

Osgood-Schlatter: Cartilage Problem

DEAR DR. LAMB — Our 13-year-old son has Osgood-Schlatter disease. Our family doctor told us we should get him in for an X-ray in six months to a year's time if he used his legs as little as possible. The condition has become worse and now he cannot run or walk and he keeps crying when he walks.

A friend's son was showing the same symptoms of the disease, so the doctor told us to get an X-ray in six months to a year's time if he used his legs as little as possible. The condition has become worse and now he cannot run or walk and he keeps crying when he walks.

Others tend to neglect the condition. Could you tell me what we should do for our son? DEAR READER — The disease is caused by a problem with the cartilage and bony tissue at the knee joint. It is not surprising that this would be a site for trouble. After all, the thigh and leg bones are the two longest bones in the body and represent the longest levers for action. That means the leverage can cause a great deal of force. And the force is applied by the strongest muscle in the body, the quadriceps over the front of the thigh.

Osgood-Schlatter disease is a failure of union of all the bony centers that are still maturing in young children or adolescents. It is not a true fracture, but it is a true break in the bone. It is not surprising that this would be a site for trouble. After all, the thigh and leg bones are the two longest bones in the body and represent the longest levers for action. That means the leverage can cause a great deal of force. And the force is applied by the strongest muscle in the body, the quadriceps over the front of the thigh.

Two County Cities Study Deposit Role

By DONNA EYLES
Herald Staff Writer

One other Seminole County city — Casselberry — may follow the lead of Lake Mary by paying interest on security deposits posted by customers of its water and sewer utility department. At least city officials say they are thinking about it.

The telephone and power companies can do it because they have computer systems.

than three years, planned from the beginning to credit each annually interest on security deposits to its customers' water bills. "After all the deposit is their money. It is held by the city to guarantee payment of water bills. The city has no right to the money or the earnings from it," said Lake Mary Councilman Harry Terry, who is in charge of the water department.

Terry noted that all city funds are deposited in the ComBank-Longwood as part of an agreement when the bank gave the city a very good interest rate for loans providing temporary financing for the water system improvements.

"The principal reason for the deposit is to make sure the customer does not leave without paying his bill."

deposit is to make sure the customer does not leave without paying his bill. "Most of the deposits for years were relatively small," he said, "but since many deposits have been increased in recent years, the deposit funds have become substantial and represent a good deal of interest."

Setting aside some cities for the bookkeeping problem is felt to be too complex to be worth returning interest to customers. And, in other cities he said, the interest is used to defray costs in the utility department and loss of interest to those cities could mean an increase in utility costs to the customers.

The six cities of Seminole County which operate utility systems had a total of $45,000 in security deposits last year. Meanwhile, the Casselberry City Council a week ago instructed

The Seminole High School yearbook, for 1977-78, has captured what sponsor John Cullum calls "the Yearbook Triple Crown." The yearbook, called "Sally" by readers and faculty of the school, has been awarded both the N.S. Patterson award, presented by the National School Yearbook-News-Association Critical Service Competition and the Medalist Award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The award goes on to cite proficiency in the areas of "coverage, copy, photography, design, cohesion and creativity."

The Cemetery Story: It Takes A New Twist

By MAX EDELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

The strange circumstances surrounding the vandalism of a grave one week ago took a different turn today when a relative determined the man buried in the tomb was not who police said he was.

The original Sanford Police report on the incident named the dead man as Curran Kelly, who died Nov. 12, 1968. However, Kelly's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Katherine Kelly, told the Evening Herald today that the grave is that of her father, Governor Dan Kelly.

She said she did not know how the mixup happened, but noted that the grave was that of her father when she saw a picture of the tomb in Monday's Evening Herald.

City and County officials agreed to one thing today: They determined that the grave is outside the city limits.

A sheriff's deputy said today his department is handling the investigation of the crime. He said a check of the gravestone proved it is "about six feet inside the county."

Eddie McGee, one of several people who reported the vandalism to police, said the remains could be viewed from the outside. However, the remains were not removed.

Pete Kowalski, Sanford city manager, said he viewed the grave today and determined it is not within the city limits.

"The grave itself is actually about 1.20 feet from the city boundary, as the crew files," he said today. "That grave is nowhere near the city cemetery."

Irvin O. Claxton of 98 Myrtle St., Orlando is seeking reimbursement from the city for repairs he says were necessary to two guns after they were held by the police department as evidence.

