SUDDEN DEATH CLAIMS NEARLY 100 IN 4 DAYS

Fury Of Winter Storms Adds To Grisly Toll Over Entire Nation; Tornadoes Kill 17

(By The Associated Press)
Four days of catastrophic alict and aground have brought sudden death to nearly 100 persons in the United States.

A train wreck, plane
crashes, bus smashups, lethal
carbon monoxide, and above all, the fury of winter storms have fueled the grisly toll.

The mercury, plunging toward zero, struck the northeast today
as it struggled in many cases to dig out of a 36-hour snowfall which followed another record breaking blizzard that occurred last week.

Fine powdery snow ceased falling
last night in most sections
but trains and highway traffic still moved haltingly today. Many communities are isolated by high drifts, especially in New England,
and a food shortage crew
most severe in some Long Island villages.

Government weather men explained that conditions are due to a sort of meteorological tug-of-war.
A high pressure area took charge of things in the central and eastern sectors resulting in bright cold weather. Temperatures rose west of the Mississippi River north of Kansas under the influence of a low pressure area while the blizzard transferred to the Canadian maritime provinces.

Rehabilitation of the tornado ravaged areas in five Southern states went forward today in sub-freezing weather.

A cold moved in to add to the discomfort caused by the winds of Sunday that killed 17 persons in Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia, and injured hundreds of others.

Winds also unroofed houses and did other damage in these three states and South Carolina and Florida.

Charlotte, N. C., found its supply of cooking gas dwindling as utility facilities failed. New York called out the militia, recruiting national guardmen to help clean up snow shovels. Fashionable Long Island towns found food supplies low.

Birmingham watched the mercury
drop from 76 to 26 overnight
It froze as far into the southwest as San Antonio, Tex.
West Virginia was pelted under a fall of 16 inches. In the Medicine Bow mountains of Wyoming
there was three feet of it. Kansas City experienced its coldest
Feb. 26; it was 2 below. White River, Ont., was an even 50 degrees colder than that.

28 U.S. Railroads Made Money During January

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(AP)—
The first 28 railroads to report for January had aggregate net operating income of $9,484,000
against $3,028,000 in January, 1933, and $1,921,000 in the like month of 1932. In December, 1933, the carriers had net operating income of $14,837,000.

Gross revenues of these roads
in January were approximately $28,822,000 against $28,345,000 in January, 1933, and $30,354,000 in the comparable month in 1932.
Their gross revenues in December, 1933, amounted to $48,676,000.

New Orleans Bankers Criminally Charged

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27.—(AP)— Officers and directors of the Interstate Bank & Trust Company and the Continental Bank & Trust Company, two closed New Orleans banks, were charged in criminal cases yesterday by District Attorney Hanley with receiving deposits after knowing their banks were insolvent.

The charges were the first filed as a result of the new open court investigation of the New Orleans
banking situation by the district attorney's office after four city banks closed by liquidation following the national bank holiday.

Federal Control Of Nation's Communication Systems Is Recommended By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—
(AP)—An Administration bill to create a federal communication commission of seven members to regulate foreign and in-ternate telephone, telegraph, cable, and radio services was introduced today in both houses of Congress.

The new commission would study
the operations of existing companies in those fields and make additional legislative recommendations at the next session of Congress.

Already an extensive study has been made by an interdepartmental committee and the Rayburn and Hill committees had the recommendations of the departments before them in drafting the legislation. In addition to calling for a central federal communications agency to provide federal regulation, this report suggested the creation of monopolies in these fields under strict governmental control.

The interstate commerce commission now has authority over telephone and telegraph lines.
In its report, the interdepartmental committee and Senate committee disclosed they were almost ready to introduce

The recommendations called for transfer of the present authority
the radio and interstate communications have over wireless, telephone and telegraph operations to the new agency.

SENATE HEARS OF HUGE SALARIES PAID DURING 1929

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—
(AP)—The story of the tremendous salaries paid business and big business leaders received in 1929 and how in most cases the bonuses disappeared during the depression was laid before the Senate yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board.

At the request of the Senate,
the commission presented results of questionnaire study into the executive compensation of nearly 1,000 American corporations at closing last year.

Robinson Of Indiana Says President Sent Aircraft To Dooms Flying Air Mail

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—
The air mail controversy broke out in the Senate today as Republican Senator Robinson of Indiana charged the Administration with responsibility for the deaths of many aviators.

The President of the United States, Robinson shouted, "sent these aviators to their death flying the air mail."

The Senate speaks of the deaths that have occurred and which of course were deplorable and avoidable. It states that the President is responsible for

FREE TAXES BANNED BY COMMISSION

City Heads Decide To Quit Giving Money To Pay Annual Tax To Promote Industry

Turning down an appeal made them by Harry M. Papworth, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, that they live up to an agreement which he stated that they had made during an informal meeting nearly three years ago, a majority of the members of the City Commission last night terminated the arrangement by declaring that they are opposed to allowing any person or group to "ride free" as far as city taxes are concerned.

Their action drew from Mr.
Papworth the statement that
"It's a waste of time for a body of men to try and do something for the benefit of the community
when the heads of the City deny their responsibilities."

