

Ground Is Lost On Troop Pullout

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH (AP) — In the two months since U.S. troops pulled out of Cambodia, Gen. Lan's government has steadily lost ground in its war against the Communists.

Washington has granted Phnom Penh $40 million in military aid and has committed limited U.S. air power to back up government troops in the field. But this has not been enough to reverse the deteriorating military and political situation. The overriding impression is that the government's strategy of abandoning more than half the country to Communist control to insure the defense of the land is not working well. The plan called for abandoning the extreme north, most of the extreme south, and some areas that were once held by South Vietnamese and American troops.

The heartland starts southeast of Phnom Penh and runs in a wide belt to the northwest, taking in the rich rice and fish-producing areas on both sides of Cambodia's huge lake, the Tonle Sap. Most of the country's population is centered in this area.

But nearly all of the north shore of the lake is controlled by the Communists. The government strongholds at Siem Reap 145 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, and Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of the capital, are not doing well. Roads to Siem Reap are out periodically and Kompong Thom, a provincial capital, has been surrounded for months. Government casualties have been heavy at Kompong Thom, and food is so short that soldiers and townspeople slaughtered the animals in the city's zoo for meat.

The Communists have made no serious attempt to attack Phnom Penh, but the city's defenses are not particularly strong. The capital is particularly wide open to rocket and mortar attacks from across the Mekong River to the east.

Four of Cambodia's seven major highways have been closed almost continuously for three or more months. Highway 4, which links Phnom Penh with Kompong Som, the country's only remaining access to the ocean, remains open only because enemy troops have not known one of the many lightly defended bridges running through the Elephant Mountains.

On the northern front, fishing areas populated mainly by ethnic Vietnamese have provided more or less willing recruits and transportation workers to the Communists, especially after the Cambodians slaughtered many Vietnamese living in Cambodia during the early days of the war.

The government officially denies that the Kammer Rouge, the Cambodian followers of Prince Sihanouk, pose any problem. But field commanders again tell a different story. Communist sources say 8 per cent of the Communist force in Cambodia is made up of American bombing in Cambodia, has provoked attacks against Communist supply lines leading to Vietnam through Cambodia, are now routine, and damage sometimes inevitably extends to civilian areas. Tactical strikes around Siem Reap are reported to have been one of the best recruiting points for the Communists, who claim that the Americans are out to conquer Cambodia and are destroying villages with their planes.

Nevertheless, expert commentary was with the one in Vietnam say the Communists in Cambodia are fighting at three times the rate of speed.

"The Communists have had three months," one Western expert said. "They could have taken it out they haven't. One of the unobtrusive side effects is that the government is getting more frightened when it looks at the situation map."

TAXPAYERS of SEMINOLE COUNTY

RICHARD J. WIRZ

DEMOCRAT

"LAYS IT ON THE LINE"

Seminole County needs leadership with the concern of ALL county taxpayers in mind! Seminole County needs an ACTION leader who is willing to take a stand and submit a PLAN OF ACTION to the taxpayer so that the taxpayer may go to the polls informed! RICHARD J. WIRZ is willing to lay it on the line! The following 12 point program is the basis of my candidacy: STRONG LAW ENFORCEMENT . . . I am a law and order candidate! I favor strong law enforcement both by legislation and favorable policy programs.

BETTER ROADS . . . I advocate a county wide road paving program geared to the '70's with Seminole County's population the prime consideration.

REGULATION OF PRIVATE UTILITIES . . . A utility board should be established to regulate rates of private utility companies and set criterion standards for the affected areas.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION . . . I feel, at this time, the county lacks protective legislation for its environment. If elected, I will strive to implement the proper legislation to protect the people's natural gifts of water, air, and natural resources.

ECONOMIC GROWTH . . . I will strive, with ALL Seminole County in mind, to obtain a cross section of industry to blend in with our natural waterways and action centers.

REALISTIC PROPERTY TAX . . . I favor a realistic tax base that will be fair and equitable to every Seminole County taxpayer.

COUNTY WIDE ANIMAL CONTROL PROGRAM . . . I favor an animal reclamation center with a workable schedule to handle all stray animals within the county.

DEVELOPMENT OF A COUNTY MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE . . . A representative committee should be established consisting of a county commissioner alternately, representatives from all municipalities within the county, representatives from the industrial and agriculture segments, and representatives from large density areas not incorporated, to meet and discuss mutual problems which will be aired and taken under consideration by the commission. This will aid the county officials with their long-range planning and understanding of the county problems on a closer basis.

DEVELOPMENT OF COUNTY OWNED LANDS . . . Present county owned properties are deteriorating at an alarming rate! I will strive to protect and maintain YOUR recreational investments!

FIRE PROTECTION . . . I will work to implement a county wide program, working with existing fire departments, to offer protection to ALL county residents on a fair and equitable basis.

OPEN LINES OF COMMUNICATION . . . I, as your county commissioner, propose an "Open Door" policy to ALL taxpayers in Seminole County.

Enrollment Sets New Record 21,000 Students Trek To School

The ringing of school bells, dormant for the past three months, were heard again this morning at all 25 Seminole County schools with a record 21,000 sleepy-eyed students enrolled in grades 1-12.

They gathered their papers and tramped off to start another phase in the organized learning process that never stops, although a tentative goal of 12 years has been set.

Most county students will find themselves in new surroundings with unknown faces and names that will require some adjustment on the part of all concerned.

Two Sanford schools, which were expected to cause some problems in mixing since they were formerly black neighbors, were orderly this morning as white students from Pine Crest Elementary School were bused for the first time into the black ghetto for fourth and fifth grade studies.

Only Midway Elementary School is predominantly black, but a sprinkling of white students is expected to desegregate that facility for the first time.

County school board's integration plan, into Pine Crest Elementary, also for the first time and in line with the pairing of the two elementary schools.

For the first time in the county's history, all but one school now has a majority white student body based on the black-white racial composition of the county.

Most county students will find themselves in new surroundings with unknown faces and names that will require some adjustment on the part of all concerned.