Claxton told the city council Monday night that it cost $72 to have the two target guns — a 22 caliber rifle and 21 caliber pistol — because the barrels had corroded and he had to have them re-barreled and fired after they were held by police.

He said that the guns were among items stolen from his home in July 1976. Recovered later that month, they were held for evidence in a metal

2nd Northeast Storm In 18 Days

New York Buried Under 17 1/2 Inches Of Snow

This weather may be — as the word goes — for the birds. But for Seminole County's dogs also are adjusting their lifestyle and dress to suit the cold occasion. How best to care for your pets in this climate? Story, Page 2A

NEW YORK (UPI) — The worst snowstorm to hit New York City in nearly a third of a century stranded thousands of people in trains, cars, airports and on highways Monday and early today.

The storm easily eclipsed the near-blizzard that stranded New York just 18 days earlier with 12 1/2 inches.

At one point, even the weathermen grew weary of the mounting snow. Forecasters stopped predicting hourly readings from Central Park for depth readings.

The storm shut down the city's three major airports, disrupting flight schedules. The National Guard mobilized to light the snow in Pennsylvania and Rhode Island. Motorists jammed the highways and power failures blazed out thousands of homes — including virtually the entire city of Boston.

Meanwhile, In Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — It was cold just about everywhere in Florida early today, even as far south as Key West, as the chill from New York's blizzard wafted through the Sunshine State.

At 8 a.m. EST, the National Weather Service reported low readings for this date in at least nine cities, ranging from the Panhandle to the Keys. The lowest was Key West 68; Orlando 21; Tampa 21; Daytona 20; the Palm Beaches 20; Apalachicola 20; Miami 20; and Vero Beach 23. Jacksonville's reading of 20 tied the previous low set last year.

Other early morning lows reported by the NWS around the state were: Tallahassee 71; Gainesville 22; Panama City 20; Milton 20; Pensacola 20; Melbourne 20.

In Central Florida, thousands of tourists were stranded because of the heavy Northeast snow. Airline cancellations 25 flights out of Orlando International Airport and another 25 flights destined from northern states into Orlando.

Herald staff, a spokesman for Eastern Airlines in Orlando, said more than 1,000 passengers on that airline were left stranded Monday in the Orlando area, after Eastern was forced to cancel 12 of its 13 flights out of Orlando.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Family On Hijacked Jet Asks Political Asylum

FRANKFURT, West Germany (UPI) — An East German family aboard a hijacked Czech jetliner has asked for political asylum in West Germany. The Czech engineer who seized the plane faced air piracy charges today in a Frankfurt court.

The East German couple asked West German authorities for permission to stay in the Federal Republic (of West Germany) with their child, a police spokesman said Monday night.

It was a virtual certainty their request would be granted.

First View: Expat Vesco

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — President-elect Rodrigo Carazo is vowing to expel Robert Vesco from Costa Rica and a journalist says the fugitive American financier is 'biting his nails' with worry.

Carazo, easy winner of Sunday's national election, told reporters Monday one of his first official acts on taking office May 8 will be to ask a group of lawyers to study the legal ramifications of Vesco's case.

"For the national health, it's better that he goes," he said.

Unemployment A Crime?

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — A bill allowing South Africa's white government to punish blacks if they are out of work would make "unemployment a crime," opposition spokeswoman Helen Suman charged Monday.

"Idle" persons may be detained in rehabilitation centers, farm colonies or similar institutions established or approved under the Prison Act," according to the bill.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Allstate Agrees To Cut Premiums $2.6 Million

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter says Allstate Insurance Co. has agreed to reduce automobile liability premiums in an amount that would save policyholders at least $2.6 million.

Gunter announced Monday that the firm will cut rates four per cent on bodily injury coverage and an additional four per cent on personal injury protection coverage.

The cut takes effect March 1 for new and renewal policies, he said.

Rural Schools Slighted?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Rural schools are getting slighted by the Legislature and education special interest groups, a team of consultants reports.

Florida schools are also ignoring directives to place special emphasis on kindergarten through third grade programs, the consultants said Monday, in a report for the Legislature's Select Joint Committee on Public Schools. The lawmakers will have a meeting in March to formally discuss the report.

