Perfume Bargain Often Smelly

NEW YORK (UPI) — A manufacturer warned Christmas shoppers today that this is the happy season for perfume counterfeiters.
 "The counterfeit perfume business is mushrooming now," said Edouard Courmand. If you are offered a bargain on top name perfumes by a taxi driver, elevator operator, door-to-door salesman or cut-rate store—don't buy. You'll be buying counterfeit or watered perfume at best.
 Courmand, who keeps an ex-FBI man in his employ to track down counterfeiters, says most counterfeit perfume is made in Mexico and the Caribbean island.

Adult Electronic Class To Begin At Lyman High

A class in Electronics Technology for adults will open at Lyman High School shortly after the first of the year, according to an announcement by E. S. Douglas, director of vocational and adult education. These classes will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. two nights each week.

George W. Thompson of the Lyman High faculty will be the instructor. This will be a basic course for beginners. A mathematics test will be administered to each applicant as well as the following sections of the G. A. T. E.—intelligence, form perception and spatial aptitude.

Philco training equipment as well as testing equipment owned by the county school system will be available to students.

A fee of $80 will be charged which will cover copies of the text, "Basic Concepts and DC Circuits" published by Philco and "Basic Mathematics of Electronics," by Cook, published by McGraw-Hill.

The class will be limited to 20 persons and applications will be accepted on a first-come first-served basis. All interested persons should apply to E. S. Douglas, School Administration Bldg., Sanford.

Go To Lead PTA Discussion

Frank Gore, principal of the Altamonte Springs Elementary School, will lead an informal discussion at Tuesday's 8 p. m. meeting of the PTA on any questions or problems that teachers or parents might have concerning the school and children.

A display of children's books, procured from a book dealer at a discount price by Mrs. L. T. Bryan Jr., library chairman, also will be shown.

You can find anything you need advertised in the Herald by Sanford merchants.

Sales, Prizes Attract Crowds

Early Christmas shoppers, Friday night shoppers, lookers, and browsers from all over the county crowded Sanford's downtown streets Friday to take advantage of the fine buys offered by merchants and take a chance on winning some free certificates, good for merchandise.

Mrs. Henry Schumacher was the lucky shopper who won the first prize of $45, with Assistant Fire Chief R. T. Thomas holding the lucky second place tab and Mrs. Lawrence Pivec winning third prize. Mrs. Pivec's son, George, seven, attributed his mother's good fortune to the rabbit foot he bought that same night, which is seen in the photo.

The crowds in the stores and on the streets were even greater than the week before, merchants said.

One more week of the big promotion is scheduled, with more prizes to be given away. Stores will start staying open every night until 9 p.m. on Dec. 17.

Action Urged On Care Of Aged

County Home Called 'Trap'

The Seminole County Home was called a fire-trap and a method of caring for the county's aged and indigent was labeled most urgent at a Monday night meeting called to review the problem.

The meeting was called by county commissioners after submission a week ago of a report by its courthouse committee urging immediate action.

About 30 representatives of county service, civic and church organizations attended the session as which Commissioner James Avery called the present county home "a firetrap" and Commissioner Vernon Dunn joined him in saying that it would be "completely unusable" as a place of residence for aged and indigent people.

The county is looking into the possibility of getting financial help from the House and Home Finance Agency to assist in expansion of the facilities of two independently operated homes.

Mrs. Taamar Braden, director of the Serepta Home, said that the license for that installation to operate as a home for the aged is about to be withdrawn by the State Board of Health.

The Mound City people said they would hold the records as "the only way we know how to fight the government" and hold on to the last vestige of the Campbell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The government has "pushed and pushed and pushed until we are up to the front door of the ASCS building and can't be pushed further, so we'll have to make a stand," said Milton Deibert, a cattle and grain farmer and one of the owners of the building.

Remember that refugee away back that was making us get our crying towels out? Well, he escaped from a work gang last Friday but was picked up in Daytona Beach for breaking and entering.

Work started on grading 25th St.

From the "what do YOU think?" meeting called by Commissioner Jim Avery and attended by all the county board . . . Avery: Under the ridiculous extremes demanded by state supervision of N & A (nursing and aged) homes even some of the most recently built care buildings now operating fail to measure up, including our own Seminole Memorial Hospital—one of the best . . .

Committee member Ford Cavanaugh: The smallest economically constructed facility is one of 40 beds . . .

Bob Bessner, Seminole Memorial Hospital administrator: probably the most efficiently operated is 30 beds (one nurse station for every 30 beds required) . . .

Cost of construction with private capital—$4,000 per bed; with federal agency loan—$6,500 a bed (red tape, elaborate construction standards . . .)

Chm. J. C. Hutchison: Do the homes represented here plan to remodel or build new accommodations? . . .

Mrs. Taamar Braden, Serepta Home: We plan to put up a new building—about 40 beds . . .

Mother Wilson, Good Samaritan Home: Our planning is for a new unit of 30 beds . . .

Both: It would have to be done with federal funds . . .

George Touhy, Sanford Seminole Development Co.: Sincere as all of us are from a humanitarian viewpoint, we just ignore the financial implications (40 beds multiplied by $6,500 cost per bed equals $260,000) . . .

Committee member F. E. Gregory: Right now there is no approved N&A home in Seminole County . . .

Committee member Chm. J. H. Van Hoy: Providing a facility through county construction followed by private operation through a lease (as in Volusia County) is recommended only as a last resort . . .

Pen Cantwell, former Sanford resident and major league baseball pitcher, died today at Salem, Mo. Cantwell was a resident of 305 S. Park Ave. for many years and got his start in baseball at Sanford. He pitched for the New York Giants and Boston Braves during his big league career.

We wondered why so many deputies are making cases in JP court instead of county court where the county can benefit from it. We asked Judge Vernon Mize about it and he said "no comment." However, the judge did admit it's been going on for quite a while.

We queried the sheriff's office on it and came out with this answer: the warrants have been coming out of JP court and deputies have no other recourse.

What's the use of having those elaborate blinker warning signals by the Lake Mary School when they don't work but one or two days a week?

There are only 17 more shopping days until "you know what" and a good time to work on that shopping list and save money, too, by shopping in Sanford during the two big bargain days set for Friday and Saturday.

To add to the excitement of the approaching season, you'll have a chance to win $45, $35 or $20 worth of gift certificates, good in downtown stores, at the drawing held after closing time.

This is the third week of the big all-out sales promotion by downtown merchants in a pre-Christmas offering for shoppers.

Water Supply Danger Stressed In Control Program Request

The County will ask the House and Home Finance Agency this month for a preliminary grant of $40,000 for the start of a multi-million dollar water control program in the county.

Included in the application will be a lengthy document setting the need for strong measures to "insure the county of an adequate supply of safe, good water," Assistant County Engineer Guy Stenstrom said today.

Stenstrom said the county stands "in danger of losing one of our most vitally important natural resources, pure water."

"The same combination of factors, resulting from excessive population density coupled with inadequate planning, that have caused other areas to lose their supply of pure water are already much nearer to our walls than you may think," Stenstrom said.

