Matt Kudlac's call to service

Matt Kudlac was 18 when he went to war. He was one of America's fighting men in World War II. His tour lasted 10 months. He lost an arm in battle against the

On Wednesday, Kudlac came from his Deltona home to Sanford's annual Veterans Day Parade.

"America loses 6,000 veterans every month," he said. "The numbers are dwindling. You see it at events like this. There are fewer here each year."

Kudlac stood on the grass next to City Hall to watch the parade and ceremony at Waterfront Park. He saw his fellow vets march and he heard the patriotic music. He saluted the colors. He listened to the 21-gun salute and to TAPS.

All this sinks in deeply when you think about what happened to Corporal Matt Kudlac 52 years ago in a wretched moment of horror near Mainburg, Germany. Now, he is 70 and proud to be part of Veteran's Day. He appreciates that others have not forgotten the sacrifices of veterans.

"We must never forget the veterans," Sanford Commissioner Brady Lessard said at Wednesday's ceremony. Lessard did not have to go to war, but he was in the service and talked about his experiences as a 17-year-old in boot camp at Fort Sill.

"This drill instructor told us that if we became engaged in a war that it was more damaging to seriously wound a man than to kill him," Lessard said. "He said that when a man is wounded it takes three or four to take care of him."

"War is tragic, horrible," Lessard said. Looking out at Matt Kudlac and the other disabled and paralyzed veterans, he said he appreciated their service to the country.

In recent years, veterans have been severely jolted by cuts and changes in their medical coverage. Rep. John Mica said Wednesday that Congress was going to get more funds to help the veterans "You risked lives and limbs, and you should never be treated poorly," he said.

For an hour or so, several hundred veterans basked in the bright November sunshine and the glory of their duty to their country. A couple were victims of the heat and had to be assisted by rescue personnel. Most endured just as they did on the battlefields or on the open seas.

America is never prouder than at 11 a.m. on the 11th day of the 11th month.

Police charge nursing staffer in patient's death

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - A nursing assistant is charged with manslaughter of a 94-year old patient after a three-month investigation by the Altamonte Springs Police Department.

Police arrested Candace Vogel on Tuesday, under the suspicion that she caused the death of 94-year old Frances Kelly on the evening of Aug. 4, by striking Kelly in the head with a can of Ensure, police said.

The blood on the can of ensure is being tested by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, police said.

"The wound (on Kelly's head) was pretty bad," Altamonte Springs Police Department spokesman Michael Nelson said. "It was a pretty good cut." Kelly, a resident of the Arbors at 1099 West Town Parkway, died Aug. 21 from blunt force trauma to the right side of her forehead. Nelson said Kelly received the wounds sometime between 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. on Aug. 4. The wound required 21 stitches to patch. Police arrived at the Arbors at 11:11 p.m., Nelson said. "To die within a couple of weeks tells you that it was a pretty bad wound," Nelson said. "It's not likely the wounds were self-inflicted."

Vogel was responsible for the care of Kelly at the Arbors, police said. Nelson said Vogel changed her account of events several times.

Vogel first denied any knowledge of the incident, police said. Vogel then claimed that Kelly injured herself with a can of Ensure.

As the police investigation continued, Vogel said she became irritated when Kelly spilled Ensure on herself. Vogel told police she grabbed Kelly's bed sheet and pulled it, causing Kelly's head to strike the bed railing or night stand.

"She (Vogel) changed her story three or four times," Nelson said. "First, she said she didn't know anything. Then later, she said Kelly hit herself on the head. Finally, she said Kelly hit her head on a rail."

As of Wednesday, Vogel was being held in the Orange County Jail awaiting transportation to the Seminole County Jail.

River district buys land

DEBARY - Property purchased Wednesday by the St. Johns River Water Management District could be linked to Gemini Springs Park in West Volusia County, protecting valuable wetlands from potential development.

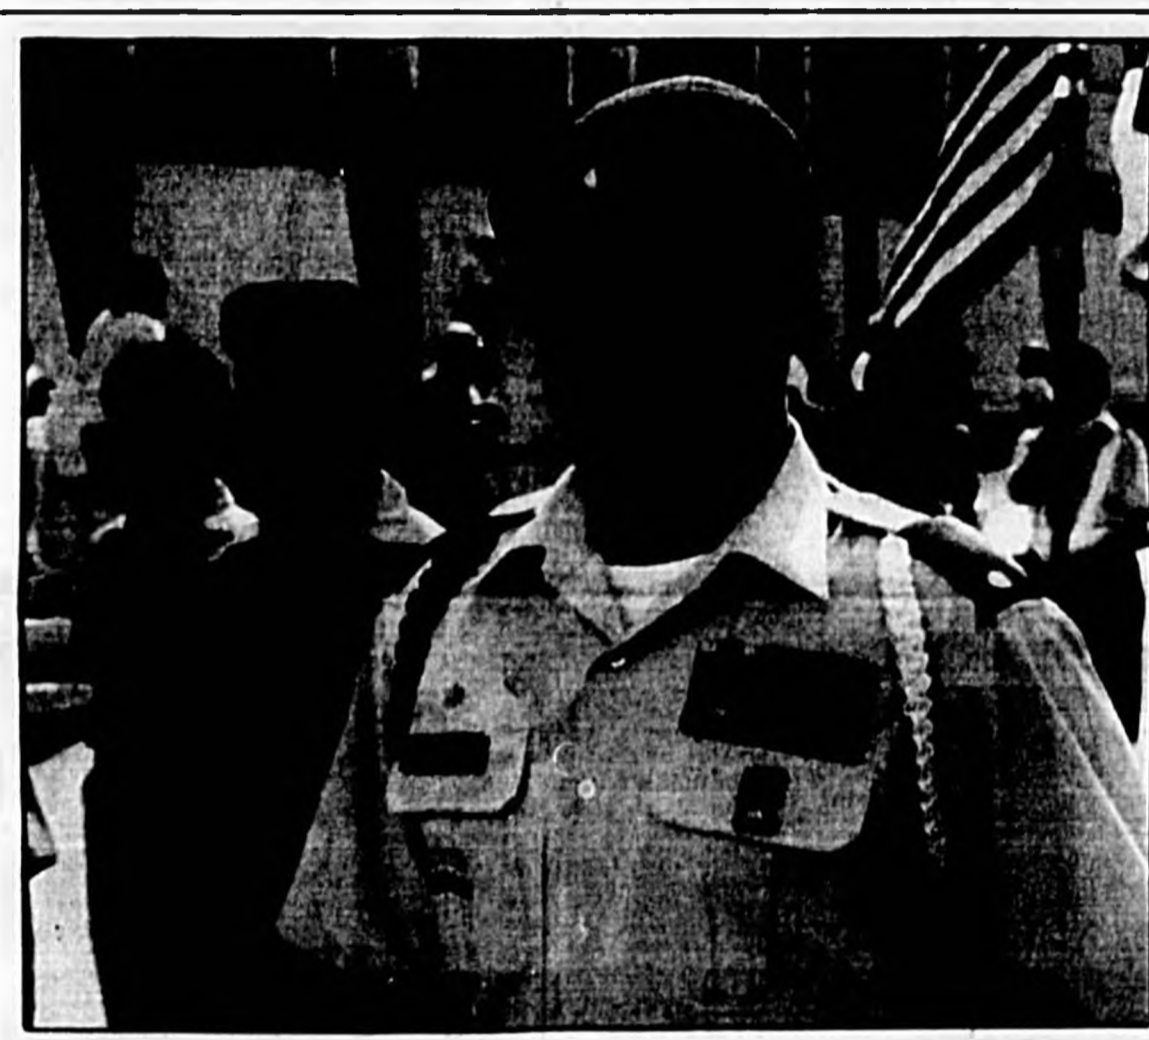

The 160-acre parcel, located on the north shore of the St. Johns River, at the Interstate-4 bridge, was purchased by the district, from the estate of Ralph G. Woodruff, for $1.292 million.

The district reported appraisers considered the best use of the land to be residential development, at a density of 300 to 420 residential units.

"Recreationally, it should be a big plus," said Bill Graf, district spokesman. The property is contiguous with land purchased from the Empire Cattle Company in August.

"The value of the sum of the parts is much greater than the individual pieces," said Graf. "Public acquisition of the

SANFORD - If only a Seminole High School student was right when she calls her act of generosity "no big deal."

Amanda Wall, a junior at Seminole, donated her first week's paycheck of $50 from Publix Supermarket to help out a 14-month old abused girl who is being treated at Florida Hospital for severe burns caused by a burning oven rack.

"I was riding home with my mother from a doctor's appointment," Amanda said. "Doc and Johnny from XL 106.7 were taking donations. I knew how bad the burns were, and how much it would cost. I thought about my check sitting in the back seat. I just got it that day. I don't see the big deal, she needs it more than I do."