Mr. Papworth had waged an unsuccessful fight in the interests of the Inland Investment Co. of Orlando, owners of the building occupied by the Eckerson Fruit Canneries, Inc., plant on Thirteenth Street.

Under an agreement reached between Mr. Papworth, as head of the Inland body, and the City Commission nearly three years ago, the Inland Investment Co.
has had to pay no city taxes on the property for the past two years.

Appearing before the Commissioners to ask whether they wished to openly discuss a matter which he understood was to have been kept "sub rosa," Mr. Papworth stated his case after Mayor
W. A. Laffer had said, "Open her up."

Mr. Papworth reminded the Commissioners that at a meeting held in the mayor's office nearly three years ago.

Eckerson Cannery Is In Operation After 1 Day Strike

The Eckerson Fruit Cannery,
Inc., plant resumed operations this morning with fully 50 percent of the regular women workers who had struck for higher wages yesterday back on duty.

Mr. Eckerson stated that about 12 or 15 of the women who reported for work this morning were summarily suspended for the rest of the month for the reason that they are considered as being leaders of yesterday's strike.

A few extra women workers were added to the payroll to take the places of those who did not return, and those who were dismissed.

Mr. Eckerson added that the plant has over 200 names of employees still on file. However, he added, due to the lateness of the season, the plant will be shut down immediately if any further disturbances, such as yesterday's strike, occur in that event, all fruit on hand will be transferred to another plant.

Mr. Eckerson does not foresee additional trouble, he stated. He said the plant was running at normal capacity he said.

The Failure Of Prohibition

Recently we commented favorably on the efforts of the Roosevelt Administration to curb gambling and speculation through such media as the Banking Act, the Securities Act, the Stock Exchange Act and such admonitions as those of Professor George Warren and Miss Frances Perkins against the evils of gambling, but we expressed the conviction that so primary an instinct as that of taking chances might require considerable time before it could be completely eradicated from human nature.

The other day we had our belief in this matter somewhat substantiated by a front page news story in the Miami Herald which told of the enormous crowds which gather daily at the Hialeah race track where thousands of dollars are bet on every race. "The betting is almost unbelievable," the story says, "Already more than $10,000,000 has been wagered and Walter H. Donovan, secretary of the Florida State Racing Commission, estimates the total for the season ending April 1 will pass the $30,000,000 mark."

All this, of course, is perfectly legal under the present laws of this state, but it does not include all of the gambling which takes place. "The betting at Hialeah represents only a fraction of the daily gambling," the story continues. "The city's three big-dog tracks do a tremendous business every night. And there are other ways of winning and losing money. Several swanky clubs have their gaming rooms elaborately equipped with roulette wheels and other paraphernalia."

It might be added here that there is no pari-mutuel law or other statute protecting "roulette wheels and other paraphernalia" for gambling in this state. Such "swanky clubs" operate regardless of laws prohibiting them. So do liquor establishments. The Herald news story says, "Miami has no repeal, yet there is no liquor problem." By "liquor problem" the writer meant "no problem in obtaining liquor," for he adds, "The grog is easy to get and the prices are about the same as in New York." It may be added again that selling liquor in Florida is still illegal, and unconstitutional.

So one can hardly fail to recognize the difficulties which are confronting the New Deal in its drive against gambling. As far as national laws are concerned, it has legalized liquor selling, because it has seen the impossibility of enforcing laws against its sale. But it is now devoting its attention to prohibiting gambling. We hope it succeeds, and we are in complete sympathy with the objectives which it seeks, but we have little faith in the willingness of human nature to abandon readily one of its time honored characteristics.

We have a decided feeling of trepidation that its prohibition alone will encourage boys and girls, let alone hardened speculators, to frequent "speakeasies" where the fluctuations in Wall Street stocks can be bet on, regardless of laws which may prohibit that very thing. It may become as "smart" to gamble as it was to take a drink, just because it is prohibited.

Washington's Health

What of the health of George Washington? We had always imagined him an unusually robust individual who had never even had a headache until the superstitious doctors of that time started bleeding him in order to cure his cold. But now we find that he was very much like other individuals and frequently suffered from dysentery, malaria, sore throats, and occasionally rheumatism.

The Melbourne Times quotes from Time News-magazine to show that George Washington, while possibly being the father of his country, was nevertheless quite human in other respects, and had many of the same frailties of health which characterize the average individual. The medical "history" of Washington has been reproduced as follows:

Heredity. Father died at the age of 49 of some acute respiratory disease. Mother died of cancer at the age of 82. His half-brother Lawrence died at the age of 34 of consumption.

Habits of Life. Always rose early (4:30 or 5 A. M.), and retired early (9 P. M.). He ate heartily and was not over-particular about the fare. The patient was always accustomed to vigorous outdoor exercise.

Stimulants. Fond of tea. Never used tobacco in any form. He drank freely.

Past Illnesses. The patient suffered many minor ailments and some serious illnesses. First in the record is seasickness suffered at 19, while on a voyage to Barbados. Upon his return he developed smallpox. The marks remained for life. But portraitists blurred them.

