Mini On Last Legs

LONDON (AP)—The mini is still Britain's gift to the world of women's fashions. The mini-skirt, it is finally gone—after hovering near hip-level heights for the past ten years.

The last ditch in this hemline-dropping event was seen by one of the biggest firms of chain stores in the country, C & A.

A spokesman for the company, which four years ago sold thousands of minis each day, said: "There will be no more minis when present stocks have gone. They just don't sell nowadays."

The firm was just about the last of the major holdouts. Most line-dropping event was seen by one of the biggest firms of chain stores in the country, C & A.

Pear Shapes Go Far

LONDON (AP)—If you have a shape like a pear, don't let it bother you too much. You are more likely to succeed in life than most people.

At least, that is the noncaloric observation set forth in an article in "The Director" magazine, a journal of the British Institute of Directors.

Some of the pear-shaped people who have reached the top, says the article, are Napoleon, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, also Wilson's predecessor as prime minister and now British opposition leader, Edward Heath.

The article was written by John Byrne, managing director of a glass manufacturing firm, who noted that many pear-shaped people showed the qualities of intelligence and leadership.

The successful type, says the article, has the rather narrow shoulders and elongated limbs of the lean type, and the wide hips and somewhat pudgy chest and belly of the fat type.

In exaggerated form, the successful shape "is like a pear on an inverted top," says the magazine. It is also known as the "Burgundy bottle" look.

General de Gaulle was a good example of man so clearly pear-shaped that even a military cloak did not hide it, the article says.

And, I went on, Napoleon was very small and clearly pear-shaped.

Harold Wilson falls into the category also, says Byrne, adding that cartoonists always capture his pear-shape when they draw him.

As for Edward Heath, Byrne says he conceals his figure nicely when wearing conventional suits but illustrates the pear type pretty well when in his sailing outfit.

67th Year, No. 25—Thursday, September 19, 1974 Sanford, Florida 32711—Price 10 Cents

VANDALS RUIN LOCAL HOUSES
Three houses under construction in Academy Manor subdivision in Sanford were hit by vandals Tuesday causing approximately $20,000 in damage to the three buildings. Sanford patrolman Joe Dillard said an electric range was completely destroyed, windows were torn out from the walls, and inside room separators were knocked down. Most severely damaged house is located at 223 Yale Avenue with estimates of the damage totaling $10,000. The houses are owned by Kingswood Estates of Casselberry. Sanford police are continuing the investigation.

Gas Price Cut Possible If Big Suppliers Agree

By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer

Hopes for reductions in today's gasoline prices remain squarely in the hands of the major oil company home offices, a poll of Seminole County area gas stations indicates. Only a couple of stations in Sanford are presently setting regular gas for less than 50 cents a gallon — and they are the independent variety to begin with.

The others called this morning unanimously said price cuts would be up to the home office — because none of the local owners are willing to sacrifice profits. "I've had plans to lower my prices for some time, but they (the parent company) won't lower their prices to me," said one station owner.

Another station manager, whose sentiments echoed those of his colleagues, said, "If I lower my prices without my company lowering theirs, I'm just taking money out of my own pocket."

The local managers might change their minds if they began losing business because of the present high rates, but only one station reported a slight drop, while the others said business remained at usual levels. However, that customer-pleasing but management-nightmare possibility — a "price war" — was hinted at by at least one independent dealer, who said he today dropped regular gas to 48.9 cents per gallon, "and am thinking about 45 cents a gallon."

School Board OK's Building Contracts

By SEAN CODE Herald Staff Writer

Bids totalling $1,568,360 were approved by the Seminole County School Board Wednesday evening for construction of the Lake Oriata Elementary School and the addition to the Lake Brantley High School.

Fennell and Associates, Inc. of Orlando received the contract for the elementary school project on a bid of $948,491, subject to review by the architect. The low bidder for the high school addition was Allen Trevillion, Inc. of Winter Park, $719,869. The two separate contracts totalled less than the 10 contractors, which was also tendered by Fennell of $1,673,665.

The contractors were reminded bidding is now open on the Sterling Park Elementary School, which is identical in its specifications to the Lake Oriata school.

On other action, the board: Was informed of a grant from the federal government of $54,334 for the education of multiple handicapped students. The first quarter of the grant, $13,550, has already been received.

Constructed its maintenance staff to put the contractor of the Woodlands school project, Building Movers Inc. of Winter Park, on notice that it is to finish all the work on the contract before Oct. 14, the scheduled opening of the school. They added any change orders would be dealt with upon the recommendation of the architect as to whether it should be completed by the contractor, or undertaken by another firm in the interest of expediency.

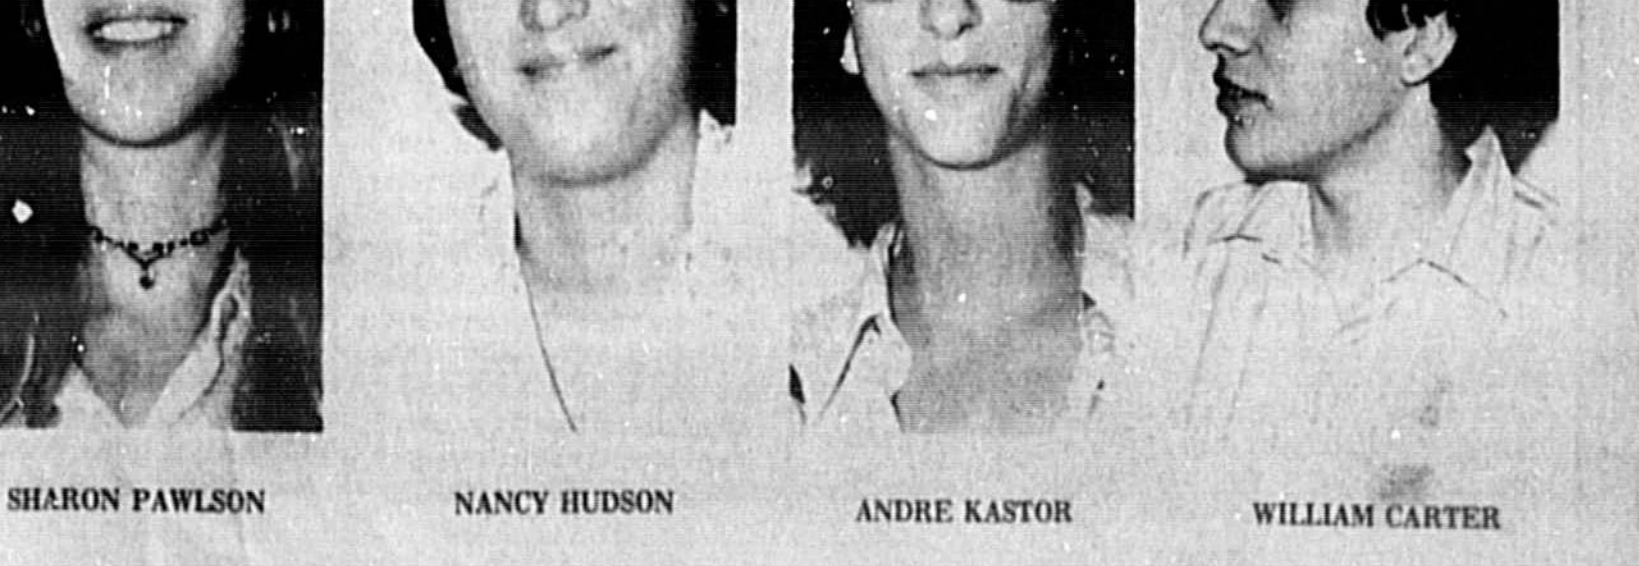

Seven students from Seminole County high schools have been named semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship program. They are among the 15,000 semi-finalists who form the top half of one percent of the nation's academically talented young people and will compete for $1,000 scholarships. Merit finalists will be announced in April.

Janet Lee Bowers, 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. Nancy Bowers of 6315 Linnaea Beach Dr., Bear Lake, and Dr. John Bowers of Maitland, was chosen from Lake Brantley High School. Janet is already attending Rollins College in Winter Park under the Early Admissions Program and is considering a mathematics major. She would like to be a physical scientist.

Lyman High School, Longwood, had three students who made semi-finalist. They include Nancy Hudson, Scott Walker and Andre Kastor. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hudson of 1510 Glastonberry, Maitland, Nancy plans to attend Florida Technological University next year and major in Biology.

Scott is an early admissions student at FTU and lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Walker, at 1334 Freymark, Altamonte. He is studying for a career in physics. A former Lyman student, Andre, is presently attending Central Adult High School on the Seminole Junior College Campus. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kastor of 2538 Dakota Trail, Fern Park. He is considering attending University of South Florida, Tampa, and plans to major in music.

William Carter, semi-finalist from Oviedo High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Carter of 382 Palm Drive, Oviedo. He is planning to attend University of Arizona, and major in archeology. Seminole High students named were Sharon E. Pawlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pawlson of 1803 Paloma Ave., Sanford, and Bret C. Waldow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Waldow of 114 Azalea Lane, Sanford. Sharon plans to have a pre-medical major and would like to attend Pennsylvania State University. Bret plans to major in physics, and has not decided on a college yet.

Seller May Repossess Longwood's Fire Truck

LONGWOOD — The city's new fire truck, delivered last week, may be repossessed and elected officials are not unhappy over the prospect.

Fire Chief Roy LaBosiere told councilmen Wednesday night that Jack Cooke and Sons Inc. of Orlando is demanding immediate payment of $37,355 for the vehicle and is threatening repossession if payment is not made by Friday. LaBosiere added that the firm has given no time schedule on when a proper generator will be installed in the vehicle. The fire truck, ordered 18 months ago, was to be paid in part with federal revenue sharing funds, according to the former city council's plan.

NATION IN BRIEF

Oil Profit Sharing Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill giving coastal states an annual $200 million share of federal offshore oil revenue has passed the Senate but faces an uncertain future.

Unless the House acts on the bill before the end of the year, the measure will die with the passing of the 93rd Congress.

It normally takes several months for legislation to clear the House unless it is treated as an emergency bill. That is not expected by Senate backers.

Approved Wednesday by a vote of 64-33, the legislation is not high on the House priority list.

In addition, there is the distinct possibility of a veto by President Ford if the bill is passed.

The administration opposes the bill as inflationary and tried to have it killed in committee.

Utilities' Poverty Stated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Future supplies of electricity will be in jeopardy unless the growing demand for power is curbed and utilities are put back on a sound financial footing, Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill warned today.

Nearly $9 billion worth of new power generating projects have been canceled as of last month by utilities suffering low earnings and a financial crisis, Sawhill said.

"Even more alarming, two-thirds of the new generating capacity being canceled is nuclear power. Such drastic steps cut deeply into future capacity and harbor higher consumer costs," he told an FEA electric utilities conference.

Representatives of state utility commissioners and representatives of consumer and environmental groups, the utility industry and the financial community.

"If we don't act resolutely, we could reach, within the decade, the point where consumers won't be able to buy electricity at any price," Sawhill said in a prepared speech.

