Study the ballot

SANFORD — Elections supervisor Sandra Goard warns voters to read the sample ballots published in today's Sanford Herald because there isn't enough time during the 12-hour polling period for all voters to read the ballots.

Goard said absentee voters have taken an average of about 20 minutes to read every item printed on the four or five cards, too much time for the 100,000 or more people who will vote Tuesday. Goard said state law allows poll workers to bounce voters after five minutes, which they won't do. But Goard said time-takers may get a tap on the shoulder sometime soon after five minutes and encouraged to hurry along.

Goard recommends voters study the sample ballots, mark choices, then bring the samples with them into the voting booths to speed voting. If voters already know their choices, Goard said balloting should take two to three minutes at the most.

Goard also recommends disregarding Amendment 7, which will be printed on the ballot, but has been removed from balloting.

A story in Friday's Sanford Herald stated the land for Camp David W. Hedrick in Geneva was donated 19 years ago. Boy Scout council director Wayne Brock said the land was bought, but the money to develop the site was donated by David W. Hedrick, a scouting leader then.

Over 3,200 vie in Golden Age Games

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Golden Age Games will get under way this afternoon with the colorful opening ceremonies at the Sanford Civic Center at 1 p.m. More than 3,200 athletes from as far away as Hawaii, Alaska and the Virgin Islands, have signed up to take part in the games for seniors.

According to Jim Adams, co-chairman of the event, registrations for the events started coming in at a rate of about 25 per day in June.

He said, however, that he will start taking applications for next year's games as soon as the closing ceremonies are wrapped up for this year. "We want to get started as soon as possible on organizing next year's games," Adams said. Adams, and his co-coordinator Chris Usry, are working as organizers for the first time, but think that everything is in order for the games this week.

Though the first event, sailing, will take place on Lake Babwin at the Orlando Naval Training Center. See Games, Page 4A

Halloween: A boo-tiful day

Scariest holiday fun, too

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — One of the signs in a Sanford store window said, "This way to Spooky Street," but actually the road to the Magnolia Mall wasn't that scary. For a holiday associated with dark undertones, shoppers and even accustomed adults and children roamed around in the bright sunlight.

In Hidden Lake, homeowner Dianne Greenlaw recreated the essence of the holiday, sending chills and goosebumps up the backs of children and adults who visited her haunted trail and cemetery, Ghoulish Memorial.

"I feel so sorry for kids today. I have happy memories of coming home from Trick or Treat with bags of candy. Neighbors were happy to see you. Now, doors are slammed and people turn out their lights. I wanted to do something to make the holiday fun again," she said. Greenlaw

Park is Midway success

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

MIDWAY — The gathering to celebrate the new Midway Community Park is more than just another groundbreaking, say supporters, it is a community success story.

"We've always needed some recreation facilities. To have a park in our backyard is something the community is really proud of. It's something we've been waiting on for a couple of years," said Johnell Jackson, the president of Midway Community Against Drugs. "This starts people, more or less, communicating with each other and becoming more involved with each other. There are several activities that can be held at the park to promote more unity," he said.

Jackson also praised Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley for supporting the park through her four year term.

Kelly said the park would provide benefits for both young and old in the Midway community.

"This is probably one of the brightest spots in my life as a commissioner to see a whole community come together. They've

Filling Lake Mary commission seat

- Age — 44
- Marital status — Married with two children
- Residency — Five years in Lake Mary
- Past service — Lake Mary Board of Adjustment, Mayor of Longwood, 1974-1976

Reason for seeking election: "I think there is great potential for Lake Mary to become the showcase community of Central Florida," he said, "and I believe I can contribute to it."

Main problem or need: "The biggest issue," he said, "is the need to expand the tax base. This should be done through developing the I-4 corridor and Lake Mary Boulevard property, and if need be, annexing some additional land to the city."

Paving and drainage: "Paving isn't a big problem at this time," he

Two candidates are seeking the job of City Commissioner for seat 1 in Lake Mary. The position has been occupied by David Meador, who is campaigning for City Commissioner seat 3. Commissioners serve two year terms, and are elected city wide. They are not required to reside in a specific district. Salary is $4,800.

Gary Brender

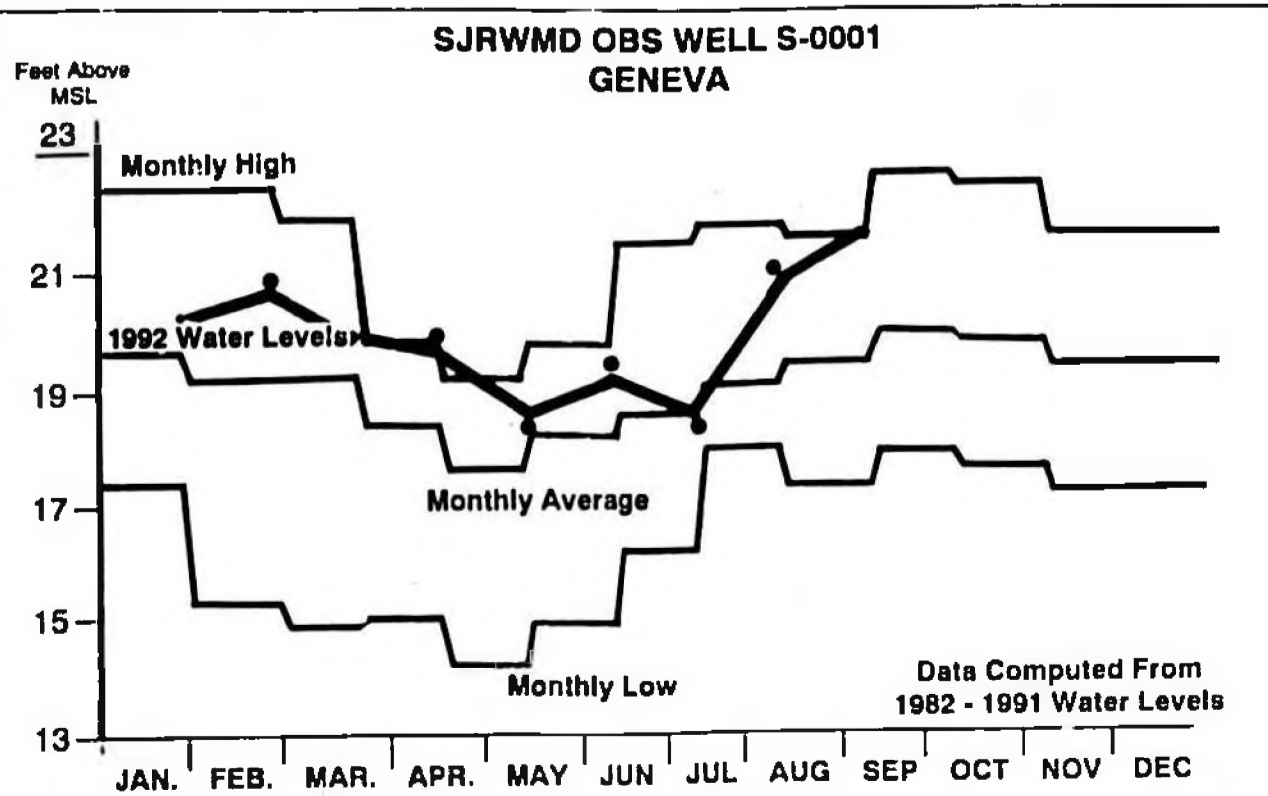

- Age — 40
- Marital status — Married with three children

- Past service — Local Planning Agency

Reason for seeking election: "The LPA adopted a comprehensive plan to govern the long range growth of Lake Mary," he said. "The plan covers future growth, but retains the privacy and sanctity of the residential neighborhoods. With my knowledge of this dedicated growth plan, I can help in assuring the proper growth for the future."

Main problem or need: "Drainage is the biggest problem we have now," Brender said. "With that is the problem of financing a drainage improvement project. We

Water level across county is in good shape

By J. MARK BARFIELD

GENEVA — A drinking water well here is close to reaching a record high level, according to a report released by the St. Johns River Water Management District.

The water from the Geneva Bubble reached a level of nearly 21 feet, three inches above sea level, slightly more than two-tenths of an inch above the highest level the well reached in 10 years, which was 21 feet, five inches. That record level was reached little more than a year ago in August 1991.

The recorded well level last month reached about four feet, six inches above the lowest level it reached in the last decade, in May 1990.

"I'd say Geneva is in pretty good shape," said John Dennard, a district program manager who oversees the data collection.

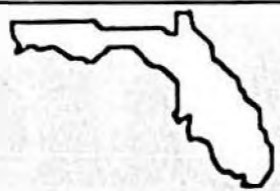

A district-monitored well near Longwood is also showing healthier signs, but is still impacted by the great demand for water in the southwestern portion of the county, Dennard said.

The Longwood well level was recorded at 41 feet, two inches last month. The level is about nine feet, three inches above the minimum level reached during the past 41 years, which was in April 1990. But the level is still 12 feet, seven

Astronauts pack up

CAPE CANAVERAL — The six astronauts on the space shuttle Columbia wrapped up work with a robotic vision system Saturday and stowed their gear for the return to Earth, a trip they weren't quite ready to make.

Columbia was scheduled to land at Kennedy Space Center at 9:06 a.m. EST Sunday, 10 days after blasting off on the satellite delivery and research mission.

"I think all of us would like to stay up here an extra day or two because we worked hard to get here and it's a great deal of fun to be here," Canadian astronaut Steven MacLean said Saturday.

"But all of us also are anxious to see our families, our kids and our loved ones again, and so I have mixed feelings about coming home," he said.

NASA flight director Jeff Bantle said there was a possibility that fog might delay Sunday's touchdown, but the weather was expected to be fine for a second landing attempt one orbit later at 10:39 a.m. EST.

Nationwide alert issued

APOPKA — A nationwide lookout has been issued for a former Apopka police officer charged with molesting two girls at a school where he once worked.

Charles Mori, 39, disappeared while he was on house arrest with an electronic monitoring bracelet, a prosecutor said Thursday.

Mori is to stand trial next month on charges he molested two 13-year-old girls at Apopka Middle School while he was a resource officer there.

Floridians rally for tourists

PENSACOLA — Residents of this Florida Panhandle city have come to the aid of three German tourists who reported their belongings had been stolen from their hotel room.

The three women said they were left with little more than what they were wearing when they returned from the beach Sunday to their room at the Ramada Inn Bayview.

But after their story was told Thursday in the Pensacola News Journal, they were offered food, clothing, money and a video of Elvis Presley's home to replace missing photographs they had taken on a stop in Memphis, Tenn.

Arrests symbol of revolving door justice

TAMPA — Sedrick McKinney, whose 10 arrests in the last two years made him a symbol of revolving door justice, was indicted on federal weapons charges that could put him behind bars for life.

"The bottom line is I hope Sedrick McKinney spends the rest of his life in prison," Hillsborough State Attorney Bill James said Friday.

McKinney, 21, was indicted under a federal program aimed at career felons who use firearms to carry out their crimes. He could be sentenced to life if convicted of the charges of possession of a firearm and possession of ammunition by a previously convicted felon.

Phony hurricane claims lead to arrest

MIAMI — A woman was arrested for allegedly filing phony hurricane disaster applications and receiving two checks under different relief programs, federal officials said.

Natividad Casanova, 45, of Miami, was arrested Friday by agents with the state Department of Law Enforcement and the Federal Emergency Management Agency on charges of grand theft, a third-degree felony. She could get up to five years in prison.

Casanova was being held at the Dade County Jail Friday.

Election '92-The final days

Stone, Couch label each other

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — In the final days of the race for the District 33 seat for the Florida House of Representatives, incumbent Democrat Frank Stone and Republican Marvin Couch have done their best to brand each other as a liberal or conservative.

Stone and the state Democratic Party have blasted Couch's ties to the conservative Christian Coalition, which they brand an "extremist organization," and suggests Couch wants to do away with Social Security and bankrupt public schools.

Couch has fired back, suggesting Stone is a tax-and-spend Democrat incapable of managing his own finances and has voted to increase taxes for nursing home patients and others.

The seat sought by the two men includes most of Sanford, Geneva, Chuluota, and Oviedo. It also takes in a small portion of Orange County and Volusia County, including Deltona and Osteen. District 33 is the Legislature's reconfigured District 34, which Stone has represented since 1986.

Stone, 44, of Oviedo is a marketing consultant for Lang and McNair, a Winter Park accounting firm created by two former court clerk employees. Stone formerly worked for a mail advertising company, Direct Response Marketing. Stone was a Casselberry councilman from 1982 to 1986 and previously worked as a Casselberry firefighter.

Couch, 39, of Orlando, has been owner of his family painting business, Couch's Coating and Waterproofing Corp. for 14 years. Couch was chairman of the Orange County Republican Executive Committee for two years.

Couch was a member of a group of conservative Republicans that moved into the Orange County party in 1988 and wrested control from established GOP leaders. Couch admits he didn't even know about the existence of executive committee prior to being asked to attend his first meeting that year.

Stone said he wants to serve another term to continue his fight for funding for Seminole County schools. Stone gained House approval earlier this year to boost funding for Seminole County schools $400,000 to help equalize per-student spending, but the bill was defeated in the Senate.

Stone was a co-author of Blueprint 2000, which shifts much of the education spending control to local districts but still requires schools to meet minimum educational standards set by the state. Stone also pledges to work to break open protected funds to create up to $500 million initially and up to $250 million annually in revenues to bolster education and other important programs.

One major project Stone espouses is the combination of the environmental per-

Webster, Mica scrap for congressional seat

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Democrat Dan Webster calls his District 7 congressional opponent John Mica a "Washington insider," but Mica retorts Webster has been bought by legal and union special interests.

Such is the tone set by the two men scraping for Seminole County's new congressional district, which takes in most of Seminole County except black neighborhoods in north and south end of the county and the western Markham Woods Road area, which is in District 3. The district also takes in much of Volusia County and a small portion of Orange County.

Mica, 49, of Winter Park makes frequent note of his age difference with his 34-year-old opponent by peppering his comments with references of "that young man" and says he has the business and political experience to accomplish much for Seminole County.

"I can do more for Sanford than that young man can do in years," boasts Mica.

Mica was a state legislator from 1976 to 1980, then shifted gears to work as chief of staff and administrative assistant for former U.S. Sen. Paula Hawkins from 1980 to 1985. He formed two cellular telephone companies and is a partner in a lobbying firm and an international trade consulting firm, listing such clients as Harris Corp.

Mica pledges to assist Seminole County by fighting for grants for Central Florida Regional Airport funds to widen Interstate 4 and money to redevelop downtown Sanford.

Webster of Daytona Beach says his newness in Washington will be his greatest asset.

"I'm going up there to represent the people of this district," answers Webster. "I don't have the experience that he has, nor do I have the baggage."

Webster is a trial lawyer and was a partner in the firm of Dunn, Webster and Swain until he resigned to run his campaign. In addition to his county, state and American Bar affiliations, Webster serves as a director of the Volusia County Mental Health Association and serves on the Presidential Councilors committee at Stetson University.

Webster lists affordable health care as one of his primary projects and supports the German plan which standardizes forms and coverage and allows insurance companies and health care providers to set reimbursement on a regional basis.

Senate hopefuls DeMino, Dyer pledge not to forget Sanford

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The city may be the stepchild of Senate District 14, but both Republican Steve DeMino and Democrat Buddy Dyer pledge not to forget Sanford.

District 14 is primarily in Orange County, with less than 8 percent of the district residents living in Seminole County. The district snakes up from Orange County generally along the CSX railroad tracks west of U.S. Highway 17-92 until it reaches County Road 46-A where it expands to take in most of the city and Midway. District 14 is also a Democratic area, with only about 40 percent of the residents registered as Republicans. About 55 percent are Democrats, according to state figures.

Dyer, 34, of Orlando, is the Democrat's nominee after beating out two other challengers, including Candice Crawford of Winter Springs, sister to state agriculture commissioner Bob Crawford.

"Before the primary, none of the big name Democrats paid much attention to me," said Dyer. "Now they all showed up at a fundraiser, including (former governor) Reuben Askew," he added with some amazement.

Dyer is an attorney, but began his career life as a civil engineer, specializing in sewage treatment. After four years, he returned to college and after obtaining his law degree from University of Florida returned to his present occupation.

DeMino, 57, of Altamonte Springs, is a financial investment consultant for The Travelers Insurance Co. in Orlando. He is a licensed broker of insurance, real estate and stocks. DeMino has served on two statewide panels, the Governor's State Advisory Board of Independent Colleges and Universities and the Florida Motion Picture and Television Association.

DeMino has also participated in a host of political and professional groups, including the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee as a committeeman, and the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. He has a master's degree in international relations and foreign diplomacy from Schiller International University in London.

Dyer states confidently he will become what may be the only Democrat elected from Central Florida. He says that may place him at a disadvantage with his fellow local legislators but would give him an edge in Tallahassee.

Dyer says Sanford isn't much different than any other community in the district which includes the exclusive Bay Hill in Orange County in that education is a top concern.

Dyer pledges to work for equal funding for Seminole County students and supports allocating Lottery proceeds directly to local school districts. He also pledges to work on reducing state and local school administrations to free money for teachers. He also pledges to try to free up committed trust fund money for education.

DeMino said one of his projects will be to work toward workman's compensation reform. DeMino said he would seek to place limits on legal fees and judicial awards and fight for stronger protection against fraud.

DeMino also pledges to become an economic development ambassador for Central Florida by working to attract industry here.

POLICE BRIEFS

Suspended license leads to charges

Augustin D. Lopez, 45, 3530 Celery Ave., Sanford, was charged with driving with a suspended driver's license when he was arrested on Thursday by Sanford Police.

According to police he was stopped for a routine traffic violation when a check of his license revealed that it had been suspended for failure to pay fines.

He was transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held in lieu of $100 bond.

Burglaries reported

A burglary was reported at 3027 Truman St., Sanford on Thursday evening.

Mary Harkness reported to sheriff's deputies that someone entered her home and took a $450 video cassette recorder.

A burglary was reported at Midway Elementary School on Thursday, Seminole County sheriff's officers reported.

Deputies said that someone broke into one of the portable classrooms and removed a 25 inch color television.

Warrant arrests made

• Aaron Bruno Payne, 28, 1019-A Holly Ave., Sanford, was served with three warrants at the Seminole County jail Wednesday. Payne was wanted on charges of violating the terms of his probation for two separate convictions, burglary and possession of a controlled substance. He was also wanted on a charge of failing to appear at a hearing to answer to a shoplifting charge.

• Alvin William Hamilton, 21, 703 Brigham Place, Lake Mary, was arrested at his home by Seminole County deputies Wednesday. Hamilton was wanted on a charge of dealing in stolen property.

Incidents reported to authorities

• A 16-year-old Lake Mary High student reported another student rammed her car three times with another car while she was parked at a Remington Oaks Drive residence at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

• Carpet and padding valued at $1,200 was reported taken from a residence in the 1000 block of Pine Street sometime between 1 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday.

• Gold jewelry valued at $300 was reported taken from a residence in the 1100 block of Santa Barbara Avenue sometime between 9:15 a.m. and 7:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Cops: Girl molested on school bus

By The Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE — An 11-year-old girl was molested on a schoolbus after a group of her classmates punched and kicked her and pinned her to the floor, police said.

Two teenagers pulled down the girl's underpants and molested her before the bus driver pulled over and stopped the light, Fort Lauderdale Police spokesman Ott Celkin said Friday.

Bus driver Angela Dixon told police some of the students had been bothering the girl for weeks before the Thursday attack. The girl told police that two girls began punching her in the face on the way home from school, and that five boys then jumped on top of her. Police said the girl also spat on her attackers.

Dixon called police, who took the girl to the county's sexual assault treatment center. She was shaken and bruised but not seriously injured, Celkin said.

Police and the Broward County Schools' security department were investigating, and no arrests had been made Saturday, authorities said.

Also, counseling is planned at the school, said Paulette McClane, principal at Rickards Middle School in Oakland Park.

"I want the parents to know we're concerned, and we're going to try to present any problems we can," McClane said.

County OKs another borrow pit

The applicant, Battle Ridge

Co. of Florida, sought to dig 798,000 cubic yards from a 210-acre site north of State Road 434 and immediately west of Florida Avenue. Commissioners also approved a waiver of their month-old 300 foot setback requirement from wetlands because Battle Ridge did not plan to pump water from the excavation site.

Important Notice To Seniors!!

Recently a mail piece went out to you by my incumbent opponent, claiming that I would try to take away Social Security benefits. That is an outright lie and false information. First of all, State Legislators have NOTHING to do with federal Social Security programs.

Secondly...and for the record...I would never vote to take social security away from seniors. I'm concerned for our seniors and will fight to represent YOU in Tallahassee... not big business...not the tax and spend bureaucrats, unlike my opponent who voted to tax seniors in care facilities with a $1.50 per day bed tax.

I hope you'll join with the numerous of other seniors that have called my campaign office offended by this obvious scare attack on seniors. On November 3rd,

ELECT NEW LEADERSHIP

Barrie
MASTERS

SEMINOLE COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD - SEAT 3

- Corporate executive
- Experienced educator
- Concerned parent
- Dedicated to service
- Prepared on the issues.

