Nuclear Weapon Test Ban, War Against Batista In News This Week

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

President Eisenhower told Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev this week that the best way to stop tests of nuclear weapons would be to establish an inspection system which would prevent cheating.

Eisenhower was replying to a letter in which Khrushchev last weekend asked the United States to follow Russia's lead in suspending tests.

The President made no attempt to hide his belief that the Russian action was fraudulent.

"It seems peculiar," he said "that the Soviet Union, having just concluded a series of tests of unprecedented intensity, should now, in both headlines, say that it will not test again, but adds, in small type, that it may test again if the United States carries out its already long-announced and now imminent series of tests."

Returning to Moscow from a trip to Communist Hungary, Khrushchev said in a speech that the results of his visit were "simply outstanding."

He had gone to Hungary, apparently, to strengthen the regime of Janos Kadar, the Hungarian Communist leader, and paper Premier Ferenc Muznacs.

Dispatches from Budapest indicated, however, that the visit was something less than a sensational success.

The workers who were herded to listen to Khrushchev's speeches in industrial towns were 6-1-2. Some of them walked out on him.

Khrushchev also committed a blunder. He said Hungary could not depend on Russia to intervene if another revolt broke out. Apparently Hungarian and other satellite leaders feared the statement might give encouragement to their restive workers. So, in another speech, Khrushchev said that "bourgeois journalists" had twisted his speech. Russia would intervene if necessary, he said.

Cuban Rebel Fidel Castro declared "all-out" war against President Fulgencio Batista, including a nationwide general strike. There were many violent incidents in Havana, the capital, including bombings and gunfire. Electric power was cut off by saboteurs in part of the city. More than 80 rebels were reported killed in the capital area.

But it was far from "all-out war." The general strike failed to materialize, despite Castro's threats that workers who failed to take part in it would be shot and that buses would be bombed. The situation was explosive. But Batista's strength lay in his control of the armed forces, including the national police.

A United States-British attempt to negotiate a settlement of a serious dispute between France and its former protectorate of Tunisia seemed to be at the point of failure.

The dispute arose from the French air force bombing of a Tunisian border village from which Algerian rebel gunners had fired persistently at French planes.

France asked establishment of neutral control of the Tunisian-Algerian frontier to prevent the Algerian rebels and weapons convoys from using Tunisia as a base for their operations.

Cuba's Main Rebel Body Isolated In Mountains

HAVANA (UP)—Loyal troops striking back at insurgents whose hit-and-run attacks caused nearly 100 deaths this week, have isolated the "main rebel body" in the mountains of eastern Cuba, the army announced today.

A communique said "many rebels have been taken prisoner by troops pushing them into the Sierra Maestras where insurgent leader Fidel Castro has been hiding out for 16 months."

A government spokesman said the "all-out attack" threatened for this week by the rebels has failed out, making their eventual defeat certain. He said loyal troops probably will be able to wipe out the last vestiges of resistance within two months.

A rebel broadcast Thursday night called on Castro's supporters to continue fighting in this "crucial hour." The anti-government radio reported rebel attacks on Manzanillo, Buycito and army outposts at Niquero and Sanabo, but gave no details.

Havana was quiet during the night except for scattered shooting audible in suburban Vedado shortly before midnight. Authorities said no one was hurt.

At least one section of the city was still without lights, and heavy security precautions created a wartime atmosphere. Police and troops patrolled the streets, and persons passing near the Cuban "White House" were stopped and questioned.

The army admitted for the first time that the power failure in Havana Wednesday was the result of sabotage by rebel dynamiters. The trouble had been planned previously on a "faulty transformer."

Communications between Havana and dozens of provincial cities were still disrupted.

A United Press correspondent who was expelled from Santiago Thursday said the east Cuban city was quiet when he left, with the strike "on the wane."

He said there was some shooting in Santiago Wednesday night but that so far as he knows no one was hurt. Soldiers appeared to be "shooting at shadows" in an attempt to frighten people off the streets.

