By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.
WASHINGTON—The Veterans Administration (VA) has announced that virtually all former and present holders of National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) are entitled to a dividend.

The NSLI fund out of which all non-service connected death benefits are paid has a surplus. The surplus belongs to holders of NSLI policies.

But VA officials are scared to death that news of the dividend will bring a flood of VA's insurance staff is already loaded with work.

VA statisticians must check 18,000,000 policies held by the 16,000,000 servicemen and veterans.

That will take at least a year. When the computations have been completed dividends will be mailed out. VA points out that each letter asking about the dividend will delay the computations, because each letter must be answered. It takes time that Farmers account for ten percent of the U. S. national income in peace time.

Compulsory medical insurance in the United States dates back to 1798 when provision was made by Congressional act for furnishing medical care to merchant seamen.

G.O.P. Candidate Hits At Political Control

ORLANDO, Oct. 30—(FNS)—Speaking before Orlando Jaycees, at J. Moss, candidate for Congress from the Fifth Congressional District, termed the admission of Mexican cattle by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson "a purely political move designed to alleviate the critical meat shortage prior to the election, and one fraught with danger to the cattle industry of Florida and the nation."

"Because of the hoof and mouth disease, importation of Mexican cattle has been prohibited for years, and now suddenly, they are admitted," Moss said.

Blasphemy the "New Deal" as a bureaucratic mess in Washington, Moss said that the administration was on the verge of spending more than $1 billion in the fiscal year ending last June 30. He pointed out that the federal debt is a mortgage of $2,000 on every man, woman and child in the United States.

Terming two-party government the "greatest need of Florida today," Moss stated that if Florida were placed in the doubtful column, both political parties would give the state more consideration and money would flow in for roads, schools, health program, water, waves, med-fly payment and the like.

The Marine Corps hymn is said to have originated soon after the close of the War with Mexico.

Chile Ambassador Fathers-To-Be Gets Warm Adios Going To School Upon Retirement To Get 'Know-how'

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—The farewell party that went on for marcial Mora, who retired as Chilean Ambassador to the United States, would have made even a whirling dervish dizzy.

But Senor Mora, one of the most popular diplomats ever to come to the capital, has an opportunity to regain his stability on the long voyage home where he expects to resume his private law practice.

Every day from the beginning of October there was a different luncheon, cocktail party, dinner or reception in his honor. Virtually every ambassador in town entertained in some way in his honor.

The guests were a mix of diplomats, Elena and Gabby, were also on the merry-go-round.

The last night send-off for the Ambassador was a bang-up stag dinner given by Carlos Reyes, press attaché at the Embassy. Most of the guests were newsmen with whom Senor Mora had maintained a warm friendship. He had been a newspaper man himself.

Smoked turkey and all kinds of wonderful foods were served, but the guests remember the exotic cocktails best along with prospective mothers.

"And they love it," says the Red Cross. "They are learning that being a father is a man-sized job."

The Red Cross lessons in "child every father," says "do all the such topics as how the body prepares for the production of a new life, what plans should be made for delivery, what occurs during labor and the birth of a baby and the proper care of the new mother and baby."

The Red Cross is campaigning to get at least one home nurse in every family and is offering the course under the supervision of its home nursing program.

The program includes four other courses. There's a standard course for adults; a 12-hour Care of the Sick course, teaching basic nursing skills; a school course for boys and college course especially adapted for college students.

In Portland, Ore., the Multnomah County Chapter of the Red Cross gave instruction to an all-police class at the request of the Chief of Police.

The chief's reasoning was logical—police men are often called upon in emergencies, and the doctor is not always handy.

A similar class for policemen was organized and taught in Louisville, Ky. In Lawrence, Mass., a group of 29 auxiliary policemen enrolled for home nursing instruction.

The nurse instructors say that men are their best pupils.

Bomb Blast Rocks British Rome Embassy

Entire Wing Wrecked But No One Injured As Clock Sets Off Bags Of Explosives

ROME, Oct. 31, (AP)—The British embassy in Rome was blasted by a bomb explosion last night which wrecked an entire wing of the block-long building. The thundering blast shook the Italian capital for blocks around and wounded at least two passerby, one of them critically.

Police and embassy officials are without a clue as to the identity of the perpetrators who detonated two suitcases full of explosives by clockwork. The blast tore a gaping hole which extended the depth of two rooms into the building. Police say the heavy masonry of the three-story embassy is cracked so deeply that part of it may have to be torn down.

All embassy personnel escaped injury. The explosion threw four guards from their beds, but they were not hurt. The apartment of the ambassador, Sir Noel Charles, was damaged heavily, but Sir Noel currently is away on leave. The British chargé d'affaires, J. G. Ward, said that the bomb "exploded soundly like a five-hundred pounder."

Italian investigators frankly are baffled by the act. They say they can think of no reason why anyone in Italy should want to bomb the British, especially as sustained criticism of British policy in Italy has been lacking since the war ended. Embassy officials also are mystified as to the motive behind the bombing.

The British press attaché, Michael Stewart, commented: "It would be useless to speculate. There are, of course, many irresponsible people who might have done it—Palestinian Jews, Egyptian Nationalists, and so on."

A detective on duty suggested that diehard Fascists might have been responsible. He pointed out that they had planned explosives about half a dozen Italian cities Monday on the 24th anniversary of Mussolini's march on Rome.

Home's morning newspapers are demanding vigorous police action to find the persons responsible for the blast.

