Increase Gets OK On First Reading

Sanford Utility Customers May Face Rate Hike

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

City utility customers of Sanford may soon be paying 5 percent more for water and sewer services.

The city commission unanimously approved Monday the first reading of an ordinance raising city utility rates. The second reading and public hearing will be held at the Nov. 23 meeting of the commission at 7 p.m. at city hall. Utility Director Paul Moore said for the average bill the increase would probably amount to no more than one or two dollars per month.

The ordinance calls for a monthly customer charge for water services. For private residences and other connections with a three-quarter-inch meter, the charge would increase from $1.50 to $1.58 per month. For any installation with a larger meter, the charge would be determined based upon the meter's capacity to handle larger amounts of water.

For water consumption, the charge would increase from $1.00 to $1.05 per thousand gallons, or additional fraction thereof. The ordinance states there would be no discount for higher monthly consumptions. Minimum monthly billing would be for two thousand gallons.

For sewer services, the monthly customer service charge would increase from $2.00 to $2.10 per month for residences and other accounts with a three-quarter-inch water meter. For those accounts served by a larger meter, the charge would be based on the meter's capacity.

The charge for the actual treatment of sewage would increase from $1.65 to $1.74 per thousand gallons of water or the fraction thereof, based on water meter readings.

The fee for reconnecting services would go from $3 to $10 per month. Moore said this increase will just cover the city's cost of reconnecting services when the utility bill has not been paid. The current $3 fee has been in effect since 1978 and no longer reflects the actual cost associated with service reconnections.

Moore said the last time utility rates were increased was in December 1985. When asked

370 Bowlers Pursue 300s

By Jane Casselberry

Old bowlers never die, they just roll away at Sanford's Golden Age Games. This year 370 bowlers between the age of 55 and 92 signed up to compete in the Games bowling tournament at Bowl America lanes — 59 more than last year, according to Dottie Hogan, coordinator of the event.

The tournament, which began Monday and continued Tuesday, will conclude on Friday. The oldest bowler entered, James Deiso, 92, of Rockledge, bowled a score of 597 with handicap. A veteran Golden Age Games bowler, Deiso was given the honor of helping light the torch at this year's opening ceremonies.

"Pappy" Conway, 90, of Apopka, bowled a 491 with handicap. Hazel Roberts, 93, the oldest woman bowler, came up with a 584. Tuesday Jack Wurges, 73, had the distinction of the highest score so far — 691 including handicap.

Barbara Drenniak, 68, of Carriage Cove, who kept score, observed Tuesday "most of our high bowlers were having trouble today." She and her husband, Joe, 70, weren't bragging about their scores in the tournament. "We just passed our average in bowling. There are some good bowlers here."

'Runners' Saunter In This Race

By Brian Hedberg
Herald Staff Writer

They stretch out calves and back muscles, then step up to the starting line. The airhorn sounds, and they're off! Look at them... walk?

The 2-mile race walk of the Golden Age Games brought several seniors to make eight laps around the track at the Seminole High School track in the unique mix of walking and running.

Warren Dove, community relations manager for the sponsoring Southern Bell, explained that, in the race walk, the knee must be perpendicular to the ground when the foot touches down, and one foot must be flat on the ground at all times, or else it technically is running.

"It's quite an art, and an exercise," Dove said. "They can really move out."

Dove commented on the curious and correct way of race walking, something like an ostrich's saunter, executed by one first place winner. "He demonstrated a technique I couldn't begin to do," the 32-year-old man said.

Onlooking seniors sat in bleachers, some hoisting umbrellas against the sun, others calling such exhortations as "Pick your arms up a bit," "Lock your knees more," and "Move it, move it."

With the SHS marching band practicing "Camptown Races" in an adjacent lot, the walk-race took on a comical, even dramatic, aspect.

Polk Hires New Jail Assistant

Will Be Second In Command

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk today announced that a new second in command will begin duties at the Seminole County jail Tuesday. This comes in the wake of faults found in the administration of policy and supervision of guards at the jail which was revealed in the criminal investigation of the Aug. 27 jailhouse suicide of a 17-year-old murder suspect.

Polk said Robert Ficher is leaving a position as sergeant in the Osceola County corrections system to become assistant to Polk in matters related to the jail as well as to be second in command to Seminole County jail administrator, sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman, who has held that post about two years.

Ficher, Polk said, has 17 years experience in corrections, with 13 of those years with the state Department of Corrections. Ficher at one time was in charge of a 900 inmate state prison facility, Polk said.

Ficher was hired following an Oct. 30 interview. His annual salary is $35,000 a year. "He comes highly recommended," Polk said.

Leman will remain head of the jail and the former second-in-command to Leman, Lt. Donald McCullough, will remain on duty at the Seminole County jail, Polk said.

Since the suicide Polk said other changes have been made in the jail. About 80 jail staffers have received about 100 hours of training in "Control in the Corrections Setting," under the directions of a professional prison consultant and former Department of Corrections representative. The state approved course, Polk said, "has been a refresher for some things taught in basic training."

Polk said he also he plans to send his jail sergeants and other supervisors to "supervisors school."

Sheriff John Polk

"The problem is, and it happens in a lot of agencies — I know it happened here, and I'm going to correct it — corrections officers and deputy sheriffs study the books and take an exam to make sergeant. They get no opportunity to attend supervisors school. That will be corrected here, both for corrections officers and deputy sheriffs," Polk said.

Four jail guards were fired by Polk Sept. 3, following the suicide investigation, which to Polk revealed the guards had allegedly failed to properly make state mandated 15-minute checks on the juveniles. Polk said the guards falsified logs showing that the checks were made.

Two of the guards appealed their firings to the sheriff's Civil Service Board Nov. 5 and 6 and Thursday expect to hear from the board if they might be reinstated or if Polk's decision to terminate them stands.

Those ex-guards and the two other short-time guards who had no right to appeal to the board have said that on the night the boy hanged himself they were performing their duty as they had been instructed, and in the

Lake Mary Mayor Changes Mind, Now Will Not Seek County Seat

By Brian Hedberg
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess has changed his mind. He said this morning he will withdraw his name as a candidate for the District 5 County Commission seat, saying he will be unable to "do justice" to a campaign. And as of today, Fess said he's not sure he'll seek reelection as Lake Mary's mayor.

"I will not be running for county commission seat 5 as I previously announced," Fess said. "To do that I would have to go through a rigorous countywide campaign and take away time I'd rather use for my family and businesses."

"I don't want this to rule me out as a possible candidate in '88 or at any other time in the future. But right now, I cannot do justice to a campaign or to the people who want to support me. I have to be realistic about this."

When Fess originally announced his county commission candidacy at the end of October, he said he would not embark on another mayoral race. Fess' term as mayor ends in December 1988.

Although Fess knew his time budget before he announced, he said two unexpected circumstances have made it unrealistic for him to run for the county commission seat.

Fess said he and other city workers are absorbing the workload of Lake Mary City Manager Bob Norris who suffered a mild heart attack about three weeks ago and was admitted to Florida Hospital—Orlando, the same day Fess had announced his county commission candidacy and said he would not seek reelection for

City Says Homeowners Can't Keep Pets, Protest Planned

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Eleven cats and four dogs may soon be looking for new homes. Sanford's City Commission Monday voted 4-1 to deny a variance request to permit Humane Society President JoAnn Gates and her husband Randall to keep 14 cats and 7 dogs at their residence, and granted the Gates 60 days to comply with the ordinance. Sanford's ordinance restricts the number of pets allowed in one household to three cats and three dogs. Commissioner John Mercer voted against the motion, saying the Gates needed a lenient length of time to abide by the commission's decision. An earlier motion to grant the Gates 120 days to comply was rejected by a 3-2 vote. Mayor Bettye Smith, Commissioner Robert Thomas, Jr. and Commissioner A.A. McClanahan voted against the 120-day extension, with Commissioner Whitey Eckstein and Mercer voting for it. Mercer said given the number of pets the Gates have, the extra time would be needed to find them another home. William J. Sheaffer, an Orlando attorney, said the Gates will go to court to fight the city's decision. One of the first steps will involve asking a judge to stay any action by the city's Code Enforcement Board. Sanford's City Attorney William Colbert said he would not comment on the Gates' case until he looks at the documents filed by Sheaffer. Eckstein, who said he was instrumental in getting a variance earlier this year for a woman with four dogs, said he would have to vote against the Gates' variance request. "This is the toughest decision I've ever had to make as a commissioner," Eckstein said. "But if we allow the Gates to keep their animals, we'll be opening the floodgates." Gates said he appreciated the commission's difficulty in making a decision. He noted the commission's past decisions on granting variances concerned cases where the animals had been reported as nuisances. "This is a multi-pronged issue," Gates said. "It seems to me the commission can grant our request if there is no nuisance reported and if the decision won't jeopardize the commission's position (on granting variances for animals). We have no intention of expanding our animal population." Mercer, who said he looked at the neighborhood and saw where the Gates keep their animals, added he did not think the animals caused a nuisance. He said the commission can make an exception under certain conditions. Thomas said he supported the last variance request and was moved by the Gates' letter (which explained the history and care of the animals). "But we've got to cut off somewhere," Thomas said. "This (the number of animals kept by the Gates) is too much." Sanford Code Enforcement Officer Dan Florin was alerted to the animal code violation by an anonymous letter. He visited the Gates at their 601 Briarcliffe Ave. residence on Aug. 8.

the mayor's position. Norris remains at home recuperating at his doctor's suggestion.

A surprising but appreciated number of business contracts have poured in, Fesa said. "Everything has really accentuated in the last few weeks. My business is really going well. I would have to slow it or stop the momentum to run. And I just can't afford to do that right now."

Fesa is president of Rental Finders and More in Longwood, president of Mid-Florida Agencies in Winter Park, secretary/treasurer of Vendors of International Products in Winter Park, president of Libra Consultants in Winter Park, and has been approached to be general partner in another company soon to enter Florida.

Fesa indicated the preeminence of his business ventures over civic undertakings in saying, "If business goes as well as I think it's going to, I will concentrate on work."

Three days after Fesa announced he was running for the county commission seat in the general election on Nov. 8, 1988, $10,000 had been pledged toward his candidacy, he said. He does not have the money in hand and is now notifying contributors that he will not run for the seat.

"I want to thank everybody," he said. "The support has been overwhelming, monetarily, physically and morally." Regarding his quick dropout in the race, Fesa said, "The reason I'm not prolonging this is, there are a lot of other potential candidates and they don't need me drying up the money well for their campaigns."

The chance that Fesa might lose the election was no consideration in his decision, he said. "A godfather of politics told me, 'You've worked for 10 years in this community. Go for it.'" Fesa said.

Fesa also cited several longstanding responsibilities that allow him little flexibility for campaigning.

Among civic activities Fesa has his hands in are the advisory board of Boy Scouts of America, the chambers of commerce of Lake Mary, Greater Seminole County, and Orlando, regional coordinating council at Seminole Community College and the Council of Mayors. He also is vice chairman of the pension board for the Florida League of Cities, is on the advisory board of Florida Hospital—Altamonte, is chairman of Lake Mary police pension board, is chairman of the Council of Mayors in Seminole County, and was recently elected to national board of directors of Leukemia Society of America.

Fesa also plans to help raise funds for Lake Mary's Chuck Suggs with a golf tourney in December. Suggs, 14, requires a heart/lung transplant and needs funds for the surgery and his hospital stay in London, England.

Fesa said he considers his family—he has a 15-year-old daughter and an 8-year-old son—a top priority as well.

"It's tough being a single parent. I mean, tough! Dad's Cab Service."

