

HARDING TO SOLDIERS URGES AID

In Peace Problems But Does Not Commit Self

SPARE NOTHING

TO MAKE WOUNDED SOLDIERS COMFORTABLE FOR LIFE—OTHERS ARE O. K.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12.—A message to former service men was delivered here yesterday by President Harding during his Sabbath activities at the oceanside, which included attendance at church, an address to veterans of the Fifth division. A. E. F., and an hour's stroll among the boardwalk crowds.

After attending the Chelsea Baptist church with Mrs. Harding and his other guests, the president found several hundred Fifth division veterans assembled in front of his beach front hotel when he returned. Standing on a chair, the president urged that former service men aid in solving the problems of peace as they have those of war.

"There is nothing too good in America for its veteran defenders," said the president. "All America is proud of what you and your division did at the Meuse. All America is proud of what our soldiers did in the critical days of the war."

Apparently referring to the soldiers' bonus legislation, President Harding declared that the nation would spare no efforts to care for its wounded and its disabled defenders.

"The man who came back wounded and impaired in ability to carry on the vocation of his life deserves the fullest aid in our power to give, and I propose to use all the influence, I have to see that he gets it," he said. "But I am not so much concerned with those who came out of the war unimpaired. They have the compensation of supreme service and experience. You may be disappointed with matters of legislation, but I want you to know that we are interested in your welfare."

"I am not unmindful of the job you did over there. I am not unmindful of the service you rendered to the country under your former commander, and I ask that you will render me the same faithful service during the years I am in office. There is still greater service to be rendered in establishing national lines of peace. It is up to you to help solve the problem that has been thrust upon us by the enemy from within."

"I want this to continue as an America of opportunity and service and as an America of grateful appreciation."

MORE ARE ARRESTED IN HICKMAN MURDER SPECIAL JURY TODAY.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 12.—The county grand jury will meet in special session today for the second time in connection with the killing of Geo. H. Hickman, local theatre manager and attempted robbery of the theatre last Sunday night. The body was ordered convened by Circuit Judge Gibbs today following the arrest of John Pope, local attorney, and Irwin Novitzky, an electrician, on charges of being implicated in the tragedy. Police last night were still searching for Johnnie Novitzky, alias Mayfield, said to be Novitzky's wife, wanted on similar charges. Pope and Novitzky were first arrested on charges of suspicion, but later formal warrants were sworn out alleging that the two men were accessories before the fact in an attempt to commit a felony and the commission of a murder.

It was stated that the trial of Frank Hawkins on a charge of murdering Hickman, set for today would probably be postponed pending the result of the grand jury's investigation of the charges against the other men. Officials did not disclose the information leading to the arrest of the two men and denied rumors circulating that Hawkins had made a confession implicating the two men. Hawkins entered a plea of not guilty at his arraignment.

Glaring headlights on a car bound in the opposite direction were responsible.

RAWLINGS' TRIAL IS POSTPONED UNTIL MONDAY

OTHER PARTIES WANTED HAVE ALL BEEN ARRESTED NOW

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 12.—The trial of Rollins, alias Rawling, for the murder of Hickman, scheduled for this morning was postponed until next Monday, just before the grand jury met in special session to consider charges against John Pope, attorney, and Irwin Novitzky, electrician, arrested Saturday in connection with the case as a result of an alleged confession by Rollins. Johnnie Novitzky, wife of Novitzky, was arrested at Seminole Sands, near Fort Myers, Saturday, arrived here this morning in charge of deputy sheriff.

WEALTHY FLORIDA FARMER MURDERED.

MOORE HAVEN, Sept. 12.—The body of Eugene Haskell, aged 50, farmer and fruit grower of the Citrus Center neighborhood, was found in a drainage ditch between here and that place this afternoon. The man had been missing for several days, and while the body was so decomposed as to make the cause of death only a matter of conjecture, the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of "death by violence at the hands of some person unknown, the motive being robbery."

The pockets of his clothes were turned inside out and his watch and rings were missing. Haskell was last seen the afternoon of September 7, driving along a road near where the body was found today. With him was a negro. The next morning the horse and wagon were found about a mile and a half distant from where the body was located today. There was no trace of Haskell or his companion. The search for the body continued until it was found today.

Haskell was a man of considerable means. His family, including wife and three children, reside in Waldo, Kas., from which place he came about a year ago.

Palatka Will Send Delegation to Orlando Meeting

MOVEMENT GROWS

NEW WHOLESALE HOUSE START AT KISSIMMEE—TRUCKED FROM SANFORD.