Local Boys To Play In Auburn - Ga. Tilt November 2nd

Color, crowds and fine football will be featured at Orlando Stadium Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, when Auburn and Georgia junior varsity eleven battle it out for the benefit of the Orlando Quarterback Club Athletic Fund.

In addition to a preview of the Auburn and Georgia varsity team Saturday night, the Quarterback Club will offer a colorful pre-game flag raising ceremony, music by Orlando High School and Lake Wales High School bands, and cheers led by cheerleaders from the two schools.

Three members of the Auburn team will be remembered by football fans around the state. Max well King, tailback, 165 pounds, and Glenn Bagley, guard, hail from Fort Pierce. Both were all state Little Big Ten selections last year. Jim Hark, former quarterback, Tampa; Bobby Harris, quarterback, Pensacola; and Bill Fleming, halfback, from Sanford.

Hallowe'en To Be Celebrated Tonight

Tonight is Hallowe'en, the eve of All Hallows or All Saints Day. Probably of Druidic origin, it has always been associated with the supernatural and is observed by lighting fires and lanterns and frisks games. In this country, the children take advantage of the traditional freedom of the evening to play practical jokes.

In line with this observance, there will be a big party at the South Side Primary School, and much fun is promised. At Seminole High School it will be same night at 7:30 o'clock. Each class will put on a one act play with a silver loving cup going to the winner. Judges are Mrs. E. D. Brownlee, B. F. Steele and R. E. Tree.

Growers To Vote Much Building On Market Pact On November 7

Regulation Of Celery By Secretary Anderson Is At Stake

All celery growers were today urged by Oris Mathews, local administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration, to vote Nov. 7 at the County Agent's office for or against a new marketing agreement to regulate the handling of Florida grown celery by grade, size and volume.

The voting time will be from 10:00 A. M. until 4:00 P. M. and will also take place at county agent's office at Belle Glade and Sarasota. Mail ballots must be postmarked not later than Nov. 7, and returned to the P. M. A. Field representative, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, P. O. Box 19, Lakeland.

According to Mr. Miller, the agreement is based upon evidence presented at public hearings held from June 27 to July 8 at Sanford, Belle Glade and Sarasota. The proposal has been tentatively approved by Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton Anderson.

The tentatively approved marketing agreement is being submitted to handlers of Florida celery for their signature. Growers of celery in the state will vote to determine whether they favor an issuance of an order by Secretary Anderson, regulating the handling of celery in the same manner as is provided in the tentatively approved agreement.

Navy Is Collecting New Orleans Garbage

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31, (AP)—More than 300 naval officers and men will do their dungarees today and work on garbage trucks in New Orleans. The service men have gathered a second wave of volunteers to help clean up the crescent city, where 300 garbage truck drivers and helpers have been on strike since last Thursday.

Admiral A. S. Merrill, commandant of the Eighth Naval District, said the Navy volunteers would make the "special collection" a "health saving movement for the community; and not as strike-breakers."

The boys will man 35 city garbage trucks with the aid of private citizens who have also volunteered their services. The Navy men will come from the Naval Air Station, the Algiers Navy Base, the Navy Hospital and the Federal Building.

The new volunteers will replace a skeleton force of citizens and replacement workers who for two months have been manning the trucks for the past two days. The Navy agreed to undertake the task after hopes for early settlement of the strike failed. City officials met with the naval forces this afternoon to coordinate their work.

AUXILIARY TO MEET
The American Legion Woman's Auxiliary will meet in the Legion Club on the Lakeland at 7:00 o'clock tomorrow evening. The time of the meeting has been advanced to allow members to attend the Sanford-St. Augustine football game.

Cotton Trading Is Resume In All Markets

Southern Leaders Demand Action to Prevent Further Fall In Cotton Prices

NEW YORK, Oct. 31, (AP)—Trading in cotton futures has been resumed in the nation's major exchanges after yesterday's emergency shutdown in a whirlwind of falling prices. In New Orleans cotton futures came back with a steady opening of from 50 cents to $7.00 a bale higher. The greatest advances were shown in prices for December and March, 1947.

Meanwhile Democratic Representative John Sparkman of Alabama predicted that the government would act quickly to check the tumbling cotton prices. Sparkman said that some action may come by nightfall.

He further asserted that he expected Reconciliation Director John Steelman to wipe out a 120-day limitation on advance pricing by mills on finished cotton goods. Sparkman declared that he thought the removal of this limitation would be more important than the whole matter would be considered in a conference today between Steelman and President Truman.

A series of articles in October's monthly Labor Review, a publication put out by the Labor Department, throws considerable light on the economic problems of our southern states. President Roosevelt once said the South was the nation's "Number One Economic Problem." There has been considerable improvement since then, but the South still has some tough problems to lick.

These articles, called "Labor In The South," are revealing studies on southern income and workers. They are important for anyone interested in what is happening in the South to workers, their wages and the kind of jobs they do.

The articles, which are a study of 1945 only, begin with the fact that the South is losing people every year to the north and west. For instance, between 1920 and 1930 it was shown that every year 130,000 more persons left the South than went there to live. However, during the years 1930 to 1945, the out-migration dropped to 100,000. In other words, a severe depression would keep the southerners home because they couldn't find jobs elsewhere.

The South suffered a severe migration during the years 1910 and 1920. There was a net loss of about 900,000 persons to our defense program between the years 1910 and 1945.

