BOTH ENGLAND AND FRANCE TO PAY ON DEBTS

London and Paris Cabinets Working Upon Most Practical Way Of Making Payment

By The Associated Press
Developments in Europe indicated today that both England and France will pay the money they owe the United States next Thursday. There was no flat statement from official quarters that this decision was reached but in London and Paris cabinets gave their attention to evolving the most practical method of payment.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—

Arrangements are to be made forthwith for the transfer of gold to the United States to meet Great Britain's mid-December obligations. The American reply to Britain's request for postponement of the debt conference was that the United States would not be held as ransom by Britain's request for postponement of the debt conference.

More Jobs, Larger Payrolls Reported

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—An increase in employment and larger payroll disbursements were the bright spots of the business situation of the United States during October and general business activity remained at a level reached during the September rise. This was set forth today by the Commerce Department in its monthly review. Industrial output, it said, remained unchanged by virtue of a further increase in mineral production, chiefly coal. Manufacturing production was slightly lower and consumer goods, which have been responsible for recent increases, showed some recession. The decline in textiles was not pronounced but came at a period when there is usually an increase.

ISBILL IS FREED UPON CHARGE OF STEALING CHICKS

Lake Mary Resident Gets Clean Bill Before Jury Of Peers

Professor C. W. Isbill, prominent Lake Mary resident and principal of its grade school, yesterday was acquitted of a charge of stealing five Rhode Island chickens following a trial before Judge U. D. Anderson at that town.

Professor Isbill's name was affected by Sheriff B. I. Wang and Deputy Sheriff Charles Mayhew early yesterday after Rev. J. M. Thompson, pastor of the Community Church, had secured a warrant charging the educator with the offense.

The trial was held before a crowded courtroom filled with friends of the accused man and it was featured by the testimony of defense witnesses who succeeded in convincing the jury, composed of S. E. Water, as for man, T. A. Greenleaf, C. F. Smith, C. R. Pollock, C. B. Ridd, and C. H. Crosby, that the accused man was fairly charged and that Rev. Thompson had been misled into possession of the chickens under doubtful circumstances.

Arguments on both sides continued immediately after a jury had been selected and Clerk J. W. Grother had sworn each member as well as all witnesses. Rev. Thompson was the first witness in a complaint, while W. T. Dumas, M. Whiddon, and John Evans succeeded to testify that they had seen a man answering Prof. Isbill's description running away from the Thompson hen house with chickens under his arm.

One of the chickens in question was identified in court by Prof. Thompson, while Donald Anderson, finger print expert, testified that prints on the chickens, legs and feathers were those of Prof. Isbill. Roy Townsend, local biologist, was introduced as a non-partisan witness to swear that the death of the remaining chickens resulted within a certain number of hours after they were stolen.

BEER AND WINE BIG QUESTIONS BEFORE SOLONS

Many Witnesses Testify As To Intoxicating Effects Of Various Categories

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Beer and "bottle-highballs" were displayed before the Ways and Means Committee yesterday as another group of vested law modification advocates urged early realization of non-intoxicating wines and lagers.

It was the second of the six days of hearings on the Democratic sponsored modification bill providing for 2 1/2 per cent beer and legalization of wine. The proceedings were enlivened by witness and committee members to the delight of the large audience by discussions of how much alcohol is needed to produce intoxication.

It was Representative Celler (D., N. Y.), who sponsored legislation of the "bottle highball" or 10 to 11 percent alcohol, four of which he exhibited with the permission of J. M. Doran, commissioner of the bureau of alcohol.

Two bottles of "bottle beer," which he said was "good beer" and contained 5 1/2 per cent alcohol, were displayed by Frank Schwab, former mayor of Buffalo, N. Y., representative of the Broadway Products Association and Onawan's Beverage Company.

"You must have been over 21 per cent by weight," Schwab said. "To have real beer. How can you compete with bottle beer with 2 1/2 per cent beer?"

Congressmen For, Against Reducing Pay To Vets Are Shaping Plans For Action

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Those for and against reducing the sums America pays to her veterans yesterday got down to business.

First, Democratic House leaders said they did not expect the regular veterans committee to take any action this session on President Hoover's recommendations for cutting $12,000,000 a year from a veteran's benefits.

Then, the joint congressional committee members studied a veteran's law with an eye to economy and, about Representative

PLAN OFFERED BY HOOVER TO REVAMP U. S. City Commission Meeting Is Scene Of Heated Debate

8 Executive Departments Would Be Reshaped Into Group Numbering Fifteen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—President Hoover's plan to place before Congress a series of recommendations for partially reorganizing the federal government by changing executive branches in a new pattern and reducing the number of independent agencies to 15.

