Guardsmen Patrol Omaha In Killer Tornado's Wake

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — National Guardsmen patrolled 3,400 square blocks of Omaha today to prevent looting after tornadoes that killed three persons, injured more than 190 and did millions of dollars of damage. The National Weather Service said the three twisters which hit Omaha were among about a dozen which struck widespread areas of northeast Nebraska Tuesday, causing loss of livestock and substantial property damage in rural areas. No deaths were reported outside of Omaha. Gov. J. James Exon said at least 500 homes were destroyed and at least 1,000 severely damaged.

Hairy Seniors Face Ax

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — About 60 college-bound seniors at Seton Hall Preparatory School face suspension less than a month before graduation unless they cut their hair. To combat what traditionally has been called "senioritis," school officials have told the long-hairs to trim their locks by Monday or face the axe. The headmaster, the Rev. William Giblin, who sports a beard and mustache, said pupils who do not comply with school regulations on hair grooming would be suspended and could be kept from graduating. "We don't issue warnings we're not going to follow through on," Father Giblin said Tuesday.

Bomber Battle Lines Drawn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conflicting decisions in the Senate and House Armed Services committees signal a congressional battle ahead over addition of the B1 bomber to the nation's strategic weapons arsenal. Partial Funding Seen WASHINGTON (AP) — There were increasing signs today that President Ford will get only partial funding for his Vietnam refugee program, which administration officials say will run out of money next week. The discouraging news came after Ford told a nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night that he had been encouraged by signs of support for his plan to bring the refugees to the United States for resettlement.

City Nixes Petition To Take In 48 Acres

By MICK LOCHIRIDGE Herald Staff Writer A petition to annex 48 acres southeast of the city was denied this week by Sanford City Commissioners. Petitioners David Adams and Joe Crum ran into a lot of trouble with commissioners over problems with annexation regulations, zoning and location of the land, owned by Newburgh Development Company of Winter Park.

Commissioner A. A. McClanahan led opposition to the annexation saying that it was "a bad scene." He said annexing the land would be a "diservice to the citizens of Sanford" because it would create an "island" and the city would have to provide all municipal services to the property. In 1973, arrangements were made to provide water and

School Funding In Limbo

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

School Supt. Bud Laver says funding for Seminole County schools is in limbo and will be until the first week of next month when a final compromise is expected to be reached in Tallahassee.

Laver said one bill in the Senate would allow school systems to up the millage to 10 mills, which would mean an additional two mills tacked on the county's taxpayers.

And yesterday, the House passed a measure hiking the cost of liquor and controlling the number of teachers hired by School Boards. In Seminole County, 308 teachers haven't been approved for rehire.

Under the House measure, the ratio of administrators to teachers cannot be higher during the 1975-76 school year than it is in the current term. Asst. School Supt. Roger Harris interpreted that to mean that if a system hires an administrator, 20 teachers would also have to be hired.

The liquor tax amendment adds a 10 cents per fifth tax that would raise $15 million, most of it for schools. Laver said on the Senate measure which ups the millage, the ultimate decision would be left to the School Board. He expected the final compromise between the House, the Senate and the governor to be worked out sometime between

Altamonte Not Sure Of Rate Hike Limit

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City Attorney Joe Davis was sent back to the law books by city commissioners last night to determine the maximum amount the city can increase water rates to out-of-city users. Mayor Norman Floyd last night urged commission action increasing rates to 1,233 county residential subscribers of water service and 59 commercial users to pay fire hydrant costs of $4,800 annually. Floyd said the increase to each customer would be 32 cents monthly. But Davis said he was not sure the city could raise the bills to county customers by more than 25 per cent over the fee charged city residents. Davis added, however, the city could take the action on the 25 per cent not only minimum bills, but each category over the minimum, according to state law. The mayor said the city should take the action on the basis of a proposal by county commissioners in a joint meeting last week. Floyd had been demanding the county pay the hydrant fees, required by the city's bond ordinance. But county commissioners said the hydrant costs should be included in the water rates. Individual city commissioners were asked by Floyd to consider whether they wish to allocate $68,943 expected in federal revenue sharing money to a new public safety building to house the police and fire departments. Floyd said the facility would have to be built on city property fronting SR 427 since the city, due to high land prices, cannot afford to purchase a new site. A letter was received from the Bureau of Assistance and Grants recommending an additional $1.57 million to be given by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to aid in construction of the planned regional sewer plant. The city recently accepted a low bid in a joint venture by Tuttle White and Lee Construction Co. of $5,775,000 for construction of the plant. The plant is to be expanded from its current 1.2 million gallon daily capacity to 7.5 million daily to serve the southwest Seminole County area and parts of north Orange.

Armed Bandits Rob Casselberry Store

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Casselberry police today were looking for two unidentified bandits who forced clerk David Trent into a cooler at the Kwik Stop store, 400 N. U.S. 17-92, late last night only to bring him out at gunpoint after he couldn't get the store's cash register open.

Police said the two men, one armed with a revolver, marched Trent back to the front of the store and forced him to put about $75 from the register into a paper bag. One bandit told Trent, "Play it cool and nobody gets hurt," police said.

After putting the clerk back into the cooler the men then returned to ask him if there was any more money that they could use to the him up. Todd there was no more, the men then stacked cases of soft drinks against the cooler door and fled on foot south on U.S. 17-92.

Trent managed to push his way out of the cooler and telephoned police. Agencies Deserve A Careful Look

Our elected county government officials are currently debating the merits of whether to continue to fund what they deem "social welfare" programs in Seminole.

Included in these "welfare" agencies are Seminole County Mental Health services, the Sanford-Seminole Housing Authority, and the Emergency Medical Services Council, to mention a few.

All 11 social agencies have asked for a total of $366,378 for the upcoming budget year. Each agency performs a separate and unique service for the community, and there seems to be little duplication of efforts among them.

We won't debate the merits of individual programs, since county commissioners have indicated it's their intent to gradually ease out of the "social welfare" business altogether — according to a consensus at a recent County Commission work session.

Since that work session, the Commission has issued two "letters of intent" — one to the Drug Action Committee for an unspecified amount and one to the Senior Citizens program for up to $15,000. But on their "letters of intent," commissioners have carefully noted that these agencies may not receive their requested monies, since the funding is subject to budget review this summer.

The idea, of course, is to fire off the "letters of intent" to give the agencies something to take with them when they apply for state or federal matching funds.

The real question is not with the ambiguous "letters of intent," but with the incongruity of taking county funds away from "social programs" while at the same time, continuing to pump taxpayers' money into agencies charged with the attraction of industry to the county.

We won't debate the questionable merits of the Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SCIDA) nor the Seminole County Port Authority (SCOPA) — both of which have been less than successful in fulfilling their assigned functions. SCIDA has little to show for its four years of existence except an expenditure of $69,285 in tax dollars. SCOPA has only three industries on its 120 acres of Port land. Taxpayers last year footed the bill for part of this agency's operation.

Industry attracts people. With the people come people problems — drug addiction and drug dependency, alcoholism and delinquency are problems that might seem avoidable in "decent folk." Even with that rationalization, there still remains the inevitable — the lonely senior citizen, the mentally retarded child and adult, the sub-standard housing.

Above all, more people mean more crime, more jails, more pain and suffering for the victims. And, although some of the 11 agencies in Seminole are concerned with the treatment of problems after they begin to actively manifest themselves, others are concerned with the prevention of those problems, and hence, the prevention of the crime they can cause.

It is absurd to spend money that causes problems, while at the same time considering revoking every county cent from agencies that work to solve those very ills.

Before the County Commission makes any rash moves, we would hope they consider the overall perspective of county life and coordinate their decisions appropriately.

Disassociated, piecemeal measures will do little good for continuing a comfortable and attractive way of life in Seminole County.

