WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—President Roosevelt, promising dramatic new business measures today, said he would take strong steps to strengthen the nation's economy and save the lives and the property of the people. He further stated that the government would not be afraid to do what it takes to end the depression.

He said, "We are engaged in conquering these subjects, no one has been confirmed. His announcement came on the heels of his talk to the nation last night in which he told the members of our democratic institutions" to make no distinction between the forces of the depression.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt recommended his new anti-depression spending and lending program to the Nation tonight with a statement that the new law had been signed into law.

Convict Busts Uncovers Cache Of Jewels Valued At More Than $100,000

MIAMI, Apr. 15.—Sheriff Walter Clark, Adjacent, Broward County, reported the discovery of a historical drama with the great fire in 1921 to the principle parties involved, which apparently have been stolen and which he estimated was worth between $100,000 and $150,000. The sheriff brought the jewels to the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation here and went into conference with FBI agents.

The jewels were found wrapped in a towel and buried in a shallow hole in a negro cemetery near Hollywood by Ed Hasman, director of a gang of Broward county convicts who were clearing up the destroyed.

Deputies Arrest Two In Seizure Of Moonshiners Still

After several weeks of almost continuous vigil on the part of members of the Sheriff's office, Deputy Sheriff Jack Wilson, with other law enforcement officials, late yesterday afternoon, caught two moonshiners still in a swamp near the city.

The moonshiners declined to answer questions concerning their activities, but admitted they had been making moonshine in those areas.

The moonshiners were captured in the swamp near the city, where they had been operating for some time.

Deputies also arrested a man

Japan Faces Cabinet Row Over China

Premier Threatens
To Resign In Pro-

Plan Of Campaign

By Associated Press
Wars and fears of wars were mentioned in Japanese political circles today, a back to work "invitation" to French strikers and new moves toward a re-adjustment of the balance of power in Europe.

Japan's Premier Prince Konoe was reported ready to resign because of a split among his ministers over the war on China, in which the tables were recently turned on the invaders.

The Premier was believed to be leading a moderate element opposed to withdrawing troops from Manchukuo in an effort to smash the Chinese. Involved was the fear that Soviet Russia might choose to strike at war weakened Japan.

The new French government invited employers and 100,000 striking workers to reach a peace by next Tuesday in an ultimatum-like warning that otherwise Premier Daladier would use his dictatorial authority to the "common good."

At the same time Daladier prepared for conversations to strike a bargain with Italy like that which Britain and Italy will sign tomorrow. France and Britain see friendship with Rome as a means of exerting diplomatic leverage against Adolf Hitler of Germany.

In Spain the insurgent army moved deeper into the narrow "life-line" link between Catalonia and the rest of Republican territory. Government forces were reported in retreat at Vinaros where the insurgent drive had narrowed the coastal corridor to seven miles.

Later insurgents reported forces under General Miguel Aranda entered Vinaros to complete the wedge covering government territory.

In China, despite recent reverses, the Japanese forces maintained a stone wall defense at Yenan, the battered spearhead of their drive against the Lung-hai Railway.

SONNET

That time of year thou mayest
In me behold When yellow leaves, or none or few, do hang Upon those boughs which shake against the cold, Bare rub'd chords where late the sweet birds sang, In me thou see'st the twilight of such day As after sunset fadeth in the west,
Which by and by black night doth take away.
Death's second self, that seals up all in rest.
William Shakespeare.

The Critic Staff reminds us they don't plow under Sea Island cotton. Probably an oversight.

The Spanish rebels are now doing something they call liquid fire. We wonder if it is anything like this Chuquita moonshine.

A downtown building was sold in Miami the other day for $360,- 000, or $7,000 a front foot, the highest price paid for real estate there since the boom. The property belonged to the Swell Brothers who used to run a shoe store there and bought the property in 1928 for $175, only a little more than the cost of one inch today.

An automobile manufacturer proposes that the government spend a few hundred millions buying up old cars and taking them off the highways, pointing out that this would remove the menace of rat-tails and also solve the used-car problem. The idea seems to be a sort of Agricultural Adjustment Act for the motor industry under which every third auto would be plowed under.

Dr. Townsend's case has been acted upon by the Supreme Court and of course it said he would have to serve his sentence as there was never any question about his contempt for the House. But what a silly thing to send a man to jail about and what a way to make a martyr out of him. President Roosevelt, by extending an executive pardon to the only one who can save him from prison, Senator McAdoo and Dave Shultz are among those who have urged the President to take this action.

