PERSON BACKS STATE AID FOR AXED PEOPLE

Candidate For Governor Is In Favor Of Coming To Rescue Of Burdened Counties

Delivers Speech
To DeLand Crowd

Suggests One Cent Of Gas Tax Be Diverted
To Ease Public Debt

DeLand, Apr. 10.—(INS)—
The state of Florida occupies the same relative position to cities and counties that parents do to their children, James M. Carson, candidate for governor, Monday declared that he was in favor of the state coming to the rescue of the tax-burdened cities and counties.

He declared that the state of Florida had been advertising the fact that it did not have a dime of indebtedness, but that at the same time the people were struggling and pinching themselves in order to raise enough money to pay their city and county taxes. He declared that the state was just like a father who brings about not owing anyone a cent and then sends his child across the street to borrow a dollar from a neighbor.

As a remedy for this situation,
Mr. Carson suggested that one cent of the five cent gasoline tax be, by an act of the legislature, diverted from the funds provided for the construction of roads and used for the purpose of aiding the cities and counties to retire their excessive bonded indebtedness. Mr.
Carson promised the people who had gathered at the band stand to hear his speech, that if he was elected governor, he would exert his very influence to secure the passage of such an act.

Mr. Carson also took issue with Mrs. Hathaway, chairman of the state Road Department and also candidate for governor, on the latter's plan to continue the present five cent gas tax. "I believe that the main roads should be completed as quickly as possible," Mr. Carson said, "but I do not believe that every golf course, every fancy farm, every acre of ground in the state, should be paved with concrete, and that what will happen if they keep on building roads for the next fifteen years at the same rate they have during the past two and a half."

"I believe some of that money," Mr. Carson went on, "should be used to help our cities and counties get out of indebtedness. I believe that relief for the taxpayer is the most important item for our consideration at the present time. The fifth of the gasoline tax monies could be used as a sinking fund for city and county bonded indebtedness without seriously hampering the development of Florida's road system."

Prince Of Wales Has 2 More Spills

LONDON, Apr. 10.—(INS)—
The Prince of Wales was thrown from his horse twice today while riding in a point-to-point race, but remounted each time and finished fourth. The Prince was not hurt and made a strong finish despite the handicap which he suffered by being dismounted. The event was the High Teak Hunt Race, held near Huxton. The Prince was mounted on "Miss Gris." The race's two falls today brought the total of his equestrian tum-bles to 28, ten of them taking place this year. One of his best years was 1925 when he was thrown only once. Despite his numerous falls and his narrow escapes from serious injury the Prince shows no inclination to give up racing or riding to the hounds.

CITY COMMISSION REFUSES WAIVING REDPATH LICENSE

Informing Delegation Of Local Women That It Is Obligated To Follow Ordinance Requir- ing Collection Of Fees

The City Commissioners yesterday afternoon refused to permit the Redpath Chautauque scheduled to open here tomorrow to operate without the city's regular $125 license for tent performances of all kinds, despite the plea of a delegation of local women who sought to have the license given to the organization free of charge.

Both Mayor F. H. Housholder and City Commissioner Frank Miller refused to consider the delegation's plea because, they said, the ordinance was adopted in collaboration with the city's regular license fee.

After the advantages of Chautau-ques were explained by various members of the delegation Mr. Miller was asked if he had not changed his mind. To this question the commissioner replied with his phrase "No," and he stated his reasons why the Redpath shows would have to pay the license the same as other tent organizations which come to Sanford. At the close of his talk one of the delegation asked Mr. Miller if he owned a local theatre and he replied that he did and was proceeded with a long round of applause.

Mayor Housholder explained to the delegation that it was impossible for the city to waive the license fee.

E. L. Woodruff appeared before the commissioners as a proxy agent for two women. Mr. Woodruff described pieces of property which were assessed more than his clients truly asked for. Then and summarily he said that his clients property was assessed at approximately $60,000 and the actual value was only $30,000. Mr. Woodruff told the commissioners that he would like to know if relief was in sight or would the people just have to quit paying taxes. Mayor Housholder told Mr. Woodruff that it was certain the people must have relief on their 1928 taxes.

try of $894,646.41. A. R. Key, vice guilty in two other cases in which he was jointly indicted with Laker, as expected to be the witness will go on the stand sometime this afternoon.

G. C. Lefeb, of Geneva, who said he had known Laker 10 years, had dealings with R. W. Peay, assistant cashier, and Mr. Key. He had an account in the bank and had made a claim for its recovery. He said he had an opinion on the charging of the bank but was undecided in this particular case.

W. E. Hawkins, who said he was a butcher living near the Sem-nole Lake county line, was a depositor in the bank; had heard talk

Rumor Says Tom Heenev Has Been Enjoying Visit In Paris On His Vacation

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Apr. 9.—According to confidential advices from the scope of action, Tom Heenev, the willing opponent, has been having a very enjoyable visit in Paris since the news became rampant that he had been named as brother "Tummy" man for the next public demonstration in heavy weight circles. I don't know, as a matter of fact, whether Heenev still is in Paris or has returned to England but, in my general uncertainty on this point, I am not altogether different from the Parisians themselves. They have expected a certain amount of difficulty in seeing a great deal of the young man.

