Real Estate Market Up As Interest Rates Decline

By MICHEAL BEHA Herald Staff Writer

Declining interest rates are bringing many first-time buyers and investors into the real estate market, according to several Seminole County realtors and financiers.

"We're finding a lot of young people are buying," said June Porzig of June Porzig Realty, "People who have been putting it off and are paying $400 a month rent are finding they can afford the payments now."

Sanford realtor William H. Stemper agreed the real estate market is improving.

"It appears to be picking up because people feel like the economy is slowly improving and interest rates are dropping. They can afford it now."

Dan Hall of Harold Hall Realty said so many people are buying property that he can't even reach his banker to work out financing arrangements for people. "Interest rates are coming down right now," he said. "The market is definitely improving." Interest rates have dropped to about 13.5 percent, bringing people who had their money invested in certificates of deposit and other federal bonds into the real estate market. "People who have lots of money are getting out of CDs and comes down on those too," Hall said. He said those investors are looking for eal estate because of the declining rates.

money markets because when the interest rates come down it

Stemper said real estate transactions "appear to be picking up because people feel like the economy is slowly improving and interest rates are declining."

"If you can afford it, now's the time to buy," Stemper said. "We're probably seeing the lowest interest rates we're going to

"If you're going to wait for things to get cheaper, well, I don't think they are.'

Stemper said the value of homes is not rising as fast as it was several years ago. "The outlook is good. Prices are rising only slightly.' Hall said the time is right to buy a house.

"There are some of the best buys out there now that there have ever been," he said. "It's kind of a time lag situation. Six to eight months ago people were really hurting. They wanted to sell their houses but the interest rates were too high. Now they're putting them back on the market."

Hall said there are many houses available for people who are seriously looking. "It's surprising the number of houses there are available for people who really want to buy a house."

The decline in interest rates also has brought many people who financed their homes at 18 or 17 percent interest a year or two ago back to financial institutions to re-finance their mortgages.

"There's a lot of new financing going on," Hall said. See HOME, Page 10A

Couple Indicted In Slaying Of 5-Year-Old Girl

A former Altamonte Springs woman and her boyfriend have been charged with first-degree murder and aggravated child abuse in the death of the woman's five-year-old daughter.

A Seminole County grand jury returned the formal indictments against Susan Barret Assaid, 29, and her boyfriend Donald Glenn McDougall, 26, at 3 p.m. Friday, beating a 5 p.m. deadline.

The couple is being held in a Riverside, Calif. jail under $250,000 bond in the death of Ursula Sunshine Assaid, whose body was found Wednesday, inside a canvas bag, weighted down with two chunks of metal, submerged in an Altamonte Springs lake.

An autopsy by the Seminole County medical examiner found evidence of multiple blows to the child's head, but the actual cause of death was not disclosed. Orange County medical examiners are also scheduled to examine the girl's body. But officials working on the case said the girl underwent "continuous abuse for a three-day period" prior to her death

Police believe Ms. Assaid and McDougall left their rented Altamonte Springs home at 817 E. Highland Drive at the end of September and arrived in Riverside shortly before Thanksgiving to stay with her relatives while they looked for

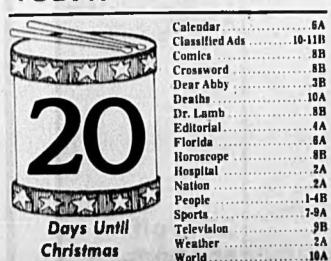

On Tuesday, Ms. Assald walked into the Riverside Police Department and told police of the events leading to the girl's death, Riverside police officers said. That information led police here to conduct a nine-hour search of the Altamonte Springs pond where the body was

Police then began their race against the clock, facing the possibility that Ms. Assaid and McDougall would be released under California's speedy arraignment rule unless charges were filed by 5 p.m. Friday.

But Riverside detective Barry DuGal who flew to Altamonte Springs to help investigate the case and appear before the Seminole grand jury, said the deadline was merely a formality since the couple was being held on fugitive arrest warrants and would have remained in jail for another 30 days.

Sanford cardiologist Dr. Nicholas Pastis explains the revolutionary new medical procedure that could mean life for thousands of Americans who dle each year of heart disease.

Local Doctors Cautiously Optimistic About Radical Heart Implant Procedure

The surgery that replaced retired dentist Barney Clark's heart with an artificial organ is a medical milestone, but the technology which made the operation possible is not yet developed to a point where it is a practical treatment, two Central Florida cardiologists say.

Dr. Nicholas J. Pastis of Sanford said the technology which allowed University of Utah Medical Center doctors to give Clark a new life "is still in its infancy. It's still an experimental procedure at this time."

The importance of the operation, the first ever replacing the heart with an artificial organ, is the promise it holds for the future, Pastis said, noting that more than one million people die each year in the United States as a result of heart disease.

But Longwood physician Dr. Jorge Gomez said it will be many years before the operation becomes a viable technique because of the high costs involved. The

Elections

Voter Turnouts Forecast At 20-55 Percent Tuesday

Herald Staff Writer

Predictions of voter-turnout in the four Seminole County cities with elections Tuesday range from 20 percent to a high of 55 percent. Lake Mary City Clerk Connie Major is basing her prediction on the voter turnout since 1973 when the city was incorporated Mrs. Major said she expects 850 (about 55 percent) of the city's 1,550 registered voters to turn out at the City Hall polling place at 158 N.

Country Club Road. Expectations of a much lower turnout are seen for Sanford and Longwood by their respective city clerks, Henry Tanun and Don Tamin said he looks for 20 percent, of 1,766, of the city's 8,830 voters to show up at the Civic Center polling place on Sanford Avenue to cast their ballots. And Terry looks for 20-22 percent, or 788-866.

of Longwood's 3,950 registered voters to make the trek to City Hall at 301 W. Warren Ave. to Casselberry City Clerk Mary Hawthorne anticipates 28 percent, or 1,700, of the city's 6,070 voters will vote election day at City Hall, 95 Lake Triplett Drive. Runoff elections are expected in Casselberry and Lake Mary on Dec. 21. Election law in both cities requires council candidates to get 50 percent plus one vote of those cast to win.

It is also possible a Dec. 21 runoff will be held in Sanford concerning revisions to the city

The names of 31 candidates will appear on the various ballots for 10 city council or city commission seats and one mayor's office. In Lake Mary, councilman - Kenneth King was elected to a second two-year term without opposition. The same was true in Casselberry where Charles Glascock, a former councilman, was selected for the one-year remaining in Mayor Owen Sheppard's term. Sheppard has resigned effective Jan. 10.

Sanford's election pits A.A. "Mae" McClanahan against first-term incumbent David Farr while Patricia "Pat" Baxley is challenging first-term Commissioner Milton McClanahan, 57, of 409 Editha Circle, served seven years as a city commissioner from 1972-1979. He was defeated in two successive attempts to regain his seat. He is a retired Navy lieutenant commander, a real estate broker and a residential building contractor.

Farr, 39, of 106 Larkwood Drive, is a realtor. a former county planner and a former city planner. He won election on his first attempt at public office in December, 1978.

Smith, 64, of 885 E. 20th St., is completing a two-year split term on the City Commission. He was elected to the remaining two years in John Morris's term in 1980 when Morris resigned to run unsuccessfully for the County Commission. Smith is a retired railroad

Charter Changes, Paramedic Question On Cities' Ballots

The voters in three of Seminole County's seven cities (Sanford, Lake Mary and Longwood) will decide the fate Tuesday of several charter questions while voters in the fourth - Casselberry - will consider again whether they want a paramedic program and are willing to shoulder more taxes to pay for it. In Sanford, the voters will decide whether they will choose among three alternatives. Question 1 concerns a new charter without residency districts for city commissioners; question 2 concerns a new charter with retention of the current charter. Voters will be asked to vote on only one of

The only difference between the first two questions is whether the people prefer city commissioners to reside within certain geographic areas while being elected at-large. Other changes called "housekeeping" measures are included within both questions 1 and 2. Those include the deletion of sections which are in conflict with state law.

In addition the proposal would place the uniform services - police and fire departments - under the direction of City Manager residency districts and question 3 calls for W. E. "Pete" Knowles just as all other city

The 10-term congressman from Detroit, a city ravaged by high-unemployment, said that during the 1982 election campaigns, more criticism was heard about Reagan than about any president since

"And despite the avalanche of criticism not one person has suggested it is time to impeach Reagan," he said.

Noting that he was the member of Congress who in 1972 introduced the first impeachment resolution in 100 years, he said he has yet to receive any serious recommendation from anywhere that "No one has said that Reagan should be removed early and mercifully before the end of his first term," Convers said.

Though his comments were sprinkled with humor, it was obvious his statements were serious and sincere.

"How can so many be so mad at one man and yet no one even wants to speak the words - 'You ought to impeach that so and so.' Just say the words to the TV set the next time you see him there. Imagine how therapeutic that could be," he said.

"A president doesn't have to be a garden variety burglar or plan a break-in. He doesn't have to go to prison as Milhous should have. Just send him back to ride horses full time."

Judge Hears Arguments

In Landmark School Case

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)-U.S. District Judge Richard Rogers will decide after Dec. 17 how many documents dating back to the 1940s school officials will have to supply for new court proceedings on the landmark 1954 school desegregation case.

Rogers heard arguments Friday on the extent Topeka's Unified School District 501 must comply with his earlier order to provide attorneys for Linda Brown Smith with school information from 1940 to 1950. He said he would rule after Dec. 17.

Mrs. Smith was a student in 1951 when her father filed the lawsuit that led to be 1954 U.S. Supreme Court's ruling, . In Brown vs. Board of Education, that outlawed racial segregation of schools.

The case was reopened in 1979 because of claims that black children in the district still attended schools in which their race was disproportionately high. They contended the district has not remedied the segregation problem indentified by the 1954 decision.

Reagan Won't Give Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)-A powerful House committee is accusing President Reagan of obstructing a congressional investigation into cleanups of toxic waste with a claim of executive privilege that "smacks of Watergate."

But a White House official, traveling with the president in Bolivia, said Reagan will not back down in his refusal to provide several House subcommittees with subpoenaed Environmental Protection Agency documents.

Lawmakers believe the documents contain information about misconduct by agency officials regarding the cleanup of toxic waste sites.

Alcohol Blamed In Deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI)-Alcohol is involved in as many as 55 percent of all fatal highway crashes, contributing to 27,500 deaths and 700,000 injuries each year, a new federal study of records in 15 states estimates.

The study also showed nearly 40 percent of adult pedestrians fatally injured in vehicle accidents were legally intoxicated.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said Friday analyses of recent fatal accidents show alcohol is involved in more than 2 million motor vehicle accidents each year, or as much as 55 percent of all accidents compared to the previously estimated 50

Florida's Unemployment Rate Climbs To 9.5 Percent

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Florida's unemployment rate was 9.5 percent last month, the highest it has been all year, but it's still substantially below the national jobless rate.

Florida's rate has not increased two percentage points in two released Friday alarming, but said they are more the federal government's fault than the state's.

The figures show that the recession in Florida is "deeper and more stubborn" than had been realized, Department of Labor Secretary Wally Orr said.

While Florida's rate was up, it was still better than the community from the bottom politically and economically. "The trickledown theory doesn't work. The political process won't change until you start from the bottom up," he said.

Conyers' criticism was not limited to Reagan or Republicans. "Do Democrats seriously want to organize black voters, yet only half of them vote?" he asked sarcastically. "Is this an accident?'

He pointed to those individual black "minions" who stand up and defend the Reagan administration. "You have to look at them with sympathy," he said. "We, all of us, are creatures of our time, pressed by economic circumstances."

One of the great messages of Martin Luther King Jr., Conyers said, was that "we have to understand what's going on in the moments we are on this planet. We would be so much happier if we would look at things the way they are."

Calling himself a civil rights disciple of King's, Conyers said blacks are a loving and forgiving people almost to a fault. "No one else would take this crap," he

He said the country's leaders, especially black ones, must take more risks. "Our leaders have become quoters of risk-takers.

"I keep hearing, 'Where is Martin Luther King's replacement?' You can't replace a genius," he said, "but we can learn from him. We can take a challenge - a little one. I'll bring the impeachment resolution. All you have to do is ask for it."

Conyers said he is often asked whether Ronald Reagan is out of his mind. "No, he is not out of his mind. He is perfectly sane. He knows more about what he wants done than you know what you want," he said.

Conyers spoke to the attentive audience at times in whispered tones. He talked of the "biggest tax give-away to the rich in the history of the nation" and called the proposed 5-cent gasoline tax increase obscene.

