

"Keep Sanford Dollars at Home!"

A CAMPAIGN WHICH, WITH YOUR COOPERATION, WILL BUILD SANFORD INTO A BIGGER AND BETTER CITY.

SPONSORED BY
Edward Higgins,
Mayor Of Sanford

"THE PLAN"

At the request of a group of citizens who realize the seriousness of the loss of trade to Sanford by out-of-town buying, I am putting on a vigorous campaign to show the people of Sanford that it is to THEIR interest to trade at home and thereby keep Sanford dollars here in Sanford.

Students of the local Grammar School, the Junior High School and the High School will call on YOU beginning Monday after school and ask YOU to sign a pledge card like the one below, promising that you will co-operate by trading at home for at least the next four months and thereby do your bit to "Keep Sanford Dollars at Home," boost Sanford, and make this a bigger and better city in which to live. Prizes totaling $33.00 will be awarded to students securing the most pledges.

MY PLEDGE

Mr. Edward Higgins, Mayor
City of Sanford, Florida. November 21, 1939

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I am entirely in sympathy with your campaign to keep Sanford Dollars in Sanford, so that they may circulate here and thus improve the general condition of our city. I believe in Sanford but realize that we are not making the best of our opportunities and am therefore willing and glad to do my full part toward making it a better town to live in. I further pledge myself for the next four months to trade at home, and do all in my power to encourage my friends and neighbors to do likewise.

MERCHANT PLEDGE

Hon. Edward Higgins, Mayor
City of Sanford

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Russian-Finnish Dispute Flaring After Incidents

Finnish artillery opened fire only on Russian troops stationed at the border village of Malmi, and killed four men, including a junior commander, and wounded nine men, including a junior lieutenant. Seven machine guns were fired, it was alleged, at the village which is located on the Karelian Isthmus reaching between the Gulf of Finland and Lake Ladoga.

From the Finnish border there is only about 20 miles from Leningrad, one of Russia's largest cities. However, in Helsinki, the Finnish capital, Premier Calander emphatically denied there had been any shooting. Observers in Moscow interpreted the reported incident and the Soviet demand in the light of a threatening and vitriolic attack on Finland yesterday in Pravda, Communist party newspaper, which singled out Premier Calander and said he should study the fate that befell "Polish jackanapes."

They pointed out that Russia probably had nearly 1,000,000 troops massed along the borders of Finland, whose entire population is not much more than three times that figure. Finland, they pointed out, is known as a land "of a thousand lakes" and that these waters are now frozen over easing the way for troops equipped with snowshoes.

They pointed out, also that the growing campaign of the inspired Soviet press against Finland was similar to that which suddenly opened upon Poland just before the invasion of that country Sept. 17. At any rate, it was feared that a pretext for an invasion had been reported, if an invasion were intended.

Some foreign quarters thus interpreted yesterday's events as a signal for Soviet troops, massed along the Finnish borders, to march in and to reap the diplomatic conquests of the shores of the Baltic that were begun with Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain said last night in a radio speech that the Allies' war aims foresee a Utopian Europe completely disarmed and living in good will and mutual tolerance after Hitlerism is crushed. His speech contained the first detailed statement of Britain's war aims, including a "new Europe" which he said would take years of patient co-operation to bring about.

He warned the British people that Germany at any time may unleash mass aerial bombardments of the British Isles "without any considerations of humanity."

Chamberlain's radio address was his first since he went before a microphone on Nov. 10 Downing Street 12 weeks ago today and announced gravely that Britain was at war with Germany.

The prime minister said that the Allies' war aim is "to defeat our enemy" while their peace aims were to "establish a new Europe."

The new Europe, he added, would not be brought about by tearing up old frontier posts and redrawing the map of Europe according to the dictates of the victors.

"It will be a Europe with a new spirit in which the nations which inhabit it would approach their difficulties with good will and mutual tolerance," he said. Boundary adjustments will be settled around a conference table.

"There will be a full and constant flow of trade among the nations concerned," he said, and each European country will have the right to choose its own form of internal government "so long as that government does not pursue an external policy injurious to its neighbors."

"In such a Europe armaments would gradually be dropped as a useless expense."

The establishment of the Utopian Europe, he said, would be a process requiring years to bring about and necessitating some sort of machinery for conducting and guiding its development.

