Adult entertainment ordinance

LONGWOOD — City commissioners will conduct a 6 p.m. work session Monday night to review provisions of the proposed adult entertainment ordinance.

The commissioners approved an additional 120-day moratorium on issuing any new licenses for adult entertainment businesses last week. The commission OK'd the third moratorium period to allow time to complete work on the ordinance.

The work session will be held in the Commission chambers of City Hall.

3,000 trees

LAKE MARY — The Seminole County Road Division has received a grant of 3,000 tree seedlings of various species. They will be planted at the interchange of Interstate-4 and Lake Mary Boulevard, on Feb. 4 and 11, with the help of local scout troops and school children.

The tree project is being undertaken through the American's Treeways, (ATW) partnership. In a memorandum issued by Matt Burke, landscape coordinator for the county, the partnership was created to bring together public and private partners to beautify our nation's transportation corridors and to promote public awareness and a spirit of volunteerism in support of the planting, maintenance, management, protection and cultivation of trees.

The ATW grant is sponsored by Texaco, and the seedlings were donated by Champion International Corporation and Louisiana-Pacific Corporation.

Disney panel selected

LAKE BUENA VISTA — Seminole County non-profit organizations may again be recipients of Walt Disney World community service awards. A panel has already been selected to decide the 1995 awards.

A record $350,000 will be distributed to community organizations in Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties. In addition, for the first time, Disney is also including non-profit groups from Lake and Polk counties.

Among judges for the 24th annual awards, from Seminole County are Jean Butler, a community volunteer from Altamonte Springs, and Ti-Ying Lee, student council president at Lyman High School in Longwood.

Notice of intent forms for consideration have been distributed to local non-profit groups in all five counties. Any other organization wishing information should phone Walt Disney World Community Relations at (407) 828-3453 to request an application.

Applications must be postmarked by no later than Feb. 24.

Help for problem boys

Brush with law, drugs could land teens at GUYS

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Traffic whizzes by on busy U.S. Highway 17-92 but most drivers don't even glance past the vacant lot to see just the corner of the old unassuming one story house before the view is obscured by trees, palms and shrubs. The once white building exterior is now an aged, grayish-blue with patches of peeling paint here and there.

Once a halfway house for men rejoining society after bouts with substance abuse and the law, the building is now being renovated and used for teen-age boys with similar problems.

The O.U.Y.S. program is one of several operated in Seminole County by The Grove Counseling Center, Inc.

O.U.Y.S. program stands for the Groves' Unified Youth Service which has been in existence for about 90 days. It is a six-month program for 14-18 year old boys with substance abuse problems coupled with being sent to a

The Optimist Club of Sanford recently presented a trio of Seminole High School students with honors as winners in the "Freedom: Our Most Precious Heritage" essay contest. Eleventh graders Steve Sperry, Jennifer Zelenak and Taherah Lawrence were congratulated by Optimist Club president Peggy Hardin and judges Gracia Miller and Tony Black.

Seminole a great place to visit

By VIKKI BOESCHNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Residents have always said Seminole County is a great place to live. Now, however, citizens say it is increasingly popular as a place to visit.

Tourism development director Jack Wert is very pleased with the numbers of tourists who made their way through Seminole County in 1994.

"Our hotel tax collections were up 14 percent over 1993 in a year that showed little or no growth in surrounding destinations," Wert said.

The key to the successful tourism season in Seminole County, Wert said, can be attributed to sporting events and other special events throughout the year.

According to Wert, the county sponsored 19

Talents fit like hand in garden glove

Part 4 of four parts
Like a hand in a garden glove, that is how the talents of Nina Freeman and Mary Ann Tolen fit together.

These two women, who are both Seminole County master gardeners, have combined their knowledge of plants and design and started a business using both.

You might say that Freeman is in charge of procurement. "When I was working for Lukas Nursery, I wanted to go out and buy plants, so that's how I first started," Freeman said. "From that, Mary Ann, whom I highly admire, her expertise is in design, and I think she appreciates my knowledge of plants. We're a natural match. We enjoy each other so much. She's a terrific designer, which is a real weak area for me. I love going to pick up the plants, to come back and see her do something real pretty with them. Is really more of a fun thing than a job."

Freeman knew practically nothing about the outside world when she started with the master gardener program. She has a degree in social work, but had not worked since her marriage, 40 years ago. "I used to wonder how people knew when to go out and water their lawns," Freeman said. "She really got started when she got interested in doing the grounds around her church. "I didn't know much about plants so I picked up a book and I just got real interested." Then she learned about the master gardener training, which she took six years ago, "and that just really set me off. Then I wanted to learn everything." After that she went to work for Lukas Nursery. "But really wanted to get into the behind the scenes and I started buying a few things."

Her natural interest has led her to do extensive research into all types of plants and trees. "I guess what I like to do most is research. I do love to identify plants." She is often the SANFORD — Outside, the rain glistened on the asphalt, sparkling and dancing in the diffused sunlight.

Inside the colors were bright pinks, greens and oranges, intensified by strategically placed spotlights.

The Sanlando Depression Era Glass Show and Sale took its place in the Sanford Civic Center as it does every January and September.

"Just like clockwork, we come down here every time," said Arcadia Bennett who is an "avid collector" of Depression Era glass.

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Mayor reports Sunshine Law violation

COCOA — It was the mayor who told police the deputy mayor was carrying on public business in private — a violation of Florida's Sunshine Law.

Mayor Mike Hill said Thursday he wanted to quiet rumors and finger-pointing that had developed since Deputy Mayor Ray DeBord was charged with eight violations of the state's open-meetings law.

"I got the first call (from DeBord) right after I took office Nov. 6, 1994," Hill said. "It was assumed that I would participate and be a player in what was apparently business as usual for the council."

DeBord, a former mayor and council member for the past 20 years, has denied charges that he had eight phone conversations in December and January with Hill, discussing issues before the council.

DeBord was suspended by Gov. Lawton Chiles until the charges are resolved.

Violation of the law requiring public meetings for public business carries penalties of removal from office, jail time and fines.

Unwed pregnant teacher: Job in jeopardy

DEFUNIAK SPRINGS — When teacher Susan Walker, an unmarried divorcee, told her principal that she was pregnant she says she was asked if she planned to get married or have an abortion.

Ms. Walker, a special education teacher, said Friday that she told Walton County Middle School Principal Joyce Kelly last October that neither was an option.

"Well that presents a problem," Ms. Kelly told her, Ms. Walker said.

Ms. Walker, a 36-year-old military veteran with three other children, ages 13, 14 and 6, contends school officials first tried to solve that problem by pressuring her to resign.

She said when she refused she was told her annual contract would not be renewed for the next school year.

Ms. Walker has filed a sex discrimination complaint with the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and has another in the mail to the Florida Commission on Human Rights.

Walton County school officials have declined to discuss the discrimination charges.

NASA survival kit includes outbacks

CAPE CANAVERAL — Employees at the Kennedy Space Center were warned by NASA Administrator Dan Goldin that the space agency's existence depends on cost-cutting procedures that could cost some jobs.

"We are not going to protect jobs," he said. "Darwin will rule. It will be survival of the fittest."

The future of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration could be determined by the agency's ability to cut costs, he said Friday.

NASA will do what it can to avoid layoffs, although the agency has announced it would eliminate 2,800 jobs by 1999, Goldin said.

The Kennedy Space Center's 1996 operating budget won't be cut, however, because of pleas by the center's former director Robert Crippen.

While safety will not be compromised, Goldin said the agency could learn from China's space program, which he recently visited.

Scientists there "realized that one thing they did right was degrees and the buildings are old and drab. Working in unpleasant conditions allows more money to be spent on research."

Goldin called for a halt to all construction, saying the Johnson Space Center in Houston has twice as many buildings as it did during the Apollo program.

Woman convicted of murdering husband

SHALIMAR — A woman who wined and dined her boyfriend, set him up in a love nest and showered him with expensive gifts, according to trial testimony, has been convicted of murdering her husband.

A Circuit Court jury deliberated more than 24 hours over three days before finding Myra Valvada guilty of killing her husband, Robert Valvada, with two bullets to the head from her .38-caliber revolver.

The victim was shot as he slept Aug. 30, 1993 in the couple's home on Santa Rosa Island near Fort Walton Beach.

Judge G. Robert Barron ordered the jury of 10 women and two men, many of whom left the courtroom in tears, to return Feb. 9 for a penalty hearing.

The panel at that time will recommend whether Ms. Valvada should be sentenced to die in Florida's electric chair or imprisoned for life without parole for at least 25 years, the only penalties possible for first-degree murder.

"Well, I'm glad you all got what you wanted," Mrs. Valvada exclaimed after the verdict was read.

Speeding tickets decline

Seminole citations down, others are cracking down

By ADAM YERGAN
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Motorists who like to put the pedal to the metal may want to steer clear of Glades County in South Florida.

The rural county that abuts the western side of Lake Okechobee had the highest rate of issuing speeding tickets and other citations of any county in Florida — almost one ticket for every resident, according to an Associated Press analysis of state statistics on traffic citations.

Glades also had the biggest increase in the number of tickets issued in 1995, the most recent year for which statistics are available.

Overall, however, the total number of citations issued statewide dropped each year between 1990 and 1995, according to statistics from the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles.

State and local authorities attributed the decline to a lack of manpower to enforce traffic laws and their efforts to focus on more serious crimes.

But starting Wednesday, the Florida Highway Patrol plans to crack down on speeders and other traffic violators by increasing the use of small airplanes around the state to nab speeders. The patrol already has started putting mannequins in marked cars parked along interstate highways in an attempt to fool speeders into slowing down.

The number of traffic citations handed out by the highway patrol dropped from more than 1 million in 1991 to 820,084 two years later, records show. The decline was caused by troopers being diverted to South Florida to help with the recovery from Hurricane Andrew in 1993, to provide extra security after highly-publicized tourist killings and an overall shortage of troopers, officials say.

"We're not getting as much patrol time as we should be," said Capt. Ken Howes, spokesman for the highway patrol. "We know there are plenty of speeding tickets out there."

While the number of tickets issued statewide decreased by 7.6 percent in 1995, the number written in Glades jumped 146 percent — the biggest increase among Florida's 67 counties.

In the county of 8,300 people, nearly 7,800 tickets were written to traffic violators in 1995, the most recent year for which Figures are available from the state.

Most of the increased ticketing was due to the Glades County Sheriff's Office assigning three deputies to traffic duty after growing complaints from residents about speeding. The number of tickets issued by deputies increased from 837 in 1993 to more than 5,400 the following year.

"Speeding has certainly slowed down and complaints have slowed down," Chief Robert Peterson said.

While Glades had the biggest increase, tiny Lafayette County in North Florida went the other direction, with a 42 percent decrease in traffic tickets.

Lafayette Sheriff Dwayne Walker said most of the decline was due to the lack of highway patrol troopers along U.S. Highway 27, the main, two-lane road through the county.

"We're getting more and more complaints," Walker said. "People are doing 100 miles an hour on their way to Disney World."

Law enforcement agencies also wrote fewer tickets in most urban counties in 1995.

Making the most of education

The Foundation for Seminole County Public Schools depends on donations to support the various programs designed by teachers to help students make the most of their educational experiences. Recently, Don Ellis, the administrator of Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, presented the Foundation with a check for $5,000. Bill O'Toole, chairman of the Foundation and Supt. Paul Hagerly accepted the donation at a meeting.

Armed robbery

The new Walgreen's store, 2301 S. French Ave. was robbed shortly before 7 p.m. Thursday. According to the Sanford police report, a man entered the store, picked up a bottle of Jack Daniels whiskey, then went to the clerk. Police said the man handed the clerk a note saying "Put all the money in a bag. I have a gun and I will kill you." The clerk reportedly gave the man an estimated $400 before he fled from the store. There was no report regarding whether or not any gun was actually seen during the robbery.

Found in shed

Sanford police arrested Jeffrey Redden, 28, of 2020 Henry Ave. on Thursday. A homeowner in the 2000 block of Washington Avenue told police of seeing a man believed to have been Redden, in a shed on his property. When the homeowner confronted him, he reportedly fled from the area. Police called in a K-9 unit, and the man was said to have been located hiding behind a car in the 1300 block of Summerlin Avenue. A weed-eater, reportedly taken from the shed, was recovered by police. Redden has been charged with theft and burglary in an unoccupied structure.

School problems

Three separate reports were filed with the Sheriff's Office Thursday regarding criminal activities at Lake Mary High School on Longwood-Lake Mary Road, at 4:01 p.m., the theft of a purse was reported from the multi-purpose room. At 4:30 p.m., the contents of a book bag, valued at $100, was reportedly stolen from the cafeteria. At 8:12 p.m., a woman reported the passenger window on her car had been broken while in the parking lot of the high school.

Double arrest

Sanford police were called to the 1800 block of Santa Barbara Drive Thursday regarding a disturbance. Police said when they arrived, they found three men sitting in a car. Upon investigating, reports indicate two of the men, Carlos Luciano, 18, of Country Lake Apartments, and Marcolino Rodriguez, 18, of 1811 Santa Barbara Drive, were each charged with possession of marijuana, under 20 grams. Although the two arrest reports indicate a third man was also arrested, no specific report on him was immediately available.

Female altercation

A sheriff's deputy reportedly saw two juvenile females involved in a dispute, and went to investigate. He said while he was attempting to stop the altercation, a woman, identified as Jackie Eyon Knight, 26, 1412 W. 15th St., drove up and told one of the girls to get into the car. When the officer attempted to continue his investigation, he indicated the woman presented difficulties. Knight was subsequently arrested for obstruction by a disguised person, and resisting an officer without violence.

