Advisory Panel Hears Criticism For Second Time

Cities: County Charter 'Power Grab'

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Cities in Seminole County, jealous of their present powers and distrustful of county government, are not in favor of a county charter, the county's charter advisory commission was told Tuesday night.

It was the only the second time the committee has heard criticism of the charter form of government since it began inviting speakers to its meetings last summer. Interestingly, the only other criticism also came from local elected officials—most of the county's constitutional officers.

Representatives of five of the county's seven cities spoke to only eight members of the committee—one short of a quorum. All but one speaker said their city councils were not in favor of the county adopting a charter. Longwood Commissioner Harvey Smeritson said his city government has taken no position on the issue.

Most vociferous in their opposition to a charter form of county government were William L. Colbert, Sanford city attorney; and Jane Dees, chairman of the Oviedo City Council.

Colbert opened his comments by telling the committee, "If all you've heard in your meetings since June (when the committee was formed) is how good charter government is, and that most people are in favor of it, I think you've been misinformed."

"Many cities see the suggestion of a county charter as a power grab by the county," he told the committee. He said there has been constant bickering between county and city governments in the last few years and "This is not the time for consideration of a county charter. We need a time of trust between county and city governments for a charter to be considered."

Colbert told of his experiences as a fifth-generation Seminole County resident who lives in an unincorporated area, and his experience as an

Longwood To Halt Clerk's Aid

By Jane Casselberry

Longwood City Attorney Michael Kramer said today nothing he has read in his research dealing specifically with incumbent city candidates asking the city clerk to type materials related to their campaign activities for them. However, he said it has the appearance of impropriety and he will recommend that the practice stop.

City Clerk Don Terry said today as far as he is concerned the practice stopped Monday when it was questioned by political newcomer Henry Hardy III, who is opposing Lormann in the Nov. 3 election. Hardy discovered a letter on city stationery from incumbent candidate and mayor Ed Myers while attending a political rally Sunday in Skylark.

Kramer said that the state election law prohibiting candidates from using any officials or employees of the state in their campaign during working hours does not apply to city employees. He said the city charter states all employees and officials of the city are subject to state election laws, but does not think this applies to this case.

Kramer said if there was an infraction it would be the candidate in violation, not the city clerk.

Terry said, unless it is obviously wrong, it's difficult to say "no" when asked to do something for a city commissioner for whom he is working. "I send out lots of letters signed by the mayor and it is hard to question everything in them as to if it has political implications," Terry explained. "For instance the mayor sends a letter to new resident welcoming them to the city and inviting them to attend city commission meetings."

Under questioning by City Commissioner Dave Gunter at Monday night's commission meeting, Terry admitted he had typed the letter for Myers as well as a typing up a campaign financial report for incumbent and deputy mayor, June Lormann.

Post Office To 'Clean Up' Act

By Maryann Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Renovation plans are under way to eliminate the scruffy look of Sanford's post office and post office officials got a go-ahead earlier this week from the county to begin work on a new post office for the Lake Monroe area west of Sanford.

Sanford Postmaster Fred Rader said he was told that the post office at 221 N. Palmetto Ave. will be renovated in the near future, but he could not give a definite date. Rader did say, however, that he received plans last week for a new heating and air-conditioning system for the building.

Rader said he has received a number of complaints from Sanford residents that the Palmetto Avenue building is run-down, in need of repair, and that the landscaping is an eyesore. Rader said he has passed the complaints on to his superior.

The new Lake Monroe post office is scheduled to be built in the spring, replacing the existing post office located a few blocks east of Interstate 4 on Monroe Road.

The U.S. Postal Service had approved plans to build a 3,360-square-foot post office on 1.7 acres on Upsala Road. Construction is expected to begin in February or March of 1988 and the new post office is scheduled to open sometime next fall.

Postal boxes turn green with mold, though one has been cleaned.

Stocks Soaring In Heavy Trading

By Ellen Frellich
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks rallied sharply in early trading today, sending the Dow Jones industrial average soaring 157 points in heavy trading. The Dow climbed to 1998.01 by 10:30 a.m. The blue chip indicator advanced 102.27 points Tuesday after plunging 508 points Monday.

Gainers pounded losers by a 15-1 ratio. Volume topped 100 million shares in the first hour of trading.

On Tuesday, the Dow recovered 102.27 points of its decline, rising to 1841.01, but the overall market was lower and the blue-chip gauge weakened toward the close of trading. On the New York Stock Exchange, three stocks fell Tuesday for each issue that gained in value. Devastation among the secondary and tertiary issues on the American Stock Exchange and in over-the-counter trading was nearly complete.

Arson-Murder Suspect Dies

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A suspect in a Casselberry, March arson-murder, who was shot in the chest Sept. 4 when he forced his way into another Casselberry home and threatened the homeowner with a gun, died Monday as a result of that chest wound.

Irving Leroy "Tex" Suhrstedt, 29, of Orlando, died at the Orlando Regional Medical Center after he was taken off a life support system.

Although, after he was first hospitalized for treatment to the gunshot wound, Suhrstedt reported to be in satisfactory condition, a couple of days later he went into cardiac arrest and then into a coma.

Seminole County sheriff's investigators said Tuesday that Suhrstedt never came out of the coma. Suhrstedt had been linked by sheriff's investigators to the arson-murder of and thefts from the home of victim Herbert Maurice Meisner, 52, of # 902 Semoran North Apartments, after Meisner's body was found March 30 in his home.

Suhrstedt was wounded Sept. 4, along with Thomas Leroy Mitchell, 28, of Christmas, by Russell Wilson Gilmore, 37, of 1309 Sterling Oaks Drive, Casselberry. Suhrstedt's wife, Joy Candace Roberts Suhrstedt, 23, of Orlando, has also been linked to both cases by sheriff's investigators.

Suhrstedt, his wife and Mitchell reportedly arrived at Gilmore's home at about 9 p.m. on the night Suhrstedt was shot. Gilmore had been arrested along with Suhrstedt on a California auto theft charge after they both left Florida following Meisner's

Japan's Wealth Now Helps U.S.

Japan recently has been trying to transform itself from a country of science imitators into a country of innovators. It also has become a fertile ground for American and European companies. These developments remind us that there's more to the unfolding Japanese economic "miracle" than perfidious trade practices and rip-off technology that should be met by protectionism.

In the postwar years, Japan played catch-up on technology, copying many Western and U.S. products. But it also was building a solid technological and scientific base that now is paying off. Its cars now help set the world standard for reliability and quality. Its VCRs spawned a whole new industry not only in Japan but in the United States. Japan's expertise in electronics and computers may play a key role in a strategic defense system for the West.

What we are seeing is something of a repeat of the U.S. experience during the 19th century. Having borrowed much technology from Britain (and stolen a few patents outright), the United States prospered sufficiently to begin generating its own technological breakthroughs.

To ensure against losing business to lower-cost imitations on their original inventions, U.S. companies improved their products with more accessories and higher quality. Our growing market also provided fertile territory for foreign investment, as it does now.

Similarly, American and European companies are increasing their investments in Japan, according to a report by the consulting firm Booz, Allen & Hamilton Inc. Far from a hostile environment, foreign companies' returns in Japan are about the same as in other countries. Most of the 400 companies surveyed say they don't face any insurmountable government barriers — or at least few barriers that Japanese companies don't face themselves.

The major problem for foreign companies, says an executive in Booz Allen's Japan office, is the complexity of doing business in Japan. They complain mostly about the difficulty in finding staff, mastering the distribution system and winning customers from competitors. And leading credence to the fact that Japan is becoming a technological innovator, an increasing number of companies are starting research centers in Japan and hiring staff to monitor new Japanese technology.

One reason for America's slow penetration of the Japanese market seems to be a simple lack of resolve. American firms are used to quick returns. Succeeding in the Japanese market takes patience. Few American businessmen know the language or customs, and the Japanese place greater reliance on personal relationships than in legal agreements.

But Japan's economy as a whole clearly is changing. It's no longer an economic leech hiding behind its own protectionist wall, a practice that characterized its rebuilding era after the devastation of World War II. It would be ironic if the United States started erecting barriers to innovation and competition just as Japan is shedding its barriers.

Yet that is essentially the situation. Congress is considering passing restrictive trade legislation just as Japan is creating scientific wealth and allowing the creation of U.S. wealth on its home turf. Those are developments worth encouraging. Killing the protectionist measures now in Congress would be a start.

Moynihan's Misguided Motorcade Motion

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sounding very much like a man in a great hurry cut off at the intersection by a motorcade, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan stuck it to the State Department.

He suggested, in legislative testimony that, henceforth, the State Department cease conveying foreign dignitaries to the Capitol in the flamboyant manner that has become commonplace.

Moynihan, the New York Democrat, offered an amendment to State's authorization bill seeking an end to the "recurrent spectacle of screaming, self-important, heavily armed caravans of limousines, some decoys" roaring into the Capitol grounds.

The amendment said the practice is "disorderly, disruptive" and "scarcely a service to the visitors themselves."

Moynihan suggested transport of foreign dignitaries to the Capitol by "two unadorned automobiles and no motorcycles would ensure foreign visitors a warm welcome and make clear to them that they are visiting the representative body of a democratic state, and not some besieged citadel of a fearful tyranny."

The day before, which might have been the last straw, Moynihan said the president of Mozambique "arrived here in a manner which Mr. Duvalier would have found excessive as he roared through Port au Prince."

"Indeed, that president enjoyed such treatments as any dozen of tyrants or dictators in the world are accustomed to," he said. "That is not our practice. That is not their place."

Moynihan said senators do not have "official cars, do not have motorcycle escorts, do not have praetorian guards" and told the State Department "be the way we do."

Or as Moynihan said, with a shrug, "If anything befalls us, misfortune of any kind, we will be replaced by other equally free representatives."

It's true that the president of Mozambique, Joaquim Alberto Chissano, could have come up to the Capitol in an "unadorned" car — that is if the police had advanced notice he was coming and someone cleared him through the driveway gate.

Otherwise, he could have hoofed it. And he could have gotten into the Capitol after going through the metal detectors. That is, if Chissano arrived when the Capitol is open to visitors.

Although the Capitol is a long way from the "besieged citadel of a fearful tyranny," the security is rigid and becoming more so with each passing year. The next step may well be a fence encircling the Capitol grounds.

The State Department puts on the caravan with motorcycle escorts in the interests of security, although the assumption has to be that some other factors — convenience and diplomatic recognition — play their roles.

There may be less of a threat on the well-guarded Capitol grounds than other parts of the capital, but asking a foreign dignitary to step out of his secure limousine and switch to an "unadorned" car would be a little too much.

And what if some other nations decided play a little tit-for-tat. Would Moynihan be comfortable having President Reagan, Secretary of State Shultz or Defense Secretary Weinberger looking around in "two unadorned" cars when they travel overseas.

Does Cuomo Fit In?

WASHINGTON (INEA) — Many political insiders believe that Mario Cuomo, while technically not a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is actually running as a "non-candidate."

They figure Cuomo is the governor of New York, is positioning himself to become the "fall-back" choice in case of a deadlocked nominating convention.

Cuomo has been careful never to say he does not want to be president.

When asked why he has not declared his candidacy, he speaks about how happy he is to be governor of New York, and says he doesn't believe he can perform as governor if he is off campaigning.

However, he has suggested that if he were nominated by a deadlocked Democratic convention next summer, he might accept the draft. But he is usually quick to add that he expects one of the current contenders to emerge as the nominee.

Political insiders are split over whether there might be a deadlocked convention and whether, in that event, the Democratic Party would turn to a "non-candidate" like Cuomo.

It is generally agreed that a deadlock is less likely since Sens. Gary Hart and Joe Biden dropped out, and Rep. Pat Schroeder decided not to run.

A deadlock could develop if Jesse Jackson does very well in the South and Rep. Paul Simon does better than expected in the Northeast. Both "favorite sons" emerge in some states to hold blocks of delegates together.

As for a non-candidate being nominated, that would depend on himself during the primaries as many delegates' fall-back choice. He would, in effect, have to campaign while not campaigning.

His positions on issues would have to be as well known as those of the announced candidates. It would have to become part of the primary process while remaining outside of it.

There's No Joy In 'Bakkerville'

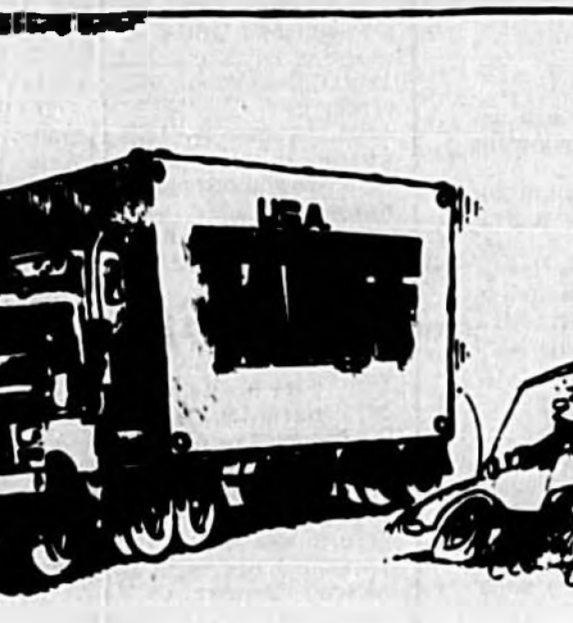

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Gatlinburg has the "Bakker blues."

The small eastern Tennessee resort community (pop. 3,500), gateway to Great Smoky Mountains National Park, is hospitable enough to defrocked televangelist Jim Bakker and his wife, Tammy Faye. But trying to satiate the hordes of curious who have come to see the place where the Bakkers decided to hole up has put something of a strain on Gatlinburg's residents.

Not, mind you, that the hardworking, generally religious people of "the Burg," as they call it, will come right out and ask the notorious couple to leave. But if the Bakkers were to succeed in their comeback attempt and settle for good again in their old South Carolina digs, there'd be few tears shed in Gatlinburg.

When Dale Van Atta visited the town recently, the Bakkers were back on the front pages again. Rev. Jerry Falwell had just resigned as head of the PTL empire, and Bakker seemed more determined than ever to rise from the ashes of adultery and disgrace. Further fanfare greeted the appearance of the latest Playboy magazine, for which Jessica Hahn had bared all in print — and almost all in the accompanying photographs — about her famous sexual encounter with

Blacks Realign Cities

PHILADELPHIA (NEA) — Two of the nation's largest cities, Philadelphia and Chicago, we are experiencing fundamental political realignments that threaten to divide many of their low- and middle-income voters on the basis of race.

In both cities, old-line white politicians who formerly were Democratic Party leaders have switched their allegiance to the Republican Party and apparently have convinced tens of thousands of white voters to follow them.

In both cities, those profound changes are directly attributable to white discontent with a Democratic Party whose voter base and political leadership in recent years have been increasingly dominated by blacks.

In Chicago, Alderman Edward R. Vrdolyak, a white who formerly was chairman of the Democratic Party in Cook County, last month switched to the Republican Party after repeatedly failing to defeat or humiliate Mayor Harold Washington, a black Democrat.

Vrdolyak is expected to be followed in the Republican Party to the coming months by 15,000 to 20,000 white voters who had been Democrats.

Cook County Sheriff James O'Grady, who previously switched from Democrat to Republican soon after the election, also has announced his support for Democrat — the first GOP victory in a countywide political race since the mid-1970s. Last year, two Republicans won unprecedented victories in contests for Illinois state senate seats from Chicago districts.

In overwhelmingly white Northeast Philadelphia, the entire delegation to the Pennsylvania state legislature — one senator and two representatives — has been transformed from Democrat to Republican in the last decade.

Murders that new black interest in the GOP is spreading from white, middle-class Kensington, and other Northeast communities to Fishtown and other low-income white neighborhoods in the city's "river wards."

That trend has accelerated dramatically because of the candidacy in this year's mayoral race of Frank L. Rizzo, who as a Democrat when he served two terms as mayor in the 1970s. Now he has turned Republican and he is believed to have influenced 50,000 to 60,000 voters to also change parties.

