Mrs. Hans Sorenson Tells Pan-Am Club Of Columbia, S. A.

By JANE SCHULTZ

The Pan American Club was entertained on Monday, Jan. 8, by a most illuminating talk by Mrs. Hans Sorenson, the former Miss Marjorie Smith of Sanford, about Columbia, South America. She has lived at the largest sugar mill there for two years. Members of the Spanish classes asked her questions concerning the things they were most interested in.

In order to reach Columbia from Florida you can sail through the locks of the Panama Canal by boat which takes about seven hours and after another seven hours of traveling in a rickety train through many short tunnels and over precarious bridges you come up mountain sides to the high altitude of Bogota.

Columbia is a democracy and elects a president every four years. The foreigners consist mostly of Germans and Turks (both of whom they do not like) and the English and Americans who control the majority of the gold mines. Although there are Nazi parades and other propaganda their influence is not yet noticeable over Columbia.

Here they have no seasons, but the months are the same as those known to us. The rainy seasons, as we call them occur from about October, November, and December and then again in the Spring. The rainy season merely consists of light rain for about 15 minutes then a sunless pause, and soon another misty shower with occasional hard rains. It is very hot in the daytime, even though you can see snow-tipped mountains on a clear day; but if you remain in the well ventilated and high ceilinged rooms of the better farm houses you can stay quite cool. However at night it turns rather cold and you wonder how the families who sleep on the doorsteps of shops can survive.

At present there are but two classes in Columbia—the wealthy class and the servant or laboring class, which is by far the larger, though there is slowly developing a middle class. The richer people live in comfortable homes with all the modern conveniences just as the majority of us do; but the under class exists in a one room shack. The upper class have servants who sew by hand, beautifully copied patterns of the latest American style of clothing. The laboring class goes barefooted with occasional pairs of sandals while the wealthier people patronize the beauty parlors which can give one permanents or anything else which is needed or wished.

Many of the schools are private ones, and though they are called universities they correspond to our high schools. Most of the rich families send their children abroad; the sons attending schools of the United States and England while the daughters study or enter convents in France (Columbia is predominantly Catholic) for not many parents give their daughters the opportunity of copying the carefree lives of the girls in the States. Few of the poorer children get a chance to get a higher education abroad although many natives can speak perfect English which they are more eager to learn than we to learn the Spanish. Protestant missions also further the education of the children.

As a whole the Columbians are smaller in stature than the Americans but they are by no means the swarthy peasants many of us imagine them to be. Some of the wealthier families have wavy blonde hair and fair complexions. Few negroes live there, their place being taken by the Indians. The lives of the boys and girls are becoming less limited and more similar to our own. For in addition to the girls talking to boys through a picturesquely barred window—more of them are permitted to attend private dances and picnics at the swimming pools. Instead of seeing one sailor and marrying him they now have more choice. They

By SIDNEY RICHARD

A few weeks ago, the Sophomore English classes withstood severe shock and dread when Miss Edna Chittenden, Sophomore English teacher stated that they would take up the study of the story "Silas Marner," written by George Eliot.

It seems that many students consider anything written in a school book, a drudgery to read because it's assigned and has to be done. Miss Chittenden, well aware of the fact by the groans and sighs of the students when told of the assignment, introduced before the class a new plan in which they would read and summarize two chapters of the novel each day. These summaries were used for class discussion, which proved to be very interesting to the students. The class discussions gave the students a new light on the story and a better understanding of its plot and characters. Many read so far ahead of the chapters assigned that it was not long before the story was finished. Upon concluding the story, Miss Chittenden told the students that each would be required to hand in a project on the story—due not later than Jan. 25.

A sentence summary of "Silas Marner" is that it is the change brought about in the life of a hard-hearted old man by a little child. My opinion of the story "Silas Marner" (and I'm sure the Sophomore class as a whole thinks as I do) is that it is the best story ever read in a school literature book.

