Islets Cop 3-2 Tilt Over Celery Feds

Sanford Opens Crucial Series With Saints At Municipal Park Tonight

The Sanford Celery Feds enter a crucial series tonight at 8:15 P. M. at the Municipal Park when they are holed to Manager Bill Steinbeck's St. Augustine Saints. Manager Ed Levy announced this morning that he will send Jim Schantel to the mound to stem the tide of Fed losses and protect their second place berth in the loop standings. Schantel has been out of active duty for approximately a fortnight due to an ailing right arm. However, it is believed the injury has been cured and the little speedball merchant should be up to his par for tonight's contest.

THE CLUBHOUSE

By BUS HAM. AP Newsfeatures. WASHINGTON — During the war years, when promising young boxers were mighty scarce, the average fight fans and to wait until the boys came home. They'll have some real champions. But it hasn't turned out that way. In the first post-war year, the failure of these young men to smash their way to the front has been a major sports disappointment. The same old names are dominating most divisions. This condition caused Col. Harvey L. Miller, National Boxing Association executive secretary, to Marine and quite a fighter in his own right years ago, to turn to the records for an answer. Miller discovered that the seven have produced only seven world champions, dating back before the turn of the century—four from the Navy, two from the Marine Corps and one from the Army.

Gene Tunney, king of service-produced champions, came out of the Marine Corps after the first World War to win Jack Dempsey from the heavyweight title, Sept. 22, 1926, in Philadelphia. Jack Sharkey, the Boston territorial name Josef Paul Cockshay of the USS Denver—defeated Max Schmeling, the German, for the heavyweight title, June 21, 1932, in New York. It was the Navy again when Eddie Blake—real name Henry Pytkowski, USS Nevada—took the middleweight crown from Freddy Yarnoz in Pittsburgh on Oct. 1, 1934. Ken Overlin, five letterman from the USS Idaho, defeated Cesar Garcia for the middleweight championship in New York May 24, 1940. The only Army product who ever won a world title was Lew Jenkins, ex-Texas cavalryman, who knocked out Lew Ambers for the lightweight title in New York May 10, 1930. "Maybe the boys back from service haven't had time to get started in the fight game," Miller said. "After all, it took Tunney six or eight years to get ready for Dempsey."

The Sanford Celery Feds dropped another Florida State League contest last night when they all but handed the Daytona Beach Islanders a 3 to 2 victory in spite of everything Charley Blison could muster to prevent another lost tilt pasted on his hurling record. Blison went to the hill for the locals and hurled a beautiful six hit ball game. Opposing him on the mound was the capable Dodger portside, Joe Maloff. Joe also hurled a nice ball game but also got out of it by the skin of his teeth. He permitted the Feds, however, over four blows.

Toward the end of Paul Waner's baseball career he was with the Boston Braves and whom should he have as a manager but Casey Stengel. Paul's eyes had been troubling him and he wore glasses to read. In batting practice one day, Casey said to him: "Hit one over that whiskey sign in right field." Paul said: "What sign? I can't see it." Casey said: "All right, how does the ball look to you with your glasses on?" Paul replied: "Like an aspirin tablet." Casey then asked: "And with your glasses off?" Paul answered: "Like a grapefruit." Casey said: Keep 'em off then."

Murray Says Change Made In PAC Set-Up

CIO Arm To Operate Under 5-Man Group Headed By Former Hillman Assistant

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—The entire set-up of the CIO political action committee has been changed. The political arm of the union organization will be the over-all responsibility of a group of five men instead of being in the hands of one man as it was before Sidney Hillman died.

CIO President Philip Murray today announced that five-year-old Jack Krill will be the administrative head of the PAC. Krill—who had been Hillman's assistant on the PAC—will handle day-to-day supervision and direction. Top level policy will be formulated by a five-man executive board. Its members will be the secretary-treasurer of four CIO unions—David McDonnell of the Steelworkers, Julius Emspak of the Electrical Workers, George Addes of the Auto Workers and William Pollock of the Textile Workers. Krill will be the fifth member and chairman of the board.

