Flag pole dedication

Following the 10 a.m. Palm Sunday Worship Service at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Lake Mary, the congregation processed a flag pole for a dedication and blessing by the Rev. Canon Beverly Barge, Rector (an Eagle Scout since 1945). The flag pole was erected by Steven Lansrud of Lake Mary. Steven is almost an Eagle Scout, who will receive the highest rank in Scouting, an accomplishment attained by only 1.9 percent of all Boy Scouts. A major requirement for each aspiring Eagle is the planning and completion of a community service project. Several months ago, Life Scout Lansrud submitted his plan and asked if he could erect a flagpole on the site of his troop's (Troop 507) Institutional sponsor, St. Peter's Episcopal Church. The Rector, Vestry and Director of St. Peter's Preschool all agreed that flying the American Flag on a continual basis makes an important statement about belief in God and Country. After the project was approved and the location was selected, Lansrud raised the funds from Church members, Scouts and Scouters, and friends in the community. He contracted for and supervised construction, and he beautified the area with plantings outlining the path to the pole. The flag raised at St. Peter's was first flown over Washington, D.C. and was given to the Church by Congressman John Mica.

More officers means more security

By Bill Kerns

SANFORD - Sanford residents may soon see more police officers patrolling the streets and talking with neighbors, as the police department moves forward with a program to increase the visibility of police in the community.

The department is increasing its Community Oriented Policing program throughout the city. The program has already been active for several months in targeted communities.

The program is designed to help rebuild Sanford's neighborhood watch programs, as well as increase police visibility throughout the city, Acting Chief Ray Bronson said.

"We're continuing to build our community relations programs up," Bronson said. "We're meeting with community organizations to find out what the problems are."

Police Officers attending meetings with community groups have been told that they are not visible, and that each community would like to have their own police officer, Bronson said.

"Our goal is to have a true partnership with the community," Bronson said.

The Uniform Patrol Division had been responsible for covering seven patrol zones. The department is dividing the city into two districts, with each district divided into smaller Community Service Areas. A police officer is assigned to each Community Service Area.

District one in the northern part of the city will have six Community Service Areas, instead of the current two patrol zones. District one includes the Commission District represented by Brady Lasaard and Velma Williams.

"The policemen are more visible than ever before," Williams said. "It makes a difference."

There are higher calls for service in District one, with the predominant crimes including drug-related incidents and prostitution, Bronson said.

"We're almost doubling up (the number of officers) in district one," Bronson said.

District two in the southern part of the city will have four Community Service Areas. R

Marino, Grace bid for county manager job

By Russ White
STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - If anyone else is interested in being the next Seminole County manager he or she had better get a move on. Late Friday, a recruitment firm in Norcross, Ga., had received 50 or so applications by the process deadline.

Jim Marino, Seminole County Public Works Director, said today that he had applied for the position. "It is a privilege for me to serve the county," he said. "No matter the outcome of the search, I will continue to work for Seminole County."

Also applying for the position of chief executive officer is Kevin Grace, a former Assistant County Manager whose position was dropped more than a year ago. Grace lives in the county and presently is working in the private sector.

County Attorney Bob McMillan confirmed this morning that Grace had sent in an application. Grace has chosen not to discuss his bid at this time. He has many friends and supporters at the County Services Building.

Marino, who will be 43 next week, joined the county lineup a year ago and has credited with the reconstruction of Public Works, a division that had been in much disarray before his arrival. McMillan said that Marino is the only current staff employee making a bid for the top county job.

"I'm pleased with the quality and the quantity of applicants," said Bob Slavin, president of Slavin Management Consultants, Inc. "We're allowing a little more time for applications that were mailed but have not been received yet."

"No matter the outcome of the search, I will continue to work for Seminole County."

- Jim Marino
Seminole County

Slavin relayed the information to McMillan and to Nancy Tallent, the Human Resources

Director for the county. A select committee will evaluate the candidates selected by the consulting firm. The County Commission will interview the final six and select a winner.

McMillan said that the applications would be studied closely, and a determination made as to which candidates meet all the qualifications for the job.

The committee ought to have its selections by late April and the commission get the names in May," said Commissioner Randy Morris on Monday.

Slavin said his firm has done a dozen or more city or county manager recruitments annually for 20 years. It has helped fill top executive positions in Palm Beach, Dade, Lee, Saranota and Lake counties.

Florida's Sunshine Law, he said, cuts into the number of candidates. Many applicants prefer their names not appear in newspapers.

