GERMAN SCIENTISTS TO AID

Ready to Forget Past to Help in Future, Reply of University Professors.

Berlin.—German university professors and members of the reichstag have drawn up a reply to the appeal for re-establishment of the "friendly intercourse" which existed before the war which the professors and doctors of Oxford university recently addressed to professors of arts and sciences and members of universities and learned societies in Germany and Austria.

"Science knows only one aim—the search after truth—and it requires for the performance of this task the common labor of all, regardless of national boundaries," says the German reply. "The war interrupted this joint labor and dissolved many personalities. We are ready to resume these connections and by common labor to relegate to oblivion everything offensively spoken or written in both camps."

Wife Has Bald Stepson; Husband Seeking Divorce

Asking annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Eugenia F. Thompson, Dr. Charles R. Hancock of New York city told the court he had believed her when she said she was about his own age, thirty. She told him, he said, that she had a "small son" out West, where she had divorced her first husband. The doctor said when he met the "small son" he found a man of his own age and bald headed.

RECOGNIZED AN OLD FRIEND

Countryman Visiting in City Had No Fear of Being Harmed by "Thrashing Machine."

An elderly countryman stood on a Broadway curb with more fear in his heart than he had ever experienced in his home county and more than his son had experienced in Argonne forest. To him the crossing of that crowded street was truly the "great adventure."

In the middle of it were two lines of tracks, up and down which hurtled great "tanks" of street cars—juggernauts, seemingly intended for the sole purpose of crushing his aged limbs should he venture into their path.

On either side of them were endless lines of chugging trucks, with an occasional horse-drawn vehicle, and dodging in and about were touring cars and autos of all kinds.

Now and then the sharp whistle of a traffic policeman would spell safety to the acrobatic and inflated, who dashed across the street, skillfully dodging traffic, which turned the corner in a way no one but an old New Yorker can understand, and even he cannot explain.

Finally there rumbled down the street a steam roller used in asphalt pavement work, belching clouds of smoke but attracting no attention. The old countryman was electrified. Resolutely he deserted his shore of safety and plunged across the street in its very path.

"Huh," he grunted as he reached the other side. "That's one thing I ain't afraid of. They used to scare horses when I was a kid; used to make a man out of the thrashing crew walk ahead of them. I know they won't hurt you, but I don't know what these other things will do. Never expected to see a thrashing engine here, but you never can tell. New York's a great city, all right."—New York Evening Sun.

DEALT LENIENTLY WITH HIM

Consumer's Action, of Course, Was Treasonable, But Calliph Proved a Kindly Man.

"What is the charge against this man?" asked the calliph, with a sympathetic gleam in his benevolent eye. "Your honor," said the attendant, "it appears that he attempted to start a private drive of his own for his family."

"A private drive! Why, this is treasonable. Who is he?" "He is just a consumer, your honor; just a private citizen, a man who apparently belongs to the middle class, at the head of a large family. Upon being questioned, he told the inspector, with a loud and unseemly laugh, that for many moons he had been asked to contribute to everything—all kinds of reliefs, governments, etc., and with all this burden he was forced to pay 25 cents a pound for sugar, $30 a month for a cook, $100 for a suit, and other things in proportion. And so, your honor, with a mad laugh, he started a private drive of his own, announcing that if anybody in America needed relief, it was he."

The calliph shook his head sadly, for he was not an unkind man. "Poor wretch," he said. "Do not confine him too rigorously. Feed him on nourishing things, keep his feet warm, and try to nurse his reason back. It is evident that the situation in which he has found his beloved country has unhinged his mind."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

FINE STATIONERY

READER HAS FAITH IN ONION POULTICE CURE FOR PNEUMONIA

The following clipping has been handed into the Herald for publication:

John McLean, a Times reader, residing in Sugar Grove, has so much faith in the onion poultice as a cure for pneumonia that he thinks many deaths would be prevented by its more generous use. Mr. McLean suggests that the recipe for making it be published for the benefit of those who may now or later become seriously ill from this insidious disease. He writes the Times as follows:

Warren Times, Mr. Editor, Dear Sir: I am enclosing herewith a remedy for pneumonia, it was tried out here a year ago when pneumonia was so prevalent and in every case that used it they came out O. K. and was well in a short time, it certainly should be published.