Steel Price Hiked Again

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — National Steel Corp. has announced its fourth round of price increases this year on tin mill products, used in the manufacture of beverage cans and other containers.

National, the nation's third-largest steelmaker, said on Wednesday that the increases would average about 2 1/2 per cent. They take effect Oct. 21.

The company blamed the price hikes on "drastic increases in our costs for basic raw materials such as ore, coal and coke, and increased transportation and other costs."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Ford's UN Speech

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Ford's address to the 29th General Assembly stirred only timid and guarded hope among proponents of international action to deal with staggering world food problems.

The President promised the assembly that the United States would spend more on food shipments to needy countries and increase technical aid to their food production programs.

He also said the U.S. government is ready to negotiate a world food reserve plan. But he pointed out that the problems of food shortages, oil prices and runaway inflation are all related and said a global strategy for food and energy is urgently required.

CIA-Watching Bill Presented

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of the Senate Watergate committee are launching an attempt to provide stronger congressional review of the Central Intelligence Agency and other intelligence organizations.

Hecting alleged abuses of intelligence gathering uncovered by the Watergate hearings, Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., and Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., sponsored a bill to have the top secret agencies more closely watched by Congress.

Baker, who conducted his own investigation of possible CIA involvement in Watergate, charged that agency has successfully concealed "the most effective stonewalling of the entire Watergate episode."

'France' Voyages Cancelled

PARIS (AP) — More than 6, 200 persons booked for the final Atlantic crossings of the luxury liner France won't make the last nostalgic voyages after all.

The French Line on Wednesday canceled the ship's four remaining trips and sent it into retirement because the crew had refused since last Thursday to let the liner move.

The flagship of the French Line had been scheduled to make four gala crossings before retirement next month. But almost half of the 2,500 crew members took over the ship off Le Havre, forcing the captain to drop anchor and demanded that the government find them jobs before taking the 66,348-ton vessel out of service.

The government refused, holding to its decision in July to stop paying the ship's annual deficit of about $20 million. The last four trips, said Wednesday it was forced to call off the company, and reservations were being canceled.

Key Explains Statements

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Emmet James Key, the last known American prisoner of war in Indochina, said he made statements in favor of the Communist Pathet Lao because he was upset about the Watergate scandal.

"I am a loyal American," the 47-year-old commercial pilot told a news conference. "I must admit I was quite upset during the Watergate era about the United States." Key was freed in Vientiane, the Laotian capital, after 16 months in captivity.

Depression Worries Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today that the United States must avoid a scorched earth policy that fights only inflation but ignores the threat of a deep recession.

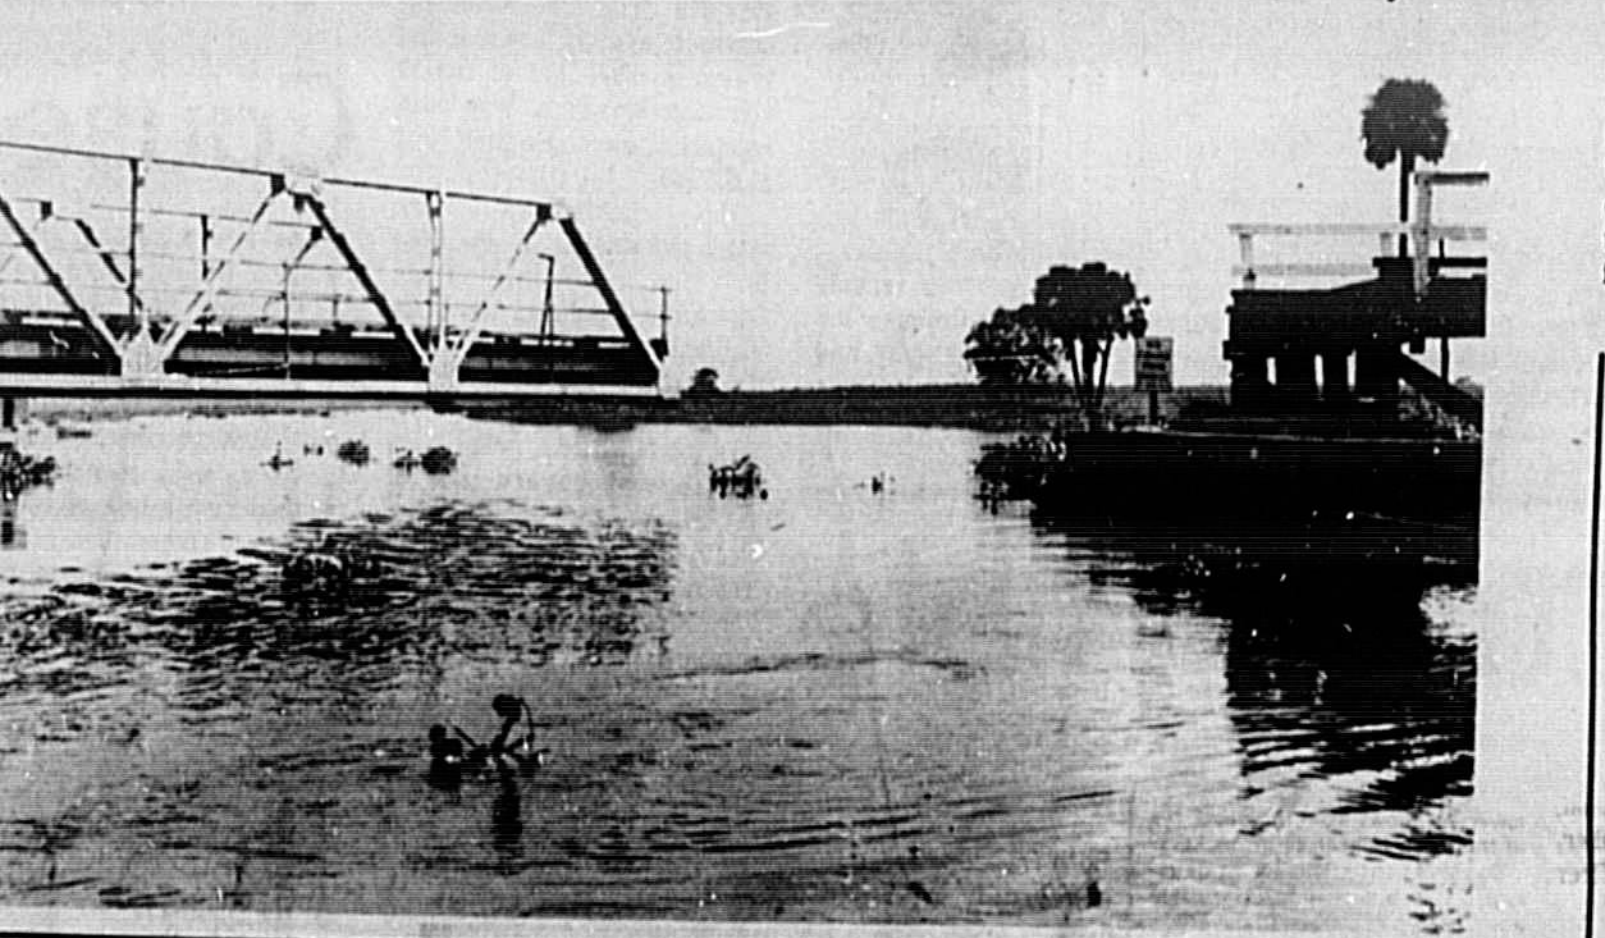

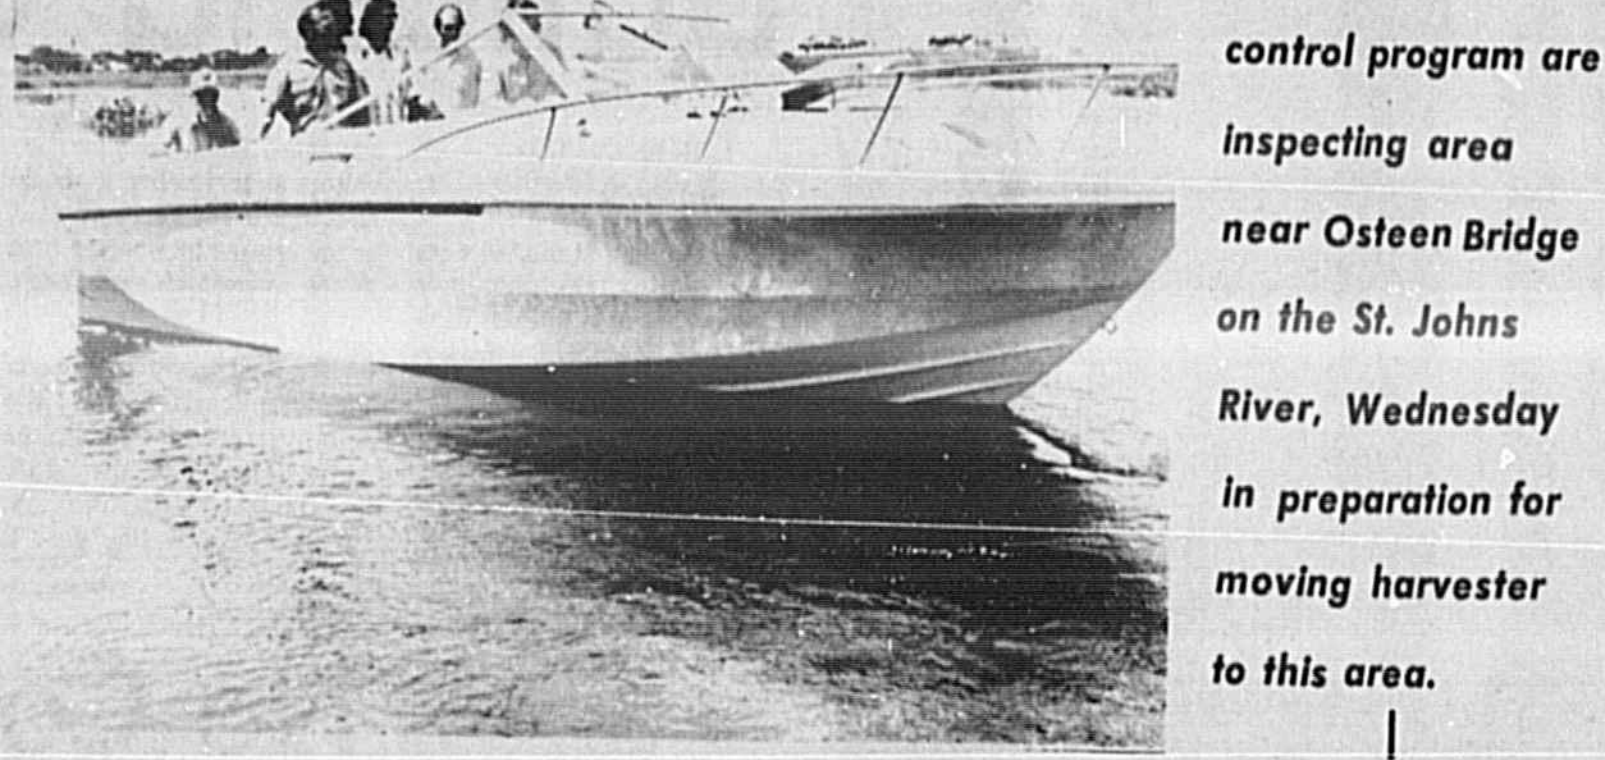

He told 180 delegates to a mini-summit conference on inflation that the nation needs to avoid "simplistic policies masquerading under simplistic slogans like 'Old Time Religion.'" Kennedy was among the opening speakers at the two-day session of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare that brought the leaders of scores of major national organizations together.