The more of proposals called for the additional offices, but the plan was not adopted.

Simultaneously, the President announced that he would issue a plan to provide a list of 15 agencies to be established in the Capitol Hill, President Hoover late yesterday issued a preliminary statement until Jan. 22, 1933, the Reconstruction Corporation's power to grant certain

Hoover Considering Sojourn In Florida

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—President Hoover was reported today to be considering a Christmas vacation trip to Florida but has not decided definitely upon such a journey.

The tentative plan under consideration is for the President to leave here just before or just after Christmas for a brief stay in Florida. The spot he will visit has not been finally determined. The President is holding his final decision as to a trip in abeyance pending action by Congress before its Christmas recess. Should something arise in legislative or governmental affairs that he feels would require his presence here the trip would not be made. Should he decide to go, however, it probably will mean cancellation of the historic New Year's Day reception at the White House.

City Commission Meeting Is Scene Of Heated Debate

Leffler and Dumas In Verbal Clash Over Issue Involving Action On Waterfront

Declaring it an "outrage" that certain private interests should throttle attempts at progress in civic affairs, and pledging himself to "fight for the development of Sanford, Seminole County and the St. Johns River against any private interests that will try to hinder any necessary developments at this or any other time," City Commissioner W. A. Leffler yesterday afternoon occupied the spotlight in a stormy session over the Commission's plan to enlarge the P. D. S. boat dock, a session that ended in a deadlock when he and Commissioner V. A. Speer voted for and Mayor T. L. Dumas and Commissioner H. J. Lehman voted against withdrawing the City's request for a dredging permit from the war department.

The Commissioners met for the purpose of answering a letter from the war department which reported that the City's request for permission to dredge a certain area north of the P. D. S. dock had met with the opposition of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad which owns riparian rights to property adjoining the dock. A war department engineer reported that in his opinion, the nature of the objection is such that it is probable that the permit would be issued if the City desires.

The railroad objected to the work as outlined because it will invade the water terminal property to the extent of an average area of 50 by 94 feet and will greatly impair that property for the use to which it is adapted and for which it was acquired, as a water terminal.

Mayor T. L. Dumas opened the meeting by ordering the letter and objection to be read, and then called upon the Commissioners for their opinions. Commissioner H. J. Lehman was first to speak, his opinion being that "since the railroad can tie up the work with (Continued on page six)

Major League Meetings Slated To Get Game Out Of Dumps

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(AP)—On the eve of the annual major league meetings, when baseball men and fans alike are wondering what steps, if any, will be taken to lift baseball out of the depression area, the 16 club owners of the National and American leagues have spoken their minds.

Their ideas bring out the following prospects: Salaries of players and cost of upkeep must be cut 20 percent. There must be no easing of the rules bearing down on showmanship.

Training season should be shortened, perhaps prescribed by baseball law. Trading is to be encouraged, if anyone will trade.

Radio should be banned for all but world series games. Ladies' days and boys' days are to be encouraged, along with old timers' games and even 15-ball days.

There should be no further reduction in the player limit, now 25 men. These reactions stand out in a copyrighted symposium gathered by the World-Telegram with an eye toward anticipating the results of next week's annual meeting.

Three clubs, the Yankees, Brooklyn Dodgers, and Boston Braves, oppose a general reduction of expenses that even estimates a reduction in the $65,000 salary of Kenesaw M. Landis.

Owners of these three clubs insist that publicity along these lines is harmful, that every team should set up its own financial standards. But with the remainder of the magnates, economy is the outstanding issue.

"Baseball salaries must be cut," said Charles A. Stoneham, principally for the reason that they were increased in good times, and no increase was made in the case of seeing a ball game.

"The ball player, for six months' work, is receiving more than the presidents, officials, and owners of 90 percent of other businesses. Baseball is a highly speculative enterprise. The club owners assume all the risks."

Opinions from other club officials, include the following: Clark Griffith, Washington Senators—"The ball player alone has not felt the depression. I believe he will be fair enough to realize he must take a 20 percent reduction. I am opposed to uniform training seasons and radio except for world series."

William R. Henninger, Pittsburgh—"A shorter training season will accomplish as much physical good. Salaries must be kept within bounds. We are against broadcasting. Baseball needs the application of business common sense."