Barrie Masters Stands for:

- Technical preparation
- Programs of choice
- Support for teachers
- School/community based management
- Safe busing policies
- Elimination of wasteful spending
- Public input into policy considerations.

FD. Pol. Adv. Paid for by the Campaign Account of Barrie Masters.

The Orlando Sentinel Endorsement:
 October 18, 1992

...We believe Mr. Masters would make an unusually good board member. Not often do you see the combination of keen insight, managerial experience, intelligence and tenacity.

Mr. Masters' ideas about education - including ways to better prepare students for the job market - indicate an ability to think and willingness to suggest dramatic change...

Mr. Masters is challenging Nancy Warren, who is seeking a fourth term. Where she has become an echo for the administration, Mr. Masters would challenge. Where she wants to spend, he outlines plans for doing more with less.

...The Sentinel enthusiastically recommends the election of Barrie Masters to the School Boards' District 3 seat."

Halloween

 predicted about 300 people would visit her family's graveyard attraction this weekend.
 "It will really, really scare you," she promised.
 Meanwhile, back at Magnolia Mall, a few Halloween trappings hung in the store windows and the orange and black decorations graced a few storefronts.
 However, homage was also made to the political campaign. Between two skeletons awaying in the wind outside a store was a Clinton/Gore sticker, although Democrats might think there were better places for such a sticker. Republicans probably thought the sticker was quite appropriately between two dead things.
 The tables set up in the mall did not all have Halloween items, although a few people behind the tables dressed as witches or other various personalities associated with the holiday. Black and orange balloons were also tied to several posts and tables.

 One table boasted Halloween items such as artificial pumpkins, plastic witches and other assorted things. The cookies offered to hungry shoppers were in the basic Halloween orange and black. However, there was apparently no holiday changes to the hot dogs, and soft drinks offered.
 One of the songs blaring out through the stereo system did have a slight Halloween theme. Patsy Cline sang her classic song, "Walking After Midnight," although, presumably, she did not have trick or treating in mind.
 Some sellers were immune to the holiday. One man offered flowers and plants to shoppers. Typical plants such as the bush sage were offered to interested bystanders. There was no wolfbane, garlic or even black and orange colored flowers or plants.

A spokesman for Fica World said many people had taken advantage of a number of Halloween specials.
 "There was a mob out here last night," Dick Thatcher said.
 Among other events, the Central Florida Holiday East cloggers are attempting to set a clogging record by dancing non-stop for 24 hours.
 "They're still going strong," Thatcher said Saturday afternoon.
 Andrea Farmer, the public relations manager for the Central Florida Zoological park, said a "nice crowd" of both children and adults were spending Halloween at the zoo.
 Children were able to learn a great deal about bats during day, due to a special display of bats by the Lube Foundation.
 And in Greenway Park in Lake Mary, hieratic young ghosts and goblins participated in the Chamber of Commerce Bookworm Fairy Tale Festival.

Games

 Center this afternoon, the other events will all take place around Seminole County, most of them in Sanford and Lake Mary.
 The canoeing event, for example, will take place on Lake Monroe. Tennis will be at Bayhead Racquet Club and the archery contest will be at Seminole Community College.
 Today's ceremonies, which will culminate with the lighting of the Olympic torch at 3 p.m., will feature speakers welcoming the athletes and offering health and fitness tips.
 The featured speaker at the opening ceremonies will be Dr. Lawrence Vallario, who is the head of Sanford Cardiology.
 "He will be talking about general health and fitness issues," Uray said.
 Also on the program for this afternoon are Jack Wertz, director of the Seminole County Tourist Development Council, Mayor Bettye Smith and the Rev. Tom Smith.
 Once the games get underway, the athletes will be vying for medals and ribbons and for a chance to compete in the U.S. National Senior Sports Classic which will take place early next year in Baton Rouge, La.

 The Oviedo Recreation and Parks Department, 1600 Lockwood Rd., will host a Lap Swim and Pasta Dinner today for the seniors participating in this year's Golden Age Games swim meet. The cost of the Lap Swim, including dinner, will be $2 per person.
 Those interested in the dinner may call 359-5650 for reservations.
 On the slate for tomorrow's competition are tennis, which begins at 9 a.m. at Bayhead Racquet Club in Lake Mary; synchronized swimming at 9:30 a.m. at Westmonte Center in Altamonte Springs; bowling at 11 a.m. at Bowl America in Sanford; sprint canoe races at 2 p.m. at Sanford Landings in Sanford; 8-ball billiards at 2 p.m. at Sanford City Hall; and canoe obstacle course at 3 p.m. at Sanford Landings.

 There will also be a breakfast at 7 a.m. at the Sanford Civic Center and a social reception at 6 p.m. also at the civic center.

 cannot have "A" paying for "B's" flooding. We have to have the proper financing that is fair to everyone.
 He is not in favor of the proposed one mill special tax increase to finance paving and drainage which will affect all Lake Mary citizens for several years to come.
 Future Projects: "The city cannot be split between old Lake Mary and new Lake Mary. We must look at the entire city, and do what is best for everyone, whether they are residents or business owners," Brender commented.
 "Five to ten years from now, the city will be close to being built out," he said. "We'll have probably 15,000 to 18,000 residents and the city will be predominantly neighborhoods, with considerable commercial areas along the boulevard, Rinehart Road, and near the I-4 corridor."
 Operation of the city: "There are those on the Commission now who have been saying let's pave and drain all the city. But

and the eventual completion of the Lake Mary Boulevard widening, we have a bright future ahead," he said. "I can envision Rinehart Road, five years from now, as having hotels, motels, clean industry, and institutional facilities that will provide many jobs and improve the entire area."
 Operation of the city: "I dislike the way the present commission seems to have its mind made up before hearing from the citizens or getting input from the staff," he said. "Decisions must be based on a cooperative effort between the city staff and members of the commission."
 Lormann said, "because many people who live on unpaved streets don't want them to be paved. But drainage is a big issue that needs serious consideration, and soon."
 "One thing we must consider for paving," Lormann added, "is consideration of increased traffic that would result from certain streets being paved. We can't expect the residents who live on the street to pay for it all."
 Future projects: "With the comprehensive plan we have

 Operation of the city: "I dislike the way the present commission seems to have its mind made up before hearing from the citizens or getting input from the staff," he said. "Decisions must be based on a cooperative effort between the city staff and members of the commission."
 Lormann said, "There are many issues of critical importance coming up in the next two years, and it is going to take cooperation, and citizen involvement to get things done right."

PUBLIC NOTICE

This notice is to inform the residents of Seminole County that the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners has amended its 1980-83 (7th year) Final Statement of Community Development Objectives and Projected Use of Funds under the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program. The Final Statement was originally submitted in August, 1982.

On October 27, 1982, the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners amended this Final Statement to amend an activity under the 7th year Community Development Block Grant Program. The new activity is amended as follows:

Johnson Hill Paving & Drainage Improvements:

The paving and drainage of Pineview and Denise Streets and the southern connector in Johnson Hill.

Original budget: $125,000
 Amended budget: $195,000

The Seminole County Planning Department will submit this amendment to the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development (HUD) after seven (7) days following this notice. Any questions or comments should be directed to:

ELECT NANCY WARREN

PROVEN SCHOOL BOARD LEADERSHIP IS NEEDED NOW MORE THAN EVER BEFORE! NOW IS NOT THE TIME TO CHANGE.

I BELIEVE:

- ★ That the needs of the children come first.
- ★ That parents must share in the decision making process at local schools along with teachers and administrators.
- ★ That resources must be allocated based upon the program needs identified by local School Advisory Committees.
- ★ That all children can learn.
- ★ That students must graduate prepared for a changing world.
- ★ That high expectations result in greater achievement.

three boys and three girls. The oldest daughter was Anna who married Robert Kenan. She has passed on. The second daughter, Kitty, was married to the late Bob Axi who was well known in Sanford. Kitty still resides in Sanford but at the present time in New Jersey to be near her son.

The third daughter is Marjorie who was married to W.E. "Duke" Dodson. For a number of years he was a salesman for the wholesale Wight Grocery Company. Marjorie resides at 117 West 16th Street in Sanford.

The first DuBose son was H.C. Jr., better known around town as "Ham." He married and moved to Dallas where he spent the rest of his life. There was William W. "Bill" DuBose who, after his marriage moved to Orlando as a representative of a major insurance company. He, also, is no longer with us. Then there was Frank who spent his life in Sanford. He was a bookkeeper. As a youngster I can still see the senior DuBose walking at times to and from his home and office.

The "young" lady who called me about the DuBose family was Lake Mary's "historian in residence," Margaret Greene Wesley. Remember the story about J.R. Stewart, the auto dealer who became a wholesaler and retail florist? I wrote that he once owned the Moon Motor Car Company. He also handled the Maxwell automobile — the car Jack Benny made famous on his radio and television shows.

Well, Margaret was married 48 years to Marcus Greene. He bought a new Hudson auto from the Wight Brothers in 1927. Marcus was a carpenter. He worked for building contractor Frank Loosing. One morning Greene went to work as usual with other carpenters. When they arrived at Loosing's place of business they were told they didn't have jobs. Loosing explained to them that the Seminole County Bank had gone under and he didn't have money to pay them.

Greene went back to the Hudson agency and traded his new car for $600 and a used Maxwell. He then married Margaret. One morning he was driving the Maxwell on Country Club Road when a lady driving a car came out of a side road (it might have been Rantoul Lane) and hit Greene's Maxwell broadside. Only the body of the car was damaged. But it could not be repaired.

Marcus could not locate another Maxwell body. But he did discover an Essex body would fit the Maxwell frame. It was installed and worked perfectly. The car had to be painted. Margaret suggested a wine color, thinking it would be blue. But it turned out to be red. Marcus and Margaret packed up and drove to North Carolina where they stayed two years. In 1930 they moved to Tennessee. They had been married 48 years when Marcus passed away.

In 1985, Margaret married Raiford Wesley. Unfortunately, he died in 1988.

If you've never read Margaret's book on the early history of Sanford and Lake Mary I recommend you do so. I warn you, though, if you start reading it, you won't want to put it down.

Water

Inches below the record level reached in September 1960 after Hurricane Donna.

Florida's groundwater is replenished by rainfall, which district groundwater experts say takes three months or more to seep underground.

Rainfall recorded in Sanford reached a total of six feet, six inches, about five inches less than normal. Still, accumulated Sanford rainfall is about five inches above normal for the 90-day period between July 1 and Sept. 30, about 6.8 inches about the six month average and about 6.8 inches above the year-to-day average.

driven a lot of the drug trade out of the area and turned the neighborhood back to the people," Kelley said.

Although crack houses at one time dominated the landscape, the park symbolizes how residents are taking back their neighborhood, she said.

The park is being funded with $42,000 of Community Development Block Grant funds. Construction will begin Monday and is expected to be completed by Dec. 1.

Included in the park will be playground equipment, basketball courts, picnic tables, grills and benches.

"There is something for younger people and something for senior citizens. There will be some senior citizens programs there," she said.

The groundbreaking will begin at 10 a.m. Monday at 2000 Hurston Ave. in Midway.

team had a back named Hendrix Lyles. During one game Hendrix fumbled the ball on a very critical play. SHS Coach Leonard McLucas was upset with Lyles. After the game McLucas tossed a football to Lyles and told him to carry it everywhere he went for a week. He noted that pigskin to school and back, to every class, to the lunch room, to bed, on dates and everywhere else he went.

There was also a pretty young SHS student named Mary Lou Lyles. Here's where I need help. Were they brother and sister? You see, there were two Lyles' families in Sanford at that time. One was J.R. "Happy" Lyles who was an Atlantic Coast Line locomotive engineer or perhaps a conductor. I do know that back in the 1920s "Happy" opposed Forrest Lake in a race for a seat in the Florida Legislature's House of Representatives. He shocked the town by defeating the very popular Sanford mayor.

The other was John Lyles who operated a billiard parlor adjacent to Joe's Smoke House on the north side of the 100 block of West First Street. Frankly, I don't have the slightest idea which of the Lyles was the father of Hendrix and Mary Lou. If you know get in touch.

mitting functions of the Florida Department of Regulation, Department of Natural Resources, Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, water management districts, and another environmental permitting entity into one agency.

Stone said the consolidation will end duplication hassles for individuals and developers and reduce duplicated expenses.

Couch pledges to keep an open mind on issues and would seek to have a 2 percent across the board budget cut from all agencies to reduce costs, saving approximately $250 million. He would also match growth in state spending to cost-of-living increases — or decreases. Couch also supports requiring two-thirds of the Legislature to approve tax increases to limit the hikes.

President Bush is being haunted by new questions about Iran-Contra and Bill Clinton faces a shrinking lead as some new polls suggest the presidential race is a dead heat with just three days to go.

CNN-USA Today, Newsweek and ABC polls accorded Clinton a statistically insignificant edge, though a fourth, for CBS, said the Democrat was ahead of Bush by 10 points. Ross Perot was a poor third in all the polls.

Bush said the Iran-Contra issue, which resurfaced with new evidence that seemed to refute Bush's insistence he was "out of the loop" on the arms-for-hostages deal, was being politicized by a "frantic governor of Arkansas."

But Clinton, at a town hall meeting Friday night in Detroit, said the new evidence gives the lie to a president who has "done a lot of loose talking about trust."

All three major candidates faced brutal weekend schedules as they entered the home stretch to Tuesday's showdown. The Democratic and Republican camps targeted the same toss-up states and hope-scotched the country. Both, for instance, put Wisconsin and its 11 electoral votes on their map today.

Bush was traveling the state by train: a Clinton visit to Milwaukee was sandwiched between stops in Atlanta, the Quad cities of Iowa and Illinois and Cincinnati.

The new polls varied, but all showed Perot mired in third place, in the mid-teens, despite his massive advertising blitz. But Perot had rallies in Tampa, Fla., and Kansas City today, with more on tap Sunday.

"Our sense is we're turning around" again, Clinton said in Detroit when asked about a race that's gone from showing him with double-digit leads just days ago to neck-and-neck, according to at least some polls.

Bush and Clinton kept up their duel over economics, with Bush calling his rival's plan "trample-down economics" and Clinton saying Bush would just give America "four more years of trickle-down economics, declining incomes, rising unemployment."

But Bush was again consumed by Iran-Contra when former Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger was named in a fresh indictment that contradicts Bush's claim that he didn't know that the Reagan administration was trading arms for hostages in Lebanon.

Perot delights many with Florida stopover

TAMPA — A year after he headlined a Tampa rally to oust incumbents from Congress, Ross Perot returned Saturday and urged cheering fans to back his presidential bid.

Nearly 8,000 supporters from around the state gave him a three minute standing ovation at the University of South Florida Sun Dome and interrupted his 45-minute speech with shouts of "Go Ross Go."

The Independent candidate delighted the crowd with humor, jabs at his opponents and promises to fix America's ills. The arena resounded with boos when he mentioned President Bush and Democrat Bill Clinton.

Perot predicted a "November surprise" in Tuesday's election, saying millions of people who registered to vote for the first time this year are in his camp.

"We're in a two-minute drill time," he said, urging each person to vote and to get five friends to cast their ballots for him.

Perot, who appeared with his wife, Margot, told the gathering of young and old that only he had business experience, and reminded followers he spent $60 million of his own money, no tax funds.

Norma Wright, a 63-year-old widow from Port Richey, was there last year when Perot keynoted a Throw the Hypocritical Rascals Out (THRO) rally.

"He was wanting on the ballot and I was ready to put him there at that time," said Mrs. Wright, a former Democrat wearing a Perot T-shirt and six Perot buttons. "He seems sincere. He's a second Harry Truman. You know, 'Give 'em hell Harry.' Perot does that. He tells it like it is."

couldn't have been happier.

"I knew it Nov. 2 — just about a year ago. I said 'Ross for Boss' — three months before Perot said on the Larry King Live show he'd be willing to run if the people wanted him.

"THRO is on a roll. Our goal is to dump 125 incumbents and I fully expect 150, but wouldn't be surprised if it went higher. We're going to give him the best Congress anyone could want — or at least a big step in that direction."

"I've been a Republican all my life and I wouldn't vote for either Bush or Clinton," said Georgene Whitacre, 49 of Winter Park. "Perot has the answer. He came right out and said it would be hard on us. He is honest."

Crystal Loska, a 31-year-old nurse from Hudson, believes Perot is the answer to a faltering economy. "He'll give us more jobs. Raising the gas tax is a good idea. He's up front and honest."

Jim Miller drove from Sarasota. "I'm here to support the man who is going to put America back in the hands of the people, give my children the same opportunities I had and put fiscal responsibility back where it belongs. I don't mind paying for it," said the 62-year-old retired real estate broker waving a blue and white Perot placard.

A heckler in the stands behind Perot shouted a question during Perot's speech, asking what about AIDS? Two deputies escorted him from the arena as Perot tried to answer his question.

"I'm absolutely focused on getting a cure to AIDS," Perot said, suggesting the government should speed up drug screening procedures. "If I'm going to die anyhow, I'd just as soon die trying to be cured."

Forfeit mars Over-35

SANFORD — A dispute in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Fall Over-35 Softball League resulted in the decision of a pair of Checkers players leaving a game Friday night at Chase Park.

In the other game, Sanford Offending Service, coached by McRoberts, Ann Center, lost.

Thorne now leads the league with a 6-1 record, while Checkers is 5-2, Sanford Offending is 3-4 and McRoberts 0-7.

Next week at Chase Park, Checkers plays Sanford Offending at 7 p.m. and Thorne takes on McRoberts at 8 p.m.

Contributing to the Sanford Offending offense were Robert Smith (three singles, two runs, RBI), Jim Adams and Tom Grover (one double, one single, two runs and two RBI each), Jack Eltonhead (two singles, two runs, RBI) and Ken Davidson (two singles, run).

Also contributing were Jim Nolle (home run, two runs, two RBI), Steve Whitney (single, run, three RBI), Tom Kames (single, two runs), Dean Smith (single, run, two RBI) and Ray Verdugo (single, RBI).

During the McRoberts offense were Hatch Dickey (two singles, two RBI), Jim Karp (two singles, RBI), James Steing, David Jones and Bill Zaldonis (one single, one run each) and Tom Karp (single).

Mayfair women take to links

SANFORD — Here are the results for the past month in the Mayfair Women's Golf Association's weekly play.

On October 14th, Helen Kilbrow posted a score of 29 to edge Margaret Bolts, who came in with a 30, in a best time of 18 with a handicap.

On October 21st, in a choice of best time with a handicap, Gloria Prosser took a 32 with a victory over Irene Harris.

On October 28th, the first round of the Electric was held for foursomes with partners. Fawn Joanne Lane and Margaret Bolts were the winners, with Peggy Phillips and Jane McKittrick finishing second.

Tragedy mars Breeders' Cup

HALLANDALE — A race-disappointed American racing fans again Saturday on a Breeders' Cup day marked by tragedy and the narrow escape of great English jockey Lester Piggott.

Sent off as the 3-2 favorite, the French-based Arazi, who had finished eighth as the favorite in the Kentucky Derby on May 2, struggled home fifth in a 14-horse field in the Mile on the grass.

Tragedy struck in the very first race, when British-bred Mr Brooks smashed his right front cannon bone and crashed to the track with a quarter mile remaining in the Sprint.

The 56-year-old Piggott was hurled to the ground over Mr Brooks' head. The horse then fell on him.

The Sprint was won by Thirty Stews, who scored by a neck over passing Meade in 1:08.15 for 6 furlongs under 126 pounds.

In other races, Argentine-bred Pasana won the Install, Eliza won the Juvenile Fillies, Gilded Time won the Juvenile and Lure won the Mile.

AROUND THE NATION

Publix joins Giants fight

SAN FRANCISCO — Giants owner Bob Lurie and Florida's largest supermarket chain plan to join forces to fight a local group's improved offer to keep the team in San Francisco.

Lurie is set to start a personal lobbying campaign among fellow owners on Tuesday in Chicago. Meanwhile, Publix Super Markets Inc. said it is ready to join the Tampa Bay investment group bidding for the Giants.

Lurie announced Aug. 7 his agreement in principle to sell the team for $115 million to the Florida group, which plans to move the Giants to the Suncoast Dome in St. Petersburg.

A group of San Francisco investors hoping to keep the team in place revised an earlier counter-offer of $95 million to $100 million earlier this week.

According to published reports in both the San Francisco Chronicle and San Francisco Examiner, the San Francisco offer has several strings attached.

Some of those strings include a provision that local investors must secure a $35 million loan at acceptable terms to help finance the deal, and an additional 15 days after the deal is accepted to look over the team's financial records.

The local investors also want Lurie's assurance there will be no lawsuit from the Florida investors if their offer is rejected.

Seminole wide receiver Matt Diemer (middle) splits a pair of University defenders for a 16 yard gain during the Tribe's 30-7 triumph over the Cougars in a 4A District 7 game Friday night. The victory by Seminole sets up a November 13th matchup with Leesburg for the 4A 7 crown. Leesburg whitewashed Edgewater 26-0.

ORLANDO — There are no more homecomings for the Seminole High School Seminoles, with three consecutive road games finishing the season, but the Seminoles did have a homecoming victory Friday night against 4A District 7 for the University Cougars, 30-7 in the University Homecoming game.

