elected unopposed.

He still hopes one day to be a circuit judge. He added, however, that if elected to the new county judgeship in Seminole, he would serve the full four-year term and would not resign when a circuit judgeship is up for election two Hitt sees several necessary steps in solving the problems of overcrowded dockets and loss of revenues anticipated by the five Seminole these courts are phased out in January. He suggests that the Legislature set down the county court in fines and forfeitures from He said consideration should be given to reating as city cases those offenses arising within a city with the resulting revenues returned to the city. In addition, Hitt said, traffic court involving city cases should be held in the south end of the county with all three county judges participating on a rotating basis. He said since he is a resident of South Seminole he would be willing to "handle the bulk of the cases" if the presiding judge of the county courts wished him to do so.

Hitt said that night court should be scheduled for traffic offenses. He said with persons accused of traffic violations having to appear in court during the daytime, the conomic impact via loss of wages during the daytime hours would be almost prohibitive. Ryan to Brock: 'I have been cheated out of being the standard bearer by your last-minute decision

Reverses Earlier Pledge

Ryan For Knowles: Why?

The explanation given by Seminole County Port Authority Director Jim Ryan for pounding Seminole's pavement on behalf of Joe Knowles of Leesburg is that "Knowles is the most qualified andidate left in the race" for the Democratic nomination for the district 34 seat in Florida's House of Representatives.

"Right now I'm trying to get the most qualified official nominated," said Ryan explaining his change of position from that announced just four days after the Sept. 7 primary election. In the election Ryan placed third in a three-man contest for he Democratic nomination behind Knowles and Altamonte

Springs attorney Newman Brock. Although Ryan carried Seminole County by little more than 00 votes, he was not able to overcome Knowles and Brock's lead in the two companion counties in the 34th district - Lake and Marion and lost by 191 votes. On Sept. 11. Ryan in an open letter to Brock said. . . "I have lecided that it will be in my best interest, and in the best interest of the candidate and party unity, that I not openly endorse or support any of the remaining combatants in the second Democratic Primary involving those in the race for Florida

House of Representatives, District 34." "My position," Ryan continued, " - simply stated - is that I feel I have been cheated out of being the standard bearer by your (Brock's) last-minute decision to deny me an opportunity to truly represent the people for whom I have so faithfully served for over 10 years - coupled with the fact that I am now - and will continue to be 'rurning for House Seat 34 in 1978."

"Sectionalism interjected into the race by Mr. Knowles causes me to shy from supporting his candidacy openly. "By the same token, you have also made similar comments that I do not feel are germane to presenting the ability or qualifications of any of the candidates - or necessary to interject into our efforts to become elected," Ryan said in the open letter. He continued, "My analysis of the first primary is that I would have very easily won the nomination - (since I was successful in winning my home county) - had you not decided to thwart my efforts. By the same analogy, I have never felt any qualms about unseating the incumbent." Ryan said his financial resources had been "completely drained" by Brock's "untimely entrance" and that in addition he "If I had unlimited funds such as you and Mr. Knowles have spent in 'buying' the two run-off positions - history would have to be written in an entirely different manner," he said.

He ended his open letter by giving "fair and open warning" to whichever of the two remaining candidates win the seat to "keep a sharp lookout over his shoulder" because Ryan intends to run and be elected to the office in 1978. Ryan affirmed that his position in these last few days prior to he second primary concerning his candidacy in 1978 has not

"Knowles is the most qualified candidate left in this race." he said. Ryan denied that he is working for the weaker of the two candidates to make his own efforts two years hence any easier. "I can't tell what Jim Ryan is going to do next," Brock says. "He told me the night of the first primary that he would endorse me and now has gone 180 degrees to support my opponent from Lake County," Brock said.

