

Barrier Of $$, Dinginess Hampers N. Y. Apartment Hunters

By Alma Moeb
NEW YORK (UPI) — As a former resident of a new apartment — hunting in New York, I've found there's a kind of barrier of dollars and a dinginess.

"Two charming rooms near Philharmonic Hall, garden, 1160' read the advertisement for apartments for rent."

It turned out to be off near Broadway. The living room had one small window four inches from a brick wall. The kitchen was in the hall. Off the bedroom was the "garden" — a heap of soil and rubble with dark, cabbages of sky-scrapers behind.

"The garden needs a little work," said the landlord while the most drifted down.

Looking for a place to live in the "jungle" of New York is tougher in many ways than in Moscow and Paris. My last two homes before returning to the United States after eight years had to be built for the first time in New York.

In Moscow you simply live in the "ghetto" where the Soviet government forces in foreign cities. In old-fashioned Paris who cares if you pay $100 for a tiny flat when you have a view of Notre Dame cathedral and fabulous food in the kitchen?

But this is supposed to be America with the world's highest standards.

Most apartments on the Seamy West Side, I discovered, have iron bars on the doors and windows, a bit unbecoming.

I looked on the fashionable East Side where the models in those Ladies' Home Journal stories always live. But why are most of the available apartments on East 83rd street? Because, a departing tenant revealed, that is "Burglar's Row." Apartments are work because the old brownstone buildings have easy entries.

Another day a tenant said she would show her $175 one-bedroom East Side flat beginning at 6:30 p.m. to women only because "there's no door man in this building and I'm afraid to let in a man."

At 6:30 about 20 of us prospects rumbled up four flights of stairs (no elevator) to the apartment, many shouting "Will take it!" even though they hadn't even seen the place. The tenant apologized that the building owner's son had dropped in at 6:00 p.m. and rented the apartment.

Since burglars seem to be as busy on the East Side as the less expensive West, I gave up the East Side. I also abandoned the dream of a garden when I noticed that pairs of one $225 East Side flat littered with sacks of garbage slung down by neighbors. A beaver was piling up around the garden door and the pale pink bedroom carpet had a black stripe from footprints. The tenant confessed that she might she came home to see a burglar skipping out of her quaint garden door with her television set.

A $140 studio with fireplace in picturesque Greenwich Village was charming but the fellow moving out wanted to sell a couple of tables for $500. The same size studio was $155 at Little further up.

"You see, there's a tree out in front," explained the rental agent.

Some friends of mine, a family of five who just moved to New York from California, had to pay a whopping $500 to live in a Victorian era apartment on the East Side.

It was sort of a blow when

California friends dropped in to examine the aged kitchen and check. "Well, when you get a raise you can afford something better."

New York unfurnished apartments at least come with stove and refrigerator. You get neither in Paris, and most unfurnished flats there also don't have kitchen or bath room cupboards or closets or light fixtures. You install your own.

But in Paris a garden is a garden and a terrace is a terrace.

One ad here said, $165. Entire floor in brownstone, two fireplaces, terrace, a view of Greenwich Village." The apartment was far past the colorful Village area, with a school on one side and a factory on the other. Up two flights of creaky stairs past a naked light bulb were the two narrow rooms, one containing a kitchenette-bar made out of roof shingles. The "terrace" was two plaques on the fire escape overlooking some garbage cans.

My latest try was a West Side studio, remodeled brownstone, terrace, near the Museum of Natural History, as the ad said, the one room had a "fullman" kitchen on one wall. The remodeler, naturally, had plastered over a four foot square black-topped roof outside the window. "Oh, that's 'Needle Park' where the dope addicts gather to get their daily fix," the corner newsboy explained.

"Climb through the window," said the terrace.

At least the terrace overlooked a tree. I wearily said I'd take it. But I haven't moved in.

At the end of the block is a little park where later I saw a lot of fellows looking around. One blond boy staggered by, slinging to himself.

"Oh, that's 'Needle Park' where the dope addicts gather to get their daily fix," the corner newsboy explained.

N. Orlando Eyes Tax Hike

By Barry Law
The Village of North Orlando Monday night swore in its first elected mayor and immediately plunged the trio into a move to increase taxes in the community.

