

Rebels Start 'Big Push' To Reduce Gijon

Offensive Begins By Land, Sea, And Air, To Smash Iron Ring Of Loyalists City

Surprise Move Made At Badajoz

Government Plans Attack In Rebel Territory Near Seville

RENDAYE, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Spanish insurgents were reported today to have opened a concerted offensive by land, sea, and air to smash the Asturian "iron ring" defense of Gijon.

Advices reaching the French border said, the "big push" was centered on government positions near the mouth of the Sella River, about 30 miles east of Gijon.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's bombing planes swept Rivas, a Basque fishing port on the Bidasoa, and also dropped bombs on nearby Asturias or government fortifications.

Great numbers of loyalist troops were said to have been moved from Northeast Spain to the southwest front for a surprise thrust at Badajoz, which is bounded by Cordoba on the east and Seville on the south.

Loyalist tanks rumbled across the valley near Granada de Torrehermosa in Badajoz while government artillery pounded the insurgent lines protecting the town.

John R. Jones Is Named Candidate For High Degree

John R. Jones, prominent member of the Seminole Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, has been selected as a candidate for the American Planter Degree, according to information received here today from J. F. Williams, head of the State Department of Vocational Agriculture Education in Tallahassee.

This is the first time in the history of the Seminole Chapter that one of their members has secured this national recognition. Only two boys from each state are eligible to receive this honor. Mr. Jones and Myron Connolly of Homestead were the candidates selected from Florida this year.

This selection entitles both the boys to an all expense trip to the National Convention in Kansas City in the near future where they will be awarded their degrees.

Alex R. Johnson, advisor of the local chapter, stated.

HAPPY SEQUEL TO WAR DAYS!

Twenty years ago the doughboys bade their sweethearts a cheerless farewell when they sailed for France and the battle lines. But now it's different with more than 1,000 veterans leaving the American Legion convention in New York for a tour of Europe's battle fields. Typical of the happy goodbyes was that of Alfred Russo of Boston and Fay Marble of New York as he and his buddies boarded the Queen Mary.

Comptroller Lee Explains Stand On Gas Tax Fund

Seminole's Share, Amounting To $8,020 Per Month, Is Safe

Seminole County's gasoline tax funds to the tune of $8,020.31 per month are not endangered by Comptroller J. M. Lee's refusal to pay out money under special acts, a bulletin from Tallahassee revealed today. Regardless of what the court does about the comptroller's position, the benefits accruing monthly will continue, the comptroller pointed out to newsmen, because he has not questioned the allocation nor the continuance of any part of the monthly contributions by the State.

Mr. Lee told newsmen he is merely asking the court to tell him which of several acts he will follow in those counties having one or more special acts in addition to the original law. There are 116 local acts—some counties having six and some acts applying to five counties, making quite a conglomerate.

The original amount allotted this county when the State "bought" its roads in 1931 was $1,421,174.52 and every dime of this will be paid to the county by the State, according to Comptroller Lee, regardless of court decisions. If Lee is upheld, the money must be used first to re-tire the bonds loaned to build the roads; any surplus being available to the county commissioner solely for county road purposes. If Lee is reversed, the commissioners can divert the money to salaries and other purposes.

When the full "purchase price of the roads" has been paid the county, the law provides that the monthly payments—without a penny's reduction shall continue to be paid for the benefit of the county, regardless of the court's decision. It was stated if Lee is upheld, the money goes to the State Road Department to be spent solely in this county on roads of the first, second and third preferential state road systems. The law simply safeguards this county against any of its shares being spent in other counties. If Lee is reversed, the counties can, under special acts, divert this money to salaries or other county purposes regardless of the need for roads.

The flow will continue until the roads of the three highway systems in this county are built—many years hence—before any part of it goes to the general fund of the State where it can be spent only on State highways for the benefit of all counties, Mr. Lee said.

Work Resumed On High School Athletic Field

Building Of Bleachers, Installation Of Lights Begins; Accommodates 1,000

WPA workers yesterday began construction of the bleachers at the new Seminole High School Football field after they had been held up for a considerable period of time because of the lack of the necessary materials.

The bleachers and the fence which will surround the field are the final improvements included in the approximately $20,000 WPA playground improvement project. The bleachers will be located on the south side of the football field and will cover almost the entire distance of the field. The foundations have been laid for some time and the erection of the heavy timbers is progressing rapidly under the direction of the local WPA superintendent.

Fourteen rows of seats 125 feet in length with a seating capacity of approximately 1,000 is called for in the construction specifications and an enclosed press box elevated above the bleachers with a row of windows facing the playing field to insure perfect vision for the pressman.