A report also filed with the Sheriff's Office reported that Knight had been arrested Tuesday on a charge of retail theft, in connection with an incident at a store in the 2600 block of South Orlando Drive.

Clerks nab

Casselberry police investigated when they reportedly saw three men involved in an altercation Thursday, at a business on State Road 436. They found two of the men were clerks at a store from which the third man, identified as David M. Brits, 43, 118 Margo Lane, Sanford, reportedly took a drill without paying. The clerks told police they had chased the man from the store. During the investigation, and with assistance from Orlando police, additional items were located which reportedly had been stolen from another store. Brits was arrested on charges of strong-armed robbery, retail theft, and possession of stolen property.

Warrants

Reginal George, 28, 87 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, was served a warrant at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility Thursday. He was wanted for failing to appear on a charge of retail theft.

William James Corcoran, 28, 1018 Laurel Ave., Sanford, was located by deputies at the State Probation office in Sanford on Thursday. He was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of purchase of cocaine.

Edward Jackson, 37, 500 S. Holly Ave., Sanford, was served a warrant at the jail Thursday. He was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of purchase of cocaine.

James Edward Campbell, 32, 1014 Greenway, Lake Mary, was arrested by deputies near his home Thursday. He was wanted for failing to appear to pay a fine.

Samuel Long, 45, 2430 Crawford Drive, Sanford, was arrested by deputies Thursday on Jitway Avenue. He was wanted for failing to appear to pay a fine.

Lawanda Yvette Clinton, 23, 308 Elm Ave., Sanford, was served a warrant at the jail Thursday. She was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of dealing in stolen property.

Richard Armstrong, 23, 123 W. 11th St., Sanford, was served a warrant at the jail Thursday. He was wanted for violation of probation on a conviction of carrying a concealed firearm.

Otis Weilon Jr., 18, 139 Bethune Circle, Sanford, was served a capias at the jail Thursday. He was wanted for driving with a suspended/revoked license.

Laraine T. Pottier, 24, 2745 Ridgewood Ave., Sanford, was served a warrant at the jail Thursday. She was wanted for failing to appear on a charge of driving with a suspended/revoked license.

Sheriff's deputies said when they went to serve a warrant for contempt of court on Bobbie Ann Hendricks, 26, of 371 Hanson Parkway, she asked to go to the restroom, and subsequently fled from the home through a window. Deputies said she later contacted them, and turned herself in at her residence. She was given an additional charge of resisting an officer without violence.

Suspended license arrest

Willie Monrow Parker, 41, 264 Mosswood Circle, Winter Springs was arrested Wednesday by Longwood police after a computer check showed his license was suspended Tuesday for not having insurance.

Arrested after accident

Lloyd Alfred Baily, 21, 1113 Myrtle Ave. was arrested by Sanford Police for driving without a valid license and giving a false name after a traffic accident Wednesday. Baily told police he did not have his license, social security number or address. The police report states. He gave investigators a different name and birth date. After Baily's identity was verified by his employer, he was charged with driving while his license was suspended and resisting an officer without violence.

Incidents reported to the Sheriff

The employee of an electric company in the 2500 block of County Club Road, Sanford reported someone broke into a locked, fenced area and burglarized vehicles taking over $300 in tools.

The owner of a lounge at Five Points reported someone took an $800 air compressor from a sidewalk in the rear of the bar Tuesday night.

A man claimed two men forced him at gunpoint to give them the car he was driving on Oregon Street north of State Road 46 Wednesday. The car was owned by the man's grandmother.

There is another article about the local YMCA in the scrapbook, this one probably written a year or two after the previous one. This piece was written by my dad, J.M. Stinecipher, and tells of all the activities the local YMCA was sponsoring. Herman E. Morris was secretary/director.

In the high school (I assume it was Seminole High), there were two Hi Y clubs for boys and one for girls while the junior high school boys were organized into the Pioneer Boys Club. The grammar school boys were divided into Friendly Indian groups, meeting on Saturday mornings. In the rural district of the county there were five Pioneer clubs organized, meeting once a week. There were also three clubs organized for young black boys which were under the leadership of Professor Crossen. All of these organizations provided religious training, developing the members spiritually.

The YMCA aided in coaching different branches of athletics throughout the county and it also helped conduct religious services in rural churches. Other things it sponsored were a spelling bee, tennis tournament, Sunday school league, and a daily Bible school for six weeks during the summer. The Men's Diamond Ball League was going strong and there was also a league for boys with about 100 participating.

During the summer there were two camps at Lake Winona, one for older boys and one for younger ones. There they were trained in such things as swimming, diving, canoeing, and first aid.

There is another article announcing a girls' camp at Lake Winona with Mrs. H.E. Morris as director — assisted by Mrs. J.M. Stinecipher and a group of older girls as counselors.

The one-week camp was at the girls were to participate in nature hikes, basketry, dramatics, swimming, and volleyball.

I don't know how many years Herman Morris conducted these camps at Lake Winona, but I'm sure there are several of you reading this who attended. The camps probably began in 1920. Perhaps you'd like to contact me with your memories of Camp Winona. I remember going there with my parents several summers for an afternoon when I was a small child.

The Morris' later brought property near Osteen where they built the MQ Ranch and held summer camps there beginning in about 1920. I'll give you more information on that endeavor at a later date. That property was sold to Mackie Brothers and is now a part of DeLtona.

Junior class play
In 1920, the Seminole High School junior class presented the play "Tab." The title role was taken by Lucille Bois while members of the Archibald family were played by Julia Higgins, Jane LeRoy and George Mayo. Neil Williams played Hannah, the maid, while Ed Shinkholder was William, the butler. The other actors were Sacy Maxwell, Gene Turner, Henry Wittie, Wallace Phillips and Roy Britt.

Prompter was Henrietta Hershcowitz, stage manager was Bill Morrison, publicity manager was Mike Wilson, and ticket manager was Catherine Takach. Head usher was Daley Appleby and other ushers were Carrie White, Alice Hodgins, Miriam Leggs, Dorothea Lawson, Lillian Brannon, Helen Douglas, Irene Fellows, Betty Hintermeister, and Ella Spencer.

The play was directed by Miss Helen Vernay and Mrs. R.C. Maxwell. Entertainment between acts was provided by soloists Mrs. Gladys Williams and Mr. Martin Stinecipher. Properties were courtesy of Milane Theatre, Sanford Furniture Company and Randall Electric Company.

Mrs. Purdon found guilty
Since my dad was on the jury, there is an article on the trial of Mrs. Annie B. Purdon of Lake Monroe who was charged with having purchased property she knew to have been stolen.

States Attorney Millard B. Smith, produced as witnesses Sheriff J.P. McClelland, Alec Mitchell, Walter Jackson and Joe Meish while S.A.B. Wilkinson, counsel for Mrs. Purdon, produced Carl Bruton, Anne Mae Stokes and Mrs.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
SEMINOLE COUNTY
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT OFFICE
SHIP PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

Each year Seminole County receives funding from the Florida Housing Finance Agency under the State Housing Initiatives Partnership (SHIP) Program to construct, rehabilitate and otherwise provide affordable housing for very low and low income households and families in Seminole County. In order to receive funding under the SHIP Program the County is required to prepare and submit an Affordable Housing Assistance Plan (AHAP) by May 2, 1985, which describes how the County will allocate, distribute and otherwise use its SHIP funding allocations. The County's AHAP will be a 3-year plan and will also describe the amount and types of households that will be assisted.

Seminole County is holding a public hearing to obtain the opinions, advice, suggestions and other input regarding the design of activities and programs and the allocation of funds under the upcoming 3-year SHIP Program. Such input should be based on the housing needs of the lower-income residents of the County and will be fully considered in the development of the AHAP which is scheduled for consideration by the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners on April 11, 1985.

SHIP funds may be used to provide for:

- The rehabilitation (renovation) of owner and renter occupied substandard homes for eligible households.
- The demolition and reconstruction of dilapidated housing occupied by eligible households.
- The emergency repair of severely substandard homes occupied by eligible households.
- The construction of new rental units for eligible households.
- The construction of new homes for eligible home buyers.
- Down payment and/or closing cost assistance for eligible home buyers when purchasing new or existing homes.
- "Buying down" mortgage interest rates for eligible home buyers.
- Housing and related counseling for SHIP-assisted households.
- The payment of security and utility deposits for eligible renters.
- Other costs associated with the provision of homes for eligible lower income households (e.g. land acquisition).

Note: SHIP Program funds can not be used to provide rental assistance or any type of rental subsidy.

Please note the following statutory requirements of the SHIP Program:

- At least 30% of the homes assisted with SHIP annual allocations must be occupied by very low income households.
- At least 65% of the funds spent must be used for to provide assistance to home owners and/or home buyers (as opposed to renter households).
- At least 75% of the funds must be used for construction, rehabilitation and/or emergency repair activities.

Note: Seminole County plans to use 10% of each annual allocation for administrative expenses, as allowed by statute.

The County expects to receive approximately $1,826,000 annually in SHIP funds for the next 3 years. All funds must be used as described above and in the applicable regulations under Chapter 61-37, F.A.C.

The Community Development Office invites all interested persons, agencies, firms and organizations to attend this public hearing on February 7, 1985 at 6:30 p.m. The hearing will be held in the Commission Chambers of the Seminole County Services Building located at 1101 E. 1st Street, Sanford, FL 32771.

Information can be obtained by contacting Ms. Huey Davis or Mr. Buddy Balagia at (407) 321-1130, extension 7384.

* Income eligibility is based on household size. As an example, a household of 4 is considered very low income if its annual income does not exceed $20,000 and it is considered low income if its annual income does not exceed $29,000.

Superbowl: Who will really lose?

It's Superbowl Sunday. We don't know who will win, but we know who stands a good chance to lose.

We aren't referring to the game, but to the people who will watch it on TV. The losers will be people who become involved in fights or disputes during and immediately following today's gridiron action.

We have cautioned against domestic violence for Superbowl football games and other similar events for many years. Yet the warnings must continue.

When a major sporting event takes place, support for a team or individual runs high. Often it leads to betting. Although illegal, the bet often results in a large amount of money.

This type of event also leads to the heavy consumption of alcohol. More than normal except possibly for the July 4th holiday which is rated as one of the worst.

Regarding sitting at home watching a game, both spouses may not be sporting fans, which could also lead to difficulties. At a local bar or tavern where they boast of big screens, everyone on hand does not necessarily support the same team.

Then, people driving home from that bar may also have had too much. Over indulgence can come during the game, celebrating a victory, or bemoaning a loss. In putting themselves behind the wheel of a vehicle, they are creating a potential problem for themselves as well as others they may encounter.

The Sanford Herald made similar remarks prior to the Superbowl game last year. A check of police reports at the beginning of the following week showed a number of domestic violence incidents in Seminole County. There were, however, a larger-than-normal number of DUI arrests.

Regarding the possibility of domestic violence, perhaps people have finally learned that this is a dangerous time for such incidents. Perhaps they did everything they could to avoid any confrontations.

This is commendable. We hope the mood carries over to this year.

Regarding the DUI cases, we cannot stress more the importance of having a designated driver. If a person can't handle himself or herself away from home, they should have not gone out in the first place. They are aware of what may happen and should exercise caution.

Tomorrow, we hope the headlines will report on the Superbowl victory, and progressive news. Let's not see the headlines reflect killings, beatings, auto wrecks caused by drinking, or domestic violence cases.

Today, let's concentrate on enjoying the game and work on being able to also enjoy tomorrow and the days ahead as well.

Sheriff's office proactive policy

Sheriff Donald F. Kalinger is the first appointed sheriff in Seminole County to run for office and be elected. Kalinger became sheriff January 1981. The re-engineering of law enforcement and correctional services in the county is a tribute to Kalinger's futuristic approach to law enforcement and his collaborative and participatory management style. Re-engineering is attributable to the cooperation of the law enforcement officers and the citizens of Seminole County.

SEMINOLE OPINION

LURLENE SWEETING

Kalinger is an example of the American dream realized through hard work and professionalism. All of his life he wanted a career in law enforcement. He recalls that he greatly admired his grandfather, an investigator for the Detroit Police Department. During the period he attended community college in Detroit he served as a cadet. The cadets were the Public Safety Department of the college and had close linkages with the police in Clinton Township.

He began his service in Seminole County August 1978 as a dispatcher. He worked his way up through the ranks. He has served in the Patrol Division; Special Weapons and Tactics Team (SWAT); Special Investigation for the Chief of Police, and Federal Drugs and Enforcement Administration. He has also been the commander of the City County Investigative Bureau Task Force and the Multi-Agency Task Force. During October 1980 Kalinger was promoted to major and in November 1980, appointed sheriff, with his tenure to commence 1981. He was elected to the office in 1982. It was former Sheriff John E. Polk's illness and retirement that precipitated his appointment to sheriff.

The basis for re-engineering the law enforcement and correctional services is recognition that crime is a disguise for more complex problems, social recession in communities with the quality of life diminished and the fear of crime escalating.

The mission of the Sheriff's Office is to enhance the quality of life by reducing crime and the fear of crime. Traditionally the mode of law enforcement has been reactive. This model is being exchanged for a proactive one.