Holland: 'Loss Of Confidence' Cause Of Recession

Senator Spessard Holland, Senior Senator of Florida, reviewed the accomplishments of a "cooperative Congress" in solving the problems of a nation that "had lost confidence."

Senator Holland spoke at a joint meeting of Sanford civic clubs attended by more than 150 representatives of the clubs, and political organizations. He was introduced by J. Bralley Odham who said "I think he's rendered service so fine . . . I hope he will be with us for all the years to come."

Mayor Merle Warner welcomed Senator Holland at the luncheon served by the Jaycees, who sponsored the meeting, and presented him with a key to the city.

Senator Holland noted that "in my mind the Navy expects the Sanford Naval Air Station to be a permanent base" and on the Sanford-Titusville Canal told the audience "as usual we're working hard on it. The whole delegation is preparing to be there."

However, as he spoke of the hearing set for April 28, Senator Holland reminded his listeners that "I hope the decision will be a favorable one, by members of the Board and they are the word of final authority."

"Whether it was the launching of Sputniks last fall; whether it was the Russians who had advanced so far; whether it was the international problems; or whether it was disappointment in judicial leadership, legislative leadership, I don't know," said Senator Holland.

"But it was a loss of confidence—that is the thing behind the recession," he said.

In summarizing the events of the recent period, the Senior Senator said there came what we call a buyers strike. It was a reflection of the lack of confidence in our self and in our institutions. However, he emphasized that "I think in the four months there has been a good deal of progress—there has been a demonstration that we can stand together."

Senator Holland pointed out "The record of this Congress, so far, has been the feeling that the American people can stand together in solving important problems."

"Mind you," he said, "we were suffering from the effects of two Sputniks and a delay in launching our own."

In providing new money and new leadership which Senator Holland particularly pointed out were "needed and required" he said "We have been shown that we deteriorated in our defense posture."

"What has been done?" he said "Money has been put to work that was standing idle, contracts were let on projects to which money had been appropriated. We thought it wise to move ahead in both military and civilian fields." A new housing bill was passed, an omnibus rivers and harbors bill, highway program stepped back to its previous mark, and $400 million provided for a greater share in building urban, secondary and primary roads, he explained.

"This year, a completely different record has been made," Senator Holland affirmed, and added "there hasn't been, since I've been in the Senate, such a demonstration."

3 Uoff Speakers To Appear Tuesday At Lions Club

More than 130 students from the University of Florida will travel 19,000 man miles next week as they present speeches before 153 high schools and civic clubs.

Three of the speakers will appear in Sanford Tuesday at the noon luncheon of the Sanford Lions Club.

The Florida Blue Key Speaker's Bureau, main spring activity of the campus men's leadership fraternity, reports this is twice as many students making speeches as last year.

Bill Wagner, Lake Worth law freshman and member of Florida Blue Key, is chairman of the annual project.

The student speakers, who will tell the story of the University, will appear before 43 high schools and one junior college. The remainder of their speeches will be before civic clubs.

Pancake Jamboree To Benefit Local Youth

Tomorrow is the big day! At the Sanford Elks Club, members will be serving hot cakes, pancakes, flap jacks, stacks, or whatever you want to call them—all to benefit the youth of Sanford and the area.

The Elks Club is staging a gigantic "Aunt Jemima Community Pancake Jamboree" to raise funds for the many youth activities of the organization. Primarily, funds will go toward providing additional equipment for the playground, in Fort Mellon Park now used by many children.

And the Elks Club is looking forward to supplying equipment for other playground areas in the city so that youngsters may enjoy the healthful out-of-doors recreation they need—and to enjoy it in safety.

Here's what members of the Elks Club will be doing in order that their organization may more fully realize the ambitious program they have set up for youth benefit participation: they are preparing hotcakes or pancakes, with sausage, syrup, butter and coffee.

There's a charge, of course, but every penny of the money that will be realized will go toward the youth activities.