A carload of heavy fencing materials which will be used to build the high fence to surround the field has also arrived here, a Herald reporter learned this morning, and erection will begin as soon as the bleachers are completed.

WPA officials yesterday indicated that they hoped to have the project entirely completed before the first game in Sanford, October 25.

The field is located inside the oval track back of the school and on completion of the projects underway it will be one of the best prep school fields in the state.

E. D. Randall of the Randall Electric Company here, which was awarded the contract recently for installation of lighting equipment at the field, announced that ten 60 foot poles had been taken to the field and would be erected immediately.

The reflectors and lights, similar to those used at the Municipal Park during the baseball season, will probably arrive from the factory in Syracuse, N. Y. the latter part of this week or the first of the following. Mr. Randall stated, adding that the equipment will be installed immediately on arrival.

This type of lighting equipment, it is believed, affords a light most adaptable to night playing.

Legion Calls For Largest Navy In World

National Defense Is Keynote Of Report Showing Necessity For Preparedness

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Daniel J. Doherty, 43 year old Woburn, Mass. lawyer, who served 17 months in the American navy during the World War, was elected national commander of the American Legion today. The selection was unanimous.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The American Legion's national defense program report, calling for the biggest navy in the world and for big increases in the standing army, was adopted and the final session of the 15th annual convention.

The report was submitted by Robert J. Shaw, chairman, as the delegates met at the Metropolitan Opera House. It recommended a continuation of citizens military training camps and reserve officers training camps, recommended a year second to none in the world, and increasing the standing army to 100,000 at once.

Mrs. Malcolm Douglas of Seattle, Wash., was elected president of the American Legion of Des Moines, Iowa, her opponent for the post, withdrew.

There were hundreds of long serious discussions all over town to determine what will be its next national commander.

For this honor—the job of succeeding Harry Colmery of Kansas—two lawyer-fishermen were out in front, Daniel Doherty of Boston and Ray Kelly, Detroit's corporation counsel.

The matter progressed just as it does in a political convention; there were whispers of "deals," and Doherty and Kelly adherents advertised their men as widely as any candidate for anything ever was advertised in a convention city.

Doherty men claimed they would elect their man on the first ballot, the Kellyists conceded nothing whatever. Most wholly unofficial speculation inclined toward Doherty.

Three others were in the race, Lynn U. Stambaugh of Fargo, N. D.; Milo J. Warner of Toledo, Ohio, and Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle.

Officer Pledges Enforcement Of School Bus Law

All Motorists Must Come To Stop Before Passing Bus

The State statute which requires that all motor vehicles come to a complete stop before passing a school bus will be rigidly enforced without favor or partiality, Deputy Sheriff Carl Williams announced today.

This year, the Deputy Sheriff said, there has been a larger than usual number of motorists violating this law, adding that all violators would be arrested and fined for their failure to comply with this regulation.

Deputy Williams indicated that there seemed to be many motorists ignorant of the requirements of the law, thereby causing confusion and sometimes congestion of traffic.

The law requires that all motor vehicles passing a school bus from either direction on which children are getting on or off must come to a complete stop, this law as can be readily seen is a precaution taken to protect the lives of the children who sometimes start in front of a speeding motorist. The law, however, Deputy Williams said, does not require the motorist to remain at a standstill until the bus is again in motion. This misinterpretation of the law has, no doubt, been circulated by the busdrivers and sometimes causes considerable congestion of traffic.

Some drivers await the semaphor signal installed on the buses; these, however, are installed through the courtesy of the County School Board and there is no law requiring their operation; motorists must stop whether or not the semaphor is used if the bus is loading or unloading children, the Deputy asserted.

England Plans To Make Use Of Washington Pact

Treaty Signed By U.S. Guarantees China Foreign Protection

GENEVA, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Great Britain was understood today to be planning to invoke the Washington Pact guaranteeing China's territorial integrity as a last resort in an effort to bring Japan to an international conference to stop the Sino-Japanese war.

Such a move would have the additional advantage of bringing the United States into full cooperation on measures to halt the Far Eastern conflict, this step is considered essential if peace efforts are to meet with success.

Geneva circles considered that Japan, while ignoring the League of Nations' initiative, would scarcely refuse a nine power consultation under the treaty she signed in Washington in 1922 with China, United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal and Belgium.

When asked about business conditions and the farming in that section, Mr. Bennett stated that the business has picked up considerably and was in excellent condition.

Roosevelt Confers With Party Heads In Mid-West City

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN ENROUTE SEATTLE, Sept. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, during the first day out on his West Coast trip, conferred for more than an hour today with Illinois and Nebraska party leaders at his special train was switched through Chicago.

