

Protests Hit ICC On Grain Rates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Southern Railway proposal to cut rates on grain shipped from the Midwest to Southeastern States has raised a storm of protest to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC has received some 70 protests from the large grain, grain producers, millers and shippers on the rate reduction Southern proposes to put into effect Aug. 10.

They have asked the ICC to suspend and investigate the rate cut Southern offered on multiple freight car shipments of grain from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Memphis to 27 destinations in the chicken-raising areas of Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

The ICC board of suspension can either suspend the rates or permit them to go into effect. Normally, the board considers proposed freight rate changes a few days before their scheduled effective date.

Southern asked the ICC to sanction the rate reduction shortly after the collapse of the Wheeler-

Dam navigation lock on the Tennessee River, which brought to a virtual halt the waterborne movement of feed grains from the Midwest to the Southeast.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has proposed similar cuts on large grain shipments and the Illinois Central has served notice it intends to follow suit.

The American Waterways Operators Ind. has protested to the ICC that barge lines carrying grain from the Midwest to Southeast points "would be faced with certain and inevitable destruction" if the rates go into effect.

It said the proposed rates would be a "violent disruption of the present rate structure" on which barge lines rely to compete effectively with the railroads in transporting grain over that route.

The Indianapolis Board of Trade, the Merchants Exchange of St. Louis, National Furriers, Allied Mills, farm organizations, truckers and numerous small independent millers and grain shippers also have voiced objections.

They argue that the small shipper would be at a great disadvantage because it would not afford large enough shipments to take advantage of the multiple-car rates.

Southern Railway would use lightweight aluminum hopper cars capable of carrying loads of 30,000 pounds.

The reduced rates would apply to grain shipped in quantities of 5, 10 and 20 cars with the minimum weight of 100,000 pounds per car.

The waterways operators said that grain shipped from St. Louis in 20-car lots would cost $2.30 per ton. A small dealer, paying a single car rate, would be charged $8.50 per ton.

18 Youngsters Led To Safety

WAYLAND, Mass. (UPI) — Two YMCA camp counselors led 18 small boys to safety early today when flames swept a building of Camp Chicopee here.

No one was injured in the fire which ruined the camp, maintained by the Newton chapter of the YMCA.

The blaze, which started in the kitchen and spread rapidly through the building, was discovered by counselor Steven Brown, 21. He alerted his fellow counselor, Bruce Dewire, 21, and the pair awoke the youngsters who ranged between 8 and 10 years old.

Court Test Nears On Redistricting

DELAND (UPI) — A court test of the congressional redistricting plan passed by the 1961 legislature appeared to be in the works today.

Arnold Lund, a Republican who made an unsuccessful race for congress against Rep. A. S. Herzog Jr. in 1956, filed a lawsuit in Volusia County Circuit Court last week challenging the constitutionality of the redistricting. Lund's suit seeks to stop county and state officials from spending any money to get ready for next year's congressional elections.

Lund said the legislature's plan ignored the constitutional provision that congressional districts "shall be as nearly equitable in population as practical." He cited the populations of the Fifth District, 377,421; the sixth, 660,315; and the ninth, 237,235, as evidence that the division of the new districts is inequitable.

Nuts On Shelling

NEW YORK (UPI) — A shift in consumer buying has placed a great deal of emphasis on shelled nuts. It seems no one cares to shell nuts. Look, for example, what's happened to almonds. Currently 90 per cent of the almond crop is shelled before it goes to market. Twenty years ago, reports the California Foods Research Institute, the opposite was true, with only 10 per cent shelled.

Educational Ideal

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The ideal university would provide for every student to live alone, believes Samuel B. Gould, chancellor at the University of California, Santa Barbara. This would guarantee that after all of the student's gregarious urges were fulfilled there would be a place to which he could retire and be alone with his thoughts, his books and his dreams," he said. This would allow creative ideas to be pursued without interruption, he added.

Sanford Doctor Retires As ACL Surgeon

Dr. J. C. Buntin of Sanford, who has served as chief surgeon for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad for the past five years was officially retired from his post Thursday with ceremonies at headquarters in Jacksonville.

Prior to accepting the position as head of the ACL's hospital and medical service, Dr. Buntin was chief surgeon for the DuPont Company at their construction of the Savannah River Bomb Plant. During this time, the doctor was able to carry out a long-held theory of saving fingers lost in accidents and was 80 percent successful in replacing fingers.

He attributes the success of the experiment to "patience, mainly" in instances where quick and final amputation would have been the normal case.

Dr. Buntin has written a published treatise on the "Traumatic Amputation of Fingers" and illustrated it with photographs of case histories. His carefully detailed explanations of methods and medicines used show how otherwise lost fingers can be saved.

President Steps In, Gets Sick Veteran Lift

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Gene Zeman, an incurably ill Korean War veteran, was back in West Palm Beach today with his expectant wife — thanks to the intervention of President John F. Kennedy.

Zeman, 28, is ill with a malady which has enlarged his spinal column, paralyzing him, and is spreading. Doctors at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., told his parents, "there is nothing more to be done."

Zeman and his family are almost destitute. The young veteran found himself unable to get home from Minnesota after diagnosis at the clinic.

Bob Stuart, a reporter for the Palm Beach Post who was familiar with the case, telephoned the president at his home in Hyannis Port, Mass., to speed Zeman's trip back here.

"After some time," Stuart said, "a man answered and said, 'could you hold the line for just a moment, Mr. Stuart?' and I said, 'yes Mr. President, I'll do that, I knew who it was right away. After that it was easy.'"

Polio Cases At Record Low

ATLANTA (UPI) — Polio cases, down 85 per cent last week from the previous week, continue "at a record low level," the U. S. Communicable Disease Center reported today.

The report said 11 polio cases, six of them paralytic, were reported during the week ending July 22. Twenty-eight cases were recorded the previous week.

No Results

Bids for new furnishings for the Hopper Academy, Lyman, Hopper and Seminole High gyms were studied by the county school board Monday, with incomplete results at this time.

Bids for Hopper school room furniture were opened and it was decided to accept the lowest bid in each category, if they met the specifications.

Some confusion as to specifications on bleachers caused decisions on these items to be postponed for clarification.

Bids on furnishing tests for school children were accepted at $1,613.50, approximately $150 more than last year, due to the increase in the number of children.

German Girl New Exchange Student

Brown-haired, brown-eyed Doerte Demtroeder, 16 years old, is the new Kiwanis exchange student, who arrived in Sanford last week and is presently the guest of Dr. and Mrs. John Wilson and their daughter Bonnie, at their home on Silver Lake.

Doerte, the German spelling of Dorothy, will be a senior at Seminole High School this year, but like former Finnish exchange student, Peter Kurkiarvi, who graduated last year, will have to return to school for another year when she returns to Germany.

This is because of the difference in the educational standards here. In West Germany, Doerte lives with her mother, a retired law secretary and her grandmother. Her hobbies are reading and "sometimes playing the piano."

There were 60 students in her city who applied for the exchange student program, of which nine were accepted. All came to the U.S. by plane, except Doerte, who traveled via ship.

Doerte has begun to get acquainted in Sanford through her attendance with the Wilsons at the First Presbyterian Church. With her excellent English and ready smile, she has already become a lovely addition to the community.

In September, she will go to stay with the family of Rear Adm. (ret.) Robert Jackson and his family at Lake Mary.

Laos Conference Shelves Foreign Troop Withdrawal

GENEVA (UPI) — The Communist vainly tried today to railroad through the 16-nation Laos conference a Soviet-proposed blanket call for a controlled withdrawal of all foreign troops from Laos.

After debate of an article in the Laotian neutrality declaration that forehadowed critical East-West disputes in future negotiating, the conference shelved the issue.

It was the second article passed over in as many conference sessions. At Friday's meeting a sharp clash over SEATO showed no agreement could be reached on an article covering Laos' relationship with foreign alliances.

Britain To Apply For Market Spot

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today announced Britain is applying for membership in the six-nation European Common Market.

Opposition Labor party members interrupted his announcement with thunderous cries of "shame . . . shame . . . shame."

Some rightwing members of Macmillan's own Conservative party joined the opposition in jeering the announcement.

Macmillan's statement meant Britain might abandon her traditional policy of staying aloof from permanent European continental alliances.

Rightwingers fear British membership in the common market might harm Britain's traditional relationships with the commonwealth nations, hurt British agriculture and lead to surrender of some British sovereignty.

