

Armored Column Reopens Highway 4

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—A government armored column smashed through Khmer Rouge positions on Highway 4 today, reopening Phnom Penh's highway to the sea, said the Cambodian general in command.

The Cambodian capital's other major supply road, Highway 5 to the rice belt in the north-west, still was blocked by the insurgents. But a tug pulled 750 tons of ammunition up the Mekong River from South Vietnam without being attacked. It was the second convoy to sail up the river in four days.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas reported from Highway 4 that a dozen armored personnel carriers and some 300 infantrymen pushed through a road crossing at Thnal Toleing, 18 miles west of Phnom Penh, and began patrolling both sides of the highway.

The general commanding the Cambodian force told Faas that the Khmer Rouge insurgents had withdrawn a mile off the road after being pounded with artillery and heavy mortars.

The general said traffic had resumed on the highway and some of the first vehicles moving toward Phnom Penh were ambulances loaded with government soldiers wounded farther down the highway.

Military sources also reported progress on Highway 5. They said a government force had cleared all but two miles of a nine-mile stretch by dusk Monday and were continuing operations to reopen the road.

U.S. sources said that, although Highway 4 to the coast and Highway 5 to the rice belt in northwest Cambodia have been cut since last weekend, they drew off no food emergency in the city swollen by refugees to a population of 1.5 million.

The Americans refused to say whether the U.S. government would fly in food should the situation worsen.

Although the rice supply appeared plentiful for the moment, food prices were increasing. Pork, for example, rose from $1.00 a pound to $1.75, and a 200-pound bag of rice increased $4.

Military sources said government troops had cleared all but about two miles of a nine-mile stretch of Highway 5 by dusk Monday and were continuing operations to reopen the road.

The Cambodian military command reported the village of Kompong Luong, 19 miles northwest of Phnom Penh on Highway 5, was shelled Monday night and 20 persons were wounded.

Cambodia's deposed chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, claimed in Peking that the insurgents now control more than 90 per cent of the country.

Peace Violations Scored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The North Vietnamese have violated peace accords by transgressing the onetime U.S. base at Khe Sanh in South Vietnam into a major military complex, say Pentagon officials.

Defense Department analysts say the Communists have built new roads leading south and west, big storage and repair facilities and restored and enlarged the old air field.

Khe Sanh, they said, is now protected with an air defense shield similar to that surrounding Hanoi.

A new road network along the western side of South Vietnam as well as the revitalization of the Khe Sanh previously have been reported but not in such detail.

two other women also had been sexually assaulted.

Police Commissioner Kurt Lindroth described Olsson and Olofsson as "human beasts." One police official said what was happening in the vault was "the worst we have experienced ever."

The police bugged the 19-by-40-foot vault and were listening in.

The authorities said they had no contact Monday with the hostages. But Police Supt. Aake Ankersson said that, "as far as we can judge, they seem to be in a relatively fair condition under the circumstances."

Olsson, a safecracker who escaped from prison earlier this month, seized the four hostages and holed up with them in the Kreditbanken last Thursday after the police interrupted his attempt to hold up the bank. He demanded $500,000 in ransom and safe conduct out of the country for himself and Olofsson, a friend from prison days.

The government brought Olofsson to the bank and paid Olsson the money but refused to let them get away unless they released the hostages. Olsson, however, insisted on taking two of them with him to insure their escape.

The two convicts and the hostages have been confined inside the bank's vault since Saturday, when police slammed the door while all six were inside.

Operation Swiss Cheese Started

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Stockholm police today drilled more holes in the ceiling of the downtown bank vault in which two convicts were holding three women and a man hostage for the sixth day.

Describing their latest strategy as "Operation Swiss Cheese," the police said they would limit the freedom of movement of gunman Jan-Erik Olsson, a 32-year-old bank robber, and Christer Olofsson, a lifelifter for murder, by exposing them to police sharpshooters. They hoped this pressure eventually would force the men to surrender.

The strategy was not an immediate success. Instead a shot was fired from the vault through one of the new holes, and the bullet went through a policeman's hand and injured his jaw. But his condition was not serious.

He was the second casualty of the siege. Olsson last Thursday wounded another policeman in the hand.

Police spokesmen refused to confirm or deny a report that at least one of the women in the vault had been raped, and one spokesman suggested that Olsson might have given out such a report "to put the police under extra pressure."

Police sources said the eldest of the three women, 31-year-old Birgitta Lundblad, the mother of two small children, had been raped repeatedly. The sources would not say whether the

Forest City Nixes Incorporation Bid

FOREST CITY—This community failed to become Seminole County's eighth city Tuesday when the bid to incorporate failed, and its disgruntled acting mayor threatened to hold into court the state law requiring 50 per cent plus one of the registered voters to approve referendums.

"We (members of the professional city government) will be calling a town meeting to consider court action challenging the requirement that 50 per cent of the voters had to approve the incorporation," Marion Paden said.

"The election means that the 50 per cent of the voters who stayed at home actually voted 'no' by not coming to the polls," Paden said, "and that is not fair to the one-man, one-vote concept. It is a fine government when you can stay home and vote."

Paden said possibly more could have been done to get out the vote, but all the usual procedures were followed—telephone calls, car pools and the mailing of printed literature to all the registered voters.

He said word came toward the end of election day that a whispering campaign was underway by people telling others they were not within the area planned for incorporation and thus should not waste time going to the polls. "Bare-faced lies were told," Paden said, "and names were given, and names were left out."

The Forest City charter adopted by the legislature has a provision that of the 1,855 registered voters, 50 per cent plus one, 629, had to approve the incorporation.

A total of 629—including absentee voters—cast ballots but 100 of those voted 'no,' thus defeating the incorporation.

Mexican Earthquake Death Toll Is At 600

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Torrential rains drenched rescue workers in some parts of southeast Mexico today as they searched for bodies or trapped survivors from the worst earthquake in modern Mexican history.

The quake, coming during the worst rainy season in 30 years, extended a disaster area that already covered much of central Mexico. Seventy-six persons have died in floods in the past month, the homes of more than 400,000 have been damaged and millions of President Luis Echeverria scheduled a bus tour of the devastated area today.

The quake, coming during the worst rainy season in 30 years, extended a disaster area that already covered much of central Mexico. Seventy-six persons have died in floods in the past month, the homes of more than 400,000 have been damaged and millions of dollars worth of crops have been ruined.

The earthquake, which registered 6.5 on the Richter scale, struck at least 24 cities, towns and villages along the Sierra Madre range in the states of Puebla and Veracruz.

In Richter measurements, an earthquake of 7.0 is 10 times more severe than one of 6.0, which is 10 times greater than one of 5.0. That is because the Richter scale measures wave magnitudes and not something like an increase in automobile speed from 60 to 70 miles per hour.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ruling on whether President Nixon must turn over tape recordings demanded by Watergate prosecutors was expected today from a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's decision would wrap up the first round of a historic debate headed for the Supreme Court.

Nixon's lawyer, Charles Alan Wright, and his courtroom adversary, special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, agree that the final decision will influence government and the presidency for years to come.

Cox set the stage for the confrontation when he subpoenaed nine tapes of conversations between the President and a number of White House aides implicated in the Watergate scandal.

The Senate Watergate Committee, whose hearings produced the disclosure that Oval Office conversations had been taped routinely, also has gone to court to seek access to the tapes.

Committee members feel the tapes would shed light on various contradictions in the testimony of key presidential aides who appeared before the panel.

"It's a real mess," said the tapes would be ambiguous.

He has based his refusal to disclose them on the claim of executive privilege—the theory that the President grants a president the right to withhold information if he judges it to be in the national interest.

Death Sentence Ordained For Mayor, A Man's Pet

By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer

Mayor is dead. Only he doesn't know it yet.

Mayor, an elderly Cocker Spaniel mutt, perhaps 9 or 10, or 11—his owner, Malcolm Altman, 1911 Gregory Drive in Seminole County, near Maitland, isn't really sure—will get the word sometime next week.

Then, three Seminole County Commissioners will pronounce sentence on him, and Animal Control Officer Val Hobbas, or perhaps pound officer Sam seem too much like a Kangaroo Court.

At the end of the trial, it all seemed pretty clear cut: Mayor, by all accounts, has bitten onto everyone in the Druid Hills neighborhood.

In fact, he's bitten one child twice, at the second time badly enough to send the youngster to the hospital for nearly 12 stitches.

The outraged parents led the fight for Mayor's execution, garnering affidavits and testimony from Mayor's many victims.

So the evidence seems conclusive, Mayor bites. Everyone he's bitten could be said to have provoked him, so with the law the way it is—well, the commission doesn't have much choice.

Altman says he'll appeal the death sentence, when it comes, to the 18th Judicial Circuit Court.

Of course, Altman also told neighbors he'd keep Mayor inside, and told the commission he'd keep Mayor locked behind a chain-link fence he's going to build.

But it's really too late for all that.

The people have been bitten, and the wheels of justice must turn.

In the old days, he could have been "banished" to the country—or he wasn't already there. But not these days.

So, barring an 11th hour telegram from Mayor, who, by most accounts, is a pretty good dog.

His real master, Mrs. Altman, died in 1971. Mayor guarded her with the fierce protectiveness of a loyal dog on his sovereign territory.

And he now guards Mr. Altman's blind, 85-year-old father. Or he used to. It really isn't his fault. Blame it on Altman. Blame it on his neighbors. Blame it on the commission. Blame it on the 20th Century—it really doesn't matter.

Because no one will be able to explain it to Mayor.

News Digest

FLASH...with all of the voluntary offers of taking a lie detector test emanating from yesterday's county commission meeting between Commissioners Greg Drummend and Altamonte Springs Mayor Lawrence Swafford, I've got news for you.

I have made arrangements for a qualified polygraph operator to take the statements of these two men.

And to make it impartial, I'll be happy to serve as an observer.

Any takers?

Surprise, surprise, surprise...according to the AP the supply of gasoline is improved and threats of service station shutdowns over the Labor Day weekend have evaporated. The American Automobile Association reported.

Does this sound familiar? Wonder what response they would have received by interviewing those independent dealers who were forced to go out of business during this "shortage"?

Shortage Of Beef Is Fading But High Prices May Linger

The scarcity of beef in the supermarkets may be nearing an end, according to an Agriculture Department spokesman. However, meat department managers in most Sanford supermarkets deny these reports but give us no guidelines how we should operate under the controls."

"We've never had much of a problem anyway," said a spokesman for Fairway Meats, while the meat manager at Public Market said, "We've had no shortage, so I can't say the situation is improving. It was never bad."

The meat markets not connected with large supermarket chains tell a different story. They have been short of beef for some weeks now, and are still short. "There are two problems," said a spokesman for Hopkins Meat Packing. "Supplies are short, and when beef is available, prices are too high."

Iowa Meats in Sanford and HI-Flavor Meats Inc. in Oviedo disagreed. Beef is in short supply, but said prices for the bulk product are prohibitive. "The supply is improving all the time," said Iowa Meats representative. "But prices are too high. Farmers are holding back on their meat and will flood the market when the ceiling on beef is removed Sept. 12."

He added after a couple of weeks of high prices he expected the price of beef to drop.

Hi-Flavor Meats owner, Edward Ondick said he cannot afford to buy all the beef he needs, and has curtailed his orders as much as 40 per cent.

"I'm just sitting here waiting for Sept. 12," he said. "This is the most chaos there's been in the meat business for 30 years. I'm disgusted. It's beyond all reason for Nixon to impose these controls but give us no guidelines how we should operate under the controls."

The Agriculture Department verified earlier this month that 70 packing houses were closed. Earlier this week they estimated that fewer than 50 were still closed.

Price controls for all foods except beef were removed July 18. The lid on beef is scheduled to be removed Sept. 12.

In a department report issued Tuesday officials said production of all red meat in July was 2,651 billion pounds, down 5 per cent from June, but about the same as last July.

Other details of the report included:

- Beef output in July was down 3 per cent from June, but about equal to that month a year ago. The January-July output was 4 per cent less than 1971.
- Veal production in July was down 4 per cent from June, and was 27 per cent less than last July. Production in January-July was 27 per cent less than a year ago.
- Pork production declined 11 per cent from June to July, and was down 1 per cent compared with last July. January-July output was down 6 per cent.
- Lamb and mutton production increased 10 per cent from June to July and was 16 per cent above last July. However, January-July production was 5 per cent below last year.

Power Demands Rise With Heat

By BARTON REPPER
Associated Press Writer

Utilities braced for another bout with severe electric power demands today as a wave of hot, muggy air continued to give much of the East Coast and Midwest the miseries.

The New York State Power Pool and other systems were forced to reduce voltage Tuesday when temperatures in the mid to upper 90s caused massive consumption of electricity by air conditioners. Some power failures were reported.

Auto companies closed down several Midwestern plants because of the heat wave, while some 750 sweating workers at two other plants simply walked off their jobs.