As in Chicago, the white Rizzo switched parties after failing to unseat an incumbent black Democrat, Mayor W. Wilson Goode. The two men now are facing each other again in a bitterly contested mayoral campaign.

"Most political observers here believe Goode will win next month's election. But, unanswered after the ballots are counted will be the growing problem of politically induced racial polarization in the "City of Brotherly Love."

The Bakkers' preferred spot for dining out is a pizza parlor.

City Manager Jim Varner, polite but blunt, boasted freely about his town and its fine people, but when asked about the Bakkers would only say enigmatically, "I've had some good folks coming in and some good folks going."

A local reporter said the Bakkers had made a great success of the fire department's white elephant sale by contributing "the usual junk." The Bakkers' "junk" was snapped up at high prices — by the townspeople, not the outlanders.

One old-timer pointed out that Gatlinburg had more than its share of "characters," like the one-time philanthropist whose mansion is a town landmark, but who was indicted for drug smuggling in Texas a few years back.

SCIENCE WORLD

World Of Tiny Creatures

By Rob Stein
UPI Science Writer

WOOLLS HOLE, Mass. (UPI) — J. Rudi Strickler clicked on a video screen in a monitor, producing the white outline of an oval animal with long, curly antennae bobbing up and down against a black background.

As the ghostly figure moved in a steady current, similar shaped animals sped past horizontally.

"Females go horizontally and males go up and down to increase the probability they'll meet so they can mate," said Strickler, a marine biologist and director of the Boston University Marine Program.

"It's a problem in the ocean for these tiny animals," said Strickler. "It's not New York. There's no disco to go to."

Strickler uses lasers and high-quality video technology to catch glimpses of the world of tiny animals that live deep in the world's oceans.

The animals, a type of crustacean known as copepods, eat algae and are in turn eaten by fish, making them a vital link in the aquatic food chain.

It's important to learn more about them, Strickler said, to avoid disrupting their environment with pollution and in other ways that would have a devastating impact further along the chain.

The best way to learn more about these organisms is to watch them. But since they are so small, live in near total darkness and move incredibly fast, that requires special equipment.

"In marine science, the problem is it's dark there," said Strickler, pointing at the floor during an interview in his satellite office at the Marine Biological Laboratory.

"When we want to know anything that goes on in an ocean we have to be a fly on the wall. We have to either go down or bring it back to the lab. That's where I'm involved. I'm the fly on the wall," he said.

Copepods range from about the size of the head of a pin to about a quarter-inch in length. But when magnified, they are revealed to be highly complex.

Then there was Ralford (Radford) Gatlin, who had the town, previously called White Oak Flats, renamed for himself after becoming strikekeeper/postmaster in 1858. Legend makes him a drunkard, a thief, a Democrat and a Confederate eastern Tennessee, and the owner of a female slave whom he may have murdered. But as local author and publisher George Aiken notes, all of this is hard to prove.

"We've had a number of notorious characters who have come and gone," Aiken said cheerfully. "As for the Bakkers, I'm no great admirer of theirs, but I have nothing against them either."

What does rile the local citizenry is the possibility that Bakker seems to be planning to expand in Gatlinburg. A few weeks ago, he and a real estate agent approached the owner of the venerable Buckner Inn, which has a unique view of Mount LeConte. The property was not for sale. But the next thing residents heard — there being few secrets of this kind in Gatlinburg — was that Bakker had offered $150,000 for an estate down the road.

As one old-timer remarked sourly: "Letting them live here without bothering them is one thing, but if they try to make it a Bakkerville, that's another thing altogether."

Chairmen Named For Bush Campaign

The George Bush for President campaign has announced state, regional and county co-chairmen, producing the white outline of an oval animal with long, curly antennae bobbing up and down against a black background.

Named regional co-chairmen for central Florida were Reps. Art Grindle, Altamonte Springs; Frank Stone, Casselberry; Dixie Sansom, Satellite Beach; Stan Bainer, Mount Dora; Thomas Drage and Richard Crotty, both of Orlando; and House Minority Leader Dale Patchett, Vero Beach.

The Bush campaign announced that 36 of the 60 Republican legislators in the state, or 60 percent, as well as

Drug Smuggler Sentenced After Skipping Bail

A former DeLand lawyer who jumped bail after his arrest on drug-smuggling charges in Seminole County in 1983 was sentenced in federal court Monday to 20 years.

Gerald Anderson, 41, will be eligible for parole in just over eight years.

Anderson, who has been disbarred, failed to show up for trial on charges that he smuggled 253 pounds of Colombian cocaine into Florida and Georgia. At the time, the cocaine was worth $24 million.

Anderson was a fugitive until March of this year, when he was arrested in rural Putnam County near Gainesville. Police were tipped as to his location. In July, Anderson was sentenced to five years for jumping bail. He earned parole in both cases rather than go to trial. The jail terms are to run concurrently.

The government did not prosecute drug racketeering charges against Anderson because of lack of evidence.

Anderson, who was a prominent attorney in the Orlando area around 1980, told the Herald during an exclusive jailhouse interview earlier this year that outside of pleading his only chance of success if the case went to trial was to hope for a hung jury and a mistrial.

In the 1983 arrest, 20 lawmen from several agencies converged at a Seminole County motel after an investigation with undercover agents.

Anderson was released on $100,000 bond, then skipped bail.

Halloween Safety Easy As These Tips

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

With Halloween just around the pumpkin, the state department of agriculture together with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has released some suggestions to make the holiday a safe one.

Caution children to not eat any of their treats before they get home. Examine all treats carefully before allowing children to eat them. In the Sanford area, Central Florida Regional Hospital will be sponsoring a free X-ray program to inspect the candy for foreign objects. If you're suspicious of any candy, call the police.

Look for a "Flame Resistant" label on costumes, masks, beards and wigs. This does not mean they won't catch fire, but it does indicate they will resist burning and should extinguish quickly when removed from the ignition source. Costumes should fit your child and have no excess material that could come in contact with flames from candles or other sources of ignition. To make your own fireproof costumes, mix 9 ounces of borac acid and 4 ounces of borax into 1 quart of hot water, saturate the fabric and allow to dry. Washing will remove the solution, but it can be repeated. The mixture is safe for all fabrics, according to the agricultural department.

Costumes should be brightly colored or light enough for motorists to see. If your child must wear black, such costumes can be decorated or trimmed with reflective tape that will glow in the beam of a vehicle's headlights. Treat bags also should be decorated with this tape. Children should carry a flashlight.

Make sure costumes are short enough to prevent tripping or falling. Make sure children have properly fitting shoes for walking.

Create a mask with make-up. Cosmetics are safer than masks, which cut off peripheral vision. If a mask is used, it should fit snugly and the eye holes should be large enough to allow full vision.

Do not allow children to carry sharp or hard objects. All knives, swords and similar accessories should be of soft or flexible materials.

Younger children always should be accompanied by an adult or an older responsible child. Do not allow children to trick-or-treat alone. Instruct children to use sidewalks, to walk, not run, from house to house, and to not run from between parked cars. Parents should know the exact route their kids will be taking. Also tell them to look out for lawn sprinklers, clotheslines and other law furniture or ornaments.

Children should only go to homes where outside lights are on or where Halloween decorations are displayed. Warn children never to go inside a home or apartment.

Martinez, Cabinet Clash On Growth

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Martinez and the Cabinet Tuesday hotly debated a Florida Keys permitting case that pits private property rights against the need to protect the environment, then put off a vote.

They also postponed action on a controversial land swap of surplus state property near Miami International Airport for southwest Florida wetlands.

Martinez and the Cabinet debated at length over the Anglers Club plan to build a flushing channel into Biscayne Bay as part of a marina-condominium development on North Key Largo.

The Anglers Club says it already has state permission to complete the project, but Department of Natural Resources director Tom Gardner says that permission should never have been granted.

Gardner told Martinez and the Cabinet former DNR chief Elton Gissendanner had exceeded his authority when he issued letters of consent allowing the developer to dig a canal from the marina to the bay. Gardner ordered the Anglers Club to halt work on the nearly-completed canal and go to the Cabinet for an easement review and an official permit.

But Anglers Club lawyer Clifford Schulman told Martinez and the Cabinet the group has already spent $800,000 on construction based on the Gissendanner letter. He said the Anglers Club would not be able to guarantee a pristine marina without the flushing channel, and could lose much of its $19 million in projected condominium sales.

Schulman urged the Cabinet not to decide that "in the top of the ninth inning the rules of the game have been changed."

"We are between the proverbial rock and a hard place," Schulman said. "If the action of (Gardner) stands, we are left with a long shallow dead-ender environmentalists said preservation of water and land belonging to the people of Florida must be a higher priority than a developer's profits. They fear the channel will damage seagrass, coral and water quality in the bay even though the Department of Environmental Regulation says the environmental threat is not great.

Audubon Society lobbyist Charles Lee noted DNR records show Gissendanner's lawyers told him he did not have the authority to issue the consent letter, and that the Anglers Club itself had voiced some doubts about the letter's validity.

"When a lobbyist has been able to go to an agency head and is able to weasel out of that agency head something that should not have been issued, this is not a situation that should be rewarded," Lee said.

All the Cabinet members agreed that Gissendanner had exceeded his authority, but were split over who should suffer for his error. The debate resulted in harsh words between the Republican Martinez and Democratic Commissioner of Insurance Bill Gunter, who have clashed before.

"The truth of the matter is, the state sanctioned it by (Gissendanner's letter). Money has been spent, commitments have been made," Martinez said. "I don't think we should be cavalier with people's property."

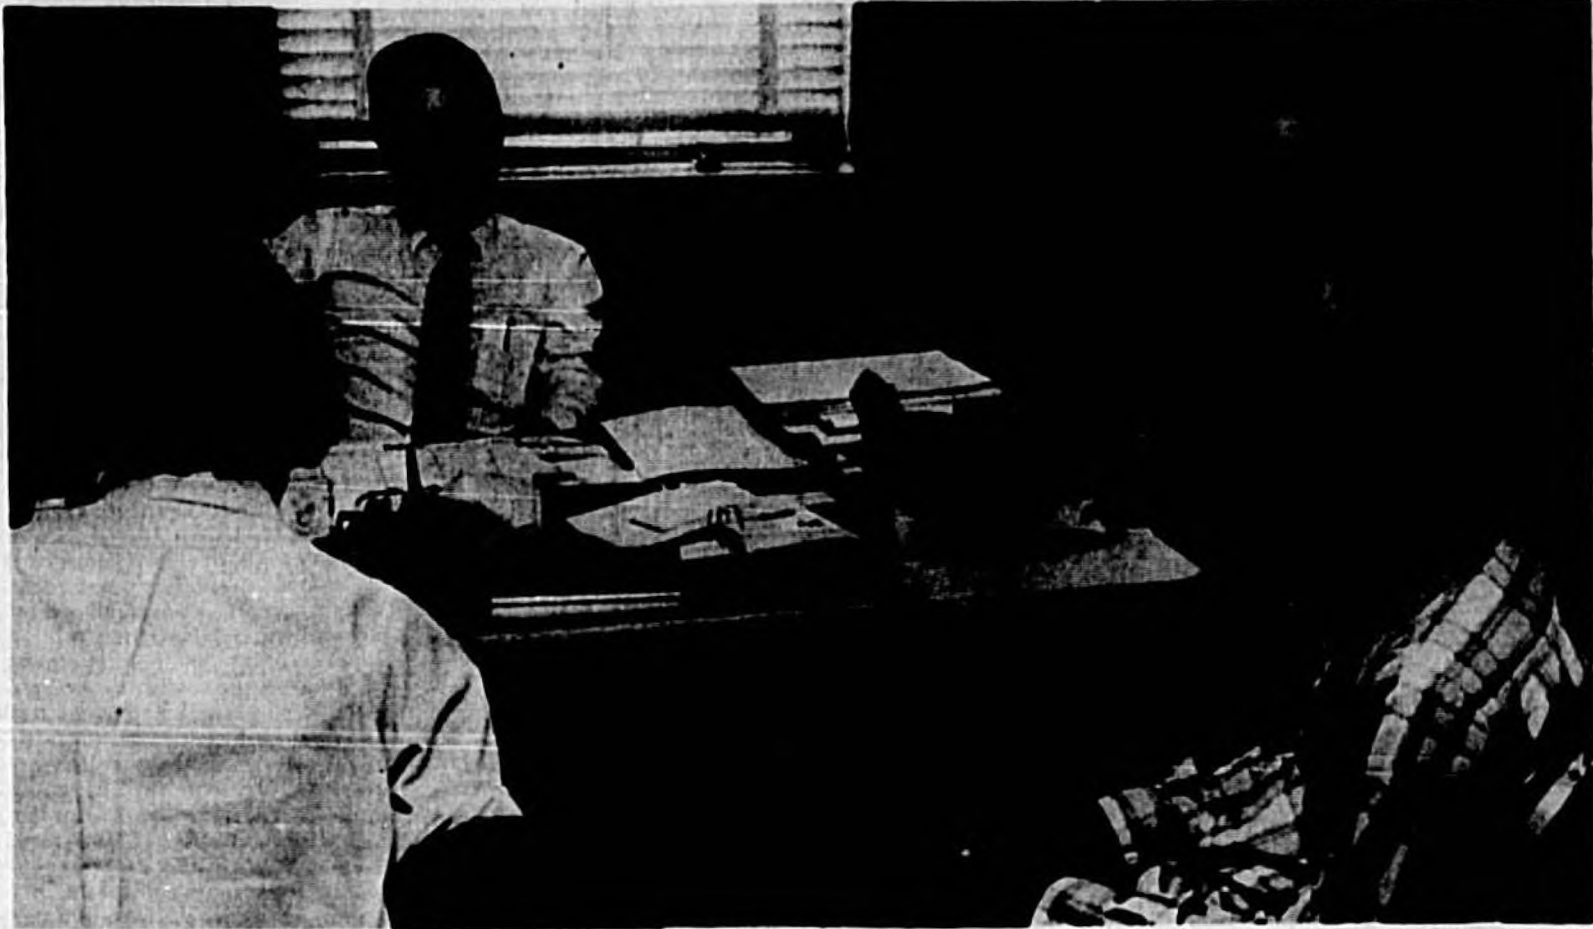

Retorted Gunter, "I don't think we should be cavalier with people's land."

Martinez was joined by Secretary of State Jim Smith, while Attorney General Bob Butterworth backed Gunter. The divided Cabinet agreed to postpone action on the case for two weeks, giving it time to study the legal and environmental consequences of the project.

Schulman said the Anglers Club would take the state to court if Martinez and the Cabinet eventually decide against them.

At the request of the landowner, Martinez and the Cabinet also postponed for one month action on a proposed land swap. The deal would have traded some 70 acres of state land in Dade County for Stardial Investments Company land on Estero Bay valued at $6.5 million and $2.85 million in cash.

The Stardial site is ranked 32nd on the state's main land-acquisition priority list, but DNR staff and environmentalists say the Dade County property is extremely valuable and should be traded for property ranked much higher on the acquisition list. Stardial lawyer and former attorney general Robert Shevin asked for an extra month to convince the Cabinet of the Stardial property's true worth.

Resources In The School

MIT Economist Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Robert M. Solow of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology won the 1987 Nobel Economics Prize today for "his contributions to the theory of economic growth."

Solow, 63, a native of New York City and an economic adviser to presidents Kennedy and Johnson, became the 15th American in the 18-year history of the award to win the economic prize, this year worth a record $340,000.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences said the award to Solow "recognizes his exceptional contributions" in "the study of the factors which permit production growth and increased welfare."

The award was announced against the backdrop of the sharpest fall in world financial markets since the Wall Street crash of 1929.

The academy's economics prize committee said Solow

"created a theoretical framework" which could be used "in discussing the factors which lie behind economic growth in both quantitative and theoretical terms."

