

HUGE REDUCTION IN CORN ACREAGE URGED AS NEED

Wallace Warns Farmers That Overproduction Is In Sight

KANSAS CITY, June 29.—(AP)—A 20-million-acre reduction of the nation's corn land, through a processing tax on livestock, was suggested to the Midwest yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, as a means of averting over-production in beef cattle and hogs, which he described as imminent.

"I'm telling you," the secretary asserted, "there'll be a definite oversupply of fat cattle in several years, and a tariff won't help you. If we have two normal corn crops, we'll have an over-supply of hogs, too. The foreign market has been lost. We are dependent on domestic consumption."

Secretary Wallace, describing himself as a "corn and hog man" from Iowa, addressed a meeting of agriculturists and business men here, conferred with Prof. M. L. Wilson, Federal wheat administrator, and took a picnic for Salina, Kas., to speak before a large farm gathering.

"If 20 million acres of corn were taken out of production," he said, "it would mean corn prices would rise, and the average feeder makes more money when the price of corn is high than when it is down. High prices would not bring in the inexperienced feeder."

"I think you will conclude that if 20 million acres of the 100 million now in production were taken out, it would be definitely favorable for the livestock man."

The rub, he said, was in the method of taking the corn land out of use. He suggested the most practical method a processing tax on livestock to be paid as a bonus to farmers abandoning acres, which he suggested should be seeded in blue grass.

"We can put a compensating tax on beef, poultry, fish or any such products to take care of the quantity of livestock. I suggest that the livestock men should think about this."

Despite the urgency of wheat and cotton adjustments, said Secretary Wallace, "being a corn-hog man myself, I'm convinced the corn and hog problem is the most serious and more important than any other."

Asked about the skyrocketing prices of wheat, Secretary Wallace expressed the opinion that "the speculators have gone wild."

ARMS PARLEY ADJOURNS TILL NEXT OCTOBER

(Continued From Page One) bary, "that it is to be either peace or chaos. This is the greatest progress. Public opinion is developing for disarmament. The people are still a little nervous and we must have a little time to settle some of the political problems."

The President instructed Davis to return within a week or 10 days and renew the efforts for world peace and disarmament which he believes now to be in prospect.

Davis said the future depends in great measure on stabilization of the German government.

He said Roosevelt's appeal for peace and his offer for a pact of non-aggression had had a "tremendous effect over there." The President made it quite plain to consult when peace is threatened based entirely on a disarmed world. In other words, any consultative pact must carry with it a disarmament Europe.

In this connection, Davis said the French had reached the understanding that neither the United States nor Great Britain could enter into any guaranty of security for the continent and that she was now proceeding on the formulation of a number of treaties among the European nations for mutual assistance to continental European countries alone.

While looking to the continental European treaties of mutual assistance as the basis of accord, Mr. Davis was also hopeful of a general agreement at the long drawn-out Geneva conference.

Scientists Taught Crime Intricacies Auto Races Will Be Staged Sunday At Daytona Beach

CHICAGO, June 29.—(AP)—Scientists who study crime and its causes went to school with a criminal yesterday and learned how the other half lives.

Their teacher was Frank Smith, ex-pickpocket, and among other things he told them in effect there was "honor among thieves."

Before another section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, plans for a new attack on the secret of how atoms were put together, were put off indefinitely greater than had heretofore been available, were outlined by Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Frank Smith, whose real name is something else, is a professional pickpocket on parole. He spoke on "social relationships of the professional thief" before a symposium on crime sponsored by the association's section on sociology.

He said confidence men and pickpockets had a higher code of ethics among themselves than young hoodlums who might hold up a delicatessen store or commit some similar crime.

The "professionals," as he called them, usually worked in "mobs" of three or four, one doing the stealing and the others acting as helpers, but all share alike in the proceeds. There is no "big shot" who gets more than the others. Even when a single member of the "mob" steals something on his own he still must share with them.

"Professional thieves" seldom have to "squinawk" on each other in court, Smith said, because when they are caught they usually can silence the victim by returning the money through a dishonest policeman or in some other way, and avoid being brought to trial.

There are codes of ethics between "mobs" of thieves as well as between thieves in a "mob," Smith went on. There is no "cut-throat competition," he said.

Other points about "professional thieves":

It is a thief all non-thieves are "suckers."

On railroad trains thieves always ride in drawing rooms for protection and privacy.

Thieves never talk in their own slang or vernacular except among themselves. In the presence of others it's a "dead giveaway."

Thieves often have honest friends who have no connection with their profession.

