Shell Buying 157 Acres For Hotel, Offices In Lake Mary

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Shell Oil Co. has made a downpayment on a multi-million-dollar 157-acre property in Lake Mary slated for a 400-room hotel and office park. To be built west of Lake Emma Road and north of National Cash Register Co., the acreage was being developed as Northpoint Park by Sal Orlando of Kana Development, Orlando. But he said he is selling out.

"We have a downpayment from Shell Oil and expect closing by the end of the year," Orlando said. "Of course, Shell has an option to extend the closing if they desire."

He added, "It's a super project and the location is just dynamite."

Making the parcel more valuable was the fact that it already has Development of Regional Impact approvals and this week received approval by the Lake Mary Planning and Zoning Board for preliminary subdivision review. The area is already zoned heavy commercial, office and light industrial.

The P&Z approval is mainly for "infrastructure" — that is, roads, sewer, water, etc., said P&Z Chairman Jim Talmadge. He added that everyone is happy with plans for the park so far.

"It didn't present any significant problems at all," Talmadge said.

The matter will go on to the city commission for consideration Nov. 20.

No one could give a firm price quote on the property.

Bike lockers and sidewalks are to be included in individual site development, and the city has asked that location be reserved for transit facilities.

A depression on the property, meaning a need for drainage structures, is reportedly shared with

Job May Go To Help Fund New Office

To Enforce Alimony, Support Rulings

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

County commissioners appear to be leaning toward eliminating a judicial secretary position to pay in part for an office to enforce alimony and child support court rulings.

Other monies for the $40,000 program would come from the state Department Health and Rehabilitative Services.

The Circuit Court Judges of Seminole County had asked commissioners to consider a $5 increase in filing fees for Circuit Court actions and that a new fee of $25 per-case be established for petitions for modification or abatement to pay for the enforcement.

However, commissioners appear to be leaning to the elimination a judicial secretary's position, which would mean a savings of at least $14,372, the starting pay for a judicial secretary.

The Civil Domestic Division has two judicial secretaries. A county personnel department official said the two secretaries will be reviewed based on job performance and length of service, before deciding who would be "laid off for lack of funding."

Commissioner Sandra Glenn said if a judicial secretary's job was cut, that person "would be encouraged to apply in another county division or department."

In 1979, alimony and child support enforcement was aided by the Domestic Relations Commission, a self-supporting agency funded by filing fees and fees from a percentage of child support payments. A change in state law repealed those fees. The agency was replaced by the Civil Domestic Division.

The new fees suggested were projected to yield about $14,000, but commissioners seem to favor no fee increase and eliminating the judicial secretary.

That option would combine the secretary's salary, $12,077 in monies brought forward from the previous fiscal year, and $22,638 from an HRS contract totaling $34,715. The proposed expenditure for the program this fiscal year is $39,959, which means $5,244 would have to be allocated from the general fund contingency.

The commission is expected to make a decision on the funding request at their Nov. 25 meeting.

Alley Cat To Foxtrot: Golden Agers Love To Dance

By Deane Jordan

They twinkled, twirled and tapped toes, partners kicking up their heels at the Golden Age Games dance contest.

"A lot of people think old people should get in a rocking chair and let their hair blow in the wind," said Harry Swope, 69, Cha Cha Cha contestant from DeLand. "The name of the game is to have fun."

A good time was also one of the elements the judges graded in determining the winners in the eight categories.

"We look for couples that work well together," said Betty Vaccaro, a judge and owner of a dance studio in Sanford. "We look to see if they are enjoying themselves. We like to see a smile on their face," she said.

Contestants stepped away doing the Foxtrot, Cha Cha Cha, Jitterbug, Polka, Rumba, Tango, Waltz and Alley Cat.

Ms. Vaccaro said the dancers were also judged on basic foot work, making sure they do specific steps for that dance and not adapted steps from other dances. How well they danced together and was graded, she said.

"I think the games are wonderful," said Elena Bocca, 58, of Deltona, a Silver medal winner in the Cha Cha Cha along with her partner Bill Livingston of DeLand. "It's great. We love to dance. We dance four nights a week."

New Probe Of Land Buy Underway

Yankee Lake Cover-Up Charged

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A second investigation reportedly is underway of Seminole County's purchase of Yankee Lake property because the grand jury probing the matter felt it was deliberately hampered by the governor-appointed special prosecutor and was forced to disband before it could explore the issue fully.

The grand jury that reportedly finished its six-month term Nov. 3 without being granted its requested extension to continue looking into the Yankee Lake purchase and an alleged related coverup.

The new investigation, to be conducted by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, was requested in a letter from the grand jury to Gov. Bob Graham. The letter also reportedly asks that all findings in the FDLE probe be submitted to the new grand jury. At least one juror who appeared before the grand jury has allegedly received a death threat in connection with the issue.

At issue is whether the county violated state law when it purchased 2,900 acres from Heathrow developer Jeno Paulucci for a wastewater disposal site and whether there is a related coverup by county officials who allegedly personally stand to benefit from the purchase and subsequent development.

The grand jury had asked to see 23 witnesses but was only allowed by special prosecutor Robert Eagan to see two on Oct. 29, a few days before its six-month term was to expire, said developer Grant McEwan of Casselberry, who took the issue to the grand jury when the local State Attorney's Office reportedly declined to do so.

Eagan, state attorney for Orange and Osceola counties, was appointed by Gov. Graham to assist the grand jury after the local State Attorney's Office was accused of "impeding justice" by not taking the issue to the grand jury. State Attorney Norm Wolfinger has said he cannot discuss the allegations, and would not comment on McEwan's claim.

'This is a coverup that reaches right to the governor's office. It was orchestrated right from the governor's office.'

—Grant McEwan

"This is a coverup that reaches right to the governor's office. It was orchestrated right from the governor's office," said McEwan. He said Graham had "political reasons" for not letting the issue and those possibly involved from being investigated by a grand jury.

"Bob Eagan shut it down. He had no intention of coming over here and hearing evidence. He told someone in the hallway, 'this won't take 30 minutes,'" McEwan said. He said the grand jury foreman and probably other members of the former grand jury will go before the new one expanded Nov. 3 and testify that they thought Eagan prevented evidence from being heard, he said.

McEwan has charged that the $7.5 million land purchase by the county was made without public notice, without appraisals, without disclosure of the property's trust owners and approved without prior public notice at 2:30 a.m. at the end of a county commission meeting Nov. 6, 1985. The purchase was facilitated by a coverup, he asserts.

His accusations were similar to ones made by the city of Sanford which sued the county over the purchase but had its case tossed out of court on a technicality and procedural error. Sanford wanted the same land for a similar purpose. County officials have denied any impropriety.

McEwan said his life has been threatened by a person connected with an elected county official. He declined to name the person, but said he was told he "didn't know who he was playing with," and that he would

Wrong Language

PARIS (UPI) — A French court has ruled the director of one of the country's biggest fast-food chains violated the law by using English words such as "bigcheese" and "milkshake" in his restaurants.

The Supreme Court of Appeals determined Wednesday that because the names of the products were mostly in English, customers could not understand what they were buying.

Phone Cable Cut

Approximately 50 Southern Bell residential customers had their phone service disrupted Wednesday for four and a half hours after a 200-pair cable was cut by a contractor working at 25th Street and Mellonville Avenue in Sanford. The cut was made at approximately 4:15 p.m., according to Larry Strickler, Southern Bell spokesman.

Mounting Fines Prod Hotel Owner Compliance

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

The Florida Hotel is moving rapidly toward compliance with all Sanford building codes through actions on the part of owner Peggy Nestor and prodding from city commissioners and code enforcement board members.

According to code board member Joyce Malone, until all necessary work is complete, city code violation fines that add up to $8,650 as of today should continue to accrue at $275-a-day.

Mrs. Malone, whose motions brought the fines, said considerations city commissioners discussed with Mrs. Nestor Monday, although assisting her compliance with city codes, should not halt continued accruals of a $250-a-day fine effective Oct. 15, and a $25-a-day charge that began Sept. 16.

However, after Monday night's city commission meeting, there seems to be some administrative confusion about the $250-a-day fine. The fine began when Mrs. Nestor failed to meet a compliance deadline for off-street parking installation.

While city staff and Mrs. Nestor say work to enable the fine's termination was complete Oct. 30, Mrs. Malone and City Commissioner John Mercer disagree. Mercer said Monday the lot isn't finished and Mrs. Malone said if this is the case, "the fine should continue until it's done."

The city's engineering department director, who gave the nod on the lot's completion as of Oct. 30, suggested today the city's attorney be contacted about the $250-a-day fine's status.

City Attorney William Colbert said, "The code board determines the fines; when they run and when they stop."

Mrs. Malone's doubts about the lot's completion prompted the code board on Oct. 30 to stay the $250-a-day fine's termination until receiving clarification from commissioners.

At a request from Mrs. Nestor in October, commissioners said the lot could be mulched instead of paved as the city code requires. Along with the consideration came a set of requirements for the lot's installation.

The requirements were set through a motion by Mercer. On Monday, Mercer said he thought the motion called for concrete curbing to run down the lot's border. Commission meeting minutes do not contain the statement and Mercer said he'll therefore settle for the wooden cross ties Mrs. Nestor installed in lieu of the concrete curbing.

But, he said, the ties do not cover the entire area he specified, "so as far as I'm concerned it's not complete and she's not in compliance."

When Mercer pointed out he didn't feel the lot was finished Monday, Mrs. Nestor said she would complete the installation.

If the $250-a-day fine was to end as of Oct. 30, it would total $4,000. As of today, it would be $7,250.

Another fine, totaling $1,400 as of today, should also continue until necessary work is complete, Mrs. Malone said.

The fine is $25-a-day, assessed since Sept. 16 for Mrs. Nestor's failure to replace 26 doors the city's building department

IN BRIEF

Reagan Holds Private Briefings, Maintains Public Silence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan briefed congressional leaders on U.S. dealings with Iran but is maintaining a public silence to keep his options open for any chance of freeing the remaining American hostages in Lebanon.

Under Reagan's orders, the White House and the State Department are holding the line with "no comment" on all questions regarding the reported swap of U.S. weapons with Iran for the hostages held by pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad terrorists in Lebanon.

When a question was tossed at him Wednesday while he congratulated the New York Mets for the World Series victory, Reagan said he could not discuss a "no hitter" while the game was still on.

Drug Tests Ruled Unconstitutional

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A ruling by a federal judge striking down the testing of Customs Service employees for drug use will doom President Reagan's order of random drug testing for thousands of federal employees, a union lawyer said.

U.S. District Judge Robert Collins ruled Wednesday the Customs Service's mandatory testing violates the Fourth Amendment and ordered it stopped immediately because it constitutes illegal and unwarranted search and seizure.

"The testing offends this court's sense of justice," Collins wrote. "The Justice Department used a dragnet approach that tested workers without probable cause and was overtly intrusive and constitutionally infirm."

Keyed Mike Causes Near Collision

ATLANTA (UPI) — A blocked radio frequency kept air traffic controllers from warning two jetliners carrying 175 people that they were on a near collision course 35,000 feet over the Tennessee mountains, officials said.

United Airlines Flight 743 from Fort Myers, Fla., to Chicago and Braniff Flight 815 from New York to Dallas passed 500 to 1,000 feet apart at the same altitude Wednesday, airline sources said.

No one was injured and neither aircraft had to take evasive action.

FAA spokesman Roger Myers said the Atlanta controller handling the jets "was trying to take corrective action when he realized he couldn't communicate because of a stuck microphone on the frequency. He could not communicate with the aircraft to ... ensure separation."

Transplant Called 'Only Hope'

CHICAGO (UPI) — The mother of a 17-month-old Arkansas boy who underwent a "highly experimental" bowel and liver transplant says the risky operation was the tot's only hope for survival.

"It's impossible to tell; nobody has any experience with this. But we wouldn't be doing it if we weren't hopeful," said Dr. James Williams, head of transplantation at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center.

Ryan Threet of Mountain Home, Ark., was in critical but stable condition early today after receiving a new small intestine and liver during a 17-hour operation Tuesday.

Bundy Seeks Execution Stay

LAKE CITY (UPI) — Attorneys for Ted Bundy are seeking a stay of execution from the judge who sentenced Bundy to die in Florida's electric chair for the 1978 murder of 12-year-old schoolgirl Kimberly Diane Leach.

Bundy, who also is under a death sentence for the slaying of two Chi Omega sorority sisters at Florida State University, was scheduled to be executed next Tuesday for the Leach murder.

Defense attorney James Coleman said he would ask Columbia County Circuit Judge Wallace Jopling today to halt the execution because Bundy was denied a clemency hearing.

Coleman also asked the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta to make the state "show cause" why Bundy was scheduled for execution for the Leach murder when the court had issued an indefinite stay for the Chi Omega killings.

Martinez Warns Budget Reductions Must Wait

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Governor-elect Bob Martinez has warned taxpayers not to expect any serious budget slashing this year despite his campaign pledge to strike $800 million in waste from the $16 billion state budget.

With the budget due just one month after he takes office in January, Martinez said Wednesday, the taxpayers will probably have to settle for some minor re-adjustments this year.

He promised to begin a whole new approach to budget writing next year, when he can begin from the bottom up and not have to rely on months of ground work begun by the outgoing administration of Gov. Bob Graham.

"In terms of how the budget is developed, I think we'll have to wait until next year to do something there," Martinez said.

It was the first full day the Republican former Tampa mayor has devoted to learning the ropes in Tallahassee. He was to meet with several of his future Democratic Cabinet colleagues Wednesday afternoon.

"In all honesty, today is the first time that reality has set in — that you are the governor-elect," he told reporters. "Campaigns are one thing, serving is another. All of a sudden dollars that you used in a campaign become real."

But, he added, "I'm looking forward to it. I don't mind telling you I enjoy serving better than campaigning."

Martinez said during a news conference he was still considering appointments of agency department heads. He may fill 400 patronage positions in the governor's office alone.

Martinez said that Attorney General Jim Smith will join his transition team as chief of staff and operations, but it was unclear whether Democrat Smith would stay on when the Republican administration takes office next January.

Martinez named Orlando financier F. Phillip Handy as his budget chief during the transition, with responsibility for the state spending plan due in February. Handy was finance director of the Martinez campaign.

Campaign manager Mac Sipanovich joins the transition team as head of communications and Lieutenant Governor-elect Bobby Brantley, a veteran member of the state House from Longwood, Fla., will be Martinez' emissary to the Legislature.

"These are transitional (appointments). None of them are on the payroll," Martinez said.

Land Use Changes OK'd

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Some residential homes may begin to be converted into offices along Maitland Avenue near the Orange County line in south Seminole County in coming months, as a result of action taken by Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday.

Seventeen property owner requests for a change in the county's Comprehensive Land Use Plan won commission approval for a change in land use designation from low density residential to medium density residential, with the stipulation that the designation would be limited to single story residential offices.

Commissioners also told the homeowners that a new office classification could be imposed next year, to assure the only use potential of the homes is office space.

The comprehensive plan is the county's growth blueprint, which designates potential land uses throughout the county. Sixteen of the 17 homeowners must ask the commission for rezoning if they want to exercise their option to request the change to office designation. Of the 17, one requested and was granted a zoning change, and another will be heard on Dec. 9.