During military services Washington contracted dysentery and malaria, which recurred in later life. Shortly after he assumed the Presidency a carbuncle developed on his hip, obliged him to lie on one side for six weeks, and to have his coach altered so he could ride half-recumbent.

All his life he frequently suffered from head colds, sore throat, headaches. Several times he was bed-ridden with fevers and lung involvements. Rheumatism kept him from attending the Constitutional Convention at Philadelphia. In October 1787 he went to Boston with a severe head cold.

Height, 6 ft. 3 in. Weight, about 200 lbs. Form, very erect; unusually long limbs, big hands, feet and joints; slightly sunken chest; large head (26.7-8 in. around).

Organs of Head. Eyesight somewhat affected but fairly well corrected by the use of glasses. Difficulty of hearing, probably due to an extension of catarrhal inflammation from the throat into the eustachian tube. Teeth lost, or removed on account of decay.

Endocrine System. Well balanced.

THE ARMY FLIES THE MAIL

BY C. E. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 27.—Whatever finally comes of the current air mail investigation in Washington, many followers of American commercial aviation's development during the last few years always will feel that only a part of the story has been told, that intentionally or otherwise, misleading impressions have been created through the utterance of half-truths and the drawing of inferences that frequently have been unfair.

The most glaring example of putting the country's air-transport system in a false light, has to do with continual references to the mail "subsidy" that it enjoyed up to the moment when President Roosevelt ordered the contracts of all domestic operators canceled. This term, innately opprobrious to American ears, has been used loosely and erroneously to describe the payments by the government to those who have flown the air mail. It creates the idea that these expenditures were an outright gift to an industry unable to stand on its own feet, whereas the only portion of them that justly could be called a subsidy is the difference between what the Postoffice Department paid air-mail contractors and what it got back in the form of postage.

Senator Hugo I. Black managed again and again to get into the record—frequently out of the mouths of air-mail operators who knew better—that the industry was enjoying a "subsidy" of $14,000,000 a year without any reference to the additional fact that of this amount a sum, variously estimated at from $6,800,000 to $8,000,000, was flowing back into the postal coffers through the sale of air-mail stamps.

Another matter never brought out was the fact that two of the most prosperous systems, United Air Lines and Transcontinental and Western Air's "Lindbergh Line," for some time have been receiving from the Postoffice Department an amount only equal to the actual postal return from the mail flown, and so have not been subsidized at all. It is true that there are certain other expenses connected with airport handling and actual delivery of air mail that logically could be charged against this balance of cost and return, but when it is recalled that total Postoffice Department expenditures in the year 1932 were $792,884,328, as compared to aggregate receipts of $588,171,022, the showing made by the more strategic air-mail routes becomes a matter about which the operators might hold up their heads in pride instead of hanging them in shame at the first cry of "subsidy." Indeed, the actual air-mail subsidy of $4,000,000 to $7,000,000—a deficit of less than 50 percent—becomes a matter about which air enthusiasts could be less apologetic in light of a general yearly postal deficit of more than $200,000,000. In the hue and cry about a "subsidized" aviation industry, too many people have lost sight of the fact that ordinary mail is far from paying its way.

Still another interesting fact that never found its way into the headlines is that the Postoffice Department actually has been making money out of the air-mail operators on certain extremely prospective routes—notably the New York-Chicago and Chicago-San Francisco runs of United Air Lines—the former paying in postage returns two or three times what the contractors received for flying the mail. The ironic part of the whole situation is that the operators, as a whole, were agreed long ago that they would reach a time in the near future when they must do without a subsidy. They submitted a program last summer to Postmaster General James A. Farley which believed would achieve self-supporting operation for the air lines within three to five years of gradually tapered-off subsidy, but this constructive plan was merely "taken under advisement" by the Postmaster General, who later announced he would continue the old method of payment to the operators for another year.

The real key to the air-mail situation is revealed inadvertently by the drastically curtailed air-mail map that has been drawn for the Army airmen about to begin flying Uncle Sam's post cards and letters. Supplied up in a few words, it is that the one avenue of escape from subsidized service is to recast the air-mail map of the United States along business rather than political lines, creating a system of routes that follow natural trade channels and render an essential service in speeding up the country's commerce and industry. That such a step would be politically painful is obvious, since the government itself, through its designation of "vital" routes to be continued under military operation during the "emergency" created by Mr. Roosevelt, admits that the really necessary air-mail lines are those linking the great industrial centers of the North, East and West—not those that have been serving the South and Southwest.

Proponents of an air-mail map drawn along such economically defensible lines always have met defeat at the hands of the practical politicians who formulate our national policies and are neither blind nor deaf to the national possibilities of an air-line extension for which Representatives, Senators, local chambers of commerce and other "booster" organizations are clamoring. They have said time and again that the present spider web of domestic air-mail routes could be pruned of at least half and possibly two-thirds of its mushroom mileage without slowing up the country's business tempo in the least, and their contention would seem to be supported by the Army's "essential" air-mail route map of approximately 12,000 miles, as compared with the commercial operators' map of approximately 27,000 miles which it is supplanting.

