Graham, Chiles, Firestone, Conner Are All Winners

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida voters presented Gov. Bob Graham with an early birthday present Tuesday, re-electing him by landslide proportions over Republican Skip Bafalis and sending him into the history books alongside former Gov. Reubin Askew.

Graham, who turns 46 next Tuesday, and Askew are the only governors in state history to succeed themselves in office. Graham's running mate, Lt. Gov. Wayne Mixson, joins him in the history books, becoming Florida's first lieutenant governor to be elected to consecutive terms.

With 95 percent of the state's vote counted, Graham had captured 1,590,247 votes, or 65 percent, to 850,311 votes, or 35 percent, for Bafalis.

A buoyant Graham told supporters at a victory celebration at the Tallahassee-Leon County Civic Center Tuesday night that the victory was more than a ratification of his first four years in office.

"We wanted to use this election as an opportunity to talk about a vision of the kind of Florida we can create together... We are not like leaves blown by the wind. We have the capacity to control our destiny," Graham told his cheering followers.

Bafalis told his own supporters in Fort Myers that his inability to raise as much money as Graham had hurt his campaign and said he wished voters throughout the state had known him as well as those on the southwest coast, where he ran strong.

"I'm not saying if we had another million and a half dollars we would have won, but it would have been a lot closer. This was a tough campaign for us," he said.

Graham was joined in the winner's circle by Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner, who was re-elected to a seventh term, and Secretary of State George Firestone, who won his second term.

The victories by Conner and Firestone mean the Florida Cabinet will remain in the total control of the Democrats. The four other incumbent Cabinet members — all Democrats — were re-elected without opposition.

Graham's victory celebration was highlighted by a congratulatory call from former President Jimmy Carter, whose upstart campaign for the presidency in 1976 provided both the green-and-white campaign colors and the style for Graham's own longshot victory four years.

The victory was also a setback for President Ronald Reagan, who first persuaded Bafalis to give up the safe congressional seat he had held for 10 years to challenge Graham and then taped a televised endorsement that ran statewide in the campaign's final days.

Bafalis, who made it to the general election by overwhelming Winter Garden attorney Vernon Davids in the Republican primary Sept. 7, tried to draw a clear distinction between his conservative record and Graham's.

Graham, he said was a "classic tax and spend liberal" and a weak leader who sat idly by while the state was overwhelmed with refugees and rising crime.

Graham countered that he was a fiscal conservative who had met the challenges raised by an unprecedented series of crises that no one could have foreseen, ranging from natural disasters to a full-scale drug war.

He could also point to programs to protect the state's environment and a crime rate that has fallen throughout 1982. The campaign was a longshot effort for Bafalis, who started with a huge deficit in name recognition against an incumbent who received consistently high marks from the voters for the job he was doing.

McCollum Wins 3-1 Vote Of Confidence

Republican U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum scored a surprise easy victory over Democrat challenger Dick Batchelor Tuesday.

McCollum had called on Vice President George Bush for help in the campaign for re-election. Most political analysts had predicted a close race between McCollum and popular State Rep. Batchelor of Orlando.

McCollum, 38, carried Seminole, Orange and Lake county precincts in the race for his 5th District seat.

In Seminole County, McCollum, who lives in Altamonte Springs, received 27,595 votes to Batchelor's 15,760. McCollum also carried Orange County with 37,313 votes to Batchelor's 30,698 votes. McCollum garnered 3,094 votes in Lake County to Batchelor's 1,529 votes.

McCollum tried to link Batchelor, who had served in the state Legislature for the past eight years, with the liberal economic policies of House Speaker Thomas O'Neill and other House Democrats. Those accusations led to several fiery confrontations in which Batchelor denied that he is a liberal.

McCollum's campaign chest of $355,000 was also a target of attack by Batchelor. McCollum turned those attacks aside, telling voters that he was not using the Congressional privilege of free mailings to send campaign literature.

McCollum campaigned on his record of supporting President Reagan's economic policies and said his victory is "a desire on the part of voters of Central Florida to see the economy turn around, and we've just begun to do that."

McCollum was unopposed in this year's primary election. He defeated Richard Kelly, cited in the FBI's Abscam probe, for the seat in 1980 and then beat Democrat David Best for the post.

Prior to running for Congress, McCollum was Seminole County Republican chairman.

McCollum is married and has three children. He has a bachelor's degree and law degree from the University of Florida.

He is the ranking Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on criminal justice and serves on the Immigration subcommittee. —MICHAEL BEHA

WAITING FOR VICTORY

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson, campaign managers for Carl Selph, take a hard look at election returns last night in Seminole County's courthouse. They were unable to smile the remainder of the night as the race remained close. Seminole County voted 7,713 for Selph, compared to 7,132 for Troy Piland in their race for the state Senate in the 34th District.

For County Commission

Sturm Wins By Landslide

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Republican incumbent Robert Sturm scored a landslide victory over Bob French in Tuesday's election, earning a second term as county commissioner.

Sturm, who has served as commission chairman for the past two years, received more than 60 percent of the vote in his race against French.

Sturm received 25,489 votes for 60.4 percent compared to 16,658 votes for 39.5 percent for French.

"Essentially, people liked what they saw and want more of the same," Sturm said Tuesday night.

More than 58 percent of the Seminole County voters turned out at the polls Tuesday. A 40-50 percent turnout was expected. A large voter turnout is usually thought to benefit Democrats.

Sturm said he received a lot of crossover votes from Democrats.

Sturm did not take French for granted, walking through many precincts in the county and conducting an extensive door-to-door campaign.

French served as a commissioner from 1976 through 1980 and was defeated by Barbara Christensen in the 1980

ROBERT STURM

Republican landslide. Redistricting in 1981 put French in the 2nd District and he ran his campaign against Sturm on the promise of controlling development in the county.

Area developers helped finance Sturm's campaign with more than $10,000 in donations, which French claimed was because Sturm had taken a pro-development stance during his four-year term on the board.

Sturm campaigned on his record as a commissioner during the past four years.

Sturm told voters his "sophisticated" approach to government was what is needed to cope with Seminole County's rapid growth.

The growth has caused the major problems — roads, transportation, drainage and sewage — Sturm said.

During Sturm's first term, commissioners approved a change in the procedure for changing land use policy from four-fifths to a simple majority.

French claimed the change in the procedure loosened restrictions on developers in Seminole County.

Sturm said the commission under his leadership "is turning the county around from the old way of doing business."

Sturm said his success in the northern part of the county played a large part in his triumph. "We carried the precincts in the Sanford area," he said.

58% Vote In Seminole

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce's prediction of the voter turnout Tuesday was off by more than 5 percentage points.

But she was happy to be wrong she said at 1 a.m. today as she and her staff were completing the precinct-by-precinct results.

"The turnout was better than I thought and I'm glad of that," she said.

The veteran of more than 31 years in the supervisor's office had predicted 40 to 53 percent of the county's 75,799 would turn out at the polls.

When final results were tabulated, the turnout was 44,204 including 1,267 absentees, for a 58.3 percent.

She had earlier predicted the 53 percent, saying that was the average over the past several non-presidential election years.

Mrs. Bruce, hedging on the prediction first, pointed to at least a 40 percent turnout because of poor showings at the polls in both the September and October primaries.

The September turnout was about 20 percent while the October turnout was 10.9 percent.

Mrs. Bruce said that everything ran smoothly at the precinct polling places.

The count of the absentee ballots was available at 7:32 p.m.

Final results of the election weren't available until after 11 p.m. despite Seminole's sophisticated punch card voting system and its computer counting. The holdup was brought about by two statewide races where write-ins had qualified with the state.

With the Seminole system, by necessity, each ballot had to be individually viewed to note whether a write-in vote existed. This slowed the county system considerably.

In the October primary, Mrs. Bruce's office was first to report in results to the state within 90 minutes.

Mrs. Bruce said at 2 a.m. today as she and her staff were closing the elections office at the courthouse annex that the major holdup in computing the results of the elections here was the necessity of counting the votes of the two state qualified write-in candidates for governor — Jim Fair and Ted McAnlis.

Another cause for delay was the fact that the state Supreme Court waited so long — little more than two weeks before the election — before ordering the removal of the proposed constitutional amendment from the ballot.

That amendment would have permitted the legislators to become lobbyists immediately after leaving office if they filed financial disclosures, setting aside the current ban on that activity until they had been out of office two years.

The Florida high court said the ballot wording on that issue was misleading.

When the court ruled the Seminole County ballots had already been printed and hundreds of absentee ballots mailed all over the nation. The best Mrs. Bruce's office could do at that point was have the county computer programmed to ignore the results of the vote on that issue.

But in the meantime, by printing the amendment, the county's voters had two ballots to vote. And the computer had to count 88,000 ballots rather than 44,000 thus causing delay.

The write-in candidates caused further delay at the precinct level as each ballot had to be individually viewed to tabulate the write-ins.

Jean Bryant Wins School Board Nod

Jean Bryant, the first woman elected to the Seminole County School Board, was again elected to the board Tuesday after an eight-year hiatus.

Mrs. Bryant was elected to the board in 1968 and served until 1974.

In September, she and Kenneth Patrick defeated four-term incumbent school board member Allan Keeth, setting the stage for Tuesday's race.

Mrs. Bryant received 20,486 votes, good for 54.9 percent, compared to Patrick's 16,800 votes in the 5th District race.

She said the key to the election success was the backing of long-term supporters.

"I had a lot of people working for me through contacts when I was on the board. There was no group, just a lot of individuals," Mrs. Bryant said. "There was lots of support from within the school administration."

The election was hotly contested with Patrick claiming Mrs. Bryant was out of touch with the needs of the schools.

Mrs. Bryant told voters she wanted to turn the district back to basics with emphasis on the traditional reading, writing and arithmetic.

She also said a decision by the board in the early 1970s to establish a satellite lunch program was a mistake.

That program, which has school meals prepared in nine kitchens and then distributed to the other schools, is being dismantled by the school board. Current plans are for all new schools to be equipped with kitchens and for existing schools to have kitchens added.

Patrick had cited vandalism in the campaign claiming more than 200 signs had been removed or destroyed.

Mrs. Bryant said she tried to stay out of a "muddling contest" with Patrick. "I kept my end clean," she said. "When he started saying things I just let it slide off my shoulders."

With the election of Mrs. Bryant to the school board women will make up a majority of the board for the first time.

But Nancy Warren and Pat Telson should not expect Mrs. Bryant to vote in a bloc with them.

"I am an independent. I vote my conscience. I'm liable to be with the women on some issues, the men with some issues and by myself on some issues."

Mrs. Bryant will take over the seat on Nov. 17.

Jennings Upends Hattaway

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

When the final bell rang in what could have been billed as a battle of the sexes, the voters gave the decision to Republican Toni Jennings in her bid to return to the Florida Senate.

Final returns showed Miss Jennings leading state Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, by 6,668 votes. The totals were 31,058 for Miss Jennings, 24,390 for Hattaway.

Miss Jennings led in the balloting throughout the election evening. She defeated Hattaway in Seminole County 5,286 to 3,922 for the District 15 seat.

They were disappointing numbers for Hattaway in his home county and at 11 p.m. he was still not ready to concede. He was hanging his hopes on the results of several heavily-populated precincts in Orange County which were slow in reporting.

But this morning, with the outcome clearly decided, a disappointed Hattaway admitted defeat but hinted at a comeback.

County To Let FP&L Power Line Cabinet Action Stand

By MICHEAL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County will not appeal the Oct. 6 decision by the state Cabinet ordering a citizens group to find a route for a Florida Power and Light Co. power line west of Geneva.

An attempt to appeal the decision was made by Commissioners Sandra Glenn and Robert Sturm but Bill Kirchhoff, Barbara Christensen and Robert G. "Bud" Feather followed the advice of county staff members and voted against the move.

The vote ended a two-hour discussion of the route for proposed twin 500,000-volt power lines through Seminole County. FP&L had proposed a route to the east of Geneva but the Cabinet voted to allow People Against Power Intrusion, a group claiming to represent the people of Geneva, to route the line to the west of Geneva.

But residents of that area united to fight the plan to locate the line west of Geneva. Additionally, a state hearing examiner refused to hold new hearings on the Cabinet plan. Several Geneva residents asked commissioners Tuesday to file an appeal before the Nov. 8 deadline. Lee Voorhees and Margaret Cammack told commissioners the appeal is instrumental in buying time for consideration of an eastern corridor through Brevard or Volusia counties.

But County Attorney Nikki Clayton advised commissioners an appeal would create a potential financial liability for them. The appeal would impose an automatic delay on the Cabinet action but could make commissioners personally responsible for costs incurred by FP&L for delays on the line, which connects Duval County and the Poinsett Substation in Orange County.

Ms. Clayton told commissioners she "could not agree with the use of an appeal merely for buying time. I cannot recommend that."

She added that projecting the cost of the appeal is impossible, although it could run into the millions of dollars if the county loses.

County Administrator Roger Neiswender agreed with Ms. Clayton.

"The appeal will buy time and in our opinion that is all it will buy," he said. "I will not mislead this board. I think you're taking a downside risk of liability from the power company and others." But Mrs. Glenn made a motion to appeal the Cabinet action despite the staff opposition. "I feel we should file the appeal," she said. "I agree it's our only chance. We're closing a door that we won't be able to open again."

Sturm agreed. "I recognize what you say," he told Neiswender, "that our chances are limited." "We don't want it in Seminole County and we must give the Cabinet time to consider the alternatives." But Feather disagreed.

"I don't think it's realistic for this board to file an appeal because of the risk of exposure of up to $1 million a day," he said.

Kirchhoff voted against the appeal even though he said the appeal could benefit members of his family.

Ms. Clayton is meeting today with FP&L officials and Geneva residents to attempt to come to a consensus on a route for the corridor through Seminole County.

FP&L attorney Carlos Alvarez has indicated the firm is willing to negotiate with the residents if they can agree on one route.

If no agreement is reached, Alvarez said FP&L will push for the Cabinet to certify its original proposal at the Nov. 18 Cabinet meeting.

But agreement appears unlikely. The groups representing east and west Geneva have grown farther apart in the past few weeks and there were indications that the gap may continue to widen.

Bob Cardenas, who represents the West Geneva residents, said there would be more support for an eastern bypass if people would stop proposing "unrealistic routes west of Geneva."

But Mrs. Cammack said it was the Cabinet, not the residents who pushed for the western route.

That prompted Alvarez to address the commission.

"I feel there is a misrepresentation here by the PAPI group and Mrs. Cammack. At that meeting, PAPI and Mrs. Cammack proposed a western route," he said. "They said they'd be able to get support for it. I'm a bit surprised at what's being said here."

All-Points Bulletin Issued For Tylenol-Cyanide Suspect

CHICAGO (UPI) — Investigators say an Illinois man wanted for questioning in the cyanide-Tylenol deaths of seven people left Kentucky and could be on his way to Florida. A Detroit teenager suffered cyanide poisoning after eating candy he purchased from a store during the weekend.

An all-points bulletin was issued for Kevin Masterson, 35, of suburban west Lombard, after investigators searched a room he rented in a boarding house, seized several unspecified items and conducted weekend interviews with acquaintances.

FBI investigators said they were doubtful Masterson is connected with the cyanide slayings, but they want to question him on a comment he made in relation to the deaths.

Illinois investigators, who linked Masterson to multiple deaths, have refused to say what connection he might have to the case.

Tests were conducted on substances taken from Masterson's room, but authorities found no traces of cyanide or other poisons.

Suspect James W. Lewis, a fugitive wanted on federal extortion charges, is still being sought by investigators. Lewis is accused of demanding $1 million from Johnson & Johnson, owners of the company that makes Tylenol, to "stop the killings."

Two Florida Amendments Approved

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida voters have approved two crime-fighting changes in the state Constitution that will allow the courts to use "technically flawed" evidence in criminal trials and to hold without bail certain defendants accused of serious crimes.

The two amendments, which had the support of Gov. Bob Graham, Attorney General Jim Smith and the state's top law enforcement officials were adopted Tuesday by margins of more than 60 percent. The most controversial, Amendment No. 2, changes the application of the exclusionary rule in Florida courts, relaxing the state's stringent provisions over search and seizure and bringing its standards into line with those used in federal courts.

"Florida no longer will have the most liberal standard in the country ... In that sense, Florida's really catching up with the rest of the country," Smith said. Civil libertarians opposed the amendment as an infringement on individual rights and a Tampa group mounted an unsuccessful legal challenge in an effort to have it removed from the ballot.

Amendment No. 3 cuts both ways, allowing the courts to hold without bail drug smugglers who might be expected to flee or other dangerous criminals who might pose a threat to the community if released on bail.

But the amendment also allows defendants accused of lesser crimes to be released without having to post bail, a move some supporters said would free up space in overcrowded jails for more serious offenders.

With 86 percent of the precincts reporting, Amendment No. 2 had 1,165,464 votes for approval, or 64 percent, and 664,890 votes, or 36 percent, against.

Senator Vogt Says He Is 'Honored' By His Victory

A triumphant state Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, who returned with 60 percent of the vote in the four-county District 17 to the state Senate, said today he felt "honored Seminole County gave me such a strong vote."

Vogt, who will be the lone Democrat on Seminole County's expanded seven-member legislative delegation, has served in the state's upper body for the past 10 years.

He carried all four counties in the district — Seminole, Brevard, Orange and Osceola — and all by the same 60-40 margin over State Rep. Jason Steele, R-Rockledge, a one term member of the Florida House of Representatives.

Unofficial totals gave Vogt 40,267 votes to 28,793 for Steele.

The unofficial totals in the four counties are as follows: Seminole-Vogt had 9,556 to 6,694 for Steele; Orange — Vogt, 2,606, to Steele's 1,810; Osceola — Vogt, 4,567, to Steele's 3,053; Brevard — Vogt, 23,539 to Steele's 15,238.

Vogt attributed his victory in Seminole to the fact he had shown the most concern for Seminole County over the past decade and listed in the county often.

Of his overall election victory, Vogt said: "We were faced with a negative campaign which we chose to ignore and instead ran on our record of hard work and positive accomplishment. I feel that the public has endorsed my record and not been fooled by the politics of negativism. "I stayed with the high road and ran a positive effort," he said.

During his 10 years representing his district, about 23 percent of which is comprised of Seminole County, Vogt served two years as delegation chairman, here, elected by his fellow legislators.

Vogt is a civil engineer. Steele is a real estate broker. Steele could not be reached for comment.

Orange County Votes For Decency

Orange County voters overwhelmingly sent a message to their county commissioners in Tuesday's balloting by pulling the straw-vote lever in favor of decency and against sex-related businesses.

While officials say the three-part referendum does not ban nude dancing, adult bookstores or advertising sexual practices there, it does pave the way for new, get-tough county laws with regards to the adult entertainment industry.

After all 152 precinct results were tallied, 65,895 voters (68 percent) said they feel nude dancing is a public nuisance; while 30,472 voters (32 percent) said it isn't.

Concerning adult bookstores, 67,216 voters (70 percent) said these establishments are public nuisances while 28,361 voters (30 percent) said no.