Stetson Law Dean Speaks To Kiwanis On Regimentation

"We need not be reformers, but the time is here to evaluate the type of government we want," said Dr. A. Haslip, dean of the Stetson School of Law, in a talk to Kiwanians yesterday noon at the Community Center. He was introduced by Ned Smith.

Dr. Haslip discussed regimentation and growth of bureaucracy in Washington. He also told of the crocheting on state rights, and cited test cases. He quoted the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes as stating that people in this country get the kind of government they want, and Attorney General Tom Clark said that effect that "civil rights are the basis of our way of life."

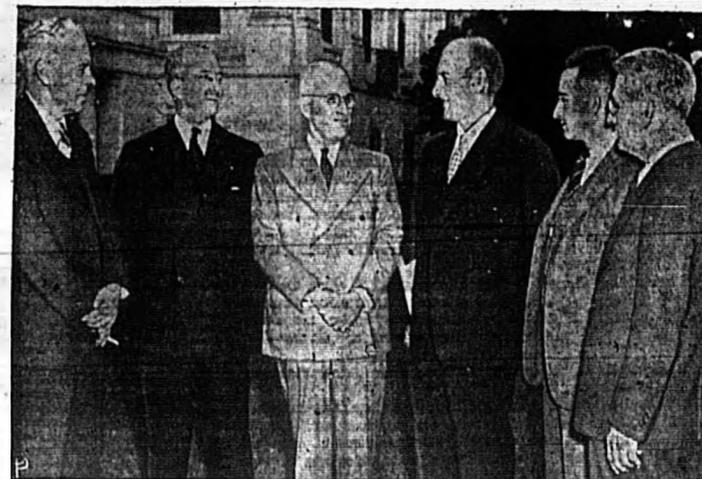

He quoted Bernard Baruch as to the right to free opinions and the importance of keeping the courts of justice free of violence and threats in order to assure fair play for rich or poor alike. He expressed the opinion that the reason this country went into World War II was to regulate internal affairs as we please. At the same time, he pointed out that it is time to think in terms of a world government, and that the Constitution in our hands was beyond the legal authority of these times, yet produced a model for world governments.

On labor matters, Dr. Haslip told of plans of the Department of Labor to prepare a course of instruction in labor population. Referring to Florida's closed shop amendment, he pointed out the possibility of this being declared invalid as in conflict with the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

President-elect Lester Tharp was welcomed back after his vacation. Guests welcomed were H. B. Grant, building contractor, Houston Babcock of the Key Club and Mrs. Mayme Hodgkin of the Orlando Sentinel.

One Is Killed; Four Injured In Miami Hotel Blaze

MIAMI, Oct. 31, (AP)—A cheap hotel in the midtown section of Miami flared up like a torch last night. One man died in the blaze, four were injured and 125 were rendered homeless.

As firemen battled the fire, which ultimately destroyed the frame hotel and adjoining garage, a second spectacular fire swept through a lumber yard which was newly-stocked with much-needed building materials.

No casualties were reported in the Miami Beach fire, though police cleared the area for two blocks around when a report was heard that a watchhouse on fire contained a small amount of ammunition.

Besides the lumber yard and the warehouse, the Miami Beach fire threatened to spread to the boat slips near the Venetian Causeway.

Police said that it was the biggest fire in a decade at Miami Beach. Fire Chief Henry R. Chase of Miami pushed to the assistance of Miami Beach firemen after getting the Miami hotel fire under control. When he arrived, however, he found the blaze under control, there, too.

No estimate of damage was available for either fire, but Chief Chase said the possibility of arson in the long hotel fire is being investigated.

Effort Is Made To Eliminate Primaries

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 31, (AP)—Promoted by what it terms a "movement" in Florida to eliminate state-controlled primaries, the Florida Division of the Southern Regional Council has put itself on record as opposed to such action. State members of the Council, in an annual meeting here yesterday passed a resolution to that effect deploring any attempt to bring about a party-controlled primary.

The resolution referred to party-controlled primaries as leading to "corruption" and "design to promote special interests instead of freedom of choice by all qualified electors." The committee went on to add that it is even more important in a state where the Democratic nomination is tantamount to election, for the state to control primaries in order that the best interests of all qualified electors may be served.

Replies To Stalin's Charge Of War Instigator By Asking For Military Facts

NEW YORK, Oct. 31, (AP)—The 11-nation General Committee of the United Nations has decided to include the disarmament question on the Assembly agenda. This action assures Soviet Russia's proposal for world arms reduction of a full airing.

LONDON, Oct. 31, (AP)—Britain's war-time leader, Winston Churchill, replied today to Premier Stalin's charge that he was an instigator of a new war. Churchill said he hoped that the United Nations would sweep away war talk by providing for an interchange of what he called actual military facts. He urged that this exchange of military information be supported by an adequate international inspection system.

Churchill's speech was made in a speech accepting the freedom of the city of Birmingham, England, on a ceremony at his London home. He stressed that the "international suspicion" that had been cast on the facts. He said he hoped that the remedy would be applied by the United Nations organization to the world situation. He added that an arms investigation by the UN would be a great step forward and it might lead to other steps to world peace.

The United Nations has been placed squarely in the middle of a fundamental conflict between the East and the West. This cleavage was emphasized in the speech made Tuesday by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov before the General Assembly.