Around The Clock

The Altamonte-Casselberry Chamber of Commerce newsletter for this month has a "President's Message" which carries a moral all its own.

After reading it, perhaps it will bring to mind the attitude of Thomas Edison who once said that opportunity knocks on our door every day of our lives; however, most of us don't recognize it because opportunity comes dressed in overalls, sweaty, with dirt under the fingernails and looking like hard work.

The opportunities are here... all we have to do is take advantage of them.

TOM TIEDE

Deception Lingers On As War Ends

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When the final defeat of American policy in Southeast Asia became absolutely apparent last month, a newswoman tried without success to solicit comments from the architects of that policy.

McGeorge Bundy was "occupied," Robert McNamara did "not wish to talk about it," Melvin Laird was out of the country; Dean Rusk would not return phone calls; William Westmoreland made himself "unavailable to reporters."

Since then, some of the men have by force of events and persistence of inquiry surrendered to public questions — but only to kick and complain. General Westmoreland says a U.S. victory was stolen by "uninformed" domestic peace elements. Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk insists the collapse of South Vietnam was the consequence of a withdrawal of support by the American people. None have admitted personal error, none have so much as raised small doubts of judgment long ago. To the end and beyond, the people who designed the war are either silent or hostile. Instead of self criticism they continue with self deception.

It is perhaps too much to expect public men to confess great errors. Clark Clifford, one-time defense secretary under Lyndon Johnson, and one of the few elevated Vietnam planners to renounce the affair, says his unrepentant former colleagues would rather spite than switch. Miraculous vindication being the last hope of such foolishness. This, he adds, is what kept the war raging in the first place: The unwillingness of high political and military officials to first admit, then learn from their mistakes.

For his part, Clifford, now a Washington attorney, began realizing the emptiness of the U.S. cause in Vietnam at about the same time many private Americans were arriving at the same conclusion — late 1967, early 1968. "Before then, the conventional wisdom was that Vietnam presented the United States with the threat of monolithic communism spreading from Hanoi to Saigon, throughout Southeast Asia, and perhaps down to Australia and even to California. Most Americans believed this. You'll recall the Tonkin Gulf resolution passed 504 to 2 in congress — 504 to 2."

But though popular opinion changed, government opinion did not. Clifford says Johnson gave up the subterfuge in his speech of March 1968, announcing in effect a military victory over the Communists was not possible. Yet his successor, Richard Nixon, refused to believe it. "I hoped desperately that Nixon would profit from the past, I even thought for awhile he would. But he didn't. Not a bit. And even until just recently, when it became obvious everything was over in Southeast Asia, government officials continued to hope for miracles and for that vindication."

And so this perhaps is the most far reaching and ominous of all the Vietnam era sadesses, the inability of recent leaderships to confront or admit reality.

Wounded Knee Legal Team Bushwhacked

WASHINGTON — A federal grand jury has been taking secret testimony in South Dakota about violence on the Oglala Sioux reservation. The story began at Wounded Knee, S.D., in late February, 1973. A motley band of Indians seized the town to dramatize their innumerable and timeless grievances.

The federal government eventually broke the siege and began a series of court battles against the protesters. But the battles weren't confined to the courthouse; there was also a return to the ways of the Old West.

Lawyers for the Wounded Knee demonstrators, for example, were bushwhacked on the reservation. The secret testimony alleges that their assailants were led by no less than the government-appointed chairman of the Oglala Sioux, Richard Wilson.

At least four witnesses have sworn that they heard Wilson urge his followers to "stamp" the defense attorneys or their companions. On this command, according to the testimony, some of the lawyers were badly beaten and stomped in the stomach by burly, hooded men. One attorney came close to being asphyxiated.

The injured lawyers were Roger Finsel of Sioux Falls, S.D., and James Rosemeyer of Sanford, Conn. Other legal workers in their group, including women, were also mobbed. A client, Bernard Escanilla, was hospitalized for going to Chicago.

But before the illiterate itinerant could be given the leave-to by the sales manager, along came another letter:

"I cum here and seale them half a million." Fearful if he did, and fearful if he didn't fire this illiterate peddler, the sales manager decided to dump the problem in the lap of the president. The following morning the members of the ivory tower were flabbergasted to see the two reports on the bulletin board and this note from the president tucked above:

"We ben spending to much tyme trying two spel instead of trying to sel. Lets watch those saills. I want everbody should read these letters from Gooch who is on the rode doting a grate job for us, and you should go out and do like he done."

This is the news so many of you (me included) have been waiting to hear... the first of nearly three million rebate checks for 1974 income taxes will be reaching Florida taxpayers next week.

Next will receive rebate checks first.

He added the IRS expects to have all the rebate checks issued by June 15.

The amounts will vary between $100 and $300 for most taxpayers.

The IRS reminded Florida taxpayers the rebates will be automatically computed and that they should wait until after June 15 to inquire about any missing rebate checks.

Many taxpayers, especially those filing returns close to the April 15 deadline, will receive one check for both the rebate and refund if the person is entitled to a refund.

From the Mailbag: Mrs. M. F. Williamson of 2626 El Portal Dr., Sanford wrote the following regarding the postal service — "I do believe I've got the all time record on mail delivery. On Jan. 22 my friend mailed a letter to me from Miami, Fla. It arrived in Sanford on April 19, 1975. That's two months and 19 days to travel 550 miles. I can't help but wonder what mode of transportation it used?"

Defects In The Defects Programming

From the start of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's vehicle defect identification program in 1966 through June of 1974, domestic and foreign automobile manufacturers issued 1,582 recalls involving nearly 46 million vehicles.

Yet according to a report by the General Accounting Office, millions of these vehicles have never been inspected for potential defects and remain on the highways. Among the reasons, says the GAO:

—Not all owners receive defect notifications.

—Some dealers apparently sell recalled vehicles without correcting the defects.

—Many owners simply do not return their vehicles for inspection, and even when they do, dealers are not always prepared to make the necessary corrections.

On the face of it, this sounds like an extremely serious situation. Fortunately, while a recall campaign may involve tens of thousands of a particular model, in most cases the loose or missing bolt or failure-prone part or whatever has been discovered on only a handful of vehicles.

Nevertheless, even one defective automobile or truck on the highway is too many.

Responding to the GAO study, safety administrator James Gregory suggested that the best way to attack the problem would be to verify defect correction through state registration or licensing mechanisms rather than by periodic inspections, which not all states require.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has discussed with several states the feasibility of setting up programs to deny licenses or registration to vehicles that have been recalled but not checked or repaired.

However, the implementation of such programs, even on a pilot basis, is still mostly in the talking — about — it stage.

Which means that until some such system is instituted nationwide, the responsibility for seeing that potential vehicle defects are corrected will remain largely up to individual owners.

Go North, young woman — if you're looking for a husband, that is. In Alaska, reports the Institute of Life Insurance, unmarried men between the ages of 18 and 29 outnumber unmarried women between the ages of 16 and 24 (considered to be marriageable ages for the respective sexes) by more than two to one. The reason for Alaska's bachelor bonanza is the large number of servicemen stationed there.

Servicemen also make Hawaii an attractive possibility for females who prefer a more temperate climate. There the ratio is 146 men to 100 women. And for those who want to stay closer to the mainland, Nevada and Rhode Island offer a ratio of 120 men to 100 women.

Meanwhile, the 57-year-old Rosemeyer was chased into a ditch and beaten. The assailants finally left their bleeding and bruised victim with a threat to kill them if they ever returned to Pine Ridge. Ignoring the threat, they took their story to the FBI, which gave Finsel and Mrs. Gordon polygraph tests. These indicated the pair had told "in truth."

