

Rogers Begins Work Of Reinforcing Lookout Ball Club

New Chief Signs 'Raw Meat' Comes Pair Of Hurlers; From Retirement Others To Arrive To Manage Team

Tores, Kirby Bolster Staff Of Pitchers; Engle's Friendship Is Factor In Manager's Sanford Assignment

Bill ("Raw Meat") Rogers, new Lookout manager today went about reinforcing the ranks of Sanford's ball club by importing a couple of pitchers and some performers for other positions.

In the crop of hurlers there are right handers and left handers. The new outfield patrolmen are said to boast that trait, peculiar to some ball players, of being able to get base hits.

The recent acquisitions, too, will include a replacement for Stuffy McCrone, ex-Lookout manager who performed creditably around first base but who got his unconditional release yesterday.

Meet the new boss, Bill "Raw Meat" Rogers, in whom is vested the high command of Sanford's Lookouts.

Bill was drifting around town yesterday afternoon and this morning getting acquainted with the folks for whom he hopes to produce a winning ball club.

Mild of manner and soft of speech, Rogers has the reputation of doing through persuasion what many men cannot do through force. To put it simply, a player will work for Bill because he is a likable fellow.

Behind the bespectacled and chubby fact of Rogers lies a brain wherein is stored the experience gained through 27 years of professional baseball.

Bill had retired from the game at the close of the 1935 season, but because of his close friendship with Joe Engle, the Chattanooga mogul, he returned to diamond wars and will devote his entire efforts to Sanford.

The new manager is a former big leaguer, having cavorted on the infield for Cleveland and Boston in the American League, and for Cincinnati in the older major circuit. That was back in 1915 and 1916 before rumblings of European guns, and the sport of Europe, temporarily interrupted the sport of America.

Between 1918 and 1921, Rogers was with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League. His hat rack and dining table was in Denver, Col., through 1922. In 1923 and 1924 he continued the eastward jaunt and stopped at Albany, N. Y., Peoria, Ill., gave him the call in 1925-26-27.

The lure of the Pacific Ocean caused Rogers to succumb to another trip to the coast in 1928 and 1929, and he camped at Port and Chattanooga, claimed him in 1930, and Des Moines, Iowa, utilized his services for the following two years.

Bill dug down in his jeans in 1933 and 1934 to buy a slice of the Kansas City nine. Last year he helped Joe Engle with the club at Panama City when retreated to his Texas ranch where he raises cross-bred, white-faced cattle.

Rogers yesterday expressed his satisfaction with the layout here. He is impressed with the team and believes he can whip it into shape within ten days or two weeks.

He promises that win, lose or draw, anybody who pushes his fan under the tills will get full returns in action.

So here's to you, Bill. The town's behind you. That's sure.

There's Gilberto Tores, who crossed the Florida Straits in coming here from Cuba, to offer "cogonilla" and "cogonilla" balls and fast ones. Gilberto, they say, gets into hot water when he's trying to talk English but knows what he's doing when standing on a pitcher's slab. He is right handed, over six feet tall, scales 155 pounds and saw light for the first time 21 years ago.

Another lad who should occupy the ant hill with considerable frequency is Kirby Hayes hailing from Ft. Pierce. He is 18 years old, leaves from the port side, stands five feet, 11 inches, and reads 185 after dropping a penny in the slot.