The Ship by Truck movement is growing, and the ship by water movement is growing with it. The best thing the railroads ever did was to attempt to raise the freight rates when they were already high enough and force the shippers to cast about for a cheaper means of transportation. Necessity is the mother of invention, and necessity is also the mother of great ideas. It is only when we are forced to look for better things through necessity that we get these better things, and shipping by water, putting on more boats on the river, shipping by truck and building more and better roads, are only among the many good things that will come from high freight rates on the railroads. It will even go so far that in a few short years there will be an interurban line from Sanford to Kissimmee—that dream that was taken up a few years ago and was killed by the war. In fact if the people of the inland cities of Florida will only stick together on the ship by truck and ship by water idea this part of Florida will be the greatest and the busiest place in the south. Already we are beginning to feel the effects of this great movement. A new wholesale grocery started in Kissimmee last week and all their supplies were shipped to Sanford and trucked to Kissimmee, thus saving a large amount of money on freights. Other wholesale houses in Kissimmee and Orlando and other cities will do likewise and this movement will spread until it will be a rare thing in later years for the wholesale business to ship by rail unless they are forced to do so with goods arriving from the middle west that cannot be shipped by water.

The meeting to be held in Orlando tomorrow night will be attended by a committee from Sanford, and all the cities that are vitally concerned in this great movement, and they will come from as far north as Palatka.

C. M. BERRY HONORED WITH GOLD FOUNTAIN PEN.

C. M. Berry was formerly the county agent of Seminole county, and stood high in the ranks of county agents all over the State of Florida. He was elected president of the county agent's organization, and at a banquet of the association at Gainesville the other day, when his resignation was read, the county agents present decided to send Mr. Berry a token of their appreciation, and sent him a fine gold fountain pen with his initials engraved thereon. Mr. Berry prizes the gift very highly, and will keep it in loving remembrance of the many good friends he has made among the agents of the State.

(By The Associated Press) PORTSMOUTH, Va., Sept. 12.—The discovery yesterday of a giant mine three feet in diameter, coated with barnacles and oysters and provided with electrical firing device, washed ashore at Oceanview, near here, has given rise to the theory that perhaps several of the ships lost off the coast recently may have been sunk by striking one of these explosive derelicts.

Property Damage Fixed at Eight Million Dollars

DEATHS UNCERTAIN

SOME ESTIMATE THEY WILL TOTAL ONE HUNDRED OR MORE.

(By The Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 12.—Relief funds totalling more than seventeen thousand dollars had been subscribed today by citizens of San Antonio toward coal of twenty-five thousand for relieving distress of those who lost possession in the flood of Saturday morning. Property damage is fixed at not more than eight million dollars by C. D. Yandel, general manager, of the Chamber of Commerce, while the death list is uncertain. Some estimates running it as high as one hundred dead, including forty-seven bodies recovered.

The city proper has been crippled all day from the flood. There have been no lights nor street car service because of electric power. Water has been running in the mains in a few portions of the city, and the pressure is weak at these places. City officials said late yesterday that the water pressure would be turned on before today and it is thought electric current also will be available today.

City Building Inspector John L. Richter, estimated the damage to buildings at approximately $700,000. He said that no large buildings have been damaged permanently and that none is in a dangerous condition. Hardly any of the damaged businesses carried flood insurance either on the buildings or stock.

Precautions to prevent an epidemic are being taken. A check by D. D. Harrigan, city engineer, showed that thirteen of the twenty-seven bridges spanning the San Antonio river are virtually undamaged. At first it was thought all but four were damaged, but with the removal of debris and driftwood today, it was found that thirteen still are safe and sound. Only one bridge was washed away.

The rapidity with which the water receded after rains stopped is accounted for by the city being at the headwaters of the three streams.

A rigid restricted area was roped off today and guarded by policemen and soldiers from Fort Sam Houston. The Red Cross and other similar organizations opened relief headquarters yesterday and all last night and today, bread was passed out to the hungry and clothes given other sufferers.

There was limited telephone service yesterday. Small automobiles were backed up to the dynamos, rear wheels jacked up and belts put over the rims for power.

In compliment to Miss Helen Peck, whose marriage takes place Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church.

The pretty color motif, pink and green, was used in the decorations. Quantities of pink vine and fern being used. These graceful vines were entwined around the chandeliers, over the doors, windows and cabinets.

A contest, "What Will the Bride Wear," caused much enjoyment. Miss Daphne Wimbley, guessing the most correctly, was given the prize, a box of correspondence cards. Progressive "Old Maid" created much merriment. Miss Anna DuBose, being "Old Maid," was presented with a Kewpie doll dressed as a bride holding a cat.

The gifts were presented in a most attractive manner. A boat, "Courtship," in which little Miss Louise Purdon sat, was drawn in by Master Francis Roumillat as "Cupid," who presented the gifts to the honoree.