Aunt Jemima's Community Pancake Jamboree has been made possible through the cooperation of a number of generous companies. For instance, the Quaker Oats Company is furnishing the Pancake Flour, Sunland Sausage has been contributed, Kraft-Parkay Company furnishes the margarine butter, and you will have Lullaine Coffee and Pet Milk.

The committee of the Sanford Elks Club has been working hard and long preparing for the day-long event. Members of the group have been practicing with their pancake flipping and cooking. They've learned how to make the finest coffee you've tasted, and the sausage cookers are well versed on getting just the right brown to make the real taste come out.

Everything's all ready for the first early-come starting at 7:30 tomorrow morning and serving will continue on until 7:30 tomorrow night.

It's possible, as some have said, to have pancakes for breakfast, more pancakes for lunch, and top off the day with a delicious pancake dinner.

Tickets for tomorrow's "Aunt Jemima Community Pancake Jamboree" are available from any member of the Sanford Elks Club Annex where serving will take place.

Elks Club officials have announced that funds from the Aunt Jemima Community Pancake Jamboree will go toward improving the Elks' Public Children's Playground, toward Boy Scout groups, toward the Youth Wing of the Sanford Civic Center, and other youth activities.

Ralph Wight is chairman of the committee planning and staging the Aunt Jemima Community Pancake Jamboree, and committee members are: Myron Reck, Don Bales, Dr. J. C. Boyce, Bob Williams, J. R. Hootman, R. W. Casabe, Bill Hardin, Dick Maps, St. Clair White, and Fred Perkins.

The public, said the committee chairman, is urged to take this opportunity to enjoy "the most delicious pancakes you have ever eaten" and to help the Elks Club in their youth activities program.

Sanford Golfer Tourney Medalist

By Virginia Conn

A Sanford Navy wife who has been playing golf for only six years became low scorer and medalist yesterday in the 28th annual Women's State Golf Tournament.

Mrs. William (Jeanne) Fouk, 38, of the Mayfair Country Club during qualifying rounds. The strain of winning was too much for her and she dissolved in tears upon hearing the news.

Married to a navigator stationed at N.A.S. Sanford, Mrs. Fouk frequently states that she "took up golf in self-defense." Her husband spends every available moment on the golf course. She holds a 7 handicap.

As tournament chairman, Mrs. Fouk had more than enough problems during the 1958 tournament: Wednesday's rainout was only one of them. In spite of this, she came through in fine style, upsetting a superstition that tournament chairmen are dogged with bad luck on the course.

Mrs. Fouk, 33, has been practicing daily for the championship classic. She almost lost her chance yesterday when her teeshot on the 370 yard 6th plunked into the lake, giving her a double bogey. Two holes later, on the 533 yard 8th, she muffed three consecutive shots.

The tall, slim, brown-eyed blonde was 1957 champion of the Sanford Women's Golf Association, but was dethroned this year by Mrs. Augusta Russell.

Miss Ann Middlemas, 1956 winner of the Florida State Championship, and runner-up last year, was the only one with a chance to tie Mrs. Fouk. The little gal from Panama City lost her opportunity when she took a double bogey six on the 480 yard 18th. Final results: 40-40-80.

In a special ruling, Wednesday's scores were allowed to stand. Rain and wind during the two days qualifying threatened to lengthen the days spent at the Mayfair Country Club. The Men's State Tournament begins next week and the ladies were getting time mighty close.

Two matches were played in one round today, in order to complete the tournament Sunday. The 16 Championship flighers played (Continued on Page 2)

All Dogs Must Be Vaccinated

"All dogs in the City of Sanford must be vaccinated against rabies," City Manager Warren E. Knowles said today. "This is required by law," he said, and added "the vaccination tag must be worn by dogs on their collar or harness."

The City Manager said that in order to accommodate dog owners, Dr. Raymond Bass, veterinarian, will be at the rear of the City Hall on April 30 and again on May 7 to vaccinate dogs from 1 to 4 p. m.

"These are the only two days Dr. Bass will be available at the City Hall for the dog vaccination," City Manager Knowles said.