Heenev got quite a break when they told him he was to go in there for an eighth of a million and the exclusive rights to brother "Tummy's" fist full of knuckles. In this case, one break led to another, for it seems that Heenev was headed for Paris when the news came. If he hadn't been very careful about it, the news might have arrived while he was on his way to East Orange.

Anyhow, the tidings in question naturally left him feeling somewhat jubilant and, from what I have been able to gather, nothing has happened in Paris to alter the situation. The young man still was far from depressed when last heard from. He was disporting himself in a very chic swimming pool somewhere on or near the Champs Elysees to the accompaniment of admiring crowds of "tres chic" from the populace.

Previous to that occasion, the correspondents had succeeded in running a dead heat with Mr. Heenev only at isolated and very temporary junctures. In brief, they found many difficulties at all times but Mr. Heenev very seldom. I note with pardon "themselves" that the tenor of "themselves" remarks has altered and for the worse. Previously, he was the soul of self-approbation—a shrieking fellow who diked publicity and so spoke of his art in an appealingly deprecating manner.

"I'm not much of a fighter, but what of it?" he seemed to imply. And while you agreed with him on both points, you admired his finger nails and the way he did his hair or something. Anyhow, you felt that a man who talked about himself in that manner ought to be set back from and admired at regular intervals.

But now my faith is ravished. Thomas has checked the charming note of modesty and is talking like a chief second. If the advices are to be believed, he has declared for "flattering Tummy" and even has promised to give every deserving candidate a shot at the title when he is champion.

Maybe Thomas is only being himself at best but I can't forgive him for trifling with my juvenile illusions, at that. Here I have been looking at him for months and never realized that he had it in him to talk as good a fight as anyone in the division.

Easter Vogue In All Flowers Favors Nature's Early Blooms

The spirit of the resurrection is reverenced in all civilized nations of the world is best expressed at Easter time through the use of flowers—harbingers of a returning Springtime. Easter ranks with Christmas as the following season but the gifts usually are of a floral nature.

EASTER LILIES

Baskets of flowering plants, specimen plants from those who take a delight in cultivating their own plants, boxes of cut flowers and bouquets are among the most popular of these gifts.

Since new specimens are constantly being developed by the flower growers of the country, the vogue in flowers changes almost with the vogue in dress, but there are certain varieties which are standard almost the world over and among them is the beautiful Easter Lily, symbolic in every respect of the spirit of the season.

Nature has produced her own Easter flowering. Many plants do not naturally flower at that season of the year and many others which bloom only a fortnight in the season do not lend themselves to "forcing" as the florists say.

A noted floriculturist writing on the subject of Easter flowers says: "Perhaps the most widely used flowers at this season are the bulbous kinds, Hyacinths, Tulips, Narcissus and the like. The Victoria Hybrid Roses look themselves especially to the forcing process, and are adapted to almost any decorative use and consequently are favorites for combination baskets. The Dorothy Perkins, Landushchen and Hawatha varieties are best for the forcing process. Its immaculate whiteness and fine flowering make it one of the best Easter roses.

Mildly's bouquet for Easter can be chosen from a rather large selection available at this season including Tulips, Narcissus, Dutch Hyacinths, Lilies, Callas, Pansies, Forget-Me-Not, Wallflowers, Magnolias, Marigolds, Primroses, Violets, Daisies, Spanish Iris, Lilacs, Sweet Peas, Lupines, Columbines, Bougainvillea, Buddleia, Roses and Carnations. Some varieties of Orchids are obtainable at Easter season to enrich the ermine coat which fashion decrees should be worn in combination with the Orchid.

The Easter dinner table, dame fashion rules, may have a centerpiece of Acacia bouquets, if these are available as they harmonize well with the light blue English Iris or the white-throated Spanish Iris. Of the roses, yellow varieties find most favor at the Easter Season but this does not mean that pink roses are not appropriate, for pink is decidedly an Easter shade. The miniature Rose Cecil Brunner, pink; George Elger yellow; and Baby Doll, shell pink with carmine edged petals, are delightful subjects for a light table. When used in small baskets, a simple decoration is easily and quickly carried out.

Snaphagoras, yellow, pink or white; Calendulas (African Marigolds), hot daisy varieties, Socks, Daisies, Primroses are among other flowers in season that are suitable for table decorations at Easter. Thus does nature provide lovely abundance and ornamentation for the Easter table that each may "deck it with flowers" to those to whom the wish to be remembered on the memorable day.

Chattanooga Team Looks To Have Better Chance Of Moving Ahead In League

BY JIMMY BURNS
International News Service
Correspondent

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Apr. 9.—For the first time in years you do not require a magnifying glass to find the folks willing to put any credence in the annual claim that the Chattanooga Lookouts will have a better ball club. Even Chattanooga prognosticators cannot be wrong forever.

