Keep Poison From Children, Parents Warned

To stem the rising tide of accidental poisoning of small children, the American Red Cross urges parents to take the utmost precautions to keep poisonous substances beyond their children's reach.

The Red Cross has joined 21 member-organizations of the National Planning Council in observance of National Poison Prevention Week, March 17-23. John F. McCloskey, Chairman of the Seminole County Chapter, said,

"More than 300,000 accidental poisonings a year happen to children five years old and younger," McCloskey said. "Proper safeguards by parents could have prevented most of these accidents, of which some 500 were fatal."

Prevention and emergency care of poison victims is taught in all Red Cross first aid courses. At this time, peak season for first aid training, some 25,000 classes are in progress around the country, McCloskey said.

McCloskey recommended these measures to prevent small children from swallowing household items which are poisonous:

1. Lock up drugs, insecticides, detergents, and cleaning materials, or store them well beyond children's reach. Remember that children learn to climb at an early age—before they can tell the difference between harmless and harmful substances.

2. Return the dangerous items to their customary storage places immediately after using.

3. Keep harmful household items in their original containers. Do not transfer them to mason jars, milk or soft drink bottles.

4. Children are imitative—do not take medicines in their presence.

5. In administering medicines to children, refer to them as "medicine," not as "candy." Always take or give medicines in well lighted rooms and always read the label first.

6. When the illness for which a medicine was prescribed is over, dispose of the remaining medicine by flushing it down the drain. Rinse the container thoroughly before discarding.

Seat Controversy Door Re-Opened

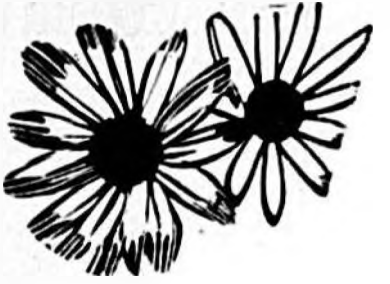

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The North Florida District Court of Appeals Tuesday reopened the door for petitioners seeking an election to move the Volusia County seat from DeLand to Daytona Beach.

The petitioners—two of them—will have to be reexamined since the District Court set aside part of a ruling by Circuit Court Judge P. B. Revels which said the County Commission could not exclude a name from one of the petitions without following certain steps.

The high court opinion, written by Judge Wallace E. Sturgis, said that the two petitions will be considered together in the re-examination to determine if the election must be called.

Downtown Check Slated - McDonald

By LARRY VERSHEL
A FEW RANDOM NOTES
ON A DULL DAY . . .

Republicans can rest easy . . . Jan Fortune sent us an other telegram saying he will not be transferred.

We tried to get a statement from Jan Fortune on Fern Park incorporation . . . After speaking to three secretaries, two receptionists, a missile technician, a gentleman from the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Rollins College university department on political science we were informed that Mr. Fortune would not be in today.

We'll probably get a telegram tomorrow on this matter.

Our legislation delegation, Mack Cleveland Jr., Gordon Frederick and Joe Davis, when they go to Tallahassee early next month will have about 20 bills in their hip pockets . . . Most important will probably be countywide drainage . . . Making it legal to spend road and bridge fund money for area drainage.

Under a new proposal Seminole County will get better forestry protection . . . In the past we shared a forester with Orange and Lake . . . Now it will only be Lake.

Homestead exemption deadline nears . . . and so do taxes.

Doug Stenstrom's long range planning committee on education will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Civic Center to discuss that proposed state university . . . Real important meeting . . . We noted Mack Cleveland and Gordon Frederick along with John Krider huddling together in the drug store the other day . . . Getting ready for the big push to get this school here.

They'll be putting the lime-rock on 25th St. next week . . . Project expected to be completed in about two months . . . Cost $75,000.

TV SHOWS I'D LIKE TO SEE . . .

On "The Defenders" . . . The attorney tells his son, "We'll talk about the principle later. Did you get the fee?"

On "Bonanza" . . . The four heroes see a wounded man at the side of the trail. They look at each other and keep riding.

On "David Brinkley's Journal" . . . A half hour probe of "Chet Huntley reporting." . . . On "The Untouchables" . . . Eliot Ness is offered a bribe, accepts it happily, has a rousing good time, kicks a newspaperman, laughs at a little old lady begging for a few cents to buy some bread, and no one ever finds out.

Political pundits are betting that less than 1,000 people turn out for the special legislative election Tuesday . . . Let's show 'em they're wrong.

Maffett Building on Commercial looking real good.

A CONVERSATION WITH LEE GARY

Reporter: How do you feel about doubling the supervisor of registration's salary?
Gary: I don't have any decision this morning . . . Might have one in a few days.

The same question to John Alexander: "Still studying the matter. It ought to be considered if she can operate her office fulltime with the same amount of money she is presently getting along on."

The city will start extensive inspection of all downtown structures within the next month, Mayor Tom McDonald said today.

McDonald said the building and fire inspector will probably be given the green light in about a month to go over every building in the downtown area and report back to the commission.

At the present time more than 100 structures have been called condemned in the last six months—most of them in the outlying areas. All the structures have been vacant.

Most of the property owners of the condemned buildings have torn down the structures by themselves. Only in very minor instances has the city stepped in to clear the property.

Placed on recent condemnation list for public hearing has been the old Seminole hospital on Oak Ave.

Hunt Tuna 'Killer'

DETROIT (UPI) — A nationwide search for a killer, suspected of being lodged in a small can of tuna fish and causing the deaths of two women, continued today under the direction of the Food and Drug Administration.

Under voluntary action, all A&P brand tuna fish was removed from the food chain's shelves across the nation. The cans were subjected to close scrutiny by the teams of health inspectors.

Tax Boosts For Jai-Alai, Dogs, Expected

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A legislative committee recommended today bills to take additional state revenue from legalized betting at dog tracks and jai alai.

But the legislative council's tax committee voted not to recommend a proposal that would cost Sunshine Horse Track at Oldsmar another $187,817 in taxes.

The bill was withdrawn at the request of the State Racing Commission which just two weeks ago had suggested it be enacted into law.

Racing Commission Chairman Robert Morgan said the commission changed its mind in the interim because Sunshine had and probably could not afford the extra tax. The measure would have repealed the special tax rate allowed horse tracks with an average daily pari-mutuel pool of less than $100,000 per day Sunshine is the only track affected.

The committee voted to recommend to the full legislative council, which meets here Friday, to put the fishing licenses on measures it will send to the legislature, a bill repealing the 1955 dog track relief law which gives these tracks a rebate amounting to $700 a day.

TFX Senate Probe Thickens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators called Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric today to ask for the name of an "unidentified Pentagon spokesman" who belittled their TFX airplane inquiry.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was scheduled to testify later in the day in defense of his decision to award the multi-billion dollar TFX contract to General Dynamics instead of Boeing Aircraft Co.

Reports of possible conflict of interest by civilian Pentagon officials in the award added fresh controversy to the already politically explosive investigation.

Teacher Pay Hike Study On

MIAMI (UPI) — House Speaker Mallory Horns said Wednesday a special House committee studying education needs in the state has recommended raises of $200 to $300 annually for teachers. But the teachers are asking for more. The Florida Education Association is plugging for raises between $25 and $30 million a year, a program which would cost the state twice what Horns' select committee plans on.

Horns, who made no reference to the recent FEERA proposal, told a civic club here that the pay raise program, if adopted in Tallahassee, would cost the state

Let People Decide—Frederick

To Incorporate Or...

Increased interest in the proposed incorporation of Fern Park must be shown by residents of that community before any action will be taken by the Seminole County legislative delegation, it was indicated today.

Casselberry has gone on record as opposing Fern Park's incorporation and Altamonte Springs has indicated it will also oppose, with a meeting set for March 27 to discuss only that question.

Gordon V. Frederick, Democratic candidate for the Legislature, said today that "I personally believe that at least 15 to 20 per cent of the people should show some definite interest in forming the Town of Fern Park before the legislative delegation could consider such a proposal."

Frederick continued: "Frankly I do not know how many property owners are within the proposed town. I understand there are six people on the committee which prepared and proposes the charter. However, it has always been the policy to require a substantial showing that the people want a town charter before the Seminole legislative delegation would consider its passage."

The candidate concluded: "My present thinking is that such an act should provide a referendum be held on a petition of 15.20 per cent of the land owners and that the actual incorporation would require at least a majority vote."

Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. and Mack Cleveland Jr., unopposed Democratic candidates for state senator, reported that "whatever the people of the area effected want" will rule the action of the delegation. "Those in favor should let us know and those opposed should do the same, so that we can be in a position to make a decision as a delegation. We need an expression of a goodly number to determine the wishes of the majority."

Sign Controversy, Results Plague North Orlando

The balloting is complete, the polls are closed, the results have been announced . . . but the campaigning continues in North Orlando.

The Herald has been besieged this morning with telephone calls of complaints, charges, answers . . . but it appears many cannot accept the old democratic way that the majority rules, the top candidate wins and that is that.

One report The Herald did run down . . . that losing candidate Reginald Webster had complained of a sign in the voting room to Circuit Judge Volie A. Williams Jr.; that Judge Williams had ordered Sheriff J. L. Hobby to remove the sign.

Sheriff Hobby replied that he had received a complaint from Webster but "I told him it was a city election, the county had no jurisdiction and we did not take any action." However, the Sheriff did say that he learned the sign was removed shortly after he received the complaint.

Webster issued a statement to The Herald this morning to the effect that the sign was "in direct conflict with the state election laws . . . I contend this sign was placed there for the express purpose of influencing the vote, which it certainly did. I am not satisfied with the outcome of this election, only the manner in which it was carried out."

