Sanlando Springs Is One Of Nature's Beauty Spots

One of the most enchanting and fun engendering spots in Sanford is Sanlando Springs which is a year round attraction with swimming, picnicking and dining in the summer and the blooming of its beautiful flowers and shrubs during the fall and winter months.

Located about eight and one-half miles from Sanford the springs are to be found near Leeward in Seminole County. The springs were first discovered in 1900 by William G. ... well known Orlando ... and the present manager, Mr. and Mrs. ... of Altamonte Beach, who have done publicity work for many of Florida's top recreation spots, and operate hotels and tourist courts on the Gulf Coast for a number of years since they have always been at ... have been added and improvements made.

The seven houses on the grounds have been re-decorated and newly furnished, making them more attractive to tourists who enjoy a comfortable winter home in the Florida coast beautiful surroundings. New lodges have been built over the streams, a swimming beach, a cove, and many other improvements made.

Oviedo Boasts New Center

Substantial Growth Is Registered By Celery Center Located South Of Sanford

Oviedo is a thriving little community of 1,500 located about nine air miles south of Sanford in a muckland area that produces an amazing amount of celery and other products of the soil.

To motor from Sanford to Oviedo two interesting routes of about 15 miles may be taken. One is from five points on the Sanford-Orlando Highway 17-92 on a recently resurfaced road; the other is to follow Highway 46 east via the magnificent bridge over the St. John's River and a state road to Geneva, a citrus growing center but a few miles northwest of Oviedo.

A nationally known celery and citrus packing center, Oviedo's growth is reflected in its increase from 125 in 1940 to more than 400 today, in new civic and business construction, and in the beautiful modern homes in its amply shaded and landscaped residential areas.

Although but a small community, relatively speaking, Oviedo has a bank, retail stores, drug stores, grocery stores comparing favorably in modern equipment and stock with those of much larger cities. Its churches are large and pleasant and on the first of this year the citizens with much pride dedicated a new Community Building.

Located close to the business center, the one story building of concrete block and stucco finish serves as both a city hall and community center. It features an auditorium measuring about 50 by 40 feet where meetings and gatherings of more than 150 persons can be held. Chairs are of the modern steel folding type.

To facilitate the preparation of community suppers, a large well equipped kitchen was included in the building. Near the front entrance is the office of Thad Lingo, city clerk, who still maintains his real estate office in the frame two story building on the upper floor of which the Oviedo Council formerly met.

Open house was held on the evening of Jan. 9 in the new building amid a colorful array of floral gifts, and the visitors were welcomed by Mayor M. L. Gary and Mr. Lingo, assisted by Mrs. James Martin, president of the Oviedo Women's Club, and Mrs. Charles G. Niblack, president of the Oviedo Garden Club.

The center was dedicated as a memorial to the Oviedo heroes who died for their country in world wars and is the result of public donations made during World War II.

The subscriptions were held in trust during the administrations of Mayors Joseph Leinhardt and Frank Talbott. The plans were drawn when the latter was mayor, and the project, costing about $25,000, was finished under the direction of Mayor Gary.

The building provides also for police headquarters, and back of it is a new four cell jail. The Oviedo Canning Kitchen, built last year, is also located on the property.

Across the street from the Community Center is the new Masonic Building which is of concrete block and brick construction and contains a lodge room measuring 25 by 50 feet. Meetings started here about a month ago, and are held on the second and fourth Mondays of the month.

One of the most intriguing views to the visitor in Oviedo is the juxtaposition of the business, industrial and farming sections. Close to the main business are several low lying muckland tracts owned by Charles Niblack, the Morgan Brothers and R. W. Estes. Facing one of these fields and located near the center of town and convenient to the A. C. L. Railroad is the new $100,000 R. W. Estes Celery Co. washhouse.

Of concrete block construction and comprising several units, including a precooling department, the washhouse, started in August, is expected to be put into operation by Apr. 1. It will have an output capacity of about 12 cars of celery a day and about 75 persons will be employed. The cost of the project is estimated at more than $100,000.

Personnel of the firm includes R. W. Estes, president, who owns more than 250 acres of celery land; John Courier, sales manager; Milton Gore, wash house manager; and Don Ulrey, head field man. Marion Estes, brother to R. W., is a prominent celery grower.

One of the pioneer developers of Oviedo is H. F. Wheeler, celery and citrus grower. His projects include the Wheeler Fertilizer Co., the Wheeler Hardware Store, and the celery and citrus shipping firm of Nelson and Co., which is managed by Frank Talbott.

Citizens Bank
Mr. Wheeler was instrumental in the organization in 1948 of the Citizens Bank of Oviedo, which during its first week of operation recorded deposits of more than three quarters of a million dollars and which today total more than $1,500,000. The bank is located in a modern, one story building in the business section.

C. R. Clonts of Clonts Associated Growers, a celery and fruit grower is vice president; Charles G. Shaffer is cashier. R. W. Estes, W. G. Kilbee, R. F. Long and Harold Ward are members of the board of directors.

Among the progressive citizens is Charles T. Niblack, whose new home is one of the most attractive in town. He controls celery and vegetable tracts in Oviedo, Zellwood, Belle Glade, and Weirsdale, has orange groves, a cattle ranch and business property in Oviedo and Orlando.

One of the pioneer developers of Oviedo is Charles S. Lee, owner of business property, celery land, citrus groves and ranch. His son Robert, is associated with him. C. R. Clonts, Jr. and Rex Clonts, both of whom are building new homes in Oviedo, are associated in business with C. R. Clonts. They came originally from Atlanta, Ga. Their relatives, C. S. Moon and sons, Thomas and Reese are also prominent vegetable growers.

Another prosperous empire of the soil is that of A. Duda and Sons at Slavia near Oviedo, whose far flung celery and vegetable tracts are also located at Lake Hart, Zellwood and Belle Glade. Among their employees are three former members of the Seminole Chapter of Future Farmers, David Earle, sales manager, Bill Colbert and Clifford Gustavson.

Oviedo is served by two railroads, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard. Surfaced roads connect the town with Winter Park, 11 miles away, Slavia, Geneva, Chuluota and the east coast and Sanford.

State Representative M. B. Smith is one of the proponents of a project which is meeting with much favor among Oviedo and Sanford citizens, a farm-to-market, state primary road project providing a short cut from Sanford to Oviedo. This would include a fill across Lake Jessup to south Sanford Avenue, a project which it is estimated would shorten the motoring distance between the two cities by more than four miles.

