Willebrandt Assails Smith For Hiding Behind Religious Issue

At Gov. Smith for his Oklahoma speech in which he charged her with injecting religious prejudice into his campaign.

Gov. Smith did in building the party platform. Mrs. Willebrandt asserted, referring to the prohibition issue, "The Methodist ministers would not have been so bold as to take a stand and my speech would have been unnecessary."

SMITH CARRIES DRIVE TO AREA OF NORTHWEST

Democratic Nominees Planning To Launch Aggressive Attacks Against Opposition

Talks Tonight In Montana Capital

Will Tear Into Record Of Coolidge, Harding In Helena Address

CASPER, Wyo., Sept. 24.—(INS)—With Governor Smith in Helena, Mont., Governor Smith invaded the Northwest territory today definitely on the offensive.

The defense phase of his campaign is behind him at the end of his first week on the road. From now until the 6th, the opposition with which will be compiled a clear exposition of his own ideas on the issues.

Tonight in the capital of Montana, a state which the Democrats appear very confident of carrying this year, Governor Smith will tear into the record of the Harding-Coolidge administration of the last eight years with particular reference to the oil and other scandals.

His theme will be "party responsibility," a phrase appropriated from a statement made by his Republican opponent in Washington last week.

The burden of his speech will be that political parties are responsible for their acts when in control of the machinery of government, and that such being the case Mr. Hoover must bear his share of responsibility for the eight years record, the more so because he was a cabinet officer in the two administrations.

Today marked the end of the first week of Governor Smith's active campaign in the West, and his first address in the West, and he was confident of the West and well satisfied with the general outlook.

"I have visited the past year parts of the country which I never had seen before," he said. "The enthusiasm of the crowds and the size of the gatherings at every point far surpassed anything I had seen before."

Wealthy Negro Is Freed By Captors After Getting Ride

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Casper Holstein, 30, wealthy negro who was kidnapped Thursday night by a group of white men and held for $50,000 ransom, appeared at the West 125th Street station today and announced that his captors had released him. He said he had not paid the ransom.

The Harlem "policy king" said the kidnapers had released him shortly after two o'clock this morning at Amsterdam Avenue and 140th Street, after driving him around in an automobile for about 10 minutes.

Leaving back in his hands, Fukunaga, nonchalantly told authorities how, after the slaying, he had taken to his room and wrote the ransom letter to the kid's father, Yoshida, Jaminaga, demanding $10,000. Fearing harm might befall his child he father did not notify the police but met the kidnapper and paid him $4,000.

Pistol Duel Ends In Death Of Two

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Two men fought a pistol duel today in a quarrel over a gambling debt, police say. The dead are Harry W. Stein, 35, Alvin Brown and Frank Ferguson, Alvin "Lefty" White, 24, both of this city.

Police learned the men "small time racketeers." Details of the shooting were learned from James Hamblitt 27, who is being held as a witness.

Hamblitt said he had accompanied Ferguson in the hotel to see Stein and while he waited outside the room he heard 11 shots. Entering the room he found Ferguson on his knees with four bullet wounds in the body. Stein was dying from two bullet wounds in the abdomen.

Hamblitt took Ferguson to a hospital where he died before he could give a deposition.

KIDNAPERS WILL EXACT DEATH IF NOT PAID $5,000

Mafia Extortionists In Chicago Seek Money From Ranieri Family

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—(INS)—A new demand for $5,000 threat, exacting death if the money is not paid was received today by A. Frank Ranieri, father of 10-year-old Billy Ranieri, who was kidnapped and held for 11 days by Mafia extortionists.

The letter was received by Ranieri through the regular mail just as assistant state attorney Samuel Hoffman and Charles Mueller were preparing to go before the grand jury to ask the indictment of Angelo Petrucci, alleged ring leader of the plot to kidnap $50,000 ransom for Billy.

The new threat against Ranieri was dated Sept. 21 and bore, as a signature, "The Italian, T. T. U. R. and O.", under which was the words "Mafia."

The note read: "Mr. and Mrs. You no doubt feel happy to get your boy back, but what All is not so good as you may think for you are after you again. Do not think we were fools enough to let him go. No we are not. That man get as a suspect at court is."

The commission expects to wind up its Southern investigation this week. Later it will look into the work of the power organization in California, Washington, and probably several other Pacific Coast states.

Utility Press Body Holds Session Here

The Florida Public Utilities Information Bureau held its monthly meeting today at the Hotel Fort Lauder, with only a small attendance, and it was said, in the recent storm and also in the fact that several of the members are out of the state.

The next session will be held in Jacksonville, Fla., represented and those present were: E. W. Crider, Florida Power Corporation, Ft. Lauderdale; Herbert Borer, Jacksonville Trustee Company, Jacksonville; R. V. Hilde, Southern States Power Company, Pensacola; P. M. Whitman, Florida Power and Light Company, Palatka.