A special session of the council has been called for next Monday night to discuss the feasibility of raising utility taxes, as well as paving the way for the levying of a property tax as authorized by the village charter.

Councilman Jay Wetzel proposed village attorney Orville Johnson prepare "whatever is needed" to increase the utility tax to the full 10 per cent allowable. His motion, passed 3-2 on a roll call vote, called for Johnson to prepare an amendment to the tax ordinance and have it ready for a first reading at the May council session.

Newly sworn councilman Enrighton H. Trivette and Charles E. Rowell voted against the motion on roll call, with the other new councilman, Charles McIninch, and Mayor Lloyd T. Brown voting for the motion. Mayor Brown said "I don't know what a vote."

Brown's proposal a property tax be levied met with a slight objection from the village attorney, who felt such a move should be approved by the county board of commissioners.

The county agreed to participate in the paving of three-fourth mile of Winter Park Drive because it provides the need for a tax hike, including raising of funds to construct the proposed municipal building.

APPROVED spending up to $450 for fill needed to repair Shore Road and Alton Road.

Sanford Plaza Purchased

Sanford Plaza was sold at a public sale at the court house today for $1,253,000.

The buyers were a group of New York and Miami investors represented by William Sullivan and Henry Dowd, trustees of Chase Manhattan Bank also of New York, were the only bidders.

Chase Manhattan representatives opened the bidding at $1,252,664.44 and Sullivan-Dowd made the winning offer.

Sullivan offered a check for $200,000 at the close of the bidding and was to present a cashier's check for the remainder of the amount within the hour.

"We have great confidence in this area and in this shopping center," Dowd said following the sale.

He said the purchase would be held in escrow for about 10 days for final confirmation before the group of investors would proceed with plans for the shopping center.

The sale was the result of litigation. Chase Manhattan was the holder of the mortgage on the plaza.

Altamonte Eyes Dry Reservoir

By Donna Estes
Report will be heard from Altamonte Springs engineers, Glace Engineering Company, on their survey concerning the town's water emergency at Wednesday's 8 p.m. meeting of the town council.

A problem developed in the water system over the weekend when the town's reservoir went dry while all three wells and pressure pumps were working at full capacity.

Mayor W. Lawrence Snowford points out a larger pump may solve the problem temporarily but with 10 more weeks of dry weather in sight, residents may be requested to curtail use of water for lawn sprinkling.

The town filed application for federal grants and loans for extension of the water system and construction of a sanitary sewerage system March 17 but approval has not been received as yet.

Plans for the new facilities are expected to be completed and construction to begin in less than six months.

It is expected the engineers will recommend a stopgap plan for extension of the water system until new facilities are built.

In other business Wednesday night, it is expected the resignation of Councilman Colin Crews recently received by the town will be accepted and that the mayor will appoint a replacement.

County Tax Receipts Go Over $3 Million

County collections on real and personal property in Seminole County today were reported at $3,024,193 through two months on the final day of the shopping center.

Tax Collector Troy Ray said later postings would reduce the amount of delinquent taxes slightly.

"The collection picture actually has improved slightly over 1965," Ray said.

The amount delinquent as of the last accounting was $28,701.17, Ray said.

He said this amount is in line with last year as there has been an increase in the millage since the last collection period.

A total of $3,024,193 is listed on Seminole County tax rolls.

Taxes not paid by March 31 will be advertised as delinquent at an early date and will be subject to penalty.

The Jaycees are known for their active participation in community affairs and feel the spiritual life of the community must be included in its development. To promote this spirit and to develop the Jaycees, together with the First Baptist Church, are sponsoring this prayer breakfast, and inviting the public to attend and take part in the service during this, the most important week on the Christian calendar.

Canal District Plans Meeting

A meeting of the St. Johns Indian River Canal District will be held at the Skyline Restaurant in New Smyrna Beach Wednesday, Chairman John Krider said today.

Krider said the business luncheon will be held to review progress on the canal project, discuss plans for the stage and discuss development of the canal.

The proposed canal will start on the St. Johns River near Sanford and connect with the Indian River near the Volusia-Brevard County line.

Wednesday's luncheon will be sponsored by S. O. Shinnoh, a canal director from Volusia County.

