Plan For Drainage Of County Ditches Given By Mathieux

A plan has been suggested by Mr. R. Mathieux, county agent, for the proper drainage of ditched farming areas...

By a letter to The Herald, Mr. Mathieux wrote: "Recent printed articles have been appearing in your paper...

"I think for the benefit of both sides and the public at large, there should be some determination as to the responsibility of the County Commissioners...

"To some parts of the county the farmers consider it their responsibility to clean and maintain all drainage and ditched areas...

"Now let's have some legal interpretation as to whether the County Commissioners should maintain any or certain specific canals and ditches in the county...

"Personally I think a satisfactory solution to the problem can be reached with little friction. I think a drainage should be done in connection with the drainage affecting farms...

"The above is my personal thought from what I have seen and heard."

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

EVEN THE LOWLY ARE HIS CHILDREN: Though the Lord be high, yet hath he respect unto the lowly; but the Lord he knoweth afar off.—Psalm 138:6.

Sonnet 63

The shadow on the road kept pace with me, Or fell behind, or strode ahead, I could not say, as to my dog, "Go home!" It stood when I stood, stretched, or leaned obediently, But would not leave though I spoke threateningly, And shook my fist at it, the poor dumb shade. It shrank away from me as though afraid, Then followed after me, dejectedly.

Have courage, Shadow, the day will come when I will take a long rest in a narrow bed, And you, so faithful, will be resting, too; For there will be no light of lamp or sky, No movement of my finger, turn of head, Whereby you get your cue for all you do.

RAELENE NEWELL WHITE.

The world was supposed to have come to an end last Friday. But apparently it was just a lot of newspaper talk.

Remember "The Great Waltz," the finest picture you ever saw? Well, Phil Barney reports that the picture will be shown in Jacksonville on Feb. 21. She's worth walking to Jacksonville to hear.

A friend of ours warns that with all the public improvements now being proposed Sanford seems to be getting ready to do just what it did before and wind up with a lot of debts on its hands. We sincerely hope not. It is not our idea that Sanford should go into the borrowing business again even if it were able to do so. Whatever public improvements are made here, and many are needed, should be on a "pay as you go" basis. We believe that is the opinion of most of the now investigating improvements.

CIO workers eagerly bent upon obtaining the more abundant life, have confronted the country with the possible resumption of gasoline rationing, since you can't have gasoline if crude oil isn't refined, and you can't refine crude oil if the men who do it are on strike. What is said here with regard to oil is equally true of automobiles, radios, building materials and all the other things which the public wants. No matter how much money the people have, they face a lower standard of living unless full production is resumed.

Taxpayers should be interested in the report from Tallahassee that over $170,000 in benefits have been paid to some 12,000 claimants in the past seven weeks. Just how long Florida's widely publicized reserve fund will last at this rate remains to be seen. It is unfortunate though that so much of it has to be spent at a time when practically every business in the state is seeking additional help. The time may come when unemployment relief may be justified. It would be tough, then, if the cupboard were bare.

We don't know, but we would think that General MacArthur would have rather a good laugh on someone. Ever since VJ day, the "brass hats" have been roundly criticized for trying to delay GI discharges. Just so the general would have an army to command and have been severely fayed for transferring soldiers to Pacific bases for their own convenience. Then, suddenly MacArthur comes out with a statement that he doesn't need more men, that 200,000 will be quite enough to handle a job that a host of troops that came from those who fear a "soft peace" for Japan. The public should make up its mind and say if it will allow the brass hats to keep the boys in the Army, repudiate a peace time draft and still give the boys a tough peace. The brass hats are in a bind when they can't discharge everyone from the Army, repudiate a peace time draft and still give the boys a tough peace. The brass hats are in a bind when they can't discharge everyone from the Army, repudiate a peace time draft and still give the boys a tough peace.

Elliott's story was obtained by officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau. It was read behind closed doors by the Ways and Means Committee.

