Funds Tentatively Approved For Matching Grant

State To Aid Historic District Expansion

Proposed expansion of the Longwood Historical District received a boost when the state tentatively approved a $2,500 matching grant to the city of Longwood for a Historic Architectural Survey and National Historic Register District nomination project.

City Planner Chris Nagle said he learned by phone Tuesday afternoon of the state approval, which is expected to be confirmed in writing next week. The city had already received approval from the Seminole County commission on June 9 for a $5,000 share of the 1987-88 Community Development Grant Program from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and had hoped to obtain an equal amount from the state.

Nagle said bids from consulting firms for the project have been ranging from $10,000 to $12,000. He said the city will either have to scale back the plans or authorize spending part of the $5,000 allocated in the 1987-88 fiscal budget for the project.

The county commission authorized signing of an agreement with the city for the Community Development Block Grant Historic Study at its Nov. 24 meeting.

Nagle said the proposed expanded district would roughly double the size of the Longwood Historic District.

The expanded district would run from State

434 north to the south side of East Lake and along the County Road 427 and Seaboard Railroad corridor up to Corporate Way and on the west from Milver Avenue to on the east to Oleander St.

Nagle said the project will include assessing structures and homes in the proposed area to see if any are of historic significance. If there are enough, Nagle said the city could apply for a National Historic District designation such as the city of Sanford obtained for its downtown area.

This would give it recognition and make it a lot easier for owners of the buildings to qualify for federal income tax credit for restoration and repairs.

Sales Tax Guidelines

If the Florida state sales tax is increased from 3 to 4 percent, the effective date of the increase will be Jan. 1, 1988. The Department of Revenue has issued guidelines for businesses to follow to ensure they are in compliance with the new rate.

Businesses should review their contracts with customers and bill to ensure they are in compliance with the new rate. These customers will be notified by giving customers a copy of any taxes collected after the state tax rate goes out of effect, Everson said.

Society Elects New Officers

Interim officers of the Seminole County Humane Society were elected at a special meeting Tuesday night. The officers will serve until election of permanent officers at the society's regular meeting Dec. 10.

Tom Rappaport of Casselberry, who has been a member of the society for several years, was elected interim president; Helen Wolk, vice president; Chris Lassiter, recording secretary; and Barbara Woodall, treasurer.

Woodall, who said she was acting as interim secretary, opened the meeting and asked for nominations for interim president, for which there was only one.

Rappaport chaired the meeting after his election, asking for a motion to accept the resignations of the previous officers, and for nominations to fill them. The resignations were unanimously accepted and only one nomination for each office was made.

Jouanne Gates, president since last July, resigned after the board amended the organization's bylaws at its November meeting in order to vote Wolk and Woodall back on the board. Wolk, former president, had resigned in July, along with Woodall, who had been co-executive director.

Previous bylaws allowed only the president to appoint new members. When board members asked that Wolk and Woodall be put back on the board in October, Gates refused to appoint them, and the board amended the bylaws and appointed the two former members to the board at the next meeting.

After the resignation of Gates, other officers resigned in support of her, along with several employees of the animal shelter. Woodall is acting director of the animal shelter.

Eight members attended the meeting, including Clydene Rausch, who recently resigned as secretary, but has so far remained on the board. None of the other former officers attended the meeting.

Parade Marshals: One Old, One Young

Sanford, Longwood Schedule Christmas Parades

The city of Longwood will honor one of its oldest citizens as grand marshal in the annual Christmas Parade to be held Saturday at 10 a.m. on State Road 434. 92-year-old Blanche Kissane of 1017 Wildmere Cove was selected from among eight nominees for the oldest resident, according to Parade Chairman Dale Lilly.

Meanwhile, Sanford Seminole Jaycees have selected a youthful grand marshal for their Dec. 12 Christmas parade from entrants in the "Why I want a Christmas of Love" essay contest.

Andy Marlette, 8, of 228 Krider Road, Sanford, and Tamiel McKinney, 8, of 104 Sterling Court, Sanford, will share the grand marshal honors in Sanford's parade. Their entries in the "Why I want a Christmas of Love" contest were selected from 60 entries. Andy's entry was a poem and Tamiel wrote, "... because Jesus is love and it's his birthday. I love him very much and he loves me."

Lilly said that although some of those suggested were older than Mrs. Kissane, they were disqualified because they either lived outside the city limits or weren't able to ride in the parade.

Mrs. Kissane, who is scheduled to ride at the head of the parade in a $68,000 Studebaker Avanti, said this will be a first for her and she doesn't know who submitted her name. She lives next door to her daughter and son-in-law and has a grandson and two great-grandchildren.

1988 Games To Stress Awareness

Action Follows Fatality

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

As the result of the first death related to the Sanford's Golden Age Games in its 18 year history, measures are being taken by Games officials to increase awareness among participants of the injury or illness potential.

Ralph Donaghy, 73, of Daytona Beach, who went into a coma after being stricken with a heart attack while competing in the one-on-one basketball event on Nov. 11, died a week later at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

To better inform future Games participants, the medical staff at Central Florida Regional Hospital has volunteered to conduct brief sessions on warning signs of on-coming illness and injury throughout the week of the 1988 Games.

The hospital's marketing director, Kay Bartholomew, presented the offer at a meeting of the executive committee held Tuesday morning at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building and it was enthusiastically accepted.

Games General Chairman Jim

Jernigan said he was "real proud of the Rotary Club officials at the event and the CPR people who responded to Donaghy's aid. Within less than 10 seconds there was a paramedic there to administer CPR until the professionals arrived."

Jernigan said that he learned from the victim's family that Donaghy had refused to go for a physical prior to the Games and had not had a physical for 12 years.

Games participants are required to sign a statement of release on their entry form that he or she has no physical restrictions which would prohibit participation in the selected events and that their physician is aware of their intention to participate in the Games.

Dave Farr, executive director of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsor of the Games, said a statement will be added to next year's entry form warning participants not to attempt the more strenuous events unless they are in good physical condition.

Defendant Accused Of Killing Co-Worker

Murder Trial May Be Wrapped Up Today

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Testimony continues today in the murder trial of Winter Springs resident Sammy Lee Brown, 24, who is charged in the shooting death of a co-worker, Lou Willie Banks, last May in Altamonte Springs.

The prosecution and the defense made their opening remarks to the jury shortly after noon Tuesday, Monday and part of Tuesday morning was spent selecting a 12-member jury.

The state contends that both Brown and Banks were employees of Central Florida Underground Inc., an Altamonte Springs water and sewer line installation company, where Brown allegedly shot Banks three times on May 15, after an argument.

Witnesses to the shooting testified the two men were arguing over some type of package, which Brown said Banks had. Stephen Igou, assistant state attorney, said there is a possibility the disagreement between the two men may have been over a radio containing some type of drugs.

After the verbal argument Brown allegedly pulled a gun out from under his shirt and fired at least three shots at Banks.

Banks was killed by a shot to his head, according to medical reports. He was also hit twice in the torso.

Although the gun was never actually found, it was reported the three slugs taken from Bank's body were from a .357 caliber revolver. Witnesses at the scene say they saw Brown fire a nickel-plated revolver at Banks.

Brown's attorney, Marvin Davis, said he was using self-defense as the motive for his client's actions.