Yet, unfortunately for the Lookouts, it appears that the Southern League will be faster than ever, and that they will be fortunate in moving up one peg, to sixth, instead of seventh or eighth place in the finish. These deductions are based on the following:

1.—Joe Mathers, who finished third with Houston in the Texas League last year, is the new manager of the Lookouts.

2.—The new owners of the Lookout franchise have had time to find out that they will have to spend a little dough, or else lose a big wad.

3.—Strange as it may seem, the Lookouts have some pretty fair ball players on deck, and are working frantically to secure others.

There are worse infielders than Stovenger, first; Connolly, second; Kane, short; and Defate. The latter was with the Lookouts last season, batted .333 and fielded .942. Compulsory was brought in from the Texas League, where he had a reasonably good record, both afield and at the platter.

In the outfield we find one Mr. Otis Cashions, who batted the handsome figure of .335 last year, but looking further we discovered that it was in the Piedmont League. It is a long jump from the Piedmont to the Southern. Mr. Cashions is likely to lose several points in transit.

Oscar Felber, who batted .274 in a class "A" loop in 1927, is another of the outfielders. He is only 27 years old and under the tutelage of manager Mathers may improve. The other outfielder will be a man by the name of Taylor.

Mathers has some good pitchers at his disposal, but even at that he must either bolster the staff or add some hitting power.

Johnny Horan, whom Johnny Brock says is the "toughest pitcher" in the league for him, will be one of the mainstays of the staff. So will George Cunningham, who won 15 games and lost only five with the Lookouts last season. George is a year older, but a man with that good record with a seventh-place ball club cannot have slipped much over winter.

James Mooney and William Clements, who played with the Lookouts only a short time last season, will be back. They, along with a fellow by the name of Vaught, will be kept only long enough to see what they have.

Edwin Lingle, who did the backstopping for the Lookouts last year and who by no means was regarded as the worst catcher in the league, will be back behind the platter. Glenn Turner, his understudy last season, seems good for that job again.

Oakland Motor Car Co. Are Building 100,000 Cars In Four Months This Year

PONTIAC, Mich., Apr. 9.—With an April schedule calling for 75,000 more Oakland and Pontiac Sixes than during April of 1927, the Oakland Motor Car Company is establishing a production record of nearly 100,000 cars for the first four months of this year.

This Oakland Pontiac production represents an increase of 30 per cent over the 3,577 cars which the company built during the same period last year.

The new production schedule was announced by J. Edgar Hoover, president of the company, in a statement issued here today.

Persia Has Very Few Permanent Marriages

TEHERAN, April 9.—(INS)—Only five marriages in a hundred in Persia turn out to be happy, forty per cent end in divorce, and 55 per cent on sufferance.

In the opinion of a local writer who furnishes this estimate in the absence of authentic statistics, these unhappy marriages are due to the low standard of the education women have, he says, are responsible for many of the divorces.

The writer is quoted by a woman who says that of her and many other Persians, the only happy marriages are those of Persians. It is the fact that the Persians are not happy because of their low standard of education, he says, is the cause of many of the divorces.

Yes, I know and admit that the flappers and boys of this age are wild beyond their years. Unrestrained, wild little tigers and tigresses, maybe, but the boys and girls of today will be the leaders of the next generation, and they will be capable leaders.

OLD BISCUIT FOUND

DENVER, Apr. 9.—(INS)—A biscuit which is estimated to be 1,000 years old was recently received by Dr. Etienne B. Renaud, head of the University of Denver department of Archeology from Dr. Frank H.H. Roberts, author and historian of New Mexico.

The biscuit was found by Dr. Roberts in a pueblo near Aztec, N.M. These ruins were abandoned between 1,100 and 1,300 B.C. according to Dr. Renaud.

The biscuit was brown in color and as light as a feather after surviving ten centuries in the dry atmosphere of the southwest. The bit of the ancient food will be given to the chemist's department of the University of Denver in order to determine whether there is any food value remaining.

Extension To Start On Famous Church

LONDON, Apr. 9.—(INS)—For the first time in two centuries, an extension to Westminster Abbey is to be built. Preparations are now under way for the project, and actual construction work is to be started in the near future.

The extension is to a Gothic building which will be erected on the grass plot lying between St. Margaret's Church and the sanctuary of the Abbey. The new building will be used as a sacristy, a small chamber or vestry where sacred utensils and vestments are kept. Few people realize that the Abbey, the most famous church in the British Empire, at present has no sacristy whatsoever.

Bad Weather Causes Atlantic Hop Delay

DUBLIN, Apr. 9.—(INS)—After all preparations had been made and a definite time for a take-off had been set, untidy weather over the Atlantic today again prevented the monoplane Bremen from starting on its attempt to span the Atlantic in a westward flight.

Captain Herman Koehli had announced last night that weather conditions seemed favorable and that the attempt would be made at noon today but at that hour reports were received which caused him to announce another postponement.