The property owners have contended throughout the plan amendment process this fall that increased traffic, road widening, and area growth have diminished the value of their properties as residences. They have said their quality of life has also diminished, especially with the widening of Maitland Avenue to four lanes, which is underway.

Homeowners living behind those fronting on the avenue have complained that offices backing up to their properties would adversely affect their homes, and bring more traffic to an already busy area.

Commissioners, however, felt the switch would be a good transition in two ways: Offices would be a good transitional use along the changing area, and would also be transitional between the avenue and the subdivisions behind them.

Two of the requested amendments were accompanied by zone change requests. One was approved, and another will be considered in December.

Marie Figueirido's property on the avenue north of Oranole Rd. won approval for a zone change from residential to residential office use. Her single story frame residence is planned to be converted to an office. The conversion will include 13 parking spaces.

Excluded from uses on the 87 foot by 199 foot parcel are medical and dental offices, because those uses generate high traffic volume.

Commissioners approved the zoning change, despite complaints from Jim Hall, of the Oakland Shores Homeowners Association, who called the change "spot zoning". He said the parcel is too small to support a business.

The second zone change request to be heard in December is for a much larger parcel of about 2.6 acres on the east side of the avenue.

James Fisher and Michael Matthews will ask for residential office zoning to allow the construction of five buildings which will contain about 25,000 square feet of office space. The request is the largest parcel of the 17.

The complex of single story buildings will also have 126 parking spaces. Three 20-30-year-old homes now on the land would be eliminated for the complex, but as many as ten residential homes would be near the buildings.

Other Maitland Avenue property owners who won comprehensive plan changes include: Jesse Hollingsworth, Don Hollingsworth, Thomas Brevig, Glenn Sparkman, T.E. Shue, Viola Howell, Michael Hess, Linda Williamson, Peggy Dunnavan, George Saunders, Lorene Pennington, Jay Seltzer, Dorothy McCanna, Ernest Keuhler, and Charles Demarco.

County Agrees To Buy Utility

Seminole County commissioners agreed Tuesday to negotiate a purchase/sale agreement with the owners of the Seminole Utilities Company. The company provides water and sewer service to the southwest section of the county.

County administrator Ken Hooper, Nikki Clayton, county attorney, and county environmental services director Jim Bible were appointed to a negotiating team by commissioners Tuesday to enter into talks with the utility company about the purchase.

Two years ago, the commission considered the purchase but ended its pursuit temporarily until the company had its rates approved by the Public Service Commission. That now done, Bible asked the commission to consider authorizing a new round of negotiations.

The company serves about 12,000 customers in the subdivisions of Wekiva Hunt Club, Sweetwater Oaks, the Woodlands, and Springs Landing.

The county already owns treatment facilities at Greenwood Lakes, Consumers, and Lynwood.

Consultants need to present updated inspection reports on the utility, and prepare bond issue documents to finance the purchase, Bible said. A required public hearing on the possible purchase has been set for Dec. 9.

At the hearing, the utility's financial statements, rate base, physical structure condition, rationalization for purchase, impact on customers, additional financing, alternatives to the purchase, and the county's ability to continue service will be examined, Bible said.

A purchase figure of $16.9 million had been discussed when the county was considering the utility in 1984, but an offer was not made, a county official said.

Yukon Cold Is Heading East

A Yukon cold wave spread from the Rockies to the Southeast today, filling shelters for the homeless "to overcapacity" as temperatures fell to record levels below zero and howling winds made it feel colder.

"We're letting some people sleep on the floor," said a spokesman for a homeless shelter operated by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese in Denver, where it was 11 degrees early today. "We're taking in as many as we can."

Wintry storms and cold have been blamed for 23 deaths in 13 states since Friday. Today, the latest blast of Canadian air pushed temperatures below zero in the northern Plains and prompted freeze warnings from Texas to Alabama.

It was a record 11 degrees below zero in Casper, Wyo., and single-digit readings set or tied records in Milwaukee, Rockford, Ill., Grand Rapids and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo.

Wind chills were 30 below from the Dakotas and Iowa to Michigan.

Heavy snow and gale warnings were posted in the Great Lakes and wintry weather made roads icy in western Texas. In Michigan, 60 mph winds whipped Whitefish Point late Wednesday and waves surged 12 feet high in Lake Superior.

Homeless shelters were full across the nation's midsection.

About 225 people escaped from the 18-degree cold in Oklahoma City by spending the night at Jesus House, some "on the floors" and others "sitting in chairs," said spokesman Gary Warnick, who added 400 families sought assistance.

"We had to refer them some place else because we didn't have the space for them," he said. "A lot of them just lost their jobs and can't pay the rent."

Shelters also were full across Iowa, where wind chills were 30 degrees below zero. In the Detroit area, a spokeswoman said Salvation Army shelters were "filled to overcapacity."

The 34 beds at the Rescue Mission in Kansas City were all being used by early Wednesday night.

However, as the cold air pushed into the East today, the Plains were expected to warm up.

"Things will start warming up today over parts of the Plains," weather service forecaster Scott Tansey said. "By Saturday, things will be a little bit warmer — maybe a little bit back to normal."

On Wednesday, temperatures fell to a record 17 below zero in Havre, Mont., 10 below at Billings, Mont., and 9 below in Casper, Wyo. The lowest temperature in the nation Wednesday was 24 degrees below zero at Lewistown, Mont.

"It's cold, windy, snowy. People don't want to get out on a day like this," said Robert Hora, cook at a restaurant near Marysville, Kan.

Officials planned to resume searching today for a 13-year-old North Dakota boy missing since leaving his home in the Fort Totten Indian Reservation on Saturday during a blizzard. Authorities poked sticks in snow drifts 6 to 8 feet high during the search.

A Game Of Give And Take

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Like marriage, ping pong is a game of "give and take," according to Hal and Arlene Bremer of Ormond Beach.

Mrs. Bremer loves the game and won the overall singles tournament in last year's Golden Age Games. She came in second the year before. And she's only been playing three years altogether.

"I just like to move around and play the game," she said at Tuesday's matches at the Salvation Army. "This seems to be a good game for me." Her husband is competing this year for his first time, evidently convinced by her enthusiasm. "I like to be in competition and we love to meet all the people from all over," she added.

But she's not a novice to competitive sports, and ping-pong's not her only game. She's also in the six-mile race, the Pancake race, and the basketball free-throw competition. Last year, she won three gold medals, two silvers and a bronze in the games.

Her gold medals were for the six-mile race, the doubles in tennis and ping pong; her silvers were for mixed doubles in tennis and singles in tennis. And her bronze was for the Pancake race. She's 66, and has a long road ahead of her; she plans to compete in every future Golden Age week that she can.

Her husband, an accomplished musician, will compete at the piano in the Talent Show (he won the last two years in the instrumental category). He has a master's degree in music from the University of Colorado but spent his working years as an FBI special agent. They traveled all over California, Texas, Minnesota, Illinois and Pennsylvania, but have been in Florida eight years.

"We just try to keep from getting old," Mrs. Bremer said with a hearty laugh. "If you don't move around, you get stiff." She said she first developed an interest in sports (tennis) six years ago — "and one thing led to another. Pretty soon we were amateur athletes. You like to think you're as good as any other old person in your age group, and in these games everybody can play, no matter how good or bad you are."

In Ormond Beach, her husband leads a group called Sea Side Singers in his spare time; he directs and plays piano.

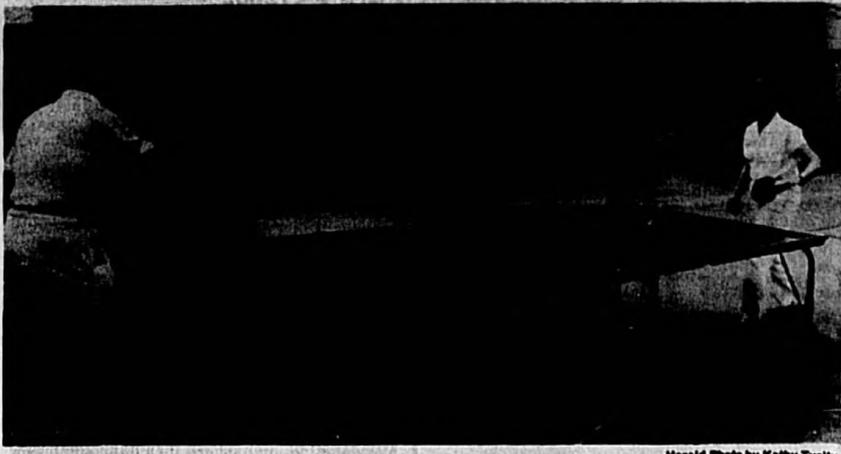

Mrs. Bremer said she's always been a housewife, although she spent a few years teaching and then in retail sales. They have a daughter and grandson.

Another interesting fellow at the matches was 83-year-old Dr. Alfred Kamm of Springfield, Ill. He was the oldest and didn't have anyone else in his age group. A long-time educator, he is in Seminole County this week visiting his daughter, Nancy Peters, in Casselberry. He's been competing several years and said, "Usually I win something." He's also in swimming events and track and field.

"Competition is a lot of fun," he said. "I like meeting people and visiting. But I also know that it's a good idea to keep physically fit."

He said he helped start the senior olympics in Illinois in 1977.

During his life, he worked with handicapped children and the mentally ill. He was a teacher and administrator in private schools. He said he also helped start the National Association of Retarded Children in 1950. He is widowed with a daughter, son, and five grandchildren.

Hal and Arlene Bremer warm up for the table tennis matches Tuesday.

Girl Reports Attempted Sexual Assault

A 14-year-old girl told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she waited until Tuesday to report an alleged attempted sexual battery because she fears reprisal from the suspect she named.

The Longwood girl said that on Oct. 27 at about 6:30 p.m., a 21-year-old Longwood man stopped her on a bicycle path behind Cambridge Drive, where he lives. He allegedly tried to take her clothes off and put his hands inside her clothing.

She struggled and got free and went to a friend's home, a sheriff's report said.

The allegations are under investigation.

SHOPLIFT KNIFEWIELDER

Two Sanford women and a girl reportedly were seen shoplifting in Albertson's, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, at about 3 a.m. Wednesday. Two were nabbed at the store by store workers, but the other ran and was chased by a store employee.

When Robert Palmer, 28, and U.S. Highway 17-92, she allegedly pulled a knife from her purse and threatened to cut him if he came any closer. Palmer backed off, a Longwood police report said.

The first two captured were charged with retail theft. The juvenile was turned over to juvenile authorities and Regina McKinney, 18, of 1413 Mara Court, was booked into jail in lieu of $100 bond.

Police located the alleged knife-woman at McDonalds on U.S. Highway 17-92, and Palmer was brought to that nearby site to reportedly identify her. The woman allegedly told police she had left her purse with the knife in front of the T G & Y store behind McDonalds. The purse was recovered.

Pamela Denise Joseph, 20, of 1007 Locust St., has been charged with aggravated assault and retail theft. She was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

TWO IN STOLEN CAR

A Florida Highway Patrol trooper reported arresting a man and a woman he found in a stolen car parked at the east-bound rest area of Interstate 4 near Longwood at about 1 a.m. Wednesday.

The trooper ran a computer check on the license tag of the 1981 Audi and determined that it had been reported stolen. The woman who was in the driver's seat, reportedly claimed to have bought the car for $150, an arrest report said.

Sydney Bookstein, 23, of no address, and Leon Williams, 32, were both charged with grand theft auto and were being held in lieu of $1,000 bond each.

WHOSE SLEEPING IN MY BED

Nancy T. Anderson, of 2337 Markingham Road, Maitland, called Seminole County sheriff's deputies to her home at about 3:50 p.m. Tuesday to arrest a man she said had broken into her home.

The accused burglar, she said, had entered through a rear sliding glass door and had gone into a bedroom and fallen asleep on a bed. That's where deputies found the suspect.

Rufus Morse, 19, of P.O. Box 923, Altamonte Springs, was charged with burglary to an occupied residence at 3:59 p.m. Wednesday. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

COCAINE, KNUCKLES

Two men confronted by City/County Investigation Bureau agents as they sat in a car parked at Albertson's, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, at about 7:50 p.m. Tuesday have been charged with possession of crack cocaine reportedly found in that vehicle.

One of the suspects, Stephen Arthur Miller, 18, of 798 Bayou Drive, Casselberry, has also been charged with possession of a concealed weapon, brass knuckles reportedly found near him in the car.

Raymond Dale Plik, 23, of 883 N. Winter Park Drive, Casselberry, is the other man charged. Plik was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond and Miller in lieu of $3,500 bond.

POTTED POT

City/County Investigation Bureau agents, with a warrant, searched a home at 109 County Hill Drive, Longwood, at about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday, and reported arresting the homeowner after reportedly finding a potted marijuana plant, dried marijuana and hashish in the home.

Charged with possession of those drugs was Brock Bunnell, 21, of the above address. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

A $2,600 jet ski was stolen from the backyard of Charles J. Givens, 46, of 100 Blue Lake Court, Longwood, between Nov. 8 and Monday, a sheriff's report said.

George Hochman, 30, of 1464 Bridlebrook Drive, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $135 cassette recorder was stolen from his car Monday or Tuesday.

A radar detector and sunglasses with a combined value of $320 were stolen from the vehicle of Mike G. Hall, 31, of 352 Copperstone Circle, Casselberry, Monday or Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Two bucketseats and a trunk lid and rear spoiler with a combined value of $600 were stolen from two vehicles at the Auto Emporium, 9505 S. U.S. Highway 17-92, Maitland, Monday or Tuesday, according to a report a salesman filed with sheriff's deputies.

Mac J. Reddick, 43, of Cocoa, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that her purse containing $90 was stolen from her car while parked at 2401 Jitway Ave., Sanford, Saturday.

Lake Mary had one of its few B&E's over the weekend. David R. Green, 45, of 1527 Pineridge in Sanford, told police he was parked at the Lake Mary Pub near City Hall Saturday evening when a friend told him the door to his car was ajar. Upon checking, he found it broken into and several items, worth $1,546, were missing. Gone was a briefcase with $66 and $1,200 in checks, and a case of soft drinks.

Lake Mary police reported damage to Timacuan Golf Course under construction over the weekend. Police said a brown Ford pickup truck had been seen Sunday evening spinning tires and causing $300 damage to the course.

Patricia A. Ryan, 25, of 224 Lochlow Drive in Sanford, told police someone broke into and stole her 1981 Datsun and 35mm camera, both worth $5,369, from her driveway.

SENTENCINGS

An Altamonte Springs man was sentenced to eight years in prison in connection with the shooting of a 22-year-old man June 1.

Herman "Skip" Voyce Stepp, of 124 Genevieve Drive, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Lefler who ordered Stepp to serve 7 years probation after the jail time. He gave Stepp credit for 127 days already served. The sentence was for wounding Rick Kirk, of Day's Inn, Altamonte Springs.

According to police reports, Kirk met a couple at the motel swimming pool and invited them to his room to have beer and pizza. The trio argued when Kirk reportedly found Stepp and the 16-year-old girl in his bed. He ordered them to leave his room, records show.