New York City suffered through a year-high temperature of 98 degrees as Consolidated Edison reported a record power demand of 8,161 megawatts. The temperature-humidity index hit 85, which a spokesman for the National Weather Service said meant "utter misery."

In Washington, the temperature reached 97 degrees and the capital's metropolitan area was under an air pollution alert for the 17th day this summer. Hot, stagnant air holding pollution over the area was not expected to dissipate before Friday.

A spokesman for the Virginia Electric & Power Co. in Richmond said the utility had an all-time high power demand of 7,100 megawatts on Tuesday.

In the Detroit area, where the temperature reached 96 degrees, union officials prodded Chrysler Corp. into closing its engine and assembly plants in Warren, Mich., and Windsor, Ont., sending 4,700 workers home.

American Motors decided to close down its Kenosha assembly and Milwaukee body plants in Wisconsin as well as a jeep facility in Toledo, Ohio.

At Chrysler truck plants in Windsor and Warren, workers took their own emergency measures and walked out, forcing the plants to close.

Problem Is Cash Gifts, Says Election Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of large amounts of cash for political contributions or to pay campaign expenses should be prohibited, says the head of the government's new federal elections unit.

"The most serious problem is cash," Phillip S. Hughes said in an interview. "It's the only thing that can't be traced." Hughes is director of the Federal Election Commission, which was created by the federal campaign election act went into effect last year.

Hughes' office, part of the General Accounting Office, administers provisions relating to record keeping and reporting in campaigns for president and vice president.

"There's nothing much you can do about (cash) unless someone starts talking," Hughes said. "The law should prohibit any significant cash receipts or expenditures."

Watergate investigations have brought widespread public attention to big transactions in currency during the 1972 presidential campaign, especially by the Committee to Re-Elect the President.

The Senate has passed a campaign practices bill that includes a $100 limit on cash contributions, but its fate is uncertain in the House.

Hughes estimated that he and his staff of about 30 are responsible for checking on some 2,000 registered political committees.

"Of course, a lot of the political committees are hit-and-run operations — many (George) McGovern people, for example, will probably never surface again," Hughes said. "But the party committees, the state central committees and the like are continuing."

The permanent political organizations are likely to be more careful in their record-keeping and other practices now that GAO is looking into their books, he said.

"They'll get serious if they think we're serious," Hughes said. "We had 100,000 pages of records to review and you could probably find some kind of violation on each page."

National News Briefs

National Standard Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennecott Copper Corp. has proposed at a public hearing held by the Environmental Protection Agency a national standard to protect clean air quality.

The proposal was the first of its kind made by an industry representative at the hearings called by EPA in its attempt to determine how to apply a cost-required standard of "no significant deterioration" in existing clean air.

Party Practice Deplored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Les Aspin says he wants to force the Census Bureau to halt its practice of hiring along party lines.

Tuesday, the Wisconsin Democrat released a letter in which Vincent P. Barbara, the agency director, confirmed that Republicans were the first choice when the bureau went looking for census interviewers.

Aspin, calling it "an example of old-time cronism and a rotten spoils system," said he would introduce legislation to outlaw the practice.

New Lobbying Group Formed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new group is lobbying in Washington — the nation's governors, mayors and county executives.

Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington state told the National Press Club Tuesday that officials have formed a coalition to pursue common goals and strengthen their hand in dealings at the national level.

Evans, first chairman of the New Coalition, said states and localities have been "reduced to mere supplicants before the federal Treasury."

Astronauts Focus Scopes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 2 astronauts plan to focus their telescopes on the sun today, concentrating on small bright spots and black holes and explosions in the outer shell of gases.

Eight hours of viewing was scheduled in the attempt to learn the sun's secrets and their effects on the earth. Through Monday, the 32nd day of their 59-day earth-orbiting flight, the crew had logged 139 hours on the telescopes.

Contract Called Mockery

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers negotiators, calling Chrysler Corp.'s contract offer a "mockery," today resume bargaining for an acceptable pact.

Chrysler, singled out by the union as the pace-setter in contract talks with the Big Three automakers, said its offer was within the national government's guidelines that seek to hold hikes of wages and fringe benefits to 6.2 per cent.

A FOUR-WHEELED TWO-WHEELER, you might say, is the love of Mr. and Mrs. Everette Bond in Kansas City, Kan. It never fails to attract attention, they say. Bond joined two bicycles with piping.

Clean Air Protection Proposed By Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennecott Copper Corp. has become the first industry representative at an air pollution hearing to propose a national standard designed to protect clean air quality.

David Swan, vice president of Kennecott, made the proposal Tuesday in the second day of public hearings before the Environmental Protection Agency. The EPA is trying to determine how to apply a cost-required standard of "no significant deterioration" in existing clean air.

EPA has established air pollution levels designed to protect public health and welfare. A federal court, however, has ruled that the agency must go further and set rules to protect air that is cleaner than the standards.

Proposed EPA approach for achieving no significant deterioration range from a nationwide limit on increases of pollution to a policy of "local options" that allow each state to set its own no-deterioration limits.

Several industry spokesmen told the EPA hearing previously they preferred the local option approach or, alternatively, they wanted EPA to rule that no deterioration already was satisfied by the existing standards.

Swan contended that EPA had no power to impose a no-deterioration standard, but he said he agreed that EPA was bound by the court decision to set one.

His endorsement of a nationwide standard is the same general approach favored by some citizen environment groups. But he parted company with the environmentalists and EPA in proposing a more lenient limit.

Auto Price Increases Pending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council may decide within a week whether to grant Chrysler a 4 per cent increase on its new cars, a council spokesman says.

The proposed hikes, ranging from 3 to 4 per cent, would be applied to American Motors' to $105 a model sought by Ford, take effect automatically unless the council vetoes them. General Motors has asked for an increase averaging $102 a model; Chrysler, $70 a model.

Representatives of all four manufacturers, however, have said the increases will be inadequate to meet the increasing costs, and additional hikes may be requested in the near future.

Members of a council hearing board questioned the automakers at a day-long public hearing Tuesday. Ford and General Motors were asked if they still needed the full amounts requested in view of the fact that Chrysler and American Motors had proposed lower increases.

Representatives of both Ford and GM said they would take a "hard look" at the situation for competitive reasons.

This raised the possibility that the council might trim the Ford and GM requests.

Representatives of all four automakers indicated to the council that they would probably seek additional price increases shortly to cover higher labor and materials costs.

Henry W. Welch, vice president for finance of General Motors, said GM has not had a price increase in over a year and a half since December 1971, although such cuts have increased $92 per vehicle on the average.

Crash Kills 24 Americans

MADRID (AP) — A U.S. military cargo plane crashed 40 miles east of Madrid Tuesday night, and the Spanish Air Ministry said 24 of the 28 persons aboard were killed.

The C141 Starliner jet was en route from Athens, Greece, to the U. S. Air Force base at Torrejon, 16 miles east of Madrid.

Spanish news agencies said the sole survivor was 1st Lt. William Ray, 25, a pilot, and that he had a broken leg. He was taken to the Torrejon base hospital, but his home address was not available.

Seventeen passengers and a crew of eight were reported aboard the plane, and there were uncorroborated reports that three women were among the passengers.

U.S. Air Force officials at Torrejon said they had no official word yet on casualties. McGuire Air Force Base said it had no information on the plane.

The plane slammed into the ground about a mile outside the little town of Hueva as the craft was preparing to land at the joint Spanish-American base. Local police said none of the townspeople was affected.

The Air Ministry said the plane crashed after losing contact with the Torrejon control tower. It exploded when it hit the ground and burned, and the ministry said U.S. and Spanish military authorities sealed off the crash site, and American rescue personnel and investigators were sifting through the wreckage today.

The Air Force said in addition to the people aboard, the plane was carrying nearly nine tons of cargo.

The Starliner was attached to the Military Airlift Command. The Air Force said it was that command's first fatal accident since 1969.

Julian was ordered to notify the publication's owners of the council decision in the courts.

Julian said the shopper is taking the position its unrestricted right to deliver without solicitation is guaranteed under the Constitution's freedom of the press provision.

In other business, Harey Chevrolet's low bid of $4,455.75 for two new 1974 model police cruisers was accepted.

Swafford said he would meet today with state Department of Pollution Control officials in Orlando to ask the state agency to lift an order filed against Eatonville banning sewer system tie-ins.

Eatonville, under a contractual arrangement uses the Altamonte sewage treatment plant.

Swafford said the Orange County community has had a septic problem in its sewer lines because of insufficient hookups and allowing additional ones will cause a better flow and solve the problem.

He said the DPC has agreed to allow additional hookups in Altamonte and the city has pledged there will be no further pollution of Spring Lake from the plant.

Representatives of the city's engineering consultants, Glace and Ratchliffe, said plans for expansion of the city's sewage treatment plant into a regional facility will be delivered to the DPC office later this week.

Altamonte Council Actions

City Council allocated federal revenue sharing funds Tuesday night to pay the major portion of construction costs of a new fire house and paving of Longwood Avenue extension when bids were opened for the two projects.

Apparent low bids were $29,995.98 for the fire house, built on Montgomery Avenue, north of SR 435, was $29,995.98. The bids were referred to the public works director, controller and fire chief for study. Their recommendation is expected at next week's meeting.

For the paving of Longwood Avenue extension, south of SR 435, and a portion of Magnolia, the apparent low bidder was Orange Paving and Construction Co., $67,431.80. Recommendations are to be received for action, also next week.

Council decided to add $33,798 in revenue sharing funds to the $11,044 already allocated to pay for the fire station. Revenue sharing funds of $18,193 were pledged toward the paving project.

Mayor Lawrence Swafford reported prospects are favorable that the city will receive county permission to install utility lines in the Douglas Avenue right-of-way.

Swafford said county commissioners will continue discussion of the city's request next week.

Acting City Atty. Ned Julian, asked by the board last week to determine possible court action to force the county to begin planning for the new signal, said the Home Rule Law, effective Oct. 1, allows the city to take easements on the right-of-way for the municipal purpose.

The county several weeks ago denied Altamonte the right-of-way use after complaints that road shoulders were not returned to original condition when the other city installations were made on the road.

Mayor Lawrence Swafford reported prospects are favorable that the city will receive county permission to install utility lines in the Douglas Avenue right-of-way.

Swafford said county commissioners will continue discussion of the city's request next week.

Swafford said the county has instructed County Engineer Bill Bush to request the state Department of Transportation to begin planning for the new signal.

Council agreed to share signal funding with the state and county if the county vetoes the city to annex Orange Road.

The board also voted to ask the county to pay equal costs with the city on the Sanford Avenue paving. The county has offered, Swafford said, to pay $6,300 of the costs with the city on the $9,600 balance. The council said, instead, it wishes to equally divide the costs and the city will do the engineering work.

Altamonte will continue to enforce its ordinance against the unsolicited delivery of leaflets, flyers and other literature, despite the threat of court action by a weekly shopper, councilman said.

Julian was ordered to notify the publication's owners of the council decision in the courts.

Students Facing Milk Price Hike

Seminole County school children this fall will understand why Mom has been complaining about food price increases all summer, when they find a nickel no longer buys an extra half-pint of milk at lunch time. This year the extra half-pint will cost 15 cents.

The dime increase is due to elimination of milk subsidies for schools with federally subsidized lunch programs.

Seminole County public schools have federally subsidized lunch programs.

"The children will still get milk with their regular lunches," explained Mrs. Mary Whitmore, director of county school food services. "But the child who buys only milk, or wants extra milk with his lunch, will have to pick up the difference between what we pay for the milk and the subsidy."

She said a pending Senate bill supports reinstatement of the subsidy, and another bill in the House would cut it off. A joint committee has been formed and a $97 million allocation is pending the outcome of conference efforts.

The U.S. Agriculture Department says lack of congressional funding is forcing elimination of the milk subsidy. Milk subsidy programs for 40 million school children across the nation are being cancelled.

Six million children will continue to benefit from milk subsidies because their schools don't have federally subsidized lunch programs.

Seminole Rejects Joining CALNO

Seminole County commissioners Tuesday night rejected joining the Central Florida Regional Planning Council — urging CALNO to join and participate in the council's activities.

The commission delayed for one week consideration of amendments requested by Central Florida Zoological Park official G.W. Plank, but did authorize the preliminary construction step of fill dirt on the Lake Monroe site's access road.

Blake, obviously upset as he left the room, had pleaded in vain for the second week that his requested amendments would not diminish county control of the park, since the parks committee and planner Robert Nelwander must approve each contract as it comes up.

Blake said he wants to save time by avoiding "rumormongering" to the commission on his special detail, but the board and Assistant County Atty. Howard Marsee feared the amendments were too broad and asked for another week's study.

CALNO, formed in 1971, recently spent $25,000 on a study of the county's regional sewer and water report, but disappointed Casselberry city councilmen Monday night discovered the report will not be accepted by any state or federal agency as the basis for funding.