Ticking off examples of how inflation has already depressed the quality of life in America, Kennedy noted that costs have risen 20 per cent higher for the poor than for other citizens. He warned that the administration's anti-inflation policies "will create more serious unemployment in the future — and it is the aged, the unskilled, the youth and the minority groups who will be the hardest hit."

HEW Secretary Caspar W. W'ebberger assured the delegates that "absolutely no pre-conceived outcomes have been adopted prior to the conference."

A prelude to the national summit conference Sept. 27-29, the gathering was billed by HEW as an attempt to elicit "suggestions on the way in which inflation should be attacked and the appropriate governmental and private sector economic policies to be followed."

Representatives of state departments involved in hyacinth control program are inspecting area near Osteen Bridge on the St. Johns River, Wednesday in preparation for moving harvester to this area.

Bicentennial Grant Approval Expected

Approval of $52,500 in grants for two projects of Action '76, Seminole County's Bicentennial Committee, is expected to come this week from the state committee, according to county chairman Jack Horner.

Horner said the state group met Sept. 16 to consider granting $50,000 for the restoration of Longwood Square, (including the Bradley McIntire House), and $2,500 for Barbara Muller's "cultural walk" to Philadelphia.

All local bicentennial projects are supported by an equal combination of state funds and local donations of cash or in-kind contributions. Horner said that Action '76 plans to support half of both projects.

Action '76 will meet for the third time on Sept. 23 at the First Federal Savings and Loan in Sanford at 7:30 p.m. Gary Wetherington, assistant director of the state bicentennial commission, will show a film and answer questions.

Longwood Raises Real Estate Tax

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — City council Wednesday night approved a raise in property taxes and passed on first reading its budget for the new year, but before citizens took potshots at city services and spending.

Property taxes were set at four mills, up from the current 3.58 mill levy to help fund a $61,000 budget.

Harold Hartscock, city auditor, assured a $38,987 surplus shown in the general operating budget is correct. Yet, Hartscock could not guarantee the city will have sufficient moneys in its general fund checking account to operate the city through September.

Hartscock said the city had cash on hand in the general fund on Aug. 31 totaling $52,138. Councilman B.H. Ferrell earlier this week disputed the claim, saying actual cash on hand at month end was $8,000. Ferrell also challenged the listed surplus, saying the money was actually a surplus in the utility department and being used in the operating side of the ledger to falsely balance the budget.

Hartscock said the city has another $20,000 plus left over in the utility account.

J.R. Grant, a substantial property owner in the city, criticized the tax increase, saying the assessment on several of his lots was increased 61 per cent and with the tax levy hiked by 11.5 per cent, his tax bill would actually be up by 72.5 per cent.

Former council chairman Percy White, pointing to the 14 policemen on the city payroll, said that department is not enforcing city law particularly concerning roaming dogs.

According to the city charter, councilmen reside within districts drawn as nearly equal in population as possible. Since the current plan was prepared three years ago, the city has grown considerably.

Council, earlier this week, objected to new boundary lines recommended by Mrs. Shomate and insisted the new districts would deny for the year in a row Devonshire area residents the right to elect a resident councilman.

Council noted its intention to amend the water rate ordinance to reduce the cut-off service charge from $15 to $5, adding that customers must pay bills monthly or face cut-off.

Fifty of the water department 1,700 users delay payment of the bills for two months at a time, Mrs. Shomate said.

Fees of $3 will be charged to those whose checks are returned for insufficient funds.

Engineers Air Solutions To Island Lake Flooding

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The only immediate relief for South Island Lake flooding is the opening of a route through Winsor Manor, it was agreed at a county commission workshop Wednesday night.

The meeting attended by Commissioners Greg Drummond and Dick Williams, representatives of the State Department of Transportation (DOT), Engineers Cal Conklin for Casselberry and Bill Bush for the county and developer Lester Mandell, DOT officials said a permanent solution via an eastern route is at least two years away.

The drainage route will be part of the four-laning of SR 434, where construction completion is not expected until late 1976, the DOT officials said.

Bush had recommended that a culvert under SR 434 between the lake's southern leg and Winsor Manor subdivision, on the north side be reopened and drainage pipes through the development enlarged three inches to take increased overflow.

The alternate eastern route recommended would take water through a DOT drainage ditch in Longwood to Fairy Lake and ultimately into Lake Kathryn in Casselberry.

Volusia's Budget To Be Aired

Two public hearings are scheduled for next week on the proposed $20.2 million Volusia County budget.

After four working sessions the county commissioners have succeeded in trimming almost one million dollars from the fiscal plan in an effort to cut the tax increase needed to support the package.

As originally presented the budget would have required a tax rate of 4.78 mills. With the deletions, the millage dropped to about 4.2, as the commissioners erased a $90,000 solid waste management study, a $30,000 space utilization study, and $15,075 in capital outlays for roads and bridges.

However the commission hopes to chop the budget further to establish the tax at 3.38 mills.

There is one unresolved problem. County employees are scheduled to receive $315,000 in pay increases which would make their wages competitive with the local labor market. That issue will be brought up at the first of the two sessions set for Monday, Sept. 23 at 7 p.m. at the Courthouse. In addition, DeLand. The second meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 26, at 9 a.m.

'Johnny A' Sings On Detroit Mafia

WASHINGTON—We have obtained the confessions of a Mafia Lieutenant, with a memory as long as his police record.
He is Eugene Ayotte, who used to be known in the Detroit underworld as "Johnny A." Now he is hiding under an assumed identity conferred upon him by the Justice Dept.
He has told us about his life in the Mafia, the shadowy society to which he had sworn loyalty. It is a story of gangland lives and hangouts, of bizarre crimes and corrupt police.
It is also the story of murder, of men garrotted with wire and castrated in concrete. At least one victim, according to Johnny A., wound up in a Detroit freeway. Thereafter, Mafia men would say of a missing hood, with grumpy humor, that "he's part of the freeway."
Like the late Joe Valachi whose Mafia confessions made headlines in the 1960s, Ayotte's revelations ring true. Federal prosecutors vouch for his reliability. The Senate crime files and other records verify his memory for names and details.
Johnny A. worked for the Detroit Mafia, a criminal empire that embraces everything from bookies to blackmail, narcotics to numbers racket—virtually every enterprise that produces an illegal coin.
A council of dons rules the multimillion-dollar empire through might. They have no competition; serious rivals are either dead or intimidated. Now Ayotte is on the run from them. For the old crime lords would like to shut Ayotte up.

But Ayotte is still talking, first to the prosecutors and now to us. He remembers Anthony J. Zerilli; identified by the Justice Dept. as "Big Man" in the Mafia, was a swinger with the ritziest lovenest in town.
The mob chief owned a posh restaurant with a small, hidden office which opened on a luxurious suite, complete with two bedrooms, a bar, "beautiful carpet and furniture, colored telephones, the works."
Both bedrooms, according to Johnny A., "had round beds, beautiful, and mirrors all around, round the ceiling. It looked like Tony Zerilli was a little weird...liked to watch himself with the broods. From inside or outside, you couldn't even tell the place was there...Only the top (Mafia men) would be allowed in."
Love and death sometimes went together. Ayotte tells of a Mafia punk, named "Roy" Calabrese, who made a mistake in recruiting a prostitute. He introduced the girl to drugs and then "put her out on the street."
Unhappily for Calabrese, she was the daughter of a Mafia section leader. Two men grabbed Calabrese, "wired him up"—the Mafia term for garrotting—and left him in the trunk of an abandoned car. As the final gesture, a pig was trussed and strangled, and then delivered to one of Calabrese's hangouts.

"This was a warning to anyone who knew who killed Calabrese not to squeal," explained Johnny A. "I knew Roy. I used to drink with him...at the Falcon Street Show Bar. (But you just don't question too much these things as it's not healthy.)"
They burned down a building, another "insurance job" for an owner Ayotte knew as "Singing Sam." "The place," recalled Ayotte with professional satisfaction, "was a total."
Although Johnny A. has now switched sides, he still chuckles over how Secret Service agents overlooked evidence right under their noses when they arrested Joe Yoppo, a prominent Toledo gangster otherwise known as "Big Joe Yop," on counterfeiting charges.
Ayotte happened to be on the phone to Yoppo while the feds were searching his premises. Afterwards, Big Joe Yop told him the agents missed a stolen $1,000 bond in plain view in the front closet. "That table stood out like a sore thumb," grinned Yoppo, according to Ayotte.
Like a character from an old George Haft movie, Johnny A. told us his story—an insider's eye view of a notorious criminal conspiracy that drains billions of dollars a year from the public.
We'll publish another installment in a future column.