HOOVER PLANS TO GIVE VIEWS ON VITAL ISSUE

Republican Candidate For President Will Speak Mind On Public Utility Question

Will Continue To Ignore A's Jibes

Advisers Of Nominee Answer Charges Of New York Executive

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—In keeping with his purpose to conduct an affirmative campaign, Herbert Hoover will make a public address during October on the subject of governmental regulation of water power and public utilities. It was reported reliably here today at his headquarters.

The Republican nominee will "speak his mind" on this issue, it was said, because he feels the public has a right to know his views and not in any sense as a reply to the attack of Governor Alfred E. Smith his Democratic rival. Hoover will maintain his stand that his campaign should be conducted on a constructive basis, absolutely devoid of personalities. For this reason, he will make no reply now to Smith's heavier speech.

One of his advisers explained Hoover's attitude, namely: "In making his own constructive campaign, Mr. Hoover has no answer for Governor Smith. That would be engaging in personalities."

Hoover's associates were angered by Governor Smith's tactics. "Governor Smith is living in a gale force," said one Hoover leader. "He attacks Hoover because his government employees, much misapprehended, accepted some lucrative posts in private business. The Governor would do well to tell the people why he has absolutely abandoned the public utility company as his campaign manager and why the chairman of the board of the General Motors Company and the president of the National Electric Light Association are among the heaviest contributors to his campaign fund. These two companies are the heart and soul of the power trust."

The Hoover leaders meanwhile "gave the lie" to the allegation of Senator Bruce, Democrat of Maryland, that Hoover showed hypocrisy in the prohibition question because he had been known to take intoxicating liquors, the information coming from Clarence Derrico who said he had drunk with Hoover.

"Senator Bruce is simply giving circulation to slander," commented George Alexander, Hoover's assistant. "Mr. Hoover does not know Mr. Derrico and it is a falsehood to say they had drinks together."

With Hoover also landing a denial of the charge, it was said at Hoover's headquarters that the Republican nominee has not touched liquor since the prohibition law went into effect. As explained six weeks ago by International News Service, Hoover is a personal dry and Mrs. Hoover a life-long abstemious prohibitionist.

Both have declined to attend social functions where liquor is served and they associate principally with people who do not serve liquor in their homes.

Chairman Hubert Work meanwhile issued a statement attacking Smith for his heavier speech. Work declared Smith gave a "public exhibit of his inability to direct, interpret and reverse the meaning of public statements made by Mr. Hoover through delecting and hitting and insulting phrases from the content."

"Beyond this," Work added, "Governor Smith's advertisement his ignorance of Mr. Hoover's well known public stand on the Boulder Dam power development."

The same was at work this morning in his headquarters, as Elizabeth, Tenn., speaker on for Oct. 24. He began his speech, it was said, in a few days on his own campaign for the remainder of his campaign.

PEOPLE IN WIND SWEEP SECTION WORK TO REBUILD

Officials Plan Newer And More Beautiful Cities In Storm Area

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 24.—(INS)—While planning reports from relief workers in the Everglades doubled the latest estimates of death, the Palm Beaches went ahead with their reconstruction program today.

Two roofs were replaced with new, plate glass windows were put in, and old walls were ripped down as officials planned newer and more beautiful cities to take the place of the ones devastated by the West Indian hurricane.

Monday was no day of rest for businessmen who were in the Palm Beaches and the Everglades. In the former place, they repaired the terrific damage done by the blow, while in the latter they went ahead with the ghostly work of burying or burning their dead, now estimated at around 1,000.

Formerly and laborers who have been forbidden with tents and rafts, and given some food, were engaged in cleaning up the huge piles of debris that littered the streets. Others were sent into the Everglades to assist burial parties.

Being in the flood, relief workers have just been able to penetrate into the Indian Bay section. This is strewn with bodies, according to A. L. Shafer, in charge of relief work for the Red Cross here, 100 bodies having been found along a distance of a couple hundred feet.

The bodies no longer can be removed from the vicinity in which they are found. They are being piled up and burned in crude pits immediately. Identification is impossible, and white bodies cannot be distinguished from sun-dried.

No immediate relief of the flood situation was in sight, and attention was given to the stricken Everglades communities was possible only by boat. Governor John W. Martin who has been making a personal survey of the stricken area, left last night for Okechobee.

The situation in Okechobee appears to be good, according to Shafer and the refugees from Palmetto are being removed to that city. More than 1,500 persons have been inoculated there against typhoid. A report that influenza was sweeping the stricken section has not been verified, Shafer said.

Burial or rather disposal of the dead should be finished in a few days, and the situation cleaned up by Tuesday, according to Dr. John Hall, one of those supervising this work.

Property loss has reached a staggering total. Palm Beach County estimates its losses at $15,000,000, while loss to farmers is estimated at $2,500,000. This does not include the loss suffered by Everglades communities which were wiped out.