Refreshments of green and white ice cream and cake in green and white topped with tulle bags filled with rice, and tied with ribbons were served by the hostesses.

Miss Peck was most attractive in a brown baronet satin and georgette frock.

About forty guests enjoyed this affair, which was a pretty compliment to the honor guest, Miss Peck.

DINNER PARTY.

A dinner was given in honor of the newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Stiles, formally Miss Winnie Hooper, of Cardiff, England, by Mr. and Mrs. J. Collins, at their pretty bungalow in the west of town.

Great credit is due the hostess, Mrs. Collins, and her out of town guest, Mrs. W. Hanley, of Jacksonville, who did the honors for the occasion. After the dinner which was served a la Anglais, followed by coffee, ice cream, cake and cigars, music and singing was indulged in up to 12 o'clock, when the party of some twenty-five couples, began to make a move for home, every one expressing their pleasure at the success of the evening.

Mrs. Stanley's splendid work in the Federation fits her for this place, and the Palmetto Club honors itself in presenting Mrs. Stanley.

SANFORD COMMITTEE WILL URGE SHIP BY WATER TUESDAY.

The "ship by water" campaign committee of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce will meet with the transportation committee of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. The Sanford delegation is making a strong fight to get the whole of Central Florida united in an effort to combat the excessive freight rates which the railroads are imposing on Florida's growers and shippers.

The "ship by water" movement is receiving wide publicity and arousing universal interest among the farmers, citrus growers and business men of the state.—Orlando Sentinel.

ROBERT DEANE WRITES FROM ALABAMA WILDS.

The following letter from Robert Deane says he has gained five pounds which we opine makes his total weight 90 pounds:

New Brocton, Ala., Sept. 9, 1921.
Well, here I am up in the wilds of Alabama. Roads are fine and the little Essex is there with the hill climbing. Have gained 5 or 6 pounds; eating fried chicken three times per day and sleeping six hours a night. Cotton is moving now, and times seem prosperous. Am with a party of five of my kin people. We leave tomorrow for Florida, but don't expect to get to Sanford before the 25th. If Sargh, Ball was here he would have some time.

PLENTY ROAD MATERIAL IN COUNTY OF MARION BUT CANNOT BE USED.

OCALA, Sept. 10.—Although the state is in need of more hardsurfaced highways, raw material beside and often under the rind which need improvement cannot be used because of legal technicalities. Marion county of which Ocala is the county seat, has vast stores of limestone, immense outcroppings of flint rock and huge quantities of fine sand. Roads constructed of this material, however, must have cement or asphalt binding and the processes have been so tied up as to prohibit the use of either by a community unless it pays a royalty to some concern outside the state.

While Marion county roads must await the untangling of the red tape necessary to obtain the binding material, enterprising citizens are shipping rock and sand out of the county daily, in fact a great deal of the money in circulation in Marion county is derived from the sale of crushed rock and sand. One concern shipped from its crusher at Kendrick one day this week fourteen cars of crushed rock to points in Sumter, Taylor and Pinellas counties. This firm recently completed a shipment of 250 cars to Favara, which town is now paving its streets with Marion county rock, bound with asphalt cement. The material is in live demand from the Georgia line to Key West, much of it being used in Jacksonville.

TOO MUCH NOISE FOR QUIET GAINESVILLE WHISTLE BLOWING TABOO.

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 10.—A stiff legislative battle was fought here recently when a member of the city council offered an ordinance compelling the city to blow the water works' whistle on every hour of the day and night until the clock in the court house tower, which has refused to run with any regularity during the past month, should be put in repair by the county authorities.

The motion met with polite but firm protest from the city attorney, who pointed out that he lived in the vicinity of the water works and that it would never do to have the whistle blown, anyway.

Another councilman objected on the ground that he had moved to Gainesville to escape the shrieking of a sawmill whistle and to secure peace and quiet during his evenings.

When the motion was revised to require the blowing of the whistle only between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m., a third councilman assailed it as smacking of class legislation, in that permitted the nocturnal slumbers of the day worker to be undisturbed, while his less fortunate fellow who labored through the stilly night and sought his hard earned rest at sunrise would never know a full hour's peace under its cruel and unusual provisions.

Capping the climax came the fire chief, who insisted that such confusion would result from using the whistle both as a fire alarm and an alarm clock.

The motion was lost.

The wheat farmers, notwithstanding the low price are turning loose the crop in large quantities and presumably paying their debt. The wheat exports for August were an excess of 33 million bushels, about four times the volume of any pre-war August. If cotton holds up to present prices and the planters sell, the problem of extended credits to the farmers will solve itself.

CLEAN-UP SQUAD IS COMING TO ADJUST EX-SOLDIER CLAIMS.