The grand jury responded, nevertheless, by indicting not Wilson and his mob but four of Wilson's enemies. Not until five days after we began asking embarrassing questions did the grand jury hastily indict seven of the alleged assailants, including Wilson. He told us they will all plead not guilty.

A Justice Department spokesman told us the government had moved against the Wounded Knee demonstrators first because their cases were less complicated.

There is nothing new in this. Over the years, the government has had an unfortunate tendency to prosecute the Indians and protect their exploiters.

We have tried to expose the neglect and betrayal that have characterized the white man's conduct toward the Indians. We have told of Indian murders that went uninvestigated; of white trading posts that swindled the Indians with impunity; of Indian land leased out by the government to corporations and left strewn with timber wastes, its earth turn up, its waters

WORLD IN BRIEF

Refugee Ship Captain Says Thousands Left

AGANA, Guam (AP) — An evacuation captain whose ship reached here after more than a week at sea says thousands of South Vietnamese "howling and crying, 'come back!'" were left behind on the beaches.

Capt. Arthur Boucher said that "at Phu Cuoc there were 30,000 to 50,000" would-be refugees left behind who pleaded to board his ship, the freighter "American Challengee."

"There were people afloat in boats. They were scrambling to get on the ship," said Boucher, who arrived Tuesday with his ship, one of the last to leave South Vietnamese waters.

Boucher's ship took on 9,000 refugees, about double its capacity. Later, nearly half were shifted to other vessels, he said.

Reds Promise Leniency

By The Associated Press
A "sea of people" gathered at South Vietnam's former presidential palace today and heard the commander of the Viet Cong and respect for the lives and property of foreign residents, Saigon radio reported.

The mass rally, held under a mammoth portrait of Ho Chi Minh, was designed to introduce the new administration for the Saigon region. It marked the regime's first week in power.

Israeli Truck Driver Killed

By The Associated Press
Arab guerrillas shot and killed an Israeli truck driver driving Arab workers to their homes, Tel Aviv police reported today. It was the third guerrilla attack in Israel in four days.

The truck, riddled with bullets, crashed and burned Tuesday night near the town of Jenin in occupied West Jordan.

County Moves On Speeding Trains

By BILL BELLEVILLE
By Herald Staff Writer

Tired of battling bureaucratic red tape in their quest for an unobstructed railroad crossing on SR 46 west of Sanford, county commissioners are now preparing to take a hard-line stand on trains tying up that crossing more than five minutes at a time.

The get-tough policy will come in the form of a county ordinance recommended to the board by County Engineer Bill Bush yesterday. Bush's ordinance, endorsed by Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. and tabled for a week for proper legal wording, would prohibit any train blocking the oft-tangled crossing for more than five minutes. The county sheriff's department would be charged with enforcing the ordinance.

Although commissioners (other than Vihlen) did not indicate what their vote on the ordinance would be prior to any project that would ease the problem at the crossing.

Bush told the board that a similar ordinance had been proposed by former Commissioner Greg Drummond last year. But at that time, Bush said, representatives from Seaboard Coast Line railroad had "talked us out of it," by promising that conditions at the crossing would improve making an ordinance unnecessary. But conditions have not improved and trains continue to tie up the crossing for up to 20 minutes at a time delaying the heavy traffic traveling to and from Sanford, Bush said. In addition to delaying routine traffic, the extensive blockings present a potential danger to emergency vehicles on the route.

In bringing the concept for the ordinance to the board, Bush declared that "bureaucratic indifference" on both state and federal levels over the last year had made the ordinance necessary.

"Maybe the board will get some attention" with the ordinance, Bush said.

Under the ordinance, the railroad would be required to "irregularly" publish a schedule of any blockings that would be longer than five minutes.

The proposed ordinance came on the heels of opposition from the federal Highway Administration last week to special "experimental" projects — such as the multi-million dollar funding of an overpass at the crossing site. In Vihlen said Tuesday that the board is also writing to U.S. Senators Richard Stone and Lawton Chiles asking them to

Commemorative Flag Will Be Raised Oviedo To Receive Bicentennial Recognition May 20

By CLAUDIA MURPHY
Herald Correspondent

OVIEDO — The regular monthly meeting of the Oviedo Town Council was held Monday night at the Oviedo Town Hall.

Town officials present at the meeting included Leon C. Olliff, mayor; S. Joseph Davis Jr., attorney; councilmen John A. Kuhn, Arthur P. Evans, and Herbert R. McCarry and city clerk, Nancy K. Cox.

Councilman Kuhn called the meeting to order and asked that Mayor Olliff lead the meeting with an opening prayer.

The first item for discussion was the Personnel Committee (which will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall). This committee has been formed to establish policies regarding sick leave and vacation and to spell out specific job descriptions for all employees of the city.

Councilman Evans, who is chairman of the Bicentennial Committee, reported on that committee's meeting last week. On May 20, at noon, Oviedo will receive its Bicentennial flag. Evans requested the mayor's attendance and stated that the committee was also interested in having Oviedo's oldest citizen present for the occasion. In conjunction, the Oviedo High School Band has been asked to play the musical accompaniment.

Evans also reported that information received regarding recognition by the National Bicentennial Organization requires individual representation in the city group from each civic club in the city.

He did stress that, although local interest for Bicentennial activities is good, everyone who wishes to contribute time or talent for the upcoming events is most welcome.

Councilman McCarry presented a report by the Charter Committee. After several meetings, the suggestion from that committee was to combine the duties of the mayor and the duties of the president of the council (which would make a town council of five men plus the mayor, rather than the present total of six councilmen plus the mayor).

After several minutes of discussion, McCarry moved to put the above recommendation to a "straw vote" on June 26. The motion was seconded.

It was then brought out, by discussion, that ramifications for many charter changes might be imposed without proper public notification. It was moved to amend the original motion by having the "Charter Committee meet and write the statement of the straw vote," and bring before the council at their next meeting on May 19. The amended motion passed.

McCarry informed the Council that little interest by builders had been shown for bidding to remodel the Sweetwater Park bathroom facilities. Councilman Kuhn mentioned possible discrepancies in the architectural specifications provided for the bidding and it was decided the Recreation Committee should confer with the architect before any concise bids could be offered.

Attorney Davis followed with a report on the two-year residency requirement for all city office seekers. His information from the Florida State Attorneys' Office showed no State of Florida court records wherein the two-year clause had been challenged. His conclusions were that the two-year clause must stay in effect until such time as brought before the state courts or the city charters were changed.

Mayor Olliff requested two motions from the council: (1) to allow the Oviedo Jaycees to rent the town hall on Friday, May 23, for their installation and award banquet and (2) to allow city crews to tear down the unused drive-in window on the north side of the town hall. Both motions passed.

The mayor reported he had been approached by the Oviedo fire department to build a concrete slab, at no cost to the city, on the south side of the fire station. This would allow parking space for the old vehicles when the two new units arrive. All councilmen agreed to view the area before voting for construction.

Mayor Olliff stated he had received phone calls regarding lack of water drainage from Bud Kuller, whose property backs up to Sweetwater Park. In an effort to resolve the problem, the council passed a motion to have the city engineer investigate the area.

Attorney Davis maintained that any city cost over $1,000 should be put out for bid. Public notification could be made either by posting of the information for a minimum period of 10 days in at least three locations of the city, (one specifically to be the Town Hall bulletin board) or, by notification in a largely circulated, local newspaper for a minimum two-week period. He concluded that all bids should go to the lowest responsible bidder.

Pregnancy After Breast Surgery

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 24-year-old woman with two children. A month ago I had cancer in the right breast but no spread to the lymph nodes or anywhere else. I had a radical mastectomy anyway and recovered very fast. So, to be on the safe side the doctor did a simple mastectomy on the other breast, but there was no sign of cancer. Do they call this cured or what? And what are my chances if I become pregnant? And the child's?