Contractors Disapprove Specifications For Roof

Sanford roofing and area contractors refused to go along with specifications for re-roofing the courthouse as drawn up by Architect Hal Harris and the County Commission, in special session Tuesday night, agreed to allow the contractors to submit their own specifications so long as a water proof roof for the facility is guaranteed for the next 10 years.

The board also agreed to have Harris get "some contractors from Orlando" to submit bids on his specifications.

The commission set Aug. 13 to open bids on the re-roofing job. At bid opening last week, not a single bid was submitted on the roofing job.

Bill Evans of Evans Roofing and spokesman for the contractors said that although "we have faith in Harris, we are afraid to gamble on the products and applications of the specifications."

Another contractor said he thought that the specifications were "too complicated."

County Commission Chairman

J. C. Hutchison asked Harris "what do you suggest we do now?"

Harris answered: "You could get someone else to write the specs."

However, the commission agreed to have two different groups of bidders at the Aug. 13 meeting. One group — contractors with their own specifications while Harris will get bids from contractors willing to go along with his specifications.

School Board Sets Special Meet To Review Budget

The County School Board will meet in special session next week to review the 1961-62 school budget in light of new figures certified to the County Commission Tuesday on non-exempt property by the Tax Assessor, Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee said today.

Tuesday, Mary Earle Walker submitted 1961 tax roll estimates of $182,703,308 — an increase of $1 million on taxable property.

Last week the school board told a delegation made up of representatives from the Chambers of Commerce and from the city and county that it would review the budget if an increase in non-exempt property valuations was shown.

The tentative school board budget had been set at $3,605,868 and a levy of 3 mills, up one mill. The general operating budget was set at $3,894,101.

Milwee today said that last year's school board budget was worked out on the basis of $175,800,000 on non-exempt property. "This year's budget was likewise worked out with the same figure," he added.

"Now that the value of non-exempt property has increased by $7 million, the board will study the budget again," Milwee said.

"We then will determine the best steps to follow," he added. Milwee said that the board could take no action this week as he is leaving for Atlanta, Ga., Thursday on business.

He added that he had no idea what day the board would meet next week. "That will have to be worked out when I get back," he said.

By LARRY VERSHEL
If the County Commission keeps overriding decisions by the Zoning Board we wonder if we'll have a zoning board soon. Some kind of meeting between the two groups should be called to establish a policy.

The County Commission met in "informal" budget hearings Tuesday afternoon and as we walked in, Ted Williams was declaring "I can't see using taxpayers money and giving it to the Chamber of Commerce. Williams finally said he would compromise and go along with $3,000 but the board tabled action. Both Williams and District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery said that they thought a Chamber was good but stressed that it should be self-supporting and that no tax money should be used for its operations. Chairman J. C. Hutchison, John Fitzpatrick and Vernon Dunn apparently feel differently about it.

Tax Collector John Galloway reports that the 1960 Tax roll, 99.4 percent of the taxes were collected.

The Committee of 10 will meet at 7:30 p. m. today to discuss the by-laws and charter for the recently formed Sanford-Seminole Development Company. The meeting will be held in the Florida State Bank Lounge.

Those scoffers who never thought Mary Earle Walker would ever come up with a realistic Tax roll can turn the other cheek now. (Including me!) Mrs. Walker should be complimented on a fine tax roll.

Convict Nabbed
CHICAGO (UPI)—FBI agents today arrested escaped convict William Schutte, one of the nation's 10 "most wanted" men, and congratulated his captors. "You fellows sure do a good job," Schutte said.

Okay Nears Of Missile, Planes Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House was expected today to complete congressional action on President Kennedy's request for almost $1 billion worth of extra missiles and warplanes.

The bill, approved by the Senate last Friday, is the second part of Kennedy's rush defense buildup to deal with the Berlin crisis.

The President signed 1790 law Tuesday a resolution authorizing him to call up as many as 250,000 reservists for a year's active duty if necessary.

Immediately after he signed the bill, the Air Force selected 28,000 men in 71 Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve units for possible recall to active duty. Authorities, however, doubted that any of the alerted units would be called up before October.

The order affected 25,000 Air

National Guardsmen and 3,000 Air Reservists in 28 states and the District of Columbia. The units concerned have 650 fighter planes and 100 transports.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, said the additional weapons provided in the legislation before the House would bolster U. S. military power greatly.

Approval by a roll-call vote was expected this afternoon. The authorization measure then would be sent to the White House for Kennedy's signature.

The bill includes $416 million to repair the fire damage which occurred to the carrier Constellation at the Brooklyn Navy Yard last December. Vinson said the ship will be ready to join the fleet early next year.

He said the legislation also would help to make major im-

UN 'Advisor' Shoots Himself

MIAMI (UPI)—Alberto Obarrio, 65, adviser to Panama's delegation at the United Nations and former Panamanian ambassador, to Cuba, shot himself in the head with a pistol early today.

Obarrio, a career diplomat, was sped to Jackson Memorial Hospital where he underwent surgery for four hours. His condition was described as critical.

Police said Obarrio shot himself in the right temple shortly after midnight in his suite at a downtown hotel. His wife, Mariah, a native of Dayton, Ohio, was in the suite but did not witness the shooting, police said. He left no note.

Obarrio had lived in the hotel about five months, since leaving Cuba. He was recalled after Cuba withdrew its ambassador from Panama. The Panamanian embassy in Havana now is in the hands of a charge d'affaires.

Obarrio, ex ambassador to Peru, went to New York as adviser to Panama's U.N. delegation when Fidel Castro took power in Cuba.

improvements in this country's military sealift and airlift.

Vinson said this was absolutely necessary if America was to have the capability to move additional combat forces promptly to wherever they may be needed.

Anti-submarine warfare also would be strengthened to meet the Soviet underwater threat, he said.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved Tuesday a record peacetime defense budget of $6.8 billion, including all the new funds Kennedy asked for the defense buildup. The Senate planned to take up the bill later this week.

In a related action, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara asked Congress for funds to build fallout shelters that would protect 45-50 million people from nuclear attack. He told congressional committees that the cost would run around $4 per person.

Van Hoy Named Chairman Of Group Studying Facility

Former County Commissioner J. H. Van Hoy was elected chairman of the newly organized Citizens Committee to study courthouse needs at an initial briefing of the group Tuesday night.

The group, formed by the County Commission two weeks ago, will "get down to business" next Tuesday night at its first meeting, Van Hoy said.

The organization was briefed by Commission Chairman J. C. Hutchison who gave the committee data supplied by Architect James Gamble Rogers on courthouse needs.

Air Force Call Up Expected Soon

By United Press International
Air Force National Guardsmen and reservists facing a possible call-up within weeks rallied solidly today behind the administration's first troop-level move to bolster U. S. strength in the Berlin crisis.

Commanders reported top readiness and a Massachusetts general said any problems would be "not military but personal."

A United Press International survey of reservists and units in the 28 states and District of Columbia affected by the Air Force announcements Tuesday indicated most units could be mobilized in hours.

Maj. George K. Cross, staff officer attached to the 131st Air Base Group, said if the Pentagon "blew the whistle we could be ready to move out in 24 to 48 hours." Pennsylvania State University unit spokesmen said 21 officers and 230 airman live within a 200-mile radius.

The 149th Tactical Fighter Squadron of the Virginia National Guard estimated "one hour" for assembly. The commander of the 42nd Troop Carrier Wing at Kansas City, Mo., said his men could be "ready to go in 12 hours."

Zoning Board Decisions Overrode

The County Commission in special session Tuesday night overrode two decisions by the zoning board and denied requests for changing classification on two pieces of property near Altamonte Springs.

In both cases residents in the area protested any zoning change. The first public hearing was in relation to a piece of property that the zoning board agreed to rezone from C1 to C2 — which, according to about six residents, would mean a lower classification on their property.

Both areas in question border SR 436 near Wymore Rd. Residents protested that they wanted to maintain their high standard of zoning.

In the second public hearing, on property in the same area, the Zoning Board agreed to rezone from A-1 Agricultural to C2 Commercial.

A resident of the area, E. C. Nagle, said that at a Zoning Board hearing he was told that

Viet Nam Orders Military Buildup

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—The government today ordered the mobilization of all men between the ages of 23 and 33 in a move to build up South Viet Nam's armed forces against increasing Communist terrorism.

The mobilization order came shortly after the Communist Viet Cong rebels made one of his boldest moves in the heart of Saigon.

The terrorists announced they would make an attack in the capital and carried out their threat three days ago when they set off a hand grenade on a busy Saigon street. A police sergeant and an army man were killed.