Theories underlying the changes in deployment and services performed by the Sheriff's Office are the Normative Sponsorship Theory and the Critical Social Theory. The normative sponsorship theory projects that most individuals are of good will and will cooperate with others to aid the building of consensus. The degree to which various groups in a community share common values, norms and beliefs will be factors in their efforts at improving their neighborhoods. Critical social theory deals with how and why people unite to correct and overcome socio-economic and political obstacles that interfere with their needs being met. The three components of this theory are enlightenment, empowerment and emancipation. Enlightenment is educating people about their circumstances to facilitate their lobbying for change. Empowerment is individuals taking action to improve their condition. Emancipation is achieving social change through "reflection and social action."

Seminole Neighborhood Policing is the new paradigm that has been instituted. Involved in this design are the police and the community as genuine partners. The community includes all groups - businesses, clergy, social agencies, political leaders and the media working together to enhance the quality of life for all. Underlying everything else is the simple fact that crime and criminal behavior starts with the family and the amelioration of crime is a family affair.

Next week - Seminole Neighborhood Policing.

Being a parent sure isn't easy

To say the least, it has been a rather unfortunate quarter for the maternal set. Two weeks in a row with the local murder suicides of families by distraught mothers; the young lady a little north of us who bathed both her children and car permanently in a nearby lake for reason or reasons unknown; and then there was the discovery of a newborn baby in a trash compactor up in Chicago towards the end of November. I still cringe at the thought of how that might have ended. Of course then there's the other side of the coin. Four violent deaths of abortion clinic staff members by those who would insure that mothers who know they would be unfit would have no choice but to proceed with their parental responsibilities. No question about it, motherhood has seen brighter days.

Being a parent has always been sort of a double-edged sword to my way of thinking. Oh sure, there can be no more rewarding experience than to have your child look up into your eyes with that "you are the most important person in my life gaze," and knowing that if at all possible you will never do anything to let that trusting child down. Such is about as close to being omnipotent as mortal man or woman can get, I suppose. But there is the downside. Many of us go into the experience of parenthood so totally unprepared for the responsibilities that are part and parcel to the job requirements. We may not have found our own places in life as yet, so how the heck could we ever lead our young charges to achieve that which we haven't even mastered. Or, despite the best efforts which we as parents can come forth with, our children insist upon taking a road less traveled; one filled with ruts and potholes which we have already experienced, and they grow up thinking that the unkindest thing we ever did was to situate them upon this planet in the first place. Perhaps that's the underlying basis of Mr. Gingrich's desire to resurrect Boys Town times 1,000. If we turn all of our charges over to the tender loving care of some governmental beneficence, then hopefully the state will be able to provide the goal-directed (but loving) upbringing which some of us seem unable to manifest. Ahhhh, did anybody happen to remember to get a few tissue samples so that we might clone Father Flanagan? Get a life, Newt... but I digress.

The sad truth of it is, there are unfit parents out there. The majority of us, however, somehow manage to muddle through, and a few of us are even (dare I say it), great parents. In my generation we had quite superior role models to guide us along: "Father Knows Best," Donna Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Brady and their stepchildren... even the Cunningham household seemed to get it all right in the end. Oh, if we could only have been as good as they were at the job of rearing children. Such parental types always had just the right answers to any given problems. Underaged teen wrecked the car he or she wasn't supposed to drive... "It's all right child, you know you made a mistake. We'll just have to take 50 cents out of your allowance until the $4,000 in damages have been paid off... and no junior prom this weekend..." Or in the unlikely event of a real problem, the appropriately counseled child would look lovingly up into his or her television parent's eyes and pronounce, "Gee, you sure are right. I should save myself until the right member of the opposite sex comes along." In truth, I truly used to think my father was Robert Young, until reality hit home; it happened the day I found out my dad had been wrong about something.

All we can do is try, I suppose. Even those TV families were forced to change after the renaissance of a few years. The Brady Bunch Christmas show of about three or four years ago actually had children who failed at something. Of course, the parents solved the problems in the end, and the children were not dealing with drugs or gang violence or unwanted pregnancies (with the one exception I recall of in "The Wonder Years.") Life was not over mirrored that closely by art in those few shows, but they did give us something to strive for...

In the paraphrased words of Robert Fulgham, "In the perfect world everything we ever needed to know we should have picked up in kindergarten." Would that life could ever be that simple. Truthfully, I don't think anyone could have predicted that those mothers who did in their children so cold-bloodedly were about to do those deeds. If there is one big all-seeing crystal ball out there for parenting, I wish someone would bring it on out. It could solve a whole lot of problems we have going on in this world. Until then, I guess we will just have to do our best.

Scam artists exploit emerging infobahn

WASHINGTON - Call it a modern-day version of "highway robbery."

With the promise of big profits from the heralded "information superhighway," scam artists are bilking hundreds of millions of dollars from unsuspecting investors across the country.

Securities regulators say that tens of thousands of Americans have poured an estimated $1.5 billion into bogus high-tech investments. The scam artists prey mostly on elderly individuals, many of whom have risked their life savings out of a false belief that any investment connected with the much hyped information superhighway is the road to prosperity.

"The American people think the information superhighway is paved with gold," says Bill McDonald, who is monitoring the scams for the North American Securities Administration Association (NASAA). "They think they can't go wrong with high-tech investments, but a lot of people are being victimized."

Officials at the NASAA, the nerve center of the 50 state securities agencies, have found horror stories in every state. So far, the scams have prompted more than 125 enforcement actions or investigations by various agencies in 20 states. A Securities and Exchange Commission official told us the scams are a "serious problem," and that they are being attacked "very aggressively."

The scams were launched after the Federal Communications Commission held a number of major lotteries to award exclusive licenses in largely untested technologies, such as wireless cable television, specialized mobile radio and interactive video data services. Swindlers have capitalized on the lotteries by claiming to be raising funds to "build out" high-tech communications services in specific markets.

Regulators say the allure of the rapidly expanding information industry enables the peddlers to exaggerate the potential for profit and gloss over the substantial risks of these investments. In many cases, the scam artists don't even have the necessary FCC licenses.

Investors are often seduced by slick television infomercials and false claims that the investments are "IRA Approved" (though there is no such thing as an "approved" Individual Retirement Account) or endorsed by the Internal Revenue Service (though the IRS doesn't bless specific investments). Although the ads promise lucrative returns, regulators say that most investors will lose all of their principal.

According to regulators, up to half the investors' money goes for undisclosed "commissions," while much of the rest pays for the boiler-room telemarketing operations used to pressure investors. In one California case, just 5 percent of receipts were used to construct the wireless TV project touted to investors.

"They just keep pounding you and pounding you," said a retired 71-year-old California man, who says he received at least six high-pressure phone calls. Finally, about two years ago, a salesman came to the man's home peddling a high-tech deal that would double or triple his money.

"Like a dummy I gave him $10,000 bucks, and I never heard from him or saw him again," said the man, who asked us not to use his name out of fear that he would be targeted again.

One promoter of a high-tech deal, Michael Gartner, allegedly continued to solicit investors from a telephone in jail.

Call it a modern-day version of highway robbery.

Hillsborough, Pinellas, Brevard, Duval, Orange and Seminole saw the number of tickets drop anywhere from about 4 percent to 15 percent.

In some counties where the number of citations increased, local authorities were responding to citizens' complaints about speeding and other traffic problems.

"The people know there's a presence out there," said Capt. Lee Hanley of the Sheriff's Office in Hendry County, where the number of tickets written jumped 57 percent in 1985.

Hanley said the county's crackdown started in 1983 with a new sheriff, Thomas Vaughan, who wanted to thwart drug traffickers using State Road 80 to ferry their illegal cargo.

In Manatee County, the number of tickets dropped by nearly 24 percent in 1985, the biggest decline behind Lafayette and Union counties.

Manatee Sheriff Charlie Wells said he needed to devote more manpower to investigating burglaries, auto thefts and other felonies so he cut his traffic unit from five deputies to two.

"Something had to give," he said. "In this case it was the traffic unit."

In addition to Glades, other counties with the highest per capita ticketing rates were Monroe, Bradford, Jefferson, Liberty, Broward, Duval, Volusia, Alachua, Orange and Ocala.

The ticket-to-population figure is not a scientific comparison.

It doesn't take into account tourists and other non-residents traveling through a county, the level of enforcement or the number of major highways in a particular county.

But if complaints from drivers are any indication about where authorities write a lot of tickets, then the rate may provide an accurate reflection.

Drivers along U.S. Highway 901 from Interstate 95 in Duval County to I-75 in Marion County have complained to the American Automobile Association about the tickets they have received in Bradford and Alachua counties, said Randy Ely, director of traffic safety for the AAA Auto Club South in Tampa.

AAA lists the route as a "strict enforcement area," but the association hasn't uncovered any formal quota systems or unjust citations.

"Based on speeds being traveled out there, it's almost like shooting ducks in the pond," said Bill Dodd, spokesman for AAA Florida in Heathrow.

Tourism

events and soccer training sessions resulting in a direct economic impact of $16,000,700.

One of the biggest events of the year was the training program for the Irish National Soccer team for the World Cup in June and July.

Weri estimates that the Irish team and their fans had a $4,000,000 financial impact in the county.

In addition, three Seminole Soccer Club tournaments had a $6,591,000 impact; the Senior Softball World Series brought in $1,999,522; Airshow Orlando had an impact of $6,999,000 on the county's economy; and the U.S. Field Hockey Festival had a $600,000 impact.

Weri said the events hosted in Seminole County attracted a wide variety of age groups and areas of interest. From the Golden Age Games to the Seminole County Softball, young and old alike have come to the county over the last year, Weri said.

Tourism development documents indicate that all of the events produced "significant numbers of room nights for Seminole County hotels and incremental revenue to our attractions, restaurants and shopping centers."

The unique nature of the events hosted in Seminole County give this county a competitive edge over other area counties.

"Sporting and other special events give Seminole County a niche in the market place so that we do not have to compete against Orlando and Osceola County for visitors," Weri said.

On the heels of a very successful 1984, Weri added, the outlook for 1985 is "very impressive."

The U.S. Soccer Federation is moving two staff people and the entire Women's National team to the Seminole County Sports Training Center at Lake Bryan Park. The women are in training to defend their World Cup championship and to prepare for first-time competition in the 1988 Olympic games.

Seyer Leverkusen, a German professional soccer team which trained at the Lake Bryan Park facility last year, is training there again.

There are plans for a number of softball invitational events at the Seminole County Softball Complex, Weri reported.

The Olympic-quality swimming complex at Lake Brantley High School in Akumonta Springs is also expected to be a training site for a number of college teams as well as a variety of amateur swim meets.

Weri predicts that Seminole County facilities will again draw international attention as the 1988 Olympic games draw near.

"Our hot summer weather will be ideal to 'climate' athletes for the conditions in Atlanta," he said.

GUYS

juvenile commitment program by the court for breaking the law.

The program is designed to take youths in the level 6 category who are considered moderate risk. The offenses they committed are too serious to allow them to go home but not serious enough for jail. The court has determined they do not need incarceration in a secured facility but need professional treatment in a "round-the-clock supervised, residential, structured program."

Housed in the former Grove adult half-way house on Lake Minnie Drive, the program, with space for 18 youths, has been filled since about a month after it opened.

Staffed 24-hours a day, the 3-month old program is described by GUY'S director Cleveland Reed as one designed to help change offenders' attitudes.

"It is a very, very disciplined program," Reed explained. "It is designed to change the attitude of the youth, and help them deal with their problems."

Training and counseling in such areas as life skills, HIV education, behavior modification, vocational as well as educational skills are taught to help the teens learn to cope and become productive members of society.

Depending upon the offenders' age when they complete the program, Reed said, some will return to school while others will enter the job market. Schooling along with instruction on filling out job applications, job interviews and appropriate dress are emphasized.

Activities also do community service work such as cleaning up trash from the roadways to help people move.

The new program is operated by the Grove which is a private, not-for-profit corporation that contracts with the Departments of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) and Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) to provide programs.

GUY'S is the latest in a number of Grove programs funded by state and federal matching grants, money from local governments, United Way, insurance and welfare payments and private donations. Opening after the beginning of the 1984-85 fiscal year, $225,225 is earmarked for 9 months of operation. The Groves' annual budget for all programs is about $2.5 million.

executive director Larry Visser said.

Seminole County is part of a district which also includes Orange, Osceola and Brevard counties. Prior to the creation of the DJJ, juvenile issues were handled by the HRS. Most HRS staffers working in the juvenile areas were transferred to the new department and old district boundaries stayed the same. Youth from throughout the district can be assigned to GUY'S. There are no Seminole County youth in the first group of teens in the program.

Both Visser and Reed noted if youths are placed in their home counties, there is a greater likelihood they might run away from the program or their friends would try to hang around visiting them. The program is structured so that tasks or studies assigned must be performed satisfactorily in order to earn privileges.

"Seminole County kids may be placed in Kissimmee or Orange County, anywhere in the district," Visser explained. If no suitable program is available within the district, youths may be placed elsewhere. Statewide placement of delinquents is necessary because of the limited number of programs available, he added. Although the GUY'S program is at capacity, two Brevard County youths are already on the waiting list and no places will open up for another three months.

"There is a great need for programs like this," Reed explained. "We could use more space."

Most of the teens who end up in the program are Medicaid eligible from single parent households with little or no parent involvement in the youth's life. Psychiatric evaluations help define medical, emotional and behavioral disorders the boys may have which are addressed with individual and group counseling, life skills and problem solving classes.

Along with funding from federal, state and local governments, the program is supported by donations from the public and civic organizations. Saturday a group of Casselberry Rotarians visited GUY'S house to see what was needed to build a deck and steps.