In addition to the study of "Silas Marner" the Sophomore English classes had picture study and book reports. The picture study consisted of the lives of famous artists and a picture painted by each. These pictures are put in attractively covered art books which the students made themselves. The art books are also due on the 25th of this month in which 41 of the 25 pictures scheduled to be studied are to be found. Book reports are also handed in by the students on books they have read during the unit, of which there must be one fiction and one non-fiction book.

Boys Are Said To Outclass Girls In Study Of Science

High School boys are far better students of science than high school girls. This is the interpretation placed on a report of the Bausch & Lomb Science Award Committee by G. E. McKay, principal of Seminole High School, who said the survey showed that 83 percent of the medal winners in science were boys and 17 percent were girls.

The survey was made from reports on medal winners in science—representing high schools located in 46 states and Puerto Rico. While no state or territory failed to report boy winners, 11 states, and the District of Columbia, reported no girl winners at all, while 41 of the 46 states and the District of Columbia reported boy winners. Although Pennsylvania handed out more scientific awards to girls than any other state, closely trailed by California, the highest percentage of girl winners went to Utah and Georgia with 47 percent each.

While at first glance, the ascendancy of boys over girls among the medal winners appeared attributable to a preponderance of boys over girls attending high schools, a report from the Division of Statistics of the U. S. Office of Education shows that 51 percent of all high school students are girls and 49 percent boys.

Mr. McKay stressed the fact that the Bausch & Lomb Award is only given for scholastic achievement in science, and hazard the opinion that male supremacy does not extend to all studies in the high school curriculum.

In a recent study by Dr. J. E. Kirkpatrick, head of the Department of Education of Morningside College, Freshman tests in psychology, English and reading were given to groups of boys and girls selected from the upper, middle, and lower thirds of their high school graduating classes, which showed that the median scores of the group of boys who had ranked in the lowest third of their classes were higher than the median scores made by the girls who were ranked in the middle third of their classes. On the psychological examination the lower third boys had a median score of 51, while the middle third girls scored 48. It should be said, however, that nothing conclusive is to be added from these statistics since the number of students examined was small.

Support Of Basketball Is Urged By Seminole Student

By ANNE WRIGHT

Basketball season is almost here! So what? That is the question that is going around Seminole High School at the present time. Football season is over, the cheer leaders have functioned, and that's the end of some throats among the student body. Why this is just can't be figured out. Basketball is faster than football and just as interesting. The boys on the squad have put in several weeks of hard practicing, so that we might have a team of which we can be duly proud. The coaches have given their undivided time and attention to the success of these practices.

Haven't we enough interest, school spirit, or whatever one might call it to come out to see the basketball games this year? No one will contradict the statement that a team will put more into the game, will play better and is more apt to win if it has the interest and support of the student body. Basketball season begins Tuesday, Jan. 18. Let's everyone come out! The cheer leaders will be out to lead us in some good old yells. We've got school spirit at Seminole High School, but the only time we get to display it is during football season. If you hear anything on Tuesday, the 18th, that sounds like an Indian Village, you'll know it's the kids at Seminole High School bursting forth with enthusiasm and school spirit at the basketball game.

So much for the sports. When speaking of school spirit, most people think only of the sports of our school, but it takes in much more than that. The general atmosphere of the school determines this condition. Seminole High is criticized a great deal about its lack of cooperation and its unwillingness to work together for the betterment of the school. The students realize that something is radically wrong but none of us feel that we have the right to stand by and merely criticize without offering suggestions that will aid in bringing

Basketball Team Opens New Season At 2:15 Tuesday

By DICK MASON

The 1939 edition of Seminole High School's basketball team will open the season Tuesday, Jan. 17, at 2:15 P. M. in the high school auditorium. The Eutaw Panthers, a strong aggregation with a victory over Ocala in their credit, will provide the opposition.

Afternoon games are being tried for the first time in the hope that the student body will take more interest in them. On the afternoon of Wednesday, January 18, also at 2:15 P. M. the Celery Feds will meet the strong Orlando Tigers. Whenever these two teams get together, one can be sure of a sensational, hard fought game.

For the past two seasons the Celery Feds have made excellent records, last year winning the North East Conference championship. According to Coach McLucas, the team stands a good chance this year of successfully defending their conference title.

