CUBAN AFFAIRS CONTINUE TO BE CRITICAL

Question Of Machado Resignation Placed Before National Executive Committee

The question of whether President Machado shall resign his post to bring peace to Cuba, now under a formally declared state of war as result of the menace of revolution, was placed before the national executive committee of Machado's liberal party at Havana.

Despite efforts of the Cuban government and mediation by the United States, and Ambassador Welles, the general strike continued.

In Santiago the military supervisor issued an edict ordering all stores to re-open within five days or be considered revolutionaries.

General Mario G. Menocal, former president of Cuba and leader of the opposition, watched from his home in Miami, declaring that Cuban affairs are "rapidly nearing a solution."

In Hyde Park, N. Y., President Roosevelt was assured by Representative Fish, of New York, ranking Republican member of foreign affairs committee, of united support in whatever action he deems necessary to restore order in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Stepping directly into Cuba's political crisis, embroiled by a deposed state of war, the nation's highest officials last night expressed "deep concern at the turn of events" but indicated faith in continued mediation rather than military intervention.

Secretary Hull, a law specialist in the world of President Machado's war decree was flashed through diplomatic and press channels, formally expressed "confidence" in the ability of Ambassador Sumner Welles as a mediator.

Welles recently presented to Machado a proposal by various island factions that he take a leave of absence after appointing a secretary of state acceptable to the various leaders.

Nevertheless, the increased gravity of the island crisis last night brought both concern and an air of tenaciousness to the state department.

The secretary of state told newspapermen he was following "hour by hour" the developments in Havana and Cuba. Frequent telephonic communication was maintained with the American embassy in Havana. Wireless were kept open also, with the summer White House at Hyannis Park, New York.

Hull said he had no doubt that President Roosevelt, in his conference yesterday with Oscar B. Chiles, the Cuban ambassador, arranged by telephone through the state department, had expressed to him "our deep concern."

A statement from the President after this conference, urging the restoration of peace in Cuba as "of such immediate importance that even political problems should be set aside in the most patriotic spirit," was interpreted at the state department.

Pains Removed From Bite Of Former Bank

These large Washington palms were removed this morning from the driveway adjoining the former Sanford-Atlantic National Bank Building and taken to the City Hall where city workmen repaired them along the alleyway on the southeast corner of the grounds.

The palms were donated to the city by officials of the bank, as were several shrubs which will be transplanted to a beautification program now under way.

Removal of these palms follows the announcement last week that the Florida-Wright firm will use the old bank building as a temporary office space. The city will remove the palms and shrubs from the grounds. Magistrate J. H. Blythe, who is in charge of the job which is being done with a contract

Use Of Blue Eagles In Ads Called Okey

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, yesterday indicated his warning against misuse of the blue eagle as having no effect on its publication in newspaper advertisements.

"Another misinterpretation is in relation to a notice warning people against racketeers who are attempting to get people using the blue eagle to pay for inclusion in a so-called roll of honor," Johnson said.

"Some people have construed this as preventing newspapers from selling advertising space for the sale of securities of blue eagle firms and individuals. That is absurd. The N. R. A. wants all publicity given to the use of the emblem and, obviously, there are no strings on the newspapers as to the form, shape, size, or character of their ads so long as the advertisers are bona fide members of the blue eagle fraternity."

COTTON GROWERS RECEIVE BIG SUM FOR THEIR CROPS

Dixie Planters Take
In $72,463,000 More
This Year Than Last

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10.—Southern planters pocketed $72,463,000 more for their 1932-33 cotton crop than they received the year before, it was revealed yesterday in the annual report of H. G. Hester, secretary emeritus of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

The past season's crop brought $329,299,751, compared to $256,836,553 for the 1931-32 season, with marketings 180,854 bales higher.

Hester said the past season, for (Continued on Page Three)

Possibility Seen Of Hotel Opening By Public Utility

Possibility that the municipally owned Mayfair hotel may soon be opened to the traveling public is mentioned in an announcement by Mayor V. A. Speer that he has learned from officials of the Florida Public Service Co. that they have contacted persons who are interested in this property.

It was learned that Public Service officials have been establishing such contacts for several weeks. W. W. Kennedy, Orlando official of the company, yesterday stated that his concerns have a department which concerns itself with "retail" manufacturing plants, large business institutions, or hotels which have been operating in territory supplied with electricity or gas by the company.

This department is in charge of F. B. Bakeman, he said, who had telegraphed him yesterday that "I have contact interested in Mayfair Hotel. Should have complete information on same by Friday."

Some days ago, Mr. Bakeman had written Mr. Kennedy to say that "I will be glad to receive data on the Mayfair Hotel, and upon receipt, I will immediately discuss the same with several contacts which we have established."

'Problem Youth' Held On Charge Of Murder

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—(AP)—John J. Henkel, 16-year-old "problem youth" is being returned here from Meridian, Miss. after confessing, police said, that he beat to death Oliver S. Baily, 27-year-old insurance broker and local society man.

Moving swiftly a Hamilton county grand jury returned two indictments charging Henkel with first degree murder and murder with "pick" manufacturing plants, large business institutions, or hotels which have been operating in territory supplied with electricity or gas by the company.

TAMPA CIGAR MAKERS WALK OUT ON STRIKE

Make Statement Refusing To Return Until Industry Signs N. R. A. Agreement

TAMPA, Aug. 10.—Eight thousand Tampa cigarmakers refused to return to work yesterday morning in accordance with a decision at a mass meeting Tuesday night. Only one of the larger factories, Hav-a-Tampa, and a few small ones were meeting.

After a meeting last night a committee announced that workers at the Hav-a-Tampa factory would quit work this morning.

The workers sent a message to manufacturers that the "lapse of employment" would continue until the industry signed the N. R. A. code with a wage scale based on prices paid here in 1929.

Factory heads, who have been working on a clear code for Florida for more than two months, called a meeting in the morning at headquarters of the Cigar Manufacturers Association and decided there was nothing they could do now inasmuch as a special application of President Roosevelt's blanket code is now being considered for Florida by the national recovery act administration.