Donations are accepted for any of the Grove programs by contacting Visser at 327-1760.

Editor's note: This is one of an occasional series on the changing juvenile justice system.

Bella, A. Van Ness, J.M. Stinecoper, Paul Leno, F.S. Verry Jr. and A.K. Reuter. They returned a verdict of guilty less than half an hour after being given the case.

Richard Smith announced that the following civil cases would be heard the next week: Lisa P. Allen versus John M. Kelley, damages involving a party band; E.W. Adams versus Tom Smith, damages involving a note of Mrs. Smith's; and Flora H. Spurling versus O.J. Pope, involving the death of Mr. Spurling in an automobile accident. You will remember that Julian Stinecoper wrote extensively about the Spurling family and this accident.

Stinecoper wins contest

Bill Stinecoper, Sanford Herald columnist, was the winner of the newspaper's 1985 circulation building contest which was open to all carriers. He was presented with a $400 bicycle which had been on display in the window of the Sanford Sporting Goods Store for several days. S.E. Percy was the second prize winner of a $15 pen and pencil set.

Young Stinecoper was the Route One carrier which covered Oak, Myrtle and Elm avenues while Percy covered Routes 12 or 14 and Elm Court sections. All other carriers were given cash prizes based upon the number of subscriptions turned in. Percy said Stinecoper was about 15 years old at the time of this event.

NOTICE TO BID
NOTICE IS HEREBY given that sealed bids will be received by Sanford Airport Authority (The Owner) in their Board Room, 3726 Millerville Avenue, Sanford, Florida 32773, until 3:00 P.M. EST on February 26, 1986, at which time bids will be opened for construction of:

Project:
INTERNATIONAL DEPARTURES BUILDING
Central Florida Regional Airport
Sanford, Florida

Any bid received after the specified time and date will not be considered.

A Mandatory Pre Bid Conference will be held for the purpose of providing an overview of the project and to answer any questions which might arise. All bidders are required to meet on February 16, 1986 at 10:00 A.M. in the ticket lobby of the Terminal Building, One Red Cleveland Boulevard, Central Florida Regional Airport. Bids will not be accepted from bidders who did not attend this Pre-Bid Conference.

The owner has designated Central Florida Terminals, Inc. as its agent for bidding and construction.

The Bid Documents have been prepared by BRPM/Architects & Engineers, Inc., 3275 Buntline Boulevard, Melbourne, Florida 32901.

Copies of Plans and Specifications may be obtained by writing Terry Turner, BRPM/Architects & Engineers, Inc., 2015 Buntline Boulevard, Melbourne, Florida 32902, for $200.00 per set. The telephone number is (407) 554-7500.

General Contractors, who bid the project, may receive bid sets on demand, and upon the return of such sets (in accordance with the terms of the bid opening), will receive returned. Any forthcoming addenda will be provided only to plan holders who have received their documents from the Architect. The Owner and Architect will not be responsible for potential bidders who receive documents from other sources. Plans and specifications may be reviewed in local plan rooms and Bidder's B exchanges.

The Owner and Architect will assume no responsibility for use of incomplete sets of documents. Partial sets will not be issued.

Bidders must have experience with similar sized projects and familiarity with institutional clients and federal government reviewing agencies.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a bid bond or cashier's check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the base bid guarantee to Sanford Airport Authority, as evidence of good faith and performance. The successful bidder will furnish a 10% Performance Bond and Labor Material Payment Bond meeting the standards outlined in the specifications.

Each bid shall be made in strict accordance with the instructions to bidders and all applicable conditions and requirements specified in the contract documents. Bid Proposal Form shall be filled out completely; failure to complete by leaving blanks constitute reason to invalidate bid.

The successful bidder, if any, will be notified after the Owner has awarded the contract. The Contractor will be required to complete said project within the time set forth in the contract documents. The Owner reserves the right to reject any and all bids, to waive any informalities or irregularities of bid, or to accept any bid in part, for the benefit of the Owner.

Kaplan was arrested by sheriff's investigators in September, 1992 and was accused in shooting the wife of State Representative Bob Starks (R-Casselberry). Mrs. Starks was hit in the leg by the bullets.

The shooting reportedly occurred during the 1992 election campaign when Kaplan was Starks' Democratic party opponent.

College prizes announced soon

The waiting will be over soon for 100 winners in the Florida Lottery Holiday College Dream contest. The names of the prize winners have been drawn and are being checked for eligibility. The names will be released when the verification is completed, a Lottery spokesman said.

The purchase of $5 worth of Lotto tickets in December yielded one bonus coupon which had to be mailed to Lottery Central in order to enter the contest.

The drawing was conducted Jan. 13 but Lottery officials are not releasing a winners' list until eligibility has been verified.

The qualified student beneficiary must be either a Florida resident for the past 12 months not yet in the 12th grade; an infant under one-year old born in Florida; a non-resident child of a non-custodial parent who is a Florida resident. The student beneficiary need not be a relative of the prize winner.

The 120 credit hours of prepaid college tuition at a four-year state university or 64 credit hours at a community college followed by 60 credit hours at a four-year state university will be awarded to 100 winners.

Winners must submit a winner claim form and a Florida Prepaid College Program application to Lottery officials by Feb. 24. Failure to do so means the prize is forfeited and an alternate's name will be drawn.

often nearly-neon, glassware your grandmother has stored in the attic. During the Depression, companies often gave away the sets, single pieces at a time, as a way to draw customers into their stores, theatres and the like.

"My mother had all kinds of this stuff when I was a little girl," Melinda Felton said. "It was 'that old stuff.' You know, the junky stuff that we might have used for us, but certainly not the dishes you would bring out for company."

On Saturday, Felton said, she paid "a pretty penny" for a sample of that "old stuff" that is now a collectible.

"When I think about how much those old sets would be worth today I cringe. To think that my husband and I threw it all out after we got some 'real' dishes when we were married a year or so," she said.

David Wilcox sat on the curb outside the Civic Center peering curiously into the white plastic bag filled with the treasures that his wife had purchased inside.

"What's so special about this stuff?" he asked no one in particular. "It just looks like a bunch of glasses. She spent 10 bucks on that one and eight on another."

Wilcox said his wife never buys sets of the Depression Era glass. Individual pieces of various colors are all over their apartment, he said.

"I'll give you this," he admitted. "It is colorful."

Unfunded mandates

WASHINGTON — Republicans are halting the approach of a new era in federal-state relations with progress on a bill that cracks down on the Capitol Hill habit of making others pay for programs Congress creates.

The Senate passed the "unfunded mandates" bill Friday by an 88-10 majority. The House expects to vote on its version of the measure by the middle of next week. And a former Arkansas governor now living in the White House is likely to sign it.

President Clinton congratulated an audience of some 300 mayors on passage of the bill shortly after the Senate acted Friday.

"I believe the bill is a very strong one as it goes to the House," he said. "I have not seen its final form, but I heard it was in good shape. And it must have been pretty good if it passed 88 to 10. And I think that should be reassuring to you. It certainly is to me."

Women sent ashore due to pregnancy

WASHINGTON — Five of the approximately 450 women serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Eisenhower have been sent ashore due to pregnancy, something Defense Secretary William Perry says is a 'fact of life' and will not impair the ship's mission.

The Navy reported Friday that the five women were part of a group of 35 crew members taken off the ship due to "unplanned ... medical reasons" since it began a six-month deployment last Oct. 30.

The carrier is the first U.S. combat ship to go to sea with women as part of the permanent crew.

Navy policy is to put women on shore duty once a pregnancy occurs, and the five sailors have left the ship over the past three months.

Here it is always night

OSWIECIM, Poland — Elie Wiesel had two chances to speak at Auschwitz-Birkenau on this 50th anniversary of the death camp's liberation. Each time, he gave images of stunned Jews herded to slaughter.

"Close your eyes and look, and you will see what we have seen, endless nocturnal processions are converging here at night, and here it is always night," the Nobel Peace Prize-winning Auschwitz survivor intoned.

Soft flakes of snow swirled in a bitter cold wind as he spoke and settled in the birch groves where mothers waited with their children for the gas chamber — the husbands and fathers already marched away for slave labor.

"Close your eyes and listen to the silent screams that terrify mothers, listen to the prayers of anguished old men and women, listen to the tears of children," Wiesel intoned.

More frustrations than answers

PITTSBURGH — They've unraveled the mysteries of other plane crashes with less information than they have about this one.

And federal investigators are confident they'll eventually figure out what caused USAir Flight 427 to flip over and nose dive into the ground Sept. 8, killing all 132 aboard.

But as a weeklong hearing came to a close Friday, investigators admitted they have so far uncovered more frustrations than answers.

"I'm disappointed. We're all frustrated," said James Hall, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. "This has been a very difficult accident investigation."

Muslim way of life

ISTANBUL, Turkey — Inside the Malta Palace, the furniture is packed up, the lights are out and the days of toasting the view of the Bosphorus with a beer are a memory.

The closing of the popular bar in the 19th century Ottoman mansion in Yildiz Park is just the first step. Istanbul's first Islamic fundamentalist mayor has big plans to stamp a Muslim way of life on Turkey's biggest city.

It won't be easy. Turkey is predominantly Muslim but officially secular. Many Turks like it that way.

Mayor Recep Tayyip Erdogan's decision to take management of the Malta Palace and 11 other bar-coffee houses in city-owned buildings fits into his Islamic vision for this metropolis of 12 million people.

Garden

answer-lady for many gardening questions at the Cooperative Extension Service. "I just love to find answers for people if I can."

Freeman was instrumental in starting the perennial garden at the Cooperative Extension Service, with Mary Becker.

"I love botanical names," Freeman said. She said she has tried to get the master gardeners to be aware of the importance of botanical names.

"Now I would like to go into the study of herbology, because I would like to know what's behind the mystery, the essence of the plant."

The Freeman's home is like a "jungle," located near a creek that runs from Lake Pickett to Lake Mills in Chuluota. But the natural backdrop gives way to a definite plan, with closer inspection. Freeman calls the design, "hodge podge," with selective plants interspersed among the naturally occurring pines and oaks. "It's not meant to be that way, but it is because if I find a plant I don't have, I just have to have it."

Freeman has quite a collection of palms. Freeman said there are quite a few cold hardy palms, such as a chamaedorea microspadix, which is one of Freeman's favorites, that will do well in Central Florida. The microspadix is clumpy, stays small and produces nice red berries. Freeman also recommends the livistona mariae, which is tender but will do well in a protected spot. All of the livistonas, such as the australas, chinensis (Chinese fan), diciplene and rigida, are nice palms. She also said more trachycarpus fortunei, or windmill palm, should be used more in the Florida landscape.

Mary Ann Tolen describes what she does as landscape gardening, "taking a plant and making a picture, a pleasing picture. So, generally, you have to limit yourself in the variety, and you have to really consider the texture and contrast between plants."

A yard is Tolen's palette and she paints with plants, trees and shrubs. "We have a lot of artists in the family. I'm not artistic. I cannot sit down and draw ... a picture. I think maybe there is a little bit of something in me, that I have here with ... Tolen has always used her own home as a practice garden. Her home, in Winter Springs, Tusawilla, has been meticulously planted and planned, by design, to be free of turf and somewhat maintenance-free, although Tolen said that a gardener never likes to tour their own garden because they can always see the work that needs to be done.

Tolen does have a degree in biology, with interest in botany. "I've done a lot of studying." She is also certified with the Florida Nursery Growers Association as a professional.

Each of the homeowners that have used Tolen's and Freeman's services receive a complete list of the plants that have been installed, the scientific name and a little background, the care of the plants, what to expect as far as insects, and the telephone number of the Seminoles County Extension Service. "I like to be associated with Nina, because I consider her expert on the varieties of plants." Tolen said she will decide which type of plant she wants to use in a landscape and then she will ask Freeman to research which variety will do the best.

A lot of times, Tolen will prepare a design package for the homeowner and the homeowner will do the installation. "I prefer to do the design and turn it over to the person. I feel that if the person does the installation themselves, they really get involved in it. They learn about the plants, and they care more about the landscape."

Tolen answers questions on the telephone at the Cooperative Extension Service every other Friday from 9 a.m. to noon, and likes to give talks to homeowner associations about landscape gardening, complete with photographs of homes in the area. "I can go into a community, where one contractor builds all the homes, and find the same house on the same street, three doors down or four doors down. I would take a picture of one that is a good example and one that is not, then I could flash back and forth," showing how the focus of the landscape changes with the different treatments.

According to Tolen, she and Tricia Thomas, the urban horticulturist for the Cooperative Extension Service, and a few other master gardeners, have talked about offering this type of program to all Seminole County homeowners or people in the community interested in landscape gardening, in a session where each person attending would go away from the program with a completed landscape garden design. Design information is not regularly offered by the service, but there are enough master gardeners who have knowledge of the concept to produce a program of this type.

Tolen has been involved in the program since 1988. "I think it's a great outlet for volunteer work for people like me, who are interested in gardening and plants. And if you have an interest, you'll just absorb everything, and then you can help other people. And that's our goal, to help the taxpayer. Your taxes are paying for all of this information. Most people don't even know it and they don't use it."

Taking the first step Patriots win district, embark on state title trek

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Capitalizing on well-timed passes and sound ball control, the Lake Brantley Patriots trounced the Lake Mary Rams 6-2 in the 6A-District 4 championship game at Tom Storey Field Friday night.