"The deceased (Banks) attempted to rearrange Mr. Brown's head with a piece of pipe or a can of gasoline," Davis said. He added that Brown claimed he was provoked into shooting Banks when the man attacked him. Brown told his attorney he was afraid Banks was going to attack him.

IN BRIEF

London Hotel Fire Kills At Least Two, Injures One

LONDON (UPI) — A fire erupted today at a hotel near Buckingham Palace that is frequented by American tourists, killing at least two people and injuring one, authorities said.

Some 50 firefighters wearing breathing equipment searched the six-story Rubens Hotel for more victims after the fire was brought under control.

The hotel had 230 guests Tuesday night and most of them, plus the 80 staff members, were evacuated as soon as the fire was reported about 10 a.m.

Fire officials said one woman was found dead in her room on the fourth floor of the building and another guest, carried out by firemen, died on arrival at Westminster Hospital.

Korean Agents Take Poison

TOKYO (UPI) — An Asian couple who got off a Korean Air jetliner at its last stop before it disappeared over Burma and who later swallowed poison during questioning at Bahrain Airport probably were North Korean agents, a law enforcement source said today.

The man died shortly after biting into a cyanide-laced cigarette Tuesday, and the woman is expected to survive to face questioning on what role, if any, the couple played in sending KAL Flight 858 with 115 people aboard crashing into a rebel-controlled area of Burma near the Thai border on Sunday.

"The pattern of their behavior is different from that of Japanese radicals," said a Tokyo police official who requested anonymity. "They are likely to be North Korean agents."

Iran Sends Thousands To Front

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iran says it has sent tens of thousands of new volunteers to the war front with Iraq in possible preparation for a long-expected winter offensive.

The official Islamic Republic News Agency, IRNA, said Tuesday the troops were dispatched by Prime Minister Hussein Musavi, who vowed that Iran would crush the "blasphemous powers" and establish "the rule of the holy Koran."

It said tens of thousands of volunteers gathered at Tehran University Tuesday for a speech by Musavi and then streamed toward the battlefield followed by hundreds of trucks carrying supplies.

Outlook: More Stringent Savings, Bigger Loans

College Financing Trends Foreboding

By Brian Hedberg
Herald Staff Writer

College financing trends cited in a report issued by the American Council of Education last week look foreboding. The outlook: more stringent saving and bigger loans.

"The federal government has forced students to rely more and more on long-term, low interest loan programs," said John Aggett, director of student financial planning at Stetson University in Deland. "Pell Grants have not kept up with inflation. Realistically, grants have been decreasing because of inflation."

Here's the backdrop of the issue: —Over the last four years, while inflation went up 17 percent, average tuition in public colleges shot up 45 percent; more than that at private schools. A four-year bill at Harvard, Yale or Stanford now runs over $66,000; at public research universities, from $23,000 to $30,000.

At the University of Central Florida in Orlando, the on-campus, single, in-state student would pay $28,968 for four years at current costs. A Stetson student would pay, at 1987 costs and excluding books, $40,000 for a four-year education. Four years at Rollins College in Winter Park cost about $53,180, based on this year's rates.

"If you want to maintain state-of-the-art materials in labs and libraries, the costs will go up," said Linda Downing, director of student financial planning at Rollins.

"Since federal dollars (in financial aid) are not increasing, someone has to take up the

Estimated costs for 4-years, Tuition, room, board and fees:
U. of Central Florida - $26,968
Rollins College - $49,000
Stetson University - $43,180

slack," Aggett said.

—Trends in "Recent College Graduates Surveys" issued from the Education Department's Center for Education Statistics suggest that average college indebtedness for 1987 graduates is $7,480 at all institutions — $6,800 at the public ones; $8,680 at the private ones. College graduates are being forced to mortgage their futures.

"Those average indebtedness figures do correspond with the average indebtedness figures at Rollins, as a fairly high-cost institution," Downing said. "We're running at about $9,000 for students who borrow to get through."

"We're always trying to paint a gloomy picture of things" to get more federal funding of education, said Phil Walker, associate director of financial aid at UCF. "But it seems that every year, we're getting more money for kids to go to school than ever before. Right now, things are pretty rosy for students."

Pell Grant awards are keeping up with the cost of higher education, Walker said. "If a student received the maximum amount on a Pell Grant — about $2,100 — that would take care of his tuition and books and he'd still have money left over," he said. "That's like having a free education."

Aggett said tuition at state universities, like UCF, is unrealistically low since roughly 80 percent is subsidized. Pell Grants finance under 20 percent of private educational costs today, he said, while the same grants paid 47 percent of costs five or six years ago.

Robert Atwood, president of the American Council on Education, an umbrella group for higher education, claims the patchwork of grants and loan program created during the 1970s is unraveling.

While the government tries to apply patches to cover the holes, increasing numbers of students are taking on increasing debt and fewer disadvantaged are finding their way to college, he says.

"I think the access exists," Aggett said. "You ought to be able to come up with money, with planning and so forth, to attend a community college to begin with."

Perhaps one explanation of students' ever-increasing indebtedness is that last year Congress raised the limits on guaranteed student loans, Walker said. Formerly, undergraduates could borrow $2,500; now freshmen and sophomores can borrow $2,675, juniors and seniors $4,000. The ceiling for loans to graduates has been raised from $5,000 to $7,500.

Downing said that when a potential student has already hit the average for indebtedness and is asking to borrow more, financial advisers at Rollins make certain he knows what he's getting into.

Immigration Law Working Well

The landmark Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 has been neither the nightmare numerous critics predicted nor the panacea hoped for by many supporters. But most observers generally concede the statute has proved to be workable.

This is not to suggest that the immigration law has not had its problems. There was initial confusion over employer sanctions that delayed their implementation. The special farm-worker amnesty program got off to a shaky start because of differences between the Reagan administration and Congress over how the law should be interpreted. And initial concerns that the amnesty program was unfairly breaking up families has been eased by new rules issued by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Still, the comprehensive reform has achieved a delicate balance between deterrence and hospitality. That speaks well of the INS's firm yet fair enforcement of the new law.

The linchpin of the law is the employer-sanctions provision. To stem the flow of illegal aliens, penalties are imposed on employers who knowingly hire undocumented workers. The fines range from $250 to $5,000 for each offense, with six-month prison terms for chronic offenders. To date, the INS has fined four employers. It should be noted that the sanctions were delayed for six months to allow employers to become familiar with the new rules. Moreover, INS agents have made more than 300,000 visits to businesses and labor unions to explain the federal regulations and the agents plan to reach another 700,000.

The new law grants temporary residence to undocumented workers who can prove they have lived in the United States continuously since Jan. 1, 1982. They have until May 4, 1988, to apply for legal status, and those who can demonstrate a knowledge of English and civics would qualify for permanent residence. After five years, they qualify for citizenship.

Nearly 1 million illegal aliens have applied for temporary residence under the amnesty provision, with nearly 97 percent of the applications being approved.

The farm-worker provisions of the law also offer temporary-resident status for those who have worked for at least 90 days in American agriculture between May 1985 and May 1986. Because it is so easy to qualify under the farm-worker program, the INS has been especially alert for fraudulent applications.

Granted, the INS cannot eliminate illegal immigration. Yet, the new law appears to have lessened the flow of undocumented workers coming into this country during the last 12 months. For example, there were 51 percent fewer apprehensions of aliens attempting to cross the U.S.-Mexican border last month compared with October of 1986.