Joseph Leinhardt, former mayor, has developed an active flower growing and shipping business, and devotes more than 15 acres of ground to the project. He prefers to ship his flowers to northern markets by air, and reports much demand recently for delphinium, the growth of which was retarded this year by cold spells.

Other flowers shipped include gladioluses, statice, sweet peas, and calendulas.

Typical of the American spirit of enterprise and human betterment, Oviedo has a number of active organizations. One of these, the American Legion Oviedo Memorial Post 243 has promoted new recreational facilities, including the swimming pool project in Sweetwater Park, equipping a fire truck, and other projects. Tom Monn is post commander and Henry Wolcott is adjutant.

The Lions Club of which Dr. Frank Morgan is president, recently sponsored a circus in order to provide funds for an eye-testing machine in connection with their aid to children program.

Both the Women's Club and the Garden Club, both numbering more than 70 members, promote many civic projects. The Women's club is planning repairs to its building. Other active women's organizations include the Women's Missionary Union of the Oviedo Baptist Church, headed by Mrs. Frank Morgan and the W.R.C.S. of the

Fifty New Homes Built In Miller Acres During '50

Sharing the growth of DeBary, one of Central Florida's fastest growing communities, is Miller Acres located on more than 100 acres of land with extensive frontage on the west side of the DeLand highway and opposite Plantation Estates.

Miller Acres is owned and operated by Joseph and Mildred Schmierer, and during the past year more than 50 new homes have been built there. At the beginning of the year there were but six homes, including the large and beautiful home near the highway in which the Schmierers live.

At present, 54 families or more than 100 people live in this portion of DeBary, many of them from Ohio, New York, New Jersey and other northern states. Two new residents came from the Panama Canal Zone.

The developers do their own contracting and sub-contracting for the building of the homes, the cost of which is from $5,500 to $7,500. Total construction during the past year amounted to more than $300,000 in value.

The homes are of the modern, one story type and are located in ample plots of ground 100 by 150 feet in size.

At the beginning of 1950 there was only one clay and shell surfaced street but since that time six more streets have been graded or surfaced. The development has more than five miles of roads in what two years ago was an undeveloped wooded tract. Mr. Schmierer maintains an office, supply store and warehouse for building supplies. A meeting of the associates in the enterprise might result soon in the change of the name of the project, he stated.

A DeBary Civic Association has been formed and plans are being made to build a new community center building, he said.

Building progress has been rapid and prior to the Christmas holidays, houses were erected at the rate of about one a week.

During the present year, said Mr. Schmierer, we plan to build at least 50 more houses and about double our present population. Originally from Long Island, N. Y., where he operated real estate developments, he came to DeBary three years ago from Mount Dora. (Continued On Page Four)

Plantation Estates Expands Rapidly

Three-Year-Old Town Boasts Increase Of 400 Homes Since It Was Begun In 1947

Within eight miles of Sanford and on high rolling land overlooking the picturesque St. Johns River valley and Lake Monroe is the three year old community of DeBary and Plantation Estates which, touched with the magic of enterprise and promotion, has doubled in size and population during the past year.

With more than 20 miles of new roads, more than 150 attractive new homes have been built during the brief period since the community was founded and 32 new homes are now under construction.

The developers, with offices on Fifth Avenue in New York City, reported recently an unprecedented demand by retired business men for homes in this community which now numbers nearly 400 residents compared with about 200 in January, 1950 when 89 homes had been completed.

One of the new residents who has built a beautiful residence near a small lake is Fred Payne, now retired and formerly manager of the Grand Central Palace in New York City. He still remains a director of the Palace. Another of the new residents are Dr. and Mrs. Henry S. Whitaker. He is a retired physician. Captain Samuel N. Groves, formerly connected with a large export shipping company, has built a pretty home on a high ridge.

A retired woman physician and resident of the community is Dr. Reuben Alley, Miss Rachel Alley, her sister, who came here from the Carolinas, is now teaching the sixth grade in nearby Enterprise.

Model Homes
Heretofore, Plantation Estates has only been building homes to order for site purchasers. When the winter trek to Florida started in December, hundreds of people drove into the 1,500 acre community of colorful new houses and insisted on seeing finished homes for immediate or prompt occupancy. They were not interested in buying sites and waiting for plans and specifications.

As a result, Salvator Dilucian, vice-president in charge of building, who formerly built more than 200 homes at Canaan Lake, L. I., started five model homes at DeBary in the $5,000 to $8,000 price brackets, houses that could be duplicated quickly. These models are now about complete. Plans are pending to secure more building crews to fill orders promptly for additional homes of this type.

On top of all this came requests from New Yorkers who had previously purchased building sites in the community. They wanted homes immediately to which they could retire this winter.

During early January Mr. Dilucian flew to New York and spent a week taking orders. All during that week, he reported, owners awaited their turn to talk business.

Of special significance, he pointed out, was the fact that some of these purchasers gave the war situation as the reason for their anxiety to get located quickly in Florida. They seemed to be afraid that materials for homes might not be available later.

Merchants in Sanford, where most of the people of DeBary trade, report that the new community is having a stimulating effect on business here.

100 People
Volusia county has recognized the importance of the lustrous infant community, and has cut through a new two and a half mile road from Valencia Road in DeBary, to a point on the Enterprise Road near the Florida Power Company Plant.

With a fast growing population that is now about 400 as compared with about 200 at this time last year, DeBary required more services.

So insistent were the requests for new telephones that the Southern Bell Telephone Co., decided last summer to lay a new cable across Lake Monroe from the Sanford exchange to DeBary and Enterprise.

The work involved laying the heavy 100 pair cable underground from the telephone building to the foot of Sanford Avenue and by means of barges laying it on the bottom of the lake to Enterprise where again it was placed underground. Twenty-five pairs of cable wires were directed to Enterprise customers and 75 pairs to DeBary.

On July 28, said E. V. Turner, manager of the local exchange, the first residential telephone was installed in DeBary. Since that time more than 55 telephones have been installed in the community.

Hardly a week passes but 8 to 10 requests for telephones are received, he stated.

The more than 20 miles of roads are being constantly extended by bulldozers and road-machinery in gentle curves to fit the rolling terrain and DeBary is expanding rapidly over its more than 1,600 acres. One new road extends nearly a mile toward Sanford.