"We are unable to adopt any program with relation to wages and working conditions until our government advises us in response to our application," manufacturers said in a statement.

The statement, which is printed in full in The Tribune this morning, deplored the action of the workers as "unfortunate and unjust" and detrimental to the cause of the workers as well as of the factory owners; it pledged support of the recovery program with "willingness to make all the necessary sacrifices."

The plan finally agreed upon will permit us to remain in business."

The only other formal action taken at the meeting was adoption of a motion instructing K. L. McKay, attorney for the association, to continue his efforts in work out with the recovery administration a code for Florida.

While manufacturers were in session, workers gathered on the streets and at the labor temple, but there was no disorder. Chief of Police Logan kept two shifts on the job and sheriff's deputies patrolled the manufacturing centers but all gatherings were orderly and good natured.

The Hav-a-Tampa cigar factory was the only large organization that continued to operate, and although idle workers gathered around the plant they were quiet and did not interfere with men and women going to and returning from their jobs.

Oviedo-Winter Park Road Work To Begin

Reconstruction of State Road No. 102 leading from Oviedo to Orange county line at the Winter Park city limits will get under way at once, it was learned here today. The project totals an expenditure of $42,000.

State Road Department workmen yesterday were busy removing road machinery from flat cars at the Goldenrod station. Rock and other material will be unloaded within the next few days, it was reported.

Under present plans, the nine-foot highway now being used is to be torn up and replaced with an 18-foot highway eight inches thick. The new road will be surfaced and approximately two months time will be required to complete the six and one-half mile stretch of road.

It was learned today that Seminole County labor exclusively will be used in building this road. This labor will be recruited through the Seminole County Welfare Board.

Mayo Lawyers Make Arsenic Trial Move

LAKELAND, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Attorneys for Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo moved to have non-Polk county growers excluded from the case in which a group of grapefruit growers from a number of counties is seeking to enjoin Mayo from enforcing the state's anti-arsenic law as applied to grapefruit. The motion was made but not acted upon as Judge H. C. Petteway began hearing the case here.

Mayo's attorneys claimed the judge was without jurisdiction over growers located outside Polk county.

PRICE FIXING BY MILK DEALERS IS GIVEN SETBACK

Temporary Injunction
Is Granted Against
Milk Control Board

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Circuit Judge A. J. Long yesterday granted a temporary injunction against the Florida milk control board from enforcing an order fixing prices of milk in the Gainesville area.

The ruling came in a suit attacking the constitutionality of the state's milk control law.

While the judge included no written opinion in his order, he informed counsel he did not believe such an emergency exists in Florida as would permit the Legislature to take such action.

Arrangements Made
For Program Tonight

Featuring tonight's free entertainment and concert offered by the Sanford Concert Orchestra and assisting talent will be sung by Miss Pauline Moran, the Kuss sisters, John Dighton, and "Pop and Sunshine," vocalists and instrumentalists.

The concert, one of a series of several that will be played here this summer, will be rendered from a bandstand on the Court House lawn. The concert starts at 8:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Owen To Speak To U. S. On Recovery

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Ruth Bryan Owen, minister to Denmark and former Florida congresswoman, will make a radio address to the U. S. on the Atlantic talk of late this month in support of President Roosevelt's emergency re-employment plan, recovery headquarters announced today.

All White And Black Public Schools Of County Slated To Open On Oct. 2

Contingent upon the arrival of sufficient funds with which to operate for one month all white and colored schools of Seminole County will open on Oct. 2, it was announced at a meeting of the Board of Public Instruction yesterday.

Slating of white teachers for the 1933-34 term was the feature of the meeting. Except for appointment of teachers at Lyman High School, the Board has completed this portion of its preliminary and routine work of insuring the smooth operation of all schools.

Only six new teachers have been named this year, it was announced. Among them is R. G. "Bob" Pittman, Jr., of Apopka, recent graduate of the University of Florida and one of that school's outstanding athletic figures for the past three years. He was named as assistant principal at Oviedo High School. Before members of the Board set to the task of approving teachers' names as recommended by the trustees of the various districts, S. F. Thoudy gave a short talk on the Pugh Bill and how it may affect the school system during the coming year.

Belief was expressed, following his talk, that there will be an increase in school revenues over those of last year. If the privilege of the Pugh Bill are taken advantage of, it was pointed out that there is a possibility that Seminole County may yet have eight month school terms.

The 1933-34 white teachers of

EVIL "RUMORS" ARE SCORED BY FRANK EVANS

Local Recovery Leader Launches Attack Against Circulation Of Slandering Lies

Branding numerous rumors and evil rumors that have been circulated in Sanford recently as "malicious and slanderous lies against the good names and reputations of our citizens," General Frank Evans late yesterday afternoon charged members of the local N. R. A. Campaign Advisory Committee that "it is our duty and that of every patriotic citizen to run these stories down and expose them as the fabrications they are."

As a result of his plea that definite action be taken against the persons known to be the originators of these rumors, members of the committee voted to delegate to Colonel R. A. Newman the authority to name a committee which will investigate every charge of this type.

This committee will make public the names of all persons found (Continued On Page Three)

Past Exalted Elk Rulers To Receive Honors Tomorrow

Past exalted rulers of Sanford Elks Lodge No. 2141 will be honored tomorrow night at a reception attendant to the regular meeting, starting at 8:00 o'clock.

According to Howard Ovel, secretary of the Lodge, similar meetings are being held in many Florida cities. It will mark the first time that all 1933 past exalted rulers will have been honored at one meeting here in many years, he said.

Therefore, he added, it is hoped that all Elks will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend what promises to be an interesting get-together meeting. Entertainment will be provided and refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Secretary Ovel named the following as some of the past exalted rulers who will be honored tomorrow night:

—Rex Packard, H. B. Odham, W. E. Ladd, E. F. Homboldt, Joe Waldner, O. P. Herndon, Rev. A. S. Peck, R. L. Peck, G. J. Marshall, and J. E. Ritchie.