BRITISH HERO DIES

Army Board Hears Merits Of Canal To East Coast

The board to the capital. There were five delegates from Jacksonville, including George W. Gibbs, president of the association, and Arthur Soles, Duval county engineer, who also assisted in the preparation of a report on the project, which will cost slightly over $5,000,000.

There are other Florida waterway improvement projects which are scheduled for consideration at the meeting of the board today. They include: Improvements in the St. Johns from Jacksonville to the ocean. Certain improvements were recommended by the division engineer, but after a previous hearing, the board said it was "not convinced of the advisability" of the project.

Improvements in the channel from the intracoastal waterway to Cocos and in the Cocos turning basin. Although the division engineer's report was partly favorable, the board was "not convinced" the work should be undertaken.

Deepening of Lake Worth inlet. The project was turned down by the division engineer on the ground that "the cost of the improvement is not justified by the benefits to be expected therefrom."

On the basis of testimony at public hearings and the findings of subordinate engineers, the board makes recommendations to the chief of engineers, who in turn presents his conclusions to the Secretary of War. The secretary then transmits the whole shebang of reports to the Senate Commerce Committee or the House Rivers and Harbors Committee. All waterway projects require authorization by Congress.

Seal Sale To Begin On Thanksgiving Day

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—An army of volunteers are working feverishly throughout Florida in preparation for the coming Christmas Seal Sale. The sale opens November 30, Florida's Thanksgiving Day, and closes Christmas Day.

Arrangements are being made for a display of the colorful Christmas posters and other exhibits designed to call to the attention of the public the Christmas Seal Sale and the tuberculosis program which it supports.

The sale in Florida is sponsored by the Florida Tuberculosis and Health Association and its affiliated organizations and committees, making a network to every town and hamlet in the state.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—(AP)—All indications here last night were that France and Britain will declare their blockade of German exports on Tuesday, as scheduled, despite protests from neutral nations many of whom will be crippled if their commerce with the Reich is cut off.

Solution To Relief Sought In Cleveland

Jobless Charge On City Hall With Demand For Immediate Action By Mayor

Services May Be Destroyed

Relief Comes Ahead Of Every Obligation, Burton Says

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Mayor Harold H. Burton was ready today to "destroy" the city's regular services to feed hungry reliefers, who have threatened to obtain food "on our own authority."

"Relief comes ahead of every obligation," Burton told 1,000 shouting jobless last night who stormed the city hall with a demand that the city take immediate steps to restore curbed relief.

"He answered a threat to 'feed ourselves' by retorting sharply: 'That is anarchy. That must not be permitted in America and will not be permitted in Cleveland.'"

C. B. Cowan, head of the association of unemployed, demanded that the city council restore regular relief services, which were drastically slashed because of dwindling funds.

With 70,000 on relief the city has lopped off the relief employment and other benefits to others.

Burton placed responsibility for the crisis on the state. He has tried unsuccessfully to get Governor C. Frankland to call a special session of the legislature to consider the problem.

Two city relief offices were closed and applicants admitted only at 11 a. m. This morning relievers crowded demanding food. One man was arrested, but released because he was a second-time offender.

Police arrested a man who tried to force his way into a relief office. Police arrested a man who tried to force his way into a relief office.

Blame For War Laid To British By Nazi Leaders

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The German government said last night in a 3,000-word announcement that the recent British Blue Book on the origins of the war contains indisputable proof that Great Britain played a "treacherous, two-faced game" which forced Poland into war with Germany.

The German reply asserted that on Aug. 25, three days before the final invasion of Poland, the British government committed a "forgery" in order to gain time.

This "forgery" and sheer lie, according to the government statement, was a memorandum delivered to Germany from British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax saying that Britain would not negotiate a settlement of Germany's demands.

Actually, it was contended, Poland had not consented to any such invasion and was feverishly preparing for war.

England wanted war against Germany, the German government said. "Germany already has day after day been unable to make any reply to this proof."

The British Blue Book was described as "an irresponsible attempt to scape responsibility for the war to Germany."

The painting depicts Scarlett, who bears likeness to Vivien Leigh, standing on the staircase talking to a Yankee soldier.

Jury Returns Second Degree Murder Verdict

Denmark Montgomery Must Serve At Least 20 Years

After staying out only a short time, a 12-man jury returned at noon today a verdict of second degree murder in the case of Denmark Montgomery, negro, charged in a Grand Jury indictment with premeditated murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Hattie W. Walker, negro, in Midway on the evening of May 29.