A magazine reminds us that the next war will be more ruthless and brutal than the last.
Though Latin Americans who laid in shell holes and saw friends blown to bits will wonder how they could be that. The magazine reminds us that when German troops were shot down behind breast lines, they were treated cruelly while detained, or if killed in the crash were buried with full military honors. And we wonder? Not so in Spain or elsewhere. Aviators carry pistols with which to kill themselves in the event of capture to avoid a more unwelcome fate.

Domestic society, it is said that this year will run as the 1937, as compared with 1936, up to 15 thousand cases. There are some indications that Republicans, especially the country ones, will win. The presidential elections are to be held in the fall, and the new president will be inaugurated in January.

The President's Address

It was hardly to be expected President Roosevelt would admit that the well-known and recognized exploded doctrine of "pump priming" had failed to bring the country out of the depression. In politics it is simply inconceivable to suggest that a mistake has been made.

Instead he attributed the new depression which he frankly admitted, in spite of the many billions which have already been spent to cure it, to unjustifiably high prices, over-production, fears of inflation, strikes and labor discord generally and the wars and threats of new wars abroad.

No doubt these things had a great deal to do with it.
But the original theory of "pump-priming" was that it would bring about prosperity in spite of such elements working against it. If not, how do we know that there won't be high prices, over-production, strikes and more wars after the present effort to prime the pump made?

However, President Roosevelt did admit this time that pump priming alone and unaided would not suffice. He suggested that an expansion of private credit was important too. Investors would have to invest, he said, and business men would have to expand their businesses, and builders would have to build before prosperity could be attained, and to this end he recommended greatly relaxed credit restrictions.

Noticeably lacking, too, in his address last night was his usual attack on business. There were no epithets directed against "economic royalists", "Lord Macaulay's", or "money-changers", from the ranks of whom in the final analysis most of our investors and business men come. Instead there was a conciliatory attitude which may presage a better spirit of co-operation between government and the financial interests of the country.

True, he did indicate a desire to push on toward the reforms which in the opinion of many impartial economists have been blocking recovery. It hardly seems likely that people with money will risk it in new business ventures until they know something about what the rules of the game are going to be or whether they will be allowed to retain any of their profits after they make them.

As far as the immediate future is concerned, the President's address affords every indication that a substantial pick-up in business will result. Certainly business cannot be bad as long as the government is spending such huge sums of money. What happens after that depends; of course, on future developments.

The Anglo-Italian Accord

Tomorrow the widely heralded friendship pact between England and Italy is expected to be signed. In it Italy agrees to withdraw her troops from Spain as soon as the civil war is over, and England agrees substantially to official recognition of the new status of Ethiopia. There are also other minor features of the pact having to do with the maintenance of the status quo in the Mediterranean and the recognition of the rights of each other there.

This pact is the result of Premier Chamberlain's "realistic policy" of dealing with the dictators of Europe, an issue over which he split with his former Foreign Minister, Anthony Eden. Chamberlain hopes in this way to destroy the Rome-Berlin axis, weaken Germany, and bring Italy back into some sort of understanding with France and England. The signing of the pact would seem to indicate that, superficially at least, he has succeeded.

However, in our opinion a treaty with Italy is not worth the paper it is written on. This particular treaty is no better than the Belgian neutrality treaty which the Kaiser characterized as a "scrap of paper" at the beginning of the World War, or no better than other treaties to respect the integrity of China, or Ethiopia, or to keep out of Spain, or any of the other treaties which have been repeatedly violated.

When the occasion arises, Italy will do exactly what ever is at the moment to her advantage to do. Prior to the World War Italy had an alliance with Germany and Austria-Hungary and Germany counted on Italy to come to her aid immediately when the war broke out. But Italy decided her interests lay with France and England, vacillated for a year or two, and finally came into the war against Germany.

This time, we believe, it will be just the other way around. Italy may have an alliance with England, but when the time comes Mussolini will decide his interests lie with Germany. Both are fascist forms of government, both are definitely committed against communism, and for that matter against democracy. And both belong to that little group of so-called "have not" nations, bursting with populations and unable to support them.

More important than that, Mussolini, like Hitler, is committed to an imperialistic policy, or in other words for foreign conquest. He has already conquered Ethiopia, and it appears likely that when the Spanish civil war is over it will be discovered that he has conquered Spain. To complete the rounding out of his empire he must come into open conflict with France and England in northern Africa and Palestine.

His imperialistic ambitions, however, do not conflict with those of Hitler whose objectives lie in central and eastern Europe.

