

Viet Troops Battle For Old Fortress

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers were reported today to have seized half the Quang Tri Citadel and were advancing on North Vietnamese troops in the rest of the 19th century fortress.

"Most of the enemy are concentrated in the northwest section of the Citadel," said Lt. Col. Do Dang Bo, the Army spokesman in Hue.

The South Vietnamese command in Saigon backed off from its claim Tuesday that the paratroopers had completely recaptured the 50-acre walled compound.

South Vietnamese bombers were attacking the North Vietnamese positions inside the Citadel with high explosive bombs and napalm, but Bo said there were no signs that the North Vietnamese were retreating. He described the action as sporadic, small contact in "section by section" of the Citadel.

Fighting erupted, meanwhile, behind the Quang Tri front, on the western flanks of Hue and farther south in the Que Son Valley, 25 miles below Da Nang.

Three South Vietnamese positions defending the western approaches to Hue were hit with 3,300 rounds of shellfire and ground assaults. South Vietnamese spokesmen claimed 229 North Vietnamese troops killed on the northern front Tuesday and today and said South Vietnamese losses were 21 killed and 140 wounded.

Seventy-five U.S. B52 bombers supported the South Vietnamese forces in the northern quarter of the country, dropping nearly 2,000 tons of explosives.

In the air war against North Vietnam, Navy jets worked half a dozen bridges on both sides of the port city of Vinh, 165 miles south of Hanoi, the 7th Fleet said.

Guerrillas' Arms Seized Irish Barricades Razed

Associated Press Writer BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops bulldozed into another Roman Catholic stronghold in Belfast early today to smash IRA barricades. They claimed their seizure of the Catholic guerrillas' arms have cut their operations in half.

Soldiers with armored bulldozers and mechanical diggers tore up 10 earth-and-steel barricades in the Andersonstown area. The only resistance was a barrage of gasoline bombs, bottles and stones from youths — but none of the sniper fire that has opposed previous sweeps into territory controlled by the Irish Republican Army.

None of the army force was reported hit, and the troops dispersed the mob with rubber bullets.

In another sweep into the New Barnsley area, troops arrested one man and captured 98 rounds of ammunition, including some armor-piercing shells. Again there was no IRA fire.

An army spokesman reported 36 shooting incidents in Belfast and 13 in Londonderry in the previous 24 hours, a 50 per cent drop from the nightly average of more than 100 last week.

"It looks like this is a result of our operations," he said.

The army claimed four guerrillas were hit in gunfights in guns and pistols, and more than half a ton of explosives in its nightly raids into IRA strongholds since last Friday.

The army has seized hundreds of rounds of ammunition. Some 50 suspects have been rounded up.

Israelis Extend An Olive Branch

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir cautiously welcomed Egypt's expulsion of Soviet military advisers and called today on President Anwar Sadat to "strike out on a new path" toward peace.

Let us meet as equals and make a joint supreme effort to arrive at an agreement solution to all the outstanding problems," Mrs. Meir said in Israel's first official comment on Sadat's expulsion of the Russians last week. "The well-being and future of our nations depend on such a dialogue."

The premier told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that it was too soon to make a reliable evaluation of Sadat's action. But she said "this highly significant event in the life of Egypt may even contribute to positive developments in the area."

The premier praised the Soviet government for refusing to meet Egyptian demands "which, if met, would have caused and made possible the renewal of the war." She said the Soviet refusal to give Egypt offensive weapons helped save the Egyptians from another defeat.

Mrs. Meir appealed to Sadat "to strike out on a new path, never to return to the course which has led to death, destruction and frustration without originating peace."

Mrs. Meir had warm praise for President Nixon and the American support for Israel. She said after the August 1970 cease-fire, Soviet arms shipments that continued to Egypt had upset the balance of power, but early this year Washington agreed to sell more Phantom jet planes to Israel.

"The government of the United States and its President deserve our full appreciation and gratitude for this," she declared.

Antibusing Measure Up For Vote Today

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee is expected to approve a strong antibusing bill today despite a roadblock thrown up by a civil-rights leader.

Clarence Mitchell, a veteran lobbyist for the NAACP, kept the Education and Labor Committee from acting Tuesday by spending all day in the witness chair attacking the proposed legislation.

Mitchell said Congress is acting like a lynx mob in its rush to ban busing and is undercutting the courts by trying to limit their powers to order busing in desegregation cases.

Several test votes Tuesday indicated supporters of the bill have a majority on the committee, and they planned to press for prompt action today.

The bill, based on one sent to Congress by President Nixon last March, would prohibit any crowd-tossing for elementary school children and sharply limit its use in higher grades.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., chief sponsor, said one of his purposes in introducing it was to head off tougher legislation, including a constitutional amendment that would outlaw all busing for the purpose of desegregation.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., gave Mitchell a chance to testify, although hearings on the bill had been completed and the committee was scheduled to start voting on it. Mitchell said he had been promised a chance to present more testimony by

Beauty Relates Own Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Laurel Lea Schaefer says she set some rules of personal behavior when she became Miss America.

"I don't allow myself to kiss men — like mayors and visiting dignitaries. If they try it, I just tell them I think it's unnecessary. Or I tell them that I have a very special friend who wouldn't appreciate it," the green-eyed Ohio University graduate says.

Laurel, 27, says her "special friend" is John Larrie, whom she's been dating for more than two years — it is one of the items in her life that she will begin re-evaluating after she hands her crown to a successor. Laurel began her reign last September in Atlantic City, N.J., and will yield to a new queen Sept. 9.

"I'm looking forward to setting new goals," she said, brushing her long brown hair back from her shoulders. "I'm planning to go into television acting and public relations work for several companies."

Laurel said 10 months of traveling through the United States as Miss America has made problems she had "only read about" come alive.

"I was down in South Carolina, talking to an assembly at a predominantly black high school," she recalled. "They started to sing — and the only thing I could think of was 'Dixie.'"

"One very well-spoken young man explained that if you listen to the words of the song you can understand why a black person wouldn't want to be reminded of Dixieland as it was when the song was written."

Calley Requests Retrial

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys for Lt. William L. Calley Jr. have asked for a new trial on grounds the Army lied when it said it could not locate a missing witness to the My Lai massacre.

The petition filed Tuesday with the Army Court of Military Review asserts that the witness, Charles Dean "Butch" Gruver of Stotsbury, Mo., was contacted by the Army during Calley's 1971 trial.

But at the time of the trial, the government professed no knowledge of Gruver's whereabouts, the petition stated.

Capt. J. Houston Gordon, one of Calley's lawyers, confirmed that the petition seeks a new trial because of additional evidence Gruver could provide. Gordon declined further comment on the petition, which was reported in detail by the Daily Oklahoman of Oklahoma City.

27 Local Candidates Seek 11 County Seats

By DONNA ESTES
Twenty-seven candidates qualified by the noon deadline Tuesday to vie for 11 of the county offices and a freshman county commissioner was assured reelection.

Sidney L. Viblen Jr., named to the District 5 post on the county board in 1970 by then Gov. Claude Kirk, following the resignation of Democrat Dan Pelham, was subsequently elected to compete the final two years of Pelham's term in the November elections that year.

Ironically in May, 1968, Pelham defeated Viblen for the Democratic nomination for the office. Viblen later changed his party affiliation to Republican and was elected to the office.

No one in either political party qualified to oppose him yesterday, automatically giving him a four-year term, unless someone qualifies under state law as a write-in candidate. This appears unlikely. Viblen is currently vice chairman of the County Commission.

Only five of the races will be on the primary ballots in September. Six of the contests were set without need for party primaries.

Arthur H. Beckwith Jr., Democrat incumbent, will vie with Kenneth Monroe (R) for the office of clerk of the Circuit Court. Beckwith has been clerk since May 16, 1969, when he was appointed to the office by then Gov. Leroy Collins following his (Beckwith's) win in the May primary that year. Prior to becoming clerk, he was county commissioner and spouse of County Commissioner Sidney Viblen.

Monroe, who has served as small claims judge by appointment of Governor Collins, has been known for his efforts to moderate that office. The office is to be phased out at year's end in favor of judicial constitutional reforms passed by the voters last November.