TUESDAY, APRIL 10. BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: NEITHER POVERTY NOR RICHES...

NEITHER POVERTY NOR RICHES: Remove far from me vanity and lies; give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me.

PRAYER: O Lord, keep us from presumptuous sins; let us not have dominion over us.

THE CENTIPEDE: The centipede is light and frail, He's mostly one continuous tail.

In fact he is so lean and spare That you could lift him by a hair. And yet it's Nature's quaint conceit To lift him with a hundred feet.

Too many to manipulate; You'd think, to hear so little weight.

How baby centipedes must balk When they are learning how to walk.

What toil to practice trots and jogs And keep in step with all those dogs.

When we had all that we could do, As tiny kids, to walk on two.

If centipedes by any chance Were given to intemperance.

And often tasted of the cup Which gets one's footwork tangled up.

So that he rises but to fall, They never would get home at all.

Though Nature with a master hand A number of her works has planned.

It seems to me she slipped indeed When she designed the centipede.

—JAMES J. MONTAGUE. Dr. MacKenzie told his audience in Winter Haven the other night that in his veins flowed the blood of John Paul Jones. But who cares about that?

Remember the story about the boy, the donkey and the man who tried to please everybody and pleased nobody. We can't be bothered.

A two hundred and fifty thousand dollar necklace was lost in the mail between London and Paris. A matter of such insignificance that the postman probably just misplaced it.

The St. Petersburg Independent insists there are not too many hotels in Florida. Agreed, but there is too much indebtedness on many of them.

Sidney Catts says that if Hathaway is elected governor Martin will be the next chairman of the state road department. Which proves the lie in that story.

Tampa's mayor has declared in favor of Sunday baseball. That seems to be about the only thing barred in Tampa. —St. Petersburg Independent. No, Hathaway is.

This candidate who offered to "heat hell out" of a war veteran and preacher is trying to "do unto others what is going to be done unto him." —Orlando Reporter-Star.

George L. Dick has announced his candidacy for governor on the Republican ticket. If Catts is nominated by the Democrats, we wouldn't be surprised to see the Republicans pull a pretty heavy vote.

A "Southwest Mounted Police" force is being organized to protect traffic along the more shady spots of the Tamiami Trail across the everglades. We hope these men will be as serviceable as picturesque.

"I would rather carry Duval county, for reasons best known to myself, and not be elected governor, than to be elected governor and not carry Duval county," said Dr. Foss Hathaway in Jacksonville the other day. We fear the road department chairman may have

Chicago Holds An Election

Chicago goes to the polls today. Both Democratic and Republican parties will nominate candidates for office. The real war centers in the Republican party where Mayor Thompson and Senator Deneen are at odds as to who shall be the party nominees. The Mayor seems to be trying to control things by force of arms. Recently the Senator's home was bombed and "Diamond Joe" Esposito, one of Deneen's ward heelers, was taken for a ride.

But such passive "incidences" as these would evoke little comment in crime-hardened Chicago were it not for the fact that such evidences of lawlessness have been accompanied by a preparation for serious action. For months there has been an uninterrupted and determined oiling of automatics, greasing of machine guns and collection of bombs.

Disinterested citizens of Chicago, who might be called the law-abiding element, will doubtless venture out today to do their duty as citizens and cast their votes for the men they think most capable, but they will do so with a feeling of dread uncertainty over the likelihood of a fusillade of shots which may meet them around the next corner.

From the gang warfare, the frequency of murders, the amount of other crime and vice which exists in Chicago, it would seem that this law-abiding element is greatly in the minority, that Chicago is as Chicago people want it, a city of criminals, and yet we know that this is not the case. Chicago, in all probability has no larger proportion of law-breakers to decent people than most places. Crime is on a rampage there simply because crime is in the saddle.

The same thing might happen to another city. When crooks are in control of government offices, nothing but lawlessness can be expected in the land. The thing for the people to do if they do not like situations as they exist in Chicago is to vote the crooks out of office and elect men who are honest and capable. Chicago has its chance today and after the fighting is over, if there are any left to write the story, we will read with interest what happened.

Kitchen Gardens

The Miami Post urges people to plant gardens and recalls that Thomas Jefferson once said that he regarded the individual who introduced a new food-producing plant into a country as having performed a greater service than a general who wins a battle. The Post thinks that this might be a bit extravagant due to over-enthusiasm, but acknowledges that the person who increases a country's food supply is certainly a public benefactor. Continuing, the Post says:

"Dr. David Fairchild, former head of the plant introduction department of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told an interested audience at the Miami Beach Garden, that this country has in recent years imported thousands of plant immigrants, and that about 10,000 of the total have been introduced into this section of the United States. Allison V. Armour, of New York, a plant enthusiast, has given more than a thousand species to this section from parts of the world with climate similar to that of Florida.

"It is true that most of these plants are useless as food, but they are valuable for other purposes. Even those prized for their beauty alone have an economic value. Dr. Fairchild and other speakers urged the necessity of planting gardens. Dot this section of the State with them.