INS district directors now have the discretion to allow family members to remain in the country for "compelling" and "humanitarian" reasons. Meantime, Congress is considering amendments to the law to prevent the deportation of family members of those persons receiving amnesty. Congress should also extend the amnesty provision another 12 months, until May 4, 1989. The additional year would compensate for the initial confusion and fear that discouraged many potential applicants from coming forward.

Clearly, the law must be applied in a way that encourages undocumented workers to apply for amnesty, yet deters unscrupulous employers from exploiting foreign labor. The last 12 months suggest the law is succeeding on both counts. And that bodes well for the nation in its bid to regain control of its borders.

Deck The Halls With Glasnost Next Week

Mikhail Gorbachev is either the shrewdest Machiavellian or the luckiest poker player in diplomatic history. It's also possible that he's both.

Consider the Soviet leader's chips when he arrives on Dec. 7 for the American-Soviet four-day summit:

- An agreed-upon treaty to abolish an entire category of nuclear weapons.

- A proclaimed new Soviet policy of glasnost, or openness, which has garnered a great deal of goodwill.

- An easygoing, sophisticated personality, complemented by an attractive wife with scholarly credentials.

- A euphoric season in the United States, when thoughts of "on earth, peace, good will toward men" reverberate throughout the country.

The only thing missing is some kind of harmonic convergence to guarantee success. But a summit meeting does not a permanent peace make. One need only recall the disaster in Iceland to appreciate the fragility of two-leader foreign policy, especially when both leaders are subliminal hardliners.

As much as President Reagan claims he wants peace, his lack of understanding of the complexities of Soviet foreign policy only exacerbates his belligerent posturing, which detracts from the peace-making process.

Similarly, Gorbachev has yet to consolidate his power to a position where he can't be displaced. The public fallout over his miscalculation in dumping his protégé, Boris Yeltsin, and his colleagues' grumblings about delays in glasnost attest to a vulnerability at home.

But glasnost does not operate in a vacuum. There are two areas in which brutal Soviet tyranny subverts the spirit of glasnost — the Soviet's unrelenting repression of Soviet Jews who wish to emigrate and the Soviet imperialistic adventure in Afghanistan.

Recently, 123 members of the United Nations demanded that the Soviet Union withdraw from Afghanistan. That's an increase of one over the previous year.

Closer to home, American Jews are planning a massive demonstration on Dec. 6 in Washington, D.C. — nine days before the first day of Hanukkah — to repeat the message to Gorbachev that Moses sent to the pharaoh: "Let my people go."

Widespread participation in Summit Sunday will strike a blow for moral consistency.

The summit undercores the irony that one of the most irrationally anti-Communist presidents may be able to move this nation to a closer walk with peaceful co-existence.

But Reagan's inconsistency is consonant with the quirks of American diplomatic history. It took a career anti-Communist, Republican President Richard M. Nixon, to establish diplomatic relations with Communist China.

Between Dec. 7 and Dec. 10, we could witness a turning point in world history. The banning of nuclear weaponry affirms humankind's capability for avoiding reciprocal annihilation.

Next week, Reagan will have everything going for him. "Deck the halls" with glasnost and hope both men are infected by America's unique holiday spirit.

VIEWPOINT

Reagan Principles Forgotten

By Herbert London

It is not a pretty sight to observe the Reagan administration in disarray. What is wrong, it seems, is that the president has lost sight of first principles.

Mr. Reagan became the most popular president in recent history by attacking totalitarian systems, expressing earnest doubts about arms control, and arguing against a loose and imaginative interpretation of the Constitution. Yet in this last year in office, he has adopted positions that seemingly contradict his political instincts.

Surely Emerson was right in arguing that consistency is the hobgoblin of fools. However, the president's lack of consistency lies in the face of the positions that brought him electoral success and that served the country so well.

When the Chinese government recently crushed Tibetan demonstrations, the president should have unambiguously criticized Chinese actions. Moreover, he should have said that totalitarian regimes anywhere on this globe that restrict the free expression of their people should be condemned. In his unwillingness to challenge Chinese actions, the president appears as a hypocritical defender of the freedom he has on various occasions exalted.

Instead of regarding nuclear weapons as the threat to international stability, it behooves the president to recall his own belief that the Soviet Union will challenge international equilibrium with AK47s or sticks and stones. Nuclear weapons are not, in themselves, a threat to coexistence. Yet here is the same president, who once accepted such a position, about to sign an INF agreement which removes the singular deterrent from Western Europe and invites political accommodation.

It is apparent to any former defender of the Reagan administration that, at the moment, an infusion of old-fashioned ideological fervor is needed. The president and those who surround him seem to be inspired by their own version of pragmatism.

By acting as a lame duck administration caught between rapidly changing world conditions and an assertive Congress, the executive is like a ship without sails forced to head in any direction the strongest wind blows. This is not what most Americans expected from their president. Ronald Reagan is certainly not a give 'em hell Harry Truman type, but he appeared to be a man with a few well-developed principles from which he would not waver. Those principles served him well.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Strange Bedfellows

Alongside the immortal "Man Bites Dog" and such more contemporary but equally implausible headlines as "Cuomo Too Busy to Seek Presidency" and "Gorbachev Endorses Kemp," we must now place "Sierra Club Salutes Hodel." The only difference is that this time, believe it or not, the headline is true.

Interior Secretary Donald Hodel has long been tagged by perceptive observers as one of the major assets of the Reagan administration and a likely future leader of the conservative movement. Harvard-educated but rooted in his native Oregon, Hodel, at 52, has already built a solid record of public service as administrator of the Bonneville Power Administration, undersecretary of the interior, secretary of energy, and (since 1985) secretary of the interior. Always most comfortable in jeans, boots and a cotton shirt, he personifies the rugged Western kind of conservatism for which he stands: individualistic, born-again, outdoorsy, good-natured.

But it was written on the first morning of Creation that secretaries of the interior are bound to irritate the more aggressive sorts of environmentalists, and Don Hodel has been no exception to that iron rule. He takes seriously, for example, his obligation, as the chief official custodian of America's natural resources, to encourage their development where necessary and appropriate, as well as to protect and preserve our heritage.

Good examples of the former are his support for oil rigs off the California coast and for the opening of new oil fields on Alaska's North Slope, both of which he insists are necessary if we are to avoid dangerous dependency on foreign sources. Never! respond the environmental lobbyists, fearing for the fish and the caribou — though Hodel patiently points out that "A single (oil) platform can harbor 20 to 50 times more fish than do nearby areas with mud or sand bottoms."

But recently the Sierra Club nearly passed out cold when Hodel, turning to the other half of his job, announced that the Interior Department would investigate the feasibility of draining the Hetch Hetchy Reservoir and restoring the natural splendor of California's Hetch Hetchy canyon.

Hetch Hetchy is a valley in Yosemite National Park, which John Muir and other early naturalists considered one of the park's glories. In 1913, however, after a losing battle by Muir and other founders of the Sierra Club, Congress voted to dam the Tuolumne River where it flows through the valley and dedicate the resulting water and electric power to the city of San Francisco. The dam remains to this day the only significant one in any of our national parks.

So the board of directors of the Sierra Club, swallowing hard, adopted a resolution: "Acknowledging our many and serious disagreements with Secretary Hodel and with this administration, we salute this initiative." And Sierra Club chairman Michael McCloskey was even more enthusiastic in a letter to the Wall Street Journal: "The Sierra Club is thrilled that Secretary Hodel has opened the door to restoration of Hetch Hetchy to Yosemite National Park."