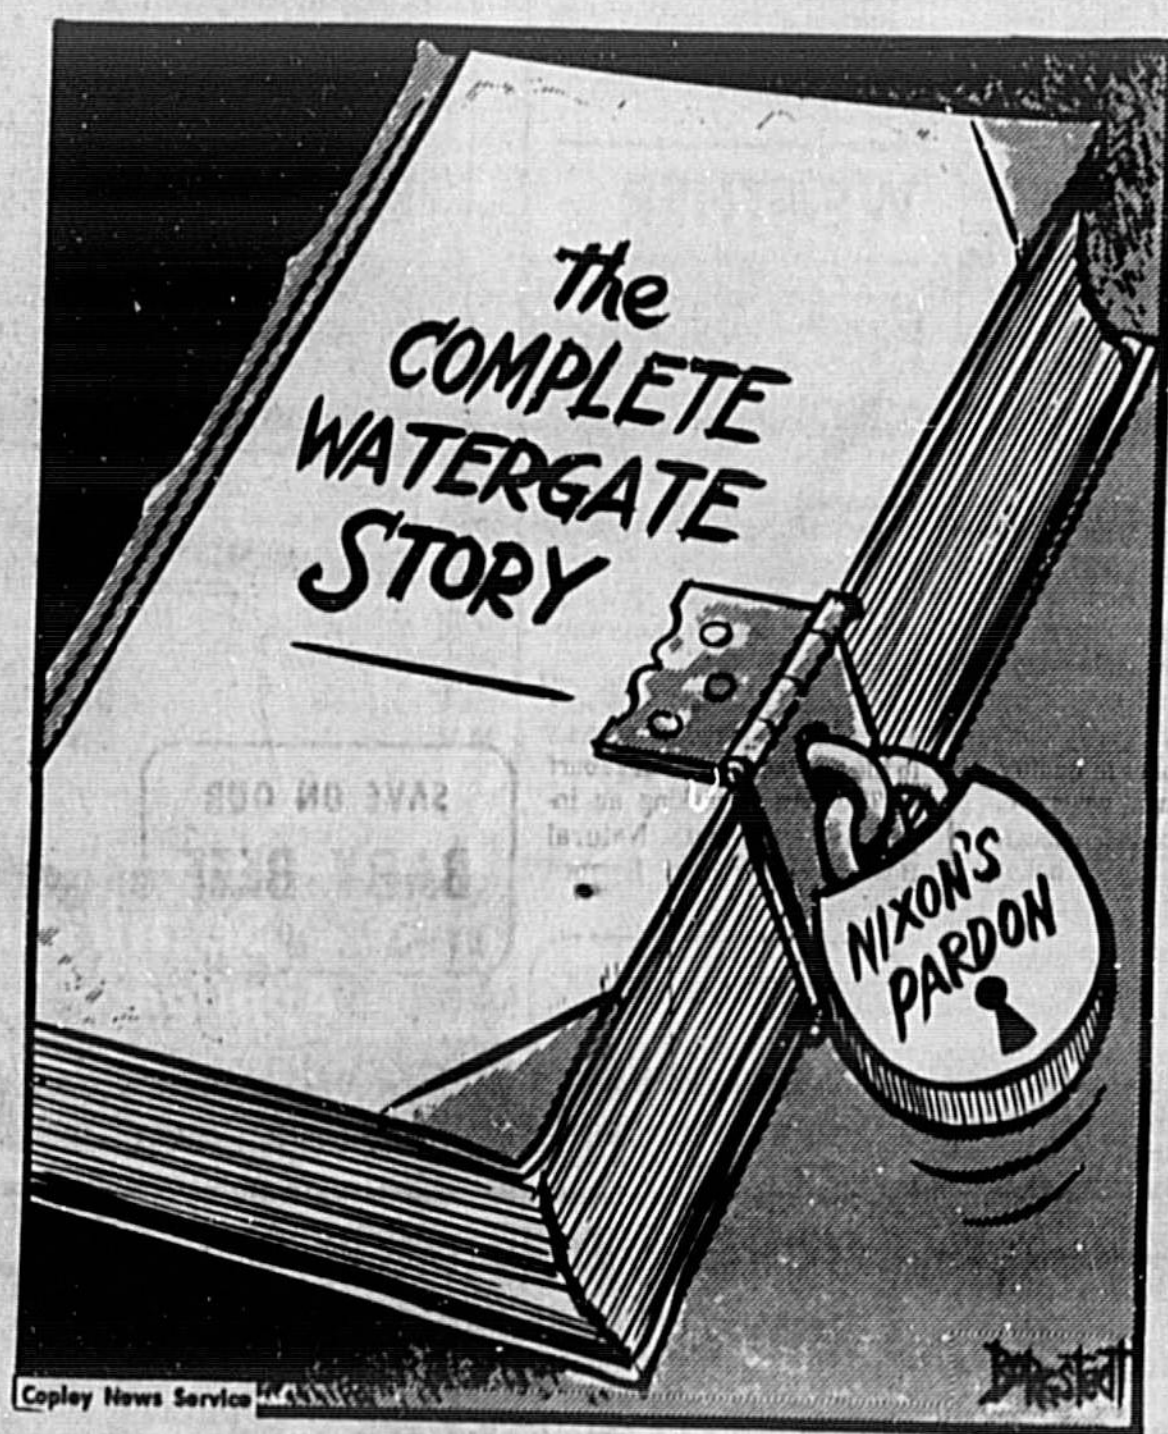

Next time, Ayotte hired a professional, known as "Butchy" who had enlisted remnants of Detroit's old "Purple Gang" into a crack, Cleveland-based pyro team. They brought to the job "gunpowder, fuses, gas with a chemical so as to leave no trace...They brought enough to use on a dozen joints."
They burned down a building, another "insurance job" for an owner Ayotte knew as "Singing Sam." "The place," recalled Ayotte with professional satisfaction, "was a total."

Governor's Friends Turn To Telephone

A politician sometimes find it difficult to sort out his friends from his enemies.
And if he succeeds in determining which is which it then becomes a tussle as to which is more likely to do the greater harm to his career.
Take Gov. Reubin Askew, for instance.
Florida's chief executive has to be feeling pretty good these days. He's just come off a victory in the Democratic primary that approached landslide dimensions. He's been prominently mentioned in national periodicals as a young man to watch on the national scene. He's compiled an excellent record as governor in his first term and even his political enemies admit he's the Mr. Clean of Florida politics.
So what does the Florida Times Union discover during a routine check of telephone calls paid by the comptroller's office in Tallahassee?
Well, it turned up at least 15 telephone calls from the governor's office to a "mud modeling agency" in Kansas City which features a recorded—and somewhat sexy—message to stop in and meet the girls.
The Jacksonville newspaper checked further and learned that apparently once the number of the "Blue Orchid" was discovered and the thrust of the message relayed throughout the capital compound, the wheels of government ground to a virtual halt. One state employee told this newspaper that the "thing went like wildfire up here. Everyone was calling. It probably cost hundreds of dollars by the time it got past the first floor."
So much for the dedication and devotion to duty of our public servants.

RAY CROMLEY Restrictions Hurt Effort On Economy

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Economic recovery and the control of inflation are more difficult because Congress has legislated so many crippling restrictions on trade, production, sales and transportation.
These have lowered competition, forced higher prices, increased shortages and impaired service.
In the main, these barriers have been created at the insistence of one special-interest group or another. Campaign contributions have been the effective leverage used by some of these groups.
In other cases, Congress considered only the effect of the legislation on the petitioners concerned without taking into account what the new laws would do to other farmers or industries, to the consumer or to the health of the economy. In some cases the laws were voted to protect weak industries which are now strong or to prevent unfair competition from abroad when raw materials now scarce were in overabundance.
Dones, perhaps hundreds, of these laws and regulations are now counterproductive. They do more harm than good to the economy, to the consumer and frequently even to the groups they were designed to assist or protect.
Complicated, frequently meaningless regulations, including route restrictions, govern the trucking industry, keeping prices perhaps 20 per cent higher than they need be.
Railroads have almost as much trouble lowering rates as they do in raising them. The long time and time involved in getting government approval for cutting costs and for eliminating outmoded ways of delivering goods by rail keeps hundreds of bureaucrats employed.
Outmoded air rules unconnected with safety prevent the competition that could slash air passenger fares.
Quotas limit the import of products badly needed in this time of scarcity. Embargoes limit other imports, uranium for one and some types of food. Other rules hamper the domestic inter-fered shipment of some products to keep prices up. There are even some production quotas still on the books.
The Congress-voted monopoly position of the post office makes shipment of some mail and packages more expensive than need be.
Some other interstate banking make efficient service difficult. The ceiling on what savings and loan associations pay those who put their money in these institutions is so low the solvency of many is endangered. The low rates discourage depositors and prevent the growth of capital needed to finance the lagging housing industry.
Other laws protect and encourage more work for industry and for labor, unhealthy for both. Some other less-economically harmful way must be found to give legitimate protection and bolster rightful income.
Time and again the government has stepped in with millions of dollars of the taxpayer's money to bail out one group, an industry, company or another — at an accumulated cost of billions.
Former Treasury Secretary and Presidential economic counselor George Shultz has warned that a bill now pending before Congress which would require 30 per cent of the imported petroleum to be transported in American tankers would add substantially to the price of oil and gasoline in this country.

JEFFREY ST. JOHN Reagan May Loom As Ford's 'Small Cloud'

BAITIMORE, Md.—"I have a great desire when January comes and I am no longer in office," California Gov. Ronald Reagan told the columnist in an exclusive interview, "to go out on what I call the 'mashed potato circuit' and try to expose what I think is a great deal of widespread political and economic mythology."
Sound like a man preparing to take the presidential plunge? The California Republican governor denied that he had made up his mind about a bid for the White House in 1976. Or, that his trip east to Maryland on behalf of a congressional candidate was the beginning of a process of obtaining political IOUs at the grassroots level for 1976.
"A year from now," he told me, "I will be the time to make such a decision."
However, when you look at the totality of our one-hour talk, what emerges is a clear-cut pattern of polite political opposition to President Ford and what appears to be a swing to the liberal side with his appointment of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president designate.

RALPH NOVAK Prices Just Keep Rising As You Talk

"Let's see, that will come to about $9,000," said the auto salesman, his teeth gleaming in the midst of a broad smile. "Plus tax, of course."
"How much would that be without the optional extras?" asked Mr. Jones, his hand unconsciously reaching back to protect his wallet.
"What optional extras?" the salesman asked incredulously. "That's the basic price for the four-cylinder economy model, stripped — tires, heater, transmission, steering wheel and paint extra. What do you expect in these inflationary times? This car will..." The salesman turned as someone ran up to him carrying a telegram.
"Oops, looks like you've waited too long. Prices have just gone up again. That model will be $10,500 now."
"But when we first came in here, you said that car would be about $7,000," Mr. Jones said exasperatedly.
"That was three hours ago," the salesman said. "Our costs are increasing all the time. You wouldn't want us to go without profits now, would you?"
"Yes."
"Ha-ha," the salesman said heartily, showing his teeth again. "Well, what do you say? We can grant you very easy credit terms here, no more than 47 or 48 per cent interest (we're barely covering our bookkeeping costs there) and you can drive out of here today in a brand new Colossal. We'll even throw in a quart of gas."
"A QUART of gas?"
"Gas prices are going up, too, you know. Why I can remember when we put no less than a half gallon in every new car. But that was, oh, a day or two ago. Now, well..."
Just then another messenger ran up and handed the salesman a note.
"Oh-oh," the salesman said. "The president of Colossal Auto has just announced that he's been forced to raise prices again, since he just noticed that the prices of pate de foie gras and crackers have increased. Looks like your Colossal will run you about $12,400 now. You better snap it up while you have the chance."
"Well, I suppose I could get another job," Mr. Jones said sadly. "But at least I know my new car will have all the possible safety and anti-pollution features, won't it? Won't it? Well, won't it?"
"Some of those are optional extras you can have for a mere $2,000 or so apiece, of course," the salesman said, a trifle nervously. "But a lot of those newfangled things are just too expensive to install without ruining our profit margin... that is, without ruining your enjoyment and feeling of well-being."
"All right, all right," Mr. Jones said. "I guess every red-blooded American man has to have a car, no matter what, even with impossible prices, traffic congestion, gas shortages..."