Committeemen would not discuss it for publication. But today, from many sources, young Roosevelt's own account was pieced together for the first time, as follows:

In 1938, then 28 years old, Elliott was president of Hearst Radio, which owned stations in Texas. This organization desired to dispose of certain of its stations. Elliott and two other men formed a corporation known as Texas State Network. Elliott was to purchase 55 per cent of the stock and the other two men to take the remainder.

Young Roosevelt asked his late uncle to help him raise money. If Hall Roosevelt sought the assistance of former Representative Sirovich (D. N.Y.), Elliott did not know about it.

Hall Roosevelt told Elliott that Hartford, head of the grocery store chain, often made loans to young men starting out in business and sent Elliott to see Hartford in New York.

Hartford asked Elliott whether it would be embarrassing for President Roosevelt if he made the loan. Elliott suggested that Hartford telephone his father, then at Warm Springs.

A telephone call was made and Elliott explained that he wished to borrow money from Hartford but that Hartford wished to make sure that the President would not be embarrassed.

Elliott did not hear what his father said to Hartford, but the President later told Elliott, according to the story, that he told Hartford if he wished to loan money to Elliott he must do it on the basis of Elliott's proposal, that his children were independent and should take care of their own money.

The President, Elliott's account continues, did not say that he approved the loan or urge in any way that he must. As to this, Elliott called any suggestion made to Hartford that he or his company would receive any special consideration from Government officials as a result of the loan.

Hartford loaned $200,000 to Elliott, taking stock in the Texas State Network as security.

Then, a few weeks following David Baird, a New York insurance broker, loaned Elliott $50,000, taking stock as collateral. Baird stipulated that the network take a $100,000 life insurance policy upon Elliott, which was done.

Elliott executed promissory notes both to Hartford and Baird, with his wife, Ruth Goggins Roosevelt, a co-maker on the Hartford notes.

Texas State Network was losing money in 1938 and 1939. Elliott, with the owners of several radio stations over the country, decided to start a larger network.

Baird loaned Elliott another $70,000 for his venture, taking stock as security. In 1939, Elliott repaid Baird $10,000 on the Texas loan. At the end of 1939 Elliott owed Baird $110,000.

The largest network failed and was put into receivership. Baird ultimately received about $30,000 upon the liquidation reducing Elliott's debt to him to approximately $80,000.

Texas State Network continued to lose money and borrowed money from Texas banks, running up to $283,000. The notes were guaranteed personally by Elliott.

Elliott entered the Army late in 1940. In 1941, while making hazardous trips by air, he told his father he was worried about leaving large debts for his wife and children.

The President advised Elliott to discuss his affairs with Jesse Jones, saying that in view of Jones' familiarity with the radio business and knowledge of Texas he might be able to suggest a course of action. Elliott saw Jones who said he would see what could be done.

Jones presented a statement of Elliott's financial condition to Hartford and Baird. Hartford settled for $4,000 and Baird for $500.

Jones never told Elliott that he paid to Hartford and Baird, young Roosevelt's story said, although Elliott's lawyer attempted to get the information. Elliott was out of the country on military duty from about the time of the settlement to April, 1945.

Neither Elliott nor his lawyer ever knew the amount Jones paid Hartford and Baird until the information was published.

Jones received the pledged stock from Hartford and Baird and turned it over to the President's secretary, Miss Grace Tully, for safe-keeping.

Early in 1944 Luth Goggins Roosevelt and Elliott were divorced. In the property settlement one-half of the pledged stock went to the wife. The other half was placed in trust for the children. Elliott said he has no interest in the stock and has never received any benefit from it.

The business of the Texas chain reported to have improved materially and the stock increased in value in more recent years. Elliott now is the husband of Faye Emerson, movie actress. The committee some weeks ago heard depositions by Hartford and Jones. The inquiry was ordered when reports were published that Hartford listed the $100,000 he lost in the Roosevelt loan as a bad debt deduction on his 1942 income tax return. Chairman Doughton (D. N.C.) said the only interest of the committee is to see that the Federal revenues were protected.