Davis reached the vespertine President by a hazardous ride through seven miles of rocky shore line through the fog yesterday from the destroyer 'Borndou which picked him up at Boston. He remained on the Amberjack for lunch and dinner.

DAYTONA BEACH, June 29.—Auto races on the beach, home of the world's land speed record, with a field of the fastest dirt track and speedway stars of the South battling for handsome cash prizes, will feature the opening here Sunday morning, July 2nd, of the annual Volusia Summer Frolies Fourth of July celebration.

An attempt by all drivers to establish a new world's record for a two mile circular course, for which an added prize is at stake, and a 50 mile, open competition for the fastest race are scheduled. On account of tidal conditions on the world's famous speedway beach, the first race will begin promptly at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

End Of Five-Cent Cigar Is Seen In "Processing" Tax

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—(AP)—Many manufacturers fear the doom of the five-cent cigar is sealed by the impending federal "processing" tax.

Announcements from Washington indicate the government proposes to levy the tax on leaf tobacco to finance a suggested 50 percent reduction in the country's tobacco average. Planters would receive a minimum of $38.40 per acre to each farmer who cuts his tobacco acreage in half.

"I suppose the tax would amount to about $1 a thousand cigars," said one manufacturer who declined to be quoted.

Under auspices of the police benefit association and Junior Chamber of Commerce, expects from 15 to 20 of the most daring speed demons of the southeast here for the affair.

of profit. Where then, goes the nickel cigar?

"It must be remembered, too, that this is being done to aid the farmer get him better prices for his crop. All right then—the higher prices for the leaf must be paid by the manufacturers. Add that to the tax and where are you?"

Army Asks Large Expenditure For Flood Control

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP)—A $387,000,000 flood-control and river and harbor program was asked for by the public works administration yesterday by the army, while the cabinet board in charge of the $3,000,000,000 public construction fund pondered the possibility of taking half its workers from existing relief rolls.

In sending its program to the public works board, the war department brought its requested share in the construction fund to $562,000,000, or approximately one-sixth of the total. Previously the war department had asked $225,000,000 for housing.

Details of the war department request, now in the hands of Donald H. Sawyer, public works administrator, were withheld. Although both army and public works officials declined to comment it was understood $217,000,000 was asked for rivers and harbors and $150,000,000 for flood-control.

GAME WARDEN OF STATE RETIRING AFTER 4 1/2 YEARS

C.C. Woodward Says He Hopes Florida Will Conserve Wild Life

TALLAHASSEE, June 30.—(AP)—Retiring as state game and fresh water fish commissioner after four and a half years service, C. C. Woodward recently said he hopes all Florida would continue to conserve its wild life.

On July 1 the game and fresh water fish department, the shell fish department and the geological department will become one consolidated conservation commission. George W. Davis, shell fish commissioner will be in charge. State Senator A. O. Harrison, of Palmetto, will be his assistant.

Woodward issued the following statement:

"A chapter in conservation work of Florida ends and another chapter begins. I am gratified that in retiring significant fact that I have served as game commissioner of this state almost five and a half months after the expiration of my commission, given me by former Governor Doyle E. Carlton, and through the recent session of the legislature and as long as the department of game and fresh water fish existed.

"I am gratified that in retiring as head of the game department

I am leaving the finances of the department in excellent shape.

"I am desirous of expressing my sincere appreciation of the loyal support and co-operation of the sportsmen of the state. Also I wish to express my full appreciation of the wonderful co-operation and help that has been given on the department and me personally as game commissioner by the press of the state.

"They have been most generous with their space and liberal with their time and ability. They have been, as in all such matters, most unselfish and generous and I am sure that both of the above agencies are going to continue their full support and co-operation to conservation.

"I am retiring from this post without personal regret. I am, however, still intensely interested in the wild life and fish of this state and sincerely hope there will be an efficient organization perfected that will continue the work of protecting, propagating and increasing the wild life of Florida, which I consider one of, if not the most, valuable of Florida's natural resources.

"After the first of the month I shall take a vacation at my summer camp in Clayton, Ga., with my family, and will return to my home in Tampa where I will very probably re-enter the newspaper work in this state."

Woodward said more than 3,000,000 fingerling fish were placed in Florida lakes and streams during the term of his administration as game and fish commissioner.

Truck Drivers Asked Not To Hog Highway

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 30.—(AP)—Asher Frank, secretary to the Florida Research Motor Association, an organization devoted to the interests of the private truck owners, has called upon members of the organization to see that their drivers "stay on the right side of the road and give the automobile driver first consideration."

In a letter to members, he said the recent Legislature "gave us a good motor vehicle law, both in weight and rates" and asked them to "back our Legislature" by observing the provisions of the law. He said much of the opposition to trucks came from carelessness on the part of truck drivers.

