

Mom Calls For Guard Rails At Pond

Girl's Drowning Termed 'Freaky'

DONNA MARIA BROWN

By MARI WERNER
and
YON GORDANO

"This is the freshest situation I've ever heard of in my life... but if my daughter had to be killed there, I hope someone does something to prevent others from getting hurt or killed in the future."

That's how the mother of a 17-year-old Sanford girl who drowned Saturday when her car plunged into a 15-foot pond on Lake Mary Boulevard described the tragedy.

And it was fresh, eerie, according to the woman. For example:

• Her daughter drove her car into the pond almost at the same time she (the mother) drove onto Lake Mary Boulevard, just yards from the scene... but turned in the opposite direction, driving away from the accident.

• The accident was only about 200 yards from where the dead girl only three years ago suffered severe injuries when she fell from a horse.

• The dead girl was heading for home to change clothes and to meet her mother at a wedding reception in Orlando — their home located just the other side of the pond where she drowned.

• The mother had left a note for the girl telling her she could wait no longer for her daughter, and that the young girl should meet her at the reception.

• The mother found a different note on the door when she returned from the reception about 9:15 p.m. — it was from police asking her to "please contact us immediately."

Dead is Donna Maria Brown, daughter of Michael and Gertrude Orshovich, 718 Meadow St., Sanford.

Mrs. Orshovich is Donna's mother who remarried after her first husband died, the woman said.

The accident occurred in an unmarked pond about three-fourths of a mile west of U.S. 17-92 on the north side of Lake Mary Boulevard, almost directly across from the Bayhead Racquet Club.

Miss Brown had been visiting friends at their home at 139 Fairlane Circle, less than half a mile from the pond shortly before the 6:15 accident Saturday.

"Donna was at my parents' house," said Roy Dannelly, whose parents the girl was visiting. "When she left, she was going home to change for the wedding."

When Miss Brown left the Dannelly home, she began driving north on West Ridge Drive heading for Lake Mary Boulevard, according to Sanford police who are still investigating the accident.

Miss Brown apparently did not stop at a stop sign, but, for unknown reasons, continued driving across Lake Mary Boulevard and into the pond, according to police, who said there were no child marks at the intersection.

At least two passing motorists who saw the girl's car last Saturday night.

FRED ROBINSON

'They Didn't Move, They Just Stood...'

Fred Robinson, 22, of 283 Pastore Road, Lake Mary, is "sick and disgusted" that a group of men standing on the shore of a pond at Lake Mary Boulevard and West Ridge Drive Saturday night wouldn't help him as he tried unsuccessfully to rescue Sanfordean Donna Maria Brown from her sinking car about 25 feet from shore.

Mr. Robinson, who was laid off early last week from a Longwood factory, says he'd do it all again, even though he now knows bystanders might not help him.

"Sure I'd do it again, anytime I think I can help somebody. Now that the woman is dead, I can't help her, but I can help other people you live and learn."

Here's Robinson's account of his rescue attempt just after sunset Saturday night:

"I was driving westbound on Lake Mary Boulevard when I saw it happen. I saw a car floating out from shore. The windows were rolled up.

"I went in the water. I swam out to the car and tried to open the door. A woman was lying on the front seat. I cut my fingers and opened the door just a little. My fingers were inside the car. But the water pressure from the outside forced the door shut. I ran out of breath and came back up for air," Robinson continued.

"Then I yelled for some help. My fingers were killing me. They were all bruised. Several men were standing along the shore. They didn't move. They just stood there. I was really mad. I couldn't believe it. They were some teenagers came and jumped right in. They couldn't do much, but at least they tried. I wish we could have done more," said Robinson.

Now, he says, he doesn't know what he's going to do.

"I got laid off at the beginning of last week from Standard Container Co. in Longwood. I've applied for a state grant to go to Seminole Community College, but they turned me down. I worked at Standard Container since last December. I filed for unemployment compensation. I don't know if I'm going to get it. I'm going to try to find some house to paint. I need a job badly," said Robinson.

At the Lake Mary Boulevard-West Ridge Drive intersection where Miss Brown's car went into the pond, a rumor raced through the crowd of about 70 persons, who had gathered just after the accident, that a 16-month-old baby was also in the car. Sanford Police Lt. Douglas Bishop called the rumor up to "a case of mistaken identity. A woman thought it was her daughter and a 16-month-old baby girl, her granddaughter."