Teacher Hearing Slated Thursday

Hearing has been set for 2 p.m. Thursday for the attractive Lyman High teacher protesting her transfer from Lyman High School during 1970-71, and had notified on numerous occasions. Principal Carlton Henley, that she could not turn as a Seminole County School employee, unless she was permitted to remain at Lyman High.

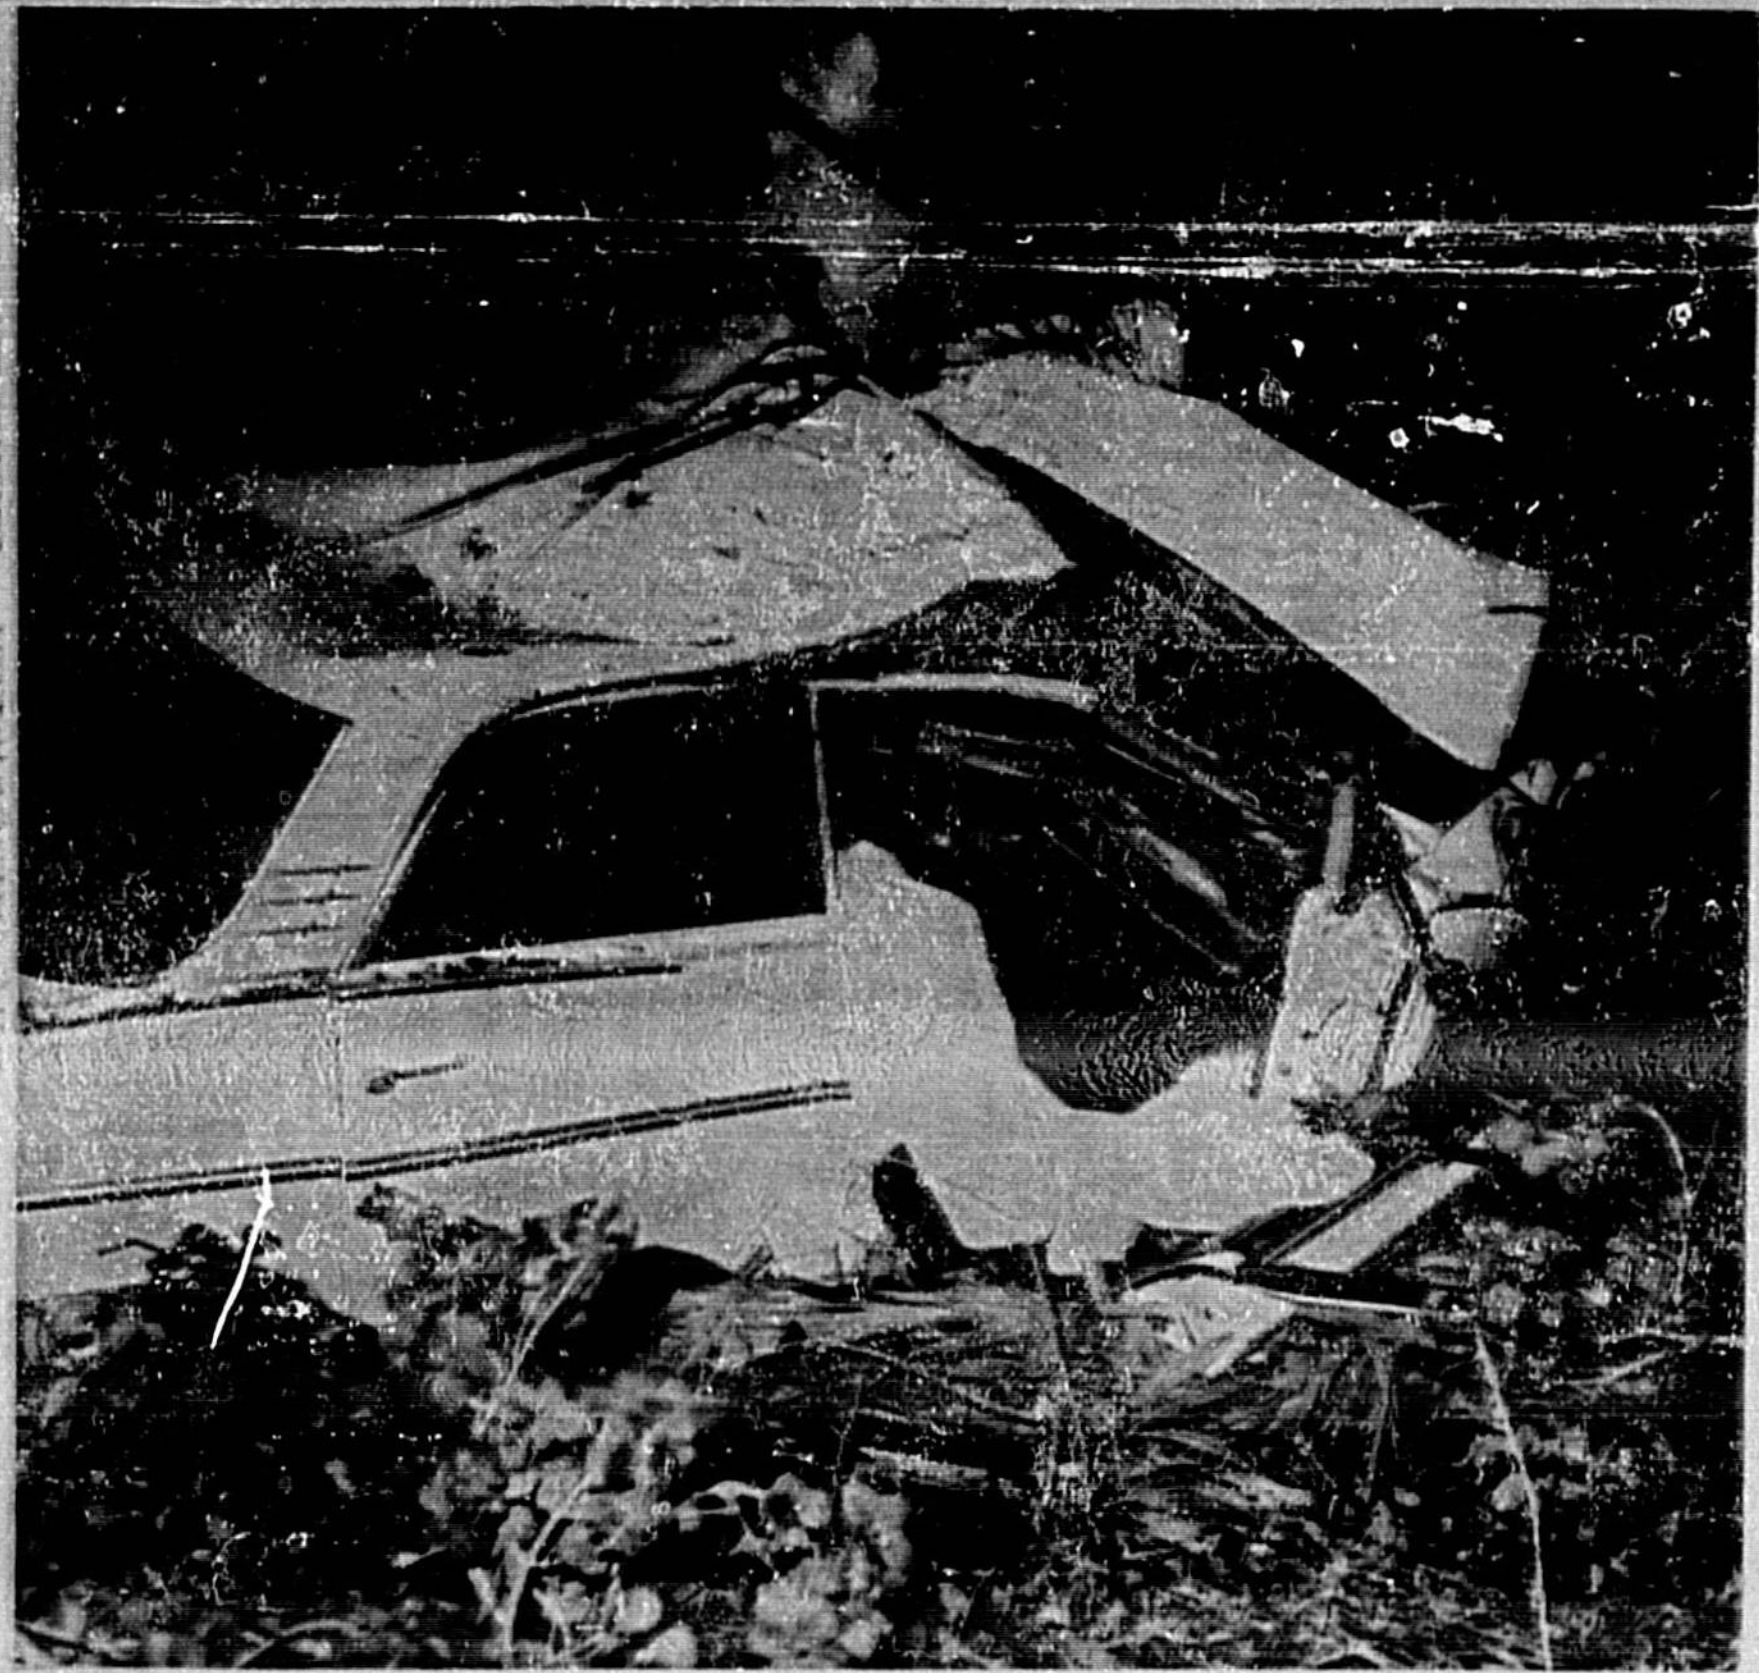

Mrs. Pipkins claims that she was transferred to Crooms, 20 miles north of Lyman, a position she had held for her first work day, that she was advised she was being transferred to Crooms High, a facility 20 miles north of Lyman High, to teach ninth grade English, a course she had never taught.

It is thought that the vandals entered through the front gate. A window was broken in the men's room, a glass case shattered and mutual tickets were strewn all around.

Use Cosmic Age Paint, Carpets In Your Home

THE OWNERS OF COSMIC AGE, Don Lovelace and Bill Faulkner can give your home a cosmetic lift that will delight you. Their store is on Highway 17-92 in Longwood, just north of the traffic light. Cosmic Age carries all types of painting equipment, Richard's Paints, carpeting, tile, and wallpaper.

By CHARNER LEONE
Cosmic Age might be better named "Cosmetic Age." Because what the people at Cosmic Age can do to your home is just as intricate as what a cosmetic can do for the gal who keeps her home running! Bill Faulkner and Donald Lovelace have been friends and business partners for over a decade. So it was natural that they should open a business together.
They have paints (And they're the best you can buy, claim the owners staunchly.) and wallpapers and carpeting that will do more for your home than a session at your favorite hairdressers will do for you! And if you don't believe it, come down and see for yourself what they have to offer.