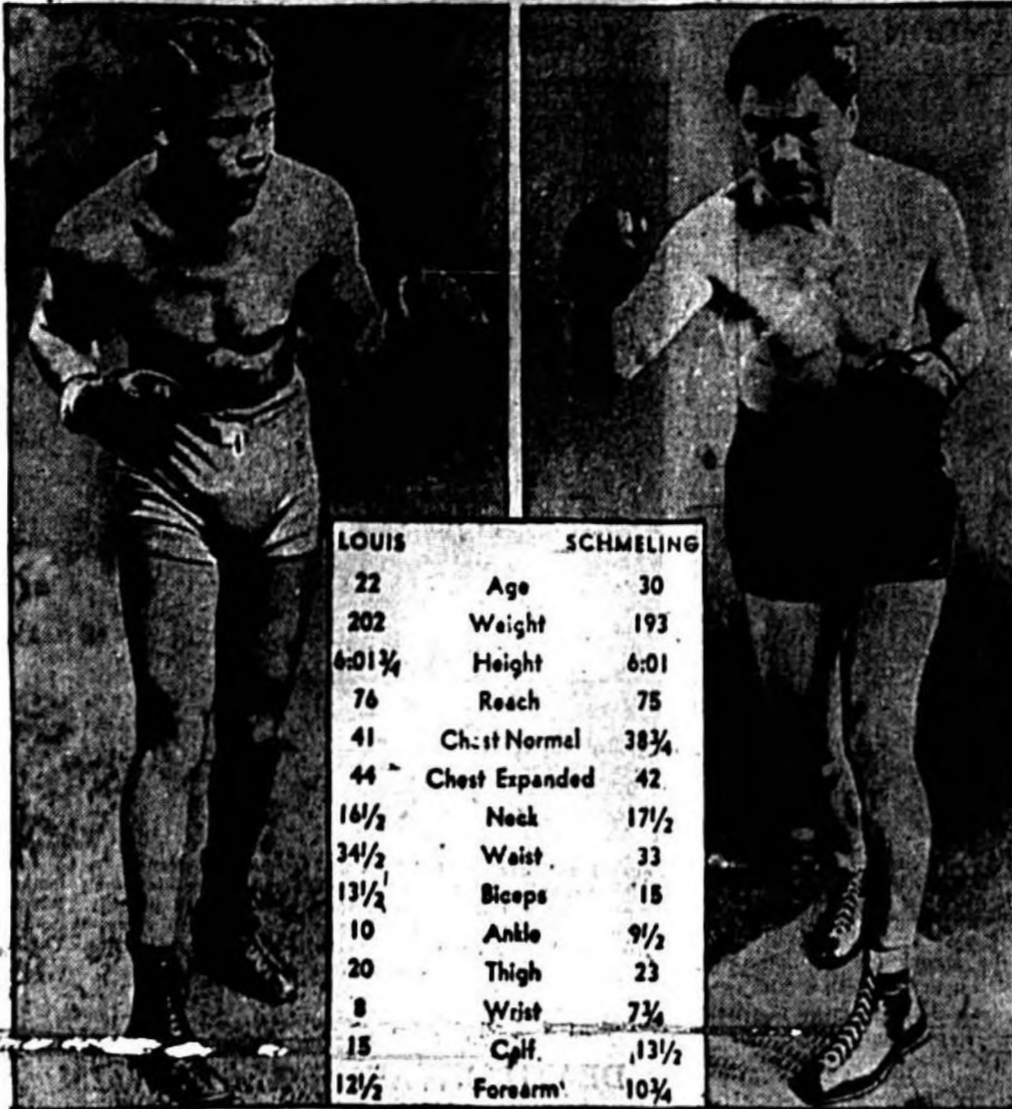

One of the willow-wielders and pasture pounders is Jimmy Powell who has seen 22 summers roll by. He hits and throws right-handed and learned his baseball in Selma, Ala., where he grew exactly as tall as the six-foot, two-inch sugar cane stalks and would balance a 179-pound bale of cotton.

There are others, too, who probably will be added very shortly to the outfit, although Rogers wants to look 'em over before moistening the pen with ink and obtaining the X mark.

Released along with McCrone yesterday was Gardner Barnes whose arm troubles made it necessary for him to retire to Chattanooga where the physician of the senior Lookouts will treat the ailing wing.

Bill Rogers and his Lookouts will take the road tomorrow to meet St. Augustine there. It is the first road trip of the club under its new manager. Today the locals are playing Daytona Beach here.

New York Feels Fight Fever As Thursday Nears

Schmeling And Louis Finish Training; Big Gate Assured

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Fight fever gripped the big town today as the advance guard of an anticipated 75,000 fans rolled in for the Max Schmeling-Joe Louis heavyweight show Thursday night.

Mike Jacobs, head of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club which is staging the outdoor extravaganza in the Yankee Stadium, said the weather man stands in the way of another certain million dollar gate.

Showers yesterday followed two days of almost continuous rain, but Weather Bureau officials assured the anxious Jacobs the outlook for the last half of the week is for fair and warmer weather.

Meanwhile, all was hustle and bustle at the stadium. Four hundred men, working around the clock in eight hour shifts, last night tackled the big job of erecting the ring, placing seats, numbering sections and otherwise whipping the Yankee hall park in shape for the big fight.

There was the usual belated scramble for tickets when they finally called it a day. The advance sale passed $500,000.

"It can't miss doing a million, inclusive of the picture and radio rights, if we get a break from the weather," said Jacobs. "I've never had such a big advance sale this far ahead of a fight."

Twentieth Century officials estimate the crowd will reach between 75,000 and 80,000.

There is surprisingly little betting. Louis is a 2 to 1 favorite around the Broadway spots with indications that the odds will jump to 4 to 1 unless there is a sudden influx of Schmeling money.

The weighing in ceremonies will be held at night Thursday at the Twentieth Century Club.

All was quiet on the fronts at Lakewood and Napanoch. Their hard work over, Louis and Schmeling loafed about their camps, Louis as bored as ever with the world in general, but Schmeling was a bit irritable for the first time since pitching camp.

"This was entirely all right with his handlers. It shows he wants to get in there," said Trainer Max Meehan.

Each boxer is scheduled to take his last workout today. Schmeling will break camp Wednesday and come to New York that night. Louis will motor in from Lakewood Thursday morning.

Ohio State's great negro star, Jesse Owens, whose place on the Olympic team is regarded as certain, equalled the world record of 24 seconds for the 100-yard dash in addition to winning his usual victories in the 220 dash, the 220-yard low hurdles and the broad jump. Roy Stanley, the Trojan three-topper, equalled the world record of 14.3 seconds for the regular 120-yard high hurdles race then clipped one-eighth of a second off that mark in an exhibition race against Dan Chalmeyer, Phil Cope and Jack Keller.