ALLEN NOT RUNNING
For the tax assessor's office Terry Gensel, employed in the office under three assessors, is the Republican nominee, while Richard E. McCanna is the Democratic nominee. McCanna served as assessor for a one-year period in 1969-70, following the suspension by then Gov. Collins of Mrs. Mary Earle Walker. Mrs. Walker subsequently defeated McCanna and was re-elected in the May primary in 1968, later retiring in 1968. Incumbent Gay Allen did not file.

G. Troy Ray Jr. (D), incumbent tax collector, is opposed for that office by political newcomer Carl Buchner of the Democratic nominee for the office of school superintendent will be selected in September from three candidates, including Carlton Henley, principal of Lyman High School, William (Bud) Layer, principal of Teague Middle School, and Dan Pelham, principal of Sanford Middle School.

The winner of this contest will face Republican incumbent John Angel.

Interesting sidelight to these races is that both Layer and Henley were active in Angel's campaign for the office when he ran as Democrat four years ago. Angel once time and again, as incumbent, resigned to accept a Republican nomination for the office in H. G. (Bud) Weather.

Final primary race is for the Republican nomination for District 3 county commissioner. Freshman Altamonte Springs Councilman Tom Hatfield is being opposed by Dick Williams, long time party worker. Democratic incumbent is Al Davis completing a split two-year term on the board.

Originally elected to the District 3 seat in 1968, Williams, who resigned to accept a Republican Party nomination, top was replaced by Commission Chairman Greg Drummond, when Drummond was discovered to be living in District 4 rather than 3, he ran for the District 4 seat two years ago and won.

SCHOOL BOARD
David Bowen, who lost the District 3 school board seat in 1968 by only 20 votes, is vying with Travis E. Sims for the Republican nomination for the office. The winner of this primary will face in November Mrs. Missouri Belle Swafford, Hattaway (D) and Donald W. Struble (R).

Purina Looks To County

A prospective industry, which was refused Tuesday by Orange County, may find a home in Seminole County, according to David F. Kelley, Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SCIDA) executive secretary.

Kelley said he had met with representatives of Halston-Purina Company, of St. Louis, in an effort to persuade the firm to locate a $4 million mushroom plant near Oviedo on land which Kelley said is available.

The Orange County Commission decided Tuesday to refuse the firm's request for a $1 million industrial revenue bond issue, which would be located in the Sanford area.

John Krider, Sanford Chamber of Commerce president, said today, "We were approached to find 40 acres for them but it is difficult to find acreage in Seminole County within the price limitation they placed."

Krider said most county industrial property is selling from $4,000 to $4,500 an acre and that is far above the amount being offered by the prospective industry. "We are just not in position to meet the requested requirements," Krider added.

However, Kelley advised The Herald he would attempt to locate the industry on land which is available near Oviedo. Only Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) had enabling legislation passed, which would permit it to issue industrial revenue bonds to qualified industrial prospects.

SCIPA also has the same office with SCOPA and James Ryan, SCOPA administrator, is a member of SCIDA. Therefore, no problem in obtaining financing for revenue financing in lands would be expected.

Without Opposition Nine Judges Are 'In Free'

Seven judges serving the 18th Circuit Seminole and Brevard Counties are without opposition in this year's non-partisan judicial election and six automatically are elected.

The seven Circuit judges are: Volie A. Williams Jr., Sanford, group 1; William G. Akridge, Cocoa, group 2; Tom Waddell Jr., Melbourne, group 3; Roger F. Dykes, Cocoa, group 4; Richard B. Madraw, Melbourne, group 5; Donnack J. Saff, Longwood, group 6; and Clarence T. Johnson Jr., Merritt Island, group 7.

Also qualifying at Tallahassee before the Monday deadline was Wallace Hall, Sanford county judge of Seminole County, who is without opposition in group 1, seeking his re-election.

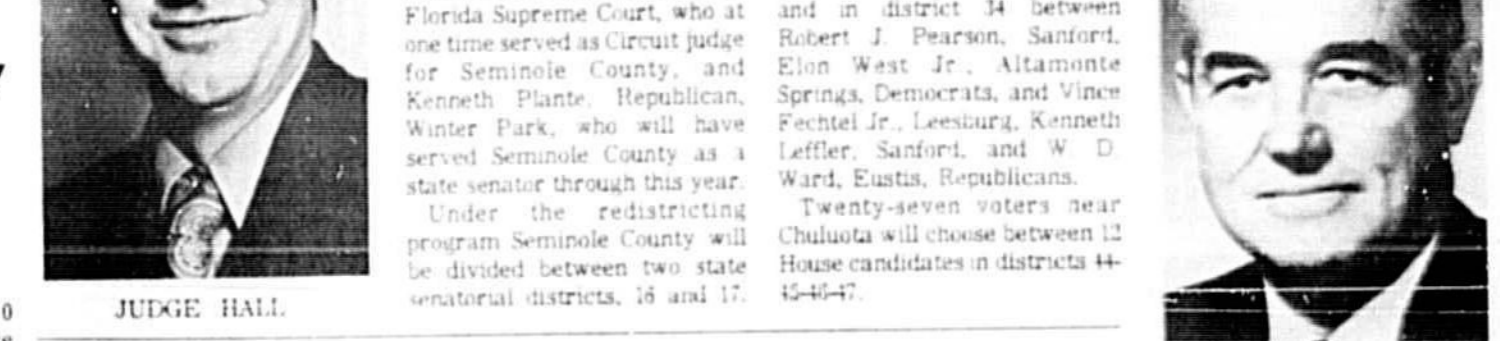

Under the redistricting program Seminole County will be divided for the State House of Representatives between districts 13 and 14 plus a small "finger" at Chuluota in districts 14-45-6-7.

Seven candidates in district 14 will compete between Rep. Eugene Mowbray, a Republican, and Joseph R. Moss, Rockledge Democrat, and John W. Vant, Merritt Island Democrat.

Also under the redistricting program Seminole County will be divided for the State House of Representatives between districts 13 and 14 plus a small "finger" at Chuluota in districts 14-45-6-7.

File Need By County Is Cited

By ANN SIECKOWSKI
"We have to maintain 10 years of records on our active files. These cannot be placed on microfilm," stated Circuit Court Judge Kenneth L. Lenz in an appeal to the Board of County Commissioners.

Both Beckwith and Camilla Bruce, supervisor of elections, have requested power files for their operations. This type of file will mean a saving of space, which is a critical issue in the new court house. Beckwith suggested that the files be part of the courthouse furniture bid. Gary Cramer, interior designer for Atrium, Inc., which is working with the County on the new courthouse, said he would furnish the files for the same office with SCOPA and James Ryan, SCOPA administrator, is a member of SCIDA. Therefore, no problem in obtaining financing for revenue financing in lands would be expected.

'Bottomless' Bandit Takes $450 In Raid

By BILL SCOTT
A woman awoke early today to find an unknown white male, naked from the waist down, standing in her bedroom.

She screamed, the intruder ran out of the room and the house, but not before he had removed $300 from the woman's purse and another $150 from her husband's nightstand, according to a sheriff's office report filed by Deputy Scott Grant.

The investigator reported the incident occurred in the Robin Hill Subdivision, west of Altamonte Springs.

Sanford Police Sgt. William Lykens disclosed he would charge a 15-year-old Sanford youth with sodomy for assaulting two boys, ages four and eight.

Sgt. William Hogan, county detective, today advised he had charged two 15-year-old South Seminole boys in the theft of $600 worth of clothing and a Spring Lake Subdivision home. The accused will be released to county juvenile authorities.

Pettigrew Attacks Hollahan's Record

MIAMI (AP) — Crusading against what he called "government by the buddy system," Florida House Speaker Richard Pettigrew Tuesday attacked the voting record of veteran state Sen. George Hollahan.

Hollahan countered by labeling Pettigrew as "dedicated to being liberal — liberal in spending the taxpayers' money."

The two Miami Democrats met in a face-to-face debate Tuesday at the Tiger Bay Political Club. Their battle for the District 39 Senate seat is shaping up as one of the hottest political campaigns of the season.

"Before is fine," Hollahan said. "But don't reform my government and don't make it so liberal that I can't live in it any more."

"Sen. Hollahan has consistently shown resistance to change," said Pettigrew. "His record shows the least in support for the (Gov. Reubin) Askew-Pettigrew programs."

Pettigrew, who also took on State Insurance Commissioner Tom O'Malley at the club's weekly luncheon, said the incumbent from District 39 was making tracks with other senators on land-use controls.

