ville Naval Air Station, will study the entire Sixth Naval District to determine the saturation of aircraft in this area and to determine further if there is a site more suitable for the location of the field.

Moving of the Sanford Air Station to another site will, if found feasible to move it, take a period of up to five years in order to complete the building of runways, buildings, hangars and other necessary construction for both the housing of aircraft and the housing of Naval Personnel.

It was earlier estimated that the cost of a new airfield for the Navy's use would possibly be near $50 million.

Choice of the Osceola Field, considered by the private engineering firm, Airways Engineering Corporation, to be the top spot for the location of runways of 12,500 feet and for the operation of the Navy's newest jet bombers, lends hope to the location of the Central Florida location near Sanford for the new installation.

In the meantime, the operation of the Sanford Naval Air Station will continue. Heavy Attack Wing One, under the command of Capt. J. T. Blackburn, is stationed here.

Captain Robert W. Jackson is the commanding officer of the local Naval Air Station where the Heavy Attack operations and training are maintained on a "round the clock" readiness basis.

When asked for a statement concerning this new information of the proposed Osceola NAS site, Captain Jackson of the local air station said that "We of the Navy who are here locally have nothing but good to say for the proposed development. We are most delighted that the Navy is planning on a permanent site close to Sanford. You can understand why when I repeat what we tell all transient pilots who visit our station. This information is contained in our transient pilots guide and we mean it: 'The outstanding feature of duty in the Sanford area is the friendliness and cooperation extended by the local citizens, who are happy to have the Navy near them and go out of their way to make duty here pleasant and attractive.'"

NO GAIN, BIG LOSS
RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Twice a burglar alarm has thwarted thieves who tried to enter a local pharmacy through the roof. But the store's loss was heavy, even though the thieves got nothing. Both times heavy rains poured water through the hole they left, doing hundreds of dollars damage to goods below.

came Thurman Burnett and George Weidner to lend the experience and guidance of the state office to the project.

Lawton brought with him Herbert Thurston, Arthur Dickinson and Miss Esther Veal, who is Labor Market Analyst.

Preliminary contracts already have been made, it was said, and the survey would get under full swing immediately.

George Touhy, president, and president-elect Clifford McKibbin attended the session to offer the full cooperation of the trade body Mrs. Georgia Ball and Mrs. Camilla Bruce will serve as office assistants.

Businessmen, especially the larger firms and farmers should be quick to recognize the value of the office here, should it be established as a result of these efforts, it was said. Each firm or person employing 10 or more people were asked to call the CoC office and give their names so no one will be overlooked.

No set schedule for the work has been made but it is felt that it will be completed within three weeks, following which the results will be sent to Tallahassee and Washington for review.

per cent to 94 per cent. These moves are expected to help the builder in planning.

The White House said the actions to "strengthen home building and facilitate the purchase of low-cost homes" were taken in response to a request by President Eisenhower for a review of housing credit needs.

The statement said there has been an extraordinary demand for credit during a period of peak business activity and this has limited the supply of funds to home builders and buyers. If this situation continues, the White House said, it will "restrict home construction and affect adversely home purchasers of modest means. It would also create difficulties in small businesses in the lumber and other building supply industries."

Albert Cole, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, told reporters at the White House that he has no estimates of how many more homes may be started as a result of today's decisions. But Cole said they should be a definite help to some people who want to build and haven't been able to swing the financing.

Cole said that in comparison with starts on 1,300,000 houses last year, construction this year is pointing to a rate of 1,100,000 houses being started.

Questionnaires Are Sent To Nation's Standby Reservists

"The Congress, in its last session, enacted a law placing upon the Selective Service System responsibility of screening the Nation's entire standby reserve, both men and women, and the reservists are being mailed questionnaires to be filled out and returned to local boards for use in determining their availability in time of national emergency," Colonel Harold C. Wall, State Director, of Florida said.

In explaining why the Standby Reservists are receiving these questionnaires, Colonel Wall pointed out some of the problems which faced the standby reservists in years past. He recalled, "In time of emergency the standby reservist has no way of judging if and when he would be called to active duty. This was actually less knowledge than most selective service registrants had in regard to their status, since selective service registrants could find out many things regarding their situation, and also had the opportunity of presenting information to their draft boards (made up of local people), who could take action to reclassify the registrants where circumstances warranted it."

The standby reservist meanwhile was trying to judge his vulnerability by watching and listening to news reports. The new law was designed to correct this situation by having the standby reservist called to active duty only after full consideration had been given all the facts in his case, as well as the weighing of the effect that his entry on active duty would have on the national health, safety, or interest."

Each standby reservist will be placed in one of three categories, based upon the information in his II-R (deferred for civilian occupation/essential to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest), or III-R (deferred by reason of extreme hardship and privation to dependents).

In time of war or national emergency declared by Congress, this will give the standby reservist a clearer picture of his position as regards his or her recall to active duty.

The standby reservist has the right of appeal if he is not convinced that his category is correct but continues to have the responsibility to keep his local board informed of any change of address or status.

The program will provide a service not only to the standby reservist who will know his emergency recall status, but the armed services, which will likewise know the availability of their standby reserve pool.

Robbins 1st Place Winner In Rifle Championship

Marine Sgt. Kenneth W. Robbins Jr., fired 606 points, with 41 "v" fives, out of a possible 650 to win first place in the marksmanship class in the 1956 Open Rifle Championship Match at Camp Perry, Ohio this week.

Using the National Rifle Association match rifle (bolt), the sergeant was competing with over 2,000 of the top civilian and service shooters of the nation, who assembled at Camp Perry for the National Rifle and Pistol Matches established by an act of Congress in 1903.

Robbins will receive an N. R. A. sterling silver award for his proficiency. He enlisted in the Marine Corps three years ago; and began competitive shooting last March.

Competing in the Eastern Division and Regional Matches earlier this year, Robbins fired accurately enough to take four individual awards. He has never fired at Camp Perry in the "world series" of rifle shooting until this year.

Stationed at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C., with Marine Transport Squadron 153, the sergeant is a member of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing rifle and pistol team.

He is the son of Kenneth W. Robbins Sr., of Palatka, and grandson of Mrs. Leonard Vihlen of Sanford.

BANANA PEELER DELUXE
BALBOA, Calif. (AP)—Meet a man who has peeled half a million bananas in a mere eight years and vows to make it a million within two more.

He is Don Phillips who, when he finished World War II service, had a "flash of insight" while trying to think of a way to be a success. His inspiration: Chocolate coated bananas.

He started business in a fun zone here with a lunch of bananas and two feet of space in an old ice cream freezer. Bathes liked his wares—he soon branched out into nutty and chocolate chip coating for variety—and now he has "500 times my original space."

Phillips, who peels nearly all his fruit himself, claims the distinction of being the world's fastest and most experienced banana shucker.

One cup of grated cheese added to a medium white sauce made from 1 1/2 cups milk, makes a good-tasting cheese sauce.

County Agent Explains Duties To Kiwanians

Cecil Tucker, Seminole County Agent, told the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday about the duties of a County Agent.

Tucker said the principle duties of a County Agent include the "getting out information to the people interested in agriculture."

It is a "service to the people," Tucker said. "One of our newest policies is long range planning and it is hoped that we can get something like this started in Seminole County soon."

Speaking of agriculture as a means of livelihood, County Agent Tucker said "We need to instill in our children that the idea is a good deal to go into, an honest endeavor, and lucrative when done in the right manner."

Tucker was introduced by John Darby of the Central Florida Experiment Station who revealed that the new county agent came to Seminole County from Marion County.

Unusual is the fact that Tucker and his wife have three children, all with the same birthdate, a girl two years and eight months old, and twin boys eight months old.

Search For Burglar Centers In County

The search for a burglar who ransacked two offices in Winter Park and attempted to break in another was continued this morning in Seminole County.

Attache of Sheriff J. L. Hobbs' office stated that the man, believed to be a resident of Seminole County, will be facing charges of breaking and entering as well as attempted murder.

One man, Russell W. Raine whose office the intruder tried to enter, received a stabbed hand from a screwdriver the fleeing burglar wielded. Previously, Raine had kicked a letter opener out of the man's hand who was fleeing down the hallway of the office building. Raine was treated at Winter Park hospital and released.

The burglar eluded Winter Park citizens who chased the burglar through downtown streets as he ran for his car parked on Morse Blvd. in Winter Park.

William E. Strong, waiting in a taxi office, identified the fleeing burglar as 45-50, 5 ft., 7 inches tall and weighing about 115 pounds. Strong attempted to grab the keys from the car in which the burglar drove off. However, he failed to get the license number.

A statewide alarm was broadcast for the fugitive burglar by Winter Park Chief of Police Carl Buchanan.

However, search for the man has been centered in Seminole County.

ColC Incorporated, Duly Registered Says De Bary Head

DE BARY—It has been brought to the Herald's attention that two central Florida newspapers have had to discontinue the De Bary Chamber of Commerce, insinuating that said Chamber is not incorporated or properly registered, in this special reference to influence in the community.

In refutation of these statements, Dr. O. L. Lincoln, president of the De Bary Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday, "The Chamber is not only incorporated but duly registered, with all the privileges and functions thereby granted in such charter. At all times the Chamber has been interested in the furthering of our town's fine growth and shall continue to be. The De Bary Chamber of Commerce has the wholehearted support of a growing membership, numbering 175 at present."

All week cars have been lined up in front of the C of C office, with residents seeking their new house numbers. Three-hundred forty-nine such numbers were issued the first three days and the project will probably be finished by today, the committee reports. Many have personally thanked the hardworking committee, headed by Thomas Barry, chairman, with Charles Berach, Col. Harry Pitts, Col. Ben B. Robinson, Arthur Watt and Albert Sallisbury. John Byrn is the acting secretary of this group.

Man Proposes New Sales Tax

ORLANDO — (FNS) A representative of the Florida State Retailers Association suggested to the Florida Constitution Advisory Commission that a flat sales tax on everything but food and automobiles could produce $225 million in revenue annually. Lloyd F. Gahr of Orlando made the suggestion and also recommended that the Commission include in the proposed new constitution a three per cent ceiling on the sales tax.

Model Of Civic Center Shown

A scale model of the proposed Sanford Civic Center prepared by John Langley of Architect John Burton, TV's staff is on display in the office of City Manager Warren E. Knowles in the City Hall.

The civic center, proposed to be included in the Capital Improvement program now under consideration by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners, is primarily for the recreation program planned for both children and adults of Sanford.

The model, built to a scale of one-eighth inch to the foot, was prepared and constructed from designs drawn by Architect John Burton IV, and submitted to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners for consideration.

Further discussions of the proposed center will possibly come up at Monday night's scheduled meeting of the commissioners.