DEAR READER — Thank you for coming to my defense. I have heard from other fellow Hoosiers who tell me that they also walk to a one-room school house. One reader said the lady "must not know anything about southern Indiana. So, I guess I am properly indoctrinated for saying that Adelle Davis had a reason for her diet philosophy because of her farm background in Indiana before World War II. I haven't heard anything more from the lady who thought I was a provincial New Yorker who knew nothing about the farm. Of course, she had no way of knowing that I was born and raised on a Kansas farm.

My point remains that the diet advice that was sound and important in the days before World War II is not what we need to do today. Much more of our population was rural in those days, and there was less severe problems, or, more food and more physical activity. Our softer life means we must change our living habits.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Whoever sent in that letter about Hoosiers not ever having to walk to school is WRONG, too. The town was Jacksonville, Indiana, and we dearly loved that school.

DEAR DR. LAMB — If there were no cancer cells at all in the lymph nodes and you had a radical mastectomy plus removal of the other breast, I would think the chances that you will have any further problems are quite small indeed.

You should ask your doctor about this as he has had the opportunity to study the slides and knows exactly the status of the removed cancer.

Assuming your interpretation is correct, and if there are no complications over the next year, I see no reason why you couldn't have a normal pregnancy without risk to either yourself or the baby.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I walked more than two miles in all kinds of weather to a one-room schoolhouse for the first part of my second grade. This was a few years later than 1912, too. The town was Jacksonville, Indiana, and we dearly loved that school.

House-Passed Spending Bill Would Boost Liquor Taxes

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The House has overwhelmingly passed a $4.68-billion appropriations bill that boosts liquor taxes 10 cents a fifth to raise money for school children and alcoholics.

The bill (H.R. 1016) passed 106-13 Tuesday and was sent to the Senate, where the Ways and Means Committee is expected to vote Thursday on its own appropriations bill.

Speaker Donald Tucker, D-Tallahassee, said the House measure is "a very conservative appropriations bill because it has to be, but it keeps expenditures within revenue."

With the current recession causing sales taxes and other state revenues to slide, the bill calls for some $125 million in spending cuts.

The revenue shortage eased the task of compiling the 1975-76 fiscal year budget and the House passed the bill before the midway point of the 1975 session — probably a record.

Tapping increased liquor taxes as a revenue source was not recommended by Gov. Reubin Askew. But the House bill calls for about $6 million more in state spending than the governor proposed.

The amendment increasing liquor taxes was proposed by Rep. William Rish, D-Port St. Joe, despite objections that the House was imposing an unfair burden on the friends of "Deon Rum."

Tucker said that "a consumer of alcoholic beverages isn't going to suffer by 10 cents on a bottle of liquor."

Rish said the amendment would raise $10 million in additional funds for public schools and $1.5 million for the working capital fund.

He said the amendment also replaces some $3.75 million in alcoholic rehabilitation funds that would be diverted to aid rural schools.

In its highest priority spending item, the bill appropriates $1.653 billion for basic public school spending, a $50 million increase.

The House resisted several attempts to divert up to $21 million in state university funds to the public schools. The action left the universities with $317 million, only $200,000 more than this year.

Anticipating even higher unemployment, the bill provides for an additional $138 million in federal funds to aid jobless workers.

And the House, which has called repeatedly for a crackdown on criminals, approved a 23.3 per cent increase in Division of Corrections funds, raising the total from $60 million to $74 million.

However, the House decided in an amendment to cut $1 million from $14 million set aside for construction of two new prisons.

The money will be spent on partial restoration of a $2.2 million community services program slashed by the House Appropriations Committee.

In other key decisions on amendments Tuesday, the House: —Killed a Republican proposal to hold $25 million in reserve as a hedge against revenue dips. Rep. Chester Clem, R-River Beach, pointed out that revenue sagged a 3.3 per cent holdback in general revenue spending this year.

—Passed a provision requiring school systems to dismiss administrators in the same way as teachers if layoffs are necessary. Rep. Van Poole, R-Fort Lauderdale, warned of mass layoffs of teachers.

—Killed an attempt to cut $100,000 away from a $100,000 Florida Supreme Court building repair fund to provide a token appropriation for the state day care licensing office. The Appropriations Committee had slashed the agency's budget to zero because the panel was unhappy about regulations the office had drafted.

It's Easy When You Know How

By JEAN PATTESON
Women's Editor

Proving the point that anyone can create an attractive flower arrangement once they have mastered the basic principles, women from the Sanford area gathered at the Woman's Club of Sanford, Monday evening, to learn the basic "how-to" from Jan Freeman, and then to arrange pretty nosegays of their own.

Jan, who is president of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, was giving the flower arranging class to help the club raise money for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

If there is enough interest, she will repeat the class for those who missed this first session. For reservations, call Jan at her 202 Dogwood Dr., Sanford home.

Nosegays were chosen as the simplest arrangements for beginners to learn on as their rounded form is easy to achieve. Also, this design lends itself to the use of a wide variety of inexpensive flowers and foliage which can be picked in the garden or bought cheaply at the supermarket or a roadside stall.

A clean container and fresh room-temperature water are the starting point for a successful flower arrangement, the "students for a night" learned. Quick Fill Oasis, soaked in water for a good ten minutes, and secured with adhesive or florists tape if wobbly, forms a firm base into which flower stems are inserted.

Stems should be trimmed at an angle to provide a sharp point which penetrates the oasis easily. Don't feel reluctant to cut stems to the needed length, Jan urged.

First, her students practiced with drinking straws, instead of flowers, trimming them at sharp angles and arranging them in the oasis. Every arrangement has a focal point centered right in the center of the oasis, Jan explained, and each straw (or flower stems) should be inserted at such an angle that it will penetrate that focal point—the center which attracts the eye.

The "straw arrangements" looked for all the world like prickly hedgehogs when completed, with each spike angled in toward a center point. The height of a balanced arrangement, said Jan, should be roughly one-and-one-third the height of the container, with the smallest blooms on the outside and the biggest, brightest blooms near the center.

Never put blooms of the same size or height next to each other, she advised. To give an arrangement depth, vary the length of flower stems, and when putting a flower in the container from one side, be sure to counter-balance it with another on the opposite side.

She Shuns Topless Dancer

DEAR ABBY: My husband is friendly with a fellow whose fiancée dances topless in a bar. (I'll call her "Sandra.") I'm so ashamed to say that my husband has been to this bar, so he has seen Sandra practically naked. He says she has a "fantastic" body, even though she admits to having had silicone implants.

He insists that Sandra is a very "sweet and down-to-earth" person, and he keeps wanting me to meet her socially. (His buddy wants the four of us to go out together.) Abby, I don't care to meet her. I would be very uncomfortable in the company of a woman whom my husband had seen topless. My husband says, "It's only a job," and that Sandra is as nice a person as I am.

Am I wrong to feel the way I do? What kind of woman do you think would dance topless for a living? She can't be a very moral person.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

ST. LOUIS
DEAR SAINT: Not everyone views nudity as "immoral." Some women (and men) pose nude for artists. However, if you would feel uncomfortable in Sandra's company, it's your right to avoid her.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently invited to a friend's home for dinner. The table was beautifully set, but after the guests were seated, I was surprised to see that the hostess had not set a place for herself. She said that she was "on a diet" and had already eaten her diet dinner. Then she served us and didn't even join us at the table.

My husband has a fit every time I complain about somebody's driving. (Not his, but his.) I mean friends and relatives who drive beyond the speed limit whether they are late or not. Am I wrong?

NO EASY RIDER
DEAR NO: No! You are absolutely right! Whenever possible, avoid riding with reckless drivers. Should you find yourself trapped with one, let your feelings be known — loud and clear.

Give Mom Gift Of Leisure

Serving Mom breakfast in bed is a great way to wish her "Happy Mother's Day," unless you're a bad cook!

