

STORM LIKELY TO STOP WORK ON SUBMARINE

Salvaging Operations May Be Abandoned Until Next Spring Officers Announce

Divers Working With Difficulty

Gray Clouds And High Waves Forecast Bad Weather On Atlantic

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Dec. 23.—(INS)—Gray clouds scud across the sky—the gulls hug the shore—the waves of the Atlantic churn in increasing fury and storm warnings fly from the beacon in Provincetown harbor. All this seems to forecast a storm that will force the United States Navy to abandon its salvage work on the S-1 until Spring and let the torn hull of the vessel be the tomb of the 40 men who went down to death when the submarine was rammed by the destroyer Paulding last Saturday.

Though the dreary, bleak salvage work went on today, the navy authorities admitted that they had small hopes of raising the S-1 before spring. For they scent a storm in the offing which will force suspension of their work. Divers continue to slip down into the ocean depths from the Falcon, bearing great hose pipes to force tunnels through the mud about the S-1, through which chains may be placed and then attached to pontoons to raise the vessel.

The work goes on, but it is accepted as work that is unlikely to come to an early end. The men within the submarine are dead. The frenzy of rescue work has passed and the salvage work is only an after-thought of the sea, a task that stormy seas may end at any moment.

"We are going ahead as fast as we can until the weather halts us," said the navy department spokesman. "The navy department calls off operations," said Admiral Frank H. Brumby, in charge of the salvage fleet. "This is now purely a salvage job and not a rescue job."

A wintry storm is due off Cape Cod here within the next few days. The following report was transmitted to the navy department today by admiral Brumby.

"Divers have begun working a tunnel under the bow of the S-1 about a frame 19 to pass receiving line and this work will proceed with all available personnel divided into two watches so that work may not cease while the weather holds. Divers are working in pairs with one using a blow hose while the other holds a light and stands by."

The pumping of oxygen into the torpedo compartment where the six surviving members of the crew were signalled for help continued today. Although no hope is held that any might still be alive, officials said the pumping would go on until the weather halted salvage operations.

Tomorrow will mark a week since the S-1 was rammed to the bottom.

Bank President Is First To Register At The Forrest Lake

Linton E. Allen, president of the Sanford Atlantic National Bank, was the first guest to register at the Hotel Forrest Lake on Thursday, according to an announcement today by G. A. Schlusser, manager. Mr. Allen will make the hotel his permanent home.

Other guests arrived yesterday, some of them from the north to spend a portion of the season and others here to spend a few days. The management expects to entertain a large number of visitors after its formal opening on New Year's eve, many bookings having already been received.

Members of the hotel staff were announced today. In addition to R. Y. Middleton as treasurer and Mr. Schlusser as manager, there are: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, chief steward and housekeeper; H. Compton of Brooklyn, night clerk; Miss Lucille Coghlan, private secretary and day clerk; Mr. Davis, chief engineer; W. H. Dobbins, chef; and Joseph Gabriel, head waiter.

Christmas Dinner Buyers Swamp Stores This Week; Average Meal To Cost $8

Christmas dinner shopping has been in full swing all of this week in Sanford. Local markets, grocery stores and food shops have been filled each day with housewives busily engaged in purchasing delicacies coming from all parts of the nation to furnish Sanford tables on Christmas Day.

A survey made by The Herald today revealed an estimated cost of $8 for a Yuletide dinner for a family of four, with the meal including a turkey weighing eight pounds.

The best turkey retails at 55 cents a pound, although cheaper fowls can be obtained at 50 cents a pound. Very little geese are on the market but ducks are plentiful at 45 cents a pound.

Florida strawberries, regarded by many as essential to a Christmas dinner, are scarce in those in stock bring from 75 to 90 cents a basket, depending upon size and grade. Cranberries, and every store has them, are being sold for 25 cents a quart.

Fresh mushrooms will be conspicuous by their absence in most diners for the reason that local merchants have been unable to obtain them although one store reported having them in stock for one day earlier in the week. Those who insist upon mushrooms will have to be content with those in cans which are sold for 20 to 25 cents apiece.

Tomatoes are selling for 15 cents a pound and Sanford shoppers may consider themselves fortunate in this respect for the same product is bringing 35 in New York. The best lettuce is 20 cents a head although some can be obtained at 15 and 10 cents.

Shrimps are being retailed for 20 cents a pound. Large selected oysters are $1 a quart while the smaller ones bring 80 cents. Roast pork is being sold for 22 cents a pound and a pound of leg of lamb brings 40 cents. Oranges are 25 cents a dozen. Fruit cake can be purchased for 75 cents to $1 a pound.

MEXICAN PEOPLE PAY TRIBUTE TO MRS. LINDBERGH

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Mexico, officially and privately got down today to the joyful business of showing Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh honors due to the mother of the young American who has captivated Mexican hearts ever since he arrived.

Just before she retired last night Mrs. Lindbergh was treated to a group of students from the preparatory and professional schools in the city, some carrying guitars and mandolins, encircled themselves beneath the windows of the American embassy.

Then those inside the building heard the notes of the instruments and the soft voices of the students as they serenaded the mother of the young "Americano."

With her son, Mrs. Lindbergh stepped out on the balcony and acknowledged the compliment. Before she went in again, she tossed a rose to the serenaders who spent the next 10 minutes or so scrambling wildly for the sweet favor.

Mrs. Lindbergh arrived at Valbuena Field yesterday afternoon from Tampico in a giant tri-motor Ford air liner. She was immediately officially welcomed by General Jose Alvarez, chief of staff to President Calles, and then taken to the American embassy.

