural credits law, that was to put the farmers, financially, on "easy street," has served to create "a large-sized annex to the burden of taxation," that "the man who needed credit still needs it," that "the man who can get credit now could get it before legislation furnished jobs for a lot of bogus patriots and peanut politicians, and the burden of taxation has taken on a few more mills." Then the Record, whose constituents are cattle raisers and farmers, pays its compliments to "that beautiful affair known to history, fame and our political economics as the tariff," says:

"We roared and snorted, and tore our hair to get a high protective tariff as a means of helping the farmer out of a hole—and we got tariff. Can anyone point to a thing the farmer has to sell that has been boosted in price by the tariff? Is there anything the farmer has to buy that hasn't been boosted by this same tariff? Have we, or have we not, a lot of patriots who have mastered the art of selling American made goods on a protective tariff basis? Is there, or is there not, such a thing as marking up the price of American made goods by reason of a tariff on similar goods of foreign origin? There probably, and, it might be said, suspiciously is. At least it seems as though patriots of that brand have been met up with. About the only thing in commerce at this time that has not been boosted, or at least well sustained in price by the tariff is the wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, hay, cattle, hogs and sheep that originate on farms and must be relied upon to pay off the mortgages, taxes and other things of a monetary demanding kind that get the matter with farms. We have had blocs and federations, and Brookhart and LaFollette, and monkeys and parrots, and weasels and skunks, all drawing salary and demanding that something be done—and the only something noted up to date has been increased burdens and increased costs, more men inducts dinto cushion seats and connected up with salaries that put another layer on the burden of taxation."

"KIDS"

AMERICA'S GREATEST NEED

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., July 30.—Roger W. Babson was asked why it is that he is not so optimistic as the general business situation when so many of the barometers of business indicate great prosperity.

The optimistic forecasts of prominent bankers, manufacturers, and financial advisors were called to Mr. Babson's attention and he was frankly asked why a warning was needed under the present stable conditions. His reply was as follows:

"It is true that a number of the barometers of business are distinctly favorable at the present time. In order to be absolutely fair to everyone I even took pains to enumerate these in a published statement only a month ago. The merchants are not overstocked; manufacturers have not been speculating in raw materials; banks have good resources; check transactions are normal; railroad earnings are exceptionally good; and our great industries are apparently on a sound basis. My critics are correct in their statement that surface indications point to a wonderful business this fall, and perhaps two or three years of rising prices. I realize these rising figures as well as anyone and it is very hard for me to sound a warning while so many are so optimistic and so contented.

"My reason for sounding a warning is two-fold. First, the Babson-chart of business conditions show clearly that the period of readjustment is only about 60 per cent completed, and that further readjustment is inevitable. Second, that the attitude of the younger generation is distinctly harmful to the present situation. That is to say, my warning is based both on statistics and on a study of the spiritual forces underlying business. Of course, in reality, the spiritual or moral forces are by far the more important as they really determine what statistics and the chart will later show. The attitude of the people bears the same relation to the Babson-chart and to statistics that the temperature bears to the thermometer, or as car-loadings bear to railroad earnings.

"I have offices in twenty-six large cities and correspondents in two huneveryone. In the classified columns, where the public take advantage of putting out some special propaganda, may be found under the proper headings, precisely what is wanted; or, if not there at the time, a notice properly worded will bring to the would-be purchaser the article desired.

There is no chance for successfully disputing the "pulling power" of these little advertisements whose the finder will note the fact that he has a certain article ready for the owner. Usually, though, the vnder cost is so small that it seems like nothing. Whether it shall be a notice of something found, or something to be exchanged, there is always a reward. The loser of an article should immediately seek the column and let his loss be known; and occasionally of an article waits until the loser places his announcement, upon the principle that if the article is not worth trying to regain through proper channels it is not worth advertising.

Somewhere in this city today is a bunch of valuable keys found awaiting the owner. They are being held until the announcement is made that they have been lost. The vnder felt not called upon to pay for a notice where the loser might be merely

HE NEVER "RESTED."

John M. Siddall is dead—at 49. Siddall was the editor of the American Magazine. His "Sid Says" was a feature of that magazine. He devoted his life to it. He was the magazine or the magazine was Siddall, however you may prefer to put it.

B. C. Forbes, the financial writer, a personal friend of Sid's, writes a striking obituary of the late editor. Forbes says the doctors called it "cancer of the stomach." But Forbes calls it "overwork."

Siddall never knew what it was to rest or recuperate. He was in his editorial chair every day, including Sunday, from eight to 16 hours. In ten years, he had two days off, one at a time.