The new PAC set-up not only eliminates the necessity for naming a one-man successor to Hillman but it probably will make the committee more dependent than ever on Philip Murray in top policy matters. The committee itself has been enlarged from 7 to 11 members—and one of the new members is Murray. Under the old PAC set-up, Murray had only been ex-officio chairman of the group. CIO leaders had urged that Murray take over the PAC leadership himself. He asserted that the burden of duties in the CIO prevented that.

Strikes Keep On Spreading Today Throughout Italy

ROME, July 18, (AP)—Strikes continued to spread throughout Italy today and Premier De Gasperi called upon the Army, Navy and police to end—if necessary—a petroleum strike that had developed to a point deemed by the premier as a national emergency.

De Gasperi's call to the armed forces and police to intervene in the strike if necessary was the most vigorous action the premier has yet taken. A cabinet minister said De Gasperi's action had the support of the Socialists, but that the Communists position was not known.

The strike involves some 7,000 workers throughout Italy and has tied up vital operations and paralyzed UNRRA transport.

De Gasperi conferred with labor leaders in Rome last night and asked them to get their men back to work. De Gasperi directed local police throughout the country to arrest and fine any responsible labor leaders who refused to order their men back on the job.

Coast Of China Is Battered By Typhoon

HONG KONG, July 18, (AP)—Winds that reached a velocity of 102 miles an hour hit Hong Kong today as a typhoon battered the China coast. Shipping and communications were endangered by the storm.

The Royal Naval Observatory announced that the typhoon had struck its heaviest blow west of Hong Kong, but then the storm swung back toward Hong Kong.

American and British naval ships put out to sea before the storm hit. A dozen or more passenger and cargo vessels remained in the harbor where they risked being driven ashore.

Latest Returns Show Talmadge Increasing Lead

Carmichael, However, Still Leads State In Popular Vote

ATLANTA, July 18, (AP)—Former Governor Eugene Talmadge is increasing his lead in his fight for the democratic nomination for governor in the Georgia primary. The vote yesterday, which counted in the white-supremacy platform, gave Talmadge 234,000 votes, while James Carmichael, who is leading in the popular vote, had 209,000.

The Democratic Nominations is equivalent to election, and the return of Talmadge may mean the return of the white-supremacy primary which the United States Supreme Court has ruled must go. Yesterday negroes voted for the first time. However, Talmadge campaigned on a white-supremacy platform and promised to bring back the state primary by putting it beyond state control, just as South Carolina did two years ago. By removing the Democratic primary from state control, Talmadge contended that it would be a private organization subject only to its own rules and regulations.

In another Georgia election, Democratic Representative Helen Douglas Mankin announced that she will claim renomination on the basis of popular votes. Mrs. Mankin appeared to be leading in the popular vote, but not in the unit ballots.

Blind Vet Covering Maine Legislature

McMillen makes his notes in the legislature's special session because it was called primarily to take up veterans' aid legislation.

FRISCO MAYOR WINS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18, (AP)—The calendar on Mayor Roger D. Lapham's desk said "333 days to go" today on complete his four-year term in office.

It was something more than just prophetic, because the city voters yesterday squeaked a recall movement and in a special election re-affirmed his administration by a vote of 103,742 to 73,878.

Mary Gwynn Is Main Speaker At Jaycee Luncheon

Outlines Operation Of Central Florida Blood Bank System

Mrs. Mary Gwynn, executive secretary of the Central Florida Blood Bank, today declared that Seminole County was tops in blood bank activities. Mrs. Gwynn made the statement as she addressed the regular weekly luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce which was held at the Motor Inn.

Mrs. Gwynn, following her introduction by President Jack Ritzgen, asserted that the Central Florida institution was the only blood bank, so far as can be determined that is operated strictly by a donor system. She revealed that since the organization of the bank that between 6,000 to 7,000 transfusions has been given.

While outlining the organization of the bank, Mrs. Gwynn said that Seminole County donors had given a total of 191 transfusions. She added that since the war, 37 whole blood transfusions had been given patients and 65 bottles of plasma.

In discussing opportunities of whole blood, Mrs. Gwynn said that whole blood can be kept only for a maximum of three weeks.

She expressed the value of the blood bank not only to patients from Sanford and Seminole County but from other communities in counties within central Florida. She revealed that there is a plan upon which action is anticipated shortly which will provide food transfusions for a total cost of $10 each. This means, she explained, that the hospitals will be asked to charge $2 for giving the transfusion while the blood bank's service charge would be set at $8.