Dixie Golf Stars Throng Memphis For Links Matches

Half Dozen Conceded Chance To Capture South's Big Title

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 16.—(AP)—An all-star cast of golfers from Virginia to Texas tested the Memphis Country Club course yesterday in final tune-ups for the thirty-fourth renewal of the Southern amateur championship.

On the eve of the tournament, no less than a half dozen club wielders were conceded excellent chances of lifting the crown from youthful Bobby Riegel of Richmond in what stacked up as a "wide open" battle for the 1936 crown.

In addition to Defending Champion Riegel, the field included five former titleholders and a scattering of state and section winners.

The veteran Sam Perry of Birmingham, Ala., twice triumphant in the Southern and only two-time victor participating, was establishing a favorite over the field. Wagering found him quoted at 5 to 1.

Respected Jack Munger of Dallas, Texas, found favor in advance speculation at odds of 8 to 1. From the remainder of the field of approximately 160 entries, you can bet on a close race.

Aside from Perry, former champions entered are Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, the Southern intercollegiate titleholder who won the Southern two years ago; Glenn Crisman of Houston, the 1925 winner; Chaspen Harris of Memphis, victor in 1931, and R. G. Bush of New Orleans, who triumphed at Dallas back in 1916.

The third seeded Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., eliminated Eugene Gackl, Chicago, 6-0, 6-1.

In a first round match, Burts Boulware, Jacksonville, Fla., defeated Arthur Chensavie, Chicago, 6-3, 6-3; Vernon Marcum, Lakeland, Fla., won from Marvin Wackman, Evanston, in the second round, 2-6, 2-6, 6-3.

SPORT SLANTS

Training camp stories that emanated from Bradenton, where the St. Louis Cardinals are getting into shape for the current season, did not mention the presence in camp of one Stuart Martin. Much less did they sing the praises of the rookie infielder. He was completely overlooked. Yet today he has "arrived" as the Cards' regular second-baseman and has kept the veteran Frankie Frisch in the dugout. At last the baseball observers have noticed him.

"That's all right with me," drawls the slender youth from North Carolina. "I'd rather have them saying nice things about me now in the regular playing season than when I was at camp."

Probably that was the longest speech Stuart ever made. He is as close-mouthed as his teammate Dixie Dean is talkative.

At camp, Branch Rickey was singing Martin's praises but it all fell on unappreciative ears. Martin had come up from Asheville of the Piedmont league, but what of it, Rickey argued—the lad was good enough to play ball on any club in any league. What's more, he added that Stuart would prove it before the season had run its course.

It took some stretch of imagination to visualize the 165-pound, quiet youngster taking Frankie Frisch's place at second. Rickey could see it, but he was pretty much alone in the respect. Yet that is exactly what has happened and, unless all signs are wrong, Stuart Martin is destined to become one of the outstanding infielders in the game.

He is far from a finished product—after all, Martin has had only a few weeks of contact with the game in the major leagues. He has

U. S. Is Assured Of Fine Olympic Outfit For 1936

Lash Shatters Record For Mile Formerly Held By Flying Finn

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—The dazzling and totally unexpected feat of Don Lash in shattering the great Paavo Nurmi's record for two miles in the Princeton invitation meet over the weekend just about assures Uncle Sam of his best-balanced Olympic team in a good many years.—If everybody retains his form until August.

Running over a rain-soaked track and practically without competition after the first few laps, Lash dashed the crowd of 30,000 which braved a stormy weather to witness the first no-admission "big time" meet by finishing the two miles in 8:53.3. That was more than a second faster than Nurmi's world record of 8:59.6 and has been surpassed only by the Phantom Finn's indoor mark of 8:58.2 made in 1925.

In leaving Norman Bright considered the best of America's 6000 meter Olympic prospects, fully 15 yards to the rear, Lash completely befuddled the critics who had been going on the premise that there were no American distance runners who could give Europe's best a run for their money. The Indiana star's best previous time this year was 9:10.6, considerably faster than the accepted American outdoor mark of 9:12.5, held by Bright.

While Lash's feat was by far the best of the day and probably of the whole spring season, which progresses this week to the stage of semi-final Olympic tryouts, it was by no means the only one which promised good things for the Olympics.

Police Chief Foils Break Of 2 Negroes

Local Officers Kept Busy As Offenders And Investigations Pour Across Docket

Two negro convicts of the city were back in stripes today after Police Chief Roy G. Williams yesterday foiled their attempted escape. They are Mike Husten and Thomas Williams.

The convicts were working on Union Avenue near the Christian Science Church when police headquarters received the alarm that the pair was discarding their stripes.

Chief Williams started an immediate pursuit by automobile, chasing one of the fleeing negroes until the convict fell through sheer exhaustion.

The pair had split and made pursuit more difficult.