Yours truly, JOHN McLEAN.

Remedy for Pneumonia Published by Health Board of Little, Wash., a few years ago.

Easily prepared. The formula is as follows: Take six to ten onions, according to size, and chop, fine, put in a large spider over a hot fire then add about the same quantity of rye meal or ground flaxseed, and vinegar enough to form a thick paste. In the meantime, stir thoroughly, letting the mixture simmer five or ten minutes. Then put into a cotton bag large enough to cover the lungs and upper part of the chest as hot as the patient can bear it. In about ten minutes apply another and then continue by repeating the poultice and in a few hours the patient will be out of danger. Usually three or four applications will be enough, but continue always until the perspiration starts freely from the chest. The remedy was formulated many years ago by one of the best physicians of New England.

Executing the plan he evolved and announced last winter, Capt. Ben McCoy, of the Everglades boat line, has brought to West Palm Beach a large bus which he will operate in connection with the boat line. By the use of the bus the time required for the trip between that city and points on Lake Okechobee will be shortened.

MASONIC ELECTION

The annual election of officers of Sanford Lodge No. 62 F. & A. M., was held last night in the lodge rooms. A large crowd was present as the election is an event of unusual interest. In addition to the election two candidates were initiated, the work being put on by W. T. Wheelless, Junior Warden.

The results of the election were as follows:

- W. M. Haynes, W. M.
- W. T. Wheelless, S. W.
- D. S. Babbett, J. W.
- G. W. Spencer, Treas.
- F. B. Adams, Sec'y.

The lodge has enjoyed a very prosperous year, under the able leadership of Jno. D. Jinkins, Master.

JEALOUS MAKERS OF LAWS

British Members of Parliament Put Rigid Restrictions on the Presence of "Strangers."

A stranger caught upon either floor of congress might not indeed be lynched. But in contrast with such impossible intrusion comes the odd disclosure of a recent parliamentary debate that, even during the formal days of Chatham, it was usual for outsiders to go forward in the house of commons "as far as a point beneath the rose in the center of the roof." Suggestions for enforcing the "standing order" against this liberty were discouraged at the time because "a violent struggle" would probably ensue.

The late discussion evolved from the current practice of admitting strangers, apparently through the laxity of attendants, into lobbies and into members' smoking rooms. But the lobbies have long been open to certain journalists, and the pictorial terrace beside the Thanes has been a trysting place for high society whenever it decided to invite itself to tea.—London Mail.

The Blessing of Oil.

Where oil deposits are, there statesmen of a commercial type gather today to get possession of the "key" fuel of the hour and of tomorrow. But all phases of oil distribution are not as grim as the processes of its acquisition. We have long known of the uses to which the Chinese peasantry and urban dwellers have put the tin cans that the Standard Oil company's agents have sent throughout the empire with petroleum for the illumination of the house and shops of the people. Many of these substitutions have been comical; but we have not heard before of the disciples of Confucius using the tin cans for roofing of their temples. In Saloniki, however, the Mohammedans have been using the "containers" to replaster the surface of their rotting mosque minarets. Now when the call to prayer goes forth, it not only summons the faithful to think of Allah, but also to remember the generosity of the managers of the Red Cross garage.—Advocate of Peace.

ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Will Be Held at the Campbell-Lossing Post No. 53, Tomorrow Night.

Under the by-laws of Campbell-Lossing Post, No. 53, of the American Legion, the yearly election of officers was to have taken place on November 11th, 1920, but due to the many activities which the Post had undertaken on that day, it was deemed advisable to postpone the meeting until December 9th.