That the Army is but poorly prepared to fly even this limited mileage with the mails is amply attested by the fact that the various type planes it is to use were hurriedly equipped with radio and the mere installation of blind-flying instruments only last week. Such equipment, however, is far from making experienced bad-weather pilots out of the young men from the military airbases who have been ordered to replace the grizzled commercial veterans of the airways. Unless considerable discretion is exercised in sending these enthusiastic youngsters out over routes, with which they have had little or no experience, on day and night missions in the ever-treachorous weather that may be anticipated at this time of year, there may be very disastrous results both to the Army's planes and pilots. Though none of them will hesitate at the task assigned them, welcoming it rather because of the opportunity for increased flying time (sadly depleted in the Air Corps of the past months by governmental economy) and broadened experience, they are fully aware of the treacherous hazards they have been asked to face with a totally inadequate minimum of preparation, and are fervently hoping that they "will get the breaks" and will not "run into the tough stuff" before we get the hang of this mail flying.

NRA Is Benefit To 'Money Trust' Says Untermeyer

banking system be abandoned and government banking be substituted through postal bank and the federal reserve system.

As to whether the financial interests' power will be "resumed in more propitious times" than now, Untermeyer said the "answer depends largely upon whether the people, through its present Congress and President, who are at last free from the shackles of high finance and business, will make hay while the sun shines."

He praised the National Industrial Recovery Act as "the noble experiment of a practical idealist primarily to improve the social status of the worker." Yet, he said, it "does more for capital and the employer than it does for labor."

"It substitutes combinations and co-operation for competition," Untermeyer said, "and will, I fear, ultimately legalize and entrench monopoly although not so intended."

He said the law "will inevitably give a new lease of life and added power to the money trust."

Untermeyer said the investigation of the banking committee at Washington "has barely scratched the surface of the nest of corruption, although he pressed its purpose highly."

Praising also the intent of pending stock exchange legislation, but disagreeing with some aspects of it, Untermeyer voiced hope another clearing house regulation bill will be introduced also, saying such a measure is almost as important as one for stock exchange regulation.

"The clearing house association of New York made up as it is of all the leading banks and trust companies throughout the country, is perhaps the most powerful, rock-ribbed, despotic monopoly of its kind on the face of the earth," he declared.

"Yet that great institution, second only to the stock exchange in its influence in the world of finance, still remains beyond government regulation of control."

two years ago, they had agreed to permit, indefinitely, the taxes on the plant property which was to be leased to the Ecker-son interests for three years.

He said that an agreement had been reached at that time by which a sum not to exceed $500 could be donated by the City to the Chamber of Commerce to be used for the "promotion of new industries." The Chamber of Commerce in turn, he pointed out, was to hand this sum to the "Inland Investment Co., and that company would return the check to the City in payment of the taxes on the property.

Mr. Papworth called the Commission's attention to the fact that the owners of the building were not disposed to lease the plant to anyone unless they were given some sort of concession from the City as to taxes, and added that "The matter I am bringing before you tonight has nothing whatever to do with the Ecker-son; it is a matter between the City and the Inland Investment Co., owners of the building."

"I think that you gentlemen understand at the time," Mr. Papworth stated, "that the Chamber of Commerce, which was handling the affair, had arranged for this waiver of taxes for the life of the lease, and that you know the lease was for three years. In our recent informal talks, you gentlemen have taken the attitude that your agreement was for only two years, and if you persist in that attitude the Chamber of Commerce will be embarrassed financially for the '33 taxes."

Both Commissioners V. A. Dyer and T. L. Dumas, as well as Mayor Leffer, expressed themselves as confident that the arrangement was for only two years, and Commissioner Speer declared, with Mr. Dumas' second, "As far as I am concerned it is a closed chapter."

Commissioner H. J. Lehman, recalling the meeting, said that "As I recall it, we agreed on the arrangement for the term of the lease, and for that reason I think we ought to live up to our agreement."

H. M. Watson, local abstract attorney who is agent for the Orlando owners of the building, explained his version of the meeting which he attended, and reminded the Commissioners, when they had concluded their debate, that he will hold the Chamber of Commerce liable.

Mr. Papworth interrupted the debate to ask whether "It is reasonable that I should sit down right after that meeting and write Mr. Watson a letter in which, as president of the Chamber of Commerce, I stated that the Commission had agreed upon a tax payment arrangement covering the life of the lease?"

Without waiting for an answer, Mr. Papworth stated "Gentlemen, you must not overlook one fact in this discussion. The Ecker-sons are not interested in this matter one bit, it's the owners in Orlando that we are dealing with."

Here Commissioner Lehman declared "I think that this plan is a real benefit. It brings in lots of money during its season, and our merchants are bound to be benefiting because it is here. I think we ought to help it along, and I move that our arrangement be continued for another year as a means of promoting new industries."

ALEXANDER'S VARIETY

A stage show that is different from any play at the Miami on Thursday night.

It is labelled Alexander's Variety, and heading the bill is a comprehensive list of performers including the Alexander troupe, composed of six international artists, including "feared" sensational comedians, artists of Barnum and Bailey and Ringling Brothers circus.