"Sen. Hollahan is government by the buddy system," adding: "I think we must protect the Florida keys, which is in this district, for all the citizens of the state. The dredging that is hurting the keys must be halted."

Traffic Signal Ruled 'Out'

By BILL SCOTT
An effort by Sanford Commissioner Gordon Meyer to have a traffic light installed at the intersection of 20th Street and Sanford Avenue apparently has failed after Mack Lazenby, city engineer, reported he had conducted a traffic count at the intersection and determined there was no need for the installation of a pre-timed traffic signal.

Lazenby reported the volume of traffic is such that a traffic signal is not warranted at this time.

The engineer stated on an average day this month traffic was manually counted for an eight-hour period and the most vehicles in any hour traveling along Sanford Avenue was 440 between noon and 1 p.m.

Total number of vehicles crossing the intersection at that hour was 331 with 92 using 20th Street.

Less than 12 per cent of this total peak number of vehicles made a left turn from any direction.

A street pattern of the 12 per cent were people using 20th Street. A signal would not help this situation in that there is no room for a left turn storage lane on 20th Street," Lazenby reported.

Number of traffic mishaps occurring within the last year at the intersection has been three.

At present there is a flashing warning signal at the intersection and, according to the engineer, this signal is only type necessary at this time.

Meyer upon hearing the report, stated he would like another traffic survey at the intersection in September when school opens.

Lori Lea Knight, Elvin Campbell Exchange Vows

Couple Marries On Bride's Parents Silver Anniversary

Miss Lori Lea Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Knight, 300 West 27th St., became the bride of Elvin Campbell, son of Mrs. Cora Hille Campbell, 1234 Easy St., Southbridge, Va., Sunday, July 16, 1972.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white lace, over candlelight satin, featuring long lace sleeves and pastel peach tulle ribbon sash.

The couple exchanged vows before an arch elaborately decorated with large arrangements of orange blossoms, lilies-of-the-valley and crepey, flanked by white wedding bells in the background a large fan was covered with white silk illusion and trimmed with lace and assorted shades of orange-toned roses, greenery and tiny avocado velvet bows. The bride's mother wore an apricot silk flared organza dress, featuring a stand-up neck line of lace, sheer elbow length sleeves with lace trim and a white carnation corsage.

The groom's mother wore a pale blue double knit dress with white accessories. Mrs. George Bauer, grandmother of the bride, wore a pale pink satin dress with dark rose accessories. Mrs. Knight designed and made her daughter's entire wedding ensemble as well as her own.

Following the ceremony, a double reception was held for the bridal couple and her parents who were observing their 25th wedding anniversary. The bridal couple left for Daytona Beach for a brief wedding trip and are now at home at 2811 Elm Ave.

1, 62 Candidates Qualify In State

for grabs—although there is no opposition for 8 Senate and 11 House posts.

Also not attracting any opposition were Supreme Court justices Vassar Carlton and Richard Ervin, although colleague David McCain faces two challengers—former state Board of Education attorney Rivers Buford and Fort Lauderdale attorney Jim H. Carter.

Any partisan statewide race is the Public Service Commission seat now held by Chairman Gerald Lewis, who will face State Sen. Jesse Yarborough.

State elections officials said not only candidates filed this year, but among them were 200,000 more blacks, women and Republicans.

A prime reason for the large turnout in the two-week qualifying period that ended at noon Tuesday was that all legislative and virtually all judicial posts are up for grabs.

Because the Legislature made the judicial races nonpartisan, however, they will not appear on the Nov. 7 general election ballot but instead will be decided in the Sept. 12 and Oct. 3 primaries.

If nothing else, commented state elections chief Dorothy Glisson, the nonpartisan law will help to unclutter what may be an extremely messy general election ballot.

All 120 House seats and 40 Senate seats are up for grabs.

Heated battles loomed as candidates flocked to the "new" congressional seats without incumbents. One of these districts, the 13th in DuDe County, attracted nine candidates, while the other two, the 5th in central Florida and the 10th in south Florida, attracted six apiece.

Defense attorney Cam Cunningham of Austin, Tex., accused the U.S. Justice Department of "improper use of grand jury to prepare witnesses for trial."

The four were freed on July 18 when the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals ordered Middlebrooks to hold a rehearing.

The usual secrecy of grand jury proceedings was opened to some extent Tuesday when reports of testimony by the four veterans was read in the courtroom.

Grand jury testimony revealed all four refused to answer questions by Justice Department attorney Jay Gooden on whether they had participated in plans to bomb police cars, police stations and stores during the Aug. 21-23 GOP convention at Miami Beach.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many houseguests there are who think they are being helpful to their hostesses, but are actually making more work for them?

When a guest has slept in one of my beds and is leaving, why on earth would he carefully make up the bed—spread and all I have to tear it apart in order to change the linen anyway?

DEAR POLLY:—I want to tell Mrs. A. W. who had a fire in her home and cannot get rid of the smoke odor, that she might spray her house with oil of wintergreen, a pint of water put in a spray can or bottle is great for this kind of odor. If you know of any other method, which I learned from some ladies in my circle. It surely worked for us so I hope it does as well for Mrs. A. W.—MRS. A. D. S.

DEAR POLLY:—If a trace of the smoke odor still remains, an open bowl of water with one tablespoon of ammonia added might be left out in an inconspicuous place or a saucer of vinegar. If you know of any other method, which I learned from some ladies in my circle. It surely worked for us so I hope it does as well for Mrs. A. W.—MRS. A. D. S.

DEAR POLLY:—My Pet Peeve is with guests who are arrive earlier than expected. With small children it is not always possible to be ready ahead of time and, more often than not, I am putting the finishing touches on things at the last minute. If they want to pitch in and help the kids a job they are doing me a favor if they arrive early.—C. J. B.

DEAR POLLY:—I have finally found a quick and efficient way to store my trading stamps. A long slit is cut in the plastic lid of a spray can. A small amount of soap is put in the can so it is quick and easy to drop the stamps into the can just after I come home from the market. This eliminates all of the motions of putting them in something where the lid has to be removed or trying to paste them in the kitchen, close by the place where I remove groceries from the bags.—MRS. V. W. H.

Dear Abby

Mother upset over daughter's foul mouth

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Charles Tompkins & Co., New York, Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a 21-year-old daughter who will be a college freshman. She was raised in a moral and decent home. Lately she has begun to pepper her language with filthy four-letter words.

When I told her that I found her language offensive, she said everybody talks that way nowadays, and I should "get with it."

I am 50 years old and am not about to "get with" filthy language.

My daughter says, "They are only words, and it's a person's right to use the words he wants to use."

I would like your opinion.

DEAR MOM: The "right" to swing one's arms ends where the other fellow's nose begins. Tell your daughter to "get with" and lauder her language in your presence. No one has the right to pollute the atmosphere with audible garbage.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is young, 25, and she is naturally big bodied, and usually a little cleavage shows when she wears a dress with just a normal neckline.

My parents think this is in bad taste. They invited us for lunch at their country club, and told me to please tell my wife to wear something with no cleavage showing. They say nobody dresses that way at a country club.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell you what she said, you had been screaming from Los Angeles to New York, so I turned down the invitation.

I like the way she looks in these dresses. Most of the women in my family are fat-chested.

I don't know how they dress at country clubs, do you?

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many houseguests there are who think they are being helpful to their hostesses, but are actually making more work for them?

When a guest has slept in one of my beds and is leaving, why on earth would he carefully make up the bed—spread and all I have to tear it apart in order to change the linen anyway?

Report Of A Man Who Dreams ABC

Editors note: During Cynthia Lowry's vacation, the column is being written by invited guests, each of whom was asked to respond to specific questions about their work in television. Here is the report of man who dreamed up and still acts as host on ABC's daytime frenetic "Let's Make a Deal." It's a pretty three-hour, colorful, and fun show in which the studio audience is as much a part of the show as the give-aways.

By MONTY HALL

Q: Was the studio audience in strange costumes part of the show's original concept or did it appear spontaneously?

A: When the show started 8½ years ago, the contestants were women in normal street wear and men in business suits. There were no signs, no strange outfits. They brought from home to trade — toy animals, sacks of cards, things like that.

We always had more people in the studio than on television. As the show went on, so many people began bringing unusual things and wearing costumes to attract attention when the contestants were being selected. Soon no one came in straight clothes. Ingenuity is rampant and I am still being surprised.