Stressing his hope that the Hetch Hetchy canyon, once drained and refoliated, will be left untouched by the lodges, stores and cars that now disfigure neighboring Yosemite Valley, Hodel is pressing the project. If it succeeds, he will deserve an honored place among those who have not only saved but restored an important part of the beauty of the American West.

Research Journals Too Slow

By Rob Otten
Science Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — As scientists around the world race to develop potentially revolutionary materials to carry electricity, the pace at which they receive reports of their colleagues' work is becoming increasingly important.

Researchers in the field of superconductivity are no longer willing or, many say, able to wait the days, weeks or months it can take for the latest scientific journals to arrive through their normal routes.

In the hopes of gaining an edge, they are relying increasingly on informal means of communication, such as long-distance telephone conversations with colleagues and advance drafts of papers before they are actually published.

Computerized listings of papers awaiting publication have cropped up so that researchers can have the quickest possible access to possibly crucial new information.

"That's the way the field is right now," said Paul M. Grant, an IBM researcher during a recent meeting on superconductivity.

The intensity of research heightened considerably in the last year and a half following reports that new compounds appeared capable of conducting electricity with little or no resistance at near room temperature.

If such materials could be perfected, they could sharply reduce the cost of electricity and open the door to the development of a wide range of new applications for electricity.

But as researchers struggle to try to specifically identify and understand the new materials, they say they have been frustrated by difficulties obtaining the latest research reports on a timely basis.

During the recent meeting, Wei Jiang Yeh of the Institute of Physics of the Chinese Academy of Sciences complained that it could take up to two months for him to receive the latest journals.

Vitaly Ginzburg of the Soviet Union's Institute of Physics voiced similar complaints, saying it can take months for journals to arrive despite recent efforts in his country to reduce bureaucracy.

"It is a such a slow process it is like a very viscous fluid. The process is almost impossible," he said. "Even a month's delay to Moscow from here when the plane takes only one day is absolutely impossible."

Even Grant, who works at an IBM lab in San Jose, Calif., complained that "we get the journals three days late on the west coast" and journals from Japan take six weeks.

NATION

Reagan Says He's Not Upset By Gorbachev's Charm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan promises to bend Mikhail Gorbachev's ear on many contentious issues next week, saying he is not dissuaded in the least by the Soviet leader's positive reviews from several corners of the world.

Nevertheless, the president is trying to cover all the bases in reiterating his own views during the media blitz before next week's summit in Washington.

Reagan summoned Republican congressional leaders to the White House today in another effort to reassure conservative supporters he has not eased up on his hardline approach toward the Soviet Union even as he rejoices in the prospect of signing a historic nuclear arms agreement with Gorbachev.

More Hostages May Be Freed

ATLANTA (UPI) — Cuban detainees released one of 90 hostages at Atlanta's Federal Penitentiary to mark the birthday of a support group leader and an intermediary said more hostages may be freed today as a "prelude" to settlement of the 10-day standoff.

Attorney Gary Leshaw of the Coalition to Support Cuban Detainees emerged from the prison at 1:30 a.m. EST and said negotiations appear near the agreement stage.

Leshaw said he met for about 45 minutes with Cuban detainee leaders Tuesday night and also spoke with federal negotiators. He said he was not a negotiator but merely aiding the negotiations.

Space Station Contacts Given

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NASA's ambitious space station project moved one giant step closer to reality with the release of construction contracts worth some $5 billion and possibly 12,000 jobs across the United States.

Despite uncertainty about congressional budget support, NASA Administrator James Fletcher announced the contract awards Tuesday, saying if the agency ultimately wins approval to expand the station, the contracts would be worth an additional $1.5 billion for a total of $6.5 billion.

According to Fletcher, the futuristic project is one America cannot afford to pass up and "the best minds of the nation" are committed to ensuring a success that will enhance science and exploration on the high frontier.

Candidates Bicker In Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 12 presidential candidates, together for the first time on one stage, bickered over deficit reduction, the arms treaty with the Soviets and peace for Central America, but no clear-cut winner or loser emerged from the forum.

Instead, the Democrats got a chance Tuesday night to attack five of the six Republican candidates for not supporting the arms reduction treaty President Reagan is expected to sign next week with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

And Republicans had an opportunity to watch as the six Democratic candidates debated domestic economic policy and how to cut the nation's deficit.

Sawyer Chosen Chicago Mayor

CHICAGO (UPI) — Eugene Sawyer, a black alderman with ties to the old-guard Chicago Democratic machine, was elected by the City Council early today to succeed the late Mayor Harold Washington.

The council voted 29-19 to elect Sawyer over Alderman Timothy Evans, who had served as Washington's floor leader in the council. The final vote came at 4 a.m., following two hours of nominating speeches that were delayed by boisterous parliamentary wrangling.

Cabinet May Try To Outlaw Cruise Ship Casinos

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez and the Cabinet agreed Tuesday to see if casino gambling can be outlawed on cruise ships operating out of Florida.

Department of Natural Resources Director Tom Gardner was instructed to report Dec. 15 on which cruise ships allow casino gambling once the vessels pass into international waters, which gambling ships dock over state-owned submerged land and whether the state has authority to prohibit the gambling.

Attorney General Bob Butterworth informed his Cabinet colleagues he already is researching the matter and said his report will be available Dec. 15 along with DNR's.

Cabinet members are mainly concerned about one-day cruises designed solely for gambling, including cruises operating out of Key West, Miami, Fort Lauderdale, Tampa, Panama City and other ports.

Secretary of State Jim Smith and Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner said, however, the state likely would have to move against all cruise lines, that it couldn't legally single out the one-day cruises.

A spokeswoman for SeaEscape Ltd., a privately held company operating several casino-equipped ships, said she had not heard of the Cabinet action and did not offer a comment.

Ships taking tourists and Floridians to the Bahamas, the Caribbean, Mexico and other vacation spots routinely have casinos aboard.

"We're starting endless litigation and if we defend it, it's going to be expensive," Conner warned.

"I really want to learn the difference between good gambling and bad gambling," he continued. "There are many other instances, legislative weekends being one of them, that are identical."

Some cruise lines have feted lawmakers on special weekend cruises in the past that included gambling.

The gambling issue came up as Martinez and the Cabinet voted to rescind their approval Nov. 17 of a five-year lease for a Panama City marina. Officials did not realize when they approved the lease that the Southern Elegance casino-cruise ship would be using the marina.

An embarrassed Martinez and Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter sent letters to Gardner insisting that DNR stop the lease and that the matter return to the Cabinet for reconsideration.

Tuesday's action left the lease application pending.

Most Cabinet members appeared ready to join Gunter and Martinez in rejecting the Panama City lease, until Smith and Conner raised the problem of the other gambling cruises.

While he is still researching the matter, Gardner said apparently only one other ship outside of the Southern Elegance docks on state-owned submerged land, an ocean liner operating from Key West.

Bottomland at Florida ports routinely is owned by the port authority, so cruise ships at the Port of Miami and other shipping points would not need a state lease. Butterworth said he is trying to determine whether state law might not already prohibit casino equipment on cruise ships docking at Florida ports.

Once the Cabinet learns of its authority, it must still decide whether to actually take on the powerful cruise line companies.