Widow Of Captain Deeds Sad And Perplexed When Second Woman Claims Him

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Sad and perplexed, Mrs. Betty Deeds flew here yesterday when the body of the soldier of fortune she regarded as her husband was being escorted home by another woman who asserts she is the widow of Capt. F. M. Deeds, World War hero killed in a plane crash in China.

The woman accompanying the body home from San Francisco is an ex-actress, Mrs. Marie Hennessy Shirley Deeds, who said she became the bride of the flier in China, where he was an instructor, four days before the fatal crash.

With the arrival of Captain Deeds' body, Mrs. Deeds expects to meet her rival face to face. In fact, she had already met Marie Hennessy Shirley Deeds, who said she became the bride of the flier in China, where he was an instructor, four days before the fatal crash.

"The truth was not enough," she sobbed at the home of Mrs. Allice Pavin, mother of the dead flier, "but when all this came up it almost has been too much."

"We had been married seven years and were living in Hollywood," she continued. "He had a home here, but I didn't want to go and didn't want him to go, either."

S. O. SHINHOLSER MAKES SPEECH ON RECOVERY ACT

Attacks Spreading Of Rumors Designed To Create Disturbance

Definite agencies are at work attempting, by the spreading of false rumors, to create unrest and confusion and to defeat the National Recovery Act, City Commissioner S. O. Shinholser told Sanford citizens yesterday during a talk on the N. R. A.

Too often, he said, these rumors are given credence by certain groups who do not wish to take the time to investigate the truth or falsity of the rumors, so that it becomes the obligation of all patriotic Americans to stamp out propaganda of this type.

This can be done most effectively, he said, by allowing no rumor to pass to another ear. "We have many ways in which we can easily check up on every one of these rumors," he said.

"And we should avail ourselves of these ways rather than carelessly passing rumors on to another."

Mr. Shinholser's talk was primarily a detailed story of his recent trip to Washington where he sat in on the formation of the National Lumberman's Code that is now pending a decision.

When he had concluded this portion of his talk, he turned to the President's Agreement with the statement that the "blanket code is not a final resting place for any code."

He stated that the blanket code is having a telling effect upon those groups of industries which had been lagging behind in preparing a national code for approval, and that in this way, one of the intentions of the blanket code is being carried out.

Directing his remarks to those persons who are doubting the wisdom of the N. R. A., Mr. Shinholser quoted General Hugh Johnson as having told the lumbermen that "This is no time to question the wisdom of the Act. It should have been questioned before President Roosevelt signed the bill if at all."

Answering the question "Will the plan go over?" Mr. Shinholser stated that it is part of a general (Continued On Page Four)

FEDERAL MEN ARE LAD OFF BY NEW PLAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The President's modified governmental reorganization plan went into effect today involving around 10,000 employees of whom about 900 must look for other jobs.

The prohibition bureau was transferred into the justice department's new division of investigation, causing 600 workers to be dropped. The merger of the investigation and naturalization bureau of the labor department meant that 275 employees will be jobless.

The placing of the United States Shipping Board and the Merchant Fleet Corporation under the commerce department is expected to bring consolidation of positions later but no workers will now be dropped. The changes are expected to cut expenditures $5,000,000.

Office of public buildings and public parks of the national capital; national memorial commission; Rock Creek and Potomac parkway commission; Arlington Memorial bridge commission; duties to the national park service, which becomes the office of national parks, buildings and recreations.

The bureau of immigration and naturalization are consolidated into a bureau of immigration and naturalization, while the federal board for vocational education, heretofore an independent unit, becomes an advisory board with its functions placed in a division of the office of education of the interior department.

Major phases of the reorganization plan postponed until Dec. 31, are:

Establishment of a division of procurement in the treasury to succeed the several hundred units now obtaining supplies, and formation of a division of disbursing in that department to succeed the $200 agencies attending to that duty now.

Consolidation of the bureau of internal revenue and industrial alcohol into a division of internal revenue, likewise put off until Dec. 31 or sooner if Secretary Woodin works out a plan.

Abolition of the prohibition bureau brings to an end its long effort to enforce the 18th Amendment, of its 1800 employees, all discharged, approximately 1200 are to be re-employed immediately in the division of investigation.

John S. Hurley, assistant director of the bureau, becomes head of the prohibition unit of the investigation division. Officials did not expect a place would be given A. V. Delany, prohibition director. He has been mentioned, however, for other government positions.

The prohibition bureau was established in 1927, succeeding the prohibition enforcement unit of the internal revenue bureau, created in 1920.

The prohibition bureau hopes to have ready by the week-end the names of officials in its new administrative set-up. A number of administrators will be left off the rolls along with other officials.

Hurley and other officials expected "no material change" in enforcement, but said that with 600 fewer workers, there would be more difficulty in carrying on their activities.

Challenge Of Crime Answered By Judges

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Judges are answering challenges of crime with action to put gunmen behind prison bars.

Threats of death sent to judges followed almost immediately by the sentencing of two more men to prison bringing to 66 the total of alleged offenders sentenced since local authorities began an intensive drive 10 days ago to clear the dockets of criminal cases.

Judge Joseph B. David, who was one of the magistrates threatened, promptly sentenced Lester Brown to a maximum of one year to life for robbery and sentenced Jerry Ford, reputed member of the Rogers Touhy gang, to three months for having a gun.

10,000 Workers Are Affected By Reor- ganization Program Of F. D. Roosevelt

Man Held In Gotham Upon Request Of Jax

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Jurien Seaman, Brooklyn, is being held on a governor's warrant issued at the request of Jacksonville police. Seaman is charged with four others with obtaining $181,000 from the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville in 1933 through passing forged checks.