Baptists Stress Unity, Evangelism At Meeting

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

DAYTONA BEACH— Messengers to the 126th annual sessions of the Florida Baptist State Convention began Monday night at the Ocean Center in Daytona Beach and through today have stressed unity and evangelism and avoided all forms of controversy, according to the Rev. George Dunn, superintendent of missions for the Seminole Baptist Association. "We're having a quiet convention," Dunn said, "and it proves that Baptists are united in Florida, and especially in Seminole County, in pursuing our basic mission as a people - to reach people." Dunn is among several messengers to the convention from Seminole County, including the Rev. Freddie Smith, pastor of Central Baptist Church, and the Rev. Tommy Jacobs, pastor of Pinecrest Baptist Church, both in Sanford. Tuesday the messengers elected the Rev. Bobby Welch, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Daytona Beach, president of Florida's largest Protestant denomination. The more than 2,000 messengers/delegates from approximately 1,800 churches and missions comprised of more than 900,000 members also elected the Rev. Ted Burrell, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church of Ocala, as first vice president, and Charles H. Walker, director of church relations of Palm Beach Atlantic College, West Palm Beach, as second vice president. Joseph Folmar, chaplain-in-charge at Jacksonville Medical Center, was elected recording secretary. All elected officers serve one-year terms. Welch, who was elected on the first ballot, defeated Patrick Anderson, a professor at Florida Southern College in Lakeland, and Hayes B. Davis, Sr., pastor of the Polk City Baptist Church, to become the president of the state convention. Anderson has served the past year as first vice president. "I want to continue what every other pastor to hold this position has done in the past, try to uphold the work and what we are trying to do in this state," Welch said after his election. "I have a very acute intent in seeing personal evangelism placed in the highest priority. Churches don't reach people, people reach people. That means personal evangelism must be the highest priority." The 3-day convention, which began Monday evening, is being held at the Ocean Center in Daytona Beach with the Rev. Bill Coffman, pastor of the Arlington Baptist Church in Jacksonville, presiding. Coffman is president of the state convention and will serve until the end of the current sessions. He was elected in 1986 in Tallahassee. "There is definitely a good spirit here at the convention; unity and togetherness; there is no hostility," Coffman said responding to a question comparing the Florida Baptist meeting with Baptists in North Carolina and Georgia which are highlighted by fights between fundamentalist and conservative Baptists. "Our focus is on evangelism. The involvement of our people and our churches in a cooperative effort throughout the state," Coffman added. Florida Baptists also adopted a Cooperative Program budget of $21.6 million Tuesday to support the convention's programs of evangelism, education, and missions during the fiscal year 1987-88. Fifty percent of the convention's annual income through its cooperative program, representing giving by churches in Florida, goes to the Southern Baptist Convention. Funds are also provided to Stetson University in DeLand, the Florida Baptist Children's Home in Lakeland, Baptist Bible Institute in Graceville, the Florida Baptist Retirement Center in Vero Beach, and the Florida Baptist Foundation in Jacksonville. The budget also provides for ministerial education. The convention will conclude tonight.

Airlines Need Watchdog

Although statistics show that commercial airline flights still are the safest form of long-distance travel, events and studies suggest a rapidly declining margin of safety in the skies.

The most recent alarm bells were sounded in testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee.

Two Eastern Airlines pilots said they are being pressured to fly planes they believe are unsafe.

More ominous still, they said 12 Eastern pilots have been suspended by the carrier for refusing to fly faulty planes.

An airline spokesman promptly denied the charges and labeled them as scare tactics by disgruntled members of the pilots' union.

To be sure, there is plenty of tension between airlines obliged to cut operating costs and pilots frustrated by what they view as unsafe economics.

Still, several carriers have received stiff fines from the Federal Aviation Administration for sloppy maintenance procedures.

Just last year, Eastern was slapped with a $9.5 million fine for repeated violations of maintenance and safety standards.

Are airlines indeed cutting safety corners as they cut costs?

The FAA is looking into allegations that a dozen of the major carriers are deferring repairs, paring maintenance facilities and scaling back on spare parts.

Two years ago, the federal agency concluded that some carriers "all too frequently" show an "inability or lack of motivation" to "ensure the airworthiness of their aircraft."

That may only be the tip of the iceberg. Recently, the congressional Office of Technology Assessment reported that the FAA's inspection program has not kept pace with rapid changes in the industry since deregulation.

Specifically, it scored the FAA for failing to keep track of the numerous contractors who do work for the airlines.

The report also warned that the quality of maintenance is likely to suffer because the contractors aren't directly responsible for safety violations and thus aren't motivated to do the best work.

Another cause for concern is the frequency with which carriers change planes.

Last year, for example, American Airlines bought 15 DC-10s from hard-pressed Pan AM only to discover that $100 million worth of repairs were required to bring them up to standard.

Moreover, many airlines are flying leased planes, further complicating repair and maintenance responsibilities.

Estimates are that by 1990 half of the projected worldwide jet fleet may be leased.

Meantime, the FAA has fewer inspectors than it employed in 1978, even though the number of airlines has doubled since then.

Little wonder that the General Accounting Office says the FAA can no longer assure that airlines are complying with safety regulations.

This is not to suggest that the federal government should re-regulate the nation's airlines.

But it's abundantly clear that the FAA should be keeping closer tabs on the condition of those airliners upon which the lives of millions of Americans depend.

Now It Can Be Told: He Took New Deal Dole

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I might as well confess this before some presidential candidate brings it out and the media put it in as unfavorable a light as possible.

Between scholarships in college, I was dependent on a New Deal program.

Yes, it's true. After my freshman athletic scholarship and before I was able to swing a journalism scholarship, my tuition was paid by the National Youth Administration.

But that doesn't mean I approved of everything President Franklin Roosevelt did. Unfortunately, or fortunately, the NYA was the only anti-depression program then in town.

Had the federal government been in the business of guaranteeing student loans in those days, I probably would now be one of the millions in default.

As I recall, even football scholars in my time had to "work on campus" after the season was over unless they played another sport, such as basketball or track. This NYA participation continued until spring gridiron practice began, and I hated every minute of it.

It would have been far easier, and less abhorrent, simply to sign up for a loan in the amount of the tuition. But repaying that sum might have been another matter.

I might have hated it fully as much as I resented chopping weeds on campus.

So I can sympathize with the defaulters.

I also read recently that the cost of a college education still is rising. Maybe a student can't make it anymore chopping weeds on campus. Not unless the deans grow a good-sized weed patch.

Anyway, defaulting on a loan certainly would have been better than leaning on a hoe and casting envious glances at the athletes in short pants.

According to one report I have seen, the Education Department blames beauty school students for running up a high non-payment rate.

I, however, attended a liberal arts college. As I remember its curriculum, my alma mater didn't even offer courses in hair styling, which may partially account for the shape my topknot is in today.

Speaking of the depression era, I note that young urban professionals now have their own bottled sparkling water. It's called YUPPIER, pronounced, in the French manner, "yup-ee-ay."

The bottler assures us his product "contains no free radicals," which, he explains, means it is "sodium-free, calorie-free and caffeine-free." Maybe it's a good thing he included that disclaimer.

Otherwise, I would have assumed that "radical" referred to anyone who agreed with everything FDR proposed.

Let presidential candidates make of that what they will.

VIEWPOINT

Failing Of The Congress

By William R. Rusher

The Legislative and Executive branches are engaged in a bitter struggle for power. The Iran-Contra hearings, the Supreme Court nomination of Robert Bork, and the renewed debate over the War Powers Act have pitted Capitol Hill against the White House. It is a battle that cuts across party lines. Congress has been on the offensive, asserting claims to areas usually thought to be under presidential direction. But can Congress be trusted to fulfill the enlarged role that it desires?

From its record, the answer is no. For example, take the budget deficit. The Constitution grants to the Legislative Branch the Powers of the purse under Article I, Sections 7 and 8. Only Congress can pass spending programs or change the tax laws. Thus senators and representatives cannot avoid their responsibility for doubling the federal debt in the last five years. But despite the dire warnings of economists and the attempts by the president to restrain spending, Congress refuses to approach the problem with any seriousness.

There has been much talk about tight budgets, austerity and Draconian program cuts, but the figures do not support these claims. Government spending has been increasing, in fiscal years 1982-87, at an annual rate of 7.1 percent. Federal spending accounts for a larger share of the economy now than in 1981. Defense spending is not to blame. Defense spending went up by $95 billion between fiscal years 1982 and 1987, but non-defense spending increased during the same period by $178 billion.

Nor can Congress claim that tax reform has starved it for funds. Tax revenues have increased by $225 billion, giving Congress 38 percent more money in 1987 than it had in 1982. This is a greater increase in disposable income than the average citizen has enjoyed. The problem is that Congress always wants to spend more than it takes in. Only by boosting spending can congressmen fulfill the extravagant promises made to special interest groups at election time.

In late September, Congress revived the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction plan with its automatic across-the-board cuts to meet spending limits. It sounded tough in the press releases. However, Congress riddled the law with so many loopholes as to destroy its credibility.

In The Real China

TAIPEI, TAIWAN — No journalist could possibly visit the Republic of China (Taiwan) today without wanting to write about it. But I owe it to my readers to warn them that I hardly represent that reportorial ideal, the wholly objective observer. For one thing, I am here at the invitation and expense of the government, to address the students of the School of Journalism of National Chengchi University, and to receive the government's 1987 International Communication Service Award. For another thing, and more to the point, I am a longstanding friend of Free China, having visited this lovely island repeatedly over the past quarter of a century.

That said, let's begin by noting that major changes are underway simultaneously on both sides of the Straits of Formosa. In Beijing, Deng Xiaoping appears to have effected a transition to a younger generation of communist leaders cast in his mold—"pragmatists," who are determined to try to revivify Communist China by substituting large dollops of free-market economics for the failed nostrums of Karl Marx.

On Taiwan meanwhile, President Chiang Ching-kuo has displayed astonishing flexibility for an elderly and ailing leader. He needs no lessons from Deng Xiaoping on the merits of a free economy. Taiwan's is one of the freest in the world, and has prospered accordingly. Today this country has the highest foreign reserves per capita of any nation on earth. Rather, it is in the field of politics that President Chiang has instituted major reforms.

Here too, of course, Taipei has always led Beijing by a country mile. As Fox Butterfield, the former New York Times bureau chief in Beijing, explained it, "On Taiwan, everything is permitted except a few things which are forbidden. On the mainland, everything is forbidden except a few things which are permitted."

But nowadays even fewer things are being forbidden on Taiwan. For one thing, new opposition political parties are being permitted to organize, and are doing so with impressive enthusiasm. For another, the government has just authorized travel to the mainland in certain circumstances—e.g., in the case of old soldiers who want to see their relatives once more before they die.

Two things need to be said about these measures of liberalization. The first is that it is hard, and probably impossible, to fine-tune such reforms. Taiwan is clearly headed for genuine multi-party democracy, so it seems probable that the Kuomintang party, like Japan's Liberal Democratic party, will continue to rule the roost for the foreseeable future. And permission for visits to the mainland to see relatives is hard to broaden.

Second, these changes are the ripe fruits of social strength, not the frantic concessions of a fading oligarchy. "We have a middle class now," one high-ranking official told me with a smile, "and a middle class demands, and deserves, more freedom: freedom to travel more widely, freedom to make more political choices, and so on."

That distinction may for the present spare Communist China, which has no middle class, the embarrassing necessity of explaining why it isn't emulating Taipei's political reform. But in the long run Beijing will feel the pressure to follow Taipei's lead. Henceforth the very presence on the mainland of a stream of visitors from Taiwan, describing the relative freedom and prosperity of life here (the per capita gross domestic product is an amazing 15 times higher than across the straits), will serve as a constant reminder of what is possible to the hard-working people of China.

Voyager Off To Neptune

By William Harwood

UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Eager scientists are fine-tuning computer programs and tricky observational techniques for the Voyager 2 spacecraft's history-making 1989 encounter with the far-off planet Neptune.

Launched Aug. 20, 1977, Voyager 2 is one of the most successful spacecraft ever built, passing by and studying Jupiter in 1979, Saturn in 1981 and distant Uranus in January 1986.

"We flew by Uranus in such a way that it would deflect us to Neptune," said Voyager project manager Norman Haynes. "We arrive at Neptune on Aug. 25, 1989, so we're roughly halfway between Uranus and Neptune at the present time."

In the course of its lonely journey, Voyager 2 and its twin, Voyager 1, have revolutionized astronomers' knowledge about the outer solar system and the giant planets that majestically crawl across the sky in the dim reaches of space.

Voyager 1's planetary observations ended after its encounter with Saturn in 1980 and it is presently on its way out of the solar system and into interstellar space. But Voyager 2 has a final appointment to keep at Neptune.

"We want to do Neptune right because we're not going to be back there in the near future," Haynes said in a telephone interview from the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif.

"There are no missions even planned or thought about to go back to Neptune," he said. "So this is kind of it as the last target for Voyager."

Relatively little is known about Neptune, discovered in 1846, because of its great distance from Earth. The planet takes 164.8 years to complete one trip around the sun in an orbit that lies 30 times farther from the sun than Earth.

Invisible to the unaided eye, Neptune appears greenish blue through telescopes because of atmospheric methane and it is similar to Uranus with a diameter of 30,200 miles and an atmosphere made up primarily of hydrogen, helium and trace gases.

It is unknown if Neptune has a solid surface, rings, a magnetic field, aurora or radiation belts, and only three satellites have been discovered, Triton and Nereid and an object known as 1981 N1.

As of Nov. 15, Voyager 2 will be 2.3 billion miles from Earth and some 584 million miles from its target.