On taping days, ABC Television Center in Hollywood is an unbelievable sight: long queues of people in outlandish costumes with eye-catching signs. They even spill into the streets around the studio when the parking lot is filled. People living or working in the area love to see the Jolly Green Giant, the Jolly Green Elf, the Jolly Green Gnome, and all kinds of animals getting out of cars.

strong look is taken at the power women's voting. A clear trend is seen in the fact that women delegates to the Democratic convention increased 39 per cent this year over 1968. The program looks at two aspects of the women's voting power, women as an organized force, and women as individuals in the political conflict.

8:30-9:00 NBC, NBC Mystery Theater (Harris) "Short Fuse." Lieutenant Columbus (Peter Falk) solves the murder of a corporation executive caught in a family struggle for control of the company. The corporation head dies, along with his driver, when a dynamite blast destroys his limousine while he's talking to his wife on the car phone. Ida Lupino plays the widow. UNDER CONSTRUCTION — The new $362,000 city hall in Altamonte Springs is scheduled for completion by Christmas. The one-story building is adjacent to the present city hall property and faces on Newburyport Avenue and was designed by Robert I. Webb Jr., of Maitland, architect. Groundbreaking was held April 17 for the 60x200 ft. structure with Sorenson-Fletcher Construction Co. of Winter Park as general contractor. (Ann Riley Photo)

Retail Food Prices Climb

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail food prices jumped 0.9 per cent in June, the biggest increase in four months, the government said today. Meat and fresh fruits and vegetables accounted for most of the boost. The Agriculture Department said a year's supply of groceries for a typical family of four—the "market basket" index—went up $11 in June as a result of a $15 increase for farmers and a $4 cutback for middlemen. The June hike was the largest monthly increase since February's 1.6-per-cent boost, the department said. There was a 0.4-per-cent decrease in food prices in March, a 0.7-per-cent decrease in April and a 0.4-per-cent increase in May. The department said its "market basket" index that higher prices for beef, pork, tending chickens and fresh fruits and vegetables accounted for most of the June increase. Prices for eggs dropped sharply, and price changes for most other items were relatively minor. The "market basket," a measure of the cost of a year's supply of food for a family of four, cost an annual rate of $1,299 in June. The farmer's share of the June market basket was $528 and the middleman's $771 for transporting, processing and selling the food items. Last Friday, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said grocery prices increased 0.6 per cent over the May level. The Agriculture Department, however, measures prices for most of June while the BLS based its report on the first week of June. The June Agriculture report showed choice beef sold at an average retail price of $1.35 per pound. This was 2.5 cents less than the record high in February and March of nearly $1.36 per pound, but was 2.1 cents per pound more than $1.14 in May. Compared with a year earlier, the retail price of beef was up 7.4 per cent. Pork cost 82 cents per pound in June, up from 78.4 cents in May and the highest this year.

McGovern Backs Up Eagleton

By CARL F. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
CUSTER, S.D. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he first learned the complete details of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's psychiatric care and shock treatments for nervous exhaustion when the two candidates and their wives met here Tuesday morning. In an exclusive interview late Tuesday, the Democratic presidential nominee said "he and I didn't really get into it seriously" until the meeting at which they decided Eagleton should tell the full story. "Until then, he said, he knew about it in general terms. McGovern said some of his high ranking assistants had been discussing the matter with Eagleton's top aides for at least a week and some aides knew of it when the Missouri senator was selected as the vice presidential candidate. McGovern said that when he and his wife met with the Eagletons at his Sylvan Lake retreat near here, the discussion centered on "whether it was worth disclosing, whether it was enough of an issue to be worth mentioning." "Both Tom and I decided that if we were going to truly wage the kind of open campaign that we said we were going to wage, run the kind of open administration with full disclosure of everything, that we ought to disclose this too," McGovern added. Earlier the Democratic presidential nominee had said earlier in an ABC Evening News interview with Harry Reasoner that Eagleton "is not considering" leaving the ticket, he told The Associated Press that the Missouri senator had raised that very point in their meeting here. Eagleton later confirmed this point. "He just said 'if this is embarrassing to you in any way, don't feel any obligation to keep me on,'" McGovern said. "I thought it was ridiculous even to bring it up, and I think he just did it as kind of a courtesy gesture. "I don't think that he felt there was any grounds for his withdrawal," McGovern said. "I certainly don't." McGovern kept busy by staff meetings and now the Eagleton controversy in the first 10 days of a two-week vacation here, appeared first as he discussed the matter while returning to his cabin from a tennis lesson. But he insisted that "I'm not at all discouraged about the campaign," and levels it off to a good start. McGovern said "it doesn't bother me" that Eagleton had voluntarily hospitalized himself in 1969, 1964 and 1966. He said that while he was considering his choice for vice president, he had asked some of his Senate colleagues about rumors that Eagleton had a drinking problem and "they said that's a lot of baloney." Asked if any of the senators had mentioned the hospital stays, McGovern replied, "No. They just said there are rumors that he had to be hospitalized for drinking and I asked a couple of people and they said it was a lot of nonsense." On the Monday or Tuesday following the convention, McGovern said, the first reports of Eagleton's hospitalization for nervous exhaustion appeared. He said Frank Manikiewicz, his top political adviser, "first picked it up" and kept it under advisement. During the next few days, McGovern said, there were telephone contacts between Manikiewicz and Douglas Bennett, Eagleton's administrative assistant. Though he added that "Eagleton and I didn't talk directly about it," Eagleton told his news conference that "my intention in coming out here was to make this statement today."

Now It Is Up To The Republicans

While the McGovern Democratic forces are in the staging phase and the Nixon Republican hosts are marshalling for their nominating convention in Miami Beach next month, it might be useful to see how this confrontation has come about. That there will be a confrontation which might well shake the body politic of this nation to its foundations is almost a surety. For the McGovern nomination by the Democrats under new party rules which were designed to give the rank-and-file a voice in the selection did just that. President Richard M. Nixon is entitled by all the tradition of presidential elections to be renominated by his in-office Republicans. Thus it can be assumed he will be so honored. The haunting unease which is now so evident among American voters will not, unhappily, be put to rest by the election of McGovern or the re-election of Nixon. For it arises from a complex of traditional political ways and means which has its roots in the processes by which the self-government of the American people has now been brought into serious question. This year's presidential primaries poses this question with such force that only those who will not refuse to acknowledge the facts can ignore the instruments of self-government — are themselves in need of repair. If the Democratic party has put its best (but untried) foot forward in their national nominating convention, then it is up to the Republicans to show that they are not unaware of the same need. That they will is not however believable. Yet it would be the highest grade of political action which the GOP could take. Indeed, it might be the most rewarding kind of political action that the formality of the re-nomination of the Nixon-Agnew ticket could provide with a minimum of risk and a maximum of gain. We believe that the voters of America are becoming more and more awake to the challenge of the ineffective and unresponsive machinery of government under which they labor. Reform is essential. It must be bold, wise and practical. This is the underlying issue of the '72 presidential campaign. Watch for it. Support it. Comment on it.

Offbeat Ruminations

Take A Look: Is It Boy Or Girl

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Can you still tell the sexes apart? At first glance? If you can, you're a marvel. More people are finding it more difficult in more cases. About half the people over 30 today can't tell easily the sex of about a third of the people they meet who are under 30. In many cases they are still mystified after they follow a doubtful glance with two long stares. Well, here are a few helpful hints. If it works as an attendant in a powder room, it is a her. If it works as an attendant in a men's room, it is a him. If it does it sing along in the bathroom? Probably it's a guy. Does it hum while sitting at a dressing table and studying its face? It's a gal. If, when asked at a cocktail party whether it wanted another drink, it replies, "Yeah, another 'ell won't hurt me," it's down as a fellow. If it smiles dimly and says it has hold out its glass, "Well, just a teentysenty bit this time," put it down as another thirsty dame with hollow legs. You say it thursts its hands by putting them in its pockets? It has to be a boy. You say it warms its hands by brushing them under its arms and lurching its shoulders? It has to be a girl. Does it hate to write a check for under $25. That's a man. Does it like to write checks for three 8-cent stamps and a 7-cent bottle of hand lotion? That's a woman. Does it assume a hedgehog defense and make menacing hisses if you say something slighting about the women's liberation movement? Beyond that it's another embittered femme. If it immediately loses interest or wants to change the subject when you mention the men's liberation movement, beyond doubt it's another coward male. A direct actionist can settle his uncertainty most quickly by simply walking up to a strange person and asking simply, "Hey, what sex are you—if any?" If he gets punched in the jaw, it's a man; if he gets slapped in the face, it's a woman. If Moscow has put its best (but untried) foot forward in their national nominating convention, then it is up to the Republicans to show that they are not unaware of the same need. That they will is not however believable. Yet it would be the highest grade of political action which the GOP could take. Indeed, it might be the most rewarding kind of political action that the formality of the re-nomination of the Nixon-Agnew ticket could provide with a minimum of risk and a maximum of gain. We believe that the voters of America are becoming more and more awake to the challenge of the ineffective and unresponsive machinery of government under which they labor. Reform is essential. It must be bold, wise and practical. This is the underlying issue of the '72 presidential campaign. Watch for it. Support it. Comment on it.