OIL TANKER EXPLODES

Feds Await Morrow Firm In Determination To Give Tigers Real Beating Here

CENTRAL FLORIDA LEAGUE
Cocoa 4 4 .582
Orlando 5 5 .513
Daytona 7 9 .438
Sanford 8 9 .522
Leesburg 9 11 .455
New Smyrna 11 11 .500

Not worried in the least over having lost a third straight exhibition game to the DeLand Reds yesterday afternoon at Municipal Park, Manager Charlie Abbott and his Caferycks today were taking tomorrow's game with Orlando, a game that should fill Municipal Park to the rafters of the grandstand.

Yesterday the Tigers took a real beating, from the Daytona Beach Islanders and as a result the Tigers were knocked out of the league lead into a tie with the Cocoa Indians.

The game was the last one which Lefty Jack Baker will pitch for Orlando, for he left for Cleveland and a big sugar mill where he was called back to work today. That means that the Tiger hurling staff is limited to Lefty Flora and Tex Carleton.

That also means that Flora will "chuck" here tomorrow against Sanford. He is the curly-haired lad who held Sanford to six hits and beat them 2 to 0 in the all-important game of the first half. He has won nine and lost four games this season, and is considered a pretty fair hurler.

Manager Abbott today was planning to start either Lefty Lane or Lefty Geiger against the Tigers tomorrow. Lane is ready for work but he hasn't been in Sanford since Monday and this morning Abbott hadn't contacted him. Abbott was told by Lane that he is ready to pitch Thursday, however.

Geiger, who has looked pretty good in three exhibition tilts this year, may get the starting call. He should have no trouble with the slipping Tigers, but if either he or Lane do get into trouble, Cal Dennis will be sent into the breach pronto. Dennis, by the way, was reported as wanting his release yesterday as did Tiger Minor. Both players were given assurance by the new director that their salary troubles would be taken care of from now on, so they both changed their minds about leaving Sanford.

Manager Abbott today announced the release of Pope Mize, outfielder who came here on Lee Crowe's recommendation. At the same time Abbott signed Q. L. Roberts, former Gator player who played in the Northeast Florida League this year. Roberts and Big Phillips, a third-baseman, are expected to be here tonight.

If they arrive, Phillips will start at third, Cruze will be on second, and Manager Abbott will be in the outfield. Roberts and Pete Scifirard will be on the bench awaiting call if either Phillips, Cruze or Abbott falters one whit. Manager Charlie is ready to pull himself, or any of his players, out of the game if he sees that they are impotent against any sort of pitching in the league. He'll be more anxious to do this tomorrow in view of the fact that the game is highly important. If the Feds lose, things will be in anything but satisfactory shape for the season is growing shorter.

The Leesburg Bruins will be at home playing a double-header with the hustling Daytona Beach team. Lee Meadows, former big-leaguer is scheduled to oppose Kent Greenfield, another ex-big timer in the seven-inning second game, while Jo-Jo Check will oppose Lefty Knowles or Lefty Witt in the first game. The Islanders have made only one appearance in Leesburg this year, and with their play highly improved it is expected that the park will be packed and jammed and that home runs will be coming thick and fast.

The Cocoa Indians will be at New Smyrna giving the Crackers a beating, and going further into the league lead.

From all indications it today appears that the Feds will beat the Tigers, the Islanders and the Bruins will split a pair of games and the Indians will beat the Crackers.

Tomorrow's tilt will start at 3:30 o'clock. Club officials are hopeful that the fans will flock out in great numbers. The natural drawing power of the two teams should be taxed for this tilt, they stated as they promised a real game between the two best clubs in the league.

ISLANDERS BUMP TIGERS FROM 1ST PLACE IN LEAGUE

Daytona Pounds Out 17 Hits To Score 7 To 5 Win In Wild Contest

ORLANDO, Aug. 9.—Daytona's Islanders swung their trusty willows with a vengeance yesterday and 17 baseballs rattled to the far reaches of Tinker Field, the resulting runs toppling Orlando's Tigers into a tie with Cocoa for the top rung in the Central Florida League standings, when they came up with the short end of a 7-5 tally.

Old George Cusack pitched a masterpiece for the beach club into the ninth inning. When the first two Tigers died, both to Big Joiner who took Shannon's place at first base for the Islander's in the eighth, the veteran seemed well on the way to a five-hit win.

The Tigers went down fighting. Prof Reed singled off Joiner's glove. Charley Sands screamed one over Gordon Aggar's head at short-stop and the ball came to life. When MacMullen singled to drive Reed across and sent Sands to third the tying runs were on the sacks.

Johnny Culbreath rushed Kent Greenfield in from the bull pen. Greenfield, a former pitcher for the New York Giants and the Boston Braves, had been situations like this in much faster company on many an occasion. He wasn't bothered at all that Nell Williams, one of the steadiest hitters

IN A PINCH IN THE LEAGUE, WAS THE NEW HITTER.

Working carefully Greenfield got two strikes on the Orlando manager, then made him swing at a fast spinning curve ball. Williamson hit it sharply to Aggar but he was thrown out by feet and the game was over.

It wasn't Orlando's day. Twice they had come from behind to knot the count only to see the Islanders assault both "Tex" Carleton, whom they drove from the hill under a barrage of six hits in one and two-thirds innings, and Lefty Jack Baker, whom they cracked for 11 safeties.

IN LEAGUE WITH THE BABIES

WHEN LITTLE girls wore copper-toed boots and tight-waisted dresses, and little boys wore kilts—what of the babies? Swathed in yards of clothes. Scrubbed with unknown soaps. Few of them expected to live during the dreaded second summer. Many of them suffering countless ailments because nobody knew what to do.

A glance back only a generation or so is enough to reveal how fortunate babies are today. Now there are soft, cool soaps . . . every aid in food that care and knowledge can prepare . . . sensible, light little clothes . . . and such knowledge of sanitation and control of disease that every little baby should live and grow.

Mothers are indebted to advertisements for their news of these nursery aids . . . just as they are indebted for news of fascinating menus, fadeless curtains, sprightly dinnerware. Constantly, ways are being devised to make life happier, more comfortable for baby, the whole family. Laboratories clean and bright are scenes of goods being tested—being made safe and pure. When the testing is over, the perfecting done—advertisements hasten the goods to you.

