Originating in Canada, the scam involves a call being placed to consumers by persons identifying themselves as Canadian attorneys or bankers, which informs those being called that they have some persons in that they have won money in a s. The catch is that the winner has to pay an entry fee, tax, or some other kind of surcharge to claim the prize. "This is a rip-off pure and sim-ple," Crawford said. "If any

SANFORD - Construction crews from Centex Rooney will soon be descending onto the 180-acre site that will be the future home of Seminole Community College's Oviedo Center Campus. They'll be racing against an August 2000 scheduled opening date that has been six years in the making.

The pathway to construction was cleared this week when SCC's board of trustees voted unanimously to accept an out-of-court settlement with Oviedo property owner John Collins. Collins and the college were headed for a two-day hearing before an administrative law judge to determine the merits of Collins' challenge to the school's building permit. Collins claimed the permit violated the area's 100-year flood plain. School officials accepted the deal to avert a prolonged and costly appeals process, as well as a delay in tuition revenue.

During a special meeting to discuss the issue, Clay Simmons, an attorney for SCC explained to the trustees that even if the college won the administrative hearing, Collins could have asked another appeal, and eventually filed suit against the college for building adjacent to his five acre parcel.

Terms of the negotiated settlement, which began by telephone in April, require the school to pay Collins $180,000 for his property, and another $90,000 in out-of-court settlement costs. In return, Collins dropped all current and future challenges against SCC.

SCC officials have long contended their permits issued by the St. Johns Water Management District were in compliance, and that extraordinary steps have been taken to protect the site. SCC says it See SCC, Page 7A

State's sexual offender list continues to grow

By Bill Kerns Staff Writer

SANFORD — Another name on a growing list. That's just one of the many concerns facing Jeffrey Allan McSweeney.

McSweeney, 31, was arrested Tuesday in Oviedo by Seminole County Sheriff's Office investigators for sexual battery of two 11-year old girls. At times, one of the girls told investigators, her parents were downstairs while she was in the bedroom where McSweeney was staying. He was helping her parents remodel the home in lieu of rent.

If convicted, McSweeney will join a growing number of names on the Florida Department of Law Enforcement's (FDLE) list of sexual predators and sexual offenders, which began in 1997.

There are currently two registered sexual predators in Seminole County, and 251 registered sexual offenders in the county.

According to the Fiscal Year 2000 budget proposed by City Manager John Litton, the proposed millage rate of 3.7648 mills is the same as the City's millage rate for the last seven years. Ad Valorem taxes in Lake Mary will not rise for the 12th consecutive year.

Following Litton's recommendation, the Lake Mary City Commission approved the proposed millage rate, which when adjusted for appraisals will be a rate of 3.4973 mills. The commission will hold budget hearings in starting Sept. 9.

"That is a number that can be lower," said Deputy Mayor Thom Greene.

Litton said he is continuing to look for ways to reduce the final levy in September. The city has the second lowest levy in Seminole County.

A mill is 1/1000 of a dollar, and is defined as the millage needed to raise the same total Personnel costs make up more than 70 percent of the budget, and Litton is proposing to set aside $180,000 to do pay plan adjustments based on an independent study .

"We must be able to attract and retain employees," Litton said. "It is simply not good enough anymore to say this is Lake Mary."

Litton is also proposing lighting Field No. 3 at the Sports Complex for an estimated $85,000. In addition, Litton proposes $200,000 in funding for five tennis courts and a restroom-concession building at the sports complex. The money will come from Park Impact fees.

SANFORD - Longwood City Commissioners face a lengthy agenda during their Monday, July 19th meeting.

In addition to the city administrator's report, the mayor's report, and district commissioner reports, the board will make nominations to the city's Code Enforcement Board, Land Planning Agency, Business Advisory Board, as well as consider a number of rezoning and small annexation issues.

Commissioners will also consider by title only ordinance 99-1457, amending the qualifications of the city administrator to include a bachelor's degree in business administration, public administration or other appropriate field.

Board members are also expected to read by title only ordinance 99-1455, amending the city's pay and classification plan, as well as title readings of ordinances to establish a potable water leak credit policy and a policy to establish paving projects of soil streets and the installation of water lines.

Longwood commissioners will also consider a public hearing date of Aug. 2 for input on ordinance 99-1484 which would regulate the Motor Vehicle Title Loan Industry, and set Aug. 2 as the first public hearing on recommendations of the Charter Advisory Committee amendments included in ordinance 99-1491.

City administrator John Drago is also expected to recommend to the board

"In the Army my job was to kill people. Today, it's to help people. To help people that society used to try to hide. To hide in the attic or cellar or to put in an institution."

He said it took a long while for society to believe that the mentally and physically challenged could do anything but stare at a TV screen or sit in a corner.

"No one gave them an opportunity to learn how to work, and then to allow them to work," he said.

Because of his military career, Poe is a very-structured and result-oriented director. He's also a kind and compassionate man. Some of those who work at SWOP cannot read.

"We teach them which part of a label is to be upside, which is down," Poe said. "Start simple. Work up."

Taking clients out of a sheltered home environment and placing them in a productive job is reward enough for Poe and the others who have been on SWOP's staff for two decades. To see the smiles and good cheer of the clients is bliss.

"They are angels," Poe said. Poe knows each of the clients by first name. They reach out to touch his hand to say hello. They brag about their accomplishments.

On Friday, there was laughter and singing at SWOP. A birthday. Two birthdays.

After everyone cheered, Poe waved and walked from the main production floor.

"Let's go to the wood shop," he said. "There's someone I want you to meet.

" April," Poe called out. "April Munson."

April Munson, 50, put down her radial arm saw.

"Hello, April," Poe said. The two embraced.

"How many years have you worked here?" he asked.

"Eighteen, Mr. Poe. Eighteen great years."

A moment later, Bill Poe wiped away a tear.

Editorial & Opinion

Our View

Whose land is it?

Citizens and developers clash over the proposed plans for rural property.

A year ago a killer tornado and a series of fire storms claimed lives and property in Seminole County.

In the worst of times, the citizens of Seminole responded as the best of neighbors.

That was then.

In the blissful Summer of '99, Seminole hearts have hardened. The natives are restless. They say their land is being invaded by developers. And daggone it, the county commission isn't doing anything to help the citizens who elected them, they add. "Don't Sell Us Out, McLain," they chant. "We will remember."

Daryl McLain, a fourth generation county resident, would like his fellow citizens to talk instead of squawk. To take time to negotiate with the developers. "At least give it a chance," he said.

No dice, say those who own homes and property west of the Port of Sanford. They live quite nicely, thank you, on huge lots surrounded by trees. It's a half-mile between some of the homes. Most of the roads are unpaved. There are horses grazing. And an eagle's nest.

Inevitably, some (not all) of this must change.

Industry has been creeping in along Orange Avenue for sometime. The Port of Sanford is expanding. There are a number of offices and warehouses. There's a new subdivision named Amanda Kay at Forest Cove. A church is being built.

County planners say the best way to preserve the area in question is to limit commercial expansion. One way to do so is to allow planned unit development. Yes, new homes — as many as four to an acre — will get built. This way the area will remain residential and for the most part rural.

There are two sides to this issue.

Is the proposed intensity too great? Could the developers agree to building homes on three-quarters of an acre lot rather than four homes to an acre? That may satisfy the disgruntled home owners, who do live in the county not one of the cities.

Whatever, the residents need to discuss the issue with the developers and county planners. Their protests and WATCH DOG activities are a sign of the times. They should remember, however, the very homes they live in were not there just a few short years ago, and similar arguements against development could have been made against their homesites, as well.

