Public Debate On Who's Responsible For Missile Lag Continues

WASHINGTON (UP)—What's wrong with the idea that political groups should be put under oath before calling the voters who, if any, are goofed on missiles?

To put it as sweetly as their conflicting stories will permit, somebody is fibbing. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the Republican National Committee hold that the fiber is former President Harry S. Truman.

On the other hand, if Mr. T is not fibbing, what about Nixon and the committee whose members who created the missile lag are directly contrary to those of the former president?

And, if either of the foregoing conflicting stories is accurate, what about Democratic National Committee Chairman Paul M. Butler? Butler told TV viewers a few days ago that the missile villain was

Dr. Wernher von Braun.

Von Braun (C-9) 1945-51. And, if Butler is right about that, how about Von Braun's public accusation that the missile lag developed during the Truman years spanning 1945-51?

Harry S. Truman is not one to accept calmly an unwarranted accusation, especially an accusation made by the vice president or, for that matter, by any Republican.

It just happens that, as much as he dislikes Republicans, Mr. T dislikes Nixon much more.

Nixon and the Republican National Committee laid whatever blame they wish on Mr. T's lap. That was about three weeks ago and political Washington has been waiting, since, for some roachery of the launching pad at Independence, Mo. Silence is not typical Truman under such circumstances.

However, that may be, the Republican National Committee came up last month with some defense, missile and research spending figures which would seem, at least, to require some answer from a spokesman for the Truman administration.

Defense Spending Down

The Truman administration had pared national defense spending down to $11,900,000,000 in 1950, which was the year the Korean War began. The Republican National Committee toted it up this way:

—Total for the national defense for three Truman years before Korea, $65,000,000,000.

—Total for three Eisenhower years after Korea, $110,000,000,000.

"What starved research and development?" the committee inquired and answered:

—Total for four Truman years before Korea, $2,100,000,000.

—Total for four Eisenhower years after Korea, $3,633,000,000.

"Who starved the missile program?" was the next question, answered as follows:

—Four Truman budgets 1951-54 inclusive, $667

—Four Eisenhower budgets fiscal 1955-58 inclusive, $6,330,000,000.

The foregoing are statistics. A smart fellow with figures can do almost anything with statistics, such as making white look black and vice versa.

The public debate, doubtless, will continue and even the truth will become known.

Woman Dies Of Burns In Fire Early Today

New Cold Wave To Hit Florida Tomorrow Morning

LAKELAND (UP)—A new cold wave rolled toward Florida today before the old one could get out.

The Federal-State Frost Warning Center told farmers they could expect a "hard freeze in north and central districts and frost and freezing temperatures in southern districts Thursday morning."

Freezing weather over most of the state, which produced a few uncommon snow flakes over Jacksonville Tuesday, already has brought biting discomfort to Floridians and thousands of tourists.

But the new cold wave brings a real threat to vegetable farmers and citrus growers. Particularly vulnerable are the big truck farms south of Miami where 30,000 acres of tomatoes, selling for $6 to $7.50 a bushel, and hundreds of acres of pole beans, sweet corn, squash and cucumbers are at the harvesting stage and at the mercy of a freeze.

There also are thousands of acres of vulnerable crops elsewhere along the lower east coast, around Lake Okechobee and in the west coast growing area around Fort Myers. Citrus crops are a little more hardy.

A forecaster said there is nothing in sight to divert or dissipate the new onslaught of Canadian cold that is expected to push into the Florida peninsula late today.

"The new cold wave piling in on top of the state which already has been cold for three days will give us the coldest weather yet," the forecaster said. "There are prospects of clouds or a wind shift to prevent this frigid air from moving in on us."

Throughout the state's huge agriculture areas, farmers and growers were rounding up all available smudge materials and preparing to flood whatever fields they could and fly planes at low altitude to keep frost from forming. But there is little they can do, however, if the thermometer remains at freezing or below for several hours at a time.

The new cold wave is expected to keep Florida "on ice" for the remainder of the week.

A fire of undetermined origin was responsible for fatal injuries to Mrs. John R. Welch of 313 Celery Ave. in an early morning blaze today.

Mrs. Welch, who operated a nursery at her home, was found by firemen, on the floor near her bed, severely burned about the entire body.

The fire, shortly after 3 o'clock this morning, gutted two rooms of the frame dwelling and badly damaged three other rooms of the home. The nursery, with small tables and chairs, was barely touched by licking flames and boiling smoke.

Mrs. C. B. Sumler, who lives in an adjacent house at 319 Celery Ave. was awakened by the calls of a man. Roused from her sleep she woke up the occupants of a home at 313 Celery Ave. and the Sanford Fire Department was notified.

The identity of the man remained unknown until shortly after 3 o'clock this morning when a man's clothing was found in a front bedroom of the burned home.

From identification in the clothing, both policemen and firemen found that a man by the name of Homer R. McKnight occupied the room.

McKnight was found about 4 o'clock this morning huddled in a blanket back of the house suffering possibly from shock and exposure. McKnight, at the hospital, said "I fought to pull her (Mrs. Welch) from the house." He was not burned but his face and body were crusted with smoke and soot.

Fire Chief Mack N. Cleveland Sr. this morning, said that he believes that the fire started in the living room of the home and possibly in a sofa. "It might have been a cigarette or it might have been a faulty electrical circuit—it's hard to say," Chief Cleveland said.

Fire Chief Cleveland directed the fighting of the blaze this morning and conducted a preliminary investigation at the scene along with Sanford Police Department and Seminole County Sheriff's Department law enforcement officers.

BULLETIN
Mrs. Welch died at noon today.

2 Civic Clubs Will Furnish Marshalls For PGA Tourney

Two of Sanford's civic clubs will furnish marshalls for the Mayfair Inn PGA Tournament this weekend.

The Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford Kiwanis Club will provide volunteer workers to serve as "marshalls" in order to keep greens during tournament play.

George Knapier, chairman of recruiting the marshalls for the Sanford Kiwanis Club appealed yesterday to members of the group to volunteer. We need at least eight more men, said Morgan. He requested that all Kiwanians who would like to help to call him as soon as possible.

Commission Opposes Bridge Over River

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners went on record Monday night as opposing the proposed bridge over the St. Johns River near Lake Hartney.

A letter from the Board of Commissioners will be forwarded to the Corps of Engineers at Jacksonville voicing their disapproval of the bridge that would "eliminate 50 per cent of the usage of the Sanford-Titusville Canal and thus kill the canal for all time."

