PRIME MINISTERS DISAGREE ABOUT REPARATIONS MATTER DIFFICULT OF SETTLEMENT

SOBER AND ANXIOUS SPIRIT MANIFEST IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES

ENGLAND'S PLAN

Is to Help Germany in Order That Money for Reparations Could Be Available

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, Jan. 2.—The prime ministers of Great Britain, France and Belgium, together with the Marquis de la Torre, representing the Italian premier, will go into conference tomorrow, in what is regarded as the final effort of the allies to reach a collective settlement of the reparations question. There was a sober and even anxious spirit in allied circles last night in the fact of all probability that, if the conference fails, separate and direct action by France will follow.

The meeting is a continuation of last month's premiers' conference in London, which was called to examine whether any practical results could come from a general economic conference in Brussels. The main questions to be decided are, first, whether a moratorium can be granted to Germany, and second, upon what terms.

France and Great Britain are very sharply divided in policy. The French insist upon seizing the productive sources of Germany on the left banks of the Rhine and in the Ruhr valley as guarantee that, when the moratorium terminates, Germany will resume her reparations payments. President Millerand in replying to the New Year good wishes of the diplomatic corps yesterday, made it clear that France stands upon her conception of justice and also her rights under the treaty of Versailles. "Complete peace can be established," he declared, "only on the basis of the treaties and through respect for the rights acquired and the obligations incurred."

The British government disapproves stern methods or penalties and desires to work out a plan under which Germany will be allowed a moratorium of at least two years, this time to be employed in so reorganizing her resources that she may successfully shoulder her debts.

Any settlement likely to be successful depends, in Mr. Bonar Law's view, on some form of international loan for Germany, together with his associates on the British delegation, he has received with approval the suggestion of the American secretary of state that an international committee determine the amount of reparations to be expected.

The conviction held by Premier Poincare is that a change of heart on the part of Germany is required above all other considerations. He believes Germany's plans for the future are based upon a policy of resistance to the execution of the Versailles treaty, and any effort to help her he regards as useless until the Berlin government decides in earnest to fulfill her reparations.

ALL LEVY COUNTY JOIN SEARCH FOR NEGRO ASSAULTER

BRONSON, Jan. 2.—Two negroes were in jail as suspects here last night and Sheriff Walker, with bloodhounds and dozens of men were scouring the country for another negro in connection with an attack upon the wife of a mill worker at Sumner, early yesterday. The husband had left home for work when the negro appeared and knocked at the door. The woman opened the door and the negro struck. Her screams after a time brought housewives in the neighborhood and the negro escaped, but the victim was shaken and beaten into insensibility and remained unconscious until late yesterday.

The authorities have not yet taken the aspects to her to identify. The negro believed by many to be the guilty one was making for Gulf Hammock one of the most dense forests in Florida, when a posse on his trail last reported.

The entire county is aroused, and virtually every able bodied man had joined in the search.

Mrs. W. D. Sprague and son Ted of Chicago are visiting her sister Mrs. H. Darrow, 410 French Ave., for the holidays.

ROLLINS WINS FROM HAVANA IN HOLLOW VICTORY

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI, Jan. 2.—Rollins won a hollow victory 80 to 0, over the University of Havana eleven here yesterday afternoon. The Cubans were inexperienced at the game and put up little opposition to the Winter Park team.

Rollins scored in the first two minutes of play following a forward pass to Wolf and an end run by Seels. There ran 15 yards for the second score as the period ended. From then on it was a rout. Relying on end runs and forward passes, every one of which was completed save one, Rollins scored at will. Seels led with five touchdowns.

In the final period, on three successive kickoffs, Rollins scored on the first play after receiving the kickoff, on runs from midfield. Havana only once was in Rollins' territory, that coming on a run by Campuzano for 15 yards to Rollins' 47 yard line, but a fumble halted the advance.

The Havana team was slow in getting off its plays and showed little ability to diagnose Rollins' plays, a pass to a back field man, who stole over to the side of the field, working every time for gains of from 30 to 60 yards.

Fullback Campuzano starred for Cuba, as he made the only gains attributed to the islanders. He also tackled and several times stopped Rollins runners in the open field.

For Rollins the playing of Wolf and Seels stood a bit above that of their teammates, although the whole Winter Park eleven worked faultlessly.