Amanda has a 3.5 grade point average, and attends Seminole's health academy, a magnet program at the high school. She made the donation on last Friday.

The 14-month old girl has second and third degree burns after her father, 24-year old Jerry Gray, abused her with an oven rack that had been heated to 500 degrees in Winter Park on Nov. 2.

Amanda is active in Destiny and the Fantasy Show Choir. As a freshman Dazzler, Amanda finished second in the National Contest of Champions at Pleasure Island in Epcott.

"I like being on stage," Amanda said. Please see Student, Page 3A

Blood drive targets disease

By Jeff Bertinich
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Sickle Cell Anemia is a killing disease; Crooms Academy plans to do something about it.

Sickle Cell Anemia, a blood disease which kills thousands of African-Americans each year, is one of the main causes of fatalities among the race.

Crooms will hold a blood drive Friday from 8 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. to see what the school and the community can do put an end to the tragedy.

Coordinator Alan Haines, a first-year teacher at the school, used to run the blood drive program at Lyman High School where it became one of the most successful in the county.

Haines said he believes in getting the community involved, adding that Crooms has never held a blood drive before. Because of the largely African-American enrollment at Crooms, he said the school can provide a big boost to the fight against Sickle Cell Anemia, a disease which only affects African-Americans.

"The main reason we want to do this is because it will be a good thing for this area," Haines said. "If you need blood and there's none available, you will die."

The donated blood will go to Central Florida blood banks, but to combat Sickle Cell Anemia, African-American blood is vital.

Haines said only 3 to 5 percent of all blood donated is African-American.

"It has to be African-American blood," Haines said. "It's not as strict as something like an organ donation, but whites can't donate to blacks."

The blood will be distributed throughout Central Florida, one of the biggest donors during Desert Storm back in 1990. Right now, Haines said, the blood banks are at critically low levels to the point where some elective surgeries have had to

Parents go to school as part of education week

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

TALLHASSEE - Education Commissioner Frank T. Brogan presented a resolution recognizing Nov. 15 to 21 as American Education Week/Take Our Parents to School Week.

"You have probably heard about Take Our Daughters to Work Day and Take Our Children to Work Day," said Commissioner Brogan, "but now a national community involvement initiative sponsored by the Institute of Educational Leadership, Hand in Hand, has created Take Our Parents to School Week."

"Instead of bringing teachers, superintendents and other school personnel to our Cabinet meeting to recognize American Education Week, we would like to change the focus and designate the week of Nov. 15 to 21 as American Education Week/Take Our Parents To School Week in Florida."

"I encourage you, Governor, and my fellow State Board of Education members, to continue to visit our schools and actively participate in this observance during American Education Week," said Brogan. "We will be providing young Floridians with practical skills, broader intellectual abilities and give them hope for, and access to, a productive and promising future."

Since its establishment in 1921, the goal of AEW (American Education Week) has been to increase public appreciation and understanding of the nation's schools, to encourage parents and non-parents to visit schools that will build civic and community pride and support for education.

Weekly newspaper chronicles growth

Do you remember The Sanford Builder, a weekly newspaper? I recently came across a copy dated Jan. 13, 1950, and found that the paper had begun Dec. 20, 1946, and its publisher was Howard Guthrie. Its cost in 1950 was $2.50 per year by carrier. Its office was located at 110 West Second St.; it was moved to 204 W. First St. by 1954 according to the 1954 city directory and was then published six days a week. By 1956 it was gone, but it had about a ten year run.

Building permits reach high

A front page headline in this newspaper stated that "Building Permits Reach High of $101,200 in Two Weeks Here". In the article we find that all but $2,000 was for residential construction which indicated an era of real growth for the city.

Permits issued included 10 five-room houses at $800 each to be erected at Cedar and Holly Avenue; Edwin Shinholler, five room home at Rose Court, $10,000; Fannie Reba Munson, concrete block garage on Myrtle Avenue, $700; Mrs. Mary Robinson, frame building on Myrtle Avenue, $200; Roy Redding, two frame homes on Pomegranate, $1,200 each.

In 1949, there had been much commercial building that included two Sanford church additions amounting to $212,000, two $10,000 service stations, two $10,000 plumbing warehouses, $14,000 hotel for truckers on French Avenue, two $30,000 supermarkets and a $10,000 radio station office and studio. The Ritz Theater spent $20,000 on installation of air conditioning.

Two Sanford schools were built for $48,000 and the city spent $42,000 on a municipal swimming pool.

Construction anticipated for 1950 included the proposed $165,000 Municipal Stadium, the $350,000 at St. Johns River Terminal project and the $55,000 civic center.

Kiwanis Club officers

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

WASHINGTON, DC - Citizens for a Sound Economy recently presented a Jefferson Award to U.S. Congressman John Mica.

Every two years, CSE grants its Jefferson Award to members of the House and Senate who cast votes that support CSE's mission of smaller government and lower taxes.

The awards are determined at the end of each Congress by tabulating CSE's "key votes." Taxation, spending, trade and regulation were the primary areas used in determining award winners in the 105th Congress. In all, 212 senators and representatives received the award.

"Rep. Mica, on behalf of the 250,000 members of CSE, I thank and congratulate you for your dedicated support of sound economic policies," said CSE President Paul Beckner.

"Whether it meant supporting the limits of the budget plan, or legislation to limit regulation and mandates, you put the American consumer first. Those we honor today remember and practice what Thomas Jefferson said over 200 years ago-- 'The people are the only sure reliance for the preservation of our liberty,'" said Beckner.

CSE is a nonpartisan, non-profit research and education organization formed in 1984 to study and develop market-based solutions to public policy problems. More information on CSE and its Jefferson Award can be found on the group's web site located at www.cse.org.

page featured a picture of Bobby Marrs, football star, 18, who had been injured the previous week in a motorcycle accident. He was reported as improving from serious injuries at Orange Memorial Hospital. Miss Alida Goertz, a local nurse, who was driving the car, was charged with violating the permit law.

Marrs was riding with James Thomas McDonald while Miss Goertz was accompanied by Dorothy Bayne.

According to the investigating officer, the car dragged the motorcycle into the R.R. Pippen yard on West First Street. Marrs sustained a double fracture of the left arm and left leg while McDonald had only bruises.

Referendum to be held

The City Commission at its recent meeting decided to hold a referendum on the highly controversial Memorial Stadium. The issue to be voted on was "Should the city build a baseball-football stadium in accordance with the suggestions of the Stadium Authority, and finance it with the aid of the six percent tax on the Florida Power and Light franchise." The opposition to this appeared to come from those who believed that the power company would pass the tax on to its customers.

The referendum was scheduled for Feb. 21; evidently it passed as the stadium was built.

Police said the dog alerted them to the presence of drugs in a cigar case in the defendant's sock. In the case, they found 25 pieces of crack cocaine.

Student

Amanda said. "I'm not the most out-going student in class. I'm kind of quiet. But, I enjoy performing. I've been dancing since I was three."

Back surgery makes it difficult for Amanda to dance. She had back surgery last summer. On the day she gave her paycheck away, she found out that she will need another back surgery this coming summer at Florida Hospital.

On Tuesday Amanda will participate in Seminole's Project Ouchy, donating various designs of Band-Aids to the Pediatric Ward of Florida Hospital so children can have something different than plain brown Band-Aids.

Amanda wants to be a Pediatric Oncologist, taking care of children with cancer.

"When I was in the hospital (for back surgery) 75 percent of the people in my hall were kids with cancer," Amanda said. "I think it would be so rewarding to help them. When I was younger, my best friend had Cerebral Palsy. I wheeled her around, and helped with her braces. I'm used to helping people through pain."

Amanda said she inherits her love for performance from her father, Lloyd, who is artistic. She said her attention to detail comes from her mother, Sandy, who is business and school oriented. She is an only child, although she said her best friend Shannon Maguire is like a sister.

"I'm sure I got my brains from both of my parents," Amanda said. "I like to help people, and I got that from both of them, too. Especially my dad. If anyone is in need, he puts their needs ahead of his own. He's constantly putting my needs ahead of his."

Amanda is an avid reader, and for fun she enjoys a day of shopping. She is also a nature lover.

"My mom and step-dad (Tom) took me to England and Iceland," Amanda said. "We toured all over Iceland."

Amanda's two favorite classes are Fantasy and Show Choir, fourth and fifth periods, with Mr. Maguire. She also enjoys physics with Mr. Woodruff, and English with Mrs. Sawyer.

"I have so many great friends and a great family," Amanda said. "Shannon is such a good friend, and the Maguires are like a second family to me. Then there's Mathew Twilleager and his sister Sarah. I like everything I'm doing, and I'm having fun."

Shannon said she considers herself a Presbyterian. Her mom was raised a Catholic, and her father was raised in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

"My mom took me to the Presbyterian Church when I was growing up," Amanda said. "We knew some good family friends who went there."