Webster and another losing candidate, Henry Ward, aimed complaints at a voting judge, Mrs. Malby Salter, Mrs. Salter said today:

"After appointment to the election board I diligently endeavored at all times to make this election a model one . . . Contrary to slanderous statements made by two obviously unscrupulous candidates in Group V there was no departure from state law on the part of myself or Mrs. (Henry) Fairburn at any time that we held official responsibility. Mr. Ward, who stated publicly that I told him how to vote, was apparently unfamiliar with the charter concerning written balloting and expressed his ignorance of his own charter."

"The Saturday Evening Post," the resolution said, "in an article entitled 'The Story of a Football Fix' has accused the athletic director of grave misconduct, which, if true, would reflect discredit upon the individual, the university and all the people of the state."

"It takes a long look at the two large arguments' vote total. Ward received 23 votes this year. The other one, Webster, received slightly more. Their yelling in duos in the apparent hope for a new election. The reason is clearly not outraged citizens' rights guardianship but plain old-fashioned injured ego."

The winning candidates, Mrs. Van Espel, Arthur Ferrin and Arthur Thodes, along with hold-overs Woodrow Anderson and Robert Stephenson, will sit April 1 to elect among themselves a mayor to succeed Frank Fasula.

Altamonte 'Tables' Fern Park Talk
Because of prolonged discussions on other matters, Altamonte Springs Town Council Wednesday evening delayed discussion of opposition to the Fern Park incorporation question until a special session at 7 p. m. next Wednesday.

Mayor Lawrence Swafford informed the Council that "some action" should be taken since it appeared that the Fern Park charter committee wishes to "encroach" into Altamonte Springs territory. He referred specifically to the area along Highway 170 west from Highway 17-92.

Casselberry already is on record as opposing the Fern Park incorporation because it would "stunt" that town's growth.

Altamonte Springs Wednesday evening passed an ordinance on a 1-2-3 reading increasing the water rates to conform with requirements of federal government loan agreement on the new water system. A comparison of the rates is that minimum for single family residences is increased from $3 to $3.60 for the first 4,000 gallons.

State Legislature To Probe Fix

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — The Alabama legislature today named a seven-man committee to investigate a story in a national magazine charging the 1962 Alabama-Georgia football game was fixed.

Lawmakers requested and from the attorney general's office in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post. The joint Senate-House investigation is "to determine whether there is any truth in the charges or whether they are simply the products of a hostile attitude toward the athletic director of the University of Alabama and the people of this state."

Rep. Holt East of Jefferson County, who offered the resolution in the House, said Crimson Tide coach and athletic director Paul "Bear" Bryant agreed that the investigation was in order.

"The Saturday Evening Post," the resolution said, "in an article entitled 'The Story of a Football Fix' has accused the athletic director of grave misconduct, which, if true, would reflect discredit upon the individual, the university and all the people of the state."

"It takes a long look at the two large arguments' vote total. Ward received 23 votes this year. The other one, Webster, received slightly more. Police said three of the men passed the tests. Sol and Larry Karras and Alan Clement. Two others, Al Bein and Frank Faraci, were to undergo tests later.

All five were convicted of helping the post-sized Morrison best stores and businesses.

Morrison was wounded in the arm by a shotgun blast outside the Cook County Criminal Court Building yesterday. The lie tests were conducted as Chicago's police, who had hoped they were "clean," searched the underworld and their own ranks for Morrison's assassins.

televised news conference today with a statement on results of his San Jose meeting with presidents of five Central American countries and Panama.

The President flew back from Costa Rica Wednesday night in the fast time of four hours and 23 minutes. He was escorted over much of the 2,500-mile non-stop route by F105 fighter planes with accompanying tanker aircraft to refuel them.

Kennedy landed at 11:03 p. m. at Andrews Air Force Base and received a surprise welcome from his wife, Jacqueline, who had rushed back to Washington from a New York shopping trip to be here when her husband arrived.

Shortly before takeoff from San Jose, Kennedy addressed the students of the University of Costa Rica. While attempting to walk to his helicopter after the speech, the President was the center of another friendly melee as hundreds of wildly cheering young Costa Ricans attempted to shake his hand.

It was a wilder replay of a similar reception of the day before at a new housing project extensively financed with U. S. funds. At the university the crowd broke away from a thin line of civilian guards, tore down rope barriers and pummeled the President uproariously as his Secret Service protectors inched him toward the helicopter.

The scramble reached a point of wild, chanting confusion when a Costa Rican guard attempted to restrain one of the demonstrators, a young woman of about 18 or 20 years of age. He snatched at her, caught her blouse which ripped away, leaving her completely bare to the waist.

Amid the roaring "vivas" Kennedy made it into the helicopter. He flew to a nearby airport where he waited to his jet transport for the flight to Washington.

Kennedy returned with no idea that the three days of talks with Central American leaders had produced magical solutions to long-standing and difficult economic and political problems. Nor did he expect a quick change in Central American conditions.

He did believe, however, that the leaders together had created a climate which could lead to great economic and political unity and thus buttress a key part of the hemisphere against inroads of Communist influence and subversion which might be exported from Cuba.

One-third of West Berlin's supplies is brought in on two canals

The two powers, in a major space breakthrough, announced agreement Wednesday on details of their first cooperative project in satellite communications.

The accord culminated a week of secret talks here between delegations headed by Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, vice director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and Soviet Academician Anatoly A. Blagonravov.

The two groups of top scientists spelled out the first steps for implementing a broad agreement on space cooperation reached last year after an exchange of letters between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Participating experts said "the hypothesis" of jointly launching a space probe to Mars or Venus had come up during the talks here.

"Such venture could involve direct cooperation in the preparation and launching of probes to Venus and Mars, scientific experts said today."

The scientists said they had agreed to collaborate on a weather satellite program that would include:

—The establishment of a communications link for exchanging weather data received with the use of artificial satellites.

—Joint testing of communications via a passive reflector satellite, an "Echo II" to be launched within the next few months by the United States.

Watsons Win Tops In Garden Club Show

By Louise Simunek
The Community House was literally alive with floral pieces at the past Altamonte Springs Garden Club meeting.

Twenty-three arrangements were entered in the flower show by the members and first prize was awarded to Major and Mrs. Robert M. Watson who had a novelty arrangement of a shuffleboard court made to scale in the top of a shoe box.

Slices of carrots represented the dials and the players were made of squash and in keeping with the floral theme, tiny spring bouquets were in each corner.

Second prize was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cope for an orchid displayed attractively in a white sea shell.

Due to the absence of some of the judges due to illness, the arrangements were judged by the entire membership and it was a difficult task as all of the entries were well worthy of a prize.

The horticultural part of the program was given by Mr. Fred Temple who displayed simple but very effective ways to fertilize trees.

He has devised a 4 1/2 foot of 3/4" pipe which has a faucet at the top to which is attached a water hose. This pipe is inserted into the ground and the water is then turned on.

This will make a hole for the fertilizer which will feed the root of the tree instead of just the top surface and the tree will have the full effect of the fertilizer.

He suggests making about 20 or 40 of these insertions for large trees. Mr. Temple also displayed a very inexpensive trap that could be purchased at most hardware and garden shops for the trapping of salamanders that play havoc in yards leaving mounds of sand and doing much damage to lawns.

The best way, he has found to get rid of ground moles is to drop castor beans in the tunnel they make under the lawn. The best method for this is to poke a small hole in the slight mound and bury the bean and do this in several places along the tunnel. Wait a few days, and if you still see signs then repeat the procedure. Moles do not like the castor beans and will disappear.

Election of officers was held and the vote was unanimous to keep the same slate of officers that held office this past year which is Mrs. Leroy Stover, president; Mrs. George Hearn, vice president; Mrs. Don Harris, recording secretary; Mrs. James Spencer, corresponding secretary and Mr. Otto Baumgartner, treasurer. Installation of officers will be held at the April meeting.

It was announced that $199.00 was cleared at the smorgasbord dinner held recently.

GOP Plays It By Ear

The able, clear-headed state Republican chairman of Alabama, young John Grenier, has an idea which could contribute something to a better understanding of the GOP's workings at the presidential level.

The party condition he characterizes with this idea is not new, but it has seldom if ever been so well expressed.

He argues that Republicans are not divided basically between conservatives and liberals, but between liberals and two major categories of conservatives.

One group comprises those conservatives who either do not believe, or can fairly readily be talked out of the notion, that a conservative candidate can be elected president in the current era.

The other consists of those conservatives who think a conservative can in fact win.

A careful reading of GOP nominating history since 1940 suggests that this characterization of the party's make-up is sound. The nominees in that span have all been moderates — Wendell Willkie, Thomas E. Dewey, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Richard Nixon (in his later phase).

They were not chosen by the party liberals alone, for these have never been in the majority, though often they have had prestige and vocal power well beyond their numbers.

The moderates have in fact been picked by a briefly forged coalition between the liberals and the conservatives who do not think a conservative can win.

That is why it is undoubtedly accurate, historically, to say that in 1940 the GOP convention delegates were far more friendly to the late Robert A. Taft than to Willkie. In 1944 they preferred Ohio's John Bricker, but chose Dewey. In 1952 they liked Taft again, but named Eisenhower.

Signs are already well advanced that a similar setup may produce the nomination of New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in 1964.

Obviously, Republican conservatives can dominate any GOP convention if they choose to unite on one of their own as nominee.

That they have not done so in the last two decades leads to charges from some ardent right-wingers that their more flexible brethren are "abandoning their principles."

But, as Grenier points out, a political party is not a garden club. It is in business to win elections. If it is not, its "principles" will not save it for long.

Nothing is static in politics. With GOP strength on the rise in the South, the political mix is changing. Attitudes may also shift.

Hollering "stick to principles" will not affect middle-range conservatives who try to pick winners. They are shrewd bettors. They may try a genuinely conservative candidate some day. But they will have to believe that he has at least an even chance of getting those 270 electoral votes needed to land him in the White House.