The Tribe victory, coupled with Leesburg's 26-0 district triumph over Edgewater, gives both teams a 2-0 district record, ending any chance of another Kansas tie-breaker, and sets up a winner-take-all matchup between Seminole and the Yellow Jackets for the district championship at Leesburg on Friday, November 13th.

Seminole controlled the ball for most of the night, scoring it seemed at will.

"We should have had 30 points before halftime," Seminole head coach Emory Blake said. "We felt that our execution wasn't the best."

LONGWOOD — Now that a devil's night, Bobby Washington transformed himself into a demon Friday night, giving the DeLand Bulldogs nightmares by rushing for 192 yards and four touchdowns and throwing for another score as Lyman outlasted the Cougars in a 4A District 4 home game.

Bobby's first two really good ball games back-to-back, said Lyman head coach Larry Baker. "He's a kid who always wants to be on the field. And it helps to have another outstanding player with him in quarterback, Todd Cleveland from USA, enough about those two guys."

Cleveland ran for 80 yards and threw for 29 while passing the offense to 362 total yards, 320 on the ground. Lyman scored four touchdowns on its

Merthie, Raiders ready for season

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Seminole Community College men's basketball. Act three, Scene one.

If life was a play, that would be the prologue to the 1992-1993 junior college basketball season which gets underway Tuesday night for the Raiders.

After successful runs by Joe Sterling, 16 years, and Bill Payne, 10 seasons, the reins have been turned over to Seminole High School and Seminole Community College graduate Bernard Merthie, who will be starting his first season as a head basketball coach after serving as an assistant at SCC last year.

Merthie will have big shoes to fill as the Raiders have never had a losing season in those first 26 years.

The men from SCC will open a 30-game season at Pasco-Hernando community college in Port St. Lucie on Florida's West Coast next Tampa. The game will start at 7:30 p.m.

The home opener for the Raiders will be Friday night, when they host Brevard Community College, Gulf Coast Community College and Patrick Air Force Base at the Health and Physical Education Center.

but, we did what it took to win the ball game, offensively and defensively."

The Tribe defense held the Cougars to 29-yards in the first half, giving Seminole an average starting field position around the 50-yard line.

The Tribe offense took advantage of the field position, scoring on their first two drives on runs by Gerard Shine of four-yards and two-yards. Jason Walraven added both extra points, giving Seminole a 14-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Tribe drove downfield on their next two drives, and were threatening to score again, but, fumbled on second and goal on the University two-yard line, and first and goal from the University seven-yard line, respectively.

The Seminole defense made up for the fumbles with Johnny Golden sacking Cougar quarterback Jerry Buchert in the end zone for a safety.

The Cougars lone score came in the third quarter on a 65-yard run by Carl Jones. Ryan McGill added the extra point and it was 23-7 Tribe with 1:11 left in the third quarter.

 The Seminole passing assault was nearly flawless with Travis

Perkins going 7-for-11 for 152-yards, and Robert Ruffin and Charlie Farmer each adding passes of over 30-yards out of the half back option to give the Tribe a total of 216-yards in the air.

"We had several key plays," Blake said. "We had receivers wide open diving to catch the ball and running for the endzone. All of the kids were out there giving it the best they can give. We don't have that 'super star' type athlete like a Marquette Smith, Jeff Blake or a Tim Raines to put in that can deliver the knock out punch. We're jabbing and jabbing but we're not getting that knock out punch."

Next week the Tribe (5-2, 2-0 in the district) will travel to Altamonte Springs to take their jobs at the Lake Brantley Patriots in a Seminole Athletic Conference game. The game will start at 7:30 p.m. at Tom Storey Stadium.

The Cougars fell to 1-6 overall and 0-2 in 4A-District 7. They will host first-year school Cypress Creek at 7:30 p.m.

Hounds

first two possessions and relentlessly controlled the tempo throughout the senior night game.

The win gives Lyman a 4-3 record, 3-2 in the district. The Greyhounds need to win their last two games, against Lake Mary and Lake Brantley, and pray that undefeated Mainland miraculously loses its last two games to finish tied for first place in the district and force a Kansas tie-breaker.

But to have even that slim chance is noteworthy, considering Lyman was mired in a 1-17 funk before Baker revitalized the program this season.

"I feel real good about what our front people (on the offensive line) are doing after so many injuries," said Baker. "It's a good feeling to be winning. I'm extremely happy for the kids, more than I could probably ever express."

Lyman took charge from the opening kickoff, recovering their own on-sides kick just 36 yards from the end zone, and Washington then ran 20 yards for the first score.

The Greyhounds drove 90 yards when next they touched the ball, with Washington bursting seven yards for the touchdown. On the down side, an apparently tired Washington missed both extra point attempts.

DeLand made a game of it when Willie Robinson scampered 54 yards down the right sideline on a pass from Brent Marshall midway through the second quarter, making the score 12-7. But Lyman responded with 21 unanswered points.

Washington took a reverse from Cleveland and completed a difficult 13 yard touchdown pass under pressure to Jason Greene as Lyman responded to the hallday score on its next possession. Washington later ran for scores of 60 and 21 yards in the second half.

The Lyman defense also sparked. They did allow 275 total yards, including a 131 yard rushing performance from Bill Cherry, but they also forced four second half turnovers and made three sacks.

"We were pretty consistent on defense," said Baker. "We had a couple breakdowns, and DeLand has a good offense. That No.5 (Cherry) is really talented. We're always thankful when we're able to win. It was a good team effort. I think that says it best because it covers everybody."

Lyman's Homecoming game will be next Friday as it hosts Edgewater in a non-district game next starting at 7:30 p.m.

DeLand fell to 1-6 overall and 1-4 in 5A-District 4. The Greyhounds will host Lake Mary in a 5A-District 4 game at Spec Martin Stadium starting at 7:30 p.m.

Brevard and Gulf Coast will play at 6 p.m. with SCC and Patrick set for an 8 p.m. start. The consolation and championship games will take place at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday.

Mertie has years of experience. After playing at Seminole High and SCC, the 6-foot, 4-inch Sanford resident went on to Eckerd College in St. Petersburg where he was an Honorable Mention All-Sunshine State Conference performer both years at the school.

Mertie heads a coaching staff that consists of former Seminole Community College graduates. Assistant Dean Smith is starting his 11th season as an assistant at the local institution, while Gregory "Slim" Johnson, who played at SCC from 1984-86 and coached in 1986-87, is back to help. Mertie's brother, Ron, who was the head girls coach at Seminole high will also help.

One thing Mertie and his staff won't have to worry about this year is experience, as seven players return from last year's 16-15 squad as well as a transfer from Florida College in Tampa.

Back from a year ago are second leading scorer Phillip Williams, All-Mid-Florida Conference freshman team member Troy Bruening, Dean Gavin, Robert Walker, Lake Mary's Jason Hamelin and Sanford's Jeff Hall and Al Fossitt. The transfer is 6-foot, 7-inch Dean

Poshard

Williams, a jet-quick point guard from Norfolk, Virginia, was the second-leading scorer, behind graduated Florida Junior College Player of the Year Brian Nason, for SCC last year with an average of 15.5 points per game. He also led the Raiders in assists, 6.5 per game, and steals, 4.5 per contest. He is a good shooter and floor leader who will be counted on heavily this year.

Bruening, a 6-foot, 3-inch shooting guard from Lakewood, Ohio, is a tremendous three-point shooter who can take over a game by himself with his scoring ability. He averaged almost 10 points and six rebounds a game last year to earn the spot on the MPC freshman squad.

Gavin, a 6-foot, 4-inch guard/forward from Cleveland, Ohio, is a tremendous athlete who was an All-State performer in high school. His ability to score both inside and outside, as well as his rebounding prowess will be very important to SCC's success this season.

Hamelin, a 5-foot, 10-inch point/shooting guard, was starter most of last season and gives the team good shooting as well as tenacious defense. He and Williams have the ability to make life miserable for their opponents.

Walker is probably the most improved player on this year's team. After serving as a back-up last year, the 6-foot, 4-inch forward from Dade City has made great strides over the past year and could see a lot of action this year.

Hall and Fossitt, both 6-foot, 6-inches, came to the team late last year and showed good potential. They are both good shot blockers and shoot the ball well.

Poshard prepped in both San Francisco and Tampa before signing at FC. He is a good outside shooter and tenacious rebounder who could play an important role against bigger opponents.

Mertie has also signed a good group of freshmen, headed by Seminole high graduate Shawn Washington and J.J. Wiggins. Washington, a 6-foot, 3-inch guard/forward, is a scoring machine who can also rebound, while Wiggins, a 5-foot, 9-inch point guard, is a good floor general who will be an important back-up for Williams.

Among the other freshmen are Lyman's Aaron Merrell, Matland's Mike Burch, Evans' Evon Hammond and Indiana's Steven Thomas.

Merrell can play both forward and guard and gives the team added depth and shooting strength, while Burch and Hammond both are good scorers and rebounders. Thomas is a shooting guard from Springville, Indiana who can really shoot. He will be counted on heavily to back-up Bruening.

IN BRIEF

Longwood doctors leave

LONGWOOD — Longwood residents are saying good-bye to Drs. Mitchell and Yvonne Gaj. The couple have been practicing in the Longwood area since 1985.

They will be moving to Fort Walton Beach on Nov. 8, to become associates of Dr. Tom Hutchins, and will be in charge of the Fort Walton Beach office.

They have both been active in community activities including the Longwood/Winter Springs Chamber of Commerce and the March of Dimes.

Yvonne is a member of the Board of Directors for the Chamber, and chairman for the Chamber's newsletter.

First Union declares dividend

The board of directors of First Union Corporation has declared a quarterly cash dividend of 35 cents per share for its common stock (NYSE: FTU), an increase of 4 cents per share, or 13 percent, from the third quarter of 1992.

The common stock dividend is payable Dec. 15 to holders of record as of Nov. 27. On an annualized basis, the dividend rate is $1.40 per share, compared to the prior annual rate of $1.24 per share.

First Union Corporation is the nation's 11th largest bank holding company, with 896 banking offices including those at 101 E. First Street and 1801 French Ave. in Sanford.

Longwood man named to council

J. Thomas Laird, of Longwood, has been named by Colonial Mutual Funds, to its 1992 Leadership Council. Laird was recognized by the Boston based mutual fund company for outstanding achievement and professionalism in providing investment services to his clients.

He has been an investment professional for over 15 years. He is the owner/registered principal with Pioneer Western Financial Center in Winter Park.

In addition to his work, Laird is also actively involved in the community, and has been a member of the Lake Mary High School Boosters Club.

Businesses expand drug talks

By VICKI DeSOMMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — School children are not the only ones getting involved in Red Ribbon Week celebrations this week.

Many business people are taking up the banner of the Red Ribbon campaign to spread the drug-free message.

Mary Jane Natishyn of the Grove Counseling Center, who serves on the Red Ribbon Committee for Seminole County, said that many businesses made contributions of both manpower and financial resources.

"There has been a lot of support this year," Natishyn said.

Since 1989 Simplimatic, a Sanford-based machinery manufacturing business has participated in the Red Ribbon Week celebrations.

"We think that we have a drug free workplace," said Carol Alden, the company's human resource manager who has coordinated their participation in the program. "We celebrate Red Ribbon Week, but drug awareness is something that we promote 52 weeks a year."

Pert Esteban of the Human Resources department at AAA said his company also makes an effort to ensure they have a drug-free workplace.

Their emphasis during the Red Ribbon celebration is on spreading the drug-free message throughout the community, he said.

Esteban said that in addition to providing speakers at the schools and community organizations, AAA employees were assisting with the committee's information booth at the Altamonte Mall in Altamonte Springs.

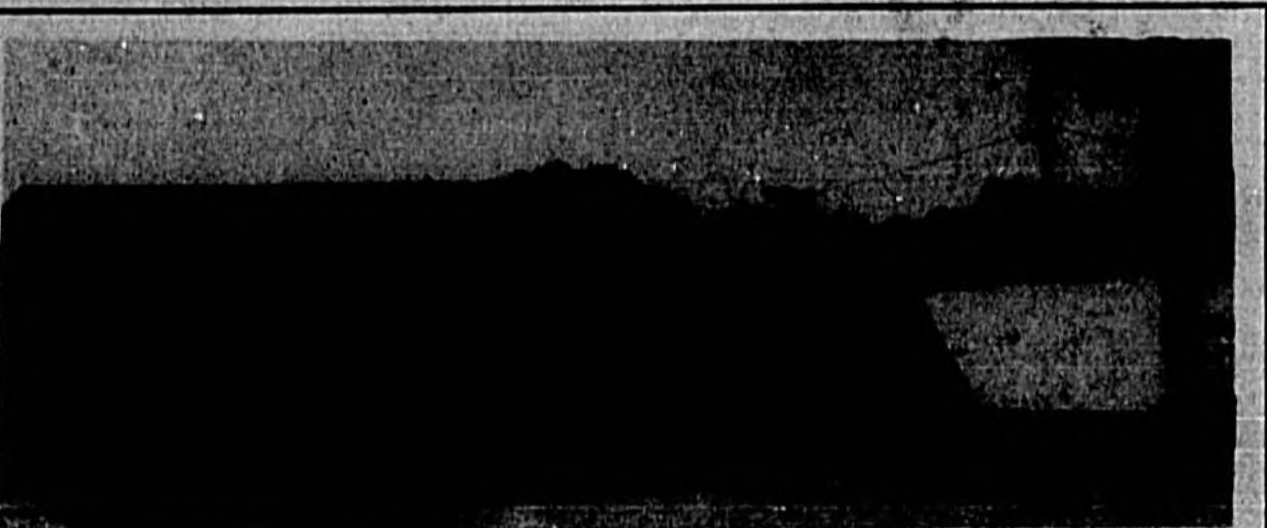

According to Mary Balk, a The Midway Community prevention specialist with the Seminole County school district who heads the local Red Ribbon committee, said there are many businesses that are helping with the booth, including Southland Corporation, Dagvar, Tube Tech, United Telephone, Coca Cola and Maitland's Cincinnati Bell Information Services.

Against Drugs (MCAD) has also been actively involved in the celebration outside the schools.

"We try to do this sort of thing all year long," said Johnell Jackson of MCAD. "But we work with the students in school and help get the message into the community this week."

Red Ribbon Week celebrations will continue through the end of this week.

The old Adcock Paint Center, now operated as a roofing and sheet metal business and mortgage company, managed by the original owner's family.

Adcock says thanks, goodbye to its many loyal customers

By BOB SPRASAMP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Adcock Paint Center, 800 S. French Ave., has closed operations after 30 years.

Andrew J. Adcock, who founded the business in 1962 after being discharged from the U.S. Navy, said he wants to thank his many customers from throughout Sanford and the surrounding areas, for their continued business during the many years of operation.

Prior to starting the paint store, Adcock served at the Sanford Naval Air Station, and for a brief period, worked as a painter before opening the paint store.

Mr. Adcock and his son, Andy will continue to operate Adcock Roofing and Sheet Metal at the same location.

The retail portion of the building will eventually be occupied by ECN Mortgage Corporation, managed by his son-in-law, Wayne R. Keeling.

Another new use of the facility will be the offering of insurance products and financial services, through Principal Financial Group, operated by Adcock's daughter, Linda A. Keeling, registered representative.

Chelsea appoints new branch manager

CASSELBERRY — Sheryl C. Adkins, CLC, has been named branch manager for Chelsea Title's Central Florida operations. The local branch is headquartered at 491 E. Semoran Blvd., Casselberry.

Adkins is a veteran title insurance executive with over 10 years experience in both commercial and residential real estate. She will oversee a staff of five.

Chelsea Title has been responsible for closing $28 million in residential properties in Seminole and Orange counties through the year's first nine months, to rank among the top 10 companies operating in the two-county market.

Adkins has been a part of Central Florida real estate since 1982, serving the last 7½ years with a major national title insurance underwriter as both an escrow officer and escrow manager.

A resident of Winter Springs, she was nominated three years in a row for "Quality Performance" by a large home building company, and is or has been affiliated with Florida Land Title Association, Mortgage Bankers Association, Central Florida Title Association and the Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida.

Powell to serve on U.S. board

SANFORD — R. Jack Powell, executive director of the Central Florida Paralyzed Veterans of America in Sanford, has been appointed to the U.S. Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board.

The appointment was made by President George Bush.

The Washington based Access Board is an independent Federal agency charged with ensuring that federally funded buildings, facilities and transportation are accessible to and usable by persons with disabilities.

The agency also develops accessibility guidelines and provides technical assistance for the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Powell was executive director of Paralyzed Veterans of America in Washington, D.C., from 1979 to 1980. During his 11 year period of service, the organization grew to become a major influence in veteran's affairs and an advocate for the civil rights of people with disabilities.

From 1976 until 1979, Powell managed the International Disabled Expo.

Colorado's Prime Steak opens local restaurant

By BOB SPRASAMP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Colorado's Prime Steak is the new restaurant opening this coming week in Sanford. The establishment has replaced Dunbar's restaurant at 3863 S. Orlando Drive.

New owners Dwayne and Lydia Pratt are newcomers to Sanford. "This is a great city," Dwayne said, "and we are really looking forward to serving the needs of true steak lovers."

Dwayne Pratt has served as general manager of a franchise restaurant for the past eight years.

"We've completely remodeled the old Dunbar's," he said, "and installed a new brick oven we will use for our food preparation."

Among his specialties he cites daily fresh Colorado steak, prime rib done over hard wood, fresh ground sirloin burgers. He is also proud of a special chicken meal.

"The way we prepare it," he said, "it sounds like it might be spicy, but it is very mild, and people say they really enjoy the taste."

Colorado's Prime Steak restaurant will operate from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 4 p.m. until 11 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The restaurant will be officially open for its first day of business this Thursday, Nov. 5.

Kmart grows in again

The Kmart Corporation in Troy, Michigan has two growth projects underway in the Seminole County area. The Sanford store is being expanded to almost double its size, and a new updated Kmart store will have its re-grand opening on Nov. 8, at 945 W. Highway 436 in Altamonte Springs.

The new Altamonte Springs facility will boast fresh surroundings, wider aisles, modern displays and quality merchandise. The 88,000 square foot store will also feature automotive and electronic departments as well as a portrait studio and pharmacy. In Sanford, the Kmart store at 3101 Highway 17-92, is presently being expanded to provide additional retail space. Lathan Construction Corporation of Lake Mary is heading up the project. It will almost double the Sanford Kmart store size by adding an additional 23,000 square feet, and improving the exterior of the building.

Also at the Kmart plaza in Sanford, Lathan is also working toward a Christmas time completion of the new Food Lion store.

IN BRIEF

Bridget Nasso

Dazzler of the Week

Bridget Nasso, an eleventh-grader at Seminole High School, has been named by her teammates of the school's Dazzler Dance Team as Dazzler of the Week.

Bridget, who likes being on the dance team because of the competition with other teams, also likes to shop.

She said, "I also enjoy being part of a team, but most of all, I love to dance. While being on the dance team, I have learned to be responsible and to respect others."

CHARITIES

Thanksgiving Food Drive

The Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole and Miriam and Valerie's School of Dance Arts have combined to sponsor a Thanksgiving Food Drive in Central Florida. This public service activity is being held in support of the Sanford Christian Sharing Center and will help provide food for needy families during the Thanksgiving season.

Food items for the needy will be collected at the three SODA studio locations in the Central Florida area: Elm Avenue in Sanford, The Oaks Shopping Center on Lake Mary Boulevard in Lake Mary, and the studio on Enterprise Road in Orange City.

The food drive begins immediately and continues until Nov. 19.

BGS and SODA members would like to remind contributors that foodstuffs especially appropriate for Thanksgiving will make 1992 a special Thanksgiving for the needy to remember and that the needy can also use personal items such as toothpaste and laundry soap.

RSVP sets recruitment social

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) will hold a recruitment Pie Social at the Sanford Senior Center on Thursday, Nov. 12 from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Representatives from several non-profit agencies will be available with information on volunteer opportunities.

Anyone over the age of 60 is eligible to join RSVP.

For more information call 323-4440.

Seniors set garage sale

SANFORD — The Board of Directors of Seminole County Better Living for Seniors will be holding a garage sale on Saturday, Nov. 7 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

It will be at the Barnett Bank in Longwood at the corner of State Road 434 and Rangeline Road.

The proceeds from the garage sale will benefit the agency's Meals on Wheels program and other support services for Seminole County's elderly citizens.

Expedition Yellowstone

30 4-Hers and adults participate in educational program

By Deborah Yingling
Herald Correspondent

Seminole County 4-H Club members spout the details of their experiences at Yellowstone National Park as ebulliently as an eruption of Old Faithful. The group of 19 students and 11 adults visited Yellowstone, the nation's first national park established in 1872 under a program jointly sponsored by the National Park Service, the World Wildlife Fund, the National Park Foundation and the Yellowstone Foundation.

The local group won the invitation to attend the educational program through a lottery system that included groups from many states. Being selected to participate in Expedition Yellowstone was only the first challenge the group faced. They had to earn enough money to pay for the trip including airfare.