Ankle Sprain Is Real Pain Without 'Rice'

Recently, during a weekend match at the Bayhead Racquet Club, I noticed a player on the next court take a very hard fall. He pulled himself up and was helped off the court. He had badly sprained his right ankle.

I thought back to all the times over the years that I had done the same thing. It is a very common, very painful, injury in tennis, and it can keep you off the courts for a while.

There are some definite things you should do, though, to hurry along the healing process. If the recommended steps for treatment are followed, you should have less pain and return to the courts much sooner.

After twisting your ankle on the court, there are a few questions to ask yourself. Is the ankle deformed? Different from before the injury or different from the other ankle? Did you hear a snap, crack or pop at the ankle or do you feel any tingling or numbness in the foot or toes?

Larry Castle

HERALD TENNIS WRITER

If the answer to any of these questions is yes, immediately pack the ankle in ice and wrap it to keep it from moving. Do not walk on it. Use crutches or a friend's shoulder for support and go to the emergency room.

If there is only minor discomfort, however, and you are able to move the ankle or walk on it without a great deal of pain, immediate transportation to the hospital is not necessary.

In both cases, the immediate treatment is "RICE": Rest, Ice, Compression, and Elevation. These steps are taken to protect the injured ligament(s) from further damage and to control the bleeding and soft tissue swelling until further medical diagnosis and treatment is given.

Cold applications can be any form of ice or chemical cold packs that can be applied and stays cold for 20 minutes. One precaution: the ankle should feel cold but if there is tingling or numbness, the ice is on too long. The ankle should be wrapped to immobilize the joint. An ace bandage will compress the joint to help keep the swelling down but will allow for expansion due to swelling.

If tape is used, an open basket weave design is better because it allows for swelling and will not cut off the circulation. The next step is to use the ice for 20 minutes. Then remove it for 20-30 minutes and reapply, keeping the ankle wrapped between icings. This procedure should be followed for at least 24-48 hours after the injury. As soon as possible X-rays should be taken to check for fractures, and stress X-rays to determine the degree of injury to the ligament(s) by measuring the differences in the amount of space of the two ankle joints.

The use of crutches or a cane may be necessary for a couple of days or more. The doctor will give you more specific treatment to follow for the next week.

'Noles Rip Eustis; Rams Tie Seabreeze

By Scott Bander
Herald Sports Writer

The Seminole High school boys soccer team started out its season in the right fashion, whipping Eustis, 7-0, on Tuesday night in Eustis.

"We played very well for our first game," Seminole coach Carlos Merlino said. "We put a lot of offensive pressure on them."

Seminole (1-0) will begin its Seminole Athletic Conference schedule on Thursday night when it plays host to Oviedo. "We're really looking forward to that one," Merlino said. "I hope that we play better this year in the conference than we did last year." The Seminoles went 4-12-1 a year ago.

Seminole spread out its scoring as seven different players tallied. Jimmy Reynolds, Chris Ray, Chuck Roll, Colin Forde, and Darin Forde all scored in the first half to give Seminole a 5-0 halftime edge.

Marc Dixon and Scott Pearson added second half goals to make the final 7-0.

Eustis was not exactly an offensive machine as it managed just six shots on goal. Seminole goalie Chris Bowlin only had to make two saves. Seminole had 28 shots on goal.

"I'm sure that Oviedo will be much tougher," Merlino said. "We are looking forward to a good season."

SCORELESS TIE AT MARY
In an early season battle of two of the state's best soccer teams last season, Lake Mary and Seabreeze played to a scoreless tie on Tuesday night at Lake Mary High.

Soccer

Lake Mary, which finished second in the state (4A) last season, had 17 shots on goal, but couldn't capitalize thanks to Seabreeze goalie Hunter Jorgenson. Jorgenson made 12 saves. Seabreeze finished second in the 3A last year.

"He is a great goalie," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "He was the difference."

Lake Mary's best chance to score came when Ernie Broenne booted a rebound into what appeared to be an open net. But Jorgenson, who was sprawled out on the ground, made a diving save to preserve the shutout. "That was one heck of a save," McCorkle added.

Lake Mary will host its invitational tournament starting on Friday. Winter Park and Merritt Island will tangle in the first game at 6 p.m., while Lake Mary will take on Melbourne in the nightcap at 8 in a rematch of last year's section championship.

"We had a lot of opportunities tonight," McCorkle said. "But we just didn't take advantage of them."

Lake Mary goalie Pete McNally made four saves. Seabreeze only had four shots on net. Scott Schmitt had a fine game on defense for the Rams.

OVIEDO TRIPS TRINITY

The Oviedo Lions also started out their season on a winning note, dumping Trinity Prep, 4-0, on Tuesday night at Oviedo High.

Lake Mary's Scott Schmitt runs down a ball Tuesday against Daytona Seabreeze.

The Lions (1-0) controlled the game from the outset as they score three, first half goals. Jim Guggenheim, who led the SAC in assists last season, got things going as he scored on a pretty goal early in the game. Duncan Jones and Tim Walsanen added first half goals. Kenyan Ross added a second half goal to make the final 4-0. "I was pretty happy with the way we played," Oviedo coach Dave Jekanoski said. "I think that we are going to be a pretty good soccer team."

The Lions had things pretty much their own way, as they outshot Trinity 38-0. Oviedo goalie Jeff Hollman only had to make three saves. The Trinity goalie picked up 19 saves.

Jekanoski said that his team is banking forward to the Seminole game. "I'm sure that they will be ready," Jekanoski, whose team went 12-7-2 last season, said. "But I think that we will be, too."

Seniors Lead Greyhounds To Rout Of W. Park

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Lyman did not have the best pre-season practice sessions but coach Ray Sandidge's worries were put to rest Tuesday night when he started 10 seniors and they came through with an impressive 4-1 victory over Winter Park in season-opening action at Lyman High. "I was a little worried going in," Sandidge said. "Our pre-season was not the best. We disciplinary problems and didn't have good practices."

"But we came out tonight and played one of the best games we've ever played since I've been at Lyman," added Sandidge. "It was probably due to the fact I started 10 seniors and one junior."

Soccer

Senior Greg Bailey broke up a scoreless tie midway through the half when he scored on an assist from senior Neal Stewart. Winter Park got a penalty kick from John Duguid with two minutes left in the half to even the score.

Lyman struck back quickly, though, as it scored with one minute left with Jo Jo House getting the goal on an assist from senior Tom Sells for a 2-1 halftime lead.

The Greyhounds stretched the lead to 3-1 two minutes into the second half when senior Todd Luke scored on an assist from senior Mark Dubin. Senior Anthony Godinho closed out the scoring with 26 minutes remaining when he scored on Bailey's assist.

Lyman pumped 25 shots at the Winter Park goal while the Wildcats had only six shots for the night, including just one in the second half. Lyman goalkeeper Kelly Walden, a senior, needed only to make two saves.

BRANTLEY GIRLS WIN

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots scored two goals in each half Tuesday en route to a 4-0 victory over Bishop Moore at Lake Brantley High.

The Lady Patriots, 1-0-1 for the season, return to action tonight in the Seminole Athletic Conference opener at DeLand.

The scoring was spread out for Brantley Tuesday as Jennifer McMasters, Dee Decker, Beth Schaefer and Karen Kopp scored one goal each. Brantley outshot the Lady Hornets, 34-10.