Governors Henry Horner of Illinois and R. L. Cochran of Nebraska were among the officials who boarded the train at Root Street Yards where a small crowd had gathered. Mr. Roosevelt did not appear but Mrs. Roosevelt stood on the steps of the private car and waved to spectators.

Although the route of his 10-car special train lay through big Eastern and Midwestern cities, Mr. Roosevelt planned no personal appearances until he reaches Cheyenne, Wyo., Friday morning.

After that, the President will swing through Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and back to Washington via Chicago.

Rear platform appearances, providing opportunities for the President to speak 15 or 20 minutes to crowds knotted around his private car, will be made in each State. Mr. Roosevelt will inspect Federal power and reclamation projects in Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

2,000 Chinese At Canton Are Reported Dead

Japanese Raids During Two Day Period Wreak Awful Toll In Life And Property

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Two thousand Chinese, most of them refugees, are estimated to have been killed or injured in the two days of Japanese aerial bombardment of Canton, a south China city. Raids today and yesterday left wounded women and waiting children searching the ruins of the densely-packed dwelling areas of the poorer classes.

Thousands roam the streets bewildered and almost dazed with anguish and terror. The Japanese bombing of non-combatants throughout the nation's seaboard provinces and northern areas extended to Tainan, the capital of Shanghai province when a lone invader flew over the suburb and loosed one bomb wounding nine civilians.

JUSTICE FOR EXPLOITERS

These things, O ye, that swallow up the needy, even to make the face of the land to fall, saying: When will the new moon be gone, that we may eat fatted wheat, making the siph small and the shekel great, and falsifying the balance by deceit.

Amos 5: 4, 5.

We know one way the Chinese could get even with those Japs. They could put a little more starch in their laundry.

The next time the American Legion boys go to war they will probably try to make America safe for democracy.

The situation in Europe has really become alarming since the Secretary of State announced there is no danger of war for another two years at least.

The City of West Palm Beach proposes a $2.5 million tax levy for the coming year on general property.

If President Roosevelt has as much trouble with his other five appointments to the Supreme Court as he has had over Justice Black, he ought to be glad that his court proposal was defeated.

Wouldn't you like to hear what Mr. Justice Kinsman Black says to Mr. Justice Brandeis, and Mr. Justice Cardozo at their first meeting when the Supreme Court convenes?

The city of Nanking has a population of more than a million persons. And Japanese airmen are continuously dropping high explosive bombs on them.

There were more persons in the American Legion parade in New York the other day than participated on both sides in the Battle of Antietam one of the major engagements of the Civil War.

There are said to be more than four billion dollars worth of foreign investments in China, most of which are British.

E. W. Vanhook, president of the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce, predicts the biggest tourist season that city has ever had.

Gov. Clegg has abandoned the "border patrol" along north Florida, but that doesn't mean Miami from re-establishing the "line honored" "honor guard" by which vagrants are picked up in Dade county, dumped over the border into Broward county.

The American Ambassador at Nanking who sought refuge aboard a U. S. gunboat at the first warning of the Japanese air raid, has returned to his post at the embassy apparently upon instructions from Washington.

In Geneva the other day Maxim Litvinov, the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, is quoted as saying little patients with German and Italian dictators who believe they are not guilty of aggression.

The "Fix"

A police officer, speaking before more than 300 brother officers belonging to the Illinois Police Association at their thirty-seventh annual convention in Aurora, the other day declared that one of the largest contributing factors in the awful prevalence of highway accidents, is what is known as the "fix."

"If we can overcome the 'fix,' this policeman said, 'it will be about the biggest thing we can do toward making auto driving safe. Nowadays almost everyone, from ditch digger to state senator, has a friend in the police department—or knows someone who has. Given a ticket for violating traffic laws they appeal to their friend, the man, Bill. Can't you fix it just this once? And too often Officer Bill finds it hard to refuse."

"Then there's the corrupt policeman—a few of them. He lets the offending motorist understand that five or ten dollars 'will fix it.' Many people don't object to paying that if only their names won't go down on the police books and they won't have to appear in court."

"We've got to overcome that sort of thing. If everyone that drives a car knew that he couldn't get his ticket 'fixed,' that disobeying traffic laws meant being deprived of his car for six months to a year—we'd soon have better drivers and safer highways."

There's a lot of truth in what this officer says. The very person who is most anxious to "fix" it, after he has been arrested for some traffic violation, is likely to be the one who needs some punishment the most. He has violated the law more than likely not because he didn't know the law, but because he thought he could get away with it.