Asked why he didn't take a vacation, Sid said:

"Why a vacation? I enjoy this work more than I could possibly enjoy anything else. A vacation to me wouldn't be a vacation. It wouldn't be half as much fun as working."

Because Sid felt that way about it, he didn't take any vacations. He considered only the fact that he preferred working to resting. But he didn't take into account the other fact that the human system demands rest, change, recuperation, even though for very brief periods.

So, John M. Siddall is dead—at 49. At the height of his usefulness. At the full tide of his success. Now, he is of no more use. Now, success means nothing to him. He defied the laws of nature. He refused to give his weary body and his overworked brain the occasional let-up they demanded, although he could well afford to do it.

Now it is too late. Siddall's hard and unremitting work made a name for himself and a success for his magazine. The American had 400,000 circulation when he took it over. It now has 2,000,000.

But, here is the question.

Would not a man of Siddall's ability have made just as great a success without sticking everlastingly on the job, exacting the limit of endurance from his physical powers, never taking a breathing spell, never resting? Wouldn't he have made even a greater success by recognizing the limitations of his constitution and giving it an occasional change to recuperate?

We think so.

At any rate, John M. Siddall would not have been dead—at 49.

He would have had many years left in which to achieve the success he crowded into a few, at the cost of his health, his life.—Tampa Tribune.

FROM OTHER SANCTUMS

CAN STATE PAY BACK LOST TWENTY YEARS?

Imprisoned for an offense which it is now agreed the man did not commit, Henry Lambert of Thomaston, Maine, has been set free from the penitentiary. And for what? And what is the recourse for the man thus freed? The state which imprisoned him; set him at work to keep his mind clear; fed and clothed him; fixed upon him the stolid mien which imprisonment for an extended period always brings; declares a belief in his innocence of the crime of murder, which was purely circumstantial, and sets him free.

Free for what? To do what? What money did the state return to him for the twenty years of service he gave it? There is the rub. Lambert was given "an official document expressing belief in his innocence," but that butters no bread. He was at least thirty-one years old when he commenced to serve time. That would make him now over fifty. He is doubtless expert at whatever has been his vocation during the years of confinement—but he would make but a poor hand at securing work at that trade unless through the aid of charity.

What satisfaction can it be to a man after spending a score of years inside the walls of a penitentiary, all the time knowing that he was wrongfully incarcerated, to be turned out with an apology and the declaration that "we are sorry it happened!" Doubtless without a dollar, save the five dollars always given a discharged convict in Maine, together with a suit of clothes which mark him still a convict because of the quality, the man walks from the place "free." Free of any penal obligation he owes the state; free to breathe an air bearing no taint of stone walls and concrete corridors; free to see the works of Nature mingled with the efforts of man; free to see the sights which will be odd to him and hear sounds to which he has been a stranger; free to make his way as best he can along life's highway.

Some reparation is due such an unfortunate victim. The state owes him twenty years of pleasure so far as he can secure pleasure. Cases of improper conviction, possibly may be many; but apologies of this sort are very rare. Some law should make it obligatory in like cases that the state should grant the innocent victim a pension of sufficient size to make it possible for him to lead as leisure a life as he desired, within reason. None can determine to what elevation in society and finance that man might have reached had he been free during these twenty years that will always be in his memory; and there would be but justice in seeking to repair the wrong done him.—Palatka News.

Light, feathery biscuits, piping hot from the oven will awaken the most sluggish appetite. Make them with MERRY WIDOW Self-Rising Flour, and you will have uniformly better biscuits—lighter, fluffier and more appetizing.

MERRY WIDOW Self-Rising Flour is made by the Ford Flour Company, millers since 1895, the originators of self-rising flour. In spite of the many imitations, it is holding its old friends and making new ones every day. Here's the proof—over 600,000 more bags of MERRY WIDOW were used in 1922 than in 1920. Try it. You will never change. Ask for it by name.

People call it "The Flour Without a Doubt" because it is already mixed with exactly the right amount of pure ingredients. You just add milk or cold water and shortening—and the biscuits are ready for the oven.

The cost of gain on a pig during the growing period of his life or until he weighs about 125 pounds determines in a large measure the profit to be made. Many hog raisers materially increase this cost by not having sufficient green forage available for the pigs. A good green pasture means larger profits, according to experts.

The best way to control the mosquito is to be constantly on the job and looking for the elimination of every possible breeding place. Mosquitoes breed best in shallow water, and a pool of water anywhere that is not more than an inch deep will breed a supply of them. An old tin can partly filled with water is an excellent breeding place. Gutters on the house that do not drain properly offer breeding places. Small pot holes alongside an open ditch that does not flow all the time are good breeding places. In order to clean up on these places all must be investigated and taken care of.