And, on the matter of advertising sexual-related material and practices, 70,756 voters (74 percent) said such advertisements or displays are a nuisance while 24,550 voters (26 percent) disagreed.

County commissioners put the issue on the ballot after citizen groups requested it. Commissioners said they would be reluctant to act on new sex-business-related laws without a strong mandate from the residents.

Meanwhile, at least one Orlando topless night club owner, Bruce Eggett, said he would convert his establishment into a homosexual club and encourage other bar owners to follow if lawmakers and police tried to pressure him into changing or closing down his business.

Tuesday's referendum is not a new attempt by local and political leaders to clean up and restrict sex-oriented businesses in Orange County, especially along South Orange Blossom Trail, which some residents refer to as Orlando's red-light district. The street is lined with topless bars and adult bookstores and is a haven for prostitutes, according to police. Officials say that other business owners along Orange Blossom Trail complain that the adult-entertainment bars and bookstores scare their potential customers away.

In 1977, the county made its first attempt to regulate nude dancing in bars and the two sides have been battling since.

The county commissioners passed an ordinance banning nude dancing in clubs which sold alcoholic beverages and club owners argued that the state, not the county, regulates such action.

The county then persuaded the state Legislature to pass a bill that allows counties to regulate what goes on in establishments which sell alcoholic beverages, if the community mandates such action through a referendum. Orange County voters supported such a referendum by a vote of 3 to 1, and county officials banned nude dancing in bars that sold alcoholic beverages. — TENIYARBOROUGH

Langley And Drage Big Legislative Winners

State Sen. Richard Langley, R-Clermont, was "pleased and relieved" that he had won re-election to his District 11 seat in the Florida Senate today, but was concerned for the Republican Party in Florida.

"Statewide the Republican Party did not do well at all," Langley said. "We did not gain a single seat in the Florida Senate."

"But Seminole County held the course," he said.

Meanwhile, in another legislative race involving Seminole, State Rep. Tom Drage, R-Orlando, serving his first term in the Florida House, overwhelmed Democrat Glenn Turner of Goldenrod by a margin of more than 75 percent for a stunning victory.

His district 36 seat includes seven precincts in southeast Seminole.

Unofficial results gave Drage 15,357 to 4,191 for Turner. The vote in Seminole was 3,087 for Drage and 1,099 for Turner and in Orange 12,270 for Drage and 3,092 for Turner.

Langley, whose newly apportioned district includes five Central Florida counties — Seminole, Lake, Marion, Sumter and Volusia — took every one. Unofficial returns district-wide showed: Langley 39,072 to 24,783 for Florence Hunter, a 69-year old grandmother from Tavares.

Langley said he was "tickled pink" with the 62 percent of the vote in the district that he received.

He noted the election results in Lake County were most surprising. He said Lake County which hasn't voted for a Democrat for governor since Hayden Burns in 1964 added to Gov. Bob Graham's stunning victory throughout the state.

"When I saw Lawton Chiles carried Lake County" in his move for a third six-year term in the U.S. Senate, "I got nervous," Langley said.

Langley said while he attended many meetings in Seminole County, which is new to his district, and mailed out literature to his new constituents here, he spent only $27,000 on his campaign, "probably a record low."

"I had $47,000 in contributions that I could have used for one-man publicity, but I don't like to spend money, not my own and not the people's," he said.

A breakdown of the vote in the Langley-Hunter contest is as follows: Seminole — Langley had 11,111 to Mrs. Hunter's 5,426; Lake — Langley, 18,121 to Mrs. Hunter's 11,100; Marion — Langley, 5,740 to Hunter's 4,307; Sumter — Langley, 2,340 to Mrs. Hunter's 2,030; and Volusia — Langley, 2,660 to Mrs. Hunter's 1,920. — DONNA ESTES

Mayor Sworn In—And Then Elected

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

In an unusual twist, John Torcaso was sworn in as mayor of Winter Springs Tuesday morning and elected Tuesday night. As deputy mayor, Torcaso took the oath of office replacing former Mayor Troy Piland, who resigned to run for the Florida House from District 34.

One thing is certain. The new mayor will have the women to deal with. When the new commissioners take office on Dec. 6, they will hold the majority on the commission. Current Commissioner Maureen Boyd will be joined by Inez Linville and Leeanne Grove.

Piland had been mayor since February 1974 and had little opposition during his reign.

Torcaso, 68, of Hacienda Village, received 1,538 votes or 51.7 percent of the votes to defeat Martin Trencher, 35, of the Highlands, who received 1,433 votes or 48.2 percent of the votes. A retired Marine corps Sergeant, Torcaso had been city commissioner for four years and deputy mayor for two years. Trencher, general manager of Stars Hall of Fame, an Orlando tourist attraction, vacated his city commission seat after one two-year term to run for the $2,400-a-year mayor's job. Trencher spent about $2,000 in pursuit of the office — more than any of the other nine candidates running in this year's election.

The winner in the Commission Seat 1 race was incumbent Jim Hartman with 2,023 votes (80.6 percent) to George Kaplan's 882 votes. Hartman, 28, of 608 Sailfish Road, defeated retired builder Kaplan, who served as chairman of the city planning and zoning board, to win a second term.

Real Estate Agent Inez Linville of 800 Dyon Drive won the three-candidate race for Commission Seat 3 with 36.3 percent of the vote. Her opponents, Attorney Harry G. Reid, 32, of 285 Hayes Road, and Ellen Weiss, 41, of 1203 Winter Springs Boulevard, received 979 and 893 votes, respectively to Mrs. Linville's 1,071 votes. There will be no run-off election.

Leeanne Grove, 34, of 626 Alton Road, received 1,484 votes to garner 52.6 percent of the votes cast. She is assistant park manager of Hacienda Village. Meanwhile her opponent Gary Hunt, 36, a land surveyor, of 153 Mosswood Circle, received 1,334 votes in his third try for the office.

The election brought out 3,083 of the city's 4,987 registered voters for a turnout of 62.1 percent.

Murder Probe Turned Over To Prosecutors

By TENIYARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County sheriff's investigators say they have enough evidence to arrest a suspect in connection with the brutal beating death of a Longwood girl and have turned their case file over to state prosecutors asking that charges be filed.

"The ball is in their court," said sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki concerning the September murder of Katherine Suzanne Greco, 14, of 1885 Glenethel Court.

"Our investigator, George Haygood, turned our evidence — the entire case file — over to Prosecutor Ralph Erickson and now it is up to that office to determine if they'll seek prosecution against our suspect."

Prosecutors said they have received the sheriff's department case on Miss Greco's death and that they will not take any action on the case until it can be discussed with State Attorney Douglas Cheshire. Cheshire is currently involved in a murder trial in Brevard and was not available for comment.

"Doug Cheshire is tied up in trial in Brevard right now but as soon as we can, we will be getting with him on this case and determining what action to take," said W. J. Patterson executive director of the Sanford office.

Deputies discovered the bleeding child at about 7 p.m. Sept. 7 lying on the kitchen floor of her home after her brother, Richard David, 18, notified their father, Richard J., 33, at work that Katherine had been attacked.

Greco called deputies asking them to check on his daughter's well-being while also calling a neighbor, Michael Young and asking him to go to the home, deputies said.

When deputies arrived at the scene, they found the teenage boy lying on the front porch saying, "My sister, my sister," deputies said.

Deputies then entered the home and were met by Young who led them to the girl.

Miss Greco died at Orlando Regional Hospital Sept. 9 after never regaining consciousness. Doctors said she died as a result of about 14 or 15 blows to the head with a metal claw hammer, which was found by deputies lying on the floor next to her bleeding body.

Last week, Erickson subpoenaed the dead girl's father in order to discuss details of the case in the presence of a court reporter, Patterson said. Patterson added that he could not disclose the nature of the conversation.

Prior to Patterson's statements, Erickson had repeatedly denied that he was involved in any way with the Greco case, that he had not subpoenaed Greco and only talked with him after Greco "stopped in to say hi and discuss the case and ask me if I knew anything new that's happening in it." Erickson declined to comment on the case.

Spolaki said that Greco is not a suspect in the girl's brutal slaying. He also said Haygood was not allowed to be present at the interview between Greco and Erickson, calling that proceeding "a little peculiar."

However, Patterson said his office would "make sure" the sheriff's department was given the content of the conversation between Greco and Erickson immediately. However, according to Spolaki, "no one from this office has received that information yet and now we have turned the whole thing over to them."

"I have been told that I will get a copy of the transcript of the conversation between Greco and Erickson," Sheriff John Polk said. "I was out of town when all of this was going on but I assure you, I will get a copy. Also, there is no reason why my investigator should have been excluded from that meeting. He should have been there."

Outlook Better For Kids With Head Injuries

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital report, contrary to what textbooks say, chances are good for children with severe head injuries to emerge from comas in good shape if given quick and aggressive care.

"It's very important for these children to be cared for in an intensive care center which doesn't give up," said Dr. John Freeman, director of pediatric neurology at the hospital's children's center.

Freeman reported the results of the first study of its kind at a seminar Tuesday marking the opening of a $42 million psychiatry and neurosciences center at the sprawling Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions. The findings will be published soon in a medical journal.

Hopkins is Maryland's pediatric shock-trauma center. State police helicopters Maryland rush severely injured children to the hospital's intensive care units. Freeman said it is the only statewide pediatric trauma center in the nation.

He and associates examined a total of 46 children with head trauma over a four-year period. Twelve died soon after being admitted and of those, Freeman said, four had no signs of life when they arrived and five had major injuries to other organs as well as the head.

The 34 who survived severe head injuries remained in coma an average of 15.5 days.

He said 21 children, 62 percent of the survivors, recovered with no brain damage. Seven had mild behavioral or learning problems after recovery and three now have moderate handicaps but with normal intelligence.

Freeman said only three children suffered severe brain damage.

He said current textbooks say, as a rule children who remain in a coma for a week or two can be expected to have severe handicaps if they survive.

NASA To Honor Sanford Man

James J. Washington, son of Newt and Bessie Washington of Sanford and a 1951 graduate of Crooms Academy, is among 50 employees at Kennedy Space Center who are being honored for their roles in preparing the Space Shuttle for launch on its first operational mission.

Washington, who was born in Sanford, attended Syracuse University, Syracuse in New York.

His high standards of performance and dedication to the Space Shuttle program led to his selection as one of 50 KSC employees being honored for their special contributions to the fifth flight of the Space Shuttle, which is scheduled for launch on Thursday, Nov. 11.

The 50 KSC civil service and contractor employees who have been selected are part of an elite contingent of 210 NASA and contractor employees from throughout the space agency being honored for their contributions to the Space Shuttle program.

Washington, whose work at KSC involves custodial work on a roving crew in the Industrial Area, is married to Bertha Dennis Washington. They have three children and make their home in Sanford.

The launch honorees will be given special VIP tours of KSC and have been invited to attend a special reception in their honor two days prior to launch. Honoring them will be several astronauts and senior agency officials from NASA Headquarters in Washington.

On launch day, the honorees will be bused to a special viewing area to watch the Space Shuttle liftoff from Pad A at KSC's Launch Complex 39.

Four orbital flight tests of the Space Shuttle were launched from the Kennedy Space Center between April 1981 and July 1982. The fifth Shuttle flight will mark the first operational mission for the nation's new Space Transportation System.

Two commercial satellites will be carried aboard Columbia on the fifth flight. They will be deployed from the orbiter's cargo bay and will then be boosted into higher orbits by orbital transfer vehicles. In addition to its first cargo of commercial spacecraft, the Columbia will be carrying three student experiments, a "getaway special" research canister sponsored by West Germany and flight development instrumentation to continue evaluation of Columbia's performance.

The communications satellites being carried into space on the Shuttle's fifth mission are the first in a wide variety of useful scientific, commercial, and military payloads it will haul into orbit in the 1980's.

To Care For Tots

'SuperSitters' Train Youths

ATLANTA (UPI) — It's easier to find a good baby sitter in Atlanta these days thanks to "SuperSitters," a program that teaches teenagers the precautions and rules of caring for young children.

There are an estimated 1,200 SuperSitters around Atlanta now who have been trained in a program established by volunteers at the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

For the past 18 months, the hospital has been sponsored a free two-hour clinic for baby sitters taught by medical personnel, a policeman, a fireman and a recreation therapist.

The youngsters attending the clinics range in age from 12 to 15 and the class size ranges from 150 to 200 students.

The results of the clinic, according to hospital marketing director Janice E. Moore, has been the creation of a roster of baby sitters trained to handle most emergencies that might arise while they are looking after children.

The names of these SuperSitters are put on a register at the hospital. Interested parents can call Ms. Moore's office at the hospital and the staff will put a SuperSitter in touch with the parent.

"The idea is not new," Ms. Moore said. "It is being done at several hospitals in the Northeast. We held our first clinic in May of 1981.

"We have been well pleased with the response. Some people have copied our ideas. There are even some places that are now training baby sitters on a commercial basis.

"Every time we do one of these clinics, we get hundreds of phone calls asking to be put on the list."

Helping Ms. Moore run the clinics are Ms. Jackie Bennett, assistant director of nursing, Mrs. Betty Schaefer, Ms. Moore's executive secretary, Linda Julian, and Marsha Harris, both registered nurses. All donate their time, along with Fulton County police officer N.B. Broward and Capt. Benny Shippey of the county fire department.

Safety — "they are very worried about what could happen" — is the top concern of the teenagers attending the clinics, according to Ms. Bennett.

The potential SuperSitters, who receive a certificate if they pass a written exam, are given extensive safety instruction and taught how to get emergency help quickly.

The kitchen is the most dangerous place in the home, they are told, because of hot stoves and toxic substances like bleaches and detergents. Children should be kept away from knives, scissors, pins and other sharp objects; small things like beads, buttons and nuts; matches, cigarettes; dishes, glassware; strange animals; medicines and hot liquids.

The sitter should stay awake, keep the TV turned low, check on the children regularly, keep doors locked and never open them to strangers, and in case of a prowler, call police.

Included in a batch of instructional material given each SuperSitter is a formula for making a non-toxic play dough.

These are just a few of the hundreds of tips covered by the clinic, says Ms. Bennett. Other points impressed on the teenagers include what to do in case of fire, injury, poisoning, and illness.

Acid Rain Cautions

Revising the Clean Air Act was high on the agenda of the 97th Congress when it opened in 1981, but the House and Senate remain so far apart on their approaches that it is doubtful they will get together before the end of the year. Not the least of the unresolved controversies is what to do about acid rain.

Acid rain is a phenomenon barely recognized when the Clean Air Act was passed in 1970. There is a rising level of acidity in rainfall in the northeastern United States and Canada, with disastrous effects on fish and wildlife, forests and crops. The acidic rain is formed by oxides of sulfur and nitrogen in the atmosphere.

Canada is pressing the United States to adopt more stringent controls on the burning of sulfurous coal in power plants in the Ohio River Valley and elsewhere in the Midwest. The theory is that most of Canada's acid rain originates on this side of the border. The Canadian complaint is justified — if the theory is correct.

That is where scientists are parting company, with Congress caught in the middle. It is known that a certain amount of acidity builds up in the atmosphere from natural causes. How much is being added by fuel-burning is not clear, nor is it fully understood how industrial emissions in one geographic area affect conditions in another.

The U.S. Energy Department has concluded that more research is in order before assuming that power plants and other industries burning coal must be placed under any new requirements for "scrubbing" their smokestack emissions. That seems prudent, until there is something more than circumstantial evidence to go on.

One reason the Clean Air Act is being opened for revision is that it laid down goals and regulatory programs in 1970 on the basis of an imperfect understanding of the problems it was supposed to treat. A decade of experience has shown that air pollution is not as easy to combat as the authors of the act assumed. The same mistake should not be made in trying to legislate a cure for acid rain.

It is estimated that an all-out effort to clean up sulfur emissions from coal-burning power plants would cost $300 billion during the next 30 years — an investment returning nothing in improved productivity. We should not embark on such a program unless we are sure we understand the problem it is supposed to solve. And if the cost of burning coal is going to be that high, some utilities may want to take a fresh look at nuclear power.

Cash Or Interest

The U.S. government is known as poor pay. Those who do business with the government suffer long waits for their money after goods are delivered or contracts completed.

Now times are changing. Thanks to the Prompt Payment Act, which became the law of the land Oct. 1, small businesses will be getting relief from the slow-speed deals of the U.S. government. The act requires that government agencies pay their bills within 45 days or face interest penalties of 15.5 percent on overdue accounts.

The legislation also states that the U.S. agencies involved cannot seek additional funds from Congress to pay these interest charges. They must pay them from operating budgets. This is to keep the measure from becoming an added burden to the taxpayer.

"The law is a long overdue reform needed particularly by small businesses, which supply the government with about 90 percent of its conventional purchases," says Christine Russell, a legislative analyst for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Proof that the government has been a chronic slow payer and uses bureaucratic delays to frustrate businessmen, has been demonstrated by the General Accounting Office. The GAO conducted a survey in its own operations and found 40 percent of its bills were paid late.

Now federal agencies must report their interest penalty payments to the Office of Management and Budget, charged with straightening matters out. It's about time. Those who are late on payments to the government have lived by these sort of rules for years.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Ya know, I think I'm going to miss these Sunday walks when the football strike is settled."

If you haven't seen a girl's volleyball game this year, time is running out. You'll be surprised at the athletic prowess exhibited by these young ladies and the ferocity with which they hit the ball.

The District 4A-9 Tournament gets underway at Lyman High School today at 4. The host Greyhounds (18-1) play Mainland in the first game. Lake Howell plays DeLand at 5:15 p.m. Lake Howell battles Apopka at 6:30 p.m. and coach Beth Corso's Seminoles play Spruce Creek at 7:45 p.m.

Lyman's coach — Karren Newman — graduated from Seminole. She's done an excellent job in her two years with the 'Hounds. The only Lyman loss of the year was to 3A power Oviedo.

Seminole lost all six of its starters from last year's district, regional and Five Star Conference championship team, but Corso and her girls have done a good job this year without much experience.

Lake Howell's girls and Mainland's boys captured the Five Star Conference Swim championships this past weekend at Lyman.

Both schools are considered the favorites for the District 4A-9 titles which will take place Nov. 13 at Lyman.

Seminole's Chuck Burgess won the 100 backstroke and should do well in that event again.

As football nears conclusion, basketball on the prep level and the college level is nearing the first tip off.

The Lady Sunshine Basketball Classic featuring teams from the University of Florida, the University of North Carolina, Florida State and Tennessee-Chattanooga.

The Lady Gators meet North Carolina at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 26 while the Seminoles take on U-T Chattanooga in the second game at 8 p.m. at Lake Mary High School.

The two losers and the two winners play at the same time on Saturday.

Add attractions include a high school jamboree on Friday and a clinic by former Boston Celtic great Sam Jones on Saturday. Tickets are $3 for adults and $2 for students per night.

Labor Union Local 517 has scheduled a rematch in Touch-Guy Team Boxing with police officers from Seminole, Orange, Osceola sheriff's departments along with members of the Florida Highway Patrol and the Orlando Police Department.