Burton today said that the general construction of the civic center would include terrazzo floors throughout, sliding glass walls for the most part, and the interior will have folding partitions to separate the banquet hall from the auditorium allowing either room to expand to the other.

Seating capacity of the auditorium alone will be 800 and the banquet hall will provide space for 200.

The auditorium stage will be raised to provide a view from every seat in the auditorium which will be equipped with portable chairs.

Floors in the auditorium will be flat, said Architect Burton, to permit dancing.

The patio on the lake side is so designed, Burton pointed out, that it may be used for a skating rink.

A commercial grade kitchen adequate to prepare meals for 1,000 is also included in the proposed construction plans.

The recreation game rooms three in number, will be separated by folding partitions and a lounge and snack bar for the youngsters are provided. The recreation area of the civic center is all in the wing which projects from the auditorium.

It was also pointed out that Sanford's Mayor, F. D. Scott, yesterday signed a proclamation setting aside the week of Sept. 23-29 as National Business Women's Week in Sanford.

Mrs. Sue Stevenson, president of the local Business and Professional Women's Club said "The annual week, sponsored throughout the United States by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, is set aside to pay tribute to women in business and the professions, and the contribution they make to the nation."

Programs, special events, and celebrations have been planned for the entire week, Mrs. Stevenson said, "for the Sanford area to point out the contributions that are being made by women."

Church Is Important Nationally

By GEORGE TOU HY

No one is egotistical enough to think that The Church can't get along without him. But year after year there is an increasing number of people who are sure that they can't get along without The Church.

Mounting hundreds — yes, thousands — of business and professional men, among others, are joining the nation's congregations of worshippers and are becoming vital partners "going about my Father's business", as they use the talents that have made them successful — with God's help in their work.

What has brought about this spiritual resurgence?

There are many reasons for it, for each person will answer that question in the light of his personal relationship with God. However, there are some general conclusions that may be drawn.

The first explanation is that in a whole-hearted relationship with the Almighty a man "just naturally feels better." And so so just selfish reasons a person aligns himself with God. When he concentrates on things spiritual and eternal, he subconsciously relaxes, and some of the matters about which he was concerned pale into relative insignificance. As he prays for his Father's blessings for others, it dawns on him that he is comparatively quite fortunate.

He lifts his heart heavenward in gratitude, resolved to think more about others, less about himself. This accentuates his feelings of well-being; he "feels better." These are just hints of the broad field of personal reasons for increased interest in The Church.

Next to himself — and in many cases ahead of his own interests — is a person's family and a loving concern for his best interests. In The Church there is an atmosphere of warm, friendly interest in the family unit.

There, also, are teachings that develop deeper, dependable personalities. In the precepts of The Church is a peak of idealism which although no one ever reaches, always enriches the climb toward the summit. Thus, each member of the family is "a better person," and Mom, Dad and the Kids are a better family.

If a man knows that he has improved PERSONALLY because of his church affiliation, if he appreciates the happy development of his FAMILY because of it, isn't it natural that he should recognize its beneficial influence on the other people of his home town?

Any man who is actively interested in the welfare and progress of his community quickly realizes the value of The Church in it. There are many phases of this social factor that feel the way of The Church. It is enough here to emphasize its importance to a city by asking the question "What would your home town be like if there were no church?"

October has been designated as Church Loyalty Month. It is fitting that any organization that means so much to the individual, of renewed should be given a pledge loyalty.

How do you make that pledge? Very simply. Just attend the church at least once a week throughout October with a determination to become increasingly active in the most worthwhile movement in town.

17 World's Shipping Powers Agree Today On Suez Approach

LONDON — Experts of 17 of the world's shipping powers agreed today on the form and timing of an approach to the United Nations to solve the Suez Canal crisis.

They hammered out the accord after the final touches to a plan setting up the "Cooperative Assn. of Suez Canal Users" (CASCU) to protect the rights of the maritime nations in the canal Egypt took over July 26.

Only Pakistan, of the 18 nations in conference here since Wednesday, stayed away from the experts' meeting. The Pakistan delegation, which regards the majority approach as too much like an ultimatum to Egypt, said it could not attend without instructions from Karachi.

However, Japan also came out against the users project as it stands and three other conference nations — Sweden, Denmark and Iran — called instead for an immediate approach to the U. N. Ethiopia's position remained to be announced.

Indications were that all the rest of the conference nations, an even dozen, could be counted on to join as soon as their governments at home gave formal approval.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, described as highly pleased, planned to fly back to Washington tonight.

"He didn't expect so much agreement," an authoritative American source said. "Most if not all the 18 will join the users' association. We never expected all 18 would sign on the dotted line."

In Tokyo, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu told newsmen Japan will not take part in the plan unless and until it wins Egypt's support. A spokesman for the Japanese shipping industry applauded this statement. The spokesman was quoted by the Kyodo News Service as saying there was no reason for Japan to join since Egypt "has assured Japanese ships safe and speedy passage."

The experts' meeting ran long overtime, causing postponements of the expected final plenary session of the 18.

Estes Hit By 'Below Belt' Tactics Charge

RAPID CITY, S. D. — A fighting-mad Vice President Nixon flew into the grain belt today after demonstrating his willingness to get rough with the opposition. Irrked by barbs shot at President Eisenhower by Sen. Kefauver, Nixon let lose a verbal blast at the Democratic vice-presidential nominee last night before a capacity indoor audience in Spokane, Wash.

He not only accused the Tennessee senator of "below the belt, low-road tactics" but called on Aulay Stevenson to "disassociate himself" from Kefauver unless the senator apologized to the President and the American people.

What needed Nixon into the attack was the senator's statement of last Wednesday that "President Eisenhower has personally been working just as hard against the little people of this nation as those who surrounded him."

That, Nixon said, was a "condescending and contemptuous reference to the so-called little people in America."

The crowd roared approval of Nixon as he accused Kefauver of a "thinly veiled attempt to give the impression that the President of the United States is deliberately working against a large segment of our population."

The Kefauver statement, Nixon said, was an "attempt to divide Americans into classes and to set the interest of one class against another," an idea "alien to every instinct in which we believe."

It was the first time Nixon had lashed out bitterly at either of the Democratic nominees. In previous speeches he had even lightly lauded them on occasion to such an extent that Kefauver had commented on the "sweetness and light" of the "new Nixon."

Nixon left Spokane for speeches today here and at Fargo, N. D., and Minneapolis after admitting that Republicans faced tough Senate contests this year in California, Nevada, Oregon and Washington.

Nixon told his Spokane news conference the Republicans would amend the Taft Hartley law if they win control of the Senate and the House.

Members To Study Magazine Article At Rotary Session

A somewhat different program is in store for the members of the Sanford Rotary Club at its regular weekly meeting Monday noon at the Yacht Club when six past presidents of the local organization will offer their comments on an article that appeared in a recent issue of The Rotarian Magazine.

The article stated that a bona fide member of a bona fide Rotary Club wrote a letter to the international office of the 52-year-old group of business and professional men stating his reasons on "Why I Am Quitting Rotary." He claimed his club "wasn't doing anything worthwhile," that the programs were uninteresting and followed a definite pattern, week after week, and "Rotary Rust" had enveloped the Club. The writer got a lot of things off his chest and whether he was right or wrong will be the theme of the comments of "Bill Bush," Brack Perkins Jr., Walter Haynes, H. H. Coleman, Roy Holler and George Sline.

Serving as moderator will be George Touhy, also a past president of the Club. It is expected that the discussion will prove not only exciting but also informative and stimulating.

President Charles L. Persons and General Program Chairman Myron Reck in approving the program felt that there might be dynamite in it but concluded that members of other civic and service clubs might have the same attitude about their respective clubs and that a useful purpose might be served in bringing such thoughts out in the open.

The opportunity to participate in the discussion will be given to any Rotarian present provided it is not of a political, sectarian or controversial nature.

Bids Are Opened For Manufacturing Company Building

Bids for the proposed Sanford Manufacturing Company building were opened yesterday afternoon in the office of Frank George, architect.

A representative of the company and William H. "Bill" Stemper, vice-chairman of the Sanford Industrial Board were on hand for the opening of the bids.

A total of 14 bids were submitted, five from general contractors and nine from the mechanical trades.

Bids are now being tabulated with an indication that there will be some revision, changes and deletions, to bring the bids within the proposed cost of the new industrial construction.

No definite date was announced for the naming of the successful bidder or the completion of the revised plans.

The purpose of the convention is to correlate plans for the months of October through April at which time the fiscal year ends.

Art Professor Says E. Presley Looks Like Greek God

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley Thursday was described by an art professor as a "dead ringer" for the gods of the golden age of Greek art.
 Famous Greek statues of Apollo and Hermes show a strong resemblance to Presley, even to the duck bill haircut and sideburns, said Prof. Harry Wood, head of the art department at Arizona State College at Tempe.
 "The twitch and twist, after all, made Greek art popular in Greece," Wood said. "The Greeks were the first to capture it in stone and break away from the stiffness of Egyptian art."

Wood said he was neither attacking nor defending Presley's universal entertainer but he had used the comparison in his first lecture in the humanities course at Arizona State.
 "A comparison of Presley in action with photos of well-known Greek statues shows remarkable similarities," he said.
 One of the most striking is an early work known as the "Charioteer of Delphi," he said.
 "It has the same heavy jaw, Greek nose, thick lips and half-lowered eyelids as Presley. It has the same somewhat proud adolescent look of a young hero."

 Presley is the "revival of a Greek archetype" often found in the entertainment world, he said. Others are Joan Crawford and Gregory Peck.
 Apollo, the professor said, was the "god, sponsor and patron" of Greek singers "who must have had a style similar to that of Presley."
 "The Greek singers combined the athletic or masculine Doric influence with the femininity of the Ionic, or ner eastern Greek, music."

Tampa Boy Goes To Nashville; Mother Unaware
 NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ten-year-old Billy Newlin of Tampa, Fla., arrived here by bus Wednesday night, unafraid, unattended and unexpected.
 The youngster, down to his last five licorice sticks, still had a pocket knife, an empty billfold, a bus token and the assortment of unrelated items usually found in a boy's pockets. But he was lost.
 Billy told police he planned to visit friends of the family but wasn't certain of their names or home addresses. With considerable help from the police, Billy found the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Melton who were former neighbors here of the boy's mother, Mrs. Lamar Drs. - Rifehdnah er, Mrs. Lamar Driscoll of Tampa.
 The boy spent the night with the Meltons after a telephone call to his mother. Billy obtained his mother's permission to stay here a few days before returning home. He said he just decided to come mother and bought the bus ticket here for a visit without telling his mother he had saved.