The Patriots (20-3) advance to 6A-Region II championship game, which will be played Tuesday, Jan. 31, in Jacksonville. Lake Brantley will play Jacksonville-Mandarin, a 2-1 winner over Tallahassee-Lincoln in the District 3 finals.

Lake Brantley last won the district championship in 1980, when the Patriots went on to win the state championship. Seminole County schools have won five of their class' last six state championships.

Leading 3-2 at the end of the first half, the Patriots exploded in the second half, scoring three goals while virtually shutting down the Rams' passing game and offense.

"Lake Mary hung tough with us in the first half, but we just came out and got it done in the second half," Lake Brantley coach John Schaefer said. "I felt that the third goal would be the key goal, and the rest of the goals just followed."

"Lake Mary is a tough team, and it is always good to play them to prepare for the next step." The two teams battled in the first half with neither team seeming to gain the upper hand for very long.

Lake Brantley jumped on top with 18:35 left in the first half when Sharon Lievertz nailed the back corner of the net, but the lead would be short-lived.

The Rams tied the score when Angie Olson drilled a free kick into the upper left corner of the net with 11:42 left in the first half.

The pingpong match continued as Allison Battershaw put the Patriots ahead 3-1 with 4:09 left in the half, and Lake Mary answered with Olson's second goal, tying the score 3-2 with 3:50

Just when it seemed that the teams were headed for 3-2 tie at intermission, Kristin Battershaw connected on a corner kick to give the Patriots the lead for good with :40 left in the first half.

After Battershaw's goal, the momentum clearly shifted to Lake Brantley's favor. Although both teams had 13 shots on goal in the second half, the Rams could not capitalize on their shots.

Ginger Belick added two goals for the Patriots in the second half and assisted on a goal by Kristin Battershaw to end the scoring for Lake Brantley.

The Patriots outshot the Rams 18-14 with each team having a pair of corner kicks.

Terresa Moon and Michelle Rovito each grabbed 10 saves for Lake Brantley and Lake Mary respectively. Jordan Kelligan recorded two saves after Rovito went out with an injury in the second half for the Rams.

Rams hold off Greyhounds for meaningless win

LONGWOOD — With the conference title wrapped up and the district seedings decided, Friday night's Lake Mary-Lyman boys' soccer game at the Carlton Henley Athletic Complex meant... nothing.

And while the skill level of play was high, the intensity was decidedly low key as the arch rivals worked their way through the 80-minute contest, Lake Mary using a pair of first-half goals by Aren Cook to notch a 2-1 win.

"I'm real pleased," said Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle, who pulled most of his starters at halftime. "It was good to see the guys who normally don't have much opportunity to play get a chance to play some quality minutes against a quality team like Lyman. Everyone feels like they contributed. And they did."

McCorkle singled out junior goalkeeper Aaron Beech (who came up with a handful of point-blank saves in the second half to protect the lead) and sophomore defender Kris Keseler (who played an impressive match shadowing Lyman striker Brian Diebler) as examples of "back-ups" who stepped in and did the job.

Trying to avoid injuries and suspension-invoking ejections, the two sides gave each other plenty of room in the first half, resulting in some stalling, wide-open play that yielded 18 shots on goal (nine for each side).

Cook was the only one to find the net. At 13:30, he took a pass from Alon Seifan and curled a shot to the upper right-hand corner. About 21 minutes later, Cook played a blind volley of a chip from Jamison Bailey just under the cross bar.

The 2-0 deficit at halftime concerned Lyman coach Ray Sandidge.

"In the first half, that was really the first time this season where we were able to play our complete first teams against each other," said Sandidge. "In the other three games, one or both of us were missing key players."

"We're at the end of the line. There's no more time. I thought we'd do better in the first half. They're good. I don't see anyone in the state playing as well as they're playing right now."

The Greyhounds sliced the lead to a goal when Diebler headed home a cross from Toby Morris at 55:48 of the second half.

Both teams are off until their opening games of the Sophomore midfielder Dustin Garber (No. 19) and his fellow Lake Mary substitutes were entrusted with a 2-0 halftime lead over the Lyman Greyhounds Friday. They were up to the task, closing out a 2-1 victory.

OVIEDO — Not only did the Lake Mary wrestling team flex its muscles Friday night, it showed off some of its depth in the Seminole Athletic Conference championship-clinching 58-17 win over Oviedo.

Lake Mary also won the junior varsity contest, 57-15.

In the varsity dual, the Rams (11-2, 5-0 SAC) collected six pins, a major decision, and a couple forfeits.

One of the pins was notched by Mike Faulkner, a member of the Lake Mary junior varsity who filled in for Jamie Orna at 182 pounds.

"It's nice to have a kid like that be able to step in," said Lake Mary coach Doug Peters. "That's a big part of our program, to be able to reach down to the junior varsity team for help. It shows we have a little bit of depth."

"That's a nice part of our program, to have a

In winning the SAC title, a couple of Rams exacted a little revenge Friday night. Greg Clayton pinning Mike Schwartz at 127 pounds and Brad Harris scoring a 4-2 decision over Mike Glummo at 147.

Lake Mary will wrap up its dual meet season with matches at home against St. Cloud (Monday) and West Orange (Tuesday).

AFIII SAC streak at 16 games

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — The two headed monster grew a couple of more heads for Arrow Force III Friday night.

Whenever you play the Seminole High School boys' basketball team you know you are going to have to stop the guard duo of Eric Roberts and Brad Traina if you are going to have any chance to win. But when two more players have exceptional games, you have no chance.

Such was the case at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium as forwards Nate Hall and Jeff Merthie scored 13 points each, to go along with 15 by Traina and 10 by Roberts, and Arrow Force III cruised to its eighth straight victory 68-48.

The victory improved Seminole to 18-6 overall and 8-0 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Oviedo fell to 10-9 overall, 3-4 in the conference.

"We really want to go 10-0 in the conference," said Seminole head coach Bob Traina. "It's been a while since anyone has gone 10-0 two years in a row. It would be quite a feather in our caps. We also want something to shoot for, we don't want to clinch the conference then relax."

Arrow Force III jumped out to a 23-6 lead early in the second quarter, before the Lions went on a 10-2 run to cut the lead to 25-16. But Seminole closed the half with a 15-4 run of its own and the game was never close again.

Brian Buchanan led the way for Oviedo with 11 points, while Chad Hill chipped in with 10. Normally high-scoring Joel Freund was held to four points.

Arrow Force III will be at Lake Brantley on Wednesday, while the Lions were to have played top-ranked Mainland on Saturday, before hosting Deltona on Wednesday.

SANFORD — The Apopka Diamonds claimed the first ever Women's Baseball League World Series Championship with a 10-8 victory over the Sanford Ice in Game 4 at Sanford Memorial Stadium Friday afternoon.

"They (Apopka) really hit the crap out of the ball today," said Sanford manager Mike Ferrell. "It was a really good game today. We had two starters out who could not get off of work, but the girls hung in and fought hard, this was a scrappy bunch of players who refused to give up."

After the game Ferrell announced that he would not return to the ice next year.

"I really enjoyed the things that had to do with baseball," said Ferrell. "It was a good experience for me. I have no regrets. But I have the chance

The Diamonds took a 3-0 lead in the top of the first, but the ice came back to tie the game in the second. Apopka regained a three-run edge in the third and led 8-3 when Sanford scored three in the seventh to cut the lead to 8-6. But the Diamonds got two insurance runs in the ninth inning to close out the scoring.

Pacing the ice offense were Stephanie Reed (double, two singles, two runs, RBI), Lani Cabral (three singles, two RBI), Adria Hernandez (single, run, two RBI), Susan Stahley and Kim Warren (one single and one run each). Oviedo High School head softball coach Anna Hollis (single), Christy Weaver (run) and Sheila Reed (RBI).

LEAGUE MAKES CHANGES

After the game it was announced the the Diamonds would become the Brevard Diamonds and play at Cocoa High School next year and that Ed Fogelson would become team president.

It was also announced that the WBL would hold open tryouts February 18-19 starting at 10 a.m. at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Women must be over 18 and not on a college scholarship at the present time.

For info, call the WBL at (407) 688-8948.

Plan fishing trips around weather

Late winter and early spring fishing used to be extremely frustrating to me, but lately, I have become more philosophical about the endeavor.

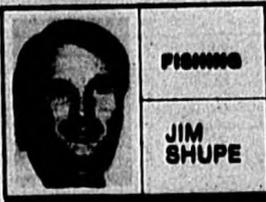

For more years than I care to admit, I have fought the elements — high winds, sudden drops in temperatures — and most aggravating of all, no fish. Today, I realize I have no-one or nothing to blame but myself.

The passing cold fronts are just as hard on fish. As soon as they get used to some nice, stable weather, a frigid cold front sends them packing for deeper water. Fish are difficult, if not impossible to pattern because the unstable weather patterns dictate their movement.

Several days of warm weather, or several days of cold weather will concentrate fish in areas where they can be caught with some dependability. Florida weather, however, is anything but stable this time of year.

I amaze myself as I recount those awful days that I just "had" to go fishing. It didn't matter what the weather was doing, if it was Saturday, I was going fishing. Ice could be on the boat, trees could be bending over from the wind, but no weather was too foul for me to conquer.

Eventually, it began to dawn on me after an embarrassing number of years that I rarely caught any number of fish on those nasty days.

FISHING

It also began to dawn on me that I had a choice, and that it wasn't an edict that I "had" to go fishing under awful circumstances. Perhaps all those years of getting beaten around by the elements have finally resulted in me acquiring a little wisdom.

I now operate from the exact opposite end of the fishing spectrum, heading for the water only if conditions are perfect. Time and money are precious commodities, so why waste them on days for which there is little chance for a return on my investment?

SHUPE'S SCOOP

A weather radio is my most important piece of fishing equipment. I would never dream of going on a fishing trip without turning on my weather radio for the most current weather conditions. My own personal standard for a fishing trip is a marine forecast of 10 to 15 knot winds. Once winds approach 15 knots and more, fishing becomes difficult at best.

FISHING FORECAST

River fishing is still tough due to high water levels. Expect action from specks and sunshiners to pick up in Lake Monroe. Bass will soon be bedding in local lakes around full moon periods.

Sebastian Inlet is featuring good action with winter flounder and bluefish. Trout are hitting on the deeper grass flats back in the river.

Captain Jack at Fort Canaveral has little to report in the way of offshore action due to dirty water and high seas. Inside the Port, expect flounder and sheepshead to keep anglers smiling. Redfish and trout are scattered in the Banana and Indian rivers.

Huge winter sheepshead are the big news at Ponce Inlet. Fish in the 8 to 10-pound range are biting live shrimp and fiddler crabs near the tip of the north jetty. Drum, redfish, bluefish, and a few flounder are also being caught at this popular spot. Back in the river, sheepshead are active around channel markers and bridge pilings.

game-high 26-point performance by Lyman senior DeWayne Bell, the Lake Mary Rams pulled out a 65-59 win over the visiting Greyhounds in Seminole Athletic Conference boys' basketball play Friday.

The schools split the undercard, Lyman winning the junior varsity contest 58-53 while the undefeated Lake Mary freshman team ran its record to 14-0 with a 79-39 romp.

Lake Mary took a 21-17 lead after one quarter of the varsity game and extended its advantage to 11 points, 38-27, by halftime. The Greyhounds won both the third and fourth quarters, but couldn't overcome the early deficit.

Wesley Jackson led the Rams (11-10, 3-4 SAC) with 16 points. Jason Junker added 12 while Shawn Newberry tossed in 10.

Tavoran Raymon, who scored 10 points, was the only other Greyhound beside Bell to score in double figures.

Lake Mary is scheduled to play again this Tuesday at Euatit while Lyman (10-10, 3-4) goes to Deltona to play first-year Pine Ridge High School.

4 tournament next week. Lake Mary, the Seminole Athletic Conference champion and district's No. 1 seed, hosts the winner of Monday's DeLand-Maitland game at 7 p.m. Tuesday while Lyman, the No. 2 seed, will entertain seventh-seeded Lake Brantley.

HAWKS BLANK PATS
WINTER PARK — Goalie Jacob Zoeky parried six shots for his third shutout of the season Friday night, backstopping the Lake Howell Silver Hawks in their 2-0 win over the Lake Brantley Patriots at Richard L. Evans Field.

Lake Brantley won the junior varsity game, 3-1.

Tied 0-0 at halftime, David Lewis and Bryan Kolesaar each scored a goal in the second half for the Silver Hawks. Jeff Yearick assisted on both goals.

Lake Howell outshot Lake Brantley 16-13, forcing Patriot keeper Matt Hawkins to make three saves. Each team took three corner kicks.

Next action for both teams will be Tuesday night in the first round of the 6A-District 4 tournament. Fifth-seeded Lake Howell playing at No. 4-seed Deltona while seventh-seeded Lake Brantley visits No. 2-seed Lyman. Both games are scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

JIMMY BRYAN HONDA FINANCING NOTICE
JIMMY BRYAN HONDA SAYS NO CREDIT PROBLEM TOO BIG!!!!
BANKRUPTCIES, FORECLOSURES, REPOSSESSIONS, CHARGE OFFS OK!!!!
 This Sunday, Jan. 22, 1995 thru Tuesday, Jan. 31, 1995 Representatives from our Credit Team will be in Longwood at Jimmy Bryan Honda in order to approve automobile loans for individuals and families with past credit problems. This is not an advertising gimmick. Our Credit Team has surplus funds and will be approving loans on the spot. Don't miss this chance. If you have ever been refused on a loan, this is definitely your opportunity for immediate approval. All credit histories are OK. *All cars will be delivered on the spot in order to meet the $5,000,000.00 quota set for this event. All inventories will be specially priced for this ten day event. Vehicles will be on display along with representatives for special finance. Take advantage of this Limited Opportunity to re-establish your credit.