The last time the two squads met, the Union boys won seven of 10 fights at the Eddie Graham Sports Complex in Orlando. The exhibition drew over 3,000 fans and broke the complex attendance record.

Tickets are $12 for ringside and $6 for general admission. For advance ducats call 282-0291.

Lake Brantley High School's Booster Club will hold a SUPER-THON Wednesday, Nov. 10 for improvements to the Patriots gymnasium.

During a one-hour time limit, each participant will see how many times he/she can walk, run or jog around a 440-yard track.

During the next few weeks, students will sell sponsorships for pledges. Students will then collect on the pledges, according to how many laps were completed.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

For An End To Stagnation

The U.S. public has had an intensive course in economics over the past year. One hears discussions of interest rates and other economic factors at filling stations and barber shops.

Interest rates remain the priority concern. Small businessmen know that their survival will depend on the interest rate at the bank. A store owner will buy only 10 sweaters for the winter sales season, instead of 15, if interest rates are prohibitive. Curtailed sales in the small stores have an impact on manufacturers and affect employment.

The heart of the free enterprise system is a process whereby one invests today in order to get more money back tomorrow. Free enterprise cannot work in an environment of high interest rates. They produce stagnation at the levels of both manufacturing and retail sales.

In a stagnant economy, those who have money don't invest in new plant, equipment or retail facilities. Cautious investors simply put their money in the money market funds and get a better return than they could from investing in industrial and business facilities.

How to lower short term interest rates is a subject of intense debate among professional economists. In recent weeks, the rates have declined, and that is a happy development. They need to decline more in order for the economy to revive. Certainly, there is no more important task for the Federal Reserve than to prevent economic stagnation. If the economy is stagnant over a long period, it will be very hard to find the way out. Confidence in recovery will disappear.

The confidence factor is intangible but real, nonetheless. A half century ago, Franklin Roosevelt said "All we have to fear is fear itself." The American economy was strong in many respects at the end of the 1920s. Nevertheless, fear came to grip the nation, and it plunged it into a depression that lasted until World War II.

The United States is in a far stronger position today than it was in the 1920s. Today, we have behind us a generation of productive growth. Private groups, states, and the federal government have made enormous investments in education. The level of technological expertise is very high. True, we have special problems such as the high level of debt, national, state, local, corporate and personal. Nevertheless, the U.S. is better off than any other major country.

What we need is an overall leadership with the vision to harness and develop the colossal human and natural resources of the American republic. Unfortunately, we are still pulling in several different ways. This lack of vision, unity and leadership contributes to the stagnation. Many political elements have no goal save that of returning to the failed spending and welfare policies of a decade ago. To use a rather dreadful, corny phrase from the 1960s, we need to get our act together.

Prober Took Credit Where None Due

WASHINGTON — The frontline troops in President Reagan's war on waste and fraud in the federal government are the investigators who work for the various inspectors general.

They are dedicated, savvy professionals who can follow a paper trail through the bureaucratic jungle and nab corrupt or extravagant officials in their swivel chairs. But sometimes these investigative infantrymen are painfully embarrassed by self-serving superiors sitting comfortably on their rear echelons.

Take the case of Richard Campbell, recently retired, who worked for the inspector general at the Environmental Protection Agency. In a progress report to Congress for the period April-September 1981, Campbell claimed credit for the indictment and conviction of two EPA employees and one ex-

JEFFREY HART

New Hampshire Autumn

The fall has come to northern New England with a riot of color and a flood of tourists here to see the leaves turn red and gold against the tall green backdrop of the pines.

Next will be the hunting season, when a different crowd of "foreigners," as the locals call them, make the woods sound like a province of El Salvador.

By the time the hunters leave, dead or alive, we will be into the Thanksgiving-Christmas season and getting out the skis.

As a Dartmouth professor, I spend a substantial part of my time in this part of the world, though writing articles, columns and books takes me regularly to New York and Washington, and this year the promotion effort for my new book on the Fifties has taken me all over the country.

And yet it is always good to return here, a good part of the world, and specially during the fall.

Though the poets have most often used autumn to suggest age and approaching death — as Keats did for instance in the "Ode to Autumn," one of his greatest poems — on the college campus the autumn is instead the time of rebirth.

The entering freshmen with their new clothes and scrubbed faces are full of expectation and faith, a faith as yet untrampled by a couple of C-minuses or a bout of mono or a series of boring lectures.

And even the upperclassmen and women return with a sense of sharp expectancy: If things were not so good last year, if there were disappointments, well, this is a new year and a chance to be better.

In all of this, the college calendar, in a sense runs counter to the natural calendar, for on the campus it is spring that is a time of ending and farewells, and the dispersal of the student body across the continent and even the world.

Another thing: Vermont and New Hampshire are small states, relatively speaking, and they don't pack much of a wallop in the Electoral College, but from a political point of view they are especially interesting.

The two states have pursued very divergent economic and political paths. They thus are virtual laboratory cases in comparative government.

Vermont has a very high state personal income tax, more than a quarter of what you pay the federal IRS. Its largest city, Burlington, recently elected a socialist mayor. Ecology is a big concern, and the rural counter-culture is populous. Its two U.S. senators, Patrick Leahy (Dem.) and Robert Stafford (Rep.), are very liberal. The state government is heavily bureaucratic.

New Hampshire, in stark contrast, has no state income tax. No one, either Democrat or Republican, can possibly be elected governor without "taking the pledge" against an income tax. Because of this, New Hampshire has attracted a good deal of industry, mostly in the southern portion of the state. Studies have shown that the lower state expenditure in N.H. doesn't make much of a difference in, say, education: test scores are about the same as in high-tax Vermont.

I don't suppose I need to say that my own house, a converted old school house in the town of Lyme, is in New Hampshire.

New Hampshire was to Robert Frost what Yoknapatawpha County was to William Faulkner and northern Michigan to Ernest Hemingway — not just a physical location but a region of the mind.

And now that the leaves are beginning to fall and there is frost (no pun intended) in the ground, it is to the great New Hampshire poet that one's thoughts turn naturally. Robert Frost knew the state in all of its seasons and moods, but we inevitably associate him with winter. Winter is coming, and it is a powerful experience here, with the thermometer dropping at night to 30 below. Everyone knows the famous "Stopping By Woods," but Frost wrote a great many winter poems of different kinds. As the temperature drops this evening, I find myself thinking of his "Storm Fear."

"When the wind works against us in the dark,
And pelts with snow
The lower chamber window on the east..."

It's a scandal that Frost never received the Nobel Prize. But, then, perhaps the Scandinavians didn't want to hear any more about winter.

BALTIMORE (UPI) — In an effort to find ways to short-circuit deviant behavior, sex researchers are launching a study searching for biological clues to the causes of strong, abnormal sexual compulsions in men.

Dr. Fred S. Berlin, co-director of the Biosexual Psychohormonal Clinic at the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions, said evidence suggests there may be physiological reasons for the actions of sex offenders.

"It appears there may be a connection between certain biological pathologies and development of unconventional sexual interests," Berlin said at a recent neurosciences seminar.

By abnormal behavior, the researchers mean such things as a sexual interest in children, exhibitionism and forced sex acts.

Berlin and Dr. John Money plan to take a detailed look at sex hormone levels and brain metabolism, structures and electrical activity of sex offenders in treatment at the clinic.

"We have found a surprising number of abnormalities in sex offenders along with one or more of these biological parameters, and this raises a lot of questions about the nature of unconventional sexual compulsions," Berlin said.

Berlin, who is a psychiatrist, said there may be specific areas of the brain involved in sexual arousal, and these areas may differ for sex offenders.

One key examination planned for the study will be a brain scan. Radioactive glucose will be injected in the test subject, and since glucose is the major energy source of the brain, more will go to the most active parts of the brain. The scanner will be able to detect those glucose concentrations.

"It will provide the opportunity to study the brains of people with conventional and unconventional sexual preferences, in states of arousal and non-arousal," Berlin said.

"We will be able to observe brain metabolism under controlled conditions, to see what differences exist, both between the sexes, and between men with conventional and unconventional sexual preferences."

Berlin said the plan is to study about 25 men with unconventional sexual interests a year for five years, comparing them to men with normal sex preferences.

He said linking biological differences to unconventional behavior could lead the way to a new theory of sexual desire, drive and behavior. This, he said, could do much to improve the treatment of sex offenders.

"Men with abnormal sexual compulsions have a problem which they cannot control by themselves," Berlin said. "They have preoccupations and abnormal impulses which lead them to act in socially unacceptable ways, even when it is against their own moral code."

He said one important advance in helping sex offenders was the development of a drug that lowers levels of testosterone, the male hormone.

"With the decrease in this hormone, the intensity of patients' sex drive diminishes enough for them to control their compulsion."

Researchers already know that a chromosomal abnormality can cause confusion about sexual identity and affect sexual behavior, Berlin said.

In obvious disgust, Conn concluded: "Hell. Don't ask me. I work for him too."

And so it was that the EPA's I.G. office took credit for someone else's "collar" so that a bureaucrat could look good to Congress.

When Conn's note was read back to him, he said, "Obviously, I have no comment." Campbell said that since his office gave an "assist" on the arrest, it was proper to take credit. An EPA source viewed it differently, saying, "It was a case of one-man egomania. That's clearly what it was."

Footnote: This is not the first time that the EPA's inspector general has stirred controversy. The current inspector general, Matt Novick, has been accused of whitewashing several investigations, and Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., has formally called for his resignation. Novick, incidentally, was not at EPA when the arrest records were fudged.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Turkey Point Accident Could Cause 29,000 Deaths

MIAMI (UPI) — A one-in-a-billion "worst case" accident envisioned for the Turkey Point nuclear power plant could cause 29,000 deaths, 45,000 injuries and more than $43 billion in property damage in south Florida, a new study has concluded.

The study by the government-owned Sandia National Laboratory, released earlier this week, details what might happen if the precise combination of mechanical failures at the plant and weather conditions favoring the spread of radioactivity occurred. It is part of a computerized effort to examine the consequences of accidents at all 91 U.S. reactor locations.

That study, the most detailed ever done on the subject, has nuclear opponents up in arms.

Pulitzer Trial Continues

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — The judge hearing the sensational sex-and-drug divorce trial of Peter and Roxanne Pulitzer assured both parties that he would cut neither of the high-living socialites out of the money they needed to continue their extravagant lifestyles.

Judge Carl Harper said Tuesday that nobody was "going to pass from prosperity to the poorhouse or vice versa" as a result of the divorce settlement.

Pulitzer, 52, and his 31-year-old wife had previously exchanged charges of drug abuse, drug smuggling, bizarre sex, infidelity, lesbianism and occultism in an effort to prove the other unfit to raise their twin 5-year-old sons Mack and Zack.

Sheik In More Trouble

MIAMI (UPI) — Sheik Mohamed al-Fassi must tell his estranged wife the location of their four children by this afternoon or possibly face contempt of court charges, a court official said.

Special master Mallory Horton ordered al-Fassi, 27, Tuesday to tell his estranged wife Sheka Dena al-Fassi where the four are by 5 p.m. He made the ruling during an emergency hearing requested by the woman's attorneys, who fear the wealthy Saudi Arabian has fled the country with the toddlers.

Sheka Dena has been unable to find out the location of her four children, aged 3 to 6, during the past two days, her attorney Melvyn Frunkes said.

10 Outlaws Arrested

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — FBI agents in Tampa and Jacksonville are searching for three Outlaws Motorcycle gang who are charged with drug smuggling, prostitution and murder.

A series of raids in Jacksonville, Fort Walton Beach, Daytona Beach, and Buffalo, N.Y., Tuesday resulted in the arrest of 10 members of the gang.

About 60 Jacksonville policemen and 40 FBI agents raided seven homes in Jacksonville early Tuesday and arrested the occupants without violence, police said.

FBI agents said police in Buffalo used tear-gas canisters to force Outlaws members from their clubhouse. Buffalo SWAT team members assisted the agents in raiding the all-white motorcycle gang's headquarters in the city's predominately black east side.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Warring Iran, Iraq Trade Conflicting Field Reports

United Press International

Iranian troops captured enough territory to bring a key Iraqi highway and dozens of oil wells within artillery range in Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's second fall offensive in the 28-month-old Persian Gulf war, Tehran Radio said.

But Iraq said its troops halted the Iranian advance in the central sector of the war front, southwest of the Iranian town of Dezful, and launched a counter-offensive while its planes raided Iranian positions unscathed.

Khomeini's Islamic regime said the new offensive, which began Monday, was designed only to win back territory occupied by Iraq in the first weeks of the war. But Iraq accused Iran of "desperate attempts" to invade its territory.

Pope Blasts Pill, Abortion

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Pope John Paul II delivered one of his bluntest attacks against the pill, abortion and divorce to a crowd of 750,000 people in traditionally Roman Catholic but increasingly permissive Spain.

The pope, on his fourth day of a 10-day visit to Spain today, also in effect told the incoming Socialist government it has a duty to aid religious education in state schools as well as continue to support church-run schools.

Feathers Flying

MARNE, Iowa (UPI) — Go-go dancers at the Triple (K) Saloon are so enthusiastic about their work their costumes can't keep up the pace.

The dancers, who performed by slowly removing their clothing down to strategically placed feathers and G-strings, perspired so heavily the cellophane tape holding their plumage gave way — causing the dancers to molt.

"We just got really sweaty and everything, and they kept falling off," said dancer Angela Cranston, 19. "We sweat real bad when we dance."

The partially exposed dancers attracted the attention of an undercover police officer who went to the bar after three residents complained about the dancing.

Larry Larson, owner of the bar, said he had told the dancers "to wear pasties, but apparently they didn't." Iowa law prohibits nude dancing where beer and liquor are served.

Cass County sheriff's deputies and Iowa State Patrol troopers raided the saloon a short time later, arresting Larson and the three dancers.

Rattlesnake Island: Where You Can Really Get Away From It All

RATTLESNAKE ISLAND (UPI) — Rattlesnake Island is one of the few spots along Florida's east coast without houses, motels, condominiums, stores or anything to attract tourists.

Local residents want to keep it that way.

The 77-acre island, just below Matanzas Inlet 15 miles south of St. Augustine, is the last known home of the rare Florida mink and one of the few remaining habitats of an endangered species of clam called the geoduck. A few rattlesnakes also slither through the scrubby undergrowth — but not as many as years ago, when the island was named.

Local folks have used the privately owned strip of grassy sand dunes as a camping and fishing ground for more than 20 years.

The island's owners, weary of paying property taxes and insurance premiums on undeveloped land, proposed building a condominium complex on the property last year. The resort was to include 300 townhouses, a 160-seat restaurant, swimming pools, tennis courts and other trimmings to lure vacationers.

After local campers, fishermen and conservation groups loudly opposed the idea, the owners agreed to scrap the plans — if the state takes the acreage off their hands.

For $1.4 million, the state can purchase Rattlesnake Island plus the nearby 40-acre Hernandez Island.

St. Augustine artist Stormy Sandquist petitioned the Department of Natural Resources to buy the islands through the Conservation and Recreation Lands Program.

The department's Division of Land Acquisition has about $40 million for buying property this year, officials said.

"Here we have one of the last places along the East Coast that isn't spoiled," Ms. Sandquist said. "It has scenic value, it has educational value, it has ecological value."

"It's the best fishing hole around," she said. "Places where the public can go to camp and fish and picnic are getting more and more scarce. Everywhere you go anymore, you see high-rise condominiums and hotels. Here's one place where that doesn't have to happen."

William Strickland of Newberry, Fla., who camps with his family and friends regularly on Rattlesnake Island, agreed.

"I've always liked coming here because there's not much else around," he said, sipping coffee beside a campfire on the island's shore. "I couldn't imagine a bunch of condos and tourist traps here. There's too many of those things now."

Environmental groups and other civic organizations in the St. Augustine area have organized "Friends of St. Johns County" to lobby for Rattlesnake Island's purchase by the state.

Postcards designed by Ms. Sandquist, with a grinning cartoon rattlesnake sporting a Spanish explorer's helmet, are flooding the offices of the state Natural Resources agency.

For Cocaine Trafficking

Businessman Gets 15 Years

A Brevard County circuit judge has sentenced former Merritt Island businessman Robert Taccia to 15 years in prison for trafficking in cocaine.

Judge William Woodson Monday also ordered Taccia to pay a $250,000 fine.

The sentence was the minimum required by law in cases dealing with 400 grams or more of cocaine, officials said.

Woodson ruled Taccia did not qualify for a reduced sentence despite claims he cooperated in solving several criminal cases. Mark Horwitz, Taccia's attorney, said he would appeal the judge's decision.

Taccia, 42, has been in custody since he was arrested in October 1980 and charged with selling 15 ounces of cocaine to undercover agents. During the trial, Horwitz argued the arrest resulted from a plot against Taccia by Orange-Osceola State Attorney Robert Egan.

Horwitz said Egan wanted "to get Taccia" for publicly accusing the chief prosecutor of accepting a bribe from him. Egan denied the charge.

Taccia is serving a 12-year sentence for a 1978 Orange County cocaine conviction. He also has been convicted of fraud in New York and arson in Texas.

Six Persons Arrested For DUI

The following people were arrested in Seminole County on the charge of driving under the influence (DUI) of alcoholic beverages:

— Maribeth Fritsch Doyle, 31, of 228 Buttonwood Ave. in Winter Springs, arrested 2:30 a.m., Saturday, charged with DUI. Ms. Doyle was arrested by deputies who responded to a minor traffic accident at the Fern Park Station, along Fernwood Boulevard in Fern Park. Bond was set at $500.

— John G. Luther, 32, of Orlando, arrested 10:02 p.m. Friday, charged with DUI and driving with a suspended driver's license. Luther was arrested by Lake Mary police along Lake Mary Boulevard near Sun Drive. Bond was set at $500.

— Charles Kenneth Welborn, 28, of 1141 Reams St., Longwood, arrested 12:52 a.m. Saturday, charged with DUI, refusal to take a breathalyzer test and sign citations, driving with a suspended driver's license, resisting arrest with violence and operating a vehicle with an expired tag. Welborn was arrested by Longwood police and bond was set at $5,000.

— Dewitt Jackson, 63, of Osteen, arrested 7:10 p.m. Saturday, charged with DUI and failure to maintain a single lane. Jackson was arrested by Sanford police along 25th Street near U.S. Highway 17-92.

— Lester Marlin Hunley, 51, of Orlando, arrested at 5:44 p.m. Saturday, charged with DUI and driving with a suspended driver's license. Hunley was arrested by deputies along State Road 46 near Elder Road.

— Wayne Kent Shiver, 25, of 266 Odham Drive, Sanford, arrested 3:15 a.m. Sunday, charged with DUI and failure to maintain a single lane. Shiver was arrested by Lake Mary Police along Lake Mary Boulevard near Hidden Lake.

IN THE SERVICE

PETER KOOY

Airman Peter Kooy, a 1982 graduate of Seminole High School, has graduated from the Navy's Airman Apprenticeship Training program and received orders for advance training in California for five weeks before reporting for active duty assignment at Naval Air Station Barber's Point, Hawaii.

Kooy enlisted in Nov. 1981 and began recruit training on Aug. 2.