Beginning next Thursday, Major W. L. Corbine, special field representative of the American Red Cross, who is already in Orlando, will send his force of aids into the local field for four days in one of the celebrated Red Cross "clean up weeks" which aims to enable all ex-service men to secure proper adjustment of all claims or believed claims which they might hold against the United States government.

The clean up squad of seven government workers is expected to arrive in the city not later than next Wednesday and at 9 o'clock Thursday morning headquarters will be established at the Orlando Chamber of Commerce. Throughout the four days examinations will be made, questions will be answered and claims of any nature will be adjusted.

Major Corbine, who arrived in the city yesterday to complete all preliminary arrangements for the "clean up week", has just finished such a week in Miami. He stated yesterday that the government will bear the expenses of any ex-service man, who must necessarily come from a distance to present his claim at the headquarters, while the man is in the city and will be responsible for his return fare. Those who are unable to make the one-way trip are urged by the major to get in communication with Charles R. McCann, squad manager, through the local office of the American Red Cross, and steps will be taken for his provision.

According to Major Corbine, it is expected that the seven workers, with the assistance of the Red Cross and American Legion, will be able to complete their work in this section in the allotted four days but in the event that it is not completed it will be continued until every case has received the necessary attention. Office hours of the squad will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., or longer if necessary, Major Corbine said.

In addition to the manager, others connected with the squad include Miss Eleanor Derkin, Red Cross contact woman, Dr. Roy S. Hampton, R. M. Mitchell, publicity man, and three others. Stenographers and other clerical workers will be supplied by the local organizations.

It is Major Corbine's belief that the squad is effecting some good work throughout the state and that when the activities have been completed every want or need of ex-service men for which the government is responsible will have received the proper attention. Reports from other cities show that 500 claims were adjusted in Jacksonville; 160 in Daytona; 165 in Fort Pierce; and 100 in West Palm Beach.—Orlando Sentinel.

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS has an atmosphere, and so have other places in Seminole County; but Altamonte's atmosphere has the peculiar quality of a Lodestone—it's inhabitants may remove to other places in other climes, but they always return or have a very strong desire to do so, and of course there is that—not very mysterious reason—Altamonte's beauty—for all humanity is drawn to beauty.

Altamonte Springs is placed in such a favorable location, that her man-made beauty, combined with the natural beauty, forms the Alta-Monte that we know today. The Altamonte of George Frost of Boston, of Herman Westinghouse of the great Westinghouse Electrical Company—who were among its founders—is not the Altamonte of today. Founded as the home of rich men only, we now reach out for residents of humbler means also, as we realize that riches alone do not make a town livable.

It stands to reason that the state was scoured by these wealthy men to find their ideal before founding their town. Therefore Altamonte's location is the pick of the state.

Altamonte Springs has an altitude of 220 feet—thus getting pine filtered sea air from the Atlantic Ocean 30 miles to the East, and the Gulf of Mexico to the West, forming that wonderful ozone known as the "Atmosphere of Altamonte" and when combined with the odor of orange blossoms and jassamine in season, and this combination comes breezing into one's window 24 hours a day, it is bound to give the ailing their health, and the healthy more health and joy of living.

Altamonte Springs has in its territory hundreds of acres of orange and grapefruit groves in high state of cultivation, and has within her boundaries five beautiful lakes with clean, sandy shores, no marshy borders. Lake Orienta (upon which is located the "Altamonte Hotel", famous among tourists all over the country for its wonderful cuisine and excellent management of its owners, George E. Bates & Son) is the largest of these lakes and is noted for its black bass fishing, which is jealously guarded by the owners of the land surrounding the lake, who welcome the true fisherman with sporting ideals.

The "Altamonte Hotel" is located at the east end of this lake, upon a bluff overlooking the full length of its waters. Lake "Adelaide" is across a park to the rear of the hotel, and upon this lake is the "Altamonte Spring" of absolutely pure water.

The paved highway from Jacksonville to Tampa and all South Florida passes through Altamonte. A day's ride in an automobile may encompass two hundred miles in any direction without leaving a fine paved road, making Altamonte an admirable location for automobilists, a fine large garage is under construction and will be open for business in a few weeks, two stores with filling stations are handy and every advantage enjoyed in a city at hand.

Altamonte Springs is located on the Tampa and Jacksonville Division of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and gives fine service, Western Union Telegraph office, Express and Third Class Postoffice, Electric Lights, beautiful shady streets of large oaks, within 14 miles on brick highway of Sanford, and 9 miles on brick highway to Orlando. Winter Park, with Rollins College, is on the same road just five miles to the South.