Jacksonville Auto Man Seeks Record In Key West Trip

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 23. Speeding with the dawn in their ocean to gulf motor trip, Claude Nolan and Kenneth Goodson slid away from the ocean edge at Miami Beach today—enroute for Key West in the first attempt to drive a motor car into the most southern city in the United States.

Fifty two miles of the trip will be over the cross ties of the Florida East Coast Railroad where it crosses the Florida Keys. If Nolan is successful in the feat of which he has dreamed for years, he will be the first to drive an automobile into Key West under its own power.

Other guests arrived yesterday, some of them from the north to spend a portion of the season and others here to spend a few days. The management expects to entertain a large number of visitors after its formal opening on New Year's eve, many bookings having already been received.

BANKER THINKS GOOD BUSINESS FACES NATION

Arthur Reynolds, President. Of Powerful Chicago Bank, Says His Faith In Future Expressed In Recent Move

Capital Boosted To Sum Of 65 Millions

Forty Per Cent Stock Dividend Declared, Adhering To Old Rate On The New Stock

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—"My confidence in the business outlook is perhaps shown by a recent change in the organization of the bank with which I am connected," said Arthur Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, to International News Service today.

The country's largest financial institution outside of Wall Street has given emphasis to the well known theory that actions speak louder than words, by its broad expansion of facilities to extend a larger measure of service to its own customers in particular and to the country in general.

"In the fall," said Reynolds, "the directors approved a plan to consolidate our commonly owned state and national banks, increase the capital and surplus of the National bank to 65 million dollars and declare a 40 per cent stock dividend, maintaining the old dividend rate on the new stock. The change was voted by the stockholders and on December first it went into effect. We should scarcely have taken such action if we had expected business to be bad in 1928."

Reynolds sees nothing to indicate depression during the first half of 1928. He looks for no "boom" in business as a whole, and visualizes a condition of "mere prosperity."

"All told," said Reynolds, "the business record during the first half of 1928 should equal the average of the entire year 1927, while conservative shouldn't be cast to the four winds, I feel that business men can proceed with confidence."

Street Car Operator Robbed, Then Killed

MEMPHIS, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Robert H. Calvery, 35, street car operator, was shot to death early today by two negro bandits who robbed the trolley car of $32.

Thomas Chapman 20, only passenger on the street car, witnessed the slaying. "Two negroes boarded the car and one drew a pistol, without warning, the negro started shooting and the operator fell to the floor wounded."

"The other negro took the money box and the two alighted and fled. I called police and Calvery was dead when they arrived."

The slaying occurred on a one-man street car near the end of the Hollywood Carline. Police are seeking the bandit-slayers.

Germany Not Guilty Of Tariff Violation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Secretary of Treasury Mellon announced today that after an investigation he found that Germany was not violating the anti-dumping provisions of the tariff act by throwing steel productions on the American market.

Mellon warned, however, that the situation would be watched carefully to see that American steel manufacturers were not subjected to unfair competition from German producers.

The investigation resulted from complaints filed by American manufacturers.

2 Oregon Cops To Collect Big Reward

PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 23.—(INS)—Sudden and unexpected wealth looms for Chief of Police Tom Gurbane and State Traffic Sergeant Buck Lieuvall as the result of their capture near Pendleton yesterday of William Edward Hickman.

In addition to the $100,000 reward offered for the youthful kidnapper of Marion Parker, 12 year old Los Angeles girl, the two also are looking over offers from four theater companies.

One of these is for $5,000 each for them to appear on a lecture contract in a Hollywood theater.

KIDWELL GRILLED BY PROSECUTION FOR THREE DAYS

Star Witness In Sinclair Contempt Trial Led Into Maze Of Contradictory Versions Under O'Leary's Questioning

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Assistant United States Attorney James O'Leary moved relentlessly today with his grilling of Edward J. Kidwell, "star witness" in the criminal contempt trial of Harry F. Sinclair and William J. Burns, who has charged he was intimidated by the district attorney's office into swearing to two affidavits, portions of which were false.

In three days of rigid cross examination O'Leary has led Kidwell through a maze of contradictory statements in which he variously admitted the truth of the disputed affidavits and then returned to his original denial. Today the prosecutor took him back over the same ground in a final effort to ascertain just what the witness means.

In the challenged affidavits, Kidwell claimed ability to identify two Burns detectives as the men who approached him while he was serving as a juror in the criminal contempt trial of Sinclair and former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall. Sinclair's action in engaging the Burns Detective Agency to maintain surveillance over the oil conspiracy jury brought about the present contempt trial.

Despite Kidwell's reluctance, O'Leary brought out that apparently the witness had no argument with the essential facts in the affidavits, but objected to the paraphrase of the district attorney's office.

"I didn't say that," he kept repeating, "you wrote that yourself, Mr. O'Leary."

When the disputed paragraphs were taken up phrase by phrase, however, Kidwell admitted they were approximately what he had had in mind.

O'Leary developed that Kidwell took the affidavits in question, read them, corrected typographical errors in pen, then signed and swore to them.

Railroad Menus Tell About Local Celery

The story of Sanford celery, how it is grown, gathered and marketed, together with interesting statistics concerning the local crop, will appear on the menus used on the numerous trains composing the Pennsylvania Railroad, according to advices received today by the Chamber of Commerce from T. L. Dumas, division superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line.

"This one story will bring Sanford much desirable publicity and will be advertising that cannot be purchased at any price," said Secretary E. J. Trotter today in expressing satisfaction over the courtesy extended by the Pennsylvania line.

Ohio G. A. R. veterans recently returned to a Florida Confederate brigade its flag captured at Franklin, Tenn., in 1864.

"Oh, drive her out to the house? Sure, that will be all right," said the man with evident satisfaction over the sale.