Red Naval Power

When Jane's Fighting Ships reports that the Russian navy outnumbers the United States Navy by a two to one margin (1,062 to 514), the implications are deadly serious.
The Soviets are building a fleet of aircraft carriers and missile-firing submarines, cruisers and destroyers they surely expect to use as essential elements in their global political strategy.
The editors of Jane's prestigious publication offer a provocative comment about the support, or lack of it, accorded the U.S. Navy by its own citizens—"Of those countries to whom a navy is today essential, the United States is one of the foremost, and the U.S. Navy is probably also in the van of navies subjected to misinformed, illogical and irrational attacks by some of those who depend upon it most," the publication stated.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Tag Color Change OK'd

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Cars from the Sunshine State will carry emerald green on white license tags in 1977-80.
But there's no Irish sentiment involved. Ralph Davis, highway safety and motor vehicles director, said the colors were the best possible for law enforcement because of their visibility.
The Cabinet unanimously approved the colors Wednesday on Davis' recommendation.

Mom's Dream Comes True

MIAMI (AP) — Rosie Wright, who admits she doesn't keep up with the news very much, never heard about President Ford's amnesty plans.
"But Tuesday night, she says, she dreamed that her son Sylvester, imprisoned at the Eglin Air Force Base prison for six months, would soon be knocking on her door. He returned home Wednesday.
Wright, 23, was jailed for not reporting for military induction in 1972.
The President ordered all imprisoned draft dodgers and armed services deserters freed.

Stone Attacks Gunter Vote

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Senate candidate Richard Stone says his Oct. 1 Democratic runoff rival has voted in Congress against providing funds to school districts with large numbers of federal employees.
He said Wednesday that Rep. Bill Gunter's votes were contrary to the interests of Florida counties such as Brevard, Escambia and Okaloosa, which have large military bases or other concentrations of federal employees.
"Gunter's vote against increasing federal aid to areas of the state where substantial federal property exists places him on the wrong side of the issue," Stone said.

McMullen Backs Smathers

LIVE OAK, Fla. (AP) — J.J. McMullen, who ran last in the first Democratic primary for secretary of state, threw his support Wednesday to frontrunner Bruce Smathers.
McMullen said he believes Smathers' background makes him better qualified for Cabinet-level decisions than Beverly Dozer, who came in ahead of Don Pride to gain a spot in the runoff.

Revels, Putnam To Qualify

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — American party candidates J.P. Revels and Charles Putnam plan to qualify today for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor.
Revels and Putnam have already received enough petition signatures to win a place on the Nov. 5 ballot against Democratic candidates Gov. Reubin Askew and Jim Williams and the Republican team of Jerry Thomas and Mike Thompson.

State Studies Radium Dump Rules

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Pollution Control Department officials say they're thinking of setting up tougher restrictions on the amount of radium phosphate that can be dumped by milling operations.
Stanley Winn, assistant executive director, said Wednesday the PCDD has set up a joint task force with the state Health Division to study the amount of the radioactive metal now in Central Florida waters and whether there is any connection between it and phosphate plants in the area.
The federal Environmental Protection Agency has tentatively set a limit of nine picocuries per liter — 9/100,000,000,000 — of radium allowed in effluent dumped from phosphate mills, he said. A picocurie is a unit of radiation measurement.
"This does not prevent us from going to a more stringent level," Winn said.
The task force was studying water samples from Polk County as well as the radioactive-metal experiences of agencies in some western states, he said.
Radium, a product of uranium, is found in phosphate ore. The radium isotope 226, found in the Polk County area, is long-lived, losing only half of it in 1,600 years.

An EPA study dated December 1973 and revised in May 1974 showed that some Polk County water supplies have concentrations of radium up to 25 times higher than the limit recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service.
The study said the radiation could spread to the Florida aquifer, the underground water supply for much of Central and South Florida.
The EPA and the Florida Division of Health are conducting further studies on Polk County drinking water supplies to see if there is any health hazard.
Dr. Charlton Prather, state health director, said there was probably not much danger to people from the water in question.
"The department is thinking of establishing much stricter standards for water quality limits," Winn said in an interview.

Lewis Retains Union Support

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Charlie Harris, president of the Florida AFL-CIO, says there's no chance that the labor organization will reconsider its endorsement of Gerald Lewis for the Democratic comptroller nomination.
Incumbent Controller Fred Dickinson, who was slighted by the AFL-CIO, asked Wednesday for an opportunity to convey the Committee on Political Education that he should have gotten its endorsement.
Dickinson said in a letter to Harris that "in a spirit of fairness" he should be allowed to appear before the committee.
Harris said he passed up an opportunity to appear earlier because Harris told him that wasn't necessary. But he said he then learned that Lewis had appeared and won the endorsement.
Harris, however, said there was no opportunity for reconsideration.
"In fairness to Bud," he said, "the board had recommended we endorse him and it was overturned by the convention as a whole."
As for Lewis' appearance, Harris said the labor committee "had just asked for resumes, but we couldn't prohibit anyone who showed up."
Dickinson said he deserved labor's endorsement because "I have worked hard during my years of public service for the cause of the working man.

Fish Fight Continues

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has authorized a court fight in an effort to keep the Department of Natural Resources from stocking weed-eating fish in a Panama City lake.
David L. Middlebrooks, a Pensacola lawyer, said he plans to file suit today in circuit court in Tallahassee seeking an injunction against Natural Resources Director Harmon Shields.
Shields has expressed his determination to stock 2,300 white

Fifi Heads Toward Guatemala Landfall

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Fifi dumped torrential rains along the mountainous coastline of Honduras today while aiming its 110-mile-an-hour winds for a landfall in Central America.

Residents of Guatemala and Belize were also being pounded by the heavy rains, which had washed out roads and bridges in parts of Honduras.

The season's third hurricane was expected to make landfall near the border of Guatemala and Belize, formerly British Honduras.

Sustained winds of 65 m.p.h. were recorded in La Ceiba early this morning, with gusts up to 90 m.p.h., forecasters said.

Fifi is expected to continue moving westward at a speed of 12 m.p.h. with winds gusting up to 130 m.p.h. Torrential rains and high tides posed an immediate threat to southern Belize and Guatemala, especially the Puerto Barrios area, forecasters said.

Tides from the heavy winds were running as much as 12 feet above normal and the Hurricane Center said many low-lying areas were flooded.

Gales from the hurricane extended out 150 miles from the center.

Advanced warnings had been issued Wednesday night to residents of Belize and Guatemala to rush their emergency preparations to completion because the storm would make coastal roads impassable by daybreak.

Weather forecasters on the tiny Swan Islands in the Caribbean reported some structural damage from Fifi earlier Wednesday. No injuries were reported.

Cabinet Names Committee To Seek Interama Funds

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State officials are looking for ways to meet the immediate pressing financial needs of Dade County's Interama project and for a way to provide long-range funding to keep it from going under for good.

A three-member committee, named at a Cabinet meeting Wednesday, is the latest in a long series of governmental bodies to cast its lot with Interama, first conceived in the late 1940s.

Insomnia Linked To Bladder Use

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M.D.

CASE B-446: Jim R., aged 47, is a victim of a bedroom complex.

"The Crane," he began, "I can't get a full night's sleep. For I am a victim of insomnia. So I take sleeping pills till I am afraid I'll become a confirmed dope addict. Yet I feel stupidly MUST get eight hours of slumber, for I have a job as an editor, where deadlines hang over a man's head like the sword of Damocles.

"So how can I kick my sleeping pill habit and still be sure to obtain eight hours of restful sleep?"

A common cause of sleeplessness in men past the age of 40, is what we term urinary insomnia.

This means they awaken about 2 A.M. or even earlier, with an urgent desire to void their urine.

But by the time they get back to their bedroom, they may have become caught up in worries about the office or their income tax bill they become wide awake.

If their urinary bladder had remained quiescent till morning, such cases wouldn't be waken during the night.

To solve this type of insomnia, omit your fluid intake after 7 P.M.

This especially means refrain from coffee, tea and other caffeine drinks, for caffeine stimulates excessive urine secretion.

Furthermore, many people become so attentive to their bladder during the day, that they are hypersensitive to its sensations.

Thus, they teach themselves to void urine when the bladder reaches only four or five ounces of contents.

Yet the urinary bladder should easily hold eight to ten ounces.

So, restrain your bladder during the day, making it stretch till it becomes accustomed to that larger volume.

Often, too, the urine is more acid than usual, so this causes a burning sensation that may waken the sleeper within a couple of hours.

To neutralize this acid urine, take antacid tablets or a little baking soda before bedtime.

Another common cause of frequent urination, both day and night, is diabetes, so be sure you are not becoming a mild diabetic, for most diabetes is first diagnosed in people at about the age of 50.

Obesity likewise can cause frequent urination, for the rolls of extra blubber around your waistline compress the bladder and thus exert more pressure on the sphincter muscle that controls its outlet.

In married women, insomnia often is linked with erotic frustration.

As a wife sleepily kisses her mate goodnight, he then finds that her kiss is an appetizer for eroticism.

She then becomes awakened but is usually left without an orgasm, so he soon begins to snore and this further angers her, since she figures:

"I was ready to fall sound asleep; then you woke me up and now you are gaining restful slumber, yet I have insomnia as I worry about my heavy dates tomorrow!"

A gnawing stomach, plus tension and drugs also are other common foes of slumber, but just relax, knowing that nobody dies of insomnia! Lift your hand high as you ask God to take over the night shift for you.