They're not hard to find. Cosmic Age is located in Longwood on Highway 17-92 just north of Webb's Pharmacy. They're open every weekday from 8-5, until 5 p.m. on Friday and from 8-12 noon on Saturday. And they'll open any night by appointment. The number is 831-8505, 831-8644 and 841-2276. This last listing is an Orlando number.
"And we'll give free estimates and home appointments," said Mrs. William Lovelace—Kay, who leaves the office end of the business on a smoothly-running basis.
Cosmic Age offers the finest carpets by Seattle, Seagrass and Viking. "We have an Orlando distributor, so the service is very prompt," said Bill. And they carry the lower priced Creative Carpets, by Dolly Madison and Marnacraft. "We don't use a distributor on these, and can pass the savings on to the customer," Kay pointed out.
They carry only top quality — no second-hand and have a complete line of colors and patterns.
To complete their line of floor covering Cosmic Age carries Kertile floor tile and Marlington sheet goods (linoleum) that is of a high grade and good quality.
"And we have the rubber backed carpets that you can install yourself. That's getting very popular," said Kay, speaking from the feminine point of view.
They are especially proud of the Richard's paint carried at Cosmic Age.
"We haven't had a complaint on our paint in any of the ten years we have been using it," said Don proudly. "It's the best paint in Central Florida," he added emphatically.
He elaborated, "It's easy working, and sells at a moderate price, lower than most paints and it lasts well."
Bill and Don have been painting contractors together for ten years. They know what