Back To Farming

It is betraying no business confidence, or starting any real estate boom with malice or profit aforethought, to report that rural real estate is active again. A neighboring newspaper reports "a definite trend toward the purchase of small farms by persons of modest financial circumstances."

This is a rather familiar after-war phenomenon, but the present back-to-the-land movement seems likely to develop unusual strength. It isn't mere war-weariness. In one large mid-western area the war veterans are reported as less than one-tenth of the total movement. It seems to be mostly a feeling of being tired of city life, especially in the large and medium cities.

One odd feature of the situation is that a lot of the back-to-the-farm enthusiasts don't seem ever to have had any agricultural experience. They are just hankering to farm, and they want to start right away. From which fact it is easy to forecast that many of the enthusiasts are going to get into trouble. For farming of any kind is nothing to learn overnight. Success on a farm usually requires more knowledge, skill and persistence than city jobs.

German Routine

Re-education of even anti-Germans is not going to be simple. That is evident in a recent experience of the Military Government in Berlin.

According to a New York Times dispatch, the authorities had carried over the principle of the old block-leader system in order to re-establish some vestige of order. Under it, block and house leaders appointed by borough mayors served, without salary, in finding living quarters for the people, distributing ration cards and reporting Nazis. All of those appointed were anti-Nazis.

What happened was revealing. Many of the leaders promptly took to themselves, in the name of democracy, the prerogatives of their Nazi predecessors. They found quarters for themselves, played favorites in assigning jobs and handling out ration classifications, and enforced attendance at their own political meetings. So used were the Germans to petty intimidation that it was some time before these activities were reported to headquarters.

The system was abolished immediately. But, the dispatch continues, "The appalling fact was that the investigation showed none of the leaders to be Nazis or types otherwise considered unsatisfactory." They were just so used to that way of getting things done that it never occurred to them that it was unjust.

Apparently it was only the Nazis, but all Germans, need re-education.

Lethal Gadgets

Gallup polls, like other tests of public opinion, are interesting but not infallible. A current poll is said to indicate that the American people, on the whole, think the development of the atomic bomb was a good thing. Many of us are not so sure, and many see a serious peril in the mere fact that such tremendous weapons can be made and used.

This is a problem worthy of thorough discussion. Never before in all human history have men possessed such weapons. Like so many of the other works of man, they can be used for either good or evil. Used on a big scale for an evil purpose, they might destroy our present civilization, setting the world back a thousand years or more. Their mere existence is a challenge to the conscience of the world. It can hardly be said that mankind in general is more securely since such lethal engines were produced. Now that we have them, a great many of us would feel safer if it were possible to get rid of them and forget about them.

What the world needs most is not more powerful means of destruction, but more friendliness, faith, love and cooperation of human beings. The development of character must keep pace with scientific progress.

How Elliott Runs His Business

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt's own story of the financial details that brought him and some of his backers under Congressional scrutiny was pieced together tonight for the first time.

The account related that the late President's second son: 1. Borrowed more than $600,000 to finance a Texas radio network.

2. Was referred by his late uncle, Hall Roosevelt, to John Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, from whom he borrowed $300,000.

3. Never got any help from his father in arranging the loans beyond assurance to a lender that Elliott was independent in business and a loan would not embarrass the President.

4. Got from the elder Roosevelt a suggestion that he seek settlement advice from Jesse Jones, then Secretary of Commerce.

5. Didn't know until he read it in the newspapers that Jones had settled the Hartford loan for $4,000 though Elliott's attorney tried to find out what Jones had done.

6. Left members of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is making the inquiry, with the impression that he is now "broke."

The committee completed reading the 200-page statement today. It expects to reach some conclusions next week. The inquiry was undertaken in connection with a $190,000 bad debt income tax deduction claimed by Hartford in his 1942 return. There are indications the whole thing will be put up to the Court of Tax Appeals.