Compromise Plan On Railroad Signal

The controversial signal of the railroad along East 25th Street, which the city commission has sought to have removed, will remain where it is if a compromise plan is accepted.

City Manager W. E. Peter Knoules said at the site this morning with representatives of Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and the State Road Department to discuss redesigning the crossing.

The city commission had requested the signal in the middle of the street be removed by either making the center warning light one of overhead suspension and removing the poles, or doing away with the poles.

The meeting today was an attempt to reach a compromise plan to remove the traffic hazard the city feels the center signal causes.

The plan offered by the SRD representatives is to install a 100-foot traffic island on either side of the signal, which will be properly reflectorized. Work will begin until the SRD receives a letter from the city commission accepting the plan.

Knoules said he will recommend at next Monday's council meeting that the city accept the plan.

Biggest objection to the center signal poles is that they are too difficult to see, due to lights of oncoming traffic, sun, and other signal lights behind them.

Meeting with Knoules this morning were R. M. Rosenblatt, A.C.L. signal superintendent from Jacksonville; P. N. Pappas, SRD assistant district engineer; Leroy Anderson, local A.C.L. superintendent; R. Chapman, SRD district utility engineer; and L. E. Bates of the SRD.

Marshal Probes 2 Fires

Deputy State Fire Marshal William McPherson today planned to investigate the possibility of arson in the fire in Sanford Saturday night.

An unoccupied dwelling at 212 Chase Avenue was burned in one of the fires. The same house was the scene of the fatal burning of Joseph Kaugst last September 19.

Fire Chief George M. Harritt said it appeared the fire was deliberately set. He said the house was burned to the point of being a public hazard.

In the other Saturday night blaze, a dwelling and garage on Onora Road near U. S. 1702 was damaged by a fire.

John Goerss, son of Rev. Herbert and Miss Goerss, 218 Ridge Drive, made the dean's honor list for the winter term at Concordia College in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Olefin school principal Richard Schuler, 404 S. 21st St., was in a water tank the other day and was rescued by his father, Fred Schuler, 404 S. 21st St. The father gave needed oxygen to his son by reversing the action on a vacuum cleaner.

Angel's Auto Sandblasted

John G. Angel, principal of South Seminole Junior High School, was in Cocoa Monday morning when he learned his 1955 Buick was being sandblasted at Clearwater Junior High School.

The teacher lifted the roof of the school gymnasium and some of the classrooms. Angel said he was sandblasted by a new fastback Volkswagens, the windows blown out and the interior soaked by the torrential rains. There were no injuries reported at the school.

Tom McDonald Campaign Stickers

Tom McDonald campaign stickers are really blooming out these days. Tom, who is leader than a beaver in a toothpick factory.

There is a campaign under way to get the Atlantic Coast Line to remove crossing signals from the middle of East 25th Street where it recently was widened. Some motorists claim the signals can't be seen very well at night. There has been one accident there already.

The auto tag you buy this year will be good for 13 months. Tax Collector Troy Ray says 1966 tags can be displayed until May 20, 1967.

Vehicle license tags range in price from $8.18 for antique automobiles to $86.72 for a 65-foot public bus. Tax for "grants" also cost $8.18. A post is one of those big flat bed trucks used in the citrus groves.

Flower Show Added To Concert Tonight

The beauty of music and the beauty of flowers will be mutually enhanced at the Sanford Civic Center tonight as the presentation of the Florida Symphony Orchestra is combined with an interpretive flower show by the Inca Garden Club.

Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. to allow visitors to examine the flower arrangements at their leisure, before the concert begins at 8 p.m.

The compositions of Gerhart and Strauss will vie with the "winning" music of the Florida Symphony's pop concert, conducted by Henry Marr.

In addition to the orchestral offerings, concertgoers will hear "The Nocturnes," a barbershop quartet; Virginia Davidson and Ann Blazo, singers; and The Flappers, dancing the Charleston.

The flower arrangements will be based on such songs as "Ani's Song," "Penny's from Heaven" and others. The unique show is an extra bonus which will be in place for the benefit of flower show judges.

University of Florida alumni in Seminole county contributed $902 to the university's loyalty fund last year. There were 47 contributors. The university's fund drive opened last Friday with a total of $174,000.