The Italian parliament has just passed a drastic law forbidding the destruction of migratory birds. No question is more truly international than the one of the killing of wild birds, whose food is insects and weed seeds. #### RAILROAD COMMISSION HAS NO JURISDICTION OVER TOURIST BUREAUS

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 30.—The state railroad commission has no jurisdiction whatever over tourist bureaus—except as they act as an agent of a common, the secretary of the commission has advised A. L. Erickson of St. Petersburg. Mr. Erickson was advised "there is no state regulation of which we are aware that a tourist bureau must observe aside from the usual civil laws, and this commission has no authority under the law to fix the rate of compensation which a tourist bureau receives for its services."

The Temperamental Season Lengthens the Life of the Coat

Since Spring has taken to coming in so coldly and departing in such a frenzy of heat, with no intervening period of those clear cool days which are commonly attributed to June, the term Spring Coat becomes a synonym for Fall Coat. For it is in late August and more settled September that one finally removes the dust wrapper from the coat and begins to get "the wear" out of it.

It is therefore well to look forward in planning this garment to the advance fall hints—which it may be said, verge on the circular. The lady in the sketch has treated herself not only to the graceful sweep in the skirt, but has duplicated it in miniature in the sleeves, where the material flows in an exaggerated cuff from the elbow.

In this new model from the atelier of Henri Creange the legere lines which coats are assuming are well emphasized. The day when a coat was a mere rough covering seem to be gone forever. It is just as important for one's supply lines to be reflected in the outer garment as in the dress, and feminine grace must be as apparent on the Avenue as in the home.

This elegant and afternoon coat of beige crepe faille has a strikingly light body with a contrasting series of rich, white, beaded lines from the collar at the neck down the left side, excluding the hand, from the waist to the hem, from the cuff to the wrist, and the elegant flare of the coat. The skirt is made of a similar material.

GATHERING SPECIMENS FOR MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY TRAVELLING OVER FLORIDA

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 30.—L. E. Wehmeyer, of Quincy Ill., and W. J. Clench, of Boston, Mass., taking post graduate work at the University of Michigan, are in Florida gathering specimens for the Museum of Zoology of the Michigan school. Mr. Wehmeyer is studying plant life of the state and selecting specimens to take back north with him, and Mr. Clench is devoting his time to animal studies.

They are making the trip by automobile, having already traveled more than 1,800 miles, at a cost of not more than $25 a week for the two of them, they declare. This includes gasoline and oil for the automobile and food for themselves.

After visiting the State Plant Board headquarters at Gainesville they will head for the West Coast, going via Tampa and thence to Fort Myers.

Readjustment Problems On Twelve-Hour Day Subject of Conference

Called By Heads of The Steel Trust of America.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Readjustment problems involved in the program of the steel industry to abolish the 12-hour day, were the subject of two more conferences of the steel manufacturing plants.

The officials of the United States Steel Corporation considered ways an attempt to change the hours of its 65,000 12-hour day laborers and the directors of the American Iron and Steel Institute discussed the problem as it affects the industry at a whole.

Formal announcement was withheld at the conclusion of both meetings, but it was learned that directors of the institute decided to renew their discussions in New York again probably next Thursday.

The readjustment of wages, which is necessary if hours are reduced, is understood to be the chief obstacle to immediate elimination of the much criticized 12-hour shift. Not only will it be necessary, officials point out, to increase the pay of the men now employed at 40 cents an hour, for 12 hours, but employees who are now working eight, nine and ten hour shifts must also be considered in any wage readjustment.

This in itself, it is said, is an intricate problem requiring intimate study of conditions in each plant. In addition, the question of housing additional employees must be worked out. This question involves, in some localities, the necessity of separating or segregating the men of different races or nationalities employed in the industry. Recently thousands of negroes and Mexicans have been employed to keep the plants running at near capacity and even if business slackens some before the new program is made operative, preparation must be made, it is pointed out, for periods of unusual activity.

Members of the board of directors of the American Iron and Steel Institute, it is understood, were directed at the conference to return to their respective plants to obtain accurate information as to the attitude of their employes. This information will be used at the adjourned meeting this week to evolve a fixer principle on which to proceed in the readjustment of wages.

ENEMIES of WOMEN

with Lionel Barrymore and Alina Rubens

Distributed by Goldwyn Cosmopolitan and Alina Rubens

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

From all indications "Enemies of Women" in London will equal its great American runs. In New York it is now in its tenth week. It ran seven weeks in Chicago, breaking all records; six weeks in San Francisco; ten in Los Angeles, and did tremendous business in Detroit, Milwaukee and Washington.