Realizing this, Seminole officials secured a firm that would keep the names private until a final list was disclosed here.

Gary Kaiser, the manager for the past two years, will work through Friday, April 2 and Assistant Manager Cindy Coto will be the Acting Manager until the new manager is selected by the Board of Commissioners.

"Even if I'm the county's last resort, I'm pleased to be considered for the manager's job," Marino said this morning.

Rolling car pins boy

ALAMONTE SPRINGS - A seven-year old boy was injured in Altamonte Springs Monday after a car rolled backwards, trapping him underneath.

Orlando Regional Medical Center, where the boy was taken following the accident, would not release information on his condition.

The child was with his brother at the Village Green Apartments, 112 Essex Avenue, at about 4 p.m. when the family car slid backwards. The mother of the two boys, Song Hwa Kang, ran outside to find her child trapped under the Nissan Pulsar hatchback, gasping for air, police said.

Family members pushed the car to free the child, while a neighbor called 911.

According to police, two nearby pedestrians ran up to see what was wrong. One of the pedestrians advised the mom and son not to move the child. Police say this was critically important, because moving the child may have caused additional internal injuries and possible death.

Units from the Altamonte Springs Fire Department arrived on the scene within minutes of the call. They found the child lying on the ground in serious condition. Paramedics assisted the child with breathing, while firefighters called for air transportation. The child was air lifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center.

Police are investigating why the car went backwards.

Alan Harris, a spokesman for the Altamonte Springs Fire Department, said the most important lesson from the incident is that children should avoid playing near parking lots.

"Parents need to make sure children are playing in playgrounds or grassy areas," Harris said. "Children should not be around cars without supervision. If there is no designated play area for children, you may want to contact your apartment manager."

The Village Green Apartments features shaded picnic and grill areas and two swimming pool areas. Harris said he believes the apartment complex does have adequate play areas for children.

Police do not know whether the car's door was open or locked. Harris said parents need to make sure their car's door is locked at all times.

"Number one, there's the criminal element," Harris said. "If the door is open, there's a danger that children can get in."

Among the other safety tips Harris stresses to parents is to make sure children the proper way to get to and from school.

Open House

At the Seminole County Sheriff's Office and Public Safety Building Open House held Saturday, sheriff's aircraft commander John Steward explained to guests the use of the search light and infrared unit mounted on a Bell OH-58 helicopter. Seminole firefighters are due to receive a retrofitted Huey helicopter this week.

An Easter gig for Rick Fay

Rick Fay's life was having fun and making music. He laughed a lot and made others laugh. The sound of his saxophone was soothing for the ears, even better for the heart.

A few years ago he recorded a wonderful life's work that was entitled "Sax O'Fayem." It included tributes to a score of his fellow jazz musicians. Rick played tenor and soprano sax, and the clarinet. He also sang beautifully.

Rick Fay's legion of fans will remember him always with this album. Fay, who lived in Lake Mary, passed away last week at age 72 but his music and poetry shall not pass away.

The last time we spoke, Rick's cancer was so far spread that it was difficult to understand his words. Still, he demonstrated splashes of the joy he had throughout life. Roberto Benigni step aside. Rick Fay was way ahead of you. Way ahead. His life was beautiful and so were ours for having known him.

Some of Fay's foolishness surely rubbed off on the comedian Stan Freeberg. The two were roommates in college. Fay facetiously accused Freeberg of making millions using him in his routines. "And I never got a cent," Fay used to tell everyone. Freeberg wired his best wishes for a party on Fay's 70th birthday.

With guests at his home, Fay loved to tell jokes and to do impressions of entertainers. He loved Edger Bergen's Mortimer Snerd. Pictures of entertainers and framed copies of his albums or CDs decorated the walls. Rick spoke softly and sweetly. Laughed openly and often.

Rick was a top notch world class musician that allowed some of less talented to be part of his fraternity," said Lake Mary pianist Michael Kramer, a friend and occasional jazz partner. "I will playing with him and miss his laughter," Kramer said. "He was a very sweet man."

Fay was extremely pleased to be part of the Statesmen Senior jazz band that was invited to play in Japan two years ago. He said it was one of the best gigs of his career, which included big dates with the biggest names in jazz.

For a good deal of his life, Fay worked for Walt Disney. First at Disneyland in California and later at Disney World in Florida. He was featured in the Grand Floridian Band. He was also asked to play and sing in gigs throughout Florida.