SLAYER FEARS Youth To Be Given PAPERS WONT Immediate Trial In 'PLAY HIM UP' California Murder

Publicity Mania Makes Youth Kidnap Afraid That Deed Will Not Receive Notoriety Given Two Chicago Killers

Declares "Religion Being Forced On Him"

Youth Jokingly Makes Reference To Hangman's Noose Which He Sees Awaiting Him

PENDLETON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—William Edward Hickman, 19 year old "fox" facing the crimes of one of the most heinous criminals of record, today had two chief worries.

One was that he may fail to gain the notoriety given these other youthful master minds Leopold and Loeb. The other deals with religion which, he believed, is being "forced on him" as he faced return to California to answer for his part in the kidnapping and butchering of Marion Parker, 12-year-old Los Angeles girl.

The Rev. W. H. Robbins, pastor of the Baptist Church here took a bible to the youth as he walked about the cramped quarters of his cell following his capture.

"I don't want a preacher now," he said. "I needed that before. I would feel like a hypocrite if I used religion before I die."

Jokingly and soberly he mentioned the hangman's noose which, he believes, is awaiting him.

But before he dies he wants to do just one thing. That is to meet Jerry M. Parker, father of the girl he has confessed to having kidnapped and tell him that he did not kill her. "I want to meet him, didn't kill her," he exclaimed, then "if that girl only were alive I'd be willing to die."

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 23.—"Thank God, he's caught!" The words of a bereaved father re-echoed here today as the machinery of the law was set into motion to bring William Edward Hickman, indicated kidnapper-murderer of little Marion Parker, to a speedy trial.

Within eight hours after the word was flashed here that Hickman had been captured at Echo, Oregon, the self styled "fox" stood charged in an indictment with the kidnapping and murder of the 12-year-old school girl.

Meeting in a dramatic night session, which lasted for 80 minutes, 16 men, composing the Los Angeles county grand jury, returned a "true bill," designed to send Hickman to the gallows.

That the law will deal swiftly with the confessed kidnapper of Marion Parker is an assured fact. "I will put this case ahead of everything else," said Judge Hardy who presides over the superior court.

"Rest assured that in this case the law will move with all possible celerity compatible with due regard for the man's rights."

Local Firemen Have Busy Day, Fighting 4 Fires In 12 Hours

Members of the Sanford Fire Department today enjoyed the busiest day they have experienced for several months, answering four calls in 12 hours. One of the fires caused serious damage, destroying the negro Methodist church in Goldsboro.

The first call was answered at 12:30 o'clock this morning when the home of S. D. Highlyman in San-Lanta caught fire from a defective fireplace. The loss was small, the most damage being done to timbers under the hearth.

INSANITY MAY BE DEFENSE SCHEME OF GIRL SLAYER

Mother In Kansas City Tells Authorities That She Formerly Was Inmate Of Arkansas State Asylum For Insane

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 23.—(INS)—That William Edward Hickman may be a victim of hereditary insanity was seen here today in the admission of his mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman that she had been confined at one time to the Arkansas state hospital for the insane at Little Rock, and in information from West Hartford, Ark., that former neighbors of Hickman insisted he had been deranged for years.

The mother was suffering from melancholia, according to records at the asylum and once sought to end her life by swallowing poison.

Friends of the Hickman family immediately saw these facts as the foundation for the defense of the kidnapper in his murder trial at Los Angeles.

In 1912 in the mining village of West Hartford, according to records, Mrs. Hickman, suffering from overwork, began to indicate her first signs of insanity.

"Records show that Mrs. Hickman was sent to the insane hospital July 2, 1913. She was admitted after two months as apparently cured."

Dr. E. D. Jones, family physician, said today in discussing Mrs. Hickman:

"In 1912 I was called when Mrs. Hickman had swallowed poison. Later stronger signs developed indicating insanity was growing worse and I ordered her sent to the insane hospital for observation."

"She was sent home as cured. The family was disrupted, apparently, by the occurrence, the father eloped with a neighbor's wife and dropped the name of Hickman. He was then known as William Thomas."

The family became poverty stricken. William was good in his studies at school. He learned but when corrected for a boyish prank, or in fact when corrected for anything in the way of a misdemeanor, he would become nervous and at times cry like a baby over nothing. This was the first sign of a dementia praecox setting in.

William Hickman, The "Fox," Is Captured After Intensive Hunt Conducted By Police

Lynching Danger Causes No Fears

Search Conducted For Pair Named As Accomplices Of Youth

By International News Service

Speedy justice! This was the end to which all the law enforcement agencies of California were working today at top speed to bring to a close the west's most sensational kidnaping and murder case.

In a cell at Pendleton, Ore., William Edward Hickman, "the Fox," self-confessed kidnaper of 12-year-old Marion Parker, calmly admitted he believed the death penalty was near.

While an airplane carried extradition officers northward, Pendleton officers took steps to see that "lynch law" was not invoked and further that Hickman should not cheat the law through suicide.

Talk of "lynch law" however, was dwindling. In Pendleton order existed. No talk of "taking the law in their own hands" was heard and reports from Los Angeles said a calmer feeling existed there today.

Meanwhile a search went on for Andrew Kramer and June Dunning, asserted accomplices of "the Fox," although officers believe they were only fictions of Hickman's mind.

Reports from Kansas City that hereditary insanity would be interposed as a defense for Hickman aroused interest in Los Angeles where it was said the best allies of the country would be called upon to combat such a plea.

PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 23.—Betraying in casual conversation with a guard the brutal mutilation of little Marion Parker of Los Angeles, whose kidnapping he had already confessed, William Edward Hickman, today faced a fresh grilling at the hands of authorities.