If he gets away with it again, after being caught, simply by "fixing" it through some friend in the police department, he will be more ready than ever to take a chance next time. "Oh, don't worry," he will say when some friend cautions him against speeding, "I can fix it." And thus he will keep on until he wrecks his car, breaks his own neck, or kills someone else.

The kindest thing for the police to do in a case like that is to let him pay his penalty on the first offense.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

By RUSSELL KAY

You sure gotta hand it to these folks down in Miami, when it comes to advertising and publicity they got the rest of the state lookin' like an oxcart compared to a streamline train.

They get Governor Fred down there just before the opening of the tourist season and start a grand and glorious argument on the subject of gambling and without realizing it Fred busts out with a statement that they can pick up and go to town with for a million dollars worth of free publicity, while they sit back in all righteousness wearin' a halo with Fred left holdin' the bag.

The idea of Miami yepin' about gamblin' is almost as funny as it is ridiculous. And the screw statement that the community is opposed to it makes it just that much louder and funnier.

Now the Ministerial Association, no doubt, is agin' games of chance, except those conducted under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society at the annual pageant, and a few politicians and racketeers are shoulder to shoulder with the "good people" as far as the operation of "certain places" is concerned. But the other hundreds or more thousands and inhabitants of the Magic City are for a wide-open town and if anybody really tried to close it up they'd howl so loud you could hear 'em in far-off Siberia.

Governor Clegg's recent statement may have been a bit blunt and crude; it might have been phrased in a more delicate manner. But nevertheless, everybody knows he simply spoke the plain unvarnished TRUTH; and as is usually the case, the truth hurts. Clegg's position is no different than that of all other Governors; only this others just didn't talk about it.

If Miami doesn't want gamblin' she doesn't have to have it any more than any other community, and it is nobody's little red wagon but her own—and all this boloney about it bel's up to the Governor is just as much childish blarney.

According to all reports the people of Miami and Dade county have the regulation number of sheriffs, constables, deputies and police officers to insure the proper enforcement of law, and unless the rules have been changed right recently they have a surplus of the grand jury every now and then.

Any noble citizen of Miami who is really alarmed over the situation has only to swear out a warrant or point out offenders to the boys they picked out and pay to take such things.

Then if these duly constituted enforcement officers fail to do their duty or ignore such demands, the grand jury might look into it and find out why. After this orderly and normal procedure has been followed is plenty on enough to start worryin' the Governor. Let the grand jury of Dade or any other county indict an officer for failure to perform and Fred will fire him so quick it will surprise you.

I don't know about Fred, but if I was governor and folks down there kept yappin' at my heels I'd have him for the past week or so on the farm on temporary parole; they'd coughed, town so damned tight they couldn't get it up with a dark lantern and a dimmy, and I'd keep it closed like that right on thru the tourist season. But I wouldn't stop with just that; I'd let the law take its course and make 'em like it!

A good dose of sure 'nuff, no foolin', law enforcement would open a lot of eyes and I'd be mean enough for we got a mass of 'em on our books that a lot of folks have forgotten if they ever knew about 'em. And boy, what a straight-jacket they'd give to be for any community that got tied up in 'em.

Of course it is just a tempest in a teapot—a little quarrel between the boys about who is gonna ride the gravy train and who gets left at the station. There'll be gamblin' in Miami this winter just like there is in Palm Beach, Tampa, and a lot of other places, simply because the bulk of the folks livin' there don't care and since they don't why should a few over-worked and peace-lovin' cops and sheriffs get all stirred up about it? Come winter local authorities you want a closed town, and they'll close it—Governor or no Governor.

Accidents in State Increase Over Last Year

Municipalities Have Largest Casualty List, Report Shows

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 21.—Accidents in the industrial field in Florida were greater in July of this year than in the same month of 1936, according to a report issued by the Florida Industrial Safety Council.

"While this increase appears to be unusually large for the summer months," remarked Mr. Edwin, "there is a strong probability that greater operations in industry in the State may bear a major responsibility in the increased frequency rate, rather than increase due alone to less supervision in safety and greater carelessness on the part of workers."

The largest number of accidents occurred in the following classification:

- Municipal employment... 300
- Carpentry... 194
- General contracting... 180
- Automobile and motor vehicles... 150
- Ray mill... 120
- Street and highway construction... 110
- Lumber and building materials yards... 114
- Hotels, clubs and restaurants... 114
- Beverage manufacturers... 114
- Stores—wholesale and retail... 80
- Printing and moving... 70
- Buildings... 70
- Chemical... 60
- Dormitory... 60
- Planing mills... 60

"It is safe to say," said Mr. Edwin, "that with a total of 52 deaths and 15,393 accidents in the industrial field so far during 1937 the employees are faced with another demand by insurance companies that workmen's compensation rates be increased. This demand was not allowed last year, but unless the number of accidents decreases in comparison for the rest of the year there is a strong probability that some adjustment will have to be made."