"I've Always Loved Flowers"

Let Ann's Florist And Gift Shop Help You Plan Your Wedding
By CHARNER LEONE
She understands the need of her patron for a bouquet that says "I love you" or "Welcome to My Home." She is adept at conveying a message with subtlety and in perfect taste.
Ann's talent with flowers comes from a long standing feeling for them. She has been a member of the Sanford Garden Club, and maintains a garden at home. But, roses are my favorite," she confesses.
Her natural talents has been polished to a fine degree through courses she has attended at Stetson University and in Sanford in flower arranging.
Ann's talents are varied. She adeptly arranges not only live flowers, but artificial bouquets as well for those who want the lasting beauty of man-made flowers. As a special, personal service she will arrange the flowers, artificial or from the garden, for her patrons.
The dish gardens that are becoming so popular are a favorite of Ann's. These miniature gardens are perfect either as a focal point in your home or to form a charming decorative function when larger, bulkier bric-a-brac would be in poor taste.
Avocado green decor items as a backdrop for the arrangements at Ann's Florist and Gift Shop. From the spectacular arrangement to the most simple, roused in a vase; from tiny figurines that will surely become treasured possessions to gracious, graceful cases—Ann's Florist and Gift Shop offers a wide selection. And not to be overlooked, her prices are the lowest in the area.
Mothers of the Bride, take note: Ann has added a welcome new service—she has all of the lovely accessories you'll need for the wedding reception for rent, and she'll actually direct the wedding! Her experience and natural love of beautiful things make her well qualified, indeed for this "work".
Mrs. H. D. Whitten is now with Ann, ably assisting her. "Stop in, browse a bit. Ann will be happy to see you and offer her expert advice in the area she knows best. The fragrance of the blossoms, the hospitality offered by the comfortable lounge and chairs, the softness of a blend of greens and vivid bright spots of color from the flowers — the beauty of nature at her finest await you at Ann's Florist and Gift Shop.

Public School Education In Seminole County

Public school education in Seminole County, as well as in the whole state of Florida, is very much on trial.

It is an issue concerning which every responsible candidate for high office has expressed himself. When the results of today's First Primary are known, the nominees — especially for governor and state legislators — will have to speak out freely and clearly.

As public schools open in our county today, some measure of the complexity of problems which confront the school board members and the superintendent of schools may be at least apparent.

Fate of school children in Seminole public educational institutions has been a toy of the winds of political influences. It is probably accurate to say that education, in its basic and pure meaning (the impartation of learning and the love of learning) has never recovered from the mishandling it got during the first part of the Kirk administration.

Too late for saying the blame was on Kirk. But it must be noted that the reduction of a drive for better education to a personal vendetta addressed by Gov.

Claude R. Kirk Jr., (R) towards Education Commissioner Floyd Christian (D) did nothing to help.

But it is not too late for a sobering look at the outward appearance of the school board and the superintendent's apparent conviction that what is needed is an extension of his bureaucracy.

This is precisely what is not needed. Talk about the restructuring of the entire fabric of public school education in the state is not confined to our county. The pouring of dollars into the bottomless hole dug by educational demands has produced taxpayer reactions in the matter of funding elsewhere.

Whether such restructuring would lead to the hiring of administrators to handle administrative matters and teachers to do the teaching is a suggestion which is very much in the stream of modern thought.

We do not, of course, pretend to any expertise on such a matter. Yet our contact with educators, politicians, and government officials does indicate that this could be one way where dollar language would be stopped.

Time was when the subject of educational costs hinged largely on the door marked "Faculty Salaries." No one could deny that these had fallen behind the upward sweep during the years of the "Affluent Society." Most observers could see that there was, in very truth, a lack of teachers.

But not so now. Teachers are in very good supply according to authoritative reports. Salaries have been upped to the point where good performance should be demanded for each good pay.

The hole in the educational pocket-book is its spending dollars and only getting cents' worth of performance. This need to be remedied. Overstuffed, which they have been trained and putting them in positions for which they have not been trained, merely to unblock a faculty situation, is costly in the extreme.

Of course there have been improvements in public school operations as the county systems have been called on to put into practice certain changes which have come from Mr. Christian's office.

This is a welcome development. But what must be asked is whether or not the entire system is so faulty in its basic concept, so inextricably enmeshed in the past that only a true cutting of the Gordian

Knot would free the system.

On the national scene there is the almost revolutionary concept of viewing schooling as the proper means for preparing the youth — not just the selected youth — for a useful, helpful mature life in the climate of the 1970s. Vocational training is coming into its own.

Seminole County, as has been said so often to have lost its punch, is over the threshold and into a decade of the greatest promise and peril.

We can induce industry to locate here. We can attract the golden dollars of tourism. We can even get some good roads. Our economy can boom.

But all of this is as nothing without the precious and priceless ingredient of education, of having our public institutions efficiently run, of creating that aura of success which comes when every graduate of every public school can show his diploma anywhere and have it accepted as an undisputed guarantee of educational excellence.

Seminole County public schools are entering a year of trial during which it will be performance in every aspect which will let them get passing grades in June!

Pay increases

Kentucky General News announced that cover and cover again, things are being done in the same routine way because very few people ever ask, "Why can't we find a new or better way? How can it be done at less cost?" It isn't always easy to look at one's own job with a fresh new look. It's sometimes difficult to look at a job in a different perspective, but it's very rewarding when you do. Little ideas and subtle changes become obvious, and you wonder, "Why didn't I think of that before? It was right there in front of me!" More people are looking for excuses why not to try a new approach than are looking for new approaches. We cannot simply respond to change. We must initiate it.

Your Own Time

Those who think a university should be a center of activism rather than a well of knowledge have promoted the idea of suspending classes for a week or two before the November election to let students work in political campaigns.

Not Florida universities, said the State Board of Regents. And rightly so.