On Sunday, hundreds of jazz lovers and musicians are staging a Rick Fay Memorial Picnic at Cypress Grove Park in Orlando. There is a 4 o'clock religious service followed by a traditional jazz wake. The Grand Floridian Band and the Perseverance Brass Band will play. Beer and wine will be provided. A Rick Fay Scholarship Fund is being established by the Central Florida Jazz Society.

Guests are invited to bring their baskets, blankets and chairs - musicians to bring their axes (instruments). The only shame of the Easter Day party is that Rick Fay won't be there physically. But he sure would if he could.

Protection against the Millennium bug

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

TALLAHASSEE Florida Agriculture and Consumer Services Commissioner Bob Crawford is urging consumers to protect themselves from Year 2000 problems when buying computers and other electronic equipment. Crawford recommends consumers ask for written guarantees that hardware and software will be able to handle dates in the next millennium, even when old warranties will cover Year 2000 glitches.

Problems could kick in on January 1, 2000, because computer software and some other electronic equipment only recognize two digit dates, such as "99" for 1999. After the new year, the equipment will encounter the digits "00" to designate the year 2000. But the date may be misinterpreted as "1900," creating computer errors and other problems.

Most software manufacturers do not offer warranties beyond 90 days, so many warranties on equipment purchased this year will expire before the Year 2000. And it appears the potential for problems isn't being talked about by many computer salespeople and manufacturers.

A survey done by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection found no signs of literature in the stores that tell how products are prepared for the Year 2000. Wisconsin consumer officials say when sales people were asked about Y2K problems, most of tered misleading information, assuring undercover buyers that their computer hardware and software were Year 2000 ready when they were not. For example, no retailer surveyed disclosed that companies loaded with Windows 98 need to be upgraded to avoid Year 2000 problems.

Crawford suggests that consumers take time to educate themselves about the Year 2000 problem and solutions.

When buying electronic equipment, they should also get any information and warranties in writing and turn in completed registration cards so updates can be mailed to them.

Consumers should call manufacturers to find out what if anything they must do to make electronic products in the home Year 2000 compatible.

includes the Commission Districts of Kerry Lyons and Whitey Eckstein. The typical crimes in this district include retail and domestic theft, Bronson said.

The officers will have a two year commitment to their community service areas to help them form a relationship with the community, Bronson said.

The department is reorganizing some of its personnel to supervise the officers assigned to the Community Service Areas. Three officers are being promoted to Sergeant at a cost to the city this fiscal year of $4,045. The total increase in uniform salary for the reorganization this fiscal year will be $11,594, not including benefits.

The City Commission approved the department reorganization last Monday. The reorganization is part of the reforms recommended by a private consultant who reviewed the Sanford Police Department.

The police department community service activities will be performed in partnership with the Seminole County Sheriff's Department. The Sheriff's Department is also stepping up its community service programs, Bronson said.

Exercise good health

By the Editors of Consumer Reports

Anyone with a pulse knows by now that exercise improves health and lengthens life. Yet even the most up-to-date surveys show that no more than about 25 percent of American adults engage in anything resembling regular physical activity.

Proponents of physical exercise are themselves at least partly to blame. Until recently they preached that to become truly fit, a person had to exercise strenuously for at least 20 minutes at a stretch, three to five days a week. They gave formulas for determining "target heart rates" and warned that people who didn't raise their pulse sufficiently might as well not bother exercising at all.

Not surprisingly, many sedentary people didn't.

The results of long term scientific studies told a different story. Even modest doses of exercise produce dramatic improvements in cardiovascular health and overall mortality rates. That evidence has resulted in a new scientific consensus: You should still exercise most days of the week, but to get health benefits, you need do only the equivalent of about a half hour of moderate exercise to brisk walk, for example. Moreover, that half hour can be accumulated in shorter pieces.

For folks busy with other obligations, this is good news. It means that exercise is much easier to fit into your life, since it doesn't necessarily require going to a gym or sweating so much when you have to shower and change clothes.

According to Andrea Dunn of the Cooper Institute for Aerobics Research in Dallas, what matters is "that you find reasons to be active instead of reasons not to be active."

To accomplish this, Dunn and other researchers have identified three broad factors that make the difference between success and failure.

— Monitor yourself. Be aware of your current activity pattern and set measurable goals for changing it. One effective strategy is to record how much time you spend sitting or lying down. People in a Cooper Institute study who were asked to do this were shocked to learn they were spending 15 of every 16 waking hours a day sitting down. The goal for these people? Next week, try to sit only 14 hours a day.