Undaunted by the enormity of their task, the members sold watermelon, frozen candy bars and chips at the local Fourth of July fireworks display. "We sold Coke as a group," said Vicki Meriwether, the local group leader. "We had two car washes, one in Lake Mary and one in Sanford." The flurry of fund-raising also included selling hot dogs and sodas in front of the Sanford Kmart and a multifamily garage sale. The fund-raising, which took place over several months, involved group members and their families and the community as a whole. Meriwether learned of the Expedition Yellowstone project after meeting a national park ranger while she was visiting the Everglades.

The trip was the source of many new experiences for both students and adults. "Many (club members) had never flown before. It was the first time many of us had seen snow," relayed Judy Shoemaker, one of the adult group members. "The adults learned as much as the kids."

Elmer 'Ponti' Stufflet on a recent foggy morning.

'Mr. Walker'

Stufflet just keeps on shuffling 7 miles daily

By Ed Korgan
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — A 77-year-old Sanford man has walked seven miles a day, seven days a week for the last 17 years.

Elmer "Ponti" Stufflet began walking in Royersford, Pa. in 1975 when he retired. He explained that he did not want to sit around but wanted to remain active, so he started walking. At first one mile a day but he quickly expanded it into seven miles.

Ponti takes a route around the Hidden Lake section which includes Lake Mary Boulevard, U.S. Highway 17-92, Airport Boulevard and back into Hidden Lake Estates. He has walked this route since the week he moved to Sanford in 1984.

The walk begins at 7 a.m. every morning for approximately two hours. When asked if there was any morning that he didn't feel like walking, Ponti said, "I still go walking. Sometimes I feel a little tired but I go walk anyway, because it makes me feel better as I get to walking." When the weather is too bad for walking he has an exercise bicycle at home which he rides on twice as long to make up for not getting out.

The weather has to be terrible for the walk to be cancelled. Many times Ponti carries an umbrella to take care of the Florida showers. He can only remember returning home once and that day it was storming so bad a lady and her children made him get into their car so she could get him home. On cold winter mornings he bundles up in a heavy jacket, gloves and a fur cap and heads out the door.

His travels have given him many new friends. People wave at him as they go by and he waves back. When asked if he waves at certain cars and does he get to know who waves at him, he exclaimed "I get to know a lot that waves at me, some of them don't wave at me, I pretty well know who waves at me."

Ponti recalls one fellow who worked for AT&T who he had seen and waved to many times. One morning the fellow stopped and said, "Here I have a new hat

Golden anniversary

Couple's marriage 'arranged in heaven'

By BONNIE BASTRICH
Herald Staff Writer

Dorothy and Herman Schroeder spent the month of October celebrating their golden wedding anniversary by doing exactly what they wanted to do. "We certainly had a wonderful month," Herman said. "Just wonderful."

The Schroeders reminisce joyfully over their whirlwind romance. Herman was visiting his brother in Detroit when he met Dorothy. It was love at first sight. "When our eyes met for the first time, we both knew we were for each other," Herman said.

On their fifth date, Herman placed a diamond ring on her finger and they were married six months and four days later, on Oct. 22, 1942, in Grand Haven, Mich. by a Lutheran minister. And now, 50 years later,

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy L. Dotson

Lee Dingle, Timothy Dotson exchange vows

SANFORD — Denise Lee Dingle and Timothy Lawrence Dotson are announcing their marriage today. They were married on July 18 at 1 p.m. at First United Methodist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Jeanne Davis and the Rev. Cliff Melvin, church pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. Music was provided by Daniel Sellers, church organist.

The bride is the daughter of Dennis and Kathy Dingle of Crystal River. The bridegroom is the son of John and Bonnie Dotson of Spring Hill.

Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride chose for her vows an elegant white satin gown embellished with beading to enhance the high wedding ring neckline. The gown was accented with beaded lace medallions and featured Gibson sleeves with cut-out appliques. Her cathedral-length train was delicately cut out. The headpiece of silk lily of the valley flowers was enlaced with pearls and the attached fingertip illusion veil was edged with pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of bridal pink and white roses, baby's breath and English ivy.

Wendy Cash served as matron of honor. She wore a tea-length pastel floral print gown with short puffed sleeves. A matching bow was placed on the left hip. She carried two white roses, a single pink rose, baby's breath and greenery tied with pink ribbon. Her upswep hair was held by a comb accented with small pink flowers and leaves.

Bridesmaids were Molly White, Dawn Connell and Amy Shinn. Their gowns and headpieces were identical to the honor attendant's. They each carried a single pink rose, baby's breath and greenery tied with pink ribbon.

The bride's mother, Kathy Dingle, wore a flowered silk dress and a pink and white rose wrist corsage. The mother of the groom, Bonnie Dotson, wore a green and black dress and a white rose wrist corsage.

The bride's grandmother, Leticia Lee, and the groom's grandmother, Sara Dotson, wore flowered pastel dresses and white rose wrist corsages.

Steve Wallace served as best man. The groom's brother, Darin Dotson, served as usher. Groomsmen were Mike Dotson, brother of the groom; James Dingle, bride's brother, and Rob Feigel, friend of the bride and groom.

The flower girl, Jenna Hobbs, was dressed as the honor attendant and carried a white wicker basket filled with silk rose petals.

Joshua Maltesowaki, the bride's cousin, served as ring bearer and John Dickey, a friend of the bride's family, carried the bride's wedding train.

Following the ceremony, a buffet dinner was held at the Sanford Woman's Club, Sanford. The club, gaily decorated with garlands and pink satin bows, featured a champagne fountain and silver punch bowl with pink fruit punch. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pastel flowers and the traditional bride and groom figurines on top. The groom's cake was also decorated with pastel flowers. Music was provided for dancing by Guitarist/Soloist Gino Conti.

Jenny White and Heather Perchard kept the bride's book. The table was covered with a crocheted cloth made by the bride's great, great grandmother in 1920.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding and reception were from Crystal River, St. Petersburg, Tallahassee, Miami, Ponce Inlet, Fla. and North Augusta, S.C., Washington, D.C. and Atlanta, Ga.

After a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., the newlyweds are making their home in Lake Mary. The groom is a customer service representative and technician for South Royal Electronics. The bride is employed as an assistant manager at Taylor's Natural Foods and will graduate from the University of Central Florida, Orlando, in December.

Tilley - Van Dyke nuptials repeated in church rites

ORLANDO — Stephanie Shannon Tilley and Travis Boyd Van Dyke are announcing their marriage today. They were married Aug. 15, at 6 p.m. at First Baptist Church of Orlando. The Rev. James A. Dasek and the Rev. William A. Pickett performed the candle-light ceremony.

Vocalists presented the bride and groom's favorite Christian music. Solos were by David and Lori Blair and the groom's brother, Tim Van Dyke.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Tilley of Orlando and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R.O. Van Dyke Jr. of Orlando. The bride's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Brown, 2017 Jefferson Ave., Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a gown of white silk with Alencon lace and pearls. The gown featured a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and a princess waist. The headpiece of silk roses and Alencon lace held her double veil of illusion. The double veil was decorated with Alencon lace cutouts and the scalloped borders were trimmed in silk. The veil will become a family heirloom. She carried a bouquet of white roses, purple violets, lavender and white stock, purple statice, white stephanotis, interspersed with ivy.

Lydia June Brown served as maid of honor. She is a childhood friend of the bride as well as her Alpha Delta Phi Sorority sister. Ms. Brown wore a floor-length gown of Waverly Sweet Violets cotton fabric with a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and princess waist. She carried a bouquet of purple silk violets, lavender carnations and white baby's breath interspersed with ivy.

Bridesmaids were Barbra Jane Bayer, Sherri Ann Biby, Angela Nikoa Brown, Lisa Faye Carter, Monica Jean Randolph and Beverly Ann Van Dyke. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

The groom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Roger Elliot Chapin, Evan Gilbert Grothe, Jerry Richard Tilley, Keith Camper Van Dyke, Rufus Oscar Van Dyke, III, Timothy Howard Van Dyke.

Junior bridesmaid was Erin Lane Tilley and junior groomsmen was Chadwick Allen Tilley.

Rufus Oscar Van Dyke, IV served as ring bearer. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at The Country Club of Orlando. Assistants in charge of the bride's book were Heather and Holly Lavaty and Tammy Byrie Lewis.

After a wedding-aki trip to Whistler Mountain, British Vancouver, Can., the newlyweds are making their home in Tallahassee.

Navy reunion a 'grand affair'

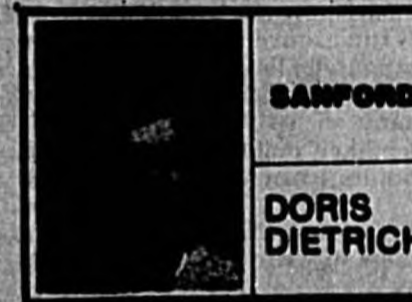

Jane and Bruce Saxon and Lois and Joe Faglione have recently returned from Pensacola where they attended a reunion of Navy Squadrons VC-9/VAH-1. Members of the Navy community will remember that VC-8 came to Sanford in the summer of 1965. Very shortly thereafter, VC-8 changed to VAH-11 and stayed in Sanford, while VAH-1 was formed under the command of Captain Paul Stevens in Jacksonville. Several officers and enlisted men accompanied Capt. Stevens to Jacksonville from here to form the first squadron of A3Ds (carrier based bombers), according to Jane Saxon.

The reunion was the first to be held by this group and was a grand affair at the Pensacola Hilton. Jane said. About 50 members and wives attended and the "sea stories" ran non-stop the entire four-day weekend.

Many of those attending had lived in Sanford for various periods of time, and according to Jane, spoke lovingly of "our town." Some wives said that their best memories of the service were those of Sanford.

Paul and Joyce Stevens and Willie and Suzanne Crenshaw were responsible for a very successful reunion. Others attending who had lived in the Sanford/Lake Mary area were: Dick and Jane Davidson, Irving Dickey, Al Case (the new president of the National Fleet Reserve Association); Betty Frohne, Ed Heflin, Fred Orwig, Gordon and Frances Robertson and Leonard and Jane Kneir.

VC-9/VAH-1 alumni in the area are encouraged to contact either Joe or Bruce. Joe is hoping to compile a more complete roster for later distribution of a newsletter as well as future reunions.

Couple end trail hike

Remember Laura and Harry Pize? They are the young couple, both Disney employees, who took off for a year "to do their thing." And that was hiking the Appalachian Trail.

They left Sanford with their two rottweilers in April and hold the distinction of being among the 25 percent of hikers who finish the walk. After completing the 2,144-mile walk, they reached Maine on Oct. 16.

According to their friend, Dee, Laura and Harry packed boxes of food to be delivered to them at various points along the trail which she shipped to them. She said she will be going to Maine during Christmas to visit the couple.

Teacher visits Jamaica

Nancy Kyle, a local educator, has returned after visiting her mother, Phyllis Snyder, at Montego Bay, Jamaica. Nancy was accompanied by her sister, Madelyn Guilan of Marion, Ind.

The two sisters had a "real good time" for 10 days visiting their mom, who retired from teaching school two years ago at Lake Placid. She is now in the Peace Corps and is teaching physics at Montego Bay High School. Nancy said Phyllis left in May and will be there for about two and one-half years.

As opposed to the tourist scene, the sisters toured the residential scene. The people are very laid back, according to Nancy, and electricity is at a premium. She said they had no hot water nor air conditioning. But they did have plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Sawyers home from N.C.

Joyce and Blake Sawyers are back home again after visiting North Carolina where they saw the magnificent foliage changing color.

They visited their daughter, Donna, and her family in South Carolina, and stayed with Jackie Bosard, formerly of Sanford, at Lake Junaluska where they attended a concert.

They also visited Catherine and Howard Whelchel, former Sanford residents, who moved to Waynesville, N.C. to make their home. And they visited with their son Roby, a teacher at North Carolina State, and his wife, Amber.

"We had a marvelous time," Joyce said.

Couple wed 30 years

Congratulations are in order of Rosie Lee and Thomas Skiba, 500 Airport Blvd., who will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary Nov. 8.

They have two children, Michelle Preble of Sanford, and Richard Skiba, Tampa. There are three grandchildren.

Thomas is an officer with the Sanford Police Department and Rosie Lee is a homemaker.

Interested invited to join GOP women cleanup

SANFORD — The Sanford Republican Women's Club held its October meeting at the Crystal Lake home of Jerry Keith.

Pat Telson, president, asked the group to formulate goals for the coming year. These include continuing the Adopt a Road program. The date for the cleanup of Airport Boulevard will be on Nov. 14, from 10 a.m. to noon, with a cookout at the home of Jerry Keith afterward. The group will meet at the Handy Way store on 55th Street and Old Lake Mary Boulevard. All members and other interested people are invited to come and help.

The club plans to form a Liaison Committee who will arrange for members to volunteer for committees or attend meetings of the county and various city boards. These members will report back to the group all pertinent information involving the citizens of Seminole County.

Proceeds from "Elephant Stampede" fund-raiser were used to support all local candidates.

The annual Christmas party of the club will be held on Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Pat Telson.

The 1993 goal of the club is to double membership. All interested are invited to the November luncheon meeting which will be held on Nov. 21 at 1 p.m. at the Timucuan Country Club. Please call Pat Telson at 671-4934 or Cathy Harrison 322-2438 for reservations.

Council celebrates 'Life After 50'

Westside Senior Council of the Sanford Housing Authority celebrates "Life After 50" banquet on Saturday, Oct. 17, at the 5 p.m. semi-formal affair.

Members of the Life After 50 Council gathered beautifully at the for their first celebration. Diane Harrell served as the toastmistress with guests joining in the opening selection "Lean- ing On the Everlasting Arms." Corrine Carson led the group in prayer and scripture was read by Eartha Joseph.

Words of welcome were given by Inez Baker who also presented the speaker of the occasion Louise Olson, a member of Allen Chapel AME Church. She spoke to the guests and members about the need for Christ in their lives. She reminded the group that "you must be born again; you must have Jesus in your life to be able to survive, and that prayer is the contact to the Master." "Form a prayer line," she said and "have faith, trust and be all of one accord."

A special selection was dedicated to the Council "Lift Up the Name of Jesus" by Lalandria Joseph.

City honors choir

An evening of gospel music was highlighted by the presentation of the key to the City of Sanford by Mayor Bettye Smith to the Rev. Willie Tate, pastor of the Progressive Baptist Church, the choir of Elgin, Ill., former Sanfordite Nelson Henderson, daughter of Mary Whitehurst, and the sister of Faye Williams of Sanford, noted musicians in their own right.

The 25-voice spirit-filled gospel choir was under the direction of Gregory Womack and musician Elder R. Williams. Soloists were Evangelist Shirley Townner, Regina Randall, Nikki Johnson, Ora Hughes, and Gail Brown.

Pastor Tate was also in charge of the morning worship service at the Morning Glory Missionary Baptist Church on Sunday morning. Pastor Tate brought the message of the morning.

Chairman Faye Williams and the Morning Glory family wish to thank the Progressive Baptist Church, Pastor and Mrs. Tate, all of the friends and community who helped to make this weekend a successful gospel fellowship and praise service.

World Prayer Day

The Baptist Women World Day of Prayer will be sponsored by the Missionary Department of Congress No. 1 of the First South Florida Missionary Baptist Association.

The Morning Glory Missionary Baptist Church will host the day

Lady mail carrier asks patrons for support to be better served

DEAR ABBY: I am a female mail carrier in a small town. I have a small mail route with only 300 patrons. I try to give them the best service possible, but I would love a little support from them. If anyone is interested, here are a few suggestions:

1. Check your mailbox and make sure it is securely attached to its post.
2. If it is in a group of other boxes, please make sure it is even with the others. (Also, check the height of your mailbox.)
3. Cut all bushes, trees, vines and shrubs from around your mailbox. And, if you have a problem with ants, spiders, roaches or other bugs in the mailbox, keep a few mothballs in there. It really works!
4. Please keep the approach to your box clear. Don't park cars or let the children leave their toys in the area.
5. The little flag on your mailbox is to let the carrier know you have mail to be picked up. Use it only for that purpose.
6. Keep the mailbox door closed. It is very difficult to drive up to a box with the door open.
7. Please, and this is most important, don't let children run up to the mail carrier's vehicle! Be sure they wait until after the carrier leaves to go to the mailbox.
8. Abby, if people would get into their cars, imagine that they are the mail carrier and drive up to their boxes. I am sure most of them would be shocked at the condition their mailbox is in. Help your carrier out. Carriers work hard; some work six days a week in all kinds of weather, but they still come through.

ADVICE

I am sure this is too long for publication, Abby, but maybe you can condense it and say what needs to be said. Thank you for the many years of enjoyment you have given me and my family.

A MAIL LADY

DEAR MAIL LADY: Your letter was important enough to publish. You are sending a vital message. Everyone wants mail delivered in a timely fashion, and your helpful suggestions will facilitate that. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Who changed everything when I wasn't looking? I've noticed lately that everything is farther away than it used to be. It's even twice as far to the corner - and they have added a hill!

I've given up running for the bus; it leaves earlier than it used to. It seems to me they are making the stairs steeper than in the old days, and have you noticed the smaller print the newspapers are now using? And there's no sense in asking anyone to read aloud anymore, as everyone speaks in such a low voice, I can hardly hear them.

The material in dresses is so skimpy now - especially around the waist and hips - it's almost impossible to reach one's shoelaces. Also, the sizes don't run the way they used to. The 12's and 14's are so much smaller.

Even people are changing. They are so much younger than they used to be when I was their age. On the other hand, people my own age are so much older than I am. I ran into an old classmate of mine the other day, and she had aged so much, she didn't recognize me!

I got to thinking about my poor dear friend while I was combing my hair this morning, and in so doing, I glanced at my own reflection.

Really now - they don't even make good mirrors like they used to!

for you, wear this one for awhile." Pontil did wear it and has worn a few others that have been given to him by his new friends.

It makes him feel good when he meets people at the grocery store or other places he does business. Children point him out to their parents because they have seen him pass by their bus stop. They have affectionately given him a new name. "Mr. Walker." Usually Halloween evening is a big night because many of the children from the bus stops come by and excitedly recognize Pontil. Over the years he has noticed with fondness how the small children are growing up and becoming young adults.

There have been many times when other people have joined in the walk. One lady actually walked with him for about three weeks but apparently gave up for a less rigorous task. There have been other strangers that have taken up the trek with him on a couple of occasions.

Pontil tells the story. "There was a white dog. Every morning he used to catch up with me and he would follow me all the way around. I used to worry he would get hit by a car but he pretty well watched out for himself. One day I thought I lost him, but shortly he returned and continued to follow me through the route. "Eventually he quit following me." He continued, "There was another dog who also followed along for quite a few days but finally lost interest."

The day does not stop after the walk. There is the yard work that has to be done and the bowling leagues in the afternoon. Pontil bowls three times a week and every other week four times. His average is 175.

He is an avid participant in the Golden Age Games in November. Last year he did the five-mile walk in one hour and five minutes and came in second place in his division. He also participates in the bowling tournament. Baseball is in his plans for the next games.

Elmer Stuffer's biggest fan is his wonderful wife and cheerleader, Doris. She has supported Pontil 100 percent in all his endeavors, but remarked that she has asked him to slow down a bit during the senior games. She said, "He has a lot of gold and silver medals but the bronze medals are in very short supply."

Herman said, "We're still on our honeymoon."

Dorothy was born in Adrian, Minn. in 1922. She graduated from high school in Marlan, Iowa, and later moved to Grand Rapids, Mich.

Born in Grand Haven in 1915, Herman walked three miles to a country school. He attended aircraft school in Kansas City and worked for Briggs Aircraft in Detroit.

During the first part of October, Dorothy and Herman flew to Spokane, Wash., to visit their son, Jim, and his family for 10 days. They have three other children: Joyce Gibson, Atlanta; Bill Schroeder, Geneva; and Jean Cox, Kissimmee. There are 10 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

On Oct. 22, Dorothy and Herman were honored at a luncheon cruise aboard the Rivership Romance. On the previous day, they were honored at a coffee at Bram Towers when Doris Markle presented them with an original 50th anniversary album she created. They were also honored during the happy hour at the Yacht Club at Holiday Inn.

Dorothy has spent most of her life as a homemaker and mother. Her services are in demand as a babysitter and she enjoys baking, cooking, needlework and helping others. They were in the monument business for 15 years in Iowa when the bronchial condition of their youngest son forced them to move to Florida.

Herman later worked for Winn-Dixie for 17 years and retired in 1978. He enjoys fishing, plants, pool, RSVP and helping others. He was with the Boy Scouts of America for 23 years and is the 1992 recipient of the Sanford Kiwanis Club's Senior of the Year award.

The couple have lived at Bram Towers for nine years. They are members of the First United Methodist Church where they are very active. They contribute "having lots of patience, working together and trust" for the success of their marriage.

"Oh, yes," Dorothy said she would marry Herman again. "We've had our ups and downs...we are absolutely complete opposites but I couldn't ask for a better husband."

"Of course, of course," Herman said he would marry Dorothy all over again. "She's watched over me for 50 years," he said. Our marriage was arranged in heaven."