"It was also suggested that a great public garden in Dade county would prove a valuable investment, and that Chapman field should be turned into an arboretum and plant garden worthy of this great section."

"Clarence W. Barron, editor of the Wall Street Journal, voiced, as the saying goes, a mouthful, when he declared that Florida will find its wealth in growing plants in the production of which she has no competition."

THE PRICE OF LAWLESSNESS

ORLANDO REPORTER-STAR

Tampa and Miami are both getting considerable adverse advertising because of the lawlessness that has held sway in those cities for several years. Now that this condition of affairs is growing serious enough to enlist the consideration of even an indifferent citizenry, people are beginning to inquire into the why of the situation. Tampa Life expresses its opinion of the crime situation in that city in very frank terms, but says it's exactly the same situation that exists in other cities where crime is rampant. Here, the reasons assigned by the Tampa Newspaper:

"Every city has its 'leading gambler'—its 'main guy' in the liquor traffic—its 'powerful' fixer around the courts—its 'protected' class of operators. Whenever a population of a community is sufficiently great to become obscuring to the men of night work, there vice and lawlessness become rampant, and insolent."

This is more than an admission; it's an indictment. No one doubts that every city has its "leading gambler" and its "main guy" in the bootleg business. But why do they have them? A thing so generally known that it is common talk; a bootleg roadhouse so definitely located that it is street talk must be known to other than street gossipers. And the tolerance of these things widen and thicken the atmosphere of lawlessness.

NEWSPAPERS AND ACCURACY

TAMPA TRIBUNE

It has taken news papers a long time to live down the charges that inaccuracy is their major quality. In earlier days, when communication was difficult, rumor frequently was news, and rumor is fickle. As for many years past the supreme goal of every reputable newspaper today is scrupulous accuracy and so large a place has that assumed that it is the essential dividing line between good and bad journalism. JURY IS PICKED FOR TRIAL OF LOCAL BANKER

(Continued from page 1) all witnesses in court before the jury was finally picked. The defense used all five of its preemptory challenges while the state only used two. The judge excused 19 of the venire. The state successfully challenged two for cause and the defense one.

W. B. Dickenson, of Tampa, interrogated the veniremen for the defense. He inquired if the prospective jurors were acquainted with Mr. Key or Mr. Dean. He also incessantly inquired the attitude of the jurors in case Mr. Lake should not be placed upon the stand, and their attitude toward Key's testimony.

State's Attorney Millard B. Smith questioned the venire for the state. He confined his inquiries in almost every case to simple general questions and as to whether they were friends of Mr. Lake's or borrowers from the bank.

Judge DeWitt T. Gray who is sitting in the case frequently interrupted the attorneys to question the prospective jurors himself as to their qualifications. The judge was obliged to excuse a number of the venire because their names appeared only on the last October list of men for jury duty and not the new 1928 list.

The task of picking the jury began late yesterday afternoon. When called, the six men in the box at that time were forced to spend the night at a hotel. When court adjourned, 14 men had been questioned. The remainder were interrogated this morning after court opened at 9:45.

Tom Palmer, who acted as chief of Lake's counsel during the first session of Judge Gray's court, took the field this morning but had no active part in questioning the jury. He will possibly cross-examine the state witnesses as they are placed on the stand.

A request made by the defense this morning for an examination of the bank books to be used in evidence in this case was granted by Judge Gray. A severance of Key's case from that of Lake's was asked and granted early last night by Judge Gray.

Another night session of court is expected today. It will probably begin at 8 o'clock. The trial itself began at 2:30 this afternoon.

Backers Of Bill Near Agreement By Compromise

(Continued from page 1) erners further demanded that the advisory councils, comprising seven members for each crop be named by the President, subject to confirmation by the Senate, with all members active producers of their particular crop. Under the original bill, the board could appoint these councils from the producers of a certain crop.

All the powers of the farm board to invoke the equalization fee, launch "marketing periods," wherein the government would take over the marketing of any crop, or terminate federal aid, would be curtailed by other amendments, which the Southerners proposed.

The latter demanded that each major decision of the board on these subjects be approved first by a majority vote of the advisory council for that particular crop.

Opposition to the bill was led by Senator Fess (R) of Ohio, the President's so-called spokesman in the Senate, and Senator Thomas J. Walsh, (D) of Montana. Fess fought the equalization fee and proposed a bill, providing only "loans" to cooperative associations. Walsh attacked the equalization fee as "unconstitutional."

"Sorrell And Son" Will Be Shown For 2nd Time At Milne

Sanford people who were not fortunate enough to have witnessed last night's performance of H. B. Warner's production "Sorrell and Son" will have the opportunity tonight of seeing what many consider his masterpiece.

After the World War, Captain Stephen Sorrell, (H. B. Warner) finds himself back in London, broken in health, without work, deserted by his pleasure-loving wife, and with his small son in rear. He sets out, determined that he will take even a pitiful wage in order to educate the boy. But he meets with disappointment on all sides and is finally forced to solicit a job as man-of-all-work at a shabby inn.