Five of the six Alexanders are shown on the upper left, and to the right of them is Dorothy, who will offer "Songs and dances that are hot."

On the lower left panel are two members of the Le-Volo Trio, which is completed by Pat LeVolo, described as "somewhat shyly America's greatest slackwire artist."

In addition to the "slackwire" act and acrobats will be the "Bill Brothers and Sister, who are billed as "the world's premier equilibrist."

The screen feature will be "Hold That Girl."

Clark P. S. Lamson had announced that it would cost about $800 to extend a line from the foot of Park Avenue to the point requested, and that the Standard Oil Co. also had requested that a pipe line be installed near its property.

The Commissioners voiced objection to the erection of a filling station in the Woodruff building at Park Avenue and Commercial Street. An unnamed company had asked permission to install pumps and a driveway that would not interfere with traffic, and would be 24 feet away from the street.

It was agreed that John Abrams, water works official, should be sent to Daytona Beach in April to attend a meeting of the American Waterworks Association's Florida division.

Clerk Lamson reported that he had returned from Jacksonville with nearly $600,000 worth of building at Sanford Avenue and First Street, appeared to ask the Commissioners to rescind their recent action in condemning the building, but he was told that the commission, unanimously of the opinion that "Such unsightly structures" should not be permitted to stand in this city, was not disposed to change its mind in the matter.

The Standard Oil Co., represented by C. L. Beldin, its local agent, building at Sanford Avenue and First Street, appeared to ask the Commissioners to rescind their recent action in condemning the building, but he was told that the commission, unanimously of the opinion that "Such unsightly structures" should not be permitted to stand in this city, was not disposed to change its mind in the matter.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Speer, the City will ask the government to arrange for the removal of the wooden piling that was built during the boom as walls for the canal, and which now stand as a nuisance to the city.

Rockey's Tire Shop was awarded the contract to furnish a city street sweeper with pneumatic tires and puncture-proof tubes at a cost of $399.20. H. B. Pope Co. bid $300.25 while the Seminole Tire Shop bid was for $437.50.

Request of two Georgians that they be permitted to collect unpaid license fees owed the city by various insurance firms over a period of the past seven years, was ordered investigated.

The men offered to collect these licenses on a 50-50 basis. They presented evidence showing that during 1922-33 alone 27 of the 85 insurance companies represented in Sanford had not paid occupational license. Their evidence over a period of seven indicated that fully 25 percent of the companies operating in Sanford had not paid licenses.

The matter of installing a fire hydrant in front of the Central Florida Transportation Co. dock for the purpose of fire protection as well as bringing a reduction in insurance rates, was ordered investigated further.

past due coupons which are among the more than $1,000,000 worth of coupons and past due interest that the Bondholders' Protective Committee has agreed to cancel.

He stated that everything was ready for final cancellation of this outstanding obligation except the coupons had to be checked and rechecked.

Action on a request by J. E. Preston that he be appointed as a deputy tax collector, was held pending the receipt of other applications for the job.

It was disclosed that there outstanding personal taxes uncollected total nearly $25,000 for the years 1930, 1931, and 1932.

SENATE VOTES CASH FOR VETS OF CUBAN WAR

warning was put in unmistakable terms in a letter to Speaker Rainey. The letter was written to clear up any doubt as to what the President would do. The bill comes to a vote in the House Mar. 12.

The Senate vote loaded the pending independent offices bill with $73,000,000 more than the Administration agreed to accept on veterans and federal pay increases. Last week's voting added $180,000,000 in the next fiscal year for government workers as against $126,000,000 favored by Democratic leaders and yesterday's balloting favored the $60,000,000 proposal compared to $50,000,000 plan brought in by the Administration group.

Eighteen Democrats joined 32 Republicans and Shipstead, Minnesota farmer-laborer, for the more liberal Steiwer-McCarran proposition. All 40 voices in opposition came from the Democratic side.

Pending at adjournment was another amendment by Steiwer which he estimated would cost another $55,000,000. This would restore to full compensation all World War veterans whose disabilities were presumed to have been service-connected but who were removed by the Economy Act. It also would require the government to prove their injuries were not due to actual service.

This part proposed as a substitute for that part of an Administration compromise proposal restoring the presumptive cases, pending their adjudication by the Washington board of appeals, and giving these veterans 75 percent of their former compensation.

Senator Trammell of Florida voted for the Steiwer-McCarran amendment and Senator Fletcher voted against it.

University of Florida Dedicates $350,000 P. K. Yonge Laboratory School

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA after President John J. Tiger had dedicated an outright gift of $350,000 to the P. K. Yonge Laboratory School, the College of Education. The school is the first of the main building and its construction is being supervised by University Trustee Tiger, who is also the school's director, and Dr. James W. Norman, dean of the college of education, at right. An excellent example of the building, planned by the architect, Dr. Arthur R. Mead, is shown in the photograph on which the school is named. At left is a scene taken during construction, taken the fall of 1932 when the first of the main building, the gymnasium, was being laid on the building site. With Dr. Tiger, Dean Norman cases running to more than a million, in several to nearly a million, and in many cases to several hundred thousand.