My Neighbors

"I almost forgot to ask, dear. What bank shall I overdraw our account in?"

In "Bus Stop," a youthful cowboy, Don Murray, falls in love with the first girl he meets who just happens to be Marilyn Monroe. His straightforward romantic approach, which includes roping the blonde into a bus ride back to his corral, provides a rollicking vehicle for the "new" Marilyn. Based on William Inge's hit play, the Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope film bows here Sunday at the Ritz Theatre.

Lively 'New' Monroe In 'Bus Stop' Sparks Explosive Screen Comedy

Marilyn Monroe returns to the screen of the Ritz Theatre on Sunday in "Bus Stop," Twentieth Century-Fox's CinemaScope-De Luxe color version of William Inge's successful Broadway play. After an absence of 14 months the screen's Number One glamour girl emerges with a new acting technique acquired at the famed Actor's Studio in New York but with the same curves and beauty she has always displayed.

Opposite Miss Monroe will be Don Murray, a new and exciting Broadway actor, who will be making his screen debut. He was selected for the important cowboy role over thirty-odd young actors who were tested for the part. Producer Buddy Adler surrounded them with top talent—Oscar nominee Arthur O'Connell; Broadway actresses Betty Field and Eileen Heckart; Robert Bray, Hope Lange, Hans Conrard and Casey Adams.

George Axelrod, who wrote "The Seven Year Itch" and "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" two highly successful plays, adapted Inge's comedy romance between the chanteuse of the Blue Dragon Cafe in Phoenix, Arizona and the naive, but brash cowboy from the Susie-Q ranch in Montana. Their hilarious love-making is carried on in a bus, at a roadside diner, in the cafe and at the Jayvee World's Champion ship Rodeo.

Joshua Logan who directed the screen version of Inge's "Picnic," handled the directorial duties on "Bus Stop." To give greater scope to the picture than the play had, Director Logan took his company of 80 players and technicians on location first to Phoenix, where the annual rodeo was in progress, and to Sun Valley, Idaho—the scenic background. For the rodeo scenes Logan used 10,000 spectators as extras to cheer Marilyn and Don Murray, who does some bronco riding of his own. Top riders, including Casey Tibbs, World's All-Around Rodeo Champion participate in the authentic roundup. Moving his troupe on later to Sun Valley, Logan made use of the vast expanse of snow-covered mountains for the equally realistic snowbound outdoor scenes that keep the "passengers" marveled at the "Bus Stop" for several hours.

Milton Krasser, ASC, who photographed Miss Monroe in "The Seven Year Itch," handled the CinemaScope cameras for "Bus Stop," which emerges as a handsomely mounted film treat.

Real Drama Keynotes Warner's Gary Cooper Starring Film

The old saw about not being able to see the forest for the trees was borne out again during the filming of "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell" on location in Washington, D. C. Gary Cooper, the star of the Warner Bros. film was stopped by an overzealous Military Policeman and reprimanded for being out of uniform.

The day being hot and humid in the railway station setting, Cooper unbuttoned his colonel's uniform, opened his tie and replaced his high military boots with loafers. An M.P. noticing the actor, who was talking with spectators in the depot's crowded concourse, approached, saluted smartly and said, "Sir, your uniform does not conform to regulations."

After Cooper had explained who he was to the M.P.'s satisfaction, it was noted by an observant bystander that although military uniforms today are quite different from what they were in 1925, the time of the film, the M.P. had noticed the minor infractions, but not the complete change of uniform.

The CinemaScope and Warner-Color film, which also stars Charles Bickford, Ralph Bellamy, Rod Steiger and Elizabeth Montgomery, is believed by Producer Milton Sperling to be the first picture ever made in Hollywood with an American military background of the 1921-1926 period.

"The Army and Navy uniforms had unbuttoned in 1919 and again in 1925," explained Sperling. "If a film of this kind had been produced, the military uniforms would have remained as evidence in one of the major studios or a rental wardrobe company. Military uniforms are never thrown away."

Every Army and Navy uniform in "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell" had to be specially tailored. The short, buttoned coat of World War I was changed in 1919 to a longer, flared tunic. The Sam Browne belt was added and a longer visored cap. In 1926 the highstanding collar went out.

Americans Are Hobby-Conscious People; Collecting Popular

If it is true, as many a doctor attests, that it is healthful to have a hobby, then Americans ought to be a healthy lot. We are a hobby-conscious people if there ever was one. And collecting is very high on the list of popular hobbies. Sometimes it seems that half the population must collect something or other.

Dear little old ladies by the thousands—and some neither dear nor little nor old—collect teacups and antiques, diamonds and costume dolls and perfume bottles, soup spoons, Venetian glass, pictures of the Dionne quintuplets; almost anything portable and multiple, in fact. Teen-agers acquire rock 'n' roll records, autographs and allied objects.

Men incline toward stamps or coins or old automobiles, beer mugs, sporting prints, ancient pistols, amusing newspaper headlines. Some people collect items such as theatre programs, restaurant menus, railroad time-tables; others try for books or paintings. Virtually every child is a collector at one time or another mostly of beach pebbles, seed pods, spiders, bottle caps and the like.

These observations lead to no very profound conclusion. It's just that we're collectors, too, and consider it a hobby worth talking about. What do we collect? People. Or, rather, impressions of people we've encountered.

There are some dillies—and they don't take up storage room or require dusting.

Savings Bonds

This is the story of a slightly disillusioned young man who learned his lesson the hard way.

On this particular day, he arrived home from work about the usual time in early evening. But instead of the customary hot meal on the dining table, he found only some scraps of paper—and they were very cold. Closer inspection revealed that the scraps were the remains of some United States Savings Bonds which he had accumulated over the years.

The events that followed are not entirely clear.

How Inflation Feeds On Itself

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—How inflation feeds on itself is shown today in the application of eastern and western railroads for another increase in freight rates.

The roads, in asking for a 15 per cent hike which would cost the nation's shippers as much as one billion dollars a year, cite rising prices of the materials they buy and the increase cost of the labor they employ.

The new freight rate increase, if granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, would in turn raise the operating costs of manufacturers—including those who supply the railroads with equipment—and put new pressure on price rises throughout the economy.

Inflation—used in the sense of a cut in the buying power of the dollar through rising prices on goods and services—thus looks both backwards and forwards.

Past increases in prices lay the base out of which grow future price hikes.

The interrelation of steel and the railroads is a case in point. The price hike in steel that followed the wage boost for steel workers in August leads markers of freight cars to raise the prices. Example: Pullman-Standard is showing in New York today some freight cars with price tags two to six per cent higher than when the cars were first displayed in St. Louis in July.

One of the reasons the railroads give for asking a 15 per cent freight rate hike is that their supplies will cost them more. The roads were granted a 6 per cent general freight rate boost last March. Six eastern roads are also asking for a 45 per cent hike in

Carpet Sweeper Sees 80th Year

By MAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Guess what common household article, invented 80 years ago this week, is enjoying its greatest boom ever? Well, sir, it's the old-fashioned carpet sweeper, now thoroughly glamorized.

"This should be the best year in history," says Melville R. Bissell III, 33, dominant manufacturer in the field. "World output may reach 3 million units this year and that figure may double by 1961."

An attack of hay fever led to the invention of the carpet sweeper, he biggest improvement in home cleaning since the first cavalry improvised a broom by gripping together a handful of twigs to brush the debris from her den.

The hay fever victim was Bissell's grandfather, Melville R. Bissell, 33-year-old owner of a crockery store in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"The crockery came packed in straw," recalled Bissell, "and the dust raised when they swept out the straw made Grandpa sneeze something awful. He decided he had to do something about it."

The result was the first practical carpet sweeper, patented by the original Bissell Sept. 19, 1876, who soon began to manufacture it. He died a few years later, however, and it was his wife, Anna, who really built the carpet sweeper over. She hired a governess for her five children, took over the factory, remained in power in the industry until her death in 1931 at 88.

When the electric vacuum cleaner came along, everyone predicted it would do to the carpet sweeper what the auto did to the horse. But it no more hurt the sale of carpet sweepers than carpet sweepers did the market for brooms. Housewives still find they can use all three.

"We may have made a mistake in not going in for vacuum cleaners," admitted Bissell. "As a matter of fact we did, when they first came out. But the early vacuum cleaner required a lot of repairs. We were afraid a gadget that had to be fixed so often would ruin our reputation, so we dropped it."

"That's one of the troubles with carpet sweepers. They practically never wear out. People occasionally bring us one that is 30 to 60 years old and want us to rebuild it. Now we have adopted a policy not to tinker with any over 25 years old."

How far will a carpet sweeper go? Bissell said they put a pedometer on one in a hotel, and it was still wheeling along strong after 8,000 miles.

The first carpet sweepers were cumbersome affairs of wood and cast iron weighing up to 15 pounds and selling for $3 to $4. Today they are made of lighter metal, weigh about 7 pounds, can be adjusted to different rug thicknesses,

Breast Cancer in Men

By HERMAN H. RUBINSTEIN, M.D.
CANCER of the male breast, unfortunately, doesn't get much public attention. Seldom is much written about it. In fact, there are undoubtedly as many men who have never even heard of it.

While it isn't very prevalent—it accounts for less than one per cent of cancer of the breast in both sexes—cancer of the male breast is a problem.

And because it is fairly rare, it may frequently be overlooked and symptoms even ignored. I think all of you men should be acquainted with the symptoms, even though the odds are greatly against your ever becoming a victim.

Major symptoms, either alone or in combinations, can include: breast mass or swelling; a bloody or thin, watery discharge from the nipple; nipple retraction, ulceration or encrustation; axillary swelling; and either local or distant pain.

First Symptom
Generally, the first symptom is a mass in the breast and nothing more. Pain, on the other hand, usually is an insignificant initial complaint. Seldom is pain the only symptom.

Regular Check-up
Perhaps a more thorough examination of the male breast during a regular physical check-up might be in order.

Age apparently has little to do with the development of cancer of the male breast. A check of 148 victims showed their ages extended from 24 to 85 with the average age being 52 years.

Occupation doesn't seem to be a factor, either.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q. Y. I took some aureomycin for pneumonia for about two weeks. I then developed diarrhea with cramps in my stomach which have persisted for the last five months.

A. Answer: It would seem you have developed some form of sensitivity to aureomycin. This is not too uncommon. Usually this condition will pass with time, but the giving of liver injections and vitamin B₁₂ is sometimes of help.

LUND SAYS

OLD AGE REQUIRES GREATER AID

The improvements to Social Security passed by the House last session were fine, but they didn't go far enough. No one can live on the present 300 minimum. The limit, the aged can earn after retirement, and still get Social Security, forces down their standard of living. Benefits to totally disabled adults, who have no other income, should begin as soon as their total disability is proven. They should not have to wait until they are 65 years of age. Such benefits would eliminate charity cases and hardship on many families.