GARY SHOT ACCIDENTALLY, DIED TODAY

BOY PULLING GUN FROM THE BOAT CAUSES ACCIDENT

An employe of the railroad shops here named Gary was shot yesterday in the leg by the accidental discharge of a gun while out hunting and died at the hospital here this morning. It seems that Gary was out duck hunting yesterday with a lad and as they were leaving their boat the lad dragged his gun from the boat in some manner and discharging the gun, the contents entering the leg of Gary. It took some time to get him to the city, and he had bled so much that there was little hope of his recovery when he was brought in yesterday afternoon. The physicians labored with him the greater part of the night and amputated the leg in an effort to save his life, but he could not survive the shock and expired early this morning. Deceased formerly lived in Waycross and had lived here with his wife for some time. The remains will probably be taken to his old home for interment. NEW YORK KEPT DRY EVEN IN RAIN

PROHIBITION OFFICERS KEPT THE TOWN ALL VOLSTEAD

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—New Yorkers who danced and drank away the old year yesterday paid the divers terms dictated by the fiddler. It was "cold gray dawn" for everybody, what with a downpour of rain and a whistling wind. And there were not a few persons, despite the laws and all, who awakened with aching heads and had tastes in their mouths like green persimmons.

Others greeted the day with sour faces and creaky joints caused by hours spent on the none too comfortable bunks of jails. These persons had been too reckless in the display of pocket flasks filled with the liquor in which they had planned to drown the sorrows of 1922.

Even though there were drinkers in the dazzling establishments along the great white way who were not caught, prohibition enforcement agents killed all the joy that might have been. It was only in the tucked away places of the city that revellers followed their bent without molestation. For in all the better known and even the smaller places of the Broadway district licensed prohibition agents and policemen watched for the tilting of flasks and bottles. In some 1,000 resorts the enforcement agents worked.

There were only 123 prohibition law arrests in all—70 by federal agents and 53 by the police. About 200 gallons of liquor were taken from 41 establishments. E. C. Yellowley, federal director of prohibition enforcement for New York state, declared that the result of his staff's work was "more than satisfactory."

He said he believed his warning that violators would be arrested and jailed had prevented much law violation. His warning to owners of resorts that they would be closed by injunction proceedings should they be caught dispensing liquor, resulted in closing of more than a dozen large places at 1 o'clock last night, he added.

FORD CAR HITS HOUSE

Mrs. Clark, the county nurse, had an accident Sunday afternoon from which she was fortunate to emerge alive. While trying to avoid hitting another car at the corner of Park avenue and Seventh street the car driven by Mrs. Clarke jumped the sidewalk and ran into the porch of the N. H. Garner home at the corner of Seventh and Park. The tires were all flattened and the fenders bent and the wind-shield shattered but none of the occupants of the car were hurt other than being badly shaken up by the accident. REPUBLICANS TRAFFIC IN FEDERAL JOBS CONTINUES MERRILY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Additional evidence of the Republican practice of peddling Federal patronage in Southern states was given to the country by Congressman T. W. Harrison of Virginia, when he read to the house of representatives a bundle of original letters written by and to Representative Slemm (Republican) of that state, and his secretary, L. B. Howard, on the subject of this traffic.

Canceled checks drawn in Representative Slemm's favor and endorsed by him were also included among the exhibits of this Republican barter and sale of public office.

Checks produced by Representative Harrison showed that more than $900 had been collected by Howard and turned over to Representative Slemm. Some of the money garnered from successful applicants for Federal jobs went to Republican National committee, the letters showed.

"I have your letters in regard to the collection of money for postoffices," Representative Slemm wrote to one of his collectors. "One must be careful about this," he cautioned. "It will bring the party into disrepute, which would be bad for everyone. We must preserve our standing with the people and the administration."

HOW IT BECAME "MUSCLE"

"It seems fitting to say right here that no one seems to know just how "Muscle" got into the name. Some say that it started out as "mussel" and got misspelled; the first map, and stayed misspelled; while others, of a more romantic turn, insist that the Indians had a name of their own which signified that it took a deal of strength to push a canoe up that part of the river, and that our "muscle" is rough and ready translation of the Indian." —Samuel Crowther in McClure's Magazine for January.

HOUSE COMPLETES CONSIDERATION OF POSTOFFICE BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Maintaining its record for speed, the House on Saturday took up and completed consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill carrying $584,014,000. Immediately after the holiday recess the house will vote on supply measures carrying nearly a billion dollars, all of which have been sent through the fire of debate and amendment in eight working days.

The bills awaiting final passage are the agricultural, carrying $38,000,000; the interior, carrying $294,000,000, and the postoffice bill, which went through Saturday virtually as the committee reported it.

Several members have urged the necessity for added appropriations to develop night flying in the mail service, but no serious effort was made to amend the bill in that particular. Chairman Stenerson of the postoffice committee, tried to increase the allowance for third class postmasters, but he was unsuccessful.