Sailor Faked Drowning

MACLENNY (UPI) — A Navy sailor facing a court martial faked his own drowning and then hitched a ride and disappeared, another sailor who helped him stage the hoax told Baker County sheriff's deputies Monday.

Chamber Begins Member Drive

The three-day membership drive of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce kicked off today with the chamber hoping to increase its ranks to 700 members.

Twenty volunteers, split into five teams, will be contacting merchants, during the drive that ends Thursday at 5 p.m.

Casselberry Ignores Advice, Accepts Bid

The Casselberry City Council Monday night accepted a bid on new water meters, ignoring the advice of city engineers and the city supervisor.

The contract for 300 water meters to be purchased over the next year, was not decided on whether the meters were fully American made as indicated last week. The final decision was based on the warranty submitted.

Water meters were placed out for bid in January after City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh ruled improper the method used by the city's water department in purchasing meters.

The department had been buying meters in lots with costs totaling less than $2,000 from B & H Sales, Orlando, to avoid the state law regarding bids on purchases of $2,000 or more. McIntosh said the method would no longer be used, after he gave his opinion.

Last week, despite a recommendation from the city supervisor Bill Schaefer that the bid from B & H Sales be accepted, the bid was tabled for research and study. A representative of B & H Sales of Tampa said that the meters did not meet the city specifications of being American made.

At Monday night's council meeting, Acting City Attorney Frank Whigham said that although the specifications for the bid did not include the condition, the instructions to bidders did.

The council on voting unanimously to accept the bid bid pointing out that the warranty submitted by Kant Precision Motors was not as good as the warranty submitted by B & H Sales.

Schaefer said the major reason he recommended B & H Sales precision meters over Kant was that the precision meters are easier to read. Moore said, however, that precision meters are affected by natural deposits and need to be cleaned.

Moore also said that one day delivery would be available from the Kant warehouse in Tampa via United Parcel Service.

The amount to be saved during the one-year period on the Kant meters will depend on the size meters ordered.

Schaefer said that while B & H would accept old meters for trade-in, Kant would not. Kant was the old meters could be sold, said Mayor Orr.

In other business, a citizen, Vincent Ballmann, urged the council to consider calling a referendum for the people to decide on whether the mayor should have a "voice and a vote on the council." Councilman John LeMay said that the council should amend the charter to provide that candidates run for specific seats in the city council or that councilmen reside in given geographical areas.

Currently, the council members run in a group with those obtaining the highest number of votes winning the council seats. — DONNA EYTES

Boy, 6, Shoots Self In Hand With Pistol

A six-year-old boy, playing with his father's pistol, shot himself in the hand Monday afternoon, according to deputies.

The boy's mother, Mary Wheeler, 26, of Rural Center Street, Midway, said her son Barry Lee Williams was at the Midway home of a friend, six-year-old Zachary Martin, of Center Street when Henry found a gun under some clothes in a box. The gun went off, hitting him in the hand, his mother said.

Taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital, the boy was treated and released. The doctor who treated him told deputies the boy's hand was not seriously damaged in the incident.

TRAILER TAKEN A southeast and trailer were taken Sunday or Monday from the yard of Ronald C. Beyers, 28, of Apt. 217-A, Lake Howell Arms Apartments, 700 Georgetown Dr., Casselberry, Beyers told deputies.

The stolen property has an estimated value of $3,150. Deputies are investigating.

TROLLING MOTOR GONE Fishing tackle, a battery charger and a trolling motor were taken between Friday and Monday from a Casselberry apartment, according to the man who owns the property.

Barry R. Hunt, 21, of Apt. 213, Lake Howell Arms Apartments, 700 Georgetown Dr., said the stolen items are worth $1,125. Thieves entered the apartment by prying open a sliding glass door, and fingerprints were found, deputies say.

PLANT DAMAGED Vandals sometime between Saturday and Monday fired six panshots into a power bus motor of Seminole Utilities Corporation, E.R. 128, Casselberry, according to company officials, causing $800 damage.

Four of the bullet holes appeared to be from a .22-caliber gun, and two of the holes appeared to be rifle or shotgun slugs, deputies said.

Six-year-old John Bryant, of 822 Valencia Court North, Sanford, was hit by a car Monday at Celery Avenue and Bay Street at 1:35 p.m., according to police. The boy, who suffered a fractured leg, cracked ribs, cuts and bruises was listed today in fair condition at Seminole Memorial Hospital, where he was taken following the accident. Police have questioned the man who was driving the car involved in the accident.