Laser Was Shortcut For Reagan

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's secret decision last December to go ahead with the "Zenith Star" chemical laser program was motivated by his longstanding desire to have at least a prototype laser weapon in space before he leaves the White House. But he won't make it.

Reagan's intense faith in his Strategic Defense Initiative, popularly known as "Star Wars," was what led him to order Lt. Gen. James Abrahamson, director of SDI, to forge ahead with Zenith Star even though the president believed it would eventually violate the U.S.-Soviet Antiballistic Missile Treaty of 1972.

The same sources in the White House, the Pentagon and the intelligence community who confirmed the story of Reagan's decision to Dale Van Atta predict that the hydrogen-fluoride laser under development will not be ready to test in space until long after Reagan leaves office.

Absolutely the earliest Zenith Star can have a chemical laser weapon ready to send up, these sources said, is late 1990. And that's only if technical problems do not cause delays.

The news has been a keen disappointment to the president. As one top White House aide explained, Reagan "would like to demonstrate one of these exotic weapons tomorrow, if he could."

It was shortly after his election in November 1980 that Reagan confided to several key Republican senators that he intended to accelerate the development of space-based laser weapons as an anti-missile defense. The laser of choice at that time was fueled by hydrogen fluoride and was known as Alpha. It had been under development since the late 1970s.

But the relatively simple chemical laser lost its charm following Reagan's Star Wars speech in March 1983. Attention was focused on free-electron lasers, nuclear-powered X-ray lasers, particle-beam weapons and other exotica. Abrahamson's new SDI Office all but spiked the modest Alpha program.

For SDI enthusiasts, the key factor was wave length — the shorter the better. Alpha's rivals were much shorter, and would be brighter, more destructive and more efficient.

But by mid-1986, Abrahamson had changed his position, more from political than technical considerations. The White House wanted early results, and the general knew that every laser but Alpha would take at least 10 years to perfect. Thus was born the Zenith Star program: the Alpha chemical laser with tracking, computer and other systems to make it a fully integrated weapon.

When the president was finally sold on Zenith Star at an Oval Office meeting last Dec. 17 with Abrahamson and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, he insisted on making it a super-secret program. The reason was the Republicans' loss of Senate control and the fear of opposition if the Democrats learned about it.

So Reagan ordered that Zenith Star be a "black" program, meaning one that is so secret that few if any members of Congress are cleared to know about it. Zenith Star went through its first phase — January through May — as a fully black program.

But then, as the second phase began, some of the secrecy was lifted in a cleverly disarming fashion. Parts of the program have been downgraded to a "secret" classification level and removed from the special access codes that protected the earliest phase from curious members of Congress.

NATION IN BRIEF

White House, Congressional Panel Nears Deficit Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House-congressional negotiators have "closed the gap considerably" in their differences on a tax and spending plan to help erase the federal budget deficit and say they may be near a final agreement.

"I'm encouraged by the tone and earnestness," House Democratic leader Thomas Foley of Washington said after Tuesday's meeting.

Assistant Republican leader Trent Lott of Mississippi agreed. "We've closed the gap considerably," Lott said.

The negotiators, in their 13th day of private meetings today, have instructions to cut at least $23 billion from the federal deficit in fiscal 1988, which began Oct. 1. Many economists have singled out the budget deficit and the trade deficit as causes of the recent world financial upheaval.

House Holds Protectionist Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, which narrowly approved a controversial get-tough amendment to its version of the trade bill in April, has voted not to abandon that position during negotiations with the Senate.

On a 239-175 vote Tuesday that generally followed party lines, Democrats defeated a Republican-led effort to instruct House negotiators in the trade bill conference committee with the Senate to recede from a position in support of the amendment authored by Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo.

The move to get the House to abandon its support of the Gephardt amendment was spearheaded by House Republican leader Robert Michel of Illinois, who warned, "The market crash has put an economic noose around the neck of the House" but that "the Gephardt amendment erected the scaffold."

Regan: Reagan Backed Deaver

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michael Deaver supported former Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis as special envoy to Canada in 1985 and President Reagan approved the idea despite protests by top advisers, a former Deaver boss recalls.

Testimony by former White House chief of staff Donald Regan in the 10th day of Deaver's perjury trial contradicted sworn statements by the defendant, a former deputy chief of staff and longtime friend of the president.

Regan's recollection was bolstered by a memo stating Deaver conceded in a telephone conversation that he recommended Lewis for the job. The Feb. 7, 1986, memo was read in court but was not introduced as evidence Tuesday.

Prosecutors contend Deaver championed the Lewis nomination and was intimately involved in White House policy decisions on acid rain and other issues that he subsequently took on as a private lobbyist in Washington.

32 Hell's Angels Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A high-ranking Hells Angel became an FBI informant and wore a "wire" in an investigation that produced charges against 38 bikers and undercut the motorcycle gang's drug-dealing operations, authorities said.

California Attorney General John Van de Kamp told a news conference that 32 Hells Angels were arrested in raids Tuesday in Alaska, California, Kentucky, North Carolina and South Carolina, culminating a 2 1/2-year investigation that began when a high-ranking gang member from Anchorage offered to tell the FBI about drugs and explosives trafficking.

Authorities said the informer wore a "body wire" that secretly recorded some meetings of the gang. Six of those charged were still fugitives.

Iranian Boats Attack Tanker

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iranian speedboats attacked a Japanese-managed tanker in the southern Persian Gulf outside the Strait of Hormuz today three hours after Iraq said it attacked a tanker off Iran, shipping sources said.

The two Iranian vessels attacked the Panamanian-registered tanker off the United Arab Emirates three hours after Iraqi warplanes staged their third strike on tankers off Iran in 24 hours.

The two Iranian speedboats swept toward the 7,060-ton Liquid Bulk Explorer outside the Strait of Hormuz at 10:30 a.m. and sent several rocket-propelled grenades crashing into its hull.

The grenades started a fire aboard the tanker, a chemical products carrier, but the crew was able to quickly control the blaze and the stricken vessel required no assistance, shipping sources said.

The attack on the tanker, which is managed by the Japanese shipping firm Tokumaru Kaiun of Tokyo, was the first by Iran in the Persian Gulf since Nov. 6, when an Iranian vessel attacked the U.S.-managed oil tanker Grand Wisdom off the United Arab Emirates while it was steaming down the gulf with a load of Kuwaiti crude.

The United States did not retaliate for the attack on the Grand Wisdom because it flies the Panamanian flag. Eleven Kuwaiti tankers have been placed under U.S. registry and naval protection and Iran has struck back with Silkstorm missile attacks on Kuwait.

The Iranian speedboats, usually used by the Iranian Revolutionary Guard for attacks on third-party shipping in the gulf, attacked the Liquid Bulk Explorer about 25 miles west of the of the emirate of Umm al Qaiwain.

Girls Hurt When Car Hits House

A slick road in Winter Springs resulted in two teenage girls being injured after their car skidded and then smashed into a house at 213 Alderwood Ave. Monday night. None of the residents in the home were hurt during the 7 p.m. accident.

Paty Jean Dilline, 17, and Jennifer Kearns, 14, were both treated and released from Florida Hospital, Altamonte Springs, Monday night.

The girls were reportedly driving south on Cortez Ave. when their car began to spin as it turned on Alderwood Ave. Witnesses say the car then began to spin across the street and into the yard of the home of Julie McKeely. The car hit a car in the McKeely driveway and then struck the garage and foyer of the home head-on. McKeely said she ran outside after hearing the accident and then called for help.

DeLand Pedestrian Killed After Motorcycle Hits Him

A 78-year-old DeLand man was killed Monday when he was struck by a motorcycle as he was attempting to cross a street in front of Fish Memorial Hospital.

August Zeigler suffered head and internal injuries after a motorcycle driven by Raymond Ezell, 29, Orange City, hit him as he stepped on to S. Amelia Ave. at 7 p.m. Monday. Zeigler, who lived at the College Arms Towers Apartments, was flown by a sheriff's department helicopter to Halifax Medical Center where he died at 10:13 p.m. that night.

Ezell was admitted to Fish Memorial Hospital with a head injury immediately after the accident. A hospital spokesman said Ezell is in intensive care and is listed in stable condition. The spokesman added that Ezell will probably be undergoing tests and will remain in the hospital over the next few days.

American Gets A, USAir, F, On FAA Report Card

By Frank T. Coogee
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Transportation Department Tuesday issued its first report card on airline performance that showed American Airlines had the best on-time record among the nation's 14 largest carriers and USAir had the poorest.

The department's monthly air travel consumer report for September showed American planes overall were 84.5 percent on time followed by Southwest Airlines at 82.4 percent, Continental Airlines at 81.1 percent and Eastern Airlines at 80.4 percent.

On the low end of the scale, USAir registered at a 67.4 percent on-time arrival rate. Northwest Airlines had the second-worst record at 69 percent followed by Pacific Southwest Airlines at 70.5 percent and Delta at 72.3 percent.

All delays except mechanical ones were included in the report, which the department said should help consumers make informed choices when picking a carrier. The figures were supplied by the airlines. Under the rule, a delay is defined as a flight that arrives 15 minutes or more past the scheduled arrival time.

The public has expressed dissatisfaction with too many flight delays and poor baggage handling in recent months, prompting the government to monitor the airlines more closely.

"Delays caused by mechanical problems are deliberately not included in this report because we do not want any carrier to feel pressured to raise its on-time performance at the expense of safety," Matthew Scoccozza, assistant transportation secretary for policy and international affairs, told a news conference.

practices," he said. "We will not compromise safety." Steve Hayes, a spokesman for the Air Transport Association, said many of the delays are caused by poor weather and air traffic control problems, which are not the fault of the airlines.