No longer marvel (the next time you buy something widely known) at how fresh, immaculate, fine it is. These qualities you can be sure of in buying advertised merchandise . . . qualities you must be sure of in buying for the health of babies, children, any one.

It is surprising how timely and vital the news in advertisements can be! Read them regularly.

Wonder if the recovery codes sent to hospitals and sanitariums.

Some men never reach the top because they start at the top and work down.

Columbus discovered America all right, but it remained for Franklin D. Roosevelt to recover it.

Adolph Hitler has put his foot in it again. He has just ruled that women cannot appear at public gatherings with rouge or lipstick on their faces.

Walt Rogers says we helped Cuba run the Spaniards out so the Cubans could put on a real fight. Look like that's what they're going to do too.

We wish that the Amalgamated Association of Horseshoes and Amalgams would draw up a code reducing their work hours to about 30 a week, with an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime.

Roman has it that many business men who have signed the President's Agreement are violating it. Roman also says that many who are not complying with it are violating it. Damn Roman and his present old lady.

Montague Norman of the Bank of England is set to be an ally to this country to take part in the discussion concerning the stabilizing of the American dollar, or as some people call it, the "back-to-the-barn movement."

A headline the other day which read something like this: So and so Explains National Recovery Act. It stands as the story of the student who was doing peacefully while the professor explained that practically no one understood the Einstein Theory of Relativity.

John Albrecht makes an excellent suggestion to farmers who so far have not been affected in their payrolls by the NRA. But the NRA doesn't shine on the same dog's tail all the time, and employees of all kinds of labor, whether agricultural or otherwise, sooner or later will have to increase the size of their pay envelopes.

Walter Lippman insists that it is not just a general rise in prices which is needed now but a correction of the disparity of prices which already exists. Some prices are too low. Some are already too high. The high prices should come down; the low prices go up.

For instance, he says, in February farm prices were only 40 percent of the 1926 level, while metal products were 74 percent of the same level. Plainly the farmers do need a big increase in prices to get back to where they were in 1926, but steel deserves a relatively smaller boost. It should be as much a part of the NRA's work to keep some prices down, as to force others up.

The ABC of The NRA

In spite of the fact that the President's Agreement and all the interpretations concerning it, as well as the rulings of the local Advisory Committee and many columns of additional news have been published in this newspaper, and an Information Bureau has been maintained by the local NRA organization from the beginning of its drive, nevertheless considerable doubt still appears to exist among some employers as to just what they are expected to do.

The plan really isn't as complicated as it might at first seem. All you have to do, if you have any factory or mechanical workers, or artisans, in your employ, is to pay them at least 40 cents an hour, unless you were paying less than that rate in 1929, in which case you may pay them the same as you were then but not less than 30 cents an hour. And you may not work these employees more than 35 hours a week. You can work them less than that but not more, but their total weekly compensation must not be less than it was just prior to August 1.

With regard to all other employees you must pay them at least $14 a week except that grocers may pay a minimum wage of $13 a week and retailers a minimum wage of $12. Retailers also have the privilege of paying junior employees, between 16 and 18 years of age, with less than six months' experience, $11 a week. Apprentices, too, are excepted from the minimum wage provisions, but an apprentice is a youth found by legal agreement to serve another in return for instruction in an art or trade, not an old man hired to sweep out.

This class of employees on the whole may not work more than 40 hours in any one week. Certain exceptions to the rule include farm and household workers, outside salesmen, professional persons serving in the capacity of employees, managerial or executive employees receiving more than $35 a week, and in certain other very special cases. Furthermore, grocers may not work any employee, except delivery boys, more than eight hours in any one day, except on days preceding a legal holiday.

That's about all there is to it. There is nothing very difficult about that. The difficult part is complying with these provisions without its costing anything. So far as we know there is no way that can be done. Reduction of hours of store operation, staggering employees and all that sort of thing have been ruled out. No subterfuge at all may be used to defeat the purpose of the agreement which is in reality to increase employment and to raise the average run of full time wages to at least $12 or $14 a week.

If this cannot be done on the basis of present day income, the alternative is to raise prices. It is expected by the NRA administrators that the prices of all things sold shall be increased by whatever amount is made necessary by the increased cost of payrolls. If this is impossible, the employer should take his Blue Eagle down and not wait for the NRA to do it, as there is a stiff fine for violations.

Money Isn't Needed For War

Reports of returning diplomats from Europe differ regarding the outlook for another war. Henry Morgenthau, Sr. is one who is pessimistic. He sees a conflict resulting whether or no Germany's policies are successful. James M. Cox, former Democratic candidate for president, and important figure in the World Monetary and Economic Conference in London, says that he saw or heard nothing indicating that Europe is on the brink of another cataclysm.

Secretary of State Hull, whose policy was tried at the London Conference both by lack of definiteness of his instructions and by Moley's activities, is of the same opinion. Congressman S. D. McReynolds declared he was amazed at war talk and that he found nowhere, in Germany or elsewhere, anything to justify such talk.

Mr. Cox gave added authority to his opinion by asking the question of where any country would get the money to conduct a war. This is a logical question in view of the experience of past wars but who knows that the next one won't be conducted on a different basis. If the government can conscript men why can't it conscript the things they need with which to fight? Why not just tell the steel mills to furnish so many guns, the powder companies to supply so much explosives, the farmers to give so much food, and so forth? By this method there would be no need for money.

That there are sufficient grounds for apprehension over a disturbance of the peace of Europe is evident alone in the existing difficulties between Germany and Austria. Recently Italy, France, and England have made representations to Hitler's regime expressing concern over the present tension in Austro-German relations.

Among the things which have recently strained relations between these two countries are the distribution of German airplanes of pamphlets hostile to Austria over that country; Austria's expulsion of two German journalists from Vienna because of their alleged connection with Austrian Nationalist Socialist plotting; and Austria's request from the allied powers to form a military auxiliary police of 18,000 men.