Sadat Takes Hard-Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Anwar Sadat says it is time for the United States to persuade Israel to make concessions in the peace talks and he is taking that case directly to influential American leaders.

He followed up a hard-line speech to the National Press Club Monday with a series of meetings with private citizens including former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and David Broderick, chairman of the board of Chase Manhattan Bank.

In a question and answer session with a small group of editors and correspondents later, Sadat was strongly critical of Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin. UPI was provided details of the meeting.

Saying "there is something wrong" with his relations with Begin, Sadat accused the Israeli leader of misrepresenting him and said any future Sadat-Begin meeting must have "certain limits" agreed on in advance.

But he said he had not given up on hopes of achieving a settlement. Today Sadat scheduled meetings with the House International Relations Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Congressional Black Caucus and several Arab groups including the Arab ambassadors in Washington.

He said in his NPC speech that Egypt has made all the concessions it is going to make to Israel, and he put part of the burden for future action on the United States which, he said, "has a special relation with one party" to the dispute.

The U.S. desire to return to quiet, private diplomacy also apparently did not move the American official, who is spending most of the remaining time of his visit in a one-man job of public relations talks, including two more television interviews.

Sadat also is scheduled to have lunch with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance Wednesday and to have one more session with President Carter before he leaves early Wednesday evening.

Jewish Leader Blasts Sadat

KISSIMEE, (UPI) — Efforts by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to use the American Jewish community to influence Israel in Middle East peace negotiations "cannot and will not be tolerated," says the president of the world's largest Jewish organization.

David M. Blumberg, president of the American Jewish community, refused to meet Monday with Sadat and said Jews who did meet with the Egyptian leader in Washington "do not represent the voice of the American Jewish community."

A leading peace in the Middle East can only be reached by free and open negotiations, Blumberg told a news conference Monday while attending a B'Nai B'Rith convention at a hotel near Walt Disney World.

"Certainly the American Jewish community should not be a party" to Middle East peace negotiations, he said, adding that American Jews support Israel "with our money and our emotions, but we are not there fighting."

The guerrilla newspaper Danab (Lightning Bolt) said in Mogadishu, Somalia, that an Ethiopian offensive around the city of Harar and Dire Dawa "was gallantly resisted by our freedom fighters and a heavy battle is still going on."

The Danab statement is considered significant because it represented the first time in recent memory that a Somali battle report did not speak of a victory for Somali forces.

In Washington, the State Department estimated that more than 2,000 Cuban and 1,000 Soviet military advisers are in Ethiopia and Portugal sources said two U.S. warships — the destroyer DeWitt and the frigate Trout — were dispatched to the Red Sea.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan also confirmed for the first time Monday that Israel has been selling arms to Ethiopia but he said that no Israeli experts or warplanes were involved in the Ogden war.

Ethiopia Claims Rout Of Somali Forces, 'Tormented By Hunger And Thirst'

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) — Ethiopia said today it has dealt a crushing defeat to Somali forces in the Ogden region and is driving them in panic across the border into Somalia.

A government spokesman said Ethiopian troops had launched a "concentrated action" in the six-month desert war and inflicted heavy losses on the Somalis. He described the fighting as "certainly the heaviest in weeks."

Capt. Filere Selamie Wogderos, secretary general of Ethiopia's ruling council known as the Dergue, said earlier on Radio Addis Ababa the Somalis had been "crushed" by the Ethiopians and were fleeing across the border "tormented by hunger and thirst."

In separate remarks to reporters, Capt. Wogderos said the "mortal wounds are being treated in all directions and suffering from the full brunt of Ethiopia's revolutionary force."

"It would not be much longer before the invading Somali forces are thrown back reeling with shame and humiliation," he said.

Both Ethiopian government officials, however, carefully avoided using the term "counter-offensive" to describe current fighting in the Ogden desert region.

Independent observers said the current Ethiopian attacks appeared to be more of a "probing type" assault. They expect the main offensive by government forces to start in the next few weeks.

They said the ground fighting was accompanied by heavy bombing attacks by Ethiopian warplanes that have gained total mastery of the skies over the Ogden.

Somali guerrillas admitted Monday that "a heavy battle" was fought Sunday in the Ogden — an indication they had suffered some setbacks.