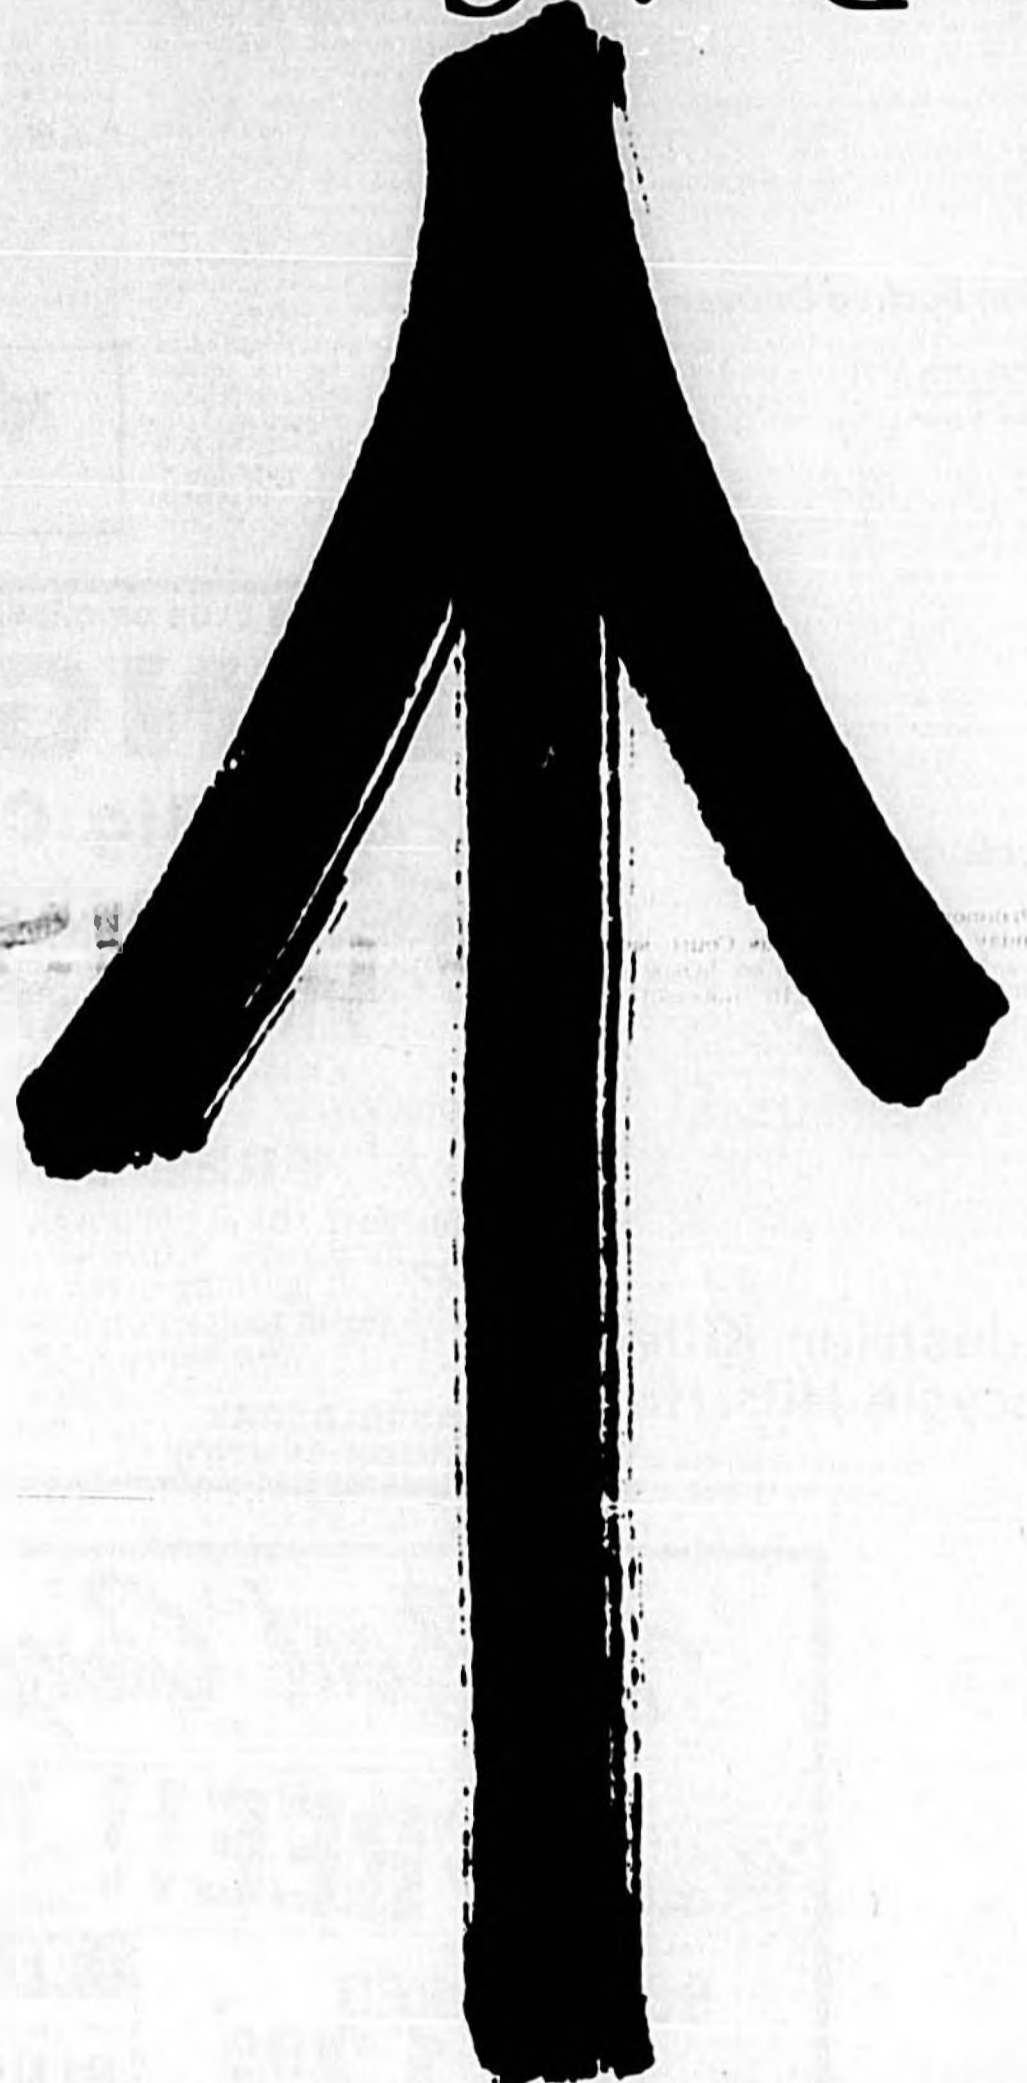

"This reporting system is good for the flying public and it's good for the airlines," he said. "Among other things, it points out the need to expand the capacity of the system."

The report also showed that Northwest had the highest number of complaints — 13.06 per thousand passengers — about mishandled baggage followed by United at 10.77, while Pan Am came in best with 4.06 complaints.

But the department cautioned that airlines that scored poor in this category generally provided more comprehensive reporting data.

Hobby And Photography Events

Games Take A Creative Turn Today

The level of competition of Sanford's 13th annual Golden Age Games will take a turn towards the creative rather than the physical today when the Hobby and Photography events are opened to the public.

Nolan said the entries to this year's show will be judged by officials from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. before the public is admitted to view the exhibits. The display will also be open on Thursday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Barbara Gregg, extension home economist for Seminole County and the University of Florida, said the Hobby and Photography events of the games give many people who can't or don't desire to compete in the more physical events the opportunity to participate with their friends and peers.

Gregg, who has been with the Seminole program for eight years, said she feels part of the benefit of this type of event is that people can see that crafts can be a real work of art. She added that she and the volunteer members of the Extension Homemakers have seen some very beautiful and unique entries over the years.

"The crafts and art entered into the competition also help keep customs alive, as well as giving a great deal of pleasure to the family and loved one of those creating the works," Gregg said of the benefits of the competition.

Gregg said she expects the exhibit to be seen by a lot of area residents, as well as other competitors in the games. "We usually get a great turnout," she said.

The crafts show, which is being sponsored by the Extension Homemakers of Seminole County, will be opened for public viewing after judges select first, second and third place winners from the 200 to 300 entries expected for the competition. The show is being held in the ground floor of the Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

Awards will be given in eight different divisions including: arts, crafts, ceramics, horticulture, collections, needlework, home decorations and materials and woodcraft divisions. A listing of categories within each division are available from the event sponsors.

The Hobby and Photography events have been a fixture since the first Golden Age Games were held in 1974, according to Louise Nolan, Hobby Show chairman.

The Hong Kong stock market opened slightly down today but rallied in the afternoon to end the day a fraction above Tuesday's closing level.

The Hang Seng Stock Index ended a day of very light trading at 2046.18, a 2.94-point rise over Tuesday's 2043.24 close. Turnover was $112.69 million.

The market opened at 2033.88, which was nearly 10 points down from Tuesday's close, and continued to sink during the morning to 2016.97 by lunchtime.

Kasparov Leads In Chess Match

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI) — Chess champion Gary Kasparov took advantage of a silver platter handed him by challenger Anatoly Karpov and took a 6-5 lead in the World Chess Championship.

Karpov toppled his king in defeat Tuesday on the 50th move, but for all intents and purposes the match ended Monday when the challenger inexplicably swapped a rook for a bishop.

Kasparov raised his hands to his mouth in disbelief when, in the 35th move Monday, Karpov moved his rook forward instead of advancing his bishop.

The error paved the way for a trade of pieces in favor of Kasparov, who took white's rook in exchange for a bishop, a piece of less strategic importance, and fatally undercut Karpov's attack.

Hospital Sympathetic, But Says It Must Sue Ronnie's Mother

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Children's Hospital says it filed suit to recover more than $260,000 in medical bills from the mother of a 7-year-old liver transplant patient only after she ignored at least 15 overdue payment notices.

In Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Maria DeSillers said she withheld payment because she had "a lot of questions" about the care given her son, Ronnie, who died April 29 while awaiting a fourth donor liver.

The suit, filed Monday in ~~Common Pleas~~ Court, said DeSillers paid only a $163,000 deposit on her son's $424,302 hospital bill, despite "at least 15" notices that the balance of $261,189 was overdue.

Surgeons who operated on Ronnie also apparently have not been paid, hospital officials said.

Boy Pilot Believes Record Set

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE (UPI) — Ten-year-old pilot Erik Fiederer, so small he has to sit on pillows to see out of the cockpit, ended a 31.5-hour, 2,500-mile flight across country and said he believes he set a record.

After landing his Cessna 210 at 8:43 p.m. EST Tuesday, the sixth grader was hugged by his mother, Air Force Col. Nancy Fiederer, who accompanied him on the flight from Fort Lewis, Wash.

Erik said he felt a sense of "self-satisfaction" and thinks he is the youngest pilot to fly from Washington state to Miami in the shortest time.

"I'm not sure whether I got any records or not," he said. "I think I did, I believe I did and I hope I did."

Killer's Execution Stayed

STARKE (UPI) — Condemned killer Nollie Lee Martin received an indefinite stay of execution 17 hours before his scheduled electrocution today for the 1977 murder of a Delray Beach convenience store clerk.

U.S. District Judge James Lawrence King's 1 1/2-page order, effective at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday, said he did not have enough time before the 7 a.m. execution to decide the "correctness" of state court rulings that Martin was mentally competent to understand why he was to be executed.

Earlier Tuesday, a divided state Supreme Court ruled that Martin was competent to be put to death. Martin's lawyer, Richard Burr, immediately appealed to federal district court in Miami.

Martin was sentenced to death for the 1977 murder of convenience store clerk Patricia Greenfield in Delray Beach. He was originally scheduled to be executed Nov. 5, but he won a stay after Burr raised the mental competency claims.

Region 4A-5: It's A Brantley Blitz

Lady Patriots Bounce Evans, Section 3 Next

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Welcome to the big time. Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots, who in the past were doing well just to break .500, moved within one victory of the Class 4A State Tournament Tuesday night as they cranked up their powerful attack and blitzed Orlando Evans' Lady Trojans, 15-4, 12-15, 15-6, in the 4A-5 Region playoff before 551 fans at Lake Brantley High.

In keeping their most successful season ever rolling, the Lady Patriots improved to 22-7 with their 10th consecutive victory. Evans finished the season at 20-2.

"The more you want it the better you play," Lake Brantley junior Barb Billmyer said. "And we wanted this one really bad. It was comparable to the win over DeLand. We knew we could do it if we stuck together and gave it our all."

Lake Brantley returns to action Friday night at 7:30 at home against Merritt Island in the 4A-3 Section playoff with the winner advancing to the state tourney. Merritt Island (30-3) advanced with a 15-11, 15-12 victory over Boca Raton Spanish River in Tuesday's Region 6 playoff.

"The girls never stopped believing they could do it," Lake Brantley coach Stephanie Glance said. "One more win and we're there (state). If we play as well as we did in the first and third games tonight, I believe we'll get there."

Lake Brantley's play in the first game Tuesday night was nothing short of awesome.

Sophomore Jeanne Seidel served the Lady Patriots to a quick 4-0 lead and, with the score 4-1, Billmyer served three points to make it 7-1.

Evans came back within 7-3 before senior Wendy Vickery's spike off a set by junior Marianne Rodriguez gave Brantley a side out and Rodriguez then served seven in a row to put the Lady Patriots in command, 14-3. Vickery's spike and junior Pam Wittig's block sparked the rally while two of Rodriguez' serves weren't returned and Evans missed four spikes.

The Lady Trojans made it 14-4 on Jackie Danner's ace serve, but Brantley got it back and Seidel served out the game.

"The girls really put it together in the first game," Glance said. "We got our attack going well and we were intimidating at the net."

Evans settled down in game two, though, and rode the net play of Val King and Audrey Morgan to an 11-8 lead. Brantley

"We had a few mental breakdowns in the second game," Glance said. "So we got together and had a little talk between games. And we came out the third game and played just like we did in the first."

Neither team scored on their first serve of the game and Evans then had a chance to break the ice. Senior Kim Gunderson, though, rose up and nailed a spike to the floor to give Brantley a side out and Vickery then served four in a row.

Rodriguez Provides Finesse

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — At 5-3, Marianne Rodriguez would need about a 40-inch vertical leap to be an effective spiker. Not to worry, though, because Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots don't need Rodriguez jumping out of the gym to make a difference on their team.

With players such as 6-0 Kim Gunderson, 5-9 Dawn Gebhart and Pam Wittig and 5-7 Wendy Vickery and Barb Billmyer providing the power, coach Stephanie Glance relies on Rodriguez, the only setter in the 5-1 offense, to run the show for the Lady Patriots.

Tuesday night, Rodriguez, a junior, not only set up the Brantley attack, but used her finesse to save several balls that might otherwise have resulted in a side out or point for the opposition. She also had a big serving string in the first game as the Lady Patriots defeated Orlando Evans, 15-4, 12-15, 15-6, for the 4A-5 Region championship.

"At the beginning of the season, I told Marianne (Rodriguez) what I wanted her to do," Glance said. "And she has consistently gone out and done what I expect of her. She has done a great job setting all year and tonight she came through with some big serves and good play at the net as well."