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Waterways Committee has appealed to all individuals and organizations to oppose the construction of a bridge so low as to prevent the usage of the canal.

According to the proposal made by the Corps of Engineers through its District Engineer, Paul D. Troxler, the bridge would be of set-span construction with only 25 feet overhead clearance and 30 feet horizontal clearance.

The bridge over the St. Johns River at Lake Monroe which will carry the Interstate Highway has a clearance of 45 feet overhead and 30 feet horizontal.

A letter mailed to all organizations and individuals interested in the Sanford-Titusville Canal and the Docks and Terminals Project at Sanford sets out that "Without question, anything less than the 45 feet overhead clearance and 30 feet horizontal clearance will kill forever all plans for the Sanford-Titusville Canal."

John Krider said in the letter that "Yachts, barges and other large craft would be unable to navigate the Sanford-Titusville Canal unless we can get uniform clearance for the complete distance."

The bridge proposed is located in Seminole County on State Road 46.

Protests are to be sent to Col. Paul D. Troxler, District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, 315 Riverside Avenue, Jacksonville, Fla.

Red Barber Speaks At SHS Tomorrow

Seminole High School is all "keyed up" awaiting the arrival of one of its graduates of the class of 1926.

Red Barber, one of the greatest network sports announcers of all time, will speak to the student body of Seminole High School tomorrow morning at its regular assembly.

After attending school in Sanford and graduating from Seminole High, Red Barber moved on to the University of Florida where he became interested in sports announcing. His first tour of announcing was over Radio Station WRUF at Gainesville on the University of Florida Campus.

From there, it was just one uphill climb to success for the Sanford youngster, Red Barber has appeared over radio station and network broadcasts countless numbers of times, always telling the story of the "big teams" in baseball and other sports.

Another Sanford man who will look forward to Thursday morning's appearance is Andrew Caraway, a graduate of the same class with Red Barber.

Mrs. Mae Fort, now Dean of Women at Seminole High School, was one of Red Barber's teachers.

The nation's "top" sports broadcaster will find his former school in up-top shape and all shined up for his arrival here Thursday morning. The subject of Red Barber's talk to the student body has not yet been announced.

Local Jaycees Take Children On Shopping Tour

The Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce was host yesterday to 14 children of Lutheran Haven Childrens Home on a Sanford Christmas shopping tour.

Children of all ages, accompanied by members of the Jaycees, visited Sanford stores purchasing gifts for each other and for those whom they will remember at Christmas time.

Funds for the tour are provided by the Jaycees and were made possible through the sale of balloons during the annual Christmas parade here last week.

Bob McKee, chairman of the annual Jaycee project, headed the balloon sales group and the shopping tour.

Each child was furnished $5 with which to shop as he or she pleased and to buy the gifts of their own selection.

Jaycees accompanying the children were: Bob McKee, chairman; David Klingensmith, G. Andrew Speer, Ronald McMillan, Norris Perry, William Carrigan and Bob Bratzell.

Demo, GOP Blast Benson's Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Democrat and a Republican lambasted today Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's plan to put entire farms into grass and trees. They labelled it a "lazy man's program" and "nuts."

Rep. Thomas G. Abernathy (D-Ill.) said he thought not many "genuine farmers" would go for the scheme. "It would end their days of farming."

However, Abernathy said removing such farms from production probably would contribute more to the solution of all agriculture problems than individual crop acreage controls.

Not the Answer

Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R-N.D.) said it was the "easiest thing"

Benson had thought of 7-1. "I can't think of anything more nuts than that. It's no answer to the farm problem at all."

"The retirement of whole farms is the only way we'll ever reduce production," a congressional farm expert said, "but the cost of doing this on a rental basis would be prohibitive. I don't believe the American people would stand for it."

Benson did not mention the cost. But some experts estimated that to be effective, it would involve at least 50 million acres. At $10 an acre the rental would hit 500 million dollars.

Will Public Accept?

A department expert said that his boss' proposed experiment has possibilities of reducing the farm surpluses through lowered production, but posed this question: "Is the general public in a psychological frame of mind to use public funds for such a plan?" He said much of the success of the plan would depend upon how farmers themselves reacted to it.

Benson announced the trial plan at a news conference Tuesday. He said farmers in four states—Illinois, Maine, Nebraska, and Tennessee—will have an opportunity to set the dollar per-acre rate they are willing to accept — through competitive bidding — for putting all their eligible cropland into the soil bank's conservation reserve for a period of five to 10 years.

This is a complete switch in procedure as to who makes the offer of farm aid. The regular procedure is for a county committee to make offers to farmers for taking part or all of their cropland out of production and putting it into the conservation reserve.

Ike Prepares For Paris Parley

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower waded today into preparations for next week's heads-of-state Paris parley that has been suddenly invigorated by his ability to attend.

The decision of the 67-year-old President to go despite a mild stroke 10 days ago sparked new hopes at home and abroad that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO summit conference will succeed in producing new unity and an answer to Russia's missile-scientific threat.

The President, given a medical go-ahead Tuesday to make the trip, scheduled a morning conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. They were expected to discuss U. S. proposals to be presented at the meeting.

To Answer Russian Note

Eisenhower and Dulles also were confronted today with answering a 15-page note from Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin proposing a new round of high level East-West talks on acute world problems. U. S. officials labelled it a strategically timed propaganda maneuver designed to discourage NATO allies from taking any strong new defensive measures.

Contents of the note were expected to be made public Thursday. Eisenhower flies to Paris Friday. Before he goes the President has his answer ready for Bulganin.

The team of six doctors pronounced the President in "excellent" physical condition in a White House announcement late Tuesday. The announcement said he was sufficiently recovered from the Nov. 25 cerebral attack to go to Paris.

Western European leaders reacted to the news with a sigh of relief. Reaction also was favorable from two Congressional delegates to the NATO parliamentary conference.

Farmers' Market Shows Slight Decrease In '57

The Sanford State Farmer Market showed a slight decrease in volume and valuation this year as compared to November, 1956, said Sandy Anderson, Ass't. Manager.

According to a tabulation it is revealed that the market moved 29 varieties of fruit and vegetables totaling 143,966 packages at a gross valuation of $381,242.40.

"This decrease in packages," Sandy Anderson said, "received at our market, was due to prolonged mild weather occurring in states north of Florida, coupled with unfavorable growing conditions during the first half of November in Central and Southern Florida."

Low prices on practically all varieties was responsible for our decrease in valuation compared with the same period last season, Sandy Anderson revealed.

With favorable weather prevailing in December, he said, we anticipate an increase in volume and also a better "pricewise situation" on all fruits and vegetables.