Hostage Tells Of Terror

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A woman held hostage for two days said she almost had a heart attack when she was taken to a rooming house by her captor but didn't have the nerve to stab him when he turned his back to her. "I was going to stab him, but I could never get up the nerve," Carol Parker said after she and her friend, Patricia Waagraft, were found Tuesday by police who followed a trail of footprints four miles through woods to the gunman's home. Mrs. Parker said her estranged second husband, accused of abducting the two women and killing Joale Welvert, told her, "If you do anything wrong, Theresa (her daughter) won't have a mother."

A police team tracked her husband, Jack Knight, 28, of Orlando, and his captives deep into the woods of southwest Orange County in Central Florida, officers said.

Officers said Knight had a starter pistol trained on Mrs. Parker, 26, and Mrs. Waagraft, 33, while police approached. Neither woman knew the pistol could fire only blanks, police said.

But they said Knight was in a trance-like state and put up no resistance when he was seized and the women released unharmed.

Board 'Saddened' Day Care Site Disapproved

By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer

The problems of working mothers came before Seminole County commissioners Tuesday night, and while the board did its best, it reluctantly upheld the zoning board of adjustment's veto of a special exception for a child day care center.

"For the first time since I've been on the board, it really saddens me to recommend against a zoning request," said Commissioner Dick Williams, who cited problems with roads, water, sewage and lot size as too large to overcome.

Williams' grief was caused by the proposed "Child's World," which two former county school teachers wanted to place on a remote agricultural tract east of Moultrieville Road near Altamonte Springs.

Although Mrs. Mary Self and Mrs. Patricia Green said they had been directed to the site by county zoning staff, after repeated failures to find property in Sanford and other areas, the board breeded warnings by protesting neighbors that a well and septic tank would be needed, and that no paved roads existed to serve the estimated 50 children and 30 automobiles arriving each day.

The two teachers and their attorney, Vernon Mize, cited what they called "the overwhelming need to provide pre-school children with learning and not just baby sitting," noting studies showing children's IQ's are primarily developed before they reach school age.

The workers presented statistics claiming that with a population of 180,000, some 80 per cent of the work-age women in Seminole County actually hold jobs—yet there are only 25 day care centers to serve them.

The statistics were endorsed by Seminole Junior College professor Eleanor Houston, who said she teaches a course in which part of the class assignment is to perform work in the county's day care centers.

"The information I receive is frustrating, and the jury must do something," Ms. Houston said, adding "with today's inflation and meat prices, how many ladies can afford to stay home?"

Calling most county day care centers overcrowded and understaffed, Ms. Houston said her students had discovered one center that has no hot water, and another where two women try to handle 80 children.

She called for tighter county scrutiny of licensing procedures, and Commissioner John Kimbrough said "the county is at fault in not enforcing adequate ratios."

Caught in what Assistant County Atty. Howard Narsoe called a "legal merry-go-round," he felt prevented the board from granting a lot size variance in order to allow a septic tank special exception, but the board reluctantly rejected what he took pains to call "an outstanding presentation."

Commissioners promised to help the women find another location and noted Sweetwater Oaks planner David Faye has stepped forward to see if something can be worked out. The Sweetwater Oaks Civic Association had joined other groups in endorsing the center.

City Agrees To Continue Fire Service

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—The city council Tuesday night agreed to continue fire protection to the Suburban Fire Control District for one more year at a fee of $9 million, or between $40,000 and $50,000.

But with Chairman Tom Pratt representing the district council, he said, he said also some thought should be given to building a third firehouse either in the Lotus Lake or Orlando Road sections.

Pratt said he has been told "whenever the district commissioners recommend to the county will be accepted."

A public hearing has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday by the fire district commissioners to hear the views of the public on fire protection.

Altamonte To Defend Ordinance

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—Acting City Atty. Ned Julian was instructed by the city council Tuesday night to appear in circuit court Thursday to defend the city in a lawsuit challenging a section of the new zoning ordinance.

Julian urged the action although no member of the city government had been served notice of the suit for the hearing scheduled for Thursday morning.

Julian said he learned through the grapevine of the hearing wherein a temporary injunction is being sought against the city and defense of the suit would be made easier by an appearance in court.

The suit, filed by Roll-A-Sign Inc. and its president, Robert J. Riley, asks that the city be prohibited from enforcing the section of the ordinance banning portable and trailer signs.

Sewage Injunction Is Filed

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

A couple who say their home was flooded by raw sewage has filed suit in circuit court for a temporary injunction to force the City of Caselberry to insure sewage backups in homes and alleged pollution of Lake Tripplett won't run.

No hearing date has been set on the suit, assigned to Circuit Court Judge J. William Woodson.

The action, filed by Sanford attorney Kenneth Laffer for Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Woodruff, of 41 N. Lake Tripplett Drive, also seeks a permanent injunction requiring Caselberry to relocate a sewer lift station.

The suit alleges raw sewage backed up in the Woodruff residence, the district court records show, in late Trippelet June 28.

The suit alleges the city failed to maintain a standby power generator and failed to repair an alarm system designed to signal lift station malfunctions.

The request for permanent injunction seeks to have the court require the city relocate the lift station and modify or reconstruct it to the extent found necessary by the court to prevent further contamination, damages and injuries.

Attack Victim In Coma

MIAMI (AP) — A 21-year-old British girl remained in a coma today three weeks after a dream vacation in the United States ended when she was attacked and beaten in a room at a downtown Miami bus station.

Helen Evans, a history student at Leeds University, England, was on a bus bound for the United States with her fiancé, John Penniket, 22, of Eastbourne, England. The tour was advertised in Britain as "The American Adventure."

"Helen always wanted to visit the United States and worked in the evenings as a waitress to pay for the trip, which was part of her 21st birthday present," said Jack Evans, 45, an engineer from Kegworth, Derbyshire. He flew to Miami with his wife, Elizabeth, to keep a vigil at their daughter's bedside.

Doctors said Miss Evans may have suffered brain damage when her attacker kicked her head with heavy-soled shoes.

The Evanses said they worry about the mounting medical costs and the welfare of three younger daughters who remained in Derbyshire.

Taxes Protested

LANYANA, Fla. (AP) — Some 300 residents of this Palm Beach County town have protested taxes by holding a tea dumping party.

They dressed like Indians Tuesday night and pitched tea bags into the Atlantic Ocean.

"This time we're protesting taxation with representation," said one demonstrator.

Palm Beach officials recently reassessed Lantana properties and owners face land tax hikes ranging from 20 to 100 per cent.

Insurance Broadened

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Tom O'Malley says all companies writing automobile insurance in Florida must offer uninsured motorist coverage to their policyholders.

But O'Malley told the companies in a bulletin issued Tuesday that purchase of the coverage is not mandatory by policyholders.

The commissioner said the 1973 legislature changed uninsured motorist coverage to include underinsured motorist coverage.

Lending Boosts Hit

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State Comptroller Fred O. "Bud" Dickinson says the federal government to disapprove his prime lending rates by large northern banks.

"Federal approval was justified in the past as a valid method of stopping the flow of American dollars to Europe and stabilizing the dollar abroad," Dickinson said Tuesday.

"In view of the success of this plan, expressed in the most recent report on the dollar situation in Europe, the recent hikes seem unnecessary at this time. I would hope federal authorities would disapprove them," he added.

Universities To Change, Seek Funds

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Six state universities are seeking permission to reorganize their staffs and place more emphasis in getting money through private donations.

The proposals to change titles or add positions will come before the Board of Regents at its meeting next Wednesday at Florida International University in Miami, regents corporate secretary Hendrix Chandler said Tuesday.

"The changes indicate they plan to intensify their fund raising from private sources to improve the quality of education," Chandler said.

He pointed out that northern and midwestern universities have gone to private donors for years while it was not done as much in the south.

The regents also will be asked to approve a $442.8 million budget request for the 1974-75 school year, a 16.7 per cent increase over the current budget.

Chandler said the increase was 7 per cent for inflation and salary increases, 5.6 per cent for increase in students and 4.13 per cent for needed improvements.

The student population is expected to increase 4.5 per cent, a drop from the peak growth of 1969.

The proposals for reorganization are:

- The University of Florida seeks a vice president for development and alumni affairs to replace the position of special assistant to the president for alumni and development services.
- Florida State University wants to replace the position of assistant to the president with the naming of a vice president for university relations.
- South Florida wants two title changes: director of administrative services to vice president of administration and vice president for administrative affairs to vice president for finance and planning.

Final Arguments To Start In '8' Trial

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Gainesville Eight defendants, so confident that the government failed to prove its conspiracy case against them that they called only one witness, protested prosecution tactics as both sides prepared today for their final arguments Thursday.

The case, charging seven members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War with plotting violent disruptions during the 1972 Republican National Convention, is expected to go to the jury late Thursday or early Friday after about a month of testimony.

An eighth VVAW member charged with not reporting the alleged conspiracy to authorities.

Defense lawyers Tuesday called an explosives expert as their single witness then rested their case. They had been expected to take several weeks.

Also Tuesday, U.S. District Judge Winston E. Arnoff told prosecutor Jack Carroth to turn over to the defense today the last of a thick file of FBI and Justice Department reports on contacts with paid informer William Lemmer.

"According to the Jencks Act, we should of had that material Aug. 16," defense attorney Morton Stavits told the judge.

The Jencks law and a U.S. Supreme Court decision requires prosecutors to furnish the defense with copies of FBI and Justice Department interviews with witnesses.

The defense was given the right to recall Lemmer but indicated it would not do so.

"We wanted to cross-examine Mr. Lemmer when he testified two or three weeks ago," Stavits said. "We don't want to be in a position of calling Mr. Lemmer — who the government considers its strongest witness — as the last witness to be heard by the jury."

"We understand something about the strategy of this trial," Stavits added. "The fact that the government can compel us to call Mr. Lemmer as the last witness is compelling us to play a strategy solely in the interest of the government."

Lemmer, who posed as a VVAW leader while reporting on the group's plans, was one of seven informers among 27 government witnesses. The defense contends the informers were "agents provocateur" who urged violence.

The lone defense witness was Dr. Steven Stettinman of Denver, Colo., a research chemist and explosives expert. He testified that a mixture of potassium permanganate and glycerin in a two-ounce medicine bottle was not an incendiary device or a bomb.

The government called it both a incendiary device and a bomb.

Defendant Stanley J. Michelson, 23, of Gainesville, is charged with failing to report the seven.

in charging that seven defendants planned to use such devices, along with other weapons, to disrupt convention activities.

Death By Alligator Results In Suit

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The father of 16-year-old Sharon Lawson, suing Florida and concessionaires at a state park for $4.5 million, claiming their negligence resulted in an alligator's fatal attack on his daughter.

The teenage was mauled to death by a 10-foot alligator while swimming with her father at Oscar Scherer State Park in what game officials said was the first documented case of such a death in American history.

Brunton Holmes filed suit Tuesday in Sarasota County Circuit Court.

He asks for $3 million from the Florida Department of Natural Resources for allowing swimming in a lake "in the swampy area of the park which was the natural habitat for the dangerous alligators."

Holmes said the practice of allowing swimming was started by Restaurant Associates, which developed the park's recreation facilities. He's asking $1 million damages from them for commercializing the park.

Holmes also seeks $500,000 from Hugh Lawson, operator of a concession which sells food to visitors and employs to feed the alligators. He cited that as further negligence.

Bankruptcy Referee Alexander Paskay suspended initial proceedings Aug. 8 when attorneys representing disgruntled creditors failed to agree on a slate of plaintiffs to work out a plan of restitution.

Koscot Creditors Try To Recoup

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Attorneys for an estimated 80,000 creditors of Koscot Interplanetary Inc. met in Federal Bankruptcy Court today in a second attempt to pick a committee to settle debts against the cosmetics firm founded by business tycoon Glenn W. Turner.

Koscot has filed a petition asking to continue in business in Sarasota while settlement is worked out. The firm lists more than $26 million in liabilities.

Turner meanwhile will be meeting with lawyers to prepare a defense in his mail fraud trial, scheduled to begin in federal court in Orlando on Sept. 10.

"There's no reason why Mr. Turner should have to be at the bankruptcy court hearing," said Turner aide Tom Bush, Bush said Turner is living modestly in a two-bedroom apartment in the shadows of his uncompleted $3.5 million castle.

"He works with attorneys in the criminal case about 12 hours a day," Bush said. "That's all he does."

FDLE Gets Troelstrup As Chief

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — William Troelstrup has been named acting director of the Florida Law Enforcement Department to serve until a permanent successor to Bill Reed is named.

Reed, 37, resigned Tuesday to become executive assistant to FBI Director Clarence Kelley, the first personal aide the new director has hired. The resignation is effective Sept. 6.

Troelstrup, like Reed, has been with the department since it was formed in 1967. He now is operations division director.

Gov. Reubin Askew said a permanent director will be named "within a few weeks," his appointment requires Cabinet approval.