Mycoff addresses reading society CFRH Auxillary installs, presents awards

Having Midge Mycoff as guest speaker was like a breath of fresh air for members of the Sanford Chapter of Epilion Sigma Omicron, a reading society of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

The ESO held the January meeting at the home of Vida Smith. Charlotte Knowles, program chairman, introduced Midge who is coordinator of the Displaced Homemakers at Seminole Community College where she is a respected staff member.

In addition to the numerous hats she wears, vivacious Midge is also a certified home economist and is a columnist with the Sanford Herald where she writes the weekly Microwave Magic cooking column. According to Libby Prevatt, Midge has a passion for cooking and "her cookbook collection would rival that of Julia Child."

Midge's other interests include: gardening, collecting garnets and traveling for pleasure as well as business.

She explained to the women that the books in a person's home tells you a great deal about their interests. She mentioned that two of her mother's favorite authors were Agnes Sly Turnbull and Eugenia Price and she naturally grew up reading everything she could find by these authors.

For women who have been widowed or are alone, Midge recommends a book entitled, "On your Own" by Armstrong and Donahoe which is a widow's passage to emotional and financial well being.

Gardening is an exciting hobby that Midge has thoroughly enjoyed for years. She grows magnificent roses and has over 100 varieties in her garden. Several years ago she began collecting antique roses in her travels which she says are easy to grow in the central Florida area. Midge said the antique roses grow very large, require very little care and have a wonderful fragrance.

Girl Scout Kelsey Kittleson learns how to clean horse's hoof.

Girl Scouts work on 'horse' badge CIA installs

Jeanne Bush, Girl Scout leader for Troop 112, invited Troop 148 to join her at work Monday afternoon, Jan. 16, to earn the Horse Lover Badge. Jeanne works at Summerset Farms on 46A in Lake Mary.

Jeanne taught the girls how to use a curry comb, a pick, and various brushes used to groom a horse. The girls also learned some of the differences between various breeds of horses.

Troop 148 also found out where the saying "long in the tooth" comes from. Jeanne persuaded a three-year-old horse to show the girls his teeth, then a 20-year-old horse did the same. The older horse's teeth were about three times longer than the younger ones.

The girls also learned the difference between English and Western saddles and styles of riding. It was an enjoyable and educational afternoon.

The Lake Mary Community Improvement Association (CIA) held their monthly meeting, Jan. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Building in Lake Mary. The special guest for the evening was City Commissioner David Meador. David, a past president of the CIA, was on hand to install the new officers.

After the year-end reports by the outgoing officers, the new

Couple to observe 55th anniversary

On Sunday, Feb. 5, Mr. and Mrs. Forest H. Barnes will celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary at the Longwood Church of the Nazarene. They are longtime residents of Longwood, having moved here from Bellfountain, Ohio in 1957. For their 50th anniversary, former mayor of Longwood, Gene Farach, proclaimed Saturday, Feb. 5, to be "Areva and Forest Barnes Day" in recognition of their many years of service to the city of Longwood and urged all residents to join them in wishing them future health and happiness.

Areva and "Barney" met in the first grade in Ohio and attended first and second grade together and then did not see one another again for another decade. Their reunion was one of misfortune for the young man who had been courting Areva. He had become ill that fateful night and sent "Barney" to take his place.

Areva laughs and says, "I've called him my second fiddle ever since." A couple of years before moving to Longwood, Barney became very ill and doctors advised him to move to Florida. Says Areva, a nurse, "so we sold the home."

Crawford to appear in 'Alive in '95'

Evangelist Beverly Crawford has been seen nationwide and is a dynamic singer and religious deliverer of the gospel message on The Bobby Jones and New Life Singers, on BET (Black Entertainment Network) gospel hour every Sunday morning at 9 a.m.

The Second Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church, 2150 Airport Blvd., and the Rev. R.T. Davis, pastor of the church, invite the Central Florida area and Sanford gospel music lovers and Christian sinners in need of a blessing to attend the "Alive in '95 Revival" to hear this evangelist who will bring the message through the word and gospel music.

Beverly Crawford has become widely recognized around this country and other parts of the world. Her vocal versatility mixed with the drive of old-fashioned pentecostalism are the two most prominent characteristics of this Christian messenger. She was born one of five girls and two boys of Bishop Walter Camp Sr. and the late Nellie Mae Camps in Gainesville, Fla. Evangelist Crawford grew up in the Holy Temple of God, Inc. denomination where her early life guided her in the beginning of her singing career. She sang with her sisters and her brothers were musicians, yes, this was their way of life. She has appeared in many concerts in Florida and surrounding states. She has gained wide fame. Her gospel career has taken on international acclaim.

A mere investment and a videotape were sent to several Christian music companies and after several weeks she received a letter from the producer and television host Dr. Bobby Jones. After an appearance on the Bobby Jones show, the Camps Sisters were inspired. The big moment came when Beverly was invited to become a member of Bobby Jones singers "New Life" in 1990. Yes, she readily accepted.

Evangelist Crawford has been seen on BET network to over 30 million viewers. She has traveled to European ports and taken her ministry to the Caribbean islands of Jamaica and Barbados.

Evangelists Beverly and Todd Crawford run the Potter's House Ministries, Inc. The ministries are designed to deliver the good news and bring hope into the lives of people that God allows them to touch. She has been preaching for 10 years and enjoys the healing ministry of the God that has delivered her from cancer.

Nightly services are Feb. 2,3,4 at 7 p.m. at Second Shiloh Baptist Church featuring Vernon "Papa" Jones, Mary DeBoise and the Sanford Community Workshop Choir as guests each night. Come for prayer and praise.

ALPI annual meeting

A constant flow of community services, the Agricultural and Labor Program Inc. held their annual corporate membership meeting and annual luncheon at the Twin Towers Hotel and Convention Center, Orlando. ALPI as it is known today is a private non-profit, community-based organization chartered by the state of Florida to provide assistance and services to the migrant and seasonal farmworkers' population, the rural poor and disenfranchised throughout the state.

The program is designed to promote involvement of the poor

ENGAGEMENT

Shannon Michelle West and James Victor Bryson

West-Bryson

GRIFFIN, Ga. — Mr. and Mrs. Len West of Griffin, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter, Shannon Michelle, to James Victor Bryson of Charlotte, N.C.

The bride is a 1991 graduate of Griffin High School and is currently a medical assistant.

She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. O.J. Hall Jr. of Whigham, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. R.E. (Jack) West of Sanford.

Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bryson of Cullowhee, N.C. He is a 1987 graduate of Cullowhee High School and 1992 graduate of Appalachian State University. He is currently employed with CMS Therapies of Charlotte, N.C.

The wedding will be an event of Feb. 25, at 2:30 p.m., at the Second Baptist Church in Griffin. Family and friends are welcome to attend.

Longwood

"I built this little house and we've been here ever since." They recall that there were only two houses on their street at that time and the street was more of a cowpath. Route 427 was a brick road.

They have two children, 13 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. They care for Aunt Polly in their home, and Areva's 92-year-old mother is visiting for a couple of months in order to celebrate the anniversary. Two sisters and two brothers and their families have also arrived for the celebration.

Both Barneses have seen so many changes over the years and they laugh and are thankful about some of the changes but they are sad, yet resigned, about other changes. Areva refers to the time when they moved to Longwood as such a neighborly time, "when everyone looked out for one another and the doors were left unlocked."

Some of the positive changes the rest of us take for granted. "You have no idea what a blessing South Seminole Community Hospital is," says Areva. While the rest of us complain about the inadequacy of Interstate 4, Areva and Barney remember the days when there were 44 traffic lights between Longwood and what was then Orange Memorial Hospital in downtown Orlando, the closest hospital. Areva claps her hands together in a gesture of praise as she recounts the few times she has been in need of the Fire Department and the Police Department.

Both agencies are second to none, according to Areva, and she says, "Chief Charles Chapman of the Fire Department and Chief Greg Manning of the Police Department are the most wonderful and dedicated people there are."

While Barney worked for the Public Works Department of the city of Longwood for 20 years, Areva worked for the Orange Memorial Hospital for 10 years and then worked in a doctor's office for many years. She still works one day per month in a doctor's office. "Just to keep my feet wet," and she is active! Areva teaches Sunday school at the church and she is the director of children's ministries and the missionary director. She is also on the executive board of the Central Florida Church of the Nazarene Children's and Missionary Board.

Both are members of the Prime Time and chair the Winter Park Zone Senior Ministries. She is also a member of Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club and is the director of the youth gardening club for intermediates and juniors. Both she and Barney are members of the Central Florida Society for Historical Preservation and Areva is the past president of the Longwood Civic League Woman's Club. Areva also loves to cook, bake and can items from the garden. She plans to enter the Seminole County fair again this year with her pie baking and canning expertise and also plans to have her junior gardeners enter with their horticultural specimens and craft works.

Areva says she always told herself that when she retired, she "would do all the things she didn't have time to do when she was working and join all the clubs ..." and she didn't waste any time in doing what she said she would always do. She loves life and she has never been a worrier; Barney says, "I do all the worrying for everybody." They just fit each other.

Calling soccer players

The Seminole Soccer Club, Blades soccer team, under 19 division, has immediate openings for any skilled soccer players. Tryouts for this team will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 7, at 5 p.m. at Lake Sylvan Park. This traveling team will participate in two spring tournaments and in the state cup. In addition, this team will be touring Holland and England this summer, playing soccer with various European teams as well as visiting museums and seeing the sights, a sporting and educational journey. For further information, call 333-0473.

Field trip set

Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club will take a field trip to historical Longwood for its February meeting on Feb. 13, 1995. Members will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Bradlee McIntyre House. A guided tour will be given with lunch following. No prior reservations are required.

"Our auxiliaries play such an important role in fulfilling our mission," said Doug Sils, president and chief executive officer of CFRH. "Their contributions to our patients and our staff play an important role in the quality care we provide," he added.

Sils installed the following officers for 1995: Jane Back, Deltona, president; Dorothy Floray, Deltona, president-elect; Thelma Smith, Lake Mary, vice president; Edith Avenel, Sanford, treasurer; Lucille Young, Sanford, recording secretary; and Gladis Lewis, Sanford, corresponding secretary.

Auxiliary members work in many areas of the hospital including front desk, gift shop, trolley, recovery room, among others. They also offer a cardiac risk profile screening on the first Friday of each month.

In addition, the auxiliary provides scholarships to CFRH employees pursuing job-related education. In 1994, $11,000 in scholarships were given to employees.

Centennial hopes

The Florida Federation of Women's Clubs will celebrate its centennial this spring in Orlando. And, for what it's worth, it will take a team of wild horses to keep Charlotte Smith, a former FFWC president, from attending all the pomp and pageantry the big event will certainly generate.

Charlotte is excited that she has been asked to show her wedding dress of 1923 which she wore on her 50th anniversary. She plans to get a member of the Sanford Junior Woman's Club to model the lovely creation.

The possibility of being hospitalized and ill health never entered Charlotte's mind. However, expect a speedy recovery from this remarkable woman who has already spent 93 great years improving this planet.

Costa Rica filming

Bonnie Schumacher and her son, Curt, have returned from a week in Costa Rica where he was being filmed windsurfing for "Shredder" magazine. A water enthusiast from way back, Curt holds many titles in this field, including third in the world.

Bonnie talked about the good time they had exploring the gorgeous terrain and visiting with the natives. One day she and several in their party went horseback riding in the dense mountains and followed a steep, winding trail back down to the water where the surfers were in action.

"It was wonderful," she said.

According to Suzy Dickey, a board member, the guild will hold a yard sale on Saturday, Feb. 4, from 8 a.m. till sold out, at the studio, 2560 S. Elm Ave. Suzie says a variety of items will be offered and there is something for everyone.

For information, call Suzie at 322-7487.

It's a boy

Steve and Heather Johnson, formerly of Sanford, happily announce the arrival of their baby boy, Zachary Steven, on Dec. 3, 1994, at Shands Hospital, Gainesville. Zachary weighed in at a healthy 6 lbs., 12.5 ozs., and was 18.5 inches in length.

Proud grandparents are Joanna Shaffer and Joe Shaffer (maternal) and Nita and Jim Johnson (paternal), all of Sanford.

In the service

JAMES J. MCGOVERN

Navy Lt. Cmdr. James J. McGovern, a 1979 graduate of Seminole High School of Sanford, recently reported for duty with Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron Three, Naval Air Station, Jacksonville.

McGovern is a 1983 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. with a BS degree and a 1991 graduate of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, Calif., with a MS degree.

BRET G. DOUGLAS

SANFORD (U.S. ARMY) — Bret G. Douglas, 26, has enlisted in the Army's Delayed Entry Program, according to Sgt. 1st Class Kermit Gonzalez, Sanford Recruiting Station.

Douglas, a June 1986 graduate of Andrew Jackson High School, will enter advanced individual training on Feb. 22, 1995 as a cavalry scout at Fort Knox, Ky.

JANAE M. CHAMBERLAIN

FORT JACKSON, Columbia, S.C. — Army Pvt. Janae M. Chamberlain has entered basic training here.

During the eight weeks of training the soldiers will study the Army mission, and will receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, Army history and traditions and special training in human relations.