When the delegates of the 50 other member nations gathered yesterday, they obviously feared new tensions between Russia and the western powers over atomic controls, disarmament, the veto and other critical issues. The difficulty in settling the East and West to see eye to eye on these issues is essentially a conflict over what kind of a world the nations of the East and West want. It is a struggle over the rights of states and the rights of man himself. It also extends to the relationships between large powers and the smaller nations. It involves the relationships of groups of powers—a so-called "Big Five"—to the rest of the world. But out of this maze of entangled relationships one thing is plain. Basically, the conflict between the East and West boils down to this: Russia does not think that the western powers have the right at the same time to be great powers and to exercise the western nation's dollar diplomacy aimed at strengthening what he described as dollar democracy. The Soviet Foreign Minister further insisted that no one of two powers should try to dominate the world. But at the same time he asked that the Big Five have certain rights within the United Nations which other member nations should not have.

Specifically, this means the veto, and if Molotov stands firm the United States and Britain face some tough standing. It is actually none of the great powers wants the veto abolished, but the British and Americans have led a fight to try to persuade Russia to restrict her use of the veto.

The split between the East and West is further marked by the clash on the question of atomic energy control. The United States has proposed an international control which would include inspection in any country. The Russians took the stand that such inspection would be a violation of national sovereignty. Instead, they proposed a control system whereby any violator would be punished by the nation involved. The Russian ideas of the atom bomb also were pushed to the forefront through Molotov's proposal for disarmament. He asked for an immediate action by the United Nations on a world-wide reduction in arms and a complete ban on the atom bomb.

The atomic question brings into sharp focus the deep distrust which has arisen between the wartime allies. Nine times in his speech Molotov used the phrase "world domination" as he developed his theme that reactionaries in the United States and Britain were supporting the American atomic plan, which as he put it, was aimed at giving us a monopoly on the dread weapon. The same domination he feared on the other side of the fence, for both American and British delegates openly have expressed an opinion that the Russians have been trying to spread their influence in all countries.

Assembly Cited Aims, Achievement Of United Nations

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Now that the meeting of the United Nations General Assembly is underway in New York, this might be as good a time as any to recapitulate the aims and achievements of this great family of nations.

The idea of the United Nations is almost as old as the history of organized government itself. Down through the centuries it has found expression in treaties, agreements and understandings between two or more independent governments. Perhaps the oldest example of this idea functioning today is the Swiss Confederation. This is a union for the common good and for the common defense of many separate cantons or states, differing in culture and religion, and speaking four different languages.

Another example was the union of the 13 North American colonies. The idea of a world-wide United Nations came out of the war and developed into a mutual organization with prevention of war as its principal aim. As an organization, the UN was discussed first by the late President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, when they drew up the Atlantic Charter on a warship off the coast of Newfoundland.

Originally the United Nations was a fighting team. A common goal cemented its membership—the defeat of the greatest threat in history to their individual freedom as nations and to the freedom of all mankind. But there also was a second great aim—to preserve the peace after they were fighting to win, and to solve problems such as those that led to World War II and the one that began in 1944.

Actually, the United Nations was born in Washington, D. C., with the adoption on Jan. 1, 1945, of the "Declaration by United Nations." Twenty-six nations signed the declaration, which subscribed to a common program of purposes and principles set forth in the Atlantic Charter. The signers pledged themselves to bring their full military and economic resources against all common enemies, and they agreed not to conclude separate peace or armistice agreements.

With that start, the organization set its sights on a peacetime program calling for a board system of international cooperation and security. Leaders in this movement were the United States, Britain, Russia and China. Next came the organizational conference in San Francisco. There, last year, the world charter was written and signed by 51 nations.

However, the United Nations as an organization to maintain peace and security was not born until Jan. 10, 1946, when the first General Assembly was held in London. On that date the 51 nations united by war set out along the road which they hoped would lead to lasting peace. Today their hopes are buoyed by the fact that they have all the experience and the knowledge of the mistakes that resulted in the failure of the League of Nations.

Just who are the United Nations? They are all the countries of the world with a few exceptions. Among those on the outside are Albania, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Iceland and Ireland. Also, the defeated nations—Germany, Italy, Japan, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Finland—do not belong.

More than 60 employees of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, visiting inmates of the A. T. and T. and Western Electric Companies and their friends enjoyed a gay Halloween party last evening at the Community Center.

The committee in charge of the party, Mrs. Mary Cameron, Miss Margaret Greene and Miss Margaret Cullum; assisted by John Hanlon, did a colorful job of decoration, also made paper hats for the guests. There was dancing to records and plenty of traditional Halloween food was served including large apples, cookies and fruit punch.

Candid photographs were made by Ralph Jones, high school photographer. This was one of a series of monthly recreational activities of employees of the company.

You Can Help Stop!

—the CONFUSION and MISMANAGEMENT

When we stop voting the "one party" ticket and adopt 2 party government, we will not be "in the bag" but "in doubt"—then—and only then, will we get from Washington what we need.

★ Democrats CAN vote with Republicans on November 5th, for M. J. Moss, Jr., for Congress without losing their Democratic standing—despite New Deal propaganda.

That Makes Two-Party Government.

Then you will get:

1. That 10 million, long promised, Medfly Damage money.
2. Waterways and Flood Control for knee deep pastures.
3. More Pensions for our old Folks instead of Pussyfootin'.
4. More Houses for our Veterans—less hocus.
5. Super Hiways across our State instead of Curbstone Politician.
6. Remove the shackles from our agriculture and business.
7. Enough sugar for this State to feed the nation.
8. Florida's rightful place in Washington and not "in the Bog."
9. 20 million of Free Publicity when we stop voting the one party ticket.
10. Save that Freedom for which our forefathers died.