Stenstrom emphasized there are numerous wells in the county already abandoned or severely throttled because of salt intrusion, aggravated by countless uncontrolled or semi-controlled wells in the area wasting thousands of gallons of water daily.

The county is also in danger of pollution, Stenstrom stressed, adding that this danger "has been ignored too long already."

A recent study conducted by the engineer's office revealed 10,188 homes in the unincorporated area of Seminole County now using septic tanks, cesspools, outdoor privies or other less desirable means of sewage disposal.

These, according to Stenstrom, along with untold others within the limits of our smaller towns, directly contribute to the contamination and pollution of the same area where there are 7,500 homes, an estimated 25,400 people, depending upon private wells for their drinking water.

Soviets To Ship Jets To India

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today that Russia definitely will live up to its promise to ship jet fighters to India and establish a MIG factory in this country.

Nehru said there may be some delay in delivery of the first fighters because of the Cuban and general world situations—not Red China—but there is "no question of the Soviet Union backing out of its commitments."

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan supported this.

"The Soviet Union has agreed to supply some MIGs in December or a little later, some next year and some later," Chavan declared.

He did not give any figures. Nehru said press reports that the MIG contract had been withdrawn by the Soviets because of Chinese opposition were in error.

Article Puts Stevenson On Spot

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Advice, according to Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, is of little use "of chilled by fear of disclosure and misrepresentation."

America's chief representative in the United Nations should know whereof he speaks. He is now caught in one of the more serious chills to fall in some time upon his area of government, the incredibly delicate area of foreign policy and diplomacy.

President Kennedy, it can be stated with authority, wants Stevenson to remain in his post at the United Nations. It can be stated with equal authority that Stevenson likes his job and wants to keep it.

If not his advice, Stevenson's stature in the United Nations was somewhat chilled today by a highly circulated, even wandering chain of events which brought head-shaking puzzlement to certain sections of government.

Why puzzlement? Why the necessity of considering what Kennedy can do to improve the Stevenson image?

The Saturday Evening Post printed an article this week to the effect that Stevenson preferred "political negotiation" to a blockade for dealing with the Soviet missile buildup in Cuba.

The article was written by Stewart Alsop, Washington editor of the magazine, and Charles Bartlett, syndicated columnist and such a close friend of the President that he has been invited to weekends at Newport, R. I., and Glen Ora, the Kennedy place at Middleburg, Va. Also, Kennedy recently gave Alsop an exclusive interview for his magazine.

Stevenson's position as reported by Alsop and Bartlett was espoused by the UN ambassador during highly secret deliberations of the National Security Council Executive Committee prior to Kennedy's decision to throw a tight naval blockade around Cuba.

The White House did not deny that Stevenson at one time favored "political negotiation" as a means of getting the missiles out of Cuba instead of the near-war tactic of blockading all possible weapons shipments bound for Cuba.

For that matter, Stevenson did not deny this specific point, although he did say the article was inaccurate in reporting that he had proposed trading U. S. bases abroad for Soviet missile withdrawal from Cuba.

Third Apportionment Session Looming

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Senate President Wilson Carraway said today "things look pretty good" for a third special session of the legislature on reapportionment.

Carraway said he has polled more than one-half of the 38 senators by telephone and found a "great majority" want to come back and vote on a plan before the federal courts take on the job.

He named Sen. John E. Mathews of Jacksonville to a six-member House-Senate committee that will draw a bill for submission to the legislature if the session is called. Other Senate members named today were Verle A. Pope, St. Augustine and Randolph Hodges, Cedar Key.

Wilbur Boyd of Manatee County, named chairman of House committee members Monday, was due in Tallahassee today to complete a poll of House members on the proposed special session.

Carraway said he found only two senators, both from big counties, that said they could not go along with the approach to reapportionment that was considered in the last 20-day special session, meaning proposals to substantially enlarge both Senate and House membership.

Heath Winner In Casselberry Mayor's Race

Fredrick G. Heath defeated incumbent Carl C. Stoddard by a landslide vote of 285 to 60 for the office of Casselberry mayor in Monday's municipal elections.

A total of 600 voters from the more than 700 registered turned out to cast their ballots.

In the race for aldermen, the three open posts were taken by Lou Woodhams, with 215 votes; Art Logo, 205 and Ed Lunn, 195. Other candidates and votes received were J. D. Smith, 180; Donald Long, 140 and John Burns, 115.

Unopposed candidates Gus Sawyer for marshal received 213 votes and Mrs. Lillian Henning for Clerk tallied 230.

Voting today in municipal elections is taking place in Altamonte Springs, Longwood and Oviedo.

Gene R. Stephenson and Stuart D. Frick are running unopposed for the Altamonte council as Ben James, W. R. Clonts and W. H. Martin in Oviedo.

Seeking council posts in Longwood are incumbents R. C. Carlson and John Beams and E. E. Williamson, Vernon Fitch and Mark Bullock. Unopposed are A. R. Lorman for mayor, Mrs. Onnie Rockett Shomate for clerk and Roy Shomate for tax collector.

Youth Sets Self Aflame With Gas

MIAMI (UPI)—A 21-year-old youth who police said apparently doused himself in gasoline and touched off the fuel with a cigarette lighter died today at a hospital.

A neighbor said she saw flames leaping over an eight-foot hedge beside her house and ran out to find David Bethel "squirming on the ground, covered with flames."

Police say they found a half-empty container of gasoline across the street from where the youth was found, and a cigarette lighter in the middle of the street, its top still open. They said he had been badly injured in a motorcycle accident in August and was just recovering.

McClain Attend Convention

By Ruth Millett

Jackie and Marvin McClain, members of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McClain of Triangle, Pa., recently attended the annual convention of the Florida Chapter of the International Association of American Hotel and Motel Executives.

They made the trip with other students of Royal School of Dance in Winter Park and were privileged to study under renowned dancing instructor, Mrs. Elizabeth and Mrs. Josephine.

Jackie took advanced classes in Spanish, tap, ballroom, jazz, character and ballroom dancing and Marvin studied tap, character, Spanish and ballroom dancing.

A student dinner was prepared Friday night and on Saturday night they attended the ball. All were hot and busy as they found time for much varied activities as swimming and tea drinking in the pool.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Among the minor frustrations of modern living—

Trying to read the car manual fast enough to get off a freeway where you want to get off.

Trying to find a parking place in any walking distance of the store where you want to shop or the movie you want to see or the job you have to go to.

Trying to keep all the electrical gadgets in the home in working order.

Trying to find repairmen who will come the day they promise to.

Trying to work out our pool when you have children in three different schools.

Trying to get in and out of low-slung automobiles and furniture gracefully while wearing a short, tight skirt.

Trying to walk on rough ground in needle heels.

Trying to comb a ratted, bee-hive hairdo.

Trying to stay well-informed on the ever-changing world situation.

Trying to recognize acquaintances who are forever changing their hair color.

Trying to judge political candidates on their ability and record instead of being influenced by their television personalities.

Trying to seek for the color-conscious.