I respectfully submit more then seven hundred and fifty signatures. These were obtained by several volunteers over a period of three hours at a recent July 4th celebration at Fort Mellon Park, Sanford, Florida.

We collected signatures, and could have collected many more, from anyone who was interested in keeping the park totally noncommercial and therefore open to the public. We gathered these signatures specifically for you as we felt the Seminole County Commission would be interested in knowing that Ft. Mellon Park is more then a little city park. Close to 40,000 people from all over the country attended a celebration in the park on July 4th. It was a great success. This event was sponsored partially by Sanford Main Street and Downtown Merchants! Now, doesn't it surprise you that these same organizations were very much in favor of commercializing the park and the building of hotel-convention center? Perhaps they have had a second thoughts now that they realize what an asset events in the park can be for downtown business if promoted well.

Mr. Lon Howell led a campaign to build the hotel convention center that would wall off the view of Lake Monroe. I'm extremely pleased to report that Mr. Howell publicly stated, there are only three things in Sanford that get good press, Lake Monroe's sweeping lakefront, the airport and the historic district, Mr. Howell also stated it's stupid to damage one of the best things this town has going for it. He finally sees the light and places the sweeping lakefront right up there with the historic district, and the airport.

Why can't the woman just be excited? How exactly would you react after just making one of the biggest moments in US sports history?

The media needs to back off this great athlete. Chastain is an woman who should be viewed as a hero, not pulled apart by the media for taking off her jersey. Instead of trying to figure out why she had this "moment of insanity," maybe we should just be glad that she scored the goal.

Brandi should inspire us all to hop into a sports bra and head down to the gym or take a jog around the block. Bush stumbles in snub of journalists SEATTLE --- It was inevitable. Texas Gov. George W. Bush, practically anointed as the GOP presidential nominee, has made a dumb mistake in his dealings with people of color.

Bush rejected an invitation to address a combined convention of four leading minority journalism groups, even though he was scheduled to be in the city at the same time as the UNITY '99 conference.

A Bush campaign spokesperson initially said the GOP front-runner's schedule was overbooked and he had no time to attend. After a bit of a controversy, Bush found the time to put in a 15-minute appearance at the convention on Thursday, a tepid attempt at damage control. But his hurried walkthrough, with reporters yelling questions in his wake, served only to highlight the initial snub.

The Texas governor has tried hard to distinguish himself from the garden-variety conservative Republican, the type who seems uncomfortable with people of color, unenthuslastic about diversity, and unable to comprehend the everyday slights that frustrate the hopes and ambitions of America's minority citizens. Bush has courted minority votes, spoken out against immigrant-bashing, and studiously avoided taking a position on sweeping anti-affirmative efforts such as California's Proposition 209.

But Bush made himself appear very much the typical, small-tent Republican when he turned down an invitation to speak at a conference combining the National Association of Black Journalists, the National Association of Hispanic Journalists, the Asian American Journalists Association and the Native American Journalists Association, an event that has attracted an estimated 6.000 journalists.

Indeed, while all the announced GOP and Democratic candidates were invited months ago, according to Unity '99 officials, only Democrats Al Gore and Bill Bradley accepted. After initially declining the invitation, Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., showed up Thursday to address the convention. He said that he had read newspaper coverage of the event and decided his earlier rejection was a mistake.

The GOP's failure to get it --- its lack of interest in voters of color --- is one of the enduring mysteries of modern politics. Quiet as the fact is kept, many voters of color hold conservative views on social issues. Many African-Americans, for example, oppose abortion and support the death penalty. They would make natural GOP voters. But the Republican Party cannot resist sending out signals that it would just as soon not open its tent to the darker-skinned.

It is still early in the campaign for Bush, who might simply be suffering the inevitable lapses of a neophyte in his first encounter with political prime time. He can recover from this mistake and will probably now redouble his efforts to court voters of color. He still has a better grasp than most members of his party on the increasing importance of minority constituencies.

However, if Bush is forced to pander to the sensibilities of his party's right wing, he will have a tough time persuading ethnic minority groups of his sincerity. Take the issue of hate-crime legislation. After the dragging death of James Byrd Jr. in Jasper, Texas, a hate-crime bill died in the Texas Legislature without the governor's taking a stand on it.

But Bush will not be able to escape the issue. A week ago, Benjamin N. Smith, a 21year-old student, killed a black man and a Korean and wounded nine others - Jews, Asians and blacks - in a chilling barrage of racist violence. If nothing else, Smith reminded people of color of a common vulnerability to bigotry. It should have also given Bush the courage to speak out.

Hillary's drop-in candidacy

The Constitution is such a wonderful document that occasionally it is good to consult it for some insight on how the Founders believed this country should operate. Concerning the possible Senate candidacy of Hillary Rodham Clinton, the Constitution offers special wisdom and instruction.

Article 1, Section 3, paragraph 3 reads: "A senator must be an inhabitant of the state which he is appointed to represent." Mrs. Clinton has yet to "inhabit" (that is, "to occupy as a place * of settled residence or habitat") any part of New York. She regards the state as a city block one circles while looking for a parking place. Hers is a race of convenience designed to allow her to cling to power after her source of power - the ent - leaves the White House. Yes, she's shopping for a place to live, but who is going to pay for it? Is buying a house the same as inhabiting a state and absorbing its unique character? Is Cal Mrs. Clinton more likely to represent Thomas New York or herself? As for qualifications to be a senator, James Iredell, a member of the North Carolina Supreme Court and a delegate to the Constitutional Convention, said: "The business of a senator will require a great deal of knowledge and more extensive information than can be acquired in a short time." How much knowledge does Mrs. Clinton have about the Senate or the people of New York? Mrs. Clinton says she wants to pursue her ideas about health care (already rejected once by a majority Democratic Congress) and education (more money for broken public schools). She doesn't like the Republicans' welfare reform ideas, though her husband signed the GOP welfare bill, which he originally opposed but later took credit for when it began to work. The Founders wanted senators to be appointed by state legislatures because they believed, rightly, that the interests of the states should be fully represented in Washington as a hedge against an overbearing federal government. Their wisdom was rejected by the 17th Amendment that allowed the people to directly elect senators. Too bad. The original vision — the need of protection from Washington - was correct.

Unlike other political figures who run for office and lose, Mrs. Clinton gets just one chance if she decides to run. The political stars will probably not align for her a second time. If she is rejected by one of our most liberal states, where the leftwing media is headquartered — they are ever slavish to her liberal views - the woman once described by former House Ways and Means Committee Chairman and convicted felon Dan

Rostenkowski as "the smartest woman in the world" will be shown to be weak and thus finished as a national political > figure. Like former Clinton advisor Dick Morris, I, too, believe she won't run, at least for the New York Senate seat. She'll probably take her political c paign war chest and run, perhaps to where she will plot her return to political power. But she, like her husband, is a traveling snake-oil salesperson. She is

Illinois, perhaps back to Arkansas, out to prove something and that can be a strong motivation, whether one runs for office or not. Mrs. Clinton is an unredeemed '60s leftist. Her resume and writings reveal a philosophy rooted in big government and an antipathy to individual freedom, personal responsibility and accountability. She wants to make government our keeper as well as our savior, and she will tax anything (literally and figuratively) to impose her utopian vision. Michael Barone summed up her philosophy in the July 12 U.S. News and World Report: "The pattern is clear: rule making for others, rule breaking for herself." The Founders wanted to ensure the sovereignty of the states. Mrs. Clinton would like to become a sovereign from New York State. The ultimate objective is the White House.