In outlining various expenses of the operation of the bank she asserted that after each transfusion there remains approximately $3 worth of unusable bottles.

Lee Samuels, representing the Seminole Growers Association and the Seminole County Farm Bureau appeared before the luncheon today and requested the Jaycees to take an active part in a current program to obtain more and better living quarters for imported negro laborers. The group voted to have the matter taken up before the board of directors for further investigation.

Wilson Roguenere of Orlando was a visitor today.

His menu advertised a luncheon with steak, two vegetables, bread and coffee at 60 cents, veal and sauerkraut luncheon at 50 cents and vegetable plate at 40 cents.

New Draft Set Up Made Hard, Tight By S. S. Officials

College Youths Won't Be Deffered Without Special Reasons

By ASSOCIATED PRESS—Selective Service has made the new draft set-up tight and tough. Postponements, known as "deffers," which school can get deferred, but not college men. If the college youths are called they won't be allowed to finish at a quarter or semester unless their draft boards make some special exceptions. Also, a man will not be deferred because of dependents. Fathers will not be deferred of course, and men considered extreme hard-liners will not be deferred.

The rule on occupational deferment is particularly tough. Every man in the 18 to 24 age group who is now exempt will be re-examined. Selective Service will not be allowed to defer a man unless he is a professional or a man who is particularly and exceptionally able to the national economy. That means that about 90 per cent will now have to go to the front. Men who have been exempted from military service until now because they are in school will have their cases reviewed. If the doctor says they're improved enough for service they will be drafted.

Francis Defends His Military Policies

MADRID, July 18, (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco defended his military policy today and at the same time criticized the outside world for its attitude toward Spain. In an interview in the Falangist Party newspaper, Arriba, published on the 10th anniversary of his revolt against the Spanish Republic, Franco asserted that measures on the frontier oblige the country to maintain a large army.

As for his foreign detractors, the Spanish dictator accused them of hypocrisy, and suggested that the shortcomings of his regime are as nothing compared to sins committed against Spain by other nations.

CIO Asks President Truman to Summon Labor - Industry Wage Conference

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Congressional efforts to revive the OPA appear to have ended in a stalemate.

Senate members of the conference committee today rejected a proposal by House conferees that would have removed the Senate bill on further price ceilings for meat, milk, eggs and other foods. Also turned down was a suggestion to delete from the Senate bill a provision that would result in price increases for a large number of manufactured articles.

In an effort to end the deadlock, a subcommittee was named to study the situation overnight. It is hoped that agreement can be reached on a formula for bringing some food price controls back.

Jim Schantel Whitewashes St. Augustine In 5 To 0 Tilt

Goose Kettles Slated To Hurl For Feds Against Saints Tonight

By Julian Stenstrom
Herald Sports Editor

Manager Ed Levy's Sanford Celery Feds increased their lead over the third place St. Augustine Saints a full game last night when Jim Schantel returned to the Florida State League war, after an absence of over a fortnight because of an ailing wing, limited the one-on-one city crew to five scattered blows while his mates were pounding out eight siffins, including a triple by Dede Brice to capture a 5 to 0 contest.

Schantel, by far, was the king pin last evening in the Fed victory. However, he was presented with brilliant support afield by his colleagues. Two fast double plays in the infield by Al Bryant and Bob Tuttle and Levy absolutely smashed any hopes of the Saints in the late frames to overcome the Fed. Not a single Saint even reached second base.

Schantel was very effective from beginning to end. His curve ball, the primary weapon last night, was one of the best displayed at the local ball echard during the current season. Schantel actually had the Saints moving away from the plate. He used his set pitch only on rare occasions.

Three of the Saints caught his fast pitch for singles while the other two blows, came on 2-0 counts, when Schantel was tossing low inside balls.

All of the Fed scoring came in the second and third frames. In the second, Buddy Lake slapped a single into short left and moved over to second when Levy smashed a long drive to deep center. Both men advanced on a perfect fly executed double steal. Byron Sharpe, Fed receiver, was intentionally walked to fill the sack. Lake scored when the new Fed fielder, Omer Glorin, grounded out. In the third, Al Bryant was intentionally walked to fill the sack again. Hal Finckh, the bill for the Saints, fanned Schantel and also Silverman to end the inning.