Gretchen Schapker, the principal of Seminole, said Amanda is an example of what the school is all about.

"Amanda is a shining example of what great kids we have here at Seminole," Schapker said. "I'm so proud of Amanda, she's a great kid. This is a wonderful, Christian act."

Amanda said she enjoys going to school at Seminole.

"With the IB and Magnet program we have one of the best schools in the area," Amanda said. "We definitely have the best choral, dance and arts magnet school. So many people assume Seminole is a bad school. But there's hardly any crime, and I haven't seen a fight here in a long time."

Haines said it is important for the high schools and communities to get involved.

"For the past two or three years, high schools have started to slack off," he said. "We need for students to be involved."

County schools now hold a competition based on enrollment, over which one can donate the most blood. The competition is based on units of blood and units compared to the enrollment. Students have to be 17-years-old to donate, but, based on percentages of seniors and juniors compared to the amount donated, Haines said Crooms can compete.

He also said no one should be afraid of the process.

"A lot of kids are scared to give blood, but it's so important that they do," he said. "We run tests for AIDS and other diseases and make it a very safe process."

Haines also said it's important for people to know that Crooms is getting involved in the community.

"We want everyone to know we're here," Haines said. "We're trying to be a part of the community and we need community bonding. Anybody can come, just as long as they call for a specific time. Then they don't have to wait all day."

The first 100 to donate blood will receive a free T-shirt.

To schedule an appointment with the Crooms Academy blood drive, call (407) 320-5750, extension 5740.

Veterans Day 1998 was observed throughout America and also in allied countries. The annual observance in Sanford is typical of the pageantry and patriotism of the event. The ceremony begins precisely at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month - the time the Armistice was signed for the end of World War I in 1918. Veterans from all wars are honored today.

Ex-Marine Sandi Merritt and members of the B. Duke Woody, Fleet Reserve Association Branch 147 Auxiliary showed their true colors on Wednesday.

Rep. John Mica told veterans of plans by Congress to improve their benefits and help them secure jobs in government. He needed a hand when a flag blew in his face.

Veterans Day recognizes soldiers' sacrifices

Seminole Herald political analysts and commentary

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Veterans Day celebrates the sacrifices American soldiers have made to preserve freedom. This century has seen freedom threatened by two world wars and a cold war. Since the cold war ended, the military faces challenges on many fronts.

Thomas Jefferson warned the nation that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." In 1989, the world watched as the Berlin Wall was torn down brick-by-brick by joyous Germans. Since its construction in 1951 by the Soviet Union dividing families from East and West Germany, the wall was a vivid reminder of the threat communism represented to the world's freedom.

Watching on television, Americans breathed a sigh of relief as the wall came down. By Dec. of 1991, when the Soviet Union was officially dissolved, the long Cold War that began in the shadows of WW II was over. Former President George Bush, a veteran of World War II, wondered aloud if we could be entering a new era of peace and unity.

Today, that peace is fragmented by terrorism from overseas and within the nation's borders as Jefferson's warning rings true. President Bill Clinton is considering a military strike on Iraq, as Saddam Hussein refuses to allow weapons inspections until the United Nations (UN) reconsiders the sanctions placed on the nation following the Persian Gulf War in 1991.

Forces in the former Yugoslavia, in particular Serbia and Bosnia, wage brutal ethnic war. Military strategists warn of the risks of ethnic conflict spreading into nearby Greece, Turkey, and Russia. Historians remember that it was ethnic bloodshed in this region that provided the spark for W.W.I.

The first world war was caused by ethnic groups, including Yugoslavs, seeking independence, as well as German clashes with France and Britain. Germany was seeking military and colonial power, and Britain was threatened by Germany's increasing naval buildup.

The war began in Europe in 1914, and the U.S. under President Woodrow Wilson tried to stay neutral. Unrestricted submarine warfare by Germany that cost American lives, and the threat non-democratic Germany posed to American security, brought the U.S. into the war in April 1917.

The U.S. fought alongside Britain, France, and Russia in the Allied effort. Admiral William S. Sims commanded the American naval effort. The 2 million man American Expeditionary Force, led by General John J. Pershing, turned the tide of battle in France.

On November 11, 1918, the war ended with an armistice. It's the ending of W.W.I that marks Veterans Day celebrations. Despite the efforts of Wilson after the war, peace did not last. The wounds and poverty nations such as Germany, Italy and Japan suffered from the war provided the seeds for the next terrible war.

America entered W.W.II after Japan attacked Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. The war in Europe was more than two years old. War was fought in Africa, Asia, and Europe, involving 60 nations. The U.S. alone suffered over one million either dead or wounded by the time the war ended in 1945 with the dropping of two atomic bombs and the Japanese surrender.

President Harry Truman dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan because military strategists predicted over 100,000 Americans would die in a land battle to defeat Japan.

The atrocities of Adolf Hitler's Nazi Party in Germany, including the Holocaust that killed over six million Jews, left a lasting legacy to the world. U.S. General Dwight Eisenhower, a war hero in Europe, led military efforts to ensure documentation of concentration camps so they would never be forgotten.

The U.S. became the leading world power after W.W.II, facing challenges from the communist Soviet Union and China. The Korean and Vietnam wars, as well as other military efforts, can be seen as part of the Cold War against communism.

The American military was instrumental in rebuilding Japan's economy and government under the Marshall Plan. A democratic Japan provided a key buffer to communist China. The Containment Policy of the Truman presidency set the tone for the Cold War, with the goal of halting communist expansion. It was believed that communist expansion in Korea or Vietnam would trigger further expansion throughout Asia, endangering American security.

The Korean War was fought from 1950-1953 to stop communist N. Korea from taking control of now-democratic S. Korea. Over 33,000 Americans died and over 100,000 Americans were wounded in the effort.

The Vietnam War was never declared by Congress, but the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution of 1964 marks the beginning of full-scale fighting, following the N. Vietnamese sinking of American destroyers in the gulf. At the height of fighting in 1965, there were over 500,000 American troops in the region. The Vietnam War ended in a cease-fire in 1973. At a cost of over 46,000 American lives and 300,000 wounded, South Vietnam remained free from communism.

Today we are spared the tumult of the Vietnam War, and the nuclear bomb scares of the Cold War. The Cold War is over, and few people miss it. We breathe more easily, while asking the military to stand ready on multiple fronts, from Iraq to Bosnia and elsewhere. The fragmented peace we live in still demands "eternal vigilance."

Voice stress rehearsal a must

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Hiring a good deputy or any law enforcement employee requires thorough investigation procedures. This is why Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger is purchasing a $8,815 Computer Voice Stress Analyzer.

The instrument will be used for pre-employment truth verification examinations.

The Board of County Commissioners on Tuesday approved the expenditure from the Law Enforcement Trust Fund.

"This is a legitimate expense," Commissioner Win Adams said. "We don't want to put weapons in the hands of deputies whose heads are screwed on wrong."

Chief Deputy Steve Harnett said today that although the turnover of sheriff's office deputies and employees is low

(5 percent a year) it is essential to process and validate the credentials of those who are hired as replacements. "We need to do this to maintain the integrity of the office," Harnett said.

The Sheriff's Office has 700 employees who in the past took a polygraph test as part of their hiring. In recent years, most private companies and law enforcement agencies have replaced the polygraph testing with the Computer Voice Stress Analyzer (CVSA).

"The CVSA is one of many hiring tools used today," said George Sellery, Senior Manager/Financial Services for the Seminole Sheriff's Office. "Law enforcement agencies compete for the best people they can get. If you lose someone, you want a good person coming in. The CVSA testing takes less time than the old methods. It isn't what makes or breaks a candidate. It's part of the process." Sellery, who came to Seminole from the Volusia County Sheriff's Office, said that Volusia has been using the CVSA for the last three years. In addition to taking less time than a polygraph, Sellery said the CVSA is less intrusive to potential employees.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Division of Investigative Services has used a CVSA instrument to assist in criminal cases, which had had precedence over the use of pre-employment truth verifications.

In March 1998, the Sheriff's Office authorized one civilian member of the Employer Relations Division to become a certified operator of the CVSA. This relieved a sworn member from performing the pre-employment exams.

It is anticipated that the CVSA instrument will be used at the rate of approximately 100 per calendar year for pre-employment exams.

Also approved by the Board of County Commissioners on Tuesday was an expenditure of $18,700 from the Law Enforcement Trust Fund to purchase supplies for the county's Drug Abuse Resistance Education program. The D.A.R.E. program is a 17-week course that teaches elementary school students to say no to drugs and alcohol.

There is a D.A.R.E. program currently at each elementary school in the county. Area school officials and law enforcement agencies are pleased with the D.A.R.E. results, but there are frequent reports elsewhere in the country that the program isn't all that it should be.