"New York is a place of miracles and disasters," says the 1996 issue of "The Almanac of American Politics." It may take a miracle for Hillary Rodham Clinton to win the Senate seat if she decides to run. It would be a disaster for the state and the nation if she wins.

CINCINNATI, OHIO -Convergys Corporation has signed an outsourcing agreement with AT&T Wireless Services, Inc., (AWS) to extend the current contract for inbound customer care and related services into the year 2006. AWS is already a significant Convergys communications billing client, and by this contract, Convergys continues to be a long-term vendor supporting AWS Customer Care.

Convergys handles a variety of customer care calls for AWS including general billing, credits and adjustments, account status changes, roaming, and technical troubleshooting. The company has been providing customer care to AT&T Wireless Services for four years.

Industrial facilities to be leased

WINTER SPRINGS - Realvest Partners, Inc. has been selected as exclusive leasing agents for a 4,644 square foot industrial facility located at 255A Old Sanford-Oviedo Rd. in Winter Springs. Realvest Director of Industrial and Land Michael Heidrich and Jay Miller negotiated the listing assignment, which includes its 1/2 acre site. Heidrich said he expects to rent the facilities for around $2,400 per month modified gross.

Realvest Partners, based in Maitland, is a commercial real estate company specializing in brokerage, management, consulting, research appraisal and development services.

Realvest Partners also plans to lease a 6,400 square foot industrial facility in Longwood and sell a five-acre industrial site in Sanford.

In the Longwood Industrial Center, the warehouse facility located at 1205 Sarah St. will include 6,400 square feet of space. Realvest owns the facility, and immediate occupancy is available. The Sanford site, located on State Road 46 near Airport Boulevard, is owned by W.W. Cramer Lumber Co. The site will be listed for $750,000.

Holiday Inn Express opens in Sanford

By Bill Kerns Staff Writer

SANFORD - A new Holiday Inn Express opened on US highway 17-92 in Sanford this month.

The 72-room hotel, located at 3401 S. Orlando Avenue (highway 17-92), opened for business on June 30. Grand opening ceremonies will be held Aug. 5, with local officials welcoming the Holiday Inn Express to Sanford. Standard rooms in the hotel come with two double or kingsized beds, a working desk with an ergonomic chair, two telephones, plus other features such as a 25-inch television, a hair dryer in the bathroom, and an iron and ironing board in the closet.

"The owners spared no expense in decorating and designing the hotel," said Sam Santiago, general manager of the Holiday Inn Express. "Everything in here was specialordered. We're going to give our guest the best for their money."

Jacuzzi suites and three tworoom suites with Jacuzzis.

microwave, refrigerator, and two televisions and a pull-out sofa bed.

"We have the same type of quality no matter what room you stay in." Santiago said.

Prices at the hotel range from $79.95 for two double-beds to $109.95 per night for two-room suites. For July, the hotel has a local opening rate of $65 for double and King sized rooms. "We're the only hotel from here to Orlando with upscale accommodations for this type of price," said Santiago. Compared to hotels in Lake Mary or Daytona Beach, this is less expensive and higher quality.

The price of all rooms includes a free continental breakfast and free local calls. There are 70 channels on the TV's, including HBO and ESPN. Coffee and tea service is offered 24-hours per day.

The breakfast area has seating for 40 people.

"Everything you see here in the upscale decor was specially ordered for the hotel," Santiago said.

Seven rooms have accommodations for the handicapped, with special lighting for the hearing impaired and larger bathrooms for those in wheelchairs.

In addition, several rooms have connecting doors to accommodate large families. "If you have kids you can put them in one room, keep an eye on them, then go back to your room and relax in a Jacuzzi," Santiago said. The hotel also has a meeting room with 625 square-feet of space, with a 32-inch TV, a VCR, a podium, coffee, and tea service.

"We can seat 25 people using tables or 50 people theaterstyle," Santiago said.

Same day delivery for dry cleaning is also offered by the hotel. All four floors have vending areas with soft drink and fruit drink machines.

The hotel is seeking permits from the City and County to construct a swimming pool. In the meantime, a patio with Italian-style bricks and tropical palms marks the area in back of the hotel where the pool will be built.

Discounted prices with local businesses and restaurants are being negotiated. The hotel will also honor discounts for organizations such as AAA and AARP. For instance, guests of the hotel receive a 10 percent discount at Shoney's restaurant and El Patro Mexican restaurant.

The Holiday Inn Express is a member of the Elite Hospitality Property company. The company owns hotels in Florida, Georgia and California.

Santiago said the owners of the hotel chose to locate in Sanford because of its location near Lake Mary, Daytona Beach and Orlando.

"We're two miles from the (Orlando Sanford) airport, close to (State Road) 417 for Orlando's attractions, and four miles from downtown Sanford," Santiago said. "We're also seven miles from the Lake Mary-Heathrow Business Center, 20 minutes from Orlando, and 35 minutes from Daytona Beach."

CONSOLIDATED PLAN FUNDING SUMMARY PROPOSED 1999-2000 FUNDING SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA VOLUSIA/SEMINOLE HOME CONSORTIUM (SOUTHERN SECTOR)

Notice to Citizens:

Seminole County is the recipient of federal grant funds through a number of programs administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These include the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program, the HOME Investments Partnership Program and the Emergency Shelter Grants (ESG) Program. These programs are designed primarily to assist the County's low and moderate-income residents. In order to streamline the administration of these programs, HUD has consolidated all of the local planning and citizen participation requirements for these various federal programs into a single administrative process called "The Consolidated Plan."

Consolidated Plan Summary:

The Consolidated Plan represents the best thinking of the County, its residents, local organizations, and social service providers. As part of the Plan development process, the County solicited idea steering committee, an affordable housing steering committee, and an infrastructure/capital improvements steering committee. Public hearings were held to seek input to determine how the County should best use these funds.

Based on this information and analysis, the County developed a One-year Action Plan. This Plan sets priorities for County activities in the up coming year (Beginning October 1, 1999). In the area of affordable housing, the County will continue to give priority to assisting its low income residents through housing rehabilita-tion activities and rental assistance and by helping the homeless, including victims of domestic violence. The County will continue to target its non-housing community development activities within its low-income target neighborhoods.

The County has propared a One-Year Action Plan. The uses of these funds for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1999 are:

and infrastructure on only 40percent of the property, and that a total of one-half acre of the entire 180-acre site will be negatively impacted.

The school estimates it saved $150,000 in potential future legal fees, and as much as $3.6 million in potential lost revenue if the start up date had been delayed beyond the traditional fall semester launch. In June, Collins' effort was joined by the Florida Chapter of the Sierra Club.

"Lawsuits tend to get settled on the court house steps," said Simmons less than an hour before the two parties were to appear in court.

Rob Baker, vice president of Centex Rooney Construction Company told trustees his outfit will now huddle with prime contractors and subcontractors in an effort to accelerate a construction schedule that would allow for completion of the college's $13.2 million Phase I plan, which includes a Learning Resource Center and a Student Services Building totaling 100,000 square feet. Baker said simultaneous work could be done on the two buildings to complete infrastructure, foundation and walls. Then crews could focus on the completion of one of the buildings in time to house college-credit courses and staff by next August.

Baker will report back to the board of trustees with a new timetable at the board's Aug. 17 meeting.

SCC president Dr. E. Ann McGee was pleased with the settlement and extended an olive branch to the Sierra Club.