NOT A SOCIAL EVENT

The election to Congress should not be considered a social event nor a means of livelihood. It is an opportunity to do something for the people. If one doesn't want to fight to get legislation for his districts, in fairness to the people, he ought not to run. It doesn't seem to me that bringing Congressmen here to play baseball once a year is enough of any accomplishment for a representative.

NEED INLAND WATERWAY
Although for a year he has been aware of its potential, Mr. Herlong has been too busy to undertake the much needed Inland Waterway project. Immediate steps must be taken to obtain the Sanford-Titusville Canal which is one of the starting points. The waterway project means the solving of the water conservation and water transportation problem, as well as better flood control. It will mean more industrial expansion and a greater prosperity for Central Florida. With rivers and the lakes connected with the outside sea, it would not make it a waterway paradise, but would insure the economic development of Florida as well.

REGULATE NATURAL GAS

Some day Florida consumers may be paying the bills for natural gas. Therefore they should have public utility regulation to protect them from being gouged. Yet, Mr. Herlong voted to exempt the producers of it from regulation. DOESN'T HE BELIEVE THE PEOPLE ARE ENTITLED TO THIS PROTECTION?

POST OFFICES FOR CAMPAIGNS
Under the pretense of visiting his constituents, Mr. Herlong is using the post offices to campaign for reelection. The law allowing him to rent space cheaply was intended for the public's benefit so they could talk over problems. Their use during a campaign should be prohibited.

WHO STOLE WHAT?
Mr. Herlong has charged the Republicans with "pirating" a bill he introduced. The bill would exempt gasoline used for non-highway use from taxes. He introduced it back on March 16th, 1955. He got no action on his bill for 9 months and when a similar bill came up for roll call on January 21st, 1956, HE DID NOT VOTE. If he was so interested in this legislation, WHY DIDN'T HE FOR IT. Anyway it passed 287-0. Public interests ought to come ahead of his feelings.

Arnold Lund, Republican Member for Congress.

Dorcas Class Holds Officer Election At Monthly Meet

The Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church held its last meeting of the church year at the Sanford Avenue home of Mrs. Ruby Spears, Class President. Mrs. J. E. Andrews, Mrs. J. L. Hobby, Mrs. John Kader and Mrs. W. D. Gardiner served as co-hostesses.

The Spears home was beautifully decorated in the class colors of gold and lavender, with an arrangement on the piano of gladioli and hibiscus, also in shades of gold and lavender. Also in the class colors were the hibiscus adorning the card tables which were set up throughout the house and from which a covered dish supper was served and enjoyed.

Immediately following the supper, Miss Allyson Lee rendered several selections to help gather the ladies into the living room for the regular business meeting. Mrs. Spears called the session to order and Mrs. M. T. Haynes brought a very inspiring and challenging devotional on "Bringing the child up in a Christian home." Mrs. A. L. Thomas then offered a prayer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were given by the assistant secretary, Mrs. Ray Murray, after which Mrs. A. L. Thomas gave the treasurer's report.

A nominating committee presented the slate of new officers for the coming year. The following were nominated and elected: president, Mrs. J. L. Hobby; first vice-president, Mrs. Ray Murray; second vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Phillips; secretary, Mrs. John Cullum; assistant secretary, Mrs. Dan Forner; treasurer, Mrs. R. A. Cohen; courtesy chairman, Mrs. Ned Moore; devotional chairman, Mrs. M. T. Haynes; hospitality chairman, Ruth Hodges; historian, Mrs. W. I. Crabtree; publicity, Mrs. H. J. Finch; class advisor and teacher, Mrs. W. D. Gardiner.

The new president then presented a beautiful silver tray, engraved with the class name and the year, to Mrs. Ruby Spears, outgoing president.

Mrs. John L. Lee then brought to the class an outline of the last chapters of the book "In His Step", after which the members of the class stood and joined hands for the singing of "Bless Be The Tie" and the peritition of the Misses. The meeting was then adjourned.

My, what a delightful visit I had. Mrs. Mitchell asked me to come at Southside School Wednesday. Over and have lunch with her and meet all the teachers, which I was most happy to do. It also gave me an opportunity to enjoy those wonderful new formica tables and benches which were purchased and installed last week. I must say, I never saw a more well-bathed group of boys and girls anywhere, than were right there in that lunchroom.

Two of the lunchroom workers were celebrating birthdays. We so all the fourth-grade children as well as teachers and yours truly joined in the singing of "Happy Birthday" not once, but twice. The children also sang a blessing before their meal.

Everyone there was bubbling with enthusiasm over the Association for Childhood Education Reception which was scheduled for last night at 8 p.m. at the Grammer School. The purpose of this reception was to honor all the new teachers, which I think is kind of a nice idea.

Another nice idea is the birthday party they are planning for next Friday afternoon, that's Sept. 22, to honor all the children who have had birthdays during the month of September. During the afternoon break individual cakes, containing one candle each, will be served to the children in the lunchroom. These cakes will be baked by the mothers. They also tell me they're going to have a musical birthday cake, but I'm not sure whether they're spoiling-me or not.

Mrs. Loraine Graham, at the Tuberculosis and Health association office, tells me that everyone responded beautifully to her appeal for help in folding Christmas Seals, but now she needs volunteers to help her address envelopes. Also she said that if anyone has a typewriter he or she is willing to lend, she would be very grateful.

At Westside School, the entire sixth grade of Miss Ann Whitaker is as thrilled as she is over the diamond engagement ring given her by Donald Reynolds, and those adorable twin daughters of Mrs. Jean Lindquist were one year old on Tuesday. Their names are Leslie Jean and Terry Ann.

Sadly missed at Sanford Grammer School yesterday was Miss Katharine Ball who was home ill.

A discussion was held on the job of the officers and how they are to perform these jobs. Also discussed were weekly assemblies and the annual magazine sale.

Miss L. Hall Wed In Georgia

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hall of this city are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Lucille, to Glen Carroll, son of E. T. Carroll, of Thayer, Mo.

The marriage took place on Monday, Sept. 17, at Kingsland, Ga., with Mr. E. W. Peoples, Justice of the Peace, performing the ceremony.

The couple was accompanied to Georgia by the bride's sister and brother and two mutual friends. Mrs. Carroll attended Sanford schools and graduated from Seminole High School with the class of '35. Mr. Carroll attended schools in Thayer and is now stationed at Sanford Naval Air Station.

B.P.W. Completes Final Preparations For B.P.W. Week

The Sanford B.P.W. held a program meeting at the Yacht Club Wednesday night, at which dinner was served by Mrs. Homer Little, who had the long table very attractively arranged with varicolored hibiscus.

After the dinner, final plans were made for B.P.W. week, which is Sept. 23-29. On Monday evening the ladies will attend the meeting of the Orlando B.P.W. and on Tuesday, Mrs. E. D. Rhinehart has invited the public to attend open house at her ceramics studio from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m.

On Wednesday, the members of the Sanford Club will meet with the members of the Orlando Club for a tour of Pinecrest Air Force Base, after which they will have dinner at the base. Friday evening will mark the end of the week's activities when Mrs. Marguerite Graham entertains the members of the club at an open house.

The meeting was closed with a program, presented by Mrs. Olga Hunter, Mrs. Harriett Slawter and Mrs. Josie Carter, on "Good Grooming and Proper Dress." Mrs. Hunter told what just a little extra attention to her grooming both morning and evening had done for her in just a short while, after which Harriett Slawter demonstrated what just a little make-up, properly applied, could do for one's appearance. She also stressed the importance of proper care of the complexion and gave these three points to remember in caring for the skin: to clean, to lubricate and to preserve. Mrs. Josie Carter told about the different figure types and of the importance of the proper foundation garment for each figure type. She brought home the fact that any woman looks far better in an old dress worn over a properly fitted foundation garment than a lovely new dress, which is worn over an improperly fitted foundation garment. She said that if it comes to a choice of buying a new dress or a new foundation garment, by all means buy the foundation garment. You'll not only look better, but will feel better too.

Those present were Mrs. Myrtle Gradick, Mrs. Arolyn True, Mrs. Marguerite Graham, Mrs. Helen Pearson, Mrs. Olga Hunter, Mrs. Gertrude Glibert, Mrs. Betty Baker, Mrs. Euphemia Huntley, Mrs. Mary D. Episcopal Church To Sponsor New Brownie Troop

A brand new Brownie Troop, which is not as yet registered, is being formed, and will be sponsored by Holy Cross Episcopal Church. The leader is Mrs. Eleanor McMurray and Mrs. B. L. Perkins Jr. is on the troop committee.

The troop is for seven-year-olds who are beginners in scouting, and is being organized because the Girl Scout Council felt that it would be more beneficial for the second graders to start by themselves, rather than tag along after the older girls who have experience in scouting.

The girls are now busy becoming introduced to Brownie Scouting and are learning the sign, salute, handshake and promise so that they may be invested before too long.

Beta Sigma Phi Plans 'Dude Ranch' Rush Party, Sept. 24

Bazaar committee reports were heard last night at the Beta Sigma Phi meeting held at the home of Mrs. Jack Armstrong. Discussion was held on publicity and Mrs. Volle Williams Jr., passed out tickets to the members. Booths at the bazaar will be: Baby Contest, Mrs. C. M. Nichols; Shell Jewelry, Mrs. Vernon Hardin; Fish Pond, Mrs. Herbert Stenstrom; White Elephants, Mrs. J. L. It was announced that the local chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was rated as a three star chapter last year.

Final plans were announced for the "Dude Ranch" Rush Party to be held Sept. 24.

Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr., Projects Chairman, made an announcement of three projects the group might take up this year: equipping for the new hospital; supporting or clothing a child at the Florida Methodist Children Home or a Nursing Scholarship for some future nurse in the Sanford Area.

Members volunteered to help fold the Christmas T.B. Seals. It was decided that the members would do this at their homes instead of a regular business meeting due to the heavy schedule for October and November.

Refreshments were then served by the hostesses Mrs. Jack Armstrong and Mrs. J. L. Horton Jr. to the following members: Mrs.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Aurbakken announced the birth of a son, John Laurence, on Sept. 19, at Hartford Hospital in Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Aurbakken will be remembered as the former Miss Ellen Merriweather. The proud grandmother is Mrs. Annie Merriweather.

Mrs. Loraine Graham, at the Tuberculosis and Health association office, tells me that everyone responded beautifully to her appeal for help in folding Christmas Seals, but now she needs volunteers to help her address envelopes. Also she said that if anyone has a typewriter he or she is willing to lend, she would be very grateful.