Frank Turner, sales manager of the Plantation Estates project since it began, is enthusiastic over the growth of the community. One of the improvements now pending, will be the erection in the near future of a restaurant of modern design, adjoining the company office facing the DeLam Highway.

Fred L. Spiro, president of Plantation Estates, Inc., predicts that more units of the area will have to be opened to take care of the increasing demand for homes. Terming DeBary one of the fastest growing communities in the state, he declared that it is hoped to add 200 more families by summer.

A former developer of residential projects on Long Island, he came to Florida and Daytona Beach more than three years ago with Mr. Dilucian in search of a suitable location for a housing project. After looking over several places, including one at Stuart they were shown the present site of Plantation Estates with its more than a mile of frontage on the Sanford-DeLam highway.

"We had no sooner set eyes on the land than we knew that we had an ideal location for a beautiful new community," he stated.

Count DeBary
They named the new development Plantation Estates, and later DeBary, when a Post Office was established on Oct. 1, 1949, in the rear of the Walter Hall Grocery.

The two names for the development were derived from the famous Count DeBary Estate, the 20-room mansion of which still stands on the high wooded plateau 106 feet above sea level and from its broad porches can be seen Lake Monroe, a portion of the St. Johns River, sparkling in the distance.

This picturesque building still in excellent condition, was erected by Count Frederick DeBary of Belgium in 1855, and here celebrities from all over the world were entertained, including King Edward VII of England, when he was the Prince of Wales.

Now used as a recreation center and a place where visitors and newly arrived residents can stay, the mansion once numbered among its distinguished guests President U. S. Grant; General Robert E. Lee; J. C. Breckenridge, Confederate vice-president; James G. Blaine, President Grover Cleveland; Harrier E. Scher, Stowe and Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone.

Nearby is a sulphur spring fed bathing pool which is reported to be beneficial for the alleviation of arthritis and rheumatism. Recreation facilities include shuffleboard and tennis courts, and plans are pending for a golf driving range. A dock on Lake Monroe is available for anchorage of residents.

The whole is a beautiful setting of meadows and tropical plantings with many varieties of trees and shrubs. The new road which Volusia county is building to Enterprise passes a short distance north of the mansion and grounds.

50 Designs
A drive through DeBary presents a constantly enchanting vista of colorful modern homes of the one story type, some clustered on hills overlooking little lakes. The average homes cost about $7,500 and the more than 50 designs.

Seminole County Streams Abound With Black Bass

Lake Studded Area Is Filled With Fish Of Every Variety

By ED HARPER

Moving larvally through the waters of Lake Monroe just below the power station the ten pound black bass was a picture of powerful sporting beauty. Suddenly the tantalizing flash of a shiner crossed his vision and the big fish struck with a swiftness which eluded the eye.

Fighting a losing battle the game fish whipped, leaped and lashed at the line before the exultant fisherman finally reeled him in. This scene is a common one in the teeming lakes of Central Florida throughout the winter when sportsmen in other regions have reluctantly stored their gear and forsaken the universal sport for the sedentary avocations of a snowbound winter.

Cool mornings invigorate the angler as bass fishing par excellence is to be found in a half

20 New Homes Built Last Year In Lake Mary

Lake Mary, a town of about 900 people, is situated between two large clearwater lakes about six miles southwest of Sanford and 18 miles north of Orlando.

Located in the lake section among thickly wooded hills, the scenery is attractive and interesting and many fine homes have been built facing the lakes. The largest of these, Crystal Lake, has an area of two square miles and is a favorite spot for boating, bathing and fishing.

Equally attractive is Lake Mary, a long body of water having about a square mile of surface, on the shores of which are many new homes. Little Lake Mary, a smaller lake, is connected to it by a channel. Another small lake in the district is Lake Emma, west of Crystal Lake.

About 20 new homes have been built in Lake Mary during the past year. Many of the new residents are from northern states, and have lived in Lake Mary in trailers while their new homes were being built.

Residents of Lake Mary take much pride in their water supply which has been analyzed by the State Board of Health as 99.8 percent pure. Obtained from deep artesian wells, the water is pumped into high towers furnishing sufficient pressure to extend the water lines a considerable distance. These lines are being constantly extended to meet new demands.

Not being an incorporated community, Lake Mary has no city taxes. It has a modern school building with an auditorium, a Community Church and a Nazarene Church and a modern Chamber of Commerce and community building which is at the disposal of the public as a community center.

The building was made available for public use by Frank Evans, pioneer Lake Mary citizen and Boston dye manufacturer. During March in the last 25 years, Mr. Evans has officiated there at Pioneer Night, and elderly people have jammed the hall to hear Seminole County's most gifted speakers and enjoy programs of varied entertainment. The hall has a stage and also kitchen facilities.

Lake Mary has been settled by a number of the employees of the local division of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad on which the community is located.

Bordering the railroad route, the shortest distance to Sanford, is a clay road near which are located many large citrus groves. This road is now being hard surfaced for a portion of its length. It offers a saving of one and a quarter miles motoring distance to Sanford.

The other paved route to Sanford connects with the Paola Road and follows a scenic if somewhat devious route past the golf links of the Seminole Country Club which is close by.

The approach to Lake Mary by this road reveals a new 62 acre development by W. E. Kirchoff, Jr. who has planted orange trees throughout the whole tract so that each owner of a 100 by 300 foot tract may eventually enjoy his own fruit. The development slopes toward Crystal Lake.

Only three miles south of Lake Mary is Big Tree Park containing the oldest tree in the eastern United States. Its present age is estimated at over 5,500 years. A tract surrounding the park have been donated to Seminole County as a bird sanctuary. A new bird and game sanctuary has also been recently located west of Lake Mary.

The community is supplied with electric power by the Florida Power Corp. New underground cables have recently been extended to Lake Mary by the Bell Telephone Company division in Sanford, and names of subscribers are listed in the Sanford telephone directory.

Lake Mary has an active chamber of commerce headed by Mrs. F. J. Anderson, postmaster, and Mrs. O. J. Anderson, postmaster, who own a fine two story home overlooking Crystal Lake. The chamber has been increasing each year.