This is only an example of the many international complications which are threatening the peace of Europe, and we doubt that the lack of funds will be any deterrent. The world still has enough steel, the ingredients for powder, machinery, food and other things for the prosecution of a war.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Dr. R. M. Mason has vacated his old office for Judge Whitner and has taken offices on the next floor above.

The many friends of the Misses Sims and Clara Miller are glad to learn they are back in Sanford after a three weeks' vacation.

Miss Ruth Vaughan has returned from a delightful visit with friends and relatives in St. Augustine.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meisch and family have returned from a trip to their old home at Long Island and many other points in and around New York.

Mr. E. H. Rand and the Misses Julia Evelyn and Edith Rand are at Westport, Mich. and expect to stay until fall. Mr. Rand and the Misses Elizabeth and May Rand left today to join them.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Chase are spending a few weeks in their bungalow at Jewtown. Rand Chase and H. O. Chase, Jr. left last week for Barnstable, Mass. on a visit to relatives.

Sanford merchants as usual are offering big bargains in summer stocks and this city will be the trading center for miles around during the five-day sales that will soon take place. Charles Kanter has a big sale starting on Aug. 15, J. K. Mettinger will have one on Aug. 16 and the Sanford Shoe and Clothing Co. will start one on Aug. 18. The people who come to Sanford to trade will be able to purchase cheaper than ever before.

Chulokta is to be placed on the market on Sept. 1st. This is to be one of the most substantial Central Florida, beautiful, wide-shoulders will be laid out in the proposed city and lots fronting on these avenues will be placed on sale on the first of next month.

The Fernald Hardware Company has recently completed a number of seed bed irrigation contracts. Roy Sykes, A. Dorner, and Cecil Gabbett are among those who have had the Fernald system installed.

THE ORIGIN OF NIRA

BY MARK SULLIVAN

One way to understand this industrial recovery act, as anything else, is to follow its history from its first inception.

It did not begin with the "brain trust" (though subsequently some of their ideas were incorporated into it and as it now stands it accords with some of their theories of social organization.) It did not begin with President Roosevelt. It did not begin with General Johnson. It did not begin with Secretary of Labor Perkins.

It began with a very simple bill introduced in Congress by Senator Hugo Black of Alabama. At that time the bill was not a part of President Roosevelt's emergency program. It stood alone as an idea of Senator Black's. In that form it was a simple measure to reduce hours of labor. The bill merely provided, in effect, that all factories, stores, offices and the like, should limit the hours of any one employee to thirty hours per week.

The object aimed at and the obvious result would merely be more employment. If a retail shop was habitually open sixty hours a week, it would, under Senator Black's proposed law, continue open sixty hours a week, but would need to have twice as many clerks. It was simply a measure of increasing quantity of employment, and thereby diminishing unemployment.

Senator Black's bill passed the Senate on this point the bill was his and his alone.

While the original measure was in this form of a simple, arbitrary limitation of hours of labor to thirty a week, Secretary of Labor Perkins came forward with a suggestion. She said that if the bill were to be passed at all, the limitation on hours should be made flexible to a commensurate industry having special conditions; and that the bill should include a provision for fixing minimum wages.

This was the original introduction of the idea of minimum wages into the bill. Miss Perkins suggested that the Secretary of Labor be authorized to specify the total hours of operation of a plant, certainly during the emergency. This was the first introduction of the idea of continuing control of industry by a government agency.

Up to this point the bill had only two inspirations. Senator Black's original one and Miss Perkins' suggestion. It was not an Administration proposal. Up to this point President Roosevelt had had no hand in the measure. It was not part of his program. He regarded it merely as a bill that had originated in Congress in the usual way and had been passed by one body, the Senate.

At this point arose one of those cases of a trivial incident which often makes important history. There came to Mr. Roosevelt, from some source or other, a story which impressed him strongly. The story was repeated by him frequently in private conversations during the early part of May.

'Cut-Throat Competition'

The owners of a sweaters manufacturing plant in a small town persuaded their employees to agree to an extremely low wage. Armed with this low cost of production, the owners went to New York and were able to secure about all the orders for sweaters in the market. Their plant was able to operate, in three shifts, twenty-four hours a day while other sweater factories throughout the country, and the communities dependent on them, were practically dead.

It seemed to President Roosevelt that this was an invasion to nationwide recovery. It was thwarting a repetition working to the disadvantage of the country.

The story had a second angle. It brought to light the fact that in the textile trade generally wages were extremely low and child labor was used. The textile industry was conspicuously the one in which there was necessity for a minimum wage.

This story caused President Roosevelt to begin to look over the bill to Congress providing for a check on cut-throat and a minimum wage. He did not make the bill his own, however, for some time.

Part Played By F. S. Chamber

It was then, organized business came forward. It was headed through the United States Chamber of Commerce and its chairman, F. S. Chamber, was organized business, chiefly that which the bill to become law would affect. What business wanted and proposed was in effect, immunity from the anti-trust laws. This proposal was that the trade association in each industry should be permitted to do what wages, hours, production and prices, or at least minimum rates. At that time, early May, we were still in the midst of depression and business was in rather a state of torpor.

It was really the proposal from business that caused the industrial recovery act to become what it is. It was instantly apparent that if business was to be allowed to make agreements contrary to the anti-trust laws, the government must have a supervisory hand in carrying them out. At that time business was so frightened by the depression that it was willing to pay this price. Six weeks later, or today, with prosperity returning, probably most of business regrets the bargain which it effected at that time. Even at the time, some members of business deplored the attitude taken by leaders of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

That is the origin of the industrial recovery law. Senator Black's original bill, Secretary of Labor Perkins' suggestion and the idea of the United States Chamber of Commerce, were drawn together in the office of Senator Wagner of New York, who sponsored the bill. It was at this point that General Johnson entered the picture. He observed that the bill was along the lines of his theory of holding production down while raising purchasing power on. He made some suggestions designed to make the plan workable. Because of that activity he was chosen to administer the bill.