However, the negro who fell almost helpless to the ground aroused himself, returned to the underbrush where he had hidden his clothing and donned his prison garb again. His escape was followed by the second negro.

Because the men returned to work, Chief Williams said he believed the escape attempt was a hoax.

Both men "served" short sentences for minor law infractions. Police activities, heavy during Tuesday, continued to flow in an uninterrupted volume early today when Mattie Jenkins, negro, reported that another negro, Ben Davis, broke and entered her home, striking her over the head with a heavy object, stealing her clothes and clothing.

Simultaneously came the report from Jerry Robinson, also colored, that Beatrice Thomas, negro, attempted assault with a knife.

An unidentified drunk man lying at Fourth Street and Elm Avenue last night was under police surveillance but was unpoliced when he later drove, apparently in a sober condition.

Two young negroes, Joe Davis and Frank King, were arrested by city officials and charged on charges of prowling around a house. A. G. E. Staffer and Dick McLaughlin made the arrests. Michael Yarns, negro, was booked on a charge of driving.

Police reported that an auto public garage at George Avenue and 10th Street had stolen in Davison Street last night but was recovered.

Walter Smith and Carl Jones, both white, were booked on charges of intoxication.

Dawson Advises Quick Action In Farming Program

Asks Growers To Give Immediate Thought To Filing Of Sheets

Farmers who wish to participate in the soil conservation program under the domestic allotment act should file work sheets immediately, according to C. R. Dawson, Seminole County farm agent.

He urged that the sheets be entered at his office regardless of whether the grower now plans to share in the program.

"Without the work sheet on file," Mr. Dawson said, "an application for payments should be made to ask for funds—cannot be considered."

The expansion and modification of the program depends somewhat on the growers' response. If only a few of us would file work sheets there will be only a small amount of money for payments awarded for Seminole County.

"Money which we could possibly get would be prorated to other counties and the same is true in the case of states. Money not budgeted for Florida will be prorated to other states."

The agent said a final deadline for filing the work sheets will be established in the near future. He urged a possible last-minute rush by attending to the matter immediately.

"As my rule," Mr. Dawson concluded, "my advice is to file your sheet. It costs nothing and does not obligate anyone in any way."

Florida Law Prescribes $5,000 Anti-Lottery Fine

Carraway Quotes From State Statutes In Fight On Drawings

Andrew Carraway, president of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce, today called attention to state laws authorizing a maximum $5,000 fine or a 10-year prison sentence for violation of Florida lottery laws.

His statement followed a Tuesday JayCees meeting where plans were discussed to continue the organization's previously inaugurated fight against illegal drawings.

The president quoted the constitution to show that lotteries for any purpose are unlawful, and in conflict with the fundamental law of the state. Further, he said, other statutes provide against advertising of such gambling.

Mr. Carraway placed emphasis on the phrase in the law which reads:

"Whoever advertises or causes to be advertised any lottery or other game of chance, or any drawing of prizes, or any sale of tickets, or any other thing, for the purpose of raising money for any purpose, shall be guilty of a felony and shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both, at the discretion of the court."

Only those seeking county offices will be heard at any of the meetings, according to the committee's plans. State and federal candidates will continue to use loud speaking equipment on the streets.

The second rally in the committee's series is scheduled for Thursday night in Oviedo. Another will be held Friday night at the Lyman school, and the final gathering is slated for Monday night at the Court House.

Greatest interest in the local races probably will be exhibited between C. M. Hand and J. F. McClendon, candidates for the office of sheriff. They were separated by less than 100 votes in the first primary.

Ernest F. Housholder and W. Herbert Messer are on the ballot for prosecuting attorney. G. W. Spencer and E. W. Ware are rivals for the county judge's position.

County commission races is as follows:

District 1—Charles Dunn vs. D. L. Thrasher, district 2—F. A. Dymon vs. Otto Schmidt, district 3—W. B. Ballard vs. C. E. Seary, district 4—W. G. Kilham vs. S. F. Long.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Duncan Upshaw Fletcher was born at Americus, Ga., Jan. 6, 1859, the son of Thomas Jefferson and Rebecca Ellen McCowan Fletcher. His father served four years in the Confederate army in the rank of captain. At the close of the war he was promoted to the rank of colonel.

Duncan Fletcher worked on his father's farm and received his earliest education in the public schools of Monroe county, Ga. He later attended Gordon Institute at Romeville, Ga., and before completing his preparatory course he entered Vanderbilt University.

Brilliant attainments attended young Fletcher's college career. He was graduated with a degree of bachelor of science in 1880. During his collegiate days he was elected by the literary society to compete for both the Founder's and the Young medals. He delivered the class address at graduation and the following year was elected by the alumni association as alumni orator.

He performed the unusual scholastic feat of passing the two-year law course in one year and was admitted to the Tennessee State Bar.

Immediately after receiving his license, he came to Duval county to visit friends in Jacksonville. He pleased with the surroundings that he decided to remain. As one of the city's prominent figures, he watched it grow to its present size.