Addressing the Gopher Coffee Club, Evans said Cramer's attacks on Bryant's plans to connect the toll pike to Interstate 75 in Sumter County were the result of a "misguided" feeling it would take traffic from the west coast, or of "partisan political reasons."

"He has carefully and cleverly disguised his attack in the guise of concern over a loss to Florida of interstate mileage and federal matching monies," Evans said.

Despite the unprecedented checks, about 1,000 more East Germans made it to West Berlin today and asked for political asylum.

How many East Germans were caught while attempting to flee could not be determined. The number might have been as high as 500. They faced trial under a law forbidding flight to the West or "preparations to flee."

Evans Defends Bryant's Plan

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH (UPI)—John Evans, press aide to Gov. Farris Bryant, today defended the administration's plans to extend Florida's toll-free turnpike from Fort Pierce to Sumter County.

Welfare Crackdown Faces Test

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UPI) — Newburgh officials today sought legal moves to protect the city's "crackdown" welfare code from a court injunction requested by the state on charges the relief regulations are illegal.

Joseph Mitchell, city manager, said "immediate steps" would be taken to challenge an order for a court hearing held Friday on an injunction being sought by the state to set aside 12 of Newburgh's controversial 13 points aimed at tightening welfare handouts to unwed mothers and able-bodied men.

State Attorney Louis Lefkowitz, who is the Republican candidate for Mayor of New York City, announced Tuesday he had obtained the hearing order from state Supreme Court Justice John P. Donohue. The justice ordered Mitchell, Peter Z. Petrillo Jr., acting city welfare commissioner, and the city council to answer why the code should not be suspended until its legality could be determined.

Newburgh's crackdown became a heated issue even before it went into effect July 15. The state said the rules endangered federal reimbursements for the entire state welfare program. Mitchell denied they were illegal.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a leading possibility for the GOP Presidential nomination, attacked the code, which won a quick defender in conservative Sen. Harry Goldwater of Arizona, another top potential candidate for the Republican nomination.

Newburgh, a city of 31,000 persons located about 50 miles up the Hudson River from New York City, claims that $625,000 of its approximately $3 million annual budget goes for welfare purposes to 915 persons on relief — less than 3 per cent of the city's population.

Mitchell has indicated approval so far of the results of the crackdown. He said one family, which was getting aid to dependent children and home relief while the children had bank accounts and insurance, will be given vouchers for rent, food and clothes instead of cash. He also has threatened to revoke the rule in two cases to cut off aid to unwed mothers who have additional illegitimate children.

The only regulation the state has not challenged was one requiring able-bodied welfare recipients to report monthly to the welfare department.

Other points in the plan would limit welfare payments to able-bodied persons to three months in any one year, deny relief to persons who are able to work and refuse jobs, and require municipal work in return for relief payments to the able-bodied.

Foreign Aid Backers Get Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate foreign aid backers, bolstered by President Kennedy's "no compromise" stand, hoped to finally start debate today on the $4,226,000,000 aid authorization bill.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the aid measure would be laid before the Senate as soon as it completed work on a pending appropriation bill, probably late today.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was ready to open the debate with a strong plea for the bill and especially its controversial five-year $2.8 billion borrowing authority to finance economic development loans.

But the long-delayed Senate bill faces another likely sidetracking later this week to permit action on the $47 billion military appropriations bill. Mansfield said no major votes on the aid measure were likely before next week.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved, 71-4, Tuesday a $2,255,000,000 aid bill. It also provides for the long-term borrowing program asked by the President.

The House committee's approval came after Democratic congressional leaders received a White House pep talk from Kennedy about the need for standing firm behind the five-year development loan section. The provision faces heavy opposition in both houses.

Other congressional news:

Medicare: The American Medical Association (AMA) today challenged the House Ways & Means Committee to study government-regulated health programs in other countries before setting on the administration's medical care plan for the aged. AMA president Dr. Leonard W. Larson said the program, once started, would "expand into a full-fledged system of socialized medicine, eventually covering every citizen of this nation."

Youth: The Senate Labor Committee approved Tuesday a bill that would create a Youth Conservation Corps like the CCC of the 1930s. Young volunteers would work for $60 a month, attacking the huge backlog of conservation work under supervision of federal agencies such as the Park Service. A third of the work would be done on state land, with the states putting up half the money.

Airports: The House passed a five-year, $375 million extension of the federal aid program for airport construction. The bill would allow the government to grant $75 million a year to help communities modernize and build airports.

France Stakes Algerian Future On Sahara Offer

PARIS (UPI) — France today staked the future of the Algerian peace talks on an offer to share the wealth of the Sahara with the other nations of North Africa.

Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe said this offer was made to the Algerian rebels shortly before the Moslem delegation requested a recess of the four-week-old peace talks at Lagnin, France.

Joxe made the disclosure Tuesday in a nationwide radio and television speech answering Monday's declaration by Algerian rebel Deputy Premier Belkacem Krim that his side "will not neglect any means" to resume the talks.

The French delegation leader confirmed Krim's statement that bargaining thus far has hinged on the issue of the Sahara. Krim has insisted that Algerians regard the vast region as "four-fifths of our territory."

France maintains the Sahara is outside the scope of the Lagnin talks, which are aimed at ending the seven-year-old civil war in Algeria.

However, Joxe said that in the last phase of the Lagnin talks France proposed creation of a technical organization to develop the oil and mineral wealth of the Sahara.

"All of us (the Sahara's) neighbors who could reach agreements with us" could share in the riches, he said.

Joxe said France does not intend to keep the riches for herself.

The Algerian affairs minister also served notice that France will push on with its plans for Algeria's future with or without the cooperation of the Arab leaders.

Blind Teacher Is Certified

ST. AUGUSTINE (UPI) — Blue-eyed Mary McCollough, 23, is the daughter of a school teacher. Ever since she can remember she has had one goal in life—to teach school.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey asked the state cabinet Tuesday to certify the Stetson University graduate as a full-fledged teacher. The state's top officials agreed to waive a requirement that all teachers be physically fit and voted to give the red-haired Miss McCollough a teaching certificate.

Miss McCollough has been completely blind for the past eight years.

"I'm so happy they have given me a chance," she said after hearing the news. "I'll try very hard to be a good teacher."

Miss McCollough attended the state school for the deaf and blind here after she lost her sight in the ninth grade. She was graduated from Stetson this year with a degree in elementary education and did her interne teaching at the sixth grade in the North Ridgewood Elementary School at Daytona Beach.

"The children tried to see what they could get away with at first," she said. "But they soon learned I could hear and knew more than they thought, and they soon settled down."

"I used more or less an honor system, and there is little cheating. Other students really on their honor stare down any who may try to cheat. And sixth graders don't like to do anything to displease their little boy or girl friends."

"I have wanted to teach since I was very small," she said. "When I lost my sight, I wondered if I could still become a teacher. It's a job to convince others I can do it. But my father said I could."

Miss McCollough said she does her own cooking, washing, ironing and other domestic chores

Is The Common Man Losing His Status?

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry A. Wallace invented the so-called "Common Man" during the early New Deal years when Franklin D. Roosevelt was laying the foundations for a limited version of the welfare state.

The phrase, "Common Man," was and is collective. It meant the little people, the ordinary Joe, his family, his problems and his hopes. It included that element of the citizenry whom FDR addressed as the "ill-clothed, ill-housed, ill-fed."

Wallace was capable of some of the furthest thinking on record in national politics, which made his thinking very fuzzy, indeed. There was nothing fuzzy, however, about the phrase, "Common Man." That phrase helped to open a clear channel of communication between the New Deal high command in Washington and a vastly numerous element of the population.

This vastly numerous element became the political shock troops of the divisions of voters with which the New Deal won its political wars. A welfare state, limited or not, could not fail to do something for the "Common Man."

Wallace's "Common Man," individually and collectively, was a rather pitiful character who had been getting a raw deal. There were too many citizens—millions of them—who had been getting a raw deal and who welcomed the New Deal with buzzards and balloons.

To make their deal better than raw, the New Dealers almost broke the bank. That effort to help the "Common Man" continues and expands, and the strain on the bank continues with it. The unavoidable evidence of this bank-breaking strain is the wear and tear on the purchasing power of that handy item, the U. S. dollar.

This wear and tear on the U.S. bank is a fact proven by simple arithmetic. The early New Deal 100-cent dollar is worth in 1951 about 46 cents. Worth 46 cents, that is, in terms of bacon, beans and baby shoes. This deplorable situation afflicts the "Common Man" with a new and different raw deal.