Other goals that would allow you to monitor yourself might include increasing the number of steps you take each day, being able to hike up a large hill without exhaustion, being able to walk a measured distance progressively more quickly or with a lower heart rate, and being able to increase the time you spend on a treadmill.

Fit exercise into your life. Virtually anything that involves putting your body in motion, at any time of the day, will expend calories - the point of an exercise program. This gives you flexibility in designing a fitness plan.

"There are limitless solutions," Dunn points out. "One man found that on business trips, even if the hotel didn't have a fitness center, he could walk up and down the stairs, or he could spend his time at the airport walking. Activities you may have to do anyway, such as heavy yardwork and housework, can and should be part of your routine."

Don't focus on weight loss. Experts caution that your major goal in exercising should not be to lose weight. Without a simultaneous cut back in calories, moderate exercise typically produces frustratingly slow weight loss or none at all.

Instead, focus on the fact that physical activity is even better than weight loss for improving your health. If you do want to lose weight, however, exercise is an essential aid. It will cause you to lose relatively more fat than muscle. And once you've lost weight, exercise is the most effective way to keep it off.

Advanced Fire Equipment

Fire safety is important for anyone, whether in the home, a small business or a thriving restaurant.

Advanced Fire Equipment is dedicated to making sure that everyone is protected should there be a need for fire safety equipment and educated about how to use it.

"Everyone should have a fire extinguisher in their home or business and know how to use it," said Advanced Fire Equipment co-owner Cheri Noland. "Not only do we provide our customers with the equipment, but we also educate them on when and how to use it."

Cheri and her husband, Dean, started their business 11 years ago. Dean had worked for another fire equipment for a couple of years when the couple decided to venture into business for themselves. They opened a store in Longwood, which they rented, and moved to their own building in Sanford last January.

"We really like working in a small town atmosphere," Cheri said. "We have the ability to get to all of our customers easily and get to know them personally."

The reason Advanced Fire Equipment employees need to get to their customers is because it is part of their service. Fire equipment in business need to be re-certified once a year. The hood suppression systems in restaurants need to be re-certified twice a year.

Advanced Fire Equipment keeps a file on each customer with the re-certification dates, contacts the customer when it is time for service and comes to the customer to update the equipment.

For fire safety equipment, go to the professionals at Advanced Fire Equipment. Not only will you receive the most appropriate equipment for your

Lake Mary Softball team keeps streak alive

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

LONGWOOD - Another game, another win.

The Lake Mary girls softball team stretched its winning streak to 13 games with a 10-0, five-inning Class 6A-District 3 and Seminole Athletic Conference victory over Lyman in Longwood Monday afternoon.

Senior pitchers Sarah Smith, who ran her personal record to 8-0, and Hallie Sowards combined on a one-hitter as the defending state champions improved to 14-1 on the season.

The Greyhounds kept the game close early as the Rams only led 1-0 after two innings.

But the floodgates opened in the top of the third as Lake Mary plated five runs.

The Rams then closed out the game by the run rule with a single run in the fourth inning and three runs in the fifth inning.

Senior outfielder Monique Collins led the Lake Mary offense, going 2-for-2 with a triple. Senior shortstop Jackie Crispell and senior outfielder Meagan Dontrich also had a pair of hits for the winners, each going 2-for-3.

Also contributing to a 10-hit Lake Mary attack were junior outfielder Rachel Bradley

Bolles withstands rally by Lake Mary boys lacrosse team

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

JACKSONVILLE - The Lake Mary boys lacrosse team saw its five-game winning streak come to an end Friday night.

But the Rams did not give it up easily.

Playing against one of the top teams in the state, on their home field, Lake Mary saw the game get away in the final minutes as it dropped a 13-7 decision to The Bolles School in Jacksonville in a game much, much closer than the final score would indicate.

The Rams got off to a very slow start, falling behind the Bulldogs 3-0 after the first quarter.

Lake Mary finally shook off the 'travel-lag,' outscoring Bolles 4-1 in the second period to knot the game at 4-4 at intermission.

But the third quarter again belonged to the home forces as the Bulldogs outscored the Rams 5-0 in the stanza.

Lake Mary did not give up, however, scoring the first three goals of the final period to close to within 9-7 in the late going.

The Rams lost the momentum, and the game, when Bolles scored off a face-off.

The Bulldogs (8-2) then scored three garbage goals in the last minute.

The Lake Mary coaching staff was not happy with those final goals as the Rams had the second and third team in the game, while Bolles still had its starters on the field.