Car Tag Sales Show Increase

Vehicle license sales are far ahead of last year in Seminole County. Tax Collector Troy Ray said today.

So far 15,718 tags have been sold compared to 12,547 during a comparable period a year ago. This is an increase of 3,161.

Ray attributed a large share of the increase to coming from South Seminole residents who had bought tags in Orange County in the past. Tax sales at the courthouse, however, were also ahead of last year.

Countdown sales for this year have totaled 11,819 compared to 10,794 last year for an increase of 1,025.

Sales at the branch office in Sanford last year were 2,293 compared to 1,900 for an increase of 393.

Deadline for purchasing auto tags is midnight April 20. New tags must be displayed on all vehicles on April 21.

High IQ, Likes Cheese

That nasty question—"Are you a man or a mouse?" may not have too much point any more. It begins to appear that mice are a lot like people. Or is it vice-versa?

Anyway, studies at the University of California reveal that, when given a choice between running around in different kinds of wheels, mice chose the one offering the most challenge.

Specifically, they preferred a round wheel that had hurdles spaced inside it. Next to that, they liked a square wheel which required that they jump skillfully across the corners as it spun around.

Apparently the mice used the wheels for something more than just exercise.

The researchers also detected a streak of obstinacy in the animals. When a wheel was rigged with levers which the mice could depress to stop or start the wheel, it was found that when the wheel was started by a human the mice would immediately stop it.

But when a mouse had started the wheel itself and a human stopped it, the mouse would promptly start it back up again.

Evidently, mice are not as "mousey" as some people are.

Thought For Today

But if any one has the world's goods and sees his brother in need, yet closes his heart against him, how does God's love abide in him? —1 John 3:17.

The vocation of every man and woman is to serve other people.—Count Leo Tolstoy, Russian novelist and social reformer.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Helon asks some logical questions to study this medical case. For patients are new making slaves out of physicians and the new Medicare legislation is doing increase this hysteria for pills in England the doctors have little time except to write prescriptions for tranquilizers! That disgraceful state medicine!

CASE V.400: Helon G. aged 42, is the sister of Edward, who had begun to dope himself heavily with sleeping pills.

"Dr. Crane," she added, "why do millions of Americans rely on sleeping pills?"

"And why do doctors often prescribe them, if they are not needed by the patients?"

The night before a surgical operation, patients are doped to sleep. This hospital procedure is based on two premises:

(1) A dopey patient will not fret or worry as much about the operation next day.

(2) So he (or she) will not pester the nurses a dozen times during the night.

Indeed, some stupid mothers even give tranquilizers to their toddlers just to put them to sleep faster so the mothers will not be bothered by the children.

"But, Dr. Crane," you may protest, "are you merely a faith healer instead of a bona fide physician?"

No, I am a reputable M.D., and a member of our American Medical Association.

But I can tell you facts that the doctor doesn't want for his diagnosis, but abruptly request sleeping pills.

Or they will run to the doctor for a shot of penicillin for their flu.

Actually, millions of patients have received flu shots of penicillin when we doctors admit that penicillin does not affect the flu virus.

So why do the doctors then give such useless flu shots?

Well, what do you think would happen if the doctor refused to give such a patient a shot of penicillin?

"This doctor doesn't know his business!" is the reaction of such a patient.

So he grumbles and consults another medic.

For patients demand "medical magic" meaning tangible like shots from a hypodermic needle, or pills and liquid medicines!

You readers are thus guilty of acting like sheep and forcing modern physicians to act as milker cows (and needless medication, just to placate you).

One of our leading medical experts told my medical class at Northwestern University: "Gentlemen, 85 per cent of your patients will get well in spite of what you doctors do for them!"

That is a truism in modern medicine.

Unless you have a brain tumor, or stoppage of the intake or outlets of the human machine, or a hormone deficiency as in diabetes or organic heart trouble, medical medicine will usually suffice.

For God will handle those 85 per cent of cases without drugs!

"We Are Making Great Strides!"

Dick West's The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—To see what was amiss. There I encountered a small figure in a blue cape and mask, staging a protest demonstration.

"Holy interruption of my favorite program," he wailed. "Or words to that effect."