In July, 1881, he opened his law office in partnership with J. M. Barr, his roommate at Vanderbilt. The firm continued for a year and then dissolved. Then Fletcher became associated with John Wurts, with whom he remained for 10 years. Wurts then became professor of law at Yale University. So, until 1908, Fletcher practiced alone before the state, federal and supreme courts.

Within three years after he came to Jacksonville, Fletcher was elected to the city council, serving several years. In 1892 he was elected to the Florida Legislature and served through the session of 1895, during which he was instrumental in the passage of a bill authorizing the issue of several millions of dollars in bonds for public improvement in Jacksonville.

Before his term expired, he was elected to the Florida Senate in 1900.

In 1892 he was elected to the Florida Legislature and served through the session of 1895, during which he was instrumental in the passage of a bill authorizing the issue of several millions of dollars in bonds for public improvement in Jacksonville.

Before his term expired, he was elected to the Florida Senate in 1900.

He performed the unusual scholastic feat of passing the two-year law course in one year and was admitted to the Tennessee State Bar.

Immediately after receiving his license, he came to Duval county to visit friends in Jacksonville. He pleased with the surroundings that he decided to remain. As one of the city's prominent figures, he watched it grow to its present size.

In July, 1881, he opened his law office in partnership with J. M. Barr, his roommate at Vanderbilt. The firm continued for a year and then dissolved. Then Fletcher became associated with John Wurts, with whom he remained for 10 years. Wurts then became professor of law at Yale University. So, until 1908, Fletcher practiced alone before the state, federal and supreme courts.

Within three years after he came to Jacksonville, Fletcher was elected to the city council, serving several years. In 1892 he was elected to the Florida Legislature and served through the session of 1895, during which he was instrumental in the passage of a bill authorizing the issue of several millions of dollars in bonds for public improvement in Jacksonville.

Before his term expired, he was elected to the Florida Senate in 1900.

He performed the unusual scholastic feat of passing the two-year law course in one year and was admitted to the Tennessee State Bar.

Governor Sholtz

The death of Senator Fletcher places in the hands of Florida's Governor the power to appoint his successor until the next general election, the second time this power will have been exercised by the present Governor. No other governor in the history of Florida has ever had the opportunity to make two such appointments.

Sholtz Expected To Name Someone To Fill Vacancy

LAKE CITY, June 17.—(AP)—Chairman J. B. Hodges of the State Democratic Executive Committee said today Senator Fletcher's death makes it "more necessary than ever that we hold a first and second primary election to fill the two Senate vacancies."

He said he would call the new state committee into session about the end of this month to arrange for the special primaries.

He already had intended doing this to make provision for nominating a successor to the late Senator Trammell. It is expected that the special primaries will be held in September. Hodges said candidates must qualify to run either for Senator Fletcher's unexpired term, which ends in 1939, or Trammell's unexpired term ending in 1941. They could not run in one group and the two high men would be declared nominees for the two vacancies, said Hodges.

Governor Sholtz can appoint someone to senatorship pending the election of Fletcher's successor.

Woodmen Will Get Five New Members

Five new candidates will be initiated into the local camp of the Woodmen of the World Thursday night at 8 P. M., officials of the organization announced today. The degree work will be given by a team under Capt. Ed. Caraway.

V. P. Miller, state manager of the organization, is expected to attend the Sanford lodge meeting, it was said. O. P. Herndon will preside.

Senator Awoke This Morning In Excellent Health, But Died By Ten-Thirty

New Deal Loses Its Right Bower

Fletcher Was Chairman Of Powerful Banking Committee

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida died suddenly at his home today. He was 77 year old and had served in the Senate since Mar. 4, 1909.

Senator Fletcher awoke this morning apparently feeling fine. He enjoyed breakfast but shortly before ten o'clock complained of feeling ill and called his physician, Dr. F. A. Stewart.

He was put to bed immediately and died about 10:30 A. M. of coronary thrombosis—heart disease.

Fletcher, so far as they know, never suffered from the illness before.

Only the physician and a maid were with him when he died, Mrs. Fletcher and one daughter, Mrs. Nell Smith-Gordon were in the apartment. Mrs. T. J. Knapp of St. Louis, the senator's other daughter, was notified.

Senator Fletcher's term would have expired in 1939. He was chairman of the important banking and currency committee and a member of the committee on commerce, military affairs and printing.

It was Florida's second loss by the Senate in little more than a month. Park Trammell died May 8 after serving since 1917.

He became a candidate for the United States Senate in 1906, opposing three others and won. In 1906, he again formed a partnership, this time with J. W. Dooling, expecting to continue his practice of law. He dissolved his partnership in 1912, and since then has devoted his time entirely to public duties.

During the World War he served as chairman of the Committee on Commerce. Appointed by President Wilson as chairman of the American Commission and of the United States Commission to study agricultural finance in Europe, Senator Fletcher rendered a 1,000 page report that resulted in enactment of the Farm Loan bill.