"This framework can also be exploited to measure empirically the contributions made by various production factors in economic growth," the academy said.

Solow is widely recognized as an outstanding economic theorist whose special fields of interest are mathematical economic theory, the theory of capital and growth, macroeconomics and the economics of natural resources.

The MIT professor is a former member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and, during the past decade, has largely devoted his research efforts to "macroeconomic questions" involving unemployment and economic policy, the academy said.

"At the moment I'm still sleepy," Solow said when reached at his Boston home early today. "I feel very good — how else can you feel? It's a nice thing to think that all those people have a high opinion of what you've done."

"About 30 years ago I began a study of the theory of long-run growth of the economy, factors of technological change, capital formation and saving and how they fit together. I've been working off and on it ever since, so I'm pretty sure that's what the Swedish academy gave it for."

Judge Allows Unprecedented Testimony

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — In an apparently unprecedented move, a judge ruled Tuesday that a Harvard psychiatrist can testify about his "psychological autopsy" of Tina Mancini, the teenager who killed herself allegedly because her mother forced her to work as a stripper.

"In my mind, I know what she was thinking and feeling at the time of her death," Dr. Douglas George Jacobs told Broward County Circuit Court Judge Arthur Franza.

Mancini's mother, Theresa Jackson, 40, is charged with aggravated child abuse, procuring sexual performances by a child and forging her daughter's birth certificate in the landmark case.

Defense lawyers said allowing Jacobs, a Harvard Medical School psychiatrist, to testify about the 17-year-old Mancini's suicide is unprecedented in a criminal trial, although similar testimony was admitted in a

Rhode Island civil case.

Jacobs said he would testify on Mancini's state of mind at the time of her death based on interviews with friends and relatives and by studying her medical history, which included a suicide attempt at age 13.

Mancini killed herself March 24, 1986, with a .357-Magnum pistol.

Defense lawyer Ken Whitman said allowing the psychiatrist to testify would set a dangerous precedent in which such doctors could second-guess a parent's decisions.

"Parents will now be scrutinized in hindsight," Whitman said. "This will open a floodgate."

Prosecutor Kathleen Kearny said Jacobs' testimony was needed because, "the state intends to educate the jury about suicide."

"I want to go into the difference between adult and adolescent suicides," Dr. Jacobs is the glue that provides answers to all these facts," she said.

Kearny said although Mancini had other options, such as living with her grandfather, she chose suicide. Mancini had also saved $2,000 at the time of her death, the prosecutor said.

"I want to delve into violence, into the significance of the gun used," Kearny told the judge.

Whitman argued that proving a suicidal state of mind is "hypothesizing."

Earlier, Kate Springer, formerly a reporter with a Fort Lauderdale newspaper, said she interviewed Jackson.

Springer said Jackson was proud of her daughter and her dancing ability.

"She said men would drop their drinks, she was so beautiful," Springer said.

Springer said Jackson told her Mancini was not promiscuous. "She said she and her daughter had sworn celibacy. They were like sisters," Springer said.

Reagan Orders Spending Curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan ordered temporary curbs on federal spending Tuesday, laying the groundwork for harsh automatic budget cuts unless the administration and Congress resolve a fractious dispute over government spending.

Reagan's order accompanied a fresh estimate by the White House budget office that places the fiscal 1988 federal deficit at $163 billion, higher than earlier administration forecasts.

Unless Reagan and Congress resolve their differences over efforts to develop an alternative deficit-cutting plan, the temporary spending restrictions could become permanent Nov. 20.

"We can't let this happen," Director James Miller of the White House budget office told the House Budget Committee during a hearing called to allow him to outline his office's deficit report.

"We must find an acceptable alternative that reduces the deficit without endangering our national defenses, without slashing important programs that protect the health and safety of our citizens and without raising taxes," Miller added.

But some members of the Democratic-controlled Budget Committee said the White House is responsible for the standoff between the administration and Congress on how to accomplish the $23 billion in deficit reduction required this year under the revised Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law.

"This torpedo-be-damned tax resistance of the White House has to stop," said Rep. Pat Williams, D-Mont.

He referred to Reagan's insistence that he would veto congressional proposals to meet the $23 billion goal by ordering $12 billion in new taxes for fiscal 1988, which began Oct. 1. The measures are expected to be ready for House and Senate votes next week.

"What we now need desperately ... is a deficit reduction policy reached by agreement between Congress and the administration," said committee Chairman William Gray, D-Pa.

At the White House, reporters asked Reagan about Democratic calls for fresh tax increases and he said, "They're not going to get them."

The White House Office of Management and Budget's new estimate is up $800 million from its January projection — a slightly smaller increase than measured by the Congressional Budget Office in a similar report last week. It also is up more than $26 billion from an August estimate, partly because of new requirements for processing the figure.

In its report, the CBO estimated the deficit at $179.3 billion, about $16 billion higher than the administration.

Supporters pushed the new budget-balancing law because they saw its threat of automatic reductions in federal accounts as such a horrible prospect that Congress and the president would be certain to work together to find a better way to trim the deficit. But now some say the theory might not prove correct.

They think Reagan may prefer the automatic cuts — which would amount to 10.5 percent in affected defense programs and 8.5 percent in non-defense accounts — rather than the tax-raising plans pending in Congress. If automatic cuts are implemented, they would be divided equally between defense accounts and domestic programs.

IN BRIEF

Investigators Probe Jet Crash; Pilot's Bail-Out Called Correct

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — An Air Force pilot who safely parachuted from his crippled jet fighter seconds before it smashed into an airport hotel, killing nine people and injuring seven, apparently acted correctly in bailing out "considering the situation," officials say.

But amid the twisted wreckage of the warplane and the rubble of a fire-blackened Ramada Inn, investigators said it would take weeks to discover why the engine in the jet "flamed out" and triggered the disaster.

Seconds after Maj. Bruce Teagarden ejected Tuesday morning, his unmanned A-7D Corsair slammed into the hotel, and the 46-foot-long jet came to rest more than 75 feet inside the hotel.

An Air Force source told the Chicago Tribune, "The orders are to do what you can when you can when you have control of the aircraft and then get out" if control is lost.

Reagan's Deficit Offer Welcomed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional leaders, calling it high time to "cool the rhetoric," expressed relief at President Reagan's apparent new willingness to discuss a compromise deficit plan and to review their $12 billion tax ideas.

"We're ready to meet," declared Senate Republican leader Robert Dole after the president's public change of heart Tuesday. The Kansas lawmaker said he had the impression a high-level session could be expected "very soon."

The president backed away Tuesday from his past refusal to negotiate, saying in the wake of a second wild day for the stock market that he is "willing to look at whatever proposal" Congress puts forth, including tax increases.

Shuttle Crew Simulates Real Thing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The crew of the first post-Challenger shuttle mission is working through an imaginary flight as part of a 56-hour simulation that marks their first full-scale practice session for the real thing.

Commander Frederick Hauck, co-pilot Richard Covey, George Nelson, David Hilmers and John Lounge strapped into a shuttle simulator at the Johnson Space Center Tuesday to begin the make-believe flight, which began with a mock liftoff at 10:10 a.m.

History Texts 'Ho-Hum, Dumb'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federally financed study says history textbooks designed for children raised on TV are dull and dumb, citing one that covers Abraham Lincoln in two paragraphs and introduces World War II with the heading "Another War."

The study released Tuesday, titled "American History Textbooks: An Assessment of Quality," says the texts have been loaded down with graphics and sidebars and fail to tell a story in a clear and compelling fashion.

Governor Promises To Encourage Senior Citizen Hiring

Deltonan In Silver-Haired Legislature

From Staff and Wire Reports

TALLAHASSEE — A Deltona resident was participating in the 1987 Silver-Haired Legislature that heard Gov. Bob Martinez Monday promise to ease the labor shortage in Florida by encouraging the hiring of senior citizens.

Martinez addressed 160 citizen-legislators Monday who are spending three days in the Capitol and debating issues foremost in the minds of Florida's elderly. Participating in the session from Deltona is Frank J. Alloto, according to the event's organizers. There are no Seminole County residents participating in the event, organizers said.

The group plans to act on 101 pre-filed bills and present its final decisions to Martinez, the Cabinet and the "real" Legislature.

Officials in the Department of Labor, Department of Commerce and other agencies are concerned about a labor shortage which is expected in Florida by the end of the century and they are looking for ways to prevent it or reduce the impact, Martinez said.

One solution would be to encourage senior Floridians who desire to do so and are in good health to remain in the work force longer, full-time or part-time.

"Because of Florida's booming economy, there is a possibility we will create more jobs than we have the labor for," he said. "This offers an opportunity to those who may want to start another career, to those who may want to work longer, or to those who may want to work part-time."

"We will have a hard time trying to attract companies if we can't provide labor," he concluded.

The Silver-Haired Legislature will focus largely on health issues and other matters of concern to the state's elderly population. The elder statesmen directly represent some 2 million members, but hope to speak for all 4 million older Floridians.

The legislators will take up several health issues, including the medical malpractice crisis that has forced many doctors to leave high-risk specialties and closed the doors of several hospital emergency rooms.

The group has already come out in favor of Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter's proposed solution, which calls for a state-run insurance pool for doctors and tougher policing of physicians guilty of repeated malpractice.

The Silver-Haired Legislature began as a state-funded organization in 1978. The state stopped funding the group four years later, but the group reformed as a not-for-profit private organization and has been meeting ever since.

Silver-haired legislators are elected by members of the group — it costs $2 a year to join — along the same district lines used by the Legislature. The only requirement is that candidates be at least 60 years old.

Blast Heard On Kuwaiti Border; Iranian Missile Could Be Cause

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Power plant personnel near a port on the southern edge of Kuwait's border with Saudi Arabia heard a powerful blast today that could have been caused by a Silkorm missile, gulf-based oil executives said.

The sources, who are near the port of Mina Saud, said they did not know whether the explosion was the result of a missile attack or sabotage.

The oil executives, most of whom have close government contacts, said crude oil installations and refineries in Kuwait were operating in a routine fashion and there apparently was no danger to Kuwait's installations.

Meanwhile, the 12th Navy-escorted convoy of re-flagged Kuwaiti tankers moved southward through the Persian Gulf today amid threats by Iran to strike a "severe blow" in retaliation for a U.S. attack on an armed Iranian oil platform.

11 Dead From Terrorist Spree

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Police today searched for Sikh extremist gunmen who stormed through a posh residential neighborhood, killing at least 10 people and injuring 14 others in indiscriminate attacks.

One assailant died in an ensuing shootout with police in the Tuesday evening attack, officials said.

Police said three Sikhs, armed with pistols and automatic rifles and riding a motor scooter, sped through the Chittaranjan Park residential area of south New Delhi, firing at random on houses and pedestrians, some on after-dinner walks.

Team Discovers Pharaoh's Boat

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — An international scientific team that bored into a sealed chamber near the Great Pyramid of Giza has found the remains of a 4,600-year-old boat built for the Pharaoh Cheops.

The scientists Tuesday confirmed the existence of the ancient craft by drilling a hole 3 inches in diameter through 63 inches of limestone and making photographs of the sealed chamber with a sophisticated remote video recorder.

The 130-foot boat, similar to a Pharonic solar boat found buried on the wind-swept Giza plateau in 1954, was left untouched. The air inside the chamber was not disturbed during the expedition because the hole was sealed with a sophisticated air lock during the probe.

Troop Attack Slaps Communists

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Government air and ground forces, under orders from President Corazon Aquino to crack down on communists with "absolute vigor," overran a southern rebel camp and killed at least 20 guerrillas led by a renegade priest, military officials said today.

Two army battalions assaulted the rebel camp in the Amuslog mountains in Surigao del Norte province Monday, but some 300 guerrillas held their ground until two military T-28 fighter-bombers and a helicopter gunship pounded them Tuesday.

Military spokesman Col. Rodolfo Lorayas said soldiers found the bodies of 20 guerrillas after the rebels, led by a renegade Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. Frank Navarro, fled. Nine rebels were captured in the battle on strife-torn Mindanao Island, 500 miles south of Manila.

5 Solutions To Cool Off A 'Burnout'

Even the most avid tennis player among us sometimes gets tired of playing tennis. Many players have been hitting the tennis ball for 10, 20 or maybe even 30 years.

Now, it seems that after all those years on the court, sometimes it's just no fun — the thrill is gone. Psychologically speaking, you have "tennis burnout."

Its symptoms are many. You feel like it's a giant effort to play a match or have a practice session. You get distracted easily and find it difficult to concentrate. You don't feel like moving the old feet to get to a wide ball and the errors just flow off the racket.

This leads to frustration and even less fun with tennis than before. This was never a problem for the first 10 or 15 years that you played the game. Indeed, every match or every practice was a delightful experience and you couldn't wait for the next one.

Those were the days of improving and learning and competition. After more than 20 years of playing, teaching and watching and just being totally involved with tennis, you find that sometimes it's just not as much fun or as important as it was.

When I feel this way, it might last for a few days or a few weeks but it is common to all players who have been playing for many years. This "tennis burnout" is real and can visit you at any time.

It never stays with me very long, though, because I have several methods of dealing with it and putting it down. In fact, when I do go back to playing I feel more eager than ever and usually play better also.

Here are a few things that have worked for me in dealing with the tennis blahs — some may help you.

- Don't stop exercising just because you have stopped playing tennis. This is the worst thing you can do. If you don't want to play tennis for awhile try another activity. Something that is fun and will keep you in good shape until you start playing tennis again. I like to jog, play basketball, ride my bike or swim. Some like nautibus, walking or aerobics. Any of these are good companion exercises for tennis. (I would not recommend handball or racketball because these games can really mess up your tennis stroke.)

- If you are burned out with tennis it may be because you lack incentive to play better. You may be playing with the same one or two players every time you play. Play some new people. Better still — play a tournament or two. Nothing whets the appetite for wanting to play more than playing a few tournaments.

- If you mostly play doubles, start playing some singles a couple of times a week. The reverse is also often stimulating to a stale tennis life.

- Buy a new racket. Even if you don't need it, I have found that this works wonders and really puts life into a tired game. It makes you concentrate more and feel that you are playing better than ever before.

- Watch a good match on TV or some of the local tournaments. We all get pumped up watching the really good players play. We can't wait to get on the court after watching Wimbledon or the U.S. Open.

Most of all remember that "burnout" is normal for veteran tennis players. Don't worry it usually doesn't last long and you will come back stronger and having more fun than ever.

NOTE — The Florida Tennis Association will hold its 38th annual meeting at the Hollywood (Fla.) Beach Hilton on Nov. 7-8. The annual meeting is 1 p.m. and the awards banquet is 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $25. Call 757-8568 for information. Call 1 800 338-7800 to reserve a room at the Hilton for $55.

Cards Blow Up Kelly's Formula

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Minnesota Manager Tom Kelly's time-tested formula blew up Tuesday night, enabling the St. Louis Cardinals to avoid an overwhelming deficit in the World Series.

After being humbled by the Twins in the first two games at the Metrodome in Minneapolis, the Cardinals won Game 3, 3-1. Tuesday night behind a strong pitching performance by John Tudor and with the help of a highly questionable managerial maneuver by Kelly.

Kelly's decision to pull starter Les Straker in favor of Juan Berenguer after the Venezuelan right-hander had blanked the Cardinals for six innings proved disastrous for the Twins.

The Cardinals jumped on Berenguer, a hero of the American League playoffs, for three runs in the seventh inning to pull out the victory.

St. Louis will try to even the Series tonight by sending left-hander Greg Mathews against Minnesota's Frank Viola, winner of Game 1.

Bitterly cold weather with temperatures in the mid 20s is forecast for the game, which is scheduled to start at 8:35 p.m. EDT.

"Baseball was meant to be played in warm weather," Mathews said. "No one likes to pitch in the cold. However, because this game is so important it really won't make much difference. Once you run around a little bit and get the body juices going, you won't be able to tell the difference in the weather."

It was cold Tuesday night, too.