The commission study is one section of a general survey being carried on by government agencies into the salaries of all kinds of business and industrial leaders, bankers, railroad and power company executives, and the like.

Earnings of individual executives ranged from $1,635,735 which Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, received in 1929, and $1,051,000 which G. W. Hill, president of the American Tobacco company, received in 1931, to $10,000 and less, which heads of smaller companies were paid.

Other big compensations in 1929, generally the peak, included $270,000 to R. L. Patterson, president of the American Machine and Foundry company, more than $400,000 to George F. Lovett, president of Montgomery Ward & Co.; $420,000 to F. B. Rentzsch, president of the United Aircraft & Transport corporation.

Nicholas W. Schuck, president of Lowsen's incorporated, received $382,000; the three Warner brothers, head of the motion picture concern bearing their name, were paid $10,000 a year for 100,000 shares of stock; two executives of the United Fruit company, Fred Hutchinson and Richard C. Bondy, received together nearly $500,000.

Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machine company of New York, received $118,000 in 1929, and $145,000 in 1932. Archibald R. Macdonald of International Paper & Power company, got $80,000 in 1929, and $104,000 in 1932.

American Tobacco company payments to five former officials ran to nearly $1,000,000.

One of the largest outright salaries was to Andrew G. Deane, president of the American Wheel company, who received $700,000.

The extent to which bonuses were used to pay executives was illustrated in the case of Grace, Bethlehem president, whose salary amounted to $1,000 while his bonus reached $1,050,000, and in the case of E. L. Cook, president of the Auburn Automobile company, whose $12,000 salary compared with a bonus of $71,000.

GATORS REACH FINALS AFTER BRILLIANT PLAY

Florida Hoopsters To Meet Alabama For Conference Title

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 27.—(AP)—A fighting club from Florida, that turned back Vanderbilt in the last seconds of play and a veteran favored team from Alabama, winner over Tennessee, will battle for the Southeastern conference basketball championship here tonight.

Florida, the surprise team from down under that drew and bumped off the defending champion from Kentucky in the first round, whipped Vanderbilt's Commodores—another seeded outfit—24 to 23, with a looping field goal by Wernick, a young center, in the final moments of play.

Alabama, ranked second only to Kentucky during the regular season, turned back the spirited challenge of a Tennessee team that had sprung one of the first round astonishments with its victory over Louisiana State.

The Crimson won 22 to 20 in a contest that was almost as thrilling as that provided by the Gators and the Commodores.

Alabama previously has held a major Southern basketball championship but this is the first time that Florida has ever reached the final round.

The Gators, figured to have little chance after they had drawn Kentucky in their opening game, have furnished the major surprise of this year's event, and have drawn supporters for their courage as well as their ability.

The Crimson will rule as the favorite on the strength of their more experienced outfit and their better seasonal record but Alabama may find, as Kentucky and Vanderbilt may find, that a bunch of battlers as Florida possesses are never out until the final whistle.

Tennessee defeat was due largely to the roughness of its play, which produced an unusually large number of fouls and to Alabama's ability to sink these free throws. The Crimson made more than half their winning total in this manner, collecting 15 points out of 20 attempts.

Local Golfers Invited To See Women At Play

Sanford golf fans were invited today to be in DeLand next Monday afternoon to witness a championship golf exhibition in which four of the ranking women golfers of the nation will appear.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, twice National Open Champion, Miss Helen Hicks, runner-up for the title last year, Miss Catherine Granham, the French Open Champion, and Miss Lucille Robinson, the Western Open Champion, will play in an 18-hole exhibition over the College Arms course, starting at 1:30 o'clock. A small admission fee will be asked.

Miss Van Wie appeared over the local course several times last year and in 1932. She is a winter resident of DeLand, and she will be hostess to the other women golfers during their stay in that city.

Citrus Control Board Prorates Fruit Shipment

Markets affected under the new regulations include New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago.

The restrictions were ordered in effect Mar. 1. The control committee also voted to prohibit shipment of Valencia oranges until Mar. 5.

Full text of the new citrus pact was unavailable here yesterday. It is expected by mail from Washington some time last night. O. G. Strauss, secretary to the control board, said.

However, according to Francis P. Whitehair, DeLand, attorney, for the control board, the document provides, among other things:

1—That the method of prorating citrus shipments by grades and sizes has been eliminated and volume prorating has been substituted, with provisions for making separate prorating orders to auction centers on a "more tolerant and elastic basis."

2—The amendment enables the control committee to prohibit shipment of inferior grades of citrus, that is, citrus grades below U. S. No. 2 russet.

Whitehair indicated the control committee cannot regulate any grades better than No. 2 russet under any circumstances.

Seated on the control to take the places of E. G. Grimes, Bernard Kilgore and J. C. Morton, deceased, were: J. J. Parrish, Titusville; A. E. Pickard, Lakeland; and Peter Acerrip, Winter Haven.