SEMINOLE COUNTY SPORTSMEN FIND FISHING GOOD

Sanford fishermen proudly display their catches from all over Seminole County in these pictures. In the upper left hand corner Clifford Proctor, E. C. Dobson, B. K. Hardison and A. E. Dobson hold up two strings of speckled Perch. Just below them little Mike Hughes, grandson of George Stine, holds up a speckled trout in a lagoon at New Smyrna. Mike made the first catch of the day. In the upper right hand corner Brantley Schirard holds a ten pound salt water trout as his brother Jack looks on. Below are a group of children who have been riding on Crystal Lake in the Lady Seminole. Standing are, from left to right, Billy Kirchhoff, Brantley Schirard, and Alfred Stanley. Seated are Floyd Dorsey and Bobby Little. In the boat are Mary Rose Speer, Elizabeth Woodruff and Dan Wright, owner of the boat. At the top center Rev. J. E. McKinley and King Kong Williams, show off a string of black bass caught in the St. Johns. On the left side Charles and Gilbert Williams, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Williams, hold a ten pound black bass caught in the Wekiva River. On the right side Col. Paul J. Chesterson and George Wells display a string of ten black bass hooked in the St. Johns early in the fall. Lower center, Dr. W. B. Gardiner and J. W. Harris of Atlanta hold up a string of bass caught in the St. Johns narrows.

dozen Seminole County lakes and streams ranging from the wide and placid Lake Monroe to the swift Wekiva.

Any angler who invades the domain of the clever bass must be prepared for some of the toughest fishing battles of his career as these hard-fighters struggle for freedom against the fisherman's sporting cunning.

Three of Sanford's most ardent anglers offer visual proof of the black bass fishing in Seminole County in the picture on the front page of this section where Andrew Stine, S. M. Richard and McEwen Craft show a string of about 20 taken on Lake Monroe with a fly... one of the hardest methods.

In the upper reaches of the St. Johns River valley, are a chain of lakes and streams forming the source of the St. Johns. Here are to be found the greatest black bass swarming grounds in North America.

Each spring millions of fingerlings are hatched in these tranquil fishing grounds. During the summer those of the young fish who have managed to avoid being eaten by their cannibalistic elder and other predatory fish follow the gentle current of the northward flowing river, stopping at the confluence of the many streams which feed the St. Johns.

Seminole County fish are similar to those of other sections of the country and the tricks of the sport learned elsewhere will more than likely work just as well here.

Many methods are used in taking black bass but the rod and reel are looked upon with the most favor when used with the angler's own pet artificial lure. Still fishing with live bait is sometimes frowned on by the rod and reel advocates, but since most of the large bass are taken by this method it is still widely popular.

One of the finest specimens of brown bass in the region is held by little David Kelsey of Oviedo in one of the pictures on the front page of this section. David didn't catch the fish and he looks as if he doesn't care much about holding him, but there are many anglers who will look with envy on the little fellow.

Two other young Sanford anglers, Bobby and Ernie Norris, who are sons of the principal of Seminole High School, have had an even more successful day showing off 16 small school bass each weighing a little over two pounds. These were caught on Lake Jessup thought by many to be the finest fishing ground in Central Florida.

Local fishermen use any number of baits including shiners up to one and one-half pounds. Many anglers have been very successful under some conditions while trolling with live bait by using sufficient weight on the terminal gear to keep it down where the fish are. This latter method is a quick way to locate the fish when the artificial lures fail and is much faster than still fishing.

C. B. Royce, holding a string of Lake Jessup speckled perch, is another one winter visitor highly pleased with the local fishing grounds. Mr. Royce, a retired engineer from Grand Rapids, caught them all in the space of a single afternoon on the lake.

As rod and reel enthusiasts well know black bass are erratic beasts

New Construction Totalling $100,000 Expands Altamonte

More than $100,000 worth of new residential construction is going up in Altamonte Springs, one of Florida's oldest winter resorts.

The population of the town has risen from 300 ten years ago to a peak of 800 today. And its growth has been augmented by the many substantial residences which have been built in recent years.

The Altamonte Springs Hotel, built in 1884 when Florida first began to emerge as a vacation land, is located on Lake Oriente and is still in operation with a clientele which returns year after year to enjoy its tranquil beauty.

George and Herman Westinghouse and George Frost, all of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company, founded the town of Altamonte Springs in 1887. The town's name is descriptive, meaning high mountain which is a light exaggeration of the rolling countryside near the springs.

Most of the residents get their water not from the famed springs but from the deep cool wells which are reputed to have never gone dry.

Giant live oaks shade Altamonte Avenue, the main street. There are four large clear lakes—Oriente, Adclaide, Florida and Prairie—as well as a smaller one, Lake Maltbie, within the town limits. Beautiful and verdant pine woods envelop the town on all sides.

Among the industries of the quiet southern town are included a sawmill, general store, two groceries, a real estate agent and drive-in movie. The majority of its citizens are retired or commute to nearby Sanford or Orlando to work.

The town is located ten miles from the heart of Sanford and is on the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, which provides both freight and passenger service.

The Oviedo-Apopka road, Florida No. 436, and the old Sanford-Orlando highway both give access to the town. The latter road is being repaved from Maitland to the junction with the main artery of highway 17-92.

The non-denominational Community Church is a center of the Altamonte Springs life as is the Civic Club for Women and the town playground.

Fishing

(Continued From Page Four) ground in Seminole County there are so many desirable places from which to choose that the problem would almost be to find a spot "where they ain't."

petent guides are always ready to introduce them into the science and art of discovering the best hiding places. These guides are experts, many of whom have spent their entire lives second guessing the content of the fish family. They guarantee every angler a fine days sport with one of the steepest of all game fish. Although the use of the fly rod is increasing in Florida's lakes and streams this method has never proved to be very successful in taking black bass. But for bream, bluegills, shell-crackers, stumpknockers and red-breasts the fly rod specialist need look no further. They abound in innumerable streams and lakes of both the St. John's River and the region. One of the finest fishing grounds in the county is on the St. John's River near Crowe's Camp, a good fishing spot itself located just south of the Geneva Bridge. It is generally conceded that the best hours for fishing for bass are from around sun-up to 11 A. M. After this time the chances of landing them grow less and less. It is during this period that the fish do most of their feeding. A bass, born fighter that he is, will often strike a plug flipped nearby from the sheer love of combat rather than from any insistent of hunger. He automatically lashes out at anything which questions his reign in the section of the river which he considers his own private domain. Most Florida streams are mere tunnels through a jungle of verdant wilderness and at night fishing under a full moon is one of the most awe-inspiring experiences open to an angler. One of the highlights of the Seminole County Fishing season for the small fry is the Jaycee Fishathon staged for the youngsters who are proud of their fishing ability. This year the tournament was held on Lake Charm and was a rip-roaring success for the serious young anglers. Fishing grounds abound but each angler has his own favorite spot. These range in Seminole County from the St. John's River front only four blocks from the center of Sanford's business district to the Wekiva River and Econlockhatchee Creek about 20 miles south of the City.