Palm Beach's Millionaires Return To Supervise Repair Of Mansions

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 24.—(INS)—Palm Beach, America's most noted winter resort, began shining out in respect today.

Arrival of many of the social elite to oversee repairing of their expensive homes, damaged by the West Indian hurricane a week ago, set the pace for reconstruction here.

Building crews in large numbers were on the job, and as a result the situation looks more promising. However conditions this fall will be better than ever before, civic leaders pointed out. First because the

COUNTY STORM RELIEF FUNDS GO OVER $4,000

Workers Near Quota With Barely $1,000 To Be Raised Within Next Few Days

Auxiliary's Tag Sale Brings $700

Benefit Show Draws $265.75 And $522 Is Given Red Cross

With more than $4,000 raised toward Seminole County's goal of $5,000 for the storm relief sufferers, the citizens' relief committee today set about to secure the remainder of the fund, and if possible to exceed the quota which was voluntarily set Saturday afternoon after the group was organized with E. J. Kelly Sr. as general chairman.

While a committee of three, appointed to interview heads of local business houses to secure contributions, deferred its work until tomorrow morning because of the inclement weather, it was reported that $1,181.25 has been raised since Saturday at noon. This figure does not include several contributions that are known to have been made, but which have not yet been officially reported. Following is the money donated thus far:

Previously reported	$2,657.50
Auxiliary Tag Sale	700.00
Milnes benefit show	522.00
Red Cross	122.00

Total $4,001.50

From its tag sale on Saturday, the Legion Auxiliary announced today that $700 had been raised. Of this amount $377 was reported at noon that day. The $323 benefit movie was sponsored by a group of Kivans, in the proceeds going to the relief fund. The Red Cross total reported by S. M. Lloyd, treasurer, included $1,181.25 secured Saturday night at a mass meeting, which was addressed by a group of prominent citizens.

Special collections were taken up in practically all of the churches yesterday, it was announced, and it was expected donations from these sources would swell the total several hundred dollars. In the meantime, it was planned to make a charitable flash tomorrow and Wednesday in order to raise money as soon as possible and send it on to the storm area for immediate use.

Mrs. Ralph Stevens, Mrs. J. C. Borden and Mrs. LeRoy Childman, co-chairing the Legion Auxiliary Committee which had charge of the tag sale on Saturday, today expressed gratification over the results and extended praise to the Boy Scouts, who rendered valuable assistance in selling tags and in gathering clothes. The Scouts turned in over $200 of the $700. The Auxiliary yesterday dispatched two large trucks of clothing to the storm area and today made plans for securing another truck of baby garments on Tuesday.

President over by Mayor E. F. Henshaw, the mass meeting Saturday night at Park Avenue and First Street attracted a large crowd, which heard speakers describe conditions in the storm section and others appeal for relief funds. Among those speaking besides the Mayor were E. J. Kelly Sr., LeRoy Childman, Frank R. Fountain, E. E. Harty, W. F. Shelby and Virgil Stone. The collection taken on during the meeting (Continued on page 4.)

Gator Grid Players Battle Mightily In Flashy Scrimmage

Squad Now Numbers 50 After Weak Spirited One Has Been Dismissed From Drills

Every Candidate Sees Some Action

Aspirants For Berths On First Team Work Hard For First Game

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 22.—(Special.)

Opening up with a full range of tricks, the Gator grid candidates today battled through another strenuous scrimmage session, in the course of which nearly every man who dropped from the race for man was given a taste of action. Most of the weak spirited ones variety positions, leaving a squad of 50, which is not expected to decrease materially during the remainder of the season.

The orange and blue warriors strove mightily for nearly an hour and the practice session was prolonged for more than two hours. But for the fact that there have not yet been any practice games in which yardage counts were taken or punting resorted to, the Gator proteges have practically outgrown the early season stage and are just before settling down to intensive work in preparation for the curtain raiser against Southern college on Oct. 6. It is understood that practice games will be held next week.

Clyde Norton, Gator guard in '27 and '28 was a visitor at practice today and declared himself very pleased with the outlook in general.

Crabtree Going Strong

Cawthon, Goodbread, Brumbaugh, Sumner and Gump are among the top form. Each of these men made long dashes in today's scrimmage. Crabtree is handling the ball like a real veteran and Captain Bowyer is going to have plenty of competition from this youngster when it comes to drawing for starting honors.

Goodbread and Cawthon are exhibiting tremendous drive and wonderful defensive power. Both men weigh in at between 180 and 190 pounds and are potentially one of the most powerful pairs in Dixie.

Willbur James, sophomore, gained some ground but failed to show as much pence as he did in the first skirmishes. Tommy Owens alternate-captain who dashed to fame last October on Plant field at Tampa, was guilty of making two sensational gains.