Conyers promised to go into the well of the U.S. House of Representatives next week to "tell a glowing story of SEEDCO at Sanford, Fla."

national jobless rate. In Washington, the Labor Department reported that the unemployment rate rose .04 percent in November to 10.8 percent, a post-Depression record.

In November, 472,000 Floridians were jobless out of a total work force of 4,495,000 for a jobless rate of 9.5 percent. That's up from October's 8.7 percent, which was a 1.2 percent increase over September.

The jobless rate is the highest since March's 8.9 percent and the highest it has been all year. It now has increased nearly two percentage points since September after about six months

"I am extremely concerned about the figures," said

Graham, who was in Washington completing two days of meetings with Congressional leaders on transportation funding and refugee problems.

"The individual tragedy this means to millions and millions of Americans and to thousands of Floridians and what it says about the stagnation of our national economic policy reinforces the necessity for the national government to take the strongest possible action to regenerate the machine of American

"Obviously, the employment and unemployment totals show that we're still feeling the effects of a deeper and more stubborn recession," Orr said.

Yasuhiro Nakasone: Japan's De Gaulle

Although Japan is one of the most important of U.S. allies, its prime ministers somehow don't become household names for Americans in the way of British, French, and West German leaders.

This is likely to change with Yasuhiro Nakasone, 64, the long-time Japanese lan parliamentarian, a chieftain of the ruling Liberal Democrats, and now the new prime minister of

In significant ways, Nakasone is the Japanese version of Ronald Reagan; he's conservative and controversial. Like their American counterparts. Japanese liberals are tearing their hair and atti rending their garments over their archenemy's accession to power.

The new prime minister has made a dramatic three-point pledge to the Japanese people: To bolster Japan's lagging economy, to bolster Japan's military strength, and to improve-Japan's relations with the United States.

Famed already as "Japan's DeGaulle," Nakasone has made it plain that his government and will avoid the consensus-style policymaking so long perferred in Japan. He has said the "uncertainties, ambiguities, and worries" that beset the Japanese people in their daily lives have caused them to "want politics to be carried out with clear-cut leadership."

Clear-cut leadership is what Nakasone has been demonstrating ever since he won his first election to the lower house of Parliament in 1947 at age 28, the youngest member at that time. Even as he was in the forefront in battling the communists, he was a thorn in the side of U.S occupation authorities at a time when most Japanese recoiled from such activism.

The 7,000-word petition calling for an end to the occupation and speedy Japanese independence that Nakasone pressed upon Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur, then the U.S proconsul in Japan, proved to be prophetic. His call for self-reliant defense capability is precisely what the United States urges today. For these and other policies, he has been attacked more fiercely perhaps than any contemporary leader in Japan.

Nakasone's consensus-minded colleagues among the Liberal Democrats repeatedly shied away from granting him the prize he sought and deserved. It took him more than six weeks of intra-party wrangling in search of a consensus to win party leadership and, that failing, an all-out primary contest among national party members. Like Mr. Reagan, he won a strong mandate-57.6 percent of the vote and he beat his nearest challenger by a margin of more than 2 to 1.

No prime minister of Japan in modern times has been as qualified as this son of a small-town lumber dealer. He is a graduate of prestigious Tokyo University; he was a young naval officer during World War II; he served 35 years in Parliament; he was former director of the Japan Defense Agency, which operates the country's military establishment; he was minister of international trade and industry; and director of the Administrative Management Agency under the departing Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki.

Yasuhiro Nakasone promises to be the strongest prime minister Japan has seen in a long while, perhaps the strongest of the 16 who have led the nation since World War II. This is good news even if it means some stresses perhaps in U.S.-Japanese relations. A strong Japan, highly sufficient in its own self-defense, is much in the interest of the United States.

BERRY'S WORLD

Shoppers will agree that the Holiday Season is in full swing. Credit cards are at the limit and bank accounts are overdrawn for many in keeping with the spirit of giving. Others choose this time to contribute to worthwhile educational, social welfare, health care and other needy organizations.

Secretary of State George Firestone urges Floridians to be generous, yet cautious, in responding to any solicitations received this year. He says these charities are faced with inflation, government cuts and an increasing demand for their services.

Although, "It is better to give.." it is also best to be cautious of the "Pitches" of unscrupulous operators, Firestone says.

All legitimate charitable organizations permitted to solicit money from the public in Florida are required to be registered with the Department of State's Division of Licensing. Now more than ever Floridians should plan their giving, demand accountability of the organizations receiving their contributions.

This year take time to follow a few simple guidelines when asked to contribute or donate for

Know Your Charity- Never give to an organization you know nothing about. Request written information, read it, and ask questions. If necessary, request additional information. Legitimate charities encourage you to do this.

Find Out Where Your Money Goes- Request a copy of the organizations annual report, list of officers or board members and the latest financial reports. Find out how much of your donated dollar goes for fund raising, administration, and how much goes for the program you want to support.

Don't Succumb to Pressure - Don't ever let yourself give in to high pressure, intimidation, threats, or repeated and harassing calls or visits. Think it over before you contribute. A legitimate organization will not expect you to contribute immediately.

Mail Solicitations- Mail solicitations are often accompanied by a trinket or other item. If you did not order the item you are under no obligation to pay or return the merchandise.

Telephone Solicitations- There is no reason to contribute on the first call. Ask questions and don't contribute until you're satisfied with the answers. Be wary of reluctance or inability to answer reasonable questions.

Beware of the Organizations Name-Sometimes a name sounds impressive or closely resembles the name of a respected or legitimate charity. Don't be fooled into contributing merely by a convincing name. Watch Out for "Sob Storles"- Tear-jerking, hard-luck tales are a favorite tactic of fly-bynight or phony operators. Ask for the charity's full name and address. Demand identification from the solicitor.

Remember before you give, find out if the organization is registered with the Bureau of Regulation of the Department of State's Division of Licensing. The Bureau may have additional information about the organization. Call Dennis English or Ms. Terry Smith in Tallahassee at (904) 488-3211.

Counting Black Votes

Here's a post-election quiz. Tom Bradley lost his race to become the first black elected governor of any state in the 20th century because: (A) A referendum on gun control brought conservative voters to the polls who then supported the liberal Bradley's opponent, Attorney General George Deukmelian.

(B) Three percent of Deukmejian's voters told pollsters they would not vote for a black candidate, creating a racial barrier Bradley could never overcome.

(C) The winner's 50,000-vote margin was created by 50,000 non-voting and unregistered blacks who could have provided Bradley with an election cushion.

If the answer is all of the above, Los Angeles' two-term mayor deserves national congratulations for having come so close to victory. An aroused and militant minority which opposes one candidate's position vehemently, as gun control opponents opposed Bradley; a built-in prejudice against one candidate, regardless of his politics, and an insufficient base among the voters most expected to support a liberal, black Democrat had to spell defeat for what almost became a history-making race.

But if the answer is (C) alone, then black voters in California - and blacks in every other state - must abandon hope of using the political process to improve their lives.

Black voters do have much to be proud of as a result of what happened on Nov. 2. According to the Joint Center for Political Studies, black voters were decisive in defeating at least four "Reagan Robots" - Reps. Albert Lee Smith of Alabama, Eugene Johnston of North Carolina, John Napier of South Carolina and Robert Daniel of Virginia.

Smith, Johnston, Daniel and Napier rode Reagan's coattails to victory in 1980. Only Daniel received more than 60 percent of the vote then. None of the others won with more than 52 percent of the votes cast. Each represented a district with 20 percent or greater black population.

Black votes made a difference for the winner of the governors' races in Texas and New York, and elected four more blacks to the House of Representatives. One of the new four, Alan Wheat of Kansas City, Mo., won in a 67 percent majority white district.

The Joint Center reported that 41 black candidates ran for Congress, 363 in local races and 15 for state-wide offices on Nov. 2. Only seven of the 50 states - Idaho, Montana, New Hampshire, North and South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming - now have no black elected officials at all.

The states of the Old Confederacy - most obstinate in denying vlacks the right to vote now lead the nation in black officials. There are 269 blacks holding elective office in Alabama, 219 in Arkansas, 271 in Georgia, 372 in Louisiana, 266 in North Carolina, 235 in South Carolina, 207 in Texas and 424 in Mississippi.

But State Rep. Robert Clark failed to make those numbers rise on the pages of history when he lost his race for Mississippi's 2nd Congressional District seat. He would have been the Magnolia State's first black congressman aince Reconstruction. Blacks in Clark's district supported him overwhelmingly, but he could not overcome the reluctance of white Democrats to support a Democrat whose skin was black.

Black turnout in Mississippi's second was 21 percent higher than the district-wide vote in the Senate race in 1978. But black voters are only a bare majority in the second, despite a 69 percent population majority.

Education And Computers

PATRICIA McCORMACK UPI Education Editor

Something for taxpayers to cheer about: For a pioneering project to improve science and engineering education, The National Science Foundation, a federal government agency, is doubling its bucks by tearning up with private industry.

The NSF investment, as a result, is boosted by nearly $1 million - the value of computers donated by five companies. NSF funding for the program is $855,668. The company contributions amount to $947,217.

Education institutions, which must provide a quarter of the project cost to receive an NSF award, will plunk down another $800,000.

Fifty-eight research teams will run the experiments aimed at improving science and engineering education at the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades and early college levels.

Why all the effort?

Shortcomings in American science and engineering education are the sorest topics anytime educators, high tech companies and government officials get together.

Germany, Japan and the Soviets are on the way to outdistancing the United States in production of scientists and engineers. This is due to the near-collapse of science and math education in American public schools as science and math teachers opt for higher paying jobs in industry.

Among projects in the NSF Industry Cooperation Education Experiments:

-Using the computer to make science instruction easier to read for the community college student. NSF puts in $500; a company, $14,561 in computers. This project at Catonville Community College in Maryland will be directed by Robert L. Sawyer.

- Computer games for teaching high school and university-level modern physics without mathematics. NSF puts in $500; computer company, $5,400 worth of equipment. Project to be run by Joel R. Primack at University of California, Santa Cruz.

-Robotics modules for engineering technology students. NSF puts in $500; the computer company, $15,045 in equipment.

William A. Beard of Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green, Ky., is in charge.

-Tornado warning education for high school and university-level students, using a microcomputer. NSF, $500; computer company, $10,300 worth of computers. William T. Corcoran, Southwest Missouri State University in Springfield, Mo., runs the -Computer simulations of the research process in astronomy. NSF, $41,724; computer company, $18,120 worth of computers. Robert J. Dukes, College of Charleston in South Carolina runs the project.

-Demographic and economic forecasting for high school students. NSF, $23,816; computer company, $10,030 worth of equipment. Barry B. Hughes of the University of Denver, Denver, Colo., directs the experiments.

-Computer-based instruction for university general biology laboratories. NSF, $43,033; computer company, $3,888. C.O. Patterson, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas, is experiment director.

-Using computer games to teach physical principles and engineering applications. NSF, $38,899; computer company, $4,990. Barbara E. Bowman, Wichita State University, Wichita, Kans., to run the program. Computer equipment needed for the projects is being donated to grantees by Radio Shack, a Division of Tandy Corp.; Atari Institute for Educational Action-Research, a division of Atari Inc., a Warner Communications Company; the Digital Equipment Corp.; IBM Corp.; and the Apple

Education Foundation. The NSF announcement said: "Each company will provide computers and related hardware and technical information about the equipment, and expert assistance so that the computers can be used to best advantage in the projects.

RUSTY BROWN It's OK In Theory, But

Practice?

This is a story of conviction - and what can cause it to fall. *

In a small rural church, one Easter Sunday, a woman minister baptized a wiggling infant. It was the first time in the history of the church that this traditional sacrament had been given to the baby of an unwed mother. There were raised eyebrows in the congregation, but the reverend did not waiver.

Hersell a barrier-breaking woman in the ministry, she feels strongly that churches should not exclude anyone.

"Churches have been too good at that," she says. "Churches have practiced sexism and racism and felt they had a corner on the right way and the only right answers.

She knows single mothers who feel like outsiders because the church is so familyoriented. She knows couples who live together and homosexuals who are reluctant to attend religious services for fear of being unaccepted.

"What have we accomplished," she asks, "if we turn people off-or away? Jesus was not exclusive. Why should we be?"

She comes to her inclusive view of religion after 25 years as a homemaker and mother. Before her fifth and youngest child was born, she entered a Methodist seminary. After graduation in 1969, she served as a part-time chaplain for a large hospital. In 1975, she was minister of her first church.