Chamberlain is the daughter of Courtney C. and Zaidie A. Chamberlain of Oviedo.

She is a 1994 graduate of Oviedo High School.

officers raised their right hands and took their oath of office. The new officers installed were: Dick Fess, president; Vern Feddersen, second vice president; Lillian Griffin, first vice president; Lois Jackson, director; John Montgomery, treasurer; and Rosella Bonham, director. Cindy Brown the new secretary, and Harriet Boyd, a new director, were not able to attend the installation meeting.

With the new slate of officers installed, the Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts made a presentation about "Baby Think It Over." "Baby Think It Over" is an electronic doll that partially mimics a real baby. The doll can be programmed to cry every three hours, just like a real baby, and it must be held to be fed (using a feeding plug) for 20 to 35 minutes, just like a real baby. Stardust has asked the CIA to donate the dolls to use with the Girl Scout Contemporary Issues Booklet "Preventing Teen Pregnancies." A decision on the dolls will be made at the next CIA board meeting.

Doctor's resolutions will help children and parents

DEAR ABBY: I am a pediatrician, and I wrote these "Parents' Resolutions for 1995." If you think they will help children and parents, you are welcome to print them.

ALFREDO SANTESTEBAN, M.D.

DEAR DR. SANTESTEBAN: Though a little late, your resolutions are well worth space in my column. Thank you for sending them. Here they are:

- (1) Because every two hours a child dies in this country as a result of a firearm injury, I'll either get rid of any firearms in my possession, or keep them locked up or unloaded, so my children can't harm themselves.
- (2) I'll be an advocate for children everywhere and contribute time or money to feed, clothe or somehow help as many children as I can.
- (3) Because cigarette smoke is harmful to children — especially those with asthma — I will not smoke near them. And if I become pregnant, I will quit smoking immediately.
- (4) I'll make sure all medicines in my home are stored in a place where no children can reach them.
- (5) I promise to spend time

ADVICE

with my children, and not feel guilty if I must work outside my home.

(6) I promise to seek help if I'm so overwhelmed while caring for my children that I lose my patience and hit them. I will never shake an infant. If I see a child being hit in a clearly brutal way, I'll try to talk the abuser out of it, or report her or him to proper authorities.

(7) I'll teach my children healthy eating habits and not reward them with candy.

(8) I'll take my children to the doctor for regular checkups and immunizations. If my financial resources are low, I'll take them to a free health clinic. (Please: There are no excuses for not immunizing children properly.)

(9) I'll strive to build my children's self-esteem by never belittling them, and by being a good role model.

(10) I'll encourage my teenager to resist peer pressure and to say "No!" when tempted to try drugs or engage in sex.

(11) I'll teach my children responsibility by setting an example: "If you want some thing — work to get it!" "Everybody has hurdles to jump over; jumping over hurdles builds character."

DEAR READERS: A very wise Frenchman said: "Beauty is a gift. Charm must be cultivated. A beautiful woman is one I notice. A charming woman is one who notices me."

YOUR CHUCKLE FOR TODAY: As a spiritually minded friend said to Mike Royko, Chicago Tribune columnist: "I went because I had no Quiccia until I met a man who had no Florsheims."

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 68440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90068. All correspondence is confidential.)

Josephine Cox shows plastic canvas waste basket and African granny outfit she made.

Community leader's hobby: Needlework, plastic canvas

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Josephine Cox not only helps in the community but in her spare time she has found a way to keep herself busy creating for others. Most of her work has already been distributed to one family member or another.

Speaking of family, this hospitable lady has plenty in that department. She spoke proudly of her 10 children, her 45 grandchildren, and 28 great grandchildren, most of whom are in New York. Cox, herself, was a resident of New York for 44 years until her move to Sanford six years ago.

She stays active with RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program) working in the city hall and at various church activities. TEFAP (Temporary Emergency Food Assistance Program) occupies her time on Tuesdays with her assistance in distributing government surplus food, from the old Zayre Plaza, to needy families. She has taken on the responsibility of also supplying the food to 41 homebound residents of Geneva Gardens, for the last three years, who are in need of food subsidies but are unable to leave their home to retrieve the needed help. Cox has been an active member of the Mars Hill Seventh Day Adventist Church in Sanford for six years now. She referred to herself as, "a community worker, leader," in her church.

Church is where Cox learned her art of plastic canvas while in New York in 1980. "I was a leader of Vacation Bible School for four years," she said. "I made bowls, name frames, napkin holders, baskets, organizers and doll furniture. Next, I want to make a plastic canvas doll house."

Cox spoke fondly of a wastebasket she made from plastic canvas. "This wastebasket has traveled all over," she said. "I started it here in Florida and when I travel I take my work with me. It traveled from Florida to California, through the Carolinas and to Philadelphia." As Cox put it, "wherever I sit my body is where I do my work."

Sewing is another favorite of Cox. She displayed an outfit made for a fashion show at the Better Living for Seniors Center. The ensemble included a blouse, skirt and hat, which she designed herself. She referred to it as, "an African granny outfit."

Weddings have been another source of joy. Cox has outfitted five weddings with her sewing skills. "I did two of my daughter's weddings, one granddaughter, and two godsons," she said. "I made one wedding gown and the other wedding I made all the bridesmaids' dresses, junior bridesmaids, and the mother's gown. I would sew all day long and up to midnight to get ready for the wedding. They would bring me food, water and whatever I needed to the sewing machine and I would keep on sewing. I also sew all the gowns I need for any occasion. I've made myself a coat too."

To add to the list of gifts Cox has given her children, she has made each a pillow top from crocheted and each an afghan. "I made an afghan for each of my children when they left home," she said. "When I travel I also take the crocheted with me. I made nine afghans in a year-and-a-half of travel, whether I went by train, car or whatever." A favorite afghan of another relative was a military style, red, white and blue she recently made.

Cox expressed that she sews and makes so much for her family because she felt they needed something to enjoy after she's gone. "When parents pass away it's nice for the children to have something to remember them by," she said. "They need something to enjoy after the parents are gone, something to pass down to their children and grandchildren."

A recent endeavor that Cox has undertaken is writing a book. She concluded by briefly talking about its contents. "I'm writing a book about my life," she said. "My oldest is enjoying it. My father was an elephant tender in the Ringling Brothers circus. That's where my mother met him."

ARIES (March 21-April 19) To achieve your ambitious intentions today, do what needs doing without bringing others into the picture. Keep a low profile.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something you presently desire might appear to be wishful thinking, but if you maintain your present initiative, the probabilities for success are strong.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You would do well today to involve yourself with ambitious and materially motivated people. Let them be your role models for the moment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Stand firm on a recent decision if you believe the position you've taken is the proper one. Let events, facts and time validate it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your compensation will be fair today if you render your services well. Try not to focus on what you're going to get, but instead do the very best you can.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Regardless of how a venture begins, the results matter more. Keep a stout heart; you'll pull ahead in the final stretch today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You might receive some happy tidings today. This well-wisher will be someone you know better socially than professionally.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your financial trends continue to look encouraging. Devote your most concerted efforts to situations that could produce material gains at this time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will communicate very effectively today. If you have some type of proposal or program to promote, it will be as many prospects as possible now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A friend with your best interests at heart may want to help to you today in material ways. He/she will work secretly on your behalf whenever needed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You can substantially advance a new endeavor today by conveying your message in a positive and assertive manner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Companions might talk about what they hope to accomplish today, but you'll be the one with the real know-how who quietly gets things done.

AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Among duplicate players, instant matchpoint scoring is almost universally popular. You finish a deal and immediately know your score. And that score isn't affected by the vagaries of the results at other tables.

The American Contract Bridge League organized the Vantage Travel Instant Matchpoint Game last September. The winners North-South and overall were John Lyddon, from Pompano Beach, Fla., and William Budd, from Deerfield Beach, Fla. The top East-West pair were Patricia and Vincent Civalo, from Yardville, N.J.

Both pairs did well on this deal. (The hand diagram has been rotated to make South the declarer. This results in the Civalos appearing to sit North-South.) The auction was the same at both tables, but please believe me that North should rebid two spades, not two diamonds, with such a low count.

Vincent Civalo received a favorable heart lead. He won in hand, cashed the A-K of spades and heart jack, played a diamond to dummy's ace and led a top heart, discarding a club from hand. The defenders were restricted to West's trump trick. Mr. and Mrs. Civalo received 89 matchpoints out of 100 for plus 980.

Budd found the best lead of a diamond. Declarer won with dummy's ace, played a club to his ace, ruffed a club in the dummy, ruffed a diamond in hand, ruffed a club in the dummy and played a heart to his queen. Another club now brings home the contract, but South cashed his top trumps, overtook his heart jack with dummy's king and tried to cash the heart ace, discarding a club. However, West ruffed, and East took a club trick at the end. Plus 50 gave Lyddon and Budd 91 points.

Phillip Alder's new book, "Get Smarter at Bridge," is available.

IN BRIEF

Getting ready for next year

LONGWOOD - Counselors at Lyman High School will be available to talk with parents and students regarding the next year on Feb. 6, 7 and 8.

On Monday and Wednesday, Feb. 6 and 8 from 3 to 6 p.m. and on Tuesday, Feb. 7 from 3 to 7 p.m.

Meetings will be held in the Lyman High School Career Center, which is located in M-106.

Parents and students should bring registration materials with them.

Wellness Week set

FERN PARK - English Estates Elementary School has designated Jan. 30 through Feb. 4 as "Wellness Week."

On Saturday, Feb. 4, the school PTA will host a Wellness Fair for all families in their community. There will be businesses and other community agencies on site with information about health and safety issues. There will be health screenings and demonstrations.

There will also be a bike rodeo for all children which includes a bike safety inspection.

For more information, contact the school at 851-1418.

Topic: school discipline

SANFORD - Seminole High School's Family Resource Center is encouraging all concerned parents to attend a workshop on Monday, Feb. 6 at 6 p.m. in the media center.

The speaker will be Lemarr Richardson. The topic will be Discipline in the Schools and the Communication Gap between parents and students.

For more information, call Mrs. Morris or Mrs. Coffman-Williamson at 323-7798.

Textbook give-away

SANFORD - Everyone is invited to visit the school district's Textbook Department Warehouse on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 to select free, used textbooks. The books are no longer used in the schools.

Visitors must provide their own boxes, bags, labor and transportation.

The textbook warehouse is located at 1211 S. Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

It will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. both days.

For more information, call the school board at 323-1353.

Goldboro SAC to meet

SANFORD - The School Advisory Council, consisting of parents, staff and community members, will present an update on the status of school improvement at Goldboro during their regular meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 7 at 7 p.m.

You are invited to hear about the school's improvement with the University of Central Florida as well as an update on our technology plan.

For more information, call the school at 323-7833.

Whose fault is it if you hurt yourself?

By LYNDSEY HOLLIDAY
Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD - Close your eyes and try to imagine.

You're living in a nice neighborhood. Your yard is well taken care of; flowers, trees, the works.

Some teenagers come on your property without permission.

The teenagers take one of your flowers, they go home, cook it and make a tea.

When the teenagers drink it, they get sick and have to go to the emergency room.

Is it your fault?

This exact incident happened with Maitland teens recently.

In 1994, nearly 100 Central Florida teens were sickened after eating parts of the Angel Trumpet tree or drinking tea made from its leaves.

Who's fault this time?

Well, a law was passed in Maitland to ban a flower.

The Angel Trumpet, a hallucinogenic drug.

Also decided, Maitland is banning Devil Trumpets and Chalice Vines.

Still, who's fault is this mess?

The owner for decorating their yard? Or the teens for trespassing, stealing a flower, cooking it, smoking it and getting sick.

Lyndsey Alyson Holliday

OK. Now I understand its the owners fault. Right?

WRONG!

You stupid teens!

You took the chances when you smoked or drank this flower.

Not the owner.

The owner didn't hold you down and force you to smoke or drink it.

Parents, smarten up and put the blame where it belongs.

With your kid.

So now to answer the question of whose fault?

Not yours!

Shane and Carla McCook tell the story of "The Child of the Silent Night."

Just another way to tell the story

By VICKI BOGDANSKI
Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - There's more than one way to talk to others, students in Mrs. Greenwood's class at Spring Lake Elementary School have discovered.

The fourth graders recently had the opportunity to experience the visual language of signing.

Carla McCook is a teacher, doing her internship at Spring Lake. She is a student at Flagler College in St.

Augustine.

McCook and her husband Shane McCook joined forces last week to read the story of "Child of the Silent Night" to the youngsters in the class.

Shane, an actor, read the story aloud, while Carla translated the book into sign language.

The youngsters, many of whom had never seen the hand-spoken language that allows communication between the hearing and un-hearing world, were fascinated with the demonstration.

Getting ready for 'Super Sunday'

By VICKI BOGDANSKI
Herald Staff Writer

This weekend the San Diego Chargers and the San Francisco 49ers will clash on the football field at Joe Robbie Stadium in Miami.

To hear some talk, the world will screech to a halt for that period of time that frames the game. Everyone, you would think, will be glued to their television sets to see the game.

True, most will be. But, there are some exceptions.

Katie Dennis said she and her father are all set to watch the Super Bowl on Sunday.

"We've watched it together since I was four or five years old," the 15 year old said. "I can't remember missing one in the last 10 years. The Super Bowl is one of those special things we do together."

Sherise Lord, 16, said the Super Bowl is "just an excuse for my dad and my brothers to act like idiots," drinking beer and shouting at the television.

"It's just a football game," she said. "A stupid, over-rated football game."