The American Institute for Economic Research, Great Barrington, Mass., has changed this poor guy's name. IER calls him the "Forgotten Man," collectively and individually.

IER ran up some figures on fixed dollar assets held by or for individuals as of 1940-1960. These assets comprise life insurance policies, savings deposits, bonds, mortgages, etc.

In 1940, on the basis of a 100-cent dollar, these total savings were $124.7 billion. The 1960 total was nearly $180 billion. That looks pretty good, but wait. The 1960 figure is on the basis of a 100-dollar worth 47.4 cents.

In 20 years, IER calculates, the savers, including the "Forgotten Men," lost from their savings a buying power of nearly $190 billion. Much of that bite is right out of the seat of the "Forgotten Man's" pants.

When he finds out about that, he won't like it at all.

That Old College Try

That hardy old perennial, electoral college reform, is back with us again this season. There is just a chance that something might come of it this time.

This year, under spur of the close 1960 election, some 20 different proposals have been tossed into the Senate to abolish or alter the existing system whereby each state elects a number of "electors" equal to its combined House-Senate representation, these then formally casting the state's vote for President of the United States.

The complaint is always the same: recording a state's electoral vote as a unit for the candidate with a state majority robs supporters of other candidates of all representation in the electoral college tally, and gives unfair weight to big city popular votes.

Three major reform proposals represent the essence of the 20 now submitted:

1. To abolish the electoral college altogether and settle for direct election of the President by popular vote.

Opposition to this plan is broad, especially from smaller states.

2. To keep the college but divide a state's electoral total proportionally according to the vote received by the various candidates.

Arguments on this issue are complex, but in final balance both parties fear it might cost them commanding advantage in certain states where they are now heavily dominant.

3. To keep the college but choose the electors according to the presidential vote by districts, with two chosen at large as the equivalent of a state's two U. S. senators.

This plan has gained such varied adherents as former President Truman and GOP National Chairman William Miller. But lawmakers from the big cities distrust it as giving too much weight to conservative rural sectors.

What, then, is left to approve? A modest proposal, put forth by President Kennedy as a senator in 1956, simply to do away with actual presidential electors but keep the same unit voting system.

The plan got a fresh boost when one Henry Irwin, a GOP elector from Oklahoma, refused to support his state's vote for Vice President Nixon and plumped instead for a Byrd-Goldwater ticket. There is real concern that an assortment of Henry Irwins in some other election could thwart the popular will and throw the contest into utter confusion.

To avoid such an outcome, Congress just might, between 1962 and 1964, approve this least sweeping of all electoral reform proposals.

"Do I need a lawyer?"

I've had a host of such inquiries recently, usually from people who are already in trouble.

What strikes me is that many of these situations need never have developed had those involved known where to turn before they got into trouble.

Legal fees can be expensive, but legal advice can often save you money too. Get a lawyer when:

You write a will, and when there is an estate that needs settling.

When you buy or sell real estate.

When you form or dissolve a business.

When you enter into a verbal or written contract that involves substantial sums of money.

Often when you are threatened with a nuisance claim, a simple letter from a lawyer will restore peace.

When you become involved in a costly accident.

Annually, according to the National Research Bureau, Inc., we spend some $2 billion on legal services. Lawyers themselves are the first to admit that a large portion of this amount would be saved if people would consult lawyers before, rather than after, they get into difficulty.

If impossible for you to meet the cost of your own lawyer, check whether there is a legal aid society in your area which could be of help to you.

If you wonder where you might find a lawyer, consult your phone directory to see whether there is a bar association in your vicinity.

Frequently bar associations offer lawyer referral services. Check your bank or county courthouse.

Because of crowded court calendars and vacation closings, you might be better off trying to arbitrate your case, especially in the case of suits involving auto accidents.

The American Arbitration Assn., with headquarters in New York, has 14 regional offices where you might apply. The AAA maintains a file of 12,500 lawyers, businessmen, accountants and other specialists in 1,600 U. S. cities.

Approximately 66 per cent of the world's peoples are crowded into Asia.

WHAT D'YA WANT ME TO DO, BOSS?

From Rome

Henry McLemore

ROME, Italy—As every traveler in Europe knows, or should know, the Michelin Guide is the Bible of where to eat on the Continent.

The tire company wears out thousands of its product each year to send food experts all over Europe. Their job is to test the meals in hundreds of restaurants and hotels, and report their findings.

Only a very few four-star restaurants in all the world—with one star the lowest rank. Comparatively few restaurants ever achieve one star. For proof, there isn't a restaurant in all of London that Michelin thinks deserves its lowest order of merit.

The Michelin men are as secret as undercover agents, as knowing as a great chef, and as demanding of excellence as a Count Curosky. They rate not only the food, but the service, the decor, the wines, and right on down to the landscaping. Nothing escapes their critical eye.

Until a few years ago the Michelin Guide was limited to France. Then other countries were put under the microscope, and I'm sorry, I wish the Michelin tastebuds had stayed in France.

Not that I don't use the Guide. Almost everyone does, especially motorists who often find themselves in out-of-the-way spots at eating time, and turn to Michelin to see what the city, town, or hamlet offers.

One of the reasons why I don't like the Guide is that it destroys the sense of discovery. Nothing gives more satisfaction to a man than to discover—or think he has—a fine, small, obscure eating place where the food is wonderful and the price is right.

It sets him up for weeks, and he watches his conversation with friends lest he give away the name and location of the place. He wants to keep it for his very own.

Michelin puts an end to all this. More than once I have happened across a little restaurant with wonderful food and a bill to match, only to look in Michelin and discover that one of its sleuths had been there before me and awarded it a star or, if not a star, a crossed knife and fork symbol, which denotes "fine for his kind."

In the reverse, Michelin also makes a man question his judgment on fine food. Again, more than once I have left a "discovery" singing its praises, only to turn to Michelin and see it listed without any symbol at all—just another place to get filled up. The Michelin man had been there before me and turned thumbs down on the food, the service, and everything else.

In his eyes, my wonderful little find was a place where a man would eat only if the gas tank was dry, and the next restaurant was more than walking distance away.

This is very disappointing. But there is this about Michelin—it never gives a bad tip.

It isn't cute to read, and it doesn't tell you what to wear, or what to say, or what each country's money is worth. It just tells you where the best places to eat and sleep are, and what they cost.

If it says the food is good, it is. And if it says the hotel is good, it is. It is the only guidebook, of all the hundreds I have used, that I have yet to find in error.

It isn't cute to read, and it doesn't tell you what to wear, or what to say, or what each country's money is worth. It just tells you where the best places to eat and sleep are, and what they cost.

Peter Edson's Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Behind all the big talk of increased national defense and mobilization measures, Kennedy administration officials seem convinced that Russia will not go to war over Berlin and the making of a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Russian Ambassador to Washington Mikhail Menzhikov let a similar eat out of the bag when he said he did not believe the United States would fight over Germany, either.

If both of these agreements are correct, then when the cold war ends—the way may be opened for serious negotiation between East and West over the future of Berlin and German unification.

The United States and its western allies have been propositioning the Russians for 15 years to settle this question and vice versa.

In 1946, when the then-Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and allied foreign ministers were negotiating peace treaties with the Russians for Italy and the Communist satellite countries of eastern Europe, he made a startling offer on Germany. He proposed a 25-year treaty to keep Germany disarmed.

If the Russians had accepted this offer, the treaty would still have 10 years to run, and Germany would now be at the mercy of the Communists, no better off than the East German Democratic Republic is today.

But Russia's Foreign Minister Vyacheslav rejected the Byrnes offer. The Russians demanded a 40-year disarmament guarantee and $10 billion in German reparations.

In the next eight years there was much cold war sparring and propaganda over Germany. But there were no real negotiations between East and West until the 1960 Big Four Foreign Ministers Meeting in Geneva. It was here that the United States, Britain and France presented their most comprehensive offer for settlement. This offer still stands.

It adheres to the fundamental principle that the German people have the right to determine by free elections their own way of life, their form of government, their foreign policy and alliances.

Then it sets out a four-phase plan: Establish a "United City of Berlin" by free elections, the four powers to guarantee the freedom of the city and access thereto, pending German unification.

Set up a "Mixed German Commission" of 25 from West Germany (population 23 million), 10 from East Germany (population 17 million) to draft a law for free elections. Decisions would be by three-fourths majority (77 out of 33 votes) so that East Germany could not be outvoted.