SOME OF THE COMMENTS

London Referee: "For weeks yet uncounted 'Enemies of Women' should draw London and many from the provinces to the Empire Theatre. This super-picture is beyond newspaper criticism. The settings are most beautiful."

London Sunday Pictorial: "'Enemies of Women' should come near breaking the West End record established by 'The Four Horsemen.' The performance would be difficult to parallel in its power and artistry."

London Sunday Illustrated: "There is no doubt about the popular success of 'Enemies of Women.' Lionel Barrymore is magnificent. Alina Rubens is beautiful, and the whole film is a gorgeous spectacle."

Prince Serge Obolenski (a sufferer from the overthrow of the Czar's government): "It is a marvelous picture. Of course, it made a special appeal to me. In the firm one never loses the thread of the beautiful love story."

Lord Loughborough: "It is one of the finest pictures I have ever seen. It is better than 'The Four Horsemen.' I felt that I was back in Monte Carlo as I gazed on the scene inside the Casino. I seemed to know two of the croupiers."

Sir Matthew Wilson: "It was the finest fencing scene ever filmed. It gave me a real thrill. It is a great picture."

Lady Islington: "It is a perfectly wonderful and beautiful story. The producers have done a most admirable work. I hope to see this picture again and again. Lionel Barrymore and Alina Rubens, in fact the whole cast, are splendid."

When a Government Leaves Its Proper Field for Productive Enterprise

By STEPHEN B. LEACOCK, McGill University.

Canada is now in a critical condition, with prosperity on the one hand and hard times on the other. The burden of taxation and governmental expenditure press heavily on the country. The stream of immigration, checked in response to the mistaken policy of the labor people, has dwindled to a rivulet. Capital is discouraged; the Northwest is being depleted of its people, and everywhere is an atmosphere of apprehension. The root of the trouble is that we have checked and discouraged private enterprise.

"I do not mean to say that private gain is never extreme, that all millionaires are angels and that concession companies are bands of patriots. But I do say that they represent the only basis in which it has yet proved possible to develop the assets of a country.

The Socialist loafing in the sun and the parlor Bolshevik eating lettuce sandwiches at a long-haired reception talk as they like of the government operation of the means of production. We know in Canada that the moment a government steps out of its proper field into productive enterprise it fails, absolutely and completely. This may not be true of government in the far future, but it is true of government here and now.

More Than by Anything Else the Native Realist Is Vexed by Optimism

By CARL VAN DOREN, in New Republic.

More than by anything else the native realist in this century is vexed by that optimism which contributes to American philosophy its basis and to American conduct its most characteristic technique. He feels that enough, and too much, has been said about what optimism does to make life cheerful, vigorous, effective. He finds himself bound by his loyalty to truth to insist that the American experiment has not entirely succeeded and to advance the explanation, outspoken or implied, that if optimism at its best is a virtue so at its worst it is a vice.

His pessimism, however, unlike that of Asia or of parts of Europe, rarely goes to the point of ultimate despair. It is, in all but a few cases, grounded in the confidence which the muckrakers had; that revelation leads to reformation. Exhibit the truth, the American realist believes, and something salutary will be the consequence, as day follows dawn.

If he has shifted his front in two decades it has been little more than to turn less toward corruption and more toward stupidity as the natural outcome of optimism.

Action of Plant Board Quarantining Green Peas Act as Boomerang
Georgia Immediately Retaliated With Similar Bill Against Florida.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 30.—Action of the Florida plant board in placing a quarantine against the importation into that state of green peas and beans from several southern states, including Georgia is reflected in the measure now before the lower house of the general assembly asking that similar action be taken against the peninsular commonwealth. The Florida authorities placed the ban on the other states, it is said, as a measure against the Mexican beetle, which is declared to be prevalent in sections of Georgia where it is said to be doing great damage. The Georgia lawmakers have before them several other measures of more than statewide interest. Among these is the bill to repeal the prohibition laws of the state, which would place enforcement of the Volstead act in the state entirely upon the federal government. This measure was reported adversely and unanimously by the house temperance committee, but the author, Representative Arnold, son of a former Philadelphia Jurist, has served notice that he intends to address the house on the subject for the purpose of disagreeing with the committee's verdict. He has conceded, however, that the bill has no chance of passage. Another bill attracting attention is that of Copeland of Lowndes county, said to be directed at the Ku Klux Klan. This measure would require all fraternal and secret organizations to record the names of their members and would make it unlawful to wear masks in public. A similar proposal was submitted early in the session by Representative Bozeman. It was referred to general judiciary committee No. 1, which has not yet reported on it. The measure was sent to general judiciary committee No. 2.