Helen Fuller Says

Policy Splits JFK Echelon

WASHINGTON—As a taxpayer, what would you think of the government's hiring a contractor to build a bridge at a profit and then giving the bridge to the builder and allowing him also to charge a toll to those who crossed the bridge? An expert used that comparison at a Senate hearing last week as he described what is going on in the granting of patents on inventions made by private companies in the course of military and space research carried on at public expense.

The Kennedy Administration is split on the proper policy to follow. Sen. Russell Long's Monopoly Subcommittee has therefore begun an investigation to determine where the public interest lies. Almost $16 billion in government research and development contracts is involved in the next fiscal year.

The Department of Justice spokesman, Deputy Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach, as one of the lead-off witnesses last week took the position that "when the government finances a project at public expense the public should be entitled to all fruits of the research." He explained that this policy would give the government title to all inventions developed under government contract, with subsequent benefit to the whole country.

But the present policy of the Department of Defense is exactly contrary. The private contractor now has patent rights to any inventions that result from his work on government contracts. Whatever millions accrue from private sale are the contractor's own. The Defense Department insists this is necessary as an "incentive" to the contractor.

The National Space Agency is about to adopt the Defense Department policy. Hence the Long Committee hearings to stop that step if it should be stopped in the public interest.

Considering the hue and cry about tightening up the federal budget and stopping leakage from the Treasury, one would have supposed that the opening of hearings on a potential means of recovering so much money would attract some attention. Sen. Long began his inquiry in almost solitary grandeur, in an almost empty Caucus Room. There were no television cameras or radio microphones in sight, and only a handful of reporters heard the Senator start things off smartly with the statement that he himself considered the present practice of dispensing patent rights with research contracts an "outrageous giveaway to giant private corporations."

Two non-political experts who took the committee stand to testify were almost as critical. Horace M. Gray, University of Illinois Economics professor who made a special study of the subject, told the government has already been "whippedawed and pressured by private interests into giving away, under exclusive patent rights . . . discoveries worth untold billions."

Considering the fact that the government is now spending an average of $36 million a day on research and development work and will spend $41 million a day next year, Dr. Gray's estimate of "untold billions" of loss to the public does not seem exaggerated.

There is one string on defense contractors under the present Defense Department patent policy — the government retains royalty-free right to use the invention. In civilian markets the contracting company has sole rights to the patent, however. And as Professor Richard Barber of Southern Methodist Law School pointed out to the committee, Defense procurement policies penalize the defense industries, in effect, to levy a toll on the public for use of inventions which the public has already paid for.

It wouldn't be so bad if we were paying twice for new knowledge. Ironically, however, most of the patents that are enriching the private contractor who does work for the government are for applied engineering processes—new ways to use what was already known. Less than 10 per cent of our $16 billion national research in defense and space goes for basic inquiry.

There are more than 31,000 square inches of light-gathering area in the 300-inch telescope on California's Palomar Mountain.

A MERGER THAT CAN BE DISASTROUS

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Nora faces a domestic dilemma. For she hesitates to spoil her fond mother's fun, yet she doesn't want the fanfare and expense which her mother is concocting. Will you fond mamma PLEASE take a consumer poll of the prospective newweds? Quit trying to be a vicarious bride! And give all newweds the booklet below.

CASE O-487: Nora B., aged 20 is soon to be married.

"Dr. Crane," she said, "my mother insists that we have a formal church wedding. But the cost of it, as she plans the affair, will run over $2,000, and my daddy can't afford to spend that much money.

"Besides, I don't want my wedding to be just a 'spectacle,' so what would you advise?"

Many mothers who never had the fanfare of an elaborate church wedding, thus try to push their daughters into such spectacular events.

For the mothers then read themselves into their daughter's role. We call this "empathy."

And those mothers thus vicariously (by substitution) relish all the excitement of that formal wedding.

Actually, such mothers often fail to read the minds of their daughters correctly for a vote of engaged couples shows that most of them do NOT want a fanfare type of wedding.

Instead, they prefer a simple, even unannounced ceremony where the parents and a dozen friends go to the church for a beautiful yet quiet altar ceremony.

Such a wedding actually is more in keeping with the spiritual significance of marriage.

And it also saves the bride's father a great deal of money. If Nora's dad thus wishes to invest $2,000 in this new marriage, it would be smarter for him to apply that sum as a down payment on a few little cottages for the married couple.

It is not wise, however, to subsidize the actual living expenses of the newweds for that just encourages an inflated standard of living.

But if the in-laws really wish to help them without killing their fun in skimping and stretching the husband's pay checks, just make this down payment on a house.

The couple can then pay off the balance, just like rent, as this generosity of the in-laws does not disturb their budgeting fun.

And if the fond in-laws want to set up a "baby bonus," that is also O.K.

For the price of the new baby is a capital investment and not necessarily an inclusion in the routine monthly budget.

If the in-laws thus wish to encourage more grandchildren early in the life of the newweds, then they can agree to pay the medical and hospital costs.

And if the in-laws are sufficiently affluent, maybe they can even offer a station wagon when the grandchildren number two or three.

But please do NOT place the newweds on a monthly "allowance" check. For this kills much of their fun in skimping and saving and even eating beans or bread and milk for a few meals till the husband's next pay check arrives.

So, if papa-in-law subsidize the newweds, this offends the pride of the young husband and also encourages the couple to live beyond his limited pay check.

So send for my "Practical Budget Chart," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Give it to all newweds.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long five cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Churches, educational and charitable organizations—and many of the good people who give money to worthy causes—have been protesting volubly to Congress and the Treasury over one part of President Kennedy's tax reform program.

What bothers them most is the proposal to limit itemized income tax deductions to amounts over five per cent of a taxpayer's adjusted gross income.

First impression of many people has been that this would wipe out all benefits from the proposed tax cuts. Treasury officials say it would not, by a long shot.

This "floor"—it's not a "ceiling"—on itemized deductions would not go into effect until 1964, when three-fourths of the proposed tax reductions would be in effect. People who itemize deductions would thus share in the tax cuts.

Churches and public service foundations have feared that the proposed limitation on deductions would reduce their income by influencing people to give them less money, to save taxes.

Treasury says tax law changes in the past have never worked that way and wouldn't in the future if the President's reform is approved. It was feared that contributions might drop when the "standard deduction" was introduced in the 1940s, but they did not.

Much of the confusion over this issue, say Treasury officials, arises from misunderstanding and from not sitting down with pencil and paper to see how it would work in each individual's case.

Since all U. S. taxpayers now have their eyes focused on March 15 and April 15 deadlines and have the arithmetic involved fresh in mind, this is a good time to get straightened out on it.

Treasury therefore is trying to answer the flood of protest mail it has received so as to save the President's proposal on this point.

Major misunderstanding has been that the proposed exemption floor in the President's plan—five per cent of adjusted gross income—would apply only to charitable contributions. It would not.

It would apply also on all the other deductions claimed—interest payments, state and local taxes, miscellan-ous deductible personal expenses and losses. For most taxpayers who itemize their deductions, these other expenses add up to much more than the five per cent of adjusted gross income.

Says the Treasury: "The vast majority of families will find that every single dollar of their discretionary charitable gifts, as well as most of their nondiscretionary deductible expenditures, will remain fully deductible on their tax returns under the proposed reform."

"For taxpayers whose deductions do not exceed these percentages, the experience of the 1940s clearly demonstrates their use of standard deduction will not limit their gifts."

Tax experts figure that people with income under $3,000 a year who itemize their deductions would continue to have no tax liability under the proposed reform.

People with incomes of from $3,000 to $10,000 a year who have other deductions of at least 15 per cent of adjusted gross income will be able to deduct every penny of their charitable contributions.

This 15 per cent deduction figure looks high. But income tax statistics show that the average deduction for incomes of $10,000 a year or less is 16 per cent of adjusted gross. For $7,000 incomes it's 20 per cent and for $5,000 incomes it's 21 per cent. This leaves ample room for contributions above the proposed five per cent floor under deductions.

Over the years, the U. S. total for all reported charitable contributions has averaged about two per cent of total personal income, regardless of boom or recession, high tax rates or low.

Contributions last year exceeded $8.5 billion. This, however, is about $1.3 billion more than charitable, educational, religious, medical and cultural organizations report receiving. The inference is that gifts are often padded.

Under present law, donations to religious, educational, medical research organizations and hospitals are deductible up to 30 per cent of adjusted gross income. Other donations are limited to 29 per cent.

Under the proposed tax reform this 20 per cent figure would be raised to 30 per cent to give all gifts equal treatment. Religious funds, symphony orchestras, Red Cross, Girl and Boy Scouts stand to benefit by bigger gifts under change.

Frederick gave the Demo women an informal outline of his political background and qualifications and asked for the help of the ladies in defeating the strong efforts being made by Republican candidate for the legislature, Jan Fontaine.

Mrs. Reynolds said today that the women have already started working on the campaign, having met with Frederick and obtained precinct telephone lists to make the personal contacts that Frederick and the other two candidates said was necessary.

The meeting Tuesday was an informal round table discussion between the members of the club and the three candidates.

Rep. Mack Cleveland, candidate for the Florida Senate was teased a bit by the ladies because he is the only unopposed candidate in the state.

Rep. Davis was elected during last year's campaign and is not affected by the re-appointment shuffle.

Mrs. Reynolds charged the ladies of the club that they must really get out and work for a 100 percent turnout at the polls if the party is to hold its own in the county in the coming election.

She also reported on the recent meeting of the legislative committee of the state Demo Women's organization of which she is a state committeewoman.

A committee was appointed by Mrs. Reynolds to study the by-laws of the club for possible revision and the next meeting was set for April 23 with election of officers set for May.

Castro Regime Charges

U. S. Blamed For Freighter Attack

HAVANA (UPI) — The Castro Regime accused the United States Wednesday of responsibility for Sunday's attack on a Soviet freighter in a Cuban port by an "armed private launch."