But there are many other ways of treating a busy Mother with some of your time or effort, for a gift that's sure to be doubly appreciated.

Dad might offer to stay home with the youngsters on Saturday afternoons, so Mom can enjoy a shopping expedition or a trip to the art museum.

A teen-ager might also offer to look after younger children one night a week so both Mom and Dad can go to the movies or visit friends; or teens can volunteer to handle one of Mom's regular cleaning chores for a month.

Youngsters could offer to do the dishes for a week or give Mom an I.O.U. for an afternoon of polishing the silverware.

The whole family can cooperate in planning ways to make this Mother's Day special with "gifts" of more leisure for Mom.

Other gift ideas: a folding umbrella that fits easily into Mom's handbag or coat pocket is a thoughtful, useful gift.

A photo album designed to carry around with her, holding favorite pictures of her grandchildren, for instance.

Is Mother planning a trip this summer? Now would be the perfect time to gift her with a new travel bag in her favorite color.

Joy Of Stitching

By ELSA WILLIAMS

Through countless centuries people have been embroidering — whether for pleasure or utility — and during that time an incredible number of stitches have been developed by needle artists. It's very rewarding as your skills develop to add some of them to your stitch repertoire. But beginners can take heart! Even with a single stitch well done, you can produce designs of beauty and elegance.

The Chain stitch is a good example. Though it's basically simple, it produces a fine line that can be curved into marvellously intricate patterns. Or it can fill a space completely with a handsome textured effect.

To begin a chain, bring your needle up through the fabric and form a loop with the thread. Hold the loop down with your thumb, insert the needle down through the same hole and sew a stitch in the fabric with the needle emerging into the loop.

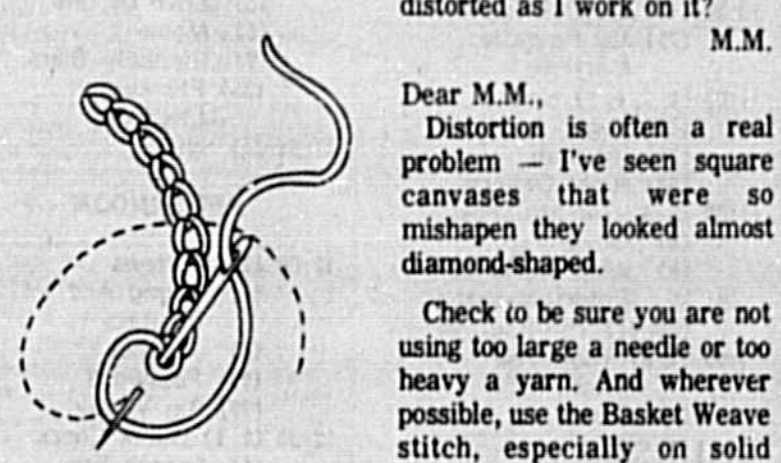

Dear Elsa,
How do I keep my needlepoint canvas from becoming distorted as I work on it?
M.M.

Dear M.M.,
Distortion is often a real problem — I've seen square canvases that were so mishapen they looked almost diamond-shaped.

Check to be sure you are not using too large a needle or too heavy a yarn. And wherever possible, use the Basket Weave stitch, especially on solid background areas, because it won't pull the canvas out of shape or form ridges as Continental and Half Cross stitches tend to do.

Another way to eliminate or minimize distortion is to use a frame or needlepoint rod that holds the canvas straight and rolled, exposing only the section on which you're working. And, finally, blocking your finished needlepoint with care will help return it to its original dimensions.
E.W.

WATCH FOR FRANK-N-STEIN

Draw the thread up, but don't pull it too tightly or you will lose the chain effect. Make a second and third stitch and you'll see the chain begin to form.

But remember that the chain has a direction. If you want to shade an entire leaf or a tree trunk with several rows of Chain stitch in graduated shades of a color, make sure you stitch each row in the same direction or you'll lose the lovely, flowing motion.

The Chain stitch is ideal for embroidering a monogram or small design on a sweater or knit fabric, since the chained thread allows for stretch. It can also produce a variety of effects; long, slender Chain stitches look quite different from slightly looser, plump chains.

Water, Sewer Rates Set For Expanding County System

By BILL BELLEVILLE
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners last night established a rate schedule for water and sewer service to the gradually expanding county-wide utility system.

The rates, which are generally lower than those charged by the 20 private utility firms operating inside Seminole, will apply to connections on the former Indian Hills and Consumer utilities lines.

Bonds for the purchase of the two south Seminole systems have recently been validated in Circuit Court and barring any legal complications the County should enact a complete takeover of the systems by this summer.

The County eventually plans to operate a regional, publicly-owned utility system which will result in lower rate hikes and better overall service, according to Director of Environmental Services Bill Dale.

The new rates adopted last night include:

- $3.50 for the first 5,000 gallons of water usage, and 30 cents per thousand gallons for every thousand over 5,000 on residential connections.
- $4.50 for the first 5,000 gallons of water usage and 40 cents for every thousand gallons above that for commercial customers.
- In addition, Dale said, "If a multi-unit user (such as a motel or hotel) is less than 60 per cent occupied for six months, then that user may petition Environmental Services for lower rates."
- The monthly sewer fees are $5 per single residential bath, with 50 cents for each additional bath. The industrial sewage rate is $6 for every unit using less than 10,000 gallons monthly and 60 cents per thousand over that figure.

Overflow Turnout On River same persons who built the dams and canals. "We must all cooperate to bring the river back to normal," he said.

A representative from the Duda Ranch Enterprises rose at this point to confirm Dr. Godwin's statement that some of the land in question is private property, but that Duda and Sons had always tried to cooperate with state agencies in controlling the water.

One of the ranchers asked the question, "Which is the most important, raising and supplying turpentine for your table or putting a few beams in the river?"

This was answered by L.L. (Linc) Jacobs of DeLand, who said, "We know the greens are important, but they don't go down very good without some water for a chaser."

Jerry Banks, of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, discussed law enforcement problems, decline of fishing on the river and water pollution. "We must have some control in order to provide recreational opportunities for all," he said.

Among the state departments represented at the meeting were L. Wayne King, enforcement division of the commission; Alex Senkevich, P.E., Regional Administrator, Department of Pollution Control; Jim Hurlburt, biologist; Walt Wheeler, Internal Improvement Fund; Banks, Assistant Chief of Fisheries of the commission; Cox, biologist; Denis Auth, Director of St. Johns River Water Management and Harold Moody, biologist.

Dora Lee Russell, Assistant to the Executive Director of the Commercial Fishing Association, said, "The aims of the commercial fishermen are exactly the same as those of sports fishermen in regard to the preservation of the river."

Jim Crowe, well-known conservationist and former fishing camp owner added, "If there is no water, there is no fishing!"

Bill Flowers, a DeLand fishing guide and president of the new organization, stating that this was the first meeting which had attended in 15 years that showed promise of something being done — "If all agencies present carry out their stated plans."

J.T. Turnipseed, president of FUSJ Inc., and Delbert Egan, executive director, who moderated the meeting, extended personal invitations to all concerned persons to join in the fight to preserve and protect the St. Johns.

The motto and aim of the new group is: NO DIGGING, NO DIRKING, NO DAMMING!

Ellis Whacks Carl Baker; Clark Prevails

ORLANDO—Former heavyweight champion of the world Jimmy Ellis proved Tuesday night at the Orlando Sports Stadium that at the age of 35 he hasn't lost his punch.

He disposed of Carl Baker in 2:48 of the first round with a ripping right cross.

Ellis started the abbreviated contest with a snapping left jab. With two minutes gone in the initial stanza, Ellis stepped in with a solid right, followed by a left hook.