Billy Evans, Cleveland—"A club needs two things to sell the game strongly to its fans: a good ball club and a tight race. The National league is more willing to make trades. As a result they have had better balance, closer races, and increased receipts. Stronger clubs should dispose of surplus talent to weaker clubs."

Herald P. Nugent, Philadelphia Nationals—"I believe our player limit should be lowered to 22. One month of spring training is enough. We favor ladies' and boys' days but are against radio. Baseball is not slipping."

Emil Fuchs, Boston Braves—"Players should share in the good fortune of clubs, and also stand their share of financial bad luck. Training season should not start before Mar. 1. I am strong for radio."

Robert Quinn, Boston Red Sox—"If tall players will hustle every minute the fans will support baseball. The value of radio is open to debate, but it would be a mistake to take the world series off the air."

L. C. McEvey, St. Louis Browns—"We favor shorter training seasons. We oppose radio." Samuel Broaden, St. Louis Cardinals—"Expenses from top to bottom must be cut. We are shortening our training season, reducing salaries and overhead."

William Veeck, Chicago Cubs—"On most important cannot be assigned to the benefits of radio. Four stations broadcast regular field games and increased attendance, even in depression times, reflect its value."

Clarence Mack, Philadelphia Athletics—"Baseball has been run on credit financially. We must have some policies." Jimmy Wel, Cincinnati Reds—"Baseball must adopt business methods. In times of depression it will have better than other businesses."

Tommy Campbell, Chicago White Sox—"Give the fans a winner and they'll break down your fences to get in. Six weeks of training are plenty." Billy Wel, Cincinnati Reds—"Salary lists must be cut deeply. We are opposed to long training seasons. We would like a uniform rule on this. We believe trading revives interest."

Miss Sarah Maxwell last night was appointed captain of the Sanford Girls Basketball Team that will meet an Orlando team in that city tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

The first game of a double-header, that officially opens the 1932-33 season for the boys and girls basketball teams of Sanford Post Florida National Guard.

Mrs. Gladys Williams, coach of the girl's team, announced that the following girls will probably be seen in action in the game tonight: Bronnie Dugger, Julienne Newman, Elizabeth Duncan, Helen Colbert, Dorothy Powell, Hortense David, Adelaide Higgins, Margaret Kinslaw, Sarah Maxwell, Mary H. Coach Leonard McLucas has not announced his starting line-up for the boys team, but he said that it will be composed of the pick of the Florida National Guard Post membership.

Both teams will meet at the Valdez Hotel in time to leave for Orlando promptly at 7:00 o'clock. Tomorrow night, the local basketball season opens when the Company "P" team from Haines City will appear in a double-header that starts at 8:00 o'clock.

Guests at the game will include many of the regular Army and Florida National Guard officers and their wives who will be here to attend the annual Military Ball at the City Hall.

RAIL CARRIERS PRESENT THEIR SIDE OF ISSUE

"Would the railroads, if overnight they were given all the freight carried by the trucks, be prosperous?" he asked, and answered by stating that the "trucks" carried by the privately owned truck 80 percent of all trucks cannot be legislated back to the railroads. We have left the common and contract carrier 15 percent of all trucks. Fifteen percent of six percent is less than one percent."

Of the nation's total traffic movement, he had previously stated, only six percent was carried by trucks. Rousseau said propaganda designed to fasten heavier tax costs upon trucks and automobiles had been increasing rapidly. He said he knew of some railroad men who today were devoting more time to the discussion of the matter than they were to railroad operation.

The committee will study Rousseau's data, with other contributions, after which it plans to submit proposals for railroad legislation, designed to embrace and, if practicable, coordinate all forms of commercial transportation.

At yesterday's session the entire communist delegation shouted "down with von Hindenburg." The manifestation led to altercations in the visitors' gallery, where Deputy Quastel, a communist member of the Mecklenburg diet, made derogatory remarks about the president and was jumped upon by uniformed Nazis.

This was a signal for the communists and Nazi followers of Adolf Hitler in the Reichstag itself to leave the plenary hall for the purpose of helping their respective sympathizers in the gallery. But they never reached the gallery, for they collided in a

NEW SYSTEM OF LEAGUE DIAMOND PLAYS ADOPTED

Plan Will Stimulate Interest In American Loop Contests

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A plan which would create additional interest in the American Association pennant race and prove remunerative to the players was ratified yesterday by the association of magnates attending the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Announcement of the plan left the minor league world flabbergasted but club owners of the International League quickly announced they would consider a similar move.