Askew's press secretary, Don Pride, said a number of names have been discussed but that Askew has not indicated a choice.

Possibilities mentioned for the $29,000-a-year post include Edward Austin of Jacksonville, a former state attorney; Sterling Malcolm Beard of Hillsborough County and Melvin Colman of Orange County; and Edgar Dunn, Askew's general counsel. However, Dunn has resigned effective next month to return to private law practice in Daytona Beach.

Especially In Russia

U.S. Shoppers Interested In Harvests

Failures in a series of "five-year-plans" to get the Soviet Union's agricultural production in gear to meet the Russian people's demand for bread has been credited with the faltering advance in the spread of communism.

And the average U.S. citizen in past years has taken the news of Soviet crop disasters with little concern for the dampening effect they have on the Kremlin's celebrated economic plan.

But the 1973 harvest on the remote Russian steppes and the prospects for the grain crops in China, the Soviet Union's estranged Communist comrade, have taken on a new significance for Americans nervous under Phase 4.

Reports that abundant harvests will be reaped in both countries bring a measure of cheer to U.S. consumers who face the dreary promise of an 18 to 20 per cent rise in food prices as a direct result of a worldwide demand for American agricultural products.

U.S. grain dealers still smarting from criticism of last year's huge sales to Russia that helped drive the price of wheat to $4 a bushel, are unlikely to repeat the runaway shipments.

But the world must be fed and the American farmer has no lack of foreign markets for products that, because of the decline in value of the U.S. dollar, are bargains in Europe and Asia.

The "round-the-clock roar of combines in Russian wheat fields and the laborious harvest of rice, corn and soybeans in Red China's northern provinces will not close the gap between the global search for more and better food and the supply.

They will, however, ease somewhat the pressures on U.S. productivity, which even with government restrictions removed falls far short of meeting demands.

Other Thoughts

Talk about killjoys, the nation's largest parking meter manufacturer has put on the market a new kind of meter to foil motorists looking for a parking space with unexpired time left on the meter.

The Maximum Revenue Producer (MRP) indicates for only three minutes how much time is purchased. After that, the time indicator disappears from view. Consequently, a would-be freeloader is unable to tell if a meter has two minutes or two hours remaining.

It doesn't matter much here, though. The way parking spaces are grabbed up, we'd settle for an empty spot, with or without time on the meter.—Nashville (Tenn.) Banner

The scarcity of grain has not only driven up the price of flour, bread and cereal, but has created higher prices for products dependent on feed grains. Milk, butter, meat, cheese, eggs and even the leather for belts and shoes already have been subjected to price hikes because of crop failures in remote areas of the world.

The signals of a successful harvest in Russia and Red China will not, of course, ease the pain Americans feel in paying $1 a dozen for eggs or $1.40 for a pound of bacon. Nor will they relieve the genuine shortages of beef predicted for the future.

There is an old truism that every farmer, by necessity, has to be a gambler. The history of our government's farm programs is one of trying one formula or another to reduce that gamble, especially when over-production can drive prices down to a point that a grover cannot recover his costs. Subsidies have made the taxpayer a generous partner in covering the farmer's losses, and the new "target price" concept is simply a new set of terms for that partnership. When wheat, for instance, makes it inevitable retreat in price, the taxpayer stands ready to make up the difference if it falls too low.

What makes this a significant moment for the farmer and the taxpayer, then, is not so much the new price support mechanism but the new set of goals governing the market.

Indeed, Colson charged Dean with his own cover-up. Colson asserted that he sent a memo to Dean outlining some incriminating evidence. "Dean came to Colson that day or the next day and told him to destroy this copy of it because it implores (Nixon campaign Deputy Job) Magruder," recorded the summary.

Colson denied that he destroyed the document. "I did not destroy it," he said. "The document goes on to say that I told Dean and Ehrlichman about his talk with Dean."

The handsome Dean also ordered Watergate consultant Howard Hunt out of the country after the Watergate break-in, according to a Hunt conversation with Colson's secretary. In the same conversation, Colson reported, Hunt said that "the big toy" — presumably former Attorney General John Mitchell — demanded they go through with the Watergate operation. Mitchell has denied similar charges by others.

Moments of Contrition
Missing from Colson's talk with the staffers is one harsh tone that was his hallmark at the White House. There appear to be moments of contrition in his argument, some of the same which already have been revealed.

I approved two ads which were worked up and presented to me for approval and I possibly contributed something to the ads," he conceded. "The two ads used names of persons without their permission to attack opponents of the White House Indochina policy."

At another point, he admitted that "Hunt came to me and said he had some information with regard to Chappaquiddick... and I told him to get it. It did not turn out to be anything significant."

"Hunt," he went on, "made only two trips at my request, one was for the Chappaquiddick papers and the other was to Denver to interview Dita Beard," whose famous memo tied a huge IIT anti-trust settlement to a $400,000

As every good advertising man knows, the way to sell something is to drape an attractive woman over, under, around or through it.

This technique, theory has it works with cars, shaving cream, whisky, furniture, clothes — everything this side of barbed wire (and there is probably a way to drape an attractive woman around barbed wire, too).

So our newspaper and magazine ads, billboards and television commercials are liberally seasoned with extraneous, plasticly attractive women who really have nothing to do with whatever it is they are selling.

This phenomenon is not exactly a tribute to the American people's intelligence but it has been around so long now we have come to expect it, like the tasteless pickle on a drive-in hamburger. And there is a certain extent to which anyone who is influenced by or not by a product by such irrelevantities deserves what he gets.

But a new book by a Canadian journalism professor, William Bryan Iley of the University of Western Ontario, "Subliminal Seduction," suggests that there is something more to all this than meets the eye. Or more accurately, that there is something more to it than that there is something more.

Key argues that advertisers deliberately and with greed beforehand place all kinds of sexual symbols in their ads. "The better to loosen our fists' grip on their dollars."

SUN CITY CENTER, Fla (AP) — Every year thousands of young people from all over America migrate to New York City, hoping to find fame or fortune in the nation's largest metropolis. Jerry Gould, a native New Yorker, reversed the trend. He left Manhattan because he could no longer stand it, found opportunity in Florida, and now is one of the country's largest home builders. "I simply got tired of being pushed about and intimidated in New York," he remarked. "The people who like it feel it's the best place in the world to be, but I feel sorry for them. There are a lot of cultural advantages in the big city, but I resent the fact that most of the people who live there don't make enough money to enjoy them. Unless you have money in New York, where's the fun? "That isn't true in Florida, and other parts of the country. Here you don't have to be rich to play a little golf, go fishing, or just sit and enjoy the climate." It wasn't sour grapes that led next few months or the susceptibility of Americans to fancied shortages such as brought a frantic run on rice in San Francisco's Chinatown. But increased production abroad will help. Americans, long accustomed to ample supplies of good food at prices within the reach of everyone, are experiencing a hard economic lesson. The spiraling prices deployed at home are bargains to foreign shoppers who are competing for the food from American farms.

Farm Subsidies Remain
New Program Is Disappointing

With wheat selling at an unheard-of $5 a bushel it seems like an odd time for the government to be a gambler. The history of about the income of the American farmer. Yet the farm bill which President Nixon signed into law the other day extends for another four years the obligation of the taxpayer to protect the farmer from the whipsaw of prices.

With new markets opening for American farm products abroad and the prospect of vigorous demand for any surplus our farmers can produce, this looked like an auspicious time for the government to cut agricultural losses from the controls and subsidies which have harassed it for 40 years. Unfortunately, the new farm program developed by Congress achieves much less.

True, the subsidies which cost the taxpayer $4 billion in 1972 and will cost about $2 billion this year are being abandoned. Yet the new "target price" formula — with prices farmers against losses if prices decline below a level set by Congress could cost as much or even more. It all depends on the kind of uncertainty that so farmer and no government can ever master.

The new farm program still leaves Uncle Sam a passenger on the farmer's tractor. The impact on the federal budget, however, depends less on the terms of the new program than on the vicissitudes of Nature and other conditions that affect the world market for foodstuffs as well as on the way our far-prices down to a point that a grover cannot recover his costs. Subsidies have made the taxpayer a generous partner in covering the farmer's losses, and the new "target price" concept is simply a new set of terms for that partnership. When wheat, for instance, makes it inevitable retreat in price, the taxpayer stands ready to make up the difference if it falls too low.

What Colson Told Ervin Staffers
by Jack Anderson
WASHINGTON — Former White House aide Charles Colson secretly told the Senate Watergate committee a tale that meshes closely with those of his ex-colleagues John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman. We have one of the closely guarded summaries of Colson's closed door interview with committee staffers in preparation for his testimony next month and have verified its authenticity with Colson. In it, the brisk, buccannery Colson sided with the White House Hans-and-Fritz team and painted a slippery picture of former president Richard Nixon's cover-up efforts. Colson deeply implicated himself or indicate that President Nixon knew of the Watergate cover-up as Dean has charged. Indeed, Colson charged Dean with his own cover-up. Colson asserted that he sent a memo to Dean outlining some incriminating evidence. "Dean came to Colson that day or the next day and told him to destroy this copy of it because it implores (Nixon campaign Deputy Job) Magruder," recorded the summary. Colson denied that he destroyed the document. "I did not destroy it," he said. "The document goes on to say that I told Dean and Ehrlichman about his talk with Dean."

The handsome Dean also ordered Watergate consultant Howard Hunt out of the country after the Watergate break-in, according to a Hunt conversation with Colson's secretary. In the same conversation, Colson reported, Hunt said that "the big toy" — presumably former Attorney General John Mitchell — demanded they go through with the Watergate operation. Mitchell has denied similar charges by others.

Moments of Contrition
Missing from Colson's talk with the staffers is one harsh tone that was his hallmark at the White House. There appear to be moments of contrition in his argument, some of the same which already have been revealed.

I approved two ads which were worked up and presented to me for approval and I possibly contributed something to the ads," he conceded. "The two ads used names of persons without their permission to attack opponents of the White House Indochina policy."

At another point, he admitted that "Hunt came to me and said he had some information with regard to Chappaquiddick... and I told him to get it. It did not turn out to be anything significant."

"Hunt," he went on, "made only two trips at my request, one was for the Chappaquiddick papers and the other was to Denver to interview Dita Beard," whose famous memo tied a huge IIT anti-trust settlement to a $400,000

As every good advertising man knows, the way to sell something is to drape an attractive woman over, under, around or through it.

This technique, theory has it works with cars, shaving cream, whisky, furniture, clothes — everything this side of barbed wire (and there is probably a way to drape an attractive woman around barbed wire, too).

So our newspaper and magazine ads, billboards and television commercials are liberally seasoned with extraneous, plasticly attractive women who really have nothing to do with whatever it is they are selling.

This phenomenon is not exactly a tribute to the American people's intelligence but it has been around so long now we have come to expect it, like the tasteless pickle on a drive-in hamburger. And there is a certain extent to which anyone who is influenced by or not by a product by such irrelevantities deserves what he gets.

But a new book by a Canadian journalism professor, William Bryan Iley of the University of Western Ontario, "Subliminal Seduction," suggests that there is something more to all this than meets the eye. Or more accurately, that there is something more to it than that there is something more.

Key argues that advertisers deliberately and with greed beforehand place all kinds of sexual symbols in their ads. "The better to loosen our fists' grip on their dollars."

The Florida Housing Act of 1972 provides for the establishment of a council to assist the Department of Community Affairs in the preparation of the Governor's Annual Housing Goals Report to the Legislature. Thomas Wilson, III, executive director of the Sanford Housing Authority and County Housing Authority has been appointed to the Council on State Housing Goals, to be chaired by Jay Janis of Miami.

The purpose of the council is to assist the department in developing the statistics, analysis, and recommendations that shape the state's housing policy. The council is to assist in setting reasonable housing goals for the state and in making recommendations for additional legislative or administrative action required to achieve those goals.

PHILADELPHIANS VISIT
Dr. Jeremiah A. Wright of Philadelphia, pastor of Grace Missionary Baptist Church, Germantown and his wife, Dr. Mary Henderson Wright, vice principal of Philadelphia High School for Exceptional Girls, were the houseguests of Mrs. Bertha Smith Valentine. While in the city the Wrights worshipped at the St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church and visited Bok Tower, Grand Masterpiece Gardens. After their visit here they will attend the Lott Carey Missionary Baptist Convention, where they are both leaders.

JUNIOR CHOR CELEBRATES
The New Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Junior Choir celebrated its anniversary with many choirs from around the city joining in this spiritual feast. Miss Mary Liggins served as mistress of ceremonies. Miss Adolene Perry is president; Mrs. Fannie Bagley, director; Mrs. Zilla M. Liggins, pianist and Rev. James Lynn, pastor.

A low-key, intellectualized auto show
The street from its future home. It is a low-key, intellectualized counterpoint to a 2,000 visitor a month, only a fourth of what Fischer would like to have. He admits that EFC is losing money now and is likely to keep doing so for a while. But he still radiates optimism, publicly at least.