Ben Clemmons, son man in the center race, broke through the line continually this afternoon to emerge before they got started. Clemmons is known best for his defensive work and the showing today was considered a fair sample of what he is capable of doing. Dashwood Hicks, Tamra sophomore who is going well at tackle, repeatedly evaded blockers and broke up the offensive formations.

How They Laid It Out

TENNESSEE WILL FACE SCHEDULE WITH YOUNG MEN

Vol's Will Meet Tough Players With Team Composed Of Sophs

By Ed Danforth International News Service Staff Correspondent

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 22.—

Shed a tear of sympathy for the boys, who are engaging in the precarious pastime of trying to do out in advance how the University of Tennessee will stack up in the Southern Conference race that soon will be blazing away in all fury.

For Tennessee is confronted with the necessity of placing its confidence in the football ability of sophomores and like a race, one never knows how a sophomore will come out. Major Neyland, who presides over Tennessee football tells me that very likely his starting lineup will have six sophs. If replacements are made essential in a few cases nine sophomores will be battling for the glory of old alma.

So right on the face of it it appears that Tennessee will either have one of the best football teams in the conference, or one of the worst. Take your choice, but mark this prediction—Tennessee will be found in one of the two classes at the check-up.

Last year the Vols went right through to the finish, without tasting the bitterness of defeat. That feat will be hard to duplicate for it is obvious that the Vols' ambitions have been stirred and they are stepping out against tougher opposition this Fall. Dates with seven conference rivals must be kept, or else.

One of the most impressive sights around the Tennessee gridiron camp is the presence of good backfield material. That alone should cheer the hearts of the Vol coaches and help them forget the fact that their players are mostly young.

It will be hard to best the Tennessee boys at forward passing sickel and Stanley, ends; Hicks and Jux Clemmons, tackles; Perry and Steele, guards and Clark, center. The other eleven had Bowyer, Owens, James and Betha in the backfield, with Nolan and Lloyd Wilson, ends; Norfleet and McInae tackles; Grandoff and Bowser guards, and Clemmons, center.

The second pair of teams to venture forth were as follows: Team A—Green and Turner, ends; Colson and Foster, tackles; Meth and Roberts, guards; Baldwin, center; McEwan, McClellan, Farr's and Judy, backs; team B—Elms and Howard, ends; Fenton and Allen, tackles; Ripley an Goldstein, guards; Luper, center; Irga Yancey, Bryson and Sibley, backs.

It was Irga's first action of the year and he tore into things with all of his old-time drive. He ripped big holes in the line when leading the interference and carried the ball for appreciable yards several times.

Giants And Cards To Play Crucial Game Today Which May Decide Flag Winner

Leaders In National League Race To Lock Horns Again In What Will Be Almost Final Decision As To Victor

By Davis J. Walsh International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—

This will be do or don't at the Polo grounds, with the winning and losing of the 1928 National League pennant practically vested in the result of a single ball game between the St. Louis Cardinals, leading by two games with only nine to play, and the New York Giants. It will be the keystone of the campaign, since a victory for the Giants will leave them only one game in arrears and a defeat will eliminate them almost beyond the peradventure of the mathematical "if," without which no statistician can really "stat" or "fish" except hazily and without confidence.

In other words, they do or they don't this afternoon and the Giants know that, in their case, don't means won't, will stake their all in the performance of Fred Fitzsimmons, perhaps the best pitcher in the outfit. The Cards know that don't will mean further doubt for them, will counter with Calence Mitchell, the only left hander in existence who pitches with his salivary gland. If Calence can't do it, then the Cards will almost have to concede that it isn't in them.

Clear and cooler was the weather forecast for this great moment of a great campaign and, with the memory before them of the Giants' rabbit-out-of-the-hat victory in the second game on Thursday, the turnstiles will be in for a terrible beating. It is expected that the populace will attend almost in its entirety, exceeding the 55,000 capacity of the park and overflowing onto the streets where they will be able to hear a very good ball game. It is all so unnecessary.

Of course, the Giants are playing two opponents from now on—the Cardinals and the thing the gamblers call "percentage." Regardless of what the Cards do after they leave here, the Giants must keep winning to have a chance. If, on a certain day, the Cards and Giants both lose, the former will gain. If both win, the result will be much the same. If the Cards should win a game while the Giants are losing another—bloody.

In other words, the Giants are trying to play heads-you-win-tails-I-lose. It sounds impossible, but it isn't, altogether so. In fact, if the Cards lose today, anything is possible after the way they blew that second game on Thursday.

We enjoy a lot of things that our parents never had and wouldn't have enjoyed if they had.

Last Sunday night was stormy. However the Pantomime at the Congregational Church was greatly enjoyed. Don't miss them. Come out tomorrow night. It's good!

A Sanford lady says the only way she can be sure that she has cakes, pies or cookies in her pants is to lock the country door and hide the key under the soap in her boy's bedroom.