Briefly the new plan calls for a geographical division of the league into eastern and western groups and, at the end of the season, for leaders in each division to meet in a seven-game series to decide the pennant.

The plan makes it possible for a team finishing fifth in the general averages to win the pennant in the championship series.

Under the plan the association season will end on Sept. 10. The winner of the seven-game series will follow will meet the International League champion in the annual title world series.

The AA magnates also adopted a plan similar to the bonus. In the past only the pennant winner has shared in the little series gate receipts.

Next season five cents will be taken by the league from each admission as against three cents in previous years. The extra two cents will go into the players' pool, from which each player on the pennant winning team will receive $300 if the series is lost and $1000 if it was won.

The players on the second place club will be guaranteed $600; third place, $400; fourth place, $200; and fifth place players $100 each. Should the total receipts in the pool, plus the receipts from the little world series, fall short in a bad season, the difference would be made up by club owners.

A fund of $40,000 would be needed to finance the player bonus plan. A salary limit of $4250 per month for each club exclusive of the manager's salary was adopted by the Texas League, the Western League and the Southern Association. This limit is slightly higher than that recommended by the committee of five and an attempt will be made to get the committee to change its recommendation.

Electric Bridge Table Now Shuffles and Deals for Players

AN ELECTRIC bridge table that shuffles and deals without error was hailed by bridge experts as the most ingenious gadget displayed at this year's National Bridge Exposition at Grand Central Palace in New York, sponsored by Culbertson, Work and other star bridge players.

Photograph on right shows table, with top removed, being demonstrated by Laurens Hammond, Chicago electric clock manufacturer who invented it. The top picture shows experts from National Bridge Headquarters playing contract on the sensational new table. Cheating is said to be impossible with the electric tables, which will be exhibited soon throughout the country.

On one side of the table is a little drawer in which the cards are placed. When the drawer is closed, the mechanism starts automatically. In front of each player is a little compartment into which thirteen cards are automatically dealt. After shuffling and dealing the cards the mechanism automatically stops and the players are ready for the next hand.

Gator-California Game Insured Of Joyous Festivity

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 8.—Success of Florida's first annual California Day celebration on Dec. 17 seems practically insured with the acceptance of many Florida cities to participate in the festivities.

Clair E. Lee, chairman of the California Day committee, announced today that Ocala had signified its intention of having two floats entered in the All-Florida parade to provide the inter-city football game between the University of Florida and the University of California at Los Angeles. The first float will depict scenes at Silver Springs, while the other will represent the city of Ocala. Mr. Lee also stated that Citrus and Dixie counties have entered floats representing the hunting and fishing advantages found in those counties, while the Tampa city commission has notified California Day officials that the West Coast city will build a large and beautiful permanent float to be used for both the All-Florida parade and the Gasparilla celebration later on in Tampa.

Lifting By Your Bootstraps

We hear many remedies suggested these days for breaking the backbone of the depression. Anything and everything from the unlimited printing and general distribution of depreciated currency to the enlargement of the standing army until it takes up all the slack in regular employment has been suggested.

Illustrative of many of these "white rabbits" which, as if by magic, are guaranteed by their sponsors to cure the depression is the issuance of what is known as "self-liquidating currency".

The plan is to have the federal government issue, say, a billion dollars in new paper money, distinguishable from ordinary currency by a color of, for instance, red.

The contractor, in turn, will pay for his labor and his materials with the new money after placing a stamp on it. They will then purchase from the grocers and merchants their food and clothes placing more stamps on it and this shall go on and on until fifty two-cent stamps shall be attached thereto and the money would thus be paid for and automatically cancelled.

Advocates of the plan point out that as a net result the government would have its new buildings fully paid for. It would have redeemed at face value the currency issued for payment of these works, contractors would be engaged, laborers would be given jobs, business would pick up among merchants and grocers.

As a "white rabbit" for the depression, this plan is probably whiter than most of them. It has the redeeming feature that the method of paying for it, at least, is provided. But is it not a fact that the contractors, the laborers, the merchants, and grocers, who place their stamps on the bills, are the ones who are actually paying for the buildings which the government authorizes?

The trouble with "white rabbits" is that they do not create wealth. In the end someone has to pay for them. Nine times out of ten, it is the little fellow, directly or indirectly, who pays.

Insurance Statistics

Aside from its favored position as compared to other countries with regard to sound currency, per capita wealth, and unemployment, the United States also occupies the unique place of leading the world with 69.6 percent of the life insurance in force.