NOVEMBER 1, 1982

By Bernice Bode Oost YOUR BIRTHDAY Nov. 1, 1982

You might reap benefits in the year ahead from several individuals with whom you have an established relationship. They will be lucky for you and you, in turn, will be lucky for them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're inclined to be prophetic today. Your hunches regarding the outcome of events could be more accurate than usual. Utilize these insights constructively. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Scorpio's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't let yourself think in limited terms today. Elevate your sights and try to visualize what is the very best that could happen and begin from there.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You could be luckier than usual today, both financially and where your career is concerned. Make these your primary areas of operation, and play to win.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Endeavors you originate or manage today have a better-than-average chance for success. Be imaginative and expectant, and believe in your conceptions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If a friend wants to confide in you today, be an attentive listener. You might be told something beneficial that this individual wouldn't reveal to others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Companions you share your time with today will have a strong influence over your attitude. Therefore, select individuals who are striving for something better.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something, which at first might appear to be a sparse opportunity, is actually more substantial -- if viewed from another angle. Don't restrict your perspective.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You are presently in a cycle where events and circumstances could help you enlarge your social circle. New friends could usher in new opportunities.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's important today that you establish meaningful objectives. Lady Luck will be working on your behalf to help produce gratifying results.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Associates will appreciate dealing with you on a one-to-one basis today; instinctively, you'll put yourself in the other guy's

19) When the final score is tallied today, you should be the one on the profit side of the ledger. However, your gains might be due more to others than to yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Instead of spending time with an unfamiliar group today, pal around with long-standing friends. You'll be happy with buddies who know and understand you.

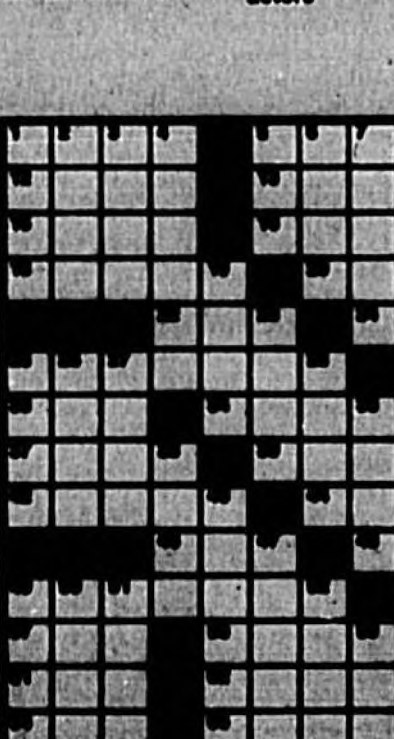

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In critical situations today, you're likely to be the one who can be relied upon in a pinch. You have the ability to sort out complications that overwhelm others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're a retentive student today, and you might be able to learn an important lesson from a personal experience. File away this significant knowledge so, later, it can be used effectively.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If bravado is required today, use it, but be sure you also use discretion. In achieving your objectives, strive to be bold without being foolhardy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If

One of the facts of bridge life is that it is impossible to find the best opening lead on all hands. However, there are some guidelines that, if followed, will give you a good success rate.

What would you lead from the West hand in today's diagram? The auction has told you that South has a balanced 20-22 points and that North has some values with at least six spades.

North's transfer bid showed long spades and either just the values for game or, if he bid again, strong slam interest. With only mild slam interest, North would have used a transfer bid at the three-level and then raised to game.

The deal arose during the NEC World Team Olympiad. The "normal" lead is the diamond jack. Here that works well. East

Winn with the ace and -- if in mid-session form -- switches to a heart. Now, to make the contract, South has to take an inspired view in the trump suit. When you hold nine trumps missing the queen, the percentage play for no loser is to cash the ace and king, not to take a second-round finesse.

If West's only consideration is to score a trick with the spade queen, then the lead of the club nine has a lot going for it. Leading from a doubler when one is holding Q-x-x of trumps isn't recommended, so the declarer is unlikely to read it.

Here, though, the club nine is a disastrous lead. Declarer wins trick one with the club jack, cashes two top trumps and plays off the A-K of clubs, discarding a heart from the dummy. He loses just three tricks: one spade, one heart and one diamond.

became known as a buck and how Old Faithful was formed.

Group members participated in special activities to help them learn about the environment and the animals in Yellowstone. One of their favorite activities was taking a challenging five-mile hike using only a compass without the benefit of a map. The national park rangers go along on the hike to make certain that everyone will be safe. "They (park rangers) are totally committed and you can tell that they love what they do," Meriwether says.

Under the supervision of the Rangers, the members of the group got to feel the thermal power of the geysers and natural hot springs. The students were allowed to put their hands into one of the springs and feel the emanating warmth.

Swimming in the hot springs is permitted for those brave enough to don swim suits in 40 degree temperatures. Those who did were surprised by the way the water temperature kept them comfortably warm. "You dry instantly from the hot air and humidity," Meriwether said, explaining that the group didn't freeze even after leaving the hot water of the springs.

The 4-H members had to endure freezing, five degree temperatures at night in unheated, drafty cabins. Plenty of wild animals came to investigate the Central Florida visitors including two bison that the group named Herb and Herbetta. Despite the rugged conditions, the group had great fun while learning at Expedition Yellowstone. The students will be sharing what they learned with their schools and the members of the community. The purpose of the cooperative, educational program at Yellowstone is to spread knowledge across the country through the experiences of the students who attend the camp.

district of Sanford. In fact, a number will have their homes on the Sanford Historic Trust's tour of homes Dec. 5 and 6.

Judy, who chaired the event, demonstrated how to make wreaths, garlands, table and mantle arrangements as well as decorative pieces for front doors and windows from foliage at hand.

"A Walk in the Wood" door arrangement greeted attendees. The arrangement was made by Mary Nancy Terwilliger from such materials as wild berries, cones, deer moss and foliage of all kinds, all found in the Florida woods. There was a display of completed designs, a collage of ideas on how to showcase garlands, roping, wreaths and arrangements, along with a table identifying foliage and other materials suitable for decorations.

Members of the club brought loads of a large variety of greenery found in their yards and also provided refreshment goodies which are special family favorites, all beautifully presented.

Workshop workers included Juanny Mercer, Kathy Krasnoff,

Resource center open house

SANFORD — The Seminole High School Family Resource Center, which is scheduled to open later this month, will hold an open house on Thursday, Nov. 5 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Those who are interested in the service, which includes information and assistance on parenting skills, child care, drop out prevention and counseling, should attend the open house to get a feel for the program.

The center will be in the school's career center in the administration building.

Seminole High is at 2701 Ridgewood Ave., Sanford.

Organizers of the Family Resource Center are still fine tuning the service so they will have a questionnaire for those at the open house who want to offer their opinions and suggestions.

For more information, call the school at 322-4352.

Wilson to host "Oliver"

SANFORD — On Monday, Nov. 2 the Cultural Arts Committee at Wilson Elementary School will be hosting a production of the play "Oliver" that is being put on by the Hampstead Players Theatrical Touring Company.

The shows will be at the school at 9 and 10:30 a.m.

Wilson is located at 985 Orange Blvd., Sanford.

For more information, call the school at 322-2254.

Car wash today

LONGWOOD — The Lake Mary Chapter of HOSA (Health Occupations Students of America) and Interact will be having a car wash at Fazzoli's on State Road 434 in Longwood on Sunday, Nov. 1.

The money raised at the car wash will be used to help HOSA members pay to attend regional, state and national competitions.

Some of the money will be used by the Interact group to assist victims of Hurricane Andrew in Miami.

Oviedo Homecoming plans announced

OVIDEO — Oviedo High School has invited all alumni to take part in the Homecoming activities at the school next weekend.

There will be a special reception in the school's media center on Friday, Nov. 6 from 6 to 7 p.m. for the classes of 1933, 1943, 1953, 1963, 1973 and 1983.

The football game against Spruce Creek High School will take place at 7:30 p.m.

The Homecoming parade will be Friday afternoon at 12:45 p.m.

Oviedo High is located at 601 King St., Oviedo.

For more information, call the school at 365-5671.

Woodlands elects student officers

LONGWOOD — Woodlands Elementary School recently elected the following students to their Student Council:

Kelly Spencer was elected principal; Chris Fraser was named vice president; Jessie Pedlow was elected treasurer and Billy Milican was elected secretary.

Scholarship deadline approaching

High school students with a grade point average of "B" or better who are U.S. citizens interested in applying for $1,000 college scholarships should request applications by Dec. 14 from Education Communications Scholarship Foundations, 731 McKinley Rd., P.O. Box 3012, Lake Forest, Ill. 60048-3012.

To receive an application, students should send a note stating their names, address, city, state, zip, approximate grade average and year of graduation.

All requests for applications will be fulfilled on or about Jan. 15, 1993.

One hundred winners will be selected nationally on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extra curricular activities and financial need.

Keep us informed

We want to help you get the word out into the community about what is going on at your school and with your students.

If you've got news that you'd like to see on the Education Page, please send it to the Sanford Herald, P.O. Box 1667, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford, 32771 or call Vicki DeFormier at 322-2811.

Our fax number is 323-9408.

Our deadline is 11 a.m. Thursday before the Sunday of publication.

Rams adjust to school changes

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary's students and faculty have recently seen some major changes in the school's administration.

Last month, LMHS dean of students Rick Johnson moved to Lyman High in Longwood, where he now serves as an assistant principal.

Kathy Roberts, a ninth grade English teacher, took over as dean at Lake Mary.

Then Friday was assistant principal Bill Moore's last day at Lake Mary High.

This month, he will begin his new job as the principal of Sanford Middle School in Sanford where Dan Pelham has retired.

Moore had worked at Lake Mary High since 1981 when the school first opened.

Moore met Don T. Reynolds that year when he was working as the executive director of the Seminole Education Association. Reynolds was going to be principal of the new high school (Lake Mary) and he asked Moore if he would like to teach and coach.

The two negotiated and Moore was hired.

At Lake Mary High School, Moore served as a physical education teacher, as a special education instructor, as a social studies teacher, as athletic director and as the girls head basketball coach.

As a teacher, a coach and an administrator, he has enjoyed working with "students who have inquisitive minds" and keeping up-to-date with what teachers are doing.

"Working with coaches is another highlight I will miss," Moore said. "They teach students how to play a sport and how to live."

Some Sanford Middle School parents were concerned that the school's assistant principal, Roger Gardner, was not even considered for the position of principal.

First quarter ends; SHS ready for new SANFORD — The first quarter of school ended on Thursday with the completion of the nine week exams.

The week was primarily dedicated to studying for, or in some cases, even praying for a good grade.

Testing began on Tuesday, with second and fourth period classes.

Then third and fifth period classes completed their exams on Wednesday.

Thursday concluded examinations with first and sixth period classes testing.

It is almost hard to believe that a fourth of the year is over.

Just when students were getting into a weekly routine of doing their classwork, nine weeks exams were scheduled to begin.

While underclassmen greet the end of the quarter with relief, most seniors look upon it with happiness, but a little uncertainty.

The most common words from a senior at Seminole are, "School is going by so fast!"

Scott Pererson, a senior, showed his apprehension by saying, "It has been exciting it's scary to think that in seven months it will all be over."

Head football coach Emory Blake nyst gave been concerned about his football players in more than one way, during this past week.

After coming off a big Homecoming win last week and having tests all this week, Blake must have been wondering if his players were going to be focused for Friday night's game versus Universal High School.

Fortunately, his team did perform, led by quarterback Travis Perkins, who has won his previous two games at the helm.

Channel 1 wins victory in California

By JOHN MENDERS Associated Press Writer

SAN JOSE, Calif. — A judge last week refused to order all schools in the state to advise students they can't be required to watch Channel One, a classroom cable TV program that broadcasts news and commercials.

Channel One is not shown in Seminole County schools though it has been considered.

Superior Court Judge Jeremy Fogel refused the request by the California Department of Education to extend an "opt-out program" to every school.

But he denied a request by Channel One's producer to lift the requirement for San Jose's East Side Union High School District.

The California Department of Education had sued to get the program out of the district. Use of the channel at William C. Overfelt High School has turned into a test case watched across the nation.

Last month Fogel denied the state's request that he bar Channel One from classrooms in the East Side Union High School District because of the advertising. He said he hadn't been convinced the commercials were coercive.

But he ordered that students, parents and teachers be advised that watching the channel is optional.

Whittle Communications, which produces Channel One, went to court Thursday to ask Fogel to throw out that restriction, but he declined.

He said he would issue a final ruling governing use of Channel One by Thanksgiving.

Channel One has come under fire because its 12-minute public affairs and news program includes two minutes of advertising for such things as candy bars and cars.

Proponents say the channel teaches students about current events and stimulates them to read newspapers. But critics say students are a captive audience to its advertisers.

About 7.1 million students in 13,000 public and private schools in 45 states watch the Channel One broadcasts each school day. Whittle provides schools with expensive video equipment in exchange for broadcasting Channel One programs.

School elated to be year round

SANFORD — Geraldine Wright said she is thrilled with the way things are going with year round education at Goldsboro Elementary School, Sanford.

"We've increased our capacity and the learning potential for the students," she said.

The school, which began the year round schedule in July, does not seem to be experiencing much in the way of problems in the transition to the non-traditional calendar.

"The transition went very smoothly," Wright said.

In a school where space availability has traditionally been a problem, Wright said that there are two empty classrooms that provide room for growth at the school.

"It gives us the room to expand," Wright said. "That's not a situation that we had on the other calendar."

dents to encourage them to read books and report on the books to teachers, administrators or staff members.

"It gets everyone involved," Wright said.

Wright said that the year round calendar also allows the school to work cooperatively with other agencies during the intercession times when students on each of the tracks are on a three week break.

"For example during the next intercession we are working with the Girl Scouts for activities for the girls between kindergarten and fifth grade," Wright said.

She said the school has the school's Chapter I, Migrant and Head Start programs are thriving this year.

"We are having great success and growth in those programs for the young children this year," Wright said.

Shooting for sheriff's job

Eslinger, Fagan came up through law enforcement ranks to face-off

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Perhaps the most closely-watched race in Seminole County Tuesday will be the match between Sheriff Don Eslinger and Charley Fagan, retired Sanford police captain, for the job as the top law enforcement officer in the county.

The job pays the most of any elected position in the county, $84,801, and includes nearly $2,500 in annual health and life insurance coverage and the use of a car 24-hours a day.

The race also pits a younger man with 13 years as a law enforcement officer against an older man with more than 33 years as a sworn officer. The two are what remains of a once crowded field that attracted seven candidates and enticed at least two strong contenders that later decided not to enter the fray.

Eslinger is young, just 35, but he has had control of a department that employs 540 people, 211 of which are sworn officers, and spends $28.6 million, for nearly two years since his appointment to replace his ailing mentor John Polk. Previously, Eslinger served as major in command of the county's elite drug and vice squad, the City County Investigative Bureau.

Eslinger began with the department in 1978 as a dispatcher, his first job in the law enforcement field. About a year later, he moved to the road patrol and has steadily climbed the chain of command since then.

"I'm the only who has experience running the sheriff's office," is Eslinger's oft-heard response to people who question his experience.

"He's there and he hasn't proven himself," is Fagan's retort.

Fagan is older, 55. He began his law enforcement career as a Seminole County deputy and after nearly six years, he began working with the Sanford Police Department as a patrolman. Fagan worked his way up through the ranks to administrative captain, serving directly under the chief and acting as chief in the senior officer's absence.

Since he began serving in 1991, Eslinger's tenure has been a trial by fire.

● Even before his appointment, Eslinger ordered the arrest of CCIB agent Gene Taylor based on an in-house lab test conducted by the sheriff's lab chemist Christine Alt. A grand jury later criticized Eslinger's handling of the arrest and Alt's handling of the test results. Eslinger closed the "crime lab" and moved Alt to another position.

● Eslinger made several staffing changes, including the firing of assistant jailer Capt. Robert Fischer after Animal Control Division drugs were stolen by a trustee. He later accepted the resignation of chief jailer Maj. Duane Rutledge. Both decisions angered Polk.

Eslinger later appointed David Brierton, the former deputy secretary of the Florida Department of Corrections, to the post, a decision that won him accolades.

● Eslinger was later accused of showing favoritism to John Polk "Junior," son of the late sheriff, for granting him additional attempts to pass a running test which he continued to fail. When Polk could not pass the tests, Eslinger transferred him to a corrections officer position at the same pay.

Polk refused and resigned, saying he didn't want to be a guard. Polk even criticized Eslinger, saying the sheriff had promised the test would be waived. Eslinger said no promises had been made.

● After a white Sanford woman claimed she was gang-raped by up to 15 black men in a Midway boarding house, Eslinger leading a host of deputies, investigators and pre-notified press, raided the neighborhood on July 22 and arrested four men the woman identified from a car with tinted windows.

A grand jury later absolved the four men after the woman's story changed and was found less reliable.

The raid angered much of the community who felt Eslinger had been quick to jump to the claims of a white woman but overlooked black problems. After a series of meetings, culminating with an Eslinger apology if his actions were misinterpreted, the matter settled down.

Eslinger had already established a focus on Midway crime by assigning a community patrol deputy to the area and contributing to building a basketball court at the community center to provide local youth an alternative to "hanging out" with drug dealers.

● Eslinger's next trial actually began in early 1991, but didn't conclude until June of this year. A secretary's comment about concerns of the use of excessive force to a Florida Department of Law Enforcement investigator sparked an investigation of abuse complaints that included alleged incidents by CCIB agents working under Eslinger's former command.

Although a grand jury subsequently concluded no beatings could be proven, it recommended changes to department use of force reporting, which Eslinger adopted. Eslinger took the further step of creating a citizen's board to review all use of force incidents and policies.

Eslinger said he has learned from each of these incidents and made improvements in response to them. He pledges to continue his policy of tight fiscal controls while improving services by switching non-critical duties to employees, freeing higher paid deputies to improve crime-fighting duties.

Eslinger also pledges to continue enhancing community services such as his crime alert bulletins and field service officers assigned to neighborhoods and "bike cops" assigned to troubled areas.

"If you develop a relationship with the community, citizens will be more likely to report crimes," said Eslinger.

Fagan said if elected, he would consolidate sheriff's management and divert the savings to hiring more road patrol deputies. Fagan said he would expand the duties of the citizen review board to include reviews of shooting incidents and accidents. Fagan said he would open a south Seminole County satellite office and would work to improve what he says is low morale in the sheriff's office.

"I do understand the sheriff's office is bigger, but the elements are the same," said Fagan. "You run it the same way."

Seminole County School Board

Management style: Goff, Stricker differ

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Both Larry Strickler and Bob Goff, candidates for School Board District 4, believe that the board needs more business savvy in order for it to be able to continue to succeed as the largest private employer in the county.

Goff, 44, a real estate broker and property manager with Elmer Bakala Realty in Fern Park, has three children in the school system and previously taught and coached swimming at Lyman High School in Longwood.

He has served as chairman of the school board's business advisory board and the committee which studied impact fees.

In addition to working with the school board on various committees, Goff has volunteered to serve as assistant chairman of the Seminole County citizen's advisory committee and as chairman of the borrow pit technical advisory committee.

A graduate of the University of Alabama with a degree in education, Goff has also taken a number of graduate courses at several institutions.

Goff has never before run for public office, but believes that his business expertise coupled with his background in teaching makes him an ideal candidate.

Goff has promised that if he is elected he will donate his first year's salary to finance business and industry technology grants for students.

Strickler, a manager with Southern Bell, has served on a number of school district committees over the 12 years that he has lived in Seminole County.

He was the chairman of the superintendent search committee which made recommendations to the school board.

He also was the only member of the public to serve on the committee studying school based management.

He has bachelor of science degrees in math, science and chemistry from Carson-Newman College in Tennessee.

He believes that he can accomplish everything he wants in one term and does not plan to seek re-election in four years.

Both Strickler and Goff believe strongly in the concept of school based management.

They both believe that students need to be better prepared for employment by the time the graduate from high school.

They also agree that a solution to Seminole High's enrollment woes must be solved immediately and not wait until the entire district is rezoned in two years to fill the new high school in Winter Springs.

Goff has said that he believes that the school board allows the district staff to dictate policy too often. He thinks the board members need to ask more questions and pursue an issue until they get a satisfactory answer.

He describes himself as a "bulldog" when it comes to getting a project accomplished.

Strickler believes that diplomacy is more the key to getting something done. He believes that he can help the board, the public and the staff to work together to reach a goal.

Warren, Masters: varied experience

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The only incumbent seeking election to the Seminole County school board District 3, Nancy Warren, is being challenged by Barrie Masters.

Warren, 49, has served on the board for 12 years and believes she can continue to make a contribution to the business of education in Seminole County. She said she has seen the school district through ups and downs and that she can be the voice of experience on a very young board.

She said that the educational system in Seminole County has turned the corner on a new era with an appointed superintendent who is accountable to the board and therefore to the people.

Along with a newly appointed superintendent the other board members already sitting on the board have served only two years each and the District 4 seat, currently being contested by Bob Goff and Larry Strickler, will be filled with someone with no experience serving on the school board.

Masters said that Warren's 12 years on the board are enough and that she has not been tenacious enough in her pursuit of answers to important questions. He added that she has no business experience.