Trying to keep up on teenage slang so that you can understand your children and their friends.

Most Traffic Accidents Not 'Accidents'

A traffic accident is not "an accident" in 95 percent of the cases—it is a "caused occurrence," Florida Highway Patrol Sgt. Vince Smallwood told Rotarians Monday.

He said that disrespect for the law and disregard of the rights of property and the rights of others is the cause of most of the "occurrences."

"So far this year there have been 1,182 people killed in the state of Florida and 58,608 hospitalized with injuries in traffic 'accidents,'" Smallwood said. "This is 108 more deaths and 15,334 more injuries than at the same time last year."

Smallwood, who is a safety education officer stationed in Orlando, noted the major causes of accidents as speed too great for conditions, inattention to driving, following too closely, and improper passing.

"Speed, especially under adverse conditions, multiplies the fatalities and the seriousness of the injuries," he emphasized.

"Very few people drive within the speed limits," he told the Rotarians, "many of them cheat about five or ten miles an hour, but it's still breaking the law."

He called attention to several laws, which he said are violated because of ignorance and told Rotarians that in civic clubs where he passed out copies of the written driving test to members and let them grade their own papers, 75 percent of them failed, "because they just don't know the laws and don't keep up with the new ones."

The law forbids the use of parking lights for driving in fog, smoke, rain or at dusk or daylight, he pointed out.

"When it's time to put your lights on, you must turn on your full headlights, but keep them on low beam," he said.

The sounding of an audible signal when passing is another law that most motorists failed to comply with.

Failure to give a hand or mechanical signal when changing lanes is another frequent violation, that often causes accidents.

Santa Runs Afoul Of Law

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Santa Claus ran afoul of Ohio's 131-year-old Sunday closing law and was arrested Sunday as he talked with children and passed out gifts.

Harold Salf, manager of the Econo-Fair discount house, was warned last week not to open this Sunday, but he donned a Santa Claus outfit and did so anyway.

Detective Chief Carl Myers checked about 25 business places, but cited only Salf, who told deputies if they wanted to catch him they would have to hand the citation to Santa.

His arrest came in a crackdown resulting from the defeat in the Nov. 6 election of an attempt to change the law. When Christmas falls on a Sunday it might bring up a question of whether Santa provides a necessary service as defined by the law.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I have lived together for 15 years and have been very close. We have mutual friends and have always gone to church, concerts, plays, etc., together. Now I find myself alone and no one to share my life with.

A month ago my sister married a man after a courtship of only six weeks! A few years back I had two proposals of marriage and I turned them down because my sister did not want to be left alone. I am very hurt because of the way she has treated me. Am I wrong to think she should have refused this man because I turned down two proposals for her. Am I being unfair?

LONESOME: You are wrong. Your sister had every right to marry, and so did you. Don't be bitter. Perhaps now that you are alone you, too, will be pleased out of the garden of life bloomers.

DEAR ABBY: There is a woman in our neighborhood who just burns all of us up. She has a child who attends the same school as mine (and three other neighborhood children). But do you think she would consider being in our car pool? Not on your life. We have all asked her, but she says, "No, thank you. I don't want to be responsible for driving anyone else's child and I don't need anyone to drive mine." She goes right past my house every morning on her way to school and she picks up her child every evening. What makes this woman so selfish?

CANT GET OVER IT: Maybe she was in a car pool once.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my husband brought home a collie puppy. It is cute and all that, but how about when he grows up? I don't know anything about training a dog and you should see my house after one week! My husband says HE will train it, but he is gone all day and it's my job whether I like it or not. I have no yard to speak of, so it's too chilly to leave him outside all the time. Please tell me how to convince my husband that he should get rid of this puppy.

LIKES PUPPIES — HATES DOGS: DEAR LIKES: If you know nothing about training a dog and are not willing to learn, do the little animal a favor by giving him to someone who does. And it's time you started to train your husband.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are going to a very swanky formal affair at the best hotel in town. His firm is putting on the party. My problem is that the boss' wife does not have a fur stole and my husband is afraid that if I wear mine, it will not look right. Should I borrow a cloth evening coat for the occasion?

MRS. J.: Certainly not! Wear your fur stole. (Maybe the boss' wife will borrow a fur stole for the occasion.)

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

On a recent visit to Phoenix my old friend, Roy Hyslop, showed me his favorite hand. It is a classic example of proper technique in handling the trump suit.

Roy opened for six spades after he learned his partner did not hold the ace of clubs. He hoped that he would be able to spread the hand, but when dummy hit the table Roy saw a problem about his defense of diamonds. He ruffed the second club, entered dummy with a trump and led a third club and trumped high. He intended to set up the king of clubs, but when West showed out Roy had to abandon that plan.

Roy came up with the correct play. He led out his three high diamonds. If West had ruffed the third diamond Roy would have been set, but in that case there would have been no way to make the hand. As it was, West had to follow to the diamonds and Roy was able to ruff out the deuce with dummy's last trump.

New Roy played a second trump. If both opponents followed he could ruff out that deuce of diamonds, but once more Roy was disappointed. This time East showed out. At this point many players would have run out all their trumps and hoped for a diamond break, or some diamond discards, but those players would have gone down.

4 Billion For Asia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If its present birthrate continues, Asia by the year 2000 will have 4 billion persons—a net increase larger than the population of the entire earth in 1950.

This projection was made by Dr. Irene B. Tauber, a popular expert from Princeton University, in testimony before a House Immigration and nationality subcommittee last September.

Excerpts from her testimony were published by the Population Reference Bureau, a private scientific organization.

Assuming further decline in death rates and unchanged birth rates, Asia's population of 1.5 billion would be more than 2 billion in 1975 and more than 4 billion in 2000.

"If this should occur," Dr. Tauber said, "The net addition to the population of Asia below the Soviet boundary in the half century from 1950 to the year 2000 would be larger than the population of the entire earth, including Asia, in 1950."

The United States, she said, received 34 million migrants from Europe from 1820 to 1955. "This number of migrants would represent less than a single year's population growth in Asia," she said.

Sonja Wester Celebrates Birthday At Circus Party

The 10th birthday of Sonja Wester of Lake Mary was celebrated in an unusual way and without the traditional cake and ice cream, Friday, at a party starting after school at her home and continuing until 10 that night.

The guests were invited to come in animal costume, or at least labeled so they could be recognized, as a circus affair had been planned. The weather interfered with the scheduled outside activities, so the main attractions were moved indoors.

The living room was decorated with balloons and colored streamers across the ceiling. Costume winners were: Suzanne Faille, lion, and Earl Roberts, zebra.

The first main event of the day was a scavenger hunt, participated in by two teams. The losing team was given a chance to redeem itself in a sack race at the end of the hunt.

Fresh roasted peanuts and hot buttered popcorn were served during the afternoon, with tangerine punch. Later, hamburgers, potato chips, pickles and olives were served buffet style.

The group sang "Happy Birthday" to Sonja before the grand opening of the many gifts her friends had brought. Sharing in the birthday honors, when the group sang "Happy Birthday to Gini," was Gini Stubbings, whose birthday was the day before Sonja's.