The Feds jumped on Finckh again in the third for four runs. Bob Tuttle led off with a Texas-leaguer into right field and immediately scored when Brice acted a triple to the left center field wall. Lake fled out to center to score Brice.

Levy continued hostilities by leading out an infield hit and moving to second on a wild throw to the initial sack by third baseman Wilkes. Levy tallied a triple to the left center field wall to score Brice, Schantel and also Silverman to end the inning.

Manager Bill Steinerke interrupted play only long enough to give Finckh his ticket to the showers and to signal righthander Cecil Hudson from the bullpen.

Hudson fanned Glorin but Al Bryant smacked a single into center field to score Sharpe. Schantel could not end the frame.

Manager Levy benched Bob Kramer last night and sent Glorin in to play third base. This was Glorin's second appearance with the Feds since joining the club but it was his first activity at the Municipal Park with the locals. Fans were favorably impressed with his play last night at third although he went hitless in three official trips to the plate.

Levy moved Tuttle back to his regular position at second base.

Daytona Writer Terms Lake As One Of Most Valuable In Loop

By BERNARD KAHN
Daytona Beach News-Journal Sports Editor

When Buddy Lake made his appearance in professional baseball he was a gangling, green farm boy whose burning ambition was to reach the big leagues. Making a timorous debut with Harrisburg, Pa., in 1933 "Buddy" was as truly rural as Turkey in the Straw, a kerosene lamp and a pair of overalls with patches over the knees.

All of 19, the Florida rookie didn't exactly know what he was as a ball player, so boisterous Art Shires, the manager, made a pitcher out of him and he hauled off and won 15 games for the last place team in the New York-Penn league.

Buddy Lake has long since lost that bluish youth, he is no longer a pitcher, and he has abandoned his hopes of reaching the majors, but he is still a whale of a ball player whose net worth, this season for Sanford marks him as one of the most valuable ball men in the Fla. State Loop.

Today Buddy is a tall, shambling guy with a shy smile and a blue draw you could hang a hat on. He is crowding 31, and so far the only break he ever got in a lifetime of trying was the time that the Boston Braves brought him up for a tryout. Then an arm injury spoiled his big chance.

Lake performed for Harrisburg from 1933 through 1935 and moved to Albany, N. Y., in 1936. It was in the spring of '37 that Buddy dropped up with a bump throwing wing that forced him to give up baseball and return to his home at Sanford.

Buddy sat on the sidelines all through '37 and 1938, operating a dry cleaning business in the Celery City. The urge to get back in the game prompted him to sign with Alan Melby's St. Augustine Saints in 1939 and the same righthander surprised everyone, including himself, by winning 16 games. On days when he wasn't pitching, Buddy played in the outfield and fared so well that the Saints made a full time outer gardener out of him in 1940. He proceeded to win the league batting crown with a .352 average.

And at the rate he's traveling through the first 86 games of this season Buddy threatens to repeat his feat and regain the hitting crown. He's slugging .384, and also leading the league in runs batted in and two base knocks.

"I play much better now than I know I'm not going any more," the Sanford star told me the other night in the dugout. "When I was 19 I tried an hard to do everything right and I couldn't do anything right because I tried so hard. Now I don't care and I'm loose and the pressure never bothers me. That's the way it is."

Graziano Nears Top Portion Of Jacob's Ladder

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—When Joe Louis carries out his plan to retire for the year, Mike Jacobs won't be sorry. Uncle Mike, the boxing promoter who got $100 for ring-side seats (there were 11 such seats) for an exhibition worth $100 or less, has a new meat ticket.

It is Rocky Graziano, 152 pounds of fighting fury. Rocky, they call him. His name is Tommy but if you call him that he won't answer. He could lick his weight in white if necessary but he'd rather play stickball with the kids on the lower west side.

His best friends are the neighborhood kids. He gives them his nickies and goes around wearing heavy sweaters or jackets with his collar open. Once took the shirt off his back when one of his pals admitted it. When the time came for him to be introduced from the ring, Rocky took his bow in his undershirt.