Snow Swirls Top Monument To Dog Named Ranger

By WAYNE HERBERT
 GOVERNMENT CAMP, Ore.— Snow swirls about the top of 11,225-foot Mount Hood as whitening a freshly-marked monument to a dog named Ranger.

Although the 13-year-old Indian fur was buried on Oregon's highest peak six years ago his mountain-climbing friends—back from the war this fall—marked his grave with a bronze plaque inscribed: "Ranger—1927-1940."

The little dog, mostly shepherd, was at least twice a life-saver as well as thousands of time a companion as he climbed the peak more than any man.

Blue Ribbon
 Ranger was only a pup when he made his first ascent in 1928. He was a walker home to Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rafferty at their hotel on the slope of Mount Hood that May afternoon with the blue ribbon given all successful climbers of the party.

From tag-along he became as much an enthusiast as his friends who climbed for summer fun and winter adventure. During one year Rangers name was written on the summit register more than 200 times. He would often make two climbs a day, and like his two-legged friends, learned how to sit and slide much of the way down on the packed ice and snow.

In 1931 Ranger made his first mountain-top rescue. A storm closed in on James Mount and three other Portlanders. They were lost. Ranger barked nervously and led off. The men followed him between zig zag and White river glaciers to the safety of the timberline. A few yards either way would have meant tragedy.

Sept. 27 of the same year when Ralph Calkin and Ole Lien, also Portlanders, were stranded Ranger led them to safety.

He climbed so much he wore his claws down and Calkin also recalls how he once saw the dog turn back because he couldn't maintain his footing on the mountain's west face. When the men reached the top Ranger was there waiting for them. He had traveled up the more familiar and easier southern slope, walking two

to all who await deliveries of new Chevrolets

We want you to know that everything possible is being done to speed deliveries to you; but production still lags far behind schedule—even though Chevrolet has built more cars and trucks than any other manufacturer from January through September 1946

WE REALIZE how eagerly you are awaiting delivery of the new Chevrolet you have ordered from us, and we want to pass on to you the latest information received from the Chevrolet Motor Division, even though that information isn't too encouraging at this time.

It is true that Chevrolet leads all other manufacturers in total production of passenger cars and trucks from January through September 1946, despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of this year. It is also true that Chevrolet has continued to maintain its lead in total production during the third quarter of 1946. And yet production is still running far below desired levels, with the result that Chevrolet's output of cars and trucks through September 1946 was only 38.7% of the number produced during the corresponding period of 1941.

This means it may take many months for the Chevrolet Motor Division to reach peak production of new Chevrolets—even longer to fill the unprecedented demand for this product of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—and, for the present at least, "there just aren't enough Chevrolets to go around," much as we wish there were.

However, we want you to know that new Chevrolets are leaving the plants in the largest numbers possible today. The Chevrolet Motor Division tells us it is doing everything it can, in the face of continued suppliers' strikes, material shortages and manpower problems, to step up shipments to us and to all dealers, in accordance with a predetermined distribution plan assuring each dealer of his fair allotment, based on 1941 passenger car sales. And we, in turn, are doing our best to deliver new Chevrolets to our customers as rapidly as they are received and in the fairest possible way. We are too appreciative of your loyalty and good-will—to do anything less than continue to serve you to the very best of our ability.

KEEP YOUR PRESENT CAR RUNNING

Meanwhile, the most important car of all to you is the car you are driving now. May we suggest that you keep it in top running condition until you secure delivery of your new Chevrolet, by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals. Remember—cold weather is hardest on old cars. Please see us for a complete check-up today. . . . And, again, thank you!

Scorned Comforts
 Ranger's greatest crisis came when swanky timberline lodge opened in 1938 and Brehl and Lady, calf-sized St. Bernards, were moved in for Alpine atmosphere. But after Brehl had to be rescued from an icy ledge Ranger ignored his rivals who never again ventured above the Magic Mile ski tow.

Ranger had a crippled paw when he was born here to a dog left behind by juckleberry-picking Indians. Mrs. Rafferty massaged the foot and cured it. She made chamois boots for the pup to ease his travels after he learned about the mountain, but he chewed them off. She also tried to rig colored glasses to protect his eyes from snow glare. He further spurned civilization by refusing to ride in automobiles so he never went into the valleys from his Government Camp home 4,000 feet above sea level.

"He was primitive," Mrs. Rafferty recalls. "He only liked the mountain. When the boys would arrive with pack Ranger would lie by them and wouldn't even know who we were. I'd put up his lunch—sometimes only a bone—right along with theirs."

Ranger died while sleeping in the sun two years after his aging legs had last carried him to the summit. In Portland Ole Lien be-

Women Are Said To Hold Few Head Jobs In Capital

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—The telephone and the typewriter, much more than politics, have made Washington seem "more than an ordinarily feminine town," says Jonathan Daniels, former press secretary to President Roosevelt.

In his new book, "Frontier on the 'Comac,'" Mr. Daniels observes that it is a strange thing that a quarter of a century after the Nineteenth Amendment there is such an acute scarcity of important women in the government of the nation.

"Nobody even discusses any more that old suggestion that women would elevate and purify the politics of their country," he says, adding that the women "have not done very well even for themselves."

He points out that once there was a lady Cabinet officer. That was Francis Perkins, Secretary of Labor. He cites that there were but 10 women in Congress in 1946 and even fewer women in the whole executive branch getting as much as $9,000 a year.