Chocolate cup cakes with green mint icing were served, during time out, in the group activities.

A background of record music was heard all afternoon, and later dancing was enjoyed as a conclusion to the party. Assisting Mrs. Wester with the preparations were Joy Wester and Gini Stubbings. A special guest, Dolores Kirach, who came over from Daytona Beach to be the ring master for the circus stunts, was unable to attend at the last minute because of illness.

Guests attending were:

Vernetta Fox, Ariene Smith, Jeannene Humphrey, Linda Mohn, Ginger Norris, Penny Grinnell, Suzanne Faille, Linda Mead, Wanda Nixon, Sandi Bachman, David Scott, Bobby Hopkins, Don Gorman, Harvey Stallings, Bruce Nelson, Larry Muse, Earl Roberts, Larry Chester, Terry Kenny Dooley.

Make Haste Slowly

The way usually judges the importance of a United States Supreme Court decision by noting whether or not it involves a movement to amend the Constitution. Amendment is the only way opponents of a particular decision can reverse it, short of the court itself changing its mind or staying up at a later date.

One recent example is the campaign being mounted by the Council of State Governments to amend the Constitution to restrict the power of federal courts to order reapportionment of state legislatures. The Supreme Court decision in Baker vs. Carr last March has resulted in a raft of voters' suits in a number of states.

The council is not against the principle of reapportionment to give city voters a more equitable voice in state government; it admits that the decision has speeded this process. But it opposes an arm of the federal government forcing the states, in the words of one of its spokesmen, "to act under the whip."

The council's position will appeal to many who view every move by all government as one more in a series leading to complete domination from Washington. This fear — which has plenty of grounds — would seem to be exaggerated in this case.

The Supreme Court is not taking over the states or telling them how to reapportion. It is merely advising them to get about a business many students of government think they should have attended to long ago.

Constitutional amendment is a serious course. The prudent course would seem at least to wait to see the longer-range effects of the court's decision before embarking upon it.

Americans Going For 'Line'

(Ed. Note: The following guest editorial was written especially for the Herald by E. L. Hunt, president of Hunt Co.)

The American people should start the blame for the Cuban crisis. Our willingness to believe the "line" which was being handed to us was decisive in leading Khrushchev to think that he could prepare to destroy us from Cuba.

The Communist Congress met in Moscow Oct. 17, 1961, and issued a directive that all anti-communism throughout the world must be stamped out. This was promptly followed by leaders of both political parties in the U. S. warring of the grave danger to result from a strong show of patriotism which is national loyalty and love of country. The public continued to consider these men great statesmen.

Arthur Schlesinger Jr., close advisor to our president and Adlai Stevenson, wrote an article that Communism was on the wane world wide and practically through. The public thinking was geared to accept this as it was published in the Saturday Evening Post May 19, 1961, along with another lengthy article that Communism was through in the U. S.

Early in Sept. 1962, an order by the all-Russian Council to trade unions demanded their members organize meetings etc. and "where necessary go into peoples homes to drive out belief in God." This did not arouse a storm of protests in the churches of the U. S. Surely Khrushchev must have felt very smug regarding American sentiment.

We were constantly fed and believed the "line" that the Soviet was on a wild goose chase and was wasting and going broke at the rate of a million dollars a day in maintaining a satellite Cuba. We believed the setting up of a fishing fleet based in Cuba and sending in thousands of Russian and satellite technicians were interesting but boded no harm. We were harangued that peace would surely come should we disarm and not told that the world was turning over our armed forces, including nuclear power, to the Communists to police us, nor that we would liquidate West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy, so the opposition would feel at ease.

We should find and cultivate those who would speak out against the Communist atrocities and tactics. We should not wait to find out the hard way as is happening to India. American business should be unwilling to pay for its own destruction through publications and on the air. Everyone should repeat "ASK FRIENDS WHERE YOU CAN BUY PRODUCTS ADVERTISED WITH PATRIOTIC MEDIA." Many people will soon learn to have the answer ready.

The more than 100 million prayers uttered in the U. S. each day should include, "HELP US, OH GOD, TO MAINTAIN OUR NATION'S INDEPENDENCE." We are our political leaders, either party, and religious leaders, and America waste freedom — and freedom for people everywhere, it will make the difference.

Phil Newsom Says

French-Algiers Future Dark

UPI Foreign News Analyst

It is not surprising that the first dark clouds are appearing over the so-called Evian accords which led to Algerian independence and established the pattern of future relations between Algeria and France.

Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella telegraphed his punch in Havana in mid-October when he endorsed Fidel Castro's demand that the United States give up its base at Guantanamo.

Ben Bella also now is saying that the Evian accords would be revised to meet the "realities of Algeria."

There is little doubt that among these "realities" are the provisions by which France retained for 15 years her air and naval base at Mers-el-Kebir on the Algerian coast and for five years her rocket and nuclear testing installations in the Sahara.

France regards Mers-el-Kebir as essential to her Mediterranean defenses and her nuclear test sites at Colomb-Bechar and Reggane in southwest Algeria as essential to her development as a nuclear power.

Ben Bella has declared he regards these test sites as a problem for which it is essential "that a solution be found."

The French are not opposed to reopening discussions on some of the Evian agreements, but they look with a very cold eye on any change in the military status.

Further, they have some complaints of their own which are contributing to the growing strain between the two governments.

Approximately three-quarters of the one million French who lived in Algeria and were the foundation of the Algerian economy now are residing in France. Ben Bella has appealed for their return but has at the same time, the French feel, permitted continued harassment of Europeans and has shown undue haste in nationalizing French properties.

Ben Bella has announced that Algeria will be a non-aligned Socialist state and this month he began giving some indication of his plans.

He said the state would take over and put into operation 500 factories left idle by their fleeing European owners, and would take over large estates and set up its own marketing organization for citrus fruits and olives.

Ben Bella indeed faces formidable problems. Shuttered apartment windows and store fronts in Algiers testify to the creeping poverty overtaking the city in a national population, two million are unemployed.

Until the end of this year, Algeria will be living on the French budget. After that, she is on her own.

Over the Back Fence

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Col. Stribling wields a very helpful influence on the developing personalities of hundreds of young men in his famous Military Academy. Its motto, too, is superb. Success in life depends largely on our putting up a wholesome "front" until that front becomes second nature.

CASE O-402: Col. C. E. Stribling is the dynamic head of the Missouri Military Academy at Mexico, Missouri.

Before I recently addressed his stalwart group of young men, he called my attention to a motto prominently displayed on one of the arches of the academy. It read:

"Look like a soldier—Act like a gentleman!"

That slogan struck my fancy for it reminded me of a basic axiom of Applied Psychology that states:

"Act the way you'd like to be and soon you'll be the way you act!"

All military educators are impressed with the remarkable changes that come over their recruits or students after a few years of superb training. Not only do the men gain a new morale, but they develop a pride in their organization that often sustains them when they get into a crisis.