The starting line-up for the first game has not yet been announced, but it is pretty certain that four of the letter men from last year's squad, namely Darrell Ferguson, Buck Ferguson, Red Williams, and Jim River, will be in there when the whistle blows. For some reason the students have never supported the basketball team as they should, but it is hoped that the afternoon games will help, and that this year will be an exception. It has been suggested that not every student could be aroused, if there was some organized cheering led by the cheer leaders just as in the football games. This suggestion is well worth considering.

Let's show a little spirit, students of Seminole High. Advertise the games around town and come to see them yourselves. You will see a fine brand of basketball that is faster and just as sensational as football.

Remember that the Celery Feds need your support to retain the championship.

Freshmen Class Studies Literature

By HY H. MARTIN

In our vocational class we have been reading some historical and biographical sketches from the lives and experiences of men and women. Some of these have been rather thrilling and heart-gripping.

In the other classes we have been studying a variety of literature. We read first two one-act plays. In these the part of each OKMULGEE, Okla., Jan. 13. — Phil Nicholas was in a duck blind when he heard a commotion nearby and found a big bass manly whipping the shallow water. In the bass' mouth was a half-swallowed 12-inch catfish.

The fin of the catfish had stuck in the bass' eye, causing him maddening pain. Nicholas brought home the evidence.

character was taken by a member of the class. Following them we read a selection from Bryant's translation of Homer's Odyssey. This is a little difficult for the ninth grade but with some explanations, they seemed to get it.

Our next reading was a number of folk ballads, old songs that had been handed down from mouth to mouth until some later person decided to write them down. These were rather interesting and not so difficult.

At present we are engaged in a study of Scott's "Lady of the Lake." This is one of Scott's most popular poems. It has been read with interest for more than a hundred years, and will continue to be studied for years to come.

Weatherman Forecasts Cold For Floridians

Frost And Low Temperatures Predicted For State Early Sunday Morning

Snow Blankets Most Of Nation

Springlike Interlude Ended By Winter's Heaviest Snowfall

LAKELAND, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The Weather Bureau's frost warning service here predicted scattered light frost tonight and tomorrow morning with the advance of cooler weather into north and north central Florida.

The temperature bulletin said a minimum of 34 was expected at Gainesville, La Crosse and Florahome. Other lows included Hastings 38 and New Smyrna Beach and Mims above 40. Above 50 was the lowest forecast for the Everglades.

Winter's heaviest snowfall blanketed most of the nation today, ending a springlike interlude with a rising toll of storm fatalities. New England generally was covered with snow with sub-freezing temperatures and more snow was expected tonight.

Snow six inches deep impeded traffic over most of Pennsylvania. Greenville, Me., reported the state's lowest temperature at two degrees above.

Upper New York state lay under a heavy fall ranging as high as a foot in suburban sections of Buffalo. Rochester had five inches and a temperature of 34. New Jersey was covered with snow which snarled traffic. Hail, sleet and snow made travel on New Jersey highways hazardous with another storm reported in the offing. Scattered traffic fatalities were attributed to the storm throughout the affected area.

House Gets Bill To Save Nation's Rails From Ruin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—An 11-point omnibus bill aimed at saving the chaotic railroad industry from financial ruin was introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Lee Demerest, California, chairman of the house interstate commerce committee which will start hearings on the measure Tuesday.

The bill is understood to have President Roosevelt's support. It embraces most of the recommendations of his informal rail aid committee which the President discussed with Lee and Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, shortly after the new congress convened.

Whether it is expected to offer a companion measure, though differing in some respects, and both bills may be the subject of a special White House message.

Lee said his proposal establishes it as the duty of the carriers "to reduce operations and facilities consistent with adequate and efficient transportation, including the utilization of property, pulling of traffic or earnings, pooling equipment under common ownership or control, and the joint use of terminals, shops and other facilities."