All-German elections to be held after a transitional period of two and a half years, under United Nations supervision. Delegates would be elected to an All-German Assembly which would draft an All-German Constitution and create an All-German Government.

This government would be responsible for negotiating an All-German treaty which would then be ratified by the four major powers, establishing peace.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, for the Russians, refused to accept this offer. And, as the western powers refused to accept Russian proposals which would force them out of West Berlin and open talks between East and West Germany on a parity basis, the conference ended with no other result than agreement for President Eisenhower and Chairman Khrushchev to exchange official visits.

Khrushchev came to America and at Camp David agreed to postpone further demands on a German settlement. Then came the U-2 incident which blew up the Paris Summit meeting in May 1960.

This was where matters stood until Khrushchev delivered to President Kennedy at the close of their Vienna meeting in June what is regarded as an ultimatum on Germany.

Its three main points are: Signing of a separate peace treaty between Russia and East Germany before the end of the year; creation of a free city of Berlin within the Oder-Neise river line as boundary between Germany and Poland.

These terms being unacceptable to the western powers, there is nothing to negotiate until one side comes up with some modified offer which the other side is willing to discuss.

Letters

To The Editor

Dear Sir:

There has been some discussion in The Herald with regard to unsightly commercial buildings in the business section of Sanford and of late we have been told of certain stench originating from dumped rubbish in another section.

To add to this collection of complaints, we could call to the attention of the appropriate officials that ever since the new Bus Terminal was opened on Second Street and Park Avenue, buses of two companies, trailer trucks and truck cabs have taken over Park Ave. causing noise, confusion, and emitting exhaust fumes, dust and "road mist."

We fail to understand the reason that these monstrosities are not routed (with all their attendant roarings) over route 17-92 as they formerly were, and where ordinary common sense would dictate that they should be driven.

This undesirable traffic cannot fall to depreciate real estate values on Park Ave. which has heretofore been a purely residential section for most of its entire length.

This situation should be rectified as surely as the others about which there has been so much newspaper comment. At best, it is indeed a public nuisance.

I would appreciate your publishing this letter, both as fair comment and in the interest of residents living on this Avenue.

Very truly yours,
 Ernest Bicknell,
 Attorney (Vt. Bar)

(Ed. Note: Greyhound officials have assured the city their buses will be re-routed next week.)

Editor:

Our hat is off to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for asking the School Board to hold the line on tax increases.

The chamber recommended that in the face of the national emergency that will call on us for sacrifices and increased taxation that plans which will increase taxation at the local level be foregone and that the school board give serious consideration to a trial period in one school of utilizing the building for twelve months on a student rotation basis to be determined by school authorities. The chamber agreed to revise its budget and cancel its request for additional funds of some $10,000 if the school board holds its present millage. This is a step in the right direction and deserves our support.

One of the official resolutions of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation is a sound efficient plan for utilizing our expensive school buildings twelve months of the year. Now we are told that under the present administrative set-up, it would be impossible to operate a single school on a twelve month basis. Perhaps some of the "nice to have" but unnecessary frills and inefficiencies could be cut from the budget and more emphasis placed on the 3 R's.

Raising taxes is contrary to the objective of the Chamber of Commerce in trying to induce new industries to locate in our county. The taxpayers in counties which recently have undergone reassessment as our county has have no protection under the law against excessive taxation by overzealous school officials. And once a new or higher tax is imposed, history has taught that it is never rescinded until our economy is gravely damaged. Our greatest need in solving our school dilemma is a broader tax base; thereby creating another goose to help lay the eggs. Let's back the Chamber's policy on holding down public expenses before we kill the one goose that now lays the eggs.

Sincerely,
 Robert E. Lee, President
 Seminole County Farm Bureau

Federal Suit Filed Against Bakeries

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—Five bakeries, fined in Federal Court recently for price fixing, have been given until Oct. 15 to answer a federal suit seeking triple damages for alleged bid-rigging at Florida Naval installations.

Ward Baking Co., American Bakers Co., Derst Baking Co., Flowers Baking Co., and Southern Bakers Co. were among seven bakeries fined a total of $45,000 after pleading no contest to the federal charges.

The suit, filed by the anti-trust division of the Justice Department, names no amount of damages asked. It will be up to the court to decide how much the Navy could have saved if competitive bidding had been in effect.

Yanks, 'Bums' Can Take Command Now

United Press International
Baseball experts on hand for the majors' second All-Star Game in Boston agreed that both front-runners have an excellent opportunity to take command of the race in the next two weeks — the Yankees because the Tigers seem to be fading and the Dodgers because they're overdue for a run of good fortune at home.

The Yankees begin an 11-game home stand against Kansas City this afternoon and then play Minnesota and Los Angeles at home before playing a three-game series at Washington. The Dodgers have a two-game series with San Francisco tonight and Thursday night and then play the Cubs, Braves, Cardinals and Reds. The Dodgers, 44-6 on the road and 50-22 at home, have won eight straight games and 19 of their last 11.

Both the Tigers and Reds have two-night doubleheaders today, the hard-pressed Tigers against the Senators and the Reds against the former Phillies. The Tigers have lost four of their last five games while the Reds recently bounced out of a five-game losing streak with seven victories in nine games.

For the moment, at least, both races must be viewed as two-team affairs. The Orioles, despite their heroics in New York last weekend, are 8½ games out of first place, including 10 in the loss column; the Giants are eight games behind the Dodgers.

The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates are 13½ games behind Los Angeles and at three games under the .500 mark are a lot closer to seventh place than to first. In the AL Cleveland and Chicago are still too far behind to be considered seriously, and in the NL the Braves and Giants need long winning streaks, probably, to become factors.

College Gridders To Open Drills

CHICAGO (UPI)—The College All-Stars were scheduled to get their first look tonight at Soldier Field, site of Friday night's nationally televised clash with the pro champion Philadelphia Eagles.

Coach Otto Graham said the squad would run through one drill on the Northwestern University campus where they have been training for a month and then would come here by bus to run through another scrimmage under the lights of the lake front stadium.

Graham said he wanted the players to become familiar with the vastness of Soldier Field where a crowd expected to reach 90,000 would view the game.

After today, only one more drill will be held. The squad will rest for the big charity game.

Tuesday, the All-Stars chose end Mike Ditka of Pittsburgh and linebacker E. J. Holub of Texas Tech as co-captains.

Ready For Action

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Red Sox removed pitcher Chet Nichols from the disabled list today and optioned southpaw Wilbur Wood to Johnston of the Eastern League. The Red Sox said Nichols who had been sidelined with a broken bone in his hand, will be available for action Wednesday.

Patriots Add Back

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Patriots of the American Football League have added back Burl Owens of Kent State University to their roster and dropped tackle George McGee from the rolls when the offensive lineman was inducted into the Army.

Knicks Sign Budd

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Budd Wednesday became the 10th New York Knickerbocker player to sign for the 1961-62 National Basketball Association season. A former Wake Forest star, Budd connected on .432 per cent of his field goal attempts last season.

THE HOME RUN saying of Roger Maris, left, has made the current super stars of baseball a triumvirate. The Fargo Flailer joined Willie Mays, center, of the San Francisco Giants and his New York Yankee teammate, Mickey Mantle. They're distance men.

Manager Pays Price For Outguessing Umpire

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ralph Houk, a clever, calculating thinker, starts paying the price today for trying to outguess an umpire.

Houk, freshman manager of the New York Yankees, was suspended Tuesday for five days and fined $250 by American League president Joe Cronin for his run-in with umpire Ed Hurley last Sunday.

The incident developed in the second game of a doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles. Baltimore had won the opener from the league-leaders, 4-0, and was ahead, 2-1, in the ninth inning of the nightcap when the Yankees loaded the bases with none out.

Clete Boyer, taking on a 3-2 pitch, was called out on strikes by Hurley and then pinchhitter Hector Lopez grounded into a double play to end the game.

At this point Houk charged out to home plate and started shouting at Hurley about the called third strike on Boyer. Hurley, in his report to Cronin, claimed that Houk jostled him.

Asked after the game why he hadn't protested the decision at the time Boyer was called out, the alert-thinking Houk, referring to the rule which calls for immediate objection on a protest of a ball-strike decision, had replied, "What good is a manager in the clubhouse?"

Alert at all times, the former major in the Rangers had tempered his steam to avoid dismissal.

al at a crucial time. And yet he still was tagged with the stiffest penalty ever inflicted by Cronin in his office of league president.