There can be only one solution to this problem, concluded Mr. Edwin, "constant safety supervision and enforcement of safety rules, consistent with introducing proper education by employers to prevent accidents."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scholfield have gone to a hospital hospital in Tallahassee where the latter is receiving treatment.

Miss Lucy Edgington, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Tibbitts in Homer, Fla., is returning to E. C. W. of Tallahassee for her second year.

Mrs. Sarah Tarnish was taken suddenly ill on Sunday but is now recovering.

The Rev. Dr. Sam Martin with Mr. Martin and Mrs. Porter, Dean Stantley are spending their vacation with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ryan.

What To Do -

If Your Date Stays Too Late

1. Be casually—not pointedly or dramatically—rank. Swillingly tell him to run along—that you need some beauty sleep.

2. Make him want to go home by taking a violent interest in his health.

3. As a last resort use the power of suggestion.

The AP Feature Service Margery Wilson, authority in New York City on problems of etiquette and social behavior, writes for the effectiveness of the "subtle" approach.

The reason Point No. 3 often works, she says, is that it intrigues a man to have someone interested enough in his welfare to forego the pleasure of his company.

The power of suggestion is an old trick of the business man.

A Put your hands on the arms of your chair—abows up—as if you were ready to pounce. Get up and walk around.

It is just as important, says Miss Wilson, to know what not to do, get instincts, do not tell the young man point blank that you wish him to leave. Do not keep looking at the clock or watch. Do not ask any member of the family to suggest that you had better retire.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—If you are in a mood for discovery, a variety of odd shops offers delightful surprises to those who care to look for them. They are tucked away in the folds of old streets which crawl toward the past, side.

One is a shop for cat men, and, although the cat men were fat, there would be no war. The girl is too ample to be fitted, no beam too massive.

Another, in an expensively appointed window, is a shop for the shivers. On one wall is an exhibit of rope—small fragments of half a dozen nooses with which criminals have been hanged.

In a similar mood is the display of waxen figures near Brooklyn Bridge, on the Brooklyn side. These are simulacra of notorious villains who have come to untimely ends. The exhibit once was part of a circus, but was crumpled and times change. Today the owner has half a dozen figures, not in wax, but in wood. He says he wants to know about 72 wax exhibiting them.

Then there is a Japanese florist in the west avenue, who deals exclusively in original plants. His specialty is miniature Japanese gardens.

Nearly in another florist and a fishing tackle shop, but they seem to have their windows mixed up. The florist's window is a miniature lake with five pickers all over 30 inches, pickety swimming about. There are also two black bass, weighing two pounds each. He caught them in a lake and brought them to town in a barrel.

Next door, the tackle shop's window is filled with "shubs" and flowers.

A chain of hat stores makes a specialty of filling its windows with photographs of celebrities, mainly from the sporting world, who wear their brand.

Each window is a variable Who's Who of sport, including such names as Jack Dempsey, Carl Lindehl, Lou Gehrig and Dixie Dean.

I have never seen it, but I am told there is a sandwich shop near 114th Street with a huge life preserver hanging on the wall.

'Sophie Lang' Is Back In New Production

One of the spiciest mystery-adventure stories of the season, "Sophie Lang Goes West," is playing Friday at the Ritz Theatre. Gertrude Michael plays Sophie Lang again in this new thriller, and lovelier than ever in the part. Probably the cleverest, and certainly the most beautiful of jewel thieves, Sophie Lang goes to work in Hollywood, in the latest of her pictures, and the result is a tremendously exciting film.

A lot of credit for this picture goes to a fine cast as well as to Miss Michael. A newcomer who is certainly destined for the heights of stardom is Sandra Storme, who plays her first leading dramatic role in "Sophie Lang Goes West." Miss Storme, an able actress, and she belongs in the ranks of the most gorgeous screen stars in the world. Two capable and charming young men play opposite Miss Michael and Miss Storme: Lee Bowman and Larry Crabbe, who both play their parts with infectious enthusiasm.