Following his capture after a sensational automobile dash into the northwest from the scene of the killing, young Hickman denied the crime of the little daughter of his former employer, and charged that the murder was the work of Andrew Kramer and June Dunning.

But early today as he alternately boasted and joked in his cell in the county jail here Hickman made admissions to L. E. Connor, his cell guard, which caused authorities to believe that he knew more of the killing than he had admitted.

Hickman slept peacefully during the after hours of the night. Rest assured when the crowd that had surrounded the jail dwindled away, young Hickman regained his aplomb and was "the life of the party."

To Connor, Hickman went into all the details of his adventures, continuing to blame Kramer for the killing and mutilation of Marion Parker and naming Miss Dunning as an accomplice. He told of calling for the Parker girl, of taking her to a Los Angeles theater that night, of giving her into the hands of Kramer and finally of respect to Connor.

Remus Hopeful He Will Be Released By Christmas Day

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 23.—(INS)—George Remus, one time "king of the bootleggers" who was found not guilty of murdering his wife, Imogene, by a jury which was convinced by his "transitory insanity" plea, was still hopeful today that he would be released by Christmas.

Thought the date for his manly hearing in probate court has been set for next Wednesday, another petition asking that the time be advanced or that Remus should be his liberty under bond was presented to probate Judge William J. Decker today.

Grable R. Yelder, Remus' attorney-in-law, and William M. Decker, caretaker of the Remus home, was drawn up by Remus himself and notes out that he has been in jail 83 days that state attorneys' petitioners who watched him since his trial believed him sane and that his assistants gave it as their opinion that he was and always had been sane.

Mrs. Grayson Plans To Take Off Today

CURTIS FIELD, N. Y., Dec. 23.—(INS)—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson plans to take off just before dusk tonight for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, in her amphibian airplane, "The Dawn," to prepare for a winter flight across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Grayson said tests conducted yesterday and Wednesday had been satisfactory, and that fuel and supplies had been assembled at Harbor Grace. During the test flights, "The Dawn" suffered twice from tire punctures, which is unique in aviation. Nails on Curtis Field caused the punctures while the plane was taxiing to and from the hangar.

Enlarged Grandstand To Seat 6,200 At The Volusia County Fair Grounds

DELAND, Dec. 23.—The directors of the Volusia County Fair have let a contract to the Ingalls Iron Works Co., of Birmingham, Ala., through that company's local agent, Jas. G. Moore, of Daytona Beach, for fabricated steel units to enlarge the grandstand at the fair grounds. The addition will provide seats for 2,500 more people, or a total, including old grandstand and bleachers, of 6,200. The stand is fireproof in construction and of a type sufficient to hold up 6 1-2 times the weight of its entire capacity. The addition of the new units will give a seating capacity, of the first class not exceeded in any county fair grounds of the country.

Included in the structure will be dressing rooms, rest rooms and ticket booths, and space will be afforded for ten additional boxes of a capacity of ten each. The location of the addition has not been decided upon yet, but orders have been given to rush the steel work and as soon as it arrives the grandstand will go up one side or the other of the old one, which is in such fine condition that it looks like it was put up recently. The widening of the stand will undoubtedly call for a wider platform for the use of some of the free acts.

ENGLAND MAKES FAST HEADWAY IN PUBLIC AVIATION

Imperial Airways Has Transported Fifty-Two Thousand Miles Without One Injury

LONDON, Dec. 23.—That civil aviation in England is steadily advancing toward commercial stability is demonstrated in the report of Imperial Airways, Limited, the semi-official State-subsidized aircraft concern, for the financial year 1926-27.

Allowing for the State subsidy, the company's net profit for the year amounted to nearly $50,000, compared with a net loss of $100,000 for the previous year. The directors justifiably claim this to be a big step towards the making of a profit without the subsidy.

The company's figures compare favorably with any other European civil aviation concern. Last year they carried 16,700 passengers, and since January 1, 1925 to date have carried 52,000 passengers and have flown nearly 2 1-2 million miles without a single accident causing injury to their passengers.

Revenue From Service

Sir Eric Geddes, chief director of the firm, believes that the improvement in the company's position has been entirely brought about by the incorporation of speedier, more comfortable, and generally more up-to-date planes in the company's service. The bulk of the revenue is drawn from the London-Paris service, which operates all the year around.

On this route sixteen new airplanes, ranging from 1,275 to 710 horsepower capacity, have recently been introduced and have proved popular with business men and tourists by virtue of their smooth running and general adherence to a fixed time-table.

In all the company has twenty planes, four of which are of the cargo-carrying type and are used almost exclusively for this purpose.

The passengers carrying planes are all named after cities or Royal personages. The "City" class includes the "City of New York" and the "City of Washington," and whatever possible American tourists endeavor to travel by these planes when making the cross-Channel trip.

Service To Caria

This company is now operating a service in the Middle East, and has a weekly service between Cairo and Basra and vice versa. At the moment this service is showing an appreciable loss, but it is hoped that with increasing use more passengers will be attracted to this speedier means of accomplishing the desert journey.

Sir Eric Geddes, in letter to shareholders, sums up the report in saying: "We can fly more miles at a profit if we can get more traffic." He declares that flying is as safe as that of any other travel medium, and that the fares generally compare favorably with the railroads. For instance, the fare by airplane to Paris is now slightly lower than by rail and sea as the result of a recent price-cutting war between the English company and the Air Union of Paris.

WOMEN KILLS CHILD

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS)—First throwing her ten-year-old child to its death from the eighth floor window of a Brooklyn apartment, an unidentified woman today leaped to the street where she was picked up alive, although unconscious. Little hope is held for her recovery. Police at first were unable to learn the woman's name although it was ascertained that the child was her own.