"They've knocked Batman off the air!"

It was then that I learned that that dynamic duo, Neil Armstrong and David Scott, were having trouble with their Gemini 8 spacecraft.

The real life drama unfolding in space was, of course, far more gripping than any television show. But it was difficult to follow under the circumstances.

The American Broadcasting Co. kept switching back and forth between Houston and Godham City. Each time it jumped from the Bat cave to the space center my 4-year-old boy wonder raved his lament.

"Holy lachrymal glands!" I shouted. "Stop that crying. I can't hear what they're saying about the Baroness."

My wife, having heard the commotion, appeared at the head of the Batcave with a portable hair dryer on her head. Its buzzing added to the din.

"Holy shampoo," she yelled. "What's going on down there?"

Foreign News Commentary Pro-Peking Hawks Fly High

By Phil Newman

In Pakistan, nominal ally of the United States, the pro-Peking hawks are flying high.

It can be taken as coincidence that at the same time the United States extends its welcome to Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, Pakistan rolls out the red carpet for Red Chinese President Liu Shao-chi and his foreign minister, Chen Yi.

Not to be taken as a coincidence are the anti-U.S. overtures of the reception in Pakistan nor will it be overlooked in Washington that it comes only weeks after announcement of a new $50 million U.S. loan to Pakistan and the relaxation of the ban on shipment of military equipment.

It will lend weight to Mrs. Gandhi's request for resumed military aid to India, partly on the grounds that a flow of Red Chinese tanks and planes into Pakistan is placing her at a disadvantage in their smoldering quarrel over Kashmir.

The United States cut off aid to both Pakistan and India during their war of last September, but lately permitted sale of "non-lethal" military equipment.

Announcement of a $50 million loan to Pakistan and $100 million to India followed a February visit to both by Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Relations between the United States and Pakistan hit bottom during last September's 30-day India - Pakistan war. A thaw seemed to be setting in after last December's visit to Washington by Pakistan President Ayub Khan and to be continuing with Humphrey's visit to Pakistan in February.

This week it was apparent that cold diplomatic weather had returned.

Announcement of a $50 million loan to Pakistan and $100 million to India followed a February visit to both by Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Leesburg Educator Seeks House Seat

William J. (Bill) Thomas, principal of Leesburg High School, filed as a candidate for a seat in the House of Representatives in group three, Lake-Seminole County district.

In announcing his candidacy, Thomas said, "A man cannot be as closely affiliated in governmental affairs both from the standpoint of teaching its principles and involvement in its administration at the city and county levels without feeling the urgency for services toward good government."

"My primary interest is to serve every citizen and have a part in rendering legislation of the highest sort."

Thomas, who will carry out a personal campaign, plans to visit with as many Lake and Seminole County residents as possible. He declared, "Pro-cession moved through Rawlinsville streets there were familiar scenes: 'Death to American Imperialism; Long Live Chinese - Pakistan friendship.'"

For Pakistan's anti-American foreign minister, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, it marked a personal triumph.

Bhutto never has missed a chance to sneer at the American effort in Vietnam, and he took full advantage of an apparent slip-up in Humphrey's public relations.

A U.S. Information Service dispatch quoted Humphrey as saying he believed that Pakistan, like India, was "fully aware of the threat of Red China."

Humphrey disclaimed the quote but not before Bhutto would reject aid with strings. Bhutto, once believed on the slide was back in the saddle.

Family Of Three Found Murdered

FORT PIERCE (UPI)—The bodies of a retired business executive, his wife and his mother-in-law were found at his home here Monday. Police said they had been strangled.

The victims, identified as C. H. Hoover, 56, Mrs. Ruth Hoover, 52, and Mrs. Harris Clark, 82, still had nylon stockings tied around their necks.

St. Lucie County Sheriff J. R. Norvall called it "the most brutal" murder case he has seen in his 20 years of law enforcement.

Authorities estimated the murders took place early Sunday and whoever did it was "looking for something special, if robbery was the motive."

"The house was ransacked, but a mink stole, a diamond ring and a good wrist watch were not taken," a policeman said.

Hoover's body was found in the living room. The bodies of the two women were found on beds in separate bedrooms.