The hotel is the center of social life with card parties, dances, etc., and Altamonte's winter residents and home-folks are of a superior order and of a prosperous, enlightened class. Our surrounding country and neighboring towns of Longwood and Maitland are of the same order and are fine neighbors, and are only two miles away to the North and South.

The practical side of Altamonte Springs is not to be slighted in this article, for, aside from her fruit industry, Altamonte is noted as having 40 acres in covered conservatories devoted to raising the beautiful Asparagus Plumosis fern used by florists. This is shipped in season mostly to the north, and the industry represents an investment of over a quarter of a million dollars and a payroll of hundreds of dollars a week. Hon. Charles D. Haines, ex-congressman from New York, heads the largest of these conservatories, The Royal Extension Fernery, Incorporated.

Mr. B. L. Maltbie, of the Maltbie Chemical Works, of Newark, N. J., is one of Altamonte's latest developers, and is planning a great future for us this winter.

Altamonte has a Chamber of Commerce, whose Secretary, W. B. Ballard, is always glad to give information upon request. Altamonte Springs has just recently been incorporated and is officered by unsalaried men of progressive ideas, but within keeping with a low millage.

George E. Bates and Son are men to whom Altamonte Springs owes much, as many coming as their guests buy property here and stay as residents.

Palm Springs, a noted resort, is only two and one-half miles through the pine woods to the Northwest of Altamonte. Here Mr. Lester Beeman has spent thousands of dollars to give a pleasure resort for the free use of the public, and one that is greatly appreciated. Mr. Beeman has a pretty little cottage at the Spring as have others from Sanford and Longwood.

Altamonte Springs has never been boomed or exploited, but is now on the verge of a growth that will not be sporadic, but steady and substantial.

A peculiar circumstance is the fact that there is only one "Altamonte Springs" in the world, and we are "IT". Numbers of "Altamontes" appear in the Postal Guide, but only one "Altamonte Springs."

Great weather, yes.

And when that storm comes it will be cooler.

And Florida weather is the best brand yet. All of those who have been away this summer say so.

All we need now is a nice little rain that will last all night and bring us those cooling breezes that we are needing.

There are some of the biggest things in store for Sanford that this city has ever had. Keep pushing, keep boosting, keep advertising. We are building a great city here.

Are all of the business men of Sanford shipping by water? If not, you are slacking. Of course there are many instances where you cannot ship by water, but there are also many times you can ship by water when you do not stop to think about it. Think about it now.

Says the Tampa Tribune: "Some how we never have known a bald-headed fat man who was not an optimist." John, you haven't met 'em when they get up in the morning.—St. Petersburg Times.

Oh, we don't know so much about that. We seem to get up in the morning all right.

Speeding trials and convictions for those guilty of crime will do much toward stopping the night riding and the restlessness that is current everywhere. People are becoming tired of the law's delays and the subterfuges that endeavor to evade the laws of the country. Life is held too cheap, too many pistols are being carried, the fundamental principles upon which this government is built are being ignored.

Judge Cheney, in his speech the other night, was not "spoofing" when he said Sanford and Orlando needed a forty foot boulevard between the two cities. It may be some time in the future, but it would be the best money ever spent by the two counties. Anyone traveling this road now and especially on Sunday, will see that the general judge knows whereof he speaks. And Mr. Phillips' idea of planting trees and flowers and shrubs all along the right of way is also good. This should be built in honor of the boys of the World War and no statues of bronze should be built until this roadway is constructed. It would be the greatest memorial highway and honor to the soldier dead that any country has ever built. Let us build it.

The Sanford Herald says, "It seems almost certain that two of our principal corners will have four-story buildings on them in the near future," and bases its prediction upon plans and projects that have been discussed. Sanford has grown wonderfully the past year or two and is forging right ahead. Among other things Sanford expects to have a tourist camp, for automobile travelers, although the matter has not been fully decided. If a camp is established it will be on modern plans and with every provision for comfort and safety.—Times-Union.

THOSE WHO WORK AND—

There are many people in many towns who never work at building up their city. They may be fast workers for themselves, they may work from dawn till dark on their own particular business, they may be the most industrious persons in their own home town—but they never give any of their time for their own home town. They are never seen at a public meeting, they are never seen gathered where men gather who are anxious to do something for their town as well as for themselves, they are never seen anywhere except stuck back in their own particular office or with their own particular affairs after office hours. Of course it is not absolutely necessary or obligatory that every man take an interest in his own town affairs, it is not incumbent upon him to spend any of his good time working for his town,—there are always others who will do this work for him while he sleeps.

There are always the boosters who go ahead and do things regardless of what they might get out of it and without thinking what what they might gain from it.