The landlady, Carmel Myers, torments him and grudges him even an hour of companionship with his boy each evening. To make matters worse she makes savage love to him, the price of his yielding to her lighter work.

A gleam of promise comes when Thomas Roland (Norman Trevor) recognizes the high qualities of Warner and engages him for a new inn which he is opening, but only as second porter. The head porter's job is given to one Buck (Louis Wolheim), a sergeant-major who saved Trevor's life at Ypres.

Wolheim how beats Warner, but is finally discharged for molesting Family Garland (Alice Joyce) the housekeeper at the inn and Warner's most sympathetic friend.

Trevor gets Warner's son Kit into a good school, but when the school authorities learn that he is the son of a porter, he is forced to withdraw. Warner's ex-wife, now a rich man's bride, comes to the hotel as a guest, and the father fears that some day she may want to claim their boy.

The inn finally prospers and Warner is made manager. Kit meets his first romance in Molly, Trevor's little daughter. A great surgeon's successful treatment of her when in a severe accident makes the boy determine to become a great surgeon also.

Time passes and Kit has entered college. In the midst of father and son's happiness, Mrs. Sorrell (Anna Q. Nilson) comes again and tries to wean Kit away. But, in spite of all her tempting promises, Kit remains true to his father.

Kit becomes famous as a surgeon. He is engaged to Molly. On their wedding day, Warner has a hard time hiding his suffering. A bit of shrapnel picked up in the war is hurting his heart. But he bravely smiles thru it all and the couple leave on their honeymoon. When Kit and Molly return they find Warner on his death bed. It is only a matter of days. All Kit can do is give him morphine to ease his pains. The pain becomes so severe during the night that Warner asks his son for a large dose of the drug, and Kit, realizing his father can never get well, gives him an overdose, which eases the pain for life. What a last scene! Warner dies, happy in the warmth of his white, and his son, a complete success.

Deeds Of Violence Mark Wild Primary Election In Chicago

Huffa is Thompson's candidate for ward committee.

Eighty detective bureau squads were immediately dispatched to search for Huffa and to prevent

Witness Declares Klansmen Bombed Own Meeting Hall

PITTSBURGH, Apr. 10. (INS)—The Ku Klux Klan bombed its own meeting hall in Dayton, O., "to strengthen feeling within the organization," and burned a church in West Dayton, Capt. J. R. Ramsey of Dayton, a surprise witness at the Klan trial, charged in Federal court today.

Ramsey testified that five Klansmen of the Pennsylvania-Klan being sued for $500,000 by the organization. He said that he was formerly a member of the night riders, which he described as a branch of the Klan whose purpose was "to put over a reign of terror, including bombings, murder, assassinations, and burning of churches."

Challenged at every turn by Klan counsel, Ramsey said that dynamite was planted in a Dayton meeting hall of the Klan, and that after the charge was set off, a brick was hurled through the window by a Klansman, bearing a note signed "Roman Catholics." He said the note read: "We have wa... you three times to stop meeting here. If you don't stop we will blow you up."

Sometimes, let us whisper it, the reason hubby won't eat salads is not because he is stubborn. But more often it is because the salads are so unappetizing. The obvious remedy is to use more highly flavored ingredients. As an old colored man used to say, "Let 'em jump 'er up a bit."

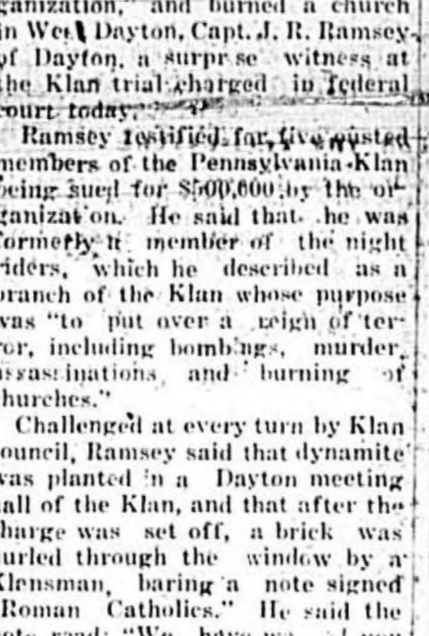

Pineapple Hath Charms
And what could be a better way to "jump up" a salad than by the use of all flavored, rich Hawaiian pineapple. Certainly a salad which contains this delicious fruit will captivate the heart of even the most obstinate salad hater.

Red Star Salad: Drain the syrup from a can of pineapple tidbits. Cut one-half quantity of tender celery into small pieces, sprinkle with lemon juice, and stand in a cool place until chilled. Add one-fourth cup of blanched and chopped almonds or pistachio nuts to a cupful of mayonnaise dressing and freeze in ice-cream can. Pour thoroughly with the celery and pineapple. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with tomatoes cut into small star shapes.

A SALAD PUZZLE SOLVED!

ANY a housewife has had occasion to say with a sigh, "I've tried all sorts of salads to tempt my husband but he won't eat them. And I know he should, for the fruits and vegetables are really necessary for health."