A last minute effort on the part of Representative Black, Democrat, of Texas, to strike out the appropriation for the New York tube system failed after Chairman Stemp, of the subcommittee in charge of the bill, had changed the item to prevent it from going out on a point of order.

During debate Chairman Madden said a prospective surplus of a million dollars for the postoffice department was in prospect within the next two years, the deficiency for the past year having been cut to $31,000,000.

One curious remedy for leprosy, a plague of the East, was eating pythons.

Specially arranged New Year's Program, Cecil H. DeMille's 'MANSLAUGHTER' The dazzling masterpiece of the world's master-producer. A drama of the mad age. Stronger in cast and story, more gorgeous in gowns and settings, more amazingly beautiful in spectacle than anything ever seen on the screen. With lovely Leatrice Joy, Lois Wilson and Thomas Meighan. And this is the day after—New Years.

But of course everybody swore off yesterday and no one feels badly today.

We would advise swearing off from swearing off from swearing off from any other kind of resolution. Do better—that's all.

The Sanford Country Club is not only a place to enjoy golf, but it is a place to enjoy yourself. Everyone likes the Country club house.

The sun is breaking out today and the clouds and the rain have passed and it looks like a Happy New Year for you and all of us. Let's go.

Bergdoll, the draft dodger continues to dodge the American authorities and it is more than likely that if he really sailed for the United States that his money will gain him entrance into this country. Money will do anything—even buy a patriot—of a certain kind.

Berlin's latest plan on the war question is for the public to vote for war if they want war. This is hardly the solution of our troubles. The public of Germany probably voted for war during the late unpleasantness with that country and the public as far as Germany is concerned is the German public.

The Tampa Times says the year of 1922 was the hottest in local annals. We quite agree with the learned professor who makes up the weather reports and wish to commend him upon his perspicacity (whatever that is) and that we think he knows what he is talking about. It was the hottest that we have ever known in Florida although there were many people that did not think it was hot.

NO ARGUMENT ABOUT TRADE AT HOME

The Herald has been waging a campaign for many years about trading at home and lately trying to arrive at some conclusion about the matter and find out just why some people never buy anything in Sanford. Arthur Yowell, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce says that the real reason for people trading away from home is that the home merchants do not have what they want. Since the remedy has been found the Herald will quit talking about trade at home and take up something else. We always wanted to know about this trade at home business for it means much to the community.

START THE CELERY AT REASONABLE PRICES

Don't kill the goose that lays the golden egg. And don't kill the buyer that wants to pay you cash for your celery but must make some money for himself in order to pay you cash. Every year we start the celery too high and it falls by the wayside before the season is over simply because the people in the northern markets cannot pay the price and keep it up. We have noted that an intelligent way of marketing is to get a reasonable figure all the way through for the celery crop and not kill the price by asking too much for the early stuff. Celery will start moving from this section next week in car loads and there will be plenty of celery here this year and it will be of good quality. There is no need to crowd the market at any stage of the game and if common sense is used all the way through the Sanford section will experience a wonderful season. It is time now to consider the best ways and means to keep the celery moving as slowly as possible, divide the crop up over the entire season as much as possible. And last but not least put up nothing but prime stuff and see that it is prime all the way through. We can make money here this season or we can lose it. The growers should profit by their experiences in the past and play safe.

A 1923 FORECAST

The 1923 issue of an astronomical almanac which has had wide circulation for a good many years is out. Those who compile it assure their readers that a careful study of the stars reveals a pleasant year ahead for the nation. Here are some of the promises:

"A great amount of good accomplished in the way of legislation. It will be a year of human relationship and great spiritual development.

"A steady and active business period in the affairs of men, with much activity in real estate transactions, and the products of the earth.

"A great deal of building and a busy period for bankers and capitalists, with the common people to share in the business successes through a steady employment generally."

Rather cool weather is foretold and some discussions between labor and capital, but in spite of these drawbacks, the year is to be a good one bringing:

"Thrift, steady plodding, fair dealings and greater achievements along industrial, commercial and constructive lines, with wages commensurate with the kind of work performed. No great rushes, sudden changes or big failures, big losses or big fortunes but careful, cautious methods, a settled-down condition with less anxiety and trying to get ahead."

Of course there will be those who snort and say "superstition." But a fact is that superstition savors very strongly of common sense and optimism. Mrs. Malaprop exclaimed: "The Rivets" that since both preference and aversion tend to grow low after marriage, "it is safest in matrimony to begin with a little aversion." Likewise, as both pessimism and optimism tend to become dulled by the passage of time, it is pleasantest if not safest, in entering the New Year, to begin with a little optimism.