She left in August to work on a doctorate on women and religion.

Her experiences as a minister had awakened her to the absence of female references in Scripture and hymns. She noted, for example, that a familiar hymn begins, "O Brother Man, fold to thy heart they brothers," and another proclaims, "Brother love binds man to man.'

In that all-time favorite, "Amazing Grace," she changed the lyrics. She inserted "God's word"-instead of "His word"-and "God will my shield and portion be" instead of "He will my shield and portion be."

She became increasingly aware that many Biblical passages are unnecessarily malebiased and she learned that most translators had lived in male-dominated cultures.

"They inserted masculine nouns and pronouns, such as 'he,' 'mankind,' 'brothers' and 'men,' even when the original Greek and Hebrew texts did not contain male references," the reverend explained.

"If you never hear the words 'women," 'sister,' 'she,' 'mother,' 'daughter,' you get the feeling that women are not part of the She began to question why there was no image of women in the church when women are often the most active members. "In the early days of the church," she says,

"women not only taught, but preached and were heads of congregations." It is not surprising, then, that she strongly supports current efforts by Catholic bishops and the United Council of Churches to strip the Scripture of unnecessary sexism.

What is surprising is that after telling me of her conviction, she declined to let me use her name in this story.

She is being interviewed for a ministry at a new church, you see, and fears that if her feminism and her all-inclusive view of religion become known, she will be turned

She knows that while she and hundreds of other women are ready for non-sexist Christianity, not all "believers" are.

Safety Guidelines Study Destroyed

WASHINGTON-Federal officials have destroyed evidence in a court case that could mean life or death for thousands of motorists. The Watergate affair supposedly settled for all time the fact that high government officials must not destroy evidence. Just ask former FBI Director L. Patrick Gray, who believed he was "deep-sixing" important Watergate documents at the behest of John Dean and John Ehrlichman.

But the lesson of Watergate has apparently been forgotten. Officials of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration deep-sixed a staff engineering report which cast doubt on some sworn statements that the agency submitted to a federal Court of Appeals. Copies of the report run off on a word processor were confiscated and the processor disk itself was erased. But a bootleg copy of obtained by my associate Tony Capaccio.

What did the agency want to keep the appeals court from seeing? Quite simply, the staff study suggested that automakers would be able, for the most part, to meet a September 1964 deadline for mandatory installation of airbags or automatic seat belts in 1985 model cars.

Safety experts have estimated that equipping cars with one or the other of the safety devices could prevent 9,000 deaths and 65,000 injuries a year on the nation's highways. The automakers have been resisting mandatory installation of airbags or automatic seat belts in 1985 model cars. Last year, NHTSA Administrator Raymond Peck canceled a regulation that would have required the phased installation of either the report escaped destruction and was later airbags or automatic seat belts by September 1983. Last summer, the appeals court ruled that Peck's action was unlawful, and ordered the regulation reinstated. The agency was given till Oct. 1 to respond.

> The staff study concluded that, overall, the court's deadline of next September was "highly unrealistic." This was the message that was formally conveyed to the court.

But the court wasn't told that a September 1984 deadline "would be feasible for most cars that would be sold in the United States at that time." So claimed the report, which explained: "If this were established as the effective date, only a few special cars would cease being sold in the U.S."

The staff estimated that 85 percent of the automakers' production could meet the 1984 deadline, and within two years "virtually 100 percent of total production could comply."

Despite this staff conclusion, agency officials told the appeals court that the 1986 model (introduced in September 1985) was the first "practical" compliance date, and that even then there was "considerable doubt...uniform compliance could be achieved."

Peck said that on Oct. 1, he considered the staff report to be "work still in progress" because of its numerous inconsistencies. That afternoon, an agency official gathered up all the copies of the report he could find and had the disc erased.

Peck could not explain exactly why the evidence had been destroyed. "I think it was a mistake," said Peck.

OUR READERS WRITE Immigration Laws Overhaul Is Needed

A proposed major overhaul of the nation's immigration laws will succeed or fail in our U.S. House of Representatives during the lame duck session, which started Monday.

According to media reports, the Senate version passed in August by a vote of 80 to 19, but serious opposition threatens passage in the House, particularly in connection with controversy over proposed employer penalties and a proposed amnesty provision.

Something we all need to remember, however, is that no matter what is passed by the House, if anything, it will differ from the Senate version sufficiently that a compromise will have to be worked out in joint conference. It is imperative that something be done to correct the current sorry state of our nation's immigration laws. Florida ZPG feels that the need for sanctions against employers who knowingly hire undocumented aliens is an intricate and necessary part of any immigration reform — the majority of employers will wish to obey a law carrying such sanctions, thus the giant beacon of jobs for illegal immigrants will become a mere flicker and the flow of illegal aliens reduce to a trickle. Then, the present staff of border patrol and equipment can handle the situation and we can regain control of our borders - without the massive expense and possible endangerment of civil liberties inherent in other approaches such as beefing up the border patrol and creating buffer zones.

It goes without saying that Floridians are greatly concerned about past and current inadequacies of our immigration laws. But individual Floridians do need to remind their U.S. Congressmen of that concern and to share with them their desire for passage of an immigration reform bill in 1982, as well as their viewpoint on particular aspects of the proposed reforms such as employer sanctions (penalties for hiring known illegals) or amnesty for illegals already here.

Tom Tomlinson, President Florida Zero Population Growth (ZPG)

Bidder Is Upset

For many years I have resided in Sanford, read the newspaper, listened to the local merchants, given of my time to civic endeavors, donated the use of my company equipment to area projects and have heard that Seminole County was stepped on by its sister county, Orange.

Today is a good reason to mention the above. Being a business established in 1916 in Sanford, we were asked, along with another Sanford moving company, to submit an estimate of cost to move the Manpower Office from the fourth floor of the Roumillat Building; and also to move the Public Defender's Office from its former location. Both offices were to be moved to our new City Hall building.

Although both companies made estimates, the leaders in Seminole County chose an Orange County company to make the move. This same company from Orange County also moved the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

I am now beginning to wonder why we support our local county government. The taxes we pay in business just went out the window. How much of the money paid to the Orange County company is spent in Seminole County? We purchase our gas, tires, labor, repairs and all necessary equipment in Seminole County, which benefits

Orange County has never called our office and asked for an estimate regarding a move, so why does Seminole County reverse the trend and send our tax dollars to another county? J. P. Roche, Jr.

President A. J. Lossing Transfer & Storage Co. Wording Is Too Small

Deciphering Food Labels Near Impossible For Many Shoppers

Q. There are many of us "senior citizens" on restricted diets. L for one, am diabetic. Why do food manufacturers insist on printing such tiny labels that even a hawk-eye can't discern the contents? I have to carry a lighted magnifying glass around with me just find out if there's sugar in a can of vegetables.

A. You have zeroed in on a problem experienced by older people nearly every day. What may seem like a minor inconvenience to others can present major difficulties for those whose vision is not perfect and for whom buying sodium-free or sugar-free products is essential. In a recent study by the Food Marketing Institute, a nonprofit group that conducts research for food wholesalers and retailers, older shoppers expressed several concerns about product labeling: It is often too small, too light, and contains chemical terms that are incomprehensible to the ordinary shopper of any age. They recommended larger and bolder labels, and suggested that manufacturers include additional information concerning caloric content and percentage of salt or sugar in a given product.

The older consumers also pointed to other improvements they would like to see in product packaging. For one, they felt that many foods are packaged in quantities too large for their households and would like to see a variety of packaging to accommodate single people or smaller households. Those suffering from arthritis mentioned that many products are very difficult to open and might be redesigned for greater ease.

Older U.S. Rep. Claude Pepper

Growing

The older shoppers also had some suggestions for the supermarkets themselves. Items could be arranged in a more accessible manner; price tags could be printed more clearly; managers might consider activating more cash registers during peak hours. And supermarkets with ample space might consider installing a restroom for patrons and indoor benches for those who need to rest for a few minutes during their shopping periods.

I hope you express your thoughts to the manager of your own supermarket. I think you'll find him or her very receptive to the unique concerns of older shoppers and willing to experiment with new ideas.

Q. I have been eating lunch at the senior center for two years now. It's part of the Older Americans Act meals program, and, if it weren't for that lunch, I don't know what I'd do. I just don't have the money to buy many groceries. Generally, I have crackers and peanut butter for supper every night. Now they have hung up this poster at our center telling how much the lunch costs and suggesting that we should pay for it-or as much as we can. The thing is, I can't. And now I'm feeling that if I don't pay it's like

A. I'm glad you have raised this concern, because I am sure many other older Americans who participate in the nutrition programs share your feelings. Please rest assured that there is no change in the mission or purpose of the older Americans Act congregate meals program. It was designed to provide hot and nutritious lunches for those senior citizens who could benefit from themand from the interaction with their peers at the centers. It is not a welfare program and it is not now-nor will it

When Congress conceived of the Older Americans Act programs. members were committed to designing a program that would help older Americans maintain their independence with dignity and with opportunities for social, recreational and economic support. Those with whom you share your lunch hours all have personal reasons for participating in the program with you. Some may come for the pleasure of the company; some for the meal itself; most for the combination. The posters you refer to may encourage some of them with sufficient economic resources to contribute to the maintenance of the program. But you should be totally comfortable in partaking of the meal without making a payment. Never feel embarrassed or coerced. You are precisely the reason that the Older Americans Act was developed. You are participating just as it was hoped older Americans would participate. And the fact that you are benefiting from the nutritional support offered through the hot meals program is evidence that our greatest hopes for the Older Americans Act are being realized.

concerning the Nov. 24 article headed, "Commissioners Deny Zoning Change on 17-92." First, my name is Joyce Mikkola. I do not live in Lutz. I live on lots 10 and 11 of Block One Highland Park, in the house we built in 1946, the first new house in Sanford after World War II, which has been our homestead property since then, and where I plan to remain until I am called to that great, unzoned territory in the sky.

Lots 10 and 11 are at the opposite end of Block 1 from lots 1, 2 and 3, which figured in the zoning amendment. I imagine you obtained the Lutz address from the fact that I put the title in my son's name a few months ago.

What amazed me was the keen hearing of two of the petitioners whose

Council Vacated Alley

In reference to the letter written by Ms. Lynde about the closing of a Lake Mary alley, I suggest she get the facts straight before accusing anyone of illegal action. First, the city manager of Lake Mary cannot vacate property. A platted alleyway was vacated by a majority vote of the city council.

Second, this alleyway had not been opened since platted in the early 1920s;

the opening of most alleyways in Lake Mary would be cost prohibitive. The vacating of an alleyway places it on city tax rolls. This action is legal in every

I feel impelled to express a major gripe about an event in the 1982 Golden Age Games.

What happened to the "parade"? Where was the hometown enthusiasm this year? My attempt at a touch of light-hearted humor with my pedal powered three-wheeler was actually the only thing in the parade which really promoted the Golden Age Games, but it was not even worthy of the time of your staff photographer! Fine - after all, it is your newspaper and you certainly have the right to print what you please and ignore what you

But I find it hard to think of an explanation for the lack of support by many when we all stand to benefit from the efforts of we senior citizens who are willing to work all year long to provide the real meat of the Golden Age Games, namely displays and athletic competition.

More than ninety years ago a California city decided to have a parade to celebrate the annual college football game. It was just a small parade that year, but today it has become the most famous event of its kind in America, if not the world. I refer, of course, to the Rose Parade in Pasadena, California. Sanford's Golden Age Games has the same potential, but that potential will never reach maturity unless the people of Sanford care enough to promote this event better than they did this year. It would be a tragic shame if the Golden Age Games finally wither and die because of lack of real gung-ho enthusiasm by Sanford's natives.

Sanford, don't let the Games die out because of lassitude and apathy. Maybe you should ship in a truckload of

Communists Deny More Exist

Evidence Suggests Vietnam Still Holding American POW's

By HAROLD JOHNSON

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Harold Johnson is an editor at Public Research, Syndicated.

How much does Hanoi know about the approximately 2,500 American servicemen missing in action from the Vietnam War!

That question is being asked by many in the wake of what the Vietnamese government terms its "recent discovery" of the remains of several Americans killed in the War. Vietnamese officials told the American delegation to whom they delivered the bodies that they have no information about any other U.S. personnel.

A fast-growing corpus of evidence, however, tends to contradict Hanoi's claim. Indeed, indications are strong that the Vietnamese continue to hold live Americans fully nine years after the Paris Peace Accords officially ended U.S. military involvement in Indochina.