World Series

but it didn't seem to bother Straker or Tudor. Straker, in fact, didn't even wear an undershirt and had the Cardinals under control until Kelly made his fatal decision.

"He has been taking me out in the sixth or seventh inning all year," said Straker, showing disappointment on his face. "He said to me, 'You did a fine job, you threw 90 pitches (actually 89), that's it.' I didn't say anything. I could have gone another inning. I'm not tired now."

Kelly was only following the formula he had used all season and which had worked for him so well in the AL playoffs.

"He gave us what we wanted, five or six good innings," Kelly said. "It's his history, after six innings, he's shaky. He gave us a beautiful game but he had men on base every inning. I wanted to get two innings out of Berenguer and one from (Jeff) Reardon but it didn't work out."

Berenguer, who had pitched so well against Detroit in the AL playoffs, didn't have it this time. Jose Oquendo hit the first pitch to him for a single and went to second when Tony Pena dumped a single to right.

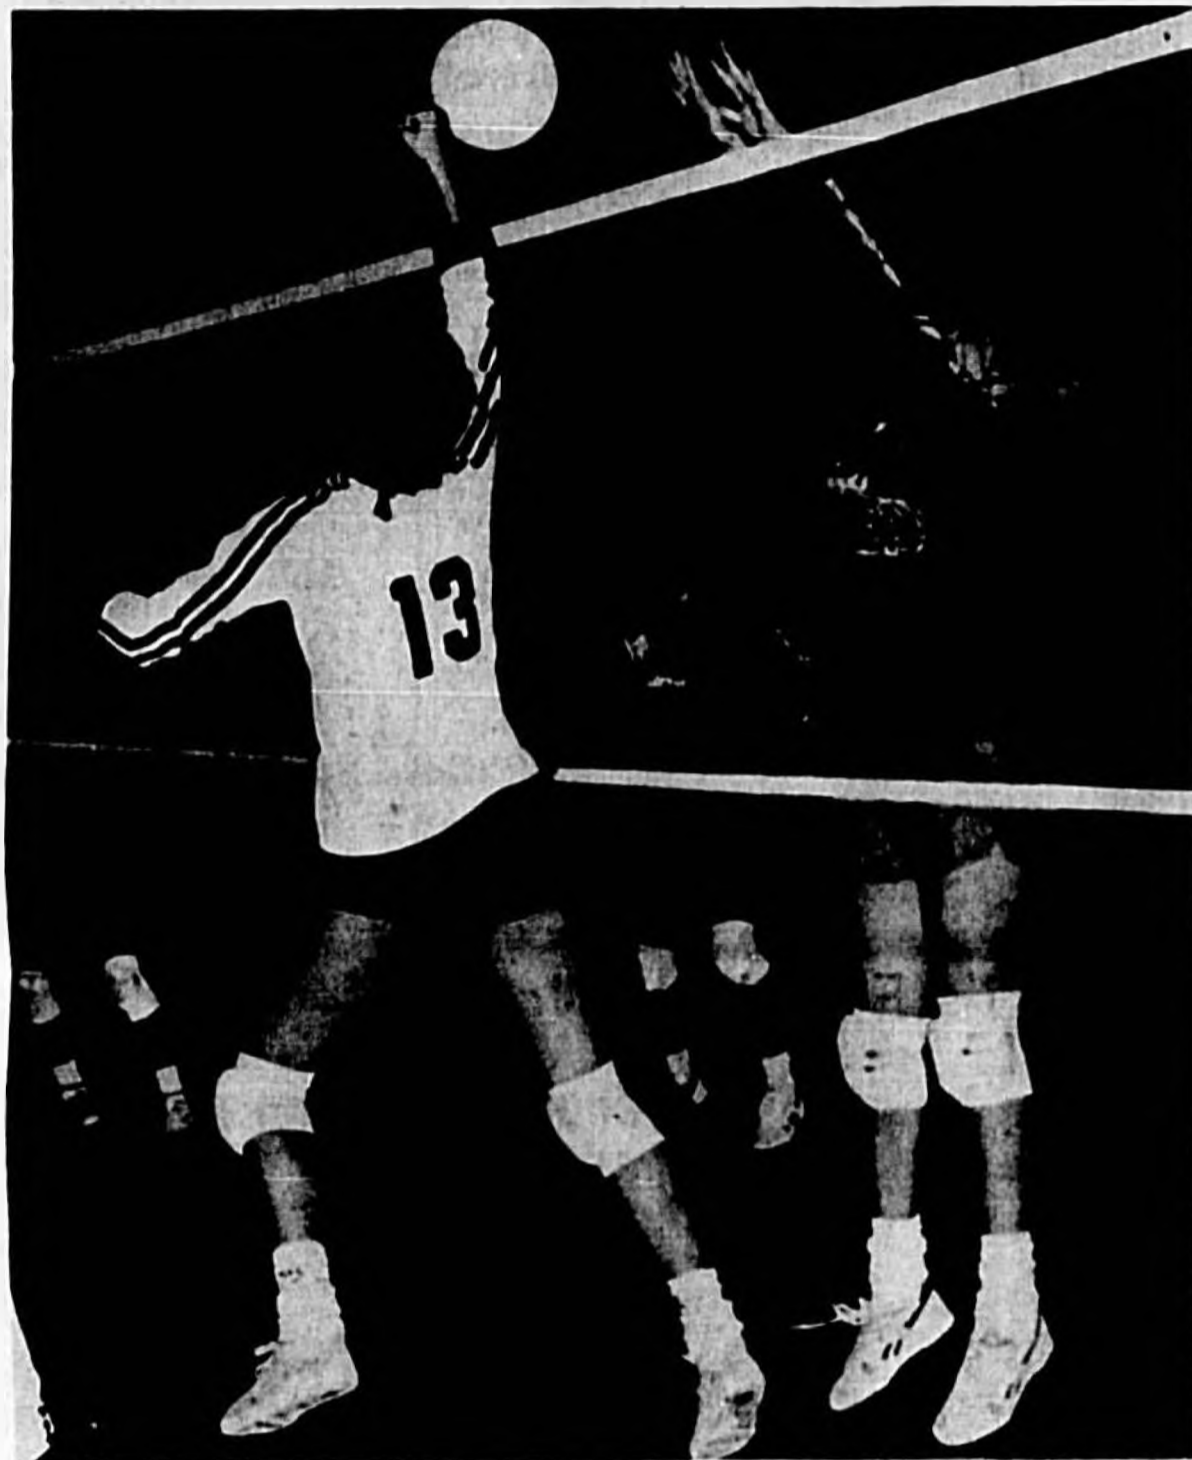

Terry Pendleton, batting for Tudor, sacrificed and Vince Coleman came through with a double down the left-field line to put the Cardinals ahead. Ozzie Smith followed with an RBI single and the Cardinals had the lead for good.

WFTV-9: 8 p.m.

"I was protecting the plate, just trying to put the ball in play, knowing it would surely get one run in," Coleman said.

As expected, the Twins' big bats were silenced at the larger Busch Stadium. Tudor was masterful for seven innings, allowing only four hits before turning things over to Todd Worrell, who blanked the Twins the final two innings.

Oviedo's Jill Knutson, left, fists a return at Lake Brantley's Kim Gunderson. Gunderson and Lady Pats upset Oviedo at home with a thrilling 16-14 third set victory.

Lady Pats Win In 'Lions' Den'

By Chris Fister

OVIEDO — If Tuesday night is an indication of better things to come, Stephanie Glance definitely has her Lake Brantley volleyball peaking at the right time. The Lady Patriots did something Tuesday night that no one has done in over two years — beat Oviedo's Lady Lions on their home court.

The inspired Lady Patriots twice fought off match point in the third game and went on to claim a 15-9, 1-15, 16-14 Seminole Athletic Conference victory before 141 fans at Oviedo High.

"The girls showed a lot of guts and determination tonight," Glance said. "They kept working on the attack, stayed aggressive and never quit and that's what makes a good team."

Lake Brantley ran its record to 16-7 overall and 7-4 in the SAC with its fourth consecutive victory. The Lady Patriots close out their conference schedule Thursday at home against Lake Mary.

Oviedo, which saw its 11-match winning streak snapped, now stands at 13-2 overall and 8-2 in the SAC. The Lady Lions and DeLand are now tied for first in the league. Oviedo has a nonconference game tonight at home against Kissimmee Osceola, then hosts Lake Howell in a crucial conference match Thursday.

"We had our chances but just didn't pull it off," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "We made some key mistakes at the end and there were times we held back on our attack and you can't do that against a good team like Lake Brantley."

While Lake Brantley rolled to victory in the first game Tuesday, Oviedo dominated game two. The third game, though, saw moments of brilliance by both teams and was perhaps the most exciting game of the season.

Jill Knutson's serving and Jodie Switzer's play at the net enabled Oviedo to take a 5-3 lead early, but Lake Brantley came back behind Wendy Vickery's all-around play to take a 6-5 lead.

Suzanne Hughes then got in a couple kills and Kerstin Colon had an ace serve as Oviedo took a 10-6 lead. Dawn Gebhart then came on with the best service string of the match as she took the momentum away from Oviedo by serving six points in a row. Four of Gebhart's serves were not returned as the Lady Patriots took a 12-10 lead.

"I'm really happy with the way I've been serving," Gebhart said. "At the beginning of the year, I was concentrating on just getting it over. Now that I have more confidence, I look for weak spots and try to place it."

Switzer ended Gebhart's serving string with a well-placed dump and Knutson served two points for a 12-12 tie. Oviedo got the ball back on a spike by Bobbie Kelley and Kelley then served an ace and a ball that wasn't returned for a 14-12 Oviedo lead. Kelley then served for the match but missed her serve.

Lake Brantley pulled within 14-13 on an excellent dump by Marianne Rodriguez but a missed serve returned the serve to Oviedo. Again the Lady Lions needed just one point for the match, but Lake Brantley hung tough and regained the serve. Vickery served the 14th point for Lake Brantley but a hit by Switzer off Knutson's set gave the Lady Lions a side out.

Volleyball

Again, though, Oviedo couldn't score, but Lake Brantley also missed its serve to give Oviedo another side out. Gebhart then came through with the biggest spike of the night as she put down a kill off a set by Rodriguez to give the Lady Patriots a side out and Kim Gunderson then served the last two points of the match. The final point came on Jeanne Seidel's tip of a bad pass by Oviedo.

Snow Falls On Sanford

Lake Mary sophomore Crissie Snow, one of the best young soccer players in the area, doesn't play volleyball just because a volleyball looks like a soccer ball.

Since being called up from junior varsity early in the year, Snow has been quite an asset to the varsity team and, Tuesday night, she played one of her best all-around matches of the season as the Lady Rams upended Seminole High, 15-10, 15-11, in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Seminole.

"I was really happy with the way she played all the way around," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said of Snow. "She had some good defensive plays, hit the ball well, had some good sets and serves. She even blocked 6-2 (Liz) Long straight down once."

"I know soccer is starting up and she can't wait to get out there," Henry added. "But I hope she can keep her mind on volleyball for a few more weeks."

The Lady Rams improved to 8-9 overall for the season and 5-6 in the SAC. Lake Mary had its last conference match Thursday at Lake Brantley. Seminole dropped to 5-11 overall and concluded its SAC play with a 4-8 record. The Lady Tribe is at St. Cloud on Thursday.

Lake Mary's junior varsity won in two games Tuesday to improve its record to 14-1.

HOWELL DROPS LYMAN

Pam Jones served six points in a row to break open the first game and Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks never looked back en route to a 15-5, 15-8 victory over Lyman in SAC action Tuesday at Lake Howell High.

The Lady Hawks improved to 9-10 overall and 6-5 in the SAC while Lyman dropped to 1-12 overall and 0-11 in the league. Lake Howell is at Oviedo Thursday while Lyman has its last chance for a conference win at DeLand.

Lake Howell had a slim 7-5 lead in the opening game Tuesday when Jones came on to serve the Lady Hawks to a 13-5 lead. In game two, Lyman stayed within 9-8 when Carey Manuel served two points and Stormi Littrell three as Lake Howell took command. Tammy Lewis served the final point.

Lake Howell's junior varsity also won in two games Tuesday, 15-6, 16-14, over the Lyman JV. Leslie Barton, Raquel Ortiz and Carolyn Dewar led the way for the JV Lady Hawks.

Hearing Set In Highsmith Case; Moods Somber At NFL Practices

MIAMI (UPI) — A full hearing is scheduled for Friday on an attempt by the NFL to overturn an injunction that made Houston Oiler draft choice Alonzo Highsmith a free agent.

The date was set by Dade County Circuit Judge George Orr after he refused to issue an immediate order Tuesday throwing out the original injunction on Highsmith, a former Miami Hurricane fullback who was the third player picked in the NFL draft last spring.

Circuit Judge John Gale had issued the order as the result of a suit filed by Highsmith against all 28 NFL teams charging Houston "conspired and continues to conspire" with other clubs in fixing the price of his contract.

Attorneys representing the NFL asked Orr to delay Gale's injunction until after the hearing Friday. Orr turned them down and said the injunction will stand until he can rule.

The injunction means Highsmith is a free agent, but NFL teams are waiting until the legal situation is resolved before approaching him with an offer.

There were reports that New England, Washington and San Francisco were interested, but no offers were made.

"We have dropped our interest in him because of legal matters," said Patriot spokesman Jim Greenridge. "Our attorney told us that it would be a legal nightmare. We are not pursuing him."

The Washington Redskins denied a Boston Globe report that they were going to offer Highsmith a contract. Both the Redskins and the Patriots were offering $4 million over four years, according to the Miami Herald and the Globe.

"No one has gone on record as saying that," said Redskins' spokesman Donnie Tusk.

REGULARS MINGLE

The mood at NFL practice fields was somber but peaceful Tuesday, when regular players mingled with the men who took their jobs the past three weeks.

Players returning after the 24-day strike that ended last week practiced for the first time with the replacements who have not been let go. There were no incidents reported, although the teams weren't exactly big, happy families.

"I think it was quiet, more quiet than normal," Miami Dolphins fullback Woody Bennett said after the regulars joined 19 replacement players still on the roster at a walk-through practice. "We haven't had any confrontations or anything like that."

"We're coming in trying to do our job," Dolphins tight end Bruce Hardy said. "We're worried about on the field, not in the locker room."

Some replacement players noticed more tension during practice but the mood of the workouts was more serious with the regular players back and Coach Don Shula determined to keep the players concentrating on football. "It was a little tense," said Miami replacement tackle Bill Beales, who claimed it was like an "us versus them attitude. They weren't saying much to us, and we weren't saying much to them."

The striking Dallas Cowboys returned Tuesday after their replacements won two of three games. The Cowboys were split during the strike, with starters Tony Dorsett, Danny White, Randy White and Ed "Too Tall" Jones among the strike-breakers.

"They were obviously subdued," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said of his regulars. "When you lose something like they have lost, it takes a while to get over it. None of us are too happy this morning, come to think about it."

The Cowboys lost 13-7 to the Redskins Monday night in the final replacement game.

Only a few replacement players were in the Cowboys locker room when the veterans returned.

Howell's Rebuilt Defense To Face Stern Test Friday

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Defensive coordinator Bob Irvin didn't just lose the heart of his defense to graduation last year. He lost the liver, lungs and both intestines.

Talk about rebuilding. Lake Howell's Silver Hawks had a few good leftover parts from the backbone of their 1986 championship season, but it took a surgeon's effort by Irvin to reconstruct them into a functioning unit.

There were some "major" departures: Linebacker Jeff Harris, the Sanford Herald Defensive Player of the Year, and defensive end Craig Wagner. Both went to Memphis State.

Tackle Marty Golloher signed with the Miami Hurricanes and safety Terry Gammans hooked up with Kansas.

Linebacker Steve Trier (Indiana, Pa.), tackle Al Valle (West Georgia) and Steve Sheppard (Tiffin, Ohio) were mainstays who went to smaller schools.