SANFORD FORUM

Dear Sir: Under date of July 15, you were pleased to publish communication addressed to the President of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce signed by Nick Zernoyan requesting the Chamber of Commerce to do certain work in connection with a proposed reduction on celery freights.

Since the above was printed, a petition has been presented to the Chamber of Commerce signed by the following farmers requesting our action:

Clifford Bell, Henry Thurston, R. G. Henson, H. E. Russell, Fred G. Zernoyan, F. C. Ellworth, H. M. Rumbly, Roy F. James, Rex Packard, R. B. Chapman, Peter Thurston, L. Smith.

It is always our pleasant duty to do anything to aid the farmers of Seminole County, but we hesitate to take action as requested and protest the proposed cut in freights on the grounds that the farmers do not consider it sufficient adequate and for this reason.

We are informed that the Sanford-Oviedo Truck Grocers, Chase & Company, The American Fruit Growers and others are still working on this particular subject for a further reduction; and, if our Chamber were to attempt the action desired, it might compromise matters and act to the detriment of our farmers' interest. We are, therefore, reluctantly compelled to decline taking action in this matter unless requested by the shippers named above, for the reasons already explained.

To the farmers of Seminole County we extend our sincere sympathy for their position. They are largely under an excessive freight rates, but we do not see how it is possible that we can assist except in a combined action.

All of which is respectfully submitted. Yours very sincerely, H. M. Papworth, President

Mrs. Speer Honored With Bridge Party

Complimenting Mrs. George Al- serson Speer, Jr., a recent bride, Mrs. Peter Schaal entertained with a bridge party yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Knight, Jr., in San Lanta. Quantities of sin- nias and other garden flowers were used to adorn the rooms where the guests were entertained.

After several progressions of bridge scores were collected by Mrs. Knight and high score prize was awarded to Miss Mary Dign- ton. Miss Dighton received a luncheon set while Mrs. Speer, as honor guest, was the recipient of a novelty waffle pitcher.

At the tea-hour refreshments were served by the hostess, as- sisted by her mother, Mrs. Hugh Torrance, Mrs. George Knight, Jr., and Miss Ivy Crossland, of Char- lotte, N. C.

Among those invited were: Mrs. George A. Speer, Jr., honor guest, Mrs. John Meish, Jr., Mrs. J. L. Hart, Mrs. L. P. Hagan, Jr., Mrs. Ralph B. Wright, Mrs. Andrew Car- raway, Mrs. Vivian A. C., Grace Williams, Marilee Torrance Martha Lane, of Silver City, N. C., Mildred Henderson, of Rich- mond, Va., Mary Hurt, and Kath- leen Long.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hourman, Mrs. J. D. Cochran, Mrs. H. M. Glendon and daughter, Elsie Jane, Mrs. Albert Whitaker, Mrs. P. D. Anderson Mrs. Norma F. Hyattline, Mrs. Laura B. Fennell, Mrs. W. A. Low- Mrs. Emma Lagerquist, Mrs. J. M. Hood, Mrs. J. E. Ellis, Mrs. Roy Howell, Mrs. M. H. Cole and guests, Miss E. Annie Hanks, of Troy, N. Y., and Miss M. Ardelle Hinds, of Tusculum, Ala., Mrs. A. C. Saunders, Mrs. Frank Evans the Misses V. Mott, Claire Evans Ruth Anderson, and Jack Evans and Jack Howell.

Major R. L. Glenn, reporting on the unemployment situation, en- dored a suggestion made by John Meish, grower, that all citrus grove, and farm owners should employ laborers at once, while help is plentiful and wages for common labor are low.

He stated that his committee is ready to furnish from one to 100 common laborers almost at once, and he declared that he believed that within a few days, many growers and grove owners will call for such labor.

Major Glenn also reported on the findings contained in a parcel of over 100 questionnaires that had been signed by local employ- ers since Monday night.

While speaking of welfare con- ditions in the county, the Commit- tee listened with interest to a re- port from Mrs. Helen T. Maise, committee member, who explained the set-up of her organization.

The Seminole County Welfare Board, as far as its handling of federal aid labor is concerned, the committee is under the direct supervision of the Seminole County Emergency Relief Board. This group, composed of the heads of all civic clubs, repre- sentative of the county and city communities, and other leaders in the community.

Under authority from Tallahas- see, this Board not only decides upon what type of work shall be done by federal aid laborers, but also has the sole authority to han- dle federal funds. Locally these funds are in the hands of A. L. Bell, a Miami National Bank em- ployee who is a bonded treasurer for the Council. All funds are dis- tributed to workmen, she said, by S. E. Andrews, bonded paymas- ter for the Council.

Mrs. Morse stated that she is not an employee of the Council, but is an employee of the Welfare Board. She said she receives no salary as the supervisor of work projects handed her by the Council and that her only salary is as executive secretary of the Welfare Board.

When Mrs. Morse had conclu- ed, Paul Stine, committee member and president of the Sanford Rotary Club stated that an official of the state relief council had commended the local Welfare Board and its set-up as being one of the most efficient organizations of its kind in Florida. "He partic- ularly stressed the splendid system of records which are being tabulated daily by Mrs. Morse and her workers," Mr. Stine stated "and he said that they are the finest of their kind in this state."

H. M. Papworth's suggestion that the committee commend Mrs. Morse and her organization was adopted unanimously.

Upon suggestion of General Frank Evans, it was decided to ask several negro residents to lead a band in the progress of the Campaign Army. These men and women will be asked to hold themselves in readiness to gather negro workers or laborers at any time they are needed, and to as- sist in the campaign whenever asked. Names of D. C. Brock, Frank Harris, H. E. D. Hart, and James Potts were advanced as proposed committee members.