Major Crank Is Confident Of Townsend Plan Victory

Comparing Dr. Townsend to Abraham Lincoln, and declaring that he is confident the recovery plan will pass during the present session of Congress and asserting that the legislation already pledged to the "cause" should be passed if they don't vote for the Townsend Plan, Major Dan Crank, of Orlando, an outstanding exponent of Townsendism, was the principal speaker Thursday night at the regular Youngstown Club meeting as part of a nation-wide observance of Dr. Townsend's birthday and also the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Townsend movement.

Major Crank declared it was a disgrace to the country, the richest in the world, to have poverty and distress, and that the Townsend Plan was the only thing that would relieve the present conditions. He blamed the men and the money for much of the country's predicament, and pointed out that some "loans" should be made to the work of 100 men.

Using a concrete case to show that there is a need "for all we produce," Major Crank related an instance of a woman falling prostrate on a street in Orlando for want of nourishment, and yet that very day six million gallons of milk were dumped in the sewers in Atlanta to get rid of a surplus and at the same time eight million hogs were killed for the same purpose.

He called attention to what he said was the fact that there are 300 million people in the world, and that the Army and Navy and assorted that

"Not every picture of course will be sent out to the newspapers," Mr. Bagwell said, "but the best ones, illustrating the advantages of Seminole County either as a fisherman's or hunter's paradise, or the scenic beauties of this vicinity, will be, and we are anxious to obtain some of these pictures as soon as possible."

Clues Sought To Cause Of Plane's Crash

Charred Ruins Held Body Of One Victim When Investigators Arrived

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The blackened wreckage of a Northwest Airlines plane still held today the body of one of its four victims, when investigators arrived to seek clues of the cause of the plane's flaming crash two miles west of Miles City last night. Coroner Ralph H. Brady said the body of Mrs. Morgan Morris of Mandan, N. D., was so badly burned it was not removed when the bodies of the other victims, all men, were taken out last night. One body was buried 100 feet from the wreckage.

The Seattle to St. Paul plane burst into flames and crashed in the Sunday Creek bottomlands a mile west of the Miles City airport after its takeoff at 9:15 P. M. M. S. T. (11:15 E.S.T.)

L. H. Bliven, the airport manager, and several Miles City residents reported the explosion flashed brightly, an eerie light lit an overcast sky. The three men victims were Pilot C. R. Chamberlain of Minneapolis, Captain Raymond H. Naylor of Minneapolis and Pilot and S. Zahmischer of Billings, Mont.

The business and professional men need the Townsend Plan to stimulate business, saying that doctors and dentists would be rewarded by thousands of patients needing attention.

Major Crank was preceded on the program by Robert May, Seminole High School student, who spoke on the benefits of the Townsend Plan to the youth of the country, declaring that it would encourage them to go through school and learn a profession or trade. He deplored the condition in which young people have to walk the streets begging for jobs. "Is there any wonder our young people cannot find employment?" he asked. Mr. May concluded his address by declaring he had made a careful study of the Townsend Plan and said it would do all it says it will do and that it will "diminish the greatest part of poverty and crime."

The meeting, at which the local club was held in the Orlando and Lake Helen Townsend Club, was presided over by W. J. Huphey, president. Mrs. Martha Moffatt was in charge of general arrangements, while Judge James G. Thomson, floor chairman, had as his committee J. J. Wilson and C. A. Holmes. Mrs. H. E. Taylor, W. M. Polk, and Mrs. D. J. Tyler served refreshments. The ladies were Miss June Bryan and Miss Louise Martin.

A short musical program was part of the evening's entertainment and consisted of a song and dance, by Shirley Anne Winter; songs and tap dances by Donna Jean Dunn; readings by Mrs. Donald Dunn and a piano solo by Mrs. John Miller.

Hull flayed during the contest and from a division of the department's trade policies, with a view to the attack by collecting that "this town now is swarming with sugar lobbyists."

"I think it is only due to the American people, when our foreign trade is falling off, to know that the city is swarming with lobbyists who are lancing our flank to attack the trade agreements program," he added.

His remarks brought immediate protests from P. M. Adams, Democrat, Colorado, and O'Mahony, Democrat, Wyoming, that the only sugar lobbyists they had seen were being false sugar beet rubbers or processors who came here at the invitation of the state department.