Mr. Frederick Schumacher and seven other gentlemen arrived in Sanford Sunday and enjoyed Monday at the Ferris Lake Hotel. They were not excited about the storm stating the wind blows and it rains up there and takes off a roof, blows down a tree and a few poles occasionally. Lucky Sanford

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER, 24.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

I never as yet have embarked on a ride. This would carry me over the tremendous tide. Without standing all day with my hands on the rail.

I cannot believe that these monsters will keep. Forever concealed in the billowy deep. I am sure that some time they'll be sure to arise.

I had learned that from careful reports it appears. That one hasn't been seen for a good hundred years. But I think that some day he will come from his home.

I young girls should be careful in making boy acquaintances. Not all of them are interesting. For those contemplating a trip to Palm Beach in the near future to view the destruction we recommend rubber gloves and gas masks.

J. P. Morgan gave ten thousand dollars for Florida relief. That is the kind of support Florida is receiving and the kind which will never let this state go down.

An editorial in the New York Times speaks of "the bustle of Jacksonville." We didn't suppose there were being worn—Tampa Tribune. Oh yes, they're still worn in Jacksonville.

Now the thing for Florida newspapers to do in order to get it back on them is to call it the Pittsburg hurricane or the Atlantic City hurricane because that's where it was last time we heard of it.

There won't many Florida citizens leave this state on account of the hurricane. They'll remember New York's recent subway disaster, Rockford Illinois' tornado, the ice blizzards of northern winters, and the heat prostrations in summer.

The Herald is rapidly increasing its circulation lists as a result of its carrier boy contest and the many new and interesting features which it has recently acquired. The Herald is becoming more and more an indispensable advertising medium for local merchants.

Al Capone, well known Chicago beer importer who has a fashionable winter residence in Miami, was a victim of his own gun the other day. Many times has Capone's trusty automatic cracked at competing bootleggers, but this is the first time that it has bitten the hand that fed it. The life of a Chicago bootlegger is strenuous.

Citizens of Canal Point had planned a memorial service in memory of those who had died in the 1922 hurricane and had later decided to abandon the idea instead of reviving buried sorrows. Nature refused to allow them this relief and sent another hurricane, more disastrous than the other, almost on the exact anniversary of the first.

Hurricane Rumors

A vicious rumor, distressing to some, was circulated on the streets of Sanford Saturday afternoon and Sunday. A number called this office to verify it. They also called the Southern Bell Telephone Company and probably other sources of information. The rumor was to the effect that another hurricane, of greater intensity than the last, was whipping its way toward the Florida coast.

It is useless for us to call attention to the fact that laws exist against starting rumors of this character. Such laws are of very little practical value because nobody ever starts the rumor. All any one individual ever does is just to pass the rumor along. In all probability the person originating it reports that he heard it from someone else, perhaps a traveler whose name is unknown.

It seems to us, however, that a man who repeats so groundless a rumor is quite as guilty as the man who originates it. Sensible people cannot have a man imprisoned for passing on a rumor, but they can frown upon him and his story until he will wish he hadn't told it. They can tell him if he doesn't know what he is talking about to keep his mouth shut.

At times like these, during the hurricane season, and just after one of unusually disastrous effect has struck, many people are apt to regard these rumors with undue seriousness. It is impossible to determine how many sleepless nights or worried daylight hours were caused Saturday and Sunday by these baseless reports. Neurotic individuals for weeks to come will be inclined to suspect the presence of a hurricane every time the rain falls or a gust of wind passes by.

For them The Herald has plenty of sympathetic understanding but can only repeat what it has said many times before that if it isn't in The Herald it isn't at all. We are fully confident that with our present system of telephone, telegraph, and radio communication, and with our modern devices for gauging atmospheric pressure, wind velocities and directions and that with our numerous and reliable sources of weather information, it is absolutely impossible for a hurricane to slip up on us.

We do not hesitate to say that if there is a hurricane brewing anywhere in the West Indies, our readers will know about it long before it reaches the Florida coast.

Ice Cream Cones

In hot weather such as we are enduring now, it is comforting to contemplate anything cold or even cool. A consideration of the tremendous growth in the manufacture of ice cream may not be so comforting but it may afford some interest. It is significant that figures recently supplied by the Department of Agriculture show that the United States consumes more ice cream than all the rest of the world put together, and that its production in the past few years has increased more than any other major product of the dairy industry.

In 1910 the ice cream output was ninety-four million gallons while in 1920 it was two hundred and sixty millions. The total production for last year, including that of home, drug stores and other places, was three hundred and thirty-five million gallons, or an increase of some eleven million gallons over 1926. The per capita consumption based on these figures is two and eighty-five hundredths gallons. How the consumption varies from winter to summer is disclosed in the statement that the monthly production in cold weather is approximately twelve million gallons while in warmer weather it is increased to around fifty million gallons a month.