Houk, out on a fishing trip all day Tuesday, was glum when he arrived home and would comment only that he thought the penalty "pretty tough in view of the offense."

Yankees general manager Roy Hamey said: "I think the suspension is too severe for a first-time infraction."

Houk's suspension started at 12:01 this morning and runs through Aug. 6. Because of Yankee doubleheaders both today and Sunday, the major will sit out seven games.

Coach Frank Crosetti will take over active management of the Yankees while pitching changes will be decided by Johnny Sain. Although Houk will not be permitted anywhere on the playing field or on the Yankee bench during his suspension, he will make up the lineup each day and present it to Crosetti.

All-Star Decision Within Two Weeks

BOSTON (UPI)—A joint committee of players and ball club owners will meet within two weeks to decide whether to recommend two All-Star games again next year.

The final decision will not be made until the committee's report is submitted to the club owners at their December meeting in Miami Beach, according to Bob Friend and Gene Woodling, player representatives of the National and American leagues, respectively.

The player representatives of the clubs met here Tuesday and voted in favor of continuing to play two All-Star Games.

Friend, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said the players want two games primarily because the public wants two. He said All-Star attendance figures prove it.

The returns from the All-Star Games go toward the players' retirement fund.

Judge Robert Cannon, the players' attorney, said he would ask Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to set up the joint committee of player representatives and club owners to work out "practical details" of future second All-Star Games. Site of this meeting was not immediately decided upon pending Frick's action.

The player representatives also discussed the problem of Negro housing during spring training in Florida. Cannon said negotiations are underway between certain teams and communities in the Tampa-St. Petersburg, Fla., area. But he declined to discuss the nature of these negotiations.

Tampa Making Strong FSL Bid

By United Press International
Tampa's Tarpons, who ran away with the first-half pennant in the Florida State League, are making their strongest bid to grab the second-half flag.

The Tarpons, in second place behind Sarasota, cut the Sun Sox's lead to three and one-half games last night with a doubleheader victory over Palatka and Daytona Beach. Tampa left no doubt about either contest, whipping Palatka 8-1 and Daytona 7-1.

While Tampa was taking two Sarasota stumbled against sixth-place St. Petersburg, losing 6-5 despite getting all its runs in the seventh inning. Ken Dekker and Dick Simms led St. Petersburg's hitting attack. Dekker produced a pair of singles and a double and Sims drove in two runs with a long triple in the top of the seventh, when the Saints scored three times.

Leesburg scored an unearned run in the eighth and another in the ninth to top Orlando 4-2. The unearned tallies were an outgrowth of Leesburg having runners on base in all but one inning. The winners left 17 men stranded on the base paths.

Tonight's schedule includes Tampa and Orlando at Leesburg, Palatka at Sarasota and Daytona Beach at St. Petersburg.

Pro Cage Loop Meeting Set

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Basketball League will make final preparations to open the season in October at a meeting of officials of all eight teams starting today.

Items to be settled, Commissioner Abe Saperstein said, include rules, playing sites, an exhibition schedule, and players under contract.

More than 40 owners, coaches and business managers were expected to attend.

Saperstein holds the franchise for the Chicago Majors. Other teams in the league are the Pittsburgh Reas, Washington Caps, Cleveland Pipers, Kansas City Slicers, Los Angeles Jets, San Francisco Saints, and Hawaii Chiefs.

Games Sold Out

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—A complete sellout for all home games of the Green Bay Packers was announced today by Vince Lombardi, coach and general manager of the National Football League team. Lombardi said that 37,700 season tickets had been sold for the 1961 season.

Term Unsuitable

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Yale Lary, a member of the Texas state legislature, said Wednesday he has not been able to agree on terms for a 1961 contract with the Detroit Lions. Lary, a punting ace said he hoped to reach a satisfactory settlement before the end of the legislature's current 30-day special session.

Rides 2nd Triple

SALEM, N. H. (UPI)—Darrell Madden, Rockingham Park's leading jockey, scored his second straight triple Wednesday. Madden, with 13 winners since the July 3 opening, clicked with Royal Rube ($70.00), Gallant Eye ($27.40) and Prince Pauper ($11.20).

4 Sign Pacts

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Titans of the American Football League announced Thursday that they had signed 1961 contracts have been received from place kicker Bill Shockley, halfback Leon Burton, defensive end Nick Mumley and fullback Joe Palumbo.

Business Briefs

JACKSONVILLE — Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc., bought direct from Florida farmers nearly $8,000,000 worth of fresh fruits and vegetables during the food chain's fiscal year ended July 1, 1961. The figure represents only the purchases made through the company's three field-buying offices in this state.

The Plant City operation of Winn-Dixie purchased $2,764,790 in produce from that area, including nearly 1000 solid carloads of fresh Florida citrus, mostly oranges and grapefruit.

The company's Pompano buying unit paid out $1,803,625 to farmers in that area for an estimated 650,000 cases or hamper of perishables, which were sold through their 536 stores throughout the southeast.

Winn-Dixie's office at Pahokee purchased $12,029 cases of fresh merchandise and paid agricultural operators $1,372,731 for it.

S. C. Register, headquartered in Jacksonville, directs the produce operation of Winn-Dixie, whose primary consideration is moving Florida products first.

Woman Kills Self To Escape Story

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (UPI) — "Don't come down here. I'm taking a bottle of cyanide."

Mrs. Clarice Logsdon, 36, shouted those words to her father minutes before she was due in court Tuesday on charges she kept her mentally retarded and crippled 19-year-old son chained to a filthy bed in a basement garage.

"Call the sheriff and tell him to get my body," she called to the father.

Sheriff's officers found her body near the road that ran between her three-room shack and her father's hut. An empty cyanide bottle lay beside the body.

Charles Burgess 73, had promised to bring his daughter to court for arraignment on child neglect charges. He had warned deputies the day before that she would kill herself if they went ahead with plans to arrest her. They placed her home under surveillance and waited for Burgess to bring her to court.

Mrs. Logsdon's son, Billy L. Floyd, waited in the Floyd County jail today for court orders to place him in a state school for the mentally retarded. Deputies said he was cheerful and obviously happy to be released from the cellar prison that had been his home for no one knew how long.

One of the most highly competitive seasons of horse racing in track history is in view at Sunshine Park near Tampa. The 1961 meeting of 52 days gets underway on Jan. 13 and will continue through March 25.

Billhimer-Earle Wedding Solemnized At First Methodist Church, In Sanford

Miss Elizabeth Billhimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Billhimer, 306 Catalina Drive, Sanford, and Herbert Joseph Earle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Earle of Dearborn, Mich., were married July 23 at 4:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Sanford.

Rev. John T. Adams Jr., officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms and arrangements of pink and white chrysanthemums and gladioli.

Miss Joan Wilks, organist, presented a program of Bach prior to the ceremony and also played the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bone white imported linen street length sheath. A matching Irish lace jacket with elbow length sleeves and matching accessories completed the outfit. Her bouquet was centered with a brown orchid with curves of white carnations making a harmonious grouping.

Mrs. Eoghan Kelley was matron of honor and wore a mocha linen sheath with elbow length sleeves and matching accessories. Her bouquet was centered with white, with brown tinted carnations completing the design.

R. Glenn Earle, brother of the groom, was best man. R. Glenn Earle Jr. escorted the two mothers to their places in the church.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Billhimer wore a light pink dress with lace applique at the neck, pink accessories and a carnation corsage.

The groom's mother wore smoke gray lace over pink with navy hat and accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The refreshment table was covered with an imported Irish damask cloth and held an arrangement of pink and white chrysanthemums in which thin lighted tapers were burning. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Robert Brownings, Mrs. Ralph T. Cowan Jr., Mrs. J. M. Dennison, Mrs. Harold Kastner, Mrs. A. K. Shoemaker Jr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Wight II.

For traveling Mrs. Earle wore her wedding outfit and the orchid from her corsage. After a wedding trip to Nassau they will be at home at 155 Pinecrest Drive, Sanford.

Glenn Earle and children Glenn Jr., Susan, Nancy, Jon and Becky and a friend, Sandy Fox, all of Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Most Teens

Adept At Changing Hair Styles

The teen years are the perfect years in which to experiment with the way you look. Change your hair style often; it's fun. Most teens are adept at doing their own hair. Don't get stuck with a ponytail just because it's easy to do. Save a part of your allowance money for expert cutting and styling once a month. Let the hairdresser show you how to set your own hair in between.

No matter what your clothes type, put your money into the very best that you can afford. Better just one good raincoat than two or three cheap ones that go to pieces after one cleaning. In your teens, learn that quality is important.