It was this same pride in the Marine Air Corps tradition that made our oldest son George ride his partly disabled Cougar jet plane to a mere 200 feet from the ground before he ejected so it would thus avoid striking any of the vast crowd assembled at Glen View Naval Air Station.

For George could have ejected at 2,000 feet, but went to his death because of the esprit de corps of the Marine aviators.

And that same spirit was evident in Col. Stribling's hundreds of eager military students who sat before me that morning.

False pride is a bad thing but true pride in one's profession or work is what keeps many men in harness long after they could have retired.

A few years ago one of the bishops to China addressed the Bible Class in Chicago of which I am the teacher.

This bishop had visited with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek the previous week and then had flown directly to Chicago.

So he told us about Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's worry over her famous husband.

"I am afraid he will ruin his health," she protested to the bishop.

"For he used to arise each morning at 4 a. m. so he would have time to bathe and get attired in his parade uniform, with all his medals thereon, before he spent his usual two hours reading the Bible and in prayer."

"But now that things have grown more uncertain, he gets up at 8 a. m. for he feels he should spend three hours in Bible reading and prayer each morning."

"And he refuses to pray to God unless he is attired in his best uniform, for he thinks it is an insult to God not to be dressed in one's very best when engaging in prayer."

Well, that has impressed me all through the years, so I have had even more respect for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek ever since.

And when I visited at Mexico, Missouri, I saw another evidence of proper pride in modern journalism. For Robert M. White II, the newspaper publisher, has constructed the entire front of his beautiful newspaper building as a vertical concrete facsimile of the paper in 8 columns, set up just like the front page.

At the top of the concrete front is the masthead with the name Mexico Ledger.

Ripley has even commented on this novel newspaper plant, and it is certainly a unique architectural front but quite appropriate.

For from across the street, the building actually looks just like a huge front page of the Mexico Ledger itself.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — Knowledgeable sources here say France's long range political health may now depend on her developing a strong counterweight to the triumphant Gaullist party (UNR) and its allies.

When was begun in 1958 with President Charles de Gaulle's ascent to power in now virtually complete the snuffing out of an era in which French politicians, thinly rooted in their home bases, dangled themselves in parliamentary games of hair-splitting that had little to do with France's real problems.

Until de Gaulle's smashing victory, many of these politicians, operating through the weary old traditional parties, had clung to the notion they might regain some semblance of major influence in French affairs.

That prospect is now largely dead. French voters clearly want no more of the wild musical chairs competition by which these outmoded leaders governed France in the neo-parliamentary Assembly.

But experts on France do not suggest that the traditional parties have collapsed. At the leftward end of the spectrum, for example, the Socialists, MRP and Radical Socialists together won some 150 seats of the 483 total.

It is argued, however, that collapse would come unless these older parties regroup in broad coalitions, find vibrant new leadership, and develop practical political programs with genuine grass roots appeal.

Such regroupings are seen here as a badly needed offset to the amazing Gaullist strength which, with allies, commands a clear Assembly majority—a circumstance new to modern French politics.

Hope that a counter-light may ultimately develop rests on more than the fact the older parties generally avoided total decimation.

The experts point out that the second, or runoff, French election had the effect of over-stating De Gaulle's true strength, since many voters are known to have approved Gaullist candidates reluctantly. Their greater distaste was for a Communist or Socialist alternative.

Another time, it is felt, better candidates, better leaders and better programs may draw the voters to some more moderate opposite choice.

Thirdly, men here who study France believe the makings of new leadership exist if the traditional parties will only raise them. Attention is called to the many capable Frenchmen, young, vigorous, dedicated, who now serve in key capacities in the European Common Market organization and other Europe-wide agencies.

Should a healthy alternative to Gaullist UNR be slow to shape up, there is a natural fear of the wide ideological gulf between Gaullism and communism.

Nevertheless, the French Communist's jump to 41 assembly seats from their old total of 10 is being minimized in some quarters. Before De Gaulle's 1958 ascendancy, it should be noted, the Reds were accustomed to gaining upward of 100 seats.

Added from its hard-core activists, the French Communist party has always been a huge reservoir of protest for disgruntled voters. Despite the new gains, the reservoir is much reduced in size, and sources say the activist leaders have grown old and flabby.

French communists, having helped many Socialist win seats, beller now that a "populist front" on the old 1930s pattern exists. Socialist leaders are expected to try to shake off their temporary allies. Altogether, the long outlook for communism in France may not be bright. The country is too prosperous and too stable.

The virtual destruction of France's extreme right wing removes a force, too, which is said to have helped communism in the past. The Right's severe authoritarian threats produced reactions which drove some Frenchmen to the opposite limit.

Given continued French stability and prosperity and an expected slow ebbing of resentment over Algerian independence, De Gaulle should have good sailing to the end of his term in early 1966. Yet his allies will only find a stronger De Gaulle tougher to deal with.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

It was called for the betterment of the Casselberry Utilities, for the growth of our city and to get facts and figures so that the citizens of our city be informed and know the true facts and at a later date.

Am very sure that your council members and officers of Casselberry are working hard each day to keep up with the expansion and growth of our fair city to keep the wheels in motion and keep the public informed of progress.

Carl C. Stoddard
Mayor of Casselberry
Meeting was called at 7:30 p. m., Nov. 28, 1962.

Sanford Herald

In answer to Mr. Howard's news letter in Sanford Herald:

Let me say that I only said that I appointed the commission. And let us give credit where credit is due. If it had not been for the work of entire committee, Mr. Brown from Sanford on the zoning and Mr. Max Coberly from Sanford on the map, Mr. E. J. Mower, Mr. Herman Joyce, Mr. L. E. Woodhams, Mr. George Howard, Mr. E. M. Zibell, and, last but not forgotten, our city attorney. And if it had not been for the many hours that were spent by all, I think that Kenneth Mcintosh will tell you that you and all of us would be right back where we started.

So, you see, I played a very small part and I am very sorry if anyone thought that I wanted any glory.

Thanks
Carl C. Stoddard
Mayor, Casselberry.

A psychiatrist says talking to one's self is not an indication of insanity. Just an indication the utility bills have come.

It's probable that the people who get the maddest at the government are the ones who forget to turn out and vote.

If those big turkeys knew what we know about a short time from now they wouldn't be strutting around so proudly.

We'd all be better off if it were as hard to spend money as it is to earn it.

North Dakota had a total of 5,241 boats registered in 1960.

Matter Of Fact

Economists have been studying 1961 statistics and find that, although personal income increased, sales declined slightly. Breaking the figures down, there was a serious decrease in sales of durable goods, including autos 10 per cent below 1960, furniture 6 per cent to 8 per cent, electrical appliances 4 per cent to 5 per cent. Nondurable goods, on the other hand, showed increases consistent with the rising level of income. The decrease was explained by uncertainty about economic and international conditions.

Paralyzed?

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Author Eugene Burdick claimed Sunday "there was abundant evidence" the nation's leaders have been paralyzing their emotions with tranquilizers while debating the vital issue of war or peace.

"The higher you go in the pyramid of power," he said, "the surer is the indication of finding unbalanced people at the top."