JAPS ARE PREPARED

TOKIO, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Minister of War Shirkawa reported to the cabinet today that the sixth division army, now stationed at Kumanoto, has been ordered held in readiness for dispatch to Shanghai to protect Japanese interests there. The majority of the cabinet decided that the dispatch of troops is as yet unnecessary. It is believed, however, that when the southern Chinese armies take Hanchuang, Japanese troops will be ordered to Shantung.

Youth To Be Given Immediate Trial In California Murder

ceiving part of her dead and butchered body for delivery to Perry M. Parker, the father.

He described how horrible the body looked as, with the eyes drawn open with thin thread, he drove with it to the father, he spoke of the seven parcels in which the limbs and lower torso of the girl were wrapped, he related the manner in which he took $1,500 from the father as ransom money for the safe return of the girl and then how he delivered the body. Through all the horrible story, Hickman talked coolly. While continuing to deny any part in the killing and mutilation of the Parker child, the prisoner betrayed a startling knowledge of certain details of her death, according to Connor.

Hickman told Connor the details of his flight from California. The Parker girl fell into the youth's hands Thursday. They were planning they attended a moving picture performance in Los Angeles, he told Connor, and he then turned his child victim over to Kramer. He did not see her again Friday evening, he said, when Kramer brought her to him in an automobile.

That night, Hickman said, he took the girl in the direction of her home. They passed her father, he told Connor, and the girl recognized her father and called out to him. Hickman said he drew back as she burst into anguished tears.

Later that night, Hickman said, he again gave the girl into the custody of Kramer when they traded automobiles in front of the Bellevue Apartments where he was living.

He did not see the girl alive again, Hickman said. At 5:30 P. M. Saturday, he told authorities, the girl's mutilated body was delivered to him by Kramer. Taking it, he drove to the appointed meeting place with Parker, accepting the $1,500 ransom money and leaving the girl's body behind for the broken-hearted father to receive.

"Why were the eyes of the girl drawn open?" Hickman was asked. "If the father had looked into the car he would have thought her to be alive," he is said to have answered.

of wood end by the coast guard cutter paulling. For four days after the tragedy six members of the crew remained alive and signalled for help from the torpedo compartment. A lashing gale and a drop in temperature prevented divers from going below. Meanwhile the messages from the survivors ceased.

Although the hope of rescuing the members of the submarine's crew has fled, there is hourly drama in the dangers undergone by the navy divers as they swirl about the wrecked submersible 102 feet below the icy waters.

J. E. Ingram, during the last few hours of work in the depths, suffered a leak in his diving suit. It was necessary to jerk him quickly from the water. Ordinarily, divers are raised to the surface gradually due to the terrific pressure of the water. A quick jerk to the surface lays a diver open to an aggravated attack of "the bends," main hazard of a diver's life.

Ellsberg in his latest adventure, was almost smothered in mud, he reported, when his diver's gloves were cut and water poured into his suit. Ellsberg was inspecting the warped hole in the hull of the S-1 made by the cutter paulling in her collision with the sub. Ellsberg said he slipped into the mud and thought he was "finished."

Man Has Trouble Selling Cow To Local Business Men

the victim was showing considerable signs of embarrassment.

In a few minutes the country-fied one would reveal his identity, produce a card advertising the Seaboard Oil Company products, and pass on down the street to work the trick on some other unsuspecting person.

It was one of the cleverest advertising stunts that has been staged here for some time. Rube played no favorites, approaching business and professional men, every few feet. Among those to whom the man tried to sell his cow were: Arthur Yowell, Clyde Byrd, J. G. Ball, Hodgson Ball, Bruce Anderson, W. M. McKinnon, Linto E. Allen, R. A. Newman, W. S. Coleman, J. C. Mitchell, E. Benjamin, Sam Baumel, J. O. Laney, J. Beck, Calvin Tanguay and R. H. Berg.

King is on a good will tour of Florida, traveling in the interest of the Seaboard Oil Company.

The anxiety of the Labor Party over the health of its leader is easily imaginable, because of the difficulty of replacing him. He, apparently, is the only man who can hold together the moderate and extreme elements. Phillip Snowden, J. H. Thomas and Arthur Henderson have all been mentioned as successors but it is clear that none would hold the support of a majority of the party.

Polk County Faces 6-Month School Term

BARTOW, Fla., Dec. 23.—(INS) There will be only six months of school in Polk county next year unless an avenue is found to retire current debts now doubled over the expected tax receipts of next year," is announced by the Polk county board, in a formal notice to the trustees of the Barlow school district.

A bond issue, according to the notice given the local board of trustees, is the only thing that will enable a full term of school next year.

10 Horses Burned To Death In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Ten horses were burned to death, a fireman was injured and a score of persons were driven to the street when a spectacular fire destroyed the Simon Freedman livery stable here today. Eighteen wagons were destroyed. The damage will run into thousands of dollars.

Insane Man Throws Self Into Furnace

RENSELAEER, N. Y., Dec. 23.—(INS)—Believed to have suddenly gone insane, Paul White, 28, a worker at the Boston & Albany round house of this city, today plunged headlong into the fire box of a locomotive he was stoking.

Fellow workers made a frantic effort to save White by turning a stream of water into the engine fire box but is believed to have met almost instant death. His body was entirely burned from body.

"Not to be opened until Christmas!"

Nothing is worse than last-minute Christmas shopping.

The label—"Not to be opened until Christmas!"—is the true symbol of the shopper who considers others and does buying early, and most often this enviable person is a reader of advertising.