The opportunity is there for the Sierra Club to come look in depth at our building plans," McGee said. "I think they'll be pleased at what they see. I think plans to put physical structures the Oviedo Center is what's best for the community we intend to serve. The site establishes a number of environmental programs."

> Sierra Club spokesperson Mary Slater-Linn said her group feels that the agreement is in violation of the use of Public Education and Capital Outlay (PECO) funds.

> "We feel that site is not being properly used and that it is going to flood in the future," Slater-Linn said. However, she added that the club does not, "plan on any administrative hearings or lawsuits at this time."

> "The Sierra Club is currently tied up with protection of the Wekiva River," she said. "We'll pursue our efforts in Oviedo through a grass roots movement with letters and calls to the governors office. It's probably too late to stop the SCC project, but we hope it won't happen in the future.

Board chair Dede Schaffner was likewise pleased by the agreement that paves way for construction.

"We're excited to move forward and become part of the Oviedo community. Our growth matches what is happening in this part of the county. The Seminole County school board likewise has growth plans that call for a future elementary, middle school and high school in the Oviedo area."

Schaffner added that she too would be glad to sit down with representatives of the Sierra Club to explain how exactly SCC plans to build on the site.

Slater-Linn confirmed that she and Eric Skogsberg, chairman of the Central Florida Sierra Club, have accepted an invitation to meet with SCC officials. The meeting is slated for 10 a.m. July 27 at the college.

In addition, the budget includes $35,000 in funding for the design and construction of a curb and gutter for Palmetto Street, and improving the stormwater collection system at its intersection with Lake Mary Boulevard.

Other Capital Projects include the design and construction of a drainage relention pond and overflow control structure system at the 6th and 8th Street rights-ofway and Park Place pond at a total cost of $48,000.

Sanford prepares for Census 2000

By Summer Copeland Herald Intern

The City of Sanford is pursuing a full count for the Census 2000 by forming a committee that encourages awareness to Sanford residents.

The committee of Census 2000 is made up of concerned citizens and city officials who wish to make the community aware of the importance of Census 2000.

The Census, which will take place in April 2000, will consist of a form sent to every household to create an accurate count of the citizens in the city. The count is important to gain federal funding for schools, transportation and other government programs.

The committee's goal is to reach the low responsive areas of Sanford and Seminole County. These regions include minorities, homeless and migrant workers.

Many of the minorities find the forms complex and hard to fill out, thus refusing to turn in their Census form. The committee hopes to prevent this mishap though education and assistance with the form process.

The committee plans to increase awareness of Census 2000 through promotion in schools, local businesses, public housing, homeless, migrant workers and churches.

The committee meets monthly to discuss progress and explore new avenues of heightening awareness within the communi-

The committee is now incorporating aid from Seminole County with two new committee members from the county, and is hoping to expand committee participation to other cities in the county.

A Census flyer best sums up the committee's goals by saying, "A complete count of all persons in our area is the only method we have to assure that our fair share of taxes we all paid, are brought back and put to work for all the people in our area."

Keep you eyes open for your Census form, to be mailed to all residents mid March 2000.

management analyst for FDLE. "It continues to grow."

Courts designate whether a person committing a sexual offense has to register on the list of offenders or predators. Those designated as sexual predators committed high-level, more extreme offenses, Reeder said.

The sexual predators list tracks the names of people who committed offenses back to Oct., 1993. The sexual offenders list dates back to Oct., 1997.

McSweeney was arrested on April 21, 1994 in Volusia County for exposure of a sexual organ and lewd and lascivious behavior. The charge of lewd and lascivious behavior was dropped, and be completed six months probation for the exposure charge, according to Volusia County records. State law did not require McSweeney's name to be placed on FDLE's list of sexual offenders for the exposure charge.

Investigators said McSweeney downloaded nude pictures of children on his computer while staying at the home of one of his victims.

Although the Seminole County Sheriff's Office is not reporting an increase in sexual offenses against children, law enforcement officers say that the Internet and children are a dangerous combination. Now, not only do parents need to watch who their children spend time with, they also need to monitor activities on the computer.

The majority of sexual battery incidents against children occur in the home, with someone the child is familiar with, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

"As a cop I've been involved in too many of these cases," Lake Mary Police Chief Richard Beary said. "Watch out when an adult becomes friends with a child real rapidly and very intensely."

Beary said that he is noticing a "definite" increase in sexual offenses against children, and that the Internet is playing a troubling role in that increase.

"The Internet is such a vehicle," Beary said. "The search engines are incredible. It's unfortunate that many parents are still computer shy, because their kids aren't. The coming wave of pedophiles are on the Internet. It gives them anonymity."

He said education is critical to protecting children from sexual abuse.

"Don't be afraid to ask your child tough questions," Beary said.

FDLE's list of sexual predators and sexual offenders is located at www.fdle.state.fl.us.

McSweeney is charged with lewd and lascivious acts against a child, computer pornography, child pornography, and eight counts of sexual battery. He is staying in the Seminole County Jail without bail.

Investigators are still reviewing video tapes and computer files that were confiscated this week.

Recovery -----

had been committing the acts for at least a year.

Investigator William McNett of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, who is working on the case, said there are a number of resources to available to children victimized by sexual abuse. Typically, children are referred to the Sexual Trauma Recovery Center of the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Women.

In addition, McNett said that victims receive help from the Child Protection Team at Kids House of Seminole, located in Sanford.

Victims advocates from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office also visit the homes of families to offer assistance and advise the families on available counseling programs, said Deanna Brown, public information officer for the Sheriff's Office.

At Kids House, children are interviewed in rooms designed to feel as comfortable as possible. There are two interview rooms, one with cartoonish scenery for younger children and another with a beach scene for older children.

"We have a big tree that artists drew, and a playroom that looks like a castle," said Nancy Crawford, program manager for Kids House of Seminole. "We have lots of toys, and a room for the older children to watch T.V. while they wait for the interview to begin."

The child is unable to see investigators and representatives from the State Attorney's Office, who watch the interview from a hidden camera.

With additional funding, Kids House also plans to establish programs to assist law enforcement with background checks, provide extensive therapy to victims, and perform medical exams on location instead of sending children to Orlando or Maitland, Crawford said.

"You need to get to know the people your children are with," said George Martin, a case coordinator for the Child Protection Team. "You can't put yourself in the situation where you leave the child unprotected."

Martin said that child molestation differs from rape because molesters give children rewards and special attention, and usually commit the acts to satisfy adult sexual desires. Rape is usually committed as an act of possession or power.

Linda Manning, manager of the Sexual Trauma Recovery Center, said that on average children who are victims of sexual abuse receive 7 to 12 months of therapy at the Center. Victims of more severe abuse receive treatment for 18 to 24 months or longer.

Eleven-year-old girls recovering from sexual abuse may need additional therapy within two to three years as they enter adolescence, Manning said.

"It's not unusual," said Manning, who is also a licensed clinical social worker. "A lot of girls with anorexia have been abused. The abuse tends to lead to depression, anxiety and nightmares. Plus, the ability to trust becomes a big issue."

The first concern in therapy is to help victims regain a sense of safety and control.

Families as well as victims of sexual abuse receive therapy at the Center.

"We've found that in group therapy they can help each other through the healing process," Manning said. "It really helps the children to know that they are not alone."

Children in therapy learn techniques such as how to feel a sense of control and safety, setting boundaries, dealing with body-image and shame, and identifying safe grownups to speak to about threatening situations, Manning said.

When the children are ready, a counselor will help the children to tell their parents what happened to them and how they feel.