How the life insurance companies benefitted policyholders during the depression years of 1930 to 1932 was made known in another of the many reports which showed that during the three-year period more than $6,000,000,000 in cash payments have been made.

In commenting on this huge distribution of money, one president of a big life insurance company said: "The cash disbursements of $1,924,666,000 to estates or beneficiaries of deceased policyholders are impressive and of themselves approximate an Aladdin-like contribution to the families of the deceased."

"This distribution to estates and beneficiaries, however, imposing as the totals are, is outstripped by the payments of $4,244,843,000 made to living policy holders. Those monies were entirely free from any restrictions as to use or control, and thereby more readily absorbed into the immediate uses of the communities in which they were disbursed than payments, often under restrictive control, to estates or beneficiaries."

That the country's health has not manifestly suffered from the depression was the substance of a survey, presented at the convention by the medical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which showed that life insurance "mortality experience" is now close to 8.2 per thousand as compared to 8.3 per thousand ten years ago.

Reflecting on these figures, the medical director stated: "It was a surprise to me that the year 1932 should have progressed almost to its close without showing any signs of any real retrogression in the health of our policy holders. It is something to give us much encouragement, even cheer, in a year of heavy unemployment that this untoward condition has not arisen."

All in all the result of the convention was that it produced statistics which clearly emphasized the importance of life insurance both as a means of bridging over a period of hard times and of keeping up the health standard.

Dahlia Growing In Florida

By DR. R. B. KEELOR

Mr. Lawrence Peacock, an outstanding authority in matters pertaining to dahlias, demonstrated some years ago that these plants could be successfully grown as far south as Fort Myers, and so it may be said that the principles involved in their growing here are identical with those followed in other sections of the country, excepting only that the dahlia will do best here if treated as a Spring and early summer bloomer.

The dahlia likes sunshiny, but it also likes long, cool nights to bring it into blooming condition and this is probably due to the limitation placed upon the plant's absorption of water in hot weather, through its peculiar cellular structure.

Three methods of propagation are available: (1) tubers, (2) green plants, and (3) seed. Usually several tubers are attached to a root system. After a season of ripening sprouts appear at the juncture of tuber and stem and the tubers can then be detached from the stem, in such a way as to provide one or more tubers for each sprout, and then planted. Within certain limits, ripening and sprouting may be quickened by exposing the tuber to a warm and moist atmosphere, but there is always some risk of failure.

Green plants are grown from tubers placed in rootings and in greenhouses and while they cost less than tubers they actually produce better flowers than are usually obtained from tubers planted in the open ground.

Growing the dahlia from seed is a great sport and is most interesting because you cannot tell what you will get. You may plant a seed from a yellow flower and raise a plant with red flowers and then if you next year plant one of its tubers you may get flowers of some other color, but that color will be permanent, year after year as the tubers are planted.

There are two classes of dahlia enthusiasts. One goes in for big flowers, 8, 10, 12, and 16 inches in diameter and 6 or 7 inches in depth. The other goes in for miniature flowers of which there are now several varieties, such as mignon, collarette, orchid, and pompon dahlias.

I personally prefer the miniature dahlias as they lend themselves so nicely to decorative purposes and my experience here seems to point to their better adaptability to our soil and climatic conditions. A dahlia "bloom" 16 inches in diameter may look fine outdoors but would be much out of place for indoor decoration.

I have repeatedly grown dahlias from seed, green plant, and tuber, to flower in 90 days, both here and in the north where I developed some interesting hybrids. I believe it will still be possible to develop blooming dahlias plants for the flower show in March and it would certainly be a big step forward to have a nice display of these beautiful flowers at that time.

The dahlia will thrive and bloom in a wide range of soils. It is not the type of soil but its condition that matters. The soil should, for best results, contain enough clay to hold plant food and keep fertility from leaching out, but the clay must be made fine and be well mixed with the other soil elements. A hole 16 inches deep, with three inches of broken stone, then a mixture of coarse sand with 10 or 12 percent of fine clay, some leaf manure, and well rotted manure, to which may be added and well mixed, a half teaspoonful of steamed bone and an equal amount of ground tobacco, and you will have an ideal place for your dahlia, which should be planted about four inches deep. If you use enough stone for drainage and do not water too much, you will avoid trouble and possible failure. When your plants begin to bloom they will need more water, but don't overdo it. After each rain or watering use the hoe and cultivate to a depth of about two inches within a radius of 16 inches, but deeper beyond that limit, and deeper still if you wish to make your soil with each such cultivation until you have it mounded up from three to five inches.