Purses the Bucks

Graziano's first sight of real money came when he received $12,000 in new bills. A few days later he asked one of his men to hold his wallet. It held only $11,000.

Asked what he did with the $12,000, Rocky replied: "I put $1,000 in the bank and the rest I gave to my pals. They need it more than I do."

It is reported that Graziano still even knows some of those who put up for his first round pay-off. A few days later Rocky was seen leaving a party at a club where he had had a good time.

What makes Graziano so colorful is that you never know what he's going to do outside the ring. But inside the ropes he is consistent. He has knocked six of his last seven opponents kicking and punching. Having knocked six out of his feet, he has also had a pair of fists out in unprecedented flow of rate receipts for "little no".

In seven fights within the short space of three months he drew $1,000 into the combined coffers at Madison Square Garden and Uncle Mike Jacobs, right now is the champion, Tony Zale, of Gary, Ind.

There's nothing 100-rated here than the 100-pound title to fight. He expects to fulfill his hopes in Yankee Stadium on Thursday evening, July 25, when he fights the champion, Tony Zale, of Gary, Ind.

With prizes sealed, from $5 to $30 for outside, the double offer takes the battle as a sure shot to surpass the Leonard Terlesky record of $127,684. He'll be 197 when he goes to the ring. He'll probably outclass his heavyweights outdoors.

First Heat Arnold

Graziano's all but rocky road to the top began a year ago last March when, in the presence of President Truman, he defeated Billy Arnold, Philadelphia Negro phenom. It was supposed to be another victory in a long Arnold string.

Graziano took such a beating in the second round that the fans pulled for the referee to stop the slaughter.

Rocky's trainer, Whitey Bernstein, saw that his protégé was in a bad way. To test him, Bernstein asked: "Who am I? What round is it?" "Who? Whitey," Rocky said with a faint grin. "I'm surprised at you. I've got this guy all opened up. Didn't you notice? He's ready to be picked."

Arnold never answered the bell for the fourth round. He was stopped in the third. The writer never yet has seen an athlete with such recuperative powers. Graziano, beaten to a pulp in the second round, came back to inflict even more punishment on Arnold. That bout alone made Graziano the attraction he is today.

He followed it with knockouts of the late Al (Dummy) Davis, Red Cochrane (twice in a row) and Harold Green. He beat Sonny Horne on a decision and then stunned the well-known boxer, Mark Serry, in two rounds in a non-100 but last March.

Long Lay-off

Graziano hasn't fought since. He's too valuable to Jacobs to be caving in the smaller clubs. Ever since the Louis-Cornu fiasco Rocky has been in training at Greenwood Lake, N. J.

If the first middleweight title fight since 1911, when Zale beat George Abrams, draws $500,000, Graziano will come out with $125,000. He's getting 25 percent for the privilege of bashing the beaver of Zale who is drawing 35 and who hasn't met a worthy opponent since Hilly Conn outpunched him in a 12-round bout in 1943 before Zale went into the Navy.

Zale has never been knocked out but then neither had Cochrane or Serry. That's always first time and Graziano's data are like bricks.

Southern Florida Proves To Be Mecca For Deep Sea Fishing

AP Newsfeatures
MIAMI, Fla.—This southern seacoast resort center is the finest port for one of the world's finest fleets of charter fishing craft.

And offshore here the sparkling waters of the Atlantic Ocean offer more than 350 varieties of fish, ranging from the small trout to the giant blue fin marlin.

Some 45 trim, rainbow colored vessels are moored in the waters of the city each basin, where others are tied up at numerous coves in Leavey Bay and along the creeks and inlets.

The cost of these boats varies in price from $5,000 to $25,000 in normal times. Each is equipped with fishing tackle valued at more than $1,000.

Prices Vary

The cost of a boat for a day for party of three to six runs anywhere from $45 to $75, with $6 extra for each person over six.

Besides the deep sea fishing there are five larger deep-sea fishing boats which accommodate 4 persons each and make daily trips. The cost for the trip is $1 a person with line and bait furnished.

The experienced fisherman and novice alike can cast lines for the coveted bluefish and sea bass, the dolphin, the speed swimmer

Whales and the big gamesters of the sea, the tuna, sailfish and the marlin, the latter believed to cut the water at 50 miles an hour.