This doesn't mean that you should yearn for labels or wish that you could wear them on the outside. It does mean that you should appreciate fine fabrics, honest tailoring and detailing. The only way to do this is to shop carefully. Never buy anything because it's "cute." Buy it because it's sound fashion, a pleasure to wear and a good buy for your money.

Have Fun Boating But Guard Against Severe Sunburn

By ALICIA HART, NEA Each summer, more and more Americans take to the water in a boat of some kind. And while there's plenty of fun aboard, it's wise to make adequate preparation for the inevitable blisters, bruises and sunburn.

While exhaustion, heat stroke and sunburn are common summer occurrences, they are also unnecessary. A measure of caution will prevent any of the three.

How should you sunbathe properly? Slowly and gradually, about fifteen minutes a day. Once you've acquired a tan, you can gradually increase the exposure.

And this is a reminder: sun-tan lotions and creams do not provide an umbrella against the sun. They work in conjunction with common sense.

If boating is your summer pleasure, there are four "must" items to take aboard. These are a first aid kit, first aid guide, fire extinguisher and life preservers. A compact and complete new marine first aid kit (waterproof and sinkproof) is available for the first time this year. In addition to the usual first aid supplies, the kit contains salt tablets, seasick pills and a tube for artificial respiration.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: One day last week a very attractive young man came to my door selling magazine subscriptions. I invited him in because I was interested. We talked a few hours and I fixed him coffee. I found him very appealing. He has a wife and children, but is having trouble at home and needed someone to talk to. When he left, he forgot his necktie and a large envelope with some business papers in it. I have his name and telephone number. Should I call him up and tell him to stop by and pick up his belongings? I would like to see him again. I am married, but my husband travels.

DEAR ABBY: Pile his "belongings" into an envelope and mail them to him. He had no business removing his necktie, and you shouldn't have encouraged him to make himself so much at home. You apparently found each other "appealing," which is the way people who are already "sewed up" become unraveled. Forget him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old, and my problem is this: My boy friend asked me to kiss him and I told him no because it wasn't a real date—he was just walking me home. Did I do the right thing? I like this boy very much, but am not allowed to date yet.

DEAR NOT: You did the right thing. But don't get the idea that when you are on a "real" date, you have to kiss every boy who asks you.

DEAR ABBY: We were married three years ago. We had a large wedding. My husband was still in the Service. Many of our friends offered to buy us dishes and glassware, but we had no place to store these things, so we didn't select a pattern. Now we are settled in an apartment, and would like to have these gifts. The friends who offered the glassware and china have never given us anything. We know their intentions were good. Would it be proper to let them know we could use their gifts now?

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers to you for saying a kind word about the girls in girly shows.

A generation ago I bumped (apparently) into enough money to buy my parents a little home. I also put my brother through law school. I was never ashamed of the way I made my living because I always lived right.

I went to church every Sunday morning, which is more than you could say for a lot of people who sat in the front row every Saturday night. Sincerely yours, FORMER FAN DANCER

Western Summit In Making

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan intends to meet with French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris by mid-September for consultations that could set off a Western summit, diplomatic sources said Tuesday.

The projected meeting will be devoted to a review of the Berlin problem as well as Britain's decision to enter the six-nation European Common Market on certain conditions.

The sources said the meeting could develop into a full dress Western summit or a series of bilateral meetings to firm up Allied policy on Berlin.

Bishop W. F. Moses Dies In London

WINTER PARK (UPI)—The Rt. Rev. William F. Moses, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal diocese of South Florida, died in London Monday while on a vacation trip he and his wife had planned for 30 years. He died of a heart attack suffered earlier.

Moses, 63, had been bishop with headquarters here since 1936. Before that, he served as Episcopal rector in Sarasota for four years and in Lakeland for 21 years. Survivors include his widow, two daughters, and a son. Burial will be in Florida but funeral services were incomplete.

The armadillo, a mammal, has all of four identical young, all of the same sex.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

A psychologist has proved by scientific tests that we doubt our own judgment more if a stranger disagrees with us than if someone we know well does.

Maybe the tests were necessary to prove that the rule applies to men. But any husband could vouch for the fact that wives rarely waver in a belief just because their nearest and dearest (that is, their husbands) dispute their judgment.

If a husband looks dubious about his wife's decision to put purple draperies in the living room, his wife just figures that he doesn't know anything about decorating. But let another woman raise her eyebrows at the mention of purple curtains and the wife begins to lose her serene self-assurance. Maybe, she begins to think, purple curtains would be a little too much.

A husband can tell his wife until he is blue in the face that she is spoiling the children and she doesn't pay the slightest attention. But let her come across an article by a stranger who voices the same ideas that her husband holds on childrearing and she begins to fret and worry over the way she has been handling it and junior.

Papa's comments on politics and world events as he reads his daily newspaper make scant impression on his wife. But let her go to a lecture and hear the same kind of critical comments and she rushes home to tell her husband exactly what he has been telling her for years.

That's why, of course, that husbands who are well broken into marriage dissent less and less as the years go by when their wives make positive statements or announce plans that have drawbacks an inexperienced husband would be quick to point out. They know full well that their protests will be taken lightly and quickly dismissed.

They also know there is always the chance that some mere acquaintance will raise a skeptical eyebrow and mama will suddenly be filled with doubts.

Jaycees Hear Talk On Credit

"In this country, 97 percent of the gross national product is disbursed on credit of one form or another," Sanford Credit Bureau manager Paul Lewis told the Jaycees, Thursday.

"Credit business is good business," said Lewis, "but when credit is abused it can quickly drag a family or a business into misery."

The Credit Bureau manager told the Jaycees that credit breaks down when the borrower becomes over-extended and burdens himself with more out-go than he has income.

"The Credit Bureau is a policing agency," Lewis said, "and as such does not make decisions for the merchant or business as to whom they will accept for credit customers."

The Bureau maintains records and files on nearly everyone in the county, under a three segment division of reporting, collection and medical credits division. The local office is affiliated with the Associated Credit Bureaus of America and as such has access to files and references from any part of the country.

One of the most important questions on the file cards which are filled out on each breadwinner in the county is his education status.

"Education controls income of a citizen more than any other factor," Lewis stated.

Concerning derogatory reports, Lewis said that these are caused by unsatisfactory accounts and repossessions of goods.

A reasonable amount of time is allowed for accounts to be brought up to date, before a derogatory mark is made on a customer's file, and the point where the customer falls down is in failing to notify his creditor when he is having financial difficulties. Often when this is the case, an adjustment or an allowance can be made, to keep the customer's account from getting a bad mark.

"A first class credit record is more valuable than money in the bank," Lewis said.

Three Survive 24 Hours In Gulf

TAMPA (UPI) — Three Tampa men recuperated Tuesday from spending almost 24 hours in the Gulf of Mexico after a boating accident.

A Coast Guard helicopter sighted Floyd Jordan, about 40, swimming off Anna Maria Island at 11:30 a. m. Monday. At 2 p. m., a Coast Guard patrol boat picked up Charles Hughes, 38, and Sam Comparetto, 48, five miles to the north.

They were thrown into the water at mid-afternoon Sunday when a sharp turn capsize their 15-foot motorboat en route from Anna Maria to Tampa.

In place of life preservers, the men ripped out portions of seat cushions—the kind never meant to serve as life preservers—before the boat sank.

Comparetto and Hughes were clinging to these when rescued, but Jordan said his became water-logged at midnight Sunday and he stayed afloat by floating and swimming.

He was sighted thrashing in the water by a Coast Guard helicopter crew, who directed a nearby motorboat to haul him aboard.

Comparetto and Hughes were hospitalized at St. Petersburg in good condition. Jordan refused treatment and was released.

No Hike Seen For Chamber

City Manager W. E. Knowles today submitted the 1961-62 Sanford budget to the City Commission for study. The proposed budget does not include any increases for the Chamber and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber had asked for an additional $5,000—raising its budget from $10,000 to $15,000. The Junior Chamber asked for an additional $400.

In his memo to the commission, included with the budget, Knowles said it is time for these organizations "to tighten their budgets."

The balanced budget as presented totals $1,072,849 with $798,199 of this amount for city operations and $274,650 for debt service.

The entire budget, according to Knowles, is based on the existing tax rate of 12 mills for city operations and six mills for debt service. Although cuts of materials and labor are continuing to rise, Knowles said that now is the time for the "taxpayers to do without or at least accept reduced services rather than to face increased tax bills."