2 Happenings Rule Economic Score

Southern Year-End
Economic Score: This is one of a number of year-end economic reports on the South in 1957, written by United Press staff correspondents.
By RICHARD F. ROYER
ATLANTA (AP) — Two developments dominated the southern economic scene in 1957: The region had more residents than ever and it cost them more than ever to live.
According to "projections" issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce, there was a population growth of roughly 330,000 in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.
At the same time, the U.S. Labor Department said residents of this nine-state area had to pay nearly $1.50 during 1957 for the same items which cost them $1.00 in 1956.
The 1957 population growth estimate was based on figures which the Commerce Department emphasized were "projections," made on the basis of estimated 1958 population. The figures indicate the following approximate 1957 population growth, by state:
Florida, 100,000; North Carolina, 25,000; Virginia, 40,000; Louisiana, 20,000; Tennessee, 20,000; Georgia, 20,000; South Carolina 20,000; Alabama, 14,000; and Mississippi, 4,000.
Brunswick A. Bagdon, regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor, summarized in one word the trend of living costs in the South—"up."
Bagdon said Atlanta is the only southern city for which the Labor Department computes a cost of living index. But he said he believes the cost of living in other urban areas, as distinguished from rural areas, varied little from the trend apparent in the Atlanta figures. While the prices of some increased more than others, the average, overall increase in southern living costs from September 1956 to September 1957 was 2.5 cents, Bagdon said. He cited these increases as examples:
Meats, poultry and fish, up 8.4 cents; dairy products, up .9 of a cent; rent, up .8 of a cent; solid fuels and fuel oil, 1.3 cents; men's and boys' clothing, up 1.3 cents; and boys' and girls' clothing, up .4 of a cent; and shoes, up 2.5 cents.
The only items which showed a decline were fruits and vegetables, which cost consumers .4 of a cent less, Bagdon said.
A few occupational fields have not received pay raises during the past year and thus "have not kept pace with the rising cost of living," Bagdon said. But he said "most" wage earners have not suffered by the increase.
Merrill C. Ladd, head of the Commerce Department's Atlanta field office, looking at projected southern growth figures and taking into account births, deaths, and the influx of new residents, said Florida is due to lead the other states with a growth of 1,540,000 by 1970.
North Carolina will follow with an additional population of 881,000; Virginia, 647,000; Louisiana, 283,000; Tennessee, 490,000; Georgia, 440,000; South Carolina, 238,000; Alabama, 200,000; and Mississippi, 72,000.

As for the cost of living, the Labor Department will make no predictions for the Southeast alone. But Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says living costs leveled off during October, marking "the end of the so-called inflationary spiral."
Mitchell said there may be seasonal fluctuations in 1957, but added that he believes "the consistent rise has ended."

'57 Cotton Crop Estimate Revealed
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated the 1957 cotton crop at 11,810,000 bales. This is down 770,000 bales, or about 6.5 per cent, from the November estimate.
The final report this year compares with 1956 production of 12,580,000 bales. This year's crop, added to a carryover of 11,200,000 bales, will meet domestic and foreign consumption demands for about two years.
The Crop Reporting Board estimated cotton yields this year averaged 200 pounds of lint an acre. This compares with 408 pounds last year, 417 pounds in 1955, and a 10-year average of 300 pounds.
The board estimated farmers harvested 13,561,000 acres of cotton this year of the 14,648,000 acres in cultivation on July 1. This means 84 per cent of the crop was abandoned because of insect damage or other reasons.
The national acreage allotment for the 1958 crop already has been

Bill To Re-Examine Drivers Introduced
MIAMI (UP)—Rep. Carl Herrell of Dade County said today that bills providing for re-examination of drivers every four years — or often — will be introduced in the next session of the state Legislature.
Herrell also said that a bill calling for state inspection of automobiles also was being considered.

The state representative said both bills had been considered by the Florida Legislative Council earlier this year as a means of improving traffic safety. But he said both were laid aside temporarily during the 1957 session because other legislation in the traffic field was considered more urgent.
Herrell served as chairman of a special subcommittee studying the measures.
He said that instead the council recommended and the Legislature approved a more realistic speed law and tighter rules against following too closely on another vehicle.
"These things accounted for most of the accidents," he said. "Drivers with physical defects and faulty equipment were responsible for a small part of the accidents."
He said the council decided to take "first things first."

Robot Cashier Will Change Dollar Bill
CHICAGO (AP) — The time is near when a dollar bill no longer disqualifies a man from doing business with an automatic vending machine. William F. Patzer has come up with a gadget to change a dollar bill.
In a demonstration, his robot cashier accepted one dollar bills and gave change in the form of two quarters, three dimes and four nickels.
Patzer said his machine is the world's first practical automatic changer. He said the electronically operated device is "just about fool proof."
It will accept creased, wrinkled, tattered, torn or smudged bills, regardless of whether they are inserted in the slot upside down or right side up.
But it will reject counterfeit bills of more than one dollar denomination, and foreign currency, Patzer said.
Patzer said it also could be made to dispense merchandise and give the correct change for currency at the same time and he predicted the 24-hour automatic supermarket is just around the corner.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Cast me not away from thy presence; and take not thy holy spirit from me."

Federal Aid To Education Is No Answer To School Problems

It looks as if the "federal aid to education" boys are going to use the Sputnik scare as a means to get the government's foot in the door in order to take over school, and their curricula.

Seemingly it would work something like this: If they could start their federal-aid-to-education program under the Sputnik stimulus, they would have a sort of beachhead established from which they could wage their battle in future years for vastly expanded federal appropriations.

Federal-aid opponents contend that this line of reasoning over-looks the most important issue; whether there is actually any need for federal intervention. They maintain, of course, that there is none. One of the basic reasons for the defeat of federal aid for school construction was the fact that the states and localities were solving the problem—and there was no reason for encroachment in that field by a federal bureaucracy already far too big.

Likewise, no case has been made that the states and localities are unable to meet the needs for scientific education. Therefore, there is no reason for the federal government to invade this field of activity.

However, Seminole County came near playing into the hands of these "federal aid to education" boys when voters failed to turn out in sufficient numbers to approve a $2 1/2 million school construction bond issue.

It was pointed out, time and time again in these columns that the one scientist that might solve the problems of the nation might be among the youngsters readying themselves for the high school grades. And it was also pointed out that the science labs and science programs did not exist in present schools as they would be expanded in the proposed new high school.