The girl alleged to police, however, that Kirk and another man, one of his friends, fondled her and tried to put their hands into her bathing suit. That, she said, was the cause of the dispute.

As the couple left the man allegedly threatened to return with some friends to beat Kirk, a police report said.

The girl returned to Kirk's room about 20 minutes later, at about 8:30 p.m. Saturday, and he left with her. They approached a car where Stepp sat. Stepp allegedly opened the car door and fired a shot that wounded Kirk in the lower back. The girl got into the driver's seat of the car and she and Stepp fled.

Kirk was checked at the scene by Altamonte Springs Fire Department rescue personnel, then transported to Florida Hospital — Altamonte, where he was treated for a gunshot wound, police said.

The couple was found at Stepp's home. The girl told police Stepp had told her to return to the motel room and get Kirk. She alleged he said, "I'm going to show him you don't mess with me." The girl told police she knew her companion had a gun in his car.

Stepp was charged with attempted first-degree murder and aggravated battery. The girl was charged with accessory to attempted first-degree murder and aggravated battery. Disposition in her case is not available because she is a minor.

In a second case, a Sanford woman charged with child abuse was sentenced to two years of community control, a form of in-house arrest.

Willie Pearl Mason, 31, of 72 Lake Monroe Terrace, was sentenced by Lefler.

The sentencing was in connection with the alleged battery of the woman's daughters, ages six and eight.

Sanford police were called to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford Feb. 28 after a state Health and Rehabilitative Services counselor was alerted about their apparent injuries by officials at Lake Mary Elementary School.

Police noted the girls' bodies and legs were bruised and marked. The 6-year-old said she had been beaten with an electrical cord. The 8-year-old had injury marks on her body as well, police said.

A male companion, arrested at the same time, awaits final disposition of his case.

In a third case, an Apopka woman was sentenced to 30 months probation after an arrest on charges of possession of Quaaludes tablets and retail theft.

Dawn Marie Dorazio, 24, was sentenced by Judge Robert B. McGregor.

According to court records, Ms. Dorazio allegedly took three music tapes from an Altamonte Springs shop, Peaches, at 689 State Road 436. She was detained by store employees after an alarm sounded when she left the store around 4 p.m. Aug. 24. The tablets were reportedly found after she was arrested and searched.

Cycles In History Of Liberalism

The liberal historian, Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., in a new book, "praises President Reagan for understanding what Carter did not: That a president must point the nation in a clear direction and explain to the electorate why his direction is right."

Schlesinger also "would repeal the 22nd Amendment, which limits presidents to two successive terms."

Liberals may shudder at the thought of a third term for President Reagan, which could be well within the realm of possibility but for the 22nd Amendment.

Schlesinger has a keen mind full of provocative thoughts. He won a Pulitzer Prize for history for The Age of Jackson and a Pulitzer Prize for biography for his John F. Kennedy study, A Thousand Days, although some critics found fault with the JFK volume.

In effect, it blamed Kennedy's assassination more on the psychological climate of Dallas than on Lee Harvey Oswald.

Discussing the swing between liberal and conservative trends in American society, Schlesinger thinks each cycle lasts about 30 years. But he "sees signs that this present conservative swing is running its course" and expects the next turn toward liberalism will come in or about 1990.

That seems out of keeping with his 30-year cycle concept, considering that the current conservative trend did not materialize until the late 1970s.

Conservatives and liberals should be able to agree with Schlesinger that Americans should have, in his words, "some analytical sense of what this country has been about, of the available traditions. The sense of the richness of the American past improves the intelligence of the choices we make about the American future. History is to the nation what memory is to the individual. Without memory, the individual would be absolutely rudderless."

It would be hard to disagree with that. The quotations, taken from Peter S. Prescott's review of Schlesinger's latest book, The Cycles of American History, in a recent issue of Newsweek, are thought-provoking.

One thought that they provoke is this: Are not the freedoms that are the basis of American greatness best guaranteed within the nation by limiting the powers of the U.S. government and best protected from attack from without by keeping U.S. defenses strong?

Today's Student

The liberal spirit of the '60s has found an unusual home — the materialistic heart of today's college freshman.

In fact, though today's students key their education toward employability, in some respects they have a larger social conscience than their love-boned predecessors.

So say researchers who reviewed 20 years of freshmen surveys conducted on both male and female students by UCLA's Higher Education Research Institute. The new study goes a long way toward exploding the popular myth that portrays the current college crop as conservative, money-grubbers.

Look past their well-labeled attire. Forget the brew popularity of Rush week, Business classes and the emphasis on networking to financial success.

When it comes to politics and social concerns, modern students may as well have patches on their jeans.

A majority of them support the concept of national health insurance, favor increased taxation of the rich, and support legal abortions. By large majorities, they also go for strong government intervention to control pollution, protect consumers and conserve energy.

And they leave their predecessors in the political dust on support for busing to achieve school integration (up from 37 percent in 1976 to 54.4 percent in 1985) and opposition to increased military spending (up from 61.2 percent in 1963 to 73.2 percent in 1985).

But conservatives needn't fear to tread the green lawns of academia.

The students' opposition to capital punishment has been cut in half since 1969, dropping to 26.6 percent in 1985. And support for the legalization of marijuana also has been cut in half since 1977, with only a quarter of the students now favoring it.

But the real falling out comes over money. Twenty years ago, only 42.6 percent of students surveyed said "being financially well off" was important. Today, 70.9 percent say it's very important. In 1967, 80 percent of freshmen entering school said their single most important interest was in "developing a meaningful philosophy of life." Today that's important to only 43.3 percent of students.

In a democracy, we can afford to hold our own ideas, whether they fall to the left or the right. But these beliefs should be informed, well-grounded and carefully reasoned.

If the ghost of the '60s is causing students to look past financial gain and think more deeply about social concerns, then it's nice to hear its chains rattling again.

A Time For Giving Post-Election Thanks

Thanksgiving is just around the corner, and the '86 elections ushered in a cornucopia of "something for everybody" that surprised even the beneficiaries.

Centuries ago the Pilgrims prayerfully gave thanks for a bountiful harvest.

In the elections, Democrats, Republicans, women, senior citizens, blacks and Hispanics could have offered paeans of gratitude for being replenished as power brokers.

Democrats took control of the Senate, which could be interpreted as a stunning rebuke to President Reagan.

But Republicans almost doubled their number of governorships, which could be interpreted as a national desire to still "win one for the Gipper."

Women increased their share of governorships from two to three. The first Democratic woman senator ever was elected (Barbara Mikulski in Maryland). Women picked up a total of four new House seats (one in Hawaii, two in New York and one in South Carolina), won several statewide offices and beat back anti-abortion referenda in a number of states.

Senior-citizen Sen. Alan Cranston, 72, squeaked through to re-election in California, and senior citizen Terry Sanford, 70, former governor and university president, was elected just trying to keep up with Ronald Reagan, 75).

Blacks wrote history with the first black congressman from Mississippi since the Reconstruction, and their votes were pivotal in three Southern senatorial elections.

In Florida, the first Hispanic Republican governor won.

Individually, these elections could be shrugged off as blips on the radar screen of progress.

Collectively, however, they make a dramatic statement that Americans are just now beginning to appreciate.

At first blush, it's tempting to hail the results of the '86 elections as a repudiation of Ronald Reagan. But reality dictates otherwise. The elections ultimately reflect America's movement to the center. There may be the occasional racial or gender aberration here and there, but, for the most part, the results point to an electoral pursuit of moderation.

I think many Americans subliminally support the "Reagan realignment" philosophy. But their support aggravates two dilemmas facing the Republicans and the Democrats.

The first dilemma: How can Republicans develop the national consensus necessary to be a majority party while their fortunes are tied to a beloved president's waning star? (Reagan's campaign-trail failures proved that personal popularity is not transferrable).

The second dilemma: How can Democrats attract uneasy white moderate voters (particularly in the South and West) without repulsing loyal black liberal voters who determine whether Democrats remain a majority legislative party?

Nowhere was that Democratic black-white dilemma demonstrated more conclusively than in senatorial races in Alabama, California, Georgia, Louisiana and North Carolina, where black voters spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

German Golden Years

GUMMERSBACH, West Germany (NEA) — How does an inflation rate of zero sound?

Probably like a dream in the United States and other industrialized countries, where inflation has come to be largely accepted as a price of continuing economic growth.

But in West Germany, inflation, for the time being at least, has been wrung out of an economy that continues to expand. Surveying the scene, the managers of this economic operation have to be convinced that they are doing any number of things right.

Growth this year is currently being projected at 3 percent, a bit under earlier forecasts (3.5 percent). This is not as high as it was in the "miracle" years of the '60s, but it is good enough to reassure the great majority of Germans that, as a people, they have never had it so good.

With the exception of the old-line heavy industries that were once the backbone of German economic strength, most sectors of the economy are doing all right to very well.

Exports to date are not noticeably suffering from the dollar's high value in relation to the dollar and any adverse consequences should be manageable. While the United States is a major partner, it accounts for only 10 percent of total West German trade. Some 70 percent is with the country's European neighbors, where shifting exchange rates have not been so disadvantageous to the mark.

And in one area, the Germans are beneficiaries of the cheaper dollar. Since dollars are the medium of the world oil market, the bill for imported energy is drastically reduced these days.

True, the government is running a sizable deficit — on the order of 24 billion marks ($12 billion) in a 270 billion mark ($135 billion) budget. But it is still not on the American scale. The Germans are also in the throes of a tax reform that could add to the red ink, but not alarmingly so.

The one area where Germany's economic managers can't seem to get it right is unemployment. This problem, which has been around for years, could give the current conservative government real trouble in the parliamentary elections on Jan. 25. More than 2 million Germans (8.2 percent of the labor force) who want to work can't find any. (The current U.S. unemployment rate is 7 percent).

Trinidad's Ambassador Gets Chandeliers

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — While State Department officials were begging Congress for money to beef up security at terrorist-threatened posts — and closing others to save money — the American ambassador in Trinidad was picking out crystal chandeliers for his official residence and proposing a tennis court and costly renovation of his swimming pool.

All told, Ambassador Eshelton Kryz wanted an estimated $150,000 worth of improvements for his digs in Port-of-Spain, the Caribbean capital of Trinidad and Tobago. At the same time, the department was preparing to close consulates in Bremen, West Germany; Rotterdam, Netherlands; Salvador da Bahia, Brazil; Seville, Spain; Trieste, Italy; and Winnipeg, Canada, to save money.

The State Department's plea for additional security funds were only partly met: Congress cut $138 million from the department's

ROBERT WALTERS

The People's Choices

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The results of this year's elections suggest that many voters cast their ballots on the basis of the most important criterion — the quality of the candidates.

That development shouldn't be noteworthy, but it comes after months of hand-wringing about the effects of negative television advertising, excessive spending by special interest groups and assorted other influences that threatened to corrupt the political process.

Those factors are hardly benign, but voters this year (as in the past) generally exhibited extraordinary common sense in assessing and selecting candidates on the basis of whether they deserved the public's trust and confidence.

In the Senate races, that meant taking a skeptical second look at many of the Republicans who were swept into office in President Reagan's 1980 landslide victory but whose mediocrity quickly became apparent.

Thus, the defeats of Republican Sens. Jeremiah Denton of Alabama, Paula Hawkins of Florida, James Abdnor of South Dakota and others who initially gained their offices more on the basis of timing than talent were hardly a surprise.

In gubernatorial contests, substantial Republican gains could be attributed, in great measure, to the tough-act-to-follow syndrome, which hurt the Democrats.

In numerous states, first-rate Democrats — including Govs. Richard W. Riley of South Carolina, Bruce E. Babbitt of Arizona and Robert Graham of Florida — did not seek re-election and the party's nominee this year lacked their stature. Under those circumstances, the voters may have sensibly decided to give the Republicans a chance to govern.

(That may have worked in reverse in several states where superb Republicans — including Govs. Lamar Alexander of Tennessee and Richard Thornburgh of Pennsylvania — did not seek re-election and were succeeded by Democrats.)

What about money? This year's elections once again demonstrated that the floor is more important than the ceiling. No candidate can wage a respectable campaign without a minimally adequate amount of funding, but collecting and spending large amounts of money does not assure success.

In states including Alabama, Louisiana, North Dakota and Washington, Republican contenders outperformed their Democratic opponents by a margin of at least 2-to-1 but lost the election.

National-level Republican committees raised $190.9 million between the beginning of 1985 and mid-October 1986. That's more than five times as much as the $37.7 million the Democrats collected during the same period.

Most of that money went into congressional campaigns — but when the votes were counted the Republicans had suffered a net loss of eight Senate seats and approximately the same number of House seats.

Finally, there's the continuing popularity of ticket-splitting, which requires a degree of sophistication that presumably cannot be imparted through mindless television commercials.

In New York, voters engaged in tickets splitting on a massive scale. Of the 4.2 million people casting ballots there, a phenomenal 1 million voted for a Democratic governor and a Republican senator.

Because voters are mere mortals, their judgments are not always infallible. But most understand that democracy is serious business that deserves sober consideration.

Counting Your Way To Sleep

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's something to mull over while lying awake at night.

Has medical science come up with a better way to cure insomnia than counting sheep?

"Counting sheep actually does work," said Stephen Gidro-Frank, director of technology at the Sleep Disorders Clinic at the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

"It gets your mind off whatever is worrying you," he said. "Anything that does that is effective."

But over the past decade, scientists who study sleep disorders have come up with a few more developments that might lull wide-awake people into blissful slumber.

"We have come up with better patterns, better ways of coping," said Dr. Richard R. Bootzin, professor of psychology at Northwestern University.

There are forms of insomnia caused by dangerous medical conditions, such as breathing and muscle disorders that jolt a sleeper awake periodically during the night.

But Bootzin and psychologists like him have spent years studying people who either cannot get to sleep when they go to bed at night, or who wake up in the middle of the night and then cannot go back to sleep.

Doctors call these two forms of insomnia sleep initiating disorder and sleep maintenance disorder respectively. Most people suffer from one or the other at some point in their lives, usually after a particularly stressful event such as a death in the family or job loss.

But many suffer recurring bouts of insomnia for years, with the disorders getting progressively worse as they age.

"The elderly are especially vulnerable," Gidro-Frank said. "But they are a special case. When you're older you don't need as much sleep as when you're younger."

Doctors said both sleep maintenance and sleep-initiating disorders are caused biochemically by stimulants, such as caffeine, drugs or stress, that prevent the body from following its normal rhythm of sleeping and waking.

"The first couple of hours are your deepest sleep, then it gets lighter," Bootzin said. "When it gets lighter, people normally wake up periodically and immediately fall back to sleep."

"If something is stimulating, though, you will wake up and stay awake," he said.

is only one public court; however, it is located in a high-crime area."

The Foreign Building Office approved the ambassador's tennis court "in principle," but officials said that funding for all embassy tennis courts was put on hold after the budget cuts. The department authorized only $17,000 for the Port-of-Spain residence's furnishings, $5,000 for new gutters and a new roof and $57,000 for the air conditioning and bathroom work.