Parents Go To Jail Over Sex Education

NARRUA, N.H. (UPI) — Robert and Karin Latham said in jail today rather than let their 15-year-old daughter attend schools where sex education is taught.

If protecting our daughter's moral values is a crime, then we are guilty," Mrs. Latham said in a three-page statement distributed to reporters Monday. She said she and her husband were "tormented" by the Hillsborough County Jail.

A Superior Court judge had granted a temporary stay of the sentence, but vacated the stay last week.

Herbaway said he never had had a chance to examine the merits of the Lathams' position because he could not get them "to come in with evidence."

He said the parents will stay in jail until they produce the girl, or until the term is — the age when she legally may leave school.

The Lathams removed their daughter from public school, maintaining she was not receiving a proper education, and she was expelled from a private school after Mrs. Latham objected to "open-ended discussions on things like prostitution and pimping" in required religion classes.

Mrs. Latham said her daughter was living away from home and receiving private lessons from a former California schoolteacher, but she could not say if the tutor was certified. Mrs. Latham complained that her daughter had been taken from school at random from the Latham's school libraries — materials ranging from Belling Stone magazine to the American Heritage Dictionary — "dash with perversion, pornography, obscenity, blasphemy and the promotion of sex activities and family planning."

She said several letters contained four-letter words and made explicit sexual references. Superior Court Judge Richard P. Dunley Jr. found Mrs. Latham guilty of kidnapping her daughter, but she could not appear in any state court because he has not attended law school and has not been admitted to the New Hampshire bar.

Andrew Melanchukoff of Epsand, Conn., who represented himself as a "constitutional attorney" representing the Lathams, said he would appear in U.S. District Court against the state District and Superior Court officials, seeking $200,000 damages on allegations ranging from larceny — because he was fined when he came in contempt of court — to false arrest.

Minor Council Studies Tentative Strike Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers bargaining council, which has rejected similar agreements in the past, was deciding today whether to accept a tentative settlement to end the record strike against the soft coal industry.

The agreement, reached Monday and announced at a news conference by chief mediator Wayne Horvitz, must be approved by the 58-member council before it goes to the union's 150,000 rank and file members for ratification.

New Law Bans Kidporn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has signed into law a bill forbidding use of children under 16 in pornographic material and outlawing the interstate transportation and sale of such material.

The Protection of Children Against Sexual Exploitation Act of 1977, signed Monday, amends the criminal code and the Mann Act, which forbids taking anyone under the age of 18 across state lines for prostitution.

Carter OKs Slovik Payments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter is asking Congress to approve $70,000 in back insurance payments for Antoinette Slovik, whose husband was the only U.S. serviceman to be executed by an American firing squad in World War II.

Pvt. Eddie Slovik was executed in France after twice running away in combat.

Finance Director Milton Katz placed its $40,000 in security deposits in an interest-bearing account. The $40,000 has not as yet been placed in an interest-bearing account, said Mayor Bill Clinton, because it is toward the end of the year and interest on the deposits is being paid in several annual installments.

Temperature Change Could Kill Some Chilling Thoughts For Pet Owners

From gobbling to gobbling, owners of pets in severe cold and sudden changes in temperature may result in illness or even death.

A side temperature for tropical fish in an inside aquarium is between 72-74 degrees, he said. Fishes with thermometers are available for aquarists and can be great between 70-77 degrees to live on and all animals in outside ponds or fish tanks should be covered with a cap cover or sheet, during cold weather, he said. Lightfishes are sometimes used for heating a cage or an electric heating pad placed under the cage. He said, and kept out of drafts, he said, and

Barkeepers Complain Mardi Gras Crowd 'Cheap'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Barkeepers in the French Quarter, accustomed to drinking lots of beer and wine to Mardi Gras, are complaining that the crowd is "cheap" and "drinking less."

SALT Talks And Trust

Even though our survival is at stake in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks under way at Geneva, it is extremely difficult for the average citizen of this country to maintain a lively interest in the protracted proceedings.

The news that dribbles out from the negotiations is usually technical and dull.

To be sure, there is a general public awareness that the SALT I agreement negotiated by the Nixon administration expired in October, and that President Carter and his negotiators are trying to work out a SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union to keep a lid on the arms race.

However, the issues of nuclear weaponry are so complex that the average citizen believes he has no choice but to trust his leaders for the safety of the nation.