For this most popular refreshment Americans spend annually the tremendous sum of seven hundred million dollars. The enormous production makes the United States truly a nation of ice cream eaters. An average of nearly two million dollars is spent each day of the year to satisfy the American appetite for the frozen delight. And with those figures we are satisfied. We are glad the government statisticians, usually so alert to the possibilities of such a situation, overlooked this bet and passed up the opportunity to figure out how many five-cent cones could have been filled out of our yearly production.

STORM STORIES

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

Already, as in the case of other storms in Florida, a following tempest of criticism is being blown from certain quarters against some of the agencies which have reported the damage done or alleged to have been done.

To defend Florida against misrepresentation is a duty which appeals to all patriotic Floridians. It is a duty second only to the primary duty of helping those sections of Florida which have suffered from the storm. But it is a duty which is best served by recognizing that it ranks second, not first, by presenting to the world the true facts which lie somewhere between the excited stories of exaggerators and the fatuous denials of minimizers.

In gathering and reporting of storm news the Associated Press and most of the newspapers and other agencies have made every honest attempt to report the facts without bias in any direction. In the attempt there have been errors of personal journalistic heroism and devotion and labor. When wires are down roads blocked, trains stopped, lights and power gone, the business of getting information and publishing it is a rough adventure calling for ingenuity and a courage for which those involved deserve a credit too little given them.

PHILADELPHIA, POLITICS AND PROHIBITION

NEW YORK WORLD

What Mayor Mackey of Philadelphia obviously desires is to give the city a surface cleansing and get everybody to forget the liquor and crime scandals. Mr. Vare's illness makes a success necessary, and Mr. Mackey is said to eye the position. The fall elections are coming, and the Republicans want no embarrassments. The mayor would like to lose the worst speakeasies and see the storm blow over. Hence the twenty-four hour order; hence his failure to go vigorously into police graft. It is creditable to District Attorney Monaghan that he attacks these tactics, reads his own

The northwest was less timorous. One could see a good many saloons were open.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Monaghan and the press will insist that the complete facts regarding police corruption and police partnership with crime are exposed. No one doubts that the force is honeycombed with graft; indeed, Mr. Mackey charged as much last fall. No one doubts that high officials should be sent to the penitentiary. If the recking news is exposed to plain view, intelligent citizens cannot but join Judge E. O. Lewis, who ordered the grand jury inquiry in condemning prohibition as the cause. "There is no doubt in my mind," said Judge Lewis, "that the customs service and coast guard have been corrupted, the internal revenue staffs made unreliable, the state and local police have fallen victims to temptations. The facts visible to them are that most persons consider the violation of that law as a sorry game to be played."

Religion Studied By Christian Scientists

Religion was the subject of the sermon in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The Golden Text was from Matthew 11:29, "For ever, O weary word is settled in heavy faithfulness, is unto all nations; thou hast established earth, and it abideth."

The lesson-sermon was the one from the Bible: "God made the world and all things in, seeing that he is Lord of earth, dwelleth not in it, made with hands; Neither shipp'd with men's hands, though he needed anything, seeing he is Lord of all life and breath, and things" (Acts 17:24, 25). The lesson-sermon also included following passages from the Science textbook, "Science with Key to the Text," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual, harmonious, immortal, divine, eternal, unspiritual can be real, glorious, or eternal" (p. 335).

Bridge Party Honors Miss Mildred Holly

Miss Mildred Holly, popular bride-elect, was honored Saturday afternoon with a bridge party given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. J. Holly Jr. and Mrs. Ben Caswell, at the home of the latter, 1210 Magnolia Avenue.

Pink roses and pink vine, artistically arranged in vases and bowls with lacy asparagus ferns, were used in decorating the rooms in which the guests enjoyed bridge. A most attractive feature, in an adjoining room was the bride table, which was centered with two miniature dolls representing a bridal couple standing beneath a white wedding bell with a profusion of roses an dfern surrounding it. Pink candles in crystal holders graced both ends of the table.

After five progressions of bridge, scores were collected and Miss Maude Lake received a beautiful boudoir pillow in pastel shades, while Mrs. George Cowan was the winner of an attractive futuristic picture for cut prize. Miss Holly was presented with a bride's book and Mrs. Paul Forbes, a recent bride, was given a beautiful picture.

The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Hill, then served delicious refreshments of chicken salad, hot rolls, spiced apples, iced tea and cake to the following: Miss Mildred Holly, honor guest, and Misses Maude Lake, Kitty Dulose, Ava Wright, Olive Newman, Margaret Peters, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Mrs. W. C. Hill, Mrs. Paul Forbes, Mrs. L. F. Boyle, Mrs. Franklin Hardaway, of Orlando, and Mrs. George Cowan.