Not included in the refurbishing outlay were the piano flown down to the islands and the armor-plated Opel Senator car shipped from Europe for $20,430. Officials defended the expenditures, particularly the repairs to the residence, which they said had deteriorated badly from constant exposure to the sea air. They also pointed out that the renovations were ordered to coincide with security work on the embassy compound to avoid tearing it up twice.

Decathlon Continues

They hopped, skipped and jumped — and ran and swam Wednesday — completing half the events of the Golden Age Games' decathlon.

Today, the senior athletes are to queue at five more events completing the competition and picking up their medals.

"The games are fine," said Ed Bost, 75, of Arlington, Texas. "This is my second year here. I won four gold medals and a bronze last year. This year I have already won one gold in the 50-yard dash and shotput," he said after competing in the running broad jump. Also held on Wednesday besides the shotput, 50-yard dash, and broad jump was the 440-yard dash and the softball hit. Today, again at Seminole High School, will be the 100- and 200-yard dashes, discus throw, softball throw and the high jump.

"It's a lot of fun," said Bost. "My wife entered the knitting. She won third last year and thinks she'll win this year."

Bost said he competes throughout the United States and runs in relay races with other senior Texans. He said the competition is stiffer at some other games but he enjoys the Sanford games.

Leslie Thomas, 77, of Youngstown, Ohio, also praised the games. He holds a national record in the 100-yard dash for 72-year-olds, 13.6 seconds. He works three days a week and runs three days a week at the University of Ohio.

"This is the third time I have been down here. The last time I was down here I came in second in the decathlon. They didn't have the age classes at that time," he said.

Also participating in the decathlon was one of the Games' torchbearers, Mary Bowermaster, 69, of Fairfield, Ohio.

"Anybody can compete. Look at all the other things to do. From one year to the next it is really an inspiration," said Mrs. Bowermaster, who has around 250 medals from senior athletic competition. She kept her medals in a shopping bag until a reporter asked to see them and when she got the bag it broke, cascading her winnings onto the floor. They're now kept in a box.

Mrs. Bowermaster was in the lead for first place in the running broad jump with a leap of 10-feet 2-inches. She holds the American record in the long jump, 11-feet 2½-inches and the world high jump record at 3-feet 9-inches. She set the records in July at a meet on Long Island.

"I feel really fortunate that I can do it. I think I have the competitive spirit. And the people in Sanford are so nice. I was elated when I was chosen to carry the torch," she said.

David Farr, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the games, said all was going smoothly.

"Going great. Absolutely fantastic. Everybody is having a ball including me," he said.

Retired Coaches Drawn To Basketball Contests

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Retired coaches made up a large part of the roster of those competing in Golden Age Games basketball contests at Lakeview Middle School in Sanford Wednesday. There was one competitor who, despite his 5-foot, 5-inch height managed to always come out a winner — 61-year-old Andy McGuffin of Eustis.

McGuffin was looking forward to his annual face-off against John Davidson, 62, of St. Cloud in the one-on-one competition. It's been a feature at most of the games so far, and the two were prepared to go head-to-head again.

McGuffin, originally from near Albany, New York, was a high-school coach at South Glens Falls for 20 years. He has competed in the Golden Age Games for five years and has won the foul-shooting contest every year. He's also been in cycling, paddle tennis and race walk, and has won medals in each of those contests.

His opponent, Davidson, said he had a slight leg injury that might hurt his chances this year but was optimistic.

"I'm looking forward to competing with Andy again," he said, "but I hate to say I have this injury." He's also in several track events and hoping for the best.

A former basketball coach like McGuffin, Davidson coached at Kirkland, Ind. for a number of years. He said he likes to visit Sanford during the Golden Age Games because, "I like the competition and I like meeting a lot of nice people."

One of the oldest fellows competing was Harry Brown, 71, of Wilmington, Ohio, who is still an assistant coach at a high school. "He's quite an all-round guy; he's just a natural," said one of his mates in the stands.

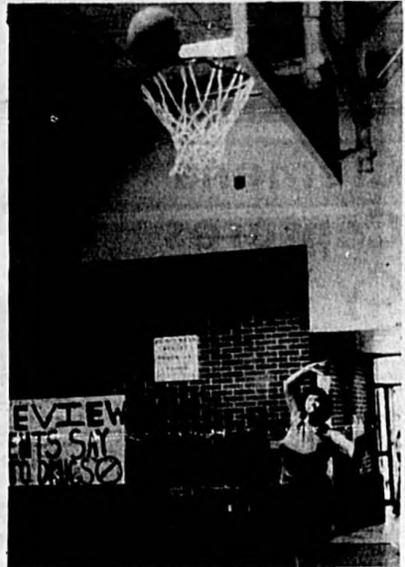

Brown is a champion horse-shoe pitcher and also competes in bowling and track and field events. Originally a farmer and shop worker at Irwin Auger Bid in Ohio, he is presently an assistant cross country coach at a high school in Clinton County, Ohio. Two of his five grandchildren are among the track students he coaches.

"Sports made me a lot of friends," he said. "That's the biggest thing. A lot of people know me and speak to me wherever I go. I know them and I don't really know them. But it's nice."

"I'll tell you something else about sports. It will keep you in a straight line. If you get into it and follow through you won't have any trouble. But for the school kids, I always say: Books come first. Because you have to be smart to be a good athlete."

His wife, Ellen Brown, 72, also competed in the basketball games. Starring as usual, though, was Harriet Boyd, 63, of Lake Mary. She's been coming to the games since she was first eligible in 1978 and winning consistently ever since.

This past July 20, she set the American record for her age in discus-throwing at the Deland National Masters. But Wednesday, she was just too busy to talk. "I have to be at the Decathlon in 10 minutes. Wish me luck!" she said departing.

Marathon Runners Take Ups, Downs In Stride

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

The Golden Age Games Mini-Marathon was termed a success by many of the 20 entrants, who took its minor troubles in stride:

The Sanford Police Department motorcycle escort said he was unsure of the five mile route through the streets of the city just before the starting gun; a couple of runners complained about inconsiderate motorists; a segment of the route was being repaved; and a 79-and-a-half year-old entrant suffered a severe leg cramp as he went into his sprint just before he crossed the finish line.

The route circled downtown Sanford, starting and ending at the lakefront Civic Center.

The first finisher, David Long, 55, Oviedo, completed the circuit in a time of 29:54. After crossing the finish line, he paused for a moment to fill out his finisher's card, and returned to the course, running in the opposite direction.

He decided to run extra miles, he said, "to cool down, and keep the muscles from tightening."

Long, who said he has been running for about 17 years, has raced in the Boston Marathon.

"Stopping causes more injuries than anything," he said, adding that he would run again Tuesday evening near home.

"It was hot, but it was a good run," Long said. "This is always a good place because it's pretty flat."

A 60-year-old grandmother of two, Pepper Davis, Orlando, was the first woman to finish.

"I was running near the curb facing traffic and a car stopped right in front of me," she said. That forced her to stop momentarily.

"We exchanged a couple of needles," she added.

She said her run wasn't bothered by the sections being paved. "It was smooth," she said.

The paving, however, covered some of the blue lines painted on the road so the marathoners could follow the route.

Long, the lead runner, said he missed one turn and had to backtrack about a block.

Another runner called a missed turn "a marathoners nightmare."

"That's something you always worry about," he said.

A first time entrant, Catherine Losacano, 63, said she also encountered trouble with one car in her path, but she said the route was a "good course."

"I'd come back to run it," she

One of Ms. Boess' favorite dances, the Samba, was not on the list of competition dances but the jitterbug, also known as the Swing or Lindy, was. "I'm from New York. I went into Roseland (ballroom) with two left feet and came out dancing."

Swope's partner, Amber McCormic, 76, DeLand, agreed that fun was the point of dancing. She, and another dance partner, William Capellaro, 73, Ormond Beach, took first place in the jitterbug.

Pauline Cutler, 65, a silver medalist along with partner Ralph Perry, 67, Orlando, said the dance contest is also a time of socializing.

"I think it's really great. I think everyone comes here to enjoy it. Some people you never see again all year until next year at this time."

Her partner, Perry, had a similar perspective. "It's marvelous. Make old people young, old people other than me, of course."

The dancing was sponsored by the Over 50 Club and drew a crowd of several hundred to the Sanford Civic Center. Music was by the Sanford Serenaders.

Clemens Captures Cy Young

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Clemens clinched the American League Cy Young Award months before it officially was awarded to him Wednesday. The suspense surrounding his post-season acclaim will be resolved Nov. 18 when the league's Most Valuable Player is announced.

"I'll think about it after today," Clemens said of the MVP after being named the 1986 Cy Young Award winner. "And if I don't win it, I hope Jim Rice does."

"But people who said they wouldn't vote for pitchers for the MVP have changed their minds and said they would vote for me, and that's gratifying."

None of the 28 voting members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America had to think twice about awarding Clemens the Cy Young. The right-hander won unanimously.

Clemens, who led the major leagues in victories with 24, became the first AL pitcher to receive all 28 first-place votes since Ron Guidry of the New York Yankees in 1978. The only other AL pitcher ever to be a unanimous Cy Young winner was Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers in 1968.

"He'll get a pretty big raise," Red Sox General Manager Lou Gorman said of the 6-foot-4, 215-pound right-hander. "Only he is capable of having that type of season again. As long as he's physically sound, he's capable of doing it."

"His mechanics are sound, he's got a very smooth, strong power delivery. Roger is very competitive and very disciplined. His best years are ahead of him, because the best years for a pitcher are between 27 and 32 years, especially a power pitcher."

The only surprise in the voting — and a mild one at that — was that Mexican left-hander Ted Higuera of the Milwaukee Brewers beat out right-hander Mike Witt of the California Angels for second place. Higuera received 11 second place votes and nine thirds from the 28 voting BBWAA members — two from each AL city — for 42 points while Witt received nine second place votes and eight thirds for 35 points.

Clemens is only the second Red Sox pitcher to win the Cy Young Award, joining Jim Lonborg who won it in 1967.

Others receiving votes were Dave Righetti of the Yankees (20 points), Jack Morris of the Tigers (13) and rookie Mark Eichhorn of the Toronto Blue Jays (2).

The previous seven AL Cy Young Award winners all suffered disappointing seasons the following year and three of them — Steve Stone, Pete Vuckovich and Bret Saberhagen — suffered crippling injuries.

"That gives me something to shoot for, to try to knock off those gremlins," said Clemens via a telephone conference call from his Katy, Texas, home.

Radcliff: 38.3

Due to a miscalculation, Lyman's Scott Radcliff's punting average was inaccurate in Wednesday's Sanford Herald.

Radcliff has punted 24 times for 919 yards and a 38.3 yard average. He is second to Oviedo's Gordon King who has a 41.1 yard average.

William "The Refrigerator" Perry rests his bulk while observing the Tampa Bay huddle with Gary Fencik. Perry's exact weight is debatable, but Chicago's 9th Wonder of the World probably tips the scales near 350 pounds.

The Fridge: Chicago's 9th Wonder Of World

The eighth wonder of the world is said to be the Houston Astrodome. The ninth wonder of the world is not quite as big, but draws about as big a crowd as the Astros do for a regular season home game.

Chicago Bears' defensive tackle William "The Refrigerator" Perry is "listed" at 308 pounds and he always attracts scores of reporters in the Bears' locker room.

When Perry emerged from the showers after Sunday's 23-3 win over the hapless Tampa Bay Bucs, it was easy to see why he is called "The Refrigerator." This man is a load. When he sits around the locker room, he sits around the locker room. It wouldn't be stretching the truth by too far if you said he tipped the scales at about 350.

After seeing what Perry looks like in the flesh, it's hard to believe he's so agile on the football field. Although he didn't run the ball any on Sunday, Perry sacked Tampa Bay quarterback Steve Young twice, contributed a few solo tackles and gave Bucs' linemen some headaches.

Holding a Sprite in his baseball-mitt-size hand, Perry stopped to chat with one young scribe before strolling to his locker to prepare for the media blitz. In only his second year in the NFL, the "Fridge" is already a pro at handling the media.

The scribe wondered if Perry's listed weight was accurate: "The last time they weighed me, I was 308. But I'm probably around 306 now. I usually lose a couple pounds during a game."

Perry said that his usual meal consists of a salad, a steak and a beer or two although he said he once consumed 48 cans of beer in one sitting while a student at Clemson University. "We had just beaten North Carolina." Perry said about his two-case celebration.

They say that all big people are jolly and you can include the "Fridge" when he's off the field. But nobody in their right mind would have wanted to trade places with Steve Young on Sunday.

Radkewich's Choice: The Wet Road

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Lyman High School's Nick Radkewich, a fine performer in both swimming and cross country, has come to the crossroads of the 1986 season.

Both the regional cross country and district swimming meets are being held this Saturday and the sophomore stand-out had to decide which sport to pursue in hopes of qualifying for a state meet.

Radkewich's choice: the wet road, swimming.

Radkewich went with swimming mainly because of an agreement made at the beginning of the season. "I told both coaches what my plans were and both agreed on the decision," Radkewich said. "I decided then that I liked swimming better."

Swimming

Radkewich will now continue his swimming career which he started around 11 years ago. "My friends kind of dragged me to one of their practices and I've stayed involved with swimming since then," he said.

Radkewich took up running around two years ago and has since been involved in many triathlons. Radkewich has become nationally known for his performances in triathlons.

"I started running because swimming can get a little boring," Radkewich said. "Running gives you a change, there's more scenery and you're not restricted to swimming laps in a pool."

Though Radkewich enjoys running, he now wants to finish his season with strong efforts for the Lyman swimming team. "Swimming is more of a team sport," Radkewich said. "In running everyone is on a different level of ability, causing the team to be separated. In swimming, you're all in one area giving you more of a team atmosphere."

Radkewich, who finished 25th in the state meet in the 500 freestyle last year, will look to improve on his performance this year. "I need to swim well to get through the district," Radkewich said. "I just want to finish higher than I did last year. I really want to be in the finals though."

McDowell Decries Lack Of Courtesy Prior To Departure

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

In a move that surprised coach Gene McDowell, quarterback Tony Lanham and defensive tackle Mike Hittinger said they would not return to the University of Central Florida football team next year because of differences with McDowell.

Lanham, a junior, and Hittinger, a sophomore, made the surprise announcement Tuesday. "They haven't said a word to me," McDowell said Wednesday. "I can't believe that they haven't had the common courtesy to talk to me before making an announcement of this magnitude."

"It shows how immature that they are," he added.

Lanham was the starter for UCF last year but has started only two out of ten games this season playing behind last season's back-up, Darin Slack. Lanham felt that he should have been starting and said the move to start Slack was "political" since Slack's father, Steve, is a big UCF booster and good friend of McDowell.

"I really feel for the UCF football program," Steve Slack said Wednesday. "The way that things turned out is an absolute tragedy. I also hurt for my son. I have no further comment on the situation."

McDowell said the decision may be in the best interests of the program. "If they don't want to play here I think that it is best that they don't," McDowell said. "It is the best thing for both of them."

Hittinger was unhappy because he was not starting. At the start of the season, Hittinger was playing linebacker but was moved to defensive tackle because his mobility was limited by a series of knee operations. Hittinger started at tackle for several games but was demoted due to poor performance.