"The electing people have done better by the sex than the appointing officials," Daniels concedes, but he believes that the really significant women in the capital are "seldom seen in the newspapers, but they are effective and essential in the operation of government itself."

He lists among these Ruth Shipley, head of the State Department's passport division since 1933; Marguerite Owen, representative of the TVA; Mary E. Switzer, assistant to the administrator of the Federal Security Agency; Bea Goodlykoots, Assistant Commissioner, U. S. Office of Education; and Katharine Blackburn, chief of the Government Information Service.

He doubts, however, "that even they are as important as the greater number of non-coms of 'know-how' who are secretaries and assistants to a great many male officials."

He admits that there are important women in Washington who are not in government. These include rich and socially prominent women like Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, Mrs. Clifford Pinchot and Mrs. J. Horden Harriman. A good deal of government, he points out, meets at their dinner tables.

"Society in Washington is a very serious business," Daniels says. President Roosevelt used to hint that the high variety of hospitality in the town is passing and talked about the more elegant past. Mr. Daniels writes:

"In World War I, he (FDR) said, the tired official looking for recreation in the afternoon could take his choice on Massachusetts Ave. of the house where every kind of drink was served, the residence where artists and writers and intellectuals served high talk about an artistic hostess, and a mansion where the music was soft, so were the sofas, and the ladies were very pretty."

Daniels says Mr. Roosevelt called them "the saloon, the salon and the Salome." Daniels takes this line for the title of the chapter I review. He says he doubts that they are gone.

Amling, Savitsky Are Seen As Two All-Am Tackles

By FRANK EXR
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
Those who like their tackles big don't have to look beyond Warren Amling of Ohio State and George Savitsky of Penn. Both are among the tackles being considered for All-America berths this season.

Amling, a six-foot 107-pound senior, gained an All-America guard post last season while Sa-vitsky, a 252-pound wearing size 14 1/2 shoes, was named on The Associated Press third team in 1945.

Amling, 21, is from Pana, Ill., and captain of the Buckeyes. Savitsky, an ex-Marine, comes from Camden, N. J., and could be Penn's first All-America tackle since Ed Hake gained the honor in 1927.

Clark, 175-pound senior from Wilson, N. C., was one of Duke's big guns in the 21-6 victory over Navy. The 21-year-old halfback has been invaluable as a runner and passer for the Blue Devils.

Kuserow, 19, is living up to expectations at Columbia. The 175-pound Glasport, Pa., fullback helped beat Navy and Yale.

Minial, 20, is the big ace for Penn. The 185-pounder from Newark, N. J., excelled for Navy last season.

The first changes in the uniform of the U. S. Marines since 1927 appeared in 1944 when Leathernecks were issued new dress blues and winter greens.

Brain And Spine Surgery Aids Puzzling Palsy And Paralysis

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—Surgery on the brain and spinal nerve channels is bringing relief to some victims of two painful, crippling diseases—shaking palsy and a paralysis that twists muscles, sometimes turning the head over the shoulder.

The new methods were described by Dr. Tracy J. Putnam, director of the Neurological Institute of New York, before the recent Inter-American Medical Congress in Rio de Janeiro.

The two diseases are more distressing and apparently more common than infantile paralysis, Dr. Putnam said.

Shaking palsy, or paralytic agitans, brings uncontrollable shaking of the hands, arms, or head, with some rigidity. The second disease—called dystonia or athetosis—makes muscles of the arms, legs, neck or trunk contract involuntarily and almost continuously. The rigid muscles may twitch.

The surgery tries to stop abnormal nerve signals producing these affects, Dr. Putnam explained. It has enabled a few persons to return to work. One is using a typewriter with hands that once could not be kept still.

In about 75 per cent of cases, operations can bring relief of the trembling or contractions, and often of pain, but they are not a cure, he said. They seldom relieve the rigidity, and may leave the tremor-affected arm or leg weakened.

Medicines sometimes help somewhat in both ailments. What causes the abnormal nerve signals is not known, Dr. Putnam said, but operations are helping to explain their mechanism.

The first operation tried, for dystonia, removes part of the motor cortex from the top of the brain. First performed in England in 1909, it was developed considerably in recent years by Dr. Paul Bucy of Chicago and by Dr. Roland Klemm of St. Louis. It works well for spasms of the arm, but less well for those of the leg, face, or neck, and achieves extremely good results in selected cases, Dr. Putnam said.

A second operation, also for dystonia, was developed by Dr. Putnam and his associates. It is done in the neck on a nerve channel in the spinal cord. The reasoning was that the abnormal signals from the brain might be stopped before they reached the nerves going to the body extremities.

But here a strange fact in man's evolution had to be considered. Man has two sets of nerve channels or tracts in the spinal cord. One is found in lower animals, even in fishes, and still is retained in man. The other set, the pyramidal tract, is well-developed only in man and monkeys.

There was evidence that the old nerve channel was responsible for the muscle contractions in dystonia, and an operation of cutting into this old pathway was first tried on a girl who was in great pain. It worked successfully. It has had about the same proportion of success as the operation on the brain motor center, and can be used when paralysis affects both sides of the body, Dr. Putnam said.

But this method had no effect on shaking palsy. Apparently the nerve impulses causing the tremor were transmitted along the pyramidal tract, not the old motor channel.