All told, Lake Howell lost seven defenders, leaving just linebacker Todd Shockley, safety David Dees, linebacker Steve Ryan and end John Schultz as the restructuring foundation.

After explosive Apopka erupted for 27 points in the opener, Lake Howell has been pretty consistent. The Hawks allowed 16 while losing to DeLand, then posted a 14-13 victory over DeLand. Once-beaten Winter Park clawed for 10 points for a three-point victory before Howell subdued ball-hogging Lake Brantley, 27-19, last week.

Coach Mike Bisceglia said Friday's big Seminole Athletic Conference/District 5A-4 battle against Lake Mary may be Howell's sternest defensive test of the year. "Lake Mary is like a machine," Bisceglia said. "This is the best Lake Mary team I've ever seen. I really mean that."

Irvin agrees but believes his defenders will be up to the task after taking a while to jell. "Early in the season we weren't getting the big defensive play," Irvin said. "Now, we're making the big play."

Irvin said the contributions of the returning four starters have been crucial to his defenders' maturation. All are seniors. David Dees, a three-year starter, had three tackles for losses against Brantley among his seven stops. "Dees has been a good leader and he has taken on the lead blocker consistently," Irvin said. "He sets up people for tackles, too."

Todd Shockley, averaging 11.6 stops per game, collected 12 solos and six assists against Brantley. "Shockley has also done a good job as a leader," Irvin said. "He played an excellent defensive game Friday."

John Schultz returned a fumble 65 yards for a touchdown, recorded a sack and was in on eight tackles. "Schultz showed me a lot of speed that I didn't know he had," Irvin said about the fumble return. "I do know that he is hard to move at defensive end."

Steve Ryan was injured early against Brantley and missed most of the game. He did, however, have 14 tackle against Winter Park. "Ryan has been our Steve Trier," Irvin said. "He takes on the lead blocker and stuffs him. He's been doing that all year."

Along with the four veterans, junior defensive end Greg Astle has been a strong contributor.

Lyman coach Bill Scott receives an explanation from an official. The Greyhounds, winless in two district games, entertain Port Orange Spruce Creek in a 5A-4 Friday.

Sandalwood (2-0) or Lake City Columbia (2-0) appears headed for the 5A-3 championship. Sandalwood (6-0) is ranked No. 8 in the Florida Sports Writers 5A Prep Poll. Columbia (5-0), coached by former Oviedo mentor Joe Montgomery, is ranked No. 9.

In 4A-7, Seminole (2-0) could win the title outright Friday, Oct. 30 with a victory at home against Oviedo (1-0). Oviedo needs to beat Seminole Oct. 30 and Orlando Edgewater Nov. 13. If Oviedo tops Seminole and loses to Edgewater, it would create a three-way deadlock at 2-1 with each holding a victory over the other. A tiebreaker playoff would determine the state playoff representative.

Neither Seminole nor Oviedo plays this Friday. The winner of 4A-7 meets the 4A-8 champion, probably Dade City Pasco (2-0), Brooksville Hernando (2-1) or Land 'O Lakes (2-1).

LEADERS — Although Lake Mary did not play last week, tailback John Curry held onto his rushing lead with 678 yards. Curry and Lyman's Victory Farrier lead the county in touchdowns with nine apiece and scoring with 54 points each. Seminole's Jeff Blake leads the QB's with 855 yards and seven scoring tosses. Howell's Jeff Neace fired three touchdowns last week to give him six for the year.

Tribe wide receiver Terrance Eady snared four passes last week to run his season total to 17. Mary's Sheldon Richards and Oviedo's Alan Greene each have 11.

Lyman's Scott Radcliff increased his punting lead over Brantley's Matt Miller and Howell's Erik Bird. Radcliff is averaging 39.1 while Miller, who missed last week with an injury, is next at 37.2. Bird is third with 37.1. Oviedo's Mike McCurdy (35.8) got off the season's longest boot — 55 yards — on a quick kick.

Defensively, Lyman's Mike Whitaker still rules the county with 14.8 tackles per game. Seminole's Earnie "Sackman" Lewis (14.2), Mary's David Penetik (12.8), Seminole's Leonard Lucas (12.2), Mary's Dan Ferris (12.2) and Lyman's John Scherpf (12.2) are next in line.

Mary's Terry "The Cat" Miller, Whitaker and Lyman's Johnny Luce each have three interceptions. Ferris leads in fumble recoveries with four. Ferris and Oviedo's Emery Sneed have six sacks apiece.

Spolski's FG Nips 'Noles — Hawks Take Rams

Andy Spolski's 28-yard field goal with 17 seconds remaining lifted Lyman to a 9-7 victory over Seminole in freshman football Tuesday night at Lyman High School.

Lyman improved to 5-1 while Seminole dropped to 2-2. "It was a tough loss," Seminole coach Mike Ferris said. "We had two goal-line stands and played real well defensively, but the kid (Spolski) booted it through with plenty to spare."

After a scoreless first quarter, Seminole opened the scoring when Tony Chavers found Jo Jo Murphy with a 40-yard scoring toss. Jeordie Davison booted the PAT for a 7-0 lead.

Lyman, though, came back on the next series, marching 75 yards for the touchdown. Toby Durham bolted in from seven yards for the score. The PAT kick, though, failed.

Henry Williams led the 'Noles with 65 yards. Mitch Wiggs, Chris Dowling, Aaron Cain and Charles Wilkinson played well defensively.

HOWELL HOLDS OFF LAKE MARY It was a tale of two quarters between Lake Howell and Lake Mary in freshman football action Monday night.

Sparked by a pair of blocked punts, Lake Howell rolled up a 22-0 lead after the first period and held that lead going into the fourth quarter. That's when Lake Mary got its offense in gear and scored three touchdowns to make it interesting.

Lake Mary had a chance to tie the game with a two-point conversion, but Lake Howell's defense held and the Hawks came away with a 22-20 victory.

"Not much happened inbetween the first and fourth quarters, but it was a very exciting game," Lake Howell coach John Brady said. "Lake Mary has a very talented team and our guys did a great job hanging in there at the end."

The victory gave Lake Howell a 4-1 mark.

Hiss Pleads For Mercy As Patriots Turn To Spoiler Role

By Scott Bender
Herald Sports Writer

The Lake Brantley Patriots may not win the Seminole Athletic Conference or District 5A-4 titles, but they'd sure like to spoil the chances of a team that might.

"I still feel that we are one of the better teams in the district," Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon said. "And if we aren't going to win it, we'll sure try to make it tough for the teams that are in contention for it."

One team that is in the thick of the SAC and 5A-4 races is DeLand. The Bulldogs are 4-1 overall and 2-0 in the SAC and 5A-4.

The Patriots, however, would like nothing better to spoil DeLand's playoff aspirations.

Almon and the Pats will get their chance to make things tough on DeLand on Friday night at 8 in a SAC/5A-4 clash. The game will be played at DeLand's Spec Martin Stadium.

The Patriots (3-3 overall, 1-3 in the SAC and 1-2 in 5A-4), are coming off a heartbreaking 27-19 loss to Lake Howell, in which they held a 19-14 fourth-quarter lead. "We should have won that game," Almon said. "But we had a big mistake and it hurt us. We are all still in very good spirits, though."

DeLand coach Dave Hiss, always the pessimist, said that he is awe of the Patriots. "Every week, it seems as though we play a better football team," Hiss said. "And that is the case again this week."

Football

"Lake Brantley is definitely the best football team that we have seen," Hiss said. "We have watched them on film, and they are an excellent team."

Almon said that he is impressed with the Bulldogs as well. "They are a powerful group," Almon said. "Our team is in for a tough night. They always seem to hit you hard."

Hiss said that the game is extremely significant to his team, but doesn't feel it has much of a chance. "We need this win to set up next week's game (Lake Mary)," Hiss said. "But in all honesty, I don't think that we have all that great of chance again them."

Almon doesn't buy Hiss' remarks. "Dave always says that his team is not all that good," Almon said. "But I can assure you that they are good, and we know it."

The two teams already met in the fall jamboree early in the year. Brantley prevailed, 7-3. "We moved the ball at will against them," Almon said. "We would have scored three touchdowns, but we fumbled twice."

"They looked good in the jamboree," Hiss said. "We were missing a few kids that will be playing this time. It should be a very interesting game."

DeLand is coming off a 30-8 shellacking over Daytona Beach

Mainland, but Hiss said that he has not been pleased with his team's play of late. "The kids are making a lot of mistakes, and we have had to stay out on the practice field for a long time every day," Hiss said. "We have struggled in our last few games, particularly on offense."

"I think that we peaked after our first game (Fl. Pierce Central), and have gone down since then," Hiss said. "We are still looking for the right offensive combinations."

Offensive combinations have not been a problem for the Patriots. Brantley has run its wishbone offense effectively this season. "I don't know how we are going to stop that offense," Hiss said. "It is going to be a true test for our defense, and I'm not sure that they are up to it."

Almon said that he feels as though his offense can outscore DeLand's. "I don't think that they can stop us," Almon said. "Nobody has yet."

Hiss, who emphasizes specialty teams, said that he hopes that the game will come down to the specialty units. "At DeLand, we work on defense, specialty teams, and offense in that order," Hiss said. "If it comes down to special teams, we might have a chance."

Almon said that the key to the game will be turnovers. "If we don't give them the ball, I think that we should be in for a big night," Almon said. "The strength of their team is their defense, and think that we can beat them right there."

Osborne Dispels Rumors Retiring

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Tom Osborne Tuesday dispelled rumors he might step down as football coach of No. 2 Nebraska in the near future because of health reasons.

Speculation about Osborne's health apparently arose two weeks ago after Nebraska's 30-21 victory over South Carolina when he made the comment the comeback victory had been "tough on my ticker."

Osborne, 50, had heart bypass surgery in 1985.

Osborne, also an assistant athletic director, said the "ticker" remark was made in jest. The 15-year coach said he is healthy and has no plans to resign.

"I don't plan it that way, but maybe the fans have other plans," Osborne said laughing. "As far as my health is concerned, that was probably an ill-advised comment."

Osborne said he runs three miles a day, six days a week and lifts weights.

He said his heart was tested last June when he said he ran a treadmill long enough to rank in the top five percent of 40-year-olds, 10 years younger than his age bracket.

"I think physically I'm capable of coaching quite a while and I'd like to do that for a number of years," Osborne said. "Frankly, I'd be surprised if I'm coaching past age 60, but I'd be a little surprised if I'm not coaching four or five years from now."

Osborne's 143-32-2 record at Nebraska is the second winningest mark among active coaches, headed only by Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, who is 143-25-4.

Nebraska's 35-0 victory at Oklahoma State last Saturday allowed Osborne to move into the No. 2 position past Penn State's Joe Paterno, whose team lost to Syracuse 48-21.

Being No. 2, Osborne said, "We're like Avis, we've got to try harder. That doesn't mean anything one way or the other."

Auburn Shuffles Run

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Three days after his team's 20-10 comeback win over Georgia Tech, Auburn Coach Pat Dye said he'll shuffle his running backs to try to find some combination that can turn around the Tigers' struggling ground game.

Dye, speaking at his weekly press conference, said freshman tailbacks Harry Mose and Stacy Danley, neither of whom has carried the ball more than five times in the last month, will play extensively in the 6th-ranked Tigers' game against Mississippi State this Saturday.

"We're going to go ahead and play our young running backs this week," Dye said. "We've got to see if either one can make something happen."

A week ago, Dye said that his younger running backs were not accomplished enough in the areas other than running — such as reading defenses, blocking and protecting the football — to play in crucial games.

Specific among Dye's complaints was Mose's tendency to fumble. The freshman fumbled twice in his first 13 carries of the season.

The rest of Auburn's backs had fumbled the ball away just once before the Tech game, but then they fumbled five times and lost two against the Yellow Jackets. The ground attack provided just 54 yards rushing in narrow win.

"I haven't lost faith (in the more experienced backs)," Dye said. "But if you've got some fellows with the capability that can give us the big play with our running game, you've got to give them a chance."

Tudor Earns Win In Time Of Need

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Just as he had in Game 6 of the National League playoffs, John Tudor earned a victory when the St. Louis Cardinals needed it most.

Tudor surrendered just one run on four hits through seven innings Tuesday night as the Cardinals pulled within two games to one in the World Series with a 3-1 triumph over the Minnesota Twins in Game 3.

In his last start, the left-hander blanked the San Francisco Giants 1-0 to even the NL Championship Series at three games apiece.

"John kept us in the game," Manager Whitey Herzog said. "He was excellent again."

Said Tudor: "I had good stuff. I had a good changeup and I kept it down most of the time. I really didn't make a lot of mistakes."

Tudor's only miscues came in the sixth inning, when he issued consecutive one-out walks to Greg Gagne and Kirby Puckett. He made a good pitch to get Gary Gaetti to foul out, but then gave up a broken-bat single to Tom Brunansky that drove in the first run of the game.

"He hit a changeup," Tudor said of Brunansky. "I thought about throwing a fastball, but then if I make a mistake it's 3-0. I knew if I kept it away even if he got a base hit it was only one run and we were still in the game."

Tudor was still upset with himself at that point for failing to get down a bunt in the fifth with a runner on first and none out.

"I could have helped myself," Tudor said. "That's an important part of a pitcher's duty and I didn't do it."

It was Tudor's first World Series game since his disastrous outing in Game 7 of the 1985 Series, when he was knocked out in the third inning. His effort in that 11-0 loss is not something he enjoys remembering.

"I don't want to talk about Game 7," Tudor told a reporter.

World Series

In the fourth innings of the first two games.

With St. Louis trailing only 1-0, the Cardinals could concentrate on playing for one run instead of home runs.

"Our attack isn't too good right now," Herzog said. "They got five guys in their lineup who can pop the ball out at any time. We don't have anybody and in a one-run ballgame, that's not too good."

"With Jack (Clark) and Terry (Pendleton) out, it's not the same lineup, but it's just one of those things. We were second in the league in runs scored, but with those two guys out that makes a heckuva difference."

So the Cardinals went to work on Juan Berenguer, who had relieved Les Straker to start the seventh, and took it one base at a time.

Jose Oquendo opened with a single on the first pitch and Tony Pena advanced him to second after slapping an 0-2 pitch that was low and away to right for a single.

Pendleton then pinch-hit for Tudor and sacrificed the runners ahead before Coleman reached for a low 0-2 pitch and hit it past third baseman Gary Gaetti and we were still in the game."

Tudor was still upset with himself at that point for failing to get down a bunt in the fifth with a runner on first and none out.

"I could have helped myself," Tudor said. "That's an important part of a pitcher's duty and I didn't do it."

Coleman Does In Twins

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins experienced Tuesday night what St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog refers to as Cardinals baseball.

"Whitey has drilled into us to be consistent in pitching, hitting and fielding," said Vince Coleman, whose two-run double in the seventh inning helped St. Louis to a 3-1 victory in Game 3 of the World Series. "If we can do that we can win."

For the first time in the series, St. Louis did all three of those things in the same game, which is why the Cardinals trail the series 2-1 instead of 3-0.

Tudor shut the Twins down except for a run in the sixth, and gave the Cardinals a chance to win, something Joe Magrane and Danny Cox failed to do in Games 1 and 2.

"I asked Whitey to petition the National League to eliminate the fourth inning, but they wouldn't go for it," said Tudor, referring to the 13 runs Minnesota totaled

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Les Straker, Minnesota's starting pitcher for Game 3 of the World Series, received a special package in the mail hours before Tuesday night's game — his glove.

Straker forgot his glove when packing Monday for the team's flight to St. Louis. He found out it was missing after he arrived in St. Louis for the Twins' airport.

The glove was retrieved, and sent to St. Louis by an air express company.

Sign seen before the start of Game 3: "Take me Outside for the baseball game."

Minnesota Manager Tom Kelly says he appreciates close, well pitched games but believes the designated hitter adds a certain dimension to the game.

"I think it creates more excitement and that's to the benefit of the fans," Kelly said. "I think the fans want to see more scoring."