One reason for the optimism is that the center has raised acceptance in some influential areas. Marguerite Bloch, a former elementary school principal and EFC educational director, has persuaded the Chicago public school system and the Chicago archdiocese parochial schools to send pupils to the center's model "environmental" classrooms.

Dr. Paul Salmon, executive secretary of the American Association of School Administrators, adds: "The question is whether the manufacturers will have enough reason to keep their materials there when the number of people who can come to look at it is limited. If you're interested in education, you can go around to schools in your geographic area and see what is available that way.

President Nixon
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon went for another drive on the California freeways, accompanied by his wife, Pat, and daughter, Tricia Nixon Cox. Escorted by two Secret Service cars, the Nixons stopped Tuesday for an hour at Red Beach inside the Camp Pendleton Marine base.

Barbara Eden
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Barbara Eden has filed for a divorce from her husband of 15 years, actor Michael Ansara. In the suit filed Tuesday in Superior Court, Miss Eden asked for custody of their 7-year-old son Matthew and child support and alimony from Ansara.

Abbie Hoffman
NEW YORK (AP) — Abbie Hoffman, a founder of the Youth International Party (Yippies), has been charged with selling $500,000 worth of cocaine to plain-clothes policemen here. Police said Hoffman, another man and two women were arrested Tuesday "without any incidents or any struggle" after they sold the three pounds of cocaine in a room at the Diplomat Hotel on West 43rd Street.

Henry Kissinger
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger has canceled plans for a trip to Europe in September. A White House spokesman said Tuesday that Kissinger had withdrawn his acceptance of an invitation to address the Atlantic Treaty Organization in Brussels on Sept. 10 because of "demands on his time."

Worry Clinic
Dela's packed church crowd of women listened most attentively to an hour's discussion of love problems. These ranged from the confusion of sexual infatuation with "true love" (as shown by Dickens' Sidney Carton) to parental, religious and altruistic love.

Love vs. Sex
The sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church was packed. When she pleaded not to be humiliated by being sent out upon the main street in her disheveled condition, he called his servants, telling them to put her out of the house "and bolt the door after her."

Dear Abby

Is a 73-year-old swinger harmless?

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I recently became very much attracted to a gentleman who proudly admits to being 73. He's a swinger, but this man leaves me in the dust when it comes to dancing, tennis, golf, and any other physical exercise you can name.

JOYCE

DEAR JOYCE: If you mean what I think you mean, if he's "harmless" he won't be able to do you any good. But whether he can do you any good without going to any harm will depend on YOUR condition.

POLLY'S POINTERS She's Aggravated

By Polly Cramer
DEAR POLLY — An annoyance before breakfast is twice as bad as one later in the day. Many cereal boxes really annoy me. My Pet Peeve is that the print on such boxes is so colorful and large on the broad side that it can be read from the far side of the supermarket, but a bifocal look at the top of the box reveals the small print which the boxes like to stud with the narrow ends to the front, presents only a mass of small print and often no names at all.

Working Woman

DEAR POLLY — When making a pair of pants or a skirt, sew a small tab of contrasting color material on the inside back seam about three inches from the top. This makes it very handy to quickly determine the front and back when getting dressed. Not only is this good for adults, but also a great help when used for children's clothes. TOO — ONE WHO LOVES TO SEW.

The GAO: More Than Bookkeepers Checking Audits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office has come a long way since the days when its auditors spent more of their time checking government ledgers to make sure the taxpayers' money was being spent properly.

The GAO still has plenty of accounts on its payroll. And it still keeps a close eye on government spending.

But the congressional watchdog agency tries to do much more.

"We are trying to make our work more relevant to the congressional intent," says Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats, who has headed the agency since 1966.

"We are trying to look into the question whether programs are working or not, getting into program effectiveness, program evaluation," says the 59-year-old Kansas-born Ph. D. air career public servant.

The 3,100 professionals on the GAO staff include lawyers, engineers, industrial management specialists, business administration graduates, statisticians, actuaries, systems analysts and computer experts.

There is even one medical doctor because some of the most expensive programs GAO checks on are in the health field. The agency also has a number of consultants on call for specialized inquiries.

The increasingly varied professional staff gives a measure of how widely GAO's activities have spread beyond the old assignment of auditing the books and making sure the dollars appropriated were spent for designated purposes and no other.

During one recent month, chosen at random, GAO sent 27 reports to Congress. Among the titles:

—Progress and problems in achieving objectives of the school lunch program.

—Need for improved controls for identifying and correcting safety defects on light aircraft.

—Need for improved consumer protection in interstate and land sales.

—Social Services: do they help welfare recipients achieve self-support or reduced dependency?

—The federal catalog program: progress and problems in attaining a uniform identification system for supplies.

—Progress and problems of U.S. assistance for land reform in Vietnam.

—Extent of cost growth and delays in construction programs of the Department of Defense.

—Opportunities for improving the Atomic Energy Commission's administration of agreements with states regulating users of radioactive materials.

TWO GREAT-TASTING DINNERS COOKED SKILLET-EASY

Grandma's cooking was 'n' all back-breaking effort and stacks of pots and pans to wash. When Grandma felt like getting away from it all, she 'n' just made one of her fabulous skillet concoctions, and had only one pot to wash after dinner.

That style of cooking is enjoying a revival. And isn't it about time? In these busy days, it makes so much sense to combine all the parts of a meal—vege-tables and meat—in one savory dish. It eases the anxiety of having to watch the time on each part of the meal, and get it all to the table at once, hot and fresh. Then, too, skillets can wait on the range if a family member is detained, and suffer not at all in flavor.

A wonderful example of this old-fashioned style of cooking is Hot Potato Salad and Knockwurst Skillet Dinner. Even its name sounds savory. This is the genuine article—piquant hot potato salad nuzzled by thick slices of knockwurst or frankfurters. The flavor of the dish is deliciously enhanced by the addition of Ac'cent, the natural substance that brings out the deep-down essence of flavor in meats and vegetables.

Another time and work-saving scheme that doesn't skimp on flavor and goodness is Quick Skillet Dinner. This has an amazingly quick cooking time because it is made with thin strips of chicken breast which have been boned and skinned previous to cooking. Frozen peas take care of the vegetable in this dish, and the delicious mixture is served on hot cooked rice.

Your skillet and these savory recipes help you to cope with a shrinking time budget.

HOT POTATO SALAD AND KNOCKWURST SKILLET DINNER

- 8 slices bacon
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 4 1/2 teaspoons flour
- 4 1/2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2-3rd cup vinegar
- 2-3rd cup water
- 4 medium potatoes, cooked, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch slices
- 2 cups shredded lettuce (optional)
- 3 frankfurters or 6 frankfurters, cut into 1/2-inch slices
- 2 cups shredded lettuce

In large skillet cook bacon until lightly browned; remove and crumble. Pour off half of the bacon drippings. Heat remaining drippings; add onion and cook until tender. Blend in flour; cook 1 or 2 minutes. Add sugar, Ac'cent, salt, pepper, vinegar and water. Stir over medium heat until sauce boils and thickens slightly. Add potatoes and knockwurst; mix well and heat through. Stir in lettuce and crumbled bacon.

YIELD: 4 servings.

Codfish Popular

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

It is delightful the way certain foods are described in literature. For example, cod is called a "salt-water fish with a very low social rating" in one tome although it is considered one of the most important of commercial fish. Depending upon how it is cooked, cod can be good or gagging. In today's market, its price is right. Try Cod Fish Balls or Cod Fish Cakes with a Spicy Tomato Sauce as a taste change and to ease the budget.

CODFISH is being rediscovered by many people who once believed the fish to be lacking in class. At one time cod was the most important commercial fish.

Stewed Hens Have Great Flavor

Stewed hens offer a diversion in recipe planning and good eating, too. But may be most important, they are economical. Besides, stewing these type chickens are delicious in a Chicken-in-a-Curry or in Brunswick Stew.

For the large family, a church, covered-dish supper and for the hunting camp cook, Brunswick Stew is the ideal dish. This recipe will make two palmas of stew-plenty for the heavy-eaters.

1 stewing hen
1 quart cold water
salt
1/2 teaspoon whole black peppercorns
6 cups raw potatoes, diced
2 cups onions, sliced
4 cups fresh peas

4 cups fresh tomatoes, chopped
4 cups butterbeans
4 cups fresh corn, cut off the cob
2 1/2 oz. bottles ketchup
1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper

Wash and prepare hen; place in a 8 to 10 quart kettle with water, salt and peppercorns. Cover and cook slowly for approximately three hours or until meat falls off bones. Remove and discard bones. Cut chicken into cubes and return to stock.

Vegetables, ketchup, and Worcestershire sauce and cook gently for 1 hour, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 12 servings.

- Cod Fish Balls
2 ounces salted boneless cod fish
Water
2 cups diced potato
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon margarine
Dash pepper
1/4 cup flour
1 tablespoon corn meal
1 pint (about) milk
Spicy Tomato Sauce (recipe below)

Cover cod fish with cold water and soak 1 hour; drain. Put soaked cod fish in 2-quart saucepan, cover with water. Bring to boil and boil 15 minutes. Drain and flake, if needed. Cook diced potato in boiling water 10 minutes or until tender; drain well. Mash together cod fish and potato. Stir in egg, margarine and pepper. Beat until light and fluffy. Shape into 2-inch balls. Mix flour and corn meal. Coat balls with flour mixture. Pour corn oil into heavy flat-bottomed 10-inch deep skillet, filling skillet no more than one-third full. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees or follow manufacturer's directions for electric frypan or deep fryer. Carefully add cod fish balls, a few at a time. Fry about 5 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with Spicy Tomato Sauce. Makes 9 to 10 balls or 3 to 4 servings.

Cod Fish Cakes
Shape mixture into 1 and one-half inch cakes. Coat both sides lightly with flour mixture. Heat one-fourth cup (about) corn oil in large 10-inch heavy skillet over medium heat or follow manufacturer's directions for electric frypan. Place fish cakes carefully into hot corn oil and fry about 2 minutes on each side or until golden brown. Add additional corn oil if needed. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 10 to 12 cakes.

Spicy Tomato Sauce
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon ketchup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf

Stir together all ingredients in saucepan. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally, until sauce has thickened about 20 minutes. Makes 2 cups.

SATURDAY NIGHT REFRESHER
Edith Brenner's Pastries
Coffee or Tea
EDITH BRENNER'S PASTRIES
From a Richmond, Va., hostess:
1 cup butter
2 cups unsifted flour
2 egg yolks
1/2 cup commercial sour cream
1/2 cup dried apricots, cut small
1/2 cup flaked coconut
1/4 cup finely chopped pecans
1/4 cup sugar

In a medium mixing bowl with a pastry blender cut butter into flour until particles are fine. In a small bowl beat the egg yolks with sugar and cream and beat to combine; with a fork gradually stir into flour mixture until blended. Wrap dough in plastic wrap and chill 6 hours or overnight. Divide dough into 4 parts. On a floured pastry cloth with a floured stockinet-covered rolling pin roll out 1 part of dough to a 10-inch round. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons each of the apricots and coconut and 1 tablespoon each of the pecans and sugar. Cut the round into 12 wedges and 40 triangles at the wide end. Roll up each wedge. Treat each of the remaining 3 parts of dough the same way. Bake on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 20 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

Low Calorie Cupcakes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Now that so many of us need to watch our cholesterol intake, we're delighted to offer you this recipe for special Petite Cupcakes. They're made with egg whites (the cholesterol is in the egg yolk), skim milk (the triglycerides are in the butterfat) and corn oil (low in saturated fats and polyunsaturated). These cupcakes taste best fresh from the oven — warm or cold; so plan to serve them shortly after baking.

PETITE CUPCAKES
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

2 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup skim milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

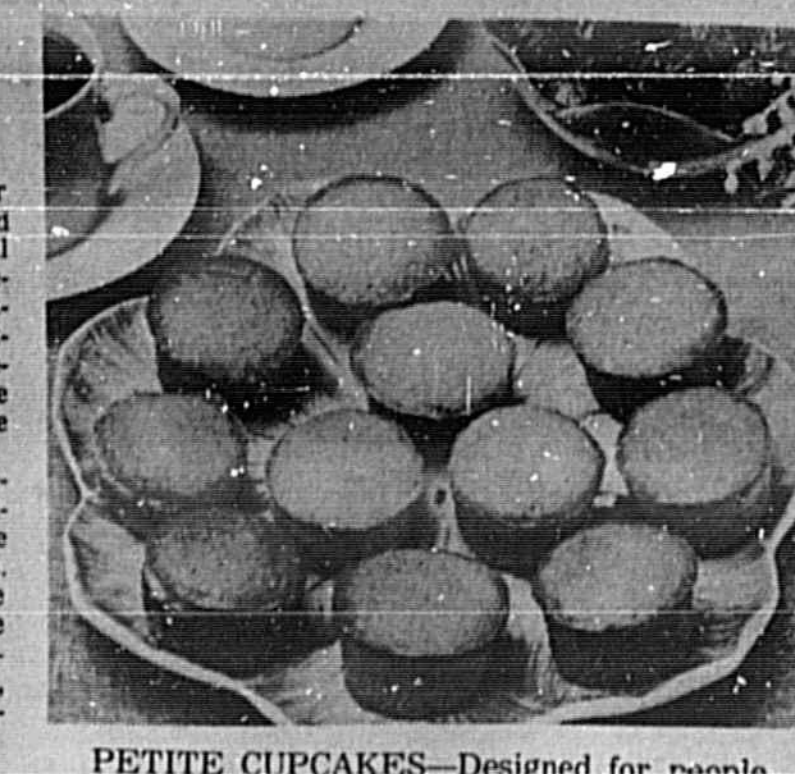

Grease three 12-cup muffin pans (each cup 1 1/4 by 1 inch) leaving 5 cups ungreased. If working with only two pans, cover and hold leftover batter in refrigerator until pan is free to use.