The angler may fish over the side of the boat with a hand line, or cast in a faintly swayed boat and haul in rearing lines and snagging reels.

Some of the craft even have ship-to-shore telephone service which enables calls to be put through to any part of the world.

Excellent fishing can be found two to four miles from the shore, where schools of snappers, grouper, amberjack, barracuda and dolphin play in the shimmering waters of the sea.

Tuna, Too

The angler who would like to hook into a big game fish, a charter boat will navigate the miles due east of Miami to Hinn and Tin Bay in the British West Indies. Here are found the big sail-fish, giant-fishers of the briny deep.

The popularity of this area as a fishing point was shown last year. The 11th annual metropolitan Miami-Mean fishing tourney, which ran from January into April, and brought 200,000 tourists.

A well known New York gambler known as Nick the Greek recently went to Santa Anita race track with an old friend, Bill Halligan. Nick teased Halligan about his inability to pick a winner.

Nick said: "Bill you're a poor handicapper. In fact, I'll bet you can't pick a horse that you can't pick a horse that will finish last in the big race today."

Halligan took the bet, $1,000 to $10. He named a longshot, Paper Boy, as the tail-ender. The payoff was that Paper Boy won and paid $64 for a $2 win ticket.

The late Pat Malone, who did a lot of good pitching for the Chicago Cubs and the New York Yankees, was a notoriously weak hitter.

One day his young daughter, Patricia, was watching a game in the outfield and fared so well that the Saints made a full time outer gardener out of him in 1940. He proceeded to win the league batting crown with a .352 average.

The near impossible happened recently on the 18th hole at the Wykeglay Country Club golf course in New York.

THE CLUBHOUSE

AP Newsfeatures
SEATTLE—Let's skip ahead 10 years. It's 1956, we're all a decade older, and we're talking our way around the golf links.

We're looking for a lost ball, so we stand aside and let the following foursome through.

Here they come—slow, rubber-wheeled, chrome plated, streamlined machines—with a robot-like mechanical swing as they glide noiselessly into their second shots.

We remember back to what they used to say years ago: "The caddy of today is the good golfer of tomorrow." If that's any truth to that saying we've been bandying around for the past quarter-century, the whimsical little second level above will give you an idea of how today's caddies will be performing in the future.

It's all because of the caddy shortage, and those mechanical caddy-car arrangements that are rolling around the country's golf courses.

Some of the officials of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association plainly show concern. Forest Watson, long-time top-notch amateur from the Seattle Golf Club, would like to do something about it.

"Many of our best golfers have vied for the caddy ranks," he says. "In the old days there were flocks of young kids around the clubhouse and the height of their ambition was to 'pack for' some good golfer in a tournament."

"But these days the kids don't seem to want to caddy much. Most tournaments find a lot of good golfers elbowed packing their own bags or pulling one of those rubber-wheeled dinghies around behind them."

Orlando Cops 15-1 Tilt Over Cocoa To Grab Title

Orlando, July 18.—Left-handed Bill Peeler missed a no-hit game here by inches last night as Coach Carlisle Hucker's Orlando American Legion baseball team outplayed Cocoa 15-1 to annex the fifth district crown. With Peeler away in the final frame, Cocoa slaver found a hole in the defense before Peeler's return.

The day before Peeler found himself in a similar predicament when he pitched for the Orlando Legion against the defending champion Sanford. Peeler pitched a perfect game, but he was out of the box in the sixth frame. The Orlando batsmen will repeat the feat in the state championship in Miami next week.

Cocoa entered the final. Tuesday night by virtue of their triumph over the defending champion Sanford Legion team from Sanford.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

STRANGELY ENOUGH GOD'S WORLD IS FULL OF CHAOS MORE AND MORE. He
maketh wars to cease.—Ezra 48:9.

Senator Wheeler, outstanding legislation, has been defeated for re-election in Montana. He may be said to be just the last of those who used to think the peace and prosperity of this country could be preserved by building a wall around it.

In Moore Haven the seven year old son of the mayor of the town
drowned in the Caloosahatchee River the other day. It is a bad practice to allow children to go near the water until they have been taught to swim under competent supervision.