"The child will often blame parents for what happened," Manning said. "That relationship needs to heal." Unfortunately, the victim's healing may take a lifetime. Manning said that 30 percent of sexual abuse victims will act out the abuse on someone else as adults.

"It's like dragging a heavy burden throughout their lives," Manning said.

McNett said one of the girls told him she blamed herself for what happened. Therapists say this is typical for children who are victims of child abuse.

According to the police report, one of the girls told investigators that McSweeney asked them not to tell anyone about what was happening. Manning said this is common.

"Parents need to watch out for adults who may be asking their children to keep secrets," Manning said.

McSweeney, a UCF student, was arrested Tuesday by Seminole County Sheriff's investigators, and faces charges for sexual battery, lewd and lascivious acts against a child, computer pornography, and child pornography. He is being held at the Seminole County Jail without bail.

In 1994, he was also arrested in Volusia County for lewd and lascivious behavior and exposure of a sexual organ. The charge of lewd and lascivious behavior was dropped. He served six months of probation for the exposure charge, according to Volusia County records.

Commissioners took their first formal look at the proposed budget last week at a special meeting. The proposed budget totals $10.7 million. Anticipated revenues against projected costs would allow the city to return $131,650 to its general fund reserve.

The final item on Monday's agenda is a reconsideration and completion of Resolution 99-990, which considers the possible removal of Jim Daly from all city boards and considers recommending to the Longwood Historic Preservation Board that they remove him from the Founder's Day Committee.

A June public hearing on the matter failed to result in a formal motion and vote. Daly was represented at that hearing by attorney Joe Rosier. The matter appeared dead before mayor Paul Lovestrand consulted a registered parliamentarian who reviewed the minutes of the meeting and determined the matter was still alive. Her findings leave the commission with another opportunity to determine if a motion can be made and resolved with either an affirmative or negative vote.

Daly will not be at the meeting to hear his fate. The former chair of the Charter Review Committee suffered a heart attack this week and is recuperating following multiple bypass heart surgery.

Florida drops 3-day fishing license

SANFORD - Florida's threeday nonresident freshwater fishing license is no longer available. Instead, short-term anglers will have to purchase a seven-day license.

Susan Weaver, head of the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's Licensing and Permitting Section, said the $6.50, three-day license seemed like a good idea at first. However, she said the three-day license has been so popular with angers who formerly purchased the seven-day licenses for $16.50, it costs the state approximately $500,000 a year in license sales revenues.

LAKE BUENA VISTA - He's been one of the top players in the Seminole Athletic Conference the past two years, now he gets to see how he matches up against the best in the nation.

Winter Springs High School star Winston James will be on hand when the nation's top high school boys basketball players tip off one of the summer's most exciting tournaments as the 1999 Nike/AAU Super Showcase commences today (Saturday) at the fieldhouse at Disney's Wide World of Sports.

The 52-team national field includes several highly-touted prep seniors that are likely to earn scholarships to America's top college basketball programs and universities.

The Super Showcase begins with pool play at 10 a.m. and runs until midnight on Saturday. Pool play continues at 11 a.m. on Sunday and bracket play starts at 6:30 p.m. and runs until 11:30 p.m. Bracket play starts again at 10 a.m. on Monday with the semifinals scheduled for 8:30 p.m., while the championship is set for Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Since the 23rd Street YMCA in New York City claimed the first men's championship in 1897, AAU basketball has showcased some of the brightest stars in basketball, including current NBA players Anfernee "Penny" Hardaway of the Orlando Magic and Chris Webber of the Sacramento Kings.

The 6-foot-7 James will be a member of the Orlando Hawks and will have fellow Seminole County residents Brad Hoffar (6-foot-7 from Lake Howell High School) and Mike Mosler (6-foot-1 from Longwood).

The team is coached by Alvin Cowans and Mike Cuff and will play in Pool F. The team will play the St. Louis Eagles at 1 p.m. on Court 5 and Boston BABC at 7 p.m. on Court 4 today, then return on Sunday to play the Arizona Stars at 2 p.m. on Court 3.

Other Central Florida teams in the field include Team Florida, including Ryan Dickey from New Smyrna Beach and Nick Wallery from De-Land; Coast to Coast Basketball Club from Tamarac and Team Tigers from Orlando, made up mostly of players from Jones High School. Making up the field are:

Pool A _ Riverside Church (New York), All-Ohio Red (Reynoldsburg), Georgia Jazz (Roswell), and Championship Sports (West Chester, Pa.).

Pool B _ Bloomington Red (Indiana). Delaware Sharshooters (Milford), Team Tigers (Orlando), and G-Rebs (Gary, Indiana).

Pool C _ Houston Jaguars (Sugar Land, Tx.). New Jersey Celtics (Clark), Southern California All-Stars (Garden Grove), and Pepsi Challenge Please see Basketball, Page 2B out-of-state anglers would buy several three-day licenses during the year, and that would work out that way." said Weaver.

The state's new fiscal year began July 1, and the three-day licenses were discontinued effective that date.

The Florida Legislature will review all hunting and fishing license fees and exemptions for possible action next session. During the review, the legislature may consider a replacement for the three-day license at a price less damaging to state revenues.

The newly created Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission will also focus on saltwater fisheries matters, including the development of a marine fisheries management plan for the 1999-2000 fiscal year.

Issues under consideration for this plan include the aquaculture of snook, red drum, and spotted seatrout. They will also consider the management of spotted seatrout, white grunt, snook, king and Spanish mackerel.

The public is also invited to suggest other marine fisheries issues for FWC consideration during the current fiscal year.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

The unification of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission with the Marine Fisheries Commission into the newly created Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission will provide a more common focus in protecting the fish and wildlife of Florida.

FISHING FORECAST

Expect bass action to remain on the slow side. In order to escape the heat, bass will bury up in heavy vegetation or seek the sanctuary of deeper water. The best fishing will be early or late in the day.

Don't forget spots like the Wekiva, where the constant 72 degree water temperature keeps fish more active and cooperative during the hot summer months. Plastic worms and other slow moving lures will work best.

Sebastian Inlet has good catch-and-release snook action with fish to 20 pounds. Large live shrimp or finger mullet are the top baits. Also expect a few trout, redfish and tarpon to liven up the action.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that the seas have been calm, but that fishing has been spotty. The water is very

Ekana Special to the Herald

OVIEDO - Ekana Golf Course in Oviedo has been selected and has agreed to host on July 91th through July 23rd Hook A Kid On Golf, a national skills development golf program administered by the National Alliance for Youth Sports.

Hook A Kid On Golf is aimed at youngsters who normally would not have the opportunity to learn to play the sport of golf. The program is sponsored nationally by Taylor Made Golf.

We are excited about the opportunity to host this program." said Ms. Cara Geers, local Hook A Kid On Golf site coordinator. "Most youngsters have unlimited opportunities to play sports, such as baseball, basketball and football, but only a select few get the opportunity to learn about golf."

The first level of this program is a Tee Level Clinic, in which locally sponsored youngsters receive a free weeklong instruction clinic.

During the clinic, each youngster is encouraged to sign a Sports for Life "Be Tobacco Free" pledge card.

The youngsters will also receive and are to keep a starter set of Taylor Made Kids golf clubs, a golf shirt, golf balls and other supplies, such as a golf hat, an instructional video and a magazine all of which are provided by Taylor Made Golf.

To be eligible for participation, the youngsters must have never played golf, not own a set of golf clubs and be between the ages of 8 and 13.

These youngsters are able to participate through $100 sponsorships from area businesses and individuals. For their sponsorship fee, sponsors receive a Hook A Kid On Golf gift and an opportunity to participate with their sponsored youngster at an end-of-theweek golf outing.