His fraternal affiliations were Master Mason, member of York Rite, Shriner, Odd Fellow and Woodmen of the World. He was a member of the Phi Delta Theta college fraternity and Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

When the New Deal came into power, Fletcher was made chairman of the powerful banking committee. He aided the President during the days of the bank holiday and in reworking of the financial laws. He actively supported the fight in Congress for the # Bad Inning Gives Daytona Beach 5-2 Win Over Lookouts.

Sanford Pushes Over Couple In Seventh Stanza

Moore Fralick Gives But Four Bingles; Visitors Get Seven

By K. H. CULLUM
 Meaning an uprising in the sixth inning that showed across the runs on three hits, three walks and an error, Daytona Beach won over Sanford, 5 to 2, in the local lot yesterday.

The Islander batter, Moore Fralick, tossed hitless ball for the first four innings and not a single Lookout reached first.

Sanford comes home tomorrow to play St. Augustine on the local ball yard. Being a local holiday, club officials are expecting one of the largest crowds of the year. Game time is 4 P. M. Today the Lookouts are playing in St. Augustine.

Construction Is Begun On $60,000 New Play Center

TAVARES, June 17.—Construction has been started on a $60,000 recreation center for Lake county located at the triangle where two state roads cross between Tavares, Elftie and Mount Dora.

The main building of the center is to be 100x100 feet and provides facilities for skating, swimming and dining. Also under the building are both houses with lockers, shower baths and facilities for sun bathing.

A white sand beach runs from the bath house down into cool, spring-fed Lake Woodward, which is three miles in circumference and has as much as forty feet in depth at places.

Docks, diving towers, spring-boards, boats, aquaplanes, etc., are being provided. Free picnic grounds and bathing facilities are being developed by C. H. Rooml'at and J. C. Fretwell of Tavares.

Fourth Straight Game Dropped By Faltering G-Men

St. Augustine Takes 4 To 2 Victory Over Gainesville Outfit

GAINESVILLE, June 17.—Dropping their fourth consecutive game, the Gainesville G-Men lost a 4-2 decision to the St. Augustine Saints here yesterday afternoon.

The Saints opened the scoring in the first inning when they sent one run across the plate without a hit. Bonner took a free pass, went to second on McGowan's infield out, scampered to third as Fitzgerald rolled to Bevell and scored as Bevell threw the ball wildly to McMullen at first.

The Gainesville team took the lead in the third inning when they scored two runs on a trio of hits. After McDougal had grounded out, Padgett singled to center, took second on Adair's infield out, and scored as McMullen lined a single to center. McMullen went to second on wry for Padgett at the plate, pulled up at third on a wild pitch by Davis, and scored when Beck singled to right.

Tars Will Enter Evening Baseball Activity Tonight

JACKSONVILLE, June 17.—(AP)—Jacksonville will enter the night baseball field for the first time Friday.

Robert Fisher, general manager of the Tars, announced definitely last night after a test had been run on the new, powerful lighting plant, that Friday's game scheduled here with Savannah would start at 8:15.

The electrical equipment was turned on for the first time last night, and a large group of city officials and representatives of the Miller Electric Company, as well as baseball moguls, were on hand to pass judgment.

It is possible that more light will have to be turned upon the diamond before it is in the best possible condition. However, 216,000 watts were used last night and the present installation has a peak capacity of 240,000.

Electricians worked late to get the proper focus from the eight big batteries.

Two towers have been erected on the grandstand and six poles are arranged on the field itself.

Two poles are in foul territory, one behind third base and the other behind first. The other four are spaced in the outfield, none of them nearer to the plate than 850 feet. The other two are 975 feet away.

The two posts in foul territory bear batteries of 24 lamps each, and the other six towers carry 18-lamp batteries.

When the capacity of 240,000 watts is turned on, the Jacksonville Ball Park will have 80,000 watts more than either Augusta or Columbia. Savannah's power is not known.

Florida Golfer Leading Field In Dixie Match

Panama City Unknown Shatters Par While Stars Trail Behind

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 17.—(AP)—Stealing the show with the only sub-par shooting, a Spanish born Florida amateur got the pace for an all-star field in the first 18-hole round of qualifying for the Southern golf tournament yesterday.

The 20-year-old Panama City golfer, Henry Castello, unheralded in the field of 100 seeking the crown held by Bobby Riegel of Richmond, Va., scored the Memphis Country Club course in 80, one under par. He held a one-stroke lead.

With a chance to double back Castello for the halfway leadership Tommy Walsh of Greenville, Miss., a former champion, barely missed an eight-foot putt on the home green for a 60. The ball rimmed the cup and left Walsh in the runner-up position with the only par 70.

Castillo shot the outward nine in even par and clipped a strike from standard figures on the incoming side.

Walsh, who has been in the hunt since he established a new qualifying record of 741 last year, came through with a 71 for third place. Earl Stokes of Louisville, Ky., runs second in the 1935 tournament, two fourth with 78.