At the end of the second month draw two circles around each plant, one 12 inches in diameter, and the other 18 inches. Between these circles scatter a half teaspoonful of good fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, and mix it carefully with the soil. If you wish to make your own fertilizer, try this formula: 1 1/2 pounds bone meal, four pounds sheep manure, 1/2 pound muriate of potash, to be well mixed. It will improve the color and keeping quality of the flowers and benefit the tubers in the ground.

Dahlia seeds are small and must be only lightly covered. They require about five days for germination. The seedlings should be transferred to a fairly rich soil soon after the second pair of leaves appear, to develop good roots and when four or five inches high may be planted out in places prepared as for dahlia tubers.

Green plants are handled as seedlings are handled after they are large enough to be set out. The instruction here given is necessary in more or less skeleton form but the writer will try to give more details for the instruction of any reader of The Herald who may call upon him.

Pinching back, branching, and dusting, remain to be considered in another installment of these garden notes.

CANADA WARNS U. S. REGARDING RUM SEIZURES

Will Not Co-Operate If Latter Persists In 12-Mile Activity

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Canadian cooperation in preventing liquor smuggling to the country may end, Canada has informed the United States, if the latter persists in making 12-mile limit seizures of rum runners.

This warning was handed to Secretary Stimson by Minister Herridge last Monday, in a vigorously worded protest against the seizure of the Canadian vessel "Mazel Tov" when the latter was 11 1/2 miles off the Massachusetts coast. This seizure, after being declared invalid in the lower federal court, was upheld by the first circuit court of appeals as properly made under the 1930 tariff act, which authorized seizures within a 12-mile limit off shore.

The Canadian contention is that it cannot recognize that the tariff act has any force outside the three-mile territorial jurisdiction of the United States, and that in negotiating the existing anti-smuggling treaty or convention between the two countries it was understood "that there would be no disposition on the part of the authorities of the United States to seize a British vessel except within the limits set forth by that convention, a distance that can be traversed in one hour by the suspected vessel."

"Accordingly," continued the note, "it would seem that the seizure of the Mazel Tov and its forfeiture, if continued, would not be justified by international law or by the terms of the convention and that it would be directly contrary to the understandings of the parties which formed the basis of the agreement embodied in the convention."

convention." The note became public yesterday when Secretary Stimson sent it up to the supreme court, before which the Mazel Tov case now is on appeal.

Should the United States insist, said the note, that it has a right to enforce the tariff act beyond the one-hour sailing limit, the ensuing conflict of views would render worthless the treaty between the two nations and "would tend to frustrate" the cooperation by which Canada has curtailed and insofar as Canadian vessels are concerned, almost eliminated "the contraband traffic on the coasts of the United States."

Timely Political Film Is Showing At Milane

For about a week, no other picture produced in Hollywood can compare with "Milane," "Washington Merry-Go-Round," which in advance of the sensational film "The Sign of the Cross" is being shown in Washington. The picture now runs in the city when the entire nation is following politics with more enthusiasm than at any time in its history. It is a picture bought at the Milane Theatre.

Directed by Leo McCarey, that master director who made "The Covered Wagon" and "Bonanza," "The Pony Express" and other films of fifty years ago, "Milane" has a splendid cast headed by Lee Tracy, the best comedian who has captured the hearts and minds of the nation. "Milane" is "The Sign of the Cross" in the "New York" style. The picture is a comedy, and Walter Connolly, Alan Dineen, and Arthur Hodge, are included from the Broadway stage and screen.

Large Police Docket Is Featured By Charge Against Negro Gambling Den

Building of a well-known local gambling den early last week brought 10 negro men and women before Municipal Judge R. Ware in police court last Monday as a feature of a large docket.

Clayda Hart, charged with being the keeper of a house of ill repute, was fined $10, while Ed Atkins, Leo Roundtree, Robert Williams, and Jesse Williams, charged with being inmates of the house, and James Grant, Lawrence Profit, Sie Pouncy, Sam Widdings and Harry Teat, charged with gambling in one of its rooms, were fined $2 each.

Five white boys, some of them students at Seminole High School, were in court on charges of disorderly conduct. Forest Lee, said to have been one of the instigators of the argument that led to the arrest of the group, was fined $5. Owen Harper was dismissed of the charge, while Otis Berger and Elmo Lee must appear in court next Monday.