SLAVIA CHURCH

Sanlando Springs

 In the development of the gardens surrounding the river and springs, care was taken not to spoil the natural loveliness and expert naturalists and landscape gardeners carefully pushed back the thick jungle with serpentine paths, bordering them with colorful azaleas, giving nature a helping hand with her wild flowers and plants by pruning them just enough to make way for the trails.
 The clubhouse which was built in recent years of modern design, blends artistically with the surroundings. Painted snow white with Persian bow trim, it is located on top of a sloping green hillside overlooking the springs. A wide verandah runs the full length of the building and is a perfect place to enjoy the carefully selected music blending with the songs of the cardinals, blue jays and mocking birds.
 Housed in one wing of the clubhouse is a comfortable lounge room and the gift shop. In the other wing is a dining room. A snack bar with modern soda fountain divides the two wings. Lockers in the modern bathhouse may be obtained and a swim enjoyed in the invigorating spring, which stays at 72 degrees all year round. Brilliant sun sparkles on the cool emerald water in the swimming pool.

11 POUND BASS

Mrs. J. B. Truluck holds a beautiful 11-pound black bass caught in the St. John's River near the Florida Power and Light Company.

which is encircled by the well equipped lockers.

Boat Rides
 An added interest are the electric boat rides down the Wekiva River where the guide will point out a China Rice Paper Plant, a Leaning Date Palm, Wild Celery, Tree Orchids and beautiful Spider, Butterfly and Canna Lilies, Long legged limpkins and blue and white herons stare at the boat as it glides noiselessly along and the visitor is thrilled at the sight of the very rare ivory bill woodpecker, his cousin "Redhead", alligators, turtles and fresh scratchings where wild turkeys gathered at the stream.

On a walk through the gardens one may see many strange plants such as the shrimp plant from Mexico, an African leaning date palm, a Chinese fan palm and a Mexican yucca along with the commoner varieties of palms, oaks, sweet gum, black gum, bay and magnolia trees. Colorful azaleas, camellias and gardenias vie for attention over the sweet yellow jasmine, the Cherokee Water fall roses and the rainbow colored water lilies. On one of the rustic bridges the visitor can pause to feed the big fat black bass, bream and funny little tropical fishes.

The Springs are a popular meeting place for students from the nearby colleges, Rollins at Winter Park and Stetson at DeLand, as well as winter visitors in Seminole and surrounding areas. The springs are especially adaptable to the fun of young and old alike as there are many attractions for all.

Lake Mary

 beauty of scenery and community friendliness find Lake Mary a pleasant place to live, said Raymond Ball, a resident there who is president of the Seminole County Realtors Association.

Lakefront acreage is becoming scarce, he recently pointed out, but a few lots are still obtainable at reasonable prices. The Lake Mary Home Demonstration Club, which includes as members many of the women of the community, has been active in work directed toward home betterment and the education of girls in home-making arts. They recently sponsored a First Aid program directed by Herman E. Morris principal of Seminole School.

Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jones and Dr. and Mrs. Vincent Roberts of Sanford. Work is progressing on the new parsonage of the Methodist Church of which the Rev. E. T. Standifer is pastor. Among those building new homes are C. G. Shaffer, W. H. Cox and Prof. W. A. Teague. Oviedo is proud of its high school basketball team which under the coaching of Paul Mickler, won 8 out of the first 10 games played. The girls team won 6 out of 10 tilts.

Longwood Hotel Is Center Of Social Life In Community

Longwood, located nearly midway between Sanford and Orlando, with a population of about 800 people and the trading center of a district of nearly 1,800 inhabitants, is planning a bond issue of $50,000 to provide four miles of street paving, and to extend water lines a mile further out from the center of town to serve new residents. With the increase in traffic in the well built little business center, it is planned to widen downtown streets from curb to curb. Owen Egin, mayor of Longwood is active in backing the improvement.

During the past four years about 87 new homes have been built in Longwood, and about 25 during the past year. In spite of the building there is a housing shortage and extra accommodations are hard to find. This was reported recently by the Chester Fosgate Company of Forest City which was seeking quarters for new employees at its citrus concentrate plant.

Longwood boasts modern fire fighting equipment including a well equipped truck representing an investment of more than $7,000. John Farina is fire chief and also serves as chief of police. The fire department truck was the result of an intensive municipal drive to which Sanford citizens made donations.

Among the growing enterprises is that of Herman Jean who operates a garage and general merchandise business. He is completing a new building in which to house his store, garage and filling station and will have his living quarters on the second floor.

Longwood Hotel The center of social life in Longwood is the Longwood Hotel, which since it was razed over and modernized several years ago by Maximilian Shepard, has Longwood is a lumber supply center and three mills are located on the edge of town including those of Smith Bros., Wilbur Goodall, and Stanley Largent. Other enterprises include the Baldwin Brush Co., manufacturers of brooms and brushes of which R. L. Jacobs is manager. The Florida Foliage Co., of which Noel Ruby is manager, colors and ships palm leaves and other foliage and its product have a wide distribution. achieved widespread popularity. Mr. Shepard also owns the Birmingham Hotel in the town of the same name in New York. Tourists find the hotel comfortable and thoroughly up to date. Its cuisine is so famed that hardly a week goes by that Mr. Shepard is not the genial host to parties and conventions numbering up to 200 people. The hotel was built in 1882 by E. W. Henck, with J. H. Clouser of Pennsylvania as contractor. The work took two years, but due to difficulty in securing the proper furniture at that time it was not opened until 1888, when it was known as Waltham. It was owned in 1926-27 by the noted baseball veteran, Joe Tinker. In 1927 governors of 32 states stopped there for a luncheon. The Lyman School, south of Longwood provides both elementary and high school instruction. Several rooms have been recently added to the school. The community is well situated for recreation. It is but a very short distance from Sanlando Springs with its beautiful park and swimming facilities. The Big Tree Park is just outside the city. Greyhound Racing may be enjoyed nightly during the winter season at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club. The greatest depth of the Atlantic Ocean is 30,240 feet, at a point north of Puerto Rico.