Knowles sounded a warning to dog owners in his announcement, however, when he said that "after June 1, all dogs found without a tag certifying that they have been vaccinated for rabies for the year 1958 will be subject to being picked up by the Sanford Police Department and disposed of."

Knowles said that city license tags for the year 1958 are now available and owners must obtain tags prior to June 1 from the City Tax Collector in the City Hall. Cost of the license tags is set at 25 cents and the vaccination at $4.

500-Gallon 'Shine Still Confiscated

A 500-gallon capacity moonshine still, said Sheriff Hobby, and still was found yesterday afternoon by the Seminole County Sheriff's deputies in the Geneva area about one mile off the old Cochran Trail.

The still, hot from use just before being found, is constructed of steel throughout with the exception of the copper condenser coil.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby, at the scene of the still this morning, said that deputies hid in the area since yesterday afternoon when the apparatus was discovered in an effort to take the operators into custody.

"I don't know who the owners of the still are," the Sheriff said. Deputy Sheriff Marion Driggers, said Sheriff Hobby, discovered the huge moonshine whiskey still. "A run had just been made for the still itself was hot and is still hot now," he said.

Two steel vats holding mash were also discovered. There were 500 gallons of mash fermenting. One of the steel vats was about half full of mash, the other half having been run in the latest operation of the still.

MIRACLES

Blossoms prove that winter has given place to spring; fruit, vegetables and grain prove that harvest is at hand—all are miracles. We see them so often we take them for granted, and we forget there are other miracles, just as beautiful, just as significant, just as unailing.

The Church, bringing human lives into contact with God, produces miracles every day. Rough, actually evil people become powers for good. As winter changes into spring, so cold, barren nature blossoms and brings forth good fruit.

God depends on our help to cultivate the soil and care for the seed. Similarly, He looks to us to help bring the message of the Church, the message of salvation to others. He invites each of us to become part of His great miracle-working program.

Why not begin NOW? Become a part of the Church and its great work. Your own life will be enriched, your happiness increased, because you are a partner in performing miracles.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Back of these things, he said, has been unanimity and lack of bickering—and there hasn't been any round stamping.

"I have looked with disfavor on these high support programs and I voted against the bill to create high price supports," he said. "There is considerable difference of opinion in this field in both houses, but I don't think it is right to continue to regiment the agricultural people of our nation."

Pointing to the effects of the high price supports, Senator Holland said "There was no state in the nation where cattlemen would agree to regimentation—even though they were suffering for money."

And he emphasized "In this industry, the fruit industry and others who are not under price support you will find that they are generally prosperous."

One point Senator Holland made was in the fields of armed services and taxation. He said "I think we are going to have considerable argument over the reorganization of the armed services—it's going to be highly controversial," and he added, "there's going to be some fighting when we get around to taxation—everybody wants it but where will we stop."

"Despite the fact this is an election year your Congress has stood behind the President in many matters needed to rebuild the confidence of the people," he said.

Senator Holland praised the Sanford community as he wound up his address. He said "You have a producing community, a military community, a marling community, and a fishing and hunting community—it's a wonderful place to be."

Three Airmen Will Be Cited For Heroic Action

SEOUL (UP)—Lt. Gen. Chang Duk Chang said today that three Republic of Korea airmen will be cited for "heroic action" in thwarting the hijacking of their plane to Communist North Korea.

The IOK air force chief of staff issued a description of the incident shortly after reporting to President Syngman Rhee today.

He said Chul Jung II, 30, an air force captain with 10 years service, staged the hijack attempt Thursday.

Chol entered the cockpit of the C-47 transport plane and immediately killed the radio operator with two .45 caliber pistol bullets in the face, Chang said. He then took the radio man's weapons and ordered the pilot of fly north to Communist territory.

A few minutes later the pilot, Capt. Kim Pak Kim, grabbed Chol's hands and started hitting him in the face. Other crew members joined the fight, during which the pilot and the mechanic were injured.