WINTER PARK NIPS OVIEDO

Karen Anderson scored a pair of second-half goals to lift Winter Park to a 3-1 victory over Oviedo's Lady Lions Tuesday night at Winter Park.

Winter Park took a 1-0 halftime lead, then sealed the victory with Anderson's two goals. Jill Knutson scored the lone goal for the Lady Lions. Winter Park took 14 shots on goal compared to Oviedo's five.

Rams Stick Brantley

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary opened its wrestling season in fine fashion with a convincing 49-24 decision over Lake Brantley Tuesday night at Lake Brantley High School.

"We may have looked impressive from the stands tonight," Lake Mary coach Doug Peters said. "But we need to polish up our wrestling a lot over the next few weeks."

Robert Doniero gave Lake Mary its first points with a 13-2 major decision over Shawn Martin at the 112 weight class.

Scott Flores, wrestling at 119, then gave the Rams their first pin of the night taking the Patriots Scott Meredith to the mat at the 2:28 mark. Mark Clayton then won an 11-5 decision over Scott Wyka at the 125 weight class.

The Carbia brothers then teamed up to pin each of their opponents. Enrique, at 130, pinned Brantley's Paul Jennir in just 56 seconds. Juan Carbia then took Kevin Wright down at the 1:52 mark.

Rob Richards made it three straight pins taking care of Bobby Garrison in the opening period at the 1:26 mark.

"Both Carbias and Richards looked good tonight," Peters said. "We wrestled well and the kids have done a good job getting in shape we just need to touch up on the fundamentals."

Tim Randolph recorded a pin over Pete Herzog in the 160 division at 3:06. The Rams Tracy Turner then pinned Craig Bessaw in the second period at the 3:57 mark.

Brantley took both the 220 pound and heavyweight classes as Matt Thorton pinned Todd Wright at 3:30. Gene Devaney and Richard Israel then hooked up in the final match with Devaney taking a 2-0 decision.

"Israel wrestled well for his first time out there," Peters said. "Devaney is an experienced wrestler and he hung right with him."

Lake Mary will now prepare to host always tough Winter Park on Friday. The Rams travel to Ocala Forrest the following Wednesday before entering the Lyman Christmas Tournament.

"We should be ready for Winter Park," Peters said. "They're one of our rivals and we should have a full house at Lake Mary, we've had a lot of people supporting us which is great."

NSB Drops Lake Howell

Lake Howell hit seven three-point goals Tuesday night but it wasn't nearly enough as the Silver Hawks dropped an 81-54 decision at New Smyrna Beach in the Lake Howell coaching debut of Mike Spatoia.

New Smyrna took a 16-8 lead after the first period, then went on a 22-15 run in the second for a 38-23 halftime advantage. The Barracudas sealed the victory by outscoring the Hawks, 21-9, in the third period.

Steve Johnson led Lake Howell with 16 points, including two, three-point goals while Gary Weeden had one three-pointer among his 12 points. C. Gibson, Phil Clark, Tye Eastman and Paul Rein also hit three-pointers for the Silver Hawks.

Reggie Douglas pumped in a game-high 25 points to lead New Smyrna and the 'Cudas also put their height advantage to good use, outrebounding the Hawks, 63-42.

Lake Howell makes its home debut Friday night against Mount Dora.

defensive backs in man-to-man coverage.

"They're playing great defense," Johnson said. "Their scheme is unorthodox, we haven't seen a team like this in a few years. I don't know if I've ever seen a team blitz that much, it could give us problems."

Miami's overall defense ranks sixth after the win over Notre Dame, and the Hurricane defense has played well in big games this season, with the exception of three quarters against Florida State.

"The defense stuffed them time and time again," Johnson said of the Notre Dame game. "They never really let Notre Dame get into the ball game. When you look at the critical ball games, our defense has been outstanding and that's why we're undefeated."

The Hurricanes came out of the Notre Dame game without any serious injuries, and everyone is expected to play Saturday, although Donnie Ellis (knee) and Selwyn Brown (ankle), regular starters in the defensive backfield, probably will not start.

If Miami can win Saturday, the Hurricanes will play in their second national championship game in as many seasons. Miami lost to Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl last year.

But Johnson said there is no added pressure on the team because of the Orange Bowl game.

"I don't know that there's any more pressure," he said. "There's pressure to succeed in every game and at every place. The more you win, the more pressure you have. There's not much pressure on a coach that's 4-6."

HEELS SEARCH FOR COACH

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — North Carolina Athletic Director John Swofford said Tuesday he will chair an eight-man advisory search committee that will be seeking a football coach for the Tar Heels.

The committee became necessary Monday with the resignation of Dick Crum, North Carolina's winningest football coach with a 72-41-3 overall record. Crum accepted an $800,000 buyout from the school's athletic booster club after a 5-6 season.

Other members of the search committee include: Dick Hiskey of Chapel Hill, faculty chairman of the athletic council; Charles Waddell of Charlotte, an alumni member of the athletic council and a player at North Carolina in the 1970s; Mark Maye of Charlotte, who recently completed his eligibility with the Tar Heels and was their starting quarterback the last two seasons.

Cook Of The Week

When It Comes To Culinary Expertise, Wife Puts Husband Way Out In Front

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

When a loving wife gives unabashed testimony to her husband's cooking talents, it's time to sit up and take notice. Dennis Coppola of Sanford, our Cook of the Week, takes top honors in every category, according to his wife, Tina, and has been astounding friends and relatives for years with his original dishes.

Dennis Coppola never runs out of ideas.

their many friends. "At least once a week," says Coppola, "we would invite several friends over and I'd barbecue on the grill or do my fish lasagne—the whole shebang. We ended up finding out that we were spending most of our income on entertaining! That only lasted for so long, but we enjoyed it while we did it."

Good planning is the most important part of putting a meal together, says Coppola. "The hardest thing about cooking, if you're going to cook for a group of people, is to get a meal on the table when everything's right and everything's hot," he says. "You've got to plan it so that everything comes out at the right time. I've gone to other people's homes and when they say, 'Make yourself at home,' I do. I take spices they've never even used before and cook dishes. I guess I just developed a sense of good taste, like good sense. Anything you do in this world is just good, common sense." Coppola laughs when he says, "I can take an empty cupboard and create a gourmet meal. You can make anything taste good with the right combinations."

At one time, he even toyed with the idea of becoming a caterer. "I've cooked several times for large parties," he says. "People want somebody who can come and cook for all these people and have everybody satisfied while they're there and until they leave. I cooked for a friend's birthday party—there were about 150 people—and I smoked about 100 pounds of

Correction

Two of Sally Rosemond's recipes appearing in the Cook of the Week column of Nov. 11 need clarifying.

In the recipe for Coconut Sour Cream Layer Cake, Mrs. Rosemond says the cake freezes well, but for maximum flavor and quality, it must be refrigerated for three days before slicing and freezing whole or in sections as desired.

The corrected recipe for Lemon Frosted Date Squares is as follows:

LEMON FROSTED DATE SQUARES

1 cup flour
1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons brown sugar
Blend above ingredients and pat into 8x8-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes until tannish around edges. Remove from oven.

Mix together:

2 eggs, well-beaten
1 cup brown sugar

Medical Professionals Need Self-Criticism

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT - I am a doctor and I disagree with many of your columns...