Lake Mary fell to 5-3 with the loss, the first since opening the season with back-to-back defeats at the hands of Seminole Athletic Conference powers Oviedo and Lake Brantley, and will play back-to-back home games on Wednesday and Thursday before taking off for the Easter Holiday weekend.

On Wednesday, Cypress Creek from Orlando comes calling for a 7 p.m. game at Don T. Reynolds Stadium and then on Thursday, April 1, Flagler-Palm Coast High School from Bunnell will be at Lake Mary for a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Senior attacker Adam Kurir led the way for the Rams, scoring four goals. Fellow senior attacker Brian Montgomery also had a big game with four assists.

Also contributing to the Lake Mary offense were junior midfielder Ken Ho (one goal, one assist), senior defenseman Brian Bolden (two assists) and senior midfielder Peter Kim and senior attacker Bob Link (one goal each).

Goodwin's single caps Oviedo rally

PORT ORANGE - Jered Goodwin's one-out RBI single scored courtesy runner Bobby Mellor with the go-ahead run in the top of the sixth inning as the Oviedo Lions climbed out of a 7-1 hole to defeat Spruce Creek 14-12 Monday night.

Last week, at Oviedo's Paul Miller Field, the Lions blasted the Hawks 12-0 in a game stopped after 4-1/2 innings by the 10-run mercy rule.

"You have to come ready to play every night," said Oviedo coach Kenne Brown. "We have to learn that teams are not just going to roll over for us because we're Oviedo High School. We have to bring our best game to the field every night."

After falling behind 7-1 after two innings, the Lions got one

Armstrong earns NBA Player of the Week honors

NEW YORK - Orlando's Darrell Armstrong (right) edged Houston's Charles Barkley for NBA Player of the Week honors for games played Monday, March 22, through Sunday, March 28.

Armstrong led the Magic to a 3-1 record by averaging 22.3 points, 4.8 assists, 3.5 rebounds and 3.5 steals in 30 minutes played per game.

He shot .547 (26-for-53) from the field and .900 (24-for-25) from the free throw line, and led the team in scoring three times despite not starting any of the games during the week.

Spring Games a breath of fresh air for S.C.C. fastpitch softball team

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Friday turned out to be a beautiful spring day for the Seminole Community College softball team as it swept four games from a pair of mid-western junior colleges in the Spring Games at Raider Field.

The game was so successful that the Raiders only allowed two runs the entire day.

In a morning doubleheader with Henry Ford College from Dearborn, Michigan, SCC got a pair of shutouts with Traci Miller and Kat Ciccarone both throwing three-hitters in 8-0 and 7-0 triumphs, respectively.

In an afternoon doubleheader with Morton College from Cicero, Illinois, Sabrina Harris threw a four-hitter to raise her record to 5-0 in a 9-0 whitewash and Miller and Ciccarone came back in the nightcap to combine on a eight-hitter as the Raiders completed the sweep, 7-2.

SCC will get back into conference action this afternoon, hosting Lake-Sumter Community College from Leesburg in an Mid-Florida Conference doubleheader starting at 2 p.m.

The Raiders (now 25-17-1 on the season) will then close out the pre-Easter schedule with an M-FC doubleheader in Ocala on Thursday against Central Florida Community College starting at 2 p.m.

Doing the damage for SCC in the first game with Henry Ford College were Amy Fazio (2-for-2, two doubles, one run, three RBI), Adrienne Redditt (2-for-2, two runs), Kim Vetter (1-for-1, run), Lake Mary's Jeannie Marx (1-for-2, two runs, RBI), Lyman's Miranda Schultz (1-for-2, run), Miller (1-for-3, RBI), Tiffany Martin (run, RBI) and Zelina Roark (RBI).

Contributing to the Raiders in game two were Candice Hays (3-for-3, run, RBI), Martin (3-for-5, run, RBI), Redditt (2-for-3, double, run, two RBI), Oviedo's Danielle Sequino (2-for-4, run), Roark (2-for-4),