GREETINGS!

You are interested in Florida so we call your attention to the advantages of Sanford and Seminole County. This pictorial portion of The Sanford Herald will give you an idea of the gracious living, business and agricultural possibilities of this section.

Sanford, the County Seat of Seminole County, an attractive city of 15,000 people, is on the St. Johns River in beautiful and substantial Central Florida, 125 miles south of Jacksonville and less than an hour's drive from the ocean. Rich citrus groves, fertile vegetable fields and extensive cattle raising with their allied industries, storage, packing and processing plants form a sound economic background for the section.

Florida's unusually delightful climate is enhanced by Sanford's inland location, with ever-present moderating breezes from the Atlantic or the Gulf. An invigorating mean temperature of 61 degrees in winter and 80 degrees in summer make year round living conditions ideal.

Fishing, hunting, swimming, boating, golf and tennis are excellent and provide a wide variety of inexpensive recreation.

For vacation or permanent home, Seminole County is superb with its central location, good roads, fine water, excellent schools and all civic clubs, fraternal orders and churches. Here, too, you will find living costs relatively low. Large building lots in the City or acreage for small suburban farms or citrus groves are available for your future home.

Visit Sanford as soon as you can. See for yourself how wonderful it is to live here in an atmosphere of friendliness and with outstanding opportunities for downright comfortable living or profitable business or farming.

We cordially invite you to become one of us in friendly Seminole County. Write today to the address below for detailed information.

New Defense Housing Rents Labeled High

Proposal Is Made To Extend Time Limit On Mortgages To Cut Current Rents

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Cooperative League contended to Congress today that rents on defense housing built under a proposed $3,000,000 federal mortgage insurance program are likely to be out of the reach of the average family.

Wallace J. Campbell, director of the league's Washington office, suggested the rents could be cut by lengthening the period for paying off the mortgages.

The Administration measure would authorize an additional $3,000,000 in government mortgage insurance to spur home building in defense areas. It fixes 25 years as the maximum period for amortization, or paying off, the mortgages.

Campbell testified before the Senate Banking Committee which is holding hearings on the measure. He described the Cooperative League as a federation of consumer, purchasing and service cooperatives with more than 1,800,000 members families.

Campbell said Raymond M. Foley, the federal housing chief, had indicated that rents for private housing built under the program would probably range from $75 to $93 a month.

This would be exclusive of heat and utilities. With these added, Campbell said, the monthly cost to tenants would be $90 to $110 a month.

Campbell urged enactment of the legislation but said the Cooperative League was concerned lest the rents be higher than the average family employed in a defense plant can afford.

He said a longer amortization period would make possible a substantial cut in the monthly payments. The bill, he said, would make no provision for such a cut.

Vermont Couple Saved From Blaze In Geneva House

Warned by a newspaper carrier that their house was on fire, Mr. and Mrs. John Hodskins, an elderly couple from Vermont, were alerted to don bath robes and flee unharmingly from the burning frame dwelling in Geneva early this morning.

The house, the property of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams of Derby, was burned to the ground in spite of efforts by neighbors to save it.

Curtis Storey, 35, of Orlando, noticed the fire while banking on doors was able to wake up the elderly couple, said Ray McCall, a neighbor. During World War II, Mr. Storey served in the 101st Airborne Division.

Voice Of America Adds To Overseas Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The radio "Voice of America" is adding to its broadcasts beamed on Communist China and will soon inaugurate broadcasts in Lithuanian.

This was announced yesterday by the State Department. It said the new program will mean that the "Voice of America" will be heard abroad in 28 languages and dialects during 25 hours of broadcasting daily.

On Friday the voice will begin 30-minute broadcasts in the Amoy Chinese dialect, and add 15 minutes a day to its programs in Mandarin, the official Chinese language. This will mean five hours daily of broadcasting in Chinese tongues.

A daily 15-minute program in Lithuanian will also start Friday, for listeners in the Baltic republic taken over by Soviet Russia in the early years of World War II. The State Department said Estonian and Latvian-speaking neighbors will be added later.

Farmers May Be Forced To Accept Subsidies In Stabilization Move

By OVID A. MAITIN
ASSOCIATED PRESS FARM REPORTER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—If the government is to attain price and wage stability, it may be forced to prescribe some bitter medicine for agriculture.

The view appeared today in a growing official and unofficial quarter warning the spurring of stabilization officials with wages and food prices.

Much of the difficulty in bringing the price level and wage scales under control is attributed to farm and food prices. Under the law, relatively few farm products can be frozen yet. They have not risen to the level of price protection granted by law.

Organized labor rebels against having its pay frozen as long as there is room for its cost of living—and particularly food—to go higher.

Just such a situation developed early in World War II. The little sound-up with agriculture accepting something its leaders bitterly resisted—subsidies.

Again agriculture may be asked to choose between subsidies and possible removal of its present price ceiling protection.

Fellowship Front Group Told Navy Orders Unchanged

C. A. Maddy, manager of the Fellowship Front, accompanied by about 200 of the residents who have leased rooms from this organization in buildings at the Municipal Airport, appeared before the City Commission last night to inquire into the possibility of being granted an extension of time at their present quarters.

The Commission advised that the Navy had not countermanded its orders since the original schedule was set up, said City Manager McKibbin this morning.

The Navy, he added, had set the dates for the vacation of the buildings from March 1 to April 22.

Mr. Maddy told the Commission that he had advised in Washington, D. C., that the Navy had planned to send a representative here to make a detailed investigation of all of the buildings now occupied by the Fellowship Front in order to determine the value to the Navy of the improvements installed. The Fellowship Front has not yet received such a report, he said.

He further advised the Commission that if a substantial payment could be received from the government, he would complete negotiations to build a hotel to accommodate the people, several hundred of whom have lifetime memberships or leases.

In behalf of the trustees of the Bert Fish Estate, W. A. Laffer, a trustee, presented to the City a check for $7,200, the balance due on the property at 1st Street which will be used as the site of a $700,000 hospital.

Sanitation problems relating to sewage disposal from the Castle Brewer project were discussed with Sidney A. Berkowitz regional sanitary officer of the State Board of Health. He told the Commission that the State Board had not yet given permission to the City to discharge sewage into mains.

Some sources here said Phillip C. Jessup, U. S. Ambassador at Large, might represent the United States. Jessup has been named by the British and French ambassadors in Washington on west.