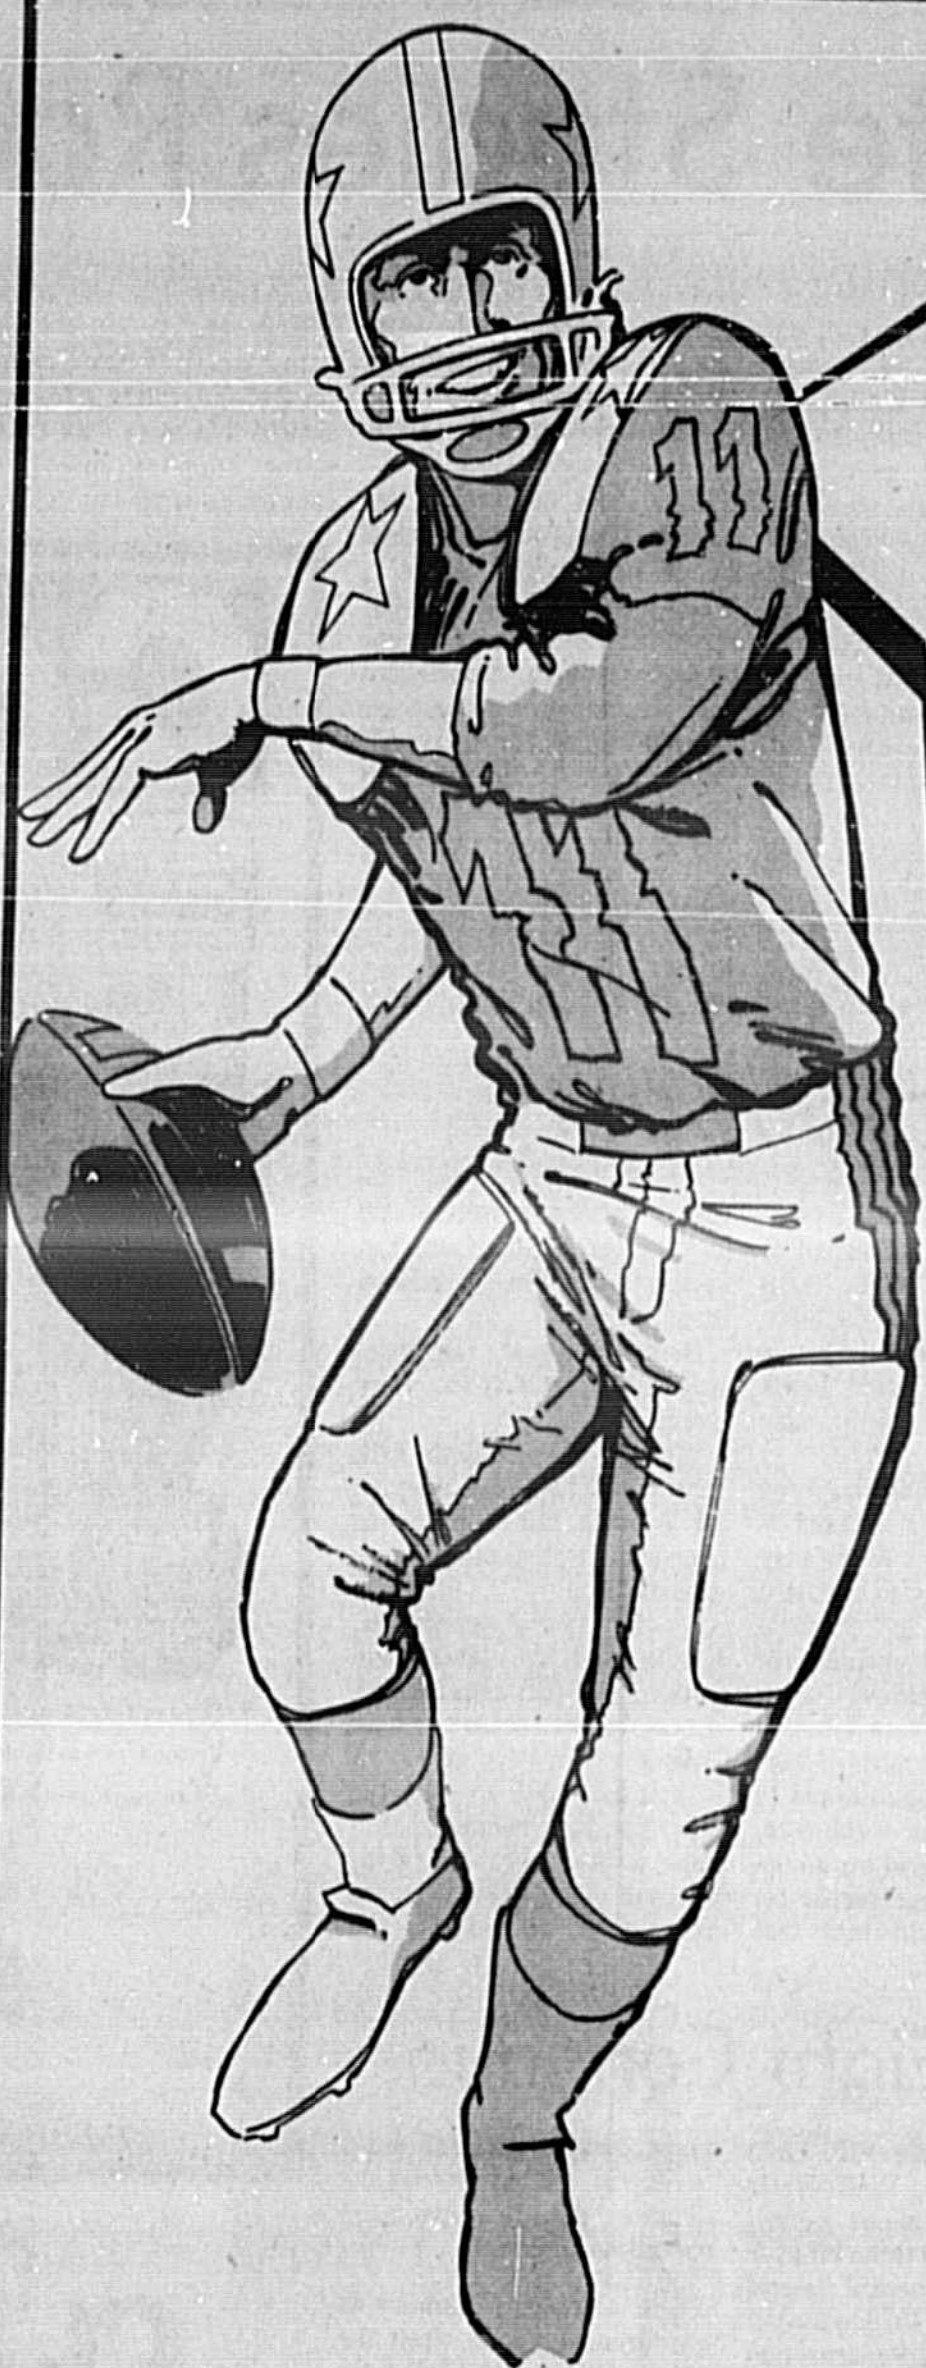

Then drop your hand back upon the covers and you'll soon be snoring!

Husbands, stop your wife's insomnia by sending for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of my booklets.)

Different Ballgame From The Sidelines

By BILL BELLEVILLE Herald Staff Writer

Moving down from the stands onto the sidelines at a Blazer game is like stepping through the looking glass.

Far from the field, a seat in the bleachers, and farther still in the press box, will afford a good overall picture of what's happening on the field. You can look from one end zone to the other and see everything in between—at a significantly reduced dimension of course. Reduced, removed, sterile, and safe. In fact, a roost high in the maddening crowd will leave one wandering away from the game with the impression that he has just seen the whole thing on television. But down on the sidelines, it's a different ballgame.

(Related story page 8A)

Vital statistics of players (22", 230 lbs.) that might not draw more than a second look when printed in the game program, take on new dimensions when that player is executing a bone crunching cycle patrolman with the innocuous question, "What do you feel is your greatest hindrance in performing your duty at these games?" The reporter is met with a blank stare. "Ah, half hour later, the stadium is virtually empty, the theatre is closed. The sidelines and bleachers and playing field are covered with the night's residue—paper, cans, cups, and ice. The dark sloped old man shuffle about busy in their monumental cleaning chore. It's an evening that television could never touch.

The reporter is met with a blank stare. The reporter is met with a blank stare. The reporter is met with a blank stare. The reporter is met with a blank stare. The reporter is met with a blank stare.

Doesn't Anybody Want NL West? Reds, LA Lose

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer
Doesn't anybody want to win the Western National League?

Both lost for the second straight time Wednesday night, leaving the Dodgers with a 2-1/2-game lead. Los Angeles was beaten by the Houston Astros 3-2 in 10 innings and Cincinnati stroked a 6-0 decision of the San Diego Padres.

Meanwhile, the National League East race tightened, the Chicago Cubs topped the Philadelphia Phillies 5-2 and the Atlanta Braves downed the San Francisco Giants 4-2.

The Dodgers, shackled by a 1-0 deficit, were kept in the game through eight innings, tied it dramatically in the ninth on Steve Garvey's single and Ken McMullen's pinch homer off reliever Mike Cosgrove.

Then, Ron Cey greeted reliever Ken Forsch with a double, and Rick Ankiel was sent to a pinch runner.

Joe Ferguson followed with a single to right, but Gross fired a perfect strike to the plate, cutting down Auerbach.

In the 10th, with Charlie Hough pitching for the Dodgers, Gross cracked a single and raced home with the winning run on Bob Watson's double.

The Reds' chances of winning the West for the third straight year diminished. Cincinnati has 12 games remaining and Los Angeles 13.

Light-hitting Enzo Hernandez, who said he never had a stolen base in more than two runs in 1973, stole home Wednesday night.

The Expos won the opener with a two-run seventh inning, capped by Tim Lincecum's run-scoring squeeze bunt single.

They took the nightcap behind the combined four-hit pitching of rookies Dennis Blair and Dale Murray.

Cubs 5, Phillies 2
Rookie Ron Dunn drove in two runs with a single and a double, and scored one run, leading the Cubs' attack.

Rick Reuschel, Chicago's top pitcher, pitched hitless ball for the first three innings but pulled a hamstring muscle running out a single and had to leave the game.

Hank Aaron, baseball's all-time home run king, drove in two runs with his 732nd homer and a single, and Rowland Office smacked a two-run triple.

O's Close Fast, Down Yanks

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
The New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles are still running 1-2 in the American League East race, only the Orioles are closing fast in the stretch ... and here come the Boston Red Sox on the outside.

Those three embattled baseball teams moved closer together in the nerve-jangling pennant race after the Orioles defeated the Yankees 10-4 and the Red Sox whipped the Detroit Tigers 8-5 Wednesday night.

The night's results left the Yankees with a tenuous, half-game lead over the Orioles and left the Red Sox within striking distance at 2 1/2 games behind in third place.

The Red Sox got an extra push in the stretch run from rookie Fred Lynn, only in his second year of professional ball. He collected four hits, including a double and triple, and drove in four runs.

In the other American League games, the Oakland A's beat the Kansas City Royals 5-4, the California Angels beat the Texas Rangers 4-1 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 2-0; the Cleveland Indians tripped the Milwaukee Brewers 6-3 and the Chicago White Sox beat the Minnesota Twins 3-1.

Winning for only the seventh time in the last 24 games, the Red Sox kept alive their flickering hopes for the East title.

Detroit's Al Kaline had a home run, double and a single, leaving him only four hits shy of becoming the 12th player in history to reach the 3,000 mark.

The double was the 47th of his career, tying him with Sam Rice for 22nd place on baseball's all-time list.

Angels 10, Yankees 4
Mike Cuellar became a 20-game winner for the fourth time as Baltimore broke a tie with seven runs in the sixth inning and crushed New York.

The triumph was Baltimore's 17th in the past 22 games.

The Orioles' big inning against three pitchers included three walks — two with the bases loaded — three singles and consecutive two-run doubles by Rich Coggins and Bobby Grich.

Angels 4-0, Rangers 1-2
Bruce Boche and Joe Labaud tagged 25-game winner Ferguson Jenkins for successive home runs in the first inning and California went on to beat Texas in the first game of a doubleheader.

Steve Hargan pitched a three-hitter and rookie Tom Robson singled in two runs as Texas beat California in the second game.

A's 5, Royals 4
Reggie Jackson singled in two runs during a four-run fifth inning, helping Oakland beat Kansas City.

Who will win the 47th annual Peter Schnal Most Valuable SIS football player trophy this fall?

Nine judges have been working on that question for the past two weeks as casual spectators at Coach Claude Woodruff's tough practice sessions, some of them taking time to talk to teachers as to academic abilities, attitudes, and such.