In Tuesday's first game, with Brantley holding a 7-3 lead, Rodriguez put a set up for

Raiders Pound Florida College

By Mark Blythe
Special to the Herald
Holly Keller controlled the tempo and brought the Seminole Community College men's basketball squad together to whip Florida College of Tampa, 115-79, in its home opener Tuesday night before 251 fans at the SCC Health Center.

The Raiders, 2-1, will now prepare for their tournament this weekend which will feature Brevard Community College, last year's Florida Junior College Tournament champion, Clearwater AAU and Patrick Air Force. The tournament will start Friday night at 6:00 with the nightcap at 8:00. The finals will be Saturday with the consolation beginning at 6:00 and the championship to be held at 8:00.

Keller, a sophomore, saw limited action last year at the forward position. This year he has switched to starting at the point guard position and running the SCC offense.

"Holly has played super for us so far," Seminole coach Bill Payne said. "He played a real good game for us again tonight."

Keller finished the night with six points and six assists and kept the offense in gear with a couple of key baskets during the game.

"Coach (Payne) told me I needed to penetrate more and that's what I was concentrating on tonight," Keller said. "I think we came together as a team in the second half tonight."

The Raiders, led by Malcolm Houston's game-high 32 points, were able to dominate the Falcons in every phase of the game.

SCC was able to substitute freely throughout the second half as FCC could never muster a real comeback attempt.

"They'll be a different team when we play them on the road," Payne said. "They are a much better team than they showed tonight."

Houston led the attack as five Raiders reached double figures. Freshman Mark Hadden finished with 21 points playing at the small forward spot. Power forward Barry Dunning put forth a strong effort with 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds.

3A-3: Lady Lions Sweep Gainesville

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
In a program that has enjoyed more success than most, the only negative tags on Oviedo's Lady Lions prior to this season was they couldn't come from behind and they never did well on long road trips.

Oviedo put the first negative to rest by coming back from a first-game loss to defeat DeLand for the Seminole Athletic Conference title Tuesday night. Oviedo erased the second negative by traveling to Gainesville and sweeping the host Purple Hurricanes, 15-13, 15-10 in the 3A-3 Region playoff.

"I didn't think we played our best game, but we attacked really well at times and our serving was excellent," Oviedo coach Anna Carlson said. "We had a lot of missed hits in the first game and Gainesville hit some junk over that dropped in. The second game, we really bump, set, and spiked and controlled most of the game."

With their second consecutive region title safely tucked away, Oviedo's Lady Lions will return home to try to claim a spot in the Class 3A State Tournament. Oviedo, 22-2 for the season, hosts Land O' Lakes in a rematch of last year's Section 2 playoff which Land O' Lakes hosted and won. Land O' Lakes advanced with a 7-15, 15-11, 16-14 victory over Tampa Plant in Tuesday's Region 4 playoff.

Carlson said she will try to schedule the Section 2 match for either Friday at 4 p.m. or Saturday night.

After Oviedo took a 3-0 lead in the opening game, Gainesville came back to tie it at 4-4 and neither team got more than a

In game two, Anna Hollis served Oviedo to a quick 5-0 lead and the Lady Lions rode the power of Hughes and Jill Knutson to a 12-3 lead. Darlene Greenaway then served Gainesville back into the game, but the Lady Lions closed out the match on the serve of Hollis.

"Gainesville had a lot of trouble returning Anna's (Hollis) serve the second game," Carlson said. "Along with her serving, Jill (Knutson) and Suzanne (Hughes) had some excellent kills in the game."

While Hollis served a total of eight points in the second game, Jodie Switzer and Hughes both served 100 percent for Oviedo. Switzer was 11 for 11 in the match while Hughes was 8 for 8.

Lady Raiders Open With PAFB

Gallagher Looks For Defensive Quickness To Set SCC's Tempo

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
With no one in the starting lineup over 5-11, Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders will rely on defensive quickness and run every chance they get. The 1987 Lady Raiders open play tonight at 6 at Patrick Air Force Base.

SCC's home opener will be next Friday, Nov. 20, as they host the seventh annual Lady Raider Tournament. Pensacola will play Edison at 6 p.m. to open the tourney and SCC will play North Florida at 8. The finals will be Saturday at 5 p.m.

"We have a very quick team and will rely a lot on man to man pressure," SCC coach Ileana Gallagher said. "Our offense will mainly be fast breaking every time we have the opportunity. We want to pick up the tempo this year and utilize our quickness." The starting five Gallagher has penciled in for the opener includes two guard Tammy Johnson, point guard Sheila Higgins, forwards Cathy Cleveland and Pam Chatman and center Bridgett Thomas.

Johnson, a 5-8 sophomore sharpshooter, returns to the Lady Raiders after a two-year layoff. The Lake Howell High graduate was a Junior College All-American her freshman year at SCC when she averaged over 20 points per game.

Higgins is a 5-7 sophomore original from Virginia who came to SCC last year but did not play. Cleveland, a 5-7 freshman, is out of St. Petersburg Osceola High while Chatman, a 5-9 frosh, comes from New Smyrna Beach and Thomas, 5-11 freshman, is also out of St. Pete Osceola.

Bench strength for the Lady Raiders is provided by sophomores Stephanie Nelson (Oviedo High), Latanya Johnson (Lyman) and Heather Peterson (Lake Highland) and freshmen Jeannell Copeland (Bradenton Southeast), Shawna Scott (Southeast), Novella Settles (Orlando Boone) and Tracy Taylor (Tallahassee).

"We hope to be better than last year (19-9)," Gallagher said. "We'd like to get back in the state tournament since we're hosting it this year."

Gallagher's assistant coaches this season will be Debbie Scherr and Val Roessler.

Bedrosian Wins Cy Young

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Philadelphia Phillies relief pitcher Steve Bedrosian drove 40 miles from his home in Duluth, Ga., to the airport in Atlanta, hoping he was not making the trip for nothing.

Bedrosian got his wish Tuesday night when he learned he had won the 1987 National League Cy Young Award and then boarded a plane for a flight to Veterans Stadium to attend a news conference.

"I went to the airport and waited for a telephone call," he said. "If I won it, I'd come here. If not, I'd just turn around and go home."

Bedrosian edged Chicago Cubs' starter Rick Sutcliffe by two points in the closest balloting in the award's 32-year history and was only three points ahead of third-place finisher Rick Reuschel of the San Francisco Giants.

"I didn't want to get too excited in case it didn't happen," he said. "But it did happen and I had a heckuva plane flight."

Birle Brothers Boost Rams' Stock

DeLand (6-2 overall and 4-1 in the 5A-4) is a better football team than coach Dave Hiss likes to admit. Hiss always bemoans his team, but the Bulldogs have proven that they are winners.

Berenguer Becomes Free Agent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnesota Twins reliever Juan Berenguer, who starred in the American League playoffs, Monday highlighted a list of 18 players who filed for free agency on the final day players could declare.

The Players Association said a total of 76 players had filed before the midnight EST deadline. Twelve other eligible players decided not to file.

Berenguer appeared in four playoff games, posting one save and a 1.50 ERA with one hit through six innings. In 47 regular-season appearances, including six starts, Berenguer went 8-1 with a 3.94 ERA and four saves.

Joining Berenguer as free agents Monday were: Ken Griffey and Graig Nettles of Atlanta; Greg Minton of California; Ed Lynch, Dickie Noles and Manny Trillo of the Chicago Cubs; Ken Landreaux of the Los Angeles Dodgers; Eddie Milner, Joel Youngblood and Mike LaCoss of San Francisco; Moose Haas and Joaquin Andujar of Oakland; Mark Clear of Milwaukee; Jamie Quirk of Kansas City; Jose Cruz of Houston; Tommy John of the New York Yankees; and Frank Tanana of Detroit.

Clubs have until Dec. 7 to offer arbitration to players who have filed for free agency or lose negotiation rights until May 1. The players then have 12 days to accept or reject a team's offer for arbitration.

Jan. 8 is the last day for teams to negotiate with players who have filed for free agency and rejected arbitration.

SCHMIDT SIGNS — PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies and All-Star third baseman Mike Schmidt Monday night reached agreement on a new two-year contract worth $4.5 million.

Team spokesman Vince Naus said the agreement was reached at 11:53 p.m. EST, seven minutes before the deadline for Schmidt to declare himself a free agent.

Schmidt made about $2.17 million last season, when he batted .293 with 35 home runs and 113 RBIs.

Naus said Phillies President Bill Giles signed the contract when agreement was reached with Schmidt's agent Arthur Rosenber. Schmidt will sign the contract Tuesday, shortly before a 10:30 a.m. press conference to formally announce the agreement.

Baseball

Schmidt had only considered free agency as a formality, Rosenberg said. It would have protected his right to arbitration. Schmidt has said before that he has no interest in playing for another team and wants to finish his career in Philadelphia.

As the night wore on it appeared less likely that the free agency route would be necessary. Giles had indicated he wanted to finalize the contract before a self-imposed midnight deadline.

The only other player with the Phillies eligible to become a free agent, outfielder Greg Gross, signed a one-year contract last week.

The Phillies must still reach new contract agreements with many of their key players, including second baseman Juan Samuel, catcher Lance Parrish, outfielders Milt Thompson and Chris James and pitchers Don Carman, Bruce Kuffin, Kevin Gross and Kent Tekulve.

Several of those players, including Samuel and Parrish, are also eligible to go to contract arbitration if negotiations fail to produce an agreement.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Veteran first baseman Dan Driessen, called up by the St. Louis Cardinals in August as a backup to slugger Jack Clark, was placed on waivers Monday, the team announced.

Driessen, 36, had joined the Cardinals Aug. 31 from the Louisville Redbirds, St. Louis' Triple-A farm club in the American Association. He hit .233 with one home run and 11 RBIs in 24 games with St. Louis.

His biggest hit for the Cardinals was a run-scoring double Oct. 1 against the Montreal Expos that gave St. Louis the National League East title. Driessen, subbing for the injured Clark, hit .240 — 6 for 25 — in nine post-season games.

The Cardinals also announced that right fielder Jim Lindeman was recovering from surgery last Wednesday to remove a ruptured disc in his lower back.

"After making a study of Jim's back problems we elected to go ahead and remove a ruptured disc," said Dr. Stan London, the team physician.

Rozier Sought Counseling

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston Oilers running back Mike Rozier admitted Tuesday he sought counseling for alcohol abuse last weekend at a local rehabilitation center.

Rozier, who won the Helaman Trophy in 1983, missed Sunday's road loss to the San Francisco 49ers with an ankle injury.

"The Houston Oilers and my agent knew nothing about my going down to the center and talking to a couple of counselors," Rozier said at a news conference. "I had the time because I didn't make the trip, so I felt I should go down there for counseling."

"I went down there for two days to talk to some people about drinking. I felt that I was drinking a little bit too much and I didn't want to get carried away. I could lose a lot of things right now, as far as my life, my friends, my loved ones, respect from other people and the team. We're playing well, and I don't want to mess that up right now."

Continued from 8A Hadden, standing at just 6-2, played a major role in the Raiders offense, when Houston was off. Hadden stepped and picked up the slack, forcing the Falcons to play honestly. "I felt I had a good performance tonight but I still need to work harder on defense," Hadden said. "I'm still making a transition. I don't think I'm playing at my top level yet but it's still early in the season."

with a 54-38 lead. "We've played better in the second half so far this season," Payne said. "We stumbled around on offense tonight and assistant coach Bob Ek suggested we change offenses which helped us get on track." The Raiders came out and left FCC early in the second half with Dunning and Robert Williams controlling the middle, opening up the floor for the guards to shoot. Seminole will now look to repeat as champions of its own tournament this weekend. "We'll take it one game at a time," Payne said. "We have a lot to work on and it's early to start thinking about the future."

Cook Of The Week

Homemaker Has A Flair For Creating Appealing Dining Experiences

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

It takes a special person like Sally Rosemond, our Cook of the Week, to accept a challenge and turn it into a delightful, flavorful dining experience. One that appeals to all the senses. "I like to cook," she says, "because I enjoy the challenge of creating not only a nutritious, delicious meal, but also the presenting of an attractive plate as possible. As with flower arrangement, the principles of design carry through in food preparation, and I am convinced that the appeal of food is equally as strong to the eye as to the taste buds."

Mrs. Rosemond adds that the color, balance of flavors, textures, harmony and size of portions all go into the difference between a pleasurable eating experience and one that is not long savored. "The simple addition of garnishes," she says, "can do wonders for a plate that needs a special touch. Herbs and other seasonings can make a bland entree a gourmet delight. The old saying, 'If you can read, you can cook,' is, I feel, a matter of the degree to which the challenge is there to experiment and discover what can be added, changed or subtracted from what is on the written page." Mrs. Rosemond also says that she feels gourmet cooking does not necessarily mean fancy, exotic food, but having the ability to arrange common ingredients into appealing combinations and portions.