Warren has seven years experience as an elementary school teacher.

Masters, 60, who owns and operates his own computer consulting firm has worked for Martin Marietta and spent more than two decades in the Army where he directed and taught in numerous military schools in Germany, in Japan and in France.

Warren believes that the school district has to balance the business and the educational merits of each situation and that one can not rely too heavily on experience in one discipline over the other.

She said that her years on the board have taught her well what the needs of the district are.

Masters believes that under his guidance the Seminole County school district can become a model for the nation and said that he has solutions to local problems which he developed during his year of substitute teaching at Lyman High School.

Masters said that he is doing research to enable him to write a book on the subject of education.

Warren said that based on her research and the recommendation of the staff she believes that the school board made the proper choice in deciding to build another high school in the Winter Springs area. She believes that building the school will prevent the class sizes from becoming too unmanageable by adding to the existing schools.

Masters said that the district should make do with the facilities already in place.

The two agree that there needs to be a renewed emphasis on technological education in the schools.

John Mica for Congress seat

In the 7th district congressional race, although there are two good candidates, Republican John Mica has the background and experience to be an effective legislator in Washington for Seminole County and the rest of the district.

Mica is experienced both in business and politics. He has run a number of businesses, in addition to serving in the Florida Legislature and as Senate chief of staff to former U.S. Senator Paula Hawkins.

He has considerable knowledge of international trade issues, an important trait in a time when the United States is competing in the global marketplace with other nations.

Mica's young opponent, Volusia County attorney Dan Webster, is impressive, dedicated and should certainly remain in public life. However, at this time, he doesn't bring the resume or background of a John Mica to the job.

Webster has obviously given a great deal of thought to one of the thorny issues of the day: health care. Mica has acknowledged that even employees in his business are not provided health care. Small businesses are increasingly strapped by the high costs of providing such care.

With Mica's experience in business and government, he may well be a congressman who can find a solution to this problem, and others, without bankrupting the nation.

Mica is affluent. That is certainly not to be held against him since he has worked for his income. Most average working people do not dislike the affluent, they merely want the chance to provide adequately for their own families.

If Mica will take that to heart and keep remembering those less well-off than he is, he may well be an outstanding congressman.

Senate needs DeMino

Taxpayers will have a good, but difficult, time deciding who to vote for in the Senate District 14 race between Republican Steve DeMino and Democrat Buddy Dyer.

Good because both candidates are intelligent, enthusiastic and seemingly dedicated to helping their constituents and the state. Difficult because, in such a contest, it is not easy to come to a final decision.

However, choosing between two good candidates is infinitely preferable to choosing between two bad candidates.

In the District 14 race, the nod goes to DeMino based on his fiscal background and experience. For 30 years, DeMino has been a financial investment consultant, a background that should come in handy in dealing with the state budget.

He has also served on the state board of private colleges and universities. He helped draft legislation requiring Florida's private colleges to report rapes and other crimes. Before the legislation, many such institutions were reluctant to release information about crimes on campuses.

DeMino believes - perhaps hopes would be a more accurate word - that the state can save an estimated $737 million in government waste and collect an additional $1.5 billion in sales, intangible and corporate income taxes currently unpaid. He also opposes a personal income tax.

Dyer, although only 35, is a lawyer but has also had experience as an environmental engineer before he changed careers. He is a bright and articulate man who, regardless of the outcome of this race, should continue to pursue public service.

Berry's World

Toward more sensitive campaigns

Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1992 is just two days away. Many voters will be greatly relieved when Nov. 3, 1992 is tucked safely into the history books. Everyone must be exhausted; the candidates from their accelerated schedules and from fielding charges and counter charges. The electorate is exhausted from endeavoring to fathom fact from fiction.

The rhetoric emanating from the presidential election campaigns has reached a new low and is unworthy of the office of the presidency. Whatever happened to debates? The Clinton, Perot, Bush debates are a far cry from the Lincoln-Douglas debates. Will historians record these speeches for posterity? What will future generations glean from these debates and campaign speeches? Isn't it time for the voters to demand different types of behavior in conducting campaigns. Are we affirming that any means justify the ends? There appears to be a pervasive cynicism and disrespect for human dignity against which citizens should recoil. The critical issue in campaigning seems to be "make any irresponsible comment you feel will garner votes from some segment of the population."

Another campaign theme has been family values and preserving the family. One of the most devastating factors in contributing to the dissolution of the family is the economic factor. Lip service is given about correcting the human suffering endured by families in this country who are unemployed, hungry and homeless. Millions have been spent on the presidential campaigns alone. Given the human problems it is moral to spend millions on campaigns? How do we reconcile these contradictions in our society?

SEMINOLE OPINION

We are becoming a nation where only the very wealthy are going to be able to run for elected office. It is understood that Ross Perot is not subject to any spending limit since he is underwriting his own candidacy. Is this confirmation of the fact that money is the most potent variable in aspiring for political office? Is this what democracy and presidential elections are really about?

The trends in this election year need to be analyzed fully because they may foretell what future presidential campaigns are going to be like and could exclude many citizens from participation as candidates.

The citizens can fully participate in voting. Every registered citizen should vote on Tuesday.

Citizens should dismiss all of the irrelevant rhetoric and examine carefully what life is like in America in 1992. Many Americans may be enjoying the American dream but there are many who are outside of the dream. These Americans must not be forgotten or ignored. Our destinies in this country are inextricably entwined; what affects one ultimately affects all.

Each candidate's past actions and credentials should be candidly evaluated. The plethora of candidates for the ballot will necessitate either a very good memory or a list of the candidates one plans to hope to elect.

The choice of leaders in every sphere in 1992 is critical. These leaders will make decisions impacting our lives into the 21st century. Leaders set the example and the parameters. Those they lead will follow. Therefore, they have a special responsibility to all of the citizens that transcends divisiveness and partisan politics.

Before the 1996 elections it might be wise to convene a national committee to address all aspects of campaigning. Is it really necessary to spend millions of dollars on campaigns? Environmentally how detrimental are the campaign signs and other paraphernalia? How many trees were sacrificed? What will happen to all of the debris?

We are rational beings and should be capable of devising ways of conducting campaigns that are more sensitive to the needs of our citizens and our environment.

JACK ANDERSON

Republican factions set for a civil war

WASHINGTON — Like the spotted owl of the GOP, Rep. Jim Leach, R-Iowa, is an endangered species. He and other Republican moderates can hear the chain saws of far-right conservatives cranking up on the eve of what could be the bloodiest ideological battle since Barry Goldwater's 1964 defeat.

Republican moderates have been out-organized, out-financed and out-hustled by the ascendant Christian Coalition and other factions of the far right. Someone is about to get booted out of the Republican Party's "big tent" because there isn't room enough for both conservatives and moderates, for pro-life and pro-choice, for "family values" and individual rights.

"Let me tell you what I think is going to happen," Leach told us about the post-election GOP. "You're going to have a battle, the most extraordinary, argumentative battle in recent GOP history — and the right-wing is going to be the first out of the box. They're going to say, presuming Bush loses, that Bush lost because he was a mamby-pamby-moderate. Virtually all the momentum in the party is on the right."

Who owns the "momentum" is the only question that Leach and Tony Dolan agree on. Dolan served as Ronald Reagan's chief speechwriter, and continues to be an influential voice among conservatives. Ironically, both Leach and Dolan enjoy personal friendships with Bush, and are occasional advisers.

"He (Leach) was lucky to be invited to the Houston convention," Dolan says. "Consulting Jim Leach about the future of the Republican Party is like asking Dr. (Jack) Keen for recommendations about elder care. Whenever the pesto sauce/BMW/blame-America-firsters among the house Democrats need a Republican to help squelch the Nicaraguan freedom fighters, Jim Leach was front and center."

The great divide separating Dolan and Leach signifies the struggles now stirring beneath the surface. Some fear the political equivalent of an ethnic-cleansing, the kind that not only poisoned Republican politics in the 1980s, but also did the same to the Democrats after Vietnam.

Dolan calls Leach and other pro-choice Republicans "holdovers from the days of Jake Javits and Nelson Rockefeller," echoing the feeling of many conservatives.

These seemingly irreconcilable rifts are reasons why the next chairman of the Republican National Committee is "fundamentally and critically important" to the future of the GOP, and "a very clear signal as to the intent of the party," according to former RNC chairman William Brock, who is credited with having rebuilt the party in the wake of Watergate.

Brock's spadework paved the way for the Reagan Revolution by rebuilding the party apparatus from the ground up, and reconciling warring factions within the GOP — exactly the prescription for recovery if Republicans lose the White House.

Rep. Vin Weber, R-Minn., whose disillusionment with politics caused him not to run for re-election, is emerging as the dark-horse candidate for the RNC chairmanship. Weber's political stock is blue-chip with most of Republican constituencies, yet few can match his fidelity to the conservative cause. He's as acceptable to the Leachs as he is to the Dolans.

Other people said to be in contention for the RNC job are William Bennett and former Delaware governor Pete DuPont, who has been actively campaigning for it.

ELLEN GOODMAN

Madonna: No joy in 'Sex'

BOSTON — There is no doubt that "Sex" can be an educational experience.

It was for Madonna. At the very end of the Mylar-covered spiral-bound, X-rated picture book of the author and her buddies in the buff, Madonna thanks her editor for "teaching me how to spell."

It's not clear exactly which words she couldn't spell before she started writing the text for this unfamily album. Masochism? Pornography? Or is it possible that she couldn't spell the very same words that I cannot print?

Well, whatever. At least she can now pass her junior high school equivalency test in Spout.

"Sex" is also an educational experience for readers. I learned, for example, how to sneak a dirty book through a packed news room to my office. Stash it carefully but casually in the fold of the newspaper — tabloids won't do — and walk straight ahead.

There are, as well, these nifty nuggets of wisdom from Madonna or her narrator Dita that go right to the greeting-card center of human relationships: "Sex is not love. Love is not sex." Who could have done without that?

Then there is the advice for the lovelorn: "It's always good to play hard to get. Good perfume is really important too. ...Sucking on your fingers doesn't hurt, like in the middle of dinner." It keeps the napkin clean.

And finally for graduate students in women's studies there is a hint of sexual politics: "Generally I don't think pornography degrades women. The women who are doing it want to do it. No one is holding a gun to their head."

This last lesson might sound a touch self-serving, although it is hard to distinguish one serving of self from another in this ghostly mound. In fairness, Madonna does not have a gun held at her head in this book, though she does have a knife held at her throat and assorted body cavities.

But even the word-freaks among us cannot fail to notice that the book is not being marketed for its literary efforts. It's being bought for the porn pix, photographs that make you long for those wonderful, romantic yesteryears when Robert Mapplethorpe was focusing on bullwhips. As one young student who walked in a London line for four hours for "Sex" said with true British understatement, "It is rather raw."

Raw indeed. S and M and nipple rings. Boys and girls and a dog thrown in for good measure. The images are bleak, ugly, gum, and deliberately offensive. There is no joy in this sex.

As such, this literary event of the year, the release of some 800,000 copies of Madonna's pornography would hardly be worth noting except for the financial fantasies it fills. The only sexual fetish Madonna doesn't expose here is her spread sheet.

But in case you haven't noticed, the superstar remains an idol of rebellious womanhood for millions of adolescent girls. She remains, as well, the love-object of a small industry of deconstructed academics and cultural critics.

The pro-Madonna argument among the adults is twofold. They argue that Madonna is in utter, complete, even compulsive control. As the CEO of Madonna, Inc., she is a powerful woman and therefore a good and strong role model of success.

They argue as well that Madonna's in-your-face, nervy and aggressive sexuality makes her a much-needed bad girl image for adolescent females overdoing on the demands of niceness. She's the material-girl James Dean of the '90s.

But being free to be a sexual exhibitionist is about as wonderful as being liberated to embrace schizophrenia. It just doesn't make for a mental health poster child. The "sex" in this album is so cold, so impersonal and unemotional, that it gives another meaning to the "hard" in "hard core."

As for Madonna as capitalist, well, just because you're in charge, just because you choose to undress for success, you don't win an automatic slot as a fine feminist mentor. I don't buy the argument that a prostitute who is self-employed is just another small-business woman — a role model of entrepreneurship — or that a female producer makes pornography politically correct.

At 34, Madonna may still be escaping from a lousy childhood. But if this is the shining path for the next generation, we better start making a lot of detour signs.

As for art? I'm reminded of the moment in "Truth or Dare" when Madonna's dad tentatively asked her whether she could cool the masturbation number. Madonna blurted in banal outrage, "I have to protect my artistic integrity!"

Objection raised over City of Sanford considering School Board land buy

This letter is being written to express my objection to the city of Sanford's attempt to purchase the contractual rights of a private concern to purchase the vacant land across from Sanford Middle School.

My objection is based on the following which I believe to be factual:

1) The subject property which is presently owned by the Seminole County School Board is either presently zoned for or designated by the city's Comprehensive Land Use Plan for a mixture of commercial and residential use.

2) The private concern that presently owns the contractual rights to purchase the property intends to use the property in accordance with the established or intended zoning.

3) The city has no present specific use for the property or sufficient funds with which to develop or implement any proper public use. It is my further understanding that the city will allow the property to remain undeveloped and at best used for unorganized recreation.

4) The city will spend an unspecified amount of public money to purchase the contract rights, $590,000 to purchase the property and an undetermined but surely substantial amount of staff, legal and maintenance costs over the succeeding years. You should also keep in mind that this property will remain off the tax rolls so long as it is owned by the city.

It is a dangerous precedent to allow the city to purchase private property with tax dollars to prevent a private citizen, whether individual or corporate from purchasing and utilizing the property in a manner which is consistent with use classification as determined by the very same governmental agency i.e. the city.

Are we to now presume that elected officials will be permitted to use our tax dollars to prevent the lawful use of private property. Certainly the city commission is aware that the governed citizens who elected them expect judicious and proper use of tax dollars.

If we presently have $590,000 which is burning a hole in the city's pocket, I am sure that we can identify a myriad of proper needs which when met will improve our citizens' lives and enhance our community image. If the city does not have the funds on hand, additional debt should be avoided until a proper public need arises.

In defense of School Board candidate Goff

On Oct. 22, the Sanford Herald printed a letter from Tom West, Lake Mary under the title "Message to Taxpayers." In his letter, Mr. West attacked Bob Goff as "a member of the committee that sponsored the bond issue."

In fact, Mr. West is completely wrong about his facts. Bob Goff did not support the bond issue — he fought against it through the Board of Realtors, trying to deny funding from the board to the School Board Steering Committee backing the bond issue.

It was Larry Strickler, Mr. Goff's opponent who was the administration's hand-picked cheerleader for the bond issue. It was Mr. Strickler who raised almost $50,000 from special interest groups to try and convince the voting public that they needed a $17,000,000 administration building paid for from your tax pocket.

Mr. Goff has spent the last three years working to reduce school board spending habits through the Business Advisory Board. Mr. Goff's stated platform includes the statement that the 2 mill Capital Improvements Tax is no longer needed on your tax bill and that he will work to remove unnecessary school tax burdens on Seminole County property owners.

Bob Goff

I don't know where Mr. West got his information on Mr. Goff, but he is wrong! It is Larry Strickler who, based on his past performances, will go along with any new tax.

Stop spraying food

Whenever and I mean, whenever I am spraying fruits and vegetables with cobalt, and I am... You're spraying them, you want to make people sick? Would you not then be spraying them had been sprayed with cobalt?

Anything that gets sprayed with cobalt in the refrigerator turns brown and moldy. These photos that we had gotten were in the refrigerator a little over a week and instead of having the normal black on the inside of the refrigerator, they would get sick.

Instead of protecting the fruit it is destroying it!

Those that are doing this are afraid of being sued by the Department of Agriculture.

If you want the public to be healthy, don't do this. Instead of being money-hungry, think of the public's health.

We had gotten these photos at Food Lion in Lake Mary and the produce man didn't know they had been sprayed with cobalt, or who did this.

League thanks staff

The League of Women Voters of Seminole County would like to thank the Sanford Herald for an outstanding-looking edition of the LWV's Election Extra '92. The LWV Board was very pleased at the easy readability of the Extra.

The League commends the Herald on the public service provided to readers by including Election Extra '92 in the Sunday (Oct. 18) edition. In this important election year when record numbers will be going to the polls, it is very important that the voters be informed on local and state elections as well as national.

The League would also like to thank Kelly Mitchell, Peggy Basila, Diana Gillanders and Lacy Domen who worked so diligently with us. It was a pleasure.

The LWV is looking forward to a long working relationship with the Sanford Herald on future issues of the Election Extra.

Thank you again for your support of the LWV and its efforts toward good government through an informed citizenry.

Excess profits tax worked for Truman

As one listens to all the economists...reads their articles...as one listens to President Bush and Governor Clinton on the campaign trail...all we hear are conflicting ideas — some impractical and some worse — of how to solve the deficit.

Perhaps the economists and the candidates are too young to remember the Korean War. We had a president then by the name of Harry S. Truman who was a businessman. He had brains and cast iron guts and the courage to put them both to work. Since both candidates claim to be cast in the Truman tradition, maybe it's time they adopted some of his ideas.

This one in particular. To ensure against the United States building up a large deficit to finance the Korean War, President Truman and his cabinet and Treasury Department came up with a tax that nobody liked, yet it produced the desired result — no big deficit because of the Korean War.

How did President Truman accomplish this miracle? Very simply. He devised an "excess profits tax" for all corporate and partnership businesses and individual enterprises based on a reasonable return on investment.

If a business had $10 million invested and the return on investment allowed was, say, 30 percent pre-tax, that company was entitled to earn $3,000,000 pre-tax at the regular corporate tax rate. Anything over that return on investment, for which regular tax rates were paid, was subject to the "excess profits tax" of 90 percent. I'm not sure of the exact figures, but it's close.

Actually, this excess profits tax of 90 percent over a 30 to 25 percent return on investment will accelerate new investments in factories and the like, creating more jobs — so it is a progressive tax, not a regressive tax for business.

As I recall it, there also was an "excess profits tax" on any income — salaries included — over a certain amount per individual pre-tax. The normal tax rate applied up to a certain limit; anything over the limit was taxed at 90 percent.

Therefore, it seems to me...with all of our congressional geniuses, all our economists and all the candidates, including President Bush and Governor Clinton...that someone ought to realize by now that the citizens of the United States, somewhere along the line, have got to "bite the bullet."

We can't just whittle away at it by cutting entitlements here, boosting a tax a little there, finding some new tax for the very wealthy 2 percent...all this just amounts to a spit in the ocean.

I would strongly recommend that either candidate embrace that which is absolutely necessary to reduce our deficit through a position the American public would respect and that is: Honesty to the point of saying: "What worked for Harry Truman during the Korean War also could work now to reduce considerably — if not eliminate — our four-trillion-dollar-plus deficit. It worked before; let it work again now." If those who ignore history are condemned to repeat it, why can't we use history to profit from what works?

An "excess profits tax" similar to that of the Truman era should be instituted. In my opinion, for at least two years. Part of that tax package should provide that in the third and ensuing years the capital gains tax would be reduced and there would not be an increase in taxes on corporations and individuals because we have eliminated most...if not all...of the deficit.

Then, with defense spending down and a lower tax rate in the third year and beyond, our dollar would have stability. Investments would be made and we would be pursuing prosperity, rather than wallowing in this quagmire of continuing recession.

To those of you reading this who feel that it is radical: you're absolutely right. It affects me, too. I am a businessman who started several international food companies. I'm ready to take my medicine, take some short-term reduction in profits to assure that my new company has a country in which to grow that is not paralyzed by debt.

Because when you are looking at a four-trillion-dollar deficit that is increasing by X billions every year...and no one has an answer or the guts to call for what is needed...then it's about

Get the job done

There is nothing that Lon Howell has done with his child that holds any bearing on his ability to uphold his duties as city commissioner.

I feel we are playing footsie with the actual matter of importance.

Who cares rather Lon Howell's son goes to Seminole or Volusia County to attend school? We want to know who will get the job done.

Goldboro needs better drainage, remember when Jimi Brooks obtained a signed petition from the Goldboro community requesting better drainage and sidewalks?

The improvements that are needed in Georgetown and Goldboro are what we are concerned about.

Which person is going to help create better communities and better relations among the Sanford people?

The mud slinging has nothing to do with his concerns or ability to do for the communities.

Meta Brooks
Sanford

Editor's note: District 1 is currently served by incumbent Lon Howell, who is being challenged for his city commission seat by Bob Church, Bill Kirchner and Jordan Beckner.

Support of Lormann for Lake Mary

I am writing to comment on the letter written by John Hauck that appeared in your editorial column. Once again the "political guru of the Forest" is attempting to influence Lake Mary voters with his "political poison". It would seem that the self appointed guardian of the Morris-Sturm camp is once again opposed to anyone who is not hand-picked by Mr. Morris and his associates.