The restrictions for the week starting Thursday, in the 10 leading markets are as follows: New York, 225 cars of oranges and 100 cars of grapefruit; Philadelphia, 85 oranges and 30 grapefruit; Boston, 65 oranges and 20 grapefruit; Baltimore, 30 oranges and 10 grapefruit; Pittsburgh, 25 oranges and 12 grapefruit; Cleveland, 20 oranges and 10 grapefruit; Detroit, 20 oranges and 15 grapefruit; Cincinnati, 25 oranges and 10 grapefruit; St. Louis, 20 oranges and 8 grapefruit; and Chicago, 40 oranges and 25 grapefruit.

The committee adjourned yesterday's session until 9 o'clock this morning. It was indicated that the board will decide at this meeting how much fruit each shipper in the state will be allowed to ship to the 10 leading markets each week.

English Unemployed Stage Peaceful Parade

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—As peacefully as any American football crowd, 2000 unemployed from the provinces, augmented by several thousand London supporters, marched to Hyde Park Sunday afternoon and held their long-heralded unemployment demonstration.

The air was filled with speeches, a couple of hours were consumed in adopting a resolution rapping the national government and its unemployment bill and the protesters marched out again very quietly.

It rained almost all morning and a cold damp mist swept the famous park during the afternoon, making the demonstration on the whole a rather drab affair.

Bram, Bridgers Attend Phi Beta Kappa Meet

WINTER PARK, Feb. 27.—Dr. Harry Taylor, associate professor of philosophy at Stetson, presided at the February meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa association of the Central Florida last night at the home of President Hamilton Holt of Rollins College. The meeting was part of the activities for Phi Beta Kappa, held in conjunction with the annual Founders' Week program at the college.

The activities were sponsored by the Rollins Key society, honor group at Rollins, and the local association of Phi Beta Kappa, which invited the Order of Torch and Scroll, Stetson honor group, as guests.

The guest of honor at the evening meeting of the association was Dr. George Arthur Knapton, Amherst, Phi Beta Kappa, who spoke on "The Education of Shakespeare." Torch and Scroll was also invited to attend this meeting with the Rollins Key Society.

Among the nearly 75 persons attending this affair were Rev. Martin J. Bram and Arthur Bridgers of Sanford.

Rev. Bram stated this morning that the next meeting of the association will be held in Sanford, probably next May.

Figures that Speak

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company presents figures from its Annual Statement for 1933 and makes comparisons which show how the Company has carried on during the five difficult years since 1928

THROUGHOUT a period of almost unparalleled world-wide depression the institution of Life Insurance in America has furnished an example of achievement that wins admiration wherever it is understood. Between January 1st, 1929 and January 1st, 1934, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which insures the lives of more than 25,000,000 persons—nearly one-fifth of the total populations of the United States and Canada—paid to its policyholders and their beneficiaries more than Two Billion Dollars ($2,000,000,000). During the same period, its policyholders contributed, through their premium payments, toward the increase of more than One Billion Dollars

($1,000,000,000) in the assets held for future distribution to themselves and their beneficiaries. After payment, during that period, of more than Four Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars ($450,000,000) by way of dividends to policyholders, the Company's surplus was increased by more than One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000). These figures, of one company alone, are striking evidence of the reliance which the people of the United States and Canada place on the security and protection of life insurance. Life Insurance is the most effective and satisfactory means of providing for the future of one's self and one's dependents.

CWA ROSTER IN STATE TO BE CUT HEAVILY

Hopkins Orders Slash Of 6000 Names Each Week During March; Graft Charges Aired

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 28.—(A.P.)—Florida was ordered today to whack 6,000 men off its CWA payroll each week-end during March to bring the state's quota down to 10,000 by Mar. 31.

Comparative reductions also were required in clerical forces.

The order came from Harry Hopkins, federal Civil Works administrator.

The state's quota was slashed on Feb. 23 by 30,000 men, and tomorrow night another 20,000 will be cut off, leaving 84,000 on the payroll.

The rates of reductions during April will be set later by Hopkins.

Hopkins' telegram was laid before the State Executive Committee in a meeting in which J. P. Newell, committee member, charged that social service and welfare work in the state has "every semblance of a political racket."

Newell, who is secretary to Governor Holtz read into the committee minutes a statement in which he said he could not "countenance the exorbitant salaries paid to many of these professionals and the excessive personnel overhead at the expense of needy people."

The committee adopted Newell's statement as its own and referred it to executive officer, Marcus Fagg with directions to carry it out as to FERA and CWA staffs. Fagg was not present today.

The appointment of Charles Dodd of Punta Gorda as state CWA engineer by executive officer Marcus Fagg drew a shot of criticism today from Chairman Bradley.

With Fagg out of the city, the committee was informed that Dodd's appointment was approved by Washington.

Treadway said "It seems to me that before submitting this appointment to Washington, confirmation should have been obtained from the executive committee."

He added that he didn't think it proper procedure for an executive officer to submit an appointment to Washington without informing the executive committee about it.

New Form Of Decay In Teeth Laid To Type Of Insecticide

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(A.P.)—"Mottled teeth"—a polka dot decay which is now the worry of many a mother—may become general, Chicago dentists were warned yesterday, unless certain insecticides were abandoned.