The nine, all but one a former high school, college, or pro griddler, expect to attend every game through the Nov. 27 tilt with Lake Brantley.

As in the past 46 years, the "most valuable" player will be the one youth the club could not have done without, regardless of the outcome of the season.

First offered in the spring of 1928 when the donor was writing sports for the Sanford Herald, the award is now the oldest consecutively presented individual sports trophy in America, antedating the famed Heisman trophy by eight years.

The donor, for the past 15-plus years owner of the Orlando Advertising Co., annually asks from nine to 13 former gridders to share in the selection. Often they are previous winners; one year five of 11 were prior winners.

Questions already being asked are whether Mike Good, Mickey Pringle, Mark Whigham, Tommy Thompson, Alvin McGill, and Mike Mitchell are leading contenders before the opening kickoff, or will the ultimate winner be one of the newcomers.

This is the year Good could put it all together as a lineman. Whigham has an extra incentive in that his big brother, Frank not only won in 1965 and repeated in 1966 but went on to greater glory at FSU.

Or, since Coach Woodruff stresses "hitting," perhaps Mike Mitchell or Al Mills or Gerald Miles will be the winner. Here are the previous winners:

Also, Billy Fleming, 1942 and 1943; Herman "Foola" Brunley, 1944; Willis Anderson, 1945-1946; Wally Tyte, 1947; Richard Bass, 1948; Charles Anderson, 1949; Mike Wheeler, 1950; Ed Gordon, 1951; Buck Metts, 1952; Ross Hannum, 1953; Johnny Jones, 1954; Jim Hawkins, 1955; Brantley Schirard, 1956; Eddie Barbour, 1957; Cecil Dandridge, 1958; Ray Landquist, 1959; John Wheelch, 1960; Bill Phagan, 1961; Butch Riser, 1962; Buddy Lawson, 1963.

Also, Joe Farless, 1964; Frank Whigham, 1965 and 1966; Barney Hendrick, 1967; Rick Fordham, 1968; Dana Yelinek, 1969; Mike Hardin, 1970; Clifford Martin, 1971; Dickie Deas, 1972; Mickey Pringle, 1973.

Altamonte Ready To Approve Budget

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City homeowners have been given a reprieve from being charged a garbage collection fee for at least another year.

City Council and Mayor Norman Floyd completed budget planning department requests Tuesday night, coming up with a balanced $1,826,821 general operating budget, with no increase in the five mill property tax levy, no garbage collection fee and no increase in other city charges.

Police Chief Justus East's department budget which got through a council workshop Monday virtually unchallenged also came in for its share of the money cutting.

The $512,000 request which had been approved tentatively was backed by $86,000 to a final approved sum of $426,533. Floyd said the cut was accomplished due to mathematical error for the most part.

The budget ordinance is set for adoption Sept. 24. Most funds for equipment were slashed or eliminated to hold the line on taxes.

At 79, Still Going Strong

SEATTLE (AP) — She said call her "Ms. Something" — the "Ms." so she would be modern; "Something" so friends wouldn't know that at age 79 she's still pursuing an active sex life.

So, Ms. Something sits in her apartment and talks about how her sex life continued when she became a widow at age 56.

Tall and thin, she has a healthy glow about her, and she says she's been "struggling, struggling" about giving in to the pleas of a suitor and inviting him up to her apartment. She's afraid the neighbors will gossip.

In the 23 years since her husband's death she says she has had 35 adventures, some lasting the smaller part of an evening, others going on for 15 years.

Her youngest mate was 15, the eldest 82.

Her message is don't give up sex. And medical students at the University of Washington are viewing a videotaped interview with her to gain a better grasp on sexuality and aging.

She is also the star witness for Caroline Preston, a 59-year-old assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Washington, who has taught a class the past two years on aging and retirement readiness.

Ms. Preston, who also prefers the courtesy title "Ms.," thinks men and women give up sex years before they need to, and this she believes is unhealthy.

"One's ongoing sexuality has so much to do with your vitality and interest in the here and now, realizing that the here and now is all you have."

Ms. Something is an intelligent woman who spent her professional life in newspapering, advertising and public relations. She is the proud mother of loving and successful children. Prior to her husband's death at 64, she says they had an active sex life.

Though she admits one might be surprised at her tally of partners from age 56 on, she says she never had difficulty meeting men and gives all credit to having a cozy fireplace for her and a companion to sit in front of.

Ms. Something shoots down the idea that menopause is the end of sexuality. It should be viewed as another beginning, says Ms. Preston.

"Menopause? Why should it even be a pause? Women give up the risk of having a child late in life.

Gals Arrange SJC Community Affairs

The Seminole County community is kept buzzing with activities arranged by Seminole Junior College's (SJC) Division of Community Services, as participants in such programs as W.I.F.E., Slim 'N Trim and Project Greatest are aware.

Continuing the busy work done by Dave Elbert, is new Community Services Coordinator Fay Brake, who has taken the division's helm while Elbert is on a year's sabbatical leave.

Filled with enthusiasm for her new job, Mrs. Brake comes to SJC, after an interval during which she was married, from Florida National University in Miami. There she was conference coordinator and later assistant to the president.

Mrs. Brake also has experience working in the Department of State in Tallahassee, during which time she studied for her B.A. degree in Spanish and M.S. in Adult Education at Florida State University. She gained further experience administering to students when she operated a foreign student exchange program for six months in Bogota, Columbia.

Another new course of interest to Seminole County is the course in Water Colors for the Beginner taught by Ms. Helen Hickey. The course will run for 10 weeks on Tuesday evenings. Ms. Hickey will also teach the Basic Oil Painting class beginning Oct. 10.

Another new course of interest to Seminole County is the course in Understanding Today's Technology, which begins Oct. 8 at 7 p.m. The class will run for 10 weeks, three hours per evening with David Flinchbaugh instructing.

This course is designed to give a better understanding of space age technology, and includes a study of lasers and nuclear reactors.

Introduction to Astrology is a course starting Oct. 14 and will meet Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 for eight weeks. James Newell, Central Florida's first state licensed astrologer and Seminole County's only licensed astrologer, will teach the course which covers four major areas: historical aspects, various concepts, different categories and mechanics of astrology.

For terrarium fans and patio gardeners, Mrs. Brake has arranged a course in Gardening in Containers starting Oct. 15. Classes will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. on four consecutive Tuesdays. Staff horticulturist Sam Brashear will teach on proper plant selections, problems of light, matching the plant to the container, fertilization schedules, and other subjects necessary for successful containerized gardening.

In answer to great demand, a six-week course in parapsychology will start Oct. 15, taught by Jan Lederman, who

POLLY'S POINTERS
Spotted Bible Bothers Reader
By POLLY CHAMER

DEAR POLLY — I was reading my Bible outdoors and water from a sprinkler splashed on some of the pages leaving them very wrinkled and with the corners turned up. I tried ironing the very thin pages with a slightly heated iron but this did not help much. I hope the readers can offer me some other suggestions. — JOINELLE.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with handcraft and needlework kits that come with insufficient materials to complete the project as the directions indicate.

Fill a small plastic squeeze bottle with water and a few drops of detergent. Screw or tape the top in position on the bottle. Put filled bottle in your lake basket or especially in your child's basket. Whenever going on a long ride it is ready for a quick cleanup. — JOANNE.

DEAR POLLY — The reader who has the problem with lint being on her polyester slacks when they come out of the washer should get a yard of nylon net, put it in the dryer with her clothes and the lint will cling to the net. I keep several pieces on hand to use for this. — DOROTHY.

DEAR POLLY — Turn polyester slacks inside out before putting them in the washer and dryer and have the problem solved. I find this also works with men's knit socks. — HELEN.

DEAR POLLY — To discipline or train a cat I use a squirt bottle or a squirt gun the kind used in a filling station filled with water. Cats do not like water but this does not harm them as kicking or spanking might do. It also works as well on an older, more stubborn cat as it does on a young kitten. — L.B.

DEAR POLLY — I would like to tell other homemakers that when using a spray wax for dusting and polishing furniture they should remove lamps and other objects from table tops before beginning and then leave them off for a while to give the wax time to dry. Much to my sorrow I only moved objects to one side, polished the other side and then returned them and there was a disaster. — GENE.

DEAR POLLY — I keep a small notebook in my sewing drawer. In it are the instructions for washing or dry cleaning any article of clothing from which I have removed the instruction tag. Such tags often scratch or show when left in a garment. — MRS. E. S.

Desert More Than Waste

LONDRINA, Brazil (AP)—When North Americans and Europeans pay more for the coffee they drink, Julio Suzuki gets a welcome lift.

Suzuki, whose immigrant father cultivated coffee in Brazil, makes his modest living growing coffee beans.

He has problems with blight, rising fertilizer costs and aging coffee bushes. What trickles down from higher international coffee prices gives Suzuki, 32, more money to pay his bills.

"The price of coffee has increased, but the expenses have too," Suzuki told a visitor to his farmhouse near Londrina, in the heart of Brazilian coffee country.

The fertilizer Suzuki buys comes from petroleum, and the price he pays has multiplied in Brazil with world oil prices. The antifung spray he uses to fight coffee "rust" blight is made of copper, another increasingly expensive primary product.

Brazil leads the world in coffee exports, and that primary product is the Southern American country's No. 1 revenue earner.

Brazil's No. 1 coffee buyer is the United States, which took nearly nine million of the 1974 million sacks exported in 1974. Each sack contains 132 pounds of green coffee beans.

Suzuki is one of more than 250,000 Brazilian farmers whose 2.7 billion coffee bushes produce the beans.

Like Suzuki, many of the people who farm the rich lands of Sao Paulo and Paraná states in southern Brazil are of Japanese origin. He said his father, who came to Brazil in 1933, was a silk-worm supplier in Sao Paulo state.

Suzuki bought his coffee farm in Paraná state in 1952 and built a two-story wooden house on it. Since then he has acquired more land, and now he has a 100-acre coffee bush on 104 acres.

"As they say, it's enough to live on," he said.

The farmer lives with his wife, two children and widowed mother in their four-bedroom home, which needs a new coat of blue paint. Their possessions include a television set, a telephone, a Volkswagen car and a Chevrolet pickup.

He is planning on a 1974 harvest of 1,200 sacks of coffee, or 150,000 pounds. He hopes to make a profit of about 35 percent on the sale price, deducting costs of labor and materials.

'Gilbraltar' Preps For Bicentennial

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—A chunk of hard, crystalline rock in the lap of the Hudson Highlands 30 miles north of New York City has put a permanent kink in the mighty Hudson River for centuries.

Two hundred years ago it also helped turn the course of history.

That bulwark of stone, which forced the abrupt angle in the strategic waterway—the sharpest in the river's 300-mile channel—was called West Point and earned its name long before it became the home of the U.S. Military Academy and the Corps of Cadets.

West Point was the "Gibraltar of America."

It was, as General Washington described it, "the most important post in America" during the Revolutionary War. It controlled navigation of the Hudson, which the British had planned to use as a wedge in splitting the struggling colonies.