'My fingers were killing me'

Florida Highway Patrolmen were on the scene within minutes. So were Sanford police, Sanford firemen, Seminole County firemen, Altamonte Springs firemen, Longwood firemen and Lake Mary firemen.

County firemen, Longwood firemen and Altamonte Springs firemen hauled a tow chain to the 1963 Chevrolet, which had sunk to the bottom of the 15-foot-deep pond about 25 feet from shore. The car was pulled to shore at about 7:40 p.m.

Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore arrived at the scene at 8:30 p.m. He'd been speaking to the Board of Directors of Sanford-Seminole earlier, he said. "I just wanted to see what happened," he told Lt. Bishop. — MARI WERNER

Carter Invokes Taft-Hartley Act In Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter today invoked the Taft-Hartley law in an attempt to end the 71-day coal strike. But many soft coal miners are expected to defy any federal court injunction ordering them back to work.

Carter's move came after a number of states, including West Virginia, where a record strike which has threatened power blackouts and job layoffs. Under Taft-Hartley, the president said he will appoint a board of inquiry to report to him on the strike — a report that could take a week. He also ordered the Attorney General Griffin Bell to prepare a report on an injunction or other federal court action to end the strike.

"I have not taken this step lightly," said Carter, noting that "tens of thousands of persons" were already out of work and that several states are already undergoing sharp power cutbacks due to coal shortages.

Many coal miners indicated earlier they would not go back to work unless Carter ordered a federal injunction of the mine. But he did not.

"The time has now come for me to act on the subject," Carter told legislative leaders shortly before noon.

Carter said he talked with union officials and coal mine operators Sunday as it became clear the proposed contract would be defeated by a margin of at least 2-1. He told the Cabinet of his decision early today and then briefed the legislative leaders of both parties at the White House.

Miners have traditionally ignored Taft-Hartley back-to-work orders.

"The problem," said one White House source before Carter made his announcement, "is that the rejection vote has made it questionable that the 30-man (U.M.W.) bargaining council represents sentiment in the rank-and-file miners."

"No one's really sure," said the source, "so why not go with the law we have."

Flynt Shot

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Hustler Magazine Publisher Larry Flynt and a second man were shot today on a downtown street after Flynt had testified in his trial on obscenity charges.

Both men were believed to have been hit in the abdomen by bullets. They were rushed to Baton Rouge Hospital in Lawrenceville but their condition was not known.

Witnesses said the shots, believed to be two, came from a passing car when Flynt and his companion, who was identified as Grover Lewis by one of Flynt's attorneys, left a cafeteria about a block south of the courthouse.

Marston's Goal: To Be Governor

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — David W. Marston, the former U.S. attorney in Philadelphia whose ouster created a national controversy, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania.

At a news conference held at home, Marston, 38, said he decided to run to insure that "instead of political bosses the people will have an opportunity to pick their governor."

"The old politics — politics without principle — prevailed with President Carter, just as the old politics has prevailed in Pennsylvania for so long," he said.

Last Jan. 28, Attorney General Griffin B. Bell refused to allow Marston to finish his full term. His demand touched off a national controversy over the political spoils system which President Carter, in a campaign pledge last year, had promised to eliminate.

Marston, whose announced candidacy had been an open secret for days, told reporters that on Jan. 18 he signed a pledge promising that if he were allowed to serve out his full

NAPPY AND MICKEY: A HAPPY COUPLE

Nappy & Mickey: A Lasting Love

By MAX FRILETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Fifty years ago when Mickey Mouse whistled his first merry tune on motion picture screens across the nation, James "Nappy" Naglio admits he did not pay much attention.

Today he is referred to at Sanford and area flea markets as "Mr. Disney."

"I just didn't think much about it," Nappy said. "You know, I just looked at him like I would Batman or something on the TV today."

When Nappy finally got around to giving Mickey Mouse the good going-over, he realized the potential for a lasting relationship.

"About five or six years ago I saw that children everywhere liked Mickey Mouse," he said. "Kids really go for Mickey."

At the time, Nappy was collecting and selling coins and wholesale merchandise. He simply focused his sales on Mickey and other Disney characters.

And who was his best salesperson? "Mickey Mouse," said Nappy. "He is the best salesman in the world."

Nappy transformed his entire shop in New Jersey into a madhouse of Mickey Mouse merchandise. It was the beginning of a business marriage unequalled in the annals of mouse and man.

It all was chaos and crackers, however. Somewhere in New Jersey there lurked rodent robbers.