Her latest challenge, she explains, is "cooking light." To discover how and what can be attractively substituted in recipes to fit into today's health-conscious mode and still preserve some of the good taste that I grew up with.

Our cook flashes a bright smile as she recalls her childhood in a town in Ohio, "just about the size of Sanford," she says. Her mother, Irma (Mrs. Henry) Hurlburt, who is still a very active octogenarian, was a home economist. "She's a wonderful cook," says Mrs. Rosemond, "and I watched and tasted and helped in the kitchen but I never cooked at home. Mother is in the volunteer Pink Lady program and has been on the state level in North Carolina. She sews, she does needlework, she's made afghans, she's terribly talented with her hands and in cooking. She is what I would call a 'basic gourmet' cook, adding sauces, seasonings and garnishes to make the dish more appealing. My dad had a beautiful garden and we raised cocker spaniels, and we raised chickens, and I rode horseback through the fields and the woods. I had a wonderful childhood climbing trees, playing baseball, riding horses, hiking in the woods — just a wonderful growing up time."

Besides traveling to many interesting places across the country with her family, Mrs. Rosemond recalls her summers at camp as especially meaningful. "I think my camp years have probably been the most influential years," she says, "in formulating values and principles. Along with my childhood and my parents' love, my camp experience was second in importance to me. We had daily devotions, a camp creed, and a lot of quotes that I still live by." Her brother, Dr. James Hurlburt, who shares some of the same memorable moments with our cook, specializes in internal medicine and cardiology in Winter Park.

in Aurora, N.Y. She attended graduate school at Duke University's school of physical therapy. "I had the best of two worlds," she exclaims. "I went first to a girls' school, then to Duke University in a graduate program, so I had the benefit of a co-ed situation there and at Duke is where I met my husband. My parents and I went to Duke to pick up my brother who was an undergraduate student there, and he knew my husband, so he introduced me." At this time, Dr. Rosemond was serving his internship in pediatrics at Duke and happened to spy a photo of Sally Hurlburt in her brother's wallet. "In an offhand comment," laughs Mrs. Rosemond, "he said to my brother, 'Oh I may marry her some day.' So then we met and dated for a year and a half."

After they left Duke University, the Rosemonds were married in January 1954 then moved on to Atlanta, Ga., where our cook worked as a physical therapist at Emory University for two and one-half years "until motherhood," she says, while her husband was in a residency program in medicine at the VA hospital. Their next move was to Charleston, S.C. where Dr. Rosemond took a fellowship in cardiology. Arriving in Sanford in 1958, Dr. Rosemond opened his practice of internal medicine-cardiology, and several years later joined forces with Dr. William C. Rapp. "And now we have a new partner," says Mrs. Rosemond, "Dr. Lawrence Vallario." This brilliant team of cardiologists has offices near downtown Sanford.

Along the way, the Rosemonds produced three fine children, one born in each state they lived in, and they are still scattered far and wide. Their daughter, Cherie, is in the practice of physical therapy in Durham, N.C. A son, James, is involved in research and product development at Monsanto in California. Another son, Richard, is in his residency program in obstetrics and gynecology at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. Richard is married to the former Amy Damm of Sanford, and she is working toward her Ph.D. in biology. "They were high school sweethearts," says Mrs. Rosemond, "and dated for about six years before they married."

Mrs. Rosemond is an active woman who almost never sits still, she says. As a member of the Ixora Garden Club, one of her pet projects has been the "poison plant garden" at Central Florida Regional Hospital, and, as co-chairman, has been instrumental in its designing and planning. "It has been a unique thing for this area," she explains, "and it's been a real good community education project in conjunction with the hospital. School groups, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, senior citizen groups, and newcomers to Florida who aren't aware of what is poisonous and what isn't, tour the garden." The "garden" has won awards on the national, state and deep south levels.

Our cook is also a past president of the club and through the years has enjoyed flower arranging, "mainly for the home," she says. "I have cutting flowers in the yard and I enjoy gathering goodies from the woods and dried things." Her country kitchen is often treated to fresh, creative arrangements giving it a homey touch.

She is a member and past deacon of the Presbyterian Church as well as a circle chairman. She is also a member of PEO, Chapter Y, a philanthropic education organization. In addition, our cook loves the great outdoors and proves it by hiking the trails and sharpening her tennis game. She's also become a shutterbug and takes courses at SCC to improve her skills. One of the first things she did as her children left home was compile an album for each of them. "I've collected pictures up to the ceiling through the years," she says. "of Little League, Biddy League, AAU, soccer, football and all the different groups they belonged to, and all their activities. And when they all left home, the first thing I did was to do a scrap book for each child to bring them up to date from childhood to their graduation. I've kept doing that through the years and have three or four scrapbooks which chronicle our whole history of married life. I think if this house were to burn down, I'd grab those things first! They're real treasures." The Rosemonds also keep in touch with friends from all over the world and our thoughtful cook enjoys keeping a record of that through pictures of those special occasions.

At the very heart of the Rosemond household is Sally Rosemond who seems to thrive on visits from family and friends from all over the states and abroad, and sometimes in great numbers. "The main thing we do is entertain, and I cook all the time," she says, laughing. "That seems to be our thing these days. We entertain friends from far and wide frequently, and I enjoy it so much. Through the years we've had groups of people, house parties. And the kids, when they were in school, at spring break they'd bring home all their friends. One weekend we had 75 here. All the members of my son's fraternity came for the weekend. We had bodies all over the place! That was fun." She adds that it wasn't easy to feed 75, but it was fun and a real challenge. Everything was served in great quantities and they didn't even have to eat in shifts. "We fed them all at once," says Mrs. Rosemond. On that day, Duke U. was in the basketball finals, so everyone enjoyed the game along with their gracious hosts.

"Our home is a gathering place for family and friends around the world," says Mrs. Rosemond. "We run a motel," she laughs, "called the Heart Of The St. John's. I, of course, like to get into the cooking end of it. I like to relax when they get here, so I cook ahead and freeze and have it all organized so I can play! Keeping in touch is our special joy. In fact, once a month my husband picks up the phone and calls somebody out of his past that he hasn't seen in maybe 30 or 40 years. This is our joy that we have right now, touching

Auntie Lois Marks 90th Birthday

Lois Weiss of Sanford, celebrated her 90th birthday Oct. 3 with a group of her relatives.

Those present for the occasion were: Ruth and George Green, South Bend, Ind.; Joan and Bill Owens and Bill Owens Jr., Fort Worth, Texas; Susan and Greg Stevens of Minneapolis, Minn.; Gayle and Jim McInerney, Jacksonville; Melba and Meade Cooper, Myrtle Weinman, Bonnie Schumacher and daughter Shauna Schumacher, Frieda Gielow and Bill and Walter Gielow, all of Sanford.

"Auntie Lois," the affectionate name used by those who love Mrs. Weiss, was born on Oct. 3, 1897 in Louisville, Ky.

Her mother was Mary Elizabeth Moore, better known to friends as Miss Betty, and her father was John Calvin Moore, an accomplished cabinet maker and carpenter.

Mrs. Weiss went to school in Louisville and in 1924 entered the Baptist Training School for Women, a part of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. Her first assignment upon leaving the school was to the Settlement House at a rough area of the city called The Point. There, she worked with the underprivileged.

A member of the Goodwill Industries board from Memphis, Tenn., visited Louisville, checked with the Settlement House and promptly hired Mrs. Weiss for a position with Goodwill in Memphis. She remained there for eight years.

With a need to care for her parents, she moved to Pleasureville, Ky. Seven months later, with a strong desire to return to the business field, she moved with her parents back to

'Auntie' Lois Weiss

Memphis. There, she ran the bookkeeping department for a firm which manufactured seasonings and spices. She later changed jobs and went to work directing an office staff at a new hospital.

Interested in working for herself, she bought a small bookstore and ran it for about four years. The Southern Baptist Convention did not have a bookstore in Memphis and made an agreement to buy her out and allow her to manage the business.

Mrs. Weiss later moved to Richmond, Va., to manage a Baptist bookstore there. Some say she moved to manage the store; others say it was to be nearer New York City and a man named Ed Weiss whom she had met earlier.

The two soon were married and moved to Florida.

Mrs. Weiss has been a Sunday School teacher for more years than anyone can remember.

Midge's Sweet Potato Crop Ready For Holiday Season

An experience I had this past weekend prompted the topic for this week's column. In late May I planted some sweet potato slips. The summer has come and gone, the vines still look green and healthy, and I figured surely by now there should be sweet potatoes under the ground.

Since this was the first time I have planted sweet potatoes I really did not know what to expect. Very carefully I dug into the soil and,ureka, I found large, medium and small tubers that are just waiting to be harvested.

Now we'll have fresh ones right through the holidays, I hope. The flesh of the potato is firm and yellow/orange, the skin is darker. The potato is sweet and moist. Those that can be purchased at the grocer's now, be they yams or sweet potatoes, are fresh and very reasonably priced.

Yellow fruits and vegetables are good sources of Vitamin A. Because of the high sugar and moisture content of sweet potatoes they microwave very well and quickly. A micro-baked sweet potato is a delicious accompaniment to ham or pork. To prepare: scrub the potatoes, prick with a fork. Microwave on 100% power 3-4 minutes for 1 medium potato. Turn potato over halfway through cooking time. Allow 3 minutes standing time.

With the holidays almost upon us, these recipes will provide others ways to serve the traditional holiday potato.

YAM BOATS

3 medium yams or sweet potatoes
1/4 cup butter
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup (packed) brown sugar
1/2 cup half and half cream
1/4 cup chopped pecans
Microwave, on 100% power, yams 13-15 minutes or until tender, turning yams over once. Cool enough to handle. Cut potatoes in half lengthwise. Scoop out potato mixture into bowl, leaving 1/4-inch shell. Cut butter into pieces; add to yam mixture, along with salt, brown sugar, and half of cream. Beat until smooth. Continue beating in enough cream until of desired consistency. Spoon mixture into shells. Place on glass serving plate. Sprinkle with pecans. M/W 2-3 minutes or until heated through.

Canned yams can be substituted for fresh cooked ones in some recipes. This recipe is quick and easy.

NEW ORLEANS YAMS

1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup pecan halves
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
12 ounces canned yams, drained (reserve liquid)

In a shallow 2-quart casserole, melt butter on 100% power (about 1 minute). Add the pecans, stir and microwave 2-3 minutes. Add brown sugar and 1/2 cup of reserved liquid and vanilla. Microwave on 100% power 3 minutes. Stir. Add yams and gently turn to coat in the liquid. Microwave, uncovered, 2 minutes. Turn the yams and M/W 2-3 minutes, or until heated through.

A casserole of sweet potatoes can be carried easily to a church supper or to a family get-together.

ORANGE/SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

4 pounds yams
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup fresh orange juice
1/2 cup butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 eggs
2 tablespoons grated orange

Microwave potatoes for 12-18 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Peel the potatoes. M/W the butter, and mash the potatoes in. Mix in the remaining ingredients. Spoon into 2-quart casserole dish. M/W for 5 minutes on 100% power. Reduce power to 70% and M/W for 8-12 minutes more. Garnish with orange slices and almonds.

If you're looking for a different way to serve sweet potatoes, try this!

SWEET POTATO SALAD

3-4 large sweet potatoes or yams
1/2 cup water
1 can (8 ounces) pineapple tidbits
2 apples, chopped
1 green onion, sliced
1/2 cup honey
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 cup cooking oil
Place unpeeled sweet potatoes and water in 1 1/2-quart casserole. Cover. M/W on 100% power 10-12 minutes or until just about tender. Let stand 5 minutes. Uncover, and cool enough to handle. Peel potatoes and slice into serving bowl. Drain pineapple liquid into 2 cups glass measure; set aside. Add pineapple, apples, and onion to potatoes; set aside.

If necessary, add water to pineapple juice to make 1/2 cup. Blend in honey, cornstarch and nutmeg until smooth. M/W on 100% power 1-1 1/2 minutes or until mixture boils, stirring once. Blend in lemon juice and oil. Pour over potato mixture and toss lightly. Cover and refrigerate until chilled. Makes 10 servings.

Woman, Abused By Father, Now Battles Blackmail

DEAR ABBY: My sister, "Nell," is about to divorce "Jim," who was a miserable abusive husband. Jim wants another chance, but Nell has given him more chances than she can count. Listen to this: Before Nell married Jim, she told him that when she was a child, she had been sexually abused by our father. She thought Jim had a right to know in order to help him understand any residual hangups she may have suffered from that terrible experience. Nell never told our mother because our father threatened to kill her if she told anyone.