ALBERT FOUGERE

Airman Albt. R. Fougere, son of retired Air Force Master Sgt. Albert W. Fougere of 104 Lamont Ave., Longwood, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, Fougere studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

He will now receive specialized instruction in the communications electronics systems field.

JOHNNIE JOHNSON

Marine Pvt. Johnnie R. Johnson Jr., son of Johnnie R. and Ella L. Johnson of 2431 Vale Ave., Sanford, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11-week training cycle, Johnson learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

MICHAEL TATE

Navy Radioman Seaman Michael K. Tate, son of Joe W. and Donna B. Tate of 409 Seville Ave., Altamonte Springs, recently returned from a deployment to the Western Pacific.

Tate is a crewmember aboard the tank landing ship USS Bristol County, homeported in San Diego.

During the six-month deployment, his ship participated in several major multinational exercises with the U.S. 7th Fleet. Port visits were made to Hawaii, the Philippines, Thailand, Singapore, Diego Garcia, Australia and Japan.

RONALD SINGLETON

Airman Ronald Singleton, son of Laura A. Harrington of 162 Bethune Circle, Sanford, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, Singleton studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

He is a 1980 graduate of Seminole High School.

The first use of the term "Old Glory" to designate the US flag was made by a New England seaman, William Driver. Before setting sail for the Orient in 1831, he had the flag unfurled and said, "I name thee Old Glory!" The term caught on during the Civil War.

Stranded Longwood Motorist, 25, Raped

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A 25-year-old Longwood woman told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she was raped by a man who offered her a ride to a telephone after her vehicle broke down this morning along State Road 436.

The woman told deputies she was traveling south along State Road 436 at about 12:30 a.m. today when the front left tire of her car went flat just north of the Butler Plaza near Howell Branch Road, Casselberry.

The woman said she began walking along State Road 436 to locate a telephone to call someone for help when a man offered to take her to a telephone, deputies said.

The man drove the woman into Orange County and turned onto University Boulevard, deputies said. He then proceeded to McCulloch Road, a deserted and dead end street, where he forced her to perform various sexual acts.

Investigators said the man drove the woman to the Seminole-Orange county lines and let her out of the car. She then went to a nearby home and called deputies for help.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE REPORTED

Sheriff's deputies and SWAT team members responded to a home along Country Club Road near Sanford at about 1 p.m. Tuesday after receiving a call that a man was threatening suicide.

Deputies said the man's wife called the sheriff's department from a neighbor's home, saying her husband was in her home, armed and threatening to shoot himself.

Deputies blocked off the area and instructed nearby residents to stay inside their homes in the event shots were fired.

However, deputies said the man surrendered peacefully and was taken to Florida Hospital-Altamonte for treatment.

Eddie Boone was arrested by sheriff's deputies who responded to the New York Times bar parking lot in Fern Park after receiving a report that there was a fight in progress.

While attempting to subdue Boone, deputies said, the man struck deputy Barry Brady in the face several times with his fists and had to be wrestled to the ground and hog-tied.

Deputies added that they had to draw their guns to keep the crowd, which had gathered in the parking lot, from harming them.

Deputies said Boone kicked out the rear door windows of the patrol car before he could be transported to the jail and is currently being held under $5,000 bond.

EDWARD JACKSON

JAMES DAUKSCH JR.

JOE COWART JR.

Jackson Beats Lober In Judicial Contest

Herald Staff Writer

In an election with little direct effect on Seminole County, the voters chose Edward Jackson over Jere Lober for the group 3 judgeship in the 18th Judicial Circuit (Seminole and Brevard counties). Jackson, like Lober, is from Brevard County and will preside primarily over cases there, coming to Seminole only on rare occasions such as to help clear an overcrowded court docket.

And in perhaps the only truly non-political race on the ballot, two of the six judges serving on the state's Fifth District Court of Appeal in Daytona Beach have won reappointment to their posts.

Joe A. Cowart Jr. and James C. Dauksch Jr. were returned to their jobs by the voters under the state's merit retention system which became part of the Florida Constitution five years ago.

The jurists had no opposition which meant they could not actively campaign for their own retention. The voters were asked simply to vote "Yes" or "No" on the question of whether they should be continued in office for another six-year term.

Had a majority of the electorate voted "No," vacancies would have been declared in their posts and would have been filled by gubernatorial appointment.

In Seminole County, the vote for retention was 15,747 "Yes" and 6,635 "No" for Cowart. Dauksch garnered 14,245 "Yes" votes and 7,103 "No" votes.

In a poll conducted by the Florida Bar Association, 90 percent of the 1,042 lawyers responding said Cowart, 54, should stay on the job while 73 percent of the 1,261 who responded said Dauksch, 46, should be retained on the bench.

The Fifth District includes Seminole, Brevard, Citrus, Flagler, Hernando, Lake, Marion, Orange, Osceola, Putnam, St. Johns, Sumter and Volusia counties.

Seminole County voters gave Jackson a 9,296 vote edge. The two-county total was 58,238 votes for Jackson, 44,593 for Lober.

As in the case in most judicial races, Jackson and Lober did little open campaigning. Both men's politicking consisted primarily of campaign posters and newspaper ads. There was no debate or comparison of personalities. Instead, the two stressed their background and qualifications.

Jackson, 53, was admitted to the Florida Bar in 1958. He received his bachelor's degree in business administration with honors in 1955 from the University of Florida and his law degree with honors from the UF law school in 1958.

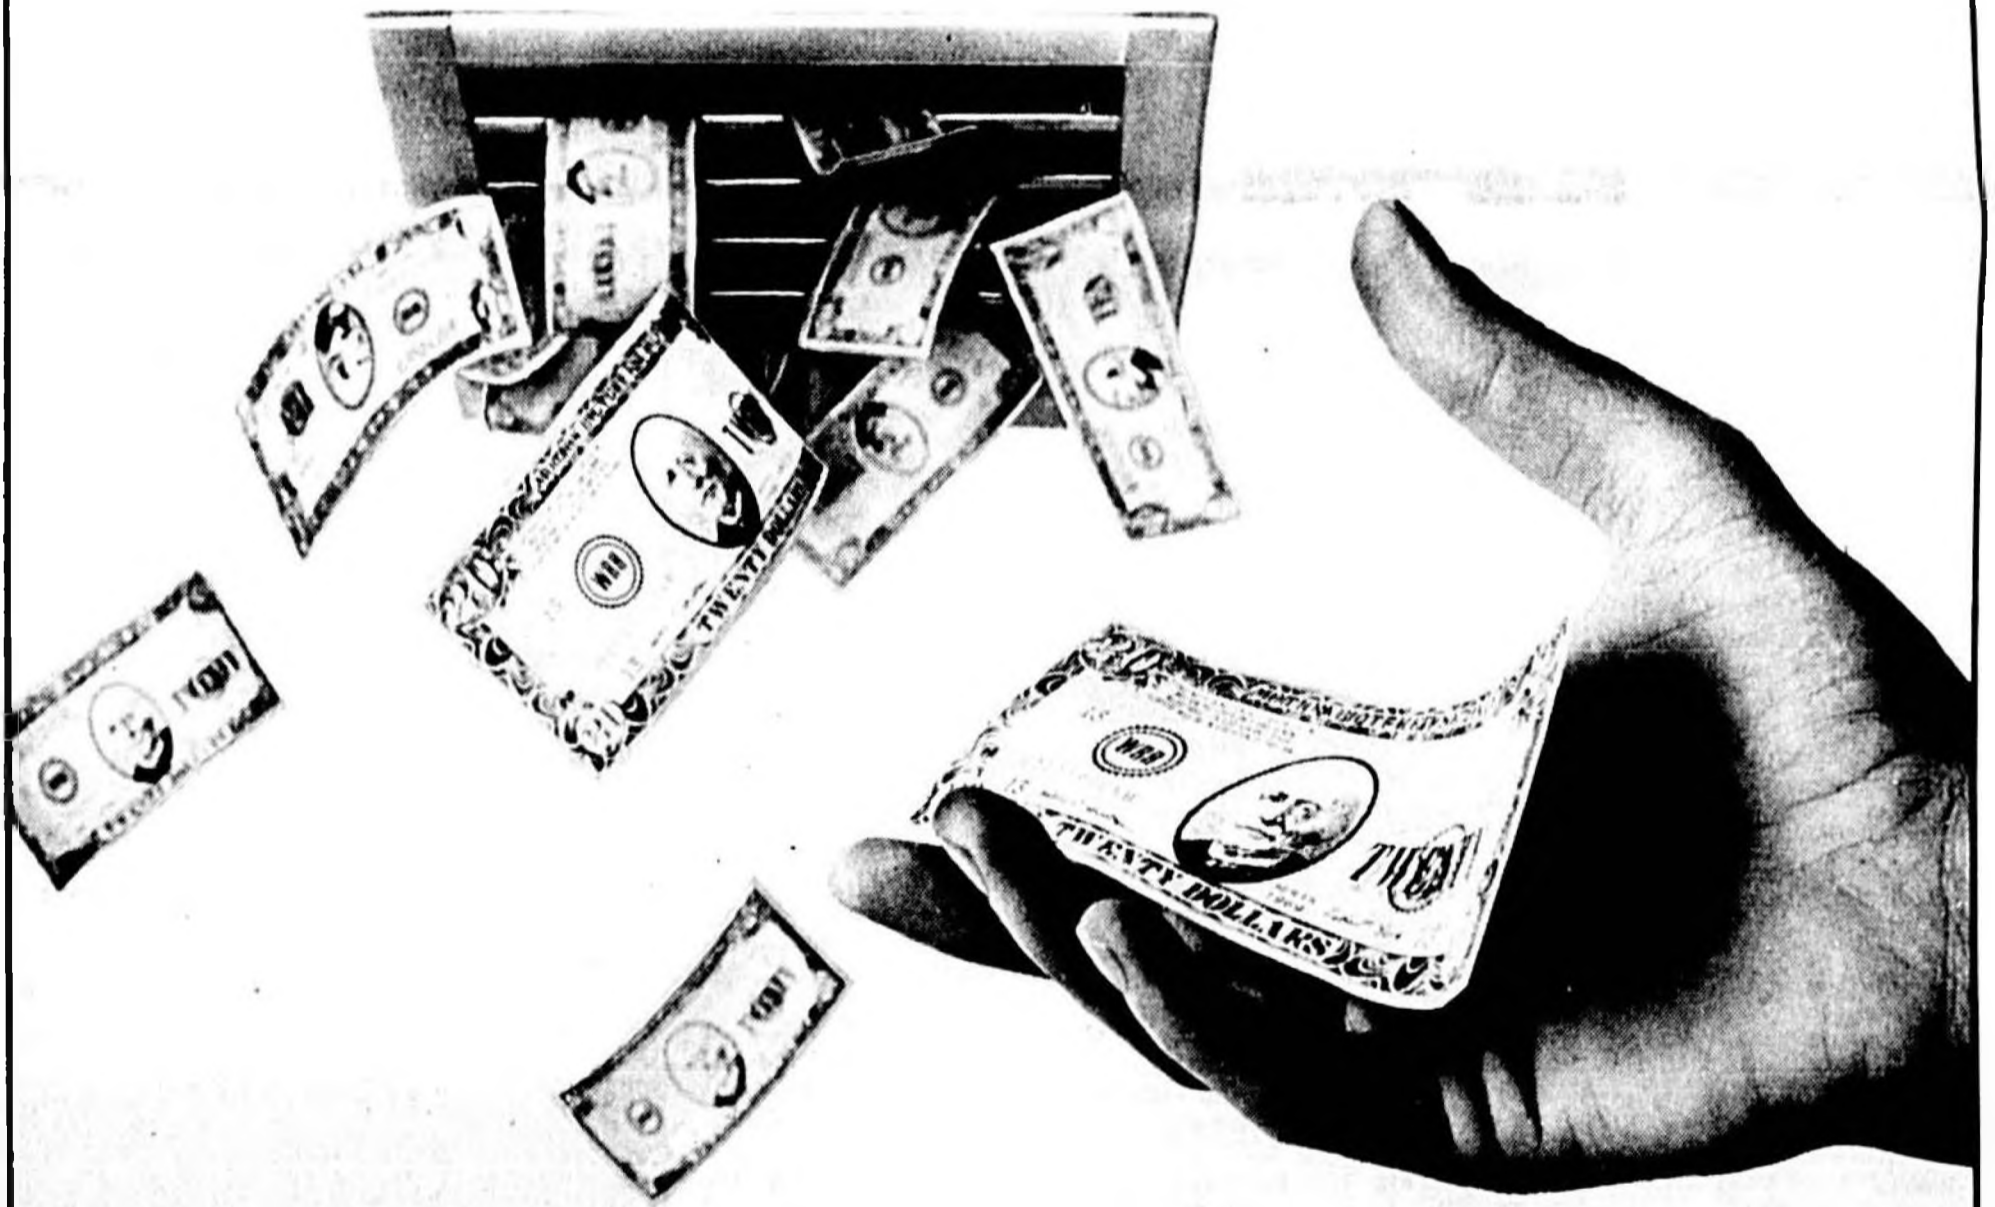

In his youth, Jackson played professional baseball with the Sanford Giants of the old Florida State League. He was an infantry officer in the Korean war.

Lober, 42, received his secondary education in Orlando, his bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Florida in 1963 and his law degree from the UF law school in 1965.

Lober was a member of the 18th Judicial Circuit nomination commission from 1976 to 1980 and vice chairman of the commission in 1978 and '79. He is an adjunct professor at the Florida Institute of Technology where he teaches legal-environmental relationships.

As appellate judges, Cowart and Dauksch will hear appeals from the circuit courts within its district on civil and criminal matters and reviews certain administrative actions of state governmental agencies.

Pick up some cold cash while you warm up with a new heat pump.

We could pay you several hundred dollars to replace an inefficient heating/cooling system with a high-efficiency central heat pump.

You save two ways. Your new efficient heat pump can lower your heating bills by as much as 50 percent, when compared to the conventional electric heating systems that many of our customers have. And you'll also save with FPL's Watt-Wise™ cash incentive toward your new heat pump purchase.

A heat pump both heats and cools your home very efficiently. In the winter, it extracts heat from outside, pumping it indoors. In the summer, it cools by removing heat and humidity from your home. Ask your contractor for details.

After FPL's on-site verification that the new system meets high-efficiency standards, a Watt-Check™, made payable to you for the amount of your incentive, will be mailed.

This FPL incentive plan applies to qualifying customers whose homes were constructed prior to October 1, 1980. To be eligible for the incentive, the new installation must have been completed on or after January 18, 1982 by a participating contractor.

Will everyone benefit from Watt-Wise incentives?

Yes. These incentives are less costly than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient heating and cooling systems. The less oil we use, and the fewer new power plants we have to build, the more we can help hold the line on everyone's electric bill.

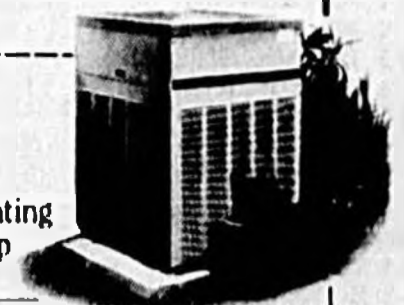

The Watt-Wise Products Program. Another way we're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

Campbell Runs Wild

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

First quarter, Seminole's ball, third down on its own 19-yard line. Number 35 takes a handoff and breaks into the open field. He scampers down the sideline for 81 yards and a touchdown. The Lake Brantley announcers call out, "An 81-yard touchdown run by Dexter Jones."

Early in the fourth quarter, Seminole's ball at the Tribe's own 36-yard line. Number 35 takes a screen pass from Mike Futrell, finds an opening and rambles 64 yards for another touchdown. "Touchdown, Dexter Jones," the announcer cries out.

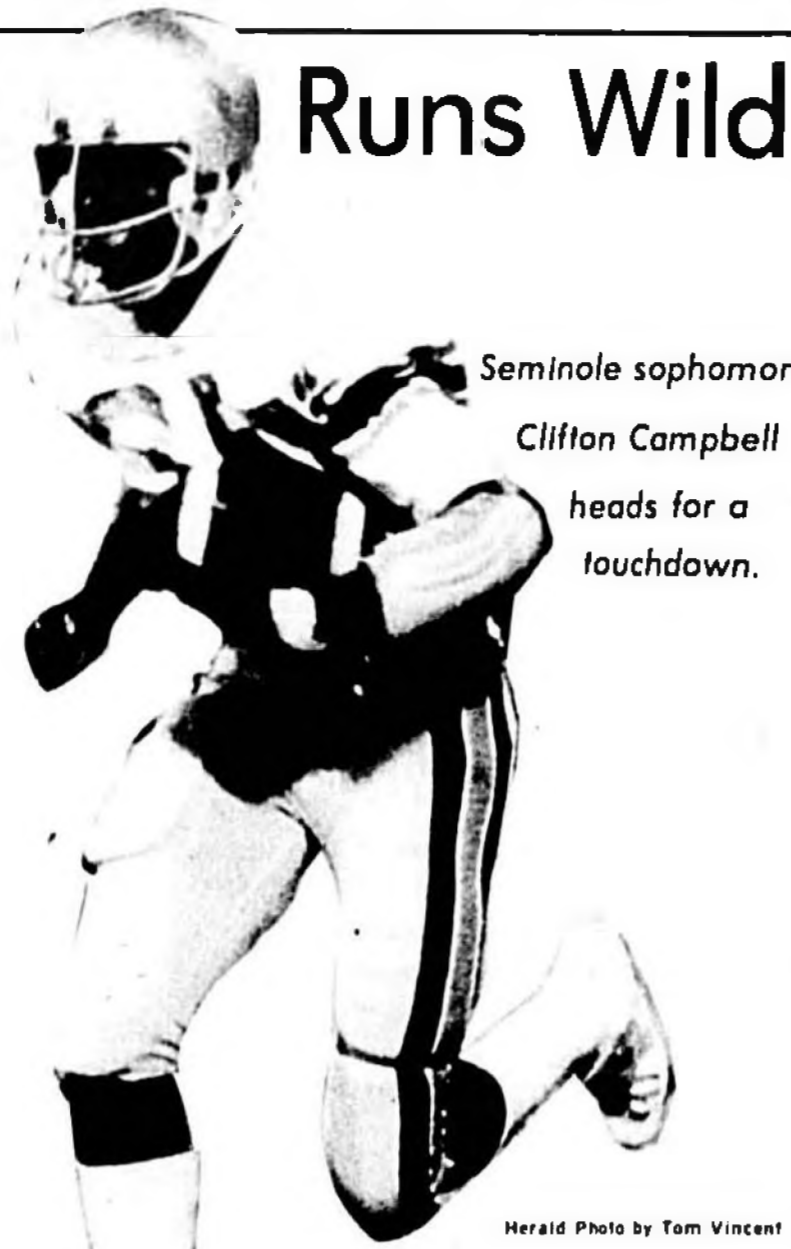

Those two long scoring plays by number 35 must have been a surprise to Seminoles whose top running backs going into the game were Ron Burke and Tim Lawrence. And it must have been an even bigger surprise to Dexter Jones. You see, Jones played in the junior varsity game on the Thursday night before the Lake Brantley game thus making him ineligible to play in the varsity game.