Chang said there were 11 persons aboard the plane, including six passengers, Chol and the crew. Chol still was unconscious more than 24 hours after the beating.

The co-pilot, only unharmed crew member, landed the plane at Pyongtaek, 40 miles south of Seoul.

A preliminary investigation showed no apparent contact with Communist circles. Chol was born in North Korea.

Bonds For Peace Are Necessary To Preserve Individual Liberty

In the twentieth century, evidence of individual freedom is in their government, and our Liberty Bonds.

And we had our War Bonds. We won our war.

And our Defense Bonds financed a Free World Arsenal.

This has been a continuing, growing evidence of national confidence and a source of both national and international strength.

It is now when the nation faces more and more changes in an increasingly world, the need now is to maintain Peace Power—its money and the strong economy to pay the costs of peace.

What can we do? Liberty Bonds—or War Bonds—or Defense Bonds may rightly be called "Peace Bonds."

Yet through this evolution, there has been one constant factor. All the bonds have been Savings Bonds, providing for the individual an opportunity to lay aside some money in regular amounts, however small; for his money to earn interest; for the average citizen to make secure investments which, at the same time, build security for himself and for his country.

The individual grasped this opportunity. January sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds were the best of any for the preceding 24 months. The combined sales of $610 million were ten per cent above those for January of 1957.

February sales were 18 per cent above those of a year ago, and for the first month since July of 1956, sales exceeded redemptions.

But yesterday's money does not preserve tomorrow's peace power.

Savings Bonds now accumulated for that dream house or a child's college education will never fulfill their purpose if an atomic bomb should leave a gaping hole where a home stands, or if hydrogen warfare turns colleges into rubble.

Peace costs money to maintain.

Peace and the preservation of national and individual liberty, more important than mere physical security, cost money.

This is now the thesis of a national Savings Bond campaign.

Purchase of more Savings Bonds—more "Peace Bonds"—can provide for the individual's future—and provide assurance that he, and all the rest of us will have a future.

Waterways Mean Industrial Boom

One of the foremost authorities on the use of American waterways struck a warning note yesterday in an address before the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs of Greenville, Mississippi.

Barton B. Carr, president of the American Waterway Operators warned that histories of the world's great civilized empires clearly show that those who neglected or allowed their internal commerce to be strangled all perished and died.

"Internal commerce within the United States must be preserved and encouraged or we too will perish," he said.

At a time when river transportation is making its tremendous contribution to the growth and prosperity of the country there are strong forces at work which seek to cripple and hamstring waterways transportation and water resource development.

The availability of economical river transportation, Carr pointed out to the joint meeting of civic clubs, was one of the contributing factors to the industrial boom in areas adjacent to waterways.

This warning from the Washington, D. C. association president comes at a time of relaxed interest in the Sanford Docks and Terminals proposed for this area over and over again.

At the present time the only interest comes in an application to one of the federal agencies which, local city commissioners have been told, will provide financing for a planning study of the most important project ever to come before a board of citizens imbued with the authority to lead the community in economic betterment.

Much of the future of the Sanford-Titusville Canal lies within the construction and promotion of a Docks and Terminals project for Sanford. Many feel, even now, that had the Docks and Terminals project become a reality earlier, the Sanford-Titusville Canal would have already been approved and possibly would be already under construction.

A road isn't built through a forest without first clearing the land and cutting a swath over which highways are constructed. And the same is true of water transportation—there just isn't any until facilities are provided for the use of barges and boats.

An industrial revolution could and would come about should water transportation facilities be made available.

Certainly, the use of a facility would not reach its peak overnight. That case is clearly shown in an Army Corps of Engineer report which stated that one facility, over a period of 50 years, would average five million tons of freight a year—it is now handling 45 million tons each year in spite of the lower estimate.

There needs to be interest, a desire to further those things which are best for the community—and the docks and terminals is one.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Nikita S. Khrushchev has just made his first blunder since he took over as premier of Soviet Russia two weeks ago.