"There was nothing personal involved," McDowell said. "If everyone that didn't start quit, there would only be 22 people on a team. If they were good enough, I would have started them."

Lanham started the last two games against Virginia Military Institute and Georgia Southern, but had been unhappy all season. "I could not handle sitting on the bench," Lanham said. "I felt that I was the best quarterback."

McDowell said the loss of Hittinger and Lanham does not put a damper on UCF's season. "We have had a good year," McDowell said about the Knights 5-5 season so far. "We could have easily won a few more games if things had gone our way. It doesn't put a damper on our season at all."

The Knights will host Samford, Ala. (3-5) on Saturday night in the season finale. Kickoff is at 7 p.m. at Orlando Stadium.

Illinois, Kentucky Cash In With Opening-Day Signees

United Press International

Illinois signed the top high school player in the nation and Kentucky may have obtained the best recruiting class in the country Wednesday on the opening day of the early signing period.

Chicago high school star Marcus Liberty chose the Illini over Cincinnati and Syracuse on the first day high school seniors could sign national letters of intent, which continues until Nov. 19. Liberty, a 6-foot-8, 205-pound forward, averaged 25 points, 13 rebounds and 4 blocked shots a game as a junior.

Kentucky received commitments from Eric Manuel, a 6-6 swingman from Macon, Ga., John Pittman, a 7-foot, 260-pound center from Rosenberg, Texas, and 6-11 center LeRon Ellis of Los Angeles.

Manuel was rated the top prospect in the country by one newsletter. His high school has produced NBA stars Norm Nixon and Jeff Malone, but Southwest Macon Coach Don Richardson thinks Manuel can be better.

Ellis, whose father LeRoy played in the NBA, announced last month he would play for Eddie Sutton's Wildcats. Ellis, who attended Mater Dei High School, did not consider any other colleges although his father is an assistant at Southern Cal.

Pittman, who attended B.F. Terry High School, turned down offers from Georgetown, Texas Tech, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State. He averaged 18 points, 13 rebounds and 7 blocks a game last year.

In Florida, Chris Corchiani, considered the top guard prospect in the state, chose North Carolina State over the Gators.

Basketball

Virginia and Duke, Corchiani's teammate at defending state champion Hialeah Miami Lakes, Ruy Glass, did sign with Florida.

St. Petersburg Boca Ciega's David White picked Florida State. Pensacola Pine Forest's John Davis signed with Kentucky and Fort Pierce Central's John Walker decided on Auburn in other state signings. Daytona Beach Mainland standout Mike Pollie didn't sign, but narrowed his choices to FSU, Michigan, Wake Forest and Georgia.

It is expected that 200 players will sign during the early period and Sean Higgins of Los Angeles, regarded as the No. 2 player by some observers, said he would decide on Nov. 18. Higgins, a 6-8 forward-guard, has narrowed his choices to UCLA, Michigan, Texas, Kentucky and Louisville.

Temple signed one of the top recruits in its history when Mark Macon, a 6-4 guard from Saginaw, Mich, chose the Owls over Georgetown. Macon was regarded the best prospect in Michigan.

Brian Shorter, a 6-7 forward from Philadelphia who is now playing in Mouth of Wilson, Va., signed with Pittsburgh. Larry Johnson, a 6-6 forward from Dallas, Texas, signed with Southern Methodist.

Indiana signed 6-5 Jay Edwards and 6-3 Lyndon Jones, teammates on last year's Marion (Ind.) High School state championship team. Edwards averaged 23 points and 9 rebounds last year while Jones averaged 21 points and 6 assists.

6-Way Tie Possible For SEC

United Press International
The Southeastern Conference doesn't mean to be putting the Sugar Bowl on the spot, but it appears that the league may be unable to pick the host team for the New Year's Day classic on its own.

Under the agreement between the SEC and the New Orleans bowl, the outright league champion gets the host berth automatically. But, in case of a tie, the Sugar Bowl makes the choice — and there's a pretty good chance that two, and maybe even three teams will wind up tied for the SEC lead this season.

The No. 11 Louisiana State Tigers are favored to beat Mississippi State Saturday night and nail down at least a tie for the title. The winner of the Nov. 29 game between No. 8 Auburn and No. 15 Alabama would share that crown, assuming Auburn lives up to its favorite's role Saturday as host to Georgia. And, Ole Miss could make that a triumvirate by beating Tennessee this Saturday and Mississippi State the next.

If that is indeed the scenario, look for the Sugar Bowl to award the berth to the Alabama-Auburn winner.

Believe it or not, the SEC could wind up with a six-way tie for first place. For that to happen, Georgia would have to upset Auburn, Mississippi State beat both LSU and Ole Miss, Ole Miss beat Tennessee, and Auburn beat Alabama.

Saturday's schedule has Ole Miss vs. Tennessee and LSU vs. Mississippi State in a day-night doubleheader at Jackson, Miss., Georgia at Auburn, Temple at Alabama, Florida at Kentucky, Vanderbilt at Virginia Tech, Tulsa at No. 1 Miami, Southern Miss at Florida State, Memphis State at Tulane and West Virginia at Louisville.

Ole Miss, 6-2-1, has been the surprise team in the SEC this fall, moving into title contention last week with a 21-19 upset of LSU at Baton Rouge, La.

"I feel the thing that is making Ole Miss better is its defense, which is one of the best in the country," said Tennessee Coach Johnny Majors. "In addition, the Rebels have an outstanding punter (Billy Smith who leads the SEC with an average of 44.4 yards) and a solid quarterback (Mark Young).

"Ole Miss certainly is playing like a championship contender," said Majors. "As for Tennessee, we have motivation to try to be a spoiler after having won the championship last year."

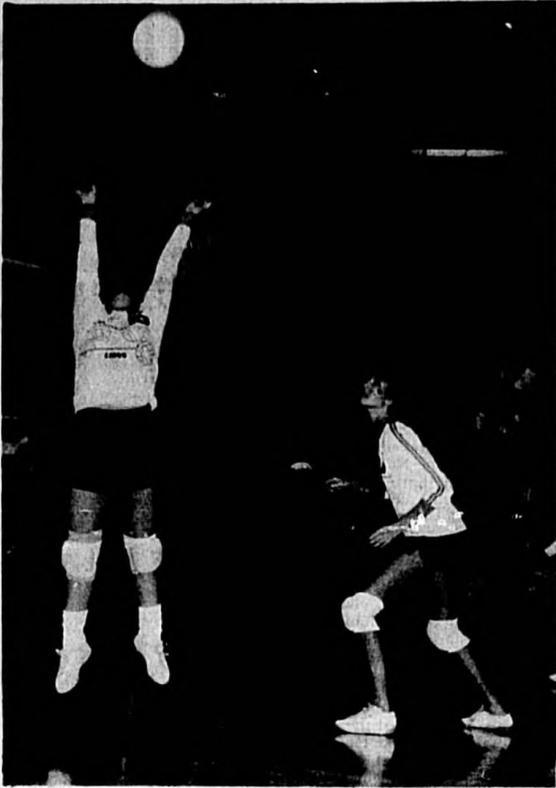

Mississippi State, 6-3, was in a complete turnaround from last year, when the Bulldogs went 0-6 in SEC play, before back-to-back home losses to Auburn and Alabama.

"Mississippi State is still dangerous," said LSU Coach Bill Arnsparger. "Their quarterback Don Smith (the SEC total offense leader with 2,048 yards) is one of the most exciting players in the league. Their offense is predicated on his ability to get the ball to the perimeter."

Auburn, 8-1, and Georgia, 6-3, are 1-2 in SEC offense. But Auburn, paced by SEC rushing leader Brent Fullwood (1,152 yards) has blown out everybody they've played except Florida, which overcame a 17-point fourth-quarter deficit two weeks ago to upset the Tigers, 18-17.

"I feel like if there is one great football team in our conference this season, it would have to be Auburn," said Georgia Coach Vince Dooley. "They are so good at everything they do."

"Offensively, Auburn has certainly been the land of the running backs the last few years," said Dooley. "(William) Andrews, (Joe) Cribbs, (Lionel) James and (James) Brooks are all great backs still playing pro football.

Davidson, Wood: Shorter Lady Lions Measure Tall On Success

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

OVIEDO — While it may be hard to see them in a crowd of tall people, Kelly Davidson and Cindy Wood don't need platform sneakers to stand out on the volleyball court.

Every team likes to have the six-foot spiking machine, but it takes much more to make a complete team. It takes a good setter to put the ball where the hitters like it and it takes the kind of player who is willing to hit the floor to dig out the opponents' spikes.

Without Davidson, a 5-5 senior, and Wood, a 5-4 1/2 senior, Oviedo High's Lady Lions would have had a difficult, if not impossible time getting as far as they have — one win away from the Class 3A State Tournament.

In Tuesday night's 3A-3 Region match against Gainesville High, Davidson and Wood provided the all-around spark that ignited the Lady Lions to victory. Davidson's setting was excellent and she also had some key serves while Wood dug up everything that was hit her way and also served and played the front row well.

"Kelly (Davidson) has come through for us all year and she did it again tonight when we needed it most," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "Cindy (Wood) does so many things well and has been a real consistent player the past few years."

Tuesday night, Davidson had three straight crucial serves that gave Oviedo the first game, then served the Lady Lions to an early lead in game two. While her serving was solid, Davidson also had some outstanding plays at the net.

On one occasion, Davidson came up with a play that was as spectacular as any spike in the match. With Gainesville on a rally and closing within 12-11 in the first game, a pass from the back row floated toward the net and Davidson ran across court to get it, then jumped up and completely fooled the Gainesville defense by dumping the ball over the net and into an open area.

It was Davidson's consistent setting, though, that got Oviedo's offense cranked up. The Lady Lions' power was eventually too much for Gainesville to handle.

"The serve return was really good tonight," Davidson said. "It takes good serve receive to be a good setter. And a lot of practice."

Wood, also a point guard in basketball, showed her versatility Tuesday night as she turned in several outstanding defensive plays and also had some hits on the front row and set Suzanne Hughes for a spike that stopped Gainesville from building any momentum in the second game.

On the back row, though, is where Wood is most outstanding. Rarely does a spike from the opposition get in when it's hit at or in the vicinity of Wood. Gainesville did not have one of the more powerful teams Oviedo has played, so Wood said the defense had to make some adjustments.

"They (Gainesville) were spiking it short most of the time," Wood said. "So we just scooped up a little on defense and started catching them. They had some good hits but they weren't the beat we've played. Lake Mary and Lake Howell had better hitters."

The ones with the height and the spikes get most of the hype in volleyball, but it's dynamos like Kelly Davidson and Cindy Wood that are necessary for a team that has any dreams of a championship season.

Tuesday night, Oviedo's Lady Lions took one step closer to making that dream a reality. Friday at Land O' Lakes, the Lady Lions will try to take one more step in the sectional championship.

Celtics' Unlikely Hero Sparks Win Over Bucks

United Press International

By the end of the first quarter of Wednesday night's Boston-Milwaukee game, both head coaches and the league's best player were gone. The scenario was right for an unlikely hero, and Fred Roberts filled the role.

Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson suffered back pains on Wednesday morning and did not accompany the team to Boston, and Celtics Coach K.C. Jones missed his second straight game due to the flu. Larry Bird, last season's Most Valuable Player, earned an ejection by referee Bill Oakes with 2:52 remaining in the first quarter.

The Celtics also played without Danny Ainge, Bill Walton and Scott Wedman, who are all on the injured list, but led 65-58 at halftime. They then outscored the Bucks 35-16 in the third quarter.

Basketball

Roberts, a 6-foot-7 reserve forward acquired from Utah during the offseason, scored 7 of his 23 points in the outburst, and finished with a team-high 12 rebounds and 6 assists.

The Celtics coasted to a 124-116 victory, extending their streak of home-court triumphs to 44. The Bucks lost for the first time in their last four games.

Bird was ejected after protesting a call by twice throwing the ball high in the air, then arguing.

"That's when we should have taken control," said Milwaukee's Terry Cummings. "Instead they poked up the pace."

Bullets 101, Bulls 99

At Landover, Md., Moses Malone scored 33 points and grabbed the final rebound and Jeff Malone added 30 points to help Washington break a three-game losing streak. The loss prevented the Bulls from getting off to their best start ever. Chicago's Michael Jordan scored 28 points but missed 6 of 7 fourth quarter field goal attempts.

Pistons 108, Suns 100

At Pontiac, Mich., Isiah Thomas scored 18 of his 31 points in the first quarter to help the Pistons hand the Suns their fifth straight road loss. Chuck Daly became the winningest coach in Pistons history, surpassing Ray Scott's record 151 victories.

Mavericks 114, Houston 85

At Dallas, Rolando Blackman scored

31 points to lead the Mavericks. Blackman touched off a streak of 17 straight Mavericks points in the second quarter, then ignited a 20-5 surge at the end of the third period. Akeem Olajuwon scored 32 for the Rockets, but no other Houston player scored in double figures.

Kings 110, Nuggets 108

At Denver, Terry Tyler scored 20 points and held Alex English to a season-low 16, helping Sacramento to its first road victory of the season. The Nuggets lost their third straight.

Lakers 122, SuperSonics 97

At Inglewood, Calif., Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 25 points in less than three quarters to power the Lakers. James Worthy added 20 points and Magic Johnson collected 19 points and 10 assists as the Lakers won their fourth straight.

Cubs' Fan Reagan Salutes World Series Champ Mets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world champion New York Mets stepped up to the White House plate Wednesday with congratulations from lifelong Cubs fan President Reagan and no mention of a minor tilt over hints of unruly behavior.

Flanked by the stars of the cliffhanger 1986 World Series, Reagan praised the Mets during a Rose Garden ceremony and said their seven-game victory over the Boston Red Sox epitomized the adage coined by Yogi Berra that "The game isn't over 'til it's over."

"Not only did the Mets show America that the other team from New York could play this game, but they did it their way," Reagan said. "The Mets made 'em say, 'You gotta believe.'"

Dressed in suits and ties, the champs were a picture of protocol, although when the event was announced two weeks ago, White House spokesman Larry Speakes jokingly suggested the executive mansion might not withstand the kind of ruckus that followed the Mets' World Series win.

In response, New York Mayor Edward Koch lashed back, "Speakes speaketh with a forked tongue."

Wednesday, Speakes watched from the sidelines as Reagan, standing before a large gathering of White House staffers, paid tribute to the Mets for a dream that "began in spring training and culminated by bringing the championship to the Big Apple."

"You've come a long way from that 40-120 record the amazing Mets posted in 1962," Reagan said.

Frey reportedly has been offered the job of chief scout and talent evaluator for the Twins. Frey also has been a top candidate to serve as a color commentator for WGN radio, the flagship station for Cubs' broadcasts.

Frey, 55, fired last June, and former Cub player Jay Johnstone are the finalists for the radio job.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Mets sent shortstop Ron Gardenhire to Minnesota's Toledo farm club of the International League Wednesday for a player to be named.

IN BRIEF

Rejuvenated Stars & Stripes Saves Face, Beats America II

FREMANTLE, Australia (UPI) — Rejuvenated by fierce winds and steep seas, Dennis Conner's Stars & Stripes reclaimed third place Thursday with a face-saving victory over America II in the America's Cup challenger series while a new keel controversy loomed over the race.