Every newspaper is an unfailing suggestoin list of things that father, mother, sister, brother, sweetheart, wife, husband, nephew, niece uncle and aunt would really appreciate.

Why not make this one a Merry Christmas for yourself?

Advertising will do more to help you solve the Christmas shopping problem than anything else.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

LASTING GLORY:—The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works. Psalm 104:31.

PRAYER: May Thy life so develop in us that Thy glory shall continue to shine through us.

THE BUSHFELLER'S WIFE

Lord mind your trees today! My man is out there clearing. God send the chips fly back—My heart is always fearing.

Lord, let the axhead hold! He means no harm by felling. He earns our bread far back—and then there is no telling.

If he came home at night We'd know—but it is only—We might not even hear. A man could lie there lonely.

Lord, let the trunks fall clear! He cannot help his calling. He's young and full of life—A tree is heavy falling.
 —By Eileen Duggan.
 —In Commonweal—

The "freeze" hasn't done Sanford any harm and it has made celery crisp.

Get your copy in early tomorrow. You wish people to read it before they go to bed.

No, George Remus isn't crazy; it's the people who put up with him that are crazy.

Why not roll up your copy of the Herald's Christmas edition and send it to some friend up North.

John Martin has pitched his hat into the senatorial ring. May this ring be squarer than most political rings.

The so-called "rescuers" waited until they were sure all on the submarine were dead and then began pumping air into it.

Florida faces a serious problem in finding another to "carry on" in Dr. Murphree's stead; it is the way the Tampa Tribune puts it.

Gene Tunney has gone to Miami to get ready for his program of three fights next summer. We don't believe three men could be found who wouldn't be set ups for him.

Wilbur Nason's Court to Probe Submarine Disaster—headline. No need to investigate the disaster; what needs a good thorough probing is the failure to do anything after the sub was sunk.

Rockford, Illinois, man didn't believe that Ford's new car would go sixty-five miles per hour. He tried and got pinched for speeding. No longer is the lowly Ford immune to arrest.

Dead man found in Chicago Wednesday was reported at first to be "Scarface" Al Capone, and health-care workers promptly rushed to the scene some ten squads of policemen. In fact a 10 could be found on the outside of ash cans.

Missouri Democrats have launched a campaign to secure the nomination of a man used for president. They insist that he is the only Democrat who can carry the doubtful states of West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Oklahoma and Kansas. We expect to see many "Reed for President" clubs organized in the near future.

If you do not believe they are coming to Florida in great numbers this winter, just stand on any street corner and watch the cars go by. You will see a great many from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and New York. But cars from northern New England, Minnesota, and the West will not be lacking. In fact they are streaming into Florida from every corner of the United States, and they are going to find what they are looking for in the winter—climate, roads, hotels and good food at reasonable prices.

Some of the newspapers outside of the Fourth congressional district, notably the Florida State News, which is edited by a former Jacksonville resident, are much perturbed as to whether Edith Bryan Owen is an American citizen.

They base their worry on the fact that she married a British subject and appear to think it unlikely in her to take advantage of the recent federal law restoring citizenship to American women and their married foreign husbands. They even hint of censuring her for having taken out naturalization papers as an "add-

It Isn't The Age That Counts

At what point, if any, in a man's life does mental and physical efficiency become so low as to no longer profit an employer to hire or benefit the man to seek employment? At what point, in other words, is he of greatest worth to himself and to the world at large, in the glowing warmth of a comfortable fireside than engaged in some attempt to maintain the struggle for existence?

We have known men at forty who thought they had reached the stage where they were entitled to the recreation and relaxation that comes from retirement. We have seen men at fifty glad to place on the shoulders of younger men the responsibilities long endured. Yet there are men at eighty, even ninety, who are no more ready to give up their labors than at twenty.

Dr. Osler says man's efficiency ends at sixty. We contend that man's efficiency ends only when he allows it to end. Man's age has the least of all to do with it. Certain it is that if sixty is the dividing line between useful men and those who are not useful, we would have no Coolidge, Hughes, or Mellon, no Morgan, Kahn, or Ford. In fact, if we were to exclude all men past sixty, we would eliminate most of our leaders in finance and politics.

Dr. Chapin, in the January issue of the Forum magazine, would prove that efficiency continues in men past sixty by citing a few old men who are of primary importance in the modern world—Hindenburg, eighty; Elihu Root, eighty-two; Justice Holmes, eighty-six; Clemenceau, eighty-six; Earl Balfour, eighty-nine; Chauncey Depew, ninety-three; George F. Baker, eighty-seven; August Hecksher, past seventy; Dr. W. W. Keen, approaching ninety; Thomas A. Edison, eighty.

"It is therefore untrue," concludes Dr. Chapin, "that there is a deadline at fifty, sixty, seventy, or even eighty as far as intellectual possibilities and usefulness is concerned, since this is entirely an individual matter."

Yellow

Time was when knighthood was in flower and men entered the jousts with the silken handkerchief of some fair lady to urge them on, that gallantry and chivalry were the finest qualities of a noble's character. In those days no insult would be avenged with such vigor as a slight against a woman, no opportunity was held more highly than the chance to aid a lady in distress.

With this in mind, it jars to read that a man, without a doubt an American man, failed miserably near Jacksonville the other day. A Jacksonville man out driving with a young woman, turned his steering wheel quickly to avoid a chicken. The car skidded on the slippery pavement and turned over into a ditch. The girl was thrown clear but the boy was pinned beneath.

An explosion occurred setting the car on fire. The girl struggled frantically to get her friend out. A motorist drove up and the girl called for help. "Look out," he yelled. "It's liable to explode again!", and with that he drove away, leaving the girl to be badly burned in her efforts to save her friend, and the boy to be burned to death.