Proper Foods For The Lunch

To maintain good general health and sustain a working efficiency the business man or woman requires proper food. A glance at the foods selected in a restaurant or cafeteria at noon will show that many workers do not choose proper foods.

Most of these people are in a hurry; sweets satisfy quickly, so they select these foods. Sweets, however, do not furnish the nourishment necessary to carry on the duties during the remaining hours of employment. Indigestible foods at noon lower the efficiency.

Proper food means one hot dish (a substantial solid may be substituted), bread and butter, a simple sweet and a beverage.

The hot dish may be a soup or one of the following: Meat or vegetable stew, baked beans, creamed or scalloped fish, macaroni or vegetables.

In salads, there are a variety of fish salads, lettuce and tomatoes, plain lettuce with cheese dressing or egg salad, all good selections for the lunch.

Fruit desserts are wise selections, then there are custards, rice pudding, fruit gelatines, blanc mange and ice cream.

Milk and buttermilk are the best beverages from the point of nourishment; then comes cocoa, tea or coffee.

GOLFER WEARS GLOVES

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Golf fans were thrilled in the recent Walker cup matches, here watching E. T. Stoney, a member of the British team, play with gloves. Stoney wears very thin double gloves, claiming he gets the "feel" of the club and at the same time protects his hands.

W.C.T.U. Meets Friday With Mrs. Spurling

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Spurling, 2018 Mellonville Avenue, with Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Mrs. W. I. Hughey and Mrs. Walker as hostesses. Mrs. E. R. Mitchell presided over the meeting and urged all the women to vote and canvass their neighborhoods to solicit every woman to register before Oct 13th. Mrs. R. C. Maxwell was elected chairman of the Hoover nominating committee.

At the conclusion of all business Mrs. A. M. Phillips, accompanied by Mrs. E. M. Carol, sang a solo. Mrs. John Leonardy then gave a short talk on the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act, followed by a speech by Rev. F. M. Marler on the duties of citizens. Marler said that in the coming election it would not be a question of politics but a question of morals, not a question of prohibition but whether we were willing to expose ourselves to all types of immigrants, or should enforce the excellent immigrant law we now have. Rev. Marler has had experience as a federal officer and says that the law could be enforced if the best people would get behind it. He also said that we owe allegiance to the government and when we were faithful to the government, and not until then the government owed us protection.

Mrs. Glenn and Mrs. Carol then sang a duet and refreshments of French sandwiches, iced tea and cake were served by the hostesses. About 40 or 50 people were present.

Herbert Hoover Is Leading Al Smith In First Returns Of Literary Digest's Poll

Republican Nominee Has 21,756 Of 32,350 Received So Far; Al Gets Many Republican Votes; Hoover Ruins Well In Maryland

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—Hoover is ahead of Smith in the first scattering returns of The Literary Digest's 19,000,000-ballot nationwide "straw" poll for President. Of the 32,350 ballots returned Hoover has 21,756 votes and Smith has 10,222 votes making a percentage of 67.3 of the total for the Republican candidate as against 31.6 for the Democratic leader. The other 2.1 per cent of the votes are divided among the three minor candidates.

An analysis of "how the same voters voted in 1924" shows that Smith receives over 43 per cent of his strength in those first returns from those who voted for Coolidge four years ago, while only 35 per cent of his total poll comes from Democratic voters in the last Presidential election.

The same tabulation shows Hoover obtaining more than 75 per cent of his total votes from Republican voters of 1924 with a gain of only 11 per cent from the Democratic ranks.

A startling local shift in party lines is indicated in the few early returns from Wisconsin comprising some 1,500 votes which show that over one-half of the Democratic votes in that State is coming from former Republicans. Likewise, in New Jersey, over 50 per cent of the Smith vote appears to be drawn from voters who voted the Coolidge ticket in 1924 whereas Hoover captures less than 10 per cent of former Democratic adherents.

COUNTY STORM RELIEF FUNDS GO OVER $4,000

was turned over to the Red Cross. C. D. Wolfe, chairman of the Disaster Relief Committee of the county Red Cross, reported the arrival today of two more negro refugees from Pahokee. The negroes, a man and his wife, recited a graphic story how some 300 persons lost their lives in the little Okeechobee settlement, while only a score were saved.

One truck load of clothing was sent Sunday to the storm area by the Red Cross, Mr. Wolfe said. The truck was donated by the Florida Power and Light Company through C. A. Byrd, local manager.

Mr. Wolfe announced a meeting tonight with the negro citizens at Trinity Methodist Church, Sanford Avenue and Fifth Street. At that time a special offering will be taken and reports will be made on a tag sale that was conducted Saturday and today in the Goldboro and Georgetown sections. Indications pointed to a large donation from this source, Mr. Wolfe said.

J. Schirard, local manager for the American Railway Express Company, announced receipt of instructions that shipments of clothing, food and other supplies for the storm section will be handled by his company free of charge. Shipments on a carload size will be accepted on this basis, Mr. Schirard said in inviting local citizens to use this means of sending their gifts to the storm section.