The right handed flush on the jaw of Baker and the left high on his forehead, dropping the Bahamian champ to one knee.

Baker then walked into another series of punches. Ellis finished off his out-classed opponent with the paralyzing right hand.

Despite the brevity of the main event, most in attendance went home satisfied due to the pulsating 10-rounder preceding the Ellis-Baker mismatch.

The semi-final was a contest between the nation's ninth-ranked heavyweight, Jody Ballard, and Jacksonville's Leon Shaw.

Ballard's camp was worried before the fight because their man had never fought a southpaw. The anxiety was allayed when, however, Shaw was close to going down in at least four of the 10 rounds. He held on in almost every session.

The final decision by the judges was unanimous in Ballard's favor, but many in the crowd felt Shaw deserved a draw.

Judges Mick Andrews and Leo Geiger came up with identical scorecards of 77-94, while Bob Burns saw it 86-86.

Two of three preliminaries were almost as sensational as the Ballard-Shaw fight. Casselberry's Scott Clark came from behind to edge Dwight Dudley, and Bobby Walker outlasted Carl Morris.

Clark, the 15-year-old Lyman High School student, had his hands full with Dudley as the St. Petersburg fighter easily won the first round of their three-round amateur bout.

Clark came on to narrowly take the second session as he chased Dudley around the ring, but walked into many head shots.

The third and final round was Clark's biggest of the fight. Only the final bell saved Dudley from going down.

Knight, Grieme Power Gals In Sanford Women's League

Donalyn Knight's grand slam home run and Arnie Grieme's two round trippers highlighted one-sided wins Tuesday by Charlie and Shoemaker Construction in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Softball League.

Knight's bases-loaded blast led Charlie's to a 17-2 trounce of Rita Theard and Grieme's two shots paced Shoemaker to a 24-0 victory over Atlantic National Bank.

Charlie's is 6-0 and can clinch at least a tie for the first ball championship with one more victory. Each team has three first ball games remaining.

Shoemaker is 4-2, Rita is 2-4 and Atlantic National Bank is 0-6. Shoemaker and Charlie's meet Thursday at 7:15 p.m. at the Ft. Mellon field on the lakefront.

Bowl America Retains Lead

Bowl America retained its one-game lead over Sanford Police in the Sanford Recreation Department Ladies' Bowling League with an easy 13-0 victory Tuesday over Art Brown Pest Control.

Sanford Police, meanwhile, struggled to topple Civitan 6-5.

The wins pushed Bowl America to 7-2 and Sanford Police to 6-3. Art Brown is 3-6 and Civitan is 2-7.

The "C" in ARCH stands for Count your winners and losers. Sometimes the total doesn't come to 13. Thus you can count 11 winners after the spade opening. Two in spades and three in each other suit. The three in clubs come from the "B" for Review the bidding which marks East with the queens of that suit as part of his opening bid. When you count losers, you are looking at two aces and three spades for a total of five losers. This makes a total of 16 tricks. A further study shows that if you win the first trick with your ace of spades over East's king you will knock out one of East's aces. He will lead back a spade. West will let you win that trick. Then when you knock out the other ace, the three spade tricks will be taken against you before you can score your own tricks. Now you come to the "H" or How can I make this hand? The answer is you can make it by changing your count of both winners and losers. Obviously, when you Analyze the lead you assume that West has led fourth best of a five-card suit headed by the king or queen. Your Review of the bidding marks East with both aces. Thus you let East hold the first, made and West the second one. Now the defense has two spade tricks but can't get a third. You have time to knock out both aces and make your contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five spades your partner has bid five hearts over your five diamonds. What do you do now?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor WEEKDAY SUPPER Sausage Beans Salad Bowl Bread Tray Swedish Apple Pudding Beverage SAUSAGE BEANS Hearty rangelop main dish 1 pound small link pork sausage

1/2 cup chopped green pepper Two 16-ounce cans barbecue-style beans 2 tablespoons dry red wine or vermouth Into a large skillet pour 1 cup water and add sausages, stunner uncovered for 5 minutes; drain off water. Over moderate heat, cook sausages, turning as necessary with a spoon so as not to prick, until cooked through and brown on all sides; remove and keep warm. Pour off all but a generous film of fat from skillet; add onion and green pepper; cook gently until wilted. Add beans and wine, heat, stirring often. Add sausages. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LIGHT SUPPER Hot Rice Salad Tomatoes and Cucumbers Chevrolet rolls Beverage Baked Apples

HOT RICE SALAD Concocted by a friend of ours who comes from Pennsylvania-Dutch country, and it's interesting and delicious. 2 eggs 1/4 cup cider vinegar 1/4 cup water 1/4 cup sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt 1 cup extra long-grain rice 1 cup cooked green peas, at room temperature 1/2 cup diced canned pimiento

In a small mixing bowl beat the eggs with vinegar, water, sugar and salt just until blended; set aside. Cook the rice according to package directions — there should be about 2 cups. Meanwhile in a 10-inch skillet over low heat cook the bacon until crisp; remove bacon and dice; turn onto brown paper to drain. To bacon fat and drippings in skillet (there should be about 2 tablespoons) add the egg mixture; cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until just thickened — do not boil. Add hot rice, peas, pimiento and bacon; mix well, adding more salt if needed. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

COMPANY DINNER Spicy Beef Curry Rice Tossed Green Salad Nut Patties Beverage YOGURT BANANAS Authentic East Indian, and delightfully cooling when served with a hot curry. 8 ounce container unflavored yogurt Pinch of salt 1/2 teaspoon white pepper 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar Large ripe banana Slice together the yogurt, salt, pepper and sugar; chill. Just before serving, peel the banana and slice very thin; fold into yogurt mixture. Turn into a small attractive serving bowl and serve as a curry accompaniment.

SUNDAY DINNER Baked Stuffed Fish Potatoes Creamy Beans Green Salad Rolls Lemon Pie Beverage CHEESE BEANS Mushrooms and onion add savory flavor. Two 3-ounce cans chopped mushrooms 1 pound wax beans, cut in 1/2-inch crosswise pieces 1/2 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons water or margarine Medium onion, cut in thin strips 1/2 cup commercial low cream Drain mushrooms. To the mushroom liquid add enough boiling water to make 1 cup. Add to beans and boil rapidly, covered, with 1/2 teaspoon of the salt until tender-crisp — about 10 minutes; drain. Meanwhile in a skillet in the butter, gently cook onion until golden-brown; mix with the beans, mushrooms, remaining salt and sour cream; reheat. Makes 6 servings.

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor FRIENDS TO TEA Egg Bread with Butter and Strawberry Jam Tea with Milk or Lemon EGG BREAD Great to make on a stay-at-home day.

1 package active dry yeast 4 cups flour 2 large eggs 1/2 cup salad oil 2 teaspoons salt 2 tablespoons sugar Egg yolk mixed with 1 teaspoon cold water In a small bowl dissolve the yeast in 1/2 cup warm water. Into a large mixing bowl pour the flour; make a well in the center and into it turn 1 cup warm water, the eggs, oil, salt and sugar; add the yeast mixture. With a wooden spoon, mix until combined — dough will be sticky. Cover and let stand in warm, draft-free place for 3 hours; every half hour with the spoon, work dough by turning a few times. Onto a floured board or pastry cloth turn dough and cut into 2 portions; form each into a loaf and place in well-greased loaf pans (each about 8 by 4 by 3 inches). Generously brush tops of loaves with some of the egg-yolk mixture; cover with tents of foil (so dough will not stick to covering) and let rise in warm, draft-free place one hour. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until well-browned — 45 minutes. Loaves have airy texture and taste delicious warm from the oven; to toast, cut fairly thick.