Paramedics treat several high school students who succumbed to the heat Wednesday after marching in the Veterans Day Parade in Sanford.

Heat affects marchers

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Heat plagued an otherwise beautiful Veterans Day Parade Wednesday at Waterfront Park in Sanford.

Paramedics from the Sanford Fire Department treated 15 students in Seminole High School's ROTC program and one veteran for heat exhaustion symptoms after they finished marching in the downtown parade.

"Everyone is fine," Sanford

Fire Department Chief Tom Hickson said. "It surprised me, because I didn't think it was that hot. Many of them said they hadn't eaten before the parade. They had minor heat exhaustion, and some had a little nausea. They just needed to cool down after working so hard."

One student was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital as a precaution, and released later in the day. The other students and the veteran were taken inside City Hall to cool down, Hickson said.

This will be an interesting year for hoops fans

SANFORD - This is one of the toughest times of the year to be a high school basketball fan. Opening games are right around the corner, yet, like the NFL pre-season and baseball's spring training, we have to sit through jamborees and tip-off tournaments that don't mean an awful lot and only whet the appetite for the real thing.

Conference ball is always the best, but that doesn't really kick in for another few weeks, so for now, we just have to be patient and wonder about a few things that will make this season one of the most interesting in years.

For one thing, is Seminole County as down as everyone seems to think?

Well, if you compare it to last season, the question isn't fair because 1997-98 was one of the best seasons in these parts in history.

Remember Lake Howell's boys winning their first-ever district title behind a group of seniors and then-junior Reggie Kohn?

Remember Lake Mary's boys losing heart-breaker after heartbreaker all season, then getting hot at the right time and earning a trip to the state playoffs?

Remember the classic Lake Howell-Oviedo match-ups that went to the wire both times?

Remember how Drew Morgan revitalized a slumping Lake Brantley program?

Remember how Seminole became one of the strongest teams in the county and actually led Oviedo 27-0 at one point last season?

Remember Winter Springs and Winston James growing up before your eyes and going from a young group of kids to a team that could hang with anybody for 32 minutes?

Let's not forget the girls.

How can anyone not remember Lake Mary's stomp towards a state championship (while we're at it, how can anyone forget that four returning starters and the county's best freshman round out this year's starting lineup)?

How about the changes at Winter Springs which now has everyone returning from last year's team as well as Oviedo transfer Mary Lou Johnston and Lake Brantley-transfer Danal Hicks, who is a rebounding machine?

At Oviedo, you know the Lions will always be in contention, but this year they will have to do without retired coach Tom Bieri. Brian Wilson is his replacement, but the Lions never seem to miss a beat and should be in the mix at the end.

As for this year, the memories of 1997-98 were great, but the problem is that, except for the Lake Mary girls juggernaut and Winter Springs still with no seniors, very few players return.

On the boys' side, Seminole still has Cornelius Blue, Kohn is back at Lake Howell and James returns at Winter Springs.

Among the girls, well, except for Lake Mary, Johnston and her gang at Winter Springs should be the most improved team in the county, and Seminole has some youngsters returning, but graduation has decimated some of the better teams in the county.

For starters, Lake Mary's boys team lost almost everyone, and the Lyman girls team suffered devastating losses as well.

Seminole County basketball will always be fun and interesting and the best way to look at it is that, with so many graduation losses, the field is wide open.

In the boys ranks, anyone can win the championship, and anyone can finish last. It's that wide open.

Among the girls, if Lake Mary hasn't already made its reservations for Lakeland at the end of the season, someone better start moving on that right now.

The Rams are a lock.

Other than them, like the boys, the race is wide open.

The talent may be down, but it will always be fun to be a fan of Seminole County basketball.

Last Second Shot: With the computer now taking strength of schedule into account when determining who plays in the national college football championship game, do you think Florida's Steve Spurrier is regretting his decision to open the season with two high school teams?

Upset moves Nobles Communication to top of heap

By Dean Smith

SANFORD - John Stewart and Matt Kucinaki drove in three runs each and Adapco scored five runs in the fifth inning to rally for a 10-9 upset of Pebble Junction in City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Men's Wednesday Night Fall Slow Pitch Softball League action at Pinehurst Park.

Pebble Junction, which entered the game tied for first place, scored four runs in the fourth inning to break a 5-5 tie.

But Adapco tied the game on consecutive singles by Bobby Brown, Chris Bryson, Stewart and Kucinaki, then scored the go-ahead run two outs later on a single by Terry Atkinson.

Nobles Communication then went about the business of taking sole possession of first place, scoring eight runs in the third inning and five runs in the fourth inning on the way to a 15-2 Run Rule victory over Wells Contracting.

The final game of the evening found the Lynch Mob jumping out to a 14-0 lead and rolling to a 19-7 triumph over Bayliner Marine.

Nobles Communication is now 7-1 and holds

Benitez, Rams ready for state title defense

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY - Winning the state championship last year was easy compared to what faces Aly Benitez and the Lake Mary girls soccer team this year.

Now they have to repeat.

There's a price on their heads after a season in which the Rams lost in Oviedo in the district finals and had to hit the road each week before the 1-0 win over Edgewater in the state finals.

Benitez had the winning goal in the game, one of her county-high 40 goals. She has dominated Seminole County soccer since her sophomore season and it paid off this week when she signed to play at the University of Virginia, a top-10 national program, next year.

Benitez said she is expecting to start next year at Virginia, but it was tough to decide between the Cavaliers and Notre Dame, a school where she knew players and has one of the strongest programs in the nation.

"It came down to Virginia and Notre Dame, and I picked UVA because it is a younger team with a growing program and the campus is gorgeous," Benitez said.

April Heinrich coaches the Cavs and is one of the most prominent women players in the country.

"I wanted to be a part of a program that is growing instead of one that is traditionally great," Benitez said. "UVA has awesome support for its soccer program."

The Cavs lose only two graduating seniors after this season in which they recently received a first-round bye in the NCAA tournament.

For now, Benitez is concerned with getting another state championship ring at Lake Mary.

"I think it will be harder this time around," she said. "Everybody's going to be out to get us so we have been working a lot harder. Coach told us before our first practice that it would be harder to repeat."

The Rams lost little to graduation, but one loss was goaltender Jordan Kellgren. Brandy Malize transferred from Lake Brantley and is expected to take over.

Benitez said the team hasn't forgotten last year's success, but a new season means new challenges.

"We're trying to prepare for another good season, but we just have to be focused on now and not what happened last year."

Benitez has a lot to remember about last year. After the loss to Oviedo, the Rams looked devastated, but found a way to rebound.

NEW SMYRNA BEACH - The Sanford Youth Football Association traveled to New Smyrna Beach to play the Barracuda's in the final games of the regular season in the Pop Warner Football League and reaped a little Halloween Havoc at Airport Field.

The Mitey-Mites (1-6) played hard but came up short in the only loss of the day for the Nolcs, 12-22. Mark Layton, Josh Tipton, Henry Dye, are expected to return next year.

The Jr. Peeeweeks (5-3) rolled to an impressive win 26-13. This team also expects to retain a large portion of it's starters next year, including Rodney Grant, Kevin Elliott, Darvius Buggs and Pat Bowers.

Next up was the Peeeweeks (5-3), which won 8-0 when Chris Smith found the end zone. Look for younger players like A.J. Armstrong, Tom Quinn, and Nick Martin to return.

The Jr. Midgets (8-0) cruised to a much needed win before the playoffs. But things looked bleak for as the Cuda's scored first. Missing from the side lines was head coach Carl Tipton, who was hospitalized to have his appendix removed and SANFORD - There were no changes in the final standings, but the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Youth Flag Football League closed out its regular season with four excellent ball games on the field across from Sanford Middle School.

In the Minor Division, the undefeated Gators scored once in each half to withstand a threat from the Rattlers, 14-6.

In the other Minor game, the Bengals got a 25-yard touchdown run from Cory Brooks on a reverse in overtime to edge the Golden Knights, 6-0.

In the Major Division, the Bears got a two-yard touchdown from James Hager and Shamar Williams added a two-point conversion run with less than two minutes left in the game to end the champion Falcons' hopes of an undefeated season, 14-13.

The other game was also a beauty as Jake Polk's extra point run after a three-yard Bill Carroll touchdown run gave the Cowboys a 14-13 victory over the Jaguars.

TEAM trying to reestablish sportsfishing on Lake Talquin

SANFORD The good news is that fishing for bass, crappie and bream at Lake Talquin near Tallahassee ain't bad.

The bad news is that it's not all that good either.

Giving the eutrophic reservoir only "so-so" fishing marks. Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC) biologist Rich Calteux is leading a TEAM (Team Effort Accomplishing Management) task to reestablish a quality sportfishery at the once popular 8,200-acre angling hotspot.