"Postiques"

In the June 5 issue of Industry Week, Editor-in-Chief Walter J. Campbell calls attention to the fact that the U.S. Postal Service is starting retail stores called "postiques." You can go to your friendly post office in Memphis, Columbus, Ohio, Detroit or Chicago, Campbell says, and buy a birthday gift for your mother-in-law and, of course, mail it right there. What seems to intrigue the financially-pressed Postal Service is the profit potential, with outlets netting as much as 45 per cent on gross sales. Markup possibilities are terrific. Assuming someone will want one, a four-color blowup of a stamp, for example, will cost 13 cents and sell for $1.50. Campbell points out that the postiques have many advantages over privately owned stores — such as not paying rent, not paying taxes and not buying any licenses and permits. We join Campbell in saying that, personally, we'd be content if the Postal Service would just concentrate on delivering the mails. — Birmingham (Ala.) News.

McGovern's Amazing Rise Since '68

By JAMES CARY
Copy Editor Service
WASHINGTON — It didn't begin in the snows of New Hampshire, as some popular versions say. For George Stanley McGovern, Jr., the launching pad of his amazing and successful campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination was the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago. Eighteen days before that violent, divisive and explosive conclave began, the senator from South Dakota heeded the pleas of supporters of the slain Robert F. Kennedy and declared himself a candidate. He emerged with only 146.5 votes but he did plant some seeds that were to grow into towering trees of strength four years later. One was his participation in a three-way debate with the eventual nominee, Hubert Humphrey, and 1968 Chidreella candidate Eugene McCarthy. The California delegation was impressed and gave him 51 of the state's 174 votes. He had established a foothold in the nation's most populous state. Charles Manatt, California state Democratic chairman, recalls: "I think that McGovern's presentation to the delegation that day really was what started him on the road to victory in 1972." It was not an easy road to travel. The defeated McGovern left Chicago still harboring his dreams of winning the White House, and three years later and an unprecedented 22 months before the 1972 general election, he formally announced his candidacy again. The date was Jan. 18, 1971, the time a frosty winter afternoon in the studios of KATV in Sioux Falls, S.D., over a statewide radio and television hookup. No one paid attention — well, almost no one. But McGovern had not been idle since 1968. Throughout the following year he had crisscrossed the nation, speaking wherever he could, denouncing the war, high taxes and many other volatile issues troubling the voters. The results were poor. Democrats were focusing on Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts as the man who could lead the party back into the White House in 1972. But this was pre-Chappaquiddick — the name of an island of Massachusetts where Edward Kennedy's political career suffered a devastating jolt. He drove a car off a bridge and a girl companion drowned. After that and with Kennedy retreating to the sidelines, Sen. Edmund Muskie became the indicated Democratic choice at the 1972 convention. But once again McGovern planted one of those seeds that were to bear bountiful fruit. In mid-1969 he hired an unknown Denver attorney, Gary Hart, now 31, to run his campaign. Hart, a brilliant organizer, decided quickly that McGovern should enter New Hampshire's first in-the-nation presidential primary in 1972. In July, 1970, McGovern, Hart and other aides sat down at the senator's Cedar Point farm in Maryland to plot strategy. They emerged with a battle plan that carried them through the California primary two years later. A key element of that plan was that McGovern should announce his candidacy very early in order to establish identification around the nation. Hart remembers that "our strategy all along was to sweep the left." The battle plan also called for hard campaigning in the key 1972 primaries: New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Oregon, California and New York. Campaign McGovern did, beginning long before the primaries, attempting to overcome national polls showing that very few American voters knew who he was. Money was another big problem, but a letter campaign brought in $250,000 and the frail McGovern campaign machinery began to function. Throughout 1971, McGovern traveled and spoke — 100,000 miles and 1,500 speeches. The money situation improved, too. He spent $1 million. Then came "D" Day — the New Hampshire primary. When the vote was finally tallied, McGovern had finished a surprisingly strong second with 31.4 per cent of the ballot behind Muskie's surprisingly weak 44 per cent. The rest is history. By the time the bloodletting was over after the California and New York primaries, only Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Gov. George Wallace remained as serious contenders and McGovern was within range of wrapping up an early ballot victory in Miami Beach. He had won 10 of the 23 primaries and scored heavily in nonprimary states. How did he do it? "I think McGovern's key was that he was a man who was secretly working for his opponent, who-as of this writing at least—seems to have the ideological approval and support of the 'street people.'" If anything was proved by the sorry events in Chicago in 1968, it was that riots don't help Democrats nor do they hurt the Republicans. Again, it makes you wonder whether some of these people are secretly working for the GOP or whether their minds are simply befuddled by pot.

Soviet's Mideast Aches Will Grow

By RAY CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)
Egypt's expulsion of Soviet advisers has brought into the headlines difficulties that Moscow has been running into throughout the Middle East recently. New independent analyses by Indian and American scholars suggest these Soviet-Arab problems are going to grow, not fade away, as time goes on. First, numerous Arabs are becoming disillusioned economically. At the start, Arab leaders had magnificent dreams of what Soviet assistance would bring. As it now evolves, this prospect is not working out. The reaction is strong. Worse yet, the Arabs are finding that when they buy goods from the Soviet Union under Moscow aid agreements, they frequently pay 15 to 25 per cent more than on Western world markets. They're learning that what they sell to the U.S.S.R. under these aid arrangements often nets them 10 to 15 per cent less than they could get elsewhere. Second, despite some considerable caution in Moscow, the Soviet Union is finding itself more and more embroiled in inter-Arab rivalries and ambitions. If Moscow takes either side in these quarrels, it makes enemies of the opposition. If it doesn't favor either, it makes enemies of both. The Russians lost ground in Morocco when they sided with Algeria in the border war between these two nations. Moscow has weakened its influence in Iraq by its on-again, off-again backing of Kurdish minority groups in that country. The U.S.S.R. is now faced with a most difficult decision on how to act in the Iraq-Iran quarrel over influence in the Persian Gulf. Third, there's the problem of Arab Communist parties. If Moscow backs these local Red groups, their intrigues can put egg on the Kremlin's face, as did the aborted Red-supported coup in the Sudan last summer. In these cases, Russia loses influence with a government whose friendship it needs. But if Moscow fails to back the local Communists, as is true more often than not of late, then Russia loses control of these undergrounds and forfeits to some extent to China its position as worldwide leader of the Communist movement. Peking has been taking advantage of this Soviet dilemma, stepping in with propaganda, technical advice and some training and a little money in order to pick up those Middle East Communist groups Russia alienates. All of which makes the Soviet task more difficult. As a result of these Soviet problems, prospects for some S. Russian agreement on the Middle East are becoming brighter. And the possibilities for a more normal relationship between the United States and the Arab lands may be in the cards. The decision by Yemen to improve its contacts with Washington may be a tipoff of things to come.

Youth Trouble Would Aid GOP

By DON OAKLEY
The idea is farfetched, of course, but it is almost as if the Republican National Committee had planted agents provocateur inside key groups of youthful protesters who gathered in Miami Beach during the Democratic convention. How else explain the threats, mostly muted but some of them more explicit, that McGovern should enter New Hampshire's first in-the-nation presidential primary in 1972. Puree Brings Out Best

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Pureeing vegetables is a common practice in France. Pureeing eliminates vegetable fibers which have no flavor or nutritive value. To puree, use a food mill that forces the flavorful part of such vegetables as corn, peas and lima beans through the mill and holds back the fibers. A food mill also strains the flavorful vegetable, which pureeing in a blender does not. This recipe for a Six-Vegetable Puree is seasoned with herbs. For those who do not like herb seasoning, a little salt and pepper will do. Those on a salt-free diet should eliminate salt in the cooking water and in seasoning and season with herbs only. This is a dish that can be made in advance for an outdoor barbecue.