Elliott, now 35 and by his account to the committee no longer a stockholder in the radio chain about which the affair centered, is leaving the Army with his future employment unannounced. Throughout the account of his business life, young Roosevelt hammered by one point—that his father, the President, never was used to promote his financial affairs. He gave in detail his own account of how his father was contacted by telephone by Hartford before Hartford loaned Elliott $300,000.

Elliott's story was obtained by officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau. It was read behind closed doors by the Ways and Means Committee.

Committeemen would not discuss it for publication. But today, from many sources, young Roosevelt's own account was pieced together for the first time, as follows:

975 New York Buildings Hit By Big Strike

CIO met throughout Detroit today and tomorrow voting on whether to seek a Federal strike vote. Early returns showed one local unanimously for the strike ballot, a second almost so, said Joe Rubin, CIO spokesman. Similar meetings are being held nationally among Chrysler's approximately 120,000 employees.

3—Local 900 of the UAW-CIO, covering 75,000 Ford workers in the Detroit area, met yesterday with 2,000 attending and voted unanimously to petition a strike vote. Ford has about 150,000 employees over the United States.

4—The National Labor Relations Board began preparations to poll 325,000 General Motors workers throughout the Nation on October 24 as a result of the petition filed yesterday by the union under the War Labor Disputes Act. If the NLRB vote shows a majority in favor of a strike, the union can then do so legally.

5—The strike of International Oil Workers (CIO) slowed down the sprawling city's hard beset transportation system but Fred Fell, business agent for Local 253, declared "there is enough gasoline here for essential use as long as the strike lasts."

Already idle in Detroit are 90,000, about half of whom are Ford workers sent home 10 days ago when the company said it could not go on producing because of suppliers' strikes, chief of which was that of Kelsey-Hayes which makes brakes and other car parts.

Little Damage Done To Markets By Tropic Storm

Apparently passing over that area The Florida City Markets' damage has been estimated at not more than $500.

"The fact that the storm covered an area where the State has a number of important markets, and that the damage to buildings was so relatively light, appears to me to demonstrate conclusively the substantial character of the construction of these properties," Commissioner of Agriculture, Nathan Mayo, has taken an active personal interest in the development of the Florida State Farmers Market system and has insisted throughout upon good sound construction designed to serve the long-time needs of the areas adjacent to these properties.

"John C. McEwen has reported from Fort Myers that there was no damage to the market building there. R.L. Fisher's report from Wauchula is to the same effect. Taylor, manager of the Palmetto Market has informed us that normal growth of plants in the fields and seed beds was affected by light winds and rain during the storm period, though the hurricane did not strike Manatee County.

"Some slight damage to the roof of the market at Pompano was reported by J.L. Warren. The Fort Pierce Market's buildings were undamaged, according to Larry Hamilton, market manager. H.J. Lehman, manager at Sanford, has stated there was practically no damage to the market property there. Dale City suffered no storm damage, a report from L.M. White states. R.E.

Johnson, market manager at Plant City reported that no storm damage was experienced, but rains are delaying preparation for strawberry planting, and other fall crops.

"Damage to vegetable crops in the fields and to plant beds has been substantial according to reports from several of our State Farmers Markets managers and information from other sources. Apparently Pahokee, Lake Belle, Pompano and Sanford were among the market points suffering most, so far as crops are concerned. Naturally similar conditions as to crop damage may be assumed as having been suffered through the territory swept by the full force of the hurricane.

"The fact that a good percentage of seed bags apparently came through in reasonably good condition should prevent any great delay in setting of plants in the fields. Growers whose crops were destroyed by high water may be expected to push replanting as rapidly as practicable. Fort Myers, Wauchula and some other market points have reported little or no damage to crops or plant beds.

Of the 49 names listed on the squad, 38 are Florida men with Paterson, N. J., Buffalo, N. Y., and Minneapolis, Minn. accounting for the majority of out of state players.