"I'm convinced there are Americans over there, still alive and being held against their will," says Retired Colonel Earl Hopper of Glendale, Arizona. Hopper, whose son Earl, Jr. was shot down over North Vletnam in January, 1968, is chairman of the board of the League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia. He notes that since the exodus of Indochinese "boat people" began after the fall of Salgon in 1975, the League has received a "steady stream" of reports from refugees who claim to have seen American POWs in Vietnam in recent

In all, more than 300 reports of live sightings have been conveyed to the League. The following accounts are among the ones most recently received:

South Vietnamese army relates that he saw and communicated with American prisoners at a camp in Tan Canh during his imprisonment there in 1975.

A former second lieutenant in the

A Vietnamese man claims that while working as a mortician in Hanol through 1977 he helped process the remains of Americans and that he observed live Americans in his country "up until 1974."

A refugee who had been a CIAtrained Special Forces paratrooper says he came in contact with over 100 American POWs in 1978 while he was a prisoner in northern Vietnam.

To be sure, skeptics contend that these accounts could be the self-serving inventions of refugees anxious to win favors from their American hosts.

This suggestion, however, is vigorously contested by Ann Mills Griffiths, the executive director of the League of Families. She points out that "most of the people making reports have already found homes and work" and that none of them has accepted the reward the League offers for accounts of live sightings. What's more, most of the testimony has withstood polygraph analysis conducted by the government. The mortician's report, for instance, has been officially judged by the Defense Intelligence Agency to be Such factors, along with intelligence data not available to the public, have persuaded many U.S. officials - including savvy individuals like Lieutenant General Eugene Tighe, the recently retired head of DIA - that there are indeed imprisoned Americans still languishing in Southeast Asia.

Apparently motivated by this conviction, the Reagan Administration has sponsored at least two mercenary expeditions in search of POWs.

Mrs. Griffiths declares herself "heartened" by the government's current posture. She bitterly recalls that for a number of years following the signing of the Paris Accords, it was the official U.S. position that no Americans were left captive in Indochina. The vast majority of the men previously listed as missing in action were reclassified as killed in action.

Protesting this process, the League of Families earned the government's wrath. One high Pentagon official, for example, excoriated League members as "rumormongers, charlatans and profiteers."

In contrast, the League today enjoys a fairly good working relationship with the government. Mrs. Griffiths is briefed on the POW-MIA question frequently and she has limited access to classified information.

However, though she feels more comfortable with the government's present stance, she is far from satisfied with it. She believes that there must be "a far more strenuous effort" to secure the "incontrovertible proof" which U.S. officials have told her they must have before they can openly confront Vietnam on the question. That proof must be obtained quickly, she maintains, for "the situation is urgent." She notes that "none of the prisoners we've heard about are fat and happy," and she cites the words of one Indochinese refugee:

"The POWs I saw (in 1978) were very thin, they were covered with scables; there was just skin and bones left on them. They could hardly walk, yet they were forced to carry wood from the forests distant about 500 meters. They often fell down. Sometimes they were beaten by the guards. These are things I saw with my own eyes."

IN BRIEF

Baby Sitter 'Got The Urge' To Kill Children

PERRY (UPI)-Christine Falling, the babysitter who pleaded guilty to killing three of the five children who died in her care, says she strangled one of them because "I got the urge that I just wanted to kill him."

The 19-year-old woman entered the guilty pleas Friday, and after she was given her third life sentence prosecutors played tape recordings in which she confessed to killing all five of the children.

In return for her guilty pleas, prosecutors agreed not to file charges against her in the deaths of two Lakeland children in February 1981 or an elderly Perry man last January. Under Florida law, she will spend a minimum of 25 years in prison.

Killer's Execution Stayed

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)-A federal judge has blocked Tuesday's scheduled execution of convicted murderer Carl Ray Songer.

Songer, 32, found guilty in the 1973 slaying of a Florida highway patrolman in Citrus County, was to be electrocuted at Florida State Prison near Starke along with Marvin Francois. Francois won a stay of execution Thursday.

U.S. District Judge Howell Nelton said he was obligated to issue a stay for Songer because of a case pending in the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals involving Florida Death Row inmates. In that case, condemned prisoners are protesting the state courts use of psychological profiles and other secret documents as evidence in capital punishment trials.

Sheriff Lamar Rides In Style

ORLANDO (UPI)-Sheriff Lawson Lamar says he won't sell the swanky Cadillac Eldorado he uses as his official car, despite gripes from Orange County workers who aren't issued fancy vehicles.

Lamar said he has driven only confiscated carsseized mostly from cocaine dealers-since he took office in January 1981. The vehicles include a Jeep Wagoneer and a 1981 Datsun 280 ZX, which he drove until he got the Cadillac.

Mr. And Miss SHS Contest Approaching

Attempting to prove they are the best representative of Seminole, some members of the class of '83 will be participating in the Mr. and Miss SHS competition Thursday and Saturday.

Each club chooses a boy and girl club member whom they feel to be the best and most active member. The students will be judged on talent, worth 30 points, by members of the faculty on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

Gayle Hair, Milton Smith, Ken Moore, Ned Yancey, Ben Butler, Gail Yvonne Taylor, Terry Long, Luis Perez, and Maria Perez will be judging the personal interview, 50 points, and on-stage introduction, 20 points. These will both be

The judges will then select finalists, conduct interviews, and rank each candidate by his or her response. Awards will be given to the talent winner, Mr. SHS, Miss SHS, and the runners-up in each of these categories. This competition is sponsored by the junior class.

Candidates for Miss SHS are Tammy Bohannon, Bonita

Under the old charter, the two uniform services are under the direction of the City Commission with Mayor Lee P. Moore serving as liaison between the commission and the depart-

Both Police Chief Ben Butler and Fire Chief William Galley have said they support the change.

Sanford's voters also have the option of voting to retain the

On Lake Mary's ballot are three charter questions as well. Voters will be asked to support or reject question 1 which will revise the charter in detail; question 2 which would extend council terms from two to four years, and question 3 which calls for single-members districts for four of the five council members. The four would run within geographic districts and be elected by the residents of those districts only. The fifth councilman and the mayor would be elected at-large.

Among the changes in question one are: election by highest number of votes (plurality) rather than by majority; changing election times from December to September to coincide with the first primary election; giving the council, by a simple majority, the power to fire some office-employees and require four positive votes to override a mayoral veto.

The Longwood ballot includes a charter amendment to extend City Commission terms from two to four years. If the amendment passes, the terms of the two commissioners elected this year would be four years.

If it passes, the terms of those commissioners in office and not up for election this year - June Lormann, Chick Pappas and Steven Uskert - would have their terms, now set to expire in January, 1984, extended for a year.

In Casselberry, there is binding referendum on the ballot concerning launching a paramedic program and calling for an additional tax to pay for the program for at least two years of $1.25 per $1,000 assessed valuation of real property. If approved, the new tax would be levied beginning with the 1983-84 fiscal year. City voters approved a similar referendum a year ago, but the state for bade the city from levying the tax because of the improper wording of the ballot.

... New Hope For Heart Patients

mechanical heart may be usable as a temporary measure, Pastis said, keeping patients alive until acceptable heart donors can be found for transplants.

"There are just not enough human hearts to go around. Patients could be put on one (a mechanical heart) until a donor is found," he said. The main drawback to the surgery, both doctors agree, is the patient's post-operative quality of life. Because the mechanical heart requires a large generator to keep it pumping blood through the body, the recipient cannot move about freely. "It's a very controversial situation that hasn't been discussed enough by doctors. What do you consider the quality With organ transplants and mechanical valves which have been implanted into the body, most patients have been able to return to relatively normal lives, Gomez said. However, because of the air hose attached to his body, Clark will never be able to have a "normal" life.

Pastis said the quality of life with a mechanical heart is not good, but said there may be hope for the future in a battery pack being developed in Germany. The battery pack would be worn and would allow much greater patient mobility.

But he would not diminsh the importance of the operation. "Anything along these lines is a step forward." Dr. Robert K. Jarvik, inventor of the mechanical heart, checked Clark after he left the operating room and said the patient was doing well. "He's making progress a lot faster than I expected," said Jarvik. "But I still think everyone ought to be cautious and low

"I think the next real milestone is when he can be taken off the respirator and is able to talk. I can't predict when that will happen, but he's moving in that direction. His lung function is improving all the time."

Dr. William DeVries, 38, who headed the 20-member University of Utah surgical team, also said the short-term "prognosis is very good" because Clark had not developed expected problems such as bleeding or embolisms in his blood. "It's not over yet," DeVries cautioned. "This is just the beginning. We are at the start of a very long project... There's

Shoddy Work Charge Dropped

A Lake Mary builder has been cleared of charges of shoddy workmanship in regard to drainage complaints by a Longwood

The Seminole County Board of Building Contractors dropped action against Irwin Peltzer after Assistant County Attorney Bob McMillan advised board members there was no legitimate action they could take against him.

Robert and Ruth Goldenberg of Wekiva Club Estates filed a complaint with the board 13 months ago claiming Peltzer had not provided sufficient drainage in their yard.

Because no drainage swales were constructed, water stands for days in their yard after a rain and flows into their screened-in pool, the Goldenbergs claim.

Peltzer said he installed swales but claimed the soil is poor for drainage.

The board previously voted to suspend Peltzer's license for an indefinite period after he failed to correct the drainage problems at the Goldenberg's house.

But Pekzer appealed that decision to Seminole County commissioners, who reversed the suspension and asked the board to re-examine the case.

Peltzer's attorney, Robert White, said the proper jurisdiction for the case is a court. But the Goldenbergs, who paid $164,000 for the house, said they can't afford to take the case to court. - MICHEAL BEHA.

Jekyll, Hyde On Bill Saturday At Raider Gym

Seminole Community College is putting on a play this Saturday night called "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

It's about a basketball team - the Raiders - which undergoes a character change every time it takes the court.

One time, it plays with the disposition of Dr. Jekyll, very calm and serene. The game ends with the Raiders on the short end of a 20-point deficit.

Another time, it plays like the frenzied Mr. Hyde, scrambling all over the court, running and gunning with reckless abandon. That style has resulted in three wins for SCC.

Which character will appear Saturday night against Polk Community College? It's hard to tell, but an informed source did see coach Bill Payne adding a potion to the water bottles late Friday evening. Curtain call is 7:30 p.m.

Lake Mary cage coach Bill Moore has an eye on the 3A state rankings after stunning 4A Seminole last Monday and ripping 3A Leesburg Thursday night.

"I thought they were interesting," offered Moore Thursday, "It's kind of early to say we belong, but I think we have the potential to be there."

Moore's 3A Rams can take a big step Saturday night when they host Kissimmee's Osceola high, currently the state's second-ranked team. Ocala's Vanguard High is number one and defending state champion. Tipoff is 8 p.m.

Lake Howell's junior cross country standout Kenny Cheeseman continues to pile up honors in the post-season.

Cheeseman finished sixth in a field of 250 runners at the Kinney Cross Country Championships at Charlotte, N.C. He ran a 15:18 for 5,000 meters. Winter Park's Brian Jaeger won the Southern Regional and will compete with Cheeseman in the Kinney National Meet at a course adjacent to the Orlando Hyatt (Kissimmee) off the U.S. Highway 192 exit. The meet is next Saturday.

Lake Mary's effervescent track coach Mike Gibson is already full-speed ahead for the 1983 season.

He has scheduled three small, eightteam meets - Lake Mary Ram Open Track Meet, Lake Mary Ram Relays and Lake Mary Ram Invitational Classic - for Feb. 12, March 5 and April 15, respectively.

Call Gibson at 323-2110 to register. There is a $10 fee for each girls and boys team.

Another one of those energetic types - Seminole High Principal Wayne Epps — will be the tournament manager for the District 4A-9 Wrestling Tournament at Seminole.

Epps hopes the host role will pay off. The last two schools to entertain, Lyman (1961) and Lake Brantley (1982), won the tournament. The event will run Feb. 11-12.

Three former county athletes are doing pretty well on the college level. Former Lyman cager Mitch Hanson (6-8) is playing center and forward at LaGrange, (Pa.) College.

Oviedo's Judy and Charleen Lingard were a big part of the Chowan College (Murfreesboro, N.C.) volleyball team which reached the number-nine ranking among junior college volleyball teams. Judy, the daughter of Brantley Lingard, was a sophomore cocaptain. Charleene a freshman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lingard.

The Evening Herald is in the process of putting together an All-County Football Team. This team will not be one person's choice, thus it will have some credibility.