"We had this large Mickey, about six feet tall, and he used to sit out front in a chair and we let people come up and take pictures with the children, for free," recalled Nappy.

"One day someone came up and took 'm," he said, making a swiping motion with his hand. "My wife saw 'em," he said. "I wanted to chase 'em, but I couldn't. I got a bad heart condition, so I ran about 10 feet and had to take a pill."

Nappy learned from the experience.

Children can still go to one of his stores (he has three) and have their pictures taken with a six-foot Mickey Mouse, but they have to go inside.

The mouse manhandlers got a quality Mickey, according to Nappy. He said many of the Mickey Mouse manufactured for department stores in recent years have been mass-produced and their quality has declined.

"It's nothing for us to get in the car and drive to Miami, New York, Pennsylvania, Chicago, or wherever you have to go just to establish the contacts and we love it," said Nappy.

Nappy's buying partner is his wife, Dee. In fact, Mickey Mouse and his friends have helped support Nappy's entire family. His son and daughter run two stores in New Jersey. His store here is at 2608 French.

Some of his buying trips are not so exotic.

"I cover the local flea markets pretty good," he said. "I've got this one guy who knows that if he sees anything Disney at the flea market, he is to buy it, because I'll buy it from him. Some of the stuff I don't buy, because it's not in good shape, but if it's good I buy it."

Constitution: Save Millions In Property Tax?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A budget official said today the state's proposed 1974 constitution could save taxpayers $60 million — most of it in local property taxes.

Sen. Eugene Kelly, chief sponsor of the Florida Constitution Revision Commission's Fiscal Impact Committee, he estimated the changes would reduce taxes in Florida by $60.1 million and state taxes by $6.1 million.

Kelly said the largest single tax relief proposal provides that the legislature may authorize property tax exemptions every three years instead of annually.

He said this would reduce the local property taxes statewide about $20 million. Most of the tax relief, he said, would be in new construction. A constitutional proposal to do away with the state Cabinet and its six executive offices comes to be phased in, Kelly said. The proposal contemplates a substantial restructuring of existing powers and duties in the executive branch until the Legislature implements it there is no way to analyze its fiscal impact.

He said the proposal to expand the Public Service Commission from three to five members with supporting staff would cost an additional $120,000 a year.

A corporate profits tax exemption provided in the new constitution could cut anywhere from $1 million to $10 million in revenues, the official said.

Kelly said his estimates were conservative and did not include the possible impact of dozens of proposals that could not be accurately forecast.

Single estimated that a proposal to exempt from taxation government-owned facilities leased to private business would take an estimated $60 million a year off of local tax rolls.

What would happen to local and state governments if this tax relief is finally adopted was still up in the air, but commission members said the fiscal charter sent to the people in November would include authorization for the Legislature to make up the deficit from other tax income.

10th BIRTHDAY
Who says you can't have the cake and eat it too? Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, a dance company with Southeastern Regional Ballet Association and National Regional Ballet Co., celebrated its tenth anniversary over the weekend with a spectacular concert, "A Decade of Dance" at the Sanford Civic Center. At the patrons reception following the Saturday night performance, Dora Lee Russell the guild president, presided over the anniversary celebration. Pop's Decision Too Harsh?

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to the letter signed by POP who warned his 15-year-old daughter that if she was arrested for a traffic violation or was involved in an accident that was her fault, he would take away her driving privileges for a year. The daughter complained about the severity of the penalty, and POP asked for your opinion. Well, I am also a parent, and when I become eligible for a driver's license, my parents gave me a similar warning. At first, I thought they were wrong, but now I realize that they were right. I drive defensively, always washing out for real when I get out or get a parking ticket. I agree with POP's decision to be harsh. If the girl's room thought POP's rule was too harsh when he made it, she should have spoken up at the time. I agree, a year is too long, but once POP made the rule he should have stuck with it. LONAH.

DEAR ABBY: I disagree. THAT POP's punishment was too harsh. If he doesn't stick to his guns, his daughter will have no respect for him. I think the minimum age for drivers should be 16. It would take a bunch of these idiot kids off our streets and highways. I work near a high school and I see the stupid things these kids in cars pull every day. It's no wonder the death rate among teens from auto accidents is so high. You should have congratulated POP on his wise decision instead of saying, "Leave the penalty this time, but if he becomes against your best." AGAINST TEEN DRIVERS.