The story is concerned with Miss Michael, who is forced by the police to leave New York, and jumps aboard a train bound for California. On it she meets Lee Bowman, who protects her from searching policemen; and a Sultan who has a huge diamond called "The Star of the World." Sandra Storme, a famous actress, and her manager, Larry Crabbe, are both on the train and Crabbe has plans for the theft of "The Diamond himself." Miss Michael does not tell Bowman that she is a gem thief, but lays plans to steal the jewel in spite of Crabbe's plans.

At a party in Hollywood the gem disappears, and suspicion is directed toward Miss Michael. Crabbe has stolen the diamond and escaped, followed by Bowman. Bowman manages to catch up with Crabbe and Miss Michael in time to clear her name and convince her that diamond stealing is too strenuous a life work. She decides that she will go straight and go straight to Bowman, too!

Mrs. Frederick Bell Is Guest Of Honor

Opening the Fall season with a large tea yesterday afternoon, Mrs. George DeCottis entertained at her home on Park Avenue in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frederick Bell, whose recent marriage in Atlanta was of wide social interest in the South.

In the living-room, tallman room, bronze stanzas, yellow marigolds, and golden chrysanthemums painted a glowing autumn color scheme, in the dining room, where white candles lit the tea table, Michoudin daisies, coral vine, and aluminum were combined for decoration.

Receiving with Mrs. DeCottis were Mrs. Bell, Mrs. George Hight, and Mrs. Olen Lohle. Mrs. DeCottis' gown was of white chiffon and her shoulder carriage was of white roses. Mrs. Bell wore black net with white roses. Mrs. Bishop wore net with yellow roses, while Mrs. Lohle chose blue taffeta with a corsage of red roses.

Norris Says Fight On Supreme Court Is Not Over Yet

LINCOLN, Neb. Sept. 23.—Senator George W. Norris, veteran Nebraska Independent, said yesterday the fight to "tie the Supreme Court to the people is not over yet by any means."

He called for presentation of the court issue to the electorate and advanced two proposals which he said would make the high tribunal more democratic:

1.—Make it impossible to declare a law unconstitutional by a mere majority. This he said could be done without a constitutional amendment.

2.—Limit, by amendment, the terms of the Supreme Court justices and other Federal judges to nine years instead of life.

Norris said he would push the fight for his bill embodying the first proposal at the next congressional session "if it looks as if it will stand any show of passage."

He spoke enthusiastically of the fight he predicted against the "corporations and monopolies" he said were responsible for the attacks on Justice Hugo L. Black.

Norris praised the appointment of Black to the Supreme Court but lamented his removal from the Senate, where he said his "courage and honesty are needed."

He commented that "even if Black is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, that is no legal objection to his appointment."

REBELS START 'Big Push' To Reduce Gijon

By nightfall one wing of the Republican Army had pushed half mile past the town, surrounding it and trapping several thousand rebels within.

The fall of the town of 8000 is "imminent," a Fabus News Agency report said.

With Granada in desperate position, the town of Anaga further south also was threatened. The road to Anaga cuts the rebel base at Pinarroya in Cordoba Province. Fall of Anaga would be a severe blow to the rebels.

The government immediately emphasized that the southwest drive proved two things; first, the efficiency of the one-year loyalist army, and secondly, the adequacy of government supplies and ammunition, which it lacked a year ago when the rebels were stopped outside Madrid.

Roper Announces Plan To Extend Airways System

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Secretary Roper announced yesterday that the Federal airways system will be extended over 11 new routes, at a cost of approximately $2,000,000, if that much money is available after improvement of the existing system.

The Commerce Department chief expressed belief it will be about a year before availability of the necessary funds is apparent, but he said much preliminary work on the extensions could be done in the meantime.

The extensions, their mileage and estimated cost as announced by Roper included:

Clinton-Washington, 415 miles, $376,000.
Houston-New Orleans, 336 miles, $310,000.
Amarillo-Fort Worth, 307 miles, $100,000.
Atlanta-Charleston, 170 miles, $168,000.
Corpus Christi-Houston, 190 miles, $99,000.

The aviation aids which Roper said the government would install along these routes, if funds prove sufficient, include intermediate landing fields, beacon lights, radio range and communication stations and teletype communication circuits where required to furnish adequate weather reporting.

Roper said Congress has provided for a $7,000,000 airways construction and improvement program, and that $5,000,000 of the fund is being applied to modernization and improvement of the present Federal airways system.

Announcing a long list of projects being undertaken on the existing system, he said that if prices actually bid on this work do not exceed preliminary estimates there will be a balance of $2,000,000 available for the extensions.

Roper said the improvement construction program on existing air routes is now in progress and will require until January 1, 1939 for completion.

It will probably be at least next July before any of the improvements are in operation, he added, because the equipment to be used is in demand solely by the government and is manufactured only after orders are placed.