From all appearances the body had been dragged for some distance before it was dropped in an undergrowth. A blood-stained slinkers hatchet lay nearby.

stop has been very pleasing and causes me to be very hopeful. I am entirely satisfied with the week's work.

Since leaving Albany a week ago this morning Governor Smith has visited five states west of the Mississippi River. Montana is the sixth. In all save one Kansas, the Smith managers believe they have a fifty-fifty chance, if not better of victory in November. And, paradoxically enough, the crowds that greeted Governor Smith seemed greater in Kansas, comparatively speaking, than in the other states. He made no speech in Kansas, yet at every one of the 15 stops he made in the state the size of the crowds was the subject of widespread comment.

In Nebraska, the Smith managers believe they have "a good fighting chance." The reaction to Governor Smith's Omaha speech was far from relief was pleasing to them and Senator George W. Norris, the big progressive insurgent, returned in the state has not yet come out for Hoover. His silence is accounted a distinct asset by the Smith managers.

In Oklahoma, a doubtful border state where the religious question and prohibition overshadow all other issues, the Democrats have been somewhat discouraged. Some of them pessimistic enough to say that if the election were tomorrow Hoover would carry the state. But all were agreed that Democratic chances are improving daily, and that another six months work may bring the state back to its normal state.

Stock Speculation, Recently Revived, Is Based On Reason

Experts Declare New Buying Orgy Keeps Pace With Business Industries Expand Decreased Rediscunt Rate Contemplated

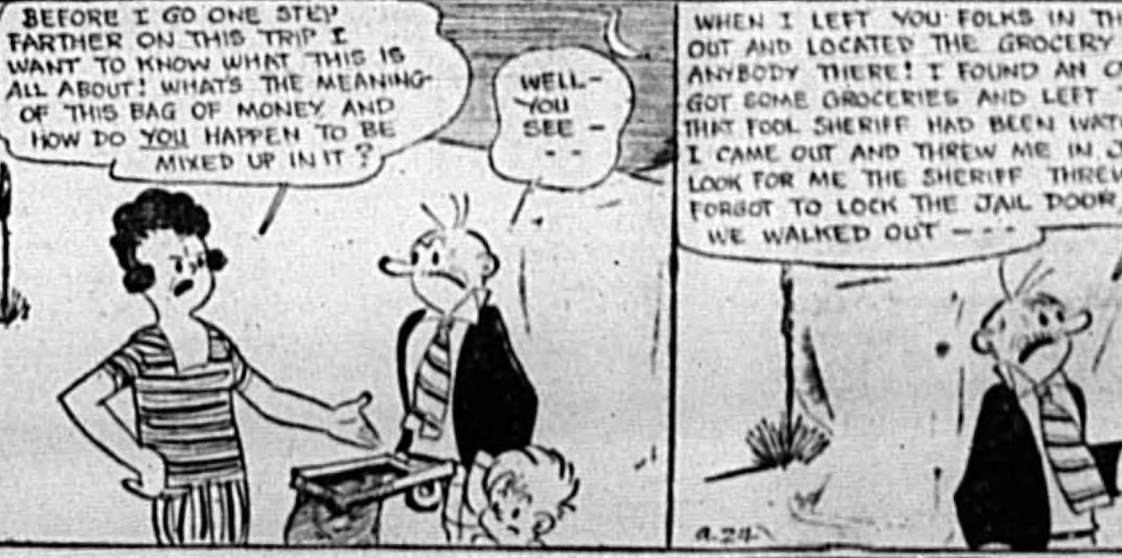

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(INS)—Conservative financial leaders in Wall Street and elsewhere have not hesitated to say that in their opinion the revival of speculative enthusiasm in the stock market is not out of step with the substantial, industrial expansion and the very promising outlook. It has now become evident that the Federal Reserve Board's campaign of speculative credit restriction has not been effective, and the Wash- ington wires are carrying dis- patches of a contemplated de- crease in the reser- vation rates of the reserve banks. There can be no doubt that the bull market of 1927-28 has had the most expert guidance in the whole history of the New York Stock Exchange. The Fishers and the Durans, the Cutlers and Livermores are men of large resources, broad business capacity and keen expert judgment in the intricate process of appraising security values. They are not mythical personalities of the story-book variety, but real flesh and blood of the work-a-day world, approachable to newspaper men and ready to tell why they have so accurately forecasted bull markets since 1924. Of course, the market has not been beyond up on talk. The cheap commodity of the politician and the tipster has been appreciated at face value in the last few years in a degree never known before. The bucket shop has been forced out and the fake security salesman banished off the financial highways. With all of the hurrah and excitement indulged by the spec- ular flights of security prices into new high territory, astute traders have not lost sight of the fact that corporate earnings is