Burdick, co-author of "Fall Safe" and "The Ugly American," charged that there is "an abnormally high" consumption of tranquilizers in Washington and "no one can say that these drugs help in achieving wisdom in the vital decisions made there."

The author addressed the final session of a three-day symposium on the prospects for democracy, sponsored by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

Burdick did not elaborate on the use of tranquilizers but protested the growing complexity that seemingly necessitates their use.

"Those men now in power in our government are already near collapse under the tremendous weight of scientific knowledge placed upon them," he said, urging a return to a principle of simplicity in which "Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Khrushchev would simply say, 'Let's turn off the arms race.'"

Abandoned Boy Back With Mom

TAMPA (UPI) — A five-year-old boy who was abandoned in a Los Angeles bar Nov. 13, rejoined his mother in a joyous scene Sunday night at a Tampa airport.

Little David Collins Jr., whose picture in a St. Petersburg newspaper located his mother, Mrs. Catherine Collins of Pinellas Park, ran down the airplane ramp to his mother's side when the plane landed.

"This is wonderful. This is wonderful," the happy mother exclaimed over and over.

David had disappeared with his father, David Sr., six months ago, when the elder Collins took him on a picnic.

Mrs. Collins first learned his whereabouts when his picture appeared in the newspaper after he was abandoned, apparently by his father. She wrote to authorities in Los Angeles to claim her boy.

But persons in several other states also claimed him, leading to considerable red tape before a court ruled he belonged to Mrs. Collins.

Los Angeles County juvenile transportation officer Marcus Greenfield flew here with David. He said when the plane circled the Tampa airport the boy excitedly asked, "Is this really home?"

Space People' Fasting Advice Kills Woman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Gloria Lee Byrd, a 36-year-old woman who reportedly undertook a 66-day fast here on instructions from "space people" on Jupiter, died in a hospital here Sunday night.

Mrs. Byrd, of Rolling Hills, Calif., was rushed to George Washington University Hospital last week after she was found in a hotel suite. Doctors said then she was near death from severe malnutrition and dehydration.

Mrs. Byrd was a leader in a 2,000-member planetary research organization which has its headquarters in Palos Verde, Calif.

She came here in September with plans for a "space ship" to show government officials, then began her fast. A female companion said Mrs. Byrd started the "scientific experiment for peace" on orders of voices from outer space.

Man Kills Maid, Shoots Himself

HOMESTEAD (UPI) — An Air Force staff sergeant shot and killed his barmaid girlfriend Sunday, then took his own life.

Police said Arturo C. Rivers, 36, of Homestead AFB walked into a crowded bar in Leisure City and shot 36-year-old Blanche M. Chaney with a .38 revolver, then turned the gun on himself.

Gators Defeat Jacksonville U.

GAINESVILLE (UPI)—Florida's basketball team opened its home season Monday night with an 82-61 victory over Jacksonville University on a pair of dead-eye free throws by center Bob Hoffman in the closing seconds of a double overtime period.

Florida was trailing by a point with 28 seconds left in the second overtime when Hoffman stepped up to the foul line and fruitfully sank his shot.

Hoffman and three other Gator sophomores put on an impressive show for Florida, which lost its opener to Miami on the road Friday night.

INTRODUCING COMPACT 63 DODGE DART

Seminole County Motors, Inc.

By JACK TRIM
The number of cases of shad fever up north is increasing and many victims are sending themselves to Sanford for the cure.

Most people find that shad fever is a chronic disease which seems to recur about Dec. 1, depending somewhat on the weather up north.

The victims who have been suffering from the disease, self-diagnosed as a pleasant malady, actually, suffered here last week.

J. W. H. Parker and his wife of Buckeye Beach, Va., checked in and said they are awaiting better weather and the shad.

Since the first reports of shad being caught, people have started to fish for them and some report pretty good catches, if in one case.

The Connecticut shad season, although much shorter than ours here and entertaining fewer fishermen, has received a boost through sponsorship of a promotion by a big beer company to make it a well known attraction up there.

Met a happy little girl Saturday as she disembarked from a boat with a nice string of specks.

Eileen Recker, aged 16, had caught the biggest fish on the string and while fishing with her father, Chuck Recker, and accompanied by her brother, Tom, and Jim Brown and his son, Jimmy, in another boat.

They caught 21 specks in all while fishing right at the Geneva Bridge. Eileen's prize was 14 inches long (she measured it to document her claim) and weighed almost two pounds. That's a good sized speckled perch and worthy of her pride.

Tickets On Sale For Battle Of Powder Puffers

Tickets are now on sale for the Powder Puff Girl's football game scheduled for 2 p. m. Sunday at Municipal Stadium.

The battle is between the Junior and Senior girls and last year the two teams tied 12-12 and the year before, the first annual game, the seniors managed to get an extra point to win 12-11.

Many of the girls on both teams, which are filled out with seniors, are experienced now, having played one or two years before.

In the backfield for the seniors will be veteran halfbacks Lonnie Higginbotham and Linda Spencer, quarterback Nyoma Albers and fullback Barbara Cox.

The Juniors will also have an experienced backfield in Shirley Brown, Bonnie Cook, Roma McKennie, with Marilyn Hunt filling in at fullback.

On the line for the seniors will be center Vicki Boyd with Barbara Miller and Freddie Berryhill at guard; Sheryl Julian and Ann Farless at tackle and Jane White and Grace Middleton at the ends.

The Junior line has Susan Deal and Carol Oxford at ends; Diana Claus and Janice Williams at tackle, Norma Whitman and Pat McQuire at guard and Sandra Arnold at center.

Coaches for the seniors are J. B. Phillips, Butch Riser, Joe Farless and Robert Murrie.

The Juniors have Billy Higgins, Jim Torky, Dan McCall, Barry Bark, Theron Petty, Dale Alexander and Earl Black for coaches.

Having matriculated into Class A athletics by virtue of having slightly over 900 students now, the Greyhounds are going to meet some formidable opposition on the floor as they did on the football field.

Three lettermen are returning to the Lyman squad for this year, but Gene Griffin and Donny Smith, both Juniors, are the only members of last year's starting lineup.

Tallest man on the team will be Smith who stands a fair to middling 6' 3", then will come Bill Tolson and John Criswell at 6' 1" and Gene Winkelman at six feet even.

Gary Ferrin and LaRue Helmer are the only seniors on the squad this year. Dzurus says most of his strength will lie with his Juniors and sophomores, who, while they haven't the experience he'd like them to have, still have lots of savvy and will give a good account of themselves.

The schedule this year includes such top-notch outfits as Apopka, Ocoee, Bishop Moore, Lakeview, New Smyrna Beach and Titusville. The Greyhounds have been invited to play in the Tangerine Bowl Tournament being hosted by Bishop Moore this year.

The other quintess participating are, in addition to Bishop Moore and Lyman, Colonial Evans and Winter Park.

Strikes . . . Spares

By John A. Spohrl
Well, look here! We're a whole slew of "mod-lies" taking the focal spotlight for this week's column.