Occasionally an alarm bell goes off to arouse public opinion from its lethargy on the SALT issue.

Such was the case a few days ago when the Carter administration decided to resolve one of the thorniest issues in the strategic arms talks by simply asking Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev for a letter promising not to deploy the new Soviet Backfire bomber against the United States.

Because Soviet negotiators have returned to accept restrictions on their bomber in the context of a new arms package, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency headed by Paul C. Warnke caved in at Geneva in this controversy and convinced Washington to remove it from the Geneva talks altogether, despite strong opposition from the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

One need not be a member of the Joint Chiefs to realize that the Russians decided they could be intransigent about the Backfire bomber after President Carter announced his decision to scrap our powerful counter-weapon, the B-1 bomber.

There being no trade-off against their Backfire, the Russians then refused to include the plans in the proposed arms limitations. So, the administration in its eagerness for an agreement—apparently any sort of agreement—has decided that a letter of assurance from Mr. Brezhnev would be in its best interest.

Inasmuch as the U.S. negotiators seem to lack the stomach for tough haggling with the Russians, one wonders why Washington doesn't ask Mr. Brezhnev to broaden his letter and promise not to deploy his nuclear missiles against the United States as well.

On the Democratic side, however, the Brezhnev letter was short-lived. Unlike the business community within the GOP, the labor unions, the military and other blocs of voters refused to abandon the struggle with the ideological purists. As a result, the party was heated back to the middle of the political road, where it stands today.

That background is of particular importance now because within the next few weeks the Democrats and Democrats will make public their end-of-year 1977 financial reports.

A cursory examination of these reports and the 1976 budget of parties would suggest that the Democrats are the brink of bankruptcy and the Republicans are so wealthy they can begin paying dividends.

Last year, for example, the Democratic National Committee (DNC) fell far short of meeting its $8.5 million fund-raising goal, while the Republican National Committee (RNC) collected more than $9 million.

But no agreement would be better than one that is restrictive for us and permissive for the Soviets—one that leaves us at a military disadvantage and entrusts the survival of the American people to a letter from Mr. Brezhnev.

Democrats, GOP Ready $ Reports

WASHINGTON — The meteoric rise that occurred within the Republican party in the late 1960s — and the fundamental change that didn't occur within the Democratic party in the mid-1970s — continued to have a profound effect on contemporary American politics.

When Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona captured the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, the conservative wing of the GOP roared the moderate "Eastern establishment" in the battle for control of the national party.

Essentially the same phenomenon occurred within the Democratic party in 1972. When Sen. George A. McGovern of South Dakota won its presidential nomination, liberals galloped the upper hand over moderates — at least temporarily — in the continuing struggle for party power.

Both Goldwater and McGovern were, of course, overwhelmingly defeated in the national election for president, confirming the political notion that this country's electorate prefers centrist politicians to those at either extreme of the ideological spectrum.

Although voters want moderate candidates and policies, the party's political confidants, contributors and campaign workers in both parties always have been dedicated, uncompromising, issue-oriented activists — liberal Democrats and conservative Republicans.

But the rank-and-file coalition that had led Democrats to the White House in 1964 and 1968 — businessmen and other middle-class workers — offered little opposition before capitulating to these conservative activists. To this day, the conservatives dominate the party.

On the Democratic side, however, the liberal wing was short-lived. Neither the 20 major league teams will be on hand, but the odds are they have more than one chance in ten of making the playoffs.

March 1 is a date to circle on the calendar because it's when all eight teams will be in action.

Aspirin Extends Clotting Time

DEAR DR. LAMB—I had a heart attack the first week in September. The doctor said I was a blood clot in the brain. It was a blood clot in the left side.

I got over the paralysis, but my balance is not good. The doctor told me to take two aspirin a day. Is this harmful to me?

I have lots of new blisters and have heard aspirin can cause new blisters. Do you think I should? What do you recommend to prevent blood clots?

DEAR READER—You must tell your doctor at once about your tendency to have new blisters. Aspirin is used in treating blisters and other attacks because of its action in preventing normal blood clotting. Aspirin in moderate amounts can prevent normal clotting time.

The precautions in using aspirin are about the same as those we have followed in the past for using other medications. It is important to use aspirin with extreme caution in people who have a tendency to bleed from anywhere, the nose, the stomach, or the kidney as well as in those who are taking even one aspirin for at least a week before any surgery or a delivery.