Addressing a mass meeting of steel workers at Stalino, U.S.S.R., last Saturday, Khrushchev said that Hungary could not count on Russian intervention in the event of a new revolt.

His statement seems to have alarmed Hungarian and other Communist satellite leaders. They feared that it might offer encouragement to the workers, intellectuals and students who are becoming more and more restive under Red rule.

So on Tuesday, Khrushchev reversed himself in another speech at the coal-mining town of Zlatibor.

This time, Khrushchev said that Russia would intervene if necessary.

Claimed Distortion
He explained that "bourgeois journalists" had distorted his speech at Stalino. What he really said, he told the coal miners, was that the Hungarian regime should make itself so strong that no revolt would be attempted.

Unfortunately, Khrushchev's original speech was published by the official Hungarian News Agency M. T. S., not merely by "bourgeois journalists."

Khrushchev's blunder, relatively minor in itself, emphasizes the difference in his status since he assumed the Soviet prime ministry on March 8, after ousting Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

Bulganin, of colorless personality, was what might be called a "safe" man. It was not necessary for him to back-track on any statements he made.

Can't Fog On
But Khrushchev, as first secretary of the Communist Party before he became premier, became famed for his frank, often highly provocative "off-the-cuff" remarks at diplomatic receptions. As a Communist leader and not member of the Soviet government, Khrushchev could make such remarks and get away with them.

But if he continues, in his capacity of leader of the Soviet government, to make such statements it will mean trouble both for himself and for the foreign governments with which Russia does business.

There is a great deal of difference between an inflammatory remark made by a Communist Party leader and one made by a premier who is his country's highest ranking spokesman.

It will be a good thing for Khrushchev personally, for Russia and for the world, if he learns that while a Communist Party leader can pop off and get away with it, a premier can not.

The black widow spider always approaches its victim backwards.

Herlong Report

These few days of the Herlong report which allowed me to get back to the District have been wonderful. I have seen and talked with many persons, and I know that I will return to Washington with a better understanding of their needs and desires.

This interlude, I might say, comes before the "storm," for when Congress meets again Monday we will begin consideration of many pieces of major legislation. There will be further talk about what to do in terms of help over the present recession. Tax reduction legislation will be a major topic since the various members of Congress will have heard directly from the people at home.

In whatever action is taken, Congress must move cautiously, lest a new round of inflation be started.

The House had an interesting debate recently, which in effect, called for the time at least legislative authorization of the creation of a "Freedom Shrine" across the Potomac River from Washington. Proponents said the shrine, consisting mostly of a 60-foot high wall, would cost approximately $2 million dollars with the money to be raised by subscription from the school children of America.

The shrine would be a wonderful idea, but I voted against it because I do not think this is the time, with the nation in a recession, to build it. Further, I had in mind the fact that the mothers and fathers of school children already are being hit for everything under the sun and it wasn't fair to put this indirect tax burden on them. I think most parents will agree with me.

Then, too, there would have had to be a large expensive agency set up to collect the money, and there were no figures on how much this operation would cost. In the final analysis, the money would have had to be collected by the school teachers, and I think these teachers already have enough on their hands.

A further argument against the shrine being constructed with voluntary contributions was that it might be half built, run out of money, and then it would either be left in that condition or Congress would have had to come up with the difference.

'Are Unitarians Christians?'

By LOUIS GARBER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Ever since the first Unitarian churches were established in America in the early part of the 17th Century, outsiders have been asking: "Are Unitarians Christians?"

In the past few years, the question has become a burning issue among Unitarians themselves.

A growing number of Unitarians, especially ministers, have begun to answer the question with a flat "no!" Instead of the traditional qualified yes. And this trend is surely distressing to those Unitarians, particularly in New England, who still consider themselves "liberal Christians."

Tension between these two groups was heightened last May when the annual meeting of the American Unitarian Assn. voted to change the name of the denomination's magazine from "The Christian Register" to "The Unitarian Register."