"There are those fans that like well pitched games and I do, too. But more fans prefer runs. We can't forget we are in the entertainment business and the more people we have watching the games, the better we'll all be."

The DH is being used in the American League city this year but not in the National League city.

Minnesota Manager Tom Kelly has had his fill with the same members of the media covering the Series.

"I don't know why everyone doesn't do their homework," Kelly said. "Everything about me is in the media guides. Like where I managed in the minors and who I managed."

"All you got to do is read. But some guys ask me stupid questions that waste everyone's time. They just don't know their stuff. Everyone lies on an airplane. Why not read the media guide while flying and know what's going on? Then I wouldn't have to answer all those dumb questions."

Les Straker, the Twins' starting pitcher in Game 2, was the first Venezuelan native ever to pitch in the World Series. Overall, he is the 11th Venezuelan to appear in the Fall Classic.

Straker became the oldest rookie to start a Series game since Dick Hughes started two games in the 1967 Series for the Cardinals. Straker is 28 years, 10 days of age.

Six U.S. Senators and Congressmen attended Game 3.

The senators were Missouri Republican John Danforth, Arizona Democrat Dennis DeConcini and Illinois Democrat Alan Dixon. The Congressmen were all from Missouri, Republican Jack Buechner and Democrats Bill Clay and Richard Gephardt. Former U.S. Senator Thomas Eagleton of Missouri also was at the game.

Minnesota's Tim Laudner had reached base five consecutive times before striking out in the seventh inning Tuesday night.

Tom Herr singled in the sixth inning Tuesday night to snap an 0-2 slump in World Series play. His last hit was a first-inning double on Oct. 24, 1985. In Game 5 against Kansas City.

Coleman Makes Up For Missed Appearances

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Vince Coleman finally made it to the World Series.

The St. Louis leadoff hitter, who missed his teams' 1985 World Series with an injury and had performed like a no-show during the current edition, doubled home two runs Tuesday night to lead the Cardinals to a 3-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins in Game 3.

Coleman's absence contributed to the Cardinals loss to the Kansas City Royals two years ago. With slugger Jack Clark injured, he has been needed even more against the Twins.

By the time he finally delivered for St. Louis Tuesday night, Coleman had one steal and one hit in 11 at bats.

World Series

confidence in our ability. We know with our big shooter (Clark) out, we have to string some hits together."

Jose Oquendo and Tony Pena reached on singles and each advanced on a sacrifice.

Coleman, who was hitting .412 in post-season play left-handed but only .089 right-handed, stepped into to face the right-handed Berenguer and quickly got behind in the count, 0-2.

"I took a strike and then fouled one off," Coleman said. "I was determined not to get called out. I just wanted to get the ball in play. I felt if I did, it would be a run and the game would be tied."

Coleman laced an inside fastball down the third-base line past a diving Gary Gaetti to score two runs. He then stole his second base of the game and scored on a single by Ozzie Smith.

"I noticed he (Gaetti) wasn't guarding the third-base line like they do in the National League," Coleman said. "I wanted to put it past him to score some runs."

Coleman said he worked hard the past year on hitting to the left side.

"Last year, I spent the whole second half of the season with a heavier bat and worked on hitting to the left side," he said.

"That's the way Willie McGee hits and he's been pretty successful. That's being aggressive."

Coleman said he is grateful to be involved in the World Series.

"Some guys play 15 years and never get in a World Series and I'm in my third year and here I am in my second Series," he said. "But it was a bitter pill when I had to miss in '85 (because of an injury)."

"I'm just grateful and fortunate to be healthy and able to contribute in this Series. The hit is probably the biggest one I've ever had and I'll be able to tell my grandkids about it and gloat over it."

IN BRIEF

Anderson's 3-Run Homer Sparks Fabricators Past The Barn, 13-0

Belinda Anderson slammed a three-run homer among her three hits and Marie Byrd, Rosa Williams and Jasie Sanders drove in two runs each as Central Florida Fabricators routed The Barn, 13-0, Tuesday night in Sanford Women's Softball League action.

Central Florida Fabricators ran their record to 5-0 for the season while The Barn dropped to 2-3.

It was a scoreless game until the top of the third when Byrd's RBI double and Williams' two-run double gave Fabricators a 3-0 lead. Fabricators broke it open with six runs in the fifth highlighted by Anderson's three-run homer and Sanders' two-run triple.

Pitcher Denise Byrd held The Barn to just two hits in the game, singles by Zelda Kogod and Patti Spangler.

In Tuesday's second game, Sullivan's Pub erupted for 13 runs in the fourth inning en route to a 17-2 victory over Metal Manufacturing. Sullivan's improved to 4-1 for the season while Metal Manufacturing dropped to 0-5.

Pat Romish and Linda Parlar had two hits each in the 13-run inning while Sullivan's also took advantage of seven walks and three Metal Manufacturing errors.

Holly Landers and Olivia Grubbs had two hits each for Metal Manufacturing.

FSU Welcomes Chance To Heal

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Six of the fifth-ranked Florida State Seminoles welcomed Tuesday an off week as a chance to heal injuries.

Four players, including quarterback Danny McManus, were held out of Tuesday's practice in shorts to nurse ankle injuries. McManus, who hurt the ankle in the first quarter against Louisville Saturday, but played through the third, experienced a lot of swelling following the game. Also out with ankle injuries were starting defensive tackle Steve Gabbard and backup linebackers Keith Carter and John Hadley. All four are expected to return for the Tulane game Oct. 31.

Trainers also held out wide receiver Scott DiMare (hamstring) and cornerback Eric Williams (foot sprain), but head trainer Randy Oravetz said the two would return to practice next Monday.

Trotter's Hat Trick Lifts Isles

United Pross International

A 31-year-old veteran helped the New York Islanders maintain their fast start Tuesday night, while a 25-year-old rookie led the St. Louis Blues to their first victory of the season.

At Uniondale, N.Y., Bryan Trotter notched his 16th career hat trick to lead the Islanders to a 5-4 triumph over the Calgary Flames. At St. Louis, rookie defenseman Robert Nordmark scored his first two NHL goals to fuel the Blues to a 6-2 victory over the Winnipeg Jets.

The three-goal performance gave Trotter five goals and eight points this season, both team highs after five games. The hat-trick goal moved Trotter into a tie for 13th place on the all-time scoring list with former Philadelphia center Bob Clarke. Each has 1,210 points.

Johnson: Cincinnati Fresh Start

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson says Saturday's game at Cincinnati is almost a fresh start, as though his top-ranked Hurricanes needs a new beginning with a 4-0 record and a No. 3 national ranking.

"We'll finally get into a routine with Cincinnati," Johnson said Tuesday.

Miami had two weeks off after defeating Florida in its season opener, then played three straight games against Arkansas, Florida State and Maryland before sitting out last weekend.

"I've never been around a team that has played so few games and practiced this amount of time," Johnson said.

Suns Pursue Free Agent Lister

PHOENIX (UPI) — Phoenix President Jerry Colangelo intends to make the Suns' adventure into the free agency market more than just a token showing.

Colangelo announced Tuesday the club has tendered an offer sheet to free-agent center Alton Lister, who played last season for the Seattle SuperSonics.

"This is a statement that we have the ability, desire and interest in improving our team. Free agency is part of that," said Colangelo.

Semiz Nears PBA Seniors' Title

FORT PIERCE (UPI) — Teata Semiz of Wanaque, N.J., is one game away from his second straight Professional Bowlers Association seniors title.

Semiz earned the No. 1 seed after 36 games in the $65,000 Treasure Coast Professional Bowlers Association Seniors Open Tuesday night. Following Wednesday's championship round he will bowl one game for the $7,500 first prize.

Horn Sounds: Best All-Around Gymnastics

By Chris Fister, Herald Sports Writer

Sparked by first places on the balance beam and floor exercise, Christen Horn won the all-around championship in the 12-14 age division the past weekend in the second local qualifying meet for Class IV gymnasts at Artistic Gymnastics in Melbourne.

Horn, representing Brown's Gymnastics of Altamonte Springs, hit an 8.95 on the beam and recorded an impressive 9.20 on floor exercise and finished with an all-around score of 33.50.

A score of 31.0 was need for gymnasts to qualify for state while a 28.0 was needed to qualify for sectional. All of the gymnasts who competed for Brown's this past weekend have at least qualified for sectional.

Also in the 12-14 age division, Melinda Ransom was fifth on floor exercise (8.55) and 10th on vault (8.4) and Sheryl Stryker was seventh on floor (8.5).

In the 9-11 age division, Abbie McClintock was sixth all-around at 35.70 including a second on beam (9.0), tie for second on floor (9.7) and sixth on vault (9.05).

Amy Arnold took ninth all-around (34.65) including a tie for second on floor (9.7) and third on uneven parallel bars (9.2). Angela White finished 10th all-around at 34.60 led by a ninth on bars (8.75).

Also in the 9-11 age division, Jessica Ouderkerk tied for ninth on beam (8.6) and was 10th on floor (9.2). Jessica Dues tied for ninth on beam (8.6) and Jennifer Naylor was 10th on vault (8.9).

In the 7-8 age group, Taryn Wendelschaeffer was fifth in the all-around competition at 30.90 led by a first place on beam (8.6), third on bars (8.8), fifth on vault (7.6) and sixth on floor (7.9). Vanessa Serrano was sixth all-around at 28.40 with fifth on floor (7.95) and sixths on beam (7.5) and vault (7.5).

The Class IV Section Meet will be held Nov. 14-15 at Brown's Central in Altamonte Springs.

The Class III second local qualifier will be held at Seminole High School this Saturday and Sunday.</

Stocks Continue To Climb

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened sharply higher today but many important stocks had not yet begun trading. The Dow Jones Industrial average — which rose 102.27 points Tuesday after falling 508, or 22.6 percent, Monday — was up 54.88 to 1895.89 shortly after the market opened. But 27 minutes into the session, trading in American Telephone & Telegraph, International Business Machines and General Motors had not begun. Gainers led losers by a 10-1 ratio among the 1,273 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 27 million shares. The Dow soared 102 points Tuesday in record volume in its biggest point-gain ever but the advance paled beside its 506-point plummet Monday and most stocks not among the 30 industrial issues that comprise the Dow closed lower. A record 608.12 million shares traded on the Big Board, topping the record set Monday when 604.3 million shares changed hands. The American Stock Exchange Index sank 24.34 to 258.16 while the NASDAQ index of over-the-counter stocks plunged 32.42 to 327.79.

Dollar, Gold Move Up Amid Resurging Stocks

By United Press International
The U.S. dollar today opened higher on most major money markets, buoyed by rebounding world stock markets and pledges from U.S. and West German officials to work for currency stability. The price of gold rose slightly. Japanese and Australian financial markets helped the dollar's rebound by showing cautious signs of recovery earlier today from the panic that swept Wall Street and world stock markets on Monday.

attorney representing several cities over the years to illustrate his assertion that he was not against progress. He also cited the city of Sanford's history of having some of the first paved streets and public water, and one of the first civic centers in the area, its renovated downtown area, parks and recreational facilities and public housing as evidence that the city also is progressive. He then cited the "unpleasant experience of the past few years" between Sanford and county government, including the battle over the Yankee Lake property and lawsuits the county has filed against the city over proposed annexations and the collection of impact fees.

"Two of the annexation suits were on file before the Yankee Lake lawsuit, and they still haven't been settled," he said. He noted that four more cases have been filed since then, and a seventh has been threatened.

The committee will hold two meetings next month. On Nov. 9, it will meet in the Altamonte Springs City Hall to hear a charter government authority who is against the concept.

The committee will hold a public hearing on Nov. 17 in the Casselberry City Hall at which members of the public will be invited to express their opinions about charter government.

ordinance it will bring an influx of people into Sanford to open group homes. Mercer said if the city did get an influx, there would be problems without annual inspections. But McClanahan said he did not see this migration of people to open group home in Sanford. A compromise was reached when Smith proposed requiring fire safety inspections for all group homes. Eckstein and Mercer both said they would accept this provision. McClanahan then said that if the influx comes, the city could modify the ordinance. Colbert suggested the city use inspection application fees to fund the fire safety inspections. Mercer also requested that the provision for conditional use, which would allow group homes in residential neighborhoods to have as many as six residents, be removed from the ordinance. Mercer said more than four residents would make the group home into a large business.

"My district is the one that would be most affected by allowing six residents in a group home in a residential neighborhood," Mercer said. "For instance, my home, which is typical of the other homes in the district, has four bedrooms upstairs and one bedroom downstairs. My house would probably sell for $85,000. If someone bought a house like mine and put six residents in it, they could collect from each one $600 a month. By all that's right and holy, that's a great investment." Eckstein asked if the elimination of the provision for conditional use would be defensible in court. Colbert replied that if it was brought to court, the elimination of conditional use for group homes in residential neighborhoods could probably be defended as long as it applies to all city districts equally.

The controversy concerning group homes in Sanford began last October when four elderly women living in a single-family home were forced to find somewhere else to live following actions by the city commission and the city's code enforcement board. The home, at 2005 South Oak Ave., was in an area zoned for single-family homes. At that time, a home for the elderly in such an area was illegal. Charles Cameron, owner of the home, and his tenants, R.J. and Constance Jack, who cared for the elderly women, were assessed a daily fine of $250 by the code enforcement board. The fine was up to $4,000 before the board suspended it, while the group homes committee, appointed by the city commission, studied the problem.

CHARLES EIFLANDER JR.

Mr. Charles Eiflander Jr., 64, of 7950 Lake Ross Lane, Sanford, died Monday in Forsyth, Ga., while on the way to visit his daughter. Born in Newark, N.J., Apr. 13, 1923, he moved to Sanford from Oviedo in 1979. He was in airport maintenance and was a Protestant. He was a Merchant Marine veteran of World War II, a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Labor Union 517, Orlando, and a former member of the First Aid Squad of Matawan Township, N.J. Survivors include a son, Charles Thomas, Germany; three daughters, Jane Ann Luiz, Sanford, Judy Lynn Stewart, Utica, Ky., and Barbara Joan murder. Investigators said. They were both released in California and Suhrstedt was returned to the Seminole County jail to serve 60 days in the California case and to face arson and theft charges in connection with the Melner case, sheriff's investigator Ralph Salerno said. No charges were filed against Gilmore in the Melner case. Another man, Ray Irving Manning, 40, of Orlando, and Candace Suhrstedt had both been charged with theft and arson in the Melner case and were out of jail on bond at the time of the shootings on Sept. 4. Suhrstedt had just completed his California sentence and was released on bond on his Seminole County charges of arson and theft two days before he was shot, investigators said. On Sept. 4, sheriff's records show Suhrstedt forced entry to Gilmore's home and confronted Gilmore. Suhrstedt allegedly brandished a handgun and Gilmore armed himself with a .38-caliber handgun and allegedly shot Suhrstedt in the left side of his chest. Gilmore left his home, where there is no phone, to call for help for Suhrstedt. Outside he was reportedly confronted by Mitchell who was armed and who threatened him. Gilmore shot at Mitchell and did not know he had wounded him in the shoulder. Mitchell and Candace Suhrstedt drove away and left Suhrstedt where rescue workers found him in Gilmore's home. He was air-lifted to an Orlando hospital. Mitchell was found wounded at a friend's home at 1411 Huntington Drive, Casselberry, and was also taken to an Orlando hospital. Charges have not been filed in connection with Melner's murder. Salerno said that Edward Suhrstedt was not the only suspect in the murder case. That investigation continues as does the investigation into the shooting of Suhrstedt and Mitchell, Salerno said. Melner's murder is believed to have been drug related. About half a kilo of cocaine, valued at about $30,000, was seized by investigators after the murder. Melner was killed by a gunshot and an attempt had been made to set his apartment afire, but the blaze burned itself out before Seminole County firefighters twice entered Melner's home to check on reported "fumes" smelled by neighbors, which led to discovery of his body. The Suhrstedts and Manning were charged in connection with that arson and thefts of items from Melner's home in May, records show. Salerno said that the death of Suhrstedt does not close either of these two cases.