SIX-VEGETABLE PUREE
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 teaspoons dried lemon thyme leaves
1 teaspoon dried basil leaves
1/2 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 (10-oz.) package frozen Fordhook lima beans
1 (10-oz.) package frozen corn
1 (10-oz.) package frozen peas and carrots
Salt and pepper to taste
Melt butter in a saucpan or small skillet. Add celery, onion, thyme, basil and tarragon. Cook over low heat until vegetables are very tender. Meanwhile, bring water to a boil in a large saucepan. Add lima beans and cook 5 minutes. Add corn and peas and cook 5 minutes. Add peas and carrots and cook 5 minutes or until all vegetables are tender and water is absorbed. Stir in celery and onion mixture. Puree vegetables through food mill into a saucepan. Cook puree over low heat until thick and hot. Taste and add salt and pepper as desired. Makes about 2 1/2 quarts or 6 servings.

1 cup Concord grape juice
1 cup sugar
3/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 egg whites
1/4 cup heavy cream, whipped
For the apricot puree, use fresh or canned apricots that have been pitted and patted. Puree fruits by using a blender or food mill. Combine grape juice, 1/2 cup of the sugar and the corn syrup in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and cool. Blend fruit purees into cooled grape mixture. Add lemon juice and rind. Pour into ice cube trays and freeze until mushy. Scrape into a cold bowl and beat until smooth. Beat egg whites until foamy, gradually blend in remaining 1/2 cup sugar and beat to a soft meringue. Fold into fruit mixture, fold in whipped cream. Refreeze until firm. Makes 8 servings.

Good Salad At Noon

By Emily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor
Danish cuisine is famous for its openface sandwiches. That gives a bright cook the idea of concocting an openface salad. Letberg lettuce takes the place of bread and there's an accompanying Sour Cream Dressing we think you'll like.

DANISH OPENFACE LETTUCE SALAD
1 small head iceberg lettuce
Sour Cream Dressing, see below

12 thin slices cheese
4 thin slices smoked salmon
Thinly sliced cucumber, pared and scored
Thin sweet onion rings
4 canned sardines
Cherry tomatoes, halved
Dill or sweet pickle slices
Herb garden or watercress
Sprig
Core, rind and thoroughly drain lettuce. Wrap and chill.
Prepare and chill Sour Cream Dressing.
Just before serving, cut 4 crosswise slices from the lettuce and place each one on salad plate.
Spread each lettuce slice with a layer of Sour Cream Dressing.
Arrange cheese, salmon, cucumber and sardines attractively on top. Garnish with tomato, pickle and herb sprigs. Pass remaining dressing.
Makes 4 servings.

SOUR CREAM DRESSING
1/4 cup commercial sour cream
1/4 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
2 tablespoons chopped dill or sweet onion
1 teaspoon onion salt
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
Thoroughly mix together all the ingredients. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

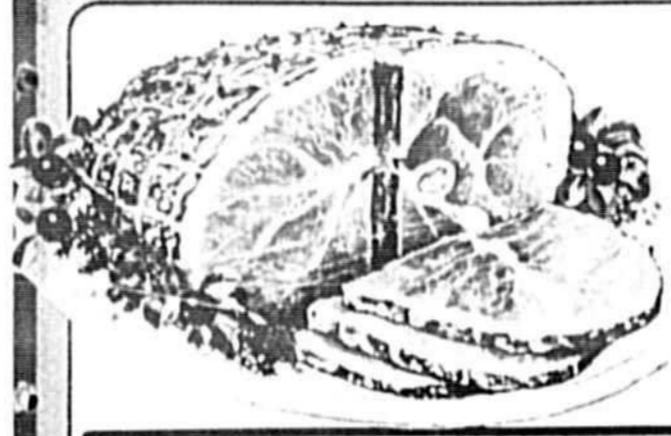

One of the best ways to treat a tuna sandwich is to French-ify it. That's exactly what is done in the following recipe and it produces an absolutely delicious offering for lunch, supper or a snack.
The filling for this sandwich is especially good because along with the tuna it calls for cheese and bacon. We think your family and friends will like it!

FRENCH-TOASTED TUNA SANDWICHES
2 cans (each 5 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil
2/3 cup finely chopped celery
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2/3 cup grated medium-tine cheddar cheese
4 slices bacon, cooked until crisp and crumbled
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup Swiss salad dressing
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
2 slices bread
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
In a medium mixing bowl mix together the crumbled tuna, celery, onion, cheese and bacon. In a small mixing bowl whisk together the mayonnaise, salt, pepper and mustard. Add to tuna mixture and mix lightly. Spread on 8 slices of bread, top with remaining bread.

In a shallow dish or pie plate whisk eggs slightly, add milk and beat to combine. Dip sandwiches on both sides in egg mixture.
In a 10-inch skillet heat 1 tablespoon butter and add 2 of the sandwiches (one sandwich cut in half and brown over moderate heat, turning once. Keep hot in a low oven. Fry remaining 2 sandwiches in remaining 1 tablespoon butter the same way. Serve garnished, if you like, with cherries and cherry tomatoes.
Makes 4 servings.

MEXICAN BUFFET
Avocado Dip
Crackers
Beef Enchiladas Retired Beans
Yellow Rice
Fresh Fruit Compote Beverage
AVOCADO DIP
1 can (7 3/4 ounces) frozen avocado dip, thawed
1 can (7 ounces) vacuum-pack golden whole-kernel corn with sweet peppers, drained
1/2 cup drained taco-flavor tortilla chips
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
Good thru July 30
Mix together all the ingredients. Serve as a dip with crackers. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Less Fat—More Meat
A primary factor in the marketing of livestock and meat is the consumers' desire for a minimum of fat on the meat they purchase. Thus, in addition to developing meat-type animals, the livestock and meat industry now markets livestock that has fewer weights than was the case 10 to 20 years ago. Moreover, in most instances where there is excess fat, it is trimmed by the meat packer and/or retailer.

Vanilla Lime Freeze

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

We've found a great recipe for a frozen dessert that's easy to prepare.

This Vanilla Lime Freeze is put in the freezer (or the freezer part of the refrigerator) and it stays creamy without further stirring or beating. All our tasters were enthusiastic about this superb cooler. If you try it, we think your family and guests will also applaud.

VANILLA LIME FREEZE
3 eggs separated
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup fresh lime juice
1 teaspoon grated lime rind
4 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream
4 tablespoons finely crushed vanilla wafers

In the top part of a double boiler whisk egg yolks slightly with 1/2 cup of the sugar and the lime juice.

Look over hot, not boiling water, stirring often, until thickened—about 10 minutes. Remove from heat and hot water. Cool. Stir in lime rind and vanilla.

In a small mixing bowl beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in the remaining 2 tablespoons sugar, continuing beating if necessary until whites hold stiff straight peaks. Fold into custard mixture.

Without washing beater in a small mixing bowl beat cream until stiff. Fold into custard mixture.

Sprinkle 2 tablespoons of the crumbs at the bottom of an ice tray without divider. Pour in lime mixture. Sprinkle top with remaining 2 tablespoons crumbs. Cover with transparent plastic wrap. Freeze until firm—about 8 hours or overnight.

Makes 8 servings.

Vichyssoise is the created in America specialty of a famous French chef.

Chef Louis Diat supposedly created vichyssoise at the old Hotel Carlton Hotel in New York for the opening of its roof garden prior to World War I. That refined his mother's leek and potato soup, strained it, chilled it and served the new soup cold garnished with a sprinkling of chopped chives. He named it after the spa, Vichy.

Begin with a food mill to puree the potato, leek and onion. For subsequent straining use a fine sieve. Strain the fresh green onions for leeks if necessary.

VICHYSOISE
4 large leeks (about 1 1/2 cups green onion)
1 medium onion
1 quart boiling water
1 tablespoon salt
4 to 5 medium potatoes
2 cups milk
2 cups heavy cream
Chopped chives

Wash leeks well, cut off roots and coarsely chop enough of the white stalks to make 1 1/2 cups. Chop enough onion to make 1 cup. Melt butter in a large saucepan or kettle. Add chopped leeks and onion. Cook until leeks are tender, stirring occasionally. When cold strain again and stir in the remaining 1 cup heavy cream. Cook in refrigerator. Serve cold with a sprinkling of chopped chives. Makes about 10 cups soup or 12 servings.