Sports for Life is the first statewide, comprehensive program designed to influence youth ideas about smoking through their involvement in sports.

Sports for Life challenges youth attitudes about smoking by focusing on the dangerous, short-term effects of tobacco use on sports performance, rather than the long-term effects with which many youth are familiar.

The Zone and Lawmen won their respective divisions some weeks ago and secured their playoff spots, while A.D.L. is the National division runner up and will play the Lawmen in the first round.

The Zone won the National division and will host the American division runner up. That po-sition is still open. The Wolfpack will fight Zuma Beach for that spot this Monday at 7:30 p.m. The winner of this match up gets the honor of playing The Zone in the first round.

Zuma Beach put itself in a position to make the playoffs by ousting the Outcasts, 26-20, last Monday evening. The Outcasts are still winless and play the Lawmen on Monday.

The Zone got tuned up for the playoffs and finished the regular season with a 39-12 beating of A.D.L. The Zone is still unbeaten, and look to be the favorites to win it all again.

The Gamblers gave Nightmare a forfeit win but that was not enough to qualify them for post season play. That's too bad because they are one of the better teams in the league.

Did your Medicare HMO just move out of your neighborhood?

You might feel you can't rely much on Medicare HMOs anymore. But you can count on us. Humana is a long-time resident of the Orlando area. We've been in the health care business for over 10 years here in Orlando, with more than 23,000 Humana Gold Plus[®] members Actually, more of your neighbors have chosen Humana Gold Plus, our Medicare-approved HMO, over any other health care plan. They know that it provides more benefits than Medicare and most supplemental plans, as well as an extensive list of over 800 area doctors to choose from.

So if you're looking for a health plan that is committed to your community, call us. We'll answer your questions and discuss your options. We're here for you.

Seminole Community College conducts med school for youngsters

By Joe DeSantis Staff Writer

SANFORD - Remember "Doogie Howser," the television sitcom about the child prodigy who waltzes through college and medical school and becomes a doctor in his teen-age years?

He's got plenty of company these days in Seminole County.

A group of 18 kids, ranging from firstgraders to fifth-graders are getting two weeks of hands-on training that may well boost their own chances at a career in medicine.

Under a pilot program called Pre+Med, conducted by Seminole Community College, the med school hopefuls will spend two weeks studying the circulatory system, discovering the origins of disease, determining how food serves as fuel for the bodies, and the nature of cells and organs.

Instructor Leslie Daniels demonstrates to Minna Kim and Mallory Freeman how to properly apply and arm cast. The students are part of the Pre+Med program at Seminole Community College.

"It gives students the responsibility of working out problems, working out conflict and promotes camaraderie."

One of the activities the budding doctors will be involved in this week calls for the outline and painting of a skeleton. Later the kids will add organs, muscle and tissue until They'll be having fun, too.

"I was skeptical, but after just two days of the program, I'm convinced this is an excellent learning situation," said instructor Leslie Daniels. The veteran Seminole County science teacher, who usually plies her trade with seventhand eight-graders at South Seminole Middle School, is serving as an SCC adjunct instructor, and sort of the "Dean" of the unique summer camp approach.

"These kids are doing a great job, they're really motivated. Exposure to this type of information in this type of learning environment will certainly have them better prepared for science when they reach middle and high school."

The Pre+Med concept is relatively new. Launched in isolated parts of the country four years ago, it is the result of affiliation with the Discovery television channel and has a curriculum written for this age group by the Voyager Learning Center.

Daniels explained that the two weeks of activities are centered on the kids, placing them in both leadership and team player situations.

"Over the course of the two weeks everyone gets to conduct a session and direct teaching activities," she said.

Team leader Seth Kindell had to teach his fellow students the words to "The Skeleton Family" song.

they've built a model of the entire human body. "The parents are as captivated as the kids," Daniels said. "Mon.s and Dads are telling us their young doctors are really excited about the program."

The two-week Pre+Med camp runs $315. Daniels says many of the students and their parents found out about it by watching promotions and advertising on television's Discovery channel.

"They really want to be here as a result of good television programming," said the instructor.

Between now and "graduation" day on July 23, the students will participate in additional activities that include growing bacteria, setting broken bones (chicken bones that is) and other exercises designed to expand their knowledge base, peak their imagination, and spark a love of learning.

Parents will be invited to commencement activities when the aspiring doctors will take a modified Hippocratic oath, traditional for newly licensed physicians.

To demonstrate a segment on bones, B.G. Pathakrishnan used a beef bone as a model to construct a bone display.

Vanessa Eves, a volunteer with the Pre+Med program, helps helps Devin Martin pose with a painting of his skeleton.

Future pets of Seminole County

Looking for a pet? The Humane Society of Seminole County has several animals that would make great pets. All they need is a good home. To find out about these animals, contact the Humane Society at 323-8685. Pictured above is Fire Fly, a 1-5-year-old brown Tabby, domestic short-hair cat. Fire Fly is good with kids age 6 and up, and is an indoor only, litter-trained feline.

Kitty is a 2-year-old Cocker Spaniel. She is spayed and should be in a home with no other pets and adults or olde children.

Max is a 1-year-old Chow mix. He is house broken and is good with older children. Max is a sweet dog and needs a good home to love him and take care of him.

Skittles is a 4-month-old blue Tabby, domestic short-hair cal. She is shy but sweet and needs lots of affection and time. Skittles is house-broken and would be good in a one-cat home.

Looking for a great CD rate? Look no further just come by any AmSouth branch and get a 20-Month CD for 5.30% APY. But hurry this offer won't last long. So get to your nearest AmSouth branch ASAP FYI, we think you'll find the trip rewarding

Wedding

Lt. and Mrs. Michael David Hartson

Military ceremony unites Laurie Blair, Lt. Michael Hartson

COLORADO SPRINGS. COL Mary Laurel "Laurie" Blair of Sanford, Fla., and Lt. Michael David Hartson of Longwood, Fla., were united in holy matrimony June 4, inthe United States Air Force. Academy Chapel at Colorado Springs

The bride is the daughter of Mary and Barry Hilliman and the maternal granddaughter of Doris and Carl Dietrich, all of Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Nancy and Dr. David Hartson of Longwood, and Linda and Roger Marshall of Tulsa.

friend of the bride; and Sar ibeth Marshall, Tulsa, Oklaand Heather Bright, Largo, Fla., sisters of the bridegroom. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendants.

Flower girl was Alexa Pulido, sister of the bride from Oviedo, Fla. Train bearers were Whitney Bevis and Megan Bevis, constits of the bride from Oviedo. They wore sterveless. Emptre-styled, long white gowns with white satin roses defining the fitted waistlines. Each wore a halo of mixed flowers in her hair. Lt. Christopher G. Batter ton and Jonathan L. Hartson, brother of the bridegroom from Tulsa, were the best men. Groomsmen were Lt. Joshua E. Danforth and Lt John A. Cancellara, Ushers were Doug Hartson, uncieof the bridegroom, Tulsa; Bradley Hilliman, brother of the bride, Houston, Texas; and Brian Moye, Deltona. . The ring bearer was Austin-Pulido, brother of the bride, Ovicdo. The USAF officers in the wedding wore mess dress uniforms. Other male wedding participants, including all family members, wore formal day wear: cutaway coats, grey vests and greystriped pants.

Family and friends from central Florida, Naples and south Georgia gathered at the Sanford home of Sue and Terry Christensen (Vida's daughter and son-in-law) for a birthday party. Assorted dishes. provided by the women, were served as well as a homemade cake and ice cream in the true style of the Old South.