The county coaches - Bill Scott, Jerry Posey, Roger Beathard, Mike Bisceglia, Jack Blanton and Dave Tullis '- have or will submit nominations for the team.

There will be a 14-member first team and a 14-member second team for both offense and defense. An honorable mention team will also be named.

After the Herald has compiled the nominations' list, it will be mailed to the six coaches and three Evening Herald sports writers - Brent Smartt, Chris Fister and myself - for the voting process. After the team is published, it will be mailed to as many colleges and universities in the South as possible to further aid in procuring scholarships for county athletes. Now, if Lyman would just get in its nominees...

Rouse's Free Throw Saves Seminoles

Sanford Survives Last-Second Shot For Win

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Chris Marlette's first varsity basketball victory at Seminole High wasn't pretty - but it sure was exciting. Sophomore James Rouse dropped in a free throw with 1:02 to play and Seminole survived two jump shots in the last 10 seconds before William Wynn clutched the final rebound to lift the Tribe to a 49-48 victory over Colonial Friday night at Seminole High School. The victory evened the 'Noles' mark at 1-1 with Evans, ranked 10th in the state_ coming to Sanford Tuesday night.

"Rouse did a great job," said Marlette about the 6-1 forward's clutch foul shooting. With the time expired in the first half, Rouse knocked down two more free tosses for a 30-26 halftime lead.

Just three days ago, Rouse pulled out of the foul lane before Tracy Holloman arched a free throw that could have beaten Boone with four seconds remaining. The violation turned over the ball and Boone eventually won in two

"That's all forgotten," said Marlette. "We talked about that and it doesn't bother him."

Colonial, under first-year coach Jack Doss, used a patterned offense which bothered Seminole most of the game.

"We're a running team," Marlette pointed out. "Colonial was so disciplined that we tell asleep on defense a couple Seminole jumped ahead early behind the play of seniors Vernon Law and Calvin "Kiki" Bryant. Law hit the first bucket of the game and Bryant swished two from the wing for a 6-2 lead. After a Law free throw, however, Todd Melle hit a bucket and Anthony Gonzales and Grady Martin combined for three free throws to give Colonial a 10-9 lead.

"All those free throws kept them in the game in the first half." Marlette said about the Grenadiers' 11 of 15 foul-line marksmanship.

Law, going one-on-one with his defender, backed his man into the lane for two nice jumpers and then added two free throws for a 19-19 deadlock. Mike Wheeler, though, snapped the tie with one second left when Law fouled him 50 feet from the basket.

Seminole took over the free throw battle in the sluggish second quarter as reinstated Jimmy Gilchrist dropped in two, Law scored on a nice drive, and Rouse dropped two more with time expired for a 30-26 edge.

Law popped in 11 first-half points to lead the 'Noles, while Bryant hit 4 of 5 iumpers for eight. Wheeler hit all 10 of his points in the first quarter. Six came from the free throw line.

Seminole hit 11 of 20 shots for 55 percent while the Grenadiers could convert just 7 of 24 for 29 percent.

Although the second quarter was lackluster, it was nothing compared to the third when both teams scored just eight points apiece and no one went to the foul line.

Law had three dazzling feeds for buckets to Willie Mitchell twice and Bruce Franklin. The middle one to Franklin came off a nice steal.

Things perked up in the final eight minutes as Mitchell hit a big three-point play to give the 'Noles a 41-36 lead. Gonzales came back with two free throws, but Mitchell hit again before Noel Wells pulled Colonial within 40-43. Rouse added another charity toss to push the lead to 44-40, but Martin, a 6-3 240-pound linebacker during football season, muscled inside for two and a 44-42 game.

Law came through with two free throws at the 2:49 mark for another fourpoint lead, but Gonzales hit a jumper and then two free throws to tie the game at with 2:04 to play.

Marlette then sign: lled a time out and set the play to go to the pure-shooting Bryant. "Kiki" came through with a "hit-one-side-hit-the-other-and-go-in jumper" for a 48-46 lead.

Seminole got the ball right back, but Wynn missed a cripple with 1:15 to go which could have put the 'Noles up by Rouse came into play the next time down the floor. Overplaying his man to the ball side, Rouse snaked out a hand, grabbed the ball and headed for the other end. As he was slowing it up, he was intentionally fouled by Gonzales.

Rouse hit the first one and missed the second for a crucial three-point lead with just 1:02 to play. Seminole got the ball back twice more with rebounds, but Mitchell threw one away and Franklin missed the front end of a one-and-one with 21 seconds left.

Wells hit two free throws with 19 seconds left after Mitchell was whistled for an infraction while going for a rebound.

In the last 17 seconds, Law missed a free throw and Gilchrist grabbed a rebound with five seconds left, but stepped on the end line.

"We wanted to hold the ball at the end, but when we turned it over, we decided to go with the big guys and get a rebound," said Marlette.

And that's exactly what happened as Gonzales' jumper from 20 feet glanced off the rim and into Wynn's waiting hands with two seconds to play.

"We had some kids playing their first varsity game," said Doss about his 0-1 squad. "We kept the intensity on them for the whole game which was good.

"But to Seminole's credit, they worked the ball for their shots at the end and it won it for them," he added.

Mitchell led the 'Noles with 15 points and nine rebounds. Bryant chipped in 10 while Law had 13 points and six assists. Wynn, who scored 25 points Wednesday, took only two shots and made one. The 6-2 junior did, however, have eight recoveries, several which led to

Gordon also snatched 12 rebounds while Fred Brison had seven and Alexander five. Brinson dropped in 11 points and Sam Redding had eight

"Our guards (Redding and Jo Jo McCloud) did a good job on the press in the third quarter," said coach Tom Smith, whose team is 1-1. "Gordon and Brison controlled the backboards in the second half."

Oviedo's Lions used pins by Brett Morton (222) and Kevin Keller (UNL) to knock off Seminole, 42-27, in prep wrestling action at Oviedo High Friday.

Oviedo jumped to an early 10-0 lead Friday when Jerry Jordan pinned Stan Ferguson and senior Shawn Knapp decisioned freshman Mike Clark.

Hearns Decisions Benitez

Hearns can now ponder a multimilliondollar payday with Marvin Hagler, but Wilfred Benitez, the self proclaimed "Bible of Boxing," would like to forget

Hearns regained his championship status after 15 months, Friday night, capturing the World Boxing Council super welterweight championship with a narrow 15-round majority decision over Benitez, the defending champion.

Hearns, the former World Boxing Association welterweight champion, has said he intends to win four world titles before he retires. He now has two and his next step would put him in the ring with Hagler, the world middleweight champion. Hearns, however, would first like a chance to enjoy his second world title.

"I'm not interested in him (Hagler) right now," said Hearns. "Right now,

I'm going to take a vacation, relax and enjoy my title." The 24-year-old Detroit native was not supposed to be able to out-box Benites, who is considered by many to be the best defensive fighter in the world. "I decided to box him, work him with my left hand and keep the right just in case," said Hearns, who raised his record to 35-1. "I thought my boxing would take me there."

"I was a different fighter last year," Hearns said. "My fighting has improved a great deal, especially my ability to get away from shots." Benitez, a 24-year-old native of the Bronx, N.Y., who now lives in Puerto Rico, blamed the judges. "The trouble was the judges," said Benitez, whose record fell 43-2-1. "I think I had the fight, but the judges decide. What can I say now? I would like a rematch. Next time I knock him out."

Judge Lou Filippo of Los Angeles scored it even at 142-142, Judge Tony Castellano of New York scored it 144-133 for Hearns and Dick Young of Los Angeles had it 146-136 for Hearns. UPI had Hearns ahead, 146-143.

Rawls' Engulfing Pin Caps Lake Mary's Win

Herald Sports Editor Lake Brantley's David Garcia leered across the mat at Robert Rawls just before the start of Friday night's final wrestling match at Lake Mary High

All he had to do was pin the 6-9, 320pound Rawls, and the Patriots would earn a 36-36 tie with the Rams in this first mat encounter between these two intense rivals.

Well, so much for fantasy.

Just 2:58 seconds later, Rawls engulfed Garcia like a giant waterbed and the upstart Rams had their biggest victory-42-30-in the short two-year history of the school over the defending 4A district and Five Star Conference champions.

"It was getting pretty halry there at the end," said an ecstatic Lake Mary coach Frank Schwartz. "But Robert (Rawls) just went chest-to-chest with Garcia and buried him."

Lake Mary, 2-0, takes on Daytona Beach Mainland Wednesday before another big match with Seminole on Friday. The Rams complete the week against New Smyrna Beach next Saturday. Schwartz pointed to Lake Mary's four matches with Bob Olson (140) and dominance in the lower weights as the Brent Blakely (157) doing the honors for 1:45 key to victory. "Winning down low was the Rams, while Bill Brucato (147) and the difference," he said. "When Ivan sophomore Dean Shirley earned sticks Carbia made 100 pounds, that was the for Brantley.

The Patriots' Jamie Offenberger (114) came back and pinned Virgil Grant at 1:33, but freshman Tom Olson (121) outlasted Bill Farmer, 14-12, to give the Rams a 16-6 edge.

Schwartz was encouraged, though, by his "Big 4"! "With Rawls, Bob Olson, Likens and Carbia, we have four pretty reliable people," he said. "And you can probably put Farmer and Blakely right there with them. Blakely is really coming on. He's really going to be something."

Local Girls Lift SCC, 54-46; Rollins, Riggins Win

Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders tuned down the turnovers and turned on the local talent Friday night to come away with a 54-46 victory in the first round of the Indian River Christmas Tournament at Fort Pierce.

Cathy Jones, Valerie Rossler and Mindy Patrick combined for 40 points as the Raiders claimed an eight-point victory over the host team to advance into Saturday night's championship game against Broward.

"The local girls (Sanford's Jones, Patrick and Sebrina Melton) did an excellent job," said coach Sol Batoon about his 2-2 Raiders. "Jones and Melton played outstanding defense."

The Raiders also cut their turnover total to 22. "We had 120 turnovers the first three games," said Batoon, "We finally cut that in half tonight."

Jones popped in 17 points as the Raiders took control in the second half and Rossler dropped in 13. Patrick, a sophomore guard, chipped in 10.

Melton was tough defensively until she injured her knee with 10 minutes to go. Jones suffered a cramp which sidelined her with seven minutes to go. but Batoon feels she'll be all right Saturday.

Murphy's Dunks Topple Titusville

Oviedo's Lions won one and lost one Friday night.

Ronnie Murphy tossed in 29 points, grabbed 17 rebounds and had six dunks as the Lions snuffed out Titusville, 62-49, in the losers' bracket of the Rotary East Tipoff Classic at Winter Park.

Coach Ed Bolton's Lady Lions, however, ran into a tough Lake Howell club and dropped a lopsided 85-58 decision at Lake Howell.

Cindy Blocker and Chiquita Miller combined for 45 points as the 2-0 Silver Hawks spurted to a 43-23 halftime bulge and never looked back. Vicki Rowland dropped in 25 points for the 2-2 Lions while Fay Robinson added 20.

Murphy, who coach Dale Phillips said isn't at full strength yet, was devastating nevertheless. He teamed with point guard Gene Angel for a couple "alleyoop" passes for dunks in the third quarter as the Lions outscored Titurville,

"We brought the half-court defense out a little further in a 2-1-2 to pressure their guards and it worked," said Phillips about his 1-2 Lions.

Although Murphy had several dramatic slams, including a one-handed effort which he took off the glass, the most startling was one that he missed.

Taking off at the TOP OF THE KEY, the 6-4 leaper came up a little short and alammed the ball off the front of the rim. The dunk had so much thrust to it, it caromed three-quarters of the length of the floor where a Titusville player dropped it in for a layup.

"The kid couldn't believe it," laughed Phillips. "The ball bounced all the way to the other end and he just took two dribbles and dropped it in."

The Lions also received another solid effort from senior Bill McCartney. The 6-2 forward chipped in 17 points and collected seven rebounds. Angel added eight.

Rams Crush Crescent City, 76-43

By CHRIS FISTER

Herald Sports Writer It's not often that a team can be both sluggish and dominating at the same time, but, that's what Lake Mary was Friday night in a 76-43 rout of hapless Crescent City in the Rams' season opener at Seminole Community College. The Rams were sluggish from the field and frigid from the free throw line (8 of 20 for the game). The domination came under the boards. Lake Mary controlled things underneath all night long as they outrebounded the much smaller Raiders,

"The rebounding was good, especially toward the end," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said. "We had kind of a porous defense at first but we made some adjustments and looked much better in the second half." Lake Mary's scoring attack was a balanced one with five players in double figures. Donald Grayson and Darryl Merthle led the way with 14 points each, Fred Miller added 13, Reginald Medlock chipped in 12 and Neal Wellon collected

Smith Runs Marathon Race To Land Free-Agent Garvey

NEW YORK (UPI) - Most baseball men go to the winter meetings looking to make trades

San Diego's Ballard Smith is going to them looking to make time, but it's perfectly all right. His wife, Linda, understands completely.