But would cutting into man's motor nerve tract produce severe paralysis? Tests with monkeys indicated it would not. The operation was first carried out on a patient who had been completely incapacitated for 16 years. It brought marked relief and has been used successfully with numerous patients, Dr. Putnam said.

Dr. Putnam also is professor of neurology and neurological surgery at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and now is on sabbatical leave.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Friendship—Three Thousand Miles Apart

Ever play chess? It's a great game! One of the strongest friendships I know of started with a game of chess—between Dad Hoskins, in our town, and a man named Dalton Barnes, in England.

They've never seen each other, never met. But for the past eight years they've been playing chess by mail together—Dad puzzling over Dalton's latest letter, while he sends a chart of his next move to England.

Dad always thinks best with a mellow glass of beer beside his chessboard. And the Englishman writes him that he does the same. "You know, it's almost as if we shared a glass of beer together, too!" says Dad contentedly.

From where I sit, you can talk about diplomacy and foreign policy, but it's often those little things—like a game of chess or a glass of beer—that can make for tolerance and understanding . . . between people of all nations . . . between neighbors here at home!

The last lap is the hardest!

You've probably figured your present car won't have to last much longer. We hope you're right. For our part, we're doing our best to get those grand new Packards to our customers.

You know the situation. But, like every other motor car manufacturer, Packard is still struggling with parts and materials shortages. This year, the industry as a whole has been able to build only 44% of its output for the same period in 1941. Packard has done better than that, but we'd like to put in a word of caution:

It may be some time yet before you get behind the wheel of your new car.

Don't take a chance! Make sure your present car keeps rolling. Test your car with this easy quiz. If you find any of these symptoms, bring your car in for a quick check-up. Lots of cars are lasting longer, and running better because our expert mechanics are trained to nip trouble before it takes hold!

WATCH OUT FOR HIDDEN TROUBLES! Some car troubles give no warning. Your battery—your electrical system—and your cooling system need a careful check-up at least once each year. The start of winter means a heavy rush for hard-to-get parts. Now is the time to let trained experts test your car.

P.S. Fenders, doors, running boards—in fact, all body parts are scarce. Don't let rust eat them away. Our protective treatment will add to your car's life, appearance and value.

Talk Started Over Miners' Wage Demands

Lewis Fails To Show Up But Sends His Assistant As Mines In West Va. Close

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—The government started talking over new wage demands today with representatives of the United Mine Workers. John L. Lewis did not appear, but he sent John O'Leary to represent him in a meeting with Federal Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collinson. O'Leary is vice president of the A. F. of L. Mine Workers' Union. At the conference opened by the private owners of the mines contended that any new concessions by the government to Lewis would be a public disgrace.

At Williamson, W. Va. 15 of the 42 coal mines in the Williamson field are said to have been closed in a walkout of miners which started at the same time wage negotiations got under way in Washington. Secretary J. J. Arlino of the Williamson Operators Association quoted the miners as saying: "No contract, no work." In Milwaukee, successful picketing was conducted at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, which has been struck-bound for 186 days. However, a spokesman for the Milwaukee county sheriff's office said it probably is the last before the storm.

The official referred to the similar pattern of the past several days when early shift workers gained entrance to the plant only to encounter violence when they left in mid-afternoon. Company officials said that about 1,750 workers passed through the picket line to enter the plant. And in the Philippines it was reported that the long drawn out Maritime strike on the West Coast of the United States is making things tough for Filipinos. They're beginning to feel a pinch of imported commodities. The Manila government already has taken over the distribution of flour and mill sugar. If the black market in the Philippines gets much blacker, the government will extend its seizure to other commodities now in warehouses. Even Filipino beer drinkers are feeling the effects of the American strike. A local malt has cut the island's only brewer down to 20 percent of its capacity and imported beer is selling for $8 a case. If the maritime strike continues to the first of the year, commercial cities in Manila say it will wipe out many a small importer.

Hurricane Reported In South Atlantic

MIAMI, Nov. 1. (AP)—A tropical disturbance was reported today in the Atlantic centered over Andros Island.

The Federal Storm Warning Service emphasizes the disturbance is still of a minor nature and no severe conditions have been noted yet. However, the weather man adds ominously, whenever the winds begin to revolve around a center, as in this case, there is a possibility that a storm is in the making. The Weather Bureau has ordered small craft warnings along the southeast Florida coast from Melbourne northward. The latest report says 30 to 40 mile an hour winds in squalls, accompanied by heavy tropical rains, are now indicated in the affected area. The center of the storm was located this morning 300 miles southeast of Miami, moving northwestward at about 15 miles an hour. The weather men advise Florida coastal residents to stand by for further bulletins during the afternoon.

King John Henry White reported that a Lion sponsored show of bands would be held Jan. 18 at the Lincoln High School Auditorium. Harry Wenter, club pianist, and Willard Connolly, Harold Spitzer, were named honorary Lion members in recognition of their services.

13 Are Injured In Bombay During Religious Riot

BOMBAY, Nov. 1. (AP)—Thirteen persons have been injured in a clash between Hindus and military forces seeking to curb further communal strife at Bombay. Police have released few details of the incident, but local sources say the police and troops fired nearly 115 rounds at the Hindus. Thirty were arrested. The battle results from a police attempt to prevent orthodox Hindus from interfering with religious rites of Moslems. The Moslem custom is to sacrifice animals during a feast on Nov. 5 in a ceremony which stems from the Bible and Koran stories of Abraham's offer of Isaac as a sacrifice, and his substitution of a sheep. The Hindus are opposed to killing any living thing, and they resent the Moslem custom. It was while the Hindus were trying to free cattle being brought into Bombay for the holiday ceremonies that the clash occurred. Two days ago, two men were killed by Hindus attempting to prevent the men from driving the cattle to a town near Bombay for the festival sacrifice.