Alarm Scares Away Burglars

A clanging burglar alarm apparently scared off two burglars who broke into the Lookout Restaurant in Fern Park Sunday night, according to Sheriff J. L. Hobbs.

Hobbs said two men were observed running away from the eatery about the time the alarm went off.

He reported the restaurant had been entered by someone forcing off an air conditioning vent once inside, the culprits attempted to break down the door to the office. It is believed this set off the alarm.

Bob Crasay, owner of a nearby service station, reported he saw two men running away from the scene.

Burns Slaps At Miami Mayor

MIAMI (UPI)—Gov. Haydon Burns, campaigning for re-election, took sharp issue with an opponent's statement that the big issue in the campaign was "integrity in government."

Burns told a group of supporters that the statements by Miami Mayor Robert King High were "insinuations" aimed at discrediting him and were false.

"Those who know this candidate best have certainly given him the outstanding ratings for his support on the question of integrity," the governor said.

Easter Seal Camp Program Told Rotarians

Sanford Rotarians heard a report on the activities of the Florida Society for Crippled Children and Adults and Camp Challenge by Paul Murray, director of the camp and its representative for the county.

Murray pointed out that the first chapter of the Crippled Children's Society was formed in 1921 in Florida, Ohio, by the Rotary Club there and later the Ohio Rotarians chartered the national society.

Today there are 1,500 chapters of the society in the United States.

Camp Challenge, the Easter Seal camp, especially designed for crippled children, was started in 1941, about 15 miles west of Sanford on State Road 301 near Sorrento. Tents were first utilized, but Seminole County now has a cabin of its own.

A film showing the children in activities at the camp was shown to Rotarians and will be shown to members of the Kiwanis Club on Wednesday.

Nearly half the campers who attended the establishment are confined to wheelchairs and everything at the camp is designed to accommodate the crippled children.

"The program at camp is planned and adapted to meet the needs of the handicapped. Activities under the guidance and supervision of counselors encourage the campers to live and play within the limits of their disabilities, but to the best of their capabilities," Murray said.

Types of disabilities served in the program include cerebral palsy, polio, muscular dystrophy, blindness, spina bifida, epilepsy, arthritis, birth and speech defects, amputees and accident victims.

APRIL SHOWERS brought the Easter bunny early for April Zambeky, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Zambeky, of Sunland Estates. The Seminole High School Junior said, however, the bunny "confided" to her that the sun will be out for the annual Easter parade on Sunday. (Herald photo by Bill Vincent Jr.)

Food-For-India Ok'd By Solons

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's emergency food-for-India proposal was endorsed by the House after members learned the shipment would be sold-not given-to famine-stricken recipients.

The voice vote endorsement was sought by President Johnson although it was not necessary for shipping 3.5 million tons of food grains and a quantity of other foodstuffs in a special account for use in development loans to India.

India, in turn, sells the wheat to consumers, except for those who are on relief and unable to buy food. They will receive it as part of their welfare program.

Other congressional news: The bill nearly passed after a complaint on a $30 million pay raise for government workers—it wasn't enough. The bill nearly passed after these complaints were registered, but a request for a roll call vote put over final consideration until Wednesday.

The raise averages 2.9 per cent for 1.8 million civil service and postal employees, plus fringe benefits raising it to just about 3.2 per cent, the administration's wage-price guideline for 1966.

Bankers Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) and the chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board are being conducted at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, near Lake, at 7:30 p.m. each day by Rev. Fred Guthrie, minister.

Pre-Nuptial Fete Given Miss Sandage

Miss Donna Sandage, popular bride-elect, was guest of honor at a "Stock the pantry" shower, last Thursday at the home of Mrs. G. G. Myers, 302 West 25th Street. Mrs. M. B. Smith was co-hostess. Guests arrived at 10 a. m. bringing all sorts of staples for the bride's pantry including spices, cereals, canned food, sugar and other non-perishable items. Arrangements of assorted spring flowers including gladi, pansies, anemones, gerber, daisies and petunias adorned the party room. The refreshment table was overlaid with an ecru lace cloth over red and the center piece carrying out the party theme was a shopping basket full of bottled soft drinks nested in artificial green grass tied with a huge pink satin bow. Decorated recipe cards were given to each guest and they were asked to write a favorite recipe for the bride. Advertisements of foods clipped from magazines, were pinned to curtains and furniture in the party area and those present were asked to identify the trade name of each one. Mrs. E. L. Bolger received the award for getting the most correct answers. Miss Sandage received the "Booby" prize, which proves that she will have to devote more time to reading house-making magazines when she starts housekeeping. A door prize was won by Mrs. L. N. Nopper. Heigh Ho! Garden Clubbers Reading For Annual Show