Brock's law partner, Gary Massey, said he insisted that Brock call Ryan during the early evening hours of the first primary before final returns were in and when it appeared that Ryan was running ahead, pledging Brock's support to Ryan

Massey said he urged Brock, in turn, to seek Ryan's pledge of support if the tables were reversed and Brock was to be in the Massey said he was on an extension during the Brock-Ryan conversation as the two men exchanged pledges. "Apparently, Mr. Ryan is an opportunist who seems to pick the weakest candidate so that he may run against that candidate in the very next election," Brock said. He added, "In evaluating Mr. Ryan's past actions, it appears he worked in the Republican incumbent's (Vince Fechtel) past election and then decided to run against him.

"He (Ryan) has flip-flopped back and forth from the Republican and Democratic parties because he can't, apparently, "I don't think he knows what he wants to do. I feel that Mr Ryan has caused the people of Seminole County to be the victims his wrath. His indecisiveness could foreseeably prevent Seminole County from picking up a much-needed representative "Ryan's statements and actions really boil down to plain old sour-grapes.' I hope I will never have to stoop to his antics," "I've tried to run my campaign on a very high level. His actions may be a blessing. I would not want that type personality to be associated with my campaign," he said. In the Sept. 7 primary, Knowles vote tally was 672 ir Seminole, 2,449 in Lake and 22 in Marion; while Brock's totals were 1,429 in Seminole, 1,008 in Lake and 23 in Marion and Ryan's totals were 1,541 in Seminole, 719 in Lake and 9 in Marion.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - More than six months after a jury convicted her of armed bank robbery, Patricia Hearst faces a sentence that could be as light as probation or as ough as 35 years in prison.

U.S. District Court Judge William H. Orrick Jr. is to sentence the newspaper heiress today, one day after legal sessions on both sides of San Francisco Bay recalled her 21/2-year metamorphosis from kidnaped college coed to convicted felon.

In Berkeley, avowed Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris pleaded innocent Thursday at an arraignment on state charges of abducting Miss Hearst from her apartment on Feb. 4, 1974.

And in San Francisco, the prosecutor and the defense attorneys who opposed each other during Miss Hearst's eightweek trial last spring met Thursday with Orrick to discuss "housekeeping matters."

Christian Wins Battle

To Retain Pension

TALLAHASSEE (AP) Christian has won an 11-month legal battle with the state he once served as education commissioner and will retain his $25,000-ayear pension.

Legal attempts to deny Christian his pension ended Thrusday when the Florida Supreme Court refused to reconsider its decision that he is entitled to his retirement benefits despite a kickback conviction. Terry McNab, assistant state retirement director, said his office will issue the first check within a few days of receiving a copy of the ruling which denied Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin's motion for rehearing.

He said the Division of Retirement has already drafted a check for $21,844, covering back payments due Christian since his pension was suspended last October.

Slavery Trial Beains

TAMPA (AP) — A migrant farm worker says he and a friend walked miles along a railroad track to escape Ivory Wilson's Polk County labor camp where he was beaten and held in bondage for his debts.

Richard Brown, 34, testified Thursday that he was held against his will for debts to Wilson, who had charged him for food and supplies but didn't pay him for his work. Brown said he was charged $30 a week for sandwiches and beans. $7 for blankets and $4 for a fifth of wine.

Wilson, 30, his brother, Roscoe, and Willie James Bibbs went on trial before U.S. District Judge W. Terrel Hodges Thursday on charges of involuntary servitude and peonage.

Sayler Tries To Kill Canal

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Sen. Henr B. Sayler says the controversial Cross-Florida Barge Canal is a "totally unjustifiable investment of the taxpayers' money." So he wants to kill it.

The St. Petersburg Republican said Thursday he would file a bill ordering the Canal Authority to terminate the onethird completed waterway and study possible recreation uses for the Oklawaha River Basin.

"The cost is too great - all Floridians would share in taxpayer-funded construction of the canal and in the resultant ecological harm but few would share in the so-called 'economic benefits' from the canal's completion," Sayler

Ashler 'Saved' Money

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Insurance Commissioner Philip Ashler says he saved valuable time this month by using state airplanes on two trips which records show cost more than $2,000. A commerical airline says it could have done the job for $744.