Japan Prepared For War As Early As 1930

TOKYO, Nov. 1. (AP)—Affidavits introduced at the international war crimes trial yesterday said it was as far back as 1930 that Japan began fortifying the Marshall Islands, the Carolines, the Marianas and Palau. The prosecution introduced the documents. They were obtained from natives after the end of the war. The affidavits say the Japanese worked more and more feverishly through the 1930's on their defense. They built gun emplacements, stored ammunition, built airfields and dug trenches. The affidavits go on to say that in 1940 and 1941, Japanese troops began to pour into the islands. They were given instructions to agents. They were told to tell anyone trying to book passage to the Japanese mandated islands that all bookings were taken or that there were no accommodations on the ships or in the islands suitable for non-Japanese. An American intelligence report introduced over defense objections also stated that Emperor Hirohito knew in advance of the plan to attack Pearl Harbor. But the document went on to say it's certain that no Japanese officials in the United States knew. It specifically said that includes former Ambassador Nomura and Special Envoy Kurusu.

Corrigan States He May Not Be Elected

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1. (AP)—Douglas Corrigan confesses he may not be elected to the United States Senate next week, but he says he has had a lot of fun. The man who acquired the nickname of "Wrong-way" Corrigan by flying from New York to Ireland in 1928 is running on a prohibition platform. The candidate has been carrying on his campaign with handbills. Corrigan said: "I had 100,000 printed and I have handed out about 85,000."

Corrigan says he has had no help from the Prohibition Party. The 40-year old candidate's major opponents are Senator William Knowland, Republican and W. H. Rogers, Jr., Democrat.

Truman Keeps Mum On Train Home To Vote

A. P. Political Writer States G. O. P. Is Out To Break Up Demo Strongholds

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 1. (AP)—President Truman's special train left Jefferson City today at 1:40 P. M. Eastern Standard Time. The train made a 12-minute stop during which the President talked to Governor Phil Donnelly and other Missouri officials.

ABOARD PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S TRAIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—Plain Citizen Harry S. Truman is polling toward his home town of Independence, Mo., today, so he can vote in next Tuesday's election. But whether Harry S. Truman as President of the United States and chief of the Democratic party will have anything to say to the public about those elections is anybody's guess.

So far the political word has been mum as far as the Chief Executive concerned. And as far as his press secretary is concerned, it will continue to be mum. According to Charles Ross, the President might want to bystander when his train passes through St. Louis this morning and Sedalia, Mo. this afternoon. Both of the occasions offer Mr. Truman an opportunity for re-employment speeches on behalf of his party's candidates.

But Ross says the President won't take advantage of them; that he has no plans to make any nationwide appeal. The Democratic ticket, about the only thing definite the President has in mind between now and the time he arrives home is to shake hands with some state officials at Jefferson City, Missouri's capital. The Republican nominee, Rayburn of Texas, is slated to make a political speech tonight at a party rally in Independence. But the president won't be there. He'll be visiting his mother and sister at Grandview at the time.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Associated Press Political Writer Jack Bell returned today from a tour of key political states to examine pre-election trends. In a summary of the situation, he said he is linking an effort to win control of Congress with an all-out attempt to break democratic big city strongholds. That would pay off in the presidential elections in 1948.

But Bell also found the Democrats working desperately to try on their defenses in such big cities as Chicago, New York, Boston, Jersey City, Pittsburgh, Kansas City and Los Angeles. In New York, like in Chicago, found Republicans working harder than ever to crack open Democratic Mayor Edward Kelly's city and county machine. But the Mayor is confident of at least a 200,000 vote majority for the Democrats in New York City.

In New York, the political leaders are trying to puzzle out the meaning of unusually large registration. The Democrats' 2,600,000 registered voters in New York City would mean they were up to the majority in the United States. New York City registration figures this year are 2,700,000.

District Of Columbia To Vote On Whether It Wants Right To Vote

By Associated Press
There is one vote scheduled to take place next Tuesday that will be quite different from the voting in the rest of the country. The people of the District of Columbia are going to the polls. And the issue is whether they would like to be allowed to vote. They are voters now. The way things stand now the federal government appoints the city officials for Washington, D. C. For under the United States Constitution, Congress is the boss and runs the show. A great many Washingtonians would like to vote for their own city officials. If enough are in agreement on this point at the polls next Tuesday, they will get their chance to do so.

However, voting for their city officials isn't the only issue. There is nothing in the Constitution which gives residents of the District of Columbia the right to vote for President, Vice President or to be represented in Congress. Only those who come from states permitting an absentee ballot can vote for federal officials. Yet the District's 200,000 population is larger than the population of 11 states where the people have full voting rights. Those states are Arizona, Delaware, Idaho, Maine, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico and North and South Dakota and Rhode Island.

Washington officials expect anywhere from 100,000 to 400,000 people to turn out for the vote Tuesday. Although voting will be by no means decisive the matter. For even if a majority say "yes" to both questions—voting in city and federal elections—nothing will happen until Congress gives them the right to vote like people in the states. For instance, in 1938 the people of Washington voted on the same two issues and a majority said "yes". But Congress did nothing. So next Tuesday will be a test.