Among those attending were her son, the Rev. Freddle Smith, his wife Vera, six of her seven grandchildren and their spouses and nine of her 11 great grandchildren. The great grandchildren assisted with the gift opening.

The next day, a ladies lunchcon was held at the Deltona Inn with family and friends. Daughter Sue said, "This was a delightful time of conversation and reminiscing while feasting on Mandarin chicken and rice and steamed vegetables topped with sherbet." And there were more gifts to be opened.

Vida and her family traveled to the inn in a white limo, a total surprise to the honorer. Sue said the limo driver told her he would be back in five years to give her a complimentary ride at which time her husband, Milton, can ride also. Originally from south Georgia, Vida and Milton trans-

Milton assists with public relations and Vida provides that positive support. The Smiths travel to South Florida frequently to visit their son. Freddie who pastors a church at Waycross, his wife, Vera, various brothers' families and other relatives.

Many more happy returns to Vida.

KIWANIANS CONVENE IN COLORADO

Four members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club attended the 84th Kiwanis International Convention at the Colorado Convention Center in Denver, Col. in June. Kiwanians attending were Steve Hartsock with his wife, Lort; Don Stanford, incoming president, with his wife, Marlene; David Ltddell, pastor of Grace United Methodist Church, with his wife, Nancy; and Walt Smith, past lieutenant governor.

In addition to Kiwanis business at the convention, the Hartsocks enjoyed spending five days in the beautiful surroundings of Denver. Lori was thrilled at seeing movie star Roger Moore (007) who is a spokesman for a Kiwanis project. "We had a wonderful time," she said. She admitted she enjoyed the snow at Pike's Peak which she saw for the first time.

Chaplain Maj. Steve Mernll, USAF, performed the traditional formal military and double ring ceremony. beginning with the mothers. Mary Hilliman and Linda Marshall, lighting a unity candle. The altar area featured two huge hand-painted. Grectan urns arranged with a melange of mixed flowers and wall and standing candelabra.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Barry Hilliman, who gave her in marriage. The radiant bride chose for her vows a designergown created for her by Eveof Milady. Fashioned along the bouffant silhouette, the regal gown of white silk organza was designed with a basque waistline and sweetheart neckline that dipped to a V in the back which was fastened with organzacovered buttons. Appliques of Ventce lace enhanced with tridescents lavishly embellished the bodice and long sleeves that terminated in calla points at her wrists. The same appliques were repeated on the full skirt and detachable train that gently cascaded into a full cathedral sweep. Her tiered veil of imported illusion was secured. to a Ventce lace headptece. and extended into a full cathedral, lace-trimined train that overlaid the gown train. She wore a tiny pearl necklace and matching earrings. a gift from her parents, and carried a round bouquet of her favorite flowers.

Shart Moye, a longtime friend of the bride from Deltona, attended her as matronof honor. She wore a sleeveless blush pink silk organzagown fashioned with a slim skirt and scooped neckline. designed by Alyce. Swirls of soutache braid designs adorned the fitted empire bodice. She wore a pearl choker, a gift from the bride, long blush pink gloves and matching pink slippers. Her bouquet was a delicate handtied French nosegay of mixed flowers.

Bridesmaids were: Meda Williams of Sanford, longtime

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Dr. Burt Perinchief of Lake Mary, Fla., sang "The Lord's Prayer," followed by Lt. and Mrs. Hartson walking under the traditional arch of sabers when she was officially initiated into the Air Force

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the Aspen Leaf Room of the Marriott Hotel in Colorado Springs, Upon arrival guests were served an assortment of hors docuvres, a chocolatecovered strawberry tree and assorted beverages.

After the wedding party arrived, all guests retreated to the adjoining patto area near the gazebo where each was presented a tiny white box tied with a gold band. The boxes contained butterflies which were released to the wild blue yonder.

The sunken reception area was lavishly decorated in gold and white with swags of white netting intertwined with twinkling lights to reflect a fairyland setting. Each large round table was centered with a topiary arrangement of brightlycolored mixed flowers. A small arrangement formed the base on the table while a larger bouquet extended into the air. 'Little Shop of Horrors' was a 'rare treat' at Lake Mary High

It started out as a "B" movie. In the late 1950s with Jack Nicholson as its star, long before the term star was ever attached to Nicholson. Sometimes, creative people see a chance to create a musical in the unlikeliest of places. "Little Shop of Horrors," the bad "B" movie, became "Little Shop of Horrors," an off-

Broadway musical. The Lake Mary High School Players of the Arts chose the musical "Little Shop of Horrors" for their summer play. It is not exactly your typical story. Boy meets girl, boy falls in love, boy meets plant from another planet.

The play takes place in a failing flower shop on Skid Row. Seymour Krelborn is the nerdy flower shop assistant who is in love with Audrey. Seymour is too shy to approach Audrey until he is successful. He finds an unusual alten plant he names Audrey II. At first, Seymour is unaware of the plants alien orgin. The plant brings success to the flower shop, but with a price. Audrey II likes people for food.

One of the keys to the play is a good Audrey II. It has to grow, so there were five Audrey Il's made. The plants were of ever increasing size, the largest being 6 foot by 4 foot. Audrey II was operated by Niko Nickolaou. The voice of Audrey 11 was provided by Derik Bolk.

There were two directors for the "Little Shop of Horrors": Drama teacher Bill Eissele and student director Mike Littig. The musical director was Susan Eissele. The technical directors were Andrew Dalgle and Shane Mooney.

For the main characters, there were two casts for the play. Cast A performed Thursday and Saturday night. Cast B performed Friday night. Scymour Krelborn was played by Ben Mosster all three nights. Cast A was Danielle Bates as Audrey, Adam Wil-liams as Orin the Dentist and Ben Mayer was Mr. Mushnik, the owner of the flower shop. Cast B was Ashley Brewer as Audrey, Gregg Lannon as Orin and Rey Monteloyola as Mushnik.

and white china, crystal goblets, gold flatware and individual place cards. The chairs were covered in white accented with large gold bows in the back. Guests were served a formal dinner featuring a combination of Madeira-sauced tenderloin of beef and champagne-glazed breast of chicken as the entree.

Table favors Included miniature bottles of bubbles and a cedar seed in a white cup decorated in pink and gold. Each table also contained a disposable camera for the guests to record the happenings at their tables. Before the wedding, the bride and groom greeted each wedding guest in the hotel with a box of imported miniature hand-decorated petit choco-late squares and a note.

The cake table featured the groom's cake, decorated with an Air Force Thunderbird, and a gold and white tiered wedding cake as well as photographs and other memorabilla from the bride's and groom's lives.

Traditional toasts were given followed by the garter toss and bouquet toss. The bride and groom led the guests to the dance floor after they danced to their favorite tune. "The Power of Love," with Celine Dion.

Following a 2-week wedding trip to Hawaii, the newlyweds are making their home in Oklahoma City where Lt. Hartson is temporarily stationed at Tinker Air Force Base before entering USAF pilot training at Vance AFB, Enid. He graduated as a second lieutenant from the Air Force Academy on June 2. His degree there was conferred by President Bill Clinton who shook his hand and gave him his first salute. The bride, a 1999 graduate of the University of Central Florida and assistant producer at NBC Channel 2 Television, Orlando, is continuing her career in television.

When the newlyweds returned from their wedding trip, they were surprised with a congratulatory card from President Bill Clinton and Hillary Rodham Clinton.