Suzanne Meek Died; Flew Here In 1948

Lieut. Suzanne Meek, 36, a woman pilot of the Free French Air Force, who flew on bombing missions over Germany during World War I and was in January, 1948, participated in a glider contest at the Sanford Municipal Airport died of a kidney ailment on Feb. 4 in a hospital at Durham, N. C.

During her participation in the glider meet here, Lieut. Meek was beaten by only one point by British of Brooklyn, N. Y., in the second international contest, a four-day meet.

She was holder of the French mono-seat glider endurance record and the women's world endurance record for multi-seat gliders in March, 1947, at Foville, France. She was also the first woman to be commissioned in the Free French Air Force as a military pilot and commanded the first squadron of the Escadrille Femina de l'Armee, flying in Africa, France and Germany. She won the French Legion of Honor and the Order de Guerre with two palms.

Students Are Given Chance To Volunteer

Draft Boards Told To Cancel Inductions For Any Students Planning To Enlist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Selective Service told local draft boards today they may cancel induction orders for college and high school students who intend to enlist and apply for cancellation before school is out.

The students, in making a written application, must also give written notice that they wish to enlist in the branch of service of their choice.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hersey said the draft boards at the same time will grant a 30-day postponement period for such students, to commence at the end of the statutory postponement—that is, on the last day of school. Draft age students now in high school or college have been given blanket postponement of induction until the end of the school term.

A Selective Service spokesman said students who have received orders to report for induction may apply for cancellation—in order to enlist—at any time, but would be wise not to wait until the very last day of the school term.

A new order to report for induction may be issued to any such registrant who is found not to have entered active military service by the end of his 30-day postponement period, Hersey said.

The instructions were contained in telegrams sent by Hersey to all state directors of Selective Service.

The telegrams summarized and explained the instructions previously issued regarding the privilege of students to enlist in the service of their choice at the end of the current academic year without the service being able to take them.

The telegrams also explained a recent order granting postponement of inductions to mid-year college graduates and registrants with highly technical skills to find jobs in the expanding defense program.

Selective Service said a great deal of confusion had resulted from the two orders, and therefore the explanations today were deemed desirable.

The armed services agreed in August, 1948, that they would not accept a voluntary enlistment after a man had received orders to report for his present physical examination.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Senate sources said today thousands of men on duty would have their terms of active service extended by the proposed Universal Military Training Service law.

This is the Administration proposal that would lower the draft age from 19 to 18 and extend present required service of 21 months to 24 months exclusive of leave, or 30 months and 45 days if leave is taken during service.

The legislation, as approved by the Senate preparedness subcommittee, would add the extra service.

Tom H. Deen, assistant state service officer, will be at the office of Lieut. F. Boyle and at other places in Seminole County this week to aid veterans or their dependents in filing claims for compensation and report for his present physical examination.

Mr. Deen, who arrived at Mr. Boyle's office at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon, will be there also tomorrow morning to advise veterans.

Business Leaders Support FRB In Demand For Brake On Bank Credit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A group of prominent businessmen has taken the side of the Federal Reserve Board in its disagreement with the Truman Administration over the way to control inflation.

The group stepped last night into a dispute over the interest rate on the national debt involving whether to support the price of government securities by buying any government issues put on the market.

The businessmen called for a halt to this buying, saying that wage-price controls can work only if inflation is checked by putting a brake on bank credit.

The businessmen are members of the Committee for Economic Development (CED). The CED is a non-profit organization which tries to help determine those economic policies that would encourage high production and employment with the framework of a free society.

In a statement, the CED's program committee made these points:

"There can be no reasonable basis for confidence in the control of inflationary pressure if the expansion of bank credit and the resultant increase in the amount of money is not brought under tight-

U. S. Must Provide Aid For Backward, Rotarians Told

Missionary Describes Progress Made By Natives Of Congo

The United States must concern itself with underprivileged peoples everywhere for it is among them that Communism sees its seeds of discontent and rebellion," Dr. William Rule told the Rotary Club yesterday in a review of his work as a medical missionary in the Belgian Congo.

Dr. Rule, a graduate of Davidson University who was introduced by George Touhy gave a brief review of his work in aiding the native population of the Congo.

Pointing out that the people there must be convinced of the genuine sympathy and concern which Americans have in their welfare and in raising their standard of living, Dr. Rule emphasized the danger of a rising wave of discontent and disaffection as the natives realize their own which is sweeping across Africa.

He said that the natives are being awakened to the luxuries of western civilization.

"Realization of the condition in most advanced societies has instilled in the natives a desire to rise—a desire which may be made over the prostrate bodies of western civilization if by no other means," Dr. Rule said.

Operating a 60-bed hospital in the Congo, a colony as large as the United States east of the Mississippi, it is no easy task in the face of malaria, ignorance and a budget of $4,000 a year, Dr. Rule pointed out.

"Some of the richest uranium deposits in the world are to be found in the Congo," he added, "and at present practically the entire production is flowing into the U. S. arsenal."

Mineral wealth of all kinds, including rare cobalt and uranium, are to be found in the Congo, he said.

"Revolutionary changes are shaking the entire African continent, but the enlightened and progressive attitude of the Belgian population is offsetting to a large extent the native discontent," Dr. Rule asserted.

"French is now a widely heard language throughout the colony and literacy is fast disappearing. The number of students in the hundreds of schools," he continued.

"But in spite of everything, the natives feel a sense of insecurity and demand to know 'When will we be free to follow our own bent?' and 'What is to be our future?'" Dr. Rule added.

A cross and avaricious spirit is abroad among them and they are driven by a desire to emulate their envied white masters," he concluded.

LIBEL LAW EXTENSION

ATLANTA, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Governor Herman Tammidge's bill to make newspapers in Georgia's five largest cities subject to libel suits in any county in which they circulate was passed by the Senate today.

The vote on the measure, which was attacked in heated debate as an "attempt to bribe newspapers" was 28 to 19, the bare constitutional majority necessary for passage.

MARONS MEET

The Fellowship Degree will be conferred at the Marons of Sanford Lodge No. 62, P. M., Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

RAIL FOR REMINGTON

The U. S. Court of Appeals today approved the release of William W. Remington in $7,000 bail and withdrawal of his perjury conviction.

Remington, former government accountant, was convicted of perjury last Wednesday by a jury which held that he lied when he swore he never had been a Communist. He was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $2,000—maximum under the law.