Mr. Hauck's half-truths that were alleged in his letter certainly planted the seed of Mr. Lormann's qualifications being questionable. What Mr. Hauck attempted to conceal from the voters in his letter against Mr. Lormann was Lormann's lack of attendance at the Lake Mary Community Improvement Association was known when Mr. Lormann accepted the position. The association could not find anyone to accept the position and Mr. Lormann was requested to please accept this appointment as 2nd vice president, a position that is nothing more than a figurehead but must be filled according to by-laws. Mr. Lormann explained he would be unable to attend regular meetings prior to accepting this position. In spite of this inability to regularly attend, he was requested to accept this appointment with full knowledge of Mr. Hauck who was an officer of this association, and fully aware of the conditions of acceptance. Mr. Hauck then was instrumental in using the by-laws of the association to request Lormann's resignation to embarrass him. This appears to be no more than a carefully engineered maneuver to assist the Morris faction by causing embarrassment and certainly not of importance to question Mr. Lormann's abilities to function on the commission as a commissioner of Lake Mary.

Jim Lormann

Mr. Hauck then tries to dredge up Longwood where Lormann's involvement ceased some 15 years ago. At that time, I might add, Longwood had an efficient government. It has only been since Mr. Lormann ceased to function in Longwood that Longwood has had problems.

Mr. Hauck then tries to sell us the story of how experienced Mr. Brender is in land planning. Mr. Brender is a sales person servicing the floral industry and has his total experience in land planning from a book he has read. If this qualifies him to be familiar with various requirements and to be instrumental in the city's Comprehensive Plan, I believe any of us would qualify as an "expert." Perhaps this is why Lake Mary can't develop a plan for the future that makes economic sense. Mr. Lormann on the other hand, deals on a daily basis with comprehensive land planning and zoning as part of his job.

I believe it is time, we, as voters, start to question the true motives of people like Mr. Hauck who must believe we are all stupid enough to listen to his half-truths. I would suggest he get a hobby and not spend his free time making derogatory remarks about everyone that disagrees with the Randy Morris-Bob Sturm faction. We have Mr. Hauck and The Orlando Sentinel to thank for Mr. Morris and the upheaval he and his associates brought to our city during his term. Remember, this is the same group that filed a lawsuit against citizens of Lake Mary that dared to disagree with Mr. Morris. Mr. Hauck would like us to have more of the same. Be forewarned Mr. Hauck, the voters of Lake Mary aren't going to fall for your tricks this election.

time to recall the success Harry Truman had by implementing an excess profits tax. Sure there must be certain safeguards for all. But we all must belly up and help pay off our debt and, at the same time, take care of our poor, take care of our homeless, take care of our aged. And we must get rid of this "go to hell" attitude toward these citizens of our great country that we see so much of today. We're so scared of this pile of money we all owe that we sidestep the action necessary to reduce or eliminate the four-trillion-dollar deficit which has mortgaged the future of our children and their children.

Is there anyone out there on the campaign trail who has the intestinal fortitude and the brains that goes with it to embrace such a program?

If not now, we'll all have to face an even larger deficit later on this country's monetary system — our dollar and our economy — will go like Brazil's economy — with the dollar shrinking in value under runaway inflation. And then we will be wondering what the hell happened.

Let's wake up before it's too late.

Jeno F. Paulucci
Sanford

P.S. Just think what an excess profits tax on just the sports and entertainment and corporate moguls would bring in it were on all income over $1,000,000 a year...which seems more than plenty to get by on.

Bush supporter

I am a registered Democrat but most of the time I vote for the man whether he is Republican or Democrat in the general election.

I am for President Bush although he has supported several bills that I am utterly opposed.

Without his influence in causing Russia to become a democracy, there was a chance of an atomic war. If this had happened we possibly would not be here to listen to all the mud-slinging debates. Also, there would possibly be no one left to dispose of our bodies with dignity. Vote for Bush.

Responsibility

It was a terrible, tragic accident that killed a little boy and injured two others in Seminole County. At a time like this our first instinct is to make everybody pay. Trying to prevent this from happening again is of prime importance. So let's look at where the responsibility lies.

It is the responsibility of the parents or guardians to teach their children about safety. As it is today, children stand too close to the road and stand in the roads. I've had to drive around a child sitting on the pavement several times. We've always said, when we see these children, "What if someone has a flat tire or if they lose a wheel or the steering mechanism failed?" You never know for sure about a vehicle's performance or a person's performance.

The children should be taught respect for traffic. To stand off of the road or street. Every school bus stop is at a crossroad of some kind. The children can stand on the side street or lane or driveway or in a yard until the bus stops. In less than a minute they can run to the bus after it stops. School bus drivers are very patient! It would be so much safer and less time consuming than a bus pulling in every street and turning around.

There is no way to protect everyone from all harm. We have to protect ourselves as much as possible. This applies to everyone — not just children. So come on, parents, assume your responsibility for the safety of your children and teach them to wait off of the roads for the school bus. I'd sure feel a lot better driving on the roads also!

IN BRIEF

HRS District 7 calls NQRC meeting

The State of Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services District 7's newly formed Nominee Qualifications Review Committee (NQRC) will hold an organizational meeting on Thursday at noon at the Hurston South Tower, first floor conference room #C, 400 W. Robinson St., Orlando. This meeting is open to the public.

With the HRS Reorganization Act, each district began to form NQRCs. District 7, comprised of Brevard, Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties, will have a 16 member committee. Twelve of the 16 members have been appointed by the governor, the boards of county commission and the school boards in each county, and the chief judge of Orange County. At the organizational meeting, this group will select four additional members.

The health and human services boards and HRS will have joint responsibility and accountability for local human services planning and service delivery, including planning, goals and objectives, conducting needs assessments, developing service delivery plans, establishing service and funding priorities, and budget oversight.

'Parenting' class offered

SANFORD — HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital Women's Center is presenting a class on "Parenting," as part of a series of free prenatal classes offered at the hospital. The class will be held Thursday from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the hospital's classroom.

The class will offer an introduction to parenting skills, including a look at infant stimulation, coping with colic and changes in the family. Also discussed will be infant CPR.

For information, call 321-4500 ext. 5607.

Senior Fair planned

LONGWOOD — South Seminole Community Hospital and South Seminole Home Health will be co-sponsoring a Senior Fair Friday from 9-6 p.m. in the lobby of the Physicians' Plaza. Seniors are invited to have free diabetes, skin cancer, foot screenings and blood pressure checks as well as low cost total cholesterol tests.

An opportunity to receive valuable health and community information such as Seminole County Legal Aid Society, Better Living for Seniors, AARP resource information, Arthritis Foundation information, 55Plus free senior program, also register to win two free airline tickets to anywhere in the continental U.S. Continental Airline flies.

No appointment or registration is necessary. Call 648-3806 for more information.

MS announces annual event

OVIDO — The Central Florida Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society will hold its annual "MS Quadruple-Loop Bike and Inline Skate Event" today at Oviedo High School.

The "Loop" allows participants to cycle or skate one of four routes of either 10, 25, 50 or 100 miles. The routes take participants through some of Central Florida's most beautiful countryside using scenic rural roads with rest stops every 8 to 10 miles and are fully supported with escorts, medical and mechanical assistance.

Funds raised through this event will help provide services to the 8,000+ people in Central Florida affected by MS and help fund national research projects searching for the cause and cure of the disease.

For more information, call 698-3873.

'Celebrate Life for Families'

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Florida Hospital Altamonte will offer free seminars and exhibits for parents and children at "Celebrate Life for Families" today (Sunday), from 1-4 p.m. at the Florida Hospital Altamonte Family Resource Center, 601 E. Altamonte Dr., in front of the hospital.

The event will include exhibits for kids, such as face-painting, clowns and the Silver Eagles unicycle team, and mini-seminars given by medical professionals for parents.

"Celebrate Life for Families" is free, but seating is limited. Free babysitting will be available.

Heartsave CPR class set

SANFORD — HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital, in cooperation with CPR for Citizens, is offering Heartsave CPR classes. The next scheduled class is on Monday from 6-10 p.m. in the hospital's classroom.

The Heartsave class teaches the participant one-person rescue and first aid for choking victims. In addition, the class provides information on prevention of heart disease and how to recognize and care for a heart attack victim. Participants who pass the course will receive Heartsave CPR cards from the American Heart Association.

The cost for the class is $15 per person ($14 for seniors) and registration is requested.

For more information and to register for the class, call CPR for Citizens, 678-4CPR.

'Give Yourself a Lift'

SANFORD — The Auxiliary of HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital has introduced two new programs to help children who are in the hospital.

The first provides bags with crayons and coloring books to children in the Emergency Room.

"We will give these bags to those children who are patients, as well as those who are visiting or are waiting for a family member in the ER," said Elsie Query, Auxiliary president. "We hope it can keep them occupied, and therefore help them overcome some of the fear that can accompany a visit to the ER."

The second program involves the Pediatrics unit and provides items for the patients. All babies admitted to the floor will receive rattle teething rings. Children in the intermediate age range will receive game cards like "Old Maid" and older children will be given decks of regular cards to play with. All of these items are gifts that the patients can take with them when they are discharged from the hospital.

"We're here to help the patients," said Query. "We hope these programs will help the children who come into the hospital to feel cared for, as well

CERTIFIED HEARING INSTRUMENT SPECIALIST

Hearing impaired people need to learn to be sensitive in a polite way. If you are having trouble understanding what someone is saying, explain that you have a hearing problem and need them to speak slower and more clearly.

Do not put hair spray or white wearing your hearing aids. It can build up on the instruments and eventually render them inoperable.

Watch for childrens' knee injuries

By NIA BRAYPSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — You don't have to be a pro athlete to get a major knee injury. Researchers say kids are racking up damage in youth sports.

"We are now seeing a lot more serious injuries in the younger kids," said Dr. Lyle J. Michell, director of sports medicine at Children's Hospital in Boston. "Were we missing those in the past or are more occurring? I don't think we were missing them."

For instance, injuries to the anterior cruciate ligament, which helps to hold the knee joint in place, used to be rare in children, Michell said. "Now we're seeing them consistently, seeing two or three a week."

Dr. Carl L. Stanitzki of Detroit agreed that the trend seems to be up, although he knows of no study to back that up.

Stanitzki, chief of orthopedic surgery at Children's Hospital of Michigan, recently reviewed the records of 70 severely injured patients ages 7-18. About 80 percent were hurt in sports, he said.

Stanitzki used arthroscopy for in-depth examinations of patients with blood in the knee joint, a condition called hemarthrosis.

Among 7- to 12-year-olds, 47 percent of the hemarthroses were associated with an anterior cruciate ligament injury, his report said. Another 47 percent were associated with tears in the meniscus, which acts as a shock absorber inside the joint, it said.

Among 13- to 18-year-olds, 65 percent had an anterior cruciate ligament tear and 45 percent had a meniscal tear, the report said.

The surprise is that not that older athletes are getting ligament injuries, but that younger ones are, too, Michell said.

"The message is that if you put a kid into organized sports, you can't depend on organized sport alone" to make sure they get proper exercise, Michell said.

Coaches are so busy teaching technique that they don't have time to lead a full workout, he said. And kids don't get varied exercise in their ordinary lives — they may need programs to make them more fit, Michell said.

Weight training can build stronger bones, tendons and muscles, even in the pre-teen years, said Wayne L. Westcott, strength training consultant for the national YMCA and fitness director for the South Florida YMCA in Quincy, Mass.

Let the games begin

Seniors from all over the nation will participate in the Golden Age Games

By DEL FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

Jim Adams and Chris Usry, co-chairpersons for this year's Golden Age Games, have moved into high gear these past three months in anticipation of the opening ceremony scheduled for Nov. 1.

Opening day ceremonies, held at the Sanford Civic Center, will feature lighting of the torch and several guest speakers, after which the mayor will officially declare the 18th Annual Golden Age Games open.

The week-long Olympic event, Nov. 1-7, will average 2,000 participants this year, Adams said, with the first event, sailing, scheduled for noon on opening day. Participants have signed up from Hawaii, Canada, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Participants have signed up from Hawaii, Canada, Alaska, Puerto Rico, The Virgin Islands and other remote locales, as many as 25 application forms per day were being received in early June.

-Jim Adams

The Virgin Islands and other remote locales, and Adams and Usry indicated as many as 25 application forms per day were being received in early June.

Participants this year, as in previous years, will be hoping to win medals and ribbons sufficient to place them in line for competition in the U.S. National Senior Sports Classic, to be held in Baton Rouge, La.

Usry, a one-year Sanford city employee as Senior Citizen's Center supervisor, and Adams, a six-year city employee as special events coordinator, have pooled their considerable talent and dedication to raise sponsor support, organize sites for the competition, and generally make ready the playing field. Adams, who has been involved in the games since his affiliation with the City, serves as chairperson for the first time this year.

"I've done a little bit of everything, including beg, to drum up funds," Adams said.

Following the event, Adams and Usry will help compile results records and then coordinate their results with the national seniors

The bowling competition will be at Bent America.

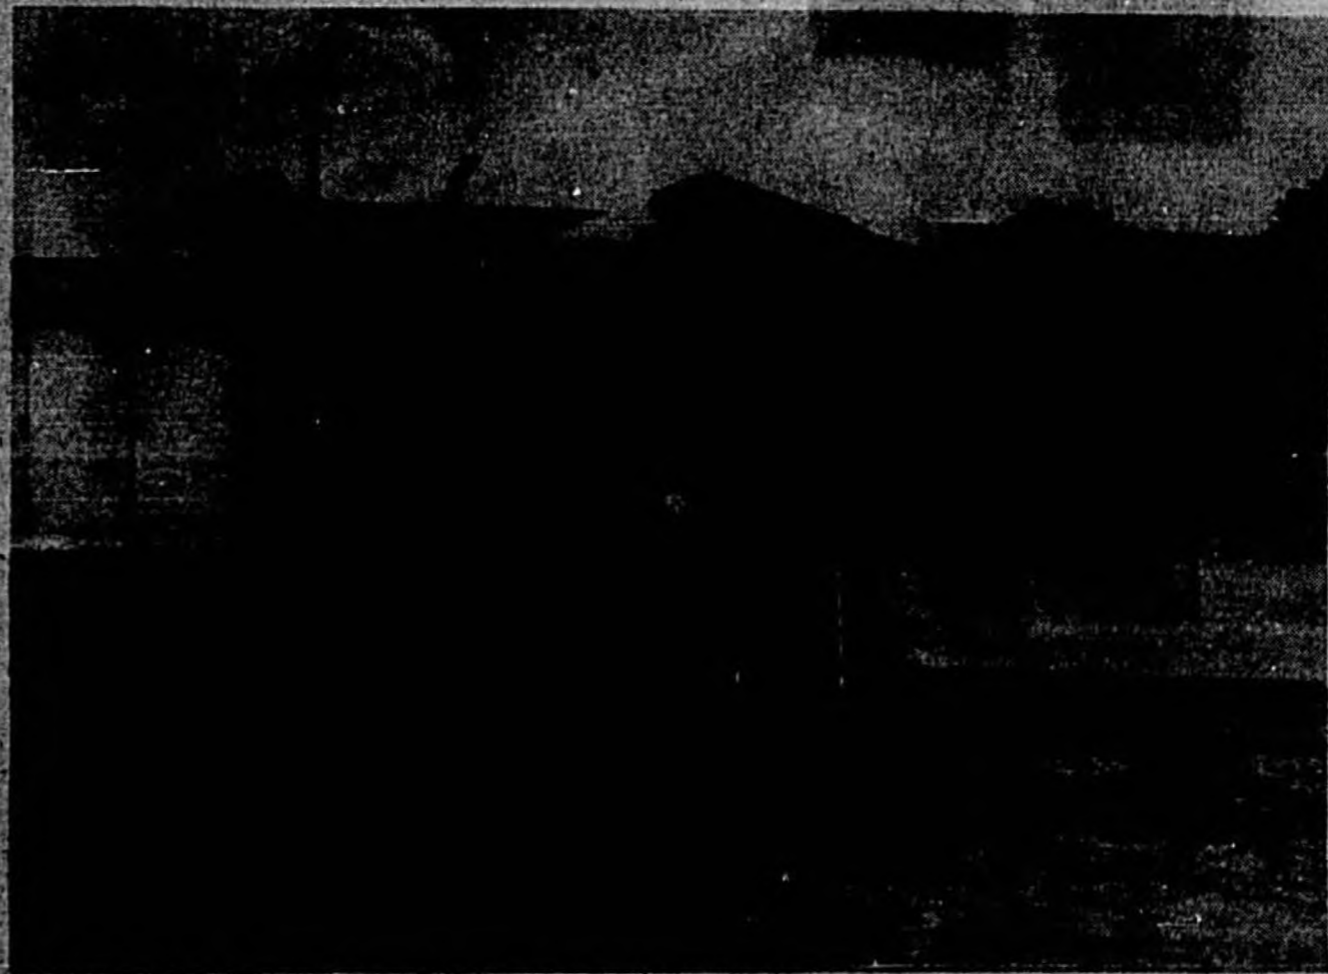

Maple Country Club will keep the golfers busy.

Cycle route takes competitors along Lake Monroe.

The canoe sprint event tests the seniors stamina.

Shuffle off to Sanford

The Sanford Shuffleboard Club will host the stiff shuffleboard competition, as usual, at Ft. Mellon Park on Thursday, Nov. 5, and Friday, Nov. 6.

'Grandma Moses' shows talent in many ways

By DEL FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

Mary Jean Trent has been painting in oils for 30 years, but she has also done pastels, charcoal and has, she says, "been drawing all her life."

"I've never entered an art show and I don't sell," she said, "but I consider myself a professional. I'm a grandma Moses."

She entered the Golden Age Game hobby show about 10 years ago with three oil paintings landscapes. One of them won first prize and another took second place. She didn't get a prize on the third, but she was happy, she said, with what she got. The art show portion of the games had just started at that time, she said.

When her husband passed away two years ago after a long illness, Mary Jean got geared to re-enter competition, she said. This year she has entered the same three events she entered a decade ago: hobby art show, checkers and leisure walking, five miles.

"I don't know if I'll go ahead with the checkers," she said. "Last time I had been playing quite a bit and ended up paired with a champion. I almost beat him and the wives were standing around clapping, but at the last moment he beat me," she said.

Following some surgery on her eyes and a lengthy visit to a brother in Indiana, her home state, she finds herself short on time to complete a new painting for the competition this year, she said, and is toying with whether to enter a previously completed landscape or perhaps a portrait.

"My landscapes are quite large, about 24 by 36, and I have a problem transporting them as I don't drive," she explained.

She also hasn't had much practice, she said, in leisure walking. Last time the event was a six-mile walk, she said, but also contained fast walkers. It was a bit discouraging, she said, to start off with those who were moving so quickly and she is glad that this year the event has been pared down to include only the leisure walkers.

"Some people who have walked all year and are really ready for it do better than others," she said. "I don't make a big deal out of it. I just like to be in it, and I didn't win the year I was in it before. I just had a good time and didn't try to win."

Mary Jean thinks

Sanford should have a lot more advertising for the olympics than they seem to have, she said.

"I wish Sanford could make a bigger deal out of it than they do," she said. "I think it's great that older people can do these things."

Adams takes the challenge

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Jim Adams has worked for many years with the seniors at the Golden Age Games, but this will be the first year he coordinates the full event.

"In the past," he said, "I just went to the different events and pushed the button on the stop watch. This is something very different."

He is following in the footsteps of Jim Jernigan, retired director of the Sanford Recreation Department, who coordinated the Golden Age Games in Sanford for years.

Adams, 46, said he was surprised at how much work went into coordinating the games and he hopes he gets everything right in his first year.

"There isn't a guidebook or anything," he said. "We have to do all of this on our own."

Adams said the elderly people who participate in the Golden Age Games are an inspiration to him. He said they are always SANFORD — Chris Usry, a single mother of two children who has never seen the Golden Age Games, has jumped in with both feet as co-coordinator of this year's games.

"I can't wait to see the games," she said.

Usry said she has talked to many of the participants in the games on the telephone and looks forward to seeing them in action on the playing fields.

"This is going to be interesting and challenging," she said of the task of organizing the games. "But I'm going to be doing it for some really friendly people."

Usry, who was hired in April as the director of the Sanford Senior Center, was asked to serve as co-coordinator in July.

"It was only natural," she said. "I work with the elderly all the time. I was a natural for this job." □ See Usry, Page 15

Following her graduation from Georgia Southern College in 1987 with a degree in recreation, Usry went to work in nursing homes as an activities director before

Pre-Arrangement Peace of Mind

While most of us give considerable thought to planning the details of all the big events in our lives, few people think about their own or their family's wishes when it comes to funeral arrangements. And that's understandable.

But it's also important to understand how pre-arrangement can help ease the burden on your family and insure you receive the type of service you feel appropriate.

Our professional staff is always on hand to listen to and address your special concerns. Please feel free to call us for a convenient appointment.

Stiff competition

The canoeing competition at Sanford Landings is sponsored by the American Red Cross this year. The sprint and obstacle competition will be held on Monday, Nov. 2.

This year's race walk competition, sponsored by Olive Garden, will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 3, at the Sanford Civic Center. Last year's winners joined together to congratulate each other.

Winners to compete at national level

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — One of the benefits of participation in Sanford's Golden Age Games, is qualifying to enter national level competition. The nationals are scheduled for Baton Rouge, La., in the spring of next year.

According to Jim Adams, co-chairman of this year's games, "We could have as many as 500 to 600 people eligible for the national games from the Sanford events, but that doesn't mean that many will actually go."