Marinate Flank Steak for Gourmet Camp Meal

Camping has gone gourmet! Foods associated with special occasions often replace the more simple fare traditionally associated with camp cookery. Improved equipment for transporting and storing perishables and for cooking outdoors has made it possible to produce gourmet meals under the sky.

That popular restaurant specialty, London Broil, provides a tasty example of camp cuisine that's in vogue. It's easy to broil the marinated flank steak (or steaks) on the grill when appetites and coals are ready. In little more than 10 minutes, the meat is ready to carve diagonally across the grain into thin, juicy slices.

Plum Tasty Summer

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Fresh juicy plums are abundant now and make excellent midday snacks for all ages during active summer days. Their tart sweetness also blends well in refreshing desserts such as their-lets tarts and tondars.

FRESH PLUM SUNDAR
2 pounds fresh California plums
1 stick cinnamon
1 cup water
1 tablespoon marshmallows
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 quart vanilla ice cream or lemon sherbet

Prepare sundar by combining plums and cinnamon in a saucepan, cover with water, cook 10 minutes covered. Measure 1/2 cup sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add to plum sauce. Return to heat and cook until sauce is clear. Serve hot or cold with ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

EASY PLUM TARTS
1 package (1 box) vanilla instant pudding mix
1/2 cups milk
1 cup plum jam
Red food coloring

8 baked tart shells
4 fresh California plums
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Prepare pudding mix according to a 4 x 4 x 4 directions, using milk and egg. Pour into tart shells. Chill. Place plum jam and plums in a shallow dish. Arrange on top of tart shells. Garnish with lemon juice and spoon over plums. Chill. Makes 4 tartlets.

FRESH PLUM SHERBET
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup frozen orange juice concentrate
2 cups sliced ripe California plums
1/2 cups sugar

Combine all ingredients in blender. Cover tightly and turn on highest speed. Run until mixture is smooth and blended. Use mix with rotary 3/4 cup until smooth. Pour in freezer tray and freeze as quickly as possible with refrigerator at coldest setting. When mixture is frozen, push down the edges until smooth. Return to tray and continue freezing until firm. Makes 4 quart.

This Grape Pie Filling Can Go Into The Freezer

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's an excellent way to use your freezer for heavenly hand desserts. Make up green grape filling for a couple of pies and store the filling in your freezer. Then when company is coming or you want to give your family a treat, bake a green grape pie. The following recipe explains how.

When we followed these directions in our test kitchen, we found the grapes stayed pleasantly plump and the pie was deliciously different. We used the lowest amount of sugar given in the recipe and the filling had an agreeable flavor that was slightly tart.

Serve the pie warm, with cheddar cheese if you like, but don't top it with ice cream. We tried that and found the pie just wasn't made to be offered in a mode.

FREEZER GREEN GRAPE PIES

- 2 quarts green seedless grapes, about 3 pounds
- 1 to 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- Heavy-duty foil or plastic freezer wrap
- Pie pastry
- Butter
- Milk or cream

Cut 1 quart of the grapes in half. Mix with remaining grapes, the sugar, tapioca, salt, orange and lemon rind and spices. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes.

To freeze: Line two 8-inch pie plates with enough foil so that it extends about 6 inches beyond rim of plate. Measure 1 quart of grape mixture into each lined plate and lightly fold excess foil over filling. Freeze until firm. Then remove from grape mixture in foil from pan; bring ends of foil tightly over filling, make a decorative fold and turn edges in to wrap tightly, label and return to freezer. Filling may be kept as long as 4 months.

To bake: For each pie to be baked, prepare pastry for a double-crust 9-inch pie. Roll out half the pastry on a prepared pastry cloth, using a stockinet-covered rolling pin, to a round that is 1 1/2 inches larger than inverted 9-inch pie plate. Fit into 9-inch pie plate and trim edge. Unwrap grape filling and place, unthawed, in pastry-lined pan and dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Roll out remaining pastry to a 10-inch round and place over filling. Seal top and bottom crusts and flute edges. Cut slits in top crust and brush lightly with milk. Bake in a preheated 425-degree oven until juices bubble near center and crust is browned — 1 hour. If edges start browning too quickly, cover with strips of foil.

Makes two 9-inch pies.

Note: Pie may be baked with grape filling that has not been frozen. Reduce baking time to 45 to 48 minutes.

A sneaky way to test a recipe is to try it out on a bachelor (male) relative who is accustomed to being spoiled by women of all ages. One such test resulted in a full 100 per cent vote for tastiness. This involved a short-cut sauerbraten with Dill Pickle Sauce.

SAUERBRATEN WITH DILL PICKLE SAUCE

- 1 1/2 cups dill pickle liquid
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup dry red wine (or red wine vinegar)
- 3 medium onions, sliced
- 1 teaspoon mustard seed
- 6 whole cloves
- 3 bay leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon peppercorns
- 4 pound eye round rolled beef roast
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 6 large dill pickles, quartered lengthwise
- 1 pound small white onions, peeled
- 8 large carrots, peeled and cut in 1-inch diagonal pieces
- 4 (2-inch) gingersnaps, crushed

Combine pickle liquid, water, wine, onions and seasonings in large bowl. Add beef; cover and chill overnight, turning meat once or twice. Remove beef and dry; reserve marinade. Heat oil in Dutch oven; add beef and brown on all sides. Drain off drippings. Add marinade; cover and simmer 3 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Add pickles, onions and carrots during last 15 minutes cooking time; simmer just until tender. Remove sauerbraten and pickles to serving plate; keep warm. Pour cooking liquid into quart measure; skim off fat. Add enough water to liquid to make 2 1/2 cups; return to pan. Stir in gingersnap crumbs; taste and add salt if needed. Boil gravy, 1 to 2 minutes. Serve with the sauerbraten. Makes 8 servings. (Approximately 331 calories per serving.)

Gourmet Corner: Make A Grape Tart With Wine

By TOM HOGG
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A friend of mine recently made an automobile tour of the French chateau region along the Loire Valley and returned besotted by the beauty of the ancient homes and the surrounding countryside. He also learned something about French wines. He was enchanted to discover that there are many chateaux where one may both dine and enjoy the wine. Some he returned he has been telling everyone he is supposed wine on the same terrace where Cardinal Richelieu reportedly dined.

One of the loveliest chateaux along the river, he thinks, is Amboise which was begun in the 12th century. It lies close to the Vouvray area which is known for its great sweet wine.

It is here the Chenin Blanc, the noted white grape, grows thickly. The wine produced by these vineyards is honey-like, sweet and distinguished for its long life.

Close to Amboise is a small castle with a fine view of the Loire known as the Chateau de Pray which dates back to 960. A. G. Now, known as a hotel, it serves a fine dinner topped off by an excellent grape wine tart.

The produce of the Loire vineyards is notable for its lightness and appetizing quality. The best range from the dry whites to the most such as Sancerre and Pouilly the Muscadet of the west and the sweetest of wines of Anjou and Touraine in the middle. Much of the wine of Anjou is pink.

My friend also traveled through the Sevre-et-Maine area some of Muscadet, the popular wine that is moderate in price but ideal for drinking with fish. It is dry, soft rather than acid. Hugh Johnson, the British-born wine authority has described Muscadet, which was a virtually unknown local wine until four decades ago, as the modern success story of the Loire. A French critic once declared: "It casts its pale glow over the people of Amboise and the pearl of oysters, the pink of strips and the red of mullet."

The excellence of the Loire wines has been marked by the fine quality of the local dishes. For instance there is spinach cooked with beaten eggs to make a fluffy omelette-like dish, chicken breast poached in wine, and pie cooked in butter.

Here is the recipe for tarts that caught my friend's fancy at the Chateau de Pray:
2 cups red or purple grapes
4 ounces red wine
2 tablespoons Cognac
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
4 baked tart shells
2 tablespoons orange marmalade

Place grapes and wine in a saucepan. Heat slowly about one hour until the grapes burst and the seeds rise to the surface. Skim the seeds, and stir in brandy. Mix sugar and cornstarch and stir into mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat and cool. Spread each tart with a teaspoon of orange marmalade, divide grape mixture among the tarts. Spread with whipped cream.