WHITNEY STARTS PRISON LIFE WITH CHIN UP

While fellow convicts dropped their heads deconsolately, Richard Whitney (center), former president of the New York Stock Exchange, began his 5-to-10 year sentence behind the bars of Sing Sing prison with his chin up. Even when it came time to swap his name for a number—94835, Whitney withstood the ordeal standing up and retained his impeccable dignity.

Four Billion Dollar Hypodermic For Business

TAMPA TIMES

Medical men often have to resort to the administration of powerful stimulants when patients are sinking, hoping to pull them through a crisis.

The simple is applicable to the situation of the moment at Watington, Dr. Roosevelt is getting up his hypodermic needle, loading it with a dose of four billion dollars, and preparing to squirt it into the enfeebled circulation of faltering business.

This is the same treatment he has been using for the last five years. After four years of doing so, the patient was sitting up and feeling chipper, but suddenly the old "symptoms" returned, as marked and violent as ever, and the old routine is called for again.

How many of these shots in the wrist of the body politic can stand without going into the fatal coma is something that has the doctors of economics worried.

Four billion dollars is a lot of money even in this country, especially when added to the thirty-eight billions already outstanding in the national debt.

Where it is to come from is not yet clear, but the taxpayer can give a good guess.

During last fall, Washington observers were convinced that the hypodermic stuff was out, that because of the already oppressive burden of taxes on business, economy and budget balancing were to be the orders from the White House. But recovery lags and for want of a better plan bigger spending is to come back again. Lots of Congressmen, seeing a chance to feed more pap to their home districts, won't object if it will get them safely over the hump of next November's election and the poor old budget can starteetering and careening wildly in unbalance.

One thing is sure. Unless the country is to be plunged definit-

Giant Aquatic Performer Hopes To Stay In Water Until Late Tomorrow

To Cut Capers

Stunt Programs Listed For 11:00 A. M., 2:30 P.M. Tomorrow

Norris Corky Kel'am and Ray "Ramona" Twardy are now preparing their stunts and long distance endurance swim at the City Dock at Lake Monroe where the public is invited at all hours during the swim which started this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock and will finish Saturday afternoon about 4:00 o'clock.

If the swimmer can endure the cold water and waves of the lake, he will be rushed up to the window of the Mother Furniture Store at the finish of the swim and will sleep in their window starting about 4:15 o'clock and will eat a three pound steak at 8:00 o'clock.

A stunt program will be presented at 7:30 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock Friday night and two performances Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock and in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The swim will be officially checked and everyone is invited to come to the Municipal Pier to see this feature. Lights are provided for the night stunts. He will leave the pier in his official car with his personal Life Guard, Capt. Joe Vick of Cleveland, Ohio.

The giant swimmer, when told that his laundry had been sent to the Seminole County Laundry, shook all over with laughter as he said "Well, they have the biggest bundle of the largest single pieces they have ever had. I bet you, I will put them on in the store window when I awake and eat that huge steak."

When asked if he really thought that soft drinks were good for a swimmer he said, "Look at me, I'm now making my 43rd swim and am still going strong. Here I am using Celo and Cuba Cola sent to me by the Celo Bottling Company of Sanford. Celo is helpful for endurance and Cuba Cola is a real refreshing drink.

When "Corky" was asked if he ate much he insisted that we call up Eddie's Restaurant for the answer. He has been training on the food from their restaurant and enjoys eating good foods, properly prepared and served him. All of his foods at the Municipal dock are being prepared by Eddie's.

Does Corky like his ice cream and milk. He does and he has arranged to have Seminole Creamery Company supply the foods of value for him. He will also do stunts at the water front with their products.

"Corky" has sent his clothes to the Colonial Dry Cleaners to be cleaned and pressed and returned to him at the window where he is going to sleep.

The sun will really bear down on the swimmer, so he has purchased from the Touchton Drug Company Gypsie sun tan oil and Gypsie Sun tan cream and also prescriptions that are needed. He uses Fungi Rex after a swim to prevent Athlete's Foot.

A three pound steak will be sent to Mother Furniture Store window from the Lodge and Son Store for Corky to eat after his swim. He will eat this Saturday night with all of the trimmings.

The McLaulin Jewelers will be the official timers for the swim and will use an Elgin watch as

To prevent a coating from forming over the top of boiled custard after it has been poured into a dish, cover it as soon as it is cool with a lid or waxed paper and store it in the refrigerator.

Canape: Mix half a cup of crab meat with a fourth of a cup each of chopped pickles, celery, olives and grated cheese. Molten with little salad dressing and lemon juice and spread on toast round. Bake until slightly brown. Serve at once.