According to Knowles, the proposed budget is directed toward maintaining a satisfactory level of services and does not attempt to broaden or increase either facilities or services.

Included within this budget is a City Commission contingency fund of $19,148 as compared with last year's fund of $16,708. From this contingency fund the commission must consider items that are not included in the estimated expenditures such as follows:

Fireman's Kelly Day—to provide a three day off period every 11 days requiring four additional men and a cost of $17,000.

There are three major divisions showing budgetary increases. A check of the proposed budget reveals:

The Fire department with $10,343—due to salary increases and enclosing fire station No. 2 equipment area on French Ave.; Parks—$5,821 increase—Replacing old truck.

Streets—an increase of $21,341—replace a dozer, street sweeper and truck plus the need to acquire a fill and clay pit.

Reds Hand Over Reply On Berlin

MOSCOW (UPI)—Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko received the American, British and French ambassadors today and gave them the Soviet reply to the Western notes on Berlin.

It was reported the Soviet notes reaffirmed the Kremlin's position laid down in Premier Nikita Khrushchev's memorandum to President Kennedy in Vienna.

Tunis President Threatens French

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—President Habib Bourguiba today accused France of mistreating Tunisian prisoners and threatened reprisals against French prisoners captured in the fighting for Bizerte.

Bourguiba said he has informed the French consul in Tunis that "if 24 hours from now this situation has not changed, the same fate will be reserved for French prisoners held by the Tunisian authorities."

A businessman has to keep on his toes for any type of request. Larry's Mart on Sanford Ave. was no exception. On the hottest day of the year as the temperature hit 98 degrees—a customer bought a sled.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce received the following letter:

"We are two young attractive teachers from . . . with an age old problem . . . We have been spending the latter part of our summer vacation in . . . at the home of one of our parents. Most of our shopping is done in Sanford because . . ."

"Having been here only a short time, we are unfamiliar with the local activities. We wonder if you could help us by suggesting some of these through which we could meet some nice young men?" If any of you "nice young men" out there are interested call me at the Herald and I'll fill in the blanks.

The Sea Scouts have undertaken a massive project to help pay for their new boat. The boys launch a three week paper collecting drive and will cover all areas of the city. Sea Scout officials ask that residents collect paper and save it for them. They will pick it up in about two weeks.

The local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous is continuing to assist people who have drinking problems. This worthwhile help is available to anyone who desires to get rid of the menace of alcoholism. A phone call to FA 2-8545, Sanford, will bring assistance.

By the way, the only light burning in Sanford Wednesday afternoon for a 10-minute period was in front of the Sanford Gas Company on First St.

Only 3.72 inches of rain fell in Seminole County during the month of July, according to the records at the Central Fla. Experiment Station. This compares to annual average of 7.33 for July, indicating that the rainfall for this year was only about half the usual amount.

Council To Meet
The Longwood City Council will meet in regular session for the month of August at 8 p. m. today in the City Hall.

Flying Bullets Halt Hijacking Of Plane

Bulletin

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—The hijackers of a Continental Airlines jetliner surrendered, the Texas Department of Public Safety announced today. Hostages were released and left the plane.

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Four men, at first believed to be Cubans, hijacked a $3 million Continental Airlines jet plane with 73 persons on board today. Police and border patrolmen prevented it from taking off for Havana with 10 hostages aboard by shooting the tires and riddling at least one jet engine with bullets.

G. B. Hartman, communications officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety, quoted his men on the scene as saying the hijackers were not Latins, but "anglos." This did not, however, preclude their being citizens of Cuba.

Hartman said two of the four had guns. The two with guns were holding one pistol at the head of a stewardess and the other at the head of the pilot.

Another hijacker was sitting in a window of the plane, laughing and making obscene gestures at a crowd of 200 DPS men, FBI agents, military men and police milling about.

Officials and passengers at first said the hijackers were Cubans. The hijackers, when they seized the plane shortly after it took off from Phoenix, Ariz., announced their intention of taking everybody on board — 73 persons, including themselves — to Havana.

But a pregnant woman showed signs of becoming hysterical, so they let 59 passengers off at El Paso and kept four volunteers as hostages, along with the six-man crew.

The plane which originally began the flight at Los Angeles, had to stop at El Paso for fuel. Attempts to talk the hijackers into leaving the huge 707 jet failed and the plane began to taxi down the runway. About 20 men opened fire. The bullets punctured the tires and disabled one engine.

The plane stopped, leaking jet fuel on the runway of the mountain rimmed airport. An FBI agent crawled into the baggage compartment and, it was reported, identified the hijackers by means of their baggage. The identity of the men, however, was not disclosed immediately.

Robert F. Six, president of Continental Airlines, rushed from his home at Denver to El Paso, presumably to discuss trading a piston engine DC7 plane for the jet.

Capt. B. D. Rickards, the pilot, was believed to have convinced the hijackers that a DC7 would be easier to land at Havana than the Boeing 707, which requires a long runway.

It was reported that the hijackers had even been offered a DCT off with an alien crew, but the offer, for some reason, was not accepted.

Members of the Committee of 100 met Wednesday night for the last time as such, and ratified the charter of a newly-formed organization, the Sanford-Seminole Development Company.

A business development corporation, the new company is designed to aid in the financing of business interests desiring to locate or expand in Sanford, and help to cut the red tape and months of delay often encountered in processing loans and mortgages.

At Wednesday's meeting, the members elected a board of directors and authorized them to select the form of stock certificate, also the corporate seal.

The board of directors was also authorized to issue capital stock from time to time as necessary and as required by the by-laws.

The board was further authorized to elect officers for the new company at a meeting to be held at a designated time.

Members of the new board of directors are the same men who were appointed as a temporary board while the re-organization was taking place. They are, Clifford McKibbin, Bob Crumley, R. J. Bauman, Mason Wharton, T. E. Tucker and F. E. Roumillat, Jr.

Campbell Apprehended

Campbell Pleads Not Guilty In Wife's Death

James M. Campbell, 38, today pleaded not guilty before Peace Justice Hugh Duncan to stabbing his wife to death with a butcher knife in Sunland Estates early Wednesday evening.

Campbell also waived preliminary hearing and was charged with first degree murder. He now will await the fall term of the grand jury in October. Campbell will be held in the county jail without bond.

Eyewitnesses said that Campbell plunged an eight inch knife into the heart of his wife, Betty Ann, to climax an argument at the home of friends at 704 Cherokee Circle. She was dead on arrival at Seminole Memorial Hospital at approximately 7 p. m. The stabbing occurred a short time after six, deputies said.

After the stabbing, Sheriff J. L. Hobby said that Campbell fled the scene and was apprehended by Florida Highway Patrolmen some three hours later on Hwy. 17-92 north of Deland.

Road blocks had been placed all along the highway and at about 8 p. m. Campbell made a telephone call from a friend's house in Orange City to the Mar-Lou Motel, located three miles south of Sanford. Campbell had been living in a duplex apartment behind the motel. Deputies said that Campbell asked the manager of the motel how his wife was and was told that she was dead. The manager urged Campbell to "give himself up."

After the Sheriff's office learned of the call, the road block was enlarged and Campbell was picked up at the 17-92 truck route SR 11 without any trouble. "He gave us no trouble at all," the Sheriff's office said.

The Campbell's had been invited to dinner by Chief and Mrs. Walter Kaywalter of Cherokee Circle. According to Mrs. Kaywalter, at the dinner table Campbell asked his host for a knife and then stabbed his wife and fled from the house.

When he was apprehended, Campbell refused to make any statement on the crime, Sheriff Hobby said.

The Campbell's, with their only child, a seven-year-old daughter, had been living in Seminole County for the past few months and had previously lived in Liberty, N. C. According to reports from the Sheriff's office, Campbell had been doing painting work here.

Kennedy Signs Arms Boost Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy signed a bill today giving him authority to pick an additional $1 billion worth of muscle into the nation's military arm to meet any shooting showdown with Russia over Berlin.

The measure, requested by Kennedy just a week ago Wednesday, sped through Congress at a near wartime rate. It was passed by the Senate last Friday and by the House Wednesday.

It was the second part of Kennedy's military preparedness program to meet the Berlin crisis.

The first, a resolution empowering the President to mobilize up to 250,000 reservists and extend tours of military duty by a year, was signed by Kennedy Tuesday.

The new law increases from $12.5 billion to $13.3 billion this year's authorized outlay for Army, Navy and Air Force missiles, planes and ships.