During the past year, since the formation of the Post in February, it has been conclusively demonstrated that the livest, most wide-awake crowd in Seminole county are the members of the Legion and our name is not only known locally but throughout the state.

The new incumbents in an official capacity will find that the obstacles are few in their path, if they but have the loyal, whole-hearted support of every ex-service man in the county. The rough spots of the old administration have been smoothed over, and the new officers can profit by our mistakes.

If we but keep up the spirit manifested by the members on Armistice Day, Campbell-Lossing Post will play second fiddle to no other city in the state, and in order to start our new year in the right manner, it is necessary that a majority of the present membership be in attendance at tomorrow night's meeting.

Don't forget, Thursday, December 9th, 8 p. m., at the County Court House.

Bring a new member with you.

Not a Hound to Be Kicked Around.

Bowling Green, Ky.—An automobile belonging to Ed Cantrill was the chief factor in a unique trade. John Harris owned an old mare and a surrey, also the best "possum" dog in Warren county. Cantrill gave his car for the horse and buggy and the privilege of hunting with the Harris hound during the coming season.

WON BY APPEAL TO VANITY

How Willy Diplomat Saved Lord Beaconsfield From Bad "Break" He Had Contemplated.

Curiosity, says a London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, is frequently expressed as to how the prime minister gets along in his conferences with foreign ministers. It is understood that, though he can make out the purport of a printed passage in the French language, he never had the opportunity of acquiring facility in the spoken tongue. In this respect he finds a precedent in the case of Lord Beaconsfield. When he went to the Berlin congress in 1878 he made known to his faithful secretary his intention of addressing the conference in French. Monty Cory, having suffered scraps of his chief's colloquial French, was aghast. In despair he applied to the British minister at Berlin for assistance. Otto Russell lived up to the occasion. In casual conversation with Lord Beaconsfield he mentioned that he had heard a rumor that he intended to address the plenipotentiaries on the following day in French. "That would," the wily minister said, "be a grave disappointment. They know that they have here in you the greatest living master of English oratory, and are looking forward to your speech as the intellectual treat of their lives." "Dizzy" immediately saw the reasonableness of this objection and all his speeches during the sittings of the congress were in English.

COULDN'T LEAVE EMILY OUT

Peculiar Reason Why Elderly Spinster Just Had to Attend the Funeral.

Word has come to the mid-Victorian lady that an old friend of her mother's had died suddenly in her home in Maine. It was her duty to break the sad news to two elderly spinsters, cousins of the dear departed "auntie." She found Miss Susan at home, tending to her pet canary. Miss Susan is 78, but spry and alert, ready for any emergency. Miss Emily, five years older, was out motoring with a kindly benefactress. The slow tears of old age trickled down Miss Susan's cheeks at the word that another of her generation had passed away. And then, with a quick transition, she began excited plans for attending the funeral, which involved a trip by boat to Portland and a long and arduous ride in a day coach. But the thought of all this, coupled with midsummer heat, did not daunt the little lady. She would go.

"But, at least, Miss Susan," urged the messenger, "you'll not see Miss Emily with you."
 "And, my dear," said the lady, to the woman, when she told her story over a cold lunch, "what do you suppose Miss Susan said? Seriously, in her slow drawl, she replied: 'Oh, I couldn't leave Emily behind. You see she has so little fun in her life.'"

Scraping the Ballot.

The woman who had charge of the voting machine placed in one of the downtown stores for use in the instruction of women first voters, met a number of unusual and amusing situations. A few days ago, a well-dressed woman who had all the appearances of being well informed on matters political, entered the section where instructions were being given, and after making the usual preliminary inquiries, asked the young woman in charge to demonstrate the operation of the machine. She was shown what she should do in case she wished to vote a straight ticket, but this failed to satisfy her craving for instructions, and the climax was reached when she innocently requested: "And now would you mind showing me how I should work the machine if I wish to 'scrape' my ballot?"