Featured Player in Cosmopolitan's "Enemies of Women" a Nephew of John Drew and Brother of John and Ethel Barrymore

There are a few royal families of the American stage. One of the greatest of these is the Drey-Barrymore line. Mrs. John Drew, actress and manager of a Philadelphia stock company, in the old days, was the founder of the family. Her son, John Drew, is one of the bright particular luminaries of the American stage which he has graced for nearly half a century. His daughter, Louise, was an actress until her marriage to Jack Devereaux. His sister, Georgia, married Maurice Barrymore, the brilliant young Irish actor who came to the United States in the late seventies. The three children of Maurice Barrymore and his wife were thus born to the royal purple. Lionel, the eldest, is featured in the Cosmopolitan picture, "Enemies of Women" pictured from Vincente Blasco Ibanez's novel, which comes to the Milane Theatre for two days, beginning Thursday, August 2nd. He made his first appearance upon the stage with his uncle, John Drew, in "The Rivals." After a few years upon the stage he determined to become a painter and spent several years in Paris studying art, in which he remains intensely interested. The call of the stage was in his blood, however, and his success in "The Mummy and the Hummingbird" and in "The Other Girl" had been too pronounced to be forgotten. He returned to the stage in Augustus Thomas' play, "The Copperhead," and scored a big hit in the role of Milt Shanks. His standing as one of the foremost actors on our stage was made secure by his acting in "The Jest," in which Arthur Hopkins costarred him with his brother, John Barrymore. Hopkins later starred him in "Macbeth" and has a new play written by Eugene O'Neill in which he will appear later.

Lionel Barrymore in a Cosmopolitan Production "ENEMIES OF WOMEN"

Distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan
Milane Theatre, Thursday and Friday, August 2 and 3

About ten years ago, Lionel Barrymore deserted the stage for the screen—first appearing with Biograph. Of late years, however, he has been acting on both stage and screen. For Pathe he acted in "The Exploits of Elaine;" then Metro starred him in comedy and dramatic parts. Later he acted Milt Shanks in "The Copperhead" for the screen, and made four productions for Whitman Bennett—"The Devil's Garden," "The Master Mind," "The Great Adventure" and "Jim, the Penman."

Cosmopolitan featured him in its production of Jack Boyle's story, "The Face in the Fog" and then in "Boomerang Bill," and in Blasco Ibanez's "Enemies of Women."

Why Are Some Store-keepers So Obstinate?

I am an old-fashioned buyer of the necessities for my household. I go to the store myself. To me this work is not irksome. In fact, I like it. I like to look at the shelves so full of cans and packages of so many colors. I like to do this for the same reason that I don't mind being in a crowd.

When I see them I look for familiar faces. When I see them I am delighted. When I am in a store I look for familiar goods and when I see them I buy. Those goods have become familiar to me through advertising and I have noticed that the grocery men who have the most of those familiar packages somehow or other seem to always go ahead.

I went into a store not of my own choosing but with a friend who, among other things, asked for a very well known article of food which is packed in a can, although she did not ask for any specific kind. I always buy—and instinctively I told her that was the kind she should ask for.

The dealer overheard me and said, "Madam, I never sell that article, I sell instead something very much better—my own brand."

Then he launched into a five-minute talk on why this article was better than the one I had named. But somehow my friend had been convinced by what I had suggested and she did not buy that can which the grover offered.

And I thought as I walked out how stubborn and obstinate that man was. He had lost a sale, had probably taken his first step toward losing a customer, and had certainly lost a good deal of time, especially since some other people were standing around waiting to be waited on.

If that grocer had sold advertised goods he would certainly have had the brand I suggested and he would have made a sale; incidentally, he would have bid us good day cheerily and we would have been satisfied.

Familiar faces are wonderful. To me, in my capacity as a buyer for a fairly large household, familiar things on the shelves of the stores I visit are only a little less wonderful, for those familiar things help me in doing better and more economically the job which I must work at every day.

Those advertised articles which I buy and which I always buy I know have been submitted to the criticism of both competitor and consumer. This subjection to almost world-wide critical examination demonstrates to me that the manufacturer has supreme confidence in his goods. He cannot tell a falsehood about the things he makes, because there are too many in the world to find him out.

Constant advertising of any product proves that product has stood the test of scrutiny. Is it any wonder then why I, as one of several million women in my same position, prefer articles with which I am acquainted to products about which I have no knowledge and about which the manufacturer does not seem to have the courage to enlighten me?