Another report by health authorities on Silver Lake reveals that it is all right for swimming.
It is suggested, however, that the water be boiled before drinking. Careful investigation in that vicinity failed to disclose any danger of contamination from sewers, cesspools or septic tanks.

Poor old Nimmell and Short have again been blamed for the Pearl Harbor disaster even though any other officers in the Army or Navy, had they been in the places, would have done just as they did. But the investigating Committee admits neither of these officers had been given the information from Washington which they should have received.

What does the British government expect to do with the money
it has borrowed from the United States. Well, according to a top embassy official in Washington,
food will be a top priority item.
So if you find the price of food going higher and higher, it may be an account of British purchases as much as because of the abolition of the OPA.

Congressman May wasn't the only one who benefitted from government contracts as testimony from Allen Gellman in the Senate War Investigation would seem to indicate. He says his concern spent $10,000 in one year on liquor and expensive comforts
for gifts to government workers up and down the line. A little grease here and there seems to help all the way along.

The end of the modern city is pictured by an atomic expert, William Higginbotham, as coming long before the next World War. Businesses as well as residents will begin to leave these big industrial centers just as soon as they realize that the nations of the world cannot agree upon a permanent peace formula and that another world war is inevitable.
The risks of living in a big city to be blasted to smithereens in the first few days of the next war may become too obvious to be endured.

CIO automobile workers go far beyond their constitutional right of picketing to Congress when they threaten a nation-wide strike if OPA is not re-enacted. When they do that, they are not threatening to vote against members of Congress who are primarily responsible for OPA's untimely death, but the general public which is also suffering from rising prices,
for a strike of auto workers over congressional failure would simply delay even longer the time when John Q. Citizen will be able to buy a new car.

Upon milk producers in these days of polio epidemics falls a greater responsibility than ever to provide milk under the most sanitary conditions possible. A friend of ours comes in to report that he found a bug in his unopened bottle of pasteurized milk. He does not mind paying four cents a quart more for his milk, he says, but he hopes they're not charging for the bugs. Well, we reminded him that the dairymen are probably having as much trouble getting competent help as he is having in his business, but there ought to be some way of making it easier to workmen right on down to the most humble seller that the health and happiness of each and every one of us is absolutely dependent upon the quality of their job.

Strike Habit

In protest against the end of OPA the United Automobile Workers called a strike of their 800,000 members.
It was a strike in two ways. The purpose was to hold rallies to promote a general "buyers strike" in the face of rising prices. In order to attend the rallies the workers had to leave their jobs and thus stop automobile production for several hours.

Wherever people cut their purchases to a minimum temporarily, they will contribute to the holding back of inflation, and they will give production a chance to catch up with demand. But if there is an organized cessation of buying, promoted in the spirit of a strike, the situation takes on the color of a fight between buyers and producers. A complete buyers' strike is probably impossible, because there will always be people who find it necessary to buy certain things. But the movement could be conducted in such a way that it would further confuse the country's economic situation.

U. A. W. members are in a peculiar position on this question, because by virtue of their jobs they are both producers and consumers. By walking out of factories for the buyers' strike demonstrations, they slowed the production of automobiles. Only when manufactured goods become abundant will there be a sound basis for the reduction of prices, which is the aim of these "strikers."

Byrnes' Report

Secretary of State Byrnes laid the cards on the table in his frank report to the people of the United States on the results of the foreign ministers' conference in Paris.

He discussed openly the difficulties of reaching agreement, particularly with Soviet Russia, on peace treaties. "While the council made real progress toward peace with Italy and the ex-satellite states, it made no progress at all on the German and Austrian questions," he said, but he concluded that the prospect for peace treaties with five countries is bright.

Secretary Byrnes spoke with dignity and candor. He gave Americans a clear picture of the magnitude and complexity of the task of achieving world peace. With no show of ill feeling he must have given Russia the impression that the United States intends to cling to the ideal of international justice, whatever the impediments to building the essential machinery.

Court Martial Review

Sentences in 85 per cent of the army's court martial cases have been reduced, according to Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, chairman of the War Department Advisory Board on clemency.