Local Board of Education leaders, however, are meeting the immediate problems from available funds with the addition of schoolrooms to Seminole High and to Crooms Academy until plans could be completed for the next countywide vote on the approval of a bond issue sufficient to complete and build all of the schools necessary to meet growth in the county's communities.

We have seen where industry believes in the time-honored principle that the determination, administration and control of education rests properly with local communities and not with the Federal Government. This includes elementary, secondary and higher education. As an example for our local citizens to know about—one of the big items involved in a centralized costs is the additional administrative costs in a program handled from Washington instead of at the local level. For example, a city gets federal funds for a project. For every dollar that the Federal Government "gives" the city, the taxpayer must pay nearly $1.40. And the total grants-in-aid program we speak of for this year requires about $5 billion of the federal budget.

The Eisenhower Administration has initiated a program intended to return to the states and localities as many as possible of the functions now performed by the Federal Government. Also involved, as we understand it, is a study of what tax sources can be shifted from the Federal Government back to the state and local level.

The one thing that looked extremely good as a part of this enterprise, was that a part of this enterprise, was that a group of state governors, representing the Governors Conference, proposed recently that the states assume responsibility for public school construction—instead of looking to Federal aid. In return, they asked (among other things) for the right to collect local telephone taxes.

Backers of states' rights contend that this trend should be encouraged—and it would be unthinkable to let the Federal Government get a foothold in the educational domain.

Another reason why this should not be done is that private organizations are doing far more than the Government could do to stimulate the improvement of educational facilities and expansion of scientific education.

Certainly our school systems are looking for far more than regimentation on a national level for our educational programs—it is progress and expansion on a local level that creates the spirit of true democracy and stimulates the desire to study "for the good of our wonderfully free country" and not to better any individual or one organization.

It behooves every citizen in Sanford and Seminole County to begin now a program of boosting a turnout for the next election on a bond issue to provide "local funds" for the construction of school buildings we need right here for our children.

Certainly all of us enjoy the freedom of choosing a curriculum for our children in cooperation with the boards of education from county to county. Little do we know what kind of regimentation children will face if federal aid to education becomes a reality—it is a situation which we must, in some way avoid, in order to continue the freedoms we now enjoy.

Much can be said about the proposed election for the bond issue in order to provide funds with which new schools can be constructed throughout the county. All of us felt the impact of the bond issue's failure in the election held on November 19—an impact that must not be repeated.

The recent observation of Veteran's Day, originally the occasion for celebrating the close of World War I, the "war to end wars," reminds us that what the world needs right now is a peace to end wars.

40,000 Die In Traffic Accidents Last Year

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (U.P.)—We Americans do things efficiently, including killing each other on the highway.

Last year, 40,000 of us were murdered in traffic accidents; thousands more were maimed; and property damage ran into the millions. This year, these record figures may be equaled, or even exceeded, with the aid of serious planning.

For far too long now, motorists have been haphazard in their manner of motoring mayhem. What is needed, if more lives are to be taken and more damage done, is more method in our madness. With this thought in mind, here are "four rules to die by over the Christmas—New Year's holiday."

These Rules Fool-Proof
They have been pre-tested and found fool-proof. If your year-end celebrating drags a little, try one, or several, of these suggestions. They will send you right out of this world.

1. Pay no attention to speed limits, especially if the weather is bad. Keep the accelerator down to the floorboard all the way to the morgue.

2. Toss down several double shots on the rocks before leaving that party. Go for dead with an alcohol and gasoline cocktail.

3. Start a long holiday drive when you are dog-tired. Drive steadily without stopping for coffee—breaks and rest along the way. Dose off behind the wheel. Have a big sleep.

4. Ride the bumper of the car in front of you, no matter how fast you both are going. Always pass on a curve, or at any other point where you can see no farther ahead than 10 yards. Visibility is bad, too, from six feet under. Self-Slaughtered Public.

Every word up to this point in this column was written by a publicity man. Here is where I take over. The man sent me the preceding eight paragraphs of eloquent periods, sermonizing semicolons, and righteous commas with the appended note that here was an "off-beat" idea for the holidays that might help halt public self-slaughter.

The man who wrote this is getting paid to publicize a product. Take a look back over his composition. See anything? No?

All right, look again at rule No. 2. The publicity man has succeeded. His job is to get the word "coffee" before the public. That's it, pure and simple. Sell coffee.

I like coffee very much. I drink three containers of it every morning out of our office vending machine, black, no sugar, no cream. And furthermore, I don't object if the man's eight paragraphs of safety preachment appear under my signature. I endorse every word. Let us not kill each other with stupidity on the highways.

But there is a nagging and disquieting voice in my makeup that keeps muttering, "what is the morality of our times?" I am not capable of answering. I believe morality means, in essence, "right conduct."

Think it over, including the man's inverted advice which, God help us, we all need. I believe the man is motivated by the highest motives, including the profit motive—and that his advice will do humanity some good this Christmas. Please be careful on the highways. And pour coffee all over yourself, if you want to.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

A BAKER'S DOZEN of players were involved in that talent transfer from the Detroit and Kansas City ball clubs. Don't know who got the best of the deal—unless it was the railroads.

Two youthful Paris ruggers fought a duel for the love of a beautiful girl. Not much of a story there—sounds like a pretty threadbare plot.

Because workers in a factory next door whistle at her, a lovely English housewife got a reduction in her real estate tax. That's a mighty handsome gesture!

A New Jersey firm offered a million-dollar batch of Confederate currency for $2.98. What a bargain—if someone would just invent a means of traveling backward in time!

Some Soviet composers employ ghost writers, the Moscow Literary Gazette charges. A shady deal, eh?

At that, ghost music might be interesting to hear—probably full of haunting refrains.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The United States apparently has completed another of its many "re-examinations of policy" toward President Tito of Yugoslavia.

As the result, it is expected that American aid to Yugoslavia will be continued on the ground that Tito is a political asset to this country in the cold war despite the fact that he is a Communist.

This latest "re-examination" was undertaken because of several developments which caused the policy makers in Washington to feel that Tito was getting too friendly with Soviet Russia.

The developments included Tito's recognition of the East German Communist puppet regime as a sovereign government and several votes in support of Russia in the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

Ambassador Vlado Tito United States Ambassador James W. Riddleberger visited Tito Friday at Bristol Island on the Adriatic Sea.

Riddleberger explained the reasons for Washington's misgivings. In reply, Tito assured Riddleberger that he intended to keep the independence of Russian domination which he won in 1946 at the risk of his career and even of his life.