1/2 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons peanut oil
1 cup frozen extra large petite peas (from a 16-ounce package), thawed

In a small mixing bowl stir together (do not beat) the cornstarch and egg white until smooth; add beef and mix together well with your fingers. In a cup stir together the sherry, soy sauce and sugar. In a 16-ounce skillet heat the oil; add beef and stir until brown. Heat crumble with a fork until meat loses its red color. Stir in sherry mixture; stir in peas; cover and simmer a few minutes to heat peas. Makes 2 large servings.

About Eagleton... it has been said to me on many previous occasions. "The whole world is nuts, except for thee and me. And here, of late, I'm not too sure about thee!"

Or, another way of forming an opinion on this dilemma would be to remember the words of an Indian Prayer... "Grant that I may not criticize my neighbor until I have walked a mile in his moccasins."

So, before I offer a personal opinion... what do the doctors who treated the man have to say on the subject?

Which brings me to still another perplexing problem, which proves that they, too, don't always agree on a medical issue... like marijuana!

It's ironic that last night, one of our deputies apprehends an individual walking away from a residence with what appears to be a plant in his possession. The lawman makes him return it... NOT REALIZING that it was a marijuana plant.

Grant that it was dark, and possibly this would have been the reason for him not recognizing the plant. Whatever... maybe we all ought to take another look at the darn thing. Even in broad daylight we're having trouble fully comprehending the effect of this product.

I BELIEVE... the only thing we really know about marijuana is how very, very little we do understand concerning all of the ramifications of the weed.

And please, don't read into this anything more or less. I am not extending that same thought to the "hard drugs"...

Some of "big muscle" about to move in from Tallahassee now that Senator Bill Gunter has written to the Executive Director of the Pollution Control Board, citing some of the problems representing what the Senator calls "a reprehensible pollution problem in Seminole County"... Albert's Pit.

FHP Tomany Tomlinson told me of a man who got out of his car, left the engine running (parked in "park")... his young daughter hops out of the car while Dad is going to do some shopping at a roadside fruit stand... he shoots her back to the car... she touches the shift-lever... not only runs over her Dad, but a lady who was standing nearby.

Nothing happened to the lady; Dad got lacerations of the legs and minor injuries.

No charges were filed; but I'd bet a lesson was learned. (Never argue with a lady— regardless of her age!)

MARIJUANA HARVEST, consisting of some 50 plants, some potted and others pulled from the ground in stalks, was examined Wednesday night by Sheriff John Polk, right, and Sgt. Ray Parker, county vice squad chief after the "grass" was seized in the Sanlando area. Sgt. Parker said the drug plants were taken from a spot near the home of convicted gambler Clyde Lee, but he discounted any involvement by Lee since the purportd confederate of Harlan Blackburn has been in jail for a year. An arrest is expected today after the service of a warrant, Parker said.

THE CENTER OF IT ALL... DREDGE AND FILL developments. Dredge and fill operations for one such development — The Shores — was halted last week by state attorney.

$2.6 Billion Contract Space Shuttle Pact Inked

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—North American Rockwell Corp. has captured the $2.6-billion contract to build the Space Shuttle orbiter vehicle that will jet into orbit like a rocket and land on earth like an airplane.

North American's Space Division, at Downey, Calif., won over three rival bidders Wednesday to get the National Aeronautics and Space Administration contract to build five vehicles over a six-year period.

The 120-foot-long craft with a 79-foot wing span are to be in full operation by 1980. They are to be used over and over again to carry men, satellites and equipment into earth orbit and to bring personnel and materials back to earth.

North American's Rockwell Division of Canoga Park, Calif., won the first big Space Shuttle pact about a year ago—a $500-million contract to develop 36 of the main engines for the three-engine orbiter.

Once the orbiter has completed its space mission, it will return to earth and land conventionally, like a rocket-powered airplane.

Municipal Building Pictured By Mayor

Sanford may not be getting a new jail soon but don't be surprised if the city fathers decide to construct a new city hall.

In an explanation of the decision by Sanford to voluntarily relinquish its municipal court in order for a second county jail to be created to handle the overflow of court cases expected after Jan. 3, when the new judicial rules under Article V are state imposed, the Mayor said: "Perhaps what we should have is a city hall-police station combined, if we are not going to house our own prisoners." He added, "We may not be as far away from a new city hall as we think."

At least one version of the effect of judicial reform is a statement attributed to a Supreme Court justice that the county will house prisoners formerly held in city jails, since the county is assuming the tasks of adjudicating the cases made by municipal police.

Commissioner Gordon Meyer suggested at Monday night's City Commission session that the city proceed immediately to construct a police station and forget about the jail.

Wednesday, the Mayor said, ultimately, I feel this is what the city will do.

Architects have drawn plans for a jail-police station to occupy a site on Marshall Avenue off 25th Street west, but due to the uncertainty of the effect of Article V, a stop order has been issued until more information is available.

An Aug. 2 meeting with the architects has been set by the commission to discuss all ramifications of the project.

Little Jimmy's Last Ride

WENDOVER, Utah (AP)—A futile and agonizing 100-mile ride across the scorching desert to save the life of little Jimmy Carlos was made in vain, possibly because of a flat tire.

Jimmy, 11, had just finished taking a shower and came out of the bathroom at his home gasping for breath.

When Deputy Sheriff Marion Carter and state Highway Patrolman Scott Sparks arrived at the home, they revived Jimmy but determined that he needed hospital care.

Two weeks earlier, Jimmy swallowed an accidental overdose of family prescription and was flown to a Salt Lake City hospital where doctors revived him.

Tuesday, however, Wendover's only ambulance driver was out of town, so the officers, with the boy's mother, put the gasping Jimmy in Carter's oxygen-equipped cruiser for the ride across the Great Salt Lake Desert to a hospital in Tooele, 100 miles away.

Four miles out of Wendover, a tire blew.

Carter called for help on his radio as the precious oxygen ran out.

Jimmy struggled for life. His mother was frantic watching him thrash about the cruiser's rear seat.

The car's spare tire had been used three days earlier after another tire blew out on the hot desert pavement.

Meanwhile, Sparks ran to a nearby gas station for a bottle of industrial oxygen. He made the trip three times in temperatures believed more than 100 degrees.

Jimmy revived to a state of semiconsciousness as another cruiser arrived, and the ride to Tooele continued. But Sparks

Friday Meet Scheduled On "The Shores"

By DONNA ESTES

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Mayor Lawrence Swofford has scheduled a meeting for 10:30 a.m. Friday, in his office in city hall with a contractor, builder, state and county officials in an attempt to work out problems with the development of "The Shores" condominium community on a tract adjacent to Lake Orienta.

In the legal description of the tract the wording designates a boundary of the property at the waters of Lake Orienta... and along its shore line."

Swofford said there is some difficulty determining at this time seven months later where the shore line was when the property was annexed. "The land may have increased or decreased," the mayor said.

He added, however, the city has no authority whatever over the waters of the lake.

Building permits were issued by the city building department Wednesday for patio homes to be constructed on the site.

The mayor said the problem is determining which portion of the property is within the city limits. According to city records, the 15-acre former Haines tract was annexed to the city in Dec. 1 last year with the zoning designation R-1 multiple family dwelling district.

Profs Arrested For 'Sunshine'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two University of Florida professors who serve on the Gainesville City Commission were arrested today on warrants charging they violated the state's Government-in-the-Sunshine law.

Courland Callier, 45, an associate professor in engineering, and Joseph Little, 37, a law professor, were booked in the Alachua County jail, then released on their own recognizance pending an Aug. 18 appearance in the Court of Records.

In a separate case the Charlotte County Commission was found guilty Wednesday of violating the state's ban on secret meetings.

The warrants were issued after Robert Williams, head of the federally financed North Central Florida Regional Planning Council, entered affidavits saying the professors met at the university May 30 and discussed the possibility of replacing John Kelley as head of Gainesville's Municipal Utilities Department, the judge said.

The Sunshine Law case involving the Charlotte County Commission was a civil action brought by a man who lost a $340,000 contract to another firm.

The judge declared the contract null and void, but he said the commission could sign a new contract immediately as long as it did not "meet in the shade."

The civil suit was filed by James A. Howze, who runs an assessment firm in Tampa.