You always imply that most doctors are crooks and you are a saint. I doubt that your ethics are so great...

DEAR DOCTOR - I'll cover your bet and raise you. Rule No. 1: Don't ever bet your integrity...

In my columns, I try to be a patient advocate, by giving advice, and, when appropriate, criticizing members of the medical profession...

I'll bet all of my integrity in my 30 years of family practice (making house calls) that you don't have the guts to personally answer this letter.

I doubt that Ralph Nader would open an office with me; he has more important things on his mind than the flamboyance of medical practice...

I don't "always" imply that most doctors are crooks. Some doctors are crooks most of the time...

ribs nonstop. Everything turned out great. It was a lot of work, but it's all in knowing what you're doing as you're doing it, and looking way ahead at the finished product."

He sure knows what he's doing at the supermarket and doesn't even have to make a list. "I don't know what I'm going to get until I get there," he says. "I'll go through the store and see what's on sale and what looks good. Then once I get my main dishes I'll go through and see what goes with this and what goes with that. I guess I create my grocery list when I'm in the store." Some of his most successful meals have been done on the grill, such as smoked ham or leg of lamb, and even whole pigs. "In the 20 years I've been cooking, I can't say I've actually cooked a bad meal where people would turn it away," he confides.

Homemade pizza is Coppola's number one favorite with everyone, he says. "The crust is the secret to everything," he says. "A lot of my friends like the whole wheat crust, so I make it and it blows them away!" Coppola strays from the conventional toppings that are normally added to fast-food pizzas, and they are different! According to his wife, Tina, they include pineapple, broccoli, clams and oysters, among others. She also adds that the barbecues he puts on are "outrageous," noting that his technique combined with his own sauce mixture "adds a flavor to the meat that makes it melt in your mouth and you just never want to stop eating!"

Summing up her husband's culinary qualifications, his appreciative wife adds that "the side dishes he prepares with his main courses are also mouth watering and very flavorful, such as his fried rice. You've never tasted fried rice the way it should taste until you've tried Dennis's. His "naked" vegetables, done in the microwave, actually taste so good that you must eat them to believe it."

Seeing and tasting is believing, and listed below are some creative recipes from a young man who is way ahead of a lot of us:

DENNY'S PIZZA (Makes 8)

Dough:
4 cups hot tap water
3 packages yeast
12 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon sugar

1/4 cup olive oil
5 tablespoons vegetable oil
Combine all dry ingredients in large bowl. Add water and mix to paste. Add olive oil. Add extra flour to thicken. Add 3 tablespoons vegetable oil. Roll into ball. Remove from bowl. Place on floured counter, then knead at least 20 minutes, adding flour as needed for texture. Add 2 tablespoons vegetable oil in bowl. Place dough ball back in bowl. Roll in oil. Let sit 3 or 4 hours, covered with cloth, in warm area without disturbing.

Sauce:
1 pound Italian sausage
1 pound fresh mushrooms
3 cloves garlic
1 medium onion
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1 large can tomato puree
1 medium can tomato sauce
1 medium can stewed tomatoes

1 large can tomato paste
Fry sausage links in large pot. Remove from pot and set aside to slice for topping. Dice garlic and onion, then add to sausage juice. Slice mushrooms, then add to sausage juice. Simmer. Add stewed tomatoes. Add remaining dry ingredients. Slightly mash with potato masher. Add remaining tomato ingredients. Simmer 10 minutes; turn to low heat.

(Options are to be substituted for meat toppings).

Cooking Instructions:

Holiday Baking

Preserve The Time-Honored Tradition Of A Taste Of Home

Holidays provide the perfect excuse to give in to temptation. And why not? The setting is perfect. The warm glow of yesteryear fills the home, and the aromas of freshly baked treats drift in from the kitchen. It's the time of the year when traditions shine.

And, it's the time of the year to treat yourself, your family and guests to those special indulgences denied in the bustle of everyday affairs.

Yet creating special holiday treats doesn't mean having to spend all of the time in the kitchen. These recipes preserve the tradition of home baking and still leave time for the season's numerous duties and delights.

Each of these tempting dishes, created by The Kraft Kitchens, is easy to prepare. All serve well for last minute holiday entertaining or as star attractions in a special menu. And each has cream cheese as its base—one of the favorite ingredients of the holiday season. "Light" neufchatel cheese with 25 percent less fat and 20 percent fewer calories than cream cheese can be substituted in each of these recipes and will perform the same as regular cream cheese.

In celebration of the holiday baking season, Kraft is offering a free cheesecake recipe booklet in addition to the specially created recipes shown here. For a copy of the booklet, send your name, address and zip code to: "Philly" Tempting Cheesecake Recipes, P.O. Box 3598, Libertyville, IL 60108. Booklets will be available through January 31, 1988 or while supplies last. Please allow six to eight weeks for delivery.

Holidays Call For Trying Out New Recipes

Variations Of Favorite Dishes Light Up Hanukkah Gatherings

Children delight in the sharing of gifts during the eight-day Feast of Lights. This year, the Jewish observance of Hanukkah begins at sundown on Tuesday, Dec. 15.

What would a Hanukkah dinner be without latkes, tzimmes and other specialties from Jewish communities around the world? Here are some special dishes to grace the holiday table.

HERBED CHICKEN AND PEPPERS

2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 teaspoon instant minced garlic
1/2 cup and 2 tablespoons water, divided
1 2 1/2-pound chicken, cut into serving pieces
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
2/3 cup dry white wine or apple juice, divided
1 1/2 teaspoons thyme leaves, crushed
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups green and red bell peppers, cut in julienne strips
1 cup carrots, cut in julienne strips

Combine minced onion and garlic with 2 tablespoons water. Let stand for 10 minutes to soften; set aside. Coat chicken with flour; shake off excess.

In a heavy 12-inch skillet, heat oil until hot. Add chicken; brown well on all sides. Drain excess fat. Push chicken to one side of skillet. Add onion and garlic; saute for 1 minute. Add 1/2 cup water and 1/3 cup white wine, thyme, paprika, rosemary, black pepper and salt. Bring mixture to a boil, stirring to scrape the drippings from the bottom of the pan. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until chicken is almost tender, about 40 minutes, adding water if needed.

Add green and red peppers, carrots and remaining 1/3 cup wine. Simmer, covered, until chicken and vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

POPPY-SEED COOKIES

1 cup parve margarine
1 cup sugar
4 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
3 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup poppy seeds
2 egg yolks

In large bowl, cream margarine and sugar, and add eggs and vanilla; mix well. In small bowl, mix dry ingredients, including poppy seeds, and gradually blend into creamed mixture.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten cookies with bottom of glass covered with a damp cloth. Brush top of cookies with beaten egg yolk. Bake in 350-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Store in airtight container. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 5 1/2 to 6 dozen cookies.

ORANGE TZIMMES

3 1/2 cups sliced pared carrots (2 pounds)
1 pound pitted prunes
2 tablespoons parve margarine
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup orange juice

Place carrots and prunes in 2-quart casserole dish. In small saucepan, melt margarine with sugar, salt, nutmeg and pepper. Add orange juice; stir and pour over casserole.

All-American Roaster Ideal Size For Small Holiday Celebrations

Why not serve an "all-American alternative" as the main fare this holiday season—with a whole roaster chicken that provides juicy, tender, delicious meat to please everyone's palate!