The communication made no mention of casualties. It admitted minor damage to the vessel, identified as the freighter Lagard. The attack previously had been announced by Cuban exile sources in New York and Miami who also claimed to have attacked a "Soviet encampment" and inflicted a dozen casualties.

The announcement coincided with admission by Havana Radio of a new wave of anti-Castro sabotage throughout Cuba. The radio quoted labor leader Vicente Perez of accusing "Cuban saboteurs" past by the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency, of blowing up rail lines at the San Francisco sugar mill in Las Villas province.

The Soviet ship attacked was unloading in a Las Villas airport, Sigua La Grande, when the "private craft" raked it with what the government said was "several volleys" of 30 caliber machinegun and 20-mm. cannon fire.

The communication admitted damage to the ship's smokestack and ventilator. (The Moscow, the official Tass News Agency claimed the United States does not "dare" either to confirm or deny the attack.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia told the Russian people of the attack for the first time, and said the raid "was manipulated either from the Pentagon or the CIA.")

Neither Havana nor Moscow made any reference to Russian troop involvement in the exile attack against a "Soviet encampment" as alleged in claims abroad.

The Cuban press reported "big fires" of unknown origin in greater Havana in the past 24 hours, with at least two persons injured.

One razed a garage and parking lot in the heart of Havana. According to the press, the night watchman accidentally threw a lighted match on spilled gasoline.

Two persons were burned in a blaze which swept through a National Agrarian Reform Institute building in nearby Santiago De Las Vegas.

Lake Monroe Jottings . . .

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson

Howdy! My how the people are fixing up their yards now. So guess it is definitely Spring! That's just fine. When you stop and think about it Spring means hard work for us ladies. House cleaning to take care of and Easter outfits to get ready, and Easter will be here before you can say "scat". . . . Talking about Easter outfits, keep in mind the fashion show next week at the Home Demonstration Center which the Monroe Club is sponsoring. There will be dresses made from Bates fabrics and these will be modeled by ladies from the different clubs. I know that you'll enjoy it very much. There will also be dresses made by Seminole County ladies, modeled by them. These dresses are made from material coming from the Milady's Shoppe in Sanford. So be sure and come see it. By the way, those who will be modeling the Bates dresses be sure to attend a rehearsal at 10 o'clock. . . . Little Johnny Hodges has been ill. I understand that he is much better now according to Granvie Sarah Hodges. . . . Also feeling kind of low lately is Granny (Annie) Hawkins. Get well, Granny so you can go over to the coast and visit with your daughter Frances some. . . . Talking to Mary Hill-tell the other day. She said that she and daughter Linda and son Richard spent the 13th weekend in Palm Beach visiting with her sister Christine Gooding. And guess what? They got to see the President who happened to be down there at the time. On their way back they stopped off at Indian River City and saw that Wild West Show. Mary said it was really interesting. They certainly had a very nice weekend, didn't they? . . . You have heard the saying "You can't keep a good person down," many times, I am sure. Well that applies to Mrs. Emma Vihien. She is doing simply wonderful in the hospital where she underwent surgery last Saturday. Her daughter, Olga Hunter, with who she resides says she is really proud of how well her mother has done. . . . Myrtle Pickett of Jacksonville and Hazel Chambliss of Punta Gorda spent the past weekend here with their sister, Rena Hawkins. . . . I took advantage of the long weekend and drove up to Trenton to see my daughter and little granddaughters. Brought them home with me for a few weeks visit. Happy Birthday little Barbiel! She will be all of one year old Monday. She is the youngest of our granddaughters. . . . Did you get to go down to Winter Park last week and see the Sidewalk display of paintings? Monroe boy, Clyde Harris, had some on display. . . . The officers of the Paula Wilson School PTO did such a good job this past year that they were re-nominated for another year. President is Herbert Muse, Vice President, Mrs. Aubrey Dunn; Secretary, Mrs. Carl Anderson and Treasurer is Mrs. Cary Moyer. They held a covered dish supper last week at the school and Herbert said it was a big success. That is wonderful to see such a good turnout for a small school. They have some wonderful plans in the making now. One of them is buying books for the library at the school. Field trips that are educational will be taken by the individual rooms there to such places as the Planetarium and Museum in Orlando. These will take the place of the year's end school picnic. I think that is very nice. . . . The young people of the Upsala Presbyterian Church along with the ladies of the church are making plans for a Swiss steak supper on the 20th of April, to be held in the Educational Building of the church. There will also be a white elephant sale, so put a ring around that date. More plans for it will be announced later, but keep it in mind. . . . Our thought this week is an Arab Proverb: "There are three things that can never be hidden—love, a mountain and one riding on a camel!"

West Lines Up Against France

PARIS (UPI)—Most of the Western allies lined up against France today in backing President Kennedy's plan for a multi-nation nuclear defense against Communist aggression.

West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Greece and Turkey all indicated their support or active interest in the plan at Wednesday's meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) council.

With the United States and Britain already pledged to push ahead with the plan, this meant at least eight of the 15 NATO countries were behind it in various degrees.

Sonny Gets Stay

MIAMI (UPI)—Sonny Liston flew here for an 80-minute examination of his knee and returned to Chicago Wednesday to prepare for an operation and a minimum six-months recovery period before he can defend his heavyweight title against ex-champ Floyd Patterson.

So certain was it even before Liston had his checkup that a scheduled April 10 Liston-Patterson fight at Miami Beach was off that Patterson had already packed up his training camp and headed back north.

Liston broke up his camp at an Oceanfront hotel last Saturday to fly to Chicago for a "week of rest" to soothe his injured left knee.

He returned Wednesday at the demand of the Miami Beach boxing commission, which wanted to appoint its own physician to examine Sonny's knee before granting manager-adviser Jack Nilon's request for an indefinite postponement.

The commission granted the request at a brief meeting Wednesday night after seeing a two-paragraph report from the specialists who looked at Sonny's knee at their Coral Gables clinic: Drs. Arthur H. Welland and Robert P. Keiser.

"We have found unmistakable evidence of injury to the mesial semi-lunar cartilage and feel that it would be unwise for him to participate in the championship heavy-weight boxing match scheduled for April 10," the physicians said after looking over the champ for 80 minutes in the afternoon.

"In addition, it is our opinion that this knee should have the benefit of a surgical procedure and that, if such is done, a period of at least six months should elapse before he might be in shape to indulge in any scheduled boxing match."

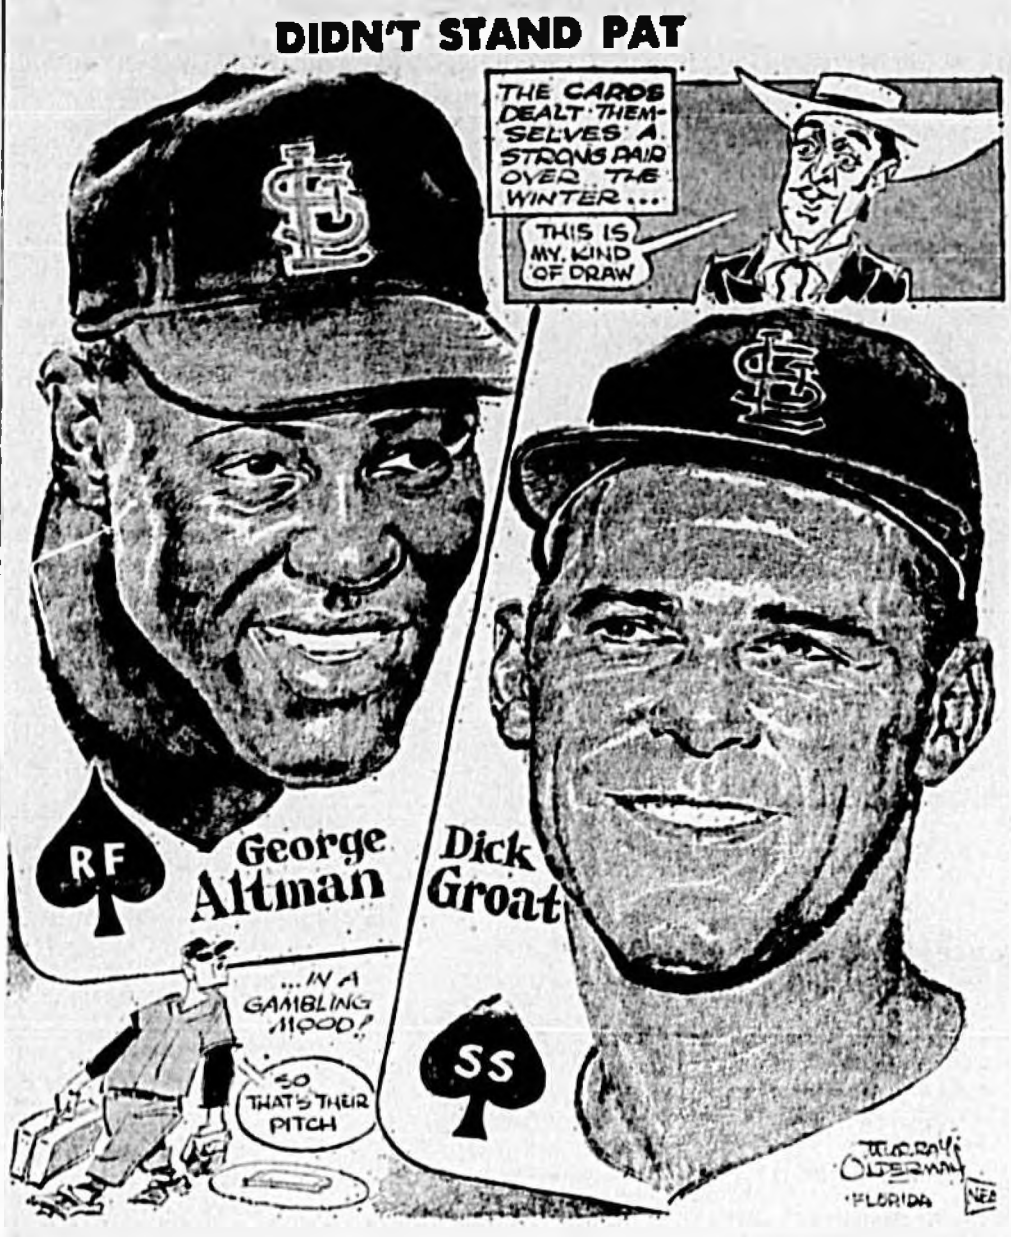

Nilon said the left knee probably would be operated on "sometime next week" in Chicago, and that Dr. Duke Baird of Coral Gables, who had been treating the knee since Sonny twisted it swinging a golf club with an 11-year-old friend, would be asked to do the surgery.