The second was the community garden to supply food for the needy and work for the unemployed. The third was the garden grown by an individual who worked for the community, receiving pay for his labor and the community distributing the garden stuff among the destitute.

Relief Gardens Have Aided Many Destitute

GAINESVILLE, Fla., June 30.—(AP)—Relief Gardens have been life-savers for many destitute families in Florida during the past six months, A. P. Spencer, vice-director of the state agricultural extension service, said here.

There were three types of these gardens, he explained. The first was the one grown by the individual for family use. The second was the community garden to supply food for the needy and work for the unemployed. The third was the garden grown by an individual who worked for the community, receiving pay for his labor and the community distributing the garden stuff among the destitute.

WINNERS DIAMOND BALL WITH YOUTH

Feat DeMolay Outfit On Lake Front Lot By 19-18 Score

By E. H. CULLUM
The Dads diamond ball team administered a severe rebuke to their proteges, the DeMolays, in Thursday night's game, the actual score being Dads 19 DeMolays 18. Adding the ten runs allowed by the DeMolays, the total of the Dads team was brought to 29, which should win most any old game.

Paul Stine was in the box for the Dads, and his demonstration last night showed very clearly that he could still pitch a mighty good game. In fact outside of M. Smith, who got two singles, a double and two home runs out of five times up, none of the other DeMolay boys could get more than one or two hits off him, and had to be content with a few singles.

Bill Stemper hurled for the DeMolays and held the Dads to no hits and one run for the first two innings. However, in the third and fourth innings the Dads romped on him to a fare-you-well, putting over five runs in the third inning and seven in the fourth. Arthur Johnson went into the box in the fifth, but there seemed to be no stopping the Dads, they securing four runs in the fifth and two in the sixth, to bring their total of actual runs up to 19. However, it must be said that the pitching was not the cause of the loss of the game, as the Dads secured only 7 hits. Jimmie Wright, for the Dads secured two of them, a home run and a triple.

Coach Melucas, playing right short for the Dads, outside of getting three times, getting a single into short center, drawing a base on balls and letting seven out of 11 chances get away from him, played a jam up game. Leonard says that he doesn't believe there is an inch on his body from his head to his knees that

D. D. Welborn Will Supervise Diamond Ball For 2 Weeks

By E. H. CULLUM
For the next two weeks diamond ball activities will be under the supervision of D. D. Welborn.

Games scheduled for the two weeks are as follows: Monday night, July 2, Firestone vs Edgewood; Thursday night, July 6th, Osceola will send a team over to play a picked team. Friday, July 7, Edgewood vs DeMolays; Monday night, July 10, Firestone vs Edgewood; and Friday night, July 14, Firestone vs DeMolays.

The picked team for next Thursday night's game will be under the management of Bill Ravenel, the team being composed of the following players: Evans, Driggers, Herndon, Cecil Rines, Britt, Pierce, Corbell, William Smith, Homer Tillis, Claude Kelly, Bill Ravenel, Earl Dossey and McLelland.

Negroes Planning Big Celebration On 4th

Hundreds of negro residents of the North and Central portions of this state are expected to be in Sanford on July 4 attending an all-day celebration which includes a baseball game, swimming, and dancing.

Special trains will leave Jacksonville at 9:00 o'clock Fourth of July morning, and will stop at several points along the way to bring persons to Sanford. The trains will arrive here at 12:30 o'clock and will leave at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The baseball game, to be played at Municipal Park, will be between Sanford and Sarasota. The local was not hit by a batted ball. A better crowd than was anticipated, due to the inclemency of the weather, was present and thoroughly enjoyed the game from start to finish.

Taking into consideration that many of the players on both teams had never had a game of diamond ball before, and certainly not under lights, the game was a much better one than was expected.

The DeMolays are now after another game with the Dads in the near future, but state that the Dads should not spot them 10 runs in order to make it more even.

NEW, RUGGED NAVY POLICY ENUNCIATED

Naragansett Bay regions. The statement asserted that the fundamental policy is: "To maintain the Navy in sufficient strength to support the national policies and commerce, and to guard the continental and overseas possessions of the United States."

The statement also said that the Navy should be maintained in sufficient strength to support the national policies and commerce. Naval observers looked upon the new policy as reflecting the desire of President Roosevelt for a stronger Navy.

Among the new principles as compared with those in the present policy was one "to protect American lives and property." While this has been a policy of the Navy traditionally, this is the first time in the history of this country it has been so stated.