Universities are there to teach, not to provide recruits for political movements. Any student who feels strongly enough about a candidate or cause can do his campaigning after working hours, as he'll have to do once he leaves the campus and goes into a business or profession. — Tampa (Fla.) JOHNNY ONE-NOTE

Hal Boyle Says:

"Pavement Plato" - Women's Wants

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORKER (AP) — Curbsome comments of a Pavement Plato.

What is it women really want?

"This question has created a great deal of honest male bewilderment in the wake of the new women's liberation movement.

Among the stated aims of the movement are these: child care centers, equal pay for equal work, an end to job discrimination, abortion on demand, equality with men at every level, and a refusal to be treated as mere sexual objects.

"I don't want to be put on a par with men," said a practical, concerned young lady of my acquaintance. "Then I'd have to do everything myself. I like to see some guy do it for me."

What puzzles the average man most, however, is why women should want to be equal with him when he already feels he is unequal to them. Do they want to turn the clock backward?

The liberation-seeking ladies protest the chauvinism of the American male, but to the men of the rest of the world the American man is an object of ridicule for what they feel is his unjust servility to women.

While he is still waddling around in his diapers, a little boy is able to punch a toy-stealing little girl in the mouth as if she were just another ordinary human being.

But in kindergarten he is taught that little girls are superior and extraordinary human beings made of delicate fibers, spanked into saluting them, and he goes on saluting them until the end of his days. The female sex gains an edge on him it never loses.

It is not men but women who have the better union in America.

A man is expected to light a woman's cigarette for her, leap to his feet when she enters or leaves a room, push both his and her way through revolving doors, buy her lunches and so on.

A man is also expected to marry a woman when she wants him to, to support her and his side of the family, and work himself to death earning the money to buy her a bigger car, a nicer home, more expensive vacation trips, and a better hair dryer than the wife next door has.

When he does die, it is further expected of him that he will have had the gallantry and foresight to leave her enough money so that she can spend comfortably — not luxuriously, the seven or eight years of widowhood she will enjoy before joining him in heaven — the one she chose, not him.

Does all this sound like he treated her like a mere sexual object?

What do women really want? There are days when the average man feels that what they want is "all there is—and what ever is left."

Whatever they want, men don't have it. They've been giving everything they had to it for years for quite some time now.

Allies Oppose U. S. Pullback

By BRUCE RIOSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A year has passed since his crucial words were spoken, yet President Nixon's "Doctrine" — an American profile low around the world but still exerting the high influence benefitting great powers — has not really moved beyond the paper stage.

As Vice President Agnew discovered, dependent allies like Thailand and South Korea want the U.S. presence well-maintained, whether it be felt in dollars or in soldiers standing guard along an aging armistice line.

In Western Europe, some 310,000 American soldiers, two-thirds of them in Germany, man the few world's barriers against the Soviet Union. Chancellor Willy Brandt wants them to stay, and they will, though he may painfully find ways of helping to pay the cost of keeping them there.

The battle ground in Vietnam itself was to be a proving place for the doctrine, as U.S. troops were withdrawn and our "help" for a beleaguered people took other form.

The withdrawals are real enough and they surely will go on. But it has become clear that the President intends to manage the pullout in a fashion which keeps some American air, sea and ground combat troops on the Vietnam scene so long as any hope remains of Saigon sustaining its independence from Hanoi.

That a year has elapsed without the Nixon doctrine given so little reality should not, however, occasion great surprise. For it calls for agencies of change both here and in many foreign lands.

Some of our allies have become as dependent upon us as a myopic man upon his spectacles. The longer he has their help, the more he needs it.

We, for our part, cannot quickly break the habit of standing high wherever we move in the world. As Nixon said in his candid Guam talk when he enunciated the new doctrine, Americans find it hard to resist taking over and dominating whatever enterprises they engage in. They have done it in Vietnam and they early did it as U.S. soldiers fished out the NATO alliance in Europe.

It would be a major miracle if we achieved more than the barest beginnings toward fulfillment of so reasoned a course of action and policy in so short a time.

Turned to the top at World War II's end, we were green-bait at world leadership. We came to the role of a national history of pretending that the rest of the world wasn't there, beyond the oceans. We've spent a generation fumbling with the controls that affect the lives of many millions across the earth.

The year since Nixon spoke at Guam has seen us still locked in war in South Vietnam, probing briefly and confusedly into neighboring Cambodia, beset by deep unrest and violence and some economic distress at home. It was hardly the ideal time frame in which to launch a unique world policy that calls not only for high leadership but also for new depths of understanding and support in America and in the affected foreign lands.

South Vietnamese Land Reform

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Just over a year after introducing a land reform bill to the South Vietnamese Parliament, President Nguyen Van Thieu flew to the southern Mekong River delta in late August to distribute the first land titles to be handed out to the peasant farmers.

An American deeply immersed in the program described the South Vietnamese land reform act as "one of the great non-Communist land reform forms of the 20th century."

In speaking with American support, the land reform act through a sometimes-reluctant Parliament, Thieu had taken a major step from the Communist Viet Cong who had made free distribution of land one of the most appealing parts of their program to win over the Vietnamese peasantry.

Conversely, as the army recaptured land from the Communists and the landlords moved in behind them to collect back rents, it had become one of the most important factors in peasant reaction against the Saigon government.

From legering and mild suspicion of government motives, the peasant attitudes toward the new program had shifted dramatically to one of hope.

Many of the peasant farmers rate ownership of their own land above security and Communist threats to kill anyone found with government papers in their hands.

The new law authorizes the government to buy land from the landlords and to distribute it free to the peasants now farming it.

It is expected that ultimately some 60 per cent of the 7.5 million acres of land under cultivation in South Vietnam will be distributed to approximately a million peasant families, most of them in the delta and central highlands.

Landlords will be paid 20 per cent of the value of the land in cash and 80 per cent in government bonds which draw 20 per cent annual interest.

The interest rate is less than the annual rate of inflation and

Showers Dampen Apathetic Voting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Faced by a lengthy ballot and the prospect of wet weather, Democrats and Republicans turned out in Florida today to choose party nominees for the November elections.