So who was that flashy Seminole running back?

That was Tribe sophomore Clifton Campbell, who had been called up from junior varsity in hopes of filling the gap that was left when Rendell Manley went out with an injury. All Campbell did against Brantley was carry the ball 11 times of 153 yards, an 81-yard TD run and a 64-yard TD pass.

"It didn't bother me what the announcer was saying (calling Campbell Dexter Jones) because I knew who was out there," Seminole offensive backfield coach Emory Blake said. "When we brought him up he was running like a wild horse for the JV team. He did good in practice and we knew eventually he would blend in with our offense and last week was a chance for him to show what he learned."

Campbell showed the "Noles" that he had learned a lot in practice and deserved his spot on the varsity team. The Seminole coaches have high expectations of Campbell for the future. "We will try to get him the ball as much as possible," Blake said. "He has excellent size and in the future will wind up as one of our biggest backs. We have in mind making him a fullback and in the past at Seminole the fullbacks have been the main ball carriers."

Although Campbell's presence might not mean much this season, the Tribe is 0-7, he will be an integral part of the Seminole's offense in 1983. "If Clifton stays healthy, he looks very promising," Blake said.

But what about Dexter Jones? Jones was put on the junior varsity team when Campbell was brought up but Jones started the year on varsity and his number was 35. Jones received much needed playing time on JV and looked impressive, according to Blake.

For the final two games of the season both Jones and Campbell will be on the varsity squad and although which will be number 35 hasn't been determined yet, you can bet that both names will be heard a lot in the future.

Weir Resigns UCF Job; Peterson Takes Recruiting

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

University of Central Florida football coach Sam Weir stepped out of athletic director Bill Peterson's office and lit up with a Jack-O-Lantern smile.

"That's the first time you've been like yourself in two years," said one passerby, a friend of Weir's.

Sam Weir took the pressure off Monday morning. He jumped out of the UCF rat race. Weir resigned (effective Nov. 13) the head coaching position he's held on an interim basis since predecessor Don Jonas did the same in August and said he would not be a candidate for the job next fall.

"I feel quite relieved," said Weir Tuesday. "I'd been evaluating and re-evaluating my position for the past three weeks."

"I feel that they're (UCF) not ready to make a full commitment to the program. It was time to make a decision. I have a couple attractive opportunities and I have to think about my future," he added.

Weir was disturbed about the scholarships UCF will have to offer next year, another tough schedule and the lack of full-time assistants.

Peterson, who was golfing at the King Dew It Classic when Weir turned in his resignation, was surprised at the development.

"I talked to Sam Friday and told him what I hoped to get for him," said Peterson. "I haven't accomplished it yet, but we hope to have 30 scholarships and two full-time coaches."

A friend told Peterson Weir seemed satisfied with the commitment.

Much of the UCF progress hinges on money. The Knights hoped to raise $250,000 this year to help the program, but fell over $100,000 short.

Weir said there was no pressure to resign, although he "saw signals that he might not be the administration's choice for the job next year."

Sam Weir (above) resigned the interim head coaching position at the University of Central Florida Monday and also said he would not be a candidate for the job next fall. Athletic director Bill Peterson (below) will take over the recruiting duties for the Knights this winter. Peterson, who built the Florida State University program, hopes to name a new coach by Jan. 1.

College Football

"I think they want a fresh man in here," said Weir. "I've been around (coaching) a long time. The administrators are looking for a new man. I saw the signs. I'm not stupid."

Weir's present 0-8 record with games against powerhouses Carson-Newman (Saturday) and I-AA blockbuster Eastern Kentucky (Nov. 13) have the Knights on their way to an 0-10 mark.

"I don't know where he got that idea," Peterson said about the "signals." "I thought he did a pretty good job considering the schedule. If he would have got a couple of breaks, he could've won a couple of games but he didn't."

Despite UCF's first-year status in Division II, the schedule included five games with I-AA teams which have 70 scholarships compared to the Knights' piecemeal offering of 15 which are split among the players.

Peterson said Weir's withdrawal will probably make his decision on a head coach easier. "I've always had Sam at the back of my mind," he said. "It's my idea now to bring in a young coach from a successful program who's interested in an opportunity like ours."

Peterson, though, was quick to point out that person would not be Bill Peterson. "No, no, no!" he said emphatically. "If I was a younger man, I'd like to take a shot at it. I feel the program has a lot of promise."

Although Peterson will not be the Knights next head coach, he will assume the recruiting duties, something that is up in the air because of Weir's departure which is effective following the final game.

"I used to be a pretty good recruiter," recalls the ex-Florida State coach. "I'm going to get back into it and see what kind of players we can get for next year."

Peterson hopes to name his new coach by Jan. 1.

Lake Howell Dunks Seminoles

Seminole's Lisa Polgar recorded her best time ever in the 50 freestyle, 28.6 to take first place in the event in a dual meet with Lake Howell Wednesday at the Sanford Bath and Tennis Club.

Polgar's time was good enough to qualify her for the district meet which is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 13 at Lyman High School.

Polgar, a senior at Seminole, was the Tribe's only first place finisher in the swimming events while senior Bridget Deere won the diving with 54 points.

Lake Howell continued its dominance in Seminole County by winning the girls meet, 81-39 behind the efforts of Karen Acre, Nina Aspinwall and a host of others that make the Lady Silver Hawks one of the top teams around.

The Tribe got second place finishes from Deere (1:27.6 in the 100 breaststroke), Suzie Porter (7:20.9 in the 500 free) and Dana Ray (29.4 in the 50 free). The relay teams were both second, the 200 medley team of Ray, Deere, Gigi

Hunt and Polgar recorded a time of 2:17.7 while the 400 free relay team of Hunt, Ray, Porter and Polgar posted a 4:38.8.

The Lake Howell boys also defeated Seminole, 72-38.

Chuck Burgess posted wins in two events with a 1:02 in the 100 fly and a 1:03.5 in the 100 backstroke. Bruce Nelson was first in the 50 free at 26.3.

Second place finishes were, Phil Fausnight (100 breaststroke, 1:17.7), Howard Harrison (100 free, 1:12.6) and Greg Carter was second in diving with 44.8 points.

Taft's 4 Hits Lead Sessions Past Fabricating, 13-10

Jeff Taft had four of Session Time's 18 hits Tuesday night as Sessions won in a slugfest, 13-10 over S&H Fabricating in Sanford Men's Softball League action at Pinehurst Field.

The score stood at 7-6 in favor of Sessions going into the top of the sixth inning when S&H Fabricating rallied for four runs, two of which scored on Steve Machesney's fielder's choice. Going into the bottom of the sixth, S&H Fabricating held a 10-7 lead.

But, Session Time sent 12 hitters to the plate in the bottom of the sixth and came away with six runs and a 13-10 lead and eventually went on to win. A two-run triple by Kerry Myers was the big hit in the inning.

Men's Softball

Kirk Butler, Jim Polgar and Russell Holloman all had three hits for Session Time. Don Waterman had three hits for S&H Fabricating.

In other games Tuesday night, Levi Raines, Eddie Jackson, Zeke Washington and Don Causeaux all ripped home runs to lead Cook's Corner to a 14-6 rout of Jaycees.

Washington connected for a two-run homer in the third inning that broke a 3-3 tie and Raines put Cook's up for good with a three-run blast in the fourth.

Don Hibbard and Rob Simpson led Jaycees with three hits each.

Willie Merkerson slammed a pair of homers to boost Mobilite over Express, 9-4.

Merkerson's homers accounted for three of Mobilite's first four runs and a four-run fourth inning put the game out of reach for Express.

Evening Herald Photographer Tom Vincent didn't know he was going to a boxing match last Friday at Lake Brantley, but he did catch the Patriots' Clark Lee delivering a nice left hook to Seminole Greg Hill's midsection. Hill coughed up the ball after a nice run on the Lake Brantley 20-yard line which cost the 'Noles a scoring opportunity. Seminole lost, 15-14. The Tribe goes after its first victory Friday at Lyman.

Rock Lake Stuns Atlanta

Caputo Keys Offense As Raiders Knock Off Georgia

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

ATLANTA — Coach Bob Shakar's Rock Lake Midget Raiders knew they were going into a "snakepit" here Saturday when they arrived to take on the Atlanta Red Devils.

After all, how many football fields are named after a head coach. Coach Bob Blackwell's Red Devils have posted a 237-7 record in 30 years of youth football.

After the Raiders' visit Saturday, however, make that 237-8.

Paced by Jay Caputo's two scoring runs, the Rock Lake Raiders stunned the powerful Atlanta team, 20-8, for their fifth victory in seven decisions.

Quarterback Steve Shakar moved the Midgets up the field with off-tackle runs by Caputo, John Burton and Matt Messina. Caputo capped the drive with a nine-yard scoring run and Messina hustled over the extra point for a 7-0 lead as the quarter ended.

In the fourth quarter, defensive backs Dave Bosco, Dan Dease, Dave Williams and Randy Bagnell took the wind out of the Atlanta air attack to secure the win.

It was Atlanta's first loss of the year.

In other SYSA action closer to home, the Jackson Heights Junior Midget Bobcats remained undefeated by blanking the Milwee Spartans, 8-0.

John Pettit's fourth-quarter punt return to the 21-yard line of Milwee set up the Bobcats' scoring opportunity. After two passes from Matt Bianon netted four yards, a penalty moved the ball to the Milwee 13.

Blanton then tossed a lateral to Robby King who found Kurt Rozek all alone for a 13-yard TD. Dan Clem booted the points after for the 8-0 decision.

Danny Putman led the rushers with 49 yards on 13 carries. King had 21 yards. Rozek caught four passes for 60 yards as the Bobcats completed 6 of 11 for 64 yards.

Putman, Brad Herzog and Tim Whitaker led the defense with six tackles apiece. Putman and Herzog each had four assists. King and Rozek each intercepted a pass.

Jackson Heights has allowed just two scores in six games while putting 115 points on the board.

Moving up to the Midget Division, Wes Chandler's Lakeview Dolphins got back on the winning track with a 16-0 victory over the Hudson Cobras.

Dwain Willis and Dennis Barnes each scored a touchdown and Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy kicked a two-point conversion.

Willis romped in from five yards out in the second quarter for a 6-0 lead. Barnes scampered in from the 18-yard line later in the quarter. Bellamy followed with the kick.

Steve Haisten and Willie Southerland combined to block a punt which went into the end zone for a safety and the final two Lakeview points.

Willis ran for 66 yards on six carries while John Curry raced for 50 yards on nine. Willis completed 3 of 7 passes for 95 yards.

Curry led in tackles with eight and Haisten chipped in with seven. Bellamy had six and Southerland five.

In Mighty Mite action, Tuskawilla Blue received touchdowns from Greg Rigby and Thad Wallace to stay unbeaten with a 13-0 victory over South Seminole.

It was the sixth shutout of the year for the Big Blue which got tenacious defensive efforts from Wallace, Todd Stresen-Reuter, Ryan Dailey, Kevin Millonig and Lee Wallace.

Upfront, Scott Byerly, Kevin Padgett, Chris Littrell, Skip Clark and Brian Crockett opened the holes for Rigby, who also scored the extra point, and Wallace.

In another Mighty Mite game, the Rock Lake Raiders received five touchdowns from separate players to blast Teague Red, 32-0.

Robbie Dominica opened the flood gates with a nine-yard run for a 6-0 lead. Colby Sims, Grant Seibold, Greg Ritchie and Kevin Collins all followed with touchdowns in the rout.

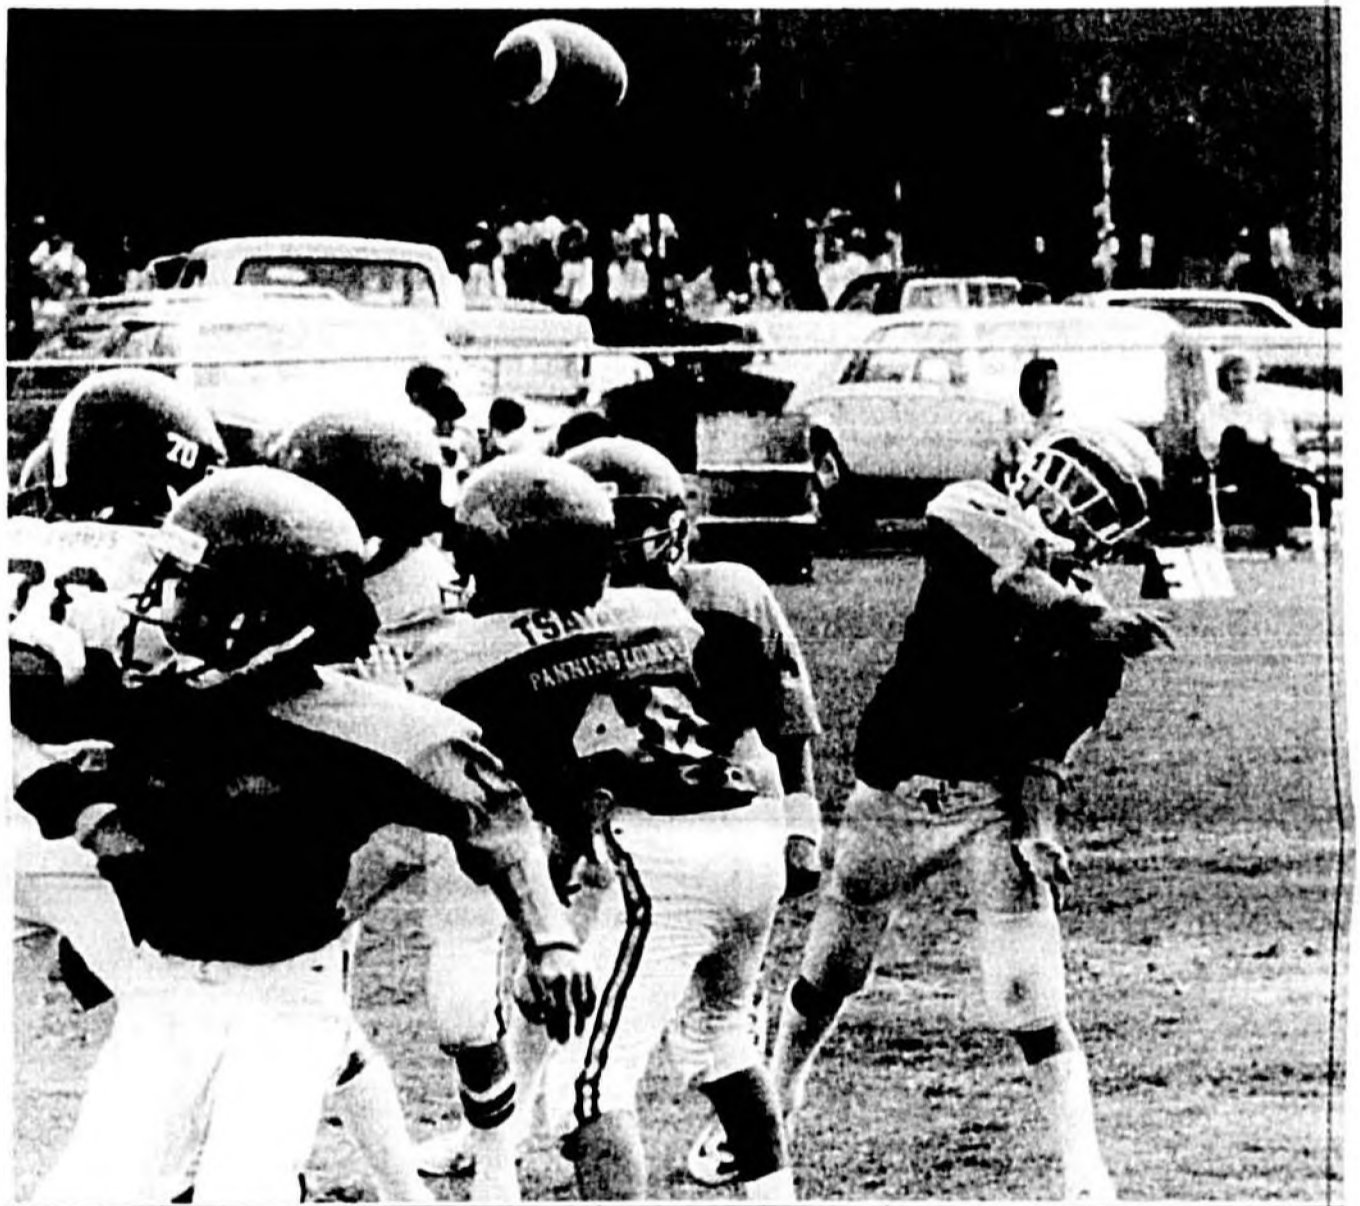

In the second quarter, Shakar hooked up with wideouts Kurt Beauchamp, Dan Gibbs and Doug Bandy to move the ball into scoring position where Shakar hit Gibbs on a surprise tackle-eligible play for eight yards and a TD.

Later in the second quarter, Rock Lake turned an Atlanta fumble into a third scoring opportunity and Caputo cashed in again for a 20-0 bulge at halftime.

In the second half, the Raiders' defense took over with Wade Turney, Dave Marcello, Tony Mazze, Dan Moses and Mark Sepe knocking the Red Devils cold at the Rock Lake 10.

Scott Meredith, Teague Tiger quarterback, lets fly with a pass in Junior Pee Wee SYSA action. Meredith and the Tigers trimmed Rock Lake, 7-2. A complete state of games is scheduled for Saturday at Sylvan Lake Park off State Road 16 west of Sanford.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Bass, Jones Boot Scorpions Past College Park, 2-0

The Scorpions, of the Sanford Soccer Club's B Division (9 years-old), got two goals from Lamar Bass and an excellent defensive game from Bobby Jones en route to a 2-0 victory over College Park 002.

After a scoreless first half Bass opened the scoring in by taking a corner kick and booting it toward the College Park goal and in. Bass' second goal went through three defenders and into the net for a 2-0 Sanford win.

Sanford 001 now stands 5-1 on the season with its next game against Downtown Orlando 002 at the Sanford Airport.

In other action, Matt Lovering sparked a Sanford 000 (8 and under) comeback with a second half goal but Sanford could not come all the way back as it lost to SEO 002, 3-1.

Matt Bowlin turned in an impressive showing as goalie but Sanford's record fell to 1-3-2.

Sanford 300 (under 13) could not find the net and dropped a 4-0 decision to Winter Park 301. J.J. Partlow, Jesse Roche and Johnny Burkhead good defensive games for Sanford 300 whose next game is against Maitland 301 at 9:50 a.m. Saturday at the Sanford Airport.

Celeste Industries, Sanford 200 Division I, fell prey to a productive Winter Park 201 squad in a 9-0 loss. Sanford fell to 1-5 for the season but received strong performances from Steve Edwards, Patrick Partlow and Troy Deppen.

Concessions Made In Talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although they are heading in the same direction, the two sides apparently remain miles apart on several issues in talks to settle the NFL players' strike, now in its 44th day.