Into large bowl of electric mixer sift together the flour, 1/4 cup sugar, baking powder and salt.

In small bowl of electric mixer beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in the 1/2 cup sugar until mixture forms stiff peaks.

Make well in center of flour mixture; add corn oil and 1/4 cup of the skim milk. Beat until batter is smooth. Beat in remaining milk and vanilla. Gently fold in (do not stir) the beaten egg whites. Turn into prepared muffin pans. Half-fill the ungreased cups (in which there will be no batter) with water.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center of a cupcake comes out clean — 30 minutes. Cool a few minutes and remove from pans to wire racks. Serve warm or cooled completely — best served fresh. If desired, sprinkle lightly with confectioner's sugar.

PETITE CUPCAKES—Designed for people who are watching their cholesterol intake.

Boiled Dressing For Slaw

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

There's an interesting recipe for boiled salad dressing — one we've never seen before — making the rounds. It all started with Mrs. Jean Pollock who lives in Fort Salonga, Long Island, New York. Mrs. Pollock got the recipe from her mother and has been making it for years and years to use chiefly on cole slaw. Her friends like the recipe because it provides a sweet dressing for potato salad and sliced tomatoes and cucumbers as well as slaw. When we tried it we particularly enjoyed its glossy, smooth quality — attributable to the real mayonnaise to which the boiled part of the dressing is added.

LONG ISLAND COLE SLAW
8 cups firmly packed sliced green cabbage
1 1/2 cup finely diced green pepper
1/4 cup finely diced onion
1 cup (or more) Jean Pollock's Boiled Dressing, see below

Toss together all the ingredients. Chill.

Makes 16 1/2 cup servings.

Note: We used a medium large head of cabbage weighing 2 pounds. Dark outer leaves were removed and the white looking coarse cabbage close to the core was not used. The cabbage was sliced with a knife into very thin strands.

JEAN POLLOCK'S BOILED DRESSING
1/3 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/4 cup water
1 egg
1 cup real mayonnaise

Get a small saucepan stir together the sugar, cornstarch, mustard and salt; stir in vinegar and water, keeping smooth. Over medium heat bring to a boil, stirring constantly, and boil 1 minute — mixture will be very thick. In a small bowl beat the egg; gradually and vigorously stir in about 1/2 cup of the boiled mixture. Return egg mixture to saucepan; stir until heat 1 minute without boiling. Cool 10 minutes.

Jam-Up Plums

The do-your-own-thing fever has spread to the fruit cupboard, with more and more housewives, young and old, wanting to cook and put up their own homemade jams and jellies. It's the smart, economical way to do—and so satisfying.

Gather canning supplies together, making sure you have enough good jars without nicks or cracks and properly fitting lids. A large boiling kettle, jar funnel, jar lifter and long-handled fork or spatula are essential tools.

All recipes call for firm, but fully ripened plums, about two pounds per quart jar. Each quart will require from 1 to 1 1/2 cups of syrup so watch for sugar specials at your market and stock up.

The best California plums to can are those that hold their shape well when cooked and are juicy and properly fitting.

For jellies and jams with California plums, you'll need sterilized glasses, lids, paraffin if desired, and a heavy kettle. A cheesecloth or jelly bag, sieve and jelly thermometer are also matters considerably. Check all your recipes for amounts of plums to buy: Cuzar's three pounds of plums to make each pint of jelly.

All plum jellies turn out bright and clear and require no pectin. The California plums best suited are the Duarte, Queen Ann and the Santa Rosa. Try this new clove-scented jelly with the tart-skinned Santa Rosa.

California plums also make delicious sauces. Here's one that's interesting: Plum and Grape Catsup, lovely as a relish for meat, fish and sandwiches, simple to make but bottle for a gourmet friend.

HOW TO CAN PLUMS
Prepare the syrup, using 2 to 4 1/2 cups of sugar to each quart water (amount depends on the preservatives you prefer and variety of plum used). Heat until the sugar dissolves. Wash the plums, prick skin or scald and peel them. Heat the syrup (You'll need about 1 1/2 cups for each quart fruit) to boiling point. Add the plums (not more than two layers in the pan); remove pan from heat 2 minutes after plums are added; cover, let stand about 20 minutes. Remove plums from syrup with a slotted spoon and pack into hot, sterilized jars. Reheat the syrup to boiling and pour over plums, leaving 1/4 inch head space at tops of jars. Adjust lids and process in boiling water bath 20 minutes for pints, 25 minutes for quarts.

SANTA ROSA PLUM JELLY
6 pounds fresh ripe California Santa Rosa plums
5 cups water
Sugar
Clove
Wash plums and put in a large heavy kettle. Add water and bring to a boil, simmering until plums are very soft. Remove pan from heat, drain off water, and press plums gently through several layers of cheesecloth or use a jelly bag. For every cup of plum juice add 1 1/2 cups sugar and 2 whole cloves. Bring mixture to a boil over low heat and simmer until it tests done on a jelly thermometer (222 degrees) or when the jelly breaks from the side of a spoon in a sheet. Cooking time will vary according to the natural pectin of the fruit. Pour boiling hot into hot sterilized glasses and seal.

Makes about 4 1/2-pint. PLUM AND GRAPE CATSUP

Homemade Granola Makes Great Bread

By Aileen Claire

With the promise of cooler days ahead many cooks are dusting off their scammed-old breadboards. Bread baking has become more than a hobby for the many who have rediscovered the taste treat of a variety of homemade breads. Granola fans now can make their own granola at home and use it in a Granola Bread. Warm or cool, this bread lends itself to cream cheese, cream cheese and jelly, honey, apple butter, and even peanut butter and makes a quick, filling and nutritious addition to breakfast.

GRANOLA BREAD

3 1/2 cups flour
1 package active dry yeast
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup margarine
1 cup warm water
1/4 cup dark corn syrup
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups Granola (recipe below)
Grease a 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Stir together 1 and one half cups of the flour, yeast and salt. Melt margarine, stir in water and corn syrup. Mixture should be warm (120 to 130 degrees). Add to flour mixture, beating about 1 minute on medium speed of mixer. Beat in eggs. Add Granola. Stir in remaining flour to form stiff batter. Cover and let rise in warm place until almost double in bulk. Stir down. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in 375-degree oven 45 to 60 minutes. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pan.

GRANOLA
2 1/2 cups old-fashioned oats
1/2 cup shredded coconut
1/2 cup sesame seed
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup corn oil
1/2 cup raisins

Mix together oats, coconut, nuts and sesame seed. Stir in brown sugar, then corn oil until well mixed. Spread on 2 baking sheets or jelly roll pans. Bake in 300-degree oven, stirring occasionally, 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from oven. Add raisins. Makes about 1 pound (4 cups).

FLEXIBLE EATING

Higher prices in the food market may be the undoing of the pampered, finicky eater. One way to save money or at least stretch one's food budget is to plan less expensive meals around a variety of foods. Buying fruits, vegetables, canned goods, certain meat cuts when they are on sale or at lower prices even out the yearly food budget. As family income increased in recent years, many gave up a protein-rich dish of ham bone and beans, for example, for an expensive cut of beef. Others only accept cold cuts — which can be most expensive — for sandwiches rather than a homemade, less expensive egg salad, chicken salad, leftover meatloaf, peanut butter-jelly combination. This is a good time to experiment with foods of all kinds. Have eating fun and save money, too.

Hearty Salad Fits A Budget

For a lunch or supper main dish that uses foods that are widely available and comparatively inexpensive we suggest this hearty Seaside Salad. With the salad serve potato something crunchy) and iced again and strain into a pitcher holding 1 quart cold water; cover and let stand at room temperature to help prevent water from clouding. When ready to serve, if tea has clouded, just roll a little boiling water to re-rips and pickle slices (for

Prize Winning Torte 'Has Island Flavor

HONOLULU, Hawaii — A Milwaukee elementary school secretary, mother of two sons, is the $25,000 winner of the Second National Pineapple Cooking Classic. She is Mrs. Robert (Betty) Sakar, 47, whose recipe for a light-crested pastry featuring canned pineapple, was judged best in the dessert category and then went on to be selected as "Best-of-Contest" entry. Mrs. Sakar was one of 40 men and women from all sections of the nation who competed in the Classic, using canned pineapple in four recipe categories — main dish, bread, salad and dessert.

As winner of the dessert category, Mrs. Sakar received a cash award of $10,000. She was given an additional $15,000 when her recipe was judged the top overall entry. Other $10,000 divisional winners were: main dish — Mrs. Joseph (Gudrun) Farrah, 60, of Lake Oswego, Oregon; bread — Mrs. George (Suyoyo) Lorraine, 46, of Wahiawa, Hawaii; and salad — Mrs. Paul (Janet) Bergson, 30, of Springfield, Virginia. Born in Milwaukee, Mrs. Sakar has served as secretary of the 6th Street School for the past 14 years. She is the mother of two sons, James 25 and Lawrence 22. Her husband in June completed 25 years as a motor pump operator for the Milwaukee fire department. Mrs. Sakar calls her $25,000 winning entry, "Hawaii Five-O Torte". Her recipe follows.

HAWAII FIVE-O TORTE
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup finely ground pecans or hazel nuts
1/2 cup instant coconut
1 1/2 (1 1/2 oz.) can unsweetened crushed pineapple
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 1/4 (4 oz.) package lemon pie filling
3/4 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
1 cup dairy sour cream

Preheat oven to moderate (350 degrees F.). Combine flour, butter, nuts and coconut, and blend to crumb consistency. Press in even layer in bottom of 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated oven 20 minutes, until very lightly browned. Cool. Drain juice from pineapple and add water to measure 2 cups. Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup water. Prepare lemon pie filling with sugar and egg yolks, reducing liquid to the 2 cups pineapple juice and water. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add softened gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Fold in drained pineapple. Cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Preheat oven to very hot (500 degrees F.). Fold sour cream into pudding mixture, and turn into cooled crust. Prepare Meringue and spread over filling. Place in the very hot oven, turn heat off at once, and allow torte to remain in oven for several hours, until it is completely cold. Remove torte from oven, and sift powdered sugar over top. Chill several hours before serving. Makes 1 (8-inch) torte, 6 to 9 servings.

Scientists Work To Help Some Folk Stomach Milk

By Gaynor Maddox
There are those nutritionists who claim that milk is an almost perfect food, that the cow is a blessed alchemist who transforms forage and feedstuffs into milk, which supplies ample amounts of such nutrients as calcium, phosphorus, riboflavin and protein.

Therefore, there is a growing effort to develop low-lactose dairy foods to provide proteins where normal dairy products are not readily digested because of lactase deficiency in the individual. The Agricultural Research Service has been working on this problem. At one research laboratory dairy products are being treated with lactases from molds and bacteria. But enzymes work effectively only under acid conditions. Unlike most wheys and dairy products, cottage cheese whey is slightly acidic. Therefore the mold lactase treats it readily. Recently, yeast lactases have become available. These new yeast lactases effectively split the lactose of whole or skim milk into glucose and galactose without causing off-flavors. The only flavor effect was the increase in sweetness.

Worldwide, lactose intolerance is common. Many blacks and orientals are affected by it. It is less prevalent among Caucasians. It arises from deficiency in the intestines of an enzyme called lactase. Lactose is not utilized by the body unless lactase first hydrolyzes it, or breaks it down into simple sugars, namely, glucose or galactose. Considering that millions of hungry and malnourished people in the world have some degree of lactase deficiency, there is a temptation to eliminate milk as a source of protein in large-scale feeding programs. But the United Nations Protein Advisory Group says "no." The benefits of milk's high-quality protein are too great. All of these products had at least 90 per cent of their lactose hydrolyzed. Flavors were unchanged except for the added sweetness. The added sweetness would be an advantage. It would permit sweetened and flavored milk drinks to be made with less added sugar, hence fewer calories. Substantial quantities of these enzyme-treated products have been made in a pilot plant. Several industrial firms have expressed interest in them.