Mr. Roberts' report was made in the face of criticisms of wartime court martial sentences repeatedly brought before Congress. His figures show that cases of 22,500 general prisoners have been reviewed and almost one-third of the accused released, and another one-third stated for discharge within the next year, and many of the remainder to be free by December, 1947. The rest, it is claimed, are men convicted of murder, rape or desertion to avoid hazardous duty.

The fact that there has been such wholesale reduction of penalties seems to indicate that there was a wouddeal of substance to the claims of injustices. It is heartening to learn that the army has done something about them.

Congress Is Studying United Nations Also
A Perpetual Calendar Are Showing Interest

WASHINGTON—Congress and the United Nations now are considering an important matter wholly unrelated to war.
They are pondering whether to recommend that the world adopt a perpetual calendar.

A serious young student named William Edwards first thought of the perpetual calendar when a student in the Quincy, Mass., high school. He considered the present calendar confusing. The Caesars, he told his teacher, have done us wrong!

Now a lieutenant commander, stationed at the Ford Island air base on Oahu, Edwards is still convinced he has done a better job than did the old Romans.

Edwards thought up a perpetual calendar. His calendar starts each week on Monday, agreeing with common business practice, and permits Saturday and Sunday to become the week-end in fact as well as in name.

His calendar would have Easter come on April 14 of every year, removing some small confusion. The Monday following Easter would become a legal holiday.

Another novelty: New Year's Day has no date. It is simply an extra day to be known by that name.

The old adage would not apply. Now it would be: "Thirty days hath January, February, April, May, July, August, October and November."

The year proper would start the following day, Monday, and would have 364 days, with 52 weeks, so divided that the calendar remains the same, year after year.

Every fourth year there would be an extra "year day," or Leap Year Day to be observed between June 31 and July 1. This would mark the half-way point in the year, and be a legal holiday.

Edwards claims these advantages for his calendar:

1—Setting aside of New Year's Day and Leap Year Day as separate days allows division of the remaining 364 days into exactly 52 full weeks.

2—Monday is made the first day of the week in agreement with common business practice and Saturday and Sunday become the week-end on the calendar as well as in fact.

3—The last business day of each quarter, the 90th day, falls on a Saturday, which is convenient for completing quarterly tax records, government reports, bookkeeping and stock-taking. However, another day, the 91st, still remains as the year has equal quarters of 91 days each.

There is no so-called "unlucky Friday-the-thirteenth" or "Black Friday" in the entire year to worry the superstitious or deter business deals or signing of contracts.

4—The first, 15th and 30th, common payroll, bill-paying and accounting days, all fall on week-days.

5—The day of the week for any date in the year may be figured easily by remembering "30, 30, 31," the number of days in the three months of each quarter, and "Monday, Wednesday, Friday," the week-days on which the months of each quarter begin.

6—Easter Sunday on April 14 is close to the original historic date and with a fixed Easter there would be six three-day holidays every year since a "President's Day" is proposed for Monday, February 13, in addition to an "Easter, Easter on Monday" on the Monday following Easter Sunday. In Leap Year, of course, there would be seven three-day holidays.

7—Anniversaries and holidays would always fall
on the same day of the week.

8—There would be 28 week-days or working days in every month.

What came to Edwards as a challenge from his teacher has become an international issue. It has received wide endorsement.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

BY WILLARD CONNOLLY

Hillsborough County Commissioners have provoked a lot of protest in Tampa by calling off
a referendum promised on Aug.
15 to determine the location of a future court house. The Tampa newspaper infers in an editorial
that up until the last minute, Commissioners had looked for some excuse to build a lofty,
"marble mausoleum" on the present one square site, including plans and refusing to hire someone to study other sites. Suggested as a site is a 10 acre strip from the east bank of the Hillsborough River, which would give plenty of space more than the 202,000 square feet of floor space needed to replace present county offices. It is pointed out that the project would result in a beautified civic center, replacing a present eyesore area.

Miami is reported to be having a lot of trouble with its skyscraper Dade County court house because of inaccessible approach and inadequate parking facilities.

Lakeland, which was visited last year by 6,000 tourists, expects about 5,000 during the coming season. Chamber of Commerce Manager Whittry estimates the city could entertain 10,000 winter visitors, each spending about $500.

The display of military insignia