Lord said she is a football fan, but doesn't understand what "the big deal" is with this particular game.

Imani Johnson, 15, was speechless for several minutes after hearing Lord's comment.

"It is the most important game of the year," he said after regaining his composure. "She calls herself a football fan? S-I!

No real football fan would say that."

Johnson said he plans to make viewing the game an all-day affair.

"I watch every pre-game show, every second of the game, half-time, post-game reports, everything," he said. "I look forward to this all year."

Stella Luke, 14, said she's only interested in the half time show.

"I like the pageantry and the cheerleaders and stuff," she said. "I would love to be able to go see that in person."

The football game?

"That's just something to take up time before and after the real stuff," she said.

Caahia Fielder, 17, is very excited about the Super Bowl.

"My boyfriend invited me over to watch the game with him," she said. "I can't wait."

The game itself holds little interest for her, but she's excited about being asked to be a part of something so important to her beau.

"He lives for football," she said. "And this is THE football game."

Keith Scanlon, 15, said he'd probably suffer repercussions from his peers for admitting it, but he wasn't even aware that the Super Bowl was being played this weekend.

"I guess it's just not my priority right now," he said. "I guess I'll probably watch it now that I know it's on."

Safety first

Sgt. Aaron Keith of the Sanford Police Department spoke to students at Hamilton Elementary School on Friday morning. He told the youngsters about important safety issues facing them every day. Keith, some fellow officers as well as representatives of other professions were at Hamilton for Career Day, a popular activity among the students at the school.

IN BRIEF

Living will workshop

What happens to your living will if 911 is called? End the confusion. Living wills, durable powers of attorney, and do not resuscitate orders will be explained at a free workshop, Friday, Feb. 3, at 11 a.m. at 521 Physicians Plaza on State Road 434 next door to South Seminole Hospital.

The workshop, sponsored by the hospital, will be presented by Florida Registry of Living Wills.

Current forms will be provided and completed at no charge. Registration, which guarantees your living will is always immediately available and up-to-date, will be offered.

Reservations for this workshop are requested. Call (800) 624-6496.

Social skills class

The Central Florida Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities is offering a Social Skills class for students in fifth through eighth grades who have learning disabilities or attention deficit disorders. This class is held for ten weeks for the students and two sessions for the parents. The one-hour classes will begin on Tuesday, Jan. 31, at 5:30 p.m. at Alternatives: A Center for Caring, located at 470 Central Parkway West, Suite 1003, in Altamonte Springs.

The purpose of this class is to help the students develop the skills to build and maintain appropriate friendships, to develop anger control, to handle teasing, to be able to negotiate with siblings and peers, and more.

The cost for the entire series is $60 per family. To register for the classes, or for more information, call Carolyn Tavel at 294-2253.

House calls available through Hoopice

MAITLAND — Years ago, almost every family doctor made "house calls" when a patient was too ill to come to the office. Today's complicated health care delivery system has made this almost impossible for most physicians. Hoopice of Central Florida heralds the return of the house call with its appointment of June Leland, M.D., a geriatrician, as Clinical Medical Director.

In this new staff position, Dr. Leland will expand upon the guidance provided by Hoopice's current Medical Director, hematologist/oncologist Paul Garrett, M.D.

Dr. Leland will, upon request of the patient's primary physician, offer hoopice consults and make patient visits in the home, nursing home, Martin Anderson Hoopice House or the hospital.

"This new service will be important to the primary physician as the patient becomes less mobile and unable to come to the office for evaluations," said Brenda K. Horne, president/CEO, Hoopice of Central Florida. "A physician's house call also gives the patient and family a great deal of comfort and confidence during the difficult last stages of a terminal illness."

Only 15 minutes a day, to tone-up

Special to the Herald

I just couldn't make up my mind on what to write about. First I thought I would do an article on police officers and fitness. Then I thought about career women and fitness. Or, aerobic instructors, or maybe women bodybuilders.... So I just decided to do all four: a career police woman bodybuilder/aerobics instructor. Her name is Shelly Friend.

Shelly has been employed with the Florida Highway Patrol for five years. She says weightlifting has increased her energy level, her strength and her self-esteem.

Shelly trains an average of three times a week, which she says is plenty, unless she is training for a bodybuilding contest. Then it is necessary to train six times a week for three months prior to the contest. She also increases her aerobic activity to burn body fat.

Shelly won a state championship in 1992 and placed third in a national qualifier in 1993.

Along with enjoying weightlifting and being good at bodybuilding, she also likes aerobics and teaches as many classes as she can. Shelly says it's really a fun way to burn calories and tone up. Shelly is also a loving wife and a great encouragement to her husband (me!).

Shelly encourages all women, no matter how busy, to start a light toning program including weighttraining and aerobics starting with just two times a week, 15 to 20 minutes per session with professional assistance at a gym. This small commitment is all it takes to reap the benefits of looking and feeling better and living a longer, healthier life.

Computers are in his past, future Brain tumor can not stop drive to succeed

By SHAN BRIDGE
Herald Staff Writer

Part 1 of two parts

SANFORD — George Szoke apologizes for his lapse in memory. There are just certain periods of time he can't remember.

Like the incident that could be tagged as the beginning of the end of life as he knew it.

He was in the airport in Newark, N.J., with his wife and his three-year-old son, preparing to board an airplane, which would take him back to Florida after visiting family for Mother's Day, 1992.

"All of a sudden I got real dizzy, got disoriented. I asked my wife, 'where are we, and why?' I let go of my son's hand. He wandered off into the crowd, so she knew something was wrong," Szoke said. "At first she thought I was joking, but I wasn't." A couple of minutes later he was fine.

Szoke doesn't really remember that this happened, just what his wife told him. Then 36 years old, he was suffering from the effects of a brain tumor, the size of an orange, located in the middle of his brain, just above the brain stem and pushing out in all directions. Episodes of dizziness preceded the airport incident but had not concerned Szoke until that point. The otherwise healthy husband and father, employed as a welder of space shuttle parts, who enjoyed fishing and scuba diving, had no other indication of the growth that would drastically change his life.

When they got back to Florida, Peggy Szoke contacted George's mother, who was a registered nurse. She suggested that Peggy had Szoke checked for Lyme disease, because of the amount of time they used to spend hiking in the mountains of California.

Peggy made a doctor's appointment for her husband, but the soonest he could be seen was a month later. He got progressively worse during the interim, and they jumped at the opportunity afforded them, when a cancellation opened a spot, within two weeks.

Szoke was sent directly from the doctor's office to Florida Hospital. Many tests were run and much blood was drawn, but in the end it was an MRI that told the story.

"As soon as they did the MRI, they knew," Szoke said. He said the films of the magnetic resonance imaging clearly showed the tumor. "The doctor told my wife, they never saw anything like this except in books."

Szoke had two options at this point, a hospital in Boston or a

George Szoke found that using a computer with a communication augmentation device helped him learn to speak again; now he wants to learn CADD, computer-aided drafting.

hospital in New York City. Family would be close by, in New York, and one of the doctors at the New York hospital was Szoke's sister's neighbor. So they flew back to New York and he was admitted to Columbia Presbyterian Hospital, under the care of Michael B. Siatl, M.D., neurological surgeon.

"My prognosis.... I would be lucky to survive the surgery. They would be happy if I came out as good as I went in," Szoke said referring to the fact that parts of his short term memory had already been destroyed. For example, Szoke said, "The day before surgery they asked me who was president. Okay, I'm not real political, but I could not tell them this. I did not have a clue."

The fourteen hour operation, in fact, left Szoke speechless and without the full use of his right side extremities.

Surgery was followed by eight days in intensive care. Szoke was slow to react to external stimulation, but one of the first signs he was fighting his way back to consciousness gave his wife great hope that Szoke would recover.

A radio was being used to "stimulate" Szoke. "During the day they would put rock and roll on, and at night they would play classical," Szoke said his wife told him. "I always liked all types of music except country/western. I hate that, still do. One day my wife was changing from a rock and roll station to a classical, stopped at a country/western." Szoke said Peggy said the nurses came running into the room and asked what she was doing to him. Apparently the monitors had shown an increase in heart rate and other vital signs. Szoke said, then Peggy knew everything was okay.

After that, Szoke was moved to a step-down unit, though he was still not responding to external stimulus. "Peggy said it got to the point, I would lay there and look at the ceiling. She would poke me in the eye to make me blink."

But Szoke was fortunate to have a lot of family around him. Of Hungarian decent, Szoke did not learn English until he was in kindergarten. His mother began to speak to him in his first language and could illicit a response, which did not come when he was asked in English.

"Still, they did not know about me, what I had lost. I could not talk, it's like I forgot how to make the sounds," Szoke said this was the most frustrating part because, he knew the words.

One of Szoke's doctor's was the medical director of Helen Hayes Hospital a facility that specialized in rehabilitation. After several weeks at Columbia Presbyterian, he was transferred there.

At Helen Hayes, they worked with him on walking. "I never realized I could not stand, my right side did not work at all."

He also had to fight depression, but credits two good friends, who were also patients, who helped him through this time.

His speech therapist discovered that he could communicate, by use of a computer-aided speech delivery system, an augmented communication device. He began to mimic the sounds he heard coming from the computer. He now speaks slowly and clearly, but with an Hungarian accent, which he said he did not have before the operation.

Szoke stayed at Helen Hayes until September of 1992. He came home and entered Florida Hospital's rehabilitation facility. A vocational rehabilitation therapist sent him to Valencia Community College to take a computer programming test. Although taking the test was frustrating for him because "to retrieve information, today is still hard," he scored an 86 out of 100.

"I was always good at math, not a genius, but I lost a great deal of my math during surgery. It stayed on the operating room floor." But, despite his disabilities, Szoke is making progress in the areas of architectural design and engineering drawing, and looking towards studying computer-aided drafting and design at Seminole Community College.

Editor's note: Next week's Health and Fitness page will focus on the Seminole Community College programs George Szoke is involved in, in his continuing rehabilitation.

Workshop focuses on underage drinking

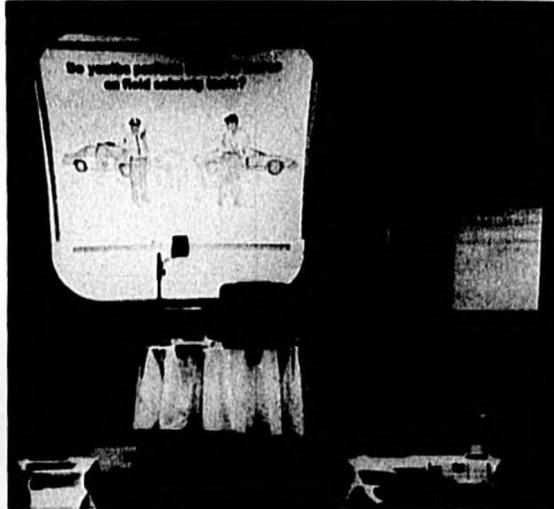

By RONNIE KORTH
Herald Correspondent

HEATHROW — It is illegal for anyone under the age of 21 to possess alcohol in Florida. Nevertheless, nearly 8,000 Florida drivers under age 21 were involved in traffic accidents while impaired by alcohol during the three-year period of 1990-1992. More than 300 underage impaired drivers were involved in fatal traffic crashes during the same three year period.

"Youth and Alcohol Awareness" was the subject of a seminar presented to Seminole County law enforcement agencies and the State Attorney's office, by the Institute of Police Technology and Management (IPTM) at the University of North Florida. The workshop, held at the American Automobile Association in Heathrow, was conducted by Doyle Morrison and Mark Willingham. Both men have extensive backgrounds in alcohol and drug investigations.

Willingham has been an agent with the Florida Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco (FDABT) since 1977. His current assignment is captain/district commander of the FDABT in Jacksonville. He is responsible for background investigations concentrating on illegal drugs, sale of alcoholic beverages to underage persons, and regulatory compliance violations.

Morrison joined IPTM staff as its Florida Alcohol Coordinator in January of 1994, after concluding a 25-year career with the California Highway Patrol. His responsibilities include the coordination of alcohol enforcement and prevention efforts in Florida Drug Recognition and Enforcement program.

All of the agencies attending came with thoughts on how to prioritize the elements of the problem and finding possible solutions and strategies as well as developing an action plan.

Willingham and Doyle said that the number of underage alcohol-impaired drivers involved in traffic incidents decreased in both 1991 and 1993. "This is a promising trend, but we need to expand our programs that inform young audiences about the dangers of driving while impaired so that the trend will continue," Doyle said. Efforts to enforce the DUI (driving under the influence) law, with regard to underage drivers also needs to be expanded in area where problems have been identified.

Young drivers are not being arrested for DUI at rates which are anywhere near their incidence in the alcohol crash population, the instructors said. They cited disparity between where young people drink and drive and when DUI enforcement resources tend to be deployed as the greatest obstacle to youth DUI enforcement. Youthful drinking is not a legal activity. As such, it is less likely to occur at bars, restaurants or other traditional drinking places. This means that young drinking drivers are less likely to be found on those roadways leading to and from traditional places.

Youthful drinking occurs in parks, at the beach and in private homes. In rural areas, keg parties might be "out at the lake." These are not the traditional patrol areas for DUI officers. Neighborhoods consisting of private homes are particularly "safe" from DUI patrols. According to Willingham and Doyle, many young drivers expressed the belief that they would never get caught so long as they stayed off the main highways.

The solution to this problem is not as simple as sending the DUI patrols off the main highways and into neighborhoods, Willingham concluded.