At Westside School, the entire sixth grade of Miss Ann Whitaker is as thrilled as she is over the diamond engagement ring given her by Donald Reynolds, and those adorable twin daughters of Mrs. Jean Lindquist were one year old on Tuesday. Their names are Leslie Jean and Terry Ann.

Mrs. Ethel Ayers Tells Of Mission Work In Far East

Tuesday evening members and friends of the Lake Mary Community Church were privileged to hear Mrs. Ethel W. Ayers of Longwood talk on her years of Mission Work in the Far East. She had been the dinner guest of Superintendent of the Sunday School R. W. Keogh and Mrs. Keogh and it was at their home the group gathered.

Mrs. Ayers called her talk "An Example of One Piece of Mission Work" and she traced the development of Kim Korean student at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Oskaki, Japan. By ment of Kim, Korean student at her own simple, but expressive, words she made the story live. Her listeners felt as though they knew the young lad, from a non-Christian home, who, being converted wanted to share his experience with others and so became a minister. When war struck Korea, he was pastor of an established church in Seoul, but, fortunately, he was in Japan, with two of the children attending a conference. His wife and two other children escaped, walking the long 240 miles from Seoul to Pusan. Eventually, the family was reunited in Japan where they worked around the clock, helping refugees from their home and establishing churches. Rex Kim is presently organizing churches, assisted by his wife. Their eldest daughter's husband, who was a professor at the University of Seoul, was killed in the invasion. Through the help of Mrs. Ayers and other influential missionaries, the widow has completed her education and is now a pharmacist at the great Seventh Day Adventist Hospital in Tokyo. Another Kim daughter and son are studying in California, both sent over on scholarships. Mrs. Ayers made her

Sanford Seminoles' Starting Lineup Against Cocoa Tonight

(47) FRED BEHRENS; Left guard; 190 pounds; senior; one year experience.

(46) BRANTLEY SCHIRARD; Center; 178 pounds; senior; two years experience.

(41) VIRGH GRACKY; Right guard; 178 pounds; senior; two years experience.

(45) MEREDITH SCOTT; Right tackle; 180 pounds; senior; two years experience.

(42) JOHNNY WILLIAMS; Right End; 183 pounds; Senior; one year experience.

Schirard, Byrd Are Tonight's Co-Captains

The two touchdowns underdog Sanford Seminoles threw all the way to the winds today as the senior staff instructed the quarterbacks to call what they termed a "Wide open ball game" offensively.

Despite rainy weather and injuries, the Seminoles will be running at near full speed, and will depend on depth and desire to pull this all-important season opener against Cocoa out of the fire and rack up a first victory for the Seminoles in the Orange Belt Conference.

Tonight the Sanford Seminoles make their debut at 8 p.m. in Memorial Stadium running under their new sobriquet. They are also heading their way into the fast and scrappy Orange Belt Conference for the first time against one of the OBC's highly touted powers. Cocoa Tiger head mentor Jim Jenkins will be bringing a highly confident squad to Memorial Stadium tonight; a team accustomed to winning.

Last week the Seminoles acquired a sharpness about them rarely seen at SHS, and they looked ready for Cocoa. Then the rains came and the inquiries began to knock hard on the Seminoles door. But yesterday the boys snapped back with the same old eagerness and blint in their eyes they had before. The only thing that will be slowing down the Seminoles tonight will be the frequency of the injuries. Injuries take a certain time to heal, and although all squad members are slated for action, the bruises and bangs will be a tender spot. Here is where the Seminoles new depth comes in. There will be an unprecedented 35 gridirers in uniform for the Seminoles, and the reserves are of a high calibre. Should old wounds inactivate a starter, there will be a good replacement on tap anxious to show his abilities in the battle.

Position shifts in the past week have considerably strengthened the Seminoles offensive and defensive teams. In order to compete with a speedy powerhouse and plenty of reserves, the Seminoles began to look for a backfield combination. They had already found the quarterbacking combination and two good passers in Al Stanley and Bobby Johnson when their order for a broken field runner was filled. Phil Byrd, the Seminoles number one speedster, responded well to individual attention and began coming through for the squeeze plays. With a sigh of relief the mentors turned to look for a "bull" to round out the program. While glancing over the lineups, they discovered that Terry Goemble could throw around his 190 pounds with a lot of speed (he's the third fastest member of the team), but pulling him out of the line would leave a big weak spot. Then they noticed that fullback Teddy Walker was afraid to throw a hard block. The switch was made. Goemble moved into the backfield and was a natural. Walker fared the line hard and settled down to stay. The Seminoles were ready for Cocoa. Desire, determination, and competition are the ingredients that helped the Seminoles snap back after six big days of sloppy weather. The "Green but Greedy" Seminoles want to win, and any mentor will take that attitude rather than overconfidence. Only 10 returning lettermen will be leading the tribe of Seminoles as they go into their second season running from the razzle-dazzle Split-T formation, but the greenest of the members has been well schooled in its fundamentals. The offense should be operating smoothly, but a scoring punch is hard to get in an opening game with inexperienced players.

The brunt of tonight's burden falls on the shoulders of a capable defensive unit. The Seminoles are a well balanced ball club with an outstanding defense that will have to play their best to bottle up Cocoa's dual threat of experienced passing and running. Fans should remember to keep a sharp eye on the defensive unit when they receive a kickoff or a punt. The Seminoles have worked this situation into an offensive play that, with a break, should give them a TD before the final whistle blows. The Sanford Seminoles will play one of two types of ball tonight. If they freeze in the first quarter because of their inexperience, Cocoa will be the type team that can capitalize on any error and turn it into a score. The boys know the chips are down and Cocoa is the pointer of the season, and the pressure will make a tough combination with lack of experience. But if the boys don't get rattled, if the quarterbacking is as good as it has been at times in scrimmages, if the defense stays together, and if the offense can push across a score, the Sanford Seminoles will have themselves a ball game; and, with any decent break during the game, they will have a victory.

Tonight is the night. Seminoles fans will sit in the new permanent bleachers on the west side of the playing field. They will enjoy keeping abreast of the game with the aid of the new electronic scoreboard and lock. They will see a thrilling Indian theme half-time spectacle. And they will see the 1956 edition of the Sanford Seminoles open the season attempting to put themselves in the running for the Orange Belt Conference Championship.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. tonight in Memorial Stadium. Be there!

Panthers Sporting Heavy Backfield

Saturday night at 8 p.m. in Memorial Stadium the Crooms Academy Panthers kickoff their second season in the Big Nine Conference by playing host to Melbourne in what figures to be a toss-up foray.

The Panthers are sporting a heavy backfield for the first time in several seasons. The offensive attack will be led by Eddie Lanier, 175 pound Senior fullback, who looms as a triple threat with his passing, running, and punting.

The Panthers were hurt badly by last year's graduations and head mentor Joe Fair will be trying to compensate for this with a new series of deception plays. The 23 member squad has plenty of weight for an aggressive team but the Panthers are terrifically short on experience.

When accepted into the 'Big 9' last year the Crooms club was placed on a two-year probation, and are not eligible for any conference honors. "Since we are on probation and there is no chance for honors, all we can do is show that we are in a position to compete with Big 9 teams," Fair said. "We expect to win at least one-third of our games," he added.

When asked about his chances tomorrow night Fair said, "I don't know yet just how we stand or what we've got. We'll just have to wait and find out."

(24) RONNIE RUZZI; Left halfback; 184 pounds; junior; one year experience.

(32) AL STANLEY; Quarterback; 170 pounds; senior; two years experience.

(40) TERRY GOEMBLE; Fullback; 190 pounds; senior; two years experience.

(28) PHIL BYRD; Right halfback; 145 pounds; senior; two years experience.

FSU Relying On Metts For Heavy Action

Buck Metts, of Sanford, will be counted on for heavy action as coach Tom Nugent sends his injury riddled 1956 Florida State Seminoles into their second year of big time football when they tackle Ohio University tomorrow night at Doak S. Campbell Stadium in Tallahassee at 8 p.m. The Tribe will be working against the personal winning streak of Ohio coach Carroll Widdoes. In nine years as head coach, Widdoes has never lost an opening game.

Nugent admits that the Seminoles know less about the Ohio Bobcats than any opening team they've ever played. To add to Nugent's worries, the Bobcats have a senior letterman at nearly every position. Football fans will remember Widdoes as a national "Coach of the Year" in 1944, when as coach at Ohio State, he played the Buckeyes to an unbeaten season.

The last minute rash of minor injuries may make the Tribe an underdog for the second straight year in their season opener. Altogether, six men were on the sidelines with injuries during last Saturday's full-scale scrimmage. These included backs Billy Odom, Stan Dobos and Pat Versprille and linemen George Boyer, Bob Nellums and Bill Kibber. All are expected to play, however, except Kimber and Versprille.

Versprille, the 185-pound Norfolk, Va., speedster, will not see any of the action with the Tribe this season due to a nerve injury. Kimber is recovering from a knee injury and will be unavailable for at least two weeks.

The Bobcats will be handicapped by the loss of starting right halfback Vernon Smith, who is recovering from a recent appendectomy. Moving up to the starting right halfback Bobcat post will probably be Dave Kuenzi, a 185-pound letterman.

Approximately 15,000 fans are expected to watch the first meeting in gridiron history between the two schools.

The probable starting lineup:

JVs, Greyhounds Battle Tomorrow Night In Longwood

Sanford Seminoles JV mentor, Dick Silvers, said today that the Seminoles JV vs. Lyman Longwood game Saturday night in Longwood was not a hopeless cause. "This will not be a runaway game for the Greyhounds," Silvers said. "We're light, but we've got a lot of sting in us. This is going to be a good show."

According to JV contracts, any team member who has not seen game action in the last 72 hours and who is not a Senior is eligible to see action. But this doesn't help Silvers much. Cocoa will use up almost all the men with any experience at all, and there shouldn't be much to stand in Lyman's way. "But you can't tell about the JV's. Last year the chances of holding down the score against Lyman looked slim, but the JV's held the Greyhounds to one score, and that was on a long pass. Statistics showed the JV's played a superior ground game than did the Greyhounds."

"Anything can happen," Silvers commented. "Both Cecil Dandridge and Rick Erickson have good football sense, and even with their lack of experience I expect to alternate at quarterback and call a good game."

The Lyman Greyhounds are touted to be one of the strongest independent teams in central Florida, and they boast a bruising 180 pound team average. Pounding Pete Vanhorn, 253 pound tackle, the stalwart lineman for the team.

Anyway it will be an interesting game to watch, and many Seminoles fans are expected to be on hand tomorrow night in Longwood at 8 p.m. when the JV's attempt the impossible by locking horns with the Lyman Greyhounds in a grudge battle.