Concessions from both parties were revealed Tuesday, but neither side was optimistic of a quick settlement. Negotiations between the NFL Players Association and NFL Management Council were to resume at a midtown hotel today at 8 a.m. EST.

They were scheduled to meet with mediator Sam Kagel for 90 minutes, following a caucus by both parties, then a resumption of face-to-face talks at 11 a.m.

Midget Rebels Rip Ocoee; McDougald — 100 Again

Football

The Midget Division Rebels of the All-American Football Conference remained unbeaten by ripping the Ocoee Bulldogs, 32-0 thus claiming sole possession of first place in Pop Warner play with a 6-0 record.

On the second play from scrimmage, the Rebels forced and recovered an Ocoee fumble as the disgruntled Bulldog fans at the new Ocoee Youth Football stadium watched in disbelief.

The fumble recovery gave the Rebels good field position at the Ocoee 30-yard line. Two plays later, the Midget Rebels turned the Ocoee miscue into six points as quarterback Shane Letterio kept the ball on an option play and raced 28 yards for a touchdown.

Pinned deep in its own territory on its next possession, the Bulldogs were forced to punt, once again giving the Rebels good field position. After a couple dive plays up the middle, Steve Thurmond rambled 27 yards for the Rebels' second 1.D.

While the Rebels' defense continued to dominate Ocoee, the offense struck two more times in the first half, one on a 67 yard pass to Thurmond and another on a six yard TD pass to Anthony Laszalic to make the score 24-0 at halftime.

Phillip Page scored the only second half touchdown for the Rebels to make the final 32-0. The Midget Rebels travel to Apopka next Saturday for a 12 noon game at Apopka High School.

In other All-American Conference games, the Junior Midget Rebels pasted a 34-0 drubbing on Ocoee with the Rebels rolling up 275 yards of offense while the defense allowed Ocoee just three yards rushing and 90 yards passing.

It was the fourth consecutive shutout victory for the Jr. Midgets who were led on defense by Shane Lunsford's nine solo tackles, five assists and four quarterback sacks. Hugh Graham added nine solo tackles while Johnnie Griffin and Marc Groves had six tackles a piece.

The Jr. Midgets are now 5-1 with two games left to play in the conference.

The Jr. Pee Wee Rebels and the Winter Park Bobcats both went into Saturday's game undefeated, and both teams left that way as they battled to a 13-13 tie.

Dusty McDougald had his fourth consecutive 100 yard rushing game with 140 yards on 14 carries and a 57 yard touchdown run for the Rebels.

The Rebel Pee Wee's dropped a 6-0 verdict to Ocoee and its record fell to 2-4.

Double Ring Rites Unite Miss O'Connor, Dr. Sovran

Suzanne Melissa O'Connor and Dr. Paul David Sovran were married Oct. 24, at 3 p.m., at St. Mary's Church, Long Island, N.Y. Monsignor Keneally, a cousin of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Daniel J. O'Connor of Forest Hills, N.Y., and Lake Mary. Her maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans of Lake Mary. She is the great granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. William Harrison Evans. Dr. Evans was mayor of Sanford from 1889-1892. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Sovran of Rockland County, N.Y.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her vows a formal white lace gown with a Juliet cap securing her imported veil of illusion.

Claire O'Connor Schroeder of DeLand, attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Claudia Sovran, Joy Fowler and Nancy Riley. They wore blue ribboned taffeta gowns with purple sashes and carried bouquets of white Stephanotis and purple Statice.

Dr. Glenn Pfaff served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Frank

Harrison O'Connor, Douglas O'Connor and Carey Toney O'Connor, brothers of the bride

A reception at the Stratmore-Vanderbilt County Club, Long Island, followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to Boca Raton, the newlyweds are making their home in Englewood, N.J. where the bridegroom is resident at Englewood Hospital. The bride is a registered nurse and was previously employed in the Intensive Care Unit, Orlando Regional Hospital, Orlando.

Cook Of The Week

Top Recipes Quick, Easy, Tasty And Eye-Appealing

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Pretty Brenda Adams, a native Floridian who hails from Winter Haven, says the recipes she likes the most have to have a clever mixture of being quick and easy to prepare while the finished products must maintain the element of "eye appeal."

Brenda, her husband the Rev. Frank Adams, pastor of Chuluota First Assembly of God church, and their 18-month-old daughter Miranda live in the Goldenrod-Tuskawilla section of Seminole County. Brenda explains that her early culinary training came from a mom that let her "have free rein in the kitchen" and three years of home economics in high school.

Now, however, Brenda's never-ending search for good recipes is fulfilled from friends who share with her, and a club she belongs to that sends her updates annually to add to her "Betty Crocker Recipe Card Library." The mail order recipes have some fascinating categories such as Dessert Spectaculars, Entertaining on a Shoestring, Impromptu Party Fare, Foods That Go Places, Men's Favorites, and Recipes Children Can Cook, just to name a few.

Brenda is currently gathering the ingredients she needs to make Pepper Jelly, a condiment that is the perfect accompaniment for pork. She utilizes Miranda's empty baby food jars for storing the Pepper Jelly and says, "If you are going to store the jelly for a short time, a month or two, in the refrigerator, you need not seal the jars with wax, just sterilize them." Brenda adds, "This recipe was given to me by a lady who was a member of Spring Hill Baptist Church, or first pastorate, Anna Laura Bowden of Blue Springs, Ala."

Two main entrees that are repeat performances in the Adams' household are Ritz Chicken and Chinese Beef and Rice. "Both of these recipes," according to Brenda, "can be prepared ahead and held until serving time."

Brenda's Mexican Cornbread sounds like a good variation of the Southern tradition, and you can really "spice it up" by adding a dash of red pepper if desired.

One of the easiest desserts Brenda has discovered, Brownies Jubilee, is a definite crowd pleaser. This ingenious combination of chocolate and cherries is so easy to make it is almost sinful to accept compliments, Brenda says.

But, when you serve Brownies Jubilee, you'd better be prepared for compliments. Can you imagine chocolate brownies cut into pie shaped wedges, topped with scoops of vanilla ice cream, crowned with cherry pie filling? The mental picture of Brownies Jubilee is enough to send you to the kitchen in a frenzy to fix it for tonight's dessert.

PEPPER JELLY

- 7 cups sugar
- 2 cups vinegar
- 1 cup chopped sweet bell peppers (green)
- 2 teaspoons hot peppers, crushed
- 3 oz. pounce liquid fruit pectin
- 3 or 4 drops green food coloring
- 6 to 8 baby food jars (or other jars)

Combine sugar, vinegar, bell peppers and crushed hot peppers in a saucepan. Bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Set aside and allow to cool 15 minutes. Stir in liquid fruit pectin and food coloring and allow to cool an additional 10 minutes. Pour into sterilized baby food jars and refrigerate. Serve as a condiment with pork, beef or chicken.

BROWNIES JUBILEE

Prepare a brownie mix according to box directions and bake in a 9-inch round cake pan. Cut cooled brownies into pie-shaped wedges. Top each wedge with one scoop of vanilla ice cream. Spoon cherry pie filling on top of each serving.

RITZ CHICKEN

- 6 chicken breasts
 - 1/4 cup margarine
 - 2 cups Ritz cracker crumbs
 - Salt to taste
- Melt margarine. Dip chicken in margarine and roll in cracker crumbs. Bake skin side up in a shallow pan in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes.

CHINESE BEEF AND RICE

- 1 1-3rd cups uncooked regular rice
 - 1/4 cup salad oil
 - 1 tablespoon salt
 - 3 cups boiling water
 - 2 beef bouillon cubes
 - 1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon soy sauce
 - 2 medium onions, chopped
 - 4 stalks celery, chopped
 - 2 green peppers, chopped
 - 3 cups diced cooked beef
- In a large skillet, cook and stir rice in oil over medium heat until golden brown. Add salt, water, bouillon cubes and soy sauce. Cover tightly; simmer 20 minutes. Stir in onion, celery, green pepper and meat. Cover tightly; simmer 10 minutes longer or until all liquid is absorbed and rice is tender. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

MEXICAN CORNBREAD

- 1 cup self-rising flour
 - 1 cup self-rising corn meal
 - 1 cup grated cheese
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1-3rd cup oil
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 can creamed corn
 - 3 eggs
 - 2 green peppers, chopped
 - 2 medium onions, chopped
 - Dash of red pepper (optional)
- Stir all ingredients together. Pour into a greased 13 x 9-inch pan and bake in a 400 degree oven for 45 to 60 minutes.

PINK DELIGHT

- 1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple
 - 1/2 package strawberry jello
 - 1 pound small curd cottage cheese
 - 8 oz. tub non-dairy whipped topping
- Stir all ingredients together in a bowl. Chill and serve.

EASY PEACH COBBLER

- 1 cup self-rising flour
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1/2 cup margarine
 - 1 can peach pie filling
- Melt margarine in 10 x 10 x 2-inch pan. Mix flour, sugar and milk and pour into pan. Spoon in pie filling. Crust will rise and cover filling. Bake for 1 hour in a 375 degree oven until golden brown.

Miss Meredith In Free Recital Sunday At SCC

PATRICIA L. MEREDITH

Patricia L. Meredith, soprano of Fern Park, will present a recital Sunday at three p.m. in the concert hall of the Fine Art's building at Seminole Community College, U.S. 17-92 in Sanford.

The recital will include works, both sacred and secular, from such a varied list of composers as Mendelssohn, Handel, Mozart, Wagner and Strauss. Robin Lee Hodges will accompany Miss Meredith at the piano.

Miss Meredith, a native of Sanford, is the daughter of Owen R. and the late Ethel Meredith of Beth Drive in Sanford. She is employed in the Humanities Division of Seminole Community College with the responsibility for the Fine Arts Library.

She is a voice student of Dr. Burt H. Perinchieff at Seminole Community College and has done comprehensive study with Eva Folsom Sully in Philadelphia.

In addition to her membership in the Seminole Community Chorus, Miss Meredith has performed frequently as soloist with that organization, and is a member of the Chancel Choir with the Winter Park Presbyterian Church.

The public is invited to attend this recital. There is no charge for admission.

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

Betty Jack Named BSP Ball Council Hostess

Betty Jack of Preceptor Delta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was chosen by BSP City Council to be council hostess for the Valentine Ball to be held on February 13, 1983. This is also a first for Beta Sigma Phi's City Council—to select a Council Hostess instead of a Valentine Girl.

Susan Byrd and Eve Rogero represented the Preceptor Delta Delta Chapter at the Area Conference held at Daytona Beach. It was well attended by all the Florida Chapters.

Margie Beine and her Valentine Ball committee have been busy the past several weeks trying to select a band for the evening. The master of ceremonies for the Valentine Ball will be Harry D. Cup the talk show host of radio station WKTS of Orlando.

Linda Keelling, social chairman, has received over 80 reservations for the All-Chapter Luncheon to be held at Malson Et Jardin Saturday.

Lake Mary Arts, Crafts

The Merchants Association of Driftwood Village, 549 W. Lake Mary Blvd., Lake Mary, will present the annual Arts and Crafts Show on Dec. 11, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Cash prizes will be awarded. The entry fee is $15. For entry information, call Pelican Post, 323-8328.

VIP Visits Pilot Club

The Pilot Club of Sanford held the October meeting at Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

Lt. Gov. Jean Bleyker from Ocala made her official visit. A covered dish dinner was held followed by the meeting and some very helpful information from Lt. Gov. Bleyker.

Terry Grant, president of the Anchor Club of Seminole High School, is being sponsored by the Pilot Club to attend Freedom Foundation Nov. 4 at Valley Forge, Pa.

The next regular meeting of the Pilot Club will be held Nov. 16.

Brunch To Honor Donors

Trinity Preparatory School's annual Headmaster's Council party has been planned for noon, Sunday, at Oak Grove Estate, the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Everette Huskey. Special guest of honor will be Dr. David Scott of the University of Central Florida.

The Headmaster's Council is composed of individuals and businesses who have donated $1,000 or more annually to Trinity. An annual tradition, the gathering is sponsored by the school to show honor and appreciation to the Council as those individuals and businesses "who provide Trinity with a foundation for long-range development."

Beginning Spanish

The office of community instructional services at Seminole Community College will offer a class in "Beginning Conversational Spanish." Class will meet for seven consecutive Wednesday evenings from 7—10 p.m., Nov. 3 thru Dec. 15. Fee: $12.00, room L-221.

For information call the office of community instructional services, 323-1450, ext. 304.

SORORITY PROJECTS

Beta Sigma Phi chapters in Sanford have adopted two projects during the club year: to assist the Christian Sharing Center and Seminole Mutual Concert Association. Recent Xi Beta Eta activities have included president Kathy Wallace and daughter Rebecca, right photo, delivering items to the center, and a program on sign language with Joyce Harvey, above photo, demonstrating the alphabet to Fran Morton.

4-H Clubs Festival

The 4-H Clubs of Seminole County are holding their second Annual 4-H Festival at the Interstate Mall on Nov. 13, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. An auction will be held at 1 p.m.

The 4-H Festival is organized jointly by Teen Exchange 4-H Club and other county 4-H club organizations. The festival will feature homemade crafts, cotton candy, pony rides, food, drink, a dunking machine and more.

Proceeds will go to 4-H Clubs participating to fund expenses and support our county's Teen Exchange program.

4-H is an organization for youth from 8-18 years of age, without regard to race, color, sex, or religious preference. 4-H is doing things as a group. It is working with friends and parents to learn by doing. There are many projects that can be taken, some of which are: safety, bee keeping, bicycles, clothing, cooking, dog care, dairy, electricity, small engines, forestry, horticulture, and many, many, more.

Volunteer Learns To Transcribe Braille After Reaching 65

Most senior citizens realize that the brain, like any muscle, needs to be exercised in order to remain healthy.

With that thought in mind, Irene Alcenius of Lutheran Haven decided, at age 65, to learn to transcribe braille.

Although it proved to be quite a challenge to her mentally and physically, she was determined to succeed as she worked hour after hour to learn the Braille system.

Mrs. Alcenius, now 76, says she has really had to learn the transcribing system forward and backward; she learned on an earlier system which is a reverse system of the Perkins Braille she now uses.

In 1974, she received Library of Congress Certification and she is also certified by the Board of Missions for Blind of Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

The Braille system, Mrs. Alcenius explains, is a cell of six dots, three high and two wide, from which 163 characters can be formed by placing one or more dots in specific positions or combinations within the cell. A dot in front of a letter indicates a capital letter, whereas two dots indicate all words in caps.

All transcribers, she notes, use Webster's New World Dictionary. "It can't be over 10 years old. We all use the same dictionary so everything will be the same. They are very strict and I can see why!"

"Erasures are quite different," Mrs. Alcenius explains, demonstrating with a wooden peg-like eraser how dots are pushed back into the paper to erase them.

"Sometimes it gets very frustrating. If you make three one-dot errors on a page, you have to do it over," she notes, adding that everything has to be proof-read not once, or twice, but three times.

Mrs. Alcenius is the mother of two grown sons who have given her seven grandchildren, and she has "one adorable great grandchild." She recently retired from volunteer work at Lyman High School where for seven years she helped in the guidance office.

She'll continue her work transcribing braille because it doesn't require the mobility that her work at Lyman required, and she does feel it is worthwhile. "Although the blind have other means now, such as tapes, records, etc., they have indicated they really appreciate being able to read. It gives them an opportunity to read again and again something they like, just as a sighted person can read and reread their favorite book, poem, etc."

Mrs. Alcenius is with the Retired Senior Volunteer Program of Seminole County, a United Way Agency. — JOAN MADISON

Instinct Sometimes Overrules 'Wrongs'

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Crushed," whose 16-year-old daughter became pregnant by her 15-year-old adopted son, made a point that too few people are willing to acknowledge. All human beings are sexual beings — like it or not. We are born with the instinct to function sexually, so why all the denial?

Dear Abby

How can people in this society be so technically advanced and so socially primitive? Why don't we teach our children the truth about sex?

Sex between siblings is taboo. It usually (but not always) occurs when the older person exploits the younger one out of curiosity or in search of sexual gratification.

When children are sufficiently mature physically to reproduce — and the sperm meets the fertile egg — pregnancy occurs. The egg doesn't know (or care) if the sperm is a relative.

Incest is far more common than most think. I know. It happened in our family. I was a 15-year-old boy (young man, actually) when my 9-year-old precocious sister came into my bed one night while we were home alone.

Our parents were respectable, churchgoing, middle-class people. They never told us anything about sex. All we knew is what we'd picked up from the other kids.

What went on between my sister and me didn't last long, fortunately. But it did happen. The guilt and shame lasted a lifetime, although we never talked about it. I am 72, and my kid sister died last year at 66.

Why am I writing this? Because I hope some "respectable" parents who are too shy to tell their kids about sex will see this.

Most parents assume that their kids will "naturally" abstain from having sex with a sister or brother because they will "know" it's wrong. Not true. Kids will naturally explore and experiment unless they are taught not to. And even then, the opportunity for it should be minimized and all temptations removed.

I know this is much too long for your column, so go ahead and cut it to suit yourself, but please get the message across.

ANONYMOUS IN MINNESOTA

DEAR ANONYMOUS: It's long, but I'll not cut a word. It's well worth the space. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point. Our beautiful intelligent, grown daughter is shacking up with a creep.

If you have any suggestions to make this parental cross more bearable, we'd like to hear them.

SAN DIEGO

DEAR SAN: You can thank your lucky stars she's not married to him. Or consider this: He may be a creep in your eyes, but in hers, he's the cream of the crop.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding "Thin on Top," who's worried about his appeal to the opposite sex, I'm surprised you didn't respond with my father's old adage:

If a man is bald in front, he's a great thinker.

If he's bald in back, he's a great lover.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday November 4, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY November 4, 1982
Your possibilities for accumulating a little extra this coming year look encouraging. Should this occur, look for ways to put your money to work for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Persons are willing to share things with you today, especially those to whom you've been helpful in the past. Don't impede their reciprocity. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic combinations and compatibilities for all signs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Try to make some arrangements today to do something with pals you haven't seen too much of lately. Everyone will enjoy getting together.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You have good potential for achieving today, provided you don't set yourself too many objectives. Select your goals with care.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
When dealing with youngsters today strive to be firm, but fair. Try to phrase your commands in ways which are more educational than demanding.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
In matters affecting the family as a whole today, give everyone the opportunity to have input. Pulling together as a unit, your desires can be accomplished.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Seek companions today who share similar interests, especially where your career is concerned. Together you might pull off something mutually beneficial.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You're in a stronger bargaining position today than you may realize if you're negotiating a matter important to you financially. Deal from your strengths.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You have the abilities today to sort things out and get them properly organized. There are two instances where you can put this to good use.