Formed in the late 1920's, following completion of Jackson Bluff Dam that impounded part of the Ochlockonee River, Lake Talquin already has experienced two extreme drawdowns in 1984 and 1991, which provided a quick fix for local and area anglers. Another drawdown is scheduled early this year, which Calteux is confident will be a significant step in restoring the lake to robust health.

Drawdowns are vital to lakes with stabilized water levels because they expose bottom sediments to the sun's rays which, in turn, makes mechanical muck removal easier and more economical.

To ensure a quality sport fishery following the drawdown, TEAM personnel will maintain or exceed fishing expectations of freshwater anglers by creating a Fish Management Area and improving littoral habitat by planting native vegetation.

During the drawdown's low-water period, oyster shell, limerock and rock rubble beds will be placed on shallow organic sediments to create a substrate for fish spawning and invertebrate production.

In April, a program for transplanting aquatic vegetation will be initiated to increase expansion of desirable emergent plant communities.

Also on tap this year, in addition to creating more bank fishing opportunities by clearing shoreline areas, will be the construction of a fishing pier, upgrading public boat ramps, and adding three new fish attractors.

In the long term, TEAM will investigate the feasibility of performing minimal (3 to 6 feet) fluctuations (every two to four years) to the water level during August and September, which are Lake Talquin's off-peak fishing months.

These "mini drawdowns" are expected to reduce bottom sediments, encourage further aquatic plant growth, and create better fish habitat.

A major effort is being made to enlist support from Georgia officials to reduce or stop sediment flow pouring into Lake Talquin through the Ochlockonee River and Little River.

"This Georgia sediment is caused by agricultural runoff flowing south through these tributaries," said Calteux.

"Georgia doesn't think it's a problem, and we might have to involve the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to settle the dispute."

Various fishing regulation changes are now being discussed aimed at providing a quality black bass fishery. A reduced bag limit on crappie from 50 fish per day to 25, is a viable option currently on the "drawing board" too.

Additionally, stocking of advanced sized fingerling bass could be used to supplement the lake's natural production.

Because of its location, Talquin is "home lake" to a large segment of north Florida's angling community, and it's essential that TEAM provide a first-rate opportunity to exercise their piscatorial explorations.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Want to have fun and catch a lot of specks and a few bass in the process? Take a cane pole and rig it with 6-8 feet of 12 pound test line, tie a small, white "no alb" jig to the end of the line and tip it with a Missouri Minnow. Use your trolling motor and slowly jig the lure in and out of heavy cover.

FISHING FORECAST

Snook action is still fair at Sebastian Inlet with fish to 20 pounds. Large live shrimp or small baitfish work best. One-ounce jigs or Rapala type lures are top artificials. Also expect flounder, redfish, small snapper and a few bluefish. The outgoing tide seems to be best, as bait is swept out of the inlet to waiting gamefish.

Expect good bass action in the river, especially from Puzzle Lake south to Lake Winder. This section of the river holds good numbers of bass over the 8 pound mark. Large shiners are hard to beat this time of year for lunker bass. Fish along mouths in Puzzle Lake and the points of weedlines in Lake Poinsett.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports fair offshore action when seas permit. Dolphin, wahoo and king mackerel have been reliable offshore. Inside the Port, count on flounder and sheepshead. Trout and redfish are on the flats of the Banana and Indian Rivers.

Ponce Inlet has good fishing for sheepshead, drum, redfish, flounder, small bluefish and jack crevalle. Live or dead shrimp is the top bait. Finger mullet work well for flounder and redfish. Trout and redfish are rated as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

Advantages of bankruptcy

Automatic stay injunction stops legal proceedings

PEOPLE'S LAW
MANNY ACEVEDO

Filing for bankruptcy can be very advantageous given the right circumstances. This is because, as discussed previously, filing for bankruptcy will afford a debtor an opportunity to regroup by providing some "breathing time" before the debtor either liquidates or restructures the debt. This opportunity is made possible by section 362 of Title 11 of the United States Code which provides for an automatic stay that comes into effect at the time of filing of a bankruptcy petition.

The automatic stay afforded by the filing is an injunction that stops legal proceedings temporarily and whose main purpose is to grant the debtor relief from financial pressures. This stay prohibits the following: 1) the commencement or continuation of a judicial, administrative, or other action or proceedings against the debtor that was or could have been brought before the filing; 2) the enforcement, against the debtor or against property of the bankruptcy estate of a judgment obtained before filing; 3) any act to obtain possession of property of the bankruptcy estate which includes not only property owned by the debtor but also property not owned by the debtor but in his or her possession such as a leased vehicle or a rental home; 4) any act to create, perfect, or enforce any lien against the property of the estate; 5) any act to create, perfect, or enforce against the property of the debtor any lien that arose before filing; 6) any act to collect, assess, or recover a claim against the debtor that arose before filing; 7) generally, the setoff of any debt owing to the debtor that arose before filing against any claim against the debtor; and 8) the commencement or continuation of a proceeding before the United States Tax court concerning the debtor.

As discussed in the past, filing for bankruptcy may enable the debtor, given the right circumstances, to: 1) stop foreclosure on a debtor's house or mobile home and allow the debtor an opportunity to catch up on missed payments; 2) prevent repossession of a car or other property, or force the creditor to return property even after it has been repossessed; 3) stop wage garnishment, debt collection harassment, and similar creditor actions to collect a debt; 4) restore or prevent termination of utility service; and 5) allow a debtor to challenge the claims of creditors who have committed fraud or who are otherwise trying to collect more than the debtor really owes. These are made possible by bankruptcy's automatic stay.

Filing for bankruptcy can be very advantageous given the right circumstances because the automatic stay imposed on most proceedings at the time of filing gives the debtor some "breathing time" before the debtor either liquidates or restructures the debt. However, while bankruptcy's automatic stay covers a great number of legal actions, the stay does not grant relief in a number of situations. In the coming weeks we will be discussing what types of actions or proceedings are not affected by the automatic stay as well as other aspects of bankruptcy law.

Man feeling low on birthday is lifted by high-tech cards

DEAR ABBY: I usually get a bit depressed around my birthday, and this past year was especially hard. Two years ago, I lost my grandmother, my father and a girlfriend shortly before my birthday. Also, my new girlfriend dumped me a year ago, just before my birthday. Now I associate my birthday with the loss of people for whom I cared deeply and I become depressed weeks before the occasion.

This year I received two cards in the "snail mail" - one from my stepmother which reminded me that my dad can never send me a card again and one from my oldest sister. I was, however, surprised to receive an e-mail card from another sister and her two small children, another e-mail card from my younger sister and several from Internet buddies. The real kicker was an e-mail greeting from my mother! One of my sisters had shown her how to create a card on the computer and send it to me online.

Because of the snail mail and e-mail cards I received, I didn't feel quite so alone this year. In fact, it was the most loving birthday I've had in years.

KEN IN GROVE CITY, OHIO

DEAR KEN: Congratulations on having overcome the birthday blues. Thirty years ago, who would have believed that so many people would own personal computers and use them for greetings and personal messages? This age of sophisticated communications technology is a marvel to behold, isn't it? Belated happy birthday, Ken.

DEAR ABBY: This is my first letter to you, but after reading about the woman's husband who urinates in their front yard, I just had to write. When I read your answer I laughed out loud even though I was alone in the house. I was reminded of a solution to a problem that we have here in the desert Southwest.

ADVICE

It isn't unusual for critters from the desert to cruise through town looking for food. The javelina (wild boar) especially can be a nuisance because it travels in family packs, and a group of at least six was checking out my porch every evening to see if my cats had left any food. I'd chase them away, but that deterred them only for a little while. I needed a more permanent solution.

Someone told my daughter about a group of beer drinkers who usually drank outside the house. Instead of going inside to urinate, they'd just do it in the yard - and they had no problem with javelinias. Other people who were bothered by the pesky creatures tried it, and it worked. I finally talked my grandson into marking his territory in various spots around my yard.

It worked at my house, too. It has to be repeated every so often, but it's such an inoffensive way to be rid of the pests. I'm signing my letter, but do not use my name. It's a small town and I don't need that kind of notoriety.

ARIZONA READER

DEAR ARIZONA READER: Thank you for an intriguing letter. Several readers wrote to tell me that urine is a pest repellent. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if you're aware of this or not, but according to the master gardener, Jerry Baker, urine can be very beneficial in the garden to control pests. I can tell you from experience that urine seems to have eliminated the pack rats that were around our home for years. Since pack rats can be very damaging to one's house, my theory was, "If a little urine gets rid of them, what's dead?"

TOM IN TUCSON

DEAR ABBY: Since those of us over the age of 60 are referred to as "senior citizens," that must mean that people in their 40s and 50s are "junior citizens." And if that's the case, it would follow that those in their 30s are sophomore citizens and adults in their 20s are freshman citizens.