In the meantime the search goes on for additional lactase sources (ENR-PAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Sports Spotlight

By J Richards

Whether they thought about it much or not, the Seminole County School Board has dealt a deep blow to county-wide athletic programs, especially football. The effects of a decision reached several years ago are just now reaching the high school level, and almost every coach in the system is bemoaning the lack of qualified talent to fill a starting eleven, and several are running the danger of not having enough graders just to hold a scrimmage session.

No Training Ground

It all started when the county moved to the Middle School system—which is well and good, we suppose—but the cruncher came when the older high athletic programs were cut by the board. This isn't such an unusual event. Many areas throughout the state decided to junk the junior high concept and move into the more modern middle school approach, but several of the more athletically oriented systems decided to let the middle schools compete on a county-wide basis and thus retain the invaluable "Training Ground," that high school competition now demands.

That, you may say, is great. Less pressure on the kids, and we'll surely admit that having an old Sanford Junior High traveling all the way to Ocala to play a football game in years past was just too much. Despite the past undefeated football and basketball seasons in junior high level that produced such great 2A Lyman's former High School All-American and consensus pre-season All-SEC back Ricky Brown, as well as numerous other outstanding graders at Seminole, Lyman and Oviedo, the emphasis grew just too great.

Can't Fill Gap

We applaud the decision to de-emphasize winning at that level, but to seriously think that Pop Warner and flag football leagues are currently filling the gap the loss of junior high sports left, is to court disaster when it comes to the high school level.

Current-level public school in the county is experiencing a shortage—just like all of us are on one thing or another—of qualified, experienced graders. Seminole with 30 plus boys sent for the Varsity is currently in the best shape financially, but many of them lack the basics they should have learned prior to making the big step up. Oviedo's meager crop of 10 varsity players also exhibit the same weakness, and Lyman is looking at one of its smaller squads over. The biggest weakness appears at Lake Brantley where only 25 varsity candidates are currently practicing, and according to comments, "nary a football player among them."

No One's Interested

Brantley has seven well-qualified coaches, but has lost more than 18 graders over the summer alone. "No one is interested anymore," states Head Coach Bill Duty, and that's one reason. Another factor facing him is his method of coaching. "If we run the Jayvets too hard," he muses, "I'm afraid half of them will quit."

No, he isn't a sadist who gets his jollies from being mean, but the boys just aren't up to the pressure. They quit when the going gets a little too rough, especially since the volunteer dads who coached their Pop Warner learn the year before were pretty lax on discipline, etc.

The lack of invaluable experience at the junior high level, thereby, works intolerable pressure on both the coach and the player. Not only in the realm of conduct and training, but also in experience and the ability to set up a viable "Yankee team" set-up with the high school's feeder schools.

Too Late To Learn

Right now, many of the county's varsity teams are still on fundamentals they should have learned while in either junior varsity squads, or preferably in junior high. It's cutting into valuable time to develop the teams in other areas. The most basic arts of tacking, line play and defense, which a kid should already have in his arsenal, are unfortunately lacking at this stage.

Intra-County League

Maybe a solution is to return football to the middle school level in the form of an intra-county league. There are enough such schools to play a limited schedule and the public would surely support the programs. Currently, ninth graders, which are separated at each school from the other grades in some areas are playing, but they, too, have nothing to work with for the county.

The old system of "Heavy" and "Light" squads allowed seventh, eighth and ninth graders to get three years of valuable lessons learned before moving into the high school level, and it paid off with winning teams and several college scholarships to area graders.

Now that it's sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the middle school, much the same except for the addition of boys in the sixth grade, we see no reason against the return to some form of football, basketball and other areas of competition within the limited range of Seminole County. That would cut the expenses of traveling great distances and give the high schools something to go on.

The loss of the former system hurts mostly football and basketball, since the county has an excellent boys' baseball program that constantly produces winners.

Set 1st Scrimmage Tuesday Greyhounds 'Looking Good' In Pads

By JOHN CERWA Herald Correspondent

After the first week in pads Lyman Head Coach Dick Copeland describes his offense as "real good."

Last Thursday 22 "Hounds," including five sophomores, donned pads and made contact for the first time. Copeland plans to have the first scrimmage early next week.

According to Copeland the practices are behind schedule because of the problem of replacing those players who were counting on from spring practice who did not show up for pre-season drills.

"We're having to work hard to find replacements. Normally we don't have to do that," Copeland said. A question mark in the Greyhound offense was created with the departure of Mike Massey. To remedy this situation Copeland has moved veteran tackle Glen Hill off the line and put him in at running back.

Filling Hill's former position is Rodney Dowling, who will also be playing defensive end. Other players figured to go both offensively, and defensively are Hill and Mike White. The Lyman coach plans a strong passing attack utilizing the arm of senior quarterback Bob Costantine. Cooland said he will use his running backs as well as his ends to haul in Costantine aerials.

The "Hound mentor set the backfield tentatively as Costantine at the helm, Hill, Al Cleveland, and Terry Travis as the ball handlers, which will get their "scrimmage test" Tuesday.

The defense has got further to go because we've spent less time on it than offense," Copeland said. One more question mark in Copeland's mind is how the inexperienced defenders will perform in game situations. There are only six returning veterans from last year's defense.

They are: Paul Kelley, linebacker; Ed Callan, defensive halfback; Al Laitimer, safety; Dowling, defensive end; Hill, linebacker; and White at defensive tackle.

Assie from an all-veteran offensive backfield returning from last year, are Tom Gooch at split end, Matt Leslie at tight end, and Brian Stroup at guard.

Other than passing, the "Hounds" have been working on the specialty teams. Vieing for the placekicking spot, left by

All-State player Greg Wallick, are Fred Human and Danny Devine. Leslie appears to have nailed down the punting chores.

In the recent Florida Sports Writers pre-season poll Lyman was not ranked among the top ten but did receive votes. Commenting on his Copeland said, "I was pleased that they think so much of us at the beginning of the year."

"I'm like Coach Dickey in that I think it's the end of the year that counts not the beginning," he added.

Edgewater, the team Copeland picked to be the toughest in the Metro Conference, was ranked second in the state.

Lyman's first test will come on Sept. 4 in Orlando's Tangerine Bowl in the annual gridiron jamboree.

This year the Greyhounds will face Oak Ridge in the seventh quarter and defending Metro champs Winter Park in the eighth. These are only exhibition match-ups and will not count in the "Hounds record."

Copeland is not making any special preparations for the jamboree but looks further into the future for the first regular season game against the Uremadiers at Colonial on Sept. 14.

Wadkins, Heard Comers?

Duo Humbles Golf Experts

By FRANK MACOMBER Copley News Service

The Scotlames who invented the royal and ancient game of golf a few centuries back used to call it "the great humbler."

Today there is no reason to change that description. Golf can humble the experts' predictions as surely as it can humble the aspirations of the players. The story of two Professional Golfers' Association tournament "gold dust twins" nails down this thesis.

Two years ago a slightly built amateur record but stood only 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighed a wet 160 pounds. Besides, some of the experts said, Lanny hit the ball too quickly, didn't think enough about each shot.

At 21 he still had a few years to spend before he would make it big on the tour, the experts predicted, with the likes of Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino around.

The other of what was called the "gold dust twins," Jerry Heard, was something else. Two years older, on the tour since 1969 and with 190 pounds along his 6-foot frame, Jerry had all the makings of an early winner, the locker-room favorites agreed.

Well, in 1971 it appeared they were right. Jerry, with a slow, deliberate backswing, and a hesitation at the top of his swing, won the American Golf Classic and $112,389 that year to finish seventh on the money list. The quick-hitting rookie Lanny Wadkins' best performance was a tie for third in the Disney World Open and his take was only $18,921.

Last year Heard continued to play well, winning the Florida Citrus Open and the Colonial National and $17,198 for the year—fifth on the money list. Surely the prognosticators were looking good. But something else was happening. He is a pleasant man, easy to be around, and success hasn't made him mean. He is terse in the gym and sometimes punishes his sparring partners, but he strolls about the camp clinging to a leash attached to a three-month old Afghan hound, Eonkooke.

Pro Pitcher Goes Coach, Rams Trade For Stukes

DETROIT (AP) — Minnesota Twins pitching coach Al Worthington says he has accepted a job as baseball coach at Lynchburg Baptist College in Virginia.

Worthington, who has been pitching coach for the last two seasons, had indicated three weeks ago that he was considering moving in a new direction in his career.

"My family has already moved to Lynchburg and I'll join them at season's end," Worthington said Tuesday.

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Veteran defensive back Charlie Stukes has been acquired by the Los Angeles Rams from the Minnesota Vikings for an undisclosed Rams Football League draft choice.

The 5-foot-4, 212-pound Stukes was a fourth-round draft choice of Baltimore in 1967 after playing at Maryland State. Stukes, 29, led the Colts in interceptions, passes the last two seasons with a total of 13. He was traded to Minnesota July 23.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — San Jose right-hander Ray Brown pitched a perfect game in a 3-0 victory Tuesday night over Modesto, the first in 31 years of California League play.

Brown threw many wild pitches, striking out three of the 21 Modesto players he faced in the seven-inning game.

"If it happens, it happens. It doesn't do any good to worry," said Brown, who had exceptional control and showed no signs of tension.

WENDOVER, Utah (AP) — Land speed challenger Craig Breedlove says he's patching up his three-wheeled rocket cycle and hopes he'll eliminated aerodynamic problems which he says caused the speed machine to flip on the Bonneville Salt Flats Tuesday.

"We're going to repair the car in Salt Lake City and run next week for the record," said Breedlove, who escaped injury in the spectacular crash.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates say three players from their Charleston, W. Va., farm club will join the National League team Saturday.

Called up Tuesday were infielder Fernando Gonzalez, outfielder Dave Augustine and catcher-third-baseman Jim Campanis.

Campanis led the three in hitting at Charleston with a .305 average, 18 home runs and 67 RBI. Augustine hit .300, while Gonzalez posted a .277 average.

BOSTON (AP) — Third baseman Rico Petrocelli of the Boston Red Sox was scheduled for surgery today for removal of a calcium growth from his right elbow.

The Red Sox said the operation would be performed by Dr. Thomas Gugley and Dr. Tom Tierney, the team physician, at Hahnemann Hospital. Petrocelli is expected to be sidelined for the rest of the season.

Attitude Says Lions' Coach

Stumpf Predicts 'Best Year'

By LEE GEIGER Herald Correspondent

When you're at the top, the only way to go is down. When you are at the bottom the same works in reverse.

The Oviedo Lions, under Head Coach Ralph Stumpf, finished last year with a 1-9 record, but this year will be different, according to the coach. In fact, Stumpf predicts this will be his best season since he came to Oviedo from Sanford.

"Attitude," the coach beams, "is the main difference this year. The boys have a winning one, especially the seniors. I can't put into words how pleased I am will this new approach to the game."

Even so, the will to win is not enough, and talent is necessary to go along with it. Coach Stumpf feels his boys can play with the best in the Orange Belt Conference.

Oviedo will kick off the season officially with Sanford, Friday, Sept. 14. To help get Washington and Severt in the backfield. Both are excellent blockers.

Other boys who are very better than ever," Stumpf said. The signal caller is also one of the Tri-Captains, along with fullback Tom

Citizens Support 'Mayor' Board Is 'Helpless' Over A Doomed Dog

KAY DILLON
If the owner keeps it penned up then there's no need to kill it.

DEBRA KNIGHT
No. Chain it or fence it.

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

(Editor's Note: The K. aid today interviewed numerous Seminole County residents seeking their reactions to the pending death of Mayor, an 11-year-old dog, for his attacks upon people.)

Seminole County commissioners are damned if they do not fence it, and if you will pardon the expression — if they vote to execute Mayor, the sudden-celebrity Cocker Spaniel facing a death sentence Tuesday.

Mayor, the elderly pet of South Seminole resident Malcolm Altman, endured a two-hour "moment" at the bar of justice this week, and came out on the short end of the eye.

Witness testimony, affidavits, and physical evidence that he bites people.

Mayor, it seems certain, has fought his last battle on earth. And county commissioners, having listened gravely to the evidence, sought in vain for a way out. There are no W. C. Fields characters on the commission, and they see no virtue in kicking dogs, or stealing candy from small children.

But Assistant County Atty. Howard Marsee, visibly uncomfortable during the Tuesday afternoon proceedings he earlier predicted could amount to "double jeopardy for dogs," offered little solace.

"The current ordinance says that if you find a dog to be vicious, then he must be destroyed," Marsee said. "The dog may not be 'banned,' and this is a weakness in the law."