Chemical Crayons To Detect War Gases Developed

BY FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Development of chemical crayons for detecting certain poisonous war gases — making the gases, in effect, "draw their own portraits" — was announced Thursday by the Army Chemical Corps.

The crayons may also have peacetime application in detecting fumes in industrial plants and in the atmosphere, it was reported.

You make a mark with one of the crayons on paper, wood, stone or a painted surface. If the mark changes to a certain color, there's war gas in the air, an Army scientist reported to the 130th national meeting of the American Chemical Society in describing laboratory tests.

Chemist Arnold Poratak of the Army Chemical Center, Maryland, said in a prepared talk the crayons could "simply and easily detect" the presence in air of extremely small amounts of phosgene, hydrogen cyanide, Lewisite and cyanogen—"gases that have been used or prepared for use as war gases."

Poratak, who coauthored the report with Dr. Benjamin Whitten, told the society:

"The detector crayon for phosgene, for example, will detect as little as eight parts per billion of phosgene in the air by turning a vivid red within one minute. This is an extremely small quantity, many times less than is ordinarily considered dangerous. In higher concentrations of gas the color formations almost instantaneous."

The crayons are made by mixing previously known sensitive chemical "detector" reagents with suitable fillers and binders and then compressing the mixture.

Peanut Bowl Game To Be Held Dec. 7 In Local Stadium

The Peanut Bowl Committee met last night at Sanford Grammar School and laid plans for the second annual P-TA sponsored affair.

The date for the Bowl championship games was set for Friday, Dec. 7, in Memorial Stadium where two games will be played for the coveted trophy. Between the two games will be a 20 minute half-time program of entertainment. This year the eight-man team will dress out in touch football jerseys with six inch numerals in back and four inch numerals in front. Tickets will soon be on sale by the Sanford Grammar P-TA priced at 50c for adults, 25c for children.

The sixth grade boys will form class teams and play a regular intra-mural season, and by elimination determine the four teams to compete for the championship. During this time the class teams will be coached by interested fathers and Navy men. Last year the young gridsters executed simple assignment plays, and with the polish displayed thus far in the season it looks like there will be deception plays by the teams.

"P-TA sponsored affairs are not permitted to solicit advertising, but interested merchants will be allowed to purchase block seats tickets by contacting Sanford Grammar," Jim Buckler, Peanut Bowl Committee chairman, said. The attendance goal was set by the group at 3,000.

Select Uoff Army ROTC Men Will Get Flight Training

GAINESVILLE—Selected senior Army ROTC students at the University of Florida will receive flight training this year, Colonel Marvin A. Kreiberg, professor of military science and tactics announced today.

Under provision of a law passed during the 84th Congress, such lessons may be offered by both Army and Air Force units, but Colonel Ralph Rhudy, professor of air science at the University, said this training will not begin for Air Force seniors until next year.

Under the provisions of the law, selected students may take flight instructions and qualify for a private pilot's license at the government's expense. They must, however, agree to serve three years on active duty after being commissioned and agree to volunteer for Army Aviation flight training and assignment.

The instructor will be provided by the Gainesville Air Service, a civilian flight training school, approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Instructor in charge will be Walter Lewis.

The law provides such instruction for a maximum of 400 cadets during the first year in 40 institutions. The University of Florida was one of the 40 institutions designated.

MRS. ISABELLE SENKLER, 35, mother of six children, smiles during a glamorous weekend in Long Beach, Calif., as a finalist for the title of "Mrs. U.S. Navy 1956" while unaware of impending tragedy. Her father had died in the Bronx, N.Y., but her mother kept it a secret so that the once-in-a-lifetime fun would not be spoiled. Mrs. Senkler is the wife of a chief storekeeper and the family has been stationed in Panama. The Navy saw them to New York for the funeral. CHAPTER 5
 DOCTOR HARRIDAN shook his head. The wind had made his long dark hair more untidy looking than usual. Now he pushed it off his forehead impatiently and turned from the railing to face Val. "No, I'm leaving the sea. The first time I was in command on this cruise ship I was offered the job of head surgeon at a new hospital which has been opened near Montego Bay. I'm quitting when we reach Kingston."

"A new hospital near Montego Bay? It's not the Good Heart Hospital by any chance, Doctor?"

"But it is." His voice was equally surprised. "How did you guess that?"

She laughed. Suddenly she felt extraordinarily happy. "Well, there can't be too many newly opened hospitals near Montego Bay. I'm going out to the same hospital as night sister. I'm working my passage out looking after a patient."

Pleasant Coincidence
 "You're going to be our night sister? But—what a coincidence! What a pleasant coincidence!" He laughed too, his deep, rumbling laugh. "I'm glad," he added simply.

"It's nice of you to say so, Doctor."

"I know we're going to work well together, Nurse Alison," he went on enthusiastically. "Frankly, I've been rather dreading working in a new hospital in which I knew none of my team mates."

"Me too," she murmured.

"Well, we've got ten full days ahead of us to get to know each other and become good friends." He went on with that boyish enthusiasm she noticed in his voice before. "The run out to Jamaica is grand. In a day or so we'll be up on the swimming pool and there'll be dancing on the deck at night!" He added teasingly, "I imagine you like to dance, Nurse Alison."

She smiled quickly. "Oh, I do, but I'm afraid I don't dance awfully well. I don't get much time for dancing."

special Partner
 Again he smiled down at her, his brown eyes twinkling. "I know you dance a good deal better than I do," he teased her. "At one time I used to dance a great deal, but then it was always with the same partner." But again he broke off and a shadow fell across his face.

When he spoke again his voice had professional note. "But you mentioned just now you had a patient on board. Nothing serious, I hope?"

"No, I don't think so, Doctor. Her own doctor hinted to me before we left that her ailments were mostly imaginary."

"But what we imagine can often hurt us as much as an actual physical disability."

"Then you believe in psychiatry, Doctor?" she asked quietly.

He looked at her in surprise. "But of course. Any medical man who doesn't these days is an out-of-date fool." Bruce Harridan straightened himself. "It must be almost time for lunch. Suppose I drop into the cabin this afternoon and have a word or two with your patient, not as a doctor but as a friend?"

Val remembered uncomfortably Mrs. Featherstone's sharp reaction to any suggestion that the ship's doctor should be called in no matter how ill she was.

"I don't think it would be a good idea, Doctor," she said apologetically. "She seems to have an aversion to ship's surgeons."

"She does?" He looked at her in surprise. "Some sort of complex?"

She breathed more easily. "I suppose it's that."

"Of course I've no wish to force myself upon her." He shrugged his large shoulders. "But remember, Nurse, his tone softened. "There must be no misunderstanding. Should you consider your patient at any time seriously ill, I must be sent for at once."

"Of course, I quite understand, Doctor."

She felt a little sick at heart. For some reason Mrs. Featherstone seemed to have intruded herself into the beginning of a friendship that she had welcomed eagerly.

He must have read something of what she was feeling in her downcast face. "Cheer up! Don't let what I said upset you, Nurse." He was smiling again in a natural, friendly way.

"It's very nice of you to understand, Doctor."

"By the way, what's the name of this patient who doesn't trust ship's doctors?"

"Mrs. Featherstone, Mrs. May Featherstone," she added, "she's a widow."

Suddenly she was very conscious of the sharpness of the pause.

"Mrs. Featherstone," he ejaculated finally. "Mrs. Featherstone of Hartnell Wood Grange, Hampshire?"

grim Look
 "Yes, but—" She didn't finish the sentence. The expression on his face stopped her. Surprise had given way to a grim, sardonic look.

"Do you know Mrs. Featherstone?" she stammered.

"Yes, I know Mrs. Featherstone," he said finally. "Once I had occasion to tell her it would give me real pleasure to strangle her with my own hands. You see, I was once engaged to her daughter Eileen. But Mrs. Featherstone not only managed to wreck the romance and break Eileen's heart and mine, but I'm convinced she was indirectly responsible for her daughter's death. On the rebound—or perhaps owing to her mother's insistence—Eileen became engaged to Dirk Hanson."

E. Borgnine Files Suit Against Film Producing Partners

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Ernest Borgnine has asked Superior Court to end his contract with the co-owners which produced the picture that skyrocketed him to film fame. He also wants $162,500 damages.

Borgnine filed suit Wednesday against Harold Hecht and Burt Lancaster, film producing partners, and their subsidiary producing companies, Hecht and Lancaster, produced "Marty," in which Borgnine's acting won an Academy Award.

Borgnine's complaint said he was not represented by an attorney when he signed the contract prepared by Hecht-Lancaster lawyers in August, 1954. He said the contract for "Marty" called for him to receive $5,000 and 2 1/2 per cent of the profits for five years.

The complaint also said that Borgnine received only $35,000 for two pictures made at 20th Century-Fox, whereas Hecht-Lancaster received nearly $150,000 for loaning him to the studio.

MRS. LENA ARONSON, 63, a diabetic patient at Wellere Island, New York, tries to hold back the tears as she and her son, Ralph, 43, embrace. Aronson, who is serving 30 to 60 years for robbery, had seen his mother only briefly in ten years. He was brought from Auburn Prison before Judge Labovitz, who originally sentenced him to imprisonment with a former escape indictment. The judge granted Aronson's appeal for a 40-minute hospital visit with his mother.

Reducing Diets Causing Concern

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—A flurry of reducing diets in popular magazines is giving the medical profession cause for grave concern because many persons don't read the articles carefully, says the Florida State Board of Health.

Marlorie Morrison, chief nutrition consultant for the board, said one "blitz diet" recommendation plainly warned it should be followed only a few days.

But, she continued, many individuals misread that point and one began to lose hair after two months because of malnutrition, Morrison said obesity is a medical problem and "weight reduction is not as quick, simple or safe as some recent articles would have you believe."

"No individual should go on any diet without the approval of his physician."

Services Should Work With Parent

TAMPA (AP)—Children's placement services should work with the parent as well as the child, speakers told the annual meeting of the Florida Group Child Care Assn.

"Placement is a service for the parent and it is our function to help him work out for himself whatever problems resulted in a need for placement of his child," said William L. Wilson, executive director of the Children's Service Bureau, of St. Petersburg.

Removing a child from the parents may furnish them with a challenge to develop the responsibility they did not have before, reported Dr. Alan Keith-Lucas, social welfare professor of the University of North Carolina.

"Placement can be a process that can help a dying family take a new lease on life," Dr. Keith-Lucas said.

The Rev. Silas Bishop of Jacksonville, association president, reminded the group that the child's natural home is the best home if it can be maintained.

The job of association members is to "take care of the child who has no home, not to separate the child from his home," Bishop said.