Two other Florida entrants finished in the 80's. Robert Dock, young Florida State champion from Bradenton, shot an 80, including a 43 opening hole. Lee McVinn, of Jacksonville, had an 82.

Maxie And Louis Lof As Stage In Fixed For Battle

NAPANOCH, N. Y., June 17.—(AP)—Max Schmeling went through a light workout late yesterday for his match with Joe Louis and then settled down to await weighing-in ceremonies Thursday.

Max will do five miles of road work today and will leave for New York early Thursday.

All told the Teton boxed 95 rounds during the long training grind. In marvelous condition, he expects to weigh about 192 pounds for the fight.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 17.—(AP)—Joe Louis wound up preparations Tuesday for Thursday's 15-round battle against Max Schmeling.

It had been planned to have the boxer box only a round or two. However, ideal weather and the unusually large week-day crowd of 1800 prompted his handlers to send Joe through five rounds.

Louis was "under wraps" but he cuffed his hired hands around at will.

Today will be a day of complete rest for the boxer. Early Thursday he will leave for New York.

Sanford Veterans Holding Bonus Bonds For Interest

Immediate Cash-In Executed By Only 172 Out Of 450 Ex-Service Men, Holly Reports From Post Office

Sanford veterans apparently are not in immediate need of bonus money and will hold their bonds to take advantage of the three percent interest, according to indications seen today at the local post office.

Opening with boom-like activity on the first day when the bonds were available, the post department today is past the rush and finds that only 172 men here have converted some or all of their certificates into actual cash.

Anti-Lottery Law Here Provides For $200 Fine, Prison

Sanford Junior Chamber Commerce officials today pointed out the existence of a municipal ordinance which prohibits the possession or sale of any ticket, share or coupon in the City of Sanford, Fla., in any lottery for money.

The local law provides a maximum fine of $200, or 90 days in prison, or both for violators. Sentences is left to the discretion of the municipal judge, according to the ordinance.

For the public sale, or the offer to sell, "any ticket, share or coupon in the City of Sanford, Fla., in any lottery for money," the same maximum penalty is authorized. The ordinance against possession of a lottery ticket was amended in June, 1932, while the statute prohibiting lottery sales became effective in April of the same year, according to officials.

Assistance of all law-enforcing bodies will be sought by the Junior Chamber in its fight to abolish the lottery business here, it was announced.

Lake Monroe Rally Draws Large Crowd

Three Other Political Meetings Canceled With Consent Of County Candidates

Sixteen Seminole County office-seekers who will meet in the second primary election Tuesday addressed an audience of between 250 and 300 at Lake Monroe last night.

The following candidates spoke: For prosecuting attorney: Ernest F. Housholder and W. Herbert Messer.

For county judge: G. W. Spencer and R. W. Ware.

For sheriff: C. M. Hand and J. F. McClelland.

For county commissioner, district 1: Charles Dine and D. L. Thrasher; district 2: F. A. Dyson and Otto Schmebl; district 3: W. B. Ballard and C. B. Seary; district 4: W. G. Killie and S. F. Long.

For constable, district 4: Bob Dodson and W. A. McMillen.

Some personal attacks developed during the rally, although for the most part the candidates confined their talks to discussions of platforms and what they have proposed to accomplish in the event of election.

There were also denials on the part of some speakers who made efforts to correct statements made by their opponents.

Last night's rally was under the sponsorship of the Seminole County Democratic Committee which had scheduled three more, one each at Ovielo, Lyman School and Sanford.

However, after a vote was taken from the candidates, it was agreed to cancel the other meetings, since there was an apparent belief that more could be accomplished through personal solicitations.

One of the principal reasons given for the abandonment of the other rallies is that the office-seekers have already visited each section of the County through an invitation by the Parent-Teachers' Association.

The majority of those still in the political race were busy today making personal calls.

Talmadge Comes Back To Fold Of New Deal Party

ATLANTA, Ga., June 18.—(AP)—Eugene Talmadge, firebrand Georgia governor who once threatened to lead "2,000,000 discontented Dixie Democrats" out of the party, came back to the Democratic fold Wednesday night almost on the eve of the Philadelphia convention.

Shaking a graying forelock out of his eyes in an uproarious meeting of the Georgia State Executive Committee, Talmadge shouted that he still is a Democrat and will support his party's nominees and platform though he still maintains his embittered feud with the New Deal.

An appeal was made today by the cemetery committee of the Sanford Garden Club for 100 crape myrtles and 100 oleanders to be planted in the cemetery. A full-time employee is at the burial grounds, and donors are asked to hand the plants to him.

Mrs. Rolland Dean And T. E. Simpson Entertain Kiwanians With Radio Skit

In the regular luncheon session yesterday at the Mayfair Hotel Sanford Kiwanians heard a radio skit by Mrs. Rolland Dean and T. E. Simpson, discussed the shortage of small homes in Sanford and those to let their board of directors decide on the endorsement of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's drive against the "Cuba" racket in Sanford.