More than 50,000,000 pairs, or about one of every five pairs of non-rubber boots, shoes and slippers made in the United States in the first half of 1945 were made in New York state.

More than 32,000,000 pounds of ammonium chloride, used chiefly in tanner's bate, flour aging and soldering and galvanizing fluxes, were produced in the United States during the first half of 1945.

State Officials To Seek Prices On Military Camps

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 24. (AP)—State officials, getting down to cases on means of relieving overcrowded institutions, are negotiating with federal agencies for low price purchase of some of the multi-million dollar military installations were brought to Florida.

Gov. Caldwell told the cabinet yesterday the new improvement commission is dickering for acquisition of Hendricks and Orr fields at Arcadia and a hotel and barracks which housed the Ludwick air school at Avon Park.

Meanwhile, the cabinet approved expenditure of $385,000 for a new four-story women's dormitory and $30,000 for additional bathroom facilities at the Florida state hospital in Chattahoochee.

Temporary Branch
Supt. J.H. Therrell of the state hospital told the cabinet he could use the Ludwick air school buildings at Avon Park for a temporary branch of his institution if surgical and diagnostic facilities were available in an Avon Park hospital.

He said though, that either Hendricks or Orr fields would be "ideal" for a South Florida hospital branch and that he could convert the Hendricks field buildings into a hospital "in ten days."

The 1945 legislature appropriated $500,000 for construction of a state hospital branch at Avon Park, but the act fixes the exact location on property donated by the city. The Ludwick school buildings are about two miles away and cabinet members expressed doubt that any of the appropriation could be spent to acquire them.

Therrell said he felt the buildings, owned by the Defense Plant Corporation of which he is director, could be bought for "what it cost to put the ground in condition" for erection of a new building at the undeveloped site.

He recalled that the hospital branch construction appropriation carries no funds for operation of the institution after it is built, and that full use probably could not be able of the new hospital until 1947 legislature meets.

To Visit Camps
Therrell was asked by the cabinet to visit Avon Park and Arcadia to study exactly what use could be made of the buildings.

Charles H. Overman, director of the improvement commission, said he hoped to get Carlstrom field to help take care of the shortage of space at the Chattahoochee institution, but there was no plan to have it replace the projected Avon Park hospital. Orr field would be used as the nucleus for one of the new tubercculosis sanatoria authorized by the 1944 legislature, he said. Both fields have barracks, dining halls, kitchens, infirmaries and other buildings constructed of fire-proof concrete block. Each has a swimming pool, athletic fields and recreation halls.

Overman estimated they cost more than $1,500,000 together, and said he hoped they could be obtained at a fraction of that amount. They are several miles apart.

Overman estimated the Ludwick air school buildings, front on a lake near Avon Park, are worth $400,000.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Our town has heroes, too

Over at Thistle Ridge they're always boasting about their local heroes—ancestors in the Revolutionary War, congressmen, and an artist with pictures in the Metropolitan Museum.

Well, we've got our local heroes, too...

There was old Doc Turner, who fought for years against the intolerance and bigotry that kept children from being vaccinated in our county.

And Deacon Follenby, who fought for free news in his churches; Jess Hackney, who campaigns for teaching honest history in schools; Wedd Towers, who fought the encroachment of Prohibition in our county and persuaded folks they wanted tolerance and moderation in place of a return to lawlessness.

You won't find monuments to these folks. But from where I sit, I hope in a country that's really sacred is our town the cause of freedom, tolerance and human dignity.

WYSE FEATURES CONTROL AND TEASING PITCH

By JERRY LISKA (AP) Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Pitcher Henry Wainwright Wyse of the Chicago Cubs is too much a "Wyse" guy to suit National League batters. And it's because Hank is mounded clever far beyond his 27 years that he may bag his first 20-game season in four years with the Cubs and strong-arm the 'Braves to their first pennant since 1918.

The king-pin of Charley Grimm's losing brigade doesn't have a blinding speed; he doesn't have a "Sunday pitch"; and he seldom tries for strikeouts.