DEAR ABBY: How dare you give such irragionable advice to POP? A conscientious father lays down the law to his daughter and you advise him to back down? His daughter was lucky. Do you know how many thousands of people die in accidents caused by incompetent teenage drivers? Losing driving privileges for a year is not too severe a penalty. Rather than complain about the severity of the punishment, the daughter should thank God for a father who cares enough about her to make rules and stick with them. There should be more parents like POP! CALIFORNIA TEACHER.

'Indian Affairs', Election Highlight Meeting Of Club

A program on "Indian Affairs" was presented at the March meeting of the Women's Club of Sanford. Under the direction of the club's Public Affairs Department, guest speaker was Mrs. Wade Davis, anthropologist at Seminole Community College. Mrs. Davis reviewed Indian lore and their background. She explained that in North America, present customs, lore, food and a form of government have been handed down from the American Indians. She pointed out that Indians consider themselves the original natives of America, and today's citizens are all mixed blood. Mrs. Wade reviewed Indian lore and their background. More Club Sells Bulbs For Project
The Inver Garden Club of Sanford is sponsoring a spring Caladium bulb sale. Proceeds from the sale will be directed toward civic improvements for plants at the entrance to the Sanford Plaza Inn and replanting shrubs at the historical marker on Millerville Avenue and Second Street. Club members are asked to take orders now for the bulbs which are ready for delivery. The bulbs are available through Adams, 205 E. Second St., 320-4827, or Judy Washburn, 170 E. Second St., 321-4888. For information concerning planting and care of the bulbs, contact Sue Gowan, 322-2288 or Nancy Trivelpiece, 322-0272.

Dance And Tours Set For Seniors
President Bobbi Hardy conducted the regularly scheduled meeting of the Senior Citizens Club of Sanford with nearly 100 members in attendance. Announcement was made that the club is sponsoring the Patrick Federation Dance at the Altamonte Civic Center on March 18. Local members should contact Marci Briggs, club director for tickets. About 60 members recently attended the First United Methodist Church on Sunday as a group. Many members will be joining the club on March 17 for the Lawrence Walk show. The chairman Darci Rogers also announced that two buses will go to Thomas Springs on March 17 for a day at the spring fishing center. The group will eat at the famous Pepper Restaurant. The next regular meeting will be March 24. Members are asked to bring a tag lunch.

PROT CLUB ESSAY WINNERS
Seminole High School Senior Miriam Saltsan, a native of Honduras, who came to Sanford six years ago, was honored by the Sanford Pilot Club at a dinner at Seminole Community College. Pilot President Mac Paulson (left) presents check to Miriam for $10 as 10th entrant in essay contest on the handicapped as vice president Florence Morgan looks on (upper photo). Lisa Glanvock (lower photo), Bishop Moore High School senior, receives $25 check from Miriam's teacher, vice-president of the Pilot Club of South Seminole, for boy winning essay on "The Awakening of a New Minority." Lyman High School senior Michael Ploch, (left) second place winner, and Lela Brantley junior Nancy Coulter, who tied for third place with Paula Ann Winkler, Lake Brantley senior, also received checks for their essays. The contest originated by the President's Committee on Employment of Handicapped Persons, whose goal is full citizenship for the handicapped.

Prostatitis: Cause And The Treatment

DEAR DR. LAMB: Can you possibly tell me what causes prostatitis and can it be treated?
DEAR READER: The word "prostatitis" means inflammation of the prostate gland. Inflammation can be acute or chronic or a mixture of the two. Acute prostatitis is fairly common and is caused by a bacterial infection. The bacteria usually come from the urinary tract. It is usually treated with antibiotics. Chronic prostatitis is usually easier to treat. It causes symptoms of an acute infection but does not respond to antibiotics. It is usually treated with a course of vitamin E. This is because of a deficiency of this vitamin in the prostate gland. Vitamin E is usually available in health food stores. It is also available in capsules. I have found that taking one vitamin E capsule a day can help this situation. It is not a cure, but it does help.