No "Official" Doctrine
It is characteristic of Unitarians that no attempt has been made to receive this tension by spelling out an "official" doctrine.

Individual freedom of belief is the basic principle of Unitarianism. The church has no creed, no dogmas, no definitions of faith that members are expected to accept. Each member is urged to "seek the truth for himself" and to believe only what he personally finds reasonable and persuasive.

As an organized movement, Unitarianism dates back to 1609. The name apparently was designed to distinguish the church from "Trinitarian" Christian belief which teach that God manifests himself in three ways or "persons"—Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

New England was the first center of Unitarian strength in the United States. The new denomination, formally organized in 1825, grew so rapidly that first that Thomas Jefferson predicted that every American would be a Unitarian within one generation.

This forecast proved to be very wide of the mark. The Unitarian Church has remained small. Today it has about 600 congregations with 100,000 members. The membership is still heavily concentrated in New England but since World War II there has been substantial growth in the Middle Atlantic States and on the West Coast.

The number of Unitarians who have been prominent in American life is large in proportion to the size of the denomination. Jefferson and four other presidents —

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT GIRD

A BANK ROBBER was reported driving like mad anywhere in Virginia and every sheriff in the state was alerted to watch for him. Taking no chances, one conscientious sheriff decided to stop every car on the road and examine its occupants. The dwager in a sleek limousine took this snafu. "By what authority do you presume to stop this car?" he demanded angrily.

The sheriff took his badge out of his pocket to show the lady—and blushed violently. The badge was a tin affair marked "Peace Officer." His 8-year-old son had switched badges.

Colligate quickly: "Where are you headed, dear wife, in the middle of the night?"
"Downstairs to get some water."
"In your night gown?"
"No, my love, in a pique."

918 New Post Office Buildings To Be Constructed

WASHINGTON (UP)— Construction of 918 new post office buildings is under way or will begin by early fall, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced Tuesday.

The buildings will cost an estimated $60,540,000.

Summerfield said 16 of the new post offices at an estimated cost of $9,100,000 will be built under the provisions of the loose-purchase law. Under this program the government buys the structures by paying for them over a period of years.

The 895 other buildings, costing an estimated $51,440,000, will be constructed under the department's leasing program. Under this program, the post offices are built by private capital and leased to the department.

Summerfield said funds needed to equip the new post offices under the leasing program are presently available from authorized appropriations.

He added, in a statement, that the 895 proposed new leased post offices represent less than 10 per cent of the department's "urgent needs" for new facilities.

He sent the statement along with an accompanying letter urging approval of proposed postal rate increases, to members of Congress.

He said that if the postal rate bill now pending before Congress were enacted into law, revenues received from the five-cent out-of-town letter mail would provide 175 million dollars a year in new funds to purchase equipment for additional thousands of "badly needed new post offices."

Chairman Olin D. Johnston D-SC of the Senate Post Office Committee, denied that the postal rate increase bill would speed work on post office buildings. He said the President already had earmarked such funds for other purposes.

"Every penny the Post Office Department collects from the sale of stamps goes directly to the Treasury of the United States," Johnston said in a statement.

"Every penny the Post Office Department spends must first be appropriated by Congress."

"Therefore, construction of any post offices or federal buildings in South Carolina or in any other state has no connection whatsoever with whether or not Congress passed a five-cent stamp or any other postal rate increase."

Backstairs At Whitehouse

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)— Backstairs at the White House:

President Eisenhower's plans for an extended vacation this year are indefinite both as to the place and time. The only thing definite is that he will not take it until Congress adjourns. But White House aides hope that Congress will complete its work and get out of town in time for the President to start vacationing in the latter part of July.

The President will be looking for a low-altitude spot with a good golf course and good fishing nearby. The mountains are out because of the heart attack he suffered in Denver, Colo., in 1955. Denver's altitude is not high enough to rule it out on that basis alone. But to get to his favorite fishing spot in the area at Frasier, he would have to go over Berthold Pass at an altitude of 11,300 feet. The altitude of Frasier is 8,000 feet.