Nilon said Dr. Mike Mandarino, former Philadelphia Eagles football star and team physician, would be asked to assist as a consultant.

"We hope to be ready by September," Nilon said.

"It's too early to talk about sites, but I think Pittsburgh would be a good site if Patterson continues to balk at Baltimore. Detroit is another possibility," Nilon said.

Belinsky Proving He Could Win 20 Games

By United Press International

It's beginning to look like Bo Belinsky is almost as good a pitcher as he thinks he is.

The Los Angeles lefty who has promised to curtail his off-the-field activities this year has been the most effective pitcher of the exhibition season and looks like an 18 to 20-game winner.

Belinsky, who hurled a no-hitter among his 10 victories in 1962, has pitched 13 innings without giving up an earned run. He went six shutout innings Wednesday, combining in a five-hitter with Don Lee to give the Angels a 2-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs and run their winning streak to six games.

The Angel pitching staff has yielded the opposition more than two runs only twice in the last six games and boasts a magnificent 11.92 earned run average for the spring.

The New York Yankees broke out of their spring batting slump with a 27-hit attack that crushed the Washington Senators, 18-8. Roger Maris and Joe Pepitone homered for the Yankees. Johnny Edwards hit two homers and Wally Post hit one as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Minnesota Twins, 6-5. Edwards' homers were his third and fourth of the spring. John Taitouris, Ken Hunt and Jim Brosnan held the Twins, who have lost four straight games, to six hits.

Tommy Davis, NL batting champion giving it the old fight in an experiment at third base, committed two more errors for spring (total of eight as the Los Angeles Dodgers bowed to the New York Mets, 4-3. Bill Skirwon had a triple and a single for the Dodgers.

homer in the first inning sent the Chicago White Sox on their way to a 7-5 win over the Philadelphia Phillies. The White Sox took advantage of eight walks and made 18 hits.

Clay Dalrymple led the Phillies' attack with a single, a double and a homer.

Don Schwall pitched two-hit ball for five innings as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Detroit Tigers, 4-0, in a game halted by rain after the sixth inning. Schwall allowed only singles to Bubba Morton and Jim Triandos in his best showing of the spring.

Roman Mejias and Dick Stuart hit homers off Rookie Gordon Befford to lead the Red Sox to a 6-2 decision over the Cleveland Indians. The Red Sox pitched six innings and yielded only one run.

The St. Louis Cardinals dealt the Baltimore Orioles their first loss of the spring, 4-3, with the help of a homer and a game-saving catch by Curt Flood. Ray Washburn stopped the Orioles on one run and three hits for five innings. It was the Orioles' first loss in 11 exhibition games.

Carrull Hardy's three-run homer in the 12th inning lifted the Houston Colts to a 10-12 victory over the San Francisco Giants. Orlando Cepeda homered in his spring debut and Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Ernie Rowman and rookie Cap Peterson also homered.

Fined

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Manager Bob Schoffing and outfielder Rocky Colavito of the Detroit Tigers were fined $50 each Wednesday for a run-in with National League umpire Frank Walsh during an exhibition game with the Philadelphia Phillies last Sunday.

City Loop Lead Cut To Two

Team No. 4 of the City League took full advantage of an off night for the Jet-Lanes Quintet by defeating the League Leaders, 3-1, cutting their lead to 2 points over 2nd and only 9 points over 4th.

Hurch found the lanes to his liking as he came through with a 201-570 for Team No. 4, while Behrens and Spolki hit 227 and 210 for Jet's only 200 games. Borador's 538 was high for series.

Lake Monroe Inn moved closer to the lead with their 3-1 win over Engle's. De Palma led his team with 23-202-214-940 while Pentecost assisted with 201-575. Engle's strike was high for series with 563.

High single and series for the night were rolled in the match between Buddy's Auto and Team No. 1. Carl Von Herbulis found the range to roll his first City League 603, with a big 665, good enough for 2nd high series all year. He came real close to a mighty fine triplicate score, missing by only 4 pins as he rolled 223-219-223-065. Despite Von's great effort, his team could only take 1 point. Team No. 1 came back after a 1st game loss, with 3 200 scores in the 2nd game, Neilson—211, Kreitzer—206 and Ring—215, to take the game by 123 pins. Due Ring came up with the high single for the night, 228, to take the 2nd game by the narrow margin of only 10 pins.

Showing considerable improvement, the revitalized B&W team managed a split with Sanford Mfg. Co. Williams rolled a 323 for top score for B&W while Kirchoff's 568 was high for Sanford. Tamm came through with a pair of 200 games, 210 and 200, while Bridges added a 201.

Griffith Risks Crown Tonight

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—With the betting at "even money," welterweight champion Emilio Griffith risks his crown tonight against Cuban Luis Rodriguez in the featured 15-rounder of three world title fights at the Doggers' baseball stadium.

Boxing's first triple-title show in a quarter-century was originally scheduled for last Saturday night, but persistent rain washed it out—along with television arrangements for the Griffith-Rodriguez (147-pound) bout.

There will be no television and no radio tonight of the program that includes Davey Moore's defense of the featherweight (126-pound) title against Ullinno (Sugar) Ramos of Cuba, and a fight for the vacant junior welterweight (140-pound) crown between Raymundo (Batling) Torres of Mexico and Roberto Cruz of the Philippines.

Moore of Columbus, Ohio, is favored at 2-1 for a successful sixth defense against Ramos, and KO specialist Torres is 3-1 over Cruz.

Powell's Holds 'Narrow' Lead In Kegler Play

With this week comes the final week of bowling in the Thursday Nite Mixed League and the race for first place is indeed close.

Powell's Office Supply hold a one point margin over Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant and Pryor's State Farm Insurance with 65 wins and 39 losses.

Fourth place is held by Heart Council with 44 wins and 60 losses. Next is Steinmyer's with 41 wins and 63 losses followed by Cook's Corner who have 31 wins and 70 losses.

Thursday night in final play Powell's bowl Heart Council, Pryor's bowl Heart Council and Steinmyer's bowl Cook's.

Series of 300 plus were bowled by Eddie Monroe of Steinmyer's with a 317; Vergil Anderson of Pryor's with a 507; Clyde Pierce and Harold Appleby of Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant with 504 Ralph Betts and Dot Powell of Powell's Office Supply with 503 and 518, respectively.

Burnett Says He'll Take Serum

ATLANTA (UPI)—The insurance man who told of an alleged football fix has offered to submit to "truth serum"—If Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant and former Georgia Athletic Director Wallace Butts will join him.

The offer was made Wednesday night by the attorney for George Burnett on learning that Butts flew to "neutral" Florida and took a lie detector test which his attorney and the man who gave the test said he passed with "flying colors."

Butts was the third person to announce that he had taken a lie detector test as a result of a growing controversy and investigations that spilled out of a story in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Coaches Mets

ST. PETERSBURG, (UPI)—All-time Yankee great Bill Dickey has rejoined Casey Stengel as a special catching coach for the New York Mets. The assignment is only on a temporary basis for Dickey, who is a member of baseball's Hall of Fame.

Mac Tray Top Favorite

Even though Derby and Inaugural winner Mac Tray has been lagging in the victory chase he is still rated a 5 to 2 morning line favorite when he goes to post in the featured ninth race tonight at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

Fred Whitehead's veteran trophy collector has had 18 starts this season but has only come up with three firsts. However, he has been running very consistently and has finished second six times and third seven. That means he has rewarded his backers with a payoff in 16 of his 18 outings.

Sanford Ends Up In Third In Track Meet

A crippled Sanford track team came in third in the Triangular meet at Titusville Wednesday with the locals grabbing only one first place event.

Titusville won the event rolling up 80 points followed by Seabreeze, 74 and Sanford, 20.

Dave McGillis took the only Sanford first in the half mile with a brilliant time of 2:13.

Other finishers for the locals were Chip Crawford, who finished second in the low hurdle race breaking his own record with a time of 21.3. Third in the same event was Jim Westlund.

Buddy Lawson finished fourth in the hundred yard dash; Dave Neell, third in shot put and discus; and Barry Marks, third in the 400 yard run.

Sanford's next meet is next Wednesday in Leesburg.

Sleek Ponds, owned by Mrs. N. V. Kirkland, will be trying for his sixth win of the season in this main event. Aside from Mac Tray four other entries are three-time winners, namely Miss Perry, Queen's Slipper, Ford and New Hit.

Popular spectators entered in the Hospital Handicap include Ruby Keeler, Wade Tray, Cherokee Sundial and Rapid Roy.

Semi-Finals Set In NIT

MIAMI (UPI)—Villanova and Marquette—an unlikely title game combination if there ever was one—aimed at upsets over Canisius and Providence respectively tonight in the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

Both Canisius and Providence may be below par physically—Canisius because six key players have been weakened by respiratory ailments and Providence because playmaker Vinnie Ernst is suffering with a pulled muscle in his right leg.