The Padres' president will run in the 26.2 mile Honolulu Marathon on Dec. 12. the day after the meetings win 1 up, and he's almost as excited about that as he is about the possibility of getting freeagent Steve Garvey.

"I can't give you any compelling reason why I'm going to run in the marathon except that I knew they were having one in Honolulu while I'u be there for the meetings and I thought it wouldn't be a bad idea to enter it," he said Thursday from San Diego.

"The winning time will probably be somewhere around two hours and 20 minutes. You know what my time will be?" he laughed. "Closer to four hours. I know I can do it, though, I've been running 40 miles a week and I ran 20 miles last Sunday."

What about Garvey?

"I met him for the first time last Friday and had dinner with him and I honestly believe no player in the major leagues would fit in as well as he would in San Diego," Smith said. "I say that not only from our standpoint but also from his.

"To begin with, we have no first baseman. We have to have one. That's basic. Our No. 1 priority is to find a

"We have Terry Kennedy. He will be a leader some day. But he's young and it's hard for him to fit into that role now. Steve Garvey was a leader with the Dodgers. He'll be in the Hall of Fame some day and can be a leader for us right now.

"San Diego is looking to identify with a hero on its baseball team. We've never had a real hero. We've had Dave Winfield and Ozzie Smith. They obviously were very fine players, but they weren't really superstars and allaround complete players. Steve Garvey fits that role. He has the qualities to have a big impact on our community."

I said to Ballard Smith that what he was saying made him sound like Garvey's agent, Jerry Kapstein. "Some of the things I heard from him," he laughed. Growing serious, Smith added: "There's a limit to what we can pay We're prepared to be competitive but we will not establish new plateaus or detract from our player development program by taking money we have earmarked for that"

Gordie Howe, 54, executive assistant to Managing General Partner Howard Baldwin of the Hartford Whalers, still gets out on the ice and practices occasionally, although he now has been out of the game as an active player three seasons.

"Keeps me in shape for some of those Old-Timers Games," he said at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night while watching the Rangers wallop the Whalers. Howe was looking at the game on TV in the press room while the two teams were going at each other a couple of levels below on the ice. He admitted he gets most of his kicks

Tampa Takes On Improved New Orleans

United Press International

Maybe the strike-shortened season was just what the New Orleans Saints needed. Since they entered the NFL in 1967, the Saints have failed to produce a winning record. However, with the season trimmed to nine games, New Orleans enters Sunday's home game with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers shooting for a clubrecord fourth straight triumph.

"Now, if we win this one Sunday," said Saints' President Eddle Jones, "I might start talking about playoffs."

Strong talk for a team that won just four games last year. Tampa Bay Coach John McKay, whose team won its first game of the year last Monday night, says the Saints are for real. "I know that before last year began, everybody would have said the 49ers were an easy game, then they got going and became the best thing since grape juice," said McKay of the team that went on to win the 1981 Super Bowl. "The Saints could very easily be the same kind of team."

They may have proved McKay right as New Orleans topped San Francisco, 23-20, last week to run its record to 3-1.

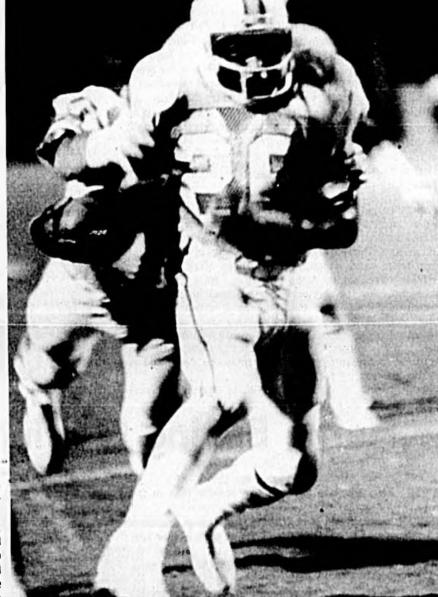

"Ken Stabler has to be a stabilizing force for them at quarterback," said McKay of the Saints. "He's played 55 years - I think he's collecting Social Security - so the layoff shouldn't have affected him. And he is surrounded by a very fine football team."

Stabler, in his 13th season, needs just 81 player to throw for 25,000 or more yards.

The Buccaneers, 1-3, own the best overall defense in the league and are first against the pass. The Saints' defense is No. 2 in the league and best against the rush, and New Orleans has recorded a league-leading 19 sacks.

Cincinnati, coming off a 31-17 win over the Los Angeles Raiders, are 3-1 and tied with the Raiders, New York Jets, Miami, Buffalo and Pittsburgh atop the American Football Conference stan-team can be dangerous.

Washington, the National Football Conference leader, puts its unbeaten record on the line Sunday against visiting Dallas. The Cowboys have beaten Washington five straight times and the Cowboys have won three straight since a season-opening loss. Still, Dallas Coach Tom Landry is wary of the 4-0 Redskins.

"It doesn't surprise me they're at 4-0," Landry said. "They won seven of their last nine last year."

In other Sunday games, Tampa Bay (1-

Contrasting QBs Spice Viking-Miami Clash

MIAMI (UPI) - The contrast between the Minnesota Vikings and the Miami Dolphins going into their game Sunday isn't hard to find - it's the quarterbacks.

Tommy Kramer sizzled in the Vikings' 35-7 victory over Chicago with 26 completions in 35 attempts for 342 yards and five touchdowns while both Miami quarterbacks fizzled in a 23-17 loss at Tampa Bay.

Viking Coach Bud Grant says the 27year-old Kramer "is very productive at an early age. Most quarterbacks reach their peak around 30."

So far this truncated season, Kramer has completed 56 percent of his passes for 849 yards and eight touchdowns.

The Dolphins' David Woodley and Don Strock have passed for only 649 yards and three touchdowns between them. During the two games since the NFL players' strike, Coach Don Shula has started Woodley and brought in Strock at the

Again this Sunday, Shula says he will start the younger Woodley and base any further decisions on his performance. "Since the period of activity, Woodley's had trouble bouncing back, so for two weeks in a row we've used Don in the second half and he's been struggling too," Shula says "If Woodley's going good (Sunday), I'll continue with him."

Quarterbacking isn't the only thing troubling the Dolphin offense, which didn't score a touchdown until the eighth quarter after the players went back to work. The Dolphins also committed six turnovers against Tampa and the other skill positions aren't producing.

"We're not getting production from our receivers or our running back," Shula Starting running back Tony Nathan couldn't agree more, and he doesn't know what's wrong.

"It's hard to pinpoint what is wrong. I can't get a break lately," says the former Alabama star. "I think it's a lot of little things. I set my mind on having my best teams as good as you are and there are season ever this year. I'm just going to times when you make mistakes - as the have to shake this off and work harder." Dolphins did at Tampa Bay," he said.

Although, Nathan isn't saying it, part of what's wrong is injuries. He played with sore ribs early in the season and is questionable for Sunday's game with a hip pointer. If he isn't able to go extensively, backups Tommy Vigorito and Eddie Hill will see most of the action.

Saunders Leaving Jail Post; Brevard Official To Take Job

Seminole County corrections admistrator Steve Saunders is stepping down from that position Feb. 1 and his successor has already been named.

Sheriff John Polk said Friday he has accepted Saunder's resignation which will take effect Feb. 1 and has appointed Col. James Shoultz to succeed him.

"Steve and I had previously discussed this but decided to wait until he had confirmed an offer for other employment before publicly announcing it," Polk said. "Although he has several options available to him now, he still has not decided on which opportunity to take. But we felt we should go ahead with things and plan on his leaving Feb. 1 which also enables me to get a qualified successor.

"Our loss is definitely someone else's gain," Polk said. "I did not ask him to leave. He's had several good offers. He's a young man and he told me that he's just ready to move on to a new challenge."

Polk said he named Shoultz, to the position because "he's a good man of the same high caliber as Steve. He'll be an excellent administrator for us."

Shoultz, 60, who was formerly with Orange County corrections, is currently administrator of the Brevard County jail.

"Jim is a good man and a good choice for the job," said Saunders, 37, an 11-year-veteran in corrections.

"One thing I want to be made clear is that I am not leaving because of any problems with the sheriff." Saunders said. "I feel very comfortable with him. I've thoroughly enjoyed working under him and he has been more than supportive to me during my four years here.

"I'm leaving because I feel it is time for me to move on to other challenges," he said. "I have not decided if I'll stay in corrections or if I'll seek a position in public administration as a city manager, county administrator or what. That's something I'm still exploring and a key element in my decision to leave."

"Hopefully by Feb. 1 I'll have made that decision but if not, the sheriff has told me that he will keep me on in some capacity for a reasonable amount of time until I make those decisions," Saunders said. "I'll also be able to assist Jim (Shoultz) with the transition into the position here."

Saunders, who took the $27,000-a-year post after serving as captain in charge of Orange County corrections, says the greatest achievement he feels has been made during his employment with Seminole County is "moving into the new jail and having it operational without missing a beat."

"The staff out at the jail is of the highest-caliber and are very professional," he said.

"That, coupled with a supportive community and Sheriff Polk made my Job much easier. Seminole County has a jail it can be proud of. It, too, is overcrowded but we aren't experiencing anywhere near the problems other Florida counties have had with their jails."

·Shoultz served 10 years in corrections with Orange County before going to Brevard County, Polk said. He also worked in the Army prison system for many years before going to Orange County. Polk said Shoultz left Orange County when Sheriff Lawson Lamar took office to accept a 'somewhat temporary assignment in Brevard.

Er, Excuse Me.... How Much To Mail A Bomb?

By TENI YARBOROUGH Herald Stalf Writer

A radio "that never worked anyway" and was being shipped back to the manufacturer caused quite a stir Friday after it came to life in the hands of a Sanford postal worker.

Postal officials at the Sanford post office on Palmetto Avenue called Sanford police at 11:29 a.m. after an employee heard a muffled noise coming from inside a package.

"When we got the call about a possible bomb we responded and notified the Sanford Fire Department and the Seminole County bomb squad about it," said Herb Shea, spokesman for Sanford police Chief Ben Butler.

"When we got there we determined that the package had been brought in to be mailed that morning, got the name of the person sending it off the package and called the home," he said. "That's when we found out that the lady was sending a radio back to the company but had forgotten to take the batteries out of it. We managed to cancel the call for the bomb squad before they arrived but we and the fire department were on the scene."

"I was so embarrassed," said Mrs. Agnes Hodges, of Paola Road, Sanford. "When the police called and asked if I had mailed a package that morning, I knew exactly what had happened. They didn't even have to tell me."

Mrs. Hodges, who declined to disclose her age but said she's "just an old lady." said she had packaged the clock-radio and was sending it back to the manufacturer after "I'd tried everything to get it to work and it never would.

"I don't know why it came to life when it did because the damn thing never worked anyway," she said. "But after I got it packaged I remembered the batteries were still in it but 1 didn't want to rewrap it so I just left it. Who would think it would start working?"

She said that while the radio itself never functioned properly, "sometimes the alarm did go off and it sounded like a fog horn. I started to just keep it and use it as a burglar alarm," she said, laughing.

"Well, I went to the post office and meekly asked the clerk where the police were because I knew they were waiting on me," Mrs. Hodges said. "Well, he said, 'Oh you're the one who's mailing bombs.' That was embarrassing and I'm truly sorry for all the trouble it caused.

"But I have to admit, I couldn't stop laughing when the police called," she said. "After all I'd tried, I couldn't get it to work and then it just started up all by itself."

Postal workers returned the package to Mrs. Hodges, who sald she removed the batteries and will remail the radio.

CASH, TV TAKEN

Someone broke into a Sanford man's home between 11:30 a.m. and 1:55 p.m. Thursday and stole a black and white television set and $3,000.

John S. Ralston, 44, of Masters Cove Blvd., told deputies someone forced their way into his home by prying open a MAN DIDN'T WANT TO BE DISTURBED Deputies said a man became verbally abusive after they awoke him while he was sleeping on the roof of the Fern Park Station at Fernwood Boulevard in Fern Park.