Have you noticed that grease spatters have an affinity for range pushbuttons, handles, and other hard-to-get-at spaces? Here's a tip for washing around such stubborn places: Just use cotton swabs coated with soap or detergent suds.

Zippered vinyl plastic mattress and pillow covers now come in colors, as well as in clear see-through sets. And they lighten the family laundry considerably. Just wipe them clean with a sudsy cloth or sponge while they're on the beds.

Actor Likes Being Called Dr. Boone

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Calling Dr. Boone, Calling Dr. Boone," said actor Richard Boone, who plays Dr. Boone on the TV show, "Medic."

"All the time people are coming up to me and making some joke about my being in 'Medic,'" he sighs. "They can't understand why I don't fall down laughing."

Still, Boone, 39, is a patient soul and does not resort to fluffery. As a matter of fact, he enjoys the jokes the first few dozen times and is tolerant thereafter. "And why not? Look what 'Medic' has done for him."

"For three years, I didn't play anything but dirty men at 20th Century-Fox," he said. "Why, I seldom got to shave. Now look at me."

I looked at him. His chin was clean-shaven and his mustache neatly clipped. His hair was combed and he wore a well-tailored business suit.

"Medic' did this for me," he said. "I'm getting my pick of pictures and 75 per cent of Eleanor Parker."

I must explain this. They are not cutting Miss Parker up into percentages. Boone is appearing in a new movie called "Lizzie," produced by Kirk Douglas' Bryna Productions. I believe he meant that his contract calls for his name to be billed in type no less than 75 per cent of the size of Miss Parker's, which is pretty good billing.

As a matter of fact, Miss Parker is actually divided into thirds in the picture. She plays a mixed-up girl with a three-way split personality.

I need hardly add Boone plays a medic in the picture. He is the psychiatrist who uncovers the trio of Eleanor Parkers.

Before "Lizzie," Boone made a Randolph Scott western, playing a heavy again—but a heavy with a longing not to be. Next he goes into "Ball Out at 43,000 Feet." In that one he recreates his TV role as the older Air Force officer who induces a younger man to do a risky ball-out to save his self-respect. The "younger" man will be John Payne.

Ford Trucks cost less

And low first cost is only your first saving

Before you buy your next truck, look at both sides of Ford's story of value. Check what you get and what it costs. You'll like what you see.

Look at the costs. Ford's first cost is low. Resale value is high. Modern Short Stroke engines—V-8 or Six—are designed for less friction, less wear, lower running costs. Maintenance costs are lower, too, because Ford trucks are built stronger for rugged long life. And a 10-million truck study proves Ford trucks last longer.

Look at what you get and you'll see you get more in a Ford. For example, more horsepower per dollar—proved by a comparison of factory-suggested list prices and net horsepower of all truck lines. You get more comfort with a Drivertail Cab, and more safety with Ford's exclusive Lifeguard features.

Look carefully... consider everything. You'll agree Ford trucks cost less, give you more. If you want a great deal—a great deal more for your money—see your Ford Dealer.

Foreigners Prone To Misconceptions About Swimming

BERLIN (AP)—One of Sweden's most glamorous exports, Bibi Johns, 28, thinks foreigners are prone to misconceptions about her countrymen's swimming habits.

"I never heard much about nudism in Sweden until I went to the United States," she said.

"The only place where there is mixed nude bathing in Sweden," she explained, "is at private beaches run by nudist clubs. At public beaches nude bathing is permitted only in areas that have been walled off—and where men and women are segregated."

Miss Johns has become one of Germany's top film and recording stars, and naturally she feels she's doing fine here.

She returned home in 1953 after a two-year stint in the United States that included television appearances, recording sessions, and a night club singing tour.

Despite her patriotic longing for her native land, she entertains unflattering opinions about its male inhabitants.

"American men," she said, "are wonderful. The Swedes are the worst."

"They may never let me go back to Sweden for saying this, but I really think Swedish men are the worst."

"Many people say that if you put a bottle in front of a Swedish man and a woman beside him, he will look at the bottle, and not the woman. Maybe the cold has something to do with it. The farther north you go in Europe, the more they like to drink."

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ben Hecht, who claims to have lived "under a shower of spears" in recent years, still manages to escape unscathed and continue his amazing literary output.

His current activities: 1. Writing the script of "A Farewell to Arms" for David O. Selznick.

2. Finishing up a movie script on the life of John Paul Jones.

3. Preparing a play on the life of the late poet Max Bodenheim, which will open in Chicago this fall.

4. Re-cutting his Bob Hope-Katharine Hepburn film, "The Iron Petticoat."

5. Getting ready to write a novel at his Oceanside, Calif., home.

I caught him as he was finishing up the Selznick script and asked an impertinent question: Did he think he might have done better in the literary field if he had sprud himself less thin?

"No," he said flatly. "I have produced 22 books, 15 plays, 70 screen plays and 400 short stories. I have done the best I can. I think it's better to keep writing than to labor over every word, trying to make it a gem."

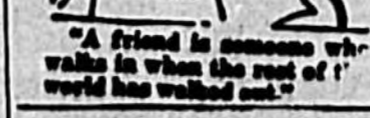

Hecht, whose lethargic manner falls to conceal his brilliant wit, declared that he has been bounced out of Hollywood three or four times. He has been one of the town's sharpest critics, yet producers always hire him back.

I mentioned that returning to Chicago should evoke memories for him. He and the late Charles McArthur got their schooling there in the newspaper days that inspired their "The Front Page."

"Yes, I'll like to see Chicago," he said, "though I expect to be blinded by the sidewalks. Every time I return there, they have installed more miles of white sidewalks. They are burying the city in a cement sarcophagus."

I asked him if those newspaper days were as great as they have been painted by him and others.

"I guess they were," he said. "In those days there was no radio and television; the printed word was king. A writer was some body, and a novelist was an awesome sight. Today he's just a guy who has sold a book to Hollywood."

"A friend is someone who walks in when the rest of the world has walked out."

B. Hugh Ansley Named Herald's Sports Editor

J. Marion Harman Sr., executive editor of The Sanford Herald, revealed today that B. Hugh Ansley has accepted appointment as sports editor of the Herald. In announcing Ansley's acceptance, Harman said, "We are pleased to have Hugh join our staff. His previous athletic activities and energetic support of youth activities well qualify him for the job."

Ansley is a graduate of Lyman High School in Longwood, where he held many offices in student government. In his senior year he was selected All Central Florida tackle in football. Other high school athletic honors included Honorable Mention All Central Florida tackle and Honorable Mention All State Tackle.

Ansley then attended Stetson University where he performed as tackle for the latter squad. During this same time he boxed in amateur fights in Orlando. His other athletic endeavors include baseball, wrestling, and golf.

When he accepted the appointment Ansley said, "It is my desire to furnish the readers of the Herald a complete and accurate local sports page. We of the Herald plan to cover all phases of Sanford and Seminole County activities. Such a complete sports page will require the cooperation of all sports clubs, and it is my hope that they will contact me concerning any activity that will be of interest to our readers. It will also be pleased if sportsmen will contact our office concerning events."

Ansley voiced particular enthusiasm in youth's activities and local clubs. "All phases of sports will be covered — football, basketball, baseball, tennis, golf, bowling, hunting, fishing, camping and any other sport — to the extent of cooperation and information given by the various clubs and organizations."

Ansley has attended the University of Houston, University of Tampa, and on returning to Stetson, where he is presently a senior student of education and psychology. He has written free-lance for several southern newspapers and was news-caster for KGUL-TV in Galveston, Texas.

Principals To Be Guest Speakers At Kiwanis Meet

Principals of Seminole County Schools will feature at the noon luncheon meeting Wednesday of the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

According to Fred Murray, program chairman, for the meeting a number of the school principals will be on hand to make brief talks.

The Kiwanis Bulletin, published weekly by the local club, states that "Kiwanis is deeply interested in our schools, so this promises to be a good program."

The Sanford Kiwanis Club meets each Wednesday at noon at the Yacht Club.

Women's Golf Assn. To Open Season

President Ruth Herron announced today that the Sanford Women's Golf Association will begin its 1956-57 season this week. The monthly luncheon will be held Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 12:30 at the Mayfair Inn Country Club.

A golf tournament will be held in conjunction with the luncheon and all members are urged to participate.

Weather

Mainly cloudy with occasional showers today and tonight; Tuesday partly cloudy with widely scattered showers; low tonight 73-77

Herald Acquires 32-Page Press

Fred Perkins, Publisher of The Herald, announced today that The Sanford Herald has purchased a 32 page Scott Rotary Newspaper Printing Press from the Dallas Times of Dallas, Tex.

It will require approximately three months to dismantle the press in Texas, ship it to Sanford, and erect it in The Sanford Herald press room.

The negotiations for the purchase of the press have been going on for some time and were just completed this past Saturday.

"However," he said "this newspaper will continue to stress local coverage, in our news columns, in our society columns, in our sports columns, in our editorial opinions, and in our efforts to bolster the growth of the local area."

This is the first in a series of expansion plans that will cost approximately $50,000, Perkins said this morning.

"The Sanford Herald will continue to keep up with the expansion and growth of Sanford and Seminole County," he said.

Board To Consider Five Ordinances

Five ordinances will be considered by the Board of Sanford City Commission at their regularly scheduled meeting tonight.

Special meetings brought the 1956-57 General Government budget into balance and combined with the approval of the Utility Department budget earlier, the entire budget will be covered in one ordinance for the next fiscal year's spending program.

Following a special meeting with the Civil Service Board of Sanford on Thursday evening, the pay schedule, which has been a matter of controversy in both City Commission and City employee circles, comes up for approval by ordinance.

An ordinance creating the position of Finance Director will be presented for first reading and probably passage. The ordinance will provide H. N. Bayer with a supervisory title over the entire group of finance offices at City Hall. Other officers will be appointed as Deputies to the Finance Director.

And additional ordinance for consideration at tonight's meeting will include an amendment to the licensing ordinance in regards to the licensing of sound trucks when used for the holder's own use for advertising.

An amendment to the admission tax ordinance which will direct all taxes derived from tax on Memorial Stadium admissions to the general fund of the city, will be presented for consideration.

Top items on the agenda for tonight will include a discussion with Architect John Burton, IV regarding the Sanford Civic Center, the proposed fire station, and Swimming Pool. It is expected that the discussions relative to the new structures will lead to the adoption of a Capital Improvement program for the city of up to a half-million dollars.

Street lighting bids and bids for two new pumps for the Sanford Fire Department, on the agenda tonight for consideration, are part of the overall Capital Improvement program and will follow, perhaps, the discussions with the architect.