In the finale of the second set of matches, Conner overcame the New York Yacht Club's entry on the first leg and dominated the remainder of the course shortened from 24.5 miles to 18.

America II's Kollus took an early nine-second lead but Conner rallied and rounded the first windward mark 48 seconds ahead.

Kollus made up three seconds downwind but Conner tripled his advantage upwind. Kollus gained 41 seconds back at the bottom mark, but Conner won the race by 1:31.

The race in 30 knot winds was delayed for 90 minutes while skipper John Kollus and the America II crew, 20-3, repaired a broken mainsail halyard and the French Kiss team fixed its broken boom.

The ferocious winds took their toll, with a man swept overboard from Great Britain's White Crusader and Italia being disabled because of a broken headsail.

Iowa State Removes Criner

AMES, Iowa (UPI) — Iowa State University football coach Jim Criner has been removed from his position, the result of an NCAA investigation into alleged recruiting violations by the university, ISU officials said.

ISU President Gordon Eaton said late Wednesday the investigation proves "new leadership is desired for Iowa State University's football program."

Chuck Banker, assistant head coach, has been named acting head football coach for the remainder of the current season, Eaton said.

Max Urlick, ISU's athletic director, said in compliance with provisions established by the ISU Athletic Council, he will begin procedures leading to the selection of a new head football coach.

Sanford Lions Golf Is Nov. 15

The Sanford Lions Club, will hold its annual golf tournament Saturday Nov. 15 at the Winter Pines Golf Club in Winter Park. Lions Club spokesman Sully Fleming said Friday.

Non-members are invited to participate. Registration fee is $20 including electric cart and green fee. Trophies will be given for low net, closest to pin along with prizes.

Fleming said proceeds will benefit the Lions Sight Program. For further information and registration, contact Fleming at 322-5551.

Goodyear Won't Sponsor Prix

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., officially announced Wednesday it was pulling out as one of the major financial sponsors of the Formula One Grand Prix racing circuit because of a restructuring program aimed at fighting off a takeover bid by industrialist Sir James Goldsmith.

William Newkirk, a company spokesman, said the American tire manufacturer's pullout was a direct result of Goldsmith's takeover bid.

Merkerson Strikes Again, 6-0

Craig Merkerson, the Cowboys' big-play man all season, came through again Wednesday as the Cowboys downed the Wildcats, 6-0, for the Sanford Recreation Flag Football Junior League title.

Merkerson bolted for a 55-yard touchdown run in the first half and it turned out to be the only score of the game. The Cowboys finished with a 5-2 record while the Wildcats ended up 4-3.

Crisis Strikes 'Bull' Redfish

Florida's redfish population is undergoing a crisis that will take years to overcome. Until recently, redfish had little or no commercial value as a food fish. The coarse, dark meat of large redfish was only worth about 45 cents per pound on the commercial market.

All of a sudden a dish called blackened redfish swept the country and brought about a huge demand for "bull" redfish. Prices soared to around $1.25 per pound, and large scale, netting operations in the Gulf of Mexico began to pillage the previously ignored schools of giant breeder redfish.

Redfish are a long-lived species that must spend several years in coastal waters before they reach breeding size. Unhappily, all the big redfish from the entire Gulf coast area head offshore as adults, becoming the common breeding pool that replenishes the juvenile populations of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Purse seiners with spotter planes found these large schools of breeder redfish an easy mark.

It is illegal to purse-seine redfish in all Gulf Coast state waters. All Gulf Coast states also have size restrictions on bull redfish.

Unfortunately, it is not illegal to purse-seine bull redfish in federal waters. The harvesting pressure on big reds has increased by a hundredfold in the past five years — from 40,000 pounds in 1981 to more than 3 million pounds in 1985. The commercial harvest for the first half of 1986 is estimated to be around 5 million pounds.

The Gulf Coast states, alarmed at this unchecked overharvesting of a valuable resource, convinced the secretary of state to take action. An emergency federal management plan went into effect on June 25 and placed a quota of 1 million pounds of reds to be harvested out of Gulf waters for a 90-day period. The "emergency" quota of 1 million pounds was reached in only 3 weeks.

GOING FISHING?

Florida's Marine Fisheries Commission, composed of both commercial and recreational interests, is attempting to pass legislation to control the harvesting of redfish in Florida waters. Laws have already been enacted which limit the minimum size of redfish to 18 inches. A Florida angler may keep only one redfish over 32 inches in length per day.

The Marine Fisheries Commission is also attempting to pass legislation for daily bag limits for recreational fishermen, season closures and possible game fish status for the redfish.

Due to legal pressure from the commercial sector, a state hearing officer shot down a proposal from the Marine Fisheries Commission to classify redfish as a game fish and to prohibit the commercial harvesting and sale of this threatened species.

The Marine Fisheries Commission then petitioned the governor to impose a 90-day ban on the harvest of redfish in Florida waters. Gov. Bob Graham and the cabinet recognized the emergency and ordered this ban to take effect on Nov. 7, 1986. This ban also prohibits the sale of native redfish in Florida, which began Wednesday. This 90-day ban includes commercial and sports fishermen and will remain in effect through Feb. 4, 1987.

This moratorium will hopefully give the Marine Fisheries Commission time to regroup and appeal the decision of the state hearing officer. If a management plan cannot be worked out in the 90-day period, many people expect the ban to be extended for another 90 days.

The federal government has issued a similar ban on the harvest of redfish in Gulf federal waters through December. The federal ban will probably extend through 1987 or longer.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Do you have a recent catch that you are proud of? If so, drop off or mail a photograph of this catch to the Sanford Herald, c/o Sam Cook, P.O. Box 1657, Sanford, Florida 32771. Also enclose some information about the catch such as the name(s) of the angler(s), species of fish, where caught and what type of bait was used.

WEEKEND FORECAST — Rick Rawlins at Highland Park Fish Camp reports that speckled perch are biting in Lake Woodruff. Anglers can either troll open water or jig tippy bad fields for the best results. Most of the larger bass are being caught on wild shiners fished near floating cover.

Dell Abernathy from Otwell Bridge Fish Camp said that the species are active in Lake Merritt. Look for concentrations of boats for the best spots. Drifting with Missouri minnows or trolling with Beetle Spins is the most productive. Quite a few bass are being caught, but most of them are on the small side, averaging from 1.3 pounds. Look for schooling action in areas of moving water. Fish below the schooling bass and you might find larger bass lurking below waiting for an easy meal.

The snook are still cooperating at Sebastian Inlet. A large percentage of anglers are catching snook, and the old reliable one-ounce bucktail is producing most of the fish. Charter boats such as the Bomber Stripper A will also produce. The snook are averaging from 8-15 pounds.

Captain Jack from Perla Canaveral reported that sailfish and dolphin have been hitting in 30 feet of water. The buoy line is slow, but a few large Spanish mackerel have been caught. Action inside the Perla is limited to large bluefish and a few snook. Fish at night around the jetties with live finger mullet for the snook. Trout have been spotted in the Banana and Indian rivers. Use topwater plugs on the flats for exciting action. Later on in the day fish Mirrorlures or Sassy Shads on the deeper flats for continued success.

Bluefish, flounder, drum, sheepshead and jack crevalle are providing most of the action at the New Smyrna jetties. Bluefish and jacks will respond well to plugs, but the other species prefer a fat, live shrimp fished on the bottom with a small weight.

New Muscle Tear Shelves McMahon

CHICAGO (UPI) — A newly discovered muscle tear in Chicago Bears quarterback Jim McMahon's right shoulder will keep him out of Sunday's game against the Atlanta Falcons, team doctor Clarence Fossier says.

Mike Tomczak is slated to start against the Falcons in Atlanta. Fossier did not rule out the possibility that McMahon could see action against Green Bay the following Sunday.

Doctors discovered a torn rotator cuff in McMahon's right shoulder during a battery of tests Tuesday. McMahon underwent two arthrograms, a CAT-scan and an ultrasound test. The second arthrogram, performed after McMahon exercised the shoulder, detected a hairline tear that doctors said was unrelated to a shoulder separation the quarterback sustained against Cleveland.

The injury was the result of muscles being worn down by repeated throwing, doctors said. It had also caused an inflammation of the shoulder.

Although postseason surgery may be necessary, Fossier said, "I think the possibilities of this ending a career are minimal."

...Swimming

Radkewich will make a decision before the next fall season on whether or not he will swim or run. "I like both but I need to concentrate on one," Radkewich said. "I'm not sure which one I will pick yet though."

Radkewich is currently ranked second in the Central Florida in the 500 free with a 4:57.7. Radkewich is also an important part in both of the Greyhounds Relays.

Lyman has the top two relay squads in the area which should help the Greyhounds this Saturday in the district meet to be held at the Justice Aquatic Center in Longwood.

Lyman's 200 medley relay is out in front with a 1:42.9. Lake Mary is third at 1:45.2 and Lake Brantley is fourth with a time of 1:47.8.

Flores Names Plunkett To Start

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Raiders Coach Tom Flores Wednesday named Jim Plunkett his starter for this week's game against the Cleveland Browns and said the 38-year-old will finish the season as the No. 1 quarterback.

The announcement came without fanfare at Flores' weekly news conference.

"We have a quarterback change," Flores said. "Plunkett will start this game. Hopefully he'll spark us and do what he did last week against Dallas. The big thing we have to do is protect him and move the ball with the run and in the air."

Plunkett, who will be 39 on Dec. 5, relieved beleaguered Marc Wilson at the start of the second half and threw two touchdown passes as the Raiders rallied to beat the Cowboys.

"We were not playing well in the first half and we were not protecting the quarterback," Flores said. "Things were just not in sync. I thought before the half that a change was necessary to change the rhythm. There's no question that we played much better as a team and we looked better."

Football

Wilson, who was nearly traded last summer, has thrown 14 interceptions and 12 touchdowns in 230 pass attempts. Plunkett has just one interception and 5 TDs in 89 attempts.

"Plunkett is an experienced quarterback and he gives you that experience," Flores said. "Some quarterbacks will come in and get flustered. Whether you call it magical or not — I like to think of it as talent — Jim has it."

Flores said Plunkett's promotion will last the season.

"Right now, Jim is fresh," he said. "He hasn't played a lot this year and he hasn't taken the beating starting quarterbacks have taken. You're always concerned about injury to your quarterback. You try not to think about it."

"Barring injury, Jim is likely to finish the season at quarterback."

Plunkett, who led the Raiders to two Super Bowl victories, lost his starting spot in the third game of last season when he suffered a shoulder separation. Wilson brought the Raiders to the AFC playoffs with a 12-4 record, but they lost to the New England Patriots 27-20 in the first round.

The criticism of Wilson increased this year after the Raiders began the season 0-3. He was loudly booed at all of the team's home games.

Flores expressed confidence that the Raiders can gain a post-season berth.

"We're 6-4 and we have a chance," he said. "We're still alive. This next week is going to be tough for us. By (next) Thursday, we'll have played three games in 15 days."

BAUMHOWER GOES ON RESERVE

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami nose tackle Bob Baumhower, who sat out last season because of knee surgery but battled back this year to regain his starting job, was placed on injured reserve by the Dolphins Wednesday because of a groin injury.

Baumhower, a nine-year veteran out of Alabama, started the first 10 games of the season for the Dolphins, 4-6.

TRC Clinches Tie For Title, Knapp's Wins

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

"Steady Eddie" Jackson was never steadier Wednesday night as he hurled and hit the Tim Raines Connection within one win or one Six Flags Nursery loss of the championship of the Sanford Men's Fall Softball League.

Jackson socked two home runs, a double and a sacrifice fly to drive in five runs and scattered eight hits as TRC drilled Six Flags, 11-3, to clinch a title tie at Pinehurst Field.

TRC's victory was its ninth in 10 games. Six Flags fell to 7-3. With just two games left to play, a TRC victory or a Six Flags loss hands the Connection the championship.

Almost as noteworthy in Wednesday's second game, Bill Knapp's ended a nine-game skid with its first victory, a 6-4 decision over All-Sports Program. Knapp's improved to 1-9 and ASP fell to 3-7.

TRC jumped on top with three runs in the first inning as Tim Raines singled and Levi Raines reached on an error. Jackson followed with a double for a 1-0 edge and Rodney Turner came through with a sacrifice fly for a 2-0 lead. Billy Griffith followed with a single to score Jackson for a 3-0 count.

The Connection upped the lead to 6-0 in the third when Levi Raines singled and Jackson followed with a two-run homer. Turner and Griffith also singled and Turner scored when Ned Raines reached on an error.

An inning later, TRC struck for three more for a 9-0 bulge. Sam Raines doubled and moved to third on a base knock by Greg Hardy. Tim Raines walked to load the bases and Levi Raines followed with a two-run single. Jackson added a sacrifice fly for the other run.

Jackson shut down Six Flags until the fourth when Ted Miller singled home Joe Ervin reached on a walk and moved up on a base hit by Scott Williams.

Bill Griffith socked a solo homer in the fifth and Jackson powered his second blast in the seventh for the final TRC runs. Terrell Irvin singled home a run in the fifth and Tony Dunkinson plated a run in the seventh with a base hit.

Six Flags had dealt TRC its only loss of the year on Nov. 3.

In Wednesday's second game, Bill Knapp's, which had been close to its first win over several occasions, finally got over the hump by scoring three runs each in the third and fifth innings to turn away All-Sports Program.

ASP took a 2-0 lead on Jay Laney's RBI single in the first and Clay Curry's run-scoring fielder's choice in the second.

In the third, though, Knapp's Mike Lour singled and moved up on Mike Reeder's walk. Doug Emmons reached on an error to load the bases before Harry McCarty delivered a clutch two-run single. Joe Grestini followed with a deep fly for a 3-2 lead.

ASP pushed across the tying run in the fifth when Terry Rüssi reached on an error, moved up on Curry's fly ball and scored on Mike Rotundo's base hit.

Bill Knapp's, however, came back with its game-winning three-spot in the bottom of the inning. Jim Gault reached on an error but was forced by Lour. After Reeder grounded out, Emmons kept the rally alive with a single. McCarty then doubled home two runs and moved to third on an error. He scored when Grestini reached on an error.

In the dramatic top of the seventh frame, ASP pushed across a run on Curry's RBI single, but winning pitcher Jeff Smith reached back to retire Rotundo on a pop fly to the mound.

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 2.25 Wednesday, was down 1.55 to 1892.15 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 413-354 among the 1,224 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 8,856,000 shares.

The stock market incurred modest losses Wednesday after late buying — inspired by a mid-afternoon rise in bond prices — trimmed a sharper decline.

Traders said profit-taking and a slightly weaker bond market hurt equity prices for much of the session. And traders said selling intensified every time the Dow approached 1900.

"Equity investors seem to be taking their cue from the bond market," said Peter Furnias, vice president in equity trading at Smith Barney, Harris Upham.

Furnias said some investors are feeling cautious before Thursday's release of data on the nation's money supply. The Federal Reserve System's Open Market Committee recently said it might respond to the rapid growth of currency in circulation by letting interest rates rise.

Dollar Mostly Higher In Active Trading

By United Press International

The U.S. dollar was mostly higher on major world money markets today. The price of gold was mixed.