Mark Kelly Nesmith, 21, of Virginia Drive, Maitland, is free on bond from the Seminole County jail following his arrest Sunday on a charge of disorderly intoxication.

Deputies arrested Nesmith after they discovered him sleeping on the roof of the bar.

LONGWOOD MAN CHARGED

A 21-year-old Longwood man is free from the Seminole County jail today after posting bond following his arrest Monday on charges of armed burglary of an occupied dwelling, aggravated assault on a law enforcement officer and resisting arrest with violence.

John Everett Dicks, of 1101 14th St., was arrested at 3:48 a.m. Monday after Longwood police were called to a disturbance at 1101 14th St. Upon their arrival, police attempted to contact Dicks and followed his footprints out of the home to 148 13th St. where police observed him on the front porch of the home, armed with a knife.

Police said when they approached Dicks, he threw the knife at them and was subsequently arrested. No injuries were reported.

MAN IN THE CAN

An Orlando man who claimed he was collecting aluminum cans along the Interstate 4 ramp in Longwood was arrested today and charged with prowling.

Thomas E. Tindall, 30, was arrested at 4:40 a.m. by Longwood police who suspected him of prowling around the Longwood Village Plaza.

A gas station attendant across from the plaza told police he saw a man walk around to the back side of stores in the shopping center in the middle of the night.

Upon inspection, police found signs of a forced entry through a window at the rear of Longwood Village Jewelers. They also found that all circuit breakers in the shopping center had been turned off in an apparent attempt to disconnect burglar alarms.

The owner of the store said nothing was missing.

Upon his arrest, Tindall, who was carrying a garbage bag, told police he had been dropped off by his fiancee and was collecting aluminum cans.

But no cans were found in the bag and the fiancee told police Tindall had left her apartment at about midnight.

TEEN ARRESTED

James Goforth, 18, of 2463 Fieldingwood Rd., Maitland, was arrested by Seminole County deputies at 3:55 p.m. Friday on charges of burglary and dealing in stolen property.

Goforth is accused of stealing a portable television set from a house at 2470 Fieldingwood Road. Police said he later sold the television, valued at $200 at a Maitland pawn shop for $20.

"There's been more in the past two months than in the previous 10 months." Gib Edmonds, president of First Federal Savings and Loan of Seminole said interest is picking up in all phases of the real estate market. "There is a lot of pent-up demand," he said, "For two years, people haven't been able to buy a home."

Now that interest rates have dropped to "affordable" levels, Edmonds has been receiving calls from prospective home buyers wanting information on mortgage rates. There also have been many calls about refinancing, he said.

Edmonds said Federal Housing Administration loans have dropped to a 12 percent interest rate. Conventional mortgage loan rates are 13 to 13.5 percent.

"I have a fairly good feeling that we could see a further softening of interest rates," he said. But the current rates are low enough that people who could not afford to purchase a home several months ago are now priced into the market.

"The rates are down to a realistic level for a lot of people," Edmonds said. "I'm advising people that if the monthly payment is comfortable, go ahead and buy it. Trying to pick a low point on interest rates is like playing the stock market," he said. . He said there is a lot of activity with homeowners seeking to refinance their houses. If rates continue to drop, even more people will seek to re-finance their mortgages. The realtors and Edmonds agreed that a constant interest rate would stimulate real estate sales. "If things stabilize, which they appear to be, the market

Lou Woodruff thrives on natural beauty. She is apt to create award-winning designs from gourds, odd-shaped roots, louffa sponges and an enormous variation of plant materials.

Floral Art

Sanford Designer Invited To Display Talents In South America

Special to the Herald

My whole upbringing influenced me. My mother was always very aware of natural beauty...the beauty in a tree...in a storm. And she made me aware." Reared in the mountains of North Carolina, "Lou" Woodruff, or the preferred Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff III, is still finding a natural beauty in gourds, odd-shaped roots, luffa sponges and an enormous variation of plant materials. Even copper coils sit on the shelves of her Sanford home waiting for the day the master judge and teacher of floral arranging will choose its form for her art.

"I can't stand to have other people do things and not know what they're doing," says Mrs. Woodruff, a member of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, Inc. That attitude created a desire more than three decades ago to become one of the area's finest floral designers.

"It's design. It's an art form," explained the 60-yearold wife, mother and grandmother. She said she studied three years in courses designed for the floral arrangement judges and standardized by the field's

From the first show Mrs. Woodruff entered but did not win in, she has progressed to the highest level of floral design, recently attaining creditation as a symposium speaker.

She displayed those talents when a group of Columbian garden clubbers requested her experience in Bogata, and she accepted. She took with her a different approach to a basic element of design, calling her talk, "Action and Reaction." With the help of an interpreter, Mrs. Woodruff explained "how dynamic balance produces movement.

The balance is the action, the movement, reaction." She went further to relate this movement (in floral design) to movement in dance and music. "In dance, if you put this arm up here," she said raising her creative hand, "then you have to put this leg out here. Otherwise you're going to fall over." According to the master, the same is true with plant materials and containers. The instructor took the concept one step further. "From there, I discussed the forces that cause this movement."

Actual floral designs, created by the artist, assist her designs differ - the limitations nearly non-existent. How many arrangements has she designed since the start of her hobby in 1948? Mrs. Woodruff said she could not even begin to estimate. Consequently, snapping shots of all designs used in lectures she has been giving for 10 years has become a necessity to avoid any repetition."I wouldn't teach the same arrangement to a group again anymore than I'd want to wear the same dress again." However, when you get right down to the floral seed of the matter, no two arrangements are the same. "This is a very transient art. You can't ever reproduce an arrangement. Once you take a plant material out of its holder, you can never get it back exactly the same way," the Sanford woman stresses. The dry plant materials she speaks of adorn her walls, while the fresh materials she prefers to work with can sometimes be "a pain in the neck" to locate.

"It's very time consuming," she explained about her hobby. "And it's a lot of hard work." And when it comes to financing and supplies, Mrs. Woodruff said,

She stopped competing in the statewide garden club contests when she began teaching her art to would-be floral design judges 10 years ago. Since then, she has traveled Florida and elsewhere, including one-day seminars in Pensacola, Jacksonville, the Keys, Georgia, Nassau and lastly, Bogata.

"It's normally a one-day shot. I'll give a four-to fourand-a-half-hour lecture, making arrangements standardized by the National Council (of Garden Clubs, Inc.)," she explained.

There are several regulations in each club which loosely followed. And according to Mrs. Woodruff, the No. 1 thing to remember is, "You can't use artificial (plant matter). You just aren't allowed."

That is no problem for the woman who prefers to use all fresh gifts of nature. She often rounds up a few select Aspidistra, pulls out a packed-away piece of dried plant pod, grabs an old lamp base she bought for 50 cents and somehow comes up with a simple floral design, appealing and artful.

Don't be fooled. There are at least hundreds of books See FLORAL ART, Page 4B

Best Christmas Gift Is One That's Wanted

DEAR ABBY: Last year you devoted an entire column to what and what not to give for Christmas gifts. I thought it was one of the most helpful columns you ever wrote. Please run it again.

RIO GRANDE GRANDMA DEAR GRANDMA: That column was so well-received. I'm repeating it. Here, it is:

DEAR READERS: Can you believe it's time to prepare for the holidays again? Well, it is, so do yourselves a favor and do your Christmas (or Hanukkah) shopping early.

' If you're wondering what to give Aunt Jennie or Grandpa, who don't get out much, let me tell you what not to give them:

No dusting powder, aftershave or cologue. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on their closet shelves.)

Grandpa doesn't need another necktle, and Aunt Bertha doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces or bracelets. With the price of groceries so high, folks who live alone on a fixed income probably would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna, vegetables, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes or

Dear Abby

If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet or some useless little doodad you received for Christmas three years ago, please don't. It's a pretty fair bet the recipient will find it just as useless as you did. (Besides, you might get it back the year after

If someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for any amount would be much more appreciated than a frivolous little trinket. Or give someone who's counting pennies a year's subscription to a newspaper or magazine you know he or she will enjoy.

Please, don't ever send a gift in a box bearing the name of a store unless you bought it there. Should the recipient want to exchange it, he will be embarrassed, the store clerks will look bewildered, and it won't make you look too good.

If you buy a gift on sale, be sure it's appropriate, since if the recipient tries to take it back he will be told, "Sorry, sale merchandise is not returnable." Don't give anyone a pet unless you're absolutely sure it's wanted and will be properly cared for. And if you want to delight someone who considers his pet a "member of the family," include a tin of cat or dog food for the pet. Don't give wine or liquor unless you're sure the recipients imbibe. Candy, nuts and fruitcake make wonderful gifts for those who aren't counting calories, but please have compassion for those who are, and lead them not into temptation. Resist giving toddlers stuffed animals and dolls tht are bigger than they are. And parents will thank you for not sending their children borns, drums, sirens or whistles.

Ladies Day At The Chamber

"Ladies Day at the Chamber" always reflects a touch of nostalgia for many of the ladies attending. They recall several years ago when the late Mr. Charlie Morrison emceed the event to only a sprinkling of women at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building.

Those were the days when Virginia Petroski, Welcome Wagon hostess, showed up in colorful attire with a variety of goodies spilling from her wicker basket.

"Ladies Day" has outgrown the Sanford chamber building having reached a turnout of about 300 local women who meet annually for lunch and fun.

Thursday was no different. Invited women showed up for "Ladies Day" at the Sanford Civic Center luncheon sponsored by Flagship Bank of Seminole and Rich Plan of Florida Division of United Home Services of Florida Inc.

Jack Horner was master of ceremonies and announced the winners of numerous door prizes, from bonds to a bottle of Christmas wine. Some lovely prizes were donated by the Sanford business community.

Highlighting the festivities were a Juzzercise demonstration by Claudia Almand and assistants, a self defense demonstration by Teri Bourque and David Kolodzik, Black Belt Karate experts; and a cosmetics demonstration by Connie Ceynowa with Peg Horner as the model.

Prior to her marriage, Gaye Mebane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Elizabeth) Mebane was honored at a coffee at the Lily Court home of Mrs. Wallace (Jane) Philips.

Gaye was also honored guest at a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Volie A. (Connie) Williams.

Holley Ann Kurimai has been entertained at a series of prenuptial parties. Holley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Betty) Kurimai will become the bride of Philip Ricker Dec. 11, at Holy Cross Episcopal Church. A dinner-reception will follow at Deltona Country Club.

Julie Reagan, Ann Reynolds and Vickie Talmadge were hostesses at a bridal shower for Holley at the Reynolds home in The Oaks.

Peggy and Larry Johnson and Sheila and Jeff Sanders entertained at a wine and cheese party for Holley and Phil at the Johnson home in Idyllwilde. Pat Scott and her daughter, Charmly Mann, entertained Holley at a kitchen shower at their home in the Crossings, -Lake Mary. This was a surprise event with Holley receiving many kitchen

The Woman's Club of Sanford will be the site of the club's annual Arts Festival staged by the Arts Department under the chairmanship of Jeanette

The show, open to the public, will be held Wednesday. Dec. 8, from 10 to 11:30 a.m., at the clubhouse on Oak Avenue, followed by a catered luncheon at noon.

Jeanette says the festival will include a demonstration on stained glass by Jamille Haddad. Judith Piercy will present a cosmetics demonstration.

Also, Elizabeth Paulucci Helfrich, a club member and author of "Cooking From A Melting Pot" will be on hand to autograph copies of her cookbook which will be sold to benefit the club.

Arts and crafts, made and exhibited by club members, will be judged before the event opens.

Bobby Flannagin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Dixie) Flannagin of Route 2, celebrated his birthday on Nov. 28 with a gala party for 10 friends at Chuck E. Cheese, Winter Park.

Sanford socialites abandoned their furs and finery, donned country attire and trekked out to Henry Schumacher's cabbage patch Friday night for the traditional cabbage patch party.

Henry, his wife, Bonnie, and her parents, Bill and Walter Gielow, had the perfect cooperation of the full moon to shed light on the fun fest. The party is planned every two years during the full moon following Thanksgiving.

Clubs Getting In Gear To Celebrate Christmas

The next meeting of the Lake Mary Extension Homemakers will be held Dec. 14, at 10 a.m., at the Ag Center. The annual covered dish Christmas Iuncheon and installation of officers will be held at that time. Members and their guests are to bring a covered dish and a homemade wrapped Christmas gift.

The Lake Mary Garden Club will hold their annual turkey dinner, Wednesday, Dec. 8, at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. John Ulmer on Wilbur Ave.