The Canisius players seemed to be gaining in their battle of the bugs when they flew into New York Wednesday night. Coach Bob MacKinnon said he expected to start his regular lineup against Villanova tonight.

Palmer, Player Meet In Doral

MIAMI (UPI)—Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, friendly enemies in a jealous race for the year's money-winning title, square off head and head today in the first round of the $50,000 Doral Open golf championship.

"Little Gary, the 1961 leader, and Palmer, the brawny Pennsylvanian who set a new one-year record with earnings of $81,418 in 1962, stand only $1,000 apart for this year on the head end of the gold-gilding parade as they begin their four-day trek over the 7,028-yard layout.

"It's more than the money, although that helps, too," grinned Player, whose $22,432 leads the pack this year and who is $2,000 ahead of his leading pace of two years ago.

"Nope," added Palmer, "don't knock money. But it still means a lot to be the leader, no matter what your business. And golf is ours."

As they teed off in a three-some which included Gene Littler, Jack Nicklaus stood $8,000 back of Palmer with third place earnings of $15,315. And, just to give you an idea of how eagerly the pros try for a place among the money-leaders, Nicklaus was a case in point.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are unable to convince our teen-aged daughter that it is bad taste to show affection in public. I'm talking about the sickening behavior one sees today between young people going steady. She thinks it's all right to hang on to a boy and put her arm around his waist while he does the same when they walk down the street. Also, because "everyone else does it" she sees nothing wrong with sitting practically on his lap while he drives the car. If we tell her it looks bad, she says we are living in the dark ages. She'll take your word for it, Abby, so please enlighten her, along with a few million others.

EXASPERATED

DEAR EXASPERATED: This is for all the vulnerable parties: Please, young lovers, wherever you are, believe me, it IS in the poorest taste to get lovey-dovey in public. A boy who respects a girl will not initiate it, and a girl who respects herself will not encourage it. So hands off. And I mean 100 percent off.

DEAR ABBY: Last fall a distant relative of ours started sending us a religious paper. Our family is not of that religion and we do not enjoy reading it. I know this relative meant well, but we are not interested in being "converted" and this paper seems to have that as its purpose.

Should we let this relative continue sending it? The paper must cost something and I'm sure the postage does. We just throw it away without ever looking at it. Or should we write and tell him to quit sending it?

MINNIE-APPOLIS

DEAR MINNIE - APPOLIS: Write to your relative and tell him you appreciate his thoughtfulness — but you and your family are not interested in the paper so he shouldn't waste the time and money to send it.

DEAR ABBY: The item in your column about how to tell an "eight-year-old-blabbermouth" that he was going to have a little brother or sister brought back memories. When our little boy was eight, I was expecting a baby, and it was quite apparent. So I told him a new arrival was on the way. He said, "Let ME tell Daddy about it when he comes home from work." He was so disappointed when I told him that Daddy already knew.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

If I hadn't been vulnerable I might have tried a light boulding takeout double with the West hand. Instead, I found myself on lead against a fourspade contract.

I made my normal lead of the king of clubs and continued the suit in spite of my partner's play of the deuce. If his deuce had been a singleton I would give him a ruff, if it was the lowest of three I would drop South's queen. Sure enough I did drop the queen. There was no point in continuing clubs. South would not be embarrassed if he had to use one trump. I had a convenient jack of hearts shift so I led it.

declarer to give us a diamond trick. It certainly did not take any genius on my part to find a defense to beat four spades. I could have shifted to hearts at trick two or led a club at trick three and the result would have still been the same, but strangely enough the hand was played in a team game and the other West hand found a way to let declarer make five odd. He noted his partner's deuce of clubs and shifted to the five of diamonds. East's queen fell to South's king. South drew trumps, finessed against the jack of diamonds, discarded the queen of clubs on the fourth trick to the ace of hearts.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

"I made my wife an interesting talker," reads an advertisement for a business publication. (The husband in the ad accomplished this, he says, by giving his wife a subscription to the publication.)

Though this was just an advertisement, a husband CAN do a lot to help his wife become an interesting conversationalist.

Nothing New. ATHENS, Greece (UPI)—More than 2,000 years ago—when the original Olympic Games were staged—the ancients argued about whether competitors were really amateurs or state-supported hirelings, just as modern nations are doing today.

He can help her widen her interests and increase her knowledge of world affairs by getting her to read ALL of a daily paper, instead of just headlines and society news. He can help her to develop self-confidence in expressing ideas by listening attentively to her when her conversation is aimed directly at him, instead of paying so little attention that she becomes convinced she hasn't anything worth parading. He can help her by seeing to it that some of their evenings are spent taking advantage of worthwhile events the community has to offer—lectures, plays, art exhibitions, concerts.

He can even see that they are a bit choosy about what they watch on television, taking the best, and refusing to be ensnared by the mediocre and worse. Men often have a better chance than their wives to develop into interesting conversationalists. But any husband who does have a better chance owes it to his wife to help her get out of the "I said and she said" routine that is all the conversation many women know how to make.

7:30-8 p. m. CBS. Mister Ed. The hammy horse vacates this time slot tonight to make room for the new half-hour version of "Fair Exchange," returning next week. "Ed" moves to Sundays, 6:30 p. m. In this one Larry Keating, as Roger Addison, arouses Ed's ire again, and this time enough for Ed to leave home. He insists on photographing Ed in such outlandish costumes that the poor horse is more strawberry than roan. Alan Young stars with Connie Hines and Edna Skinner. 8-9 p. m. CBS. Perry Mason. "The Case of the Velvet Claws." Patricia Darry manages to be appealing even though she is emmeshed in a half dozen foul deeds that would make many others look pretty stoddy. She cheats on her husband and is caught. Blackmail follows, accompanied by a few sordid political propositions and finally the murder of her spouse. Perry spends most of his time out of court winding up his case. James Philbrook is featured with stars Raymond Burr, Barbara Hale and William Hopper. 8:30-9:30 p. m. NBC. Dr. Kildare. "A Very Infectious Disease." A good characterization here by Dan O'Herlihy, who plays an aging intern with obviously annoying faults, plus a terrible bedside manner. At first annoyed, Dr. Kildare (Richard Chamberlain) comes to like him, then is given a decision to make which might ruin the intern's career. Jean Hagen is also good as a nurse torn between her personal love for the intern and the feeling he is pulling the wool over the eyes of the innocent Kildare. 9:30 p. m. ABC. As Caesar Sees It. This is the sixth in Sid Caesar's commentaries of current fads and follies. One of tonight's scenes is a takeoff on a tortuous TV show which is close to home. Sid also kicks around a sequence on the problems of ultra modern housing, the feature of the show. There is also a satire on a musician break, and another on a mumbbling chronic complainer. Karen Morrow, Jane Cornell and Edward Ryder are featured. 9-10 p. m. CBS. Twilight Zone. "I Dream of Genie." What would you do if a genie appeared and granted you one wish? If you were a mild office clerk, as cleverly played by Howard Morris, you would think it over carefully. He imagines a choice from three wishes: To be the husband of a glamorous movie star, a business tycoon or president of the U.S. It won't play four roles. 10-11 p. m. CBS. The Nurses. Judith Greenbaum, Thomas A. Greene Married In Double-Ring Ceremony

By Jane Casselberry

Mrs. Judith Greenbaum, daughter of Mrs. A. C. Brown of Orlando, became the bride of Thomas Albert Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Greene of Orlando, Sunday, March 17, at 4 p.m. in the Casselberry Community Methodist Church.

Rev. Delmas Copeland officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Claude Caldwell of Winter Garden.

She chose for her wedding a traditional gown of white satin with long fitted sleeves and her net fingertip veil was attached to a white satin train encrusted with pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a bouquet of white mums, red roses and lilies-of-the-valley with red and white streamers attached. The maid of honor, Miss Sheila McSweeney of Orlando, wore a gold lace and net dress over white satin and carried a bouquet of white mums with gold streamers.

Vernon Greene, brother of the groom, served as best man and the ushers were John E. Greene, brother of the groom and Cecil Caldwell, of Winter Garden, cousin of the bride.

A selection of traditional wedding music was played on the organ by Mrs. Darwin Shea. The altar was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother's ensemble consisted of a two-piece dress of olive green linen and white hat with green flower and veil and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

The groom's mother wore a banous silk and flowered hat with a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the American Legion Post Home on Prairie Lake which was decorated with bouquets of yellow gladioli and chrysanthemums. The wedding cake was three-tiered with the top layer supported by tiny Greek columns and topped with a miniature bride and groom. A buffet lunch with the cake and punch was served.

The couple received many lovely gifts for their new home which will be at 481 Hibiscus Rd., Casselberry, following a week long wedding trip to the East Coast.

Does Host For District Meeting

More than 100 members of the Benevolent, Patriotic Order of Does and their husbands attended the recent North Florida District Convention at the Elks Club in Sanford.

The guests passed through an Indian Teepee at the club, and were greeted by the Sanford Does all decked out in Indian costumes. They represented the Seminole Indians and carried out the same theme throughout the convention.

Two ceremonies from the Does ritual were presented; the Elks' Test, by the Sanford Does and Flag Day by the Orlando Does. Dancing was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

The business session was held on Sunday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with time out for lunch. State officers were elected at this meeting. Lily Bryant of Orlando was elected president; Mrs. Bowersox of the Sanford Does, vice president, and Mrs. B. G. Caruthers, treasurer.

Mrs. Bowersox and Mrs. Caruthers, co-chairmen for the event would like to thank all who helped in any way, especially the local merchants who donated gifts for the tote bags, the city for free parking tickets for the visitors and the Police Dept. for the use of a shoulder patch for name tags. Homemakers

Well, hello, again. According to the many calls and conversations of different homemakers last week's column was greatly enjoyed. I am so glad and we have a good one again this week, I think.