In Japan the dollar eased against the yen in active trading on the Tokyo foreign exchange market closing at 161.65 yen, down 0.15 from Wednesday's close of 161.80.

Dealers in Tokyo said the dollar's weakness was in line with an overnight decline overseas which was triggered by expected weak U.S. October retail sales scheduled to be released Friday.

In European trading the dollar opened at 2.03 German marks in Frankfurt, up from 2.026 at the close on Wednesday.

In Zurich the dollar opened at 1.6845 Swiss francs, up from 1.677; it opened at 6.8445 French francs in Paris, up from a previous close of 6.81.

The dollar opened at 1,405.50 lire in Milan, up from 1,401.25; it opened higher against British sterling in London at $1.42 to the pound, against $1.426 at the close on Wednesday.

The dollar opened lower in Amsterdam at 2.284 Dutch guilders, down from a previous close of 2.285.

In early New York trading the dollar was higher against all major foreign currencies in brisk trading.

Gold opened $1 lower in Zurich at $406 an ounce and gained 25 cents in London to $405.75 from $405.50 at the close on Wednesday.

The morning fixing in London was $406.85, up $1.35 from Wednesday's close.

Silver opened unchanged in Zurich at $5.75 a troy ounce and rose 4.5 cents in London to $5.765 from $5.72.

In earlier trading in the Far East, gold closed at $406.25 an ounce on the Hong Kong Bullion Exchange, off $1.15 from Wednesday's close.

In early trading on New York's Comex, a 100-troy-ounce gold futures contract for current delivery in November opened at $408.60 an ounce, up 40 cents from Wednesday's close. A 5,000-troy-ounce silver futures contract for delivery in November opened at $5.794, off 1 cent an ounce.

People Express Buyout Extended

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Near-bankrupt People Express Inc. said today it is giving owners of its bonds two more days to approve a Texas Air Corp. buyout that will save the company but cost them $12.6 million a year in interest.

Bondholders had been asked to say by 5 p.m. Wednesday whether they would accept the interest payments cuts, required by Texas Air as a condition of the $110.5 million merger approved last month by federal regulators.

The new deadline, under the second extension of what originally was a Nov. 7 cutoff, will be Friday at 5 p.m. EST. If it is not met, People Express may be forced to miss a scheduled $9 million interest payment.

Houston-based Texas Air, which already owns New York Air and Continental.

Judged fire hazards several months ago. The violation is now related to a building requirement waiver commissioner granted Mrs. Nestor Monday.

The waiver will allow the doors to remain and be protected with a sprinkler system the city's fire department is requiring Mrs. Nestor to install. Mrs. Nestor had to request the waiver because city building codes require the doors replacement with fire retardant wood, rather than protection with a sprinkler system.

Mrs. Malone says until the "sprinkler is protecting those doors," the $25-a-day fine should continue to run on the cited building code violation. Mrs. Nestor told commissioners Monday she had a contract for the installation, but no completion date.

The waiver request is also related to the hotel's lack of an operational license, another violation of city code. Commissioners said Monday the license can only be obtained when the sprinkler system is "installed, operational and inspected."

Mrs. Nestor was first cited for code deficiencies in February, under a Sanford ordinance requiring completion of a number of on-site upgrades by Oct. 24, 1985.

have his "brains bashed out," for his pursuit of the investigation. There are witnesses to the threat, he said. McEwan, a developer, became involved in the issue after he took exception to one county commissioner's comments about some of McEwan's development plans.

McEwan said an investigator from the Florida Department of Law Enforcement has been assigned to investigate the allegations, as requested by the grand jury. Another state official is involved in the investigation, but he again declined to name that person.

Barbara Linthicum, deputy general counsel for Florida, said Eagan has submitted a brief final report on the grand jury's activities saying the term of the grand jury had expired. She said there was no mention of its investigation. She said she was going to contact Eagan to find out more details about the situation.

She said she knew of no reason why the matter could not be taken before the new grand jury.

Before being called before the grand jury, McEwan accused county officials of conspiring in various ways to improve private property at taxpayers' expense.

McEwan asserts the land purchase is part of a larger "scheme" to increase the value of land owned by elected county and state officials, to provide sewage treatment capacity to the private development of Heathrow at taxpayers' expense, and to punish the city of Sanford for bucking the county in various annexation actions.

McEwan said Eagan was a poor choice by Graham for special prosecutor on the case because the alleged coverup may include events that involve Orange County where he is prosecutor.

He said part of the alleged scheme is to move the Central Florida Zoo west of Sanford to Orange County, thus making the existing zoo land available for development. Near that land is property held by those county and state elected officials, records show. A tentative sewer line, part of the regional development that will serve Heathrow, is planned to service that zoo land area, thus allegedly increasing the value of that property significantly.

Tim Hetz, spokesman for Eagan, (Eagan has failed to return several telephone calls by Herald reporters) said any information about the grand jury would have to come from Graham's office and not Eagan's out of deference to the higher office.

NCR Co. Therefore, a number of drainage requirements were placed on the developer. The city also asked that the developer increase the size of water mains to 12 inches.

In other P&Z action this week, consideration was given to a request for conditional use with a zoning change, for construction of a retail shopping center at the southeast corner of Lake Mary Boulevard and Longwood/Lake Mary Road.

Proposed as Oaks Shopping Plaza in a request by Louise Teslo, the development would have as its center attraction a grocery store. The property within 200-feet of Lake Mary Boulevard would be used as professional office space, and the remainder, 82,000 square feet, would be for retail use.

Talmadge said the reason a grocery store or other center attraction was required was to provide "an anchor" and avoid another "strip center (something without a major draw)".

An example, he said, of a shopping plaza with no major draw is the Shoppes of Lake Mary, which sits at Lake Mary Boulevard and Country Club Road, still some 40 percent vacant. Talmadge said already two tenants have moved out.

"You really need something to provide a major service to people in a shopping zone," Talmadge said.

In making a recommendation, the P&Z board wrote up 12 conditions for use, to be considered by the city commission.

Those were primarily concerned with protection of the surrounding area; buffers, trees, ingress and egress, and cross-access easement for adjacent property.

In sending the recommendations on to the city commission, the board also asked the city to decide on a rezoning from agricultural to commercial.

Talmadge felt the project could be a success if developed properly.

"It's possibly the most appropriate place in Lake Mary for a development of that kind," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert William Kongable

Teresa A. Little, A.W. Kongable Repeat Vows

Teresa Ann Little and Albert William Kongable, both of Longwood, were married Oct. 11, at 2 p.m., at Wekiva Assembly of God, Longwood. The Rev. Ron Johnson, church pastor, was the officiating clergyman for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Marvin R. Little and Juanita Little, both of Longwood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Kongable, Edina, Mo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an elegant candlelight gown, fashioned with a front and back V-neckline and basque waist. The sweeping chapel train, accented with French Alencon lace and pearls, fell from a large bow. A traditional halo of Alencon lace, pearls and sequins secured her fingertip veil of imported illusion. The bride carried a cascade of bridal candlelight sweetheart roses, lily of the valley and Gypsophila showered with candlelight lace ribbon with stephanotis and centered with a detachable corsage.

Lisa Cohn attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a solid mauve satin gown styled with a boat neck and V-back accented by a bow peplum and bell cap sleeves. She carried a nosegay of candlelight tiger lilies, candlelight sweetheart roses, mini carnations, Gypsophila and burgundy satin streamers tied with love knots.

Bridesmaids were Christine Conduff, Carrie Edwards and Saundra McGowan. Their gowns and flowers were similar to the honor attendant's. James Kongable served his brother as best man. Ushers were Ronald Rorer, Michael Cohn, the bride's step brother, Allen Sec, Brad Krueger and Mark Simmons.

The reception immediately followed the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. Assistants at the wedding and reception were: Karen Brooks, pianist; Nelson Alsop, soloist; Scarlett Amundsen, guest book; and Amy Butler, Gail Allen, Michele Butler, Deana Butler, Sue Taylor and Barbara Butler, reception.

Following a wedding trip to Hayesville, N.C., the newlyweds are making their home in Longwood. Both are employed by Martin Marietta Orlando Aerospace.

50th Anniversary

Celebration Calls For Renewing Wedding Vows

By Doris Dietrich
People Editor

Opal and Willis Jones, 538 Valencia St., Sanford, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 28. They were married on that date in 1936 in Ashland, Ky.

The Joneses later moved to Mansfield, Ohio, where they raised their three children, Phillip (now deceased), Gerald Jones of Sanford, and Michele Jones Cook, Hartsville, S.C. There are 10 grandchildren.

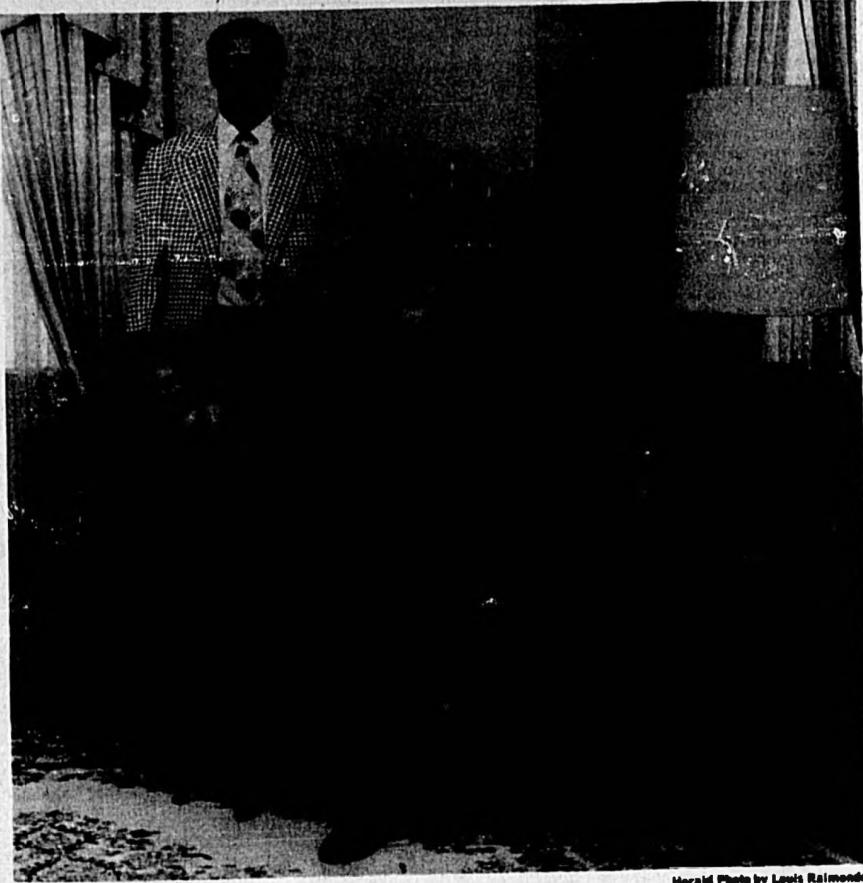

In celebration of the golden event, the couple will renew their wedding vows at Pinecrest Baptist Church, where they are members, on Nov. 28, at 7 p.m. followed by a reception in the church fellowship hall. Mr. and Mrs. Jones cordially invite their friends to join them for both events.

An anniversary surprise came a little early for the Joneses who were honored by the employees of Jones Electric with a cruise aboard the Sea Escape.

The Joneses moved to Sanford from Ohio in 1956 where they opened Jones Electric Supply at 108 W. First St. a small business venture with just the two of them employed. Together they worked and watched their business grow to a new complex, including offices and a warehouse on South Sanford Avenue with a branch in Melbourne and another in DeLand.

The business now includes 70 employees with Mr. Jones still active in the business where he is chairman of the Board of Directors.

Mrs. Jones, who laughingly admits that she has always been in love with Sanford from Day One with "sand clear up to my neck," was a liberated woman long before women activists had their say. "Out of necessity," she laughs.

Opal and Willis Jones invite friends to observance.

Calling herself a Jack of all trades doing "a little bit of everything," Mrs. Jones said she "sometimes made deliveries in the old truck." Actually, her title was bookkeeper and treasurer of the company and her main job was keeping up with the Joneses. She retired in 1982 after 25 years in the family business.

And Mrs. Jones is the first to tell you that she has been happily married for 50 years. "My husband has a wonderful sense of humor. He doesn't hold grudges. But, first of all, we're Christians," she said.

SCCA Opens Season With 'Figaro,' Superb Music, Charming Production

Universal Opera Company's "The Marriage of Figaro" is proclaimed by The New York Times as "suburb music, admirable singing and a charming production."

"Figaro" will be presented under the auspices of Seminole Community Concert Association on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Lake Mary High School. Admission to the concert is by subscription to membership in SCCA which can be purchased that evening at the door.

"Public performance forbidden by the police" — such was the decreed in 18th Century Paris against Beaumarchais' rollicking and now classical comedy, "The Marriage of Figaro." However, the work was not condemned on moral grounds but rather because it too truthfully revealed the life of the nobility. "The Marriage of Figaro" thus took on the charm of forbidden fruit and private "rehearsals" were given at which distinguished persons, including Marie Antoinette herself, delighted in being present.

The Beaumarchais story, as structured by librettist Lorenzo da Ponte, reveals that the Count would philander with Susanna, the maid to the Countess, but his male servant, Figaro, to whom Susanna is betrothed, impudently confounds his master's intentions. There follows a series of plots and counter plots — mysteriously locked doors — boys impersonating girls — hiding behind chairs and leaping through windows — until the complicated plot is finally resolved in the castle garden. In keeping with the tradition of the times, the role of Cherubino is sung by a mezzo-soprano. This young page boy adds much to the confusion as he is busy pursuing Susanna and all the other young ladies!

Universal Opera is proud to recreate the famous 9 O'Clock Opera Company production of The Marriage of Figaro. This "Figaro" is presented by a cast of handsome American singers using a crisp, idiomatic English translation. Non-essentials in the plot are condensed and some ingenious cuts are utilized. The bridge of 200 years is spanned by the Narrator who, in the manner of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," helps awaken the imagination of the audience. Mozart's opera has long been acknowledged the perfect masterpiece of comic opera. Moviegoers will recall scenes about this opera in the Academy Award-winning film, "Amadeus". Nowhere else does one find such sustained wit and plot suspense with music of the highest order. Truly, it is great music and great comedy!

The cast of 'The Marriage of Figaro'

State Ranks 4th In Funds Appropriated To The Arts

Secretary of State George Firestone has announced that the State of Florida ranks fourth among the 50 states in money appropriated to the arts in 1986-87.

Firestone's announcement is based on the annual survey of legislative appropriations for the arts, which is conducted by the National Assembly of State Arts Agencies.

"The Florida Legislature is to be commended for steadily increasing the appropriations for the State's arts program since 1981," said Firestone. "The legislative funding increases reflect the surging interest in the arts throughout the state and the growing realization of the positive contributions that the arts make at the local level in terms of both quality of life and economic impact."

Florida's 1986-87 appropriation for the arts of $12,710,386, administered by the Division of Cultural Affairs, places it ahead of each state except New York ($48,590,702), Massachusetts ($13,453,924), and New Jersey ($13,453,000). The 1985-86 Florida appropriation of $9,761,077 placed it sixth among the 50 states.