You give me more information on aspirin and medications that you might be without a prescription that contain aspirin. I am sending you The Health Letter number 44.

Aspirin and Related Medications. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1581, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Regarding your column on aspirin tablets, only one drug out of six that I questioned said it was safe to get zinc sulfate. He tried, but the smallest he could obtain was 220 milligrams and he would need a prescription for any dose that high.

He also said zinc sulfate used as an emetic. Is that so? Do you have where 66 milligram zinc sulfate tablets may be obtained? Will they make you vomit?

DEAR READER—You have had a problem. If your pharmacist will simply consult the medical edition of the Physician's Desk Reference (PDR 1977) he will find that zinc sulfate tablets containing 66 milligrams of zinc sulfate are manufactured by Merck Industries of Kenilworth, Illinois, and that it is a non-prescription item.

Yes, zinc sulfate is an emetic if you take a big dose. The PDR, source I mentioned states that if you take six 220 milligram capsules together it will make you vomit.

In And Around Sanford The Party Scene Offers Best Wishes, Farewells

The weather Saturday was brisk—but perfect for a bride and groom.

And the spacious Loch Arber home of Elizabeth and Frank Mebane Jr. was the perfect setting for the wedding of their son, Frank Noel Mebane III.

Sharing the honors with Elizabeth were daughters Mrs. Norman W. (Shelley) Devine of Tampa, and Gay Mebane, and Mrs. Frank N. Mebane Sr. of Orlando.

Forming the receiving line with Elizabeth were Betty Ann and her mother, Mrs. Henry B. (Virginia) Longwell, Mrs. Richard (Jean) Fowler, nursing homes, directed the guests to the beautifully appointed dining room for a variety of party refreshments.

Perhaps the guest receiving the most attention (at least in my presence) was Mrs. Julia (Gert) Dingfelder. Gert's longtime friends seemed real glad to see her—and it was nice seeing the grand dame out again.

Not to be left out of the festivity were the bridegroom-to-be and his father. They provided real party service for the lovely ladies as they arrived at the circular drive leading to the house.

Although the Sunday afternoon party reflected excitement and gaiety, it was tinged with sadness. It isn't easy saying "so long" to Linda and Bill Reck.

DORIS DIETRICH

Several Sanfordites have been mourned during the cold, cold winter. And Lynette and Rick were among the many who had never seen snow.

The young couple moved to Springfield, Mich. last summer from sunny (?) Sanford. Last week caught them marooned in their home with snowdrifts as high as 15 feet outside. The snow was so heavy in the area that groceries had to be brought in by snowmobile and citizens were given traffic citations for driving.

Lynette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. (Jean) Marcel, and Rick's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Curtis (Leona) Green, all of Sanford.

Bill began his career as an announcer with Radio Station WTRR in 1958 where he advanced to co-owner until the station was sold in 1977.

The new home for the Reck family is a brick split level four-bedroom home in Haywood County, which encompasses Lake Junaluska and Maggie Valley. Bill is the new owner and operator of Radio Station WPTL which serves this area.

Bill said they were really leaving Sanford, and will return for visits. He said they are looking forward to a future with optimism.

Operation Easy Compared With Friends Remarks

DEAR ABBY: I have just had an operation that has changed my facial expression. Some nerves were severed and now half of my face is permanently paralyzed.

Dear Abby:

The operation was easy to endure compared to the pain I have suffered from the remarks of some of my friends.

One woman said, "How you will have been the rest of your life. You can't smile. You can't laugh. You can't cry. You can't eat. You can't drink. You can't sleep. You can't work. You can't live."

DEAR BETTY: Strangers. DEAR ABBY: I'm a 32-year-old college graduate who would not be married. A year ago I fell in love with Phil, a wonderful man who is perfect for me in every way.

DEAR ABBY: I have never been told about my looks, knowing that I had been told from within. I am crushed at these so-called "concerns" in the name of friendship.

Largest Cities Face Service Cut Or More Tax If Economy Stays Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's 40 largest cities might have to raise taxes or cut services next year if President Carter's proposed budget takes effect without further improvement in the economy, according to a Treasury Department document.

Old Barn Wood: Rustic Charm

No one can resist the rustic charm of old barn wood. And that's why Georgia-Pacific has developed a new product called Barnplank.