E. M. Abernethy, white insurance agent who removed several articles from his home on Union Avenue and art fire to him because as he is reported to have said "They belong to the vil", is charged on the docket with insanity. His case was transferred to the county jail where he is being held awaiting the trial of state officials since he has been adjudged insane.

W. E. Smith, white, charged with being drunk and disorderly was fined $50.

E. D. Duncan, white, charged with operating an automobile while drunk, was fined $50.

Robert Stanley, young white High School student who is charged with disorderly conduct because of the destruction of several signs near the Milane Theater, will be tried next Monday. Upon his arrest he gave the name of James Smith, and according to Chief of Police C. H. Shaffer, he is liable to punishment for making a false statement to his name.

Dewey Williams, negro hotel porter charged with reckless driving and violating the city's traffic code, will be tried next Monday.

Disorderly conduct charges lodged against several negroes were disposed of as follows: Viola Holloman, fined $5; Hezekiah Harris, fined $10; Jesse Preston, dismissed; Oail King, fined $5; Emilee Scurry, fined $5; Louella Dixon, fined $8.50 and $2.50; Charlie Turner, fined $4.50 on two counts.

County's Board Has Its Regular Monthly Meet

The appropriation of $100 to the Methodist Orphanage at Benson Springs at this time as representing the quarterly payment for the care of several county children at the home.

James Wilson, of Chuluota, and James Allen, of Lake Monroe, appeared before the Board in reference to road repairs near their properties. They were told that County Engineer T. C. Pitchford and Commissioner Boston Steele will make an investigation of the complaints.

S. C. Ritchie appeared to ask that fishermen be allowed to take shad from Lake Monroe bar south. The request was ordered referred to County Attorney H. S. White who is to communicate with State Game Commissioner C. C. Woodward to seek permission for this action.

R. W. Duckworth, who until recently was a fish warden in Lake Jessup, appeared to ask the Commissioners to pay him back salary due him. He was told that this is a matter which he must take up with the fish dealers who had promised to pay the salary.

The Commissioners granted Chase and Co. a permit to build a concrete conduit on the East side of Boardwalk Avenue running north from the railroad crossing 121 feet, provided a sand trap is constructed and all work is done under the supervision of county engineers.

Culture Program Calls For 30-Hour Effort Per Month

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP)—America has a "culture budget" now.

The art service bureau of the American art dealers association planned it so that "Americans living under the high pressure of present-day life will be able to enrich their minds without neglecting the enlargement of their bank accounts."

Thirty hours a month balances the bureau's "culture budget,"—12 hours to literature, five hours to art, five hours to drama and eight hours to music.

Specifically the culture budgeters must:

- Make one visit to museum each month, 2 hours.
- Visit art exhibitions at 1/2 hour each, 3 hours.
- Hear two musical concerts or recitals, 4 hours.
- Listen to four radio classical programs, 4 hours.
- See two plays a month, 5 hours.
- Read one outstanding non-fiction work every two months, biography, memoirs or history, 5 hours.
- Read one important modern novel every month, 3 hours.
- Reread one classic every two months, 2 hours.
- Read one volume of poetry every two months, 1 hour.
- Total for one month, 30 hours.

"The development of culture," commented Otto M. Tottington, president of the association, "even if it is only lunch hour culture, will mean that no future economic slump can make the American business man feel so completely 'broke' as he feels today. Culture can be developed to the defeat of depression, to the detriment of dollar worship and to the fuller happiness of life."

The service bureau estimated the financial side of the budget at between nine and 10 dollars a month, this being for the plays, concerts and books.

WESTERN COLD WAVE SPREADS OVER WIDE AREA

State Of Wyoming Reports Lowest Temperature, 33 Below

ORLEANS, Dec. 9.—The beginning of the winter's latest cold wave in the South was indicated today in only the spotty appearance of sub-freezing temperatures, but the forecast promised another lash of the wave in scattered sections tonight. Rain snow was indicated in Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Kentucky and slightly warmer temperatures tonight and today. To eastward rising temperatures were forecast.

The first extended cold spell of the winter—which battered the South—spread out today night and brought shivering nearly half the nation. It accompanied in several states snow flurries, sagging temperatures already had brought disaster to most of the vast area between the Appalachians and the Rockies. Government forecasters had little hope of balmy weather before Saturday.

The Dome Lake Club, exclusive summer resort on top of the Big Horn mountains, reported the lowest official temperature reading of any point in the United States or Canada, local weather bureau officials said.