David K. McNab as a representative of the JayCees was introduced by Kiwanian J. J. Kellaghan. Mr. McNab explained how the Junior Chamber is making a fight against the numbers game which, he said, is taking thousands of dollars every week out of the regular channels of trade. The Kiwanian Club was asked to endorse the movement and in turn the club voted to turn the question over to the board of directors for discussion.

Senator Fletcher's Funeral To Be Held In Jax On Sunday; G.O.P. Will Offer Candidates

Republicans Declare Intent To Contest Senatorial Vacancies In November

Meeting Is Called To Pick Nominees

Walker Says Republicans Hope To Carry State For Landon

WINTER HAVEN, June 18.—(AP)—Chairman Allen E. Walker said today that the state Republican Executive Committee will meet in Orlando on July 1 to nominate two candidates for the United States senatorial vacancies caused by the deaths of Senators Fletcher and Trammell.

They will lay their plans for a campaign through which, Walker said, the Republicans hope to carry Florida for Knox and Landon elect the senators and governor of this state.

E. E. Calloway, of Lakeland, has already been selected by the Republicans to contest with the Democratic nominee as selected in the June 23 primary for the office of governor of Florida. The decision to name two candidates for the vacancies in the United States Senate follows the death of Senator Park Trammell last month and the death of Senator Fletcher yesterday.

The Democratic nominee for the senatorial office will be selected in special primaries to be called some time this summer, according to J. B. Hodges, chairman of the state Democratic committee.

The development will have no effect on Seminole County celery producers since the agreement has not been in force for a year. C. R. Dawson, county farm agent asserted this afternoon.

Mr. Dawson pointed out that the terms of the proposed plan set up a control committee which could direct the shipping and marketing of celery.

He said the agreement had died because local producers and shippers did not coincide with the stipulations it set forth. The program was in effect during the 1934-35 season here, the agent said, but was abandoned locally last year.

The Washington dispatch reported that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will stand by to co-operate with celery producers if they desire any further assistance.

Senate Rejects Florida Canal; Relief Approved

Huge Tax Bill May Be Completed Tonight; Adjournment Near

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(AP)—Congress completed action today on the $2,375,000,000 relief deficiency appropriation bill and sent it to the White House.

Congressional action on the long-fought measure carrying $1,425,000,000 for relief was completed when the Senate agreed to the elimination of its amendment for reviving the Florida ship canal. The balance of the conference report on the big appropriation bill was approved by the Senate with little debate.

Final action on the relief measure left only the tax bill standing in the way of congressional adjournment Saturday night. Leaders long have planned to end the session when the relief and tax bills are passed.

The Senate quickly concurred in the House's refusal to accept the amendment for reviving the canal project. The death yesterday of Senator Fletcher removed the most vigorous supporter of the project which had been added to the bill by the Senate.

School Officers Find Fault With Teacher Tenure

Law Would Strip Local Boards Of Power To Regulate School

A proposed teachers' tenure law did not meet unanimous approval of the West Coast School Officials' Association in an informal convention at Brandon yesterday. T. W. Lawton, Seminole County school superintendent, said today.

The would-be statute calls for establishment of conditions whereby a teacher, after having served satisfactorily for three years in one county is to receive a permanent appointment to teach in Florida educational institutions.

Removal of the permanent appointees could be effected only as a result of incompetency, unprofessional spirit, ill health or immorality, according to Superintendent Lawton.

The Seminole County school head said the chief objection to the proposed act lay in the fact that the responsibility of regulation and maintenance of standards would rest with the state school board, stripping the county boards of their regulatory powers.

Superintendent Lawton added that the west coast group would approve the tenure bill if certain modifications were made.

Discussion of the tenure proposal occupied the major portion of the program which was designed to bring out points for the advancement of a more stabilized school system in Florida.

Prof. Tom Alexander of Haines City made one of the principal addresses of the day. Those attending the meet were guests of Jessie N. Miller, Bradenton school superintendent, at a picnic dinner.

Attending from Seminole County, other than Superintendent Lawton, was Fred T. Williams, chairman of the county school board.

Local Delegation Hears Cone Talk In Orlando Park

More than 100 Seminole County people joined a motored to Orlando last night and attended the huge Cone rally held at Eola Park.

Headed by L. A. Brumley, president of the Seminole County "Cone for Governor" club the group was composed of many women as well as men.

Mr. Cone's address was interrupted several times by enthusiastic cheering of his audience. He told his audience that he was the victim of many untrue statements in the closing hours of the campaign, prominent among them being the erroneous statement made by his opponent concerning his stand on labor and wages.

Mr. Cone stated emphatically that he has been and is now a strong supporter of the working man and the man on a small salary, as is attested, he said, by the support being given him by organized labor.

Seminole County supporters expressed regret that all of the candidate's address was not broadcast. Only the first portion reached the air, and the latter part was well received by those in the immediate audience.

Mr. Cone is speaking in Lake and Marion counties today, and many of his boosters accompanied him to further assist his campaign.