Tropical Salad: Cut six slices of pineapple in halves. Pare an avocado, cut in halves lengthwise, remove stone and cut halves crosswise into half moon shapes. Arrange on a bed of romaine, alternating halves of pineapple and avocado. Serve with lime dressing made by substituting lime juice for lemon juice in a standard French dressing.

Pineapple and Cream Cheese Salad: Drain twelve Hawaiian pineapple slices and dry thoroughly. Combine one and one-fourth cups cream cheese, two tablespoons cream, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper and paprika, and three eggs beaten just before use. Spread one eighth inch thick on each slice of pineapple. Then press every two slices of pineapple closely together. Chill well, cut up wedge shapes and pile on crisp lettuce. Pour over with French dressing and serve with mayonnaise. As a variation, add one tablespoon Roquefort cheese or two tablespoons of finely chopped chives to the cream cheese, in place of onion juice.

DETECTIVE SHOOTS BANDIT

CHICAGO, Apr. 10. (INS)—An order to "stick 'em up," was met today by a hail of lead from the revolver of Robert Woodward, a detective. As a result one of two youthful bandits who tried to hold Woodward up, was instantly killed and the other bandit captured. The slain man is believed to have been Joe La Rocco. His companion gave the name of Richard G. Burney.

BREMEN DELAYS FLIGHT

DUBLIN, Apr. 10. (INS)—The time of the take-off of the Junkers monoplane, Bremen on its trans-Atlantic flight was still a matter of conjecture today. Although weather conditions were reported to be more favorable, the flight appears determined to take no chances and made no announcement of an impending departure.

23 SEAPLANES NEAR JAX.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Apr. 10. (INS)—Twenty three seaplanes from winter maneuvers at Guantanamo Bay looked their flight here last night and were anchored in the St. Johns River. They refueled this morning and took off for the home port at Norfolk, Va.

In Burma, Where Muscle Works, Instead of American Machinery

Probably there will never be a conclusive answer to the question whether man gained anything when the queer melody of notions which we call civilization put clothes on his back, took to his hand, and fit quilliness into his mind. Even among folks who are addicted to clothes, tools, and implements, there is an aggressive minority which still insists they would be better off if these things had not been inflicted on them. It seems to depend on the point of view.

Take Burma. It is about the size of Texas, and is the British-owned section of the southeastern Asiatic peninsula. It embraces one of the oldest and richest oil fields in the world, as Texas embraces some of the newest and richest. But Burma has three or four times as many people as Texas. Consequently labor is exceedingly cheap and there is comparatively little use for machinery. When a corporation takes land to drill for oil, it always gets a circular plot; and as the circle naturally cannot cover all the ground, the interstices are left over. On these the natives dig wells; they really dig them, with picks, shovels, buckets and backaches. Their wells are often 300 feet or more deep. In Bhamonia, by the same method, which still insists they would be better off if these things had not been inflicted on them. It seems to depend on the point of view.

FAMED GAMBLER, SHOT BY WOMAN, LIVED IN SECRET

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 10.
 (INS)—Life was but a gamble to Oakley Harris, and he forfeited his on a hand of the dice—his confidence in Mrs. Sara H. G. Kelloway, who recently shot the world famous gambler to death in his palatial home here. The woman had been his mistress for ten years.

It is a long story, the recording of Harris' submission to the whims of his mother, who comes with her, and the life he lived in secret.

Four women figured in Harris' life, so far as this story is concerned. His mother, Edna Slate, a former mistress, Mrs. Kelloway, who held that position at the time of his death and Jessie McBride, the girl whom he was to have married. All four women in the fatal line of events which led to his death.

Harris, after becoming entangled with the Kelloway woman, showered gifts of every description upon her, and yet she was not content.

When he did not "come across" as quickly as she thought he should, there was terrible, violent scenes. During the last six years of his life, he lived under a reign of terror because the woman discovered he was willing to pay rather than have a public scandal that would reach the ears of his mother, Tom Harris said. But Tom Harris, who will follow the death wishes of Oakley in the disposal of his estate, will fight to the last to keep Mrs. Kelloway from getting any of the money which belonged to the man she shot down in an alleged spell of rage.

Mrs. Kelloway has told a story, according to Tom Harris, which is calculated to build up sympathy for her and paint Oakley in the light of an ingrate and a woman beater.

"Though we are told now that the courts will not recognize Oakley's last will," says Tom Harris, who has been given power of attorney to settle all affairs of his brother to other members of the family. "Nonetheless the family feels that Oakley's death had wishes should be carried out, to marry Jessie McBride. He wanted her to get $50,000. She will get it. Oakley left me a plantation in Alabama. I can tell you that I will never touch a cent of that money until Jessie McBride gets her $50,000 and Edna Slate gets her annuity of $150 a month. We Harriases have been living in Alabama since 1819. And in all that time you will never find where a Harris wedded on a debt. Oakley's debts are our debts. His death led wishes are orders for us to carry out."