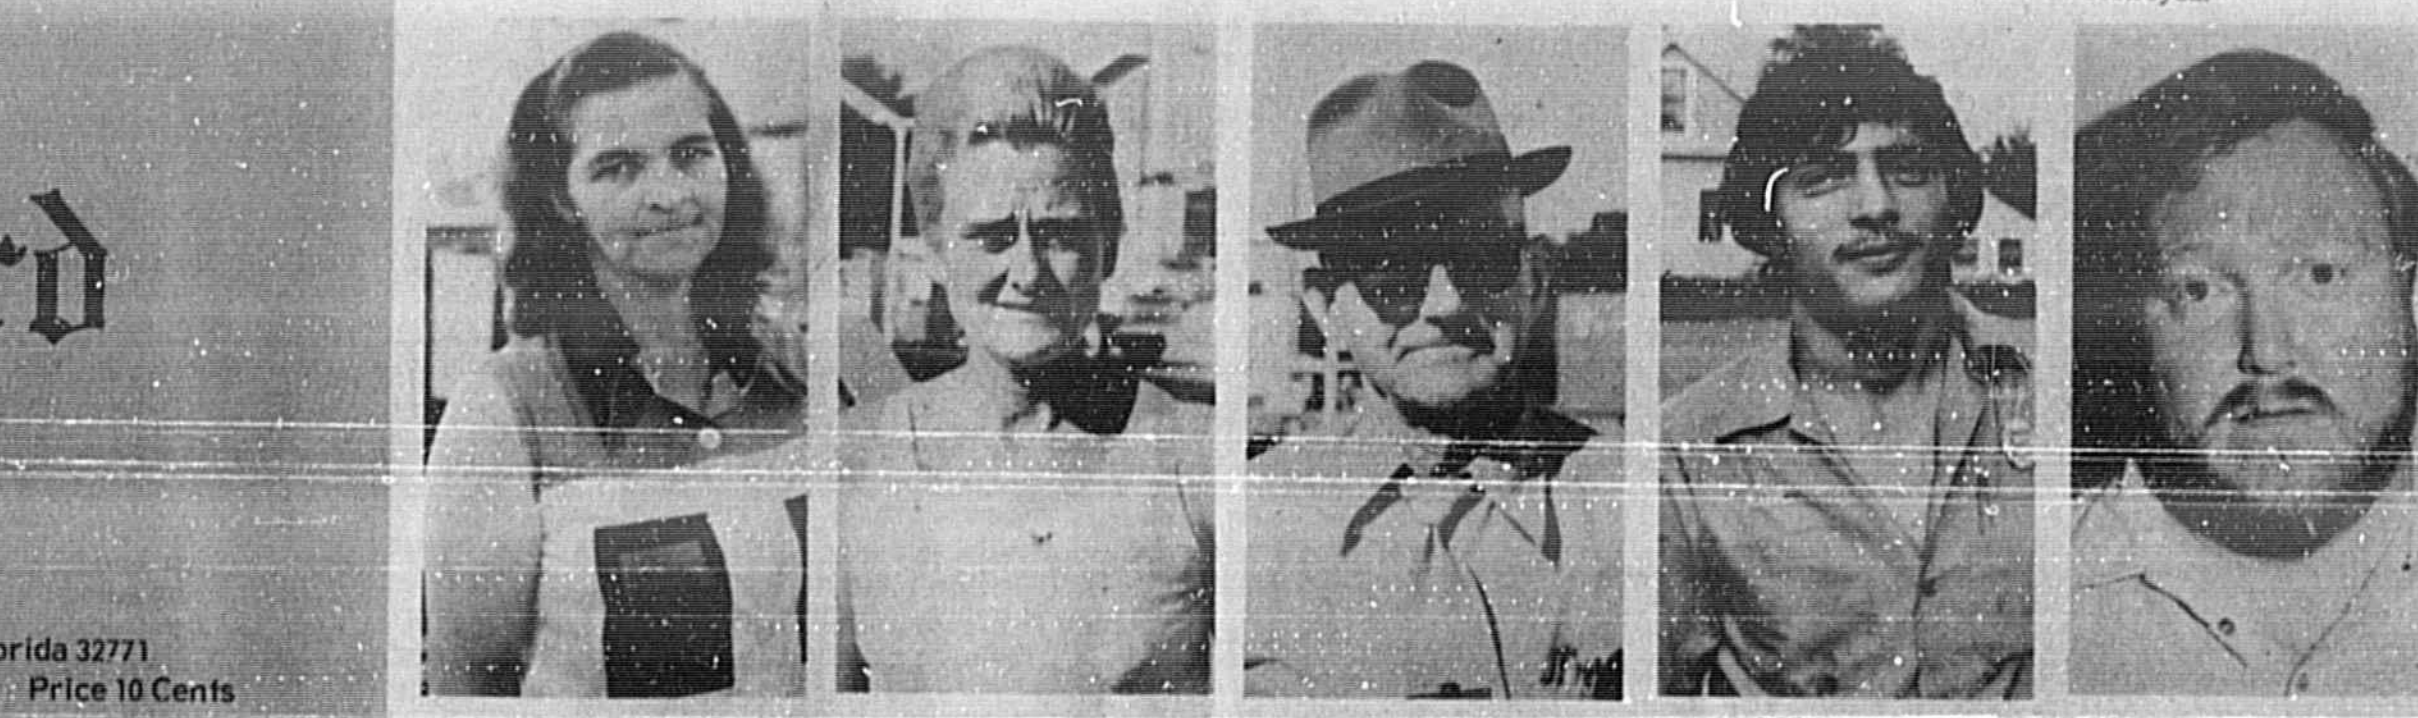

Ironically, the opposition of dog clubs resulted in the recent defeat of a proposed law which would have given the board the option of declaring a dog "ferocious," or "dangerous," and requiring some form of restraint short of execution.

The clubs did not object to the proposed definitions, but wanted the entire law broadened to a full animal control ordinance, to cover all types of pets.

Chairman Sid Vihlen, who later said he felt he had "no choice" but to vote for Mayor's death, explained the current law is not based on a "one time only" incident.

"The specific case is not the sole problem; there must be a showing over a long period of time that the dog attacks or threatens people or other animals," Vihlen said.

And the evidence, duly sworn as in any proper court of law,

BETTY FLOWERS
Chain him up or put him in a pen. I've never heard of a dog attacking a person unless provoked.

ZULA JACOBS
Chain him up or put him in a pen. I've never heard of a dog attacking a person unless provoked.

SPENCER STRICKLAND
Pen him up. Don't kill him.

RICK PEREZ
Dogs just don't go around biting people for no reason. He could be put in a fence.

HOWARD O'NEIL
Don't kill him. I'll take him.

Cagnina Seeks Change In Trial

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

By John A. Spolzi

The presses were still running yesterday as I received a call from Seminole County Commissioner Greg Drummond.

"I'm a taker," Drummond was referring to our offer in yesterday's column where we offered to make arrangements to provide a polygraph test should either he or Almonroe Springs Mayor Lawrence Swoford be serious in wanting to resolve an issue via this method.

At Tuesday's county commission meeting, both had set in motion the need to clear a controversial issue, not without charges and counter-charges of "liar" being uttered.

We had to call Mayor Swoford to get his reaction to this invitation. His response was, "As I told Greg, if he and I can't get it straight, I don't object. I'm willing to take any kind of a test at any time."

So, with the two acceptances received, next on our agenda is to set a date and see what happens, eh?

Excuse me please, but I'm having a little trouble remembering who it was that said something to the effect that "I would abide by any definitive direction".... something about whether he would release some tapes, or something!

Certainly that couldn't have been our President, now could it? Cause as I understand all of the comments coming from either The White House or San Clemente, he's not about to give them up.

(Maybe Judge Sirica wasn't "definitive" enough.....)

Askew Limits Contributions, Levin Quits For Campaign

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — David Levin said today he would resign in October or November as chairman of the state Pollution Control Board in order to campaign for the reelection of Gov. Reubin Askew.

He said it was part of the effort to avoid the appearance of undue influence that led Askew to limit campaign contributions to $300 per individual next year.

Levin, a former law partner of Askew, said the governor had directed that any members of state regulatory boards who participate in the campaigning must step down from the boards.

Levin, another member of the Pollution Control Board, George Ruppel of Clearwater; three of the five members of the Board of Business Regulation and a member of the Board of Regents took part last weekend in Askew's campaign planning meeting at a lodge in Sopchoppy.

Askew's press secretary, Don Pride, said the governor wanted to separate his campaign from state government as much as possible. Pride said he and five other Askew aides, including Bernie Parrish and Harvey Colten, would take leave without pay early next year to begin campaigning. Levin said, "The governor and I have discussed it and we do not feel it would be proper for me to continue as chairman of a major state board if I am going to be in partisan politics."

Sam Cagnina
Father of four

Sam Cagnina, 37-year-old father of four, is accused of a conspiracy to murder and conspiracy charges in the June 1971 shooting of Lee in a telephone booth on SR 434 at Interstate 4 near Longwood. Fox is named as a co-conspirator but hasn't been charged.

Blackburn is serving a 22-year federal prison sentence on gambling convictions and Cagnina is free on $15,000 bond.

Lee, who survived wounds received when the telephone booth was sprayed with pistol fire, is serving a three-year state prison sentence for a gambling conviction.

Cagnina alleges pre-trial publicity involving Blackburn and him and naming Fox as a co-conspirator and "probable witness" has prejudiced the case "so much as to render a trial in the Sanford, central Florida area unfair."

Publicly on the third charge against him, possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, about his 1964 Monroe County robbery conviction and a federal indictment charging he conspired with Blackburn and Fox to injure a witness in a Federal Court perjury case has also prejudiced prospective Seminole County jurors, according to Cagnina.

Seminole and Orange State Attorneys Abbott Herring and Bob Eagan also allege in charges against Cagnina that he was the gunman who tried to kill Lee in a south Seminole apartment house parking lot a month before the telephone booth assassination attempt.

Authorities say Lee's temple was grazed and his coat and car riddled with bullet holes before he fled the parking lot.

Casselberry Sends Attorney Job Pact

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

CASSELBERRY — The city council Wednesday night agreed to have the city attorney review the proposed employment contract submitted by City Manager Ron Bergman.

The agreement was reached after 30-minutes intensive discussion in which Councilman Edith Darr, Richard Wirt and Tom Embree supported the contract with slight modifications, but John Leighty and John Zacco insisted on conflicts with the city manager ordinance.

"It is foolish for us to go through the contract until the city attorney reviews it," Leighty said. "I maintained one section which would allow Bergman to accept teaching or lecturing jobs is contrary to the ordinance that has been passed by the city manager."

Bergman said while some money would be received from teaching and writing for professional publications the work is principally for his professional development.

"You must either work for the city or be a consultant. I expect a full-time city manager," Zacco said.

Embree said he didn't feel such work would be an additional job.

Bergman's quoted comments that he will no longer attend city advisory board meetings since the council reduced his salary increase request from $12,000 annually to $18,700 was mentioned.

Bergman is presently paid $15,000 a year, Wirt told Bergman he will have to attend certain meetings to assist in the city manager's planning role. But, Wirt said, he does not object to Bergman taking time off during the day.

Bergman pointed out while other city employees are guaranteed benefits and job security under civil service he has no formal relationship with the city.

He said the lack of a contract is a "double edged sword" and while he has no job protection, the city is not protected either by a requirement that he give notice before accepting other employment.

Wirt said he was "caught in the crossfire between the mayor and the city council he would want a contract."

Embree added, "If I were in his position, I'd sure want one."

Pollution Cleanup Delayed By Council

By JEAN PATTERSON
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — Council decided Wednesday night to delay the clean-up of polluted Gey Creek until it has more information.

City Engineer Richard Mattis explained the Department of Pollution Control refused to allow mechanical equipment in the creek area for the clean-up.

He said CASSUCCO, the pollution control department and Winter Springs agreed to attempt the clean-up by using the natural flushing action of the water in the creek and a settling pond where solid wastes would settle and be gathered and disposed of after one year. Water thus purified would continue down the creek.

He said the problem would not be perpetuated because Casselberry is going onto a new treatment plant within 10 days.

Mattis explained the success of the project depended on the flow of water in the creek. "If we have good rains and the water is flowing fast, I see no reason why the project should not work," he said.

Council said it would not sign the agreement until it had specific information regarding disposal of waste from the settling pond, provisions for fencing the settling pond area, and details regarding flood control. It also said it wanted to see the completed engineering plans.

Former Candidate Says It's 'Just Politics'

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A former Republican candidate for the U.S. Congress has pleaded innocent to charges of violating election laws and defined the incident as "just politics."

Jack Insko said his indictment was Insko's former campaign manager, Daniel G. McMuller who also pleaded innocent.

U.S. District Judge Donald DeLoach released the pair on their own recognizance. Trial was set for Nov. 12.

Insko, of New Fort Richey, was charged with two counts of publishing and distributing bumper stickers last fall that linked the ultimately successful campaign of his rival, U.S. Rep. William Gunter of Orlando, to the campaign of Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern.

Insko said he was singled out and claimed that other candidates circulated campaign literature without attribution.