Dr. Margaret Cammack Smith, a nutrition chemist for the University of Arizona, described this danger at the Chicago Dental Society's annual convention. She said the cause of mottled teeth was flourine in drinking water.

State CWA Asks Re-Opening Of Graft Charges In Orange County After War m Debate

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 28.—Two auditors of the state CWA were ordered yesterday to leave Wednesday for Orlando for a "thorough and complete audit" of the books of the Orange county CWA administration.

The audit was ordered after Frank L. Ferguson, representing the Taxpayers' League, and County Administrator O. P. Swope appeared before the state CWA executive committee and brought to a head their battle of the past few weeks in a scene that sizzled with personalities and dug up Orlando's political skeletons of bygone days.

The two auditors who will reopen the investigation of Orange county CWA administration are Chief Auditor L. W. Baker and W. C. Huffmann.

The hearing before the state executive committee yesterday, brought up the story of the J. H. Hughes contract for CWA trucks and the recent purchase, by the county commission, of 14 trucks, to be paid for—if the gravel train lasts that long—from rentals of the trucks to the CWA.

The word "lie" wasn't actually passed as Ferguson and Swope presented their sides of the question to the committee, but each of them skirmished about it, boiling (Continued on Page Two)

MOVE IS MADE TO GET FEDERAL AID FOR U. S. SCHOOLS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 28.—(A.P.)—Fuller cooperation of the nation's leading educators in obtaining more than $500,000,000 in federal appropriations for public schools and colleges was asked of the National Education Association's national department of superintendence last night in an address by William F. Russell, dean of teachers college, Columbia University.

Further action on the same subject by the department's resolution committee today was forecast by leaders in the educators' convention here.

The program, already submitted to federal authorities calls for:

1. A $100,000,000 appropriation to meet actual deficiencies in school funds in many parts of the country; to be apportioned among them according to their needs.
2. A $300,000,000 fund as additional school aid for all parts of the country, to be divided among the schools by states on the basis of approximately $11 for each student enrolled.
3. Special grants for school buildings, and loans to schools administrators whose assets are frozen in now-closed banks.

Text Of Wallace Order Calling For Open Hearing On Celery Pact Issued

Complete text of Secretary Henry A. Wallace's order announcing that a public hearing on a proposed celery marketing agreement would be held at Lakeland next Monday, was received here by J. C. Hutchison, sales manager for the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers, Inc., today, and released to the press for publication.

The order dated Feb. 24, 1934, is as follows:

"Under the AAA, approved May 12, 1933, as amended, and under the general regulations, Series One, Revision One, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, AAA, issued pursuant thereto, the proposed agreement relates to prices, practices, and conditions in the marketing of celery grown in Florida.

GAY PARTIES OF LOBBYISTS UNDER PROBE

Evidence Of Intrigue In Handling Of War Bureau's Surpluses Heard By Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(A.P.)—Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, yesterday concluded a two-day appearance before a District of Columbia grand jury to tell of dealings of his department with Joseph Silverman, New York trader, and others for the disposal of army surplus.

Woodring was in the jury room at about the same time that investigators disclosed they had uncovered stories of lobbyists playing cards with government officials, with the officials usually winning.

The investigators also said they had heard of gay parties on yachts in fashionable gathering places where commercial representatives spun their net of intrigue around gullible or corrupt representatives.

Tearing down these reports had required much time, and United States Attorney Leslie Gannett said last night the grand jury investigation probably would not be concluded until next week.

Meanwhile, one Congressional committee got the approval of House leaders for a thorough study of alleged "profiteering and irregularities involving the expenditure of public funds for national defense," especially by the war department.

At the same time a House naval subcommittee closed its open hearings centering on whether there has been profiteering on navy airplane and engine contracts. It will report soon to the full committee, and all indications were that the report would scout "fraud and collusion" charges and find the present procurement methods of the navy department satisfactory.

High S. Johnson, Recovery administrator, told those who had come to complain or listen that he had a pretty good idea of the recovery organization's defects and that he had a 12-point program, including shorter hours and higher wages, to remedy them.

ROOSEVELT HAS PERSONS MUST BE IN WANT TO GET FEDERAL AID

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt today announced a reorganized national relief program to be substituted for the Civil Works lineup now being demobilized.

This developed at his regular press conference held prior to an afternoon meeting to which he had summoned Democratic congressional leaders.

It was presumed at the capital that the White House meeting would have to do in part at least with proposals for legislation to grant the President powers to make reciprocal tariff agreements with foreign countries.

As to relief, federal efforts in the future will be classified as for distressed families in rural areas, for stranded populations in communities where industries have closed, and for the unemployed in large cities.

Sharp Note To Moscow Demands Quick End Of Warship Jaunts; Ship Said Shot Down

The protest was sent by foreign minister Koki Hirota to ambassador Ota at Moscow for presentation to the Soviet government.

With it went a demand for guarantees against further flights by Russian planes over Manchuria or Korea territory.

The protest followed reports from Hsinking, Manchukuo of two instances in which, according to reports, Russians fired upon Japanese planes.

There also is a report that a Japanese military plane had been shot down Feb. 17 near the Soviet border but the war office lacked information about this.