Cubans Pelt Nazis With Rotten Eggs

HAVANA, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Cuban workmen pelted goose-stepping German sailors here yesterday with rotten eggs, decayed tomatoes and oranges.

Police rounded up a number of suspects and smelled of their hands in a vain search for evidence of participation in the barrage. Only one man was arrested and police said they caught him in the act.

Officers, midshipmen and sailors of the German school ship Schleswig-Holstein were marching behind their band down the fashionable "prado" when the workmen darted from side streets and let fly with their old fruit. Many of the missiles found their marks before the police could halt the barrage.

The parade continued to the monument to Jose Marti, Cuba's "apostle of liberty," where the mobsters deposited a wreath.

New Roads Are Made Biggest C Of C Project

City And County Commissioners Pledge Co-Operation In Securing New Roads

The improvement of Roads No. 44, 288 and 203 were made major projects of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for the coming year at a meeting of the Chamber's Highways Committee with members of the City and County Commissioners in the Chamber last night.

Dealing that in order to get tourist, good roads are necessary, Benjamin F. Haines, president of the commerce organization, stated that the most important result of the meeting was the pledged co-operation of the different groups present in efforts to get the approval of these projects by the State Road Department.

Work has already begun on clearing the right of way for State Road No. 288 near Altamonte Springs. Local officials are hopeful of getting the State Road Department to set up funds to complete this part of the State's highways system during this year.

The need for improvement to State Road 44 to Titusville was also discussed and the condition of the highway as well as State Road No. 203 will be brought to the attention of the State Road group at its budget meeting to be held in the near future.

It was also brought out that (Continued on Page Two)

Spanish Insurgents Are Reported Close To Government Key

By Associated Press. Fears of a new European crisis troubled France today as British Prime Minister Chamberlain started home from his "appearance talks" in Rome apparently without having reached any important agreement with Premier Mussolini.

France, at odds with Italy over French colonial demands, was anxious over the Italian influence on her southern border as Spanish insurgents forged steadily closer to Barcelona.

Also alarming to France were unconfirmed reports of new Italian troop concentrations in east Africa. The French Navy ordered three submarines to Syria, where fighting had broken out, and the French Mediterranean and Atlantic fleets made ready for extensive war games off the coast of the Mediterranean.

British cables in Rome disclosed Chamberlain had agreed to help Italy to solve the problem of housing homes for European refugees. Jean, King of Spain, the insurgents reported they had stormed government forces within 12 miles of Barcelona.

Lisa Parnova Seen As Superior Dancer

Writing of Lisa Parnova, who is to appear tonight at the Womans' Club in the first of the series of Cooperative Concerts sponsored by the Seminole County Music Association, John Martin, critic of the New York Times, said recently:

"Miss Parnova is essentially a romanticist. To find a dancer who has a sense of the great range of the dance is refreshing enough, but to find one who has realized this in practice is a unique experience. Miss Parnova set herself a gargantuan task in her program and came out with victory."

Miss Parnova is more than an experienced dancer, she is also a teacher and with a group of her most talented students, she created the original ballet "Idea of Evolution" done without music and exemplifying her theory of rhythm in time and space; i. e. that a trained dancer does not need music, but should be able to distinguish exact rhythm as a trained musician can distinguish exact pitch.

This year Miss Parnova is being assisted on her tour by Alexis Dohlinoff, formerly with Parnova. Tonight's curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock, and the next concert in the series will be held on March 1, when the Russian Imperial Singers will be the featured artists.

Thank goodness... another Friday the Thirteenth... that black cat of bad luck... is over.

After this double threat has passed us by, we can draw a deep breath of relief and resume operations per usual MARTHA ADAMS says that she always drives around the block when she meets the black cat that lives in her alley... not that "SINEY" is superstitious... it's just such a safe thing to do.

Well, would you deliberately walk under a ladder? ... You know, it could fall... easily... but you haven't a thing to worry about. It's not the things that count... it's your carrying in a bad lot!