FROM OTHER SANCTUMS

WHAT WILL RAILROADS DO TO HELP FLORIDA?

Numerous railways in the United States keep up a continuous propaganda advancing the interests of the states they serve; illustrating by products displayed in cars especially contrived for the purpose, the possibilities of the coast whence they derive the greater share of business. In western Canada some years ago, and it may be the practice is still continued, not only were very low rates established for those who wished to inspect lands anywhere along the route, but the railway carried the household and farm equipments from the old home to the new for a mere song—practically free.

The railways of Florida could, upon their own initiative and at a small cost, swell the population of the state by many thousands. When the population of Florida is doubled the railways will be great beneficiaries—and that one prospect alone should stimulate the roads to make the effort. At the same time a doubled population would decrease taxes—the taxes of the railways in common with the rest of the assessed property—and that should be another incentive for the roads to get busy.

It is well known that each railway in the United States extends "courtesies" to all other roads. It would cost each of the Florida roads but a small sum to arrange a display car for the state. The transportation through northern and middle western states would cost nothing. There would be no demurrage for the days it occupies a sidetrack in towns and cities. Practically all that the railroads would be "out" would be the expense of two good men to accompany each car and give desired information to all visitors who might call at the display cars while sidetracked.

ADVERTISING AND ITS VALUE IN 1923

By William H. Rankin, President Wm. H. Rankin Company

Broadcasted by Radio

The daily newspaper is one of the greatest forces for public good in American life. And great as is the educational quality of the news columns and of the learned editorial comment, it is not in these, I venture to believe lies the greatest value of the newspaper to the people at large. No, the true mirror of the times; the true reflection of our national prosperity; the true hope for the future to be found in the vivid, electric, stimulating advertising columns, without which the making of the modern newspaper would not be possible.

To the regular reader of a metropolitan newspaper comes almost unconsciously on his part a full and adequate knowledge of the great merchandise that do honor to the solidity, the integrity, honesty and the fair dealing of this great country of ours. And I am anxious that you should realize as I, who have been conducting an advertising agency for many years, realize through experience that advertising is not a selfish enterprise. I do not mean that advertisers are philanthropists, but I mean that by advertising they establish names on which you know you can rely; they establish good-will, because they have taught the public to trust them; they establish trade-marked goods so definitely good, so worthily manufactured and so invariable and fine in quality that the customer has learned how implicitly he can rely on these and so save waste in buying and economy by avoiding experiment.

The standards in buying which the general public relies upon have been established only by high class advertising. First the quality of the product is established; then the name is established, and thereafter as the quality is steadily maintained or improved, the name which becomes by constant and persistent advertising a household word, becomes increasingly valuable and standard. You have only to think a moment of the advertised articles that you regard as standard of their class to understand how valuable advertising has been to the great consumer. It is advertising alone that has convinced automobile users that Goodrich Tires are "Best in the Long Run"; advertising that has taught millions of households how safe and economical it is to use Wilson's "Certified" meats. You know through advertising, that the "Sun-awee" prune of California has graduated from a boarding house joke to one of your breakfast table delicacies; and that "Summit" raisins have a reputation far beyond any quantity of price. It is advertising that brought back to smokers a pre-war price in the five cent Wm. Penn cigar; advertising which convinces you to your own good that Columbia Batteries "last longer" and that Eveready Flashlights are as necessary as your weed chains.

New York City is a city of merchant princes whose names and high positions were won through advertising. John Wanamaker, Franklin Simon, Altman, James McCreery, Mark Cross, Saks, Rogers Peet & Co., Lord & Taylor, Stern's, Tiffany and Hest & Co. These and dozens of other Various counties would gladly arrange for displays of certain features specialized in or possible in that section, and would furnish literature of a kind that would be convincing to the skeptical. Every county could arrange to be represented in a way in at least one of the "traveling encyclopedias," and there would be no dissenting voice to that end. Thus could Florida be advertised as it has never before been advertised—and at a trivial cost to each county and an outlay for each railway that would never be missed. The increased traffic bound to follow such propaganda would immediately repay the roads. One hand would wash the other—and the added patronage in passenger and freight tolls would furnish the soap.

Besides these points it is worth something to the railways to have the reputation of doing some real service for the state. The roads would stand better with the people for having done their best to serve the people. As the railways can take up this matter at a cost far less than any other authority, and can conduct it at a cost so small as to be negligible, the query might be made:

Why do not the railways serving Florida in receiving annually the large sums from the Florida people take up this matter of saying some good things and showing some attractive products throughout other states—Palatka News.