Another factor that would complicate a Denver vacation for the President this year is the poor health of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud. She has been alling for some time and it would be inconvenient for the President and Mrs. Eisenhower to stay at her residence as they have in the past. Mrs. Eisenhower stayed at a Denver hotel when she recently visited her mother for two days.

Mayor Henry C. Wilkinson of Newport, R. I., was quoted recently as saying there was a "very good likelihood" that Eisenhower would vacation there again this summer. The President enjoyed his vacation at the naval base there last year. But members of the White House staff who would know first about a vacation site say they have no idea what made the mayor so optimistic. However, Newport is a possibility.

Congress Readies For Anti-Recession, Defense Measure Battle

By RAYMOND LANE
 United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)— Congress returned from its pulse-taking recess today with battle lines hardened for coming warfare over anti-recession and national defense measures.

First reports on the lawmakers' talks with voters at home indicated there still was no great public clamor for tax reduction — one of the major issues to be faced during the balance of the 1953 session.

Both administration and congressional leaders have held back from tax reduction as an anti-recession weapon. They want a later diagnosis of the outlook for business and the federal budget.

Some Reduction Likely
 Even so the betting now is on some kind of tax reduction this year—at least a few excise sales tax cuts on automobiles, freight and other items. If business does not stage a recovery soon, a general reduction in income and excise taxes is likely.

The 85th Congress was ready to tackle other anti-recession bills. After passage of housing, highway and other public works bills with heavy bipartisan support before Easter, party lines have been stiffening on economic measures.

In the Senate the first order of business was a bill to provide a billion dollars in loans to communities for public works projects. Senate Republicans forced a delay on this measure before the recess.

The House Ways & Means Committee goes to work Tuesday on differing administration and Democratic proposals to provide extra unemployment insurance payments to persons who have exhausted their benefits.

President Eisenhower prodded Congress on Sunday to "act as swiftly as possible" on the issue.

West Okays Proposal For Talks In Moscow

LONDON (UP)— The West will accept Soviet Russia's proposal to meet pre-summit diplomatic talks in Moscow this week, authoritative Western sources said today.

But at the same time, the sources said, the West will turn down Russia's demand that the allies commit themselves in advance to holding the summit meeting regardless of the outcome of the diplomatic discussions and a foreign ministers' conference.

The Western reply probably will be dispatched Tuesday, the sources added. The Russians last week suggested that the diplomatic talks should open in Moscow on Thursday.

Western officials believed it will not be possible to get them started so early, but thought they could begin in Moscow early next week.

The United States, Britain and France spent the weekend in what a Foreign Office spokesman described as "urgent consultations" on their reply to the Soviets.

DeBary ColC Heads Drive For Needed Fire Equipment

The DeBary Chamber of Commerce is spearheading a campaign for fund raising beginning today which will continue through the week.

The urgent need for additional equipment for fire protection in this fast growing, civic minded community of DeBary, is evidenced by the intense local interest in accumulating funds for the immediate purchase of necessary equipment.

Some of the talent acts appearing in the center of the 100 x 100 foot concrete court during the supper hour will be "The Counts", a well-known student singing group, a new hillbilly singing and playing group, a faculty quartet, student dancers, Sid Vihlen and his singing trumpet, Eddie Kirshoff at the piano, skits and playlets by the speech class, and many others that are yet unannounced.

There will also be many games and contests going on around the outer perimeter of the court. Following the supper and entertainment the court will be cleared, it was said, for round and square dancing. In addition, football movies of the past season's games will be shown.

One attraction will be the "dunking machine" where some teacher will get dunkings in a pool of water when scores are made on a basket by throwing balls.

"Entertainers" will feature the sale of cakes, cookies, pies, doughnuts, coffee, sno-cones, soft drinks, hot dogs and candy.

The general public is invited, the P.T.A. organization said, but especially students, parents and relatives of Seminole High School. Dedication ceremonies will be held to open the court with Principal Andrew J. Bracken officiating.