A roaster can be stuffed, trussed, glazed and carved. Specially bred to be a larger broader-breasted bird that weighs 5-7 pounds, the roaster yields more meat per pound so it easily feeds six people. And, as compared to turkey, the roaster offers some additional advantages:

- fully stuffed, it cooks in only 2½ hours, which allows you more time to spend with family and friends.
- it is easier to store in your refrigerator or freezer.
- and, it's the perfect size for smaller holiday gatherings, or you may even decide to cook two!

This "All American Roaster" recipe provides you with the perfect meal for the holidays. Cooked with a cranberry glaze and a rice stuffing, and served with sweet potatoes, beans and pumpkin pie. "All American Roaster" is a delectable meal that will have your whole family's mouths watering!

ALL AMERICAN ROASTER
1 whole roaster (5 to 7 pounds)
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

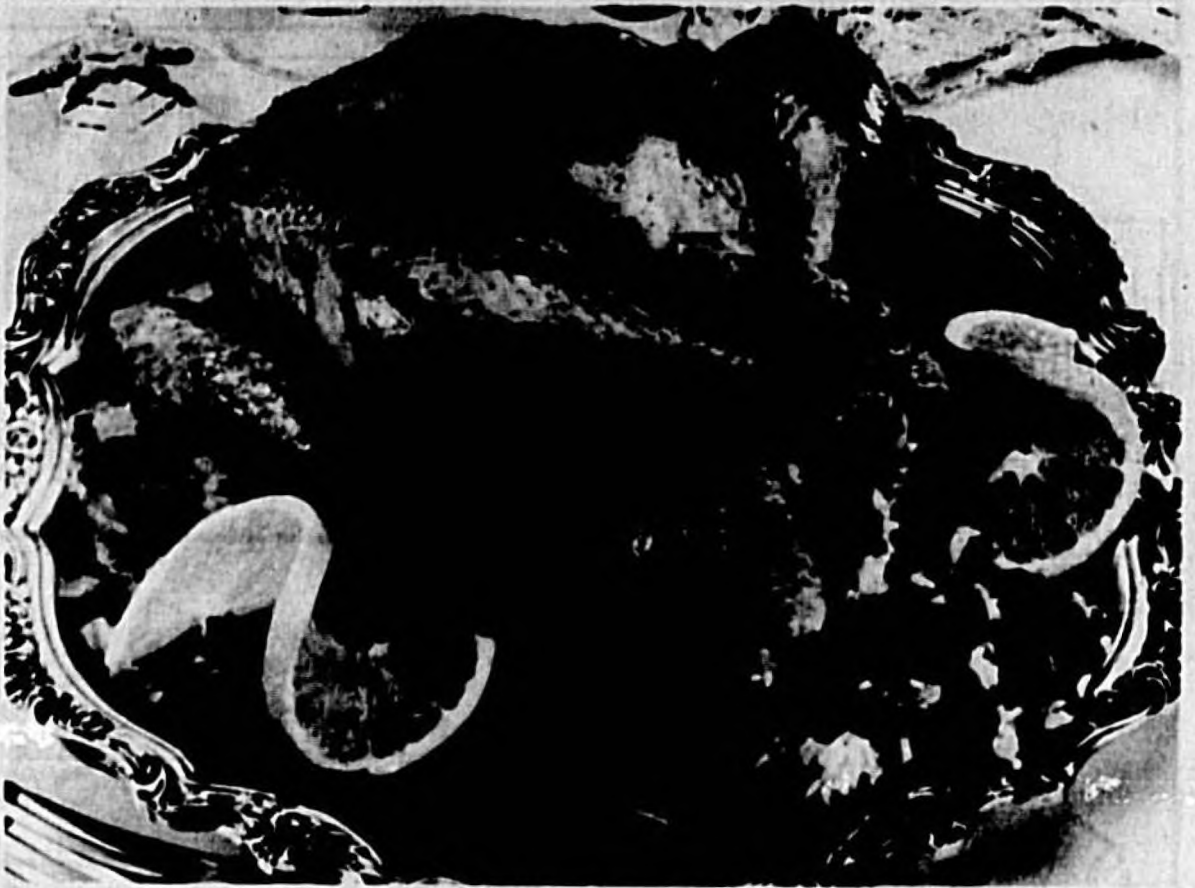

Stuffing:
3 cups cooked wild rice
1 cup cooked white rice
1 cup whole cranberry sauce
½ cup chopped pecans
¼ cup butter, melted

Basting Glaze:
1 can (16 ounces) jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup orange juice Preheat oven to 350°F. Remove giblets. Rinse roaster with cold water inside and out, pat dry. Sprinkle with salt and pepper inside and out.

Mix together stuffing ingredients. Stuff cavity of roaster. Wrap any extra stuffing in foil to bake the last half hour of cooking roaster. Tie the legs together and fold the wings back. Place roaster in roasting pan. Roast 2¼ to 2½ hours or until juices run clear when thickest part of thigh is pierced with a fork. Begin basting roaster after one hour of cooking, then baste every 15 minutes.

To prepare basting glaze, puree cranberry sauce and orange juice in food processor or blender. Serve with sweet potatoes, beans and pumpkin pie with lots of whipped cream.

Roaster is stuffed with rice and cranberries.

Microwave Cooking A Breeze

By Aileen Claire

Cooking fresh squash can be time-consuming, but it's worth the wait. You can take advantage of fall's plentiful supply of squash and use your microwave to cut cooking time in half. Here's a recipe that's supposed to be a vegetable side dish, but tastes almost like a dessert. Serve it with ham or sauteed turkey cutlets.

SAUCY SQUASH

2 acorn squash, uncut
1 15-ounce jar chunky apple sauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Pierce each squash with fork. Place on microwave-proof plate. Cook on Full for 4 minutes, turning over after 2 minutes. Cut squash in half. Scoop out seeds, cut squash into half-inch slices and slice off peel.

Place sliced pulp in a 8-inch-by-12-inch glass casserole dish. Mix together remaining ingredients in small bowl. Pour over squash. Cover with microwave-safe plastic wrap. Cook, covered, on Full for 11 to 13 minutes, or until tender. Let stand 5 minutes before serving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHILLED TOMATO-CUCUMBER SOUP

2 medium cucumbers, peeled, seeded and chopped
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon chopped fresh dill (or ¼ teaspoon dried dill weed)
1 small clove garlic, minced
1 11-ounce can condensed tomato bisque
¼ cup water
¼ cup sour cream

In 2-quart microwave-safe casserole, combine cucumber, onion, dill and garlic. Cover. Microwave on High 4 to 6 minutes, or until vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally.

In covered blender container, on high speed, blend cucumber mixture, bisque, water and sour cream until smooth. Chill at least 2 hours. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 3 cups, or 3 servings.

PARTY CHEESE TARTS

2 packages (12) graham-cracker ready-crust tarts
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon melted butter
½ small onion
1 green onion or small leek, finely chopped
3 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup Cheddar cheese, grated
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2 to 3 drops Tabasco pepper sauce

Brush bottoms and sides of tarts with egg yolk. Bake at 350 degrees for 3 minutes. Remove from oven.

Gently cook onion and green onion in melted butter until soft, but not brown. Beat the eggs and blend in milk, cheese, onions, salt, pepper and pepper sauce. Pour into tarts. Bake at 350 degrees for 18 to 20 minutes, or until set. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 12 tarts.