There hardly seems to be any ground for surprise at Tito's answer. Two things about Tito and his policies seem to be pretty clear to anybody who reads the newspapers.

1. He has no intention of resuming the position he held in the Communist world before he rebelled at Soviet domination nine years ago.

2. He is a Communist. He has been a Communist since his youth.

It is necessary for any western government, in its relations with Yugoslavia, to decide whether Tito's independence of Russian domination outweighs the fact that he is a Communist.

The United States seems to have decided once more, as it has done so many times in the past, that Tito is an asset to the West.

Tito's recognition of East Germany was a blunder. West Germany had threatened to break relations with any country that recognized the puppet regime. Tito (though he could get away with it and was shocked when West Germany carried out its threat

As regards support of Russian policies in the U.S., Tito is a Communist for one thing. For another, if he antagonizes Russia too greatly, he will find himself in another fight with the Kremlin.

There was one new development in the latest American re-examination.

Tito is said to have told Ambassador Riddleberger that he was getting tired of being re-examined so often.

Dispatches from Belgrade say that Tito told Riddleberger that the re-examinations made the United States un dependable as a source of weapons and that he would seek them elsewhere in future.

This caused some surprise. Tito has been getting very little military aid for some time.

The first reaction to the report was that Tito might be threatening to seek arms from Russia. He might do that, of course. But later reports said he might seek them from other countries, including Great Britain, France and Sweden.

In any event, American economic aid to Yugoslavia is to continue.

Wally Harmon smiled. "You was lucky, Zeb. They eat up mine in less than four days!"

Paw Perkins warned the boys that the worst was yet to come. "Couple of potato bugs crawled onto my counter last night," he averred, "and looked over the books to see who had ordered seed for the next planting."

Bob and Dot Heid have been in town, I hear by the grapevine. Have been staying with former neighbors, Marion and Jim McNeill, while they visit with friends. Eddie and Jean Ross are braving the elements to drive to New England with their three children for the Christmas holidays. The Rosses depart next Monday. Jean is from Providence, R. I., and Eddie from Wakefield, Mass. Packages for home, anyone? Sure there will be room.

Jan Ready is expecting a houseful for the holidays. Her mother-in-law, and her two college girls will soon be arriving in an attempt to keep things gay.

Betty Smith of Little Venice has taken over Miss Letitia Caldwell's job with the Florida Visiting Service. If you know of any newcomers, call Betty and she will call on them.

The Chief's Wives Club has changed the date of their dinner with the husbands from Wednesday (today) until Friday, December 20. Place and time are still the same—the Villa Nova at 7:00 P. M. Reservations most emphatically must be made by December 16 with Marie Hipps, FA2-4052. Hurry, hurry, before the girls change their minds again!

The Rose Circle of the Garden Club always has something clever to offer for sale. Now it is buckskin utility gloves, washable, nailable and inexpensive. No gardener should do without them—or driver, walker and so forth and so on. The gloves may be obtained from May Lane at 310 Park Ave.

The annual all-music hour at the First Presbyterian Church will be presented next Sunday evening at 8:30 P. M. This is a beautiful candlelight service, designed to tell the Christmas story through anthems.

Louise Touhy, who is minister of music at the church, will direct the service. There will be 31 vocalists in the chancel choir. They have been rehearsing since September for the program—learning two special numbers each week.

Featured during the service will be Julie Anderson playing a Carol Fantasy and the Bach-Gounod Ave Marie on her violin. Bob Anderson, and his cello will join Julie and Louise for several numbers. That is, if he has had time to practice. Bob just returned from deployment with VAIFB and is particularly about his music, he may not do as much as the ladies expect.

Clark's Plumbing and Heating is in the lead by four games in the Mixed Bowling League after taking two last week from Harvey's Plumbing Co. Three members on Clark's team hit the 500 mark and two 200 games. Warren Donat had a 326 single and a 874 series which was high for the night and it gave him high series for the season. Lil Donat had a 208 single and a 537 series which was high for the women for the evening. Ernest White had a 518 series. The team topped its own handicap high team single of 942 with a 874 and had high team three of 2731. Harvey's is holding a tight second place with 21 games won and 18 lost. Jesse Cook hit two games of 194 and had a series of 534 which was fourth high series for the night. Harvey's holds second high team three of 2678. Hunt's is holding its own in third place with 20½ games won and 18½ lost, just one-half game behind Harvey's. Will Webber hit a 212 single and had second high series of 562. His total pin fall for 36 games is 6289 giving him a 174 average which is tops in the league.

1957 College Grid Attendance Survey Revealed

United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The greatest usage of college football tickets was registered in the East and the average attendance at games throughout the nation increased slightly in 1957.

These were among the findings today of a United Press survey on how football fared during the season just finished at 121 colleges in every section of the country. The Midwest, as usual, had the greatest total attendance and Michigan and Ohio State were the leading schools.

The total attendance at all games declined 0.16 per cent from 18,945,222 in 1956 to 18,911,200 this year.

But this was merely a "mirage" loss, because the same schools played five less games this year than last year—260 against 265. On the "true" measure of average attendance per game, the figures showed an increase of .007 per cent—from 23,853 last year to 24,019 this year. Five more games at the same average would have boosted the total for 1957 to 14,081,200.

Geographical Breakdown Breaking the nation into seven geographical sections, the survey finds three areas with an increase and four with a decrease. The three "up" areas were enough to put the national average on the plus side.

The East showed the greatest increase, 6.64 per cent, while the Pacific coast was up 3.23 per cent and the South 2.06 per cent. On the minus side, the Midwest was off 3.26 per cent, the Southwest 4.50 per cent, the Rockies 6.31 per cent, and the Midlands off 6.85 per cent.

But the Midwest again chalked up the greatest total, 3,427,286 fans with the South closest at 3,285,337. Michigan was the pace-setter with 84,105 fans for each of six home games and Ohio State was next with 80,086.

Sectional highlights of the survey included:

East—Average up from 16,203 to 17,415 for total of 2,229,039. Big gainers: Army more games, plus Notre Dame and Navy as "home" games in Philadelphia and Princeton's Ivy League shamps. Big losers: Navy wasn't Army game host, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Yale.

South—Average up from 21,822 to 22,272. Big Gainers: Perfect Auburn, Louisiana State. Big losers: due to less games—Florida, Miami, Georgia.

Midwest—Average down from 27,882 to 26,854 but nine schools averaged over 40,000 per game. Big loser—Illinois, off 11,000 per game.

Midlands—Average down from 25,328 to 23,017. Big gainer: Oklahoma one more game. Big loser: Tulsa, off 43,000 in the same number of games.