I'd like to extend a very special welcome to my parents Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wells who are visiting from Nashville, Tenn. They plan to spend two months visiting friends and family in Largo, Zephyrhills and Fort Myers.

Tuesday is election day when citizens of Lake Mary will be given the opportunity to elect officials to run the city and to vote on charter revisions. Lake Mary has 1,550 registered voters. Out of those 1,550 voters, how many will go to the polls to cast their votes?

Too often people sit back and complain about how the city is being run. Yet these same people complaining do not exercise their right to vote. Lake Mary is growing.

Rebates Are Offered

Rush-Hampton has announced $3 to $10 rebates on the company's small to mid-size treatment units and the Ecologizer water treatment system.

Rush-Hampton's largest rebate -$10- will be offered for the Ecologizer series 8000 air treatment system beginning Jan. 1. The 8000 is Rush-Hampton's largest unit, cooling and cleaning areas up to 8000 cubic

Also starting Jan. 1 a $5 rebate will be offered on the company's mid-size unit, the Ecologizer series 4000 air treatment system, which cools and cleans areas up to

The announcement of the $10 and $5 rebates on the company's largest units follows rebates of $5, $4 and $3 on mid-size units. The $5 rebate began Nov. 1 on the Ecologizer series 2000 system (which includes models 7305-1, 7315-1, 3303, and 3315). On Dec. 1, another $5 rebate was offered on the Ecologizer series 3000 air treatment system. Both are tabletop units that clean 2000 and 3000 feet respectively.

One of Rush-Hampton's newest products, the Ecologizer air treatment system (model 0705) was given a $3 rebate when it was introduced in the fall, while another new product, the Ecologizer water treatment system, was given a $4 rebate.

Cloisters Seminars Set

The Cloisters of Delland, an 11.2-acre 266-unit life care retirement community will be introduced to Central Floridians 62 years and over through educational audiovisual seminars scheduled for the Sanford area Dec. 13 and 14 at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Countryside.

The Cloisters of DeLand features "Life Care ... Assured," a financial concept that guarantees every resident lifetime living arrangements unless they choose to move.

Brokerage Service Begins

The first statewide common stock and corporate bond brokerage service available through a bank will be inaugurated Jan. 3 according to B. J. Walker, president of Atlantic Bancorporation.

The "ho frills" service, which offers investors savings of 50 percent or more on fees paid for stock and bond transactions, will be available at any one of Atlantic's offices in the state. The service will be provided by the Bank's Funds Management Division which can be contacted through a toll-free investment hotline.

Atlantic will handle, buy and sell orders on common stocks and corporate bonds for fees substantially below those charged by a full-service brokerage firm. Walker said, "We fully expect investors who manage their own portfolios and make their own decisions to take advantage of these savings.", Stock trading accounts can be opened at any Atlantic branch.

Construction has begun on the Altamonte Professional Building, a two-story structure designed by Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock-Architects, Inc., of Winter Park, The 30,000square-foot project is located on Boston Avenue near State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs, Dr.

Mitchell Shapiro, developer, will occupy the entire first floor with his Altamonte Eye Clinic. The second floor will be available as lease space. Aagaard Juergensen, Inc., is constructing the building which is financed by Atlantic National Bank of Florida. The HHCP design, executed in a stucco finish, features a porte-cochere at the main entrance, generous overhangs with sun screens. covered parking and cylindrical stair towers enclosed in glass block. Project completion is scheduled for early Summer 1983.

Barnett Seeks Charter For Osceola Bank

An application to establish a nationally-chartered bank in Kissimmee has been filed by Barnett Banks of Florida, Inc. Both the comptroller of the currency and the Federal Reserve must approve applications for a charter for Barnett Bank of Osceola County, N.A., as the new bank will be named. The necessary regulatory approval is expected by mid-June.

"Osceola County is one of the state's fastest growing areas and we're pleased at the prospect of being part of that growth," commented Charles E. Rice, Barnett's president and chief executive officer.

The new office will be at the corner of Bermuda Avenue and Vine Street in Kissimmee and should open by late 1983. Currently, Barnett has 197 offices in 29 counties with acquisitions pending in four more. These figures make Barnett the largest bank office network in the state, and allow it to

"I'll Be Glad To"

If you ask people about Mrs. Turner, they will tell you that she is one of the happiest women in town. Yet not so long ago she was feeling pretty sorry for herself. Life seemed such a humdrum atlair. As an accomplished musician, she had dreams of the concert stage, but marriage and children had changed all that. Somehow it didn't seem fair!

.THE HOPE OF OUR COMMUNITY,

OUR NATION!

Then one day, a friend persuaded her to go to church. The sermon happened to be about the ingredients that make a full and happy life. The things the minister said struck home and, the next week, she found herself back in church again. Then several weeks later Mr. Turner went along, and next, the youngsters.

Now Mrs. Turner is still "just a housewife," but is she dissatisfied with her role? Look at her face and see for yourself! It took the Church to show her that she already possessed all the tools needed for fulfillment and happiness, if she would but use them. Now, she

Methodist Hour International Banquet Scheduled Thursday

The Methodist Hour International with headquarters in Altamonte Springs, will hold a fellowship banquet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the First United Methodist Church, Jackson _and Magnolia, Orlando. Evangelist Herb Bowdoin, founder of Methodist Hour radio broadcast, will speak on his recent crusades in Korea and visit to China. The Rev. Whitney Dough will present a brief multimedia program on the worldwide ministry as well as presenting a mini concert. For reservations call 830-0255. Co-chairmen of the event are Wayne and Mary Rapp and Joe and Jinky Dalton.

'Super Gift From Heaven'

A children's Chrisunas musical, "Super Gift from Heaven," will be presented by Children's I Choir, made up of first through third graders, at 7 p.m. this Sunday at Oviedo First Baptist Church. On Dec. 12, the church's 45voice Adult Choir will present "An Old Fashioned Christmas," a musical. Seating will be by ticket only. Free tickets and times of evening presentations can be had by calling the church office at 365-3484.

Music Missionaries At Pinecrest

Tom and Mary Blair McEachin, music missionaries to Taiwan will present a program of testimony and song at Pinecrest Baptist Church on Wednesday, at 6:30 p.m. The McEachins are presently on furlough and in residence at Stetson University.

Tom McEachin is a graduate of Oklahoma University and New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, Mrs. McEachin attended Stetson University and is the daughter of former Stetson Vice President James Parrish.

Open to the public, this program is being presented as a part of Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Emphasis Week.

Alathia Choir To Sing

*Stetson University's Alathia Choir will be in concert this Sunday, at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Sanford. The Alathia Choir consisting of 21 Baptist Campus Ministry students, is under the direction of George Lyons, who is also a student at Stetson. A reception honoring these students will take place in the church Fellowship Hall immediately following the concert.

Instrumentalists Join Choir

Eleven instrumentalists from the Orlando area will join the 20-voice adult choir of the Prairie Lake Baptist Church, 415 Ridge Road, Fern Park, on Sunday, Dec. 19 at 7 p.m. to worship the birth of Christ in the presentation of the cantata "King of Love" by Roger Strader.

Baptist Missionary To Speak

Seminole Heights Baptist Church will hear a message and see a slide presentation by Mrs. Irvin (Mickey) Northcutt in its 7 p.m. service, this Sunday in Lake Mary High School auditorium. She received her education in Mercer University and New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, with further study at Stetson. In 1959 she was appointed by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board to serve in Peru in the area of church and home evangelism, along with her husband. They are the parents of three children, and are currently on family leave in Tavares, where the Rev. Northcutt is pastor of the First Baptist Church.

'Reason For The Season'

Seminole Heights Baptist Church will hear "The Reason for the Season," a musical for Christmas, in its midweek service, Wednesday at 7 p.m., in the Covenant Presbyterian Church on Highway 17-92 at Lake Mary Boulevard. The musical will be presented by "Reflections," the youth ensemble from the First Baptist Church of Avon Park under the direction of Terry L. Clark.

Youth Revival

The Elm Avenue Church of God of Prophecy at 2509 S. Elm Ave., Sanford, will hold a weekend revival December 3-5. Fourteen-year-old Jerry Ingram of Pahokee will be the evangelist. He will speak each evening at 7:30. Jerry is very active in children's ministries at the church he attends in Pahokee and is an honor student. He was divinely healed of cancer eight years ago and will be giving his testimony during the services.

St. Peter & Paul Affiliates

On Nov. 24, Sts. Peter & Paul Eastern Orthodox Parish was placed under Bishop Luciano Gaudio of the Holy Eastern Orthodox Church, Italo Byzantine. This is a canonical body whose primate is His Eminence Umile Natalino who resides in Italy. The U.S. archbishop is Archbishop Emilio Rinaldi who resides in New York, Bishop Luciano resides in Oklahoma City.

Up until the year 1428 they were directly under the Patriarch of Constantinople but in that same year they were cut off from the Patriarch due to war and political situations and became autonomous and have remained so to this day. They first came to this country in 1904.

The completion of the transfer will be done by Jan. 1, 1983. Sts. Peter & Paul Orthodox Parish is located at 1118 Magnolia Ave., Sanford. It is the only Eastern Orthodox Church in the Sanford area. The Rev. Anthony Grant is the parish priest. Anyone Interested in the Orthodox Church may call 323-7277 after 5 p.m.

Christmas Program Slated

The Community United Methodist Church of Casselberry will have a Christmas program presented by the youth of the church during the 7 p.m. service this Sunday. On Wednesday at 7 p.m., following the family supper at 6 p.m., there will be an intergenerational study on Christmas hymns and carols.

UMW Plans Dinner, Tea

The United Methodist Women of Community United Methodist Church, Casselberry, will hold their annual Christmas dinner and program at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the church fellowship hall. The UMW will hold its annual Christmas tea for widows of the church 2-4 p.m. Dec. 12 in the fellowship hall with members of the Hope Circle as hostesses.

Hanukkah

Festival Of Lights A Happy Time

The eight days of Hanukkah, the Jewish Festival of Lights, which begins Friday at sundown are days of joy and celebration for Jews of all ages around the world.

They are marked by prayers of Thanksgiving, lighting the Menorah candles, and eating latkes (potato pancakes) and jelly doughnuts fried in oil, these symbolize the miracle of the Temple lights, which burned for eight days and nights after the victories of the Maccabbees.

Its appeal to youngavers is due, among other things to the fact that gifts are bestowed on them by their parents each day of the festival and games of chance are played. It is celebrated in the home as well as the synagogue beginning on the 25th day of the Jewish month of Kisley.

change. For instance, after God told Jonah to prophesy to the people of Ninevah that they city would be destroyed in 40 days, he changed his mind.

The book of Jonah says: "And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil ways; and God repented of the evil that he said he would do to them; and he did it not." Often, say Bleier, you can offset a prophecy of evil or misfortune by modifying even the smallest detail in it. He told one man at the demonstration session I attended that he saw an accident in the future.

"One of your daughters is driving a big car back to college near Chicago," said Bleler. "I see an accident." Bleier advised the man, when the time comes that his daughter goes to college (she is only 12 years old today), to have her take a plane or a bus to college. "If it has to be car, make sure it's a small one," he said. "The important thing is to break the pattern of prophecy."

Holiday Shows Scheduled

Two traditional holiday programs will be presented in the John Young Science Center Planetarium at 810 E. Rollins St., Orlando through Jan. 2.

The Sky Show "Out of the East" takes a new look at some old questions . . . who were the Magi? Where did they come from: What was that strange object we now call "a star" that led them from their homes 2000 years ago in search of a king? The presentation will be shown beginning Dec. 4, Monday through Friday at 2:30 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday at 2 and 3:30 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults and $1.50 for those under 18 and over 55 years. The Sunday Seranade will feature recorded excerpts from Handel's "Messiah" combined with exciting visual effects that move through the birth, life, death, resurrection and triumphant return of the "Messish" each Sunday at 4 p.m. beginning Dec. 5. Admission is $2 a person. For more information call 806-

Rollings Speaks At Revival

Dr. Don Rollings, from Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky, will bring the messages at revival services at the Sanford-Eustis Free Methodist Church, Fourth Street and Laurel Avenue, Sanford, Dec. 5-11, beginning each evening at 7 o'clock.

Serving on the executive board of trustees and the development and recruitment board, Rollings is also active in evangelism.

He and his wife, Jean, travel extensively for Asbury College, but also enjoy their home here in the Mayfair section in Sanford.

The Rev. Eugene I. Cooper is church pastor.

MISSION RALLY