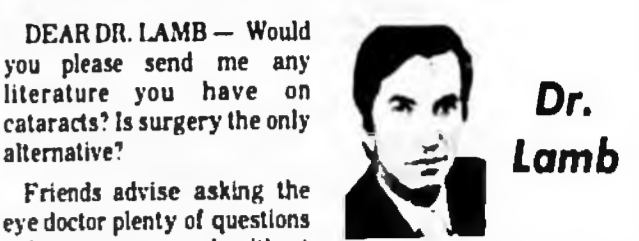

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Persons are likely to tell you things in confidence they're not apt to divulge to others today. They know they can trust you to keep secrets.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Even though it may impose upon time you'd like to have to yourself, don't turn down offers today to head up something for your club or group.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Give priority today to matters important to you financially. Lady Luck tends to favor you in situations which could add to your holdings or income.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You are both a good instructor and a good student today, but it's likely you'll teach more to others than you are apt to learn from them.

The Options For Cataract Patients

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB— Would you please send me any literature you have on cataracts? Is surgery the only alternative?

Friends advise asking the eye doctor plenty of questions before surgery, and without being specific they mention transplants. Would you give me some details on the questions to ask. I'm a 70-year-old woman with asthmatic bronchitis, osteoporosis and a hiatal hernia. I don't want any unnecessary surgery.

DEAR READER— As far as transplants are concerned, forget it, you can't transplant eyes. Perhaps your friends meant "implants," referring to replacing your natural lens with an artificial lens inside the eye. That is done and has proved to be highly successful in selected cases. Corneal transplants are done but that is not for cataracts. That is replacement of the outer clear covering over the pupil of the eye.

Not everyone with cataracts needs surgery. It is in that area you want to talk to your doctor. If you can see to read well and watch TV and do the other things in life that are important to you, then you may not need anything done. Some doctors and nonmedical people, too, won't do much about cataracts as long as a person can see at all and doesn't have a job that requires good vision. The attitude is that you don't need to see. That is wrong. As you get older your sight and hearing become more important as you need those inputs to your brain to keep it active and not show signs of aging-disuse.

DEAR DR. LAMB— I need some information about vitiligo. My daughter, age 29, has it on her hands. It started as a small spot seven years ago. It is growing and is about two inches beyond her wrist. She is so afraid it may go to her face. Her doctor thinks nothing can be done. Do you know of any new developments?

DEAR READER— Vitiligo is caused by destruction of the melanocytes, the pigment-producing cells in the skin. In the early stages prednisone may stop the process.

In established cases, partial repigmentation, and stopping further depigmentation, is often achieved with long-term treatment. Long wave (UV-A) ultraviolet light and psoralens by mouth are used. Trioxsalen (Trioxsalen) is often used. It may take months or years to notice improvement.

Since your daughter is concerned about the chance of further involvement, I would recommend that she see a dermatologist experienced in managing such cases.

you are dealt a long suit, you should pre-empt, particularly not vulnerable.

After your pre-empt, when the other side bids on, you've got the best of it, with one unfortunate exception. Later on, when your foe is playing the hand at whatever contract he has reached, he will remember that you were the one who deprived him of room to bid. He will also consider the fact that if you have a long, long suit there may not be space in your hand for many cards in other suits.

Hettie Noland of Lake Charles, La., was declarer in today's deal. When she bid to six no-trump, her partner reasoned that her strong bidding was based on good clubs, so he placed the contract in the club grand slam.

Playing the hand was not all that difficult. Hettie won the opening lead with the spade ace, discarding a heart from dummy. She then cashed the club ace and led a heart to dummy's king.

The club jack was led from dummy. East played low and so did declarer. Now came the hard part—holding her breath until West showed out.

Score-Proof Menus Feature Family Favorites For Fall Football Season

Food, fun and football. America's triple threat winning combination offer hostesses a kick-off opportunity for high-scoring fall parties. The name of the game is football... plan your score-proof menus to feature family favorites made simply and easily with off-the-shelf convenience foods enhanced with seasonal vegetables and fruits.

Try for early yardage with a tailgate picnic. Just before the game, serve up plenty of delicious Warm-Up Stew plus crusty prize-winning Football Calzones to satisfy those healthy outdoor appetites.

Salads, always a refreshing roundout to a meal, take a new approach. Mix and match cauliflower, carrot chunks, cherry tomatoes, potatoes, etc., and arrange on metal or bamboo skewers. Let each guest choose his-her own mix.

SALAD-ON-A-STICK
6 cups suggested Fresh Vegetables (see below)

1 cup Italian dressing
In a non-metal bowl, combine vegetables and dressing. Cover and chill several hours or overnight, stirring occasionally. Drain (reserve dressing for another use); alternately thread vegetables on skewers. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Suggested Vegetables: Select any combination of the following:

BLANCHED — broccoli or cauliflowerettes, carrot chunks

COOKED — quartered potatoes with skins, small white onions

FOOTBALL CALZONE

2 packages (15½-oz. each) sausage pizza mix

1 cup chopped ham

6 ounces shredded Mozzarella cheese

½ pound sliced fresh mushrooms

Prepare pizza flour according to directions. Form dough into three 9-inch circles on greased sheet. Spread sauce evenly over prepared crusts within one-half inch of edges. On half of each crust layer ham, mozzarella cheese and mushrooms. Sprinkle with canned cheese. Carefully fold over dough, turnover style, and seal edges. Bake in 425 degree F oven for 15-20 minutes. Makes 6.

WARM-UP STEW

1 cup diced onion
1 cup diagonally sliced celery

1 cup cooked sliced carrots
1 package (9 oz.) frozen green beans, thawed
1 can (40 oz.) beef ravioli in sauce

½ cup red wine or chicken broth

1 teaspoon grated Parmesan or Romano cheese

In a large saucepan, cook bacon, onion and celery until onion is tender. Stir in carrots and green beans; heat through. Stir in beef ravioli, wine, cheese, papper and red pepper. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer 10 minutes or until heated through, stirring frequently. Makes 6 to 8 servings (about 7 cups).

For the instant re-play buffet, line up two team regulars, Garden Spaghetti and pizza. Pizzas come in all varieties, this one, a prize-winner named Two-Story Pizza lusciously filled with mozzarella cheese, green peppers, onions and mushrooms topped off with ground beef, pizza sauce and parsley, scores a touchdown and raves about the "at home" cheering squad. Both of these are "matter of minutes" dishes made from complete packaged mixes. Finish off with a Fall Fruit Special at half-time and watch those "end-zone antics."

Enter your favorite Pizza recipe then select your favorite NFL team and you may win one of hundreds of prizes including a Grand Prize worth $30,000. Follow the official contest rules on the Chef Boyardee Complete Pizza Mix box.

TWO STORY PIZZA
1 package (28½-oz.) complete cheese pizza mix

4 ounces fresh mushrooms, quartered

½ pound browned ground beef
¼ cup chopped parsley
Preheat oven to 425 degrees

Prepare pizza dough according to package directions; divide in half. Grease fingers well, place dough half in center of greased 13" or 14" pizza pan. Spread dough to edge of pizza pan. Bake for 5 minutes

Meanwhile, roll or pat out remaining half of pizza dough on well-floured board into a 13" or 14" circle. Remove first crust from oven; sprinkle Mozzarella cheese on top; then green pepper and mushrooms. Place second rolled crust on top of mushrooms. Pierce dough with fork. Seal the edges of the two pizza layers by pinching with fingers or pressing with floured fork; bring up

Savory Stuffing For Holiday Meat

A savory stuffing baked in a casserole goes well with the holiday pork, ham, poultry or beef roasts. A golden apple sausage stuffing takes a cue from historical legend in the use of parsley, thyme, sage and rosemary. It is said that Hercules wore a garland of parsley.

GOLDEN APPLE SAUSAGE STUFFING
 1/2 pound ground pork sausage
 1 cup each chopped onion and celery
 3 cups chopped Golden Delicious apples

8 cups white bread cubes, about 1 1/2 inch x 1/2 cup chopped parsley
 2 teaspoons each salt and thyme, crushed
 1/2 to 1 teaspoon sage, crushed
 1/4 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed
 Chicken or turkey broth
 In large skillet, brown sausage, drain, reserving drippings. Set sausage aside. Add onion and celery to drippings in skillet and saute lightly. Stir in sausage, apples, bread cubes, parsley and seasonings, toss to mix thoroughly. Stir in just enough broth to moisten mixture, about 1 1/2-2 cups. Turn into greased 2-quart baking dish. Bake at 325 degrees 1 hour. For moist stuffing, cover before baking. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 7 cups.

Food Processor Tip: When chopping onion, celery and apple in food processor, reduce liquid to about 1/3rd cup and decrease baking time in casserole to 30 minutes.

 sealed edges to sides of pan to hold sauce. Slowly pour pizza sauce from can over top crust. Sprinkle chopped onion on top; then browned ground beef; then grated cheese from package.

Bake approximately 20-25 minutes. Wait 3 minutes; sprinkle with chopped parsley. Slice. Serve wedges as pie. Serves 4 to 6.

FALL FRUITS WITH CREAMY ORANGE TOPPING

2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1/2 cup water
 3 apples, sliced
 3 pears, sliced
 3 oranges, peeled and sliced into half cartwheels
 3 kiwifruit, thinly sliced
 2 cups green or purple grapes, halved
 Creamy Orange topping

Combine lemon juice and water in a 3-quart bowl; toss in apples and pears. Drain and pat dry.

In a large bowl, layer oranges, pears, kiwifruit, apples and grapes. Top with Creamy Orange Topping. Loosely cover with plastic wrap. Chill until serving time. Makes about 12 servings.

Creamy Orange Topping: Thoroughly combine 2 cups sour cream, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons orange juice concentrate and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

GARDEN SPAGHETTI
 2 packages (19.5 oz.) spaghetti dinner with meat sauce

2 tablespoons oil
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 2 small cloves garlic, minced
 1 green pepper, cut into chunks
 1 zucchini, cut into strips or 2 cups broccoli flowerettes
 1 1/2 cups fresh mushrooms, halved
 1 package (9 oz.) Italian green beans, thawed
 1 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 3/4 cup half-and-half

Cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile, in large skillet, heat oil; add onion, garlic and green pepper. Cook until onion is just tender. Stir in zucchini, mushrooms and beans. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Stir in cherry tomatoes, cheese and half-and-half.

Use spaghetti pot to toss together spaghetti and vegetable mixture. Heat canned sauce from package and serve over spaghetti-vegetable mixture. Serves 6 to 8.

STEAK CARRIBBEAN
 one-third cup orange juice
 1/4 cup dry red wine or wine vinegar
 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 1 tablespoon vinegar
 2 cloves garlic, crushed
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

1/2 teaspoon turmeric
 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 3 pound London broil
 Combine orange juice, wine, oil, vinegar, garlic, salt, pepper sauce, turmeric, ginger and mustard; mix well. Place steak in a shallow, flat dish. Cover. Marinate at room temperature 2 hours, turning occasionally. Broil meat to desired degree of doneness, basting with marinade. Serve remaining marinade with meat. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 6 to 8 servings.

More Acid-Rain Research Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Environmental Protection Agency, reacting to a draft report it commissioned, again insisted more acid-rain research is needed before it imposes new controls on industrial air pollution.

The report presented what environmentalists argue is significant evidence air pollution from Midwest utilities and industrial plants are the primary cause of acid rain in the Northeast United States and Canada.

EPA officials Monday disputed this interpretation of the 1,200-page report prepared by a team of 54 scientists under contract to the agency.

Acid rain, which has caused widespread environmental damage in North America and Europe, is formed in the atmosphere by a mixing of sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxides and water.

Assistant EPA Administrator Kathleen Bennett said without more research, the Reagan administration continues to oppose the imposition of pollution controls that would cost industries in the Midwest $5 billion to $7 billion annually for the next 20 to 25 years.

"We don't know that at the end of all that expense and effort we would save one lake in the Northeast," said Ms. Bennett.

She argued general conclusions cannot be drawn from the draft report because it does not yet have "integrated summaries which link the issues of transformation, transport and effects of acid rain."

In key findings, the two-year study said sulfur dioxide pollution in the United States east of the Mississippi River "doubled from 1950 to 1978," and "electric utility contributions tripled over this period and represent the major sulfur dioxide source."

It added, "the largest increases in emissions occurred in the Midwest, where utility and industrial fuel combustion account for at least 90 percent of the total sulfur dioxide emitted."

During that same period, researchers said, sulfur emissions in the New England dropped 20 percent.

Ms. Bennett contended air pollution controls in the United States already are more stringent than "any nation's in the world." She added, the administration has accelerated funding for research on acid rain in an effort to resolve the complex scientific debate within the next five years.

'Tuckers Witch' Magical Making

Rarely in television history have a series producer and a network agreed on anything more important than what day it is. But the making of this pilot was different. After viewing it both parties, Hill-Mandelker Productions and CBS, agreed: They loved the concept of a show featuring a husband and wife detective team, where the woman happens to be a witch.

However, for a series relying on witchcraft, the magic just wasn't there.

"We agreed that the show needed a different sort of chemistry in the lead players," explains series producer Phillip Mandelker, "so we decided to look further and recast. But CBS accepted the show without a cast or a title."

CATHERINE HICKS

'Square Pegs' Doesn't Really Fit

By DAVID HANDLER
"Square Pegs" wants to fit in with the teen crowd just as badly as its heroine, Patty Greene and Lauren Hutchinson, want to "click with the right clique" at Weemawee High. Which is to say, desperately.

Hence, this CBS sit-com brings some fresh youth-oriented elements to prime time. The wrapping paper around "Square Pegs" is hip all the way. The credits are of the New Wave video type we're used to seeing on "Saturday Night Live," a show that Anne Beatts, the producer of "Square Pegs," used to write for. The smart, off-hand theme song is likewise New Wave. The Waitresses sing it. Or talk it. Or whatever.

The show's structure is also a bit offbeat. Here is a high-school gang comedy with no parents or teachers as regular characters, no home-life scenes, no classroom scenes. All of the action is played out in the school corridors and cafeteria from the kids' point of view.

These new elements are most welcome. Anything fresh is welcome in prime time. But they are not enough to sell a show. You still watch a sit-com for two reasons — because you like the people and because it makes you laugh.

"Square Pegs" doesn't have people. It has types. And it doesn't have many laughs. Doesn't really try for them, actually. It's pleasant but it's gagless, curiously non-funny. Is non-funny humor another New Wave innovation? I don't know. Gee, I hope not.

Patty and Lauren are a reasonably likeable pair of freshmen who, as the title suggests, do not quite fit in. Patty (Sarah Jessica Parker) is skinny, brainy, bespectacled and carries a lunch box. Lauren (Amy Linker) is porky, pushy and metal-mouthed. They are not happy with their non-conformity. They are determined to be popular — even if it kills them.

Unfortunately for us the in-crowd is peopled by one-dimensional, idiotic types. This may be an accurate reflection of real life, but it doesn't play on TV. "Square Pegs" stumbles in its subsidiaries — that's how it plays. You tire of them quickly.

The ranking beauty is Jennifer (Tracy Nelson), who is a caricature of a pampered, sneering, suburban, shopping-mall girl. Every sentence out of her mouth is prefaced by "OK, like, uh..." She employs phrases like "Like, uh, gross me out the door" and is definitely brainless. "I think I, like, read a newspaper once, ya know?" (This kind of throwaway remark is what the show employs instead of yucks.)

The ranking goody-goody is, of course, named Muffy (Jami Gertz). She is always organizing school functions. She comes right out of the square sorority in "Animal House."

Since our heroines don't quite make it as socialites, their best friends turn out to be Johnny Slash (Merritt Buttrick), the school punk disciple with the one-word vocabulary — "totally" — and Marshall (John Femia), an abrasive, would-be stand-up comic who seems to have wandered in off the set of "Fame."

The situations seem to consist mostly of Lauren pushing Patty into social confrontations in the hope of achieving popularity. One week, she sends her after a handsome senior. Another week, she pushes her into trying out for the school musical. Patty lands the lead, and a kissing scene with Vinnie. Jennifer gets jealous. You can fill in the rest without my help.

"The show was renamed 'Tucker's Witch' because we felt the original title would attract too young an audience," explains Mandelker. "This is definitely not a children's show. It's a romantic, comedy, mystery, adventure show. It isn't 'Bewitched' either, because we take witchcraft seriously."

"Tucker's Witch," however, may need more than witchcraft to make it on

The funny bone got its name from the fact that the name for the bone running from the shoulder to the elbow is the humerus bone.

Chicken Roll-Ups

Tasty Entree Can Be Made Ahead

Economical chicken breasts can be stuffed with seasoned breadcrumbs and topped with cheese, salami and bacon, baked and then served with a white wine sauce.

These chicken roll-ups can be made ahead and reheated.

ALWAYS READY CHICKEN ROLL-UPS

- 8 slices bacon (about 1/4 pound), cut in half
- 1 can (12 fluid ounces) cocktail vegetable juice
- 1/2 cup Italian flavored fine dry bread crumbs
- 4 whole chicken breasts, split, skinned and boned (2 pounds boneless)
- 8 slices (about 4 ounces) provolone cheese
- 16 slices (about 8 ounces) salami
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/4 cup Chablis or other dry white wine
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 small clove garlic, minced

In skillet, partially cook bacon; remove. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons drippings; set aside. To make stuffing, in small bowl, combine one-third cup cocktail vegetable juice and bread crumbs. To make roll-ups, flatten chicken breast with flat side of knife to 1/4-inch thickness. Spread about 1 tablespoon stuffing on each chicken breast. Top with 2 pieces bacon, 1 slice cheese and 2 slices salami. Roll tightly. Secure with toothpicks. In skillet, brown roll-ups in drippings. Gradually blend remaining cocktail vegetable juice onto flour until smooth; pour over roll-ups. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; cook over low heat 20 minutes or until done. Stir occasionally. Makes 8 servings.

You may prepare ahead and refrigerate. To reheat in microwave, arrange roll-ups and 1/4 cup sauce for each in microwave-safe glass container. Microwave on HIGH. For one roll-up: 2 1/2 to 3 minutes or until hot. For two: 3 to 4 minutes or until hot. For four: 6 to 7 minutes or until hot.

1. Flatten chicken breasts with flat side of knife to 1/4 inch thickness.

2. Spread on stuffing and toppings. Roll tightly. Secure with toothpicks.

3. Make Always Ready Chicken Roll-Ups ahead, if desired, refrigerate and reheat.

Yogurt. Great Food For Busy Fall Fun Folks

Autumn activities often leave little time for cooking or eating healthy balanced meals, so it's essential to choose your foods wisely. Nutritional value should be just as important as convenience and taste.

Yogurt is a great food for the busy fall fun seeker because it can be eaten on the run, and it has many vital nutrients you need to make it through an autumn full of football games, walks in the woods and trick or treating.

People have enjoyed eating yogurt since biblical times, and for much the same reason we eat it today — its creamy goodness, tangy flavor and health-giving properties. Yogurt is rich in riboflavin, also known as vitamin B2. According to home economists at Shurline-Central Corporation, riboflavin helps our bodies release the energy locked in food — particularly important to people on the go. Yogurt is also rich in vitamins A and D, calcium and protein.

The word yogurt is Turkish, but this tangy-sour milk product is popular throughout the world. Armenians call it madzoon; Finns call it pilnnee; and Chileans, skuta. Francois I, king of France in the 16th Century, called it "le lait de vie eternelle" — the milk of eternal life. Genghis Khan fed his Mongol hordes yogurt, and Marco Polo was introduced to it during his travels to Cathay.