A lady assistant to the secretary of one of the Florida cities in writing about her impressions of the people who make up a board of trade or chamber of commerce said the following big truth:

"I learned the difference between the 100 per cent. citizen and the 33-1-3 per cent. citizen, or the one who was ever ready to answer the call of the city's need, no matter how pressing his personal affairs might be and the one who though he wouldn't put a straw in the way of progress along any line would not lend the strength of his little finger to help push, but who stayed on the outside and criticize and complain of the efforts of those who did."

What a great truth, what a great truth. You see them every day.

THE SALARIED MAN'S INNING.

The "white collar man" came in for a great deal of deserved pity the last few years. His cost of living mounted along with everybody's else's, and his salary failed to mount correspondingly. The manual trades had the call. The wage-earner could earn two or three times as much as the salary-walker, though in most cases able to live comfortably on less, on account of the different standard.

Now the situation, though not exactly reversed, is much changed. The salaried man is not overpaid now as the wage-earner was during the boom, but his living expenses have gone down, while his salary has been cut little or not at all. The wage-earner has had to stand a considerable cut in pay. More important still, the salaried man still has his job, while the once plethoric workman in many cases has none.

Thus gradually the old order reasserts itself. It is seen that the old standards were not altogether wrong, after all, and have not been permanently overturned by the big war.

The difference between salaries and wages will hardly be gain so great as it used to be and neither will the social distinctions connected with them. There has probably been lasting improvement in the direction of equality and democracy. There is new recognition that a man's a man, whether he wears a white collar or blue jeans. But there is also renewed recognition of the fact that brains are, after all, more valuable than brawn, and knowledge has economic value, and the world has been right, all these centuries, in the premium it put on knowledge. There is, accordingly, a new and wholesome interest in education developing among wage-earners themselves. That is fortunate for them and for society, because it is the way of progress.—St. Augustine Record.

TO PROTECT THE FRUIT GROWERS.

The Sentinel did not know that all the growers and shippers in Florida had agreed not to market fruit before September 26, but it did know that many had agreed to such a plan. Keeping green fruit from Florida off the Northern markets would be a wise procedure and would mean greater prestige for Florida citrus fruit, and better prices.

The Miami Metropolis says: Showing an intelligent understanding of their business that is eminently encouraging, the fruit growers and shippers of Florida have agreed to send no citrus fruit to Northern markets until September 26.

The arbitrary date was set in the belief that by a delay of shipping until that time there will be less chance of putting green, sour fruit on the markets, and again ruin things for the citrus industry.

By sending green, sour fruit to market in other years, Florida growers have done themselves, and their state grave injury. People in Northern towns have bought such fruit, found that they had been miserably cheated, and for the rest of the winter they have gone to market, demanding that their grapefruit be from California!

Following the arrival of a car load of green fruit in a northern market, a car load of ripe and delicious grapefruit would find the prices shot to pieces. The man who sent the green fruit likely will receive a good price for his swindle—that ONE time—but the car load of good fruit that followed his swindle car would frequently be a complete loss to the shipper. And Florida grapefruit in general would find a sorry welcome in that particular market.

But this is to be stopped. The intelligent shippers of Florida—and most shippers in Florida are intelligent—are realizing that the way to guard against the shattering of the citrus fruit market this fall is to see that Florida grapefruit is something worth buying when it reaches the markets in the North.

The Metropolis believes that there is not a fruit grower or fruit handler in Dade county that will violate the agreement to wait until September 26 before sending fruit to market, and that there are not many fruit men in other parts of the state that will be foolish enough to endanger the good prices that should prevail this fall and winter for Florida-grown grapefruit.—Orlando Sentinel.

WHO, WHAT, HOW, WHEN, WHERE AND WHY.

Here is a good rule that many correspondents and reporters have found valuable:

See that every story you write answers these questions: Who, What, How, When, Where, and Why.

A story that answers these questions is quite likely to be complete. Any details that may be added will serve but to elaborate upon one or all of interrogatives.

"Who" is the principal person, persons, or thing about which the story revolves.

"What" should show the nature of the thing done which makes the interest.

"How" tells the manner in which the thing was done.

"When" gives the hour or time of day and day of the week.

"Where" tells the location of the action being described.

"Why" should give a reason or motive behind the action.

If you will remember these six points I'll bet they'll prove a lot of help in your correspondence and make you more observant in other ways.—Port Huron Herald.

HOMES OR MOTOR CARS.

Facts and figures being published concerning the building activity of the country for the past year show conclusively that more garages were built than homes. It is reasonable enough to suppose that some of the garages were constructed where the owners already occupied a home, and needed additional quarters for the new vehicle, presuming that in the days before the motor car they kept horses and carriages. But this latter presumption is, of course, merely put in for amusement, as everyone understands that the clerk and small tradesman, the man on a small salary and even one considered to be doing very well, had neither horse nor carriage, and used public conveyances for his journeys, whether on pleasure or business bent. The number of garages constructed shows that they far outdistanced the building of home—and it is found that practically every rented house has a garage, very often constructed at the expense of the tenant.