HEARTY BREAKFAST Diced Oranges and Bananas Whole Wheat Waffles Beverages

WHOLE WHEAT WAFFLES They have a nutlike flavor. 1 cup whole wheat flour 1/2 teaspoon baking soda 3/4 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons sugar 1 egg, separated 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and slightly cooled 1 cup buttermilk Thoroughly stir together the flour, baking soda, salt and sugar. Beat together the egg yolk and butter; add buttermilk and beat to blend; add to flour mixture; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Beat egg white until stiff and fold into flour mixture. Bake on a hot waffle iron according to the directions for your particular waffle baker. Serve at once with butter and maple syrup. Makes 4 large waffles.

Make sandwiches of the salmon filling and the bread, adding the lettuce. Cut each sandwich in half. Makes 4 servings.

SAURDAY REFRESHER Cheese and Nut Ball Assorted Crackers Pineapple Fuzz PINEAPPLE FUZZ Wonderfully refreshing because only the pineapple adds sweetening. 8-ounce can unsweetened crushed pineapple 1/2 cup white rum 12 ice cubes Into an electric blender, turn all the ingredients. (Each ice cube should be the equivalent of about 3 tablespoons water.) Blend briefly — just until the ice cubes are liquefied. Serve at once in cocktail or small footed glasses or punch cups. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (Using ice cubes instead of crushed ice in the electric blender is okay when, as in this recipe, there is an adequate amount of liquid called for.)

Sour Thoughts On Sugar Market

By The Herald Services
There are ways to think of sugar other than for its sweetness. Consider its higher price today, its supercalories and its effect on the body's health. Perhaps it is time to consider alternate sources of sweetness.

The dramatic increase in the price of sugar actually frightens many shoppers. Yet world demand, product shortage and energy costs are expected to keep prices up during 1975.

Yes, even though prices are down slightly from $3.00 for a five-pound bag in 1974 (according to the New York City Department of Consumer Affairs) it is still a drastically high priced item at $2.86.

Therefore, some supermarkets use it as a "loss leader." They sell a five-pound bag below wholesale costs to attract customers at certain times. The trick is to watch for these sugar specials.

Also, always buy it in five-pound bags. It costs less than in one pound lots.

Per capita consumption of sugar in the United States is about 100 pounds. But only about one third of those 100 pounds are sold in the retail trade.

According to United States Department of Agriculture reports, 45 per cent is used in processed foods. These include canned and frozen fruits, baby foods, sugar-rich cereals, breads and cereals, cakes, pies and cookies and other foods.

The most startling figure is that 22 pounds per person are consumed each year in the form of soft drinks. Which may explain in part why the price of cola has jumped from 18 cents per 12-ounce a year ago to 30 cents today. The over-consumption of cola and its galloping costs raise serious adjustment, say leading nutritionists. Soft drinks supply the body only with flavor and calories.

Unfortunately certain sugar alternatives such as honey and corn syrup are more expensive than sugar. Approximately three-fourths cup of honey or three cups of corn syrup provide the same sweetness as a cup of granulated sugar.

According to the Consumer Education of New York, a recent price survey in the city showed that a cup of sugar costs 27 cents, a three-fourths cup of honey costs 90 cents, and three cups of corn syrup costs 86 cents.

Both honey and corn syrup are also difficult to substitute for sugar in recipes because they are different in flavor and moisture content.

Millions of pounds of artificial compounds are used each year. The National Academy of Sciences in Washington D.C., is calling on nutritionists, physicians, chemists and other experts for scientific and medical answers to the value and safety of these artificial sweeteners. Their answers will help solve the many questions of health involved.

On the subject of calories and sugar, at Michigan State University, Dr. Rachel Schenkel, doctor of nutrition, speaking on sugars and other sweeteners, said:

"Sucrose or common table sugar puts more weight on experimental animals than an equivalent number of calories in whole grain cereals. The body seems to handle sugar more efficiently than it does starch or grain."

A pleasing blend of Norse and Genoese cookery, Viking ravioli can be packed into freezer containers and later cooked in boiling salt water until tender.

This Viking Dish Conquers Skeptics

By The Herald Services

A jocular male handy with a fork but disdainful of the world of pots and pans relished making fun of recipes. His favorite putdown to the culinary world was his threat to revolutionize haute cuisine with "a very special recipe for 'manicotti matzo balls.' Thus far his threat is only that. However, in building a better mousetrap of good eating we've come up with a combination that may put him in his place—a Viking Ravioli. This blends tiny Norway sardines with ravioli, the Genoese sailors' specialty. Genoese sailors claim they created ravioli using leftovers on long voyages.

VIKING RAVIOLI
Pasta: 3 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 large eggs

Filling:
1-3 cup cooked chopped spinach
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cloves minced garlic
2 cans (3 1/2 ounces each) sardines, drained
1-3 cup bread crumbs
2 eggs
2 tablespoons olive oil
1-4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon butter
water, as needed (about cup)

Pasta: Combine ingredients, adding enough water to form a slightly moist dough. Knead well. Cover and let dough rest 30 minutes. Filling: In mixing bowl, thoroughly combine ingredients in order given. Cut dough in half. Roll each half very thin on floured surface to about 18 inches in diameter. Spread filling over dough. Top with rest of dough and form ravioli using a ravioli rolling pin or a ravioli cutter. Cut sections out with a pastry wheel or sharp knife. Seal edges with a fork if necessary. Boil in salted water 10 to 12 minutes or until dough is tender. Serve with favorite tomato sauce or melted butter and additional Parmesan cheese. Makes about 11 one-half inch squares.

Raisin vegetarian torte is sweet, mellow, spicy and mild. You can make it ahead of time and freeze it until ready to cook.

Raisin Torte For A Buffet

The Herald Services
A meatless main dish that can be made ahead and frozen until ready to cook is the perfect answer for a summer buffet or party. Make a few extra raisin vegetarian tortes and pop them into 12 1/2 oz. to surprise drop-in friends or relatives. These layered crepes are filled with raisins, grated cheeses, zucchini, mushrooms, chili pepper and pimiento for a pleasing blend of flavors.

RAISIN VEGETARIAN TORTE

CRPES
4 crepes
1 cup cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup Monterey Jack cheese, grated
1/2 cup raisins
2 cans (4 ounces each) whole pimientos
2 green chili peppers
3 zucchini, grated and drained
1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced and sauteed
Toss cheeses and raisin together in a mixing bowl and set aside. Whirl pimientos and chili peppers in a blender or mix with rotary beater. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Assemble torte, place one crepe on an ovenproof dish. Sprinkle with cheese-raisin mixture. Add another crepe and spread with pimiento-chili sauce. Top with zucchini.

4 eggs
1/2 cup flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
butter
Beat eggs well; add flour, sugar and salt and beat until smooth. Add milk, gradually, beating constantly. Melt a little butter in a skillet over moderately high heat. When the butter sizzles, pour in 2 tablespoons of batter (enough for a 5-inch crepe). Cook about 1 minute on each side. Place crepes on paper towels. Do not stack without putting paper towels between crepes. Hold crepes at room temperature until ready to assemble torte. Makes 4 crepes.

$450,000 Termed 'Bare Bones Budget'

Vihlen Seeking Senate Approval Of Crime Lab Funds

By GLENN MCCASLAND
Herald Staff Writer

Calling a $450,000-plus appropriation for a regional crime lab in Sanford a "bare bones budget," County Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. today began a second fight in Tallahassee to get legislative approval for the funds.

Vihlen was slated to meet with leaders of the powerful House-Senate Conference Committee on Appropriations in a bid to win Senate backing of the special funding item passed Tuesday by the house, 78-33.

"We are not out of the woods yet on this project," Vihlen said, regarding the latest step to gain takeover of the crime lab at the Sanford Airport by the Florida Department of Criminal Law Enforcement (FDCLE).