Yet he passed the season's half-way mark with a 13-5 record and seven straight victories. Of his first 21 games, 15 were wins.

The reason is evident to anyone who has watched the effortless Wyse do his chores. His control is perfect and his "stuff" is constantly teasing.

"I think Hank's success lies mainly in his ability to pace himself down to the last batter," ventures Manager Grimm. "Most pitchers become just throwers late in the game, just because they beat down too hard at the start. Wyse is strong, but he always conserves himself for the tough spots."

Wyse is content, observes Coach Red Smith, boss of the Cub bullpen, with simply putting a reverse spin in the batting formula of "hitting 'em where they ain't."

"Wyse may not have any dippy, doodie-pitch like Dizzy Dean, but when his screw-ball is working, it's a corker."

When it comes to crowding the mound, Hank has the touch of Wyse, Boston's Tommy Holmes can take front and center. It was Hank who snapped Holmes' consecutive game hitting streak at 37 on July 12. Tommy got one ball out of the infield in four trips in that game as Wyse pitched a brilliant three-hitter.

Wyse came to the Cubs in 1912 from Tulsa of the Texas League after he had completed his second straight 20 game year. He appeared for the Cubs in four games in 1912 and finished with a 2-1 record.

Wyse, whose ancestry is a blend of Cuban and Irish, didn't break into professional ranks until 1910 when he was 22. That year he hooked up with Mobile in the Three-Five League and won eight while losing seven.

The Tulsa club picked him up shortly in 1911, but had its eyes on him when he finished with a 20-1 record and an earned run average of 2.10.

Hirohito May Pay Respects To MacArthur

Stupping Domei agency of special privileges, the order paves the way for the establishment of a new and truly competitive news agency.

Meanwhile, Marquis Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal, said Emperor Hirohito received President Roosevelt's peace plea and the U.S. State Department's Nov. 24, 1941, peace memorandum—but ignored them both when high Japanese advisors told him it was useless to resist the rising war tide in Japan.

Japan's top field general was killed and with former dictator Hideki Tojo and other suspected war criminals faced speedy trial, monthly within a month.

Simultaneously the Nippon Times, said the commerce ministry would order all major mining and manufacturing companies to make financial reports in the first step toward stripping Japan of war industries.

Close behind the announcement yesterday of Washington's directive for the roundup of all the war-makers of Japan, Gen. MacArthur declared that trials by military tribunal would begin soon.

That was interpreted here as meaning some would begin in October. A dispatch from Manila said it was possible some of the first cases there might be started within a week.

Gen. Stenstrom's Latest to join the swelling population of top suspects in the Philippines was Gen. Kenji Doihara, sinister figure in Japanese military intelligence, who surrendered today.

Doihara only recently had been placed in command of the Japanese First army despite his record as a leader in the conquests on the Asiatic continent, where he was known as the "Lawrence of Manchuria."

Doihara arrived with some of his staff at the city hall and was unceremoniously escorted to the prison, where 34 other suspects are confined.

It also was announced that Watanabe Wicket, Siam's ambassador to Japan, was taken into custody at Miyashita, near Tokyo. He is another on MacArthur's "wanted" list.

NEWSPAPERS WARNED NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers association warned yesterday that despite the lifting of government restrictions on newspaper circulation next Jan. 1 publishers must prepare to hold newspaper circulation to an absolute minimum to avoid a costly "wild scramble" and government control.

"It is plain that if users generally—both newspaper publishers and various other consumers now using out of the available newspaper supply—start any great increase of consumption next January beyond what they have been consuming in 1945 there will be chaos added to the present bad supply situation," Cranston Williams, ANPA general manager, said in a statement.

Deacons Are Elected By Baptist Church

John Miller and Douglas Stenstrom were the two high men in voting Sunday at the First Baptist Church for the office of deacons.