State aircraft pool records show that Ashler and Deputy Insurance Commissioner Tom Brown used state planes for official trips to meet insurance executives in Philadephia. Baltimore and, later, Dallas.

According to the records examined Thursday, Ashler's office will be billed $2,155.50 for more than 15 hours flying time and for one day when a plane was idle in Dallas.

'Birth' Row Kills Mother

says that when he found out he was illegitimate, he flew into a rage and killed his 76-year-old mother as she rocked in a rocking chair, a police statement says. Richard Michael Laury said in the statement that he took a gun from a wardrobe and killed his mother. Angeline Respeita, after she refused to discuss the matter

"We had an argument about my birth," Laury said. " came across some papers. I was born three years before she was married. I got a gun and shot her in the back of Mrs. Respeita's decomposing body was found two weeks after the Aug. 10 shooting when investigators went to her apartment looking for Laury, a suspect in a tavern Laury said that finding out that he was born out of wedlock and his mother's refusal to discuss it with him drove him into a "blind rage" and caused him to become "frustrated, angry and confused." In his statement, read during a preliminary hearing Wednesday, Laury told police: He walked away from her, over to a wardrobe where his mother kept a loaded 32-caliber revolver. Without a word, he picked up the gun, walked around behind the rocking chair, took aim and fired the one fatal shot. He took the gun, locked the door and left in his mother's car. For two weeks between the murder and discovery of the body, he said, he slept in motels and the car.

when he left. "When you fired the shot at the back of your mother's head, was it your intention to kill her?" asked Pflieger. "I don't know," Laury answered. "I really don't know... I guess it was just blind rage. I couldn't get an answer from her concerning my birth."

Once between the time of her death and his arrest, Laury said, he returned to the house to get a shotgun. "There was a lot of blood and liquid on the floor. I threw a blanket on it so I wouldn't get my feet dirty," Laury Laury had moved in with his mother not long before the shooting, after his stepfather died, police said. Defense attorney James Denhardt and assistant Pinellas State Attorney Doug Crow argued in court over whether Laury's statement showed premeditation sufficient for a firstdegree murder charge. Denhardt said it didn't and that Laury should be charged with manslaughter.

Crow won the argument Thursday when a grand jury indicted Laury on a first-degree murder charge. Officers found the woman's body when they went to arrest Laury on a robbery charge in the Aug. 24 holdup of the Dew Drop Inn.

Police subsequently charged him with an earlier holdup at a nearby farm store. A 26-year-old clerk was paralyzed with a bullet wound in that robbery. Laury was jailed under a $10,000 bond

Rhodesia In 2 Years?

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) - Prime Minister Ian Smith will announce tonight that his white minority government is bowing to pressure from the United States and South Africa and is agreeing to hand over power to Rhodesia's black majority within two years, informed sources reported today. The government refused to comment on the report. "Everything that has to be said will be said when the prime minister speaks to the nation later.

a government spokesman said. Smith scheduled a radio and television speech at 8 p.m. (2 p.m. EDT) to announce the response of his government and his ruling Rhodesian Front party to the British-American plan urged on him last weekend by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and South African Prime Minister John Vorster. Smith told reporters Thursday after a caucus of the 50 Rhodesian Front members of parliament that he would make a "clear and positive and unequivocal statement. There will be no doubt in inybody's mind."

United Nations General Assembly are seeking to put a brighter spotlight on the issue in southern Africa that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has put on the back burner, white supremacy in South Africa.