Because he was going to be out of state, Myers had Terry write a letter to the Skylark homeowners' association expressing his regrets at not being able to attend a political rally Sunday which the six city commission candidates were invited to attend. Lormann said she didn't see anything wrong with having the city clerk type up her report because she doesn't have a typewriter. She said he had done so before. "He's just trying to be nice," she said. When Gunter said having a city employee do campaign-related work is against the law Monday night, he was jeered by members of the audience and the president of the Skylark citizens' group.

Seminole Artists Exhibit In Florida Craftsmen Show

The Ormond Memorial Art Museum and Gardens is hosting Florida Craftsmen: Area VI International exhibit which began Oct. 10 and continues through Nov. 1.

On Oct. 23 at the Museum a movie titled "The Enchanted" will be shown at 8 p.m. In conjunction with the exhibit, this movie depicts aspects of Florida culture. The highlights are the scenery, music and the artwork of one member of the Florida Craftsmen, Gloria Rigling, of Maitland.

Seminole County artists exhibiting are: Grady Kimsey, mixed-media, Seminole Community College; and Marianna Hamilton, batik, from Altamonte Springs.

The museum is located at Hallix Drive and East Granada Boulevard in Ormond Beach. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. every day except Monday, and the gardens are open every day from dawn to dusk. There is no admission charge to either. For details call (904) 677-1857.

Giordano Scholarship Recipient

Geoffrey M. Giordano of Sanford is the recipient of a $1,000 scholarship from the Scripps Howard Foundation, Cincinnati, Ohio, one of the nation's largest media communication companies.

The foundation was established 25 years ago as a means of contributing to the advancement of journalism through education. This year the Scripps Howard Foundation awarded over $230,000 to 234 students nationwide.

Giordano, a graduate of Seminole High School, Sanford, is a senior at University of Central Florida, Orlando. He is the son of Ariene and Thomas Giordano, 204 Pine Winds Drive, Sanford.

MDA Offers Free Flu Shots

The Central Florida Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) is offering free anti-influenza inoculations again this year to people who have any of the 40 neuromuscular diseases covered by the Association's programs. Chapter President Brian Stokes announces. Children and adults with neuromuscular disorders are considered at high risk of serious illness if infected with influenza viruses and should receive flu shots annually as medically prescribed, he added.

The Central Florida Chapter of the Association will pay for flu shots for all patients it serves. Patients should contact their personal physicians to have the flu shot administered. For information contact Peggy Rabner, MDA, 305/677-6665.

Rainbow Futures Calls Meeting

Elaine Wilson, founder of Rainbow Futures Inc., announces that a meeting of the organization will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 22, at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, building, 400 E. First St., Sanford. All board members and others plus parents of the Game Room participants are encouraged to attend.

Plans to purchase property for the eventual Youth Center, Rainbow Thrift Shop and meeting place for the organization will be discussed at length, Wilson said.

Cook Of The Week

Former Navy Cook Applies His Skill On The Homefront

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

If you're planning a party for 8,000 or so, just call on Milner "Mel" Ryals, our Cook of the Week, and he'll show you how it's done. For our ex-Navy cook, it was a snap. Retired now, and enjoying his cooking on a smaller scale, Ryals has turned his former job into a pleasurable pastime.

Starting at the beginning, our cook is a Mississippian, born in Vicksburg. With two sisters and four brothers around to make it a lively household, Ryals remembers that his mother was an especially good cook and the family meals were wholesome and tasty. "I really liked her pecan pies and her chicken and dumplings," he says. "We didn't really do too much cooking in Mother's house. She didn't like too many people in her kitchen." Nevertheless, his sisters turned out to be great cooks, while he and his brothers took to other things. Selling newspapers for five cents a copy helped earn lunch money for school, and, during his high school years, our resourceful cook worked for the Ivy Bakery Company slicing and wrapping bread. "It's not there any more," he says, "and I used to love to go by and smell the bread baking. It's the best smell in the world to me."

When he decided to join the Milner Ryals excels in cooking Navy chow.

U.S. Navy in 1942. Ryals chose to be a cook. By 1945, at the Great Lakes Cooking School, he was taught to cook in quantities to serve 100 hungry sailors or more. Many more. "All your Navy recipes are based on 100," he explains. "Then, if you're on a ship with 250 people, every recipe you do is two and a half times. If you're on an aircraft carrier with about 3,000 people, then you have to do it 30 times!" During his 21-year Navy career, Ryals saw plenty of World War II action, including the invasion of the Solomon Islands, but mostly from the galley. A three-year tour on the newly-commissioned U.S.S. Harold J. Ellison from 1942 to 1945 found Ryals baking all the pies, cakes and breads for about 290 people and doing his part to keep our armed forces well fed and well nourished.

There's always time for "R and R" while in the service and Ryals and his Navy buddies took part in some of that, too. "We used to go fishing a lot after hours," he says. "Sometimes we'd go in the kitchen at night and fry up fresh fish and have a little party at night."

On one of his leaves in 1948, Ryals met his wife-to-be, Gualee, an attractive woman whose role as a Navy wife and mother also gave her the opportunity to travel with her husband. "Her sister married my brother," says Ryals, "and when I came home on leave she was staying with her sister. That's how I got to meet her. We dated, then we corresponded, then I came back and we set a date to get married, then it was broken, then we set it again. I couldn't get leave, so we set a date about two or three, I guess. Finally, we got married on Nov. 4, 1949."

"Now, this is the good part," Ryals continues, with a laugh. "She was supposed to go back

Man's Abuse Weighs Heavily On Wife Who Knows She's Fat

DEAR ABBY: I need someone to talk to. I love my husband, but he makes me feel awfully sad. I'm fat (185 pounds, 5 feet 6 inches). He is mean to me and calls me names for being fat. I've gone to weight-loss clinics and groups, and when I start to lose weight, he gets meaner. He accuses me of flirting and cheating behind his back. I would never think of doing anything like that. He never takes me out. He says he's ashamed to be seen with me. When I look bad, he's mean, but if I look good, he's meaner.

If I put on some decent clothes, he says, "Who are you getting dressed up for?"

Our daughter is 8 years old and she is plump, too, so he's getting mean with her about her weight. I'm a grown woman, but she's just a child and doesn't understand it.

I just reread this letter. Just seeing what I have written has made me realize that my husband doesn't really love me. He doesn't even like me. I am going to file for divorce. I love him, but I'll get over it. Many years ago I loved a man who dumped me and left me broken-hearted. It was the pits, but I got over it, and I can get over this, too. Wish me luck, Abby.

Dear Abby

FRANNIE IN SEATTLE

DEAR FRANNIE: I would discourage a woman from filing for divorce while she still "loves" her husband, regardless of whether he deserves her love. (From what you say, yours does not.) Offer him the chance to get into family counseling. If he refuses, go alone. And when you are able to put your emotions aside and make a rational decision, if you think you and your child would be better off without him, file for divorce.

DEAR ABBY: I, too, wish there had been a booklet like "What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know" when my children were growing up. My daughter married (for the first time) at 16. It was a bad mistake. My son got his girlfriend pregnant, and faced up to his responsibility and married her. They were both barely 17 at the time.

By the way, I also want to thank you for your answer to that reader who asked if it was too late to fulfill his lifelong dream to become a lawyer at 70. You said, "It's too late to fulfill your dream only if you think it is."

I am a widow, age 73, and have a burning desire to become a poet. I write many poems but have never had enough courage to send any of them to a publisher. Now, I think I will, thanks to you.

GREAT-GRANDMOTHER IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR GREAT GRAND: You already are a poet, but as yet, an unpublished one.

Continue to write, and send your poetry to the editors of the publications that contain your kind of poetry. And don't be discouraged by rejection. If you knock on enough doors, one is bound to open eventually. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for warning readers about how dangerous power lawn mowers can be. I know. A power lawn mower struck a pop bottle, and a piece of glass pierced the heart and lung of our 8-year-old son. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

STILL GRIEVING IN TENNESSEE

DEAR ABBY: I appreciated your answer to that letter from "Considering Marriage"—the older, impotent man who was considering what he presumed would be a sexless marriage to a younger woman in a wheelchair. Thanks for setting him straight.

My husband has been a paraplegic since he was a teen-ager (spinal cord injury), but being in a wheelchair has not stopped him from being the sexiest, most satisfying lover a woman could want.

FULFILLED

DEAR FULFILLED: To assume that all people in wheelchairs have no sexual feelings and cannot perform is a popular myth that needs to be dispelled. Thank you for validating my statement.

To our Family Members, Friends, The Fleet Reserve, The Fleet Reserve Auxillary, Navy Chaplain Boyer, we offer our sincere thanks and appreciation to each for helping us through a very difficult and trying time.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My father recently died of primary amyloidosis at age 58. He had symptoms of manic depression for 15 years. The last two years, he also showed very mild symptoms of Alzheimer's disease. Is there any connection between these diseases?

DEAR READER — Amyloidosis is a chronic disease of unknown cause that is characterized by deposits, in various organs, of a waxy starchy protein called amyloid. The condition often occurs in association with bone tumors, tuberculosis, rheumatoid arthritis and bowel inflammation. Amyloidosis can affect skin, muscle, lungs, heart and liver; it is especially common in kidneys.

As the amyloid deposits increase in size and number, they affect organ functioning. Heroic procedures, such as kidney transplants, may have to be performed to maintain life. At present, there is no specific treatment for amyloidosis, other than therapy for the disease with which it is associated.

Bipolar mood disorders, otherwise known as manic-depressive illness, do not usually accompany amyloidosis, nor do Alzheimer's patients show amyloid deposits in the brain. However, there is a remote possibility that your father's amyloidosis could have affected his central nervous system. More likely, your father had two separate conditions. In any case, a post-mortem examination would have enabled a pathologist to determine with certainty whether your father's mental changes were the result of amyloidosis.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 31 and work the 11-p.m.-to-7-a.m. shift. Does it make any health difference if I sleep eight straight hours, or three in the morning and five in the evening?

DEAR READER — From a health standpoint, you are probably no better off sleeping a full eight hours than splitting up your sleeping time. The human body has a requirement for sleep that varies from six to eight hours. Some people seem to feel refreshed after two or three short sleep cycles.

Nonetheless, many people, whether by habit or genetic programming, become irritable or ill if they are prevented from getting all of their sleep in a single dose. If you feel comfortable and are alert with your sleep pattern, then it is OK for you to continue it.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Can

humans get heartworm from dogs?

DEAR READER — Heartworm is transmitted to dogs from mosquitoes. Humans are not involved in the life cycle of the parasite and appear to be immune to the infection.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

North-South had 60 on score, which explains the pass of two diamonds by the Hideous Hog, reigning expert of Victor Mollo's bridge club. But East was none other than Papa the Greek, partnered by Karapet the Armentian, while the Hog's partner was the Rueful Rabbit. The strange bidding is explained only by the interplay of personalities. But notice all the honor cards in East's hand — too much of a good thing.

Declarer won the opening trump lead in dummy, played the spade ace and ruffed a spade, crossed to the ace of hearts and ruffed another spade. Then came a heart ruff, followed by the club ace and a club ruff, another heart ruff, another club ruff, and finally the fourth heart ruffed by dummy's last diamond, with East still to play. That left the following:

What should East discard? If he undertruffs, South can ruff back to his hand to take the high heart. If he throws away a black card, dummy's corresponding nine will be a winner, and declarer will play that card right at him. In any event, the grand slam is made, and Papa the Greek could have passed it out in two diamonds.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Oool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
OCTOBER 22, 1987

In the year ahead, you may form an important alliance with a member of the opposite sex purely for business reasons. You'll be warm friends, but a romance isn't likely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be extra prudent in the management of your financial resources today, or else you could easily lose money that was hard to come by. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to restore the relationship. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't vent your frustrations and anger on an innocent bystander today. If someone does something to disturb you, direct your ire at the real culprit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may not be very receptive to the suggestions of your superiors today. Before you cross swords with the boss, remember who signs your paycheck.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Cancel that shopping spree you had planned for today if you think it will tempt you to spend more money than you should at this time. Be budget-minded.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If being No. 1 or winning is too important to you today, you might be tempted to step out of character and use tactics that could tarnish your image.

FISCS (Feb. 20-March 20) Obligations and responsibilities should not be neglected at this time. If you're not careful, you might have to pay the piper for your sins.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are in need of a favor today, choose carefully whom you go to for assistance. The wrong benefactor might tie some strings to the offer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

This is one of those days when you may rub the wrong people the wrong way. In your zeal to achieve your objectives today, don't step on anyone's toes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Co-workers will resent it if you are bossy towards them today. State your suggestions in ways that makes them feel part of the team.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Although your better judgment will be flashing warning signals, there's a possibility you still might do something foolish that could end up costing you money.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try to be as tolerant and considerate of your immediate family today as you are of your friends, even though you might secretly feel they don't deserve it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The problems you have at work today are likely to be of your own doing, yet you might try to cast at least part of the blame off on innocent associates.

with me to Great Lakes, but she played basketball for the city of Vicksburg and they had a main game coming up and the other players wouldn't let her go to Great Lakes. I didn't know this at the time. She told me she had to work. But she finally joined me in January of 1950."

Mel and Gussie Ryals began their family in 1952 with a beautiful baby daughter, Kathryn. "She was born at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital," says Ryals. "and two weeks after she was born I got orders to go to Norfolk. Then I went aboard an aircraft carrier, the Lake Champlain, and my wife went home to Vicksburg." Mrs. Ryals joined her husband during one of the ship's six-months' dry dock stops and in 1963 their son, Steven, was born. He was shipped out again and didn't get to see his son until he was six months old and had just quit his 2 a.m. feeding. According to Gussie Ryals, it was perfect timing! "He really missed his children growing up," she says. "Until Steven was about three and Kathy was about four, he missed their walking, their crawling and getting up at night to feed them!"

His last tour of duty ended at the Sanford Naval Station in 1962 where Mrs. Ryals recalls having the best Thanksgiving dinner she ever tasted. "You hear people talk about Navy food not being any good," she says, "but one of the best Thanksgiving dinners I ever ate was right out here at the Sanford Navy base." And that's when the Ryals' decided to make Sanford their permanent home. "I retired from the Navy on Oct. 16," Ryals recalls, "and on the 19th I went to work for Martin Marietta — as a cook." Leaving one cooking career for another, Ryals worked at Martin for 23 years doing what he does best. "At Martin," he says, "they had anywhere from 2,000 to 6,000 people, and I was just one of the first cooks there. We put out lasagne, we put out spaghetti, and when we made soup, we made 80 gallons at a time. When we'd start at nine o'clock in the morning and cook straight through till one o'clock." Cooking for the number of shift workers at this large plant had to be done with perfect timing and Mr. Ryals explains that beginning with the first serving at 10:30 A.M., the cooking and replenishing of the food was accomplished with great precision to keep it tasty and piping hot.

These days, Ryals keeps his hand in the cooking pot at the First United Methodist Church, Sanford. As a member of the men's club, he is often called upon to do his apron for their dinners. "They asked me would I help in the kitchen," he says, "so now I cook for the men's club dinners, the church's youth club, and sometimes for the women." Coming up on the Saturday before Thanksgiving, Ryals will be helping the United Methodist Women's group at his church prepare a dinner for the Manna Haven facility. "The women will be doing most of the cooking," he says. "but I'll be helping them by making the turkey and the dressing." At home, Ryals adds, "My wife won't let me do much in the kitchen. She's a darned good cook herself and is famous for her chicken and dumplings."

Adding to the Ryals' family pleasure are four handsome grandsons whose portraits are prominently displayed in their cozy Sanford home. Brian, 13, is the "live wire," according to Mrs. Ryals. Benjamin is 11 years old, and they are the sons of Kathy and her husband, Edward Thomas. Steven Ryals and his wife, Tammy, are the parents of Steven, 6, and Jarrod, 5. The entire family gets together at Thanksgiving for dinner at the Ryals' home and all the leftovers are divided three ways. And, since both families live nearby, the Ryals get to see their grandchildren quite often.