Guests attended the wedding from several Florida citics, Oklahoma, Texas, California, Nevada, New York, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Arizona.

Churchgoers in casual attire get readers' dressing-down

DEAR ABBY: Periodically you invite your readers to "dump on Abby." My beef might seem trivial t many, and if that's the case, "Sorry about that!" but I am tired of seeing tourists in my hometown church dressed in sweatshirts, blue jeans, even shorts! Some might praise the fact that these ill-dressed folk bother attending church while they're on vacation, but why do they slight we year-round residents with their ultra-casual mode of dress?

I recall church at East Coast resort areas when some visitors, the famous among them, dressed casu-ally -- but where most of the congregation were respectfully attired. The issue has reached the point where I, in nifty outfits, feel almost embarrassed for myself. Heaven forbid I should abandon my finery to blend in with the tourists!

At one packed August service last year, a woman with a head of cascading hair wore a halter top, giving the impression to those in pews in back of her that she was topless! Male, female, huge legs, shapely legs, hairy legs - shorts are the "norm." Lack of consideration for year-round parishioners in resort communities is a sin. Please, dear visiting worshippers - God loves you all, but give the locals a break Dress with respect. AMEN! AIN'T NO SAINT IN OREGON

DEAR AIN'T NO SAINT: I. too, come from a generation where we were taught to dress up when visiting a house of God. However, in the last few decades, the old "rules" have relaxed considerably. People come to church to heal their souls and gain inspiration for living, and if you are focusing on what you and the other worshippers are wearing, I respectfully suggest that you are focusing on the wrong thing. REPENT

DEAR ABBY: My 50th wedding anniversary is coming up in August and my children want to give us a grand party, but there is a problem: After 50 years of verbal, physical and mental abuse from my husband, I refuse to be a party to this hypocrisy. My husband, who is a retired professional man, is highly respected. However, we have not lived as man and wife for many years. He is an alcoholic, an adulterer, a wife-beater and a churchgoing hypocrite. He has ruined my life, and as a result, I have no use for him. I stayed with him over the years for the sake of the children when they were young, my religion (Catholic), and because of his threats.

We are both in our 70s now and we just tolerate each other. Never once has he shown any regret for his treatment of me and the children, who love us both but have no respect for their father. My children are not aware, as far as I know, of his adulterous womanizing over the years. Celebrating a life of hell is just more than I can take. What now?

NO NAME, NO CITY

DEAR NO NAME: If your children are not aware of your husband's adulterous behavior, I see no reason to bring it up now. However, it would be impossible for them to have been unaware of the physical, verbal and emotional abuse you have suffered. Just tell them that under the circumstances, 50 years of the kind of marriage you have endured is nothing to celebrate, and ask them to please abide by your wishes.

DEAR ABBY: I am an airline* employee and have the privilege of giving my children (over age 25) discount airline passes. I am divorced, and their dad lives in Oregon. He is very wealthy.

My children have asked for passes to visit him this summer. Abby, the cost will come out of my paycheck, amounting to $300. Also, these passes are standby, which means they may or may not get on the airplane. It seems to me that if he wants to see his children and grandchildren, he should pay for the airline tickets so that they will have assured seats on whatever flight they take.

How can I communicate this to my children without any hurt feelings or animosities? I have a good relationship with them, and I'd like to keep it that way.

IN A BIND IN TEXAS DEAR IN A BIND: Explain

your position to your children as you explained it to me. Tell them of the very real possibility that some of their party will be "bumped" if they try to fly using your passes, and that the cost of them will put you in a financial bind. Therefore, their father should be a good grandpa and spring for the tickets, since he can well afford to.

DEAR ABBY: I recently read in your column about children running wild in a restaurant. This situation is familiar to me because I am a server at a five-star resort.

Abby, I'm not against children -I have two of my own - but I strongly object to children running freely in a busy establishment.

Children are in real danger when they run loose in a restaurant. The trays we carry can weigh upward of 20 pounds when loaded with hot entrees, and the coffee in the pots would most definitely scald a child. Also, a server could be seriously injured were he or she to stumble over a child.

Of course, the parents would never admit the child caused the accident; servers are always made out to be the bad guys. I blame the parents for not protecting their children by insisting they sit at the table out of harm's way

In the interest of child safety (and server safety), please print my letter

MIKE ALLEN, ALDERSON, W.VA.

DEAR MIKE: I'm pleased to print your letter. In the interest of everyone's safety - including the establishment's - I'm surprised more of them don't post a disclaimer that the restaurant refuses to accept responsibility for injuries to unaccompanied children. It might serve as a reminder to parents who bring small children and then become so engrossed in conversation that they tune their little ones out

Wise parents make sure they are prepared in advance when taking their child to an "adult" environment. They bring along children's books, paper and crayons to keep the little ones amused, because children have short attention spans and it's unfair to expect them to sit in silence through a long meal.

Parenthood is hard work. It takes patience, diligence and sacrifice to do the job properly.

When was the last time someone tacked a television ad to their refrigerator?

Words on paper. They will always be the most powerful tools human beings use to communicate. They place no limits on how much we can say, and the furthest reaches of the imagination are the only limits on what we can show. They have the power to make complex ideas simple, and simple ideas powerful. We do more than read them, we hold them. And, from the advertising we see in publications to the letters we receive in the mail, the things we hold in our hands have the quickest routes to our hearts.

The infusion of several new people into your social sphere could have a positive influence in furthering your personal ambitions in the year shead. Welcome all candidates

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Because you might be equally intuitive as you are logical today, this combination could apell gain of some kind, even when you don't go looking for it. Cancer, treat yourself to a birthday gift. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Although you're not likely to do anything out of the ordinary loday, you'll not go unnoticed even when in a large crowd or a strange group. Your natural charisms will get you far.

for last

For my final example of maintaining trump control, here is a very difficult deal. If you see the right play, you deserve a loud round of applause. You reach seven spades. West leads the club ace. You ruff and cash the spade ace, preparing to claim until East discards a club. After groaning about your bad luck, how would you continue?

As this is so tough, here's a hint: How would your line of play be different if the dummy had four diamonds and five clubs?

If I were sitting South, I would be nervous that partner would drop me in a forcing bid. North jumped to four spades because he had already shown pitiful weakness by making two negative replies. As he had three trumps and a singleton, his hand was far from uscless.

Then play the hearts. Eventually, After finding out that West has all "West will concede.

speak today, people will sit up and listen. Because of the respectfulness you show others, they'll trust your input and want to hear what you have to say.

SCOAPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be most creative today in ways to further your ambritons or add to your resources. This may influence you to aim for several different, yet related targets.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Not because of heroic deeds or revolutionary thoughts, but because of the acts of lundness and charity you display is why you'll make an indelible impression on others loday

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't hesitate today to attempt to copy a sucrull, draw trumps, and claim.

With this layout, though, when you switch to diamonds, West will ruff: one down. As you can discard only four of cessful venture of another. You have the talent and ability to figure out on your own how to accomplish the feat.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) What you do in concert with others today could turn out to be quite fun for you and all concerned, so it behooves you not to spend your time on solo activities

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something of beauly that could have permanent value may be your pet project today. Your artistic and creative juices are running strong and vying for ways to express themselves.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The need for exercise is prevalent in you today, but your best selection of activities are those that require both mental and physical agility. An element of competition would also be good.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Owing to the good auspices of others, your possibility for some kind of material gain looks good. Those with whom you'll be involved today are persons with generous natures.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Paint pictures with your words today if there is something important you're trying to promote. Others can more readily visualize what you say through colorful scenes. O 1988 by NEA, Inc.