The Africans got the assembly steering committee to recommend Thursday that the perennial question of the white South African government's apartheid policy of racial separation be debated in plenary meetings of the Assembly. In the past it has been debated in the special political committee. Salim Ahmed Salim of Tanzania told the committee the question's importance required that it be given maximum The full Assembly is certain to approve the recommendation Western delegates went along. But they indicated apprehension that the Africans would insist that the Assembly hear representatives of two anti-apartheid political movements outlawed in South Africa, the African National Congress and the Pan-Africanist Congress. W. Tapley Bennett Jr. of the United States agreed that the importance of the question made it worthy of discussion ir plenary meetings. But he stressed that speakers in such meetings should be limited to representatives of member countries. Jeremy Thomas of Britain said his government also had no changed its opposition to hearing liberation movements in the Assembly. Jacques Lecompt of France endorsed the British and American stands. Kissinger during his African shuttle that ended Thursday concentrated on trying to set up negotiations to transfer power to the black majority in Rhodesia and South-West Africa, or Namibia. He made no attempt to get Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa to modify his policies at home for two reasons: 1. Black nationalists are already waging guerrilla wars in Rhodesia and South-West Africa, and Kissinger fears they will escalate and the Soviets will intervene. In South Africa, the white regime's repressive laws and large, well-equipped police and military forces have confined black violence so far to street

2. Kissinger needed Vorster's support to convince his supporters they must give up SouthWest Africa and to convince the Rhodesian whites they must turn over their government to the

The assembly steering committee also agreed that the questions of Palestine, the Arab-Israeli conflict and the election of the U.N. secretarygeneral should be debated in Assembly plenary sessions rather than in one of the committees.

U.S. Must Not Lose Arms Race

Confronted with a strange development in the Soviet Union in 1939, Winston Churchill declared: "I cannot forecast to you the action of Russia. It is a riddle, wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma." There is nothing mysterious, secret or enigmatic about the Soviet military policy that is beginning to concern many geopolitical experts, including John E. Moore, editor of the authoritative Jane's Fighting Ships and Fred C. Ikle, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Moore says that the Soviet Union has built up the numbers, quality and capability of its military forces to the level that they can cope with any task assigned to them - from simple interdiction of Western ocean commerce to outright aggression on land or sea. Concurrently, Russia has established bavens for its navy in strategic areas of the world as bases for any activity it wishes to undertake, from war to showing of its flag as a deterrent.

The Soviet military emphasis is not mysterious because the Kremlin always has been frank about its modus operandi within detente. Leonid Brezhnev often has said that the Soviet Union would continue to pursue its goal of establishing the dominion of Soviet communism everywhere and that this could lead to confrontations. It also requires the poised threat of Soviet power.

By its actions of the last several years, the Soviet Union also has made it clear that it wants to be first in military strength. While the second phase of strategic arms limitation discussions is stalled, the Soviet Union is improving the quality of its intercontinental missiles to catch up to the United States, building up the medium-range weapons in Asia and Europe that are not even the subject of arms discussions, conducting massive underground nuclear testing, stirring the pot in the Middle East, spreading Cuban shock troops in Africa and giving aid and comfort to Communist radicals everywhere.

By contrast Nato has some 4,000 ships at sea at my given time, unprotected by any navy. And after the United States achieved the level of long-range ballistic missiles that it deemed optimum, it phased out the nuclear middle-range weapons that Russia now is developing. We also sharply cut back the bombers deployed abroad. For example, the B52s that were needed in South Korea recently came from Guam.

It isn't too difficult to predict what direction the talk will take when the President elected on Nov. 2 sits down for serious discussions with Brezhnev about the new generation of medium range Soviet nuclear missiles in Europe and Asia. To remove the threat we will probably be asked to give up or sharply limit the performance of our cruise missiles, bombers, submarines, targetable

Free Vaccine

The nation's effort to harness a potential epidemic of swine hu is beginning in earnest throughout the nation. Since President Ford announced plans in March for the national immunization program, it has been surrounded by Dr. Jonas Salk, discoverer of anti-polio vaccine and an expert on influenza, is urging Americans to receive the vaccine.