GEORGE TIPPEN, SENIOR CITIZEN

DEAR GEORGE: That makes sense to me. And our post-graduate education depends upon the course we take here on Earth.

Gas-sniffing can cause brain damage

DEAR DR. GOTT: My teen-age nephew sniffs gasoline, inhaling it until he passes out. He won't listen to anyone who tries to help him. Our local mental health agency says the problem is not their territory. What physical harm could result from my nephew's habit?

DR. GOTT

antidote for mild depression. You can try it, but I believe the Zoloft will be more effective.

If your physician agrees, I see no reason to prohibit you from having an occasional glass of wine. Remember that alcohol is a depressant and can interfere with many medications, so go easy.

© 1998 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN

If you would like to write to Dr. Gott send your letter to: P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158.

DEAR READER: Sniffing gasoline, glue or other hydrocarbon derivatives is a dangerous form of substance abuse that can cause brain damage, liver failure and suffocation, not to mention death from other reasons. The habit is certainly within the province of mental health professionals, because it is a behavioral abnormality related to drug addiction. I don't understand why your mental health agency abdicated its responsibility; this is reprehensible.

Successful therapy for this type of drug habituation is similar to that for alcohol or other substance abuse: namely, avoiding the drug, seeking counseling and participating in support groups. As a first step, your nephew should be evaluated by a physician to make sure that his habit hasn't caused physical problems. Then the doctor can refer your nephew for appropriate counseling and/or treatment that could literally save his life.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Help II: Substance Abuse and Mental Health." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have been prescribed Zoloft for depression, and it has made a remarkable difference in my life. How long do I have to take it? Is St. John's Wort an appropriate substitute? Can I have a glass of wine when I go out for dinner?

DEAR READER: Depression is a major health problem in this country today. Many depressed patients attribute their happier and more productive lives to prescription antidepressants, including Zoloft and others. As a general rule, the medicine is taken for years. I cannot give you an exact figure, some patients take it for a month or two, others require a life-

WIN AT BRIDGE

Never mind the size, feel the quality

By Phillip Alder

The third magazine from England is the best for the less capable player. Bridge Plus comes in 68 small-sized pages with articles intended for the improving player. It is well produced by editor Elena Jeronimidis.

This deal from the magazine was described by Freddie North. What do you think of the auction? How should South plan the play after West leads the heart king in answer to his partner's opening bid?

North is rightly critical of North's (sorry) two club advance. (The partner of an intervener — an overcaller or takeout doubler — is called the advancer.) Yet he thinks North should pass. I disagree with that too. He has a good 10 points with an excellent five-card suit. North South could easily have a game. True, the doubleton spade is a drawback, but what's wrong with bidding one no trump? It looks automatic to me. South presumably passes, and North's declarer play wouldn't be tested.

A diamond lead from West would kill two no trump. But with no guaranteed entry and a weak suit, West is probably right to lead the heart king.

Now declarer has a pretty play available. He should win with dummy's heart ace and call for the heart three. How does East defend? If he wins with the queen, declarer has eight tricks via three spades, three hearts, one diamond and one club. And if East ducks, South switches to spades, getting home via four spades, two hearts, one diamond and one club.

An annual subscription is approximately $70. Call (644-118) 935-1052 during business hours in England. Have your credit card handy.

HOROSCOPE

Your Birthday
Friday, Nov. 13, 1998

Partnership arrangements could be the greatest source of achievement for you in the year ahead. So don't hesitate to team up whenever possible. In fact, there is a probability you might establish at least four productive alliances.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A least expected source may step forward today and assist you with a problem you might have otherwise hired professional help. The savings will be impressive. Astro-Graph year ahead predictions make great Christmas stocking stuffers for all signs of the zodiac. Mail $2 and self-addressed stamped envelope for each to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state all zodiac signs you desire.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Just because there may not be any aches or pains related to something that comes very easily for you today, it doesn't mean it is of little worth. On the contrary, it could be of great value.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Because of your effectiveness to harmoniously blend your inner drives with your mental capabilities, something propitious and extraordinary could develop for you today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The size of a project should not be a consideration for you today. You're actually apt to be more successful with projects grander in scope than the small ones.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is the day to go after a meaningful objective you've been reluctant to pursue. Brush aside any doubts you may have had, and go after the project with vigor. You'll succeed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is good day to contact persons who can be of assistance in supporting your efforts. Your positive attitude today could awaken their belief in your plans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Although you may normally prefer to work alone when tackling personal tasks, you could experience greater success in achieving your aims today by soliciting the help of a friend.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your input will prove to be a great asset for accomplishing a goal involving a group today. You might not even realize it, but it will be recognized by others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Remain hopeful and let events unfold as they will today. This is because Lady Luck wants to do what she can to assist you. Be aware that she needs to do things her way, not yours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Through two of your more influential social contacts, something propitious could develop for you today. Be attentive when those who have clout offer some inside information.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Not one, but several things that you've been previously unable to accomplish could be concluded today to your satisfaction.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your gift for taking the ill defined ideas of others and remodeling them into something more constructive will be in full force today to the benefit of everyone involved.

When business slows down, some businesses stop asking for business.

They stop advertising.

That's like trying to read a book in the dark.
Or holding a prayer meeting at the 50-yard line.
Or getting the last word with a politician.

When business slows down, that's the time to promote your business. Ask for customers. And tell them why they should shop your store. Maybe even offer specials to increase store traffic. Sound possible? It is. And the way to let your customers know is to advertise. Let us help. Call the Seminole Herald.

Lonestar is one of the hottest new acts in the country music network. They just released their latest album and last year's smash hit, "No News" vaulted to number one where it stood for three weeks.

'No news' is good news

Following a tremendous debut year as a country recording act, Lonestar couldn't have chosen a more apt title for its second collection of great songs than Crazy Nights. It gets wild out there; on radio and on stage, if not off.

But the foursome from Texas is no stranger to crazy nights on the road. Richie McDonald, Dean Sams, Michael Britt and Keech Rainwater cut their professional teeth playing 500 shows in two years' time in clubs from Las Vegas to Vancouver before they ever signed a recording contract. Their hard work paid off in spades when BNA Records released the group's self-titled debut CD, "Lonestar" in 1995. Not only did the gold-selling album produce four hit singles, including the wildly popular dance hall anthem "No News," but it established Lonestar as one of the hottest newcomers in country music, garnered them a host of industry newcomer awards and set the stage for Crazy Nights, an album certain to assure Lonestar a place in the annals of country stardom.

The foundation for Lonestar's ever-expanding acceptance was laid when Dean Sams, a keyboard player from Garland, Texas, singer Richie McDonald met in 1992 at the Dallas talent auditions for Opryland Theme Park. Sams got the gig while McDonald went

Loverboy hasn't lost a step

The success story behind these rockers begins in Alberta, Canada in 1978 when Paul Dean, a Vancouver native who had played in bands throughout high school and thereafter, met Mike Reno. Also from B.C., Reno had been living in Toronto, trying to turn music into a career. The two hit it off immediately as songwriters, musicians and friends. When Doug Johnson joined them, the core of the band was set. Matt Frenette was an old friend and colleague of Dean's and together with Scott Smith, the line-up was complete.

In early 1979, their first demo caught the attention of Lou Blair and Bruce Allen who took on management duties for Loverboy and signed them to Columbia Records. In July of 1980, Loverboy came out with their debut self-title album which contained two huge hits - "Turn Me Loose" and "The Kid in Hot." Soon after, the group landed its first big tours and toured for over a year straight.

Between dates, the band managed to write and record a second LP "Get Lucky" in 1981. Two singles from that album, "Working for the Weekend" and "When It's Over" catapulted the group to headliner status and that year, the group broke attendance records all over North America.

In April 1982, Loverboy made Canadian recording industry history by nearly sweeping the Juno Awards, winning in six categories.

The pace of the band never let up. By June of 1983, the group released "Keep It Up" and picked up several more awards. That album featured hits "Hot Girls In Love" and "Queen of the Broken Hearts."

But after eight more grueling months of touring, the group needed a break.

"We'd been on the road for five years straight," Dean remembered. "Our minds and bodies needed a break."

The band released another record in 1985, "Lovin' Every Minute Of It." Loverboy achieved its first two top-10 CHR singles, "Hot Girls In Love" and the title track and their tour landed them as one of the top-5 grossing acts.

By 1989, 11 years of touring had taken its toll on each of the band members and they decided it was time to take a rest, but recently the group figured it was time to recreate the old magic and hit the Chubby Checker is bringing his legendary style back to Sanford at the Heritage Festival. He's still twistin' after nearly 40 years.