Jim told Nell if she goes through with the divorce, he will tell our mother everything. Abby, Mother would be devastated and it would be the end of their marriage. It would also hurt our father professionally and socially if this ever got out. With the help of a therapist, Nell was able to overcome the psychological damage, forgive our father, and felt no need to tell our mother.

How can we prevent Jim from telling our mother now?

OLD WOUNDS

DEAR OLD WOUNDS: I recommend that you choose the lesser of the two evils. First, explain your dilemma to your father in order to prepare him to deal with the situation when you disclose this blackmail plot to your mother. It won't be easy, but it's far better than forcing your sister to stay married to Jim.

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from a person troubled by an 84-year-old abusive mother. In your reply you said, "Abused children usually abuse their own children."

Abby, that is not true. The majority of people who were abused as children do not abuse their own children because they remember well the pain they suffered at the hands of abusive parents. Perpetuating the cycles of abuse is not inevitable, and to suggest otherwise does a grave injustice to the millions of parents out there who have overcome their own sad histories to give their own children the loving childhoods they did not have themselves.

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN THERE: You are absolutely right. I knew better. I meant to say, "Most child abusers were themselves abused as children." Mea culpa for that goof. Thanks to you—and the many other careful readers who wrote to correct me.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's company is having a three-day weekend meeting at a resort hotel in the city in which we live. There are no planned evening activities, and spouses are not invited.

They have reserved a hotel room for my husband, and he insists on staying there rather than at home. Also, he insists on my staying at home and not joining him at the end of the work day. I don't agree.

RESENTFUL

DEAR RESENTFUL: I don't blame you for feeling resentful. If your husband wants to attend meetings at a nearby resort hotel, fine. But he should come home to sleep.

DEAR ABBY: When my children were small, I taught them to ask for whatever they wanted from the refrigerator. Then as they became teenagers, all at once this problem came up. I go to prepare a meal and find that all the leftovers I had planned to use for the meal are gone!

So I ask, "Who ate the leftover roast beef I had wrapped up?" No one knows anything.

bases with old friends." Mrs. Rosemond has attended cooking schools in the area from time to time in order to garner all the latest culinary methods. "I just love to hear of new things, and try new things," she exclaims. "I particularly like to cook things that my good-cook friends have tried. The things that I've tasted, I like to get the recipe for. I have a number of friends who are good cooks, and I'm always interested in what they're cooking, and tasting what they've cooked. Then I will adapt the recipe to the way I want to cook it." She has been to cooking classes in Orlando, the microwave courses at SCC, and the Southern Living cooking school among others. "It's fun," she says. "It's what I call pure joy."

To her credit, Mrs. Rosemond has done a whole lot more than just at-home cooking. Through the years she has cooked for 100 people for a week at Bible School and has even cooked for several college roommates' weddings, arriving a week ahead of time to cook for a crowd. For her "second coming," our talented cook would love to be a caterer, but on a very small scale, she says. "Like a loaf of bread for somebody's lunch, or finger food for a bridge group, or a salad dressing. I've thought about this, but I haven't found time."

For now, the list below is a simple elegant collection of Mrs. Rosemond's favorite recipes:

NO-NAME CHICKEN

Debone and skin 8 chicken breast halves. Brown in skillet in butter with 1/2 package Good Seasons Italian mix. Remove from skillet. Pat dry with paper towels. Place in 8x12 inch Pyrex caseroles dish. Top with lemon juice, fresh ground nutmeg, salt and pepper. Sprinkle more of Good Seasons mix. Add large tablespoon of sauce (below) to each breast, sprinkle with paprika, and seal with foil. Bake at 325° for about 35 minutes. Uncover, bake 10 minutes more until bubbly and brownish. Remove from oven and garnish with parsley. Serve.

Sauce:
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 package Good Seasons Italian dry mix
1/2 cup dry white wine
4 ounce tub cream cheese with chives (may have to buy 8 ounce size and divide) salt and pepper to taste
Mix all ingredients. What is left over may be refrigerated and used later. This amount would cover up to 12 breast halves.

CORN PIE

1/2 stick melted butter
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
black pepper to taste
cayenne pepper to taste
1 cup milk
2 cups corn (fresh cut creamed off the cob is best. I freeze Silver Queen corn in 2 cup portions in zip-locks during corn season to have on hand for this recipe) fresh ground nutmeg
paprika

Mix together all ingredients except nutmeg and paprika in 9x9-inch square casserole. Sprinkle nutmeg and paprika on top. Set casserole in water bath (jelly roll pan with water). Bake uncovered at 350° until set in middle. Time will vary with depth of casserole. 35 minutes to 1 hour. Remove from water bath; let stand a few minutes before serving. Can hold for 15-20 minutes if covered with foil.

FRENCH ONION SOUP

1/4 cup butter
4 cups thinly sliced onions
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons flour
2 cans beef bouillon soup
2 cans water
2 tablespoons dry sherry
Brownberry seasoned croutons
Parmesan cheese
Melt butter in saucepan; add onions. Cook, covered, 15 minutes. Uncover. Stir in sugar, salt, pepper. Cook until onions are golden. Remove from heat. Stir in flour. Add soup, water, sherry. Simmer 30 minutes. To serve, add croutons and top with Parmesan cheese. (I double recipe and freeze in zip-locks to use as needed). Serves 6 to 8.

CRABBIES

A freezer-to-broiler hors d'oeuvre.
1 stick butter, room temperature
1 jar (6 ounces) Old English cheese
1 1/2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
cayenne pepper to taste
1 package Wakefield frozen snow crabmeat, thawed (or one 6 ounce can Harris crabmeat)
1-2 teaspoons lemon juice
6 English muffins, split
Squeeze liquid from crab. Combine all ingredients. Spread mix on split muffins. Top with paprika. Cut each into 4. Freeze on cookie sheets. Bag in zip-locks. When needed, place frozen crabbies under broiler until brown and puffy. Serve warm.

BAKED ALMOND-CAROB CUSTARD

1/2 cup sugar
pinch of salt
3 whole eggs
1/4 cup 2% milk (or 1/4 & 1/4 if not calorie conscious)
2 cups milk, scalded
1-2 tablespoons carob powder (bought at health food store)
Scald 2 cups milk; blend in carob powder. Mix together sugar, salt, eggs, and 1/4 cup milk. Add scalded mixture plus 1 1/2 teaspoons amaretto or almond flavoring and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Place 9 punch cups in 9x13-inch pan with water bath. Divide custard into cups. Top each with freshly grated nutmeg. Bake at 300° for 1 hour. Remove from water. Refrigerate. Top with Cool Whip before serving.

POPPY SEED DRESSING

1 1/2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons salt
3/4 cup vinegar
3 tablespoons onion juice
2 cups Wesson oil
3 tablespoons poppy seeds
Mix together first 4 ingredients in food processor or blender. Add onion juice. (It is important to grate medium whole onion on the finest side of grater and strain thoroughly to obtain the pure juice.) Mix thoroughly. Add oil slowly through tube of processor, continuing to process until thick. Add poppy seeds and mix. Store in glass jar in refrigerator. Will keep for months. Use on fruit salads; especially good with citrus, avocado and apple.

COCONUT SOUR CREAM LAYER CAKE

"Malone's" special birthday request.
1 package Duncan Hines yellow butter cake mix
2 cups sugar
1 16-ounce carton sour cream
1 12-ounce or 2 6-ounce packages frozen coconut, thawed
1 1/2 cups Cool Whip
Prepare cake mix as directed, making two 9-inch layers. When completely cool, split both layers. Combine sugar, sour cream and coconut; chill. Remove 1 cup sour cream mixture or frosting. Spread remainder between the layers. Combine reserved sour cream mixture with Cool Whip and blend until smooth. Spread on top and sides of cake. Seal cake in an airtight container and refrigerate for 3 days before serving.

MINIATURE BREAKFAST CINNAMON CAKES

1 box Duncan Hines Deluxe yellow cake mix
1 stick melted butter
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
Mix cake as directed on package, using the 3 eggs version. With soft margarine, grease well 4 sets of miniature muffin pans. Fill cups 3/4 full. Bake at 325° for 6 minutes. (Will seem not done.) Flip cakes out on cookie racks. Combine 1/2 cup sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon in flat pan. QUICKLY dip each cake in melted butter than in sugar mix. Regrease pans while warm and bake remaining batter. Combine remaining 1/2 cup sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon in another flat pan and dip as before. Store in foil pans, covered tightly with foil, to freeze. Take directly from freezer to oven. Heat while still covered at 350° until warm, approximately 15 minutes. Serve immediately.

CUMBERLAND SAUCE

A hunter's favorite.
1 can (6 ounces) orange juice concentrate
1 cup currant jelly
4 tablespoons dry sherry
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon tabasco
Blend all ingredients and store in glass jar in refrigerator. Will keep for months. Use as needed. Especially good when baking game, poultry or ham.

POTATO CHIP COOKIES

1/2 cup pulverized potato chips (a 2-ounce package of chips makes 1 1/2 recipes)
1 cup margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups flour and small amount for nuts
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup nuts, mixed with small amount of flour to separate
Cream sugar and margarine. Add flour, salt, vanilla. Then add nuts and chips to work in. Drop by teaspoonfuls on ungreased cookie sheet. Will not spread, so you can put them close together. Bake at 350° for 18 minutes. Wait 1 minute before removing from cookie sheet. Cover carefully with powdered sugar. Placing a second cookie sheet under the first will prevent bottoms from cooking too rapidly. Can put in tin and freeze.

Spicy accompaniment to pork chops and spare ribs — fresh pineapple slices marinated in a mixture of 1 Tbs. mustard, 2 Tbs. lime juice and 3 Tbs. chili sauce. Broil two minutes on each side.

Watching your fat intake? Test crackers by rubbing with a paper napkin. If the cracker leaves a grease stain, it contains a lot of fat.

Pita toast is tasty with soup or salad. Split two large pita pockets, and cut the rounds in quarters. Brush with butter and oil in which you've sautéed minced garlic, sprinkle with thyme, and broil about a minute until crisp.

Ordinary shortcake can be dull. Zip it up with 1 1/2 tsp. ground ginger in the dough, plus grated orange and lemon zest.

Pregnancy Home Test Helps With Problems

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have had three ectopic pregnancies. Two weeks into my last cycle, I had breakthrough bleeding and cramping. I called the doctor on a weekend, and he ran a pregnancy test. I was negative. I got the distinct impression from my doctor that I was overreacting and was greeted with "I told you so" by my husband when I got home. I feel humiliated and hope you can help me to get some perspective on this incident.

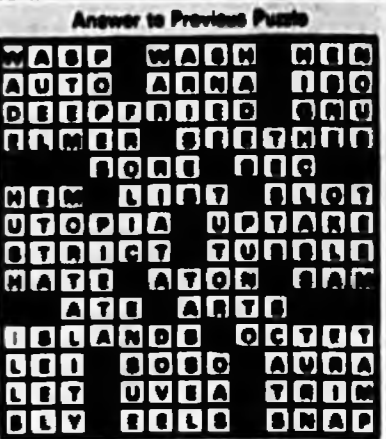

DEAR READER — I think that doctors often have difficulty empathizing with women who have had problem pregnancies. It's really hard for men — and for women who have not experienced this kind of thing — to be as supportive and sympathetic as they might. I do not believe that you were overreacting; you were in pain and you needed help.

Of course, the fact that you required attention on a weekend may have played a role. As a doctor who is on-call on certain weekends, I confess that I find myself being grouchy and unsympathetic to patients who are not truly ill when, after having worked a full week, I am contacted on a weekend. This is my attitude problem, however, not my patients'. It may come because I'm tired and have been working weekends for more than 20 years. I talk myself into shaping up — usually — and try to educate patients to call me for non-emergencies during the week.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
North hoped that his partner wouldn't take him too seriously when he raised to three hearts, but South had enough extra to bid the game. Bidding it was one thing, but making it was another. Fortunately for North-South, declarer was Careful Charlie, who prides himself on finding the right play in such delicate contracts.