The USDA says that sweet potatoes are a good buy this month. They are of excellent quality and are at a low retail price. So let's try these Sweet Potato Date Balls.

1 1/2 cups mashed cooked yams
1 beaten egg
1/2 cup finely chopped dates
2 tbsps. butter
pinch of cinnamon
salt to taste

Combine all ingredients, chill and shape into tiny balls. Roll in finely chopped nut meats. Bake on buttered baking sheet at 375 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes or until nipped with brown. Serve hot or cold, using toothpicks for easy serving.

Home Economists with the USDA say the nuts take away some of the sweetness of the dates and sweet potatoes and give the balls a crunchiness that's good with either hot or cold drinks. This makes a "different hors d'oeuvre" for your next party.

Here is a tasty recipe from the General Foods Testing Kitchen.

Coconut Muffins
2 cups sifted flour
2 tps. baking powder
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups toasted coconut
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
1/4 cup butter or other shortening, melted

Measure sifted flour, add baking powder, sugar and salt, sift together. Add coconut. Combine egg and milk, add to flour mixture. Add shortening and mix just long enough—to dampen—flour. Spoon into greased muffin tins filling each 3/4 full. Bake in hot oven 425 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

Easiest Coconut Pancakes
For each cup of pancake mix (prepared according to package directions) add 1/4 cup toasted coconut. Bake as usual, allowing 1/4 cup batter for each pancake.

Here's another recipe from Mrs. Semmler County of '62. It's called Beef-A-Roni.
Boil 8 ounce package of macaroni and drain.

Brown 1/2 lb. ground beef with 1 large onion and 1 green pepper. Season with garlic salt if desired.

Add:
6 ounce can of tomato sauce
1 No. 303 can whole tomatoes
Add cooked macaroni and simmer for 30 minutes. Top with parmesan cheese.

We have a couple of salad recipes this week from homemakers. This one is from Mrs. Mae Smith.

Dissolve:
1 large pkg. Jello (peach, apricot, orange or lemon)
1 1/2 cups boiling water
Add:
1 lb. cottage cheese
1 large can crushed pineapple (drained)
1 can mandarin oranges (drained and cut up)
1 small can milk
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup juice from above fruits

Pour into 9 by 13 inch loaf pan and let stand in refrigerator until set. Cut in squares and place on lettuce leaves. Top with teaspoon of mayonnaise and red cherry if desired.

This Individual Pear Salad

recipe is from Mrs. John Donelson.

Cover each half of pear with generous covering of cream cheese which has been moistened with pear juice. Roll each half in finely chopped jumbo peanuts. Place a cherry in center of each half. Serve on lettuce leaf.

Combine chopped hard-cooked eggs and peanuts with mayonnaise to make a tasty sandwich filling. Say the home economists of the USDA.

I have been asked several times if I knew of a good recipe book for serving large crowds, etc. In a USDA bulletin this month there is just such a book. It is for church suppers, dinners for family reunions and money-making meals. The USDA has one entitled "Recipes for Quantity Service," HERRS and is available from the Supt. of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., for $2.50. It contains 400 recipes. There are recipes for everything from bread, navy bean soup and potato salad to short ribs of beef and turkey harlequin. Ingredients are given for 25, 50 and 100 portions. Each recipe contains a step-by-step instruction. There is also a variety of appetizing menus.

The Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Wilson, says that she has a copy in her office and anyone who wishes may go out and copy some of the recipes. It cannot be taken from the office, but you are welcome to take your time and copy any you wish. While you are out there why not look over the bulletins that are free for the taking. And if you are not in HD work or one of the county clubs, talk with Miss Wilson about joining one. I guarantee you will be glad you did.

Freeze-drying, the newest wrinkle in processing food products, is catching on fast in New Zealand. The USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service says a freeze-drying meat plant in Invercargill has more orders than it can fill.

In the USA, freeze-drying is still being used on a limited scale. Because it is more expensive than other processing methods, American firms have been using it mainly for specialty items — foods for campers, ingredients in dried soups and some seafoods.

Mrs. Fort Poole has a nice suggestion for an Easter decoration. She makes cup cakes and scoops out the center. Then she fills it with lemon pudding. Sprinkle powdered sugar over the pudding and take the top of the cup cake that was scooped out to form butterfly wings—I bet that is real cute. Try it sometime.

For our Lenten dish this week here is a salmon dish called Salmon au Gratin.

1 1/2-lb. can pink or red salmon
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Mrs. Woods Hostess For Church Circle

Ladies of the Ethel Root Circle of the Congregational Christian Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Edward Woods for their regular business and social hour. The meeting was opened with the group singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", accompanied on the piano by Lucy Woods. The devotion was given by Mrs. Gus Schmah, and Mrs. Ralph Lussing gave a short talk on an interesting article taken from the current Readers Digest.

The Executive Board presented a copy of their First Year Book for inspection and adoption. It was accepted by all. A letter from Mr. G. O. Nordgren, chairman of Survey Committee for Church Expansion, was read regarding the desires and support of any plans of a building project which will best meet the needs of the church. It was agreed that this would be well supported.

Another communication was from Friendly Service, stating additional needs of money for Bible Pictures, bath mats, and Church school materials. The ladies suggested they send a check together with the Friendship League as soon as possible. A motion was also made and carried to send a check for $10.00 to the Sarcopa Home Fund.

A social hour was enjoyed while refreshments were served by the hostess to the 13 members present and guests, Mrs. Clara Hunt, Mrs. Walter Burton, and Mrs. Charles Vining.

Circle Learns About Caladiums

Mrs. Martin Stinecpher and Mrs. Wade Garner were co-hostesses for the monthly meeting of the Palm Circle of the Sanford Garden Club at the Stinecpher home on Park Ave.

Guest speaker was Dr. John F. Darby of the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Station. He used as his subject "Caladiums" and their culture. Part of his presentation was colored slides of many varieties of caladiums and the vast acres that are grown commercially in Apopka, Sebring and Zellwood.

He gave the members many practical pointers on the cultivation of this showy spring and summer plant including how to use them in landscaping plans. He stated that if the tubers are immersed in 120 degree water for 25 minutes any nematodes present will be killed and even when planted upside-down they will thrive. This treatment is good whether there are nematodes or not.

The speaker said that "a good way to plant was set out petunias in the fall over the caladium tubers, then after the petunias have bloomed during the fall and winter, remove them and the caladiums will be ready to take over in the spring and summer."

A question and answer period followed the talk and all those present agreed that it was a very interesting and profitable meeting. Mrs. Helen DeWit, president, conducted a short business meeting, followed by the social hour. Guests welcomed by the group were Mrs. J. L. Luzack of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. John Kearney of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. G. W. Bellah of Hernando, Fla.

Other members present were Misses W. W. Linz, H. H. Duncan, Arne Erickson, William T. Ferguson, Blanton Owen, Alton H. Parker, William Hardy and Harry C. Oakes.

Legion Auxiliary Sponsors Supper

The American Legion Auxiliary to the Campbell Loring Post No. 53 sponsored a covered dish supper for members and their families Friday night at the Legion Home on Hwy. 17-92. It was in observance of the Legion's 40th birthday.

In 1919 a group of officers of World War One was temporarily relieved of command and ordered to Paris, France, for the purpose of forming an organization for veterans when they returned home. Col. Theodore Roosevelt was ordered home to submit the proposition to the Navy veterans. At a later date the entire group met in St. Louis and from this meeting the American Legion was formed.

The following Nov. 11, the first convention was held and has continued until the present day. Soon afterward the ladies organized an auxiliary. They co-operate with the Legion and have a variety of welfare and civic projects that they sponsor.

The American Legion, at the present time, is the largest veterans organization in the world.

For the celebration the tables were decorated with fern, entwined with poppies, emblematic of those who gave their lives for freedom. A large birthday cake decorated in the Legion colors of gold and blue, topped with 44 candles was placed in the center of the guest table.

Cecil Carlton, post commander, lighted the candles and cut the cake. He also welcomed the group and thanked the auxiliary for sponsoring the party.

Following the dinner entertainment was provided by a quartet, composed of Jack Owen, R. L. Reeves, W. L. Harmon and Jack Owen. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. D. Grieme. Mrs. Carlton was chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Warren King, Mrs. J. Q. Galloway and Mrs. Joel S. Field.

Garden Circles

CENTRAL CIRCLE
Central Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Iva E. Southward.

Mrs. Velle A. Williams Sr. opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. N. H. Brewer, birds and conservation chairman gave a report on the bald eagle. Mrs. A. Kent Rosseter gave a horticulture report regarding pruning citrus trees, annuals etc. to plant at this time.

Mrs. E. R. Wood, president, was chosen as delegate from Central Circle to the State Convention in Miami Beach on April 29-30.

The program was a wonderful experience as Mrs. Southward greeted her guests in a lovely Japanese silk hostess gown. Colored slides of many scenes in the Orient were shown. One of the most outstanding group of slides was from the Nogetsu School of Flower Arranging in Tokyo, where Mrs. Southward and her daughter, Jeanne, had a short course in Japanese Flower arrangements.

The dining room was lovely with its oriental flower arrangements. The table was a conversation piece with Japanese dolls, umbrellas, fans, napkins and silver epergne with cherry blossoms.

Refreshments of fortune cookies, tea cakes, nuts, mints, jamme tea and coffee were served to Mrs. E. H. Heumann, a guest from Bristol, Conn.

Also the Misses, H. N. Brewer, C. E. Chanlot, George McCull, Lawrence Tinsley, James M. Thompson, A. F. Cullum, A. Kent Rosseter, Velle A. Williams Sr., E. R. Wood, W. L. Merritt, Paul F. Johnston, and William T. Cavanaugh.

Friendship Program Given By Scouts

Girl Scouts, Brownies and their families and friends filled the auditorium at Lyman High School last week at the International Friendship Program presented by troops of the Lyman No. 3 Neighborhood.