Heading the state poll watchers attention was the Republican gubernatorial battle featuring Gov. Claude Kirk's bid for re-election and the challenges thrown at him by drug-store millionaire Jack Eckhard and State Sen. L.A. "Skip" Balfanz, a former political ally.

On the national level, the GOP and its interparty fight for the U.S. Senate nomination claimed the attention as rejected Supreme Court nominee, G. Harrold Carswell, Rep. Bill Kramer and Hollywood auto body shop owner George Palmer sought the voters' approval.

The polls were to be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. local time, and for the first time since a new law voters could carry "crib sheets" or marked sample ballots into the booths with them to cope with the long list of candidates.

But a new state law allowing bars to open during election hours won't go into effect until Oct. 1.

Regardless of interest — or lack of it — in the races the Weather Bureau said voters showing up at just about any point in Florida stood a good chance of getting wet. Showers were forecast for most of the state, especially in the afternoon.

On the Democratic side, nine candidates sought nomination for the governor's office and

Pregnant Women Paid To 'Sleep In'

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Ismet Karacan pays women $10 a night to sleep at his place — and each night gets three or four takers.

The doctor's limit is 45 nights for any one woman, but the federal government will supply enough money this year to insure 500 women in for one night each.

All in the name of science, of course.

Dr. Karacan, a psychiatrist, director of the Psycho-physiology of Sleep Laboratory at the University of Florida. He is in the midst of studying sleep of pregnant women for clues to predicting cases of "postpartum blues" that lunge some women into depression after they give birth.

"In my first year of psychiatric residency my first six patients had postpartum blues," Dr. Karacan, a psychiatrist, is killed by the baby. Those things made a heavy impact on me."

"From a blue sky the person can become like this. They have the first baby, the pregnancy is normal, now the woman has the fruit of nine months waiting. Within a week or two she becomes incompetent emotionally, quite disturbed and depressed with severe crying spells and so on."

Each night the subjects come to the laboratory to be wired to machines which electronically read brain waves and record sleep patterns in jagged lines graph paper.

The machines, which Dr. Karacan said cost $250 per patient night, puts out 1,500 pages of data on a single night's sleep.

The two-year study requires $80,000 a year in federal funds.

"Already we are finding that in later pregnancy sleep is quite a bit disturbed despite the fact that the woman is clinically normal. There is no sign of depression or the blues but she sleeps not so soundly," said Dr. Karacan, a native of Turkey.

"Brainwaves of these patients are like those of sick, depressed patients and we find they are occurring two weeks or a month before birth. When the changes occur early and more severely we find the patient is not as apt to recover so fast after birth as the normal patient who snags back in about two weeks," Dr. Karacan said.

Davis said his studies had shown that sex deviates more of low moral character long before they were exposed to pornography.

Dr. Mann said his own studies with adults viewing stag films produced "nothing very dramatic" — to the sexual behavior of the married couple.

A new dress or a ride in a sports car, Mann said, possibly does as much to stimulate the average American as stag films do.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are in our fifties and our children are married, so there are just the two of us home. A few weeks ago, while I was on a short business trip, my wife exchanged our large dining table for two twin beds. I didn't raise my objection at the time, but now I wish I had.

After having slept in two spoons for more than 30 years, I don't realize it would make such a big difference in our lives. There is something about sleeping together that seems to generate a feeling of security and reassurance, and makes life's daily problems easier to cope with. It made going to bed something to look forward to all of that in gone now and I feel that we have lost a certain closeness.

What infuriates me is that my wife seems pleased with the new arrangement. I often go to bed to anger. I have trouble falling asleep. She drops right off and sleeps like a log.

I haven't made a big deal out of it, but I have complained mildly a couple of times. I'm sure if I insisted on going back to the double bed she'd agree, but what would I gain if she did it against her wishes? Maybe you can suggest something.

DEAR ABBY: I have a "big deal" out of it, because as far as you're concerned, it is a big deal. If you don't tell her how you feel, she won't know. (She may be flattered.) On the other hand, you may even bug her. You're the boss, but listen to this: Whenever she sends me a gift for any occasion (even Christmas), she sends the gift, with the sales slip enclosed, the package wrapped in the gift, and she asks me to take it back and exchange it. It will be easier.

This doesn't mean I don't like a gift. It's more a question of the gift. Don't you think part of the thrill of getting a gift is having it come all neatly wrapped? DISAPPOINTED: This is one for the "not can't win" department. Your mother-in-law is thoughtful, whimsical and practical. And you are lucky. (What do you want? Egg in your beer?)

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from "SHOGH IN MONTANA," who had a bad luck? (What do you want? Egg in your beer?) DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from "SHOGH IN MONTANA," who had a bad luck? (What do you want? Egg in your beer?)

Jacoby On Bridge

By Jacoby

During the course of the Culbertson-Lenz match Elly Culbertson came out with a new trick. He autographed a copy of "Shiny Sam" as "the grand old man of bridge" and another to Oswald Jacoby as the grand young man of bridge. Shiny Sam was 67, Jacoby 26. There were two great players who are considerably younger than 28.

In both the Official System as played by Lenz and Jacoby and the Culbertson System, the whole jump overall was supposed to show a great good hand. Young Jacoby insisted on using a weak jump overall.

Stone and Kaplan-Shenfield systems had even become an option in Standard American. They are also going to be used by Jacoby Modern, although never with hands quite as weak as the one that Jacoby bid against the Culbertson's. Elly's hand was a good sound opening diamond bid. There, now or any time in the future, Elly had not thought of the idea of re-asking a bid at that time and the Culbertsons might well have reached the diamond slam had once he threw that monkey wrench into their machinery they couldn't stop.

Jacoby's eight of spades lead was a most fortunate one. Without a spade lead the slam would have been a cinch. Jacoby didn't think that Lenz would hold the spade ace. He wanted to get Elly to play the ace from dummy if dummy held it. As it was, Sidney took the ace and returned the suit to Jacoby's king.

soon begin to dress that her model skeleton with wonderful emotional "clothing."

And it is not your ears that account for most of this result, but the generalized "affective" or emotional state you are in. Thus, a dozen bars of familiar old church hymns may bring tears to your eyes because they have been linked with funerals.