After reiterating an old policy of maintaining a Navy second to none and in conformity with treaty provisions, the document emphasized maximum war efficiency of the fleet and the development of the Navy "to a maximum in battle strength and ability to control the sea in defense of the nation and its interests."

The new policy stressed the maintenance of the Marine Corps in sufficient strength to furnish detachments to vessels, guard foreign stations and outlying possessions and "to provide expeditionary forces in immediate readiness."

Conference Is Waiting Tensely For Confirmation Which Will Save London Parley

yesterday at the end of a strenuous day in which countries forming the European gold bloc fought tirelessly behind the scenes for protection of their currencies, threatening to quit the conference if Great Britain and the United States refuse to cooperate.

The climax came in a meeting of Prime Minister MacDonald, chairman of the assembly, with Raymond Moley, President Roosevelt's special envoy, in which MacDonald, holding an ultimatum from the gold bloc was understood to have ascertained that further progress was impossible as long as abnormal dollar movements threatened the gold currencies.

Just what took place at this juncture of the British premier and President Roosevelt's adviser remained secret but well informed

Legality Of Tax Bill Facing Test By Bondholders

time the largest single item of operating expense lies in the monthly electric light and power bill.

When Commissioner W. A. Lefler asked Mayor Speer if any reference was made to the amount of bonds now held by the Committee he stated that one of the attorneys announced that there are about $300,000 worth of bonds outstanding. Of this amount the committee has located about $300,000, leaving about $600,000 in the hands of persons unknown. In other words, Mayor Speer said, it was indicated that the Committee holds about 85 percent of the outstanding bonds.

Mayor Speer seemed interested to learn that the Committee "is keeping close tabs on us for during the meeting we saw a large scrap book filled with clippings from The Sanford Herald."

The Commissioners learned that the bond attorneys late this afternoon would make a formal request to City Clerk F. S. Lamson stating that they wish to purchase a tax certificate on a certain piece of property here.

Clerk Lamson acting under provisions of the Entangling Bill, was expected to deny them the right to purchase the certificate, and the inference is that the Committee will at once bring suit demanding that the City show cause why it cannot purchase the certificate.

City Attorney F. R. Wilson stated that the next step would be for the City to file a bill indicating why the request was denied. He was authorized to prepare a bill just as soon as it is necessary. Just before adjournment, Clerk Lamson announced that the Treasury now contains enough money to take care of payrolls for next week, and the Commissioners ordered that effective tonight, a $10 weekly appropriation for the gold coins is to be discontinued.

The meeting adjourned on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock when the Commissioners are scheduled to sit as a tax equalizing board.

FOUR PROBLEMS DEVOLVE FROM MORGAN PROBE

Changing Of Capital Gain, Loss Provision Is Among Them

By H. B. ELLISTON
BOSTON—Four problems have been defined by the Morgan testimony out of a welter of revelations which have had a world-wide audience. They are:

1. Reform of the income tax law.
2. Necessity for the end of a system whereby stock is sold to favored clients at less than the public price.
3. Need for keeping private and commercial banks distinct and apart.
4. Advisability of curbing banking power in industry.

Neither Mr. Morgan nor his partners paid any income tax in 1931 and 1932, according to testimony heard by the Senate investigating committee, which adjourned its hearings recently until Fall. They paid very little in 1930. Those were the years during which increased tax burdens weighed heavily on the American people. According to the last returns, 75 percent of the income tax payments came from individuals with incomes under $5000. Disclosures that such rich men as Mr. Morgan and his partners made no contribution at all put the entire personal levy tax in a ridiculous light.

Morgan & Co. avoided payment of taxes because losses of capital can be offset against income. This is a unique feature of American taxation. It is called the capital gains and losses tax. In the event that during the taxable year the taxpayer has reaped capital gains, he is liable for taxation, provided that he realizes those gains in cash by selling his capital holdings. Losses must also be similarly established in order that they can be used as an offset against income.

The levy on the entire income less the steadiness of yield which is one of the tests of a good tax. In boom times the Treasury is likely to collect windfalls over and above its budgeted revenues. During slumps, however, the falling off is proportionately more severe. A stock market operator, for instance, will think twice before selling his holdings and sharing them with the tax collector, whereas, as was shown by the Morgan evidence, he does not hesitate to take his losses in order to unload some of them on the Treasury.

The peculiar feature about the Morgan tax evidence was that by process of revealing holdings on the admittance of a new partner, a partnership concern can benefit from the same capital loss offsets just as if it actually sold its holdings.

The disadvantages of the capital gains and losses tax have often been explained. But it required a disclosure of the Morgan variety to produce an anti-tax outcry. The hearing on the subject passed through the House Ways and Means Committee of new taxes which would have