However, as Mr. Stenstrom intends to attend the University of Virginia, he was unable to accept the office, which will be filled by

H. M. Pearce who was third in voting.

In a survey of hearing embracing more than 1,000,000 school children in New York City, it was found that 10 per cent had a hearing loss of nine decibels or more in one or both ears and about three per cent had a hearing loss of 15 decibels. The normal hearing range is 125 decibels.

A frank statement about the gasoline situation

WHEN the history of World War II is written, the contributions of the American oil industry will make a big chapter. Since Pearl Harbor, for instance, it refined 90 billion gallons of gas—82% of all the gas produced by the United Nations. This year, U. S. production of that super fuel, aviation gas, reached the incredible total of 22 million gallons per day! We, the American Oil Company and the Pan American Refining Corporation, are proud of our part in this great achievement.

Petroleum science has learned a lot in war. Great progress has been made. There will be better gasolines—yes! But they won't be atomic. No fuels will take you zooming to Mars. They won't make your car into a B-29. Our fuels will embody all of the latest scientific advances of the oil industry. Behind them are the great facilities of the American Oil Company and its affiliate, Pan American Refining Corporation.

Now the oil industry is rapidly being converted to peacetime use. Tankers are being released. Restrictions of all sorts are being lifted. Of course, all this can't be done in a day. Benefits for motorists are coming. First came the end of rationing. Better grade gasoline is rapidly going back to the pumps.

We don't want to engage in a battle of adjectives about them. We just want to remind you of the pre-war reputation of Amoco-Gas and American Gas—and promise you that every advancement petroleum science has made will be embodied in these two fine motor fuels in full measure.

AMOCO-GAS and AMERICAN GAS have always been honest products—honestly described. You will buy with confidence knowing that no finer motor fuels can be made. It's not what's in the ads—it's what's in the pumps.

Jap Army Food Given People By MacArthur

Allied Chief Insists Occupation May Be Years Though Force Could Be Small

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, Sept. 26. (AP)—General Eisenhower today summoned General George S. Patton to make a personal report on desecration in Bavaria. Eisenhower asked for an immediate report on Nazi still holding office in the Third Army territory and requested Patton to give a personal account of his stewardship in Bavaria early next week.

TOKYO, Sept. 26. (AP)—MacArthur today stripped Japan's Army and Navy of all equipment, directing that their stocks of food, and clothing be turned over to the famine-threatened civilian population under a strict accounting. Meanwhile, a member of the Japanese House of Peers, Marquis Yasuhiko, proposed in an interview that Emperor Hirohito withdraw from all political affairs, in order to eliminate a "riptide around the throne" and demoralize the Japanese. The Jap Privy Council approved the reorganization of the Japanese central liaison office, through which MacArthur's commands are effectuated, to include representatives of all government fields.

TOKYO, Sept. 26. (AP)—General MacArthur declared yesterday Japan might be occupied "many years" although the conquering force would be small "under favorable conditions." He said that the other phases of the world's greatest silk producer.

Faced by the stark prospect of mass starvation this winter, the Japanese Ministry of Agriculture announced that all but 75,000 of the 1,225,000 acres of mulberry trees that fed the silk worms would be plowed up for food crops. These were the other phases of the transformation of Japan from a world power into a fourth-rate island nation. The Nippon Times reported that MacArthur had moved in Japan's moving picture industry with an order banning films of a "characteristic or ultra-nationalistic character."

Occupation Extended
Heavily armed combat veterans swarmed ashore into the port of Aomori, extending the occupation of Japan to the northern tip of the main home island of Honshu.

The Army announced that more than 20 suspected Japanese war criminals would be moved to the same island prison at Tokyo Bay that once housed American war prisoners. It was undecided whether to put former war dictator Hideki Tojo in that Spartan prison too.

The head of Domei, stripped of its monopolistic prerogatives, said he would recommend to directors the disbanding of this news and propaganda agency that once spoke for the militarists.

The Sanford Outboard Association will meet Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce Building at 8:00 P.M.