SOCIAL LIGHTS of the week was the KIWANIAN Dance on Tuesday night. The program included quite a bit of dancing in-between dance time... Such a treat to find... SALLY, ROSE, LINDA, KEEN, HELEN, ETC., but some much fun on the part of the KIWANIAN DANCE.

MRS. KAREL E. NORD GREEN was "power and impact" behind the decoration committee... (delighted) Mr. C. HILL in a lovely black lace gown featuring a short hairdo... MRS. E. F. HOAS HOLLER in white tulle with "just a touch of black" and JO MC DANIEL looked charming in white tulle and silver leaves in her hair... MINNIE STRICKLAND wore a black and blue gown... looking up a tall the personage as garnished on the leg... M. R. STRICKLAND and BOSS... New dog guess RUPERT would do a thing like that!

Evening's I hear of so former correspondent... GENE MARY TUN LANEY... enjoying wonderful weekends at Annapolis... What wouldn't I give? Out-of-town prize winners at the Tuesday Duplicate Club party hosted-by MRS. RALPH B. WIGHT were... MRS. KENNETH MCGOWAN and MRS. LEE MONROE of Quincy, guests of of Mrs. W. W. FDR Recommends Wide Expansion Of Social Security

President Also Warns Congress Against Turning To Untried, Unsound Panaceas

Federal Realty Board Is Set Up

Leaders Offer Program To Advance South's Position

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt recommended to Congress today a wide expansion of the Social Security Act and warned at the same time against "turning to untried and demonstrably unsound panaceas."

The expansion program he called for included the beginning of old age benefits sooner and increasing them in the early years, affording greater protection to dependent children, extending unemployment and old age protection as rapidly as possible to "all of our people" and increasing in some instances federal grants-in-aid to states.

He also proposed that state receiving federal aid be required to institute merit systems for the personnel of agencies handling relief security funds.

The president also announced creation by executive order of a Federal Real Estate Board. It said its duties would include recommendations for disposition of surplus real estate owned by the government.

In Atlanta, thirty Southern leaders, representing the fields of education, business, journalism, labor and state government, offered a five-point program today for advancement of the South's economic position.

Citing the report of the National Emergency Council on the South which President Roosevelt has termed the Nation's No. 1 economic problem, the group asserted that improvement of the South's business, education and health facilities was vital to national progress.

For "immediate objectives," the group said, the region must look to legislative action in Congress and state legislatures. However, it continued on Page Two.

Farm Students Visit Industries In Jacksonville

The four students in the vocational agriculture class at Seminole High School making the highest grades in their academic work for the past six weeks were awarded a trip to Jacksonville last Friday for an inspection tour of several industries incident to farming. Those making the trip were Otto Greer, Billy Tisdell, of the business class, and Harvey Hale and Charles Rowley, of the advanced class. Alex E. Johnson, instructor, advised.

A similar group from DeLand joined the Sanford boys for the trip. An inspection trip of the Paria Meat Packing Company was the first to be made by the boys. Methods used by the inspectors in judging and selecting stock in the slaughter house were particularly studied by the boys.

A buffet lunch during which the boys sampled the products of the company, was held in the main dining hall.

Man Treated For Bullet Wound To Be Questioned

ROME, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Italy's report shows a heavy blow to auto mishaps in 1938, with appseasement reduced. The report also shows a man treated for a bullet wound to be questioned.

Deputy Sheriff E. G. Casady said that one of the two holdup men who entered the store was wounded in a gun battle but escaped in an automobile in which a confederate was sitting outside.

Lake County officers pressed a search today for two bandits who held up a grocery store here Saturday night and fled after a gun battle, leaving a fellow robber dead and two grocery employees gravely wounded.

Deputy Sheriff E. G. Casady said S. V. Barroughs, store manager, and Charles Shepard, 17, a clerk, were in a serious condition at an Oklawaha hospital.

Barrroughs is suffering from a bullet wound in his chest and Shepard's liver was penetrated by one of the shots.

Officers have not positively identified the robber who was shot and killed. Casady said the bandit was wearing a hat with the name "E. F. Griffin."

Casady said the automobile in which the two bandits fled was found on the edge of the city limits here. They apparently entered another machine and continued on Page Three.