"And in his deathbed will, Oakley tried to cut off his bequest to the woman who murdered him. Outside his bequest to Jessie McBride, and Edna Slate, he left everything to carry the fight to the courts to have those earlier bequests to that woman and her daughter nullified."

Mrs. Kelloway, under a will made out in 1926, get a house and her daughter—not the child of Harris—gets a bequest of $10,000.

According to Tom Harris his brother sent the woman to New York in efforts to get rid of her and she constantly worried him with long distance phone calls while there. Several times before she fired the fatal shot, he had attempted to kill Harris, his brother charges. Her reason for killing him, Tom says, is because she realized that Oakley was going to be married to another woman.

PHYSICIAN WILL PAY PENALTY FOR MURDER OF GIRL

Chicago, April 10.
 Dr. Amante Rongetti, former head of a large hospital here, will be the first person in Illinois to be executed in the electric chair as punishment for murder.

This sentence will be carried out April 13, unless something unforeseen occurs to stay the order. The physician was found guilty of the murder of Miss Loretta Enders and her newly born child.

The trial of Dr. Rongetti aroused nationwide interest because of the revolting nature of the crime, and the cruel brutality of the man as told by state's witnesses. Dr. Rongetti was found guilty of having performed an illegal operation upon Miss Enders, of failing to save her life because he was not paid enough money to operate further upon her and with allowing her child to die because of lack of money.

The trial evoked charges of the intimidation of witnesses by the defense lawyer, William Scott Stewart, the kidnapping of the witnesses and other sensational details, many angles of which are now pending in the Criminal Courts here.

Last Fall, William Cozzi, dental student and sweetheart of Miss Enders, appealed to Dr. Rongetti to aid him in preventing the girl from becoming a mother as the couple were too poor to get married. Cozzi testified that Rongetti accepted the case for $500 and that arrangements were made for the operation.

The operation was performed in the presence of nurses who testified. Complications set in within a few days. Dr. Amante Rongetti then demanded additional money from Cozzi before he would operate further. Cozzi said. The youth was unable to provide this money. As a result, the girl died. Her child, as testified, was taken into an adjoining room, and under orders from the doctor, no nurse nor any one was allowed to be near it for two days. It died.

Dr. Rongetti refused to show Miss Enders to be attended by a priest during her last moments and then wrote a fraudulent death certificate attributing her death to a disease.

The court refused the physician a petition for a new trial. The court pointed out the following reasons for this refusal:

"First, the defendant performed an operation and allowed the girl to die because of lack of funds."

"Secondly, he refused to send her to another hospital where that operation necessary to save her life could be performed."

"Thirdly, he made out a death certificate naming two diseases and said his information came from the girl's father who has been dead 18 years."

"Fourth, the defendant undertook to pay funeral expenses of $400 indicating guilt."

"Fifth, in her dying hours she turned a deaf ear to the pleas of the girl's mother that she be allowed to attend her."

"Not an attorney has stood to refute these horrible charges."

"Having criminally robbed this beautiful young girl of her life, the defendant assailed her memory by filthy insinuations."

"Dr. Rongetti," said Judge Frank M. Comerford, "has covered anything to say before I pronounce sentence."

Rongetti, a thin man with heavy eyes and a small dark mustache, shook his head.

"I sentence you to die in the electric chair," he said.

Attorney William Scott Stewart representing Rongetti, was sentenced to serve three months in prison for alleged intimidation of state's witnesses. He was accused of threatening to black the character of nurses if they testified against the physician.

Babe Ruth Declines To Answer Questions

ATLANTA, Ga., Apr. 10.
 What, if anything, George Batsman Ruth, who is somewhat of a personage up around Yorkers, thinks of companionate marriage, Al Smith's chances for the Democratic nomination for president and what the prospects are for property in the South, remain clouded in mystery. As a questioner Mr. Ruth proved to be quiet about at slugging the ball into the far reaches of the local ball park.

"What do you think of companionate marriage?" he was asked.

"Oh, that!" The Babe suddenly found the work of his mates at batting practice extremely interesting. "Well, I'm sure I couldn't say anything about it."

"Do you think Al Smith has a chance to become President?"

"I hope so," the Babe replied lovingly.

"Do you think we'll always have prohibition?"

"The Babe proved he was just as good at dodging other questions as he is at hitting the ball and the interview ended when the game, an exhibition affair, began.

Atlantic Pilot Wins In Race With Death

ATLANTA, Ga., April 10.
 (INS)—Dealer Blevins, Atlantic pilot, returned to Candler Field after winning a race with death.

He took F. H. Weller, of Jacksonville, to the bedside of his stricken son in a quick flight recently.

Mr. Weller was in Nashville, Tenn., when he received word that his boy was dying of lockjaw. He caught a train to Atlanta, wiring ahead for a plane.

When he reached Candler Field he took off immediately with Blevins, landing in Jacksonville two hours and 40 minutes later.

The boy was in a critical condition, but took a turn for the better when his father reached his bedside.