Another type of music may cause you to be overwhelmed with a rush of romantic memories but may leave me relatively cold.

In my own case, "Marqueta" was just coming into vogue when I was organizing our Northwestern University Alumni for our finance drive to erect our downtown Chicago campus.

And I was escorting a charming blonde to dinner at the Blackhawk Hotel dining room in Deavenport, Iowa. A splendid quartette and orchestra in the dining room "brainwashed" me then.

Now, if you start playing "Marqueta," I get a quick emotional throbback.

Auto Strike Deadline Nearing

DETROIT (AP) — With less than a week to go before contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the Big Three automakers began today, the union awaits a second offer from its twin strike targets, General Motors and Chrysler Corp.

With facts at GM, Chrysler and Ford Motor Co. ending at midnight next Tuesday, negotiations continued through the Labor Day weekend, but little progress was reported. The companies' initial offer, which the firms said included a wage increase of 7.5 per cent in the first year but which the UAW said amounted to no more than 3.1 per cent, was quickly rejected by the union last week.

Over the weekend, the UAW completed presentation of its contract demands at GM and Chrysler.

Details of the UAW wage demands were not made public. The current average hourly wage for UAW-represented auto workers is $4.02, with fringe benefits averaging an additional $1.75 hourly, according to company estimates.

Irving Bluestone, codirector of the union's GM department, said Monday there had been no indication whether or when GM might make a revised offer.

GM's chief negotiator, Earl Bramblett, indicated when he first offered his terms that a second offer might be forthcoming later.

Bluestone said: "If we are going to have a bargaining posture in which we can negotiate, the chances of winning the necessary two-thirds majority are in doubt."