So Charlie took East's spade queen with his ace and wondered how he could force out the ace of hearts and the king of spades without allowing East to gain the lead. Playing trumps right away would not accomplish anything, since West would rise immediately with the ace and exit with a trump. Another ineffective stratagem would be to play a spade from dummy in the hope that East

Entertain With Ease

Two Great Ideas For A Casual Sunday Brunch or Super Supper

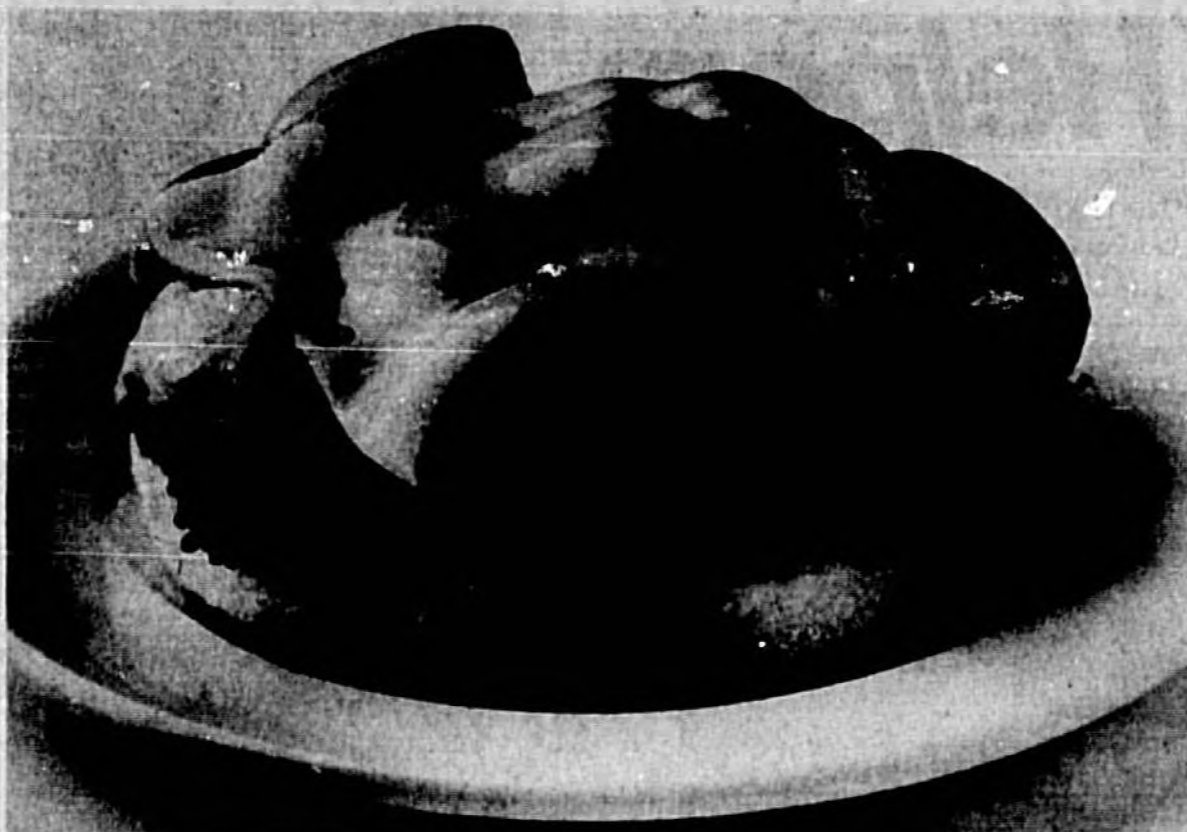

Fresh new ideas for autumn entertaining — and family menus too — abound in a new and colorful booklet from the Kraft Kitchens. With Tex-Mex specials, stir-fried fresh vegetables and pasta, comforting soups, spectacular sandwiches — and more — the new collection of recipe satisfies today's taste for exciting foods, quickly and easily prepared.

Two great brunch or Sunday supper ideas are Muffin Divan and Tuna Eggstravaganza.

A hot, hearty, meal-in-one. Muffin Divan features toasted English muffin halves baked topped with a piquant chicken-mushroom salad, chopped broccoli and extra thick slices of process cheese spread. For carefree entertaining, salad and broccoli may be prepared ahead and the sandwich assembled and baked just before serving time.

Tuna Eggstravaganza — a saucy new way to serve stuffed eggs — is another convenient "do-ahead" entree for casual entertaining. Egg whites are filled with tuna salad mixed with mashed egg yolks, then baked topped with corn chips and a golden, smooth-and-tasty sauce prepared with cubed process cheese spread colorful with stuffed sliced olives. For ease of preparation, fill eggs and place in casserole just before party begins. At baking time, stir together and heat pre-measured sauce ingredients (it takes less than 5 minutes).

These two deliciously fun, easily prepared recipes are just a sampling of those to be found in the beautifully illustrated new booklet. You'll want to try them all ... then enter your own original recipe in the "Creative Cooking with Velveeta" recipe contest. Contest first prize is $10,000 plus a first class travel award valued at $5,000. Five category winners will each receive $1,000. The contest begins ends Feb. 1, 1988. Complete contest rules appear in the new booklet.

Muffin Divan features chicken and broccoli topped with cheese.

Hooray For Saturday Night—The Time To Relax At Home

Broccoli dish freezes well.

Freeze Veggies For Use During Holiday Season

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

A couple of weekend hours in the kitchen can produce special weeknight dishes.

On those nights, most cooks are too busy or tired to do more than unwrap or open a quick-food meal. An easy solution is to make some side dishes — broccoli laced with cheese and walnuts, butternut squash croquettes — on the weekend and freeze them for use later.

With the holidays approaching, this is a perfect way to make entertaining easier. Stored in heavy-duty freezer bags, vegetable side dishes or entrees also are ready for members of the family to heat up in individual servings.

BROCCOLI BLUE WITH WALNUTS

1 pound trimmed broccoli, stems peeled
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, cold
4 ounces blue cheese, cold
1/2 cup walnut pieces
1/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Wash broccoli; separate into flowerets and cut and peel stems. Drop broccoli into large quantity of salted boiling water; cook just 3 minutes. Drain and rinse under cold running water. Dry on paper toweling.

Arrange broccoli in a heavy-duty freezer bag. Cut cream cheese into chunks and crumble blue cheese. Add cheeses and walnuts to bag. Press to remove air and seal. Date and freeze until ready to use.

When ready to use, transfer contents of bag to saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until cheeses are melted. Stir in milk and pepper. Cover and continue to cook until broccoli is hot and sauce is bubbling, about 5 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

BUTTERNUT SQUASH CROQUETTES

1 butternut squash (2 to 2 1/2 pounds)
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon olive oil
1/2 cup long-grain rice
1 1/4 cup boiling water
2 egg yolks
1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg

Prick whole squash in two or three places with sharp knife. Bake in 400-degree oven for about 1 hour, until tender. Cut in half. When cool enough to handle, scoop out and discard seeds. Spoon flesh into mixing bowl; set aside.

Meanwhile, in small saucepan, cook onions in oil over medium-low heat until soft, about 5 minutes. Stir in rice; add boiling water. Cover and simmer 20 minutes, or until liquid is absorbed. Beat cooked rice and yolks into the squash. Add cheeses and seasonings; mix thoroughly. Chill mixture about 2 hours until cold.

Scoop out 1/4 cup of the mixture; gently shape into a ball; set onto tray. Repeat with remaining mixture. Set full tray in freezer for 2 to 3 hours, until firm. Transfer croquettes to heavy-duty freezer bags. Press to remove air and seal. Date and freeze until ready to use.

When ready to use, bake frozen croquettes on greased sheet pan in 400-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes, until golden and tops are crisp. Lift croquettes with spatula onto plates, allowing two per serving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 16 croquettes, enough for 8 servings.

The work week is behind us, household chores are done, and it's the best time of the week — Saturday night. Whether we plan to go out on the town or kick back at home and enjoy videos, we don't want to spend prime time in the kitchen. And since it's the weekend, we do want something special for dinner.

Now is just the time for a little microwave magic. The appliance, the handiest invention since the screwdriver, takes right over when we want a terrific meal in a jiffy. And we have just the right dishes — two American classics, updated to cook in a microwave flash.

Meat loaf has long been a good old standby for an easy meal, and our version cooks in just 10 minutes and substitutes ground turkey for beef. The recipe that follows is lighter, has less fat, and is more nutritious than its classic cousin. The turkey teams with Florida orange juice, crumbs, curry powder, and chopped chutney, an irresistible fruit-spicy combination of ingredients. You can prepare it in a handsome ring mold or pat it into a circle on a flat microwave-safe dish. Serve the loaf with a three-minute sweet-tart orange sauce, and garnish the platter with fresh orange sections.

The dish looks as attractive as it tastes, and it's perfect, too, for serving a few friendly guests.

Stuffed peppers are another favorite with American cooks. This blue-ribbon recipe has them filled with a savory mixture of ground pork, rice, onions, orange juice, and nippy seasonings. The peppers too come to the table or snack tray with an orange sauce and fresh Florida orange garnish.

Whether you are curling up in front of the TV alone, with your spouse, or a few convivial friends, Ring Around A Turkey Loaf or Saratoga Stuffed Peppers are your keys to a terrific — and wonderfully fast — Saturday night dinner.

Substitute turkey for meat in loaf.

RING AROUND A TURKEY LOAF

1 1/2 pounds ground raw turkey
1 1/2 cups Florida orange juice, divided
1/2 cup fresh bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped onion (1 small)
1/4 cup chopped pimientos
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
1/4 cup chopped chutney
1 egg, lightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt, divided
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon curry powder

Mix dry ingredients well. Sprinkle sardines with lemon juice, roll in bread-crumbs mixture, and broil on both sides until lightly browned. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 4 dozen.

POTATO STICKS

1 1/2 cups sifted flour

2 tablespoons milk or heavy cream
1 Florida orange, sectioned
In large bowl combine turkey, 1/2 cup orange juice, bread crumbs, onion, pimientos, parsley, chutney, egg, 1/2 teaspoon salt and pepper; mix well. Press mixture into a 6-cup microwave ring mold or shape into a circle on a flat microwave-safe dish. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave on High 5 to 6 minutes longer. Let stand covered 5 minutes. Drain

Combine first four ingredients. Roll dough out very thin. Cut into 1-inch-by-5-inch sticks, sprinkle with cheese, and bake on a lightly greased cookie sheet in a 450-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 dozen.

LEMON-MUSTARD DIP

4 egg yolks, beaten
2 tablespoons mustard

1/2 cup juice that has accumulated around meat into a 2-cup measuring cup. Add remaining 1/2 cup orange juice, remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt, cornstarch and curry powder; stir until smooth. Microwave, uncovered, on High 2 to 3 minutes until sauce thickens. Stir in milk. Place turkey ring on serving plate. Pour half of the sauce over the ring. Garnish with orange sections; pass remaining sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

SARATOGA STUFFED PEPPERS

4 large green or red bell peppers
1 pound ground pork
1 1/2 cups Florida orange juice, divided
1 small onion, finely chopped (1/2 cup)
1/2 cup precooked rice, uncooked
4 tablespoons tomato paste, divided
1 egg, lightly beaten
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 Florida orange, sectioned

Wash peppers, cut off tops and remove seeds and ribs. Place in a shallow, round, microwave-safe dish. In large bowl combine pork, 1 cup orange juice, onion, rice, 2 tablespoons tomato paste, egg, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper; mix well. Spoon mixture into peppers. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on High 15 to 18 minutes, rotating 1/4 turn every 5 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Remove peppers to serving plate; keep warm. Strain liquid from baking dish into a 2-cup measuring cup; add remaining 2 tablespoons tomato paste, cornstarch and remaining 1/2 cup orange juice, (you should have 1 cup liquid, if not add more orange juice); stir until smooth. Microwave, uncovered, on High 2 to 3 minutes until sauce thickens. To serve, spoon sauce over peppers and garnish with orange sections. Yield: 4 servings.

HOT TOMATO DIP

2/3 cup ketchup
1 teaspoon chili sauce
1 teaspoon horseradish

Fish 'N Chips Score High As Snacks

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Want an economical way to put snacks in the reach of football fans? Serve easy-to-make fish and chips. They are made with canned sardines, and are rich in calcium, iron, protein and vitamin D, but low in fat.

NORWEGIAN FISH 'N CHIPS DEVILED SARDINES

1/4 cup bread crumbs
1/4 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons dry mustard

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
2 cans (3 1/2 ounces each) sardines, thoroughly drained
Juice of 1 lemon

Mix dry ingredients well. Sprinkle sardines with lemon juice, roll in bread-crumbs mixture, and broil on both sides until lightly browned. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 4 dozen.

1 1/2 cups mashed potatoes
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons salt
Grated Parmesan cheese

Combine first four ingredients. Roll dough out very thin. Cut into 1-inch-by-5-inch sticks, sprinkle with cheese, and bake on a lightly greased cookie sheet in a 450-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 dozen.

2 teaspoons lemon juice
Salt
Combine ingredients. Use as a dip for deviled sardines. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1/2 cup.