A request to park a house trailer on private property and a request by the Sanford Merchants Association for assistance in paying last year's bills on Christmas lighting will also come before the commissioners for discussion.

Representative To Give Social Security Info

A representative of the Social Security Administration District Office in Orlando will be at the Chamber of Commerce Building in Sanford on Friday, October 6, Friday, October 13 and Friday, October 19, 1956 between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and noon.

This service is made available to those who wish to apply for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits, social security account numbers, or obtain information about the Social Security program.

OHS Graduates Enter Schools, Begin Careers

By MARIAN JONES OVIDO—As the 1956-57 school year gets underway, we look around to see what has happened to the 1956 graduates of the Oviedo High School.

We understand that Ray Fore, captain of last year's basketball team, and Nadine Bostick, salutatorian of the 1956 class, are going to Orlando Junior College.

Pat Walker, valedictorian of the 1956 class and recipient of so many of the honors and awards, has taken up the nursing profession, having entered for her training at Orange Memorial, Orlando.

Lorne Mathers, American Legion award winner, and Johnny Selph, talented musician, are going to vocational school in Orlando.

Pleasant Jean Smithson is now a resident of Orlando but under a new title, Mrs. Harold Lyles, married Sept. 9.

Dorothy Simmons also resides in Orlando but has taken up a business career. Olivia Holland, who was already married when she received her diploma, is busily engaged in household duties.

Terry McMahon and James McGill have chosen the business world, also, as well as Hubert Priest and Freddie Wheaton, both prominently known to basketball fans, and Myron Willis, Boys State representative.

Keith Malcolm, voted by the spectators as the most valuable man to the 1955-56 basketball quintet, is at Barber's College, Miami.

Good luck to all whatever they do.

Now we turn to the college registrars. The University of Florida, Gainesville, will claim the largest number of these.

Walter and Edward Dosh both returned to Sanford, Walter having caught up with Ed due to Ed's two-year army stretch. With Ed in Gainesville are his pretty wife, Sadye, and Ed Jr., a new addition to the family.

Bob Shaffer returned as a Junior this year. Donald Hardy, who had three years at Gainesville, prior to two years in Germany, has returned to resume his engineering career there. As Don has a five year course, we do not know his status—Junior or Senior. Don took his wife, Georgina, with him to Gainesville, too, to help him with his studies.

Johnny Jones returned to the University as a Sophomore this year. Johnny is looking forward to being with the Varsity basketball team this year. Johnny, who has a four-year scholarship on his basketball record, finished as second highest scorer on the Freshman team last year even though he had been switched from a forward to a guard. Johnny has chosen an engineering profession, also.

Erwin Abel, who entered the University in February last term, returned to resume his studies. Erwin did not have much vacation, as he attended summer school. He also has a brand new wife with him in Gainesville, the former Ann Leinhardt. Ann, who would have been a Junior at FSU this year, plans on transferring to Gainesville.

Ann Pierson, salutatorian of the 1955 class, has returned to Orlando Junior College this year.

Miss Rebekah Tuby, Miss Queen of the 1955 class, and Miss Nancy Myers are sophomores at Southern College, Lakeland, this year. Rebekah attended summer school there. Nancy helped with the recreation program in Oviedo during the summer.

Herlong's Record Hit By Lund

Declaring the record of Cong. A. S. Herlong Jr., to be an insult to the people of the Fifth Congressional District, Arnold L. Lund, Republican nominee, stated that he had not earned the right to be re-elected.

Lund charged that Herlong had either voted against or failed to vote on many important congressional issues. He stated that Herlong had voted against military aid for the Allies and that he had voted against an appropriation of the Un-American Activities Committee or for the minimum wage law.

"I would rather have our battles fought on foreign soil," he said. "We should not have another 'Pearl Harbor', Lund stated. We must recognize the Allied nations as the outer borders of our defense. I deplore Herlong's action in voting against military aid to our Allies."

"The Un-American Activities Committee is one important means to keep subversives and Communists out of this country and out of the government," he said. "I deplore Herlong's failure to keep for an appropriation to keep this committee alive."

Lund also attacked Herlong's stand on the farm question as a "do-nothing."

"Herlong was against both the proposal for the soil bank as he was against the 90 per cent parity. He offered no other solution for the problem. Didn't he think this to be an important issue. He was in fact an independent 'do-nothing'."

Lund also attacked Herlong for not protecting public interest by voting for a bill exempting natural gas consumers from public utility regulation. He also ridiculed a previous charge made by Herlong that one of his bills had been "pirated." He claimed that Herlong failed to vote on a similar bill when it came up in Congress nine months later.

Accusing Adlai Stevenson of having a promise for everyone on anything, Arnold L. Lund, Republican nominee for Congress at a meeting of the Lake County Republican Club Friday night stated the presidential aspirant "needs a shove" to continue his campaign of scoping pledges to the crowd.

"His running mate pegs him in the primary," Lund declared. Ed Lee Kefauver accused him of having a speech for New York and an entirely different speech for Florida.

"Stevenson is betraying the South on two vital issues," Lund said. "He wants to abolish the right to work" laws that the South enjoys for the freedom of its workers. He has challenged the President to enforce the Supreme Court decision on segregation. Does he want like to call out the Federal troops to do that or is that what he has in mind if he is elected."

Lund deplored Herlong's support of Stevenson charging that such support was inconsistent with the Congressman's stand in signing the Supreme Court manifesto.

"I cannot understand how he can support a man who is openly betraying the South on this important question," Lund declared.

Lund also assailed the voting record of Herlong as a poor one. "By his failure to be mindful of the needs and welfare of the people, the small wage earner, labor and the farmer, he has forfeited his right to return to the office which he so badly neglected in these eight years," he said.

Drivers License Renewals 25 Pct. Behind Last Year

Seminole County drivers license renewals are approximately 25 per cent behind last year, according to Seminole County Judge Ernest Housholder.

Last year, Judge Housholder said, during September, 12,987 licenses were sold. There is an expected increase of at least eight to 10 per cent which means that if everyone secures a license, following the law, it must be done not later than Oct. 1, 1956, he said.

All licenses, during the last week, will be sold at the Court House during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays and on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Judge Housholder reminds Sanford and Seminole County motorists "that only a limited number of employees can work in the space allotted in the Court House," and he urges every one who has not attended to this item, to please do so immediately and avoid the last days an hours of the rush, waiting to be served.

In a tabulation of drivers license renewals sold up to the present time, Judge Housholder said that 529 were sold at Oviedo; 35 at Lake Monroe; 183 at Bear Lake; 112 at Longwood; 87 at Geneva; 121 at Lake Mary; 713 at Altamonte Springs; 165 at Prairie Lake; and 7,763 at the Court House in Sanford. This is a total of 9,337 sold to date compared to the more than 12,000 expected to be sold in Seminole County this month.

Youths Jam Theatre To See Kids' Day Movie

It's hard to estimate just exactly how many boys and girls attended the National Kids Day movie Saturday morning.

Sponsored by the Sanford Kiwanis Club as a part of their observance of the nationwide events, the movies were arranged through E. Kimbrough, manager of the Ritz Theatre.

Upward of 2,500 children lined up for the first performance of the feature in color and four cartoons.

At no time, with the lobby of the Ritz theatre packed and jammed, line extended, four deep around the corner and out Second St. to the corner of Palmetto Ave.

Waiting for the youngsters of all ages were cups of ice cream and comic books, all free and with the compliments of the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

In hand to guide the youngsters into the show were A. L. Wilson, president of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, Ed Lane of the club's publicity committee, and Floyd Palmer, chairman of the Kiwanis Club's Marianna Plan committee. Also on hand were George Morgan and Joel Field, members of the club.

So large was the Saturday morning crowd taking advantage of the Kiwanis Club's National Kids Day celebration that two shows had to be hastily scheduled.

The first show began at 9:20 and the last one was scheduled for 11 o'clock.

Every seat was filled, on the main floor and both balconies. Guests of the Sanford Kiwanis Club and the Ritz Theatre were the children of the Methodist Children's Home in Enterprise.

A. L. Wilson, club president, diked out in short pants, buster brown collar, big bow tie, and a tam o'hanter, was the start of the morning's event as he sauntered through the crowds keeping children calmed down and assuring them of ice cream and comic books.

Floyd Palmer, also with shorts and white shirt, gave up his morning's business to help the children unload from cars, park their bicycles, and look after their safety. Three representatives of the Sanford Police Department were on hand to help handle the traffic problem caused by the immense crowd and the unloading cars.

Mr. Simon H. Reynolds, trustee of Kiwanis International, a Rochester, New York businessman, will be a featured speaker during the three-day meeting at the Governor's Club.

Delegates from 115 clubs, representing a total membership of more than 8000 business and professional leaders, will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, and election of officers will highlight the convention program, Wilson said.

3 Dead, 42 Missing Are Left In Path

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Hurricane Flossy, packing 100 mile an hour winds, swept toward northwestern Florida today, leaving three men reported dead and 42 missing after it lashed southeastern Louisiana.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said the storm, sixth of the season, was centered at 11 a.m. EST about 80 miles southwest of Pensacola, Fla., and moving toward the east-northeast about 12 miles an hour.

"Movement is expected to continue toward the east-northeast at the same rate, bringing the center inland between Pensacola and Apalachicola, Fla., this afternoon or tonight," the bureau said.

The Red Cross in Biloxi said it appeared there was no further threat to Mississippi's Gulf coast. The hurricane had winds estimated at 100 miles per hour near the center and gales extended outward 150 to 200 miles from the center.

The Weather Bureau reported a large squally area off the extreme northwestern Florida coast was causing winds to blow offshore and hold back the danger.

"This creates a dangerous situation," the Weather Bureau said, "since the hurricane winds will suddenly shift and may cause a rapid rise in the tide to about eight feet. This situation exists all the way from Pensacola to St. Marks."

Residents of low-lying areas in the southern Alabama and northwestern Florida areas were moved to emergency shelters while hundreds of persons in southern Louisiana began moving back to their homes.

The storm, which developed early Saturday, originally pointed toward the New Orleans area but took a northeasterly course early today.

Heavy rains fell along the Gulf coast in advance of the storm. The Weather Bureau cautioned persons living in southern Alabama and Georgia and extreme northern Florida to watch for possible flood warnings.

Harold D. Adams, Mobile, Ala., was killed early today when his auto skidded on a rain-slickened suburban road.

Two men were assumed drowned below the mouth of the Mississippi River. Capt. V. J. Greene of the motor vessel Carport reported that Charles Ayres 47, Brookline, N. Y., chief mate of the 300-foot vessel, fell overboard and Second Mate John Ritter jumped in after him and disappeared.

The Coast Guard searched for more than 40 men reported stranded on boats and all right off southern Louisiana.