The verdict of the jurors carries with it a minimum sentence of 20 years in the State Prison at Raiford although the 65-year-old negro will not be sentenced by Circuit Judge Millard B. Smith until later in the current court term.

This was the first of the criminal cases to be prosecuted at this term of the Circuit Court. The next case, docketed for Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, will be that of Sinclair Ash, negro, charged in a Grand Jury indictment with premeditated murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Ralph Cook, negro.

On Monday, Ellis Locks of Longwood, will go on trial for the alleged theft of one of the large cypress trees in the Big Tree Park near Longwood.

The jurors who returned the verdict against Montgomery in the case which began yesterday morning are as follows: Perry G. Cameron, L. A. Brunley, W. H. Rife, Earl Datt, E. A. Farrell, B. F. McWhorter, C. R. Clontz, C. M. Marshall, Orie R. Mathews, Jack Christian, E. F. Lundquist and L. C. Beaver.

Inspection Period Will Be Extended

Citrus Group Votes For Cent-A-Box Levy To January; Shippers Divided

LAKELAND, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Florida Citrus Commission today extended the maturity inspection period, and voted a cent-a-box inspection tax from Dec. 1 to Jan. 1.

By law the inspection period ends midnight Nov. 30 but the commission said the authority to extend the time to protect the industry and the consuming public from green fruit.

In past years, the practice has been to extend the inspection 15 days or a month.

Representatives of the industry divided on the question of a special meeting of the board but commissioners said there was a need for continued inspection through maturity tests. The majority of fruitmen agreed with this view.

LAKELAND, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Frost nipped tender truck crops in north Florida this morning, but the Weather Bureau said such crops should be protected tomorrow morning from further frost damage.

Citrus did not suffer today, and forecasters said it would not be endangered tomorrow.

A report gave these minimum temperatures tomorrow: New Smyrna, Mims, Sanford, Oviedo, Fern Park 28.

Local Teachers To Be Paid From Borrowed Money

The Seminole County Board of Public Instruction has borrowed $17,000 for payment of teachers' salaries for the past month and tomorrow night all of the teachers in Seminole County will receive their pay when due. The payroll is $17,515.

The State's allotment to Seminole County is now two months in arrears. Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawton pointed out, adding that the local school board has already borrowed $30,000 for payment of teachers' salaries, $4,000 of this amount, however, was paid back at the last meeting of the board.

The school board has also accepted the resignation of William H. Stepper, high school mathematics teacher for the past three years, who resigned to become industrial chemist for the Florida Power and Light Company. Wallace Crosby of Longwood, has been appointed temporary substitute.

Frozen Food Industry May Hurt South As Winter Garden Center

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 28.—(AP)—A depression-born industry is changing America's eating habits and uprooting long established markets for agricultural products with such rapidity that the nation's farmers do not yet realize the tremendous upheaval taking place.

That's the story brought back by Harry Carlton, University of Tennessee market expert, from a 10-months study of the infant frozen food industry, pursued rapidly to all parts of the country.

Ending a 21,000-mile coast-to-coast tour of farm producing and distributing centers, Carlton summed up his findings with the assertion:

"The northern states are about to become the winter garden states."

"The frozen food industry is knocking the calendar out of the farming game, and every farming center from Maine to California is becoming a direct competitor of the other."

And, he added, the southern farmer is going to be left holding the bag, with the north growing and getting the profit on the products of exceptional quality and fine flavor are developed to compete with the frozen products.

The school board has also accepted the resignation of William H. Stepper, high school mathematics teacher for the past three years, who resigned to become industrial chemist for the Florida Power and Light Company. Wallace Crosby of Longwood, has been appointed temporary substitute.

City Defers Approval Of Lighting Deal

Commission Bars Gambling Concessions From Seminole Fair

A new 10-year street lighting contract and the Seminole County Fair scheduled for February were the principal topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the City Commission last night when the group deferred action on signing the proposed lighting contract and granted permission for the Elk Lodge to sponsor the annual affair providing certain restrictions are observed.

H. H. Coleman, local manager of the Florida Power and Light Company, gave the Commission a detailed outline of the "Type B" rates which would become effective when the City signs the 10-year contract. The local power company manager agreed to furnish free of charge current for the remainder of the fiscal year for several additional lights which would be installed under the contract.