As an example, there's Mary Elmore, Etta Dorman, Jesse Cook, Dot Powell, Dick Robbins, Bob Combs, W. A. Ward, Louise Hosford and still a couple of others.

The top game and series rolled in the Thursday night Jet Lanes Keglers Lg. was that belonging to W. A. Ward (Wheeler Fertilizer) who shot a 308/543 series.

It's good to see Dot Powell topple the timbers again.

The Powell Five-some took four points from their opponents, Steinmeyer Bowling, with Dot showing the way with a 217 scratch game plus a better than 190 average for three games, a 585 set.

It just tickles the daylight out of me to watch Louise Hosford bowl in the Friday eve Sandspurs Lg.

with the top series, a 578. (And another happy customer rolls over the 190 average mark!)

The Ball & Chainers who were bombing away this past Wednesday included Louise Cadenhead 211/549 and leading the men's bowling were Dick Robbins with a hi single of 308 and Bob Combs—581 series.

The name of Betty Allen has cropped back into the column again. This time it's as a result of leading the other ladies of the Shooting Stars Lg. with a 196/522 series.

Mention the Hi Nooners' Lg. this past week and you're automatically talking 'bout the highs of Mary Elmore 198 and Etta Dorman with her 474.

She makes her approach . . . lets the ball go . . . and turns her back before she sees what's been hit!

Stanley led the Palma with a 194 and Smitty's 123 was the best for the Aches.

Yvette Hunter and (Look out now on this name, John) Beverly Grabarkiewicz were one-two in the Jet Bowlerettes Lg.

Yvette shot a 506 series and Bev came thru with a hi single of 188.

Gladys Pliolan continues to master that back-up ball of hers.

She's this week's Pinecrest Inn League leader in both departments, hi game and series with totals of 196 & 460.

As a matter of fact, in that one particular game he finally stopped striking long enough to tally his score which read out at 237! That's one of the highest Cookies has rolled in a long, long time. Atta boy, Jess.

Bucky Ferguson found things falling his way in this same league as he clipped in 22-10 half time deficit to a 25-25 tie before the end of the third period.

Florida Takes Gator Bowl Bid

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The University of Florida will play Penn State in the Gator Bowl here Dec. 29 despite the key loss to Miami last Saturday night.

The Gator Bowl selection committee offered the berth to Florida on condition the Gators beat Miami. But the committee announced Monday it had offered the bid to Florida again, after Duke turned it down, and the Gators accepted.

A spokesman said the committee was "very impressed with the general attitude of the Florida coaching staff and players and by the atmosphere after the Miami game . . . and decided to reconsider inviting the school to represent the South."

The spot was offered Miami before the game with Florida, on condition Miami won, but the Hurricanes refused to commit themselves until after the game and the bid was withdrawn.

The Hurricanes, accepted a bid to play in the Gotham Bowl in New York after their victory.

Arrieta Leading Winner At Jai Alai Fronton

Steady and reliable front court star Arrieta became the leading winner at the Orlando-Seminole Jai Alai Fronton with 28 victories and also the leading doubles player.

Sharing the jai alai spotlight with the veteran is young Furquet who was named player of the week. The youngsters won five games last week in the first game and then added four more in the second and third games for a total of nine.

Arrieta had eight wins for the week.

Arrieta won the weekly honors during the first week of play at the fronton and was one of the top ten leaders since.

In the running for the top ten players, Arrieta edged out Elorri 229 to 228, based on a 5-3-1 system.

Onate and Iriarte are tied with six wins in the featured eighth game singles and Elorri holds the most wins in the all star 11th, with nine.

Cincy Picked

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Cincinnati, which so reliably the role of underdog that it won the NCAA championship for the past two years, today was rated the most likely 1962-63 national college basketball champion by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Thirty of the 35 famous coaches who comprise the UPI board tabbed Cincy's Bearcats as the No. 1 team in the country in the annual pre-season major college ratings.

"Sinsibuckwud," meaning "drawn from wood," was the old Indian name for maple syrup.

Biddy League Play Winners Listed

Winners in the week's play in the Biddy Basketball League were Standard Oil, Strickland Morrison, Day and Night Grill and Sanford Electric.

It was Day and Night Grill that demonstrated the most power and finesse on the courts with a 61-22 romp over Robson Sporting Goods.

The winners jumped to an early lead and were never headed.

A thriller between WTRB and Standard Oil had the fans on their feet during the second half when Standard Oil began a stretch drive that brought them from a 22-10 half time deficit to a 25-25 tie before the end of the third period. At the end of the regulation time the score stood at 33-33, with the Standard Oilers sewing it up in an overtime period, 35-33.

Bill Schmidt dumped in 21 of his team's 28 points to lead Strickland Morrison to a 26-16 triumph over a stubborn First Federal team. Rick Fordham scored all 18 points for the First Federal outfit.

A veteran Sanford Electric team showed too much balance as they dumped a potentially good Sanford Altant Bank aggregation 44-31.

North Orlando Record Clash Continues

North Orlando's council meeting was highlighted Tuesday night by a dramatic head-on meeting between Treasurer Woodrow Anderson and Mayor Frank Fasula over the possession of the town's financial records.

Anderson asked Fasula when he could see the town books and the mayor replied that they were available between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. every working day. The treasurer then asked if he could see them for a few minutes and the mayor refused. Under continued demands from Anderson the mayor held his ground, but when Anderson demanded a "yes or no" answer, Fasula momentarily tensed and finally went into his office and returned with the controversial records.

After a brief inspection, which he said was only to determine if anything had been changed in the ledgers, Anderson handed the books back to the mayor, commenting in reply to Fasula's inquiry whether or not they were the town books: "I can't tell from that mess."

The subject of the town street lights was brought up by Anderson and he said an agreement had been signed by Fasula on Nov. 29, 1961, authorizing the installation of the 50 lights along SR 434. Anderson pointed out that Florida Statutes Chapter 167 prohibits any town official committing the town financially without an official appropriation.

It was announced that as of Nov. 20, 1962 the town will be eligible to receive refunds on cigarette tax monies from the State Beverage Commission.

The council was advised that no franchise payments have been made for the last two months, by ABC Garbage Co., for unknown reasons. The amount due is ten cents per month per house. Councilmen also were told that it is impossible for a franchise agreement to be arranged with a bottled gas company.

Anderson brought up the matter of insurance for the town fire truck and police car and announced that several local organizations had pledged $160 toward purchase of insurance so the town's protective services could be reactivated.

A resident, Henry Ward, proposed that the city impose a five or 10 per cent utility tax on electricity in order to acquire funds for future operation as a municipality before "we have to go bankrupt." Ward's specific proposal was for a referendum at the next election to get a formal expression from the townspeople on the subject.

A January mass meeting of the town residents was proposed to discuss town affairs and ways to raise revenue for the coming fiscal year.

At the same time Tom Charners of Bellmeade Corp. said his outfit will apply for a building permit to start construction of a $300,000 A&P store at the Pinecrest Shopping Center, with construction scheduled by the first of the year.