Stenstrom Calls For Enforcement Of Beverage Law

County Judge Douglas Stenstrom today called upon "every law enforcement officer in Seminole County to enforce the state beverage laws against illegal sale of alcoholic beverages to minors after legal closing hours, and the illegal sale on Sundays."

At a meeting of all county law enforcement officials at the Court House Monday morning at 10:00 A.M., called by Judge Stenstrom early last week, he stated that "while many beverage license holders are complying strictly with the beverage laws, it is a well-known fact that many are not and that alcoholic beverages are obtainable in Seminole County by persons under the legal age as well as after legal closing hours, and on Sunday."

Judge Stenstrom pointed out that "our elected representatives in the Legislature have made these laws and whatever our individual ideas might be about them is not in point here today. As long as they are the laws of Florida, they should be enforced and I am calling upon you, gentlemen, as the county's law enforcement authority to see to it that they are enforced."

Judge Stenstrom stated that in his opinion the recent tragic accident at French Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street, which claimed the lives of two persons, was directly attributable to violations of state beverage laws and said the matter should not be closed with the prosecution of the driver of the auto alone.

Present at the meeting were Sheriff P. A. Merz, Deputies Charles H. Beck and Howard Hood of Sanford, Constable W. A. Lewis of Longwood, Deputy Sheriff H. A. Stafford of Altamonte Springs, Deputy Sheriff Talley Hattaway of Casselberry, Constable George Kelsey of Oviedo, and Constable Sam Hampton of Geneva.

Two Auto Accidents Reported To Police

Two motor vehicle accidents were reported to the Police Department early this morning. At 4:13 A.M., Ernest Coleman, 40, of 38, of Alabama, attempted a north turn into Seminole Boulevard from French Avenue, and the Mack truck and heavily loaded truck was driving turned over. Damage to the truck, owned by William Grethall of Orlando, was estimated at $2,000. The driver was not injured.

At 6:19 A.M., a 1947 Plymouth Sedan, driven by Charles B. Slavin, 36, of 14, of Florida, collided with a 1936 Ford truck which John H. Richardson of Orlando was backing onto French Avenue at Fourteenth Street. Damage to the Plymouth was charged with carelessness and negligent driving.

On Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, the year old Stanley Johnson of Paola, attempting to turn across Ninth Street near Maple Avenue, was struck by a 1938 Cooper who was making a right turn. The boy was treated at the mid-Laughter Memorial Hospital for a broken leg and minor head injuries.

B. F. Ganas Appointed To Head Scout Group

B. F. Ganas has been appointed chairman of the Seminole District Council of the Boy Scouts of America. E. Tucker, chairman of the nominating committee, announced today.

The chairmanship responsibilities include the co-ordination of all operating committees of the Seminole District and scouting activities throughout the county.

Not that he had many women on his staff, he said. He has served since then in various scouting activities. On Mar. 1 he will preside for the first time in his new position.

Executioner Claims Women Are Bravest

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A woman should die in the hangman's noose is braver than any man.

That's the opinion of Albert Pierrepoint, Britain's executioner for the past 20 years.

Not that he's had many women on his list, he said. One in 1943 was the first woman in Britain since 1936.

"I have never known a condemned woman to break down at the last moment," Pierrepoint told a Royal Commission on capital punishment in testimony released today.

"Would you say there was anything particularly unpleasant in the execution of a woman?" A commission member asked.

"No," Pierrepoint replied. "I think a woman is braver than a man and I have seen more executions than anyone living."

NEW DEAL

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Two months ago Stanley Finmore, 23, was sentenced to a year in prison for filling a cigarette slot gas meter. He appealed to a higher court.

The appeal judges quashed the original sentence—because they did not consider it severe enough. Today Finmore was sentenced to two years.

Crime Committee Queries Costello In Closed Hearing

All Investigations Lead To New York City, Spokesman Claims

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee began a two-day closed hearing here today with gambler Frank Costello as its last witness.

A committee spokesman said Costello was questioned about his possible past ownership in the New Orleans Beverly Club, described as a night club-restaurant-gambling casino.

Costello was cloistered with the committee for an hour and 20 minutes. He declined comment to reporters on entering and leaving the hearing room in the U. S. courthouse.

He was accompanied during the hearing by his attorney, George Wolf, who carried a heavy briefcase into the committee room.

Wolf said it was possible Costello would be called before the committee again, but perhaps not until public hearings are held. While Costello still was before the committee, a committee spokesman said ramifications of the committee's hearings in other parts of the country "lead to New York."

He said the New York hearings were the last "on the road" before the committee holds its final hearings in Washington to receive testimony from government officials who have not testified previously.

James Rutkin, of Newark, one of two New Jersey witnesses scheduled to appear before the committee here, told reporters while waiting to testify.

"Why don't these Hollywood investigators take a back seat and get J. Edgar Hoover (head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation) up here? He'll tell them all they want to know in two days."

Senator Estes D. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, said six witnesses had been subpoenaed from Saratoga County, N. Y., in addition to Costello, Rutkin and Gerald Catton, of South Orange, N. J.

Florida Fashions Ships 70 Thousand Piled Up Dresses

More than 70,000 packages containing dresses made by Florida Fashions were loaded aboard trains and shipped between Thursday night and Saturday afternoon last week.

The packages had been held here due to the blockade in rail shipments created by the "lock" strike of switchmen, said Sam Martina, operations manager of the firm.

The Florida Fashions shipping department and Post Office workers teamed up in what they termed "Operations Night Owl" to load the packages on north-bound trains.

The package had to be handled three times due to the delay in shipment. During the period of the embargo the addressed parcels were stacked and stored. When the release came, all had to be unpacked and stamped, C. C. D.'s envelopes were sorted by states and terminals, were packed and tied into the trains.

Dave Smith and Dick Cosgrove directed the Florida Fashions crews. The postal employees were supervised by Pete Peyton, clerk, and Henry Lowmell, assistant.

Mr. Martina praised the men who performed this exhausting task, pointed out that they had worked in long shifts with but very short rest periods, many of them devoting as much as 20 hours to the work.

"In all my experience," he declared, "I've never seen better spirit or more loyalty."

MEN'S CLUB

The Rev. Paul Reeves, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church in Winter Park, will speak on "The Christian View of History" at the regular monthly supper of the Holy Cross Men's Club in the Parish House at 8:30 Thursday evening. B. F. Whitner, Jr. announced today.