The reading, 33 degrees below zero, was three degrees colder than the low mark recorded at The Pass, in northern Canada.

The Dakotas, Minnesota, Montana and Idaho also suffered the brunt of the cold snap. Hibbing, Minn., had 29 below zero, Devils Lake, N. D., 20 below and Wallace, Idaho, 11 below with a blizzard. An unofficial reading of 30 below was made at Georgetown Lake, Mont.

The eastern seaboard also had its share of cold. New York City was promised 10 above for tonight and it snowed in the New England states.

Idaho reported cold "so intense that it snatched frost out of the shimmering cascade." Blackfoot, Idaho, had 14 below, Meridian, Ore., 15 below, and Paces, Wash., air and allowed it to fall in a 3 below. Ice-laden winds beat over much of Idaho.

Zero temperatures brought no complaints from Kansas as an accompanying snow provided needed moisture to wheat lands. Texas had prospects of rain and Oklahoma expected snow flurries. The states had sub-freezing weather, and an unidentified man was found frozen to death near Enid, Okla.

Some relief from the cold came to Chicago after the mercury had dipped down close to zero. A man died of the arrest from heart disease aggravated by the cold.

From 10 below at Duluth, Minn., to six above at Omaha, Neb., it was cold enough to be uncomfortable over the corn and wheat belts. Michigan and Ohio both were snow freezing, with forecasts of colder.

Isbell Is Freed Upon Charge Of Stealing Chicks

jury, charged the jury and the court that the accused man's guilt was without question and that reflected in his manner at the court room he asked for but was denied a directed verdict in favor of Prof. Isbell when Frank Evans, defense attorney, and Howard Boteler, assistant in defense, declared that the strength of Prof. Isbell's case deserved a hearing.

The defense evidence was presented by C. A. Johnson, Charles T. Telford, A. J. Whitaker, M. C. Hagan, C. H. Ellis, and R. D. White, who said that they were members of an all night "poker" party that included Prof. Isbell and Rev. Thompson, and that the party was going on at the time the chickens were alleged to have been stolen.

Each defense witness, carefully led on by Attorney Evans and Boteler, told identical stories to the effect that the truth of the matter is that Rev. Thompson had been unlucky at cards and had sold the chickens to Mr. Ellis who in turn, early in the morning hours, had sold one of them to Prof. Isbell. All witnesses testified that Rev. Thompson had lost the money which Mr. Ellis paid for the chickens, and that he had left the game declaring that someone had "stacked the cards" and that someone "would pay for it."

Coming as a surprise feature of the trial was the discovery by assistant defense attorney Howard Boteler, that the chicken produced in court was one of several that he had missed for several days. The chicken not only lasted on a rung of Mr. Boteler's chair but responded with soft, gurgling cackles when he spoke to it.

Concluding the trial, and in effect producing a "shout-out" "Not guilty" from the jury which did not even retire to discuss the case, was the admission of Rev. Thompson that he had visited the Rev. Isbell's house earlier in the week and had "lifted" the chickens under discussion.

Judge Anderson had detained in quieting the incensed reaction, who claimed for the infliction of a severe penalty upon the well-known minister who had lived among them for years. When order was restored, and upon Prof. Isbell's unanimous request for leniency, Judge Anderson declared that since Rev. Thompson promised to make full restitution for his double crime, he would release him upon condition of good behavior in the future.

The trial was staged in the Community Church at Lake Mary last night by members of the Men's Good Fellowship Club.

More than 40 persons, most of them members of the club, were present during the trial which Mr. Evans termed one of the most hilarious and yet seriously presented affairs of its kind he had ever participated in. Before the "trial" began, he said, "Judge Anderson had ordered the defense and prosecution witnesses that the 'sky was the limit' as far as testimony was concerned, and each witness took an oath to 'tell any-thing but the truth' in the matter."

The affair was held as a prelude to Lake Mary Day celebration which began this afternoon and that community and will continue until late this evening. Mr. Evans, as a member of the committee, staging the celebration, invited all residents of the city to attend. Lake Mary tonight to take part in the program.

EIGHT DIE IN WAST

RATHENAU, Ga., Dec. 9.—Eight workmen were killed yesterday and more than 100 injured, six gravely, as an explosion of a hydrogen container occurred in a large part of the new tract buildings and a new industrial silk plant. Four men still were missing.

MARIANA, Candelaria, had mining activity underway in the vicinity.