Songs and dances of many countries which the girls have been studying were performed in the costumes typical of the country. Brownie Troop 29 sang the Brownie Song translated into German. Troop 49 wore charming costumes of green, white and black for the English folk dance, "Green Sleeves". Troop 111, sang and danced to the French folk song, "Sur le pont D'Avignon". Troop 383 Brownies were dressed in Scotch kilts and did a highland fling accompanied by a bag pipe solo, played by one of the members.

Troop 606 sang a song from Panama; Troop 631 did a Norwegian Handkerchief dance in costume and said a prayer in Norwegian. Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 334 gave the promise and motto from Columbia; Troop 338 did a song and dance in costume from Holland. Troop 491 told about Norway and Troop 628 told about Girl Guides in Japan.

Cathy Johnson was program narrator, Doris Aikens gave the invocation and Susan Hunter gave an explanation of International Friendship, they are all members of Troop 338.

Highlight of the program was the Parade of Flags of the World by all the troops and presentation of contributions to the World Friendship Fund.

Other troops which celebrated International Friendship Day in their own troop were Brownie Troops 351, 363, 595 and 633; 5th Grade Troop 51; 6th Grade Troop 233; and 7th Grade Troop 497.

Hikers Fail To Meet Goal

By Jane Casselberry
Two Lyman High School Band members, David House, 17, years old and Allan Kiest, 14, fell short of their hiking goal—New Smyrna Beach—Friday. David House, Lyman High School student and Allan Kiest, ninth grader at South Seminole Junior High School joined the hiking crew that is sweeping the country, when they took advantage of the school holiday to hike to New Smyrna Beach.

They fell short of their announced goal, however, when they were forced to call a halt at Samsula, some 40 miles from their point of departure, the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The boys, both members of the Lyman Band, started at 5:00 a. m. and made the first 31 miles in only 5 1/2 hours, but due to time out for eating and resting stops and slowing down to a snail's pace when David's knees locked and Allan got blisters the total time stretched to 9 hours.

He spoke to the group of interested parents on the "Basic Emotional Needs of the Individual" which he listed as emotional need or being accepted and understood by another individual, the importance of ego satisfaction, personality fulfillment, new experience, and response from the opposite sex.

He presented a short film on the problems of teenagers which was later discussed with the audience participating.

A brief business meeting was held prior to the program with Burbon Ferrell, president presiding.

A nominating committee was named consisting of Burbon Ferrell, Mrs. C. F. Field and Mrs. James Birkenmeyer of the executive board and Mrs. L. L. Werley and Mrs. Howard C. Griffith of the membership. They will present a slate of officers for the coming year at the May 21 meeting, when officers will be elected and installed.

Plans were announced for the Donkey Basketball game which will be played in the Lyman Gymnasium Thursday, April 11, at 8 p.m. as a P.T.A. fund raising project.

Frederick Raps Bryant On Progress

More and better educational facilities are needed in Florida, it was agreed by Gordon V. Frederick and Jan Fortune when they campaigned before the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees Thursday noon at the Civic Center.

Demos, GOP 'Step-Up' Campaign Drives

Campaigns were being stepped up today in Seminole County's single contested vote as of Tuesday.

Gordon V. Frederick, Democrat, and Jan Fortune, Republican, were "driving all-out" to get out the vote in their race for the House seat vacated by Mack N. Cleveland Jr.

Cleveland, a Democrat, is the only unopposed candidate in the state. He seeks Seminole County's new Senate seat.

With Republicans "working like mad" to elect Fortune, Democrats likewise were out in force to have Frederick elected.

Registrar Camilla Bruce today was hesitant to make a prediction on Tuesday's vote turnout.

"Normally it would be a very light count," Mrs. Bruce said, "but with both parties out working it is difficult to make a prediction."

There are 13,475 Democrats registered and eligible to vote, 2,279 Republicans and 234 others, including two in the Prohibition Party.

The county's 23 polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday.

A little one-act comedy took place at Casselberry's Town Council meeting Thursday night. Hibbard Casselberry requested the Council recess its meeting.

Woodhams objected, that he wanted to know why they should not adjourn. Casselberry took him into a backroom. Woodhams was agreeable to continue. Then C. Overman objected and refused to go to the backroom because "we have no secrets from our citizens."

Navy personnel of the Sanford Naval Air Station was apprised today that Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., chief of Naval Operations and the man who engineered the Cuban blockade, will appear at 6 p.m. Sunday on the nationally-televized "Meet the Press" program, to be shown locally on Channel 2.

MACK CLEVELAND JR. 'Hits Apathy'

Voter Apathy Strongly Hit By Cleveland

Unopposed State Senate candidate Mack Cleveland Jr. Thursday night strongly criticized past apathy at the polls and urged that Seminole County citizens "turn out in large numbers for next Tuesday's special legislative election."

Cleveland and other county legislative candidates with the exception of Republican Jan Fortune, appeared for the Bear Lake Community Club at a meeting attended by roughly 30 people.

Others speaking were Legislator Joe Davis; Gordon Frederick, Democratic legislative candidate and Bob Fox who represented Fortune, Republican legislative candidate.

In opening remarks of the program Cleveland said that although he has no opposition this "will not lessen my desire to serve the county to the best of my ability."

"I will welcome any opportunity to discuss any question with you at any time, either on a state, county or local level," he added.

Davis, who said that he "came out more or less as an interested citizen" also emphasized that "the people must vote," adding that he, too, wants to hear from the people and will welcome all opinions.

Frederick, backing his campaign qualifications on past legislative experience and the fact that he is a Seminole County native whose "future is tied with the county's," pointed out that although there will have to be some tax raises on the state level, he will fight against any tax on food or medicine.

He said that although the easiest way to increase the income would be to impose additional sales tax, "there are many other sources of revenue," naming among them an increased tax on purchases of automobiles and on the state gambling businesses.

Fortune's prepared statement as read by Fox, stressed the importance of establishing a two-party system in the state and the fact that he "sees no need for tax increase."

"They're not organized at this time to efficiently reduce costs... spending money can only be done by trained and qualified persons," the statement read.

Full Steam Ahead To Get College Here

An "all-out drive" in efforts to obtain the proposed state university for Seminole County has been launched by the Chamber of Commerce.

This was the report this morning of Douglas Stenstrom, chairman of the Chamber's long range committee on education, who asked for countywide unification in the drive to have the new school placed "somewhere in Seminole County."

"Right now we simply are getting ready to make an all-out effort to obtain establishment of the proposed new state university," Stenstrom reported.

"The executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce met Thursday afternoon to discuss the proper procedure in making it known to the State Legislature and other state officers our interest in having the university in Seminole County."

The executive committee, President Francis Houmillat and the leadership of the Chamber are prepared to make an all-out effort on this project.

"We are discussing the matter with our State legislators; we are trying to obtain all information contained in the McDonald Report. We are securing counsel of experts in other areas, and we are preparing to try to mobilize support of the com-

Preliminary planning for the proposed St. Johns-Indian River waterway will be outlined to the State Board of Conservation Monday at Tallahassee.

Making the presentation at the session, called by Governor Bryant for conservation and planning, will be John Kridler and Harold Scott, chairman and engineer, respectively, of the St. Johns-Indian River Navigating Committee.

Kridler revealed today the committee, in session with Sen. Bernard Parrish and others last Wednesday at Tallahassee, was enlarged to include Volusia County.

He also stated Scott's firm, Reynolds, Smith and Hills, is exploring a proposed right-of-way for the canal, using aerial photographs of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Committee and other preliminary surveys.

Route of the canal being studied is from Lake Monroe to Lake Harney and then a short-cut directly across to the Indian River in the vicinity of Maytown. The study is for a 100-foot wide, nine-foot deep waterway, with locks 250 x 250 feet at each end and with side approaches

Incorporation OK, Lormann Claims

The Incorporation of Fern Park was given a voice of approval by Longwood Mayor A. R. Lormann at a meeting of the City Council Thursday night.

Lormann said, "I think it would be a fine thing if Fern Park is incorporated and want it known that the City of Longwood has no quarrel with Fern Park."

In other business the council unanimously passed a resolution requesting the 1963 Legislature for passage of a special act requiring re-registration of all voters in Longwood and providing for voting by absentee ballot.

Copies of the resolution will go to Legislator Joe Davis for presentation to the Seminole County Legislative Delegation.

The request for a retail liquor license for the Longwood Hotel and Bar to William J. Lancaster was approved by a 4-1 vote with Councilman Carl Lommiller objecting "on general principles."

Board To Get River Plans

Preliminary planning for the proposed St. Johns-Indian River waterway will be outlined to the State Board of Conservation Monday at Tallahassee.

Making the presentation at the session, called by Governor Bryant for conservation and planning, will be John Kridler and Harold Scott, chairman and engineer, respectively, of the St. Johns-Indian River Navigating Committee.

Kridler revealed today the committee, in session with Sen. Bernard Parrish and others last Wednesday at Tallahassee, was enlarged to include Volusia County.

He also stated Scott's firm, Reynolds, Smith and Hills, is exploring a proposed right-of-way for the canal, using aerial photographs of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Committee and other preliminary surveys.

Route of the canal being studied is from Lake Monroe to Lake Harney and then a short-cut directly across to the Indian River in the vicinity of Maytown. The study is for a 100-foot wide, nine-foot deep waterway, with locks 250 x 250 feet at each end and with side approaches to permit individual boats to pass the locks.

"The aerial photos and the preliminary surveys," Kridler said "will permit us to pin down the cost element."

Harris Saxon, chairman of the Volusia County Commission, today named Steve Shindler and F. E. Watson, both of New Smyrna Beach to represent that county on the navigating committee.

They joined Kridler and John Brunley, Seminole; C. E. LeGette and Ransom Downes, Orange, and R. C. Brady and D. S. Nisbet, Brevard.