Merchants-Chase Game Postponed, to Play it Off Tonight

The regular match scheduled between the Merchants and Chase & Co., that was to be played last night was postponed on account of too many of the Orange Packers being out-of-town for the holidays. The game will be played tonight according to the early morning dope this morning, as tonight is the only night the alleys will be available this week. The Men's Club and Congregationals play tomorrow night and the Farmers and Rotes Thursday night.

Orlando Players Don't Like Name of Orange Pickers

We notice that the Orlando Sentinel has been feeling out the boys that will play the 1923 season in order to ascertain their wishes in regards to their 1923 name. Hauselt has placed the name of Orange Pickers onto them and the majority of the players seem to think they would rather pick something or somebody else rather than pick oranges. The Orlando Sentinel has the following to say about it:

Edward George Hauselt, Duke of Exposition Park and president of the Orlando baseball club, has two big jobs. One is selling season baseball tickets. That's big. The other is convincing his players that it's all right to call them the Orange Pickers. That's BIGGER.

In response to inquiries sent out by the sports department of the Sentinel in an effort to find out the sentiment of the players concerning the new name, the following polite telegrams have been received:

Bradentown, Fla., Jan. 1, 1923. Isaac Finkelstein, Care Sentinel, Orlando, Fla.

Don't let Lucy call us Orange Pickers. Bulldogs is bad enough. Happy New Year. GENE ELLIOTT, Lakeland, Fla., Jan. 1, 1923.

L. Finkelstein, Care Sentinel, Orlando, Fla.

Cast my vote for Crackers, Parrots, Bill Pickles or Bulldogs, but please eliminate Orange Pickers. LEFTY HICKS, Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 1, 1923.

Finkelstein, Isaac, Care Sentinel, Orlando, Fla.

I favor Horseshoe, Star, Piper Heidsieck or Gouger Twist. Six on the Orange Picking staff. Yes, ty. B. MULL SMITH, Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 1, 1923

I will pick peckers, turkeys, ducks and other birds, but I won't line on picking oranges. Cold here. BENJAMIN WAITE.

The foregoing expressions, indicating humble subservience to executive authority, show clearly how the players stand on the question of retaining the base ball club. Replies were received from all of the players on the team, but the words of Waite, Smith, Hicks and Elliott were selected for publication, as the others were in a lighter vein and not so serious as those appearing in this article. "Grit Eaters, Flag Grabbers, Rat Runners, Rah Rah Boys and other appellations were suggested.

The matter was also taken up with Fred Burke, manager of the club, who said that he did not approve of the new name. Burke said it would be all right to switch to Orange Pickers if the club dropped into the cellar, but expressed the hope that the boys would not be ordered with the new name at the beginning of the season when their morale should be high so that they could get away to a flying start in the pennant dash.

Burke said he would take the matter up with President Hauselt immediately and indicated that if he failed to get satisfaction he would appeal to the utilities commission or the brick road committee.

CLARENCE ROSE IS FLORIDA'S TENNIS CHAMPION AGAIN

Clarence S. Rose, of Jacksonville, yesterday regained his title as tennis champion of Florida in the concluding match of the Florida public courts tennis championship tournament that has been in progress here intermittently during the last three weeks. Rose defeated Martin Hirschberg of Jacksonville, in the final 6-3, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4. Hirschberg in the semi-finals, Sunday eliminated W. McL. Christie, of Jacksonville, the title holder, who won the championship last year from Rose. The other new state champions as a result of the tournament are:

Men's doubles: Rose and George Yenawine; Jacksonville. Men's junior singles: Yenawine. Women's singles: Miss Amy Walcott, Daytona.

Girls' singles: Miss Walcott. Miss Walcott, who has not yet attained her fourteenth birthday won the women's championship from Miss Rita Chambers, of Tallahassee, who had held the title four years.

12 MEN INDICTED

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—A federal grand jury hearing complaints against the fashionable Racquet and Tennis club in Park avenue, yesterday indicted on two counts, 12 men charged with illegally selling more than 30 gallons of liquor.

Among those indicted were Rene la Montague, Morgan E. la Montague and William A. la Montague, owners of the Green River Distilling company and the Eminence Distillery of Kentucky. Rene la Montague is noted as a polo player.

The others indicted were Samuel A. Storey, vice-president of E. la Montague Sons, a New York importing firm; John George, Patrick McGee, Herbert Morgan, Eddie Harlow, Edwin Schutenburg, James R. Burrows, Rex M. Sheldon and Montague la Montague.

United States District Attorney Haywood in a statement, said the indictments involved the bootlegging by the la Montagues of more than 27,000 gallons of whiskey, gins, wines and assorted liquors. Much of the liquor he said, had been obtained through forgery of withdrawal permits.