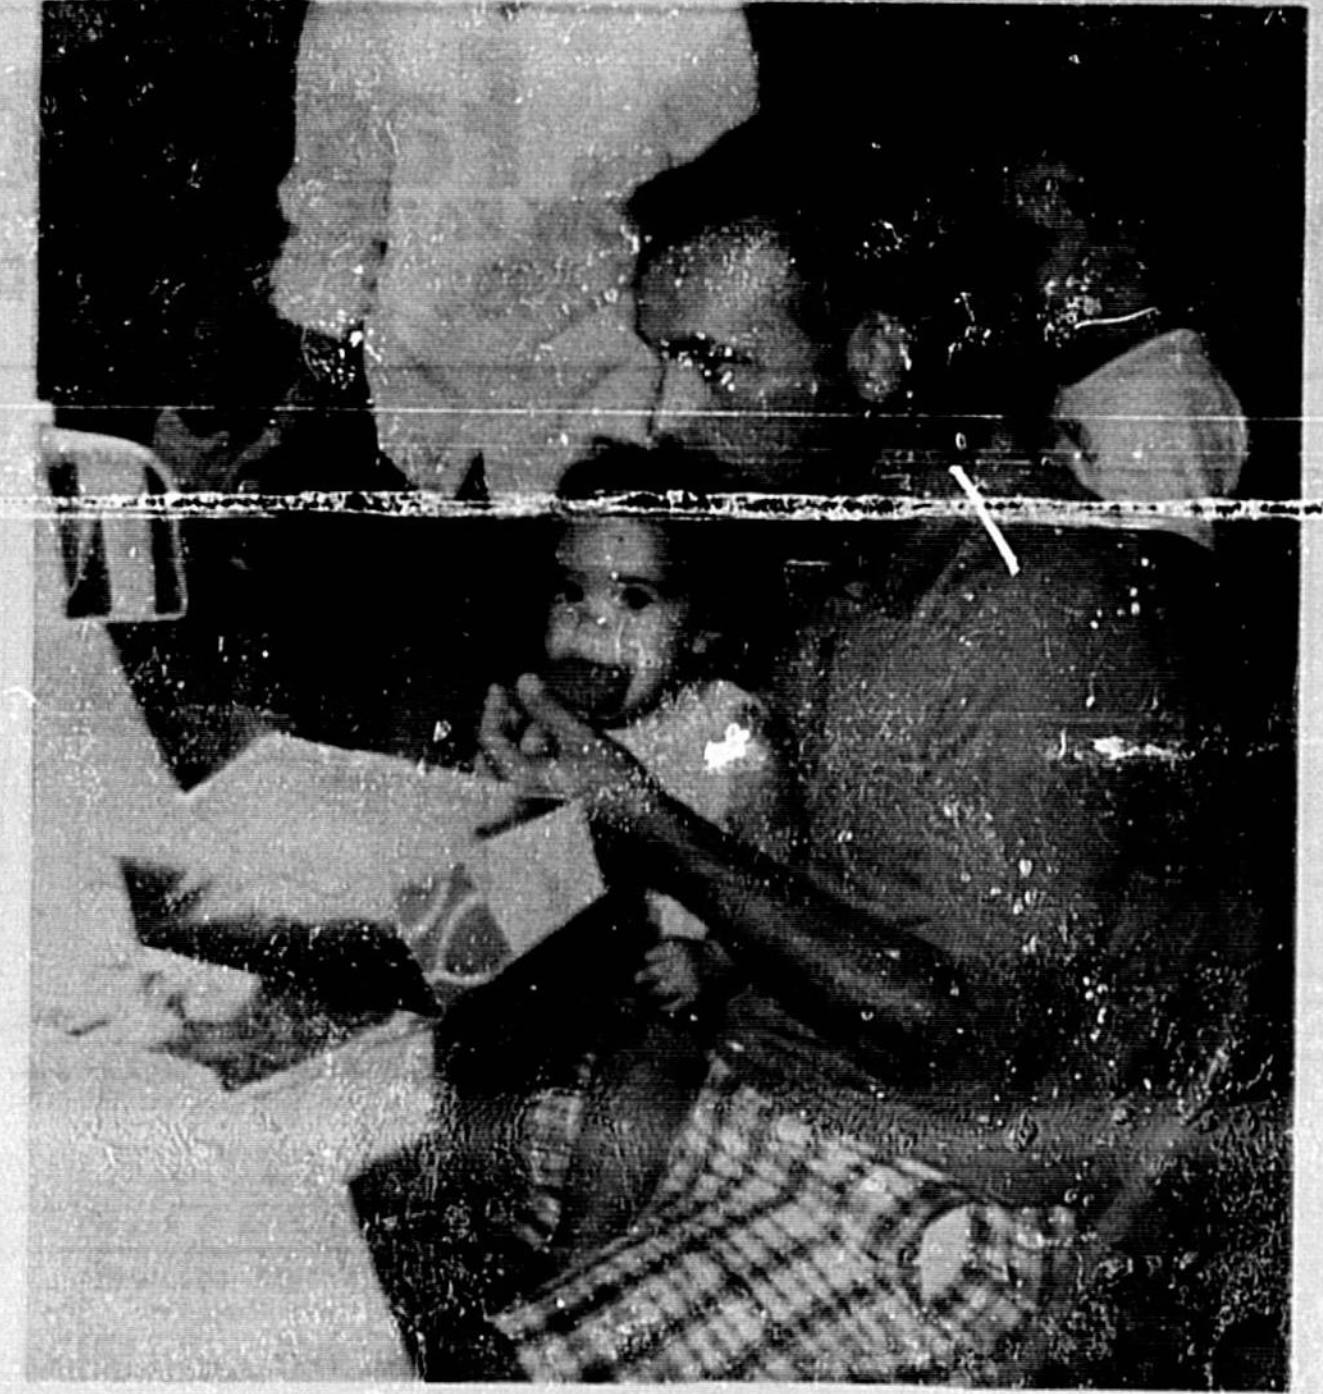

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the proposed amendment, contends 55 to 60 senators now support the proposal. He predicts the measure will pick up enough additional votes to pass.

But he told newsmen before the debate got underway that it is going to be a tough uphill fight and made plain that he would welcome White House efforts to line up senators behind the amendment.

President Nixon endorsed the direct election proposal after its approval by the House by a vote of 239-70.

He previously had rejected nomination over the present electoral college system of choosing the president, expressing doubts that discrediting it altogether would be approved by Congress and the states—at least in time for the 1974 election.

Bayh said "the odds are now rather heavily stacked against the plan being put into effect for the next presidential election."

Legal Marijuana Is Recommended

By JANET STAIBAR Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A government study says the rate of violent crimes by urban blacks is higher than for whites, and the majority of those offenses involve Negroes attacking Negroes.

The report, originally prepared by a three-man staff for the new-defunct National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, also recommended the legalization of marijuana for persons over age 21.

In addition to reaching agreement on a national contract, negotiators for the union and the companies must also settle other matters, including a strike, which would anticipate another offer.

Bluestone said: "If we are going to have a bargaining posture in which we can negotiate, the chances of winning the necessary two-thirds majority are in doubt."

British Studies Demands

By United Press International Sunday over Western Europe. Britain held out today today against Arab guerrilla demands for the release of two hijacked jetliners and more than 100 passengers in them. West Germany and Switzerland said they would comply with the guerrilla ultimatum.

British Prime Minister Edward Heath called his second cabinet meeting today while the union awaits a second offer from its twin strike targets, General Motors and Chrysler Corp.

The big jets were parked at a little-used military airfield in the desert, 30 miles north of Amman. They were surrounded by tanks, heavy artillery and Arab guerrillas with machine guns.

The Palestinian guerrillas late Monday released 116 women and children from the planes and took them to the Amman hotel for the night. But 60 women and children were turned back to the TWA plane after identifying themselves as Jews.

The two airliners were among four seized by Arab guerrillas Sunday over Western Europe. Britain held out today today against Arab guerrilla demands for the release of two hijacked jetliners and more than 100 passengers in them.

Faircloth, Askew Seeking Support

Seminole County backers of Earl Faircloth and Reubin Askew, two surviving Democratic gubernatorial candidates, have already made overtures seeking support from the county camps of Jack Mathews and Charles Hall, Democratic candidates defeated in yesterday's primary balloting.

Sheriff John Polk and Charles Kampf, county chairman for Askew and Faircloth, indicated in statements to The Herald today that each group will be actively seeking the local party machinery of Jack Mathews and Charles Hall, the third and fourth runner-up in Tuesday's gubernatorial battle.

Polk this morning was arraigning with other Askew workers to get support from the two losers and issued the following: "I'm very pleased that Mr. Askew carried Seminole County and is in the runoff."

Kampf told The Herald he was pleased with the voters' turnout and thought there would be a good clean race.

"I would like to solicit the support of all those candidates who did not win," Kampf added.

He concluded with the opinion, "Total victory depends on all working together."

Fines Are Hiked; Terms Are Decreased

Persons accused of misdemeanors and brought before the Sanford Municipal Court for adjudication will find things a lot tougher than before—especially in the pocket book. This was indicated after a City Commission meeting yesterday afternoon with Mayor Berry, city court judge, and W. C. Hutchison, city attorney.

The session resulted in the commission approval of an increase in maximum fines for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated, reckless driving and assault and battery violations, and the disclosure by Judge Berry that persons who fail to appear in court as ordered will have a warrant issued against them.

The present $202 maximum fine will be raised to $250 and the maximum accompanying jail term lowered to 90 days, instead of the present 90 days.

A new city ordinance will be drafted by Hutchison to put the new fines into law, in accordance with the recommendation of Judge Berry, who said he also favored allowing $5 a day for each day served on a jail term for those persons who cannot pay the full fine, but have enough funds to pay a portion.

Under this system, which is in use in Texas, convicted persons can serve 10 days and receive $50 credit toward a sentence. Judge Berry said he also would begin issuing the warrants to appear warrants for persons who don't show up for trial. This means those persons will be charged for two of fines. One for the city violation and another for failure to appear in court. Warrants will be issued by the judge empowering police to apprehend court absentees, the judge added.

In another court-associated matter, it was decided by the commission to have Police Chief Ben Butler and Captain Earl Bourgeois issue warrants in place of City Clerk Henry Tamm.

Tamm had been issuing warrants along with Judge Berry along with other tasks but had requested that he be relieved of the duty.