Still twistin' after all these years

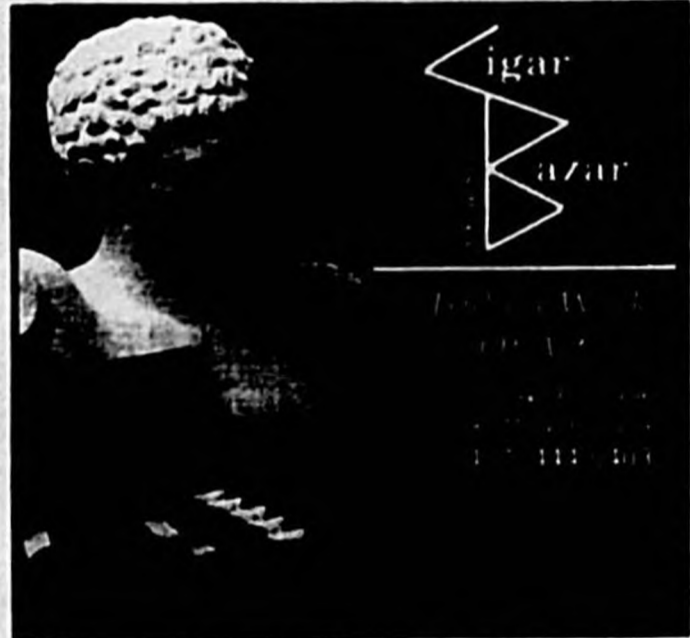

Chubby Checker, the King of the Twist, has been packing in crowds and pleasing audiences of all ages for the past three-and-a-half decades. His ability to electrify an audience puts him in a class of his own.

Chubby has performed in all types of show-rooms, casinos, clubs, concert halls and theaters as well as before presidents, heads of state and large corporations throughout his career.

He has been out on the road doing what he does best, entertaining and providing fun for people. His heavy touring schedule is guaranteed to route him through your neighborhood or region, so everyone at the Sanford Heritage Festival has a great chance to see a part of history.

His hit, "The Twist," is number two on the list of the Top 5,000 Songs of the Rock Era. Other hits such as "Limbo Rock (311), "Pony Time" (483), "Let's Twist Again" (2,076), "Slow Twistin'" (2,017) and "Popeye Hitchhiker" (4,226) also made the list.

He'll perform Saturday night at 7 p.m. and 10:30 p.m.

The Local Girls will entertain with their brand of music from the 30s and 40s. They have opened for national recording artists and performed at Hillary Clinton's 50th birthday party.

Local girls are ready to rock

The Local Girls were formed on a summer's night in Athens, Ohio in 1988. The three singers--Brenda Catania, Gay Dalzell, and Mimi Hart--came from varied musical back-grounds but quickly realized that they shared an enthusiasm for close three part harmony songs. Each woman remains stylistically distinctive, but together they create an unusually strong, vibrant blend--and they have fun doing it!

Although much of their material focuses on the hot and vampy swing tunes of the 30's and 40's (The Boswells, The Jimmy Lunceford Trio, and The Rhythm Boys), they also pursue their eclectic musical interests by performing their own arrangements of cowpoke, be-bop, blues, standards, and an occasional psychedelic hit.

The Local Girls have opened for The Platters, accompanied David Bromberg, and entertained the troops surrounding Air Force One! Having provided music for the award-winning PBS TV series, "RURAL COMMUNITIES: Legacy & Change". The Local Girls also performed the historical songs in "America's Women: A Legacy of Change", a nationally syndicated four-part documentary for which Gay Dalzell provided the narration and which won the Women in Radio and TV award for the best documentary series. Working with the renown string ensemble, The Lark Quartet, The Local Girls premiered a new birthday song, Your Trip around the Sun, on the occasion of Hillary Clinton's 50th birthday gala in Washington, D.C., hosted by Tipper Gore.

Brenda Catania has worked primarily in Boston and San Francisco, doing studio work, cabaret, musical theater, rock and roll, and with the performance art groups Nuclear Beauty Parlour and Monster Girls. On the West Coast, Brenda shared the stage with artists like Etta James and Bonnie Bramlett. As a featured member of the Governor's Official State Touring Performance Group for the Bicentennial, the Appalachian Green Parks Project, Gay Dalzell has toured extensively, singing from bluegrass to blues; she has traveled, too, with well-remembered groups like Aces and Eights and Close Enough for Jazz, as well as continuing her popular folk/jazz duo work with her husband, Bruce Dalzell. In addition to her work as a musical therapist, she continues her work for radio, TV, and film. Mimi Hart began singing at six with her sisters for ladies luncheons, which eventually led to her touring and recording with the Allman Brothers. She's worked the East Coast with Hotcakes and The Paula Lockheart Band, toured the North and South with The Bobcats, and sang backup for David Bromberg.

The Local Girls' guitar accompanist, Mike McGannon, is a well-known Ohio musician; he was the musical director of The Angels, and toured with The Drifters, The Coasters, and members of Steely Dan and Toto. Mike's multi-instrumental talent--on banjo, electric and acoustic guitar--is heard on innumerable jingles and soundtracks. Bill Watson would rather be playing the bass than doing anything else. He's been at it for about 30 years, and is happy playing bluegrass, jazz, rhythm and blues or rock. He can be heard with Clearfork, as well as The Local Girls, and is an alumnus of the Numbers Band, The Bobcats and many more.

The Local Girls are singers who respect a beautiful melody and lyric, but still want to have fun. They provide a truly entertaining evening, evoking not simply nostalgia, but the timeless pleasure of fine music. And they do it in three parts!

Historic Sanford is Gate City of South Florida

Dubbed the "Gate City of South Florida" by founder and namesake Henry Shelton Sanford, the picturesque lakefront community welcomed wealthy northerners arriving by steamboat in search of warmth and recreation. This strategic location opened the rest of Central Florida to development.

In 1870, Sanford purchased 12,548 acres on the shore of Lake Monroe, just west of Mellowville. The United States diplomat and lawyer planned a city complete with a pier, businesses, homes, parks and schools. He lived at Belair, an experimental garden and citrus grove Sanford established outside his new city. Prominent citrus grower Sydney Chase later bought Sanford has been a thriving town and one of the major areas on Central Florida for nearly 140 years. The historic waterfront hosted the Seminole County Fair in 1915 at the corner of First Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Sanford

his former employer's 145-acre estate.

Sanford's city became a thriving commercial center. Arriving passengers often traveled to Orlando by rail or to hotels, cottages and springs in Longwood, Altamonte Springs and Lake Mary.

Pioneers shipped crops grown in the new frontier from the busy port. After back-to-back citrus freezes in the mid-1890s, the area turned to celery and, in the early 20th century, became known as the celery capital of the world.

A century later, the Florida Department of State considers Sanford's revitalized commercial district to be "one of the best-preserved collections of 19th- and 20th-century commercial architecture in Florida." Ninety percent of the buildings constructed between 1886 and 1910 remain. The city's commercial and residential districts are listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The Sanford Museum, 502 E. First St., and the Chamber of Commerce, 400 E. First St., offer downtown walking-tour maps.

Brass plaques designate the 21 buildings on the hour-long walk. The DeForest Block, the first stop on the tour, is one of the few buildings that survived a bakery fire that burned down most of the city's wooden structures in 1887. Although alterations mask some early architectural features, many structures closely resemble their 19th century appearance. It's not hard to envision travelers arriving at railroad tycoon Henry B. Plant's Turkish-style PICO (Plant Investment Company) Hotel, or a reporter hustling into the old Sanford Herald Building, on S. Magnolia Ave. Hester and Shepard's commercial block, which housed a fire station for 84 years, is reported to have been the site of Seminole County's only legal hanging.

South of downtown, in Sanford's Historic Residential District, many of the more than 400 homes have been preserved, other owners are in the process. The residential district encompasses 250 acres, from 3rd to 14th street between Sanford and Elm avenues.

Sanford railroad superintendent James Cochran Higgins built the Higgins House, at 420 S. Oak Ave., in 1894. The two-story, Queen Anne home was restored in 1989 and is now a bed and breakfast, with a gift and antique shop upstairs.

A high school was built in 1902 in the heart of the residential district, at 301 W. Seventh St. The two-story brick Romanesque Revival-style structure was converted to a grammar school in 1911 and placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1984, after Seminole County School Board members converted the school to a hands-on history museum and classroom.

Fourth-graders from throughout the county spend a field day as junior historians at the school, now called the Student Museum and Center for the Social Studies. Known by many as "Sanford Grammar," it is the oldest school in continuous use in Seminole County and the fourth oldest in continuous use in Florida.

The Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital, later known as the Florida Hotel, 500 S. Oak Ave., across from Centennial Park, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. It was Seminole County's only hospital from 1919 to 1956.

The St. James A.M.E. Church, 819 Cypress Ave., was built in 1913. The red brick church, with close ties to Sanford's African-American religious and social life, was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1992.