The improvements include construction of simultaneous transmission radio range and telephone stations; low powered loop type radio range markers, radio range and radiotelephone transmitting stations; five-tower vertical radiator antenna units, and installation of 7000 miles of teletypewriter communication circuits.

The simultaneous transmission radio range and telephone station to be constructed at Tampa, Fla.

Twenty-nine medium and low powered loop type radio range markers, to cost about $23,000 each, will be constructed, including Vero Beach, Fla.

Construction of simultaneous radio range and radiotelephone transmitting stations at a cost of about $35,000 each, to replace old and obsolete individual radio range and radio communications, is planned, including Alma, Ga., Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., Miami, Fla., Mobile, Ala., and Titusville, Fla.

The 7000 miles of teletypewriter circuits will cost $325,000 and will be placed along routes including Atlanta, Ga.-Jacksonville, Fla.

2,000 Chinese At Canton Are Reported Dead

(Continued from page one) Herated its urgency that American evacuees to Tangkai, a Shanghai port, and thence to Manila. Japanese planes and warships rained bombs and shells on the port cities of Canton and Hachow causing widespread damage.

Nanking, earmarked by Japanese for destruction as the seat of Chinese resistance was not added this morning, however, as the Japanese were apparently impressed by the seriousness of American, British, French and German protests against unrestricted bombardment of the civilian population.

In the first raid, on Nanking yesterday, one wave of Japanese planes appeared over the city at 10:50 A. M. and the second at 11 A. M. Their attacks were centered on the headquarters of the government political party—the Kuomintang—near the Russian Soviet embassy. Bombs were rained on this area for 10 minutes. The third wave of planes appeared at 11:30 A. M.

Meantime 13 Chinese pursuit planes had taken the air and began attacking the invaders.

There was a storm of exploding bombs and anti-aircraft shells from 10:50 to 11:30 A. M. A number of fires started in the city.

There were 18 Chinese fighting planes in the air at 11 A. M. and a number of aerial dog-fights developed as the Chinese maneuvered to get at the Japanese bombers, in the center of the invading squadrons.

The Japanese planes began wheeling away at 11:30, and by noon the "all clear" signal was sounded from the Chinese air sirens.

The second raid began at 2:30 P. M. and was aimed at the Hsikuang district outside the city walls along the waterfront. Bombs were rained on the railway station. It was damaged and one railway coach was destroyed. Dozens of Chinese "mat-shells" and workmen's houses were in flames. It was believed that most of the civilians killed died in this area.

Chinese estimated that about 60 Japanese planes participated in this raid but said that only 24 of them penetrated the capital's defenses.

The Chinese said that four Japanese planes were shot down—one in the Tukow district, one on the waterfront near the United States gunboats, a third in the center of the city opposite the big concrete buildings of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's "officers moral endeavor association" and a fourth at an unnamed point outside the city.

Fighting continued until 2:30 P. M. when the "all clear" signal again was sounded, with Chinese airplanes droning overhead as "masters of the air."

A Japanese spokesman said hand-to-hand fighting took place yesterday southwest of Liuhang, where the Chinese were trying to resist Japanese bayonets with their curved "big swords." The battle raged around the villages of Kukuang and Mengwan.

The Chinese said that regiments of the Japanese-controlled Manchukuan army, including many soldiers were being "forced" by the Japanese to attack their fellow Chinese.

United Press correspondents who reached the front near Liuhang early yesterday saw eight waves of Japanese infantry rush the Chinese lines only to be mowed down by machine guns. It was estimated the Japanese suffered 600 casualties in this single action.

Indicative of Chinese indignation at the United States' neutral policy the influential Shanghai newspaper "Ta Kung Pao" said editorially:

"Chinese are grateful for the sympathy and moral support which they are receiving from France, Britain and Soviet Russia, but the attitude of the United States, where lies China's greatest hope, has been most discouraging."

Wallace Outlines 7 Point Program For U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace last night revealed a new administration plan to give farmers "parity income" instead of "parity prices" on their major crops.

He defined parity income as the "per capita share of the national income received by the farmer on the average in the 50 years before the World War."

The parity price objective was to insure the farmer a price for his crops equal to the average of 1909-1914 prices.

Wallace said the per capita share of income under the parity income plan would be hard to forecast because of the shifting demand and production in crops.

The seven-point program outlined by the secretary in his radio address provided:

1.—Farmers should have a fair share in the national income; that is, a share which will give the average farmer as much purchasing power relative to the average non-farmer as was the case during the 50 years before the World War.