Southwest—Average down from 33,708 to 32,192. Big gainer: champion Rice, up 33,000. Big loser: SMU off 100,000 in same number of games.

Midwest—Average down from 11,839 to 11,594. Big gainer: Utah one more game. Big loser but still leader: Colorado, off 23,000.

Pacific Coast—Average up from 24,653 to 25,816. Big gainer: Oregon more than doubled, Washington. Big loser: Arizona, off 21,000.

A field of 21 amateurs fought brisk winds and cool weather at the beautiful Mayfair Inn course yesterday in an effort to land one of the eight available spots in the field of 121 positions in the third Annual Mayfair Inn Open. Although all of the hopefuls were unable to come in under par score very impressive scores were recorded.

3 Teams Deadlock In Final Week

By HARRY WISNER

Written for the United Press NEW YORK (AP)—The Western half of the National Football League is providing the professionals with the most exciting finish in many a year. Three teams deadlocked going into the final week of the regular season provide the football world with action galore, and help keep those turnstiles rolling at a merry clip.

The 49ers, Colts and Lions, all have to knock off the opposition to stay in first place, unless all three are defeated, and that isn't at all likely. San Francisco, on paper has the best chance of trimming the opposition, the Green Bay Packers; the Lions face the formidable Chicago Bears in Wrigley Field, and Baltimore has to take on the high scoring Rams at Los Angeles, both rugged. But, we think they'll all make it and go into that three play off for the right to face the Cleveland Browns in the championship game.

The New York Giants are probably football's most mortified bunch of players today. If they hadn't fallen from grace in the mud at Pittsburgh, they'd still have a chance for the Eastern honors. Detroit set that; up by beating the Browns Sunday. New York now joins the Bears as the two real disappointments of the pro season.

The Lions are fortunate that they have two fine quarterbacks. They suffered a serious loss when Bobby Layne broke his ankle Sunday, but Tobin Rote can be counted upon to do a good job against the Bears.

No matter what happens next week the pros have had a tremendously successful season at the gate.

Has Great Season

The Rams will play to more than a million people for 18 games at home and away, including exhibitions. That's as many as most baseball clubs attract in a home schedule of 77 games. The Lions played to six millions, and the 49ers will match that figure next week. The Colts have had five sell-outs in six games and set a new record for Baltimore.

33,708 to 32,192. Big gainer: champion Rice, up 33,000. Big loser: SMU off 100,000 in same number of games.

Midwest—Average down from 11,839 to 11,594. Big gainer: Utah one more game. Big loser but still leader: Colorado, off 23,000.

Pacific Coast—Average up from 24,653 to 25,816. Big gainer: Oregon more than doubled, Washington. Big loser: Arizona, off 21,000.

V. Brown Wants To Be Actress Not Oddity

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Vanessa Brown, only actress-genius in television, is refusing offers to appear on big money quiz shows because "I want to be an actress, not an oddity."

A radio Quiz Kid when she was only 14, Vanessa would be a pip of a contestant for the skull-bustlers, but she's too shy to appear.

"The $64,000 Challenge" wanted me to choose any category and to challenge any of their past contestants," Vanessa said in her quiet little voice. "It was flattering, but I turned it down—mostly because I'm shy, I guess."

"Besides, I couldn't decide which category would be best. Then I realized I didn't know enough about any single subject. My friends tried to talk me into studying up on Sherlock Holmes, but it would have taken too much time."

Refused "The Tac-Dough" — "Them 'tic-tac-dough' asked me to try for the jackpot. I refused that also."

With an IQ of 169 Vanessa is some 60 points smarter than the average citizen. Nobody knows how much brighter than the average actress. She admits her mind is photographic. That the rest of her is photogenic is just so much lily-gilding.

"I read slowly and have almost total recall," Vanessa said during a rehearsal break. "But it is hard work and takes time."

"To appear on a quiz show a person must be genuinely interested in a particular subject. There's no trick to it at all. It's a matter of collecting and saving facts—like some people collect money."

"Personally, I don't find quiz shows very interesting. I seldom watch them."

Stars in "Climax" — Vanessa proves brains and beauty can be combined in one shapely package Thursday night when she stars on CBS-TV's "Climax." Though she has a slight Austrian accent, she plays a Southern belle in the adventure drama.

Two years ago Vanessa made herself known to televisioners in "My Favorite Husband." When that folded she hit the free lance trail.

"People ask if having a reputation for being a 'brain' is detrimental to my career," she chuckled. "I can only say that I don't think it has cost me any roles. Acting is more emotion and feeling than intelligence."

Vanessa does her best to conceal the fact that she's a smart cookie, but the sparkle in her blue eyes and her quick reactions to situations combine disconcertingly to get that 169 IQ message across.

P. O. Windows Will Be Open 8 a.m.—6 p.m.

Beginning Thursday, Dec. 12, the Sanford Post Office windows will be open at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. each weekday including Wednesdays and Saturdays until Dec. 24, according to Postmaster Joel Field.

After Christmas, starting on Dec. 26, he said, the Sanford Post Office will go back to the regular schedule of opening at 8:30 a. m. and closing at 5 p. m. except on Wednesdays and Saturdays when the windows will open at 8:30 a. m. and close at 12 noon.

Postmaster Joel Field today outlines ten basic pointers for users of the mails to follow in order to assure prompt and safe delivery of their Christmas cards and gifts this year:

1. Address mail fully and clearly. Write legibly or print plainly and always use zone numbers in the address and return address. Avoid abbreviations since this may lead to confusion.
2. Use the 3-cent letter rate on cards and letters. Be certain a re-per left hand corner of both Christmas cards and parcels. This will prevent any undelivered mail ending up in a dead letter office.
3. Do not enclose coins or hard objects of any kind in letters. Cancelling machines cannot process such letters and often damage the letter and contents.
4. Do not mail money in Christmas gifts or letters. For safety's sake, use postal money orders or checks.
5. Separate your letters to "local" and "out-of-town." This will speed all the mail and relieve much of congestion in post offices.
6. Make certain that parcels are well packed and securely wrapped in strong containers. Cushioning material, such as excelsior, shredded newspapers or tissue paper should be evenly and firmly placed on all sides of the Christmas gifts. The carton should be wrapped in heavy paper and securely tied with strong twine.
7. Gifts of a delicate nature, such as glass, china, electrical appliances, radios and musical instruments, must be marked "Fragile" by the mailer. Food stuffs should be marked "Perishable" if subject to spoilage.
8. Insure parcels. Register letters of real value. Where only proof of delivery is required for letters of no intrinsic value use Certified Mail. Use Combination Mail where a letter or message—

Old Eisenhower Church Is Sold

NAVARRA, Kan. (UP)—Robert Moyer, 28-year-old Junction City man, has a load of lumber, aged and weathered but possessing some prestige.