Newspapers commenting upon the enormous number of automobile garages constructed in the United States the past twelve months have suggested that this is one of the explanations of high rents. People who could have afforded to buy or build a home have bought, instead, a motor car and built for it a small house, which goes to the owner of the land if the tenant moves. It isn't to be suggested that the owners of the automobiles have not gotten their money's worth. At lot of people claim that their health has been improved by having a car, and there are many thousands who have figured it out to a satisfactory point and declare that the car is an aid to their business or profession and practically indispensable.

Following the trend of practically everything the automobile is now coming down to a point where it will not be beyond the reach of the average man or woman, and with a better understanding of machinery and the greater care in operation that comes with a new generation taking hold it may be that in a few years there will be an automobile for every family and a garage on every lot. It would be well, however, to own the lot, and the house that stands in front of the garage, or the man on whose lot you have built a garage will raise your rent because it is more valuable. Homes are necessities—automobiles are not necessities for all of us, although very desirable.

Despite the talk that is sometimes heard concerning the expenses attendant upon owning a home the sensible man knows that it is cheaper to own a house than to rent one—for the landlord plans to get just the same protection that must be secured by the owner, plus a good percentage on the value of the property. The country needs homes and it is pleasant to find that in Florida at least a very large number of homes have been built in the past year. It is mighty fine to have a home and an automobile, but prudence suggests that the home be secured first.—Times-Union.

POISON THE ANNOYING ANT.

Mr. Farmer, are you annoyed by ants in your seedbeds? There is a remedy for this trouble and you should avail yourself of its benefits. Professor J. R. Watson, entomologist of the Florida Experiment Station, has the following to say about ants and how to combat them:

"At this time of year (late summer and early fall) we hear many complaints concerning the depredations of ants in the seedbed and of their annoying presence in houses. The best treatment whenever the nests can be found is a solution of sodium or potassium cyanide in water. For this purpose dissolve an ounce of the cyanide in 2 quarts of water. With a cane or a sharp stick punch a hole a foot or more deep in the center of the hill and pour in a few fluid ounces of the solution. As soon as the liquid has sunk away, cover up the hole with dirt and tramp the surface solid. The gas given off will find its way through the ant hills and will kill all the ants and pupae (hatching ants) present. It is best to do this in the early morning or at night when all the ants are at home.

"This substance must be handled carefully as it is one of the most powerful poisons, either inhaled or swallowed, or if gotten into sores or broken places in the flesh or skin.

"Carbon disulphide can be used in the same manner but is more expensive and is highly inflammable. Kerosene can be used in the same manner also, but it does not penetrate the soil readily. It is best to treat all ant hills with cyanide solution before the beds are planted."

10,000 SQUARE MILES AFFECTED BY TEXAS FLOOD

HOUSTON, Tex. Sept. 12.—Reports of loss of life and property damage other than that at San Antonio as a result of Friday night's deluge mounted steadily today with restoration of communication into the central Texas flood district. Last night it had been established that an area extending north as far as Georgetown, south to below San Antonio, west to San Marcos and east to Calvert and Bryan, or approximately 10,000 square miles, felt the effect of flood waters.

Thirteen persons, mostly tenants in the lowlands, are known to be dead with a possibility of this being increased when more accurate reports are available.

Property loss is regarded as almost beyond estimate. It is believed that the loss to growing crops may run into millions of dollars, while livestock losses will account for hundreds of thousands of dollars more.

Georgetown reports two persons dead and three missing with property damage of approximately half a million dollars. Sixteen inches of rain in twenty-four hours sent all streams out of bounds and cattle and cotton in the lowlands are a total loss.

In addition to the thousands of square miles of central Texas already hit, more southern sections now are menaced by the onrushing water.

The San Marcos river is on a rampage, much baled cotton has been washed away and ungathered crops are almost complete losses, reports indicate.

The Little river and Big and Little Brazos also are running full. Calvert and Bryan report five dead from the streams and property and crops damaged about $1,000,000.

At Bastrop, in Brazos county, the Colorado river went over her banks Saturday night and did great damage.

At Hearne, the Brazos and Little rivers last night were falling, but great damage is left in the flood's wake. Six negroes are known to be dead.

An area four miles wide from Temple to Hearne was under water at an average depth of fifteen feet, reports state.

BURGLARS OUT AGAIN.