The former Forrest Lake Hotel, 1000 E. First St., was built in 1925, just prior to a bust cycle in Florida development. The massive project was fraught with problems and is rumored to have contributed to the City of Sanford's bankruptcy.

Exhibits at the Sanford Museum chronicle Sanford's story — the man's and the city's. Additional information about Seminole County's heritage can be found at the Museum of Seminole County History, off 17-92 across from Flea World, in the former County Old Folks Home. A request to add the structure to the National Register of Historic Places is pending.

The museums and commercial structures give 20th-century visitors a feel for the people and the traditions that formed the foundation of our community. Looking out over Lake Monroe one can almost hear the echo of steamship whistles in the distance.

Museum Specialist Serona Fisher, dressed in period costume, uses tools from the early 1900s to teach fourth graders about Seminole County history at the Student Museum and Center for the Social Studies.

Just in case - first aid available

The Sanford Fire Department will provide a First Aid Station all days of the Sanford Heritage Festival, November 13 through 15. The manned aid station will be located behind the Pepsi Stage, facing Sanford Avenue right next to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building.

The "Lost and Found" booth will be located at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce Sanford Heritage Festival information and T-shirt sales tent in Magnolia Square. Lost children will be taken to the chamber building, 400 East

First Street, on the corner of East First Street and Sanford Avenue to await Mom or Dad and will be supervised by volunteers.

BMX freestyle to perform cycling tricks was born it spread rapidly throughout the United States and worldwide.

The team members are: Dave Mavro and Mike Andrews. These two riders will demonstrate their flatland tricks which, are performed on the ground, as well as their aerial tricks which are performed as the riders launch themselves and their bikes through the air.

The riders do stunts on 20-inch BMX Freestyle bicycles specially constructed of 4130 Chromoly for extra strength. These bicycles are also equipped with special wheels, tires, standing platforms, and braking systems that make Freestyle tricks possible.

Dave Mavro, age 26, has traveled around the world presenting exhibitions and representing All Wheel Sports. He has also appeared in many Sea World shows.

Mike Andrews, age 22, has competed nationally, receiving several awards, and has appeared in several expositions and conventions, including Sea World shows.

The show consists of approximately 20 minutes of flatland ramp stunts, choreographed to music. Emphasis is placed on bicycle safety, and wearing of proper safety gear. BMX Freestyle appeals to young and old alike. The twosome's crowd-pleasing tricks make for a spectacular show that keeps everyone on the edge of their seats.

The BMX freestyle trick team will perform four times throughout the weekend at the heritage Festival. The group has performed all over the world and is sure to keep spectators on the edge of their seats.

The BMX Freestyle Trick Team will perform at the Sanford Heritage Festival on Saturday, November 14, at 3 PM and 5 PM and on Sunday, November 15, at 2 PM and 4:30 PM.

The sport of BMX Freestyle began about fifteen years ago in California when bike riders became bored with just riding their bikes from one place to the other. Soon after the sport

Sanford meets Bahamas at Heritage Festival

One of the most colorful and exciting, and sure to be a Sanford Heritage Festival favorite, will be the Bahamian Market Place—an experience you won't want to miss. A delegation of 50 Bahamians will arrive in Sanford, November 12 and will begin a special relationship between Sanford and Gregory Town, Bahamas.

Radio Bahamas ZNS, the national radio station, will broadcast live from the Sanford Heritage Festival to over 100,000 Bahamians who listen to Picewell Forbes' Good Morning Bahamas Show. Mr. Forbes has received numerous certificates and awards for his work in broadcasting and for tireless efforts in publicizing the unique anthropological features of the Bahamian society, be they cultural, political, social, civic, or religious.

The Bahamian Market Place will present the heart pounding rush of Junkanoo. There are 3 days of high-energy performances by the Junkanoo band. Through its colorful costumes and unbelievable energy Junkanoo may remind you of Mardi Gras celebrations. Junkanoo is a Caribbean celebration two centuries old in which performers dress in colorful massive costumes that are artistically created of paper to depict a particular theme. The groups then "rush" through the crowds accompanied by music of traditional instruments, goatskin drums, whistles and cowbells which creates a rhythm and excitement difficult to ignore. Performances are completely

One of the highlights of the weekend will be entertainment provided by the Bahamian Market Place which will present the music of Junkanoo. The band will perform all three days and the crowd is involved the entire time.

Western democracy started in Eleuthera

About 60 miles east of Nassau, Bahamas, is one of the most popular Out Islands destination, Eleuthera. The popularity of this unique isle dates back to 1648 when the first permanent settlement in the Bahamas was established on Eleuthera, the largest of the out islands, extending 100 miles from north to south, and just over 1-1/2 miles wide and is one of the most developed of the Out Islands.

Eleuthera is 100 miles of magnificent pink-white beaches, sheltered coves, dramatic cliffs and incredible blue-green water. You can swim, snorkel and enjoy some of the finest diving anywhere, with exceptional dive facilities. You can also play tennis, golf, or stop to wonder at some of the fascinating sights. Admire and feed the fish at "Ocean Hole", located inland and over 100 fathoms deep.

It is hard to believe that such a small sliver of hilly land carries such a heavy historical load. Eleuthera (the Greek word for freedom) is considered the first true seat of democracy in the Western Hemisphere. Its first settlers, fleeing religious persecution in Bermuda and England, called themselves, the Eleutheran Adventurers, and time and circumstances would prove that tag more accurate than they ever expected.

Preacher's Cave is where shipwrecked Eleutheran Adventurers once took refuge and held this island's first religious services. Taste the sweet and uniquely delicious Bahamian pineapples grown in Gregory Town. Gregory Town is also where Atlantic waves roll against our shore, providing some of the best surfing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Between North Eleuthera and Gregory Town, is the Glass Window Bridge, one of the few places where you can compare the Atlantic with its rich blue waters on one side of the road and the calm green waters of the Caribbean on the other side separated by a strip of rock just wide enough to drive a car through safely.

For more information about Eleuthera, Bahamas, please write: The Ministry of Tourism, Eleuthera Travel Office, Governors Harbour, Eleuthera, Bahamas or call 242-332-2142.

Central Florida Regional Hospital is the most comprehensive healthcare facility serving Seminole and West Volusia counties. The hospital is home to the Central Florida Heart Center, the only open-heart surgical program in Seminole County. spontaneous and done with no previous rehearsals. Festival goers find it virtually impossible not to join in the parade.

Bahamians trace the origins of Junkanoo to the harvest festival of African slaves brought to the Bahamas during the 16th century. The name is attributed to a West African trader prince named John Canoe considered by many to be a hero to the slaves. Junkanoo is the National Festival of the Bahamas, traditionally celebrated during the early hours of December 26 and of New Year's Day.

Other events featured at the Bahamian Market Place is Bahamas fashion show; the plaiting of the heritage pole; and a hair braiding demonstration. On the Bahamian Market Place, Bahamasair Stage, will be 3 days of island music by "Funk Gang Island Band", "Eleuthera Express" and Dr. Sea Breeze."

Tasty Bahamian delicacies like fresh fruit daiquiris, conch fritters, peas and rice and conch salad will delight each market place visitor. Don't forget to buy a handmade souvenir from the Bahamas before you leave the Sanford Heritage Festival.

Densch plays vital role in Sanford

For nearly four decades, Wayne Densch, Inc. has been an integral part of Central Florida. Wayne Densch was awarded the Anheuser-Busch distributorship for Central Florida in 1960 and until his death in 1994 he led the company on a path of nonstop growth. As Budweiser and the Anheuser-Busch Family of products grew to become the nation's best-selling beers, Wayne Densch, Inc. settled into its role as the King of the beer market.

The current owner of Wayne Densch, Inc. is Leonard E. Williams. The company employs over 100 area residents and commands a market share of over 60 percent in its sales territory of Seminole County and parts of Lake and Orange Counties.

Schools gain from lottery

As Florida observes the tenth anniversary of its Lottery, contributions to public education in the Sunshine State continue. More than 10 years after the Lottery's first instant game, "MILLIONAIRE," went on sale, Florida Lottery's mission remains to responsibly raise as much revenue as possible for public education.

Since the first day of ticket sales on January 12, 1988 Florida Lottery players have contributed $8.5 billion dollars for pre-K, grades 1 through 12, community colleges, and state universities--a national record. No other state Lottery has earned as much for public education in the first 10 years. This adds up to more than $2.19 million per day for schools.

Of each Florida Lottery dollar, 50 cents is used for prizes to players. 38 cents is deposited into the Educational Trust Fund as mandated by the state constitution, and the remaining 12 cents is used for operating costs and retailer commissions. More than $800 million in Lottery revenue is deposited in the Florida Educational Enhancement Trust Fund each year.

Florida Lottery could only achieve this success with the support of its players, both residents and visitors. Lottery games have rewarded these players with nearly $10 billion in prizes during the past decade, and have created more than 570 millionaires!