"The project is faced with gaining approval in the Senate and because no other locally-operated crime labs are being funded by the state, there is opposition to the takeover," Vihlen said.

"The amount approved by the House is, at best, a bare bones budget, but I feel we can live with it. Many programs at the lab will have to be curtailed some, but at least it (the lab) will survive another year," Vihlen said. The original amount sought was $750,000 to $1-million.

"The problem is simple. Money is tight in Tallahassee and they (the legislature) are trying to be as tough as possible regarding funding of special projects," Vihlen said.

Vihlen said after meeting with the conference leadership, he plans to work with Rep. Hat-away and Sen. John Vogt to gain more support within the legislature for the funding of the crime lab.

"I plan to be in the capital several days," Vihlen said. The crime lab is one of several matters the Commission chairman is working on with the legislature.

The crime lab takeover by the FDCLE was proposed by Sheriff John Polk several months ago when it became apparent that funds for the lab would run out on both a federal and county level about July 1.

The FDCLE was responsive to the suggestion that it operate the lab and has been working with Vihlen, Polk and other Seminole County officials since to bring about the takeover.

"I can't say enough about the way Bob Hattaway worked with the House and the support of Rep. Ed Blackburn was tremendous," Vihlen said in reviewing the passage of the crime lab funds by the House.

"But the war hasn't been won yet, only one battle," Vihlen continued. "We are going to press forward on this matter as hard as we can."

Comptroller Bill May Produce A Surprise

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

County representatives on the way to Tallahassee to try to pull the controversial comptroller bill out of the fire may be in for a surprise — lawmakers may tell them the job can be done without creating a new post, an aide to State Rep. Vince Fecthel said today.

County officials are scheduled to meet with Seminole's lawmakers at 3 p.m. for a re-arranging of the issue. Today's meeting was called by State Senator John Vogt, D-Coosa Beach.

Vogt says he has additional information and wants commissioners to justify their reasons for splitting the duties of the Clerk of the Circuit Court.

In April, the delegation voted, 3-1, in favor of creation of a comptroller's post, with Fecthel, a Republican from Leesburg, casting the lone dissenting vote against the measure.

"He (Fecthel) still does not believe we need a comptroller for Seminole County," Fecthel's aide said this morning. He did say, however, that if Fecthel is sufficiently swayed to support the commission's position, a referendum will have to be held during next year's presidential primary.

The aide said the State Comptroller has informed Fecthel and other members of the delegation that the commission already has the power to have the duties of a comptroller performed without splitting the clerk's duties.

The present Clerk of the Circuit Court, the aide said, is also the County Clerk and also serves as clerk to the county commission. Thus, if additional accounting functions need to be performed — the present clerk can submit a budget to the commission for additional personnel to perform those duties, Fecthel's aide said.

State Rep. Bob Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, picked up the commission's proposal to split the clerk's duties. And Hattaway at first vowed to take the bill through the House with or without Fecthel's support but then modified his stance and began to woo Fecthel.

The Fecthel aide also said if the matter goes to the citizens for a vote — which would mean county officials are able today to convince lawmakers of that need — the ballot should allow citizens the choice of whether the comptroller's position is elective or appointive.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr., County Attorney Tom Freeman and E. H. Underwood were scheduled to make the Tallahassee trip to argue the commission's position.

Vihlen said he's heard "rumors" of the lawmaker's new arguments, but said the county commission "is continually committed to the comptroller program."

He said his argument will be that private businesses keep their own books, the sheriff and school board keep their own books — so why shouldn't the county commission?

He admitted the county could create a master bookkeeping system utilizing clerk Arthur Beckwith's office, but Vihlen said that would increase bookkeeping costs because accounting must be initially done in each department of county government, regardless.

School Sidewalk Not In Longwood Picture

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — School Supt. Bud Laver, in a conference with city officials, today made it clear that the school administration has no intention of going into either the sidewalk construction or road building business.

Mayor James R. Lormann said, "The city cannot at this time build a foundation, let alone road or sidewalk access" to the planned Rock Lake Middle School.

Lormann added that if the city did have money for sidewalks, first priority would be along highly-traveled SR 427 to provide safe walkways for Lyman High School. The SR 427 sidewalk has been proposed by many councilmen over the years, including current board member H. A. Scott.

Laver warned city officials that citizen pressure would be brought to bear for safe walkways when the 1977 opening date of the middle school approaches.

"To hell with pressure," Councilman Gerard Connell said, noting the city's concern is that the students be protected while walking to and from school along SR 424 and Range Line Road.

Laver said students from Sleepy Hollow subdivision and those north of Sandalwood and Highland Hill will be used to transport nearly 800 students, Laver estimated. The remaining 350 students will be required to walk.

Laver and Connell discussed the difficulty of building sidewalks on E. E. Williamson Road since insufficient right-of-way exists on the north side and a drainage ditch is located on the south side.

Lormann said the only answer in the near future is for motorists to exercise extreme caution near the school site.

In another matter, Laver refused to estimate when the Woodlands Elementary School will open. "I am out of date concerning that school," he said.

The Woodlands school, formerly Altamonte Elementary School, was moved to a site off E. E. Williamson Road from Altamonte Springs. The school board has been plagued with difficulties since the moving project began a year ago.

Bond Issue Eyed For Jail Construction

By BILL BELLEVILLE
Herald Staff Writer

Frustrated by the recent refusal of the Sanford Airport Authority to allow the county to lease building 319 for a jail facility, county commissioners are now considering tapping the industrial revenue bonding powers of either the county port authority (SCOPA) or the Industrial Development Authority (SIDA).

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. has been meeting with Seminole County Jail Administrator George Proudfoot during the last week to discuss the various alternatives available to them, now that the 310 lease is almost a dead issue.

Severe overcrowding has plagued the Seminole County jail for some time now. Voters defeated a special bond issue for construction of a facility last year.

Vihlen said he would "personally favor construction of a facility at the Five Points area" next to the county roads department off U.S. 17-92. Proudfoot, he said, is currently "looking into innovative construction methods" that would include utilization of modular units in which to house prisoners.

SCOPA, which has the ability to issue revenue bonds for construction of industrial facilities on port property west of Sanford on the St. Johns, has plenty of room to work with on its 120 acres. There are now three active businesses on the site, in addition to the Concrete Structural Systems Inc. (CSSI) which has been in financial receivership for several months. SCOPA has yet to issue bonds for any business.

While SCOPA is limited to bonding on its 120 acres, SIDCA has the ability to issue industrial revenue bonds for construction anywhere in Seminole County.

Vihlen said that the board will look closer at the possibility of having SIDCA "float industrial revenue bonds for construction at the Five Points site."

In its four years of operation since SIDCA has issued one bond for construction of facilities for Continental Coffee. SIDCA, having gone through three directors, is currently leaderless.

Vihlen said he still "hopes to talk with (Sanford Airport Authority Chairman) Dr. Robert M. Rosemond about any changes that still exist for the use of the 310 building." But Vihlen admits the possibilities are slim.

An Airport Authority decision last month to cut off any negotiations with the county for the use of the three-story brick structure came in the wake of mounting community pressure against the plan.

Area police chiefs, in cooperation with South Seminole Optimist Club, observed "Respect for Law Day" by sharing their duties today with selected young people. From left, Bob Moe, Optimist district officer; Oviedo Police Chief Randy Blankenship with honorary Chief Steve Piegry; Casselberry Chief George Karcher and Honorary Chief Mike Andes; Longwood Honorary Chief Vynne Kaster and Chief Jim McLeane; Winter Springs Chief John Govevork and Honorary Chief Coyne Johnson; Altamonte Springs Police Capt. David Gunter, Honorary Chief David Perkins and Optimist committee chairman Dick Theriault. (Herald Photo by Tom Vincent)