West Point was the post Benedict Arnold had plotted to sell to the British in his treason. It was where the colonists stretched a 60-ton cast iron chain across the Hudson River to block British ships, and then fortified the entire area with a masterful network of forts, redoubts and gun batteries which in itself became a revolutionary concept in building fortifications.

Although a battle was never fought at West Point, its fortification strength alone was crucial in winning America's independence.

It is this relatively unknown story of West Point that will unfold to an estimated five million visitors in 1976 as the result of a valley of Bicentennial projects underway at the U.S. Military Academy, according to Lt. Col. John H. Bradley, director of the Bicentennial activities at West Point.

Heading the list of Bicentennial projects is a two-part Symposium on Military History of the American Revolution, to be held from November 1973 to April 1974. It will feature lectures by nine leading Revolutionary War scholars who will present original papers on the American Revolution and then attend a concluding conference in late April 1974 to review and critique the papers.

Other projects underway include pamphlets, monographs, scholarly research, an original documents collection, a commemorative medallion and possibly a commemorative postage stamp.

Lt. Col. Bradley said the Academy will focus on Fort Putnam—the first stone fort at West Point and the key to the dozen strategically placed forts protecting each other and guarding the Great Chain.

Fort Putnam, perched on a ridge 400 feet above the river on a vantage ground overlooking the surrounding forts, will be partially restored by December 1975.

A 20-man archeological team from Temple University excavated within the walls of Fort Putnam this summer, turning up cufflinks, coins and musketeers, and charting the fort's original layout as it was before it was rebuilt in 1794 and again restored in 1910.

The network of forts protecting the Great Chain was a product of Yankee ingenuity and the keen eye of a Polish military engineer, Col. Thaddeus Kosciuszko.

At the time, the colonists were bereft of men, time and money and had to scrap their attempts to build the conventional European fortress—a single massive structure—at West Point.

So, under the guidance of Col. Kosciuszko, they resorted to throwing up smaller forts and redoubts, fanning out from the Great Chain up along the Hudson River and into the Highlands, using the rugged terrain to their advantage.

The colonists relied heavily on Col. Kosciuszko and other foreign military engineers during the Revolution. However, such a heavy reliance on outside advisors prompted General Washington to push congress for a Military Academy to train American military engineers.

That dream was finally realized in 1802, under President Jefferson, when the U.S. Military Academy was founded at West Point. It became the first engineering school in America and West Pointers went on to engineer most of the new nation's highways, canals, dams, lighthouses, bridges and railroads.

'MASH' Movie Very Different

EDITOR'S NOTE—Sometimes they dance on the edge of doubletalk. Other times they make startling sense. "If it's special to be yourselves, then we are special," says Elliott Gould of his movie teamwork with Donald Sutherland. To which Sutherland adds the price of rice.

"We've got a lot to share," Sutherland interrupted. "Everybody wants to be in movies. Everybody is in the central character in their own movie. It's a very social business. So it's really joyful, interesting to participate in interviews, particularly when the two of us are together."

Sutherland is a lanky blond, 5-foot-4 and 135 pounds, mustache and hair in Canada. At 38, he has a string of film credits, including "Kluge" with Gene Fonda and "Don't Look Now" with Julie Christie.

Gould, 35, looks heavier. He's 6-foot-2 and weighs 200, has dark eyes and brown electric-shock-curl hair, and is a native of Brooklyn, N.Y. He appeared on Broadway in musicals and drama before he went to Hollywood for movies.

They've been promoting a new film, "S-P-Y-S", their third together, in which they play CIA men in trouble with almost everybody.

"We've been doing a lot of interviews, talking to journalists

DEAR ABBY Mother Should Let Gal Decide

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter Susie is marrying a man from Oklahoma. (We live in Arkansas.)

We want Susie to be married in our church with her friends and family present. This Okie she's marrying wants to be married in his church in Oklahoma, where there will be only strangers to Susie.

The reason he wants the wedding in Oklahoma is because his mother is old, sick and can't travel. She's a widow, and he's her only child. I think it's nice of this Okie to be so considerate of his mother, but is it fair to us? Susie is ready to give in, and I don't think she should.

I planned on having the whole wedding taped and taking lots of pictures to send to this Okie's mother which would be almost like being at the wedding.

I want your opinion.

SUSIE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOM: Although weddings traditionally take place in the bride's church, the groom's reasons for wanting to have it in Oklahoma seem reasonable to me. Why not let the bride and groom work it out?

And Mom, I sense an element of hostility here that goes deeper than the question of where to have the wedding. For openers, you could quit referring to your prospective son-in-law as "This Okie." Okay?

DEAR ABBY: I am a man in my last year of college. My parents are divorced and I live with my dad. I am on good terms with both of them, but there is something about my father that bugs me.

Dad has a steady girl friend who spends the night at his place quite often. That's his business, although I feel a little strange witnessing this kind of setup. I sure wasn't raised that way. Both Mom and Dad were a little on the prudish side, and taught me that sex is a private matter.

What I really object to is the way Dad and his girl friend carry on in front of me. Lots of fondling and kissing, and touching in a most intimate way. This goes on while we are having a three-way conversation, so it's not as if I intruded on their privacy.

I've told Dad that I find this sort of thing embarrassing and have asked him not to do it. Nothing changed. How can I let him know that I mean what I say? He respects your advice.

DEAR GROSSED: I doubt that Dad will change his behavior to please you, so since it's his house, and you're old enough to do it, find separate digs and quietly move out. Tell him it's time you lived alone. (True.) Avoid futile confrontation and remain friends.

DEAR ABBY: I have a serious problem I cannot confide in anyone else. I am a woman, aged 23. I have never had a complete physical examination in my life. To be honest with you, I just can't go through with anything like that. The thought of a gynecological examination throws me into a panic.

For the last couple of months I haven't been feeling well. I know I should see a doctor for a complete examination, but I've made three appointments and canceled them all at the last minute due to this fear of embarrassment.

I hope this doesn't give you the impression that I am childish or stupid because I'm not. I am a college graduate and consider myself to be fairly intelligent. Please advise me.

DEAR HUNG UP: Consider seeing a woman physician, although a competent male physician would surely put you at ease immediately. Make an appointment today and no more stalling.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SONNY IN SANTA BARBARA": Be careful in your selection of a "new broom"—you might get one with a witch on it.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Will you please explain to me just what a P.V.B. is and how serious they are. About a year ago I was hospitalized quite suddenly after a visit to a doctor for this problem. I was given some medicines which didn't agree with me. And, I had no pain or indication of heart trouble. Finally, I was discharged and told to go on living a normal life. Last week I suffered severe pain in my left leg and also pain in my left arm. Emergency rooms are in my left arm. I began shaking uncontrollably. I called a doctor, and he would not come to the house but advised me to use hot soaks and take some Anacin.

This has me terribly upset and worried. Any explanation would be appreciated. I'm 61 years old, a widow and by myself most of the time. Could a bad fright have caused those P.V.B.'s?

DEAR READER — P.V.B. is an abbreviation for premature ventricular beats, often called extra beats or flip flops that people sometimes feel. You can have them and never feel a thing, either. It is just a beat that comes early (premature) in the natural rhythmic beat of the heart.

Many normal people have these without any disease. If they cause symptoms or occur frequently or with known heart disease then they can be important, otherwise, they are best ignored. That is why your doctor told you to just go on and live a normal life. I doubt they had anything at all to do with your leg and arm pain.

However, for anyone who needs medical help and can't get it, don't be dismayed because the doctor doesn't come to the house. If you have a serious problem he would need the facilities of the hospital.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on balanced diet, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Balanced Diet" booklet.

Old Believers' Carve New Village From Alaskan Wilds

NIKOLAEVSK, Alaska (AP) — They traveled around the world in search of a place to practice their religion in peace.

And here, only 650 miles from their Mother Russia, about 300 "Old Believers" believe they've found what they've been looking for.

"Life up here is not easy but people can make out and make out very good," says Carl Mar-tushev, smiling from behind a scraggly beard.

The village they've carved out of the wilderness isn't on any map. It's 12 miles up a dusty gravel road on Alaska's Kenai Peninsula, 200 miles southwest of Anchorage.

Before turning up the road at Anchor Point, you've reached the westernmost point accessible by car on the North American continent.

Here, on the village's dirty streets, lined with picket fences, fair-skinned youngsters play a stick-throwing game called "chok" while playmates shout encouragement in Russian.

And here they practice the Russian Orthodox faith as it existed in the 16th century, before liturgical reforms were made.

They worship in a simple wood-frame building, not much different from the village houses, except for its onion-top spires.

Martushev says his people don't get too fancy in church buildings because their roots must remain shallow.

"If something goes wrong with our church we will leave and we don't give a damn whether we leave a house behind," he said.

But the rootlessness has reached full circle. "If we can't stay here, there's no place to go... except back to Russia and we've been there," he said.

The long journey of the Old Believers began when they split with the czar over religious reforms.

They first moved to Siberia, living there until they could no longer handle the excesses of communism.

They moved to China and fared little better, and in the 1950s they fled to Israel.

After living briefly in Brazil, they gained admittance to the United States under an agreement worked out with President Kenned.

However, no cave has been found underneath the other pyramid.

The discovery of the sun cave was accidental after a heavy rainfall which uncovered the opening of the tunnel-like cave, Acosta said.

On entering, the archeologists saw the cave walls smoothed out with dark clay but there were no engravings or decorations on the walls.

Acosta says that the origin of the Teotihuacan race is totally unknown. The enigma of the lost people may never be solved because of the lack of documents or codices about them, he said.

"They came and disappeared without leaving much trace," he said. But the discovery of the ancient Aztecs, who arrived in Mexico about the 9th century A.D., already found Teotihuacan and they considered the city sacred.

Inflation News Bad For Stocks

As the bear market worsens, incalculable damage is being done to the structure of the market place, which probably will make it all the more difficult to recover.

Thousands of brokers have been laid off, and most of them aren't likely to return. Having adjusted to incomes above $50,000 during the glory days of the mid-1960s, few of them could adjust to $12,000 a year — and then a layoff.

Hundreds of brokerage houses have gone out of business. Even some of the biggest that remain face financial difficulties.

Their customers have disappeared. Even if activity resumed, it isn't likely to equal what it was in the 1960s.

The reason is the almost incomprehensible development of a central market place in which the individual exchanges, such as the New York or American Midwest or Pacific Coast, will have much less autonomy and independence.

Simply nobody seems to know precisely how the central market will evolve, few brokers want to pay premium prices for seats on any exchange since there may be very little advantage to owning a seat.

Among the current commentaries being circulated by stock market letter writers is this: "Meanwhile, we stand amidst the carnage and peer into the future."

One well known writer concluded his spiel by advising the reader to draw his own conclusions. Even then he felt compelled to warn: "Of course, we do stock things — or at least it has in the past."

Whereas it cost $55,000 to own a seat on the New York Stock Exchange early in 1969, anyone with the qualifications can pick one up for $65,000 these days.