Yogurt is made by heating and fermenting milk. As the milk gets warm, it activates bacteria which cause the milk to curdle. The milk is transformed from its usual liquid state to a thick curdy, custard-like mass with a rich taste. In the United States and western Europe, yogurt is made with cows' milk, but it can also be made from camel, buffalo, goat or sheep milk.

FRUITFUL YOGURT QUICK BREAD

- 3 ounces dried apricots (about 1/4 cup firmly packed)
- 4 ounces dried prunes, pitted (about 1/4 cup firmly packed)
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs (large)
- 1 cup low-fat plain yogurt
- 10 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

1. Butter a 9x5 loaf pan. (See tips below) Dust inside with flour. Invert and tap to remove excess flour. Set aside. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

2. Chop fruits with 1/4 cup of the flour using knife or food processor (two 8-second on-off turns). Set aside.

3. Stir together dry ingredients. Set aside.

4. Beat eggs. Stir in yogurt, melted butter, sugar and almond extract. Stir in chopped fruit. Stir in dry ingredients until just blended. Pour into prepared loaf pan. Bake 56 to 60 minutes or until bread tests clean in the center with a toothpick.

5. Cool in pan on wire rack 30 minutes. Top with another wire rack and invert to remove from pan. Allow to cool completely. Makes 1 loaf.

TIPS: When using glass pan, reduce oven temperature 25 degrees and bake bread an extra 5 or 10 minutes.

Refrigerate (up to 1 week) or freeze (up to 3 months). Best if made at least 12 hours before serving. Wrap in plastic wrap or bag and refrigerate to enable flavors to blend and for easier slicing.

VARIATION: Replace apricots with an equal quantity of dried peaches; prunes with an equal amount of golden or dark (prettier) raisins. No need to chop raisins.

Microwave Magic

Quick Cranberry Bread In Minutes

Cranberries, the all American berry, are back on the produce counters once again. I usually get several bags just to freeze. The marketing time for the cranberry is short, October through December, or as long as the crop can be harvested. In some years, it has been difficult to find the berries at Christmas.

Cranberries are so versatile. They add such a flavor accent to meats, poultry, vegetables and breads. Keep several bags on hand to try this fall.

If you tried the Halloween Bread printed in this column two weeks ago, you would have found how easy a quick bread can be done in the microwave oven. This quick cranberry bread can be served also as a dessert.

CRANBERRY-PINEAPPLE BREAD

- 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1-3rd cup shortening
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

- 2 large eggs
 - 1/4 cup walnuts, chopped
 - 1/2 cup shredded coconut
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup quartered cranberries, fresh or frozen
 - 1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple
- Topping:
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

1/4 cup shredded coconut
Place all ingredients in large mixing bowl. Blend at low speed until all ingredients are moistened. Beat at medium speed 2 minutes.

Spread batter in 9 x 5-in. loaf dish lined on bottom with wax 7 paper. Shield ends of loaf dish with 2-in. wide strips of foil, covering 1 inch of batter and molding remainder around handles of loaf dish.

Center loaf dish on inverted saucer in oven. Microwave at 50 percent (Medium) 9 minutes, rotating 1/4 turn every 1 to 2 minutes. Increase power to High; microwave 2 to 4 minutes. Remove foil after 2 minutes, and rotate every 1 to 2 minutes.

Dust cooled loaf with confectioners' sugar or sprinkle with coconut during last cooking stage, if desired. When using fresh cranberries, drain pineapple and use only 1/4 cup of the liquid.

Microwave Hint: Use of foil is to prevent over baking at the corners of the loaf.

Dazzling Dessert Buffet

A welcome alternative to cocktail parties and sit-down dinners is setting out an inviting dessert buffet. This new way of entertaining is both innovative and cost saving. A well presented selection of desserts will delight friends after a movie, a dance or as an occasion all by itself.

Imported liqueurs transform ordinary desserts into extraordinary presentations. The Crepes au Courvoisier can be made ahead and refrigerated for up to three days or frozen even longer. Unlike the classic crepes Suzette, these crepes encase a nut filling and are served with a chocolate sauce.

Chocolate lovers will find full satisfaction in a moist fudge cake laced with Tia Maria liqueur. Guests who relish a lighter dessert will enjoy a slim slice of Inverness Cake, inspired by the famous Scottish liqueur, Drambuie. All go well with cognac, liqueurs or just coffee, and can be featured throughout the year.

RICH TIA MARIA FUDGE CAKE

- Batter:
- 1 1/2 cups water
 - 4 squares unsweetened chocolate
 - 1/2 cup softened butter
 - 1 3/4 cups sugar
 - 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 - 1-3 cup Tia Maria liqueur
 - 2 tablespoons hot coffee
 - 2 cups flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 eggs, lightly beaten

- Glaze:
- 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
 - 2 to 4 tablespoons milk
 - dash of vanilla extract

In a 1 1/2 quart saucepan, boil the water. Add the chocolate; reduce heat and gently simmer for 8 minutes, stirring often. Remove from heat. Add butter and sugars, stirring well to dissolve sugar. Let cool for 1 hour.

Preheat oven to 250 degrees F. Add Tia Maria and coffee to cooled chocolate mixture. Add dry ingredients, stirring well. Mixture will be slightly lumpy. Stir in lightly beaten eggs.

Four batter in a greased and floured standard tube pan. Bake for 1 1/4 hours or until cake tester comes out clean. Cool on rack and remove from pan. Spread glaze over cake.

In a mixing bowl, thin sugar with enough milk to give glaze a good spreading consistency. Stir in vanilla. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

CREPES AU COURVOISIER

- Basic Crepes:
- 3/4 cup plus 3 tablespoons sifted flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 3 large eggs
 - 2 tablespoons melted butter
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 3 tablespoons Courvoisier V.S.O.P.
 - 1 tablespoon sugar
 - 4 tablespoons melted butter mixed with 2 tablespoons vegetable oil (for greasing the pan)
- Sift flour and salt together and place in a bowl or blender. Add eggs, using blender at low speed. Add butter, milk, cognac and sugar and beat until batter is the consistency of thick cream. For best results, let batter stand for one hour before baking.

Bake crepes in a 5-inch well-buttered pan over medium high heat. Pour a little batter into the pan and tip the pan so the batter runs evenly over the entire surface. Brown on one side; then turn and brown on the other side. Stack crepes on a warm platter. The crepes may be refrigerated for as long as three days, warmed up, and used. They may also be frozen. Be sure they are completely defrosted before using.

- Filling:
- 4 apples, peeled and cored
 - 4 tablespoons butter
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 cup ground hazelnuts or walnuts
 - 1 teaspoon lemon rind
 - 3 tablespoons Courvoisier V.S.O.P.
- Slice each apple into 8 wedges. Sauté apple in butter and 2 tablespoons sugar until just tender. In a mixing bowl, combine remaining ingredients.

To assemble crepes, place 2 slices of apples on the upper third of each crepe. Sprinkle with nut mixture. Fold the bottom of crepe up and the two sides in, forming an opened package. Place crepes in a baking dish and bake for 15 minutes, or until heated through. Serve warm with chocolate sauce.

- Chocolate Sauce:
- 10 ounces semisweet chocolate
 - 1/2 cup Courvoisier V.S.O.P.
 - 1 1-3 cups sour cream
- Melt chocolate in a double boiler. Add Courvoisier and sour cream and blend well. Makes 16 filled crepes, or 8 servings.

DRAMBUIE INVERNESS CAKE

- 2 cups all-purpose sifted flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1 1/2 cups sugar
 - 3 eggs
 - 1/2 cup scalded milk
 - 5 tablespoons Drambuie
 - 1 cup apricot preserves, strained
 - 2 cups whipped cream
- In a large bowl combine flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt. In a separate bowl, cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Add 1 cup of flour to the butter. Then add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add the remaining flour, hot milk and 3 tablespoons Drambuie. Blend well. In a small saucepan heat the preserves with the remaining 2 tablespoons Drambuie.

Butter a standard loafpan (9 x 5 x 3). Pour the batter into the pan; bake in a preheated 350 degree F oven for 35-40 minutes or until a cake tester comes out clean. Cool in the pan for 10 minutes. Run a knife around the side of the pan and unmold the cake onto a rack. Brush hot preserves over hot cake, forming a thick glass. Transfer to platter. Serve hot or at room temperature with lightly sweetened whipped cream on the side. Makes 8 to 8 servings.

Come Home To Heritage Holidays

Bustling city or calm countryside — where you live — holidays are a time for remembering. Always, there is the haunting aroma of Christmas baking recalled from years past. Even as we welcome quick-and-easy recipes of the Eighties, there are those nostalgic ones who yearn for some semblance of made-from-scratch favorites. Welcome, then, a balance of contemporary desserts and classic desserts that have survived the decades. Who can resist moist coconut cake or rich sweet cooking chocolate pie? Linked with heritage, here is a mini-collection of recipes from the Baker's chocolate and coconut family. Several recipes appeared in recipe booklets in the 1920s; others were featured on packages through the Fifties and Sixties. Over the years, the basic concept of each recipe has remained intact during retesting and revision to meet current life-styles.

Angel Flake coconut with real cream of coconut in it does honors to a whimsical Snowball Cake, today's version of the traditional two-layer coconut cake. Originally developed from a 1954 "scratch" cake recipe, the dessert promises easy preparation as well as an abundance of moist, creamy flaked coconut.

Rich, full-flavored German's sweet chocolate, a favorite since 1852, lends its own irresistible blend of chocolate flavor to Chocolate Angel Pie, an early Fifties recipe. Quick Coconut Crust, also featured on early packages, complements the fluffy sweet cooking chocolate pie filling.

PINEAPPLE-COCONUT DROPS

1 3/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1-3rd cut butter or margarine
2-3rd cup firmly packed brown sugar
1-3rd cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 can (8 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple in syrup, drained
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1-3rd cup chopped walnuts
1 1-3rd cups (about) flaked coconut
Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Cream butter. Gradually beat in sugars and continue beating until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Combine pineapple and soda; add to egg mixture. (Mixture may appear curdled.) Stir in walnuts and coconut; blend in flour mixture. Drop from teaspoon onto greased baking sheets. Garnish with halved maraschino cherries, if desired. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

SNOWBALL CAKE

1 package (2-layer size) chocolate cake mix or pudding-included cake mix
1/2 cup raspberry jam or use orange marmalade, or apricot or cherry preserves.
1 container (8 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 1-3rd cups (about) flaked coconut
Prepare cake mix as directed on package, baking in three 8-inch layer pans at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes. Trim 1/2-inch ring from outer edge of 2 of the layers. Assemble cake, spreading jam between layers and placing the trimmed layers on bottom and top, with the full layer in the middle. Frost with whipped topping, rounding edges to resemble the shape of a ball. Sprinkle with coconut. Store in refrigerator.

CHOCOLATE ANGEL PIE

2 packages (4 oz. each) sweet cooking chocolate
1/4 cup water
2 envelopes whipped topping mix
1 baked 9-inch Quick Coconut Crust, cooled
Heat chocolate with water in saucepan over low heat, stirring until chocolate is melted. Cool until thickened. Prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package; blend in melted chocolate. Spoon into Quick Coconut Crust and chill at least 2 hours. Garnish with additional whipped topping and chocolate curls, if desired.
Quick Coconut Crust: Combine 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted, and 2 cups flaked coconut. Evenly press into an ungreased 9-inch pie pan. Bake at 300 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool.

DOUBLE-DECK BROWNIES

2-3rd cup unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1-3rd cup butter or shortening, melted
1-3rd cup flaked coconut
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 1/4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Gradually add sugar to eggs, beating thoroughly. Blend in butter. Add flour mixture and mix well. Pour 1/2 cup of batter into a small bowl; stir in coconut and almond extract. Add chocolate to remaining batter and spread evenly in greased 8-inch square pan. Drop coconut batter by teaspoonfuls over chocolate batter in pan; then spread carefully to form a thin even layer. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool in pan on rack. Cut in bars or squares. Makes about 20.

COCONUT LACE WAFERS

1/2 cup unsifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup light molasses
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2-3rd cup flaked coconut
2 squares semi-sweet chocolate, melted
Mix flour with baking powder and soda. Combine sugar, molasses and butter in saucepan. Bring to a full boil and cook 1 minute. Remove from heat. Add flour mixture and coconut; mix well. Drop by half teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased baking sheet. (Bake only about 9 wafers at a time for ease in handling.) Bake at 360 degrees for 5 to 8 minutes. Cool slightly; then remove carefully from baking sheet, using a thin spatula. If wafers harden on pan, return to oven for a few minutes. Drizzle melted chocolate over cookies. Makes about 2 1/2 dozen cookies.
Note: Baked cookies may be removed carefully from baking sheet and rolled quickly while still warm over handle of wooden spoon. Cool and fill with whipped topping.

COCONUT MACAROONS

1 1-3rd cups (about) flaked coconut
1-3rd cup sugar
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
Combine coconut, sugar, flour and salt in mixing bowl. Stir in egg whites and almond extract; mix well. Drop from teaspoon onto lightly greased baking sheets. Garnish with candied cherry halves, if desired. Bake at 325 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes, or until edges of cookies are golden brown. Remove from baking sheets immediately. Makes about 1 1/2 dozen.

Pineapple-Coconut Drops and Snowball Cake, both from the Fifties era, join older favorites and new innovations for a truly sweet holiday season.

Down-Home Feast Turkey Synonymous With Holidays

Despite all the changes in today's fast-paced world, our reverence for the holidays and the joyous ritual of holiday cooking remains the same.

Since the colonists' first Thanksgiving in 1621, for example, very little has changed on our feast table. We can be as grateful now as Miles Standish and Priscilla Alden were for bounteous produce, a wealth of fragrant pies and breads and, of course, our native American bird, turkey.

Turkey is synonymous with holiday feasting! Let's bring back images of our great-grandmothers cooking at a cast-iron stove with gingham aprons...and recapture the tastes and scents of a good old-fashioned, down-home turkey with stuffing.

Country Stuffing would have made our forebears proud. It wraps up all the time-honored ingredients of herbs and celery in the stuffing, with the pleasantly crunchy texture of pecans and the subtle sweetness of apples.

The perfect topping to turkey is a creamy Giblet Gravy. Its pureed carrots and celery give body and nutrients to the gravy, with flavor enhancer harmonizing all flavors.

Fortunately, the more some things change, the more our holiday feasts stay the same!

Want more tempting turkey ideas? Ask for the Ac'cent Down-Home Chef Sarah Row's free recipe booklet. "Talkin' Turkey" features practical turkey tips and a dozen recipes. To request it, send your name and address to "Talkin' Turkey," Ac'cent International, 131 East Street, Westwood, Mass. 02090.

OVEN-ROASTED HOLIDAY TURKEY

1 turkey (12 pounds), thawed if frozen, reserve giblets
3 to 4 teaspoons flavor enhancer
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
Remove neck and giblets from turkey; set aside for use in Giblet Gravy. Wash turkey inside and out under cold running water. Sprinkle inside cavity and outside of bird with flavor enhancer, salt and pepper. Spoon Sarah's Country Stuffing lightly into turkey neck and body cavity; do not pack tightly. Truss turkey closed and turn wing tips under. Baste turkey with melted butter. Place on rack in shallow, open roasting pan, breast-side-up. Cover loosely with aluminum foil. Roast in a 350 degree F. oven 3 to 3 1/2 hours or until a meat thermometer in breast meat registers 185 degrees F. or until juices run clear when the thickest part of the thigh is pierced with a fork. Let turkey rest 20 minutes before carving. YIELD: 8 servings.

GIBLET GRAVY

3 cups water
Giblets from turkey
1 medium onion, sliced
1 stalk celery, cut in chunks
1 large carrot, cut in chunks
1 teaspoon flavor enhancer
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
5 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup heavy cream
In medium saucepan combine water, giblets, onion, celery, carrot, flavor enhancer, salt and pepper. Simmer 1 hour, until giblets are tender. Remove giblets and reserve. Reserve broth. In a blender or by forcing vegetables through a sieve with the back of a spoon, puree vegetables; add to broth. Finely dice giblets. Remove turkey from roasting pan to heated platter. Drain all but 3 tablespoons fat from pan. Stir in flour, cook 1 minute. Gradually add turkey broth. Stir until all browned meat drippings from pan dissolve. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Stir in chopped giblets and heavy cream. Cook until heated through. YIELD: About 4 cups gravy.

COUNTRY STUFFING

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped celery with leaves
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 cups chicken broth
2 packages (8 ounces each) prepared stuffing
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
1 1/2 teaspoons flavor enhancer
1/2 teaspoon dried leaf thyme, crumbled
1/4 teaspoon dried leaf basil, crumbled
1/4 teaspoon dried leaf rosemary, crumbled
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
1 cup coarsely chopped cored, pared apple
In large saucepot melt butter; saute celery and onion until tender. Add broth; bring to a boil. Remove from heat. Add stuffing, parsley, flavor enhancer, thyme, basil, rosemary, pecans and apple; mix gently. Spoon stuffing lightly into turkey neck and body cavity. YIELD: About 3 quarts, or enough for a 12 to 16 pound turkey.

Oven roasted turkey is what holidays are all about.

New Milk Is Specially Digestible

Dutch-developed enzyme reduces lactose in milk. It makes milk more digestible for whole segment of the population. LactAid specially Digestible Milk is now available in local supermarkets.

For 30 million Americans drinking a glass of milk is not a simple thing. In fact, milk gives them various gastric problems including cramps, gas and even diarrhea. Doctors have identified the problem as "lactose intolerance".

It is caused by a low level or absence of the body enzyme that normally digests the lactose in milk. The problem affects mainly older people but many children as well. It also seems to be more common among Central and Southern Europeans, Blacks, Asians and Latin Americans.

It is estimated that there are more than a half million consumers in Florida who are lactose intolerant, and therefore have problems digesting milk.

This enzyme, LactAid, has proved extremely effective in making milk more digestible for lactose intolerant people. It takes most of the lactose out of milk. The product is now available in quart size in area food stores. It is being marketed by LongLife Dairy Products of Jacksonville, a division of Beatrice Foods.

Robert Breitenfeld, Sales Manager of LongLife, made the following comments at a recent meeting at which the new product was introduced: "We are proud to be able to make this new scientific development available to those consumers in our area who have problems digesting the lactose in milk. LactAid milk will make it possible for those who cannot digest the lactose in milk to enjoy milk again. Everyone knows the importance of milk in the daily diet. From now on people who are lactose intolerant can benefit from milk's essential nutrients. LactAid is one of the most important developments in milk technology during the last 50 years."

He pointed out that LactAid milk can be used in every way that regular milk is used: drinking, cooking and making any food with milk as an ingredient.

LactAid Inc. of Pleasantville, N.J. is the exclusive marketer of the Dutch enzyme in the United States. The company has spent over seven years researching the product in leading medical schools and hospitals. The company is also working with public and private agencies in the area to make the product available to senior citizens and school children all of who have a special need for milk's nutrients, especially calcium.