Moyer, an appliance store employee, recently purchased a 64-year-old country church where Dwight D. Eisenhower and his family once worshipped.

Moyer bought the two-story church at an auction near here for $1,020. It stood beside a cemetery where President Eisenhower's brother, grandmother and grandfather and great-grandfather are buried.

Young Ike became acquainted with the church when his parents moved from Texas to Abilene, Kan., about 25 miles southeast of here. The older generation of Eisenhowers already had settled a few miles north of the old Belle Springs church.

Memorial Planned — Moyer said he bought the church lumber to build a home for his parents, but he's discovered he'll have enough to build three houses. Nearly 200 persons attended the auction, snapping up various items.

A bread slicer as old as the church sold for $5. A large Bible printed in German was purchased for $4.50. Dishes and cutlery dating back to the 19th century went for a few cents. And the church pews sold for $1.20 each.

The church was built by the Rev. James H. Christ and was abandoned in 1944. The building and furnishings brought $1,477—about one-third of the original cost of the structure. The money is earmarked for a memorial in South Africa in honor of Jess Engle, founder of the denomination's missionary work there and former pastor at Belle Springs.

Agents Inspect Frozen Farming, Citrus Areas In Florida

LAKELAND (UP) — Freezing temperatures lead most of Florida today, causing concern that three of the state's big cash crops—citrus, vegetables and tourists—may have been damaged.

Agricultural agents started their inspections of farming and citrus crops after dawn when the mercury was in the 30's in most of the state and in the low 20's in the extreme south portion.

Early indications were that and saved most of the tender winds over the southern tip of the tourist-filled peninsula may have staved off the hard freeze and saved most of the tender citrus crops south of Miami. However, there were reports of some cold wind damage to pole beans and tomatoes in the rich farm belt around Homestead where farmers have $30,000,000 invested in winter truck crops. The mercury dipped to 20 in the coldest places in this area.

Initial reports from the Frost

Warning Service at Lakeland indicated "possible serious damage" to vegetables in Central Florida and "possibly some damage" to unprotected citrus in low-lying sections of the orange-grapefruit belt. Some of the state's $300,000,000 citrus crop was kept heated by smudge pots. Citrus on high ground was believed hurt little if any.

Hotelmen and travel agencies shared the concern with farmers as reports of Florida's "freeze" drifted northward. Luxury hotels had to resort to heating to keep their guests warm. Some tourists fled the South Florida Gold Coast for the Bahamas where Nassau reported a "warm 39" this morning.

The Weather Bureau said some low ground areas in the northern part of the "sunshine state" dipped below the 20-degree mark. The only spot in the state to escape the severe cold was Key West which had a 50.

Ocala had a low of 21. Other lows around the state included Lakeland 22, Tallahassee and Cross City 23, Jacksonville and Daytona Beach 24, Orlando 25, Sarasota 26, Tampa 27, West Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale, 31, and Clearwater 32.

It was 34 degrees in downtown Miami and 35 on the abandoned beaches of Miami Beach. Miami suburbs reported "unofficial lows" of 28. One resident called the Weather Bureau to report "there is ice in my bird bath."

Tampa's 27 equalled the lowest reading ever recorded on this date 23 years ago. It went to 22 in the suburbs of Tampa.

A report from Plant City east of Tampa indicated that the entire winter vegetable crop was lost there and that the strawberry crop was seriously damaged. Elmer Futch, manager of the Plant City Growers Assn., said the "22 degrees in our rural areas has seriously hurt the farmers." The readings in Plant City remained below 30 degrees for six hours after midnight.

At the popular tourist attraction of Cypress Gardens in Central Florida, 650 "California-made" all heaters were used to protect the tropical plants, many of them in full bloom. A report said some of the flowers on the edges of the attraction were killed by the freeze.

Broward County (Fort Lauderdale) closed school for today because of lack of sufficient heating equipment. Parochial schools also closed in that county.

The Weather Bureau forecast that it would be "much colder in the north and central part of the state" tonight with a gradual warming up for the next few days.

Weather
Fair and cold today, high 30 to 32. Fair, cold again tonight with frost, low 20 to 25.

Governor Main Speaker At Farmers' Market Dedication Tomorrow

The dedication of the Sanford State Farmers' Market will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with Governor LeRoy Collins as the principal speaker for the event. The Sanford State Farmers' Market was completed at a cost of just over a quarter-million dollars. However, the overall cost of the entire installation, including paving and other necessary construction, will be possibly nearer a half-million dollars.

GOVERNOR LEROY COLLINS will speak at the formal opening of the Sanford State Farmers' Market tomorrow afternoon.

The formal opening ceremonies were announced by Leo Butner, manager of the Sanford State Farmers' Market.

Slated to emcee the formal opening event is Brailley Odham.

Others on the program tomorrow afternoon are the Rev. W. P. Brooks Jr., who will offer the invocation; a welcome address by Mayor David Gatchel; Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo; Commissioner of the State Marketing Bureau Neil Rhodes; State Senator Douglas Stenstrom; and L. H. Lewis, director of Florida State Farmers' Markets.

Other state officials planning to be in Sanford for the official opening event are Thomas D. Bailey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; J. Edwin Larson, State Treasurer; Ray E. Green, State Comptroller; R. A. Gray, Secretary of State; Richard W. Ervin, Attorney General; Lee Thompson, Chief Auditor for the Department of Agriculture; Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr.; and Representative Gordon V. Frederick.

Already opened for operation, the huge two-story steel and concrete building has been readied for dedication ceremonies tomorrow. Manager Leo Butner said recently that all stalls on the market platform have been rented and "we could have used more."

The original market, built in Sanford as an experiment, was a wood frame building. It was destroyed by fire on April 4, with damage estimated at near $3 million.

The new market has 22 stalls, each containing 2,000 square feet of space with a separate entrance for each on both platforms. Each stall also is provided with an office located on the mezzanine floor reached by a spiral steel staircase.

Electric and water outlets are provided in each stall and ice water is provided at convenient locations throughout the market area.

Offices for the management and related services are provided in a second floor suite on the east end of the building. The lower floor has facilities for a barber shop and restrooms.

A 120 foot paved parking facility has also been provided for the maneuvering and parking of trucks plying into the area for loading.