Major J. H. Combs, head of the Information Bureau, asked for a ruling on the question of whether or not a local coal com- munity could continue to pay a young boy $5 per week salary for about six hours work daily and whether he could allow high school boys to be curb-service em- ployees who will be remunerated only in the amount of tips they receive.

The committee decided that un- der the President's Agreement, in American mills were "at as low ebb almost as had been wit- nessed in the annals of the indus- try . . . and there was a presen- denting sentiment of opportunity.

This has gradually changed until at present conditions are just the opposite.

The real upturn began in April, according to the report, and the improvement from then on was such that mills worked day and night shifts, at a higher rate than ever known before.

World consumption of American cotton ginned 12,600,000 bales, to 15,300,000, while inter- national consumption reached 88,000, against 70,000 the preceding sea- son.

Exports to Germany gained 20,000, Great Britain 18,000, France 30,000, Italy 10,000, Japanese taking declined 80,000, Chinese 15,000 and Spanish 1000, to other countries in other coun- tries, and re-exports to 3, 600,000 bales, 215,000 under the preceding season. Russian takings were 11,000 bales, compared to none in the year before.

Coincident with Hester's report today, cotton futures rose buoy- antly, $1.25 to $1.40 a bale on the exchange, practically wiping out losses registered yesterday when the government report indicated a crop of 12,311,000 bales, greatly in excess of all expectations.

Ladies' Aid Society Has Picnic Tuesday

Members of the Ladies' Aid So- ciety of the Lake Mary Commu- nity Church and other guests en- joyed a picnic Tuesday at Rock Springs. The party left Lake Mary in cars early in the day and upon arriving at the Springs enjoyed swimming.

A picnic luncheon was spread at noon after which a travel talk, supplemented with snapshots, was made by Miss Ardelle Hinds, who spent last summer in Europe. Miss Hinds is a sister of Mrs. W. E. Cole, of Lake Mary.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hourman, Mrs. J. D. Cochran, Mrs. H. M. Glendon and daughter, Elsie Jane, Mrs. Albert Whitaker, Mrs. P. D. Anderson Mrs. Norma F. Hyattline, Mrs. Laura B. Fennell, Mrs. W. A. Low- Mrs. Emma Lagerquist, Mrs. J. M. Hood, Mrs. J. E. Ellis, Mrs. Roy Howell, Mrs. M. H. Cole and guests, Miss E. Annie Hanks, of Troy, N. Y., and Miss M. Ardelle Hinds, of Tusculum, Ala., Mrs. A. C. Saunders, Mrs. Frank Evans the Misses V. Mott, Claire Evans Ruth Anderson, and Jack Evans and Jack Howell.

Major R. L. Glenn, reporting on the unemployment situation, en- dored a suggestion made by John Meish, grower, that all citrus grove, and farm owners should employ laborers at once, while help is plentiful and wages for common labor are low.

He stated that his committee is ready to furnish from one to 100 common laborers almost at once, and he declared that he believed that within a few days, many growers and grove owners will call for such labor.

Major Glenn also reported on the findings contained in a parcel of over 100 questionnaires that had been signed by local employ- ers since Monday night.

While speaking of welfare con- ditions in the county, the Commit- tee listened with interest to a re- port from Mrs. Helen T. Maise, committee member, who explained the set-up of her organization.

The Seminole County Welfare Board, as far as its handling of federal aid labor is concerned, the committee is under the direct supervision of the Seminole County Emergency Relief Board. It further expedites the work of securing employment for some of the nearly 1000 unemployed resi- dents of this county, it was de- cided to open another office, to be known as an Employment Of- fice, at a downtown location.

The plan is that employers shall file their wants at this of- fice, to be located in the Meri- weather Building adjoining the Coleman Office Equipment Co., either by personal call, letter, or telephone call.

The unemployed are not to call at this office, it is pointed out. Members of the Army have vol- unteered to be on duty at this of- fice from 9:00 o'clock to 10:00 o'clock each morning. As fast as employers list their wants, these volunteer workers will scan the list of unemployed and send a workman or group of workmen to the employers' address.

It was decided that to avoid further congestion at the Re- Employment Headquarters on First Street, that this office shall be open only two hours daily, from 9:00 o'clock to 10:00 o'clock and from 1:00 o'clock to 2:00 o'clock.

Persons who have registered at this office are advised that they are requested not to call there or at the new office to ask about work. All persons will be notified by letter, telephone, or personal visit just as soon as employment can be secured for them.

Cotton Growers Receive Big Sum For Their Crops

(Continued From Page 1) the more part, was one of "un- certainty and dissatisfaction, with a gleam of hopefulness during the latter months." The later opti- mistic period was credited to a government effort to better the cotton situation, notably the advance reduction drive and liquidation of farm land holdings.

"As a whole, the crop was not so high in grade as the preceding year, averaging about 10 points better than middling, with fairly good to good staple and a mini- mum of high and low grades."

One of the most optimistic fea- tures of the report was the fact that holders have disposed more rapidly of supplies held over from previous crops, reducing the 12, 000,000 bale carryover by consid- erably more than 1,000,000 bales. This was because the growth crop was insufficient to supply the mar- ket.

Total marketings last year were placed at 15,981,250 bales, an in- crease of 10,851 bales over the previous year. The increase was due to the Gulf States. Texas showed an increase of 540,000 bales. The average commercial value of a bale of lint cotton dur- ing the season just past was $37.77, Hester reported, compared to $30.67 the preceding year, and $38.75 in 1928-29. Middling cotton reached its high July 18, at 11.51 and on Dec. 5 touched a low of 5.45.

During the season, both North and South mills were constantly in the market to supply their needs, most of them not touching their surplus stocks of raw ma- terial. A remarkable part of mill activity in May, June and most of July finished the year with an increase of 1,111,000 bales in consumption.

At the end of the 1931-32 sea- son, the report stated, conditions

in American mills were "at as low ebb almost as had been wit- nessed in the annals of the indus- try . . . and there was a presen- denting sentiment of opportunity.

This has gradually changed until at present conditions are just the opposite.