The home of Ben Guthrie was entered last night while the family were taking a ride, and when they returned home, saw the man running from the rear door of the house. He had started ransacking the place but was scared off before he could get anything. It is well for people leaving their homes to be careful, for this petty thieving has started with the winter season beginning, and you can look for it right along.

BROKE INTO CHURCH STOLE PASTOR'S BIBLE.

Last night, some time after services, parties entered the Congregational church and stole Dr. Burhan's bible, taking it with them. It was highly prized by the pastor, as it had all of his notes and data in it, and would really have no special value to anyone else, aside from the fact that it was a fine bible, and would sell in any market. It is getting bad when people break into churches and steal bibles.

TWO ARE DEAD
RESULT OF ACCIDENT ON DAYTONA ROAD.

R. W. Pearman, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was enroute to the beach Saturday afternoon when the auto accident happened that killed two men, one named Moses, from Maine, and one named Campbell, from D Land. They were trying to pass on the Daytona DeLand road when the cars were overturned, killing Moses instantly and Campbell died afterward from a fractured skull, at least Mr. Pearman heard that he had died this morning at DeLand. The dead man, Moses, was carried to Daytona by Mr. Pearman in the vain effort to save his life but the spark had fled before he was picked from the ditch and he was taken to the undertaking establishment. Mr. Pearman said the scene of the accident was a gruesome sight and he never wants to see another.

ROAD CONNECTIONS FROM EAST COAST TO INTERIOR.

There is a strong tendency now for road connections from the east coast with the interior of the State, and while there are already a number of bridges across the St. Johns river, others are being planned at practical points and if these plans are carried in a few years any part of the east coast can be reached without making a long detour.

One of the latest projects is a road and bridge that will put Cocoa in direct touch with the interior of the State. The bridge at Osteen Ferry is practically assured, and the Titusville people are going to build a bridge half way between the above named points, so with these bridges the interior towns will be in close touch with the lower east coast. The good roads question is being thoroughly agitated all along the coast and in a very few years we expect to have a regular net work of roads leading to all parts of the State.—New Smyrna Breeze.

ST. AUGUSTINE WANTS
OLD FORT TO REMAIN IN CITY'S POSSESSION.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Sept. 10.—Federal officials may as well try to change the name of Arkansas as to take any action tending to diminish the historical value of Fort Marion here, according to persons interested in the recent recommendation of Secretary of War Weeks that the fort be abandoned as a war department charge.

Vigorous protests were made against Secretary Weeks' suggestion and he replied with the statement that congress could make suitable provision for the maintenance of the fort as a historical site, but that as a military proposition it was worthless. Immediately Florida's delegation in congress was urged to have congress enact provision for the life of the fort.

Now, the city commission, fearful that the historic relic might fall into the hands of private parties who would use it for commercial purposes, has requested that the fort be transferred from federal control to the city of St. Augustine. Adequate provision would be made by the city for its maintenance, federal officials were assured. The city commissioners have written Gov. Hardee and various civic and historical bodies throughout the state asking their influence be exercised to bring the fort within the charge of St. Augustine.

CATTLE ARE NOT FIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION.

Cuba is preparing to quarantine against Florida beef on the ground that tick infested cattle are not fit for human consumption. Florida found that out long ago, and is eating western beef at a higher price. If Cuba decides on a quarantine it will close the last open door for Florida cattle, and possibly bring the cattlemen to their senses.

The fort was built by the Spaniards and came into the possession of the United States with the acquisition of Florida. The fundamentals of the structure have been kept virtually intact to the present day and afford a striking lesson in the strides made in warfare during the past century. The Spaniards considered the fort impregnable. It could probably be demolished with a persistent one pounder of today.

Of the notable historical personages around whom center many narratives to winter tourists Geronimo and Osceola are most prominent. The former's name is linked with the history of the fort because of his not having sojourned there, according to the caretakers who say that the impression prevails generally that he was confined in the fort, and almost invariably they have to explain to inquisitive visitors that he spent his days of incarceration at Pensacola. A controversy at present centers about Osceola over the treatment he received incident to his capture by federal troops. A highly cultured and refined Seminole chief, history records him as having been taken under a flag of truce. No brief seems to be held out for Geronimo. He was of the bandit type, operating in the west.

Following Osceola's capture he was confined in a "cell" with two of his chiefs. These two Seminoles, the story goes, so emaciated themselves as to be able to squeeze through the iron bars in an effort to escape. Osceola is credited with having refused to take advantage of this scheme, saying that he had been placed there by United States troops and these troops must set him free.

There are homes which are so painfully neat and orderly that all comfort for the masculine element is completely banished, and there are others where hubby is permitted a few privileges. Woman can be one of the worst of tyrants if she is so disposed. And some husbands never find it out. Others live and suffer while pretending to like it.