We do know that the motorist could have saved a life, if he had remained to help, but we do not know that he could have prevented the girl from being burned, and possibly there might have been another explosion, but we do know what Sir Walter Raleigh, who laid his cloak over a mud puddle in order that the Queen might not get her shoes dirty, would think of him, and we know what a lot of modern people, who do not pretend to be the acme of gentleness or courageous heroes, would also think of him.

There ought to be some place to put such men where the criminals of the country could laugh at them.

THE NEEDEST CASES

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

An important event in the economic life of America, and particularly in the affairs of the state of Florida, is the shipment scheduled for next week of a cargo of 50,000 crates of oranges and grapefruit, consigned from Jacksonville to Liverpool. This announcement follows the consignment of between 10,000 and 15,000 crates of vegetables on every ship leaving the port of Miami within the last fortnight for New York, to say nothing of those which were sent by other coastwise ships to Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Steamships are now thoroughly equipped with refrigerating chambers. The oranges and grapefruit are taken from the groves to a cold storage plant and there precooled before shipment. These rooms maintain a temperature from 35 to 40 degrees, and in this condition the fruit will be kept until it is delivered to the markets in the English metropolises.

Seven years ago, grapefruit was practically unknown in England, but last year 150,000 crates were shipped from New York. This meant, of course, the breaking of bulk and delay, which did no good to the fruit. Under the new arrangement the transportation is effected very simply, efficiently and promptly through the medium of ocean liners. Europe has known very little of the best citrus fruits, or even grown them.

It is ever evident that the new departure is not regarded as an experiment. The demand is present overseas. Florida frequently has a great surplus because of inadequate distribution and the function of water transportation is to establish contact between more consumers who require a staple article, and the producers. A prominent official of Armour & Co., which concern, by the way, is in charge of this new commodity movement, predicts that during the 1928-29 season, 45,000 boxes of oranges and grapefruit will be shipped each month, beginning with November and extending through May, or a total of almost 300,000 boxes.

As Brisbane Sees It

The Jury Shakes Hands A Million Billion Years. Monkeys Ride, Don't Bet. A Poor Railroad Scheme. By Arthur Brisbane. Copyright, 1927 by Star.

GEORGE REMUS told a jury of men and women, that frantic jealousy of a Mr. Dodge made him insane at the moment he shot his wife.

The jury on the first ballot acquitted him and when Remus after acquittal was safely in his cell, and appropriately in tears, members of the jury rushed to shake his hand and congratulate him.

He may have to go to the insane asylum for a little while to prove his good faith.

CRIME IS A puzzling phenomenon. Hickman, a young 19-year-old kidnap and murderer, for whom all California is hunting, was a model boy in his Sunday school class, vice-president of his high school class. The graduation annual said of him "excellent scholastic standing, unequalled record in curriculum activities and a high standard of ideals."

HICKMAN is thought to have kidnaped and murdered a young girl, partly for revenge. Mr. Remus also said that for revenge, his wife had deceived him with another man.

There are different degrees of revenge, and of murder. Twelve jurors unanimously acquitted Remus. Not one of them, 100,000,000 would vote to acquit Hickman.

THE REVEREND Calvin remarks that "this planet may exist for nearly a million billion years longer." An anxious Christian asks "Do you believe that the soul sleeps in the grave with the body million billion years awaiting for the judgment? If I really believed it I think I should try to have a pretty good time while still in the flesh."

THE REV. DR. Calvin tells the inquiring soul that when you are unconscious a million billion years seems no longer than a minute and a half, and that "it is better to awake from prolonged torpor with clear recollection in your conscious past than as a morose idiot."

The child that "can't wait a million billion years for the judgment day" are both interesting, and both children mentally.

GREYHOUND RACING in America has been less successful than in Europe. Fewer foals have bet on the racing, partly because the cheating was a little too apparent, partly because dogs running alone don't seem exactly like a race.

That has been attended to and the betting simpleton will probably enrich the game more generously.

SMALL MONKEYS have been trained to sit on the greyhounds' backs and pretend to be jockeys, to make it seem real.

Lettors please notice that those monkeys will ride in the races because they must. But, poor monkeys as they are, they would know better than to bet on those races.

THE LAW SAYS railroads may earn such a percentage on their actual value. What they earn above that must be turned over to the government. The St. Louis and O'Fallon Railroad, ordered to pay to the government under the "recapture law" $260,000 of excess earnings, naturally fights the payment.

WILL "RECAPTURING" excess profits work well?

Probably not, unless you change human nature. Higher salaries for officials, bigger prices to friends for supplies, steel rails, wheels, coal and greater extravagance generally would easily eat up the excess profits. Or, worse, railroads easily earning as much as governments would let them keep, would not be interested in developing greater efficiency, and more business or in pleasing its customers.

MEMBERS OF THE brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers of western railroads will have their pay increased for Christmas, slightly by an award of the federal arbitration board. Passing fireman get an increase of 30 cents; others in the union 35 cents a day. The men asked for $1.

THE ADDITIONAL payment to about 55,000 men on 55 roads will amount to $19,000 a day. That money will be more usefully spent by men that take the risks and bear the responsibility of railroad. It would be by stockholders taking no risk beyond the shock of occasionally looking at the stock ticker reports.

Congressional candidates are inspiring the attack.

The News holds no brief for Mrs. Owen, but if she wants to run for public office she certainly has the right to do so and is eminently qualified.