Dr. Salk notes that the vaccine is not amexperimental injection but one developed over the years by scientists familiar with the cyclical outbreaks of various types of influenza. He emphasizes that the vaccination program is not a last-minute effort to forestall a potential epidemic of swime flu this fall but an orderly step toward national control of flu which should have been undertaken years ago. Full cooperation of the American public can create a barrier against the spread of influenza similar to the eradication of polio by Salk's vaccine in the 1950s.

The immunization program is an excellent example of the ophisticated preventive medical capability in this nation. It is a tool to eradicate a potentially dangerous problem before it surfaces. It is also one of those rare instances where pestilence can be eradicated for generations by cooperation of all citizens. The few seconds it takes to roll up the sleeve will result in countless hours of security for us all.

"The first debate was quite informative. Based on it.

voter apathy about voter apathy.

It is indeed tempting and even sometimes seemingly plausible and rational, we all know, to stay home from the polls and defend that non-action with a glib "we don't like the candidates. . ." Or "what's the difference, they're all a bunch of jerks

Or as a reader wrote the Evening Herald the other day: ". . . a majority of Americans are so sick and fed up with all the crooked politics they have been seeing that they honestly cannot support any candidate currently running for any office anywhere, county, state or federal. Sounds reasonable - at first reading. But take another one. What is the bottom line? Will the elections be called off because you don't vote? Of Instead, the result will probably be - and often has been — that an otherwise marginal candidate. fied, unacrupulous or worse, sneaks into office with a small margin of votes.

One of the presumed reasons for the series of Ford-Carter debates—first of which we witnessed between yawns Thursday evening — is to inspire voter interest in the ongoing presidential race.

The tactic may or may not work. If Jimmy

Carter continues to try to prove and reprove to himself and the nation what a plain, old common man, earthy country boy and closet swinger he is, we could have an historic outpouring of voters who never even peeked at a Playboy cover, let alone a centerfold. Result: they'll cast a negative vote, hoosing what they consider the lesser of two evils.

But even that is better to staying home on Tuesday and on future election days. An example of how presumed apathy can be turned around and exercised productively occurred just this past week

An auto salesman, apparently disenchanted with the Democratic party's nominee for the United

State Senate, decided to do something about it. And it wasn't to stay home to teach the party and that Instead, he ran for the nomination in the primary. And he won. Whom did he beat? The

In the case of union support, or lack of it, the situation is more than just a problem for the Grand Old Party. It is open warfare. Big labor s battled Republicanism since before George Meany was a seed — which is to say from the first light of time - but this year its offensive is precedented in scope and ferocity. As Barry Goldwater puts it, quite accurately, unions are "aiming for a Republican knockout in 1976, a virtual end to the two party system." Certainly the moment is ripe for a House of Labor coup. Also, the hour is late. Union leaders worry that if the GOP can overcome its present condition, which has been widely diagnosed as deathly, labor's dreams may be shattered for generations. If Gerald Ford is allowed reentry in Republican rule, and quite frankly labor wonders if a 98-year-old Meany would still have the strength to save the working man from

Hence if a Labor government is to occur soon, JOHN CUNNIFF it must be now. Accordingly, union leaders have mobilized to that end. Statewide Runoff

The only statewide election on the second primary ballot in Seminole County pits Charles B. Holley against Frederick B. Karl for Justice of the Florida Supreme Court, Group 1 Although Karl carried the highest number of votes in the Sept. 7 primary election in a three man contest, his total tally lacked a few percentage points of the requisite 30 per cent plus one necessary for election. In Seminole County in the first primary, Karl polled 4,722 votes to Holley's 2,786. Eliminated in the primary process was Richard H. (Max) Swann who polled 2,000

Holley, 51, was the Republican nominee for governor of Florida in 1964, losing that year to Hayden Burns, Democrat of Jacksonville.