In addition to the main market facilities, already planned for the new market are a filling station and restaurant.

A new squadron will move into Sanford to make its permanent station at the Sanford Naval Air Station on Jan. 1, 1938, according to an announcement this morning from Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong from Washington.

Congressman Herlong said that the Navy is shifting the permanent duty station of Heavy Attack Squadron Three from the Jacksonville Naval Air Station to the Sanford base effective Jan. 1.

Herlong was advised by the Navy that the transfer is being made in order for the squadron to have the advantage of the heavy training facilities at the Sanford base, as well as to remove it from the heavily concentrated industrial area in Jacksonville.

The squadron complement will include 38 officers and 272 enlisted men.

Because the unit will be permanently stationed at Sanford, said Congressman Herlong in his release to The Sanford Herald this morning, authorization will be issued to personnel who have families to transfer their dependents to the Sanford Area.

Equipment of the squadron consists of 12 large aircraft of the carrier-based type.

Heavy Attack Squadron Three is commanded by Cdr. Clarence F. Frossard and the Executive Officer is Cdr. Jack S. Hall.

Extensive plans have been made to bring the additional squadron to the Sanford Naval Air Station where it will be a squadron of Heavy Attack Wing One. The squadron, in Jacksonville and the Naval Air Station there, was a HAWTAWING 1 unit under the command of Captain J. R. Reedy.

Trucks Involved In Wreck; Two Men Are Hospitalized

Two men were hospitalized yesterday as a result of a truck accident at the intersection of Geneva and Beardall Avenues.

Palmar L. Morris, 44-year-old commercial fisherman of Geneva, driving a 1937 pickup truck smashed into the rear of a dump truck driven by Walter Womble, 20-year-old truck driver for Langston Construction Co.

Womble was attempting a left turn into a filling station at the intersection when the truck rammed him from the rear. Trucks dug into the roadbed and skidded about 30 feet before coming to a stop.

A passenger in the pickup truck, Lewis C. Henderson, 65, of Geneva, was thrown from the cab of the truck. He is in the local hospital suffering from a brain concussion and possible fractured skull.

The smashup occurred at 3:10 yesterday afternoon two miles east of Sanford on State Road 46 which is under construction.

Florida Highway Patrolman James L. Sikes investigated the accident. Patrolman Sikes said Morris will be charged with "driving while intoxicated."

Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans assisted in the investigation.

Little damage was reported to the dump truck. However, the pickup truck was a total loss.

Temperature Drops To 20 In Sanford

Ice predominated in Sanford this morning with automobiles "frozen up" and home water pipes filled with ice from the below freezing temperatures existing in this area.

Temperatures dropped to 20 on the Westside and to 23 on the Eastside at the coldest point this morning.

Streets, where water gathered in gutters from yesterday's rains, sported sheets of ice and whets. Sprinklers were left on overnight there were ice formations that would dazzle the first viewer.

Sandy Anderson, Asst. Manager at the Sanford State Farmers' Market, this morning said that "All tender leaf crops were severely damaged and in some Seminole County areas were completely wiped out."

He said this morning that "it looks like from 50 to 100 percent damage to all crops in this area."

"I heard that you could kick a head of cabbage from one end of the field to the other," said Sandy Anderson as he reported cold damage in the Sanford Seminole County area.

Sandy Anderson commented that he was unable to determine the cold damage to hardy crops which include cabbage, celery and onions for three or four days. "It rests on what kind of weather we have tonight and tomorrow," he said.

Golfers Brave Cold Weather As Tourney Enters 2nd Day

The third Annual Mayfair Inn Open Swings into its second day of action tomorrow morning with more cold weather expected. Today's action was hindered by the cold weather that swept over the entire state but not to be denied by old man weather, the "Glamor Boys of Golf" went out to vie for top money in the $15,000 event.

Among the early risers this morning was Sanford's own Jim Spencer, who was paired with George Preisinger of Des Moines, Iowa. Jim has long been a stand-out in the golfing picture here in Sanford as well as being closely associated with Horace Stoneham and the staff of the San Francisco Giants. Jim and George hit the fairways at the early hour of 7:07 a. m.

With the finest field to be seen on any golf course, tomorrow's action should give some indication of who will be around on the final day. With cold weather it is very hard to say just who will come out on top. The weatherman has promised warmer weather by the weekend so Saturday's and Sunday's action should bring out larger galleries. It is expected that such names as Dow Fritterwald, Ted Kroll, Al Besslink, Frank Stranahan, Mike Souchak, and Porky Oliver will be at the top of the scoreboard come Sunday.

Action is scheduled to get underway at 7 a. m. in the morning with the following threesomes in order:

7:00 Ted Graygor, Lou Palladino, Jon Gustin
7:07 Fred Francis, Randy Quick, Bill Zysaitra
7:14 Chris Giers, Orville Parsons, E. B. Smith
7:21 Bob Goodman, Hugh Moore, Bill Wright

Bordens Goes Before Milk Commission Today

TALLAHASSEE (UP) — Representatives of the big Bordens dairy firm went before the State Milk Commission today under threat of losing their license to operate plants in Tampa, Orlando and Pensacola.

The Milk Commission at its last meeting in November ordered the company to repay $48,284 allegedly owed milk producers in the three areas, or face license revocation for the plants at the commission meeting today.

The company was ordered to show cause at today's meeting why its license should not be revoked.

Bordens attorneys tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to get a last minute injunction to avoid revocation of the licenses until the case could be argued in court. Circuit Judge Ben Willis refused to enjoin the Milk Commission from ordering the licenses revoked, but left the way open for a legal test of any such action by the commission.

Judge Willis said it would be premature for the court to "pre-empt" the commission "under the license revoked."

Wallace Fields of Tampa, attorney for Bordens, had contended the show cause order the commission sent the dairy firm was in effect a declaration that the licenses would be revoked if the producers are not paid the money the commission contends is owed them, regardless of whether Bordens feels the money is owed them.

The commission contended the Tampa, Orlando and Pensacola Bordens plants purchased milk from producers out of the respective areas for premium prices for sale within the areas, and at the same time paid local farmers class two prices for some of their milk.

The commission wants the company to make up the difference to farmers in the three areas.

Judge Willis said he did not interpret the commission show cause order as a flat assertion that the licenses would be revoked. He said the order amounted merely to a notice that if the money was not paid, the commission would hold a hearing to consider revocation of the license.

Bordens attorneys feared that if the licenses were revoked, they would have to wait three days under the law to bring a suit challenging the action and in the meantime would be operating without a license. But commission