Mel and Gussie Ryals enjoy traveling now that their retirement years allow the extra time. They enjoy visiting friends and relatives who are scattered all over the U.S. and next year a cruise to Hawaii may be on the menu. For entertainment, the Ryals look forward to an occasional evening of Pinochle with friends or dinner at a local restaurant.

Mel Ryals usually mans the barbecue at home, cooking up his delicious steaks, ribs, chicken and potato. His recipes all have a homespun flavor. Including the southern cornbread which, he says, "came from an old Mississippi person," who added mayonnaise to the batter. And nobody knows his "beans" like an ex-Navy cook, so you won't want to miss the Navy Bean Soup scaled down to a one-gallon batch.

Listed below are Mel Ryals' favorite recipes:

SOUTHERN CORN BREAD
1 cup white or yellow self-rising corn meal
1 cup buttermilk
1 egg
1 heaping tablespoon mayonnaise
Mix all ingredients together. Pour into greased skillet. Bake at 450° for 15 minutes.

BAKED CHICKEN
1 whole frying chicken, cut into four pieces. Wash and drain. Dip in flour, salt and pepper, and paprika. Shake off excess flour. Place on greased sheet pan and coat each piece with melted butter. Bake at 350° for 50 minutes or until done. Serves 4.

BBQ RIBS
3 pounds country style spare ribs
¼ teaspoon salt
barbecue sauce
Par boil ribs over low heat for 1 hour until tender, but not overcooked. Drain well. Place on grill over low heat and brush with barbecue sauce for 5 minutes. Serves 6.

NAVY BEAN SOUP
1 pound dried Navy beans. Cover with water 4 inches over beans. Add 1 ham bone, salt and pepper to taste. Cook beans until tender, about 1½ hours. Add 1 shredded carrot and 1 finely chopped onion 30 minutes before beans are done. When carrots and onions are tender, mix 3 ounces flour and 2 tablespoons of water to make a paste. Add to beans and cook another 10 minutes. Makes 1 gallon.

SCALLOPED CHEESE POTATOES
6 medium potatoes
Wash, peel and slice potatoes thin and place in boiling water. Cook 20 minutes on medium heat. Drain and pour into greased 2-quart casserole dish.
Cheese Sauce: Melt ½ stick butter and add 3 tablespoons flour, stirring to make a paste. Cooking over low heat, stir in ½ quart of milk. Stir until thickened. Add 12 ounces grated Cheddar cheese. Cook until cheese has melted. Add salt and pepper to taste. Pour the sauce over potatoes. Crumble crackers over top. Add 4 pats of butter. Bake at 350° for 15 minutes, or until top is brown. Serves 6.

CHILI
2 pounds hamburger
2 medium onions
2 cans kidney beans
2 cans tomatoes, chopped fine
1 large can tomato juice
4 tablespoons chili powder
Salt and pepper to taste
Brown hamburger meat and onions. Add salt and pepper. Add tomatoes, tomato juice and chili powder. Cook over slow heat for 3 hours. Add kidney beans and cook another 10 minutes. May be served over rice. Serves 6.

FRIED CATFISH
2 pounds catfish
salt and pepper
1 cup corn meal
1 cup flour
2 eggs
1 cup milk
Beat eggs and milk together. Mix corn meal, flour, salt and pepper together. Dip fish in egg mixture and then in meal and flour. Do this twice (double dip) to get a good coating. Deep fat fry until done, about 18 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

HUSH PUPPIES
1 cup self-rising corn meal
¼ cup self-rising flour
1 medium chopped onion
¼ cup green pepper, finely diced
3 eggs
¼ cup buttermilk
¼ cup sweet milk
Mix above ingredients together. Mixture should be firm and not too moist. Using a small

Dress up plain poached salmon with cucumber sauce, sliced cucumber, minced scallions, and enough sour cream or yogurt to bind them together. Season with lemon juice and a dash of hot pepper sauce.

Today's "in" herb is cilantro or coriander (two names, one plant). Traditionally used in Southwestern, Chinese, Thai, Vietnamese and Mexican foods, it looks like parsley but you'll notice that it tastes different.

New labeling laws mean that meat and poultry that contain sulfites will be so marked. Watch for them.

Try country-style potatoes, mashed marvels with real flavor. Bring peeled, quartered potatoes to a boil in water to cover, adding a finely chopped onion and a peeled clove garlic. Cook 'til tender, then mash solids with half a stick of butter, pepper, nutmeg and parsley. Spoon into a baking dish, top with parmesan, and broil until brown.

Sensational syrup for brunch pancakes — Heat a cup of maple syrup and stir in 1/4 cup toasted walnuts and 1 Tbs. bourbon whiskey. Serve warm.

Your Home Improvement Helper...

Use frozen dough for Cottage Cheese and Dill Rolls.

Freshly-Baked Dinner Rolls Accented With Cheese, Dill

The flavorful swirls of Cottage Cheese and Dill Rolls are created by the savory cheese and herb filling. You can fresh bake these delicious yeast rolls yourself using frozen ready-dough.

Served hot or cold, Cottage Cheese and Dill Rolls are the perfect accent for everything from simple dinners to elegant feasts. Here's the easy recipe:

COTTAGE CHEESE AND DILL ROLLS

- 1 (one-pound) loaf frozen ready-dough
- 8 ounces cottage cheese
- 2 tablespoons well beaten egg
- ¾ teaspoon onion salt
- 1 teaspoon dried dill weed or 1 tablespoon

chopped fresh dill weed

2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Let dough thaw until pliable. (To thaw dough in the microwave oven, wrap frozen loaf loosely in plastic wrap. Cook on LOW power for 6 minutes, rotating occasionally). On a lightly floured board, roll dough out to a 12-inch square. In a small bowl, combine cottage cheese with egg, onion salt and dill. Spread this mixture over dough. Roll dough up in jellyroll fashion and pinch along edge to seal. Using a sharp knife, cut into 12 slices. Place slices in cavities of greased muffin pan(s). Brush rolls with melted butter or margarine. Let rise until doubled in size. Bake at 375° for 20 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 12 rolls.

Potpourri

Hearty Soups From Southwest Are Becoming All-American Favorites

By Alison Claire
NRA Food Editor

Hearty hot soups from the Northwest are becoming all-American favorites. Potatoes, tomatoes and sausage are the main ingredients in an American-Basque soup.

There is a large enclave of Basques in Idaho whose ancestors came to the United States from the Spanish Pyrenees to herd sheep. The potato increasingly became a part of their wholesome fare. Potato-corn soup is their robust and inexpensive Western original. Serve with bread and a green salad for a complete meal.

POTATO BASQUE SOUP

- 1 pound Italian sausage, sliced
 - ½ cup chopped onion
 - 2 cans (1 pound each) tomatoes
 - 4 Idaho potatoes, pared and diced (6 cups)
 - ¼ cup chopped parsley
 - 1 cup diagonally sliced celery
 - 2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves
 - 1½ cups water
 - 2 beef bouillon cubes
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1 tablespoon salt
 - ½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
 - ¼ teaspoon pepper
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- In large saucepan or kettle, brown sausage over medium heat. Add onion and cook 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer uncovered for 40 minutes, or until potatoes are tender. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

POTATO-CORN SOUP

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 leek, sliced (or ¼ cup chopped onion)
 - 4 cups chicken broth
 - 4 cups diced, pared potatoes
 - 1 cup pared, sliced carrots
 - 2 teaspoons lemon juice
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - ¼ teaspoon pepper
 - ¼ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
 - 1 1-pound can whole-kernel corn, drained
- In large saucepan, melt butter. Add leek and cook for 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients except corn. Cover and simmer for 40 minutes, or until potatoes are tender. Add corn and heat for 5 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 one-cup

Cool weather calls for hot soups.

CAROUSEL RICE SALAD

- 3 cups cooked rice, cooled
 - 1 cup each: grated carrot and sliced celery
 - 1/3 cup sweet pickle relish
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - Ground black pepper
 - Lettuce leaves
 - ½ teaspoon sweet basil
 - 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Combine rice, carrot, celery, pickle relish, salt and pepper. Toss lightly. Chill. Spoon onto lettuce leaves and surround with ham, turkey or salami slices. Blend basil and sour cream in small bowl. Serve with salad. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

THREE BEAN BAKE

- 7 strips bacon
 - 1 large onion, sliced
 - 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed
 - ½ cup dark corn syrup
 - 1/3 cup cider vinegar
 - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1 can (16 ounces) oven baked beans
 - 1 can (16 ounces) pinto beans, drained
 - 1 can (15 ounces) kidney beans, drained
- In large skillet, cook bacon over medium heat until crisp. Drain bacon on paper towels; crumble 6 strips. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons bacon drippings from skillet. Sauté onion and garlic in drippings for 5 minutes, or until tender. Stir in corn syrup, vinegar and mustard. Stirring occasionally, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 5 minutes. Stir in beans and crumbled bacon. Pour into 2-quart casserole. Cover and bake in 350-degree oven 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 45 minutes longer. Garnish with cooked bacon strip. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

BARBECUED TROUT

4 10- to 12-inch fresh pan-dressed trout or other pan-dressed fish
¼ cup lemon juice
Marinade (recipe follows)
2 lemons, thinly sliced
Brush fish inside and out with lemon juice. Place in a shallow glass baking dish. Prepare marinade (see below); pour over fish. Cover with plastic wrap and let stand one hour in refrigerator, turning fish over once.
Remove fish from marinade and arrange lemon slices in cavity. Place on cooking grid with coals at each side of grill for indirect heat. Cook until done, 15 minutes. Baste with remaining marinade while cooking. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

MARINADE

- ½ cup soy sauce
 - 1/3 cup sherry or apple juice
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 - 1 clove garlic, crushed
 - ¼ cup salad oil
- Combine all ingredients in small bowl and use hand mixer to blend well.

Banquets Are A Way Of Life With The Chinese

Banquets are a way of life in China. The Chinese celebrate a variety of occasions from birthdays and marriages to festivals commemorating important events such as the beginning of the New Year and the Harvest Moon.

Harvest Moon is an especially important event celebrated each fall. It marks the end of a bountiful harvest and a beginning of a time of Thanksgiving. In addition, the Chinese believe it's the time of the moon's birthday, making it a double cause for celebration.

Banquets commemorating Harvest Moon and other similar occasions traditionally begin with hors d'oeuvres of cooked meats, fish and poultry presented on beautifully garnished platters. Numerous other courses of elaborately prepared foods follow. Soups are often served between courses to cleanse the palate. During Harvest Moon, the shape of many of the foods served are round to resemble the moon.

Home economists from La Choy explain that careful planning is imperative to the success of the Chinese banquet meal. Dishes showcase a contrast of colors, textures and seasonings. Various combinations of spicy, mild, sweet, salty and sour are used throughout the meal.

Since a multi-course banquet is not always practical for the home cook, La Choy home economists suggest a simpler way to enjoy the spirit of harvest moon with a delicious, scaled-down celebration. They offer a variety of easy-to-serve appetizers and main dishes which emphasize many of the same techniques the Chinese do in planning their elaborate banquets.

Begin with ribs. Pork or beef spare ribs grilled with authentic Oriental flavors are always a flavorful appetizer or entre choice. Flavorful and tender ribs are a snap when they are pre-baked with a generous coating of Oriental Barbecue Sauce. During grilling another brushing of sauce promises a superb Oriental and smoky flavor combination for La Choy Glazed Ribs.

A simple stir fry of Hot & Spicy Shrimp is an easy entree, sure to win rave reviews. Shrimp and vegetables, with a zippy garlic and ginger sauce, takes minutes to prepare and guests will love the perfect flavor profile from the La Choy Hot & Spicy Szechwan Sauce.

Your appetizer tray won't be complete without

Appetizers sure to make a hit with guests on any occasion.

Teriyaki Rumaki. These tantalizing make-ahead morsels of crunchy water chestnuts wrapped in bacon are marinated in a tasty combination of Teriyaki Sauce, soy sauce and pineapple juice. Broil them just before serving for maximum flavor.

Chicken wings in Tangy Plum Sauce provide yet another tempting addition to your chicken wings in ginger-lemon flavored La Choy Tangy Plum Sauce, soy sauce, mustard and garlic, then bake. Make plenty — they disappear fast!

To complete your Harvest Moon "banquet," add cold boiled shrimp and Egg Rolls with a bowl of Oriental Sweet & Sour Sauce for dipping.

MANDARIN CARROT SALAD

- 2 cups each: shredded carrots and coarsely chopped cabbage
- 1 (8-ounce) can sliced water chestnuts, drained and chopped
- 1 cup chopped pecans

¾ cup Mandarin Orange Sauce
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon white vinegar
¼ teaspoon celery seed
In a large bowl, combine all ingredients. Chill one hour before serving. Makes 5 cups.

GLAZED RIBS

1 (3-4-pound) rack pork or beef spare ribs
1 (10-ounce) jar Oriental Barbecue Sauce
Place ribs in large baking pan. Bake at 425°F. for 30 minutes; drain. Coat both sides of ribs with sauce. Reduce heat to 275°F. and bake 1 hour longer. Cut into individual ribs. When barbecuing ribs, bake at 425°F. for 30 minutes; drain. Transfer to grill and cook over medium-low coals for 30 to 40 minutes turning occasionally. Brush with Barbecue Sauce and cook an additional 5 to 10 minutes over low coals. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

TERIYAKI RUMAKI

- 1 (8-ounce) can Whole Water Chestnuts, sliced
- ½ pound bacon, each strip cut into thirds

- Wooden picks
- 1 (10-ounce) jar Thick & Rich Teriyaki sauce
- 2 tablespoons Soy Sauce
- ½ cup pineapple juice
- ¼ cup packed brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon garlic powder

Around each water chestnut, wrap one piece bacon and secure with a wooden pick. Place in medium bowl. In a small bowl, combine remaining ingredients. Pour sauce over rumaki and marinate 1 hour. On foil-lined baking pan, broil 5 minutes on each side or until bacon crisps. Makes about 25 appetizers.

HOT & SPICY SHRIMP

- ½ pound shrimp, cleaned and deveined
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon Soy Sauce
- ¼ cup vegetable oil
- 2 cups sliced favorite vegetables
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- ½ teaspoon minced ginger root
- ½ cup Hot & Spicy Szechwan Sauce
- 2 tablespoons chicken broth

In small bowl, combine shrimp, cornstarch and soy sauce. Heat oil in large, non-stick skillet; stir-fry shrimp until they turn pink, remove, set aside. Discard all but 2 tablespoons oil. Add vegetables, garlic and ginger; stir-fry 2 to 3 minutes. Add remaining ingredients along with shrimp and cook, stirring until bubbling. Makes 4 servings.

Great baked on chicken or pork. Brush on beef shish kabobs when barbecuing.

Sprinkle cold cooked shrimp with lemon juice and dip in spicy sauce for a great appetizer.

CHICKEN WINGS IN PLUM SAUCE

- 10 Chicken Wings
 - 1 (10-ounce) jar Tangy Plum Sauce
 - 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 - ½ teaspoon garlic powder
- Remove wing tips and discard. Cut wings at joint to separate. In a medium bowl, mix remaining ingredients. Place wings in sauce, coating completely. Cover and marinate 6 hours or overnight. Remove wings from sauce. Place in an 11 x 7-inch baking dish; reserve marinade. Bake at 375°F. for 35 minutes. Drain liquid in baking dish and brush wings with reserved marinade. Bake an additional 15 minutes. Makes 20 appetizers.

DEPEND ON US!

We're here to help. Whether having your prescriptions filled accurately or looking for advice on over-the-counter medicines, your pharmacist is qualified to assist you. He will help you keep track of all your prescriptions through our Computerized Prescription Records. Our computerized records are available for tax purposes and you can fill a previous prescription without a bottle or receipt. Ask, and we'll be glad to give you the facts on the quality generic drugs available. Call or come in for all your health needs.