HOROSCOPES

Wednesday, March 31, 1999

The year ahead might offer you more opportunities to advance yourself than you've had for quite some time. Don't be complacent of taking advantage of each and every one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) No matter how much you may like to, it could be a mistake to attempt to upstage an opponent today. You're the one who could come off as showboating.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't let early opportunities go by the boards today. Favorable developments could deteriorate right before your eyes if you don't capitalize on them immediately.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Rationalizing situations only impairs one's vision, so even though it might be painful to own up to mistakes today, it could be the course that offers you the least trouble later on.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's best not to borrow anything of value from anybody today. Should the item be damaged or stop working, you'll be held accountable even if it wasn't your fault.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Indecisiveness may be part of your natural persona to be discerning and fair, but conditions might turn out harmful if contemplation is opted over action today.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Impatience or impetuiveness could cause you to do something rash that might be harmful to another today. Not only will it put that person in a funk, but you'll be affected as well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Unfortunately, it might be all too easy for some "sharpie" to sell you the Brooklyn Bridge today. Remember, there is a huge gap between being trusting and being glib.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Depending too heavily on chance or luck to carry you through important issues today could be a grievous error on your part. Others might have their own self-serving agenda.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Although others might be able to get away with beating on their own chest and telling tall tales, any gross exaggerations on your part will quickly be unveiled.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Miscalculations or carelessness in managing your commercial affairs could end up costing more out-of-pocket than you can afford today. Move cautiously in these realms.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Old deal, old theme

By Phillip Alder

It is interesting — for me, at least — to read old bridge books and magazines. I found this deal in the August 1982 issue of Bridge Magazine. It occurred during the final of the English Women's Individual, which was won for the fourth time by Rixi Markus. (As the unnamed reporter wrote, "It is practically impossible... to win an individual contest, even once! To do so four times is little short of a miracle." Well, Rixi was a miraculous player, always seeming to know what her opponents were about to do.) One anonymous pair reached the ambitious six spades. The diamond-queen lead goes to her ace; how should South continue?

In my Americanized auction, four clubs is a cue-bid, showing slam interest with the club ace.

If declarer draws trumps, she will fail. After a finesse of the heart queen, declarer is inconveniently stranded in the dummy. If you work it out, there is no way to get home.

The right line is to finesse the heart queen immediately. When the jack drops, declarer pulls trumps, then advances the heart six. If West plays low, the six wins. South leads a heart to dummy's ace, cashes the diamond king (for a club discard), crosses to the club ace, and concedes a heart. Instead, if West covers the heart six with the nine, declarer wins with dummy's ace, takes the club discard, and continues with the heart three. In both cases, declarer loses only one heart trick to West.

This is the principle: When you have a two-suited hand and must establish the second suit, start it immediately.

ASK DR. GOTT

Side effects of Ativan

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please tell me about Ativan. Does it cause side effects? Is it habit-forming?

DEAR READER: Ativan (lorazepam) is an anti-anxiety agent, a minor tranquilizer in the benzodiazepine family. It is recommended for the short-term treatment of anxiety disorders, including the anxiety associated with certain forms of depression. It can accentuate the effects of alcohol, barbiturates and other tranquilizers. There are many minor adverse reactions to the drug, including sedation, dizziness, weakness, unsteadiness, nausea, headache, agitation, skin rash and depression. Ativan is considered to be a safe medication when used under medical supervision and according to the manufacturer's directions. However, as with any similar drug, the possibility exists for habituation.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicine." Other readers who would like a copy should send $3 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I love sushi. I've read that raw fish may contain tapeworm. What are the symptoms of tapeworm? I can't gain weight, my nose itches constantly, I feel weak, and I often experience choking spells.

DEAR READER: Raw fish can, indeed, be contaminated by tapeworm. Most people with tapeworm don't realize they have it, however, until they pass segments of the worm or have massive infestation that causes bowel problems, weakness, weight loss and anemia. I suspect that your symptoms result from another source. Nonetheless, a stool examination for tapeworm can easily and cheaply be performed by most hospital labs. Ask your doctor about this, but request a full examination first.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My mother died of colon cancer a few years ago. Following this, my older brother was diagnosed with colon polyps. Last month, my younger sister was found to have a "pre-malignant" polyp. At age 44, I suppose that I, too, should be examined, but, frankly, I'm not thrilled at the idea. I'm afraid to have a colonoscopy. Do I really need it?

DEAR READER: There is no question that you must overcome your fear and have the procedure. Your family has a genetic tendency to colon polyps, which are small growths in the lining of the large bowel. For reasons that are not completely understood, families with this inheritance tend to develop polyps that will turn cancerous unless they are removed. While I'm not suggesting that you also have such polyps, the risk is there. If you are free of polyps, lucky you. However, if you do have them, they should be eliminated. The best way to do that is by colonoscopy.

Actually, colonoscopy isn't such a big deal. After appropriate preparation, you will be given a sedative and the gastroenterologist will examine the lining of your whole colon, using a flexible fiber-optic tube. The procedure isn't comfortable but it takes only a couple of hours, following which you can return home.