Included in Florida's 1986-87 appropriation is $2.7 million for the Basic Arts Grants Program, $3.0 million for the Florida Fine Arts Endowment Program, $4.97 million for the Arts Facilities Development and Operations Program, $983,580 for the State Theatre Program, $356,806 for administrative expenses, $250,000 for international cultural exchange, $200,000 for challenge grants, $200,000 for the State Touring Program, and $50,000 for a legislative conference.

According to the survey, Florida ranks eighth among the 50 states in per capita spending for the arts. The State of Florida's appropriation represented a $1.118 per person expenditure compared to 88.9 cents per person expenditure in 1985-1986. Florida ranked 11th among the states in 1985-1986 per capita spending.

The survey also ranks Florida fifth among the states in the percent of state general funds allocated to the arts. Of the entire State of Florida budget, 0.1639 percent was appropriated to the arts.

Contracting AIDS Is Not As Easy As Some People Believe

DEAR ABBY: Like everyone else, I am confused about AIDS. How contagious is it? I have a friend who will not eat at a restaurant that employs gay waiters. And she's quit her regular hairdresser because she thinks he's gay. (She says, "Why take a chance?")

Dear Abby

Abby, how big a chance is a person taking to be served by a gay waiter, or to let a gay hairdresser shampoo and set her hair? I'm signing my name, but please don't use it. I hope you print my letter because a lot of people are as confused and frightened as I am.

MRS. C., BEVERLY HILLS

DEAR LADY: AIDS is a sexually transmitted disease, and your friend would be far wiser to worry about her own sexual behavior than who is setting her hair or taking her order. According to Dr. Mervyn Silverman, president of the American Foundation for AIDS Research: "All" gays do not have AIDS, nor have "all" gays been infected with the virus. Further, there is not one case on record of a hairdresser infecting a client in the line of duty, nor of a food handler infecting a customer.

AIDS is not transmitted easily or casually — not by a sneeze, not by a touch, not by being in the same room with an infected person.

It is transmitted by sexual contact or directly through the blood. In the last year, several studies have been conducted of persons living in the same household with people with AIDS without sexual contact. Of the several hundreds of people studied, and though they used the same dishes, the same towels, the same bed linen and the same toilets as the people with AIDS, not a single person contracted the AIDS virus. So it is reasonable to conclude that people who do not engage in unsafe sex or shoot up drugs are at no risk from being around people with AIDS.

The bottom line: AIDS is a sexually transmitted disease. It is no longer limited to homosexuals and drug addicts.

Who is absolutely safe? Only couples who always use a condom unless they are in a long-standing monogamous relationship.

The days of casual sex are over!

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your response to "Disgusted," the 20-year-old "mature" college girl whose problem is her parents.

She lives at home, rent-free, has a part-time job and spends every dime she makes on clothes. Her parents pay for her education, but they refuse to make her car payments. She insists that she didn't ask to be born and parents owe their children an education and a place to live. Poor "Disgusted" complains because her boyfriend is threatening to break up with her because her parents won't let her stay out all night.

Well, I'm a 21-year-old "mature" working girl who goes to school, pays for my own education, clothing, car payments, car insurance, and I also do my share of chores around the house.

Parents don't owe their children an education and a place to live. Now that I'm an adult, I owe it to myself and my parents to pay them back for all their financial backing and support I was given while I was growing up.

"Disgusted" should stop spending every dime she earns on clothes and put it toward that car payment or room and board, or even for her own education.

If my boyfriend wants to break up with me because I can't spend a night or weekend with him, then that's his problem. He can either deal with the situation, or take a hike!

MARIA KASTELAN, NORTHBRIDGE, CALIF.

DEAR MARIA: Hooray for you! I received a barrage of letters from college students who feel as you do and are clearly disgusted with "Disgusted."

CONFIDENTIAL TO GREAT IDEA FROM WATERLOO, IOWA: Chastity belts for men? It would seem more practical to just lock up the whole man.

1986 — Bonanza Movie Year

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Valenti, the fiery, articulate president of the Motion Picture Association of America, says 1986 will be the second most profitable movie year in history.

Only a few months ago producers, studios and theater owners were lamenting the poor box-office showing of new films, blaming competition from video cassette recording sales and rentals, increased patronage of cable TV and growing TV viewing.

Yet 1986 may very well surpass 1985 for gross box-office receipts.

"Most of the industry doomsayers were predicting a box-office decrease because grosses were down 7 percent last year from 1984," said Valenti.

"As of right now attendance is slightly off this year, but only by 1.1 percent, which is a big surprise. There had been predictions of a 10-15 percent decline.

"Depending on the success of the Christmas season, it is possible that movies will do better this year than last.

"Some people want to compare this year's box office with 1984, which was the all-time high, the ultimate benchmark for American films. Well this year's receipts aren't going to be very far behind.

"We've had a big October box office. 'Crocodile Dundee,' 'Tough Guys' and 'The Color of Money' came through in a big way."

Valenti, 65, is a compact dynamo with offices in Hollywood, New York and Washington, D.C., where his political lobbying has been a vital factor in favorable legislation for the film industry.

A one-time special assistant and adviser to President Lyndon B. Johnson, Valenti is a past master at political manipulation and diplomacy. While he doesn't have the power of, say, a sports czar like baseball's Peter Ueberroth, Valenti is the most influential voice in the motion picture business.

More than any one man, he is in touch with the trends, finances and legalities of the film business. He is also the movies' most effective and colorful spokesman.

"I'm optimistic about motion pictures right now because we are meeting the most virulent competition of any in the world," he said.

"There are 29 million VCRs, 40 million cable subscribers and tremendous sales of satellite dishes — $2 billion worth. In addition to that, the average TV viewership is now 50 hours per week per household.

"Yet even though there is a decline among Americans who claim to be moviegoers today — from 119 million in 1985 to 114 million in 1986 — and frequency of (average yearly) movie attendance is down from 8.4 times in 1985 to 8.1 in 1986, there are enough new patrons to keep the box office holding steady."

Most theater owners and movie producers would be happy to see the total annual box-office tally match last year's gross of $3.7 billion, Valenti thinks it will.

But the competition is fierce with video cassette recordings for home viewing becoming a national rage.

A panel of experts at the Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago last June announced it expected the overall VCR take to reach $4 billion, including rental and sales of all cassettes, movies, blanks, exercise programs and other specialties.

Valenti is not intimidated by the growing home entertainment alternatives.

"Americans are more interested in motion pictures than ever," he said. "And I'm seeing the same thing around the world. Cinema in Britain, Australia, France and Italy is up after years of decline. There is a strong source of optimism in Europe.

"I'm also optimistic because theaters in this country are being refurbished and redesigned. More new theaters are being built all the time with bigger screens and better sound systems.

"VCRs are really a second choice. People stay home and watch them when the baby's sick or if they want to see an old movie they've missed. The more people watch VCRs, the more they enjoy the experience of seeing a movie on a big screen in a theater, which is an event shared with others.

"I don't know the exact figure, but I wouldn't be surprised if there are more theaters operating successfully in this country today than during the 1930s and '40s, the so-called Golden Age of movies.

"The number of screens in this country in 1985 reached 21,147, an astonishing 20 percent increase since 1980, just five years ago. In the last 10 years the number of screens is up 44 percent.

"Over a billion dollars has been spent on theater acquisition in the past few months by motion picture studios. If theaters are dying, why would the producers invest that kind of money?"

"I see it as a confirmation of faith in the future by the studios. They are determined to make top-flight films to fill those theater seats."

At a recent Hollywood convention of the National Association of Theater Owners, Valenti congratulated the exhibitors for contributing to the current prosperity of movies.

He caught their interest in the opening sentence of his address:

"Suppose I started by telling you that you have confronted entropy but you survived and prospered by using cybernetics ...

"Entropy describes the tendency of any environment to become disorderly, as time goes by, tilting toward a state of rapidly extending chaos. It is not entirely wrong to say that with the invasion of the VCR, with the birth of the satellite and the intrusion of cable TV, with all the new, availing alternative competition, your own state of mind might have veered toward the bleak.

"But you used cybernetics, which is defined as the skill applied toward maintaining balance.

"That is precisely what most exhibitors did. You steered your theaters in the right path ... ready for the onslaught of competition."

Valenti commended the theater owners for providing clean, fresh theaters and the "sensuality of stereo sound, wide screens and enough seating to allow hundreds of customers to assemble in a single night to share an epic visual enjoyment."

He also inveighed against the continued piracy and illegal copies of new films that cut heavily into theater and producer profits.

"We have two enemies," he told the exhibitors. "'Darth Vader' is out there, along with 'The Fly.' First, there is the pilfering of what we own through pirating, copying and counterfeiting. The second is the always clear and present danger of quasi-monopolies shrinking competition.

"Piracy, mainly in pre-recorded cassette form, is a global epidemic. Losses in Japan to American producers alone total some $200 million a year."

Valenti railed against the power of the three major TV networks as an example of quasi-monopoly — they "bestride prime-time TV like colossi," he said, and are held in tenuous check by the FCC.

He also warned theater owners about the spreading concentration of power in the cable industry. By 1990, he predicted, two or three giant cable corporations will own or control cable systems serving more than half of the country's subscribers.

With such 1986 hits as "Top Gun" and "The Karate Kid Part II" accounting for the summer box-office boom, Valenti is confident that the new holiday movie releases will spur a year-end surge of prosperity.

"I'm predicting a $3.7 billion box office this year," he said. Judging by the impressive number of films coming out of the major studios and independents for the Christmas season, he may well be right.

The studios' holiday lineup includes: Warner Bros. — "The Mission" with Robert DeNiro and Jeremy Irons, "Mesquite Coast" with Harrison Ford, "Heartbreak Ridge" with Clint Eastwood, "Little Shop of Horrors."

Universal — "An American Tail" (feature cartoon) and "Brighton Beach Memoirs."

Orion — "Something Wild" with Melanie Griffith and Jeff Daniels.

20th Century Fox — "The Morning After" with Jeff Bridges and Jane Fonda, "Streets of Gold" with Klaus Maria Brandauer.

MGM — "Solarbabies" with Jamie Gertz.

Tri-Star — "No Mercy" with Richard Gere and Kim Basinger.

Cannon — "52 Pick-Up" with Roy Scheider and Ann-Margret, "The Lost City of Gold" with Richard Chamberlain, "Firewalker" with Chuck Norris, "Rumpelstiltskin" with Amy Irving and Bill "Cal-Pan" with Bryan Brown, "Crimes of the Heart" with Jessica Lange, Diane Keaton and Sissy Spacek, "King Kong Lives" with Brian Kerwin and Linda Hamilton.

Paramount — "Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home," "The Golden Child" with Eddie Murphy.

New World — "Eat and Run" with Ron Silver, "Miss Mary" with Julie Christie.

Disney — Re-releases of two feature cartoons, "The Lady and The Tramp" and "Song of the South."

Several Treatments For Hyperthyroid Problems

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is surgery or radioactive iodine the preferred treatment for hyperthyroidism?

DEAR READER — That depends on the age of the patient, as well as on other medical factors.

Hyperthyroidism (overactive thyroid gland) causes nervousness, weight loss, increased sweating and appetite, rapid pulse and — sometimes — prominent eyes. The disease is easily treated with medicine. In certain circumstances, however, surgery or radioactive iodine are preferred. Surgery is usually curative, but requires anesthesia and leaves a scar on the neck. Radioactive therapy is not ordinarily administered to younger patients, particularly women in the reproductive years. Both radioactive therapy and surgery can produce hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid gland).

As a general rule, I prefer drug treatment to either of the other two options.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Last year my husband had surgery for abdominal aortic aneurysm. Since then he has had retrograde ejaculation. The vascular surgeon said it might be a temporary condition, but said that even if it was permanent, there would be no difference to my husband. Fat lot he knows! Why did this happen, and can it be corrected?

DEAR READER — Retrograde ejaculation is common after any type of operation that injures the nerves that direct ejaculation, including aortic and prostatic surgery. In retrograde ejaculation, a man's semen is ejected into the bladder instead of in the usual direction. The condition causes sterility but usually does not interfere with sexual arousal or satisfaction. It is not correctable.

DEAR DR. GOTT — The last time I had a Pap smear, the doctor said I had leukoplakia of the vulva. Would you please explain this term? I have areas of depigmentation on my hands and arms, but never thought of it as cancer.

DEAR READER — Leukoplakia is a smooth, pearly-white, filmy skin lesion that is considered to be precancerous.

It can occur in the genital tract, in the mouth and on the tongue. The mouth and tongue versions are more common in smokers. The lesions must be watched; if they grow or change, excisional biopsy is required. The white patches you have on the exposed surfaces of your skin probably are not related to leukoplakia.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Jack Blair of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has been inactive in tournament bridge in recent years. When he had more time for the game, he won the Life Master Pairs in 1973. He and I were also on the winning National Men's Team in 1972. Today's deal, which was played a few years ago, shows his expertise in finding the right defense to set a game contract.

The routine bidding did not give much information to West for choosing an opening lead. However, since North did not bother looking for a major suit fit, it seemed right to lead a major. West decided on the seven of spades, a top-of-nothing lead that was not likely to cost a trick. When Jack Blair, sitting East, won the spade ace, he had no trouble figuring out that his side needed to take the setting tricks in a hurry. His best suit was diamonds, but I'm sure you astute readers have already seen that switching to a fourth-best four of diamonds will just not get the job done. Declarer will play low. West will win the ace, and eventually declarer's diamond queen will win a trick. Jack found the right play without much thought — he returned the jack of diamonds. That effectively obliterated dummy's diamond 10 and enabled the defense to take five diamond tricks and put the contract two down.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 14, 1986
Speculative enterprises could be especially appealing to you in the year ahead. You may have several ventures going at the same time. The results will be favorable if you don't take on more than you can manage.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In order to maintain harmony in your valued relationships today, it's imperative that you keep your emotional intensity under control. Don't overreact. Major changes are ahead for Scorpio in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your workload could be a bit heavier than usual today. Unfortunately, you might compound this condition by doing what needs doing the hard way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be conduct-conscious in your social involvements today. If you are not mindful, there is a chance you might do something foolish in front of your friends.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You will get the opposite of what you desire if you try to force your will upon family members today. Avoid harsh tactics.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Little things that don't usually bug you could raise the hair on the nape of your neck today. Watch your step so that you don't snap at someone who doesn't deserve it.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your financial prospects look a shade dubious today. Don't contribute to matters by spending funds earmarked for essentials on extravagant whims.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's best not to rehash volatile domestic issues with your mate today. Each of you could take offense at what the other says, and the way he or she says it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Demands placed on you by others could be rather extreme today. Be on guard so that they do not make you the fall guy for their own feelings.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) You won't be missing anything if you don't attend a gathering today that is sprinkled with people you dislike. Why invite discomfort?
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be extra tactful when dealing with others today. They will resent you, especially if you are the head honcho who is issuing orders.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're not apt to be too tolerant today of individuals who do not wholeheartedly support your views. Pressing your opinions on the unresponsive may invite an argument.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be profit-conscious today. Try not to give away the store just to make a deal.