2.—"The welfare of all farmers and of city people as well, demands that the wide fluctuations in supply and price of the major crops be smoothed out as much as possible by the use of the ever-normal granary and crop insurance."

3.—"The people who live on the land must have security of tenure."

4.—"The soil must be used properly. We must produce conservatively, not exploitatively."

5.—"Farmers through sound co-operatives must come into control of those marketing, processing, purchasing and service functions for which they are capable of displaying superior efficiency."

6.—"Family sized farms should be favored by the Federal ruin of the game having to do with benefit payments and similar aids to rural income."

7.—"Federal and State funds promote agricultural research and must continue to be spent to farm efficiency."

Wallace defended the $2,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 acre production in major crop plantings, proposed in the new 1938 crop program, by pointing out that yields on cotton, for example, have been higher for several years than the long-time average.

He pointed out that Japan, one of our biggest cotton buyers, has taken since Aug. 1 only 23,000 bales, as against 110,000 bales in the same period last year.

"If there is any erring, it is possibly on the side of being too liberal," Wallace said.

7.—"Federal and State funds promote agricultural research and must continue to be spent to farm efficiency."

Wallace defended the $2,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 acre production in major crop plantings, proposed in the new 1938 crop program, by pointing out that yields on cotton, for example, have been higher for several years than the long-time average.

He pointed out that Japan, one of our biggest cotton buyers, has taken since Aug. 1 only 23,000 bales, as against 110,000 bales in the same period last year.

"If there is any erring, it is possibly on the side of being too liberal," Wallace said.

Japanese Military Authorities Announced Today That Their Army Had Shattered The Chinese Concrete Defense Line North Of Pootung

Japanese military authorities announced today that their army had shattered the Chinese concrete defense line north of Pootung and had driven the Chinese back in hand-to-hand fighting to within a mile of that strategic base 80 miles south of here.

Sharp anxiety was felt for five American citizens who were believed to have remained in Pootung, which Japanese airplanes have bombed daily.

The Japanese declared that Kuo-chuang, a village three quarters of a mile north of Pootung, fell to their attack at 9:30 A. M. and the capture of the city itself was imminent.

The amazing offensive against the strong Chinese defense line began as soon as darkness fell last night, the Japanese said, when they forced the crossing of the Tsao River, eight miles above Pootung, on the trunk railroad to Hankow and then assaulted the concrete Chinese redoubts that form virtually an unbroken wall across central Hoeh province.

Wallace Outlines 7 Point Program For U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace last night revealed a new administration plan to give farmers "parity income" instead of "parity prices" on their major crops.

He defined parity income as the "per capita share of the national income received by the farmer on the average in the 50 years before the World War."

The parity price objective was to insure the farmer a price for his crops equal to the average of 1909-1914 prices.

Wallace said the per capita share of income under the parity income plan would be hard to forecast because of the shifting demand and production in crops.

The seven-point program outlined by the secretary in his radio address provided:

1.—Farmers should have a fair share in the national income; that is, a share which will give the average farmer as much purchasing power relative to the average non-farmer as was the case during the 50 years before the World War.

2.—"The welfare of all farmers and of city people as well, demands that the wide fluctuations in supply and price of the major crops be smoothed out as much as possible by the use of the ever-normal granary and crop insurance."

3.—"The people who live on the land must have security of tenure."

4.—"The soil must be used properly. We must produce conservatively, not exploitatively."

5.—"Farmers through sound co-operatives must come into control of those marketing, processing, purchasing and service functions for which they are capable of displaying superior efficiency."

6.—"Family sized farms should be favored by the Federal ruin of the game having to do with benefit payments and similar aids to rural income."

7.—"Federal and State funds promote agricultural research and must continue to be spent to farm efficiency."

SCHOOL-DAY LUNCHEONS

In many homes, noon is the busy time for dinner, the evening meal of the day. Many of our school children, however, do not have time to come home from school at noon. So, they either eat their meals out of a box or buy a little lunch at school. Then, at evening when these children should be making up for the skimpy noon meal, the rest of the family are content with a small supper.

Situations like this have a lot to do with a large number of malnourished children in both city and rural schools. Three good meals a day are important for health, happiness, and good grades. A breakfast that will stand by the child's stomach, a nourishing lunch containing at least one hot dish, and an evening dinner that

If the children are not hungry, an observant mother will reduce the afternoon lunch to such an amount that it does not interfere with the evening meal.

When there is too little time for a hearty lunch, the amount the child eats may be quite insufficient to carry him through until evening. The mid-afternoon meal should be planned with the same degree of regularity that governs breakfast, lunch, and dinner.