This year's fair, under the supervision of the Elk Lodge will be strictly educational. Fred D. Dyer, president of the Commission, in requesting permission for the use of the lake front property for the fair, said the fair is a procedure as a whole for the future reference of the Commission board.

At this time, one large concern had 50 retail outlets for its frozen products but despite the harvest and restricted markets of the depression years, it has 500 retail outlets today and is adding others at an amazing pace. About 2000 retail grocers are now equipped to handle frozen products.

Two years ago the frozen industry marketed a million pounds of vegetable and 10 million pounds of fruit and about 10 million of fish, poultry and meats.

Last year the total output of the frozen food industry was valued at about $50,000,000 and the industry is now able to supply the growing demand, according to Carlton.

"If the industry is able to do this in a depression year, it is a wonder what it will be able to do under normal conditions," Carlton said.

Individuals who are interested in the frozen food industry in Florida, that hotels and other concerns, having the benefit of the frozen berry season, should write some form to the author, (Continued on Page Three)

Chamberlain States Blockade Will Go Into Effect Dec. 4

HELSINKI, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Foreign office spokesman announced today Russia denounced the non-aggression pact with Finland in a note handed to the Finnish foreign minister in Moscow.

German authorities today asserted that a British heavy cruiser had been torpedoed and destroyed by a submarine off the Shetland Islands as master of the seas was disputed with growing intensity by Europe's belligerents.

The German announcement said the cruiser of the London class, 2,850 tons, was sunk by the same submarine commander who sank the battleship Royal Oak Oct. 11 at Scapa Flow. German military experts earlier had claimed the British fleet had been "sunk" from the North Atlantic well as the North Sea, but German opening Parliament, stated that the entire sea area was being kept "free and open."

British ships brought to port 105 German prisoners from captured submarines, one unaccounted for, a submarine commander announced that a British blockade of German ports was in effect.

According to Finnish Russian sources, the European spokesman, Finland replied with an offer to compromise with Russia's demand for withdrawal of Finnish troops from frontier Finland areas and to withdraw if the latter desired.

The Finnish government, despite the offer, suggested that the offer be referred to a joint committee established by a treaty to take care of border problems. Finland had earlier refused the offer open to Russia.

We believe it goes almost without saying that Russia does not trust Germany, and that Germany does not trust Russia. In spite of their much vaunted alliance, it is incredible that Spain could place much faith in the word of Adolf Hitler, or that Hitler could have much confidence in Stalin. We know that the two must know the word of the double-crosser the other at their first opportunity.

If we accept their alliance on this basis, that it is merely a temporary arrangement providing the best port available to the Nazis in the current European storm, then it is possible to find some reason and logic in other things happening over there which otherwise are inexplicable. Only if the Russia alliance is regarded as an emergency measure, and no part of Germany's long range scheme of things, can one make any sense out of the apparent double-cross of Italy and Japan.

The view of it also makes possible some understanding of the postponement of the long threatened "Blitzkrieg" on the Western Front. Germany does not dare become too deeply involved with the Allies, or launch an attack which would be costly in either men or implements of war, until the position of Russia has become more or less solidified by some irrevocable act on her part. In other words, Germany is waiting for something more than a promise from Russia.

She had hoped this would come when the deal over Poland was made. England and France had gone to war with Germany because the Nazis had taken possession of one part of Poland. What more could she expect? It is possible that they would also go to war with Russia for seizing the other part? Then the position of Russia would be untenable. Germany would have been fighting common enemies and Germany would have had little to fear in the east as long as the Russian bear was busy fighting England.

The view of it also makes possible some understanding of the postponement of the long threatened "Blitzkrieg" on the Western Front. Germany does not dare become too deeply involved with the Allies, or launch an attack which would be costly in either men or implements of war, until the position of Russia has become more or less solidified by some irrevocable act on her part. My attention was called to an editorial or two that appeared in the "Sanford Forum" under the heading "Home Shopping" and I am sure that you are all aware of the fact that the "Sanford Forum" is a very popular and successful newspaper.

It is interesting to note that the only reason Russia could have little to fear in the east as long as the Russian bear was busy fighting England.

The view of it also makes possible some understanding of the postponement of the long threatened "Blitzkrieg" on the Western Front.