The Townsend Club will not hold its scheduled meeting this week but will meet next on Thursday, Oct. 4.

The regular meeting of the Sanford Board of Realtors will take place Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the City Hall at which time important business will be transacted, according to Edward F. Lane, president of the board.

Friday will be the last day in which persons, white or colored, may be x-rayed by the State Mobile Unit, which today made x-rays in Longwood and which will be in Lake Mary, Thursday. All high school students over 15 will be x-rayed on Friday morning.

600 Officers And Men Coming Here From Melbourne

Additional Personnel May Crowd Living Accommodations

Lieut. Comdr. Jack Usery, executive officer of the Sanford Naval Air Station said today that Monday the Sanford Air Station will begin to absorb approximately 400 enlisted men and 200 officers, who will be sent from the Melbourne Naval Air Station to complete their operational training here.

In accordance with the statement made recently by the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Air, Sullivan, that 74 naval aviators are to be designated surplus during the last quarter of this year or the first of next, the Melbourne station is being closed.

Comdr. Usery said the Melbourne station has been training operational students with the Grumman F6F type aircraft. This aircraft is to be brought to this station in order that their training with this plane may complete it.

He added that the Sanford station will continue its present program of training students with the Grumman FM2 type aircraft.

The influx of personnel will crowd the station's sleeping and eating facilities and Comdr. Usery said that any citizen who has rooms, apartments, or homes to spare should notify Lieut. Comdr. Williams, housing officer, Sanford Naval Air Station.

Congress Blocks Effort To Pay More To Idle

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—Attributing the action to idleness caused by rapidly spreading strikes, a Republican-Democratic coalition on the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday pigeonholed all proposals for more pay for the unemployed.

Angered labor union leaders immediately opened a campaign to reverse the committee. AFL President William Green accused Congress of "callous disregard of human needs." CIO President Philip Murray, in a telegram, called on the CIO and the CIO Political Action Committee for "the widest possible drive" to secure reversal of "this shameful act."

The strike feature was the deciding factor in the committee action. Representative Knutson of Minnesota, senior ways and means' Republican, told reporters, "There are so many out on strikes it is impossible to tell just what the unemployment problem is."

The vote was 14 to 10, with 10 Republicans voting solidly for the shelving motion offered by a Democrat Representative Mills of Arkansas.

Chairman Doughton (D NC) announced the committee will turn tomorrow to the first peacetime tax bill, expected to ease the heavy wartime burdens.

AUTO LICENSES
With only four more days in which to obtain auto driver's licenses at the office of County Judge R.W. Ware, applications were very few this morning.

Some 2,000 applicants, it was estimated by Judge Ware, will yet apply for licenses which will be issued during the week up until 5:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. R. L. Dean Speaks To Pilots On "100 Best Books"

Reminiscing upon the "golden age of childhood" and books that "fling you back upon your own memories and prejudices" Mrs. R. L. Dean spoke to the pilots of the Sanford Pilot Club last night at a meeting held at the Hotel Mayfair in honor of the 100 best books.

Mrs. Dean, professor of English at the University of Florida, spoke for an hour to the pilots of the Sanford Pilot Club last night at a meeting held at the Hotel Mayfair in honor of the 100 best books.

Stressing the effect of good books in the child's character, Mrs. Dean quoted passages of books that are read to the very young child in which, she said, the golden rule of "do unto others as you would have others do unto you" is shadowed places that come alive with people that are as real as his family.

Later the child learns to read of "animals" that take in the famous Uncle Remus tale, and of the "untempered heat of the jungle" from Kipling's "The Jungle Book" and the time when the child reads the Bible to his list of friends.

Comes the reading of Plutarch's lives, the lives of the great men of the world, the lives of the great men of the world, the lives of the great men of the world.

In climactic her story Mrs. Dean recounted the books one reads after marriage, including histories, biographies, poetry, and after the children come, of going back to the books of childhood in which "we find all the people we used to know and learn some new ones."