"For example," he said, "last year we had 340 qualify, but only 150 could actually afford to go. Those who didn't," he added, "will still be eligible to go this year, so they will possibly add to the numbers."

He explained, "We start out with giving qualifications to the top three winners. If, for example, several of them are from out of state, the number will be expanded to include three from Florida in every category, so there could be as many as six local winners going to the nationals in several games."

Volunteers, sponsors make the annual event possible

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — More than two dozen area businesses and organizations have signed up to sponsor the 18th Annual Golden Age Games. The most significant contribution was a $7,500 grant from the Seminole County Tourist Development Council. The Central Florida Aluminum Association gave $1,200 and the Olive Garden restaurant gave $1,000.

Jim Adams, co-

chairman of the Golden Age Games, said other sponsors who gave cash gifts included the Disabled American Veterans, Publix, Winn Dixie, the VFW and Knights of Columbus.

Others organizations and businesses are sponsoring individual events at the games. Those sponsors provide volunteers to work and coordinate the events for the participants.

Area sponsors include the American Red Cross, City of Sanford, The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Over 50 Club, Bayhead Racquet Club, Bowl America, Sanford Optimist Club, HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital, First Baptist Church of Sanford, and Seminole County Extension Homemakers.

Also, Sanford Cycles, Sanford Senior Citizens, Rotary Breakfast Club, Greater Orlando Crib-

Playtime

All work and no play makes for a tired crowd. That's why the games include events like the Pancake Race at Ft. Mellon Park, sponsored by the Pilot Club, Thursday, Nov. 5. Participants flip the flap jacks as they dash for the 50 yard finish line.

 games so that qualified participants from the Sanford games will be able to enter that competition.

"After it's over, we start trying to acquire funds for next year," Adams said. "We begin immediately with new registration packets."

It's a lot of legwork, he said, and he and his co-chairwoman not only have to arrange the games, but obtain agreements from various civic and community organizations for use of space in which to hold the games, and accumulate necessary equipment for the sporting events.

Canoing is generally done on the lake at Sanford Landings; swimming at the Oviedo Recreational Department; track at the Seminole High School; and archery at the Seminole Community College archery range, so the event is truly a community effort.

The games are sponsored by various businesses and organizations, and are highlighted by an Expo at the Civic Center, which Adams describes as a mini-fair. The Expo features products and/or information at booths and exhibits, presented for participants, guests and the general public. Like last year, this year's schedule will include a complimentary breakfast for participants, to be served each morning at 7 a.m. at the Civic Center and the usual mid-week banquet.

Participants ages, he said, range anywhere from 55 to 94 years of age, with the largest age group 65 to 75 years of age. "Over age 75 is when people start to change their lifestyles from active to passive," he said. "That's why we have a variety of passive events for those seniors, such as pinochle, cribbage, bridge, checkers and arts and crafts."

Participants in the games also participate in a senior talent offering, he said, so that in short, there is something for everyone in the Golden Age Games.

Let's hear it

The crowd will show their support for the talent show on Thursday, Nov. 5.

New activities, changes for this year

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

More than 800 people have registered for the Golden Age Games this year, but city officials said the heaviest registration is still to come.

"This week and next week we get quite a few people who actually come in and register at that time," said Jim Adams, co-chairman of the event.

Although the games begin Nov. 1, Adams said registration deadlines are not strictly adhered to

"There's basically only a couple of deadlines, for tennis and for softball and shuffleboard participants. Even then, we try to accommodate people in all those events if there are extenuating circumstances as to why they are running late," he said.

Because of the increased registration toward the beginning of the games, Adams said the number of participants should exceed last year's total. Approximately 1,500 people registered for the games last year with another 400 participating but who officials believe did not fill out registration sheets.

Although the activities are the same this year, the winner's medals will be different.

Adams said the medals are much clearer and nicer this year with less "clutter." The Father Time figure on the medals is much sharper in detail, he said.

"In addition, we have red, white and blue ribbons on all of them much like the Olympic style ribbon," he said.

The Senior Expo of the Golden Age Games will be held on Sunday Nov. 1, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center. As of this week, there is still time for additional participants to sign up for the Expo.

There will be a brief break in the Expo from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. for the opening ceremonies of the games, which will also be held at the civic center.

The Expo will include participants from Florida Power and Light, Orange Hearing, Florida Eye Clinic, Paragon Home Care and several other businesses.

The Expo is staffed by businesses and trade organizations that provide not only service but who also deal with all aspects of senior life.

Fun and games

The Social Reception, Hobby and Photography show, Mid-Week Banquet and the ever famous Talent Show give the entrants an opportunity to relax and have a few laughs.

Golden Age veteran returns to ceremonies

By NICK PFERAUF
Herald Staff Writer

The annual event has been drawing thousands of people to the city to not only participate in what becomes very serious competition, but to watch friends and family members. During non-school hours, there are also a number of local youngsters at the games, cheering for grandma or grandpa.

"It's infectious too," he said. "By the end of the day, I'm really excited about what I'm doing."

His experience in working with the games has given him a lot of inspiration. One gentleman in his 80s swims in every aquatic event, he said.

"It's amazing," he said.

Adams said that working at the Golden Age Games is a lot of fun, but it is a job and a lot of work.

"I wish I had the energy that those athletes have so that I could do this job more easily," Adams said.

As co-coordinator of the 1992 games, Adams said there have been so many things to prepare, from raising money to buying supplies to arranging for ambulance and rescue facilities at some of the events.

"We started planning for this year as soon as last year's games were over," he said.

participants in other games have been very supportive, as they observe others competing in games that could range from the excitement of the 200 meter swimming races to the silent and serious expressions that dominate the faces of avid domino competitors.

The Sanford event actually had its beginning in 1973. It was originally called the Golden Age Olympics, but the name was soon changed to avoid any inference that it was connected to or supported by the World Olympic Federation.

Jim Jernigan, who had been associated with the games up until last year, will be carrying the torch in the opening ceremonies on Sunday, Nov. 1.

"It (the games) started in the Sanford Chamber of Commerce Senior Citizens Committee. The idea of the games came from chamber member Vic Arnett," Jernigan continued. "From that point on, we bounced the idea back and forth and it took one entire year before we actually held the first games."

The first year's games, with only 14 competition events, drew an estimated 300 participants.

The second year, with several more games added, the events received national recognition when former 1932 Olympic swimming champion and movie Tarzan, Clarence "Buster" Crabbe agreed to serve as the honorary chairman. He eventually attended the third and fourth Golden Age Olympic games as well.

"I love working with the much more active elderly people like this," she said.

She noted that her inexperience with working on the Golden Age Games is offset by her work with the elderly and by her fellow coordinator, Jim Adam's many years experience with the games.

McCullough joins the ranks of the bowling competition this year

By DEL FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

Donald McCullough of Sanford started bowling in Pennsylvania in 1952 in a men's league. Eventually, he quit that employer and ended up as assistant manager of a bowling alley, and even owned his own in Drexel Hill, Pa., just south of Philadelphia.

As much as he enjoyed bowling, he said, he had the lanes only about four years before giving it up and then didn't do any bowling until just a few years ago.

"That sort of business is evenings and weekends and you have to be there to talk to the bowlers," he said. "I had no home life and that was more important to me."

Although McCullough moved to Sanford, he didn't pick up a bowling ball again until two years ago.

"We always watched the events at the Golden Age Games like swimming, jogging, etc., and I promised myself when I was old enough I was going to enter," he said. The one event he never watched, he said, was bowling.

"We tried walking into alleys several times during the intervening years from 1952 until 1990 just to see if we would feel the urge, and we just didn't," McCullough said. He and his wife both had been avid bowlers in their early married years, but she had pretty much given the sport up also.

"Then one night another couple suggested we go bowling, and we just got back into it."

Now, McCullough said, he bowls weekly with his wife and daughter, and his wife bowls twice a week. "My average is about 162, which is a lot lower than years ago, but that's what happens when you get a little older," he said.

After taking the sport back up, McCullough was slowed down once again, this time by his health. He is, he said, one of the few survivors of a ruptured aneurism and said he recovered much more quickly from the 1990 operation than his doctor expected. In fact, he was told not to bowl for a while but has done so well with his recovery that the doctor has given him permission.

"This is the first year I'll be bowling in the senior games," he said. "I don't know what to expect."

Vale enters billiards for the pleasure

By DEL FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

"I'm just an old scratch pool shooter," said Edgar Vale modestly to explain his entry in the Golden Age Games 8 ball billiards competition for men.

He hadn't shot pool since he was in the service in 1946 until his retirement, he said. He had a friend who was shooting regularly at the Senior Center in Sanford, and the friend urged Edgar to join him so Edgar did.

"Now, we shoot every day, from about 9 a.m. until 11:30 or so," Edgar said. The games they shoot are 101, 8 ball or 9 ball.

It wasn't that he stopped enjoying pool, Edgar said, but he had to raise a family and make a

I've competed all my life, and I just don't want to compete. I'm going into this thing strictly for pure pleasure.

-Edgar Vale

living. "I didn't have time for pool," he said.

In fact, he all but forgot about it, he said. He did work sport car races for a hobby during the years, he said, but he "just never thought about pool back then."

When Edgar first started shooting pool, he said he thought he must have been in high school. "It only cost a nickel a game, then," he said. He doesn't remember if he ever won any money at the game, even then, he said, and he certainly doesn't shoot for money nowadays.

In fact, Edgar, who says he doesn't do any trick shots or anything, but just shoots scratch pool, would probably still be lurking down at the Senior Center shooting the occasional game except that the director down there threatened the regulars to get them into the competition, he said.

"She threatened to turn the pool room into a sewing room," he said.

Although he abandoned pool for a number of years, Edgar kept up with his other interests such as ballroom dancing. He and his wife go dancing at the Moose Lodge on 441 and at the Coliseum in St. Petersburg, he said, with regularity. They are so involved in the past time that they each own their own professional dancing shoes, he said, although she has eight pair to his one.

When not out on the town dancing, Edgar confessed he does watch the occasional pool competition on the sports channel, although he doesn't practice any other form of study of the game. Still, "you learn some stuff by watching that," he said.

He's not serious about competition in the Golden Age Games for a winning position, however. Edgar said he plays strictly for fun.

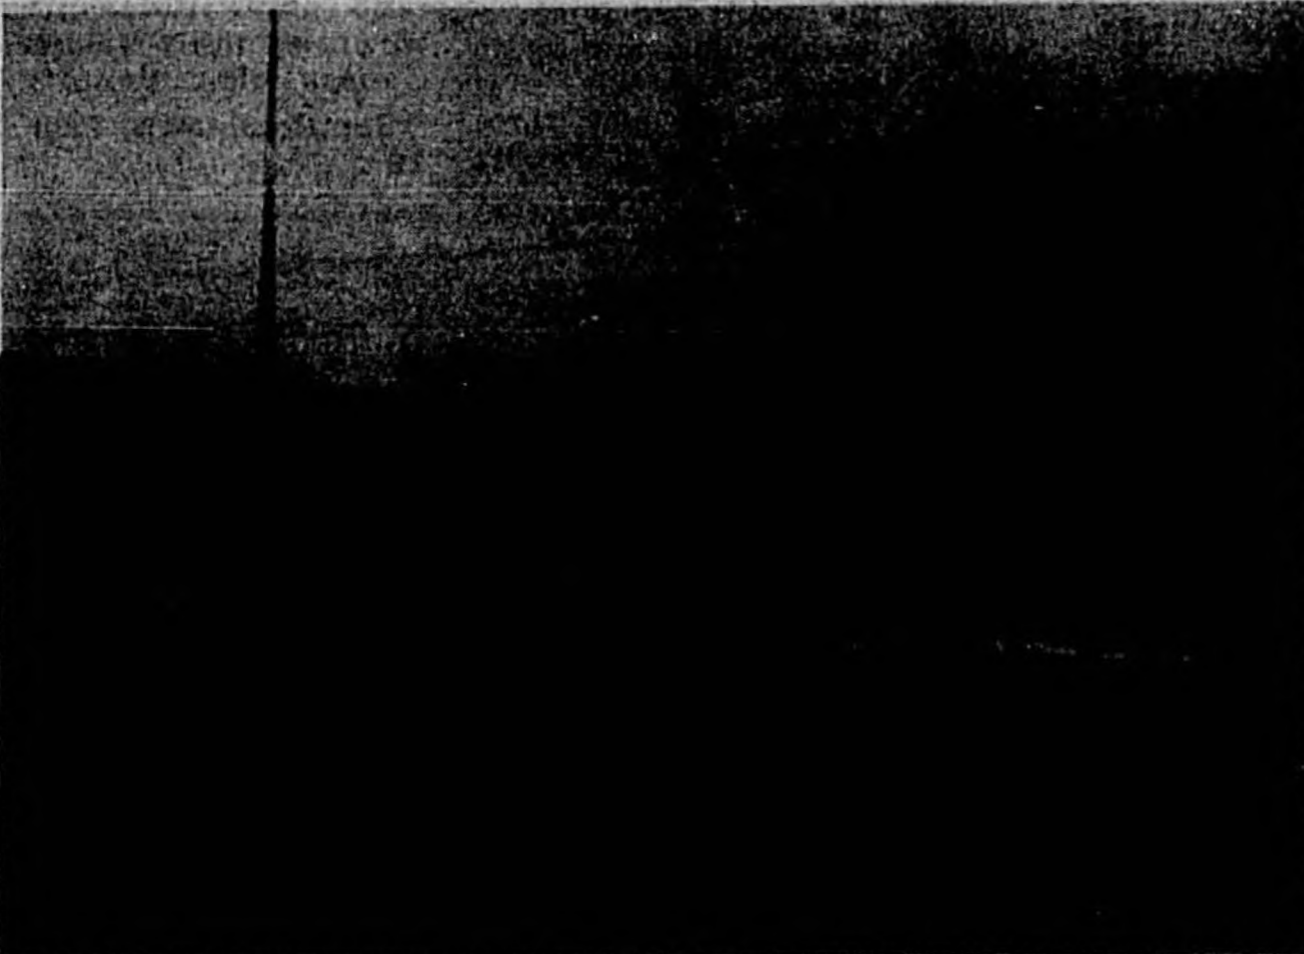

"I've competed all my life, and I just don't want to compete," he said.

"I'm going into this thing strictly for pure pleasure."

McCullough has been walking since the operation to stay in shape and said he would be thrilled to win in the competition, although he always expects to do well when he bowls.

Both the McCulloughs have their own bowling equipment, and both interestingly enough use what is called a finger-point ball, a bowl in which the fingers only go to the first joint. The average ball allows the fingers to go in up to the second joint, McCullough, but the fingertip gives him a better hook.

"The only thing I'm going to do to prepare for the competition is go down to Sanford the night before and see what the lanes are like," McCullough said.

Otherwise, he said, he'll just show up and do his best. And whether he wins or loses, he said, he'll keep showing up each year for at least the next four until his wife is old enough to join the competition, too, he said.

Sanford residents to compete on hometown court

By DEB FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

Dutch and Dorothy Sawyer learned to play shuffleboard in downtown Sanford.

"My husband used to go down to the shuffleboard club and play cards and he started playing a couple of years and then I got involved. He started playing in 1981 and I started about 1983."

I think it's a game you can pick up and play unlike golf where you need professional instruction and such. "If you took lessons from a pro, it would probably be a lot of help."

There have been professionals who said they would teach it, Dorothy said, but it seemed like the people had some reluctance to show up to learn.

"You can play three times for free," Dorothy said, "and after that the yearly membership is $10.00."

Yearly membership entitles you to play any time you like, she said, and the club sponsors pot luck dinners twice a month and a birthday party once a month. There is a birthday party committee and they arrange cake, and ice cream and coffee and play bingo.

"We have what we call red and black Tuesday, Friday and Saturday afternoons at 1:30 p.m." Red and black is shuffleboard practice where everybody gets together and plays, usually three games. Time varies, but usually three games can be played in about two or two and a half hours.

On Wednesdays the club plays inner-city which is mostly Volusia County. The Sanford

Butler has been playing golf in the games from the beginning

By DEL FREEMAN
Herald Correspondent

Vincent Butler of Lake Mary has been playing golf since he was about 55 years old, and at age 79 he's played in every one of the Golden Age Games including this year's event. In fact, he even won in 1990, he said, but he can't remember his score — just the ribbon and medal he received.

Unlike the nation's fanatics who study videos and take lessons from pros, Vincent said he just learned by doing. His son-in-law took up the game, he said, and after Vincent retired he began to go out to the course with his son-in-law.

"It's just for the fun of it," he said. "I never took a lesson in my life and I'm not a serious golfer."

Still, Vincent thinks it's a marvelous form of exercise and while he admits that the contacts made in the game are great for business, since he retired that is of little import to him.

He enjoys walking the course, Vincent said, and when one course declined walking any longer, he changed his membership to a club that still allowed him to amble about the course. He bought his own clubs because it gets expensive to rent them rather than from any desire to perfect his game, he said.

The Golden Age Games, he said, are a nice day's outing and an awfully nice bunch of people assembled together.

Vincent is interested enough to watch tournaments on television, and said he takes a couple of golfing magazines but doesn't really think the tips they contain are much help to him.

It's just for the fun of it. I never took a lesson in my life and I'm not a serious golfer.

-Vincent Butler

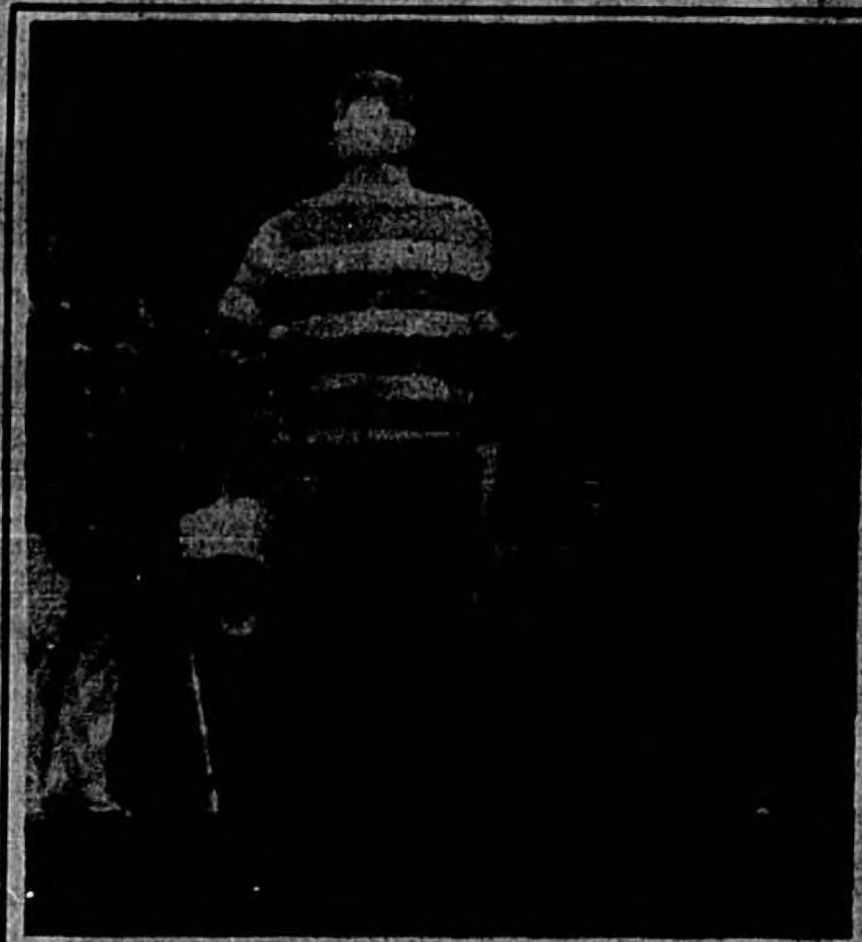

"I'm a left-handed golfer and there just aren't many of those nor many tips for the few there are," he said. "There are only one or two good left-handed players around and some companies don't even make clubs for left-handed golfers."

Vincent's handicap is 26, a lot higher than when he was younger, he said, and he plays regularly on a particularly tough course, which keeps his handicap high.

He's looking to do well in the Golden Age Games golfing event, he said, because he always tries to play the best he can. And he'll keep coming back every year just like he's done in the past.

"I'll keep this up as long as the Lord will let me play," he said.

Decisions, decisions

A tricky putt has even the best of players stumped at the Mayfair Country Club. The golf enthusiasts will put their skills to the test on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 3-5.

club plays Volusia County and vice versa. There are 12 different clubs, Dorothy said, and games are played here bi-weekly and away from home every other week.

"We keep score to 75 point games and the one from each club with the highest score gets to be in the playoff which is a game usually set after the three games on Wednesdays."

Although the club does stock out sticks for infrequent players to use, the Sawyers got serious about the sport and purchased their own. Most people who are serious, she said, will buy their own.

The couple have entered the Golden Age Game competition in the doubles event, she said, and since her husband had a heart operation in 1990, which still troubles him, he hasn't been able to practice as much as usual and she won't even guess at their chances of winning the competition.

"We'll just do the best we can and if we win, and if we lose, we lose," she said. "We won't be poor losers," she laughed.