Miss Helen Vernay Is Hostess At Bridge In Honor Of Two Visitors

Of the many social affairs of the season one of the loveliest was that of Thursday morning when Miss Helen Vernay entertained in bridge at her spacious home on Central Lake, honoring two attractive visitors, Miss Naomi Stewart, the guest of Miss Olive Newman, and Mrs. A. F. Kelly of Richland, Ga., who is spending the holiday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Williams.

Numerous polite and skillful players formed a fine group on the ground for much of the day. The game was lively and well played. The decorations and arrangements were kept on a high level. The day's game was a success. The prizes for top scores were won by Miss Frances Gray. Miss Vernay presented the prizes with a lovely smile. Her gifts to Miss Stewart and Mrs. Kelly were most appreciated.

When the bridge session was over, the party was continued in the parlors. The refreshments were served by the hostess. The evening was most enjoyable. The party was a success.

Enjoying the social hour of the evening were Mrs. S. J. Sengman, Mrs. A. L. Bell, Mrs. Olive Newman, Mrs. F. T. Williams, Miss Elizabeth, Mrs. Frances Gray, Mrs. Naomi Stewart, Miss Mildred Boyd, Mrs. Elizabeth Puleston, Mrs. Wright, Miss Georgia M. Wright, Emily Lunde, Mrs. F. J. Sengman, Mrs. Lenabelle H. Sengman, Mrs. meta Barber, Mrs. C. J. Sengman, Miss Margaret Puleston, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Robert Puleston, Mrs. Pray Wilson, Mrs. J. D. Puleston, Mrs. C. R. Blazon, Mrs. J. M. Christmas Party Is Given Wednesday By Baptist Church Circle

The Jenny Spaulding Circle of the First Baptist Church gave its annual Christmas party and treat on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Barney Beck in Franklin Terrace. The home presented a festive appearance with its holiday decorations of garlands, wreaths, red bells and other greenery.

At 7 o'clock the guests were invited into the dining room, where a delicious three course dinner was served. The table was lighted with tall red tapers placed in crystal holders. The central decoration was a large bowl filled with pineapples and ferns. The places of the guests were designated with hand painted place cards done in Christmas suggestions.

After dinner the members repaired to the living room where they found a large brilliantly decorated and lighted Christmas tree. Old Santa Claus, impersonated by Mrs. E. M. Carroll, distributed numerous gifts from the tree. Music and contests caused the evening hours to pass all too soon.

Members attending were: Mrs. Hester Fellows, Mrs. A. P. Sengman, Mrs. Quinton Puleston, Mrs. Walter Standamer, Mrs. W. M. Williams, Mrs. J. A. Cunningham, Mrs. J. B. Abrahams, Mrs. J. A. Sengman, Mrs. E. M. Carroll, Mrs. Mary Goodale, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. Walter Pitzer, Miss Sue Pitzer, Mrs. Herbert Spier and Mrs. Beck.

German Children To Have Aviator Dolls

BERLIN, Dec. 23 (INS)—Charles Chamberlin, the Trans-Atlantic flier, is the first American ever to be immortalized as a German doll. Thousands of tiny, dusty figures labeled "Chamberlin" are sitting this Christmas in the cockpits of toy airplanes called "Chamberlins." It looks as if no German child will be content unless his gifts include this reminder of the Chamberlin-Lavine flight to Germany. "Miss Columbia" is a perfect miniature reproduction of the famous trans-ocean plane.

Anti-Bellum Negroes To Enjoy Christmas

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 23 (INS)—The spirit of Christmas manifested itself here at noon today when $10 bills were distributed to 31 anti-bellum negroes by the fund left to him by James McCallis, a local merchant.

The fund was created by W. W. Fuller native Fayettevillian and New York lawyer, from the estate left to him by James McCallis, a negro drayman and former partner of the Fuller family.

The estate, consisting of a small house and lot, were disposed of by Fuller and invested in stock. The yearly dividends are distributed to the anti-bellum darkies. Christmas, Andrew Hopper, was the oldest negro to participate in the distribution today.

MAY GO TO MEXICO
NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (INS)—The board of directors of the National Football League today announced that the league will play its season in Mexico, at the request of President Plutarco Elias Calles, and made a survey of the Mexican lines, he was accompanied by experts.

JURY IS DEADLOCKED

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 20 (INS)—The jury in the case of John Wesley Faison, former Sunday school superintendent charged with killing Mrs. Elsie Snipes, pretty divorcee, reported itself "hopelessly deadlocked" this afternoon, and was discharged by the trial Judge Mathews.

Plans are being considered for illuminating a football field at Montgomery, Ala., so that games may be played at night next season.

Journal Conducts Test To Determine Honesty Of People

LONDON, Dec. 23.—(INS)—Eagerly endeavoring to find out whether the "Londoner," who has long possessed a traditional reputation throughout the world for honesty, was really honest or not, the London Weekly Dispatch has made a secret test.
 A dozen imitation pearl necklaces were placed in small boxes together with a note giving the address of the sender, and for two days they were "lost" in various parts of the city.
 Five out of the twelve were returned. Of the five "No. 11" had the most adventurous time. It was left on the shelf in a telephone booth in a hair-dresser's at 8:30 in the morning. At 7:30 the same evening the proprietor himself returned it to the given address.
 "Just before 9 a. m.," he explained, "a customer using the telephone box gave it to me and said that someone had left it on the shelf by mistake.
 "Thinking the person might return, I replaced it in the box. During the day no fewer than ten people handed it to me, thinking, of course, that the last user of the booth had forgotten it. Then I opened it, and seeing the address, quite near my shop, returned it."
 Shortly after the newspaper had announced that they were responsible for the many "pearl necklaces" which had been floating around, all but one of the boxes were returned.