Members of the Garden Club of Sanford are busily searching out unusual decorative materials for use in the artistic design division of their annual spring flower show, "Heigh Ho! Come to the Fair."
The show, which opens April 12 at the Sanford Garden Center, will feature a group of interpretative artistic designs. The title of each design is derived from an outstanding art exhibition beginning with the Exhibition of Industry of All Nations, which occurred in London in 1851 and had for an exhibit hall the Crystal Palace. As an artistic design, the "Crystal Palace" will be interpreted by using fresh plant materials and some form of glass as a container, base or accessory.
For the first time, a creativity award is available to the designer who, in the judges' opinion, shows the greatest amount of personal expression in selecting her materials and creating her interpretative design. The classes in which this award may be made are The Air Devils, The IBM Exhibit and The Ladies Auxiliary.
The final artistic design section, "Country Fair," is for the exhibition of corsages called "Cotton Candy" and "Blue Ribbon Preserves."
Of further interest in artistic design will be a "Primer of Flower Arrangements" under the direction of Mrs. Blanton Owen. A feature of the show, this exhibit will be a display of a number of types and styles of flower arrangements designed by local garden club members.

Real Dyed Eggs Add Distinction

NEW YORK (UPI) — Be an egghead when you join the Easter parade.
Dye the eggs and wear them attached to a very special bonnet.
Why not? Nothing says "Happy Easter" quite so appropriately. Dyed eggs, blown-out, can be a light, airy and very pretty trim for a bright straw bonnet.
The cascade effect is achieved easily by running ribbons through the egg and then gluing the egg in place on the ribbon. Tiny bows can be added above each egg.
The ribbons can be seen to the egg and the eggs arranged prettily on the straw. Simply glue the egg to the straw so they won't dangle.
For a spray effect, insert a ribbon-covered piece of wire into each egg and glue the egg in place on the ribbon. Add bows or delicate color-matched maribou feathers to the top of each egg.
Attach the wired ribbons to the hat, perhaps clustered asymmetrically for a delicate, airy look. A half-dozen matching ribbons will give the clipped-to-the-ear and take-to-hat a final, professional look.
Dyeing the eggshells in just the right colors is easy with a modern egg-dyeing kit. The makers of Rit dyes, who suggest an egg bonnet for Easter.

HEAD LINES—"Op" art is everywhere these days—it's even gone to milady's head in the form of "op" wig featured by a New York stylist, Joyce Christopher. With the model at left, designed with today's go-go space-age clothes in mind, a girl can be most attractive for you and completes your Easter costume. The interesting—if that's the word—effect at right, according to the designer, gives the wearer a quick personality change.

Board Of Regents Foresees

12,500 Students At Fla. Tech In '75

TAMPA (UPI) — The Board of Regents, meeting by candlelight in the wake of a tornado Monday, predicted the attendance at the state's seven universities would be 161,500 in 1975.

The board met at the University of South Florida here and one of several tornadoes which hit the area knocked out power on the campus.

The board set student load projections for 1975 of 25,000 students each for the University of Florida and Florida State, 6,000 for the University of Florida A & M, 18,000 for Florida A & M, 12,000 for Florida State, 12,000 at Florida Technological University (at Oviedo) and 12,500 at the University of West Florida.

The new estimates compared to a total of 82,000 students previously forecast for the schools in 1975.

Turning to a controversial subject, board chairman Chester Ferguson said there was nothing to substantiate the rumors that the school at Florida A & M University would be closed.

"Rumor to the contrary," he said, "there has been no change in the Board of Regents' position toward continuing of Florida A & M's law school."

It has been reported that since there is going to be a new law school at Florida State University, which, the A&M, is in Tallahassee, the law school at the predominantly Negro school would be phased out to make room for the new one.