'Privacy Right' Eased For Govt. Intrusion

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI)—The Constitution Revision Commission amended its "right of privacy" policy today to allow reasonable government intrusion.
Commissioners rejected a move to eliminate the privacy guarantee from the proposed new constitution which will go before Florida voters in November.
At the urging of former Gov. Larry Collins and Supreme Court Chief Justice Ben O'Neal, the commission added the word, "unreasonable," to the amendment, giving every Floridian the right to be free from governmental intrusion into his private life.
Collins, author of the proposal, was on a slim 19-16. He had tried unsuccessfully to get the qualifying language into the original draft.
Without the restriction, the amendment might be interpreted by the courts to justify search and seizure by law enforcement agencies and other government rights because there is "bound to be some government intrusion," Collins said.
Commissioners William Birchfield of Jacksonville and Bill James of Delray Beach tried unsuccessfully to get the

Roumillat Deal Delayed; State Eyed For Sheriff $

By County Commission
A 36-month lease-purchase agreement between the county and owners of the Roumillat building was taken under advisement by the Seminole County Commission today.
The commission also took under advisement a request by Sheriff John Polk and Commissioner John Alexander to seek state funding for construction of an administrative facility for the sheriff's department. A similar request to the federal government was turned down last week. The lease-purchase agreement specifies the county would pay $90,000 over a 36-month period for rent and purchase of the Roumillat building.
Terms of the agreement include provision for the improvement of the building, according to Robert Ellis, director of administrative services. He explained that owners of the building will complete and upgrade the third and fourth floors of the structure, at no cost to the county.
"These improvements will be made to the specifications of the tenant—the county," said Ellis.
Ellis, Commissioner Bill Kirshoff and other county officials gathered on the final details of the lease-purchase agreement Monday. The contract was drawn-up by Harry Stewart, county attorney. Last month the commission, on a 3-1 vote, designated Kirshoff to initiate negotiations with owners of the Roumillat building.
The county's Manager Office is located on the second floor of the building. The first floor will be kept as a "shop," according to Ellis. Some thought has been given to moving the library into the first floor space, he noted.
The county began looking at the Roumillat building in an effort to obtain office space that would relieve overcrowding in the courthouses.
Polk and Alexander pushed the commission for a formal request to Gov. Ashew for funds to construct the administrative facility.
"I met with people in Tallahassee yesterday," said COUNTY, Page 9-A

PATH OF CAR'S TRAVEL INTO POND WHERE GIRL WAS KILLED

Guard Rail At Pond Edge? Not Likely Here—Engineer

By MARK WERNBERG
It's not likely a guard rail will be installed at the edge of a pond on Lake Mary Boulevard where a girl drowned Saturday night when her car plunged into the water.
And it's also unlikely guard rails will be installed at any other county intersections at water's edge.
That's the picture that emerged today in interviews with county and city officials responsible for engineering such intersections.
Gerrit G. Oberbrink, of 718 Meadow B., Sanford, brother of Donna Marie Brown, 17, who drowned Saturday night, called for the installation of guard rails at the Lake Mary Boulevard-West Ridge Drive intersection where the fatality occurred.
He did several area law enforcement officials who asked not to be named.
"That's the first accident I've heard of at that particular intersection," said Sanford City Engineer Mack Lazensky. "I've never heard of any need for a guard rail in that area. I think it's unusual for someone to cross Lake Mary Boulevard and go into the pond, especially through a stop sign. In any case, that road right-of-way is maintained by Seminole County—not Sanford."
Sanford's city limits begin just north of the Lake Mary Boulevard right-of-way at the intersection with West Ridge Drive, according to Seminole County Engineer Bill Bush. The pond itself is within the city, he said.
"There are no clear-cut guidelines for the placing of guard rails at these intersections. There aren't any county ordinances or resolutions we can go by. We don't utilize very much guard rail in the county because we don't have many embankments, ditches or elevated roads over bridges," said the county engineer.
"Most of the guard rails used in the county are at the approach to bridges. I don't know of any place we'd put a guard rail at the intersecting road of a T-intersection. There are dozens of such intersections all over the county that run to lakes or ponds. The City of Sanford is full of them on Lake Monroe."
"There are limits in the Lash Arthur Section and in Forest City, too," said Bush.

'Amnesia Sets In' Park: He Forgot A Lot

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"With distressing regularity, his memory sets in where we have evidence," said Rep. Bruce Aton, R-M.V., during the committee hearing on the assassination of former President Park. "I'm going to wait to comment on this until I've seen the final police report on what happened there. A recommendation at that time would be possible. I'd want to study the situation thoroughly before I'd make a recommendation," said Alexander today.
The final report on the drawing will be completed by the end of this week, Sanford police said.

Carter Tells Demo Leaders 'No Mine Seizure'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Carter today emphasized to Democratic House Democratic Leader John Brademas that reserves after a bipartisan meeting that Carter "made clear there should be no seizure of the mine."
Some members of the United Mine Workers union have expressed a preference for seizure of the mine by the government.
and hoped that breaking the 100-day strike would be in the best interests of the miners.