Karl, the same year, was a Democratic candidate for governor, losing in the primary election to Burns. Holley served in the Florida House of Representatives from Pinelias County from 1966 to 1964, becoming a circuit judge in 1968 and losing that office in the general election

Kari was a state representative from Volusia County from 1956 through 1964 and a state senator from Volusi from 1966-1972. Karl was admitted to the Florida Bar in January, 1950 while Holley was admitted to the Florida Bar in June

Karl is 2 years old. The election is non-partisan.

'Decide cases,

Charles Holley: I'm Conservative

The non-partisan election of judges in Florida "stinks" in the view of Charles Holley, who spoke publicly against the proposal before it became part of the law of the state several years ago. Holley said the partisan primary system worked well prior to the change brought about with the adoption of the state's 1968 Constitution." It provided a weeding-out process," he said, asking why judges should be treated differently than other persons lagging his political philosophy as conservative. Holley said, if elected to the state's highest court, he would be governed by previous opinions, refusing to make any decision which could create new law. "The function of the court is to decide cases, not

He said he has no qualms about voting in favor of the death penalty where premeditated murder or a death caused during the commission of a felony is concerned. "Most cases are won or lost before the lawyer is hired." Holley said, because of the complex and complicated rules of evidence which law enforcement officers must follow. "I'm convinced the death penalty is a deterrent to crime," he said. "People being convicted are guilty. The job of the court is to see that the law is followed. Under our system the state has the burden of proof and it is a hard burden." Holley said the rules of evidence are changing too fast for police

Answer To Prayer

Question: I pray all the time, but I don't think God hears me, other people. First of all, God does hear your prayers and He does the American Guild of they were married in 1944 in to the meeting.

prayer. He might say "no." You may not like that answer, but no one can deny that if "yes" is an answer, "no" is too. Or the answer might be so different from the way you expect it to come that you simply don't recognize it as the answer. Or the answer may be things that aren't good or right for them. And we do, too. We ask Area on Education, Mrs. Ed for things that are wrong for us or that aren't as good as God's plans for us. I know that God has said "no" to some of my prayers ages participating will be and I'm very glad He did. In some instances, I mean really glad! featured. God knows what's best for His children, He really does. And that's why we have to trust God for the best answer . . . which may be very different from the one we expected. You ought dedicated at the worship ser-

to hear me tell God exactly how and what to do. Have you ever vices at 8:30 and 11 a.m. by the done that? I think we all want God to handle things our way, but pastor, Rev. Leo F. King. that's not how God works. When we ask Him to solve our Pictures of the classes and problems, He does — but in His own way. His answer may be groups will be taken for the surprising, but it will be perfect.

He sees the end from the beginning, and He knows all things about produced. The family pictures a situation. Not only does He know exactly how our prayer should be answered, but He knows just exactly when. Galatians 6:9 says, of this week. "And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not." discouraged. It means there's a due season for the answer to our cheon at noon in Fellowship prayers just as there's a due season for the harvesting of wheat or Hall on Monday. The R. W. corn. And so we just have to keep on keeping on . . waiting. Ware Bible Class will have their trusting, expecting. God's due season will not be too early or too supper and meeting on Tuesday

That last sentence is the miracle-key for Wednesday of the Fifth Week in my latest book, "A Daily Guide To Miracles and Successful Living Through Seed-Faith." How to pray and get answers is really what the book is all about. If you'd like a copy, free and postpaid, just write to me, Oral Roberts, Tulsa, Okla.

PREP SCOREBOARD

Seminole was the only Seminole County high school whose football team was smiling Friday night.

Oviedo, Lake Brantley, Lyman and Lake Howell each ound themselves on the short end of the grid stick. Seminole trounced Oviedo, 32-0, despite yielding an stounding amount of yards in penalties. Lyman was nicked in the second half for the third week in a row, 21-20, by Colonial.

Lake Brantley found no pleasure in Gainesville, losing

And Lake Howell was bogged down at its own end of the field all night in a 22-0 loss to Melbourne.