Discussions preliminary plans for the Sanford Shopping Center, Dr. Adams said he expects some six to eight national chain outlets in the plaza and close to 20 stores. He said he was not at liberty to name the stores until all the leases "are firm."

"All the leases will be closed within the next 30 days and an announcement will be forthcoming on the entire project," Dr. Adams said.

The new A & P store will have square footage of 17,400 feet and the ultimate center will be 94,000 square feet and have parking space for 680 cars.

College Survey Work Completed

A letter from President Morris Hale of Orlando Junior College to the North Orlando town council revealed that a site survey of Seminole College, to be located there, has been completed.

Hale also wrote that the college's board of trustees will have a special meeting Dec. 17 and after that a "very important announcement" will be made relevant to the new school.

The college was to start out as a junior college embracing only the first two years of college work, but a recent survey of the students at the Orlando school revealed that a significant number of second year students there want to continue their work at the new school.

This development, announced by Dr. William Stedman, Seminole dean, has materially changed the thinking of college authorities and now there

Apportionment Apathy Scored

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Minority factions in the Florida Senate formed a coalition Tuesday strong enough to challenge the long-running "Pork Chop Gang" majority bloc and stymie passage of any reapportionment plan it doesn't agree to.

Led by Sen. Verle Pooe of St. Augustine, a long-time foe of the Pork Choppers on reapportionment, the 18-member coalition met in Orlando and announced it would vote against any plan for expanding the Senate beyond its present 33 members.

This killed hopes of an immediate third special session to consider a proposal to be worked out this week by a House-Senate committee. The plan the committee had in mind involved around 48 senators and an increase in House membership from 85 to something over 140. Gov. Farris Bryant had agreed to recall the Legislature only if the committee got verbal agreement by the necessary three-fourths majority of both houses on some plan.

Carraway said he was not ready himself to vote for any reapportionment within the present membership, and neither was the majority bloc. But he admitted that if the 18 members stuck together it would only take a switch of one or two votes for this group to override the Pork Choppers.

Pope said after the Orlando meeting that the group was "dedicated to a fight for a 38-senator plan within the present Constitution which fairly apportions the Senate."

"This is the duty imposed on us by the Constitution of the State of Florida which we have taken an oath to uphold. Any other procedure at the present time would not be in the best interests of the future of Florida," the group's statement said.

Sen. Bernard Parrish said today that the minority factions which got together Tuesday are not trying to block "fair reapportionment."

Parrish also took a swipe at apparent public apathy toward the sticky reapportionment problem. "I haven't had a single letter from Seminole County giving an opinion on this and only two from Brevard County during the whole time of the controversy has been going on," Parrish said.

Parrish explained the action of the group at Orlando Tuesday as being a move to try and prevent "stop-gap apportionment that does no good."

"We will not try to block any fair apportionment, but are emphatically opposed to some of the plans which are not. Some of the plans could cost the state $10 million without solving anything," he said. Parrish said he would vote for a 42 Senate-140 House plan "if my vote makes the difference" in passing but that he hopes that the Senate can be reshuffled within the 38 senator division.

Russia Pushes UN For Cuba Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The Soviet Union was pressing today for a Security Council meeting to wrap up the Cuban crisis although U. S. demands still have not been fully satisfied.

Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov late Tuesday gave U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson a detailed schedule for the shipment of Russian IL28 bombers out of Cuba.

Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga submitted to Secretary General Thant a draft of what informed sources said was the Castro government's conception of a crisis statement to be made at a Security Council session.

The United States, which does not favor a formal council meeting, was reported "unimpressed" with the Cuban draft.

Cuban Business Houses Seized
HAVANA (UPI)—The revolutionary regime took over the few remaining private shops and warehouses handling clothing, shoes, textiles and hardware today as a step toward controlled distribution of these goods.

Radio Havana announced Tuesday that in the future only deserving workers would be able to get shoes in Castroite Cuba.

Stevenson said he and Kuznetsov had a "further discussion of our differences" after the Russian gave him the shipping schedule. There was no change in the basic positions.

The United States insists upon adequate verification of the removal of Soviet offensive weapons systems from Cuba and foolproof safeguards against their reintroduction.

Russia ostensibly has been unable to persuade Cuba to give such assurances, and until they are forthcoming the United States refuses to pledge that there will not be any invasion of Cuba.

The leader of a battle-hardened band of guerrillas arrested by U. S. customs agents in a boat in the Florida Keys Tuesday said the group was holding "training exercises" and had no intention of invading Cuba.

"We have been doing this for several months. It has never been anything but training exercises," said Gerald Patrick Hemming, a 6-foot-7, bearded former Marine.

"We supposed they were headed for Cuba," customs agent Wallace Shanley, a U.S. commissioner, said at a preliminary hearing for the men. He said the 31-foot boat the men were aboard "was capable of the voyage."

Hemming, 25, and his 12 followers were held in lieu of $1,000 bond each. A U. S. marshal was to bring them to Miami for federal court action.

The men all pleaded innocent to a charge of violating U. S. neutrality laws by "an attempt to form an expedition to invade a foreign country."

Storm Carries 55-Mile Winds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Atlantic storm carrying winds as high as 55 miles an hour moved up the East Coast today toward the Middle Atlantic and New England States.

Gale warnings were displayed from Cape May, N. J., to Provincetown, Mass. Small craft warnings were flying south of Cape May to Cape Hatteras, N. C. and north of Provincetown to Eastport, Maine.

The Weather Bureau here said the lingering storm—which has caused nearly $1 million damage in the past week, mostly in Florida and North Carolina—was centered about 250 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

Price Controls On Milk Rejected By Commission

WINTER PARK (UPI)—The Florida Milk Commission has rejected a proposal to re-establish price controls on milk sold to consumers in the state.

The commission voted down the proposal offered by Commission Chairman Charles O. Andrews Jr. here Tuesday.

But the commission went along with a recommendation by Andrews and voted to hire a Memphis, Tenn., firm of milk marketing experts to study the costs incurred by milk distributors operating in Florida.

Andrews had proposed the price controls after the commission rescinded a price control order passed last August in Sarasota. The rescinding of the order was the first thing on the agenda of the commission's meeting Tuesday.

The order was rescinded on the basis of an opinion from the state attorney general that the order was illegal because hearings had not been conducted.

In calling for re-establishment of price controls, Andrews said Florida had "half-way" controls at the producer level because 35 per cent of the industry was not under commission control.

"It is an intolerable situation when the law permits a segment of the milk industry to compete unfairly with that part of the industry which is regulated by the present price control order," Andrews said.

Tuesday's meeting touched off a sharp exchange between Andrews and former Commission Chairman J. Bralley Odham. Odham accused the commission of "political dealing" in trying to set the price controls.

Andrews answered that he had asked for the controls after a year of "conscientious study."

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Voting and other civil rights were restored today to former Polk County Sheriff H. Pat Gordon who served nine months of a five-year prison sentence in connection with the sensational Polk County political payoff case. The Pardon Board granted civil rights to Gordon over objections of the Florida Parole Commission.
