Don't Let College Scholarship Go To Waste

By S. Robert Freede

NEW YORK — (NEA) — College students and their families are learning that seeking a student loan is in itself a course in economics. Even the friendly banker across the street prefers to lend money to businessmen at 10 per cent rather than grant a student loan at the required 7 per cent. And now middle-income students are finding it more difficult to get federal aid. The Guaranteed Student Loan program, the plan in which the middle-income group could participate, is now giving most of its consideration to the needy — even though the middle-income families can no longer meet rising college costs. As a result colleges all over the country are facing a large drop in the number of recruits. But don't let a shortage of funds stand between you and a college education. Financial aid opportunities still exist for any student who really wants a degree. If the desire is strong enough there is an excellent chance of finding sources of help in meeting the rising cost of tuition, room and board, fees and the like which, in the more expensive universities, can easily cost upwards of $100 per week. Millions of dollars in financial aid actually go unused each year because students and their families are not aware that they may be eligible for funds. Don't let apathy keep you from receiving awards for which you qualify. Basic research for your "fund raising" campaign can be done in a public or school library. There you will find publications telling you how to find and apply for scholarships. (Remember, though, that no book can be expected to list all sources of financial aid available or be entirely current because sources of scholarships and financial aid change constantly.) Many scholarships and other financial aid grants are awarded on a competitive basis, involving your class standing, test scores, references and recommendations from teachers, counselors and members of your community. Yet there are hundreds of awards available to the average student, one not at the top of his class.

Good sources of financial aid are your high school guidance counselor or your college financial aid officer. Seek his advice but don't expect him to do the whole job for you. He will put you on the right track but you must expect to do the legwork yourself.

Astronauts Well Skylab Starts Longest Voyage

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Three rookie American astronauts sped into orbit today on the start of man's longest planned space journey, an 84-day "holiday cruise" aboard the Skylab space station. "This is really great," flight commander Gerald P. Carr told Mission Control as the astronauts and their Apollo ferry ship rocketed into a successful orbit more than 100 miles above the earth. "It's smooth as glass." During the marathon flight, which will span Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, the spacemen are to conduct extensive studies of the sun, earth and man. They'll also take an unprecedented look at the great comet Kohoutek, a visitor from outer space now streaking toward the sun.

Marine Lt. Col. Carr, 41; Air Force Lt. Col. William R. Pogue, 43, and solar physicist Dr. Edward G. Gibson, 37, began the final Skylab trip on the power of a Saturn 1B rocket that thundered into a clear blue sky right on schedule at 9:01 a.m. EST. Ten minutes later they were in orbit and immediately began the 17,400-mile-an-hour chase to track down the 85-ton Skylab, which is the size of a five-room house. The station passed over the Cape Canaveral area several minutes before launch. By the time the astronauts reached orbit, it was over Yugoslavia. With mission commander Carr at the controls, the Apollo was to be guided through a series of five rocket firings to gradually close the gap.

Docking was scheduled for 5:25 p.m. The flight, which Carr has dubbed a "holiday cruise," will be the most rigorous test yet of man's ability to withstand the physical and psychological stresses of long space travel. The medical results will have a bearing on whether astronauts one day will embark for other planets. By studying the sun and earth, the astronauts hope to learn if space can be exploited for the benefit of mankind. No one can predict the benefits. But the thousands of photos and miles of tape gathered by the first two Skylab crews and the data to be collected on this last mission could provide a valuable payoff in the years ahead.

3rd Arson Suspect Nabbed In Orlando

By MARK WEINTZ Herald Staff Writer

An Orlando rafter was charged with arson Thursday afternoon making a total of three persons charged and arrested in connection with the Sept. 19 blaze at Air Flow Designs which destroyed 26 trucks. Kilce Mullins, 34, of 7512 W. Church St., is in the Seminole County jail in lieu of $9,000 bond. "We believe that we have now arrested all the people involved in setting the Sept. 19 fire," Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Kunkler said today. Early Wednesday morning Kunkler arrested an Orlando plumber, Benjamin Hanes, and 17-year-old Arthur Brandon on arson charges. Hanes hired a private lawyer and posted $3,000 bond the same day. Brandon also remains in jail. No arraignment dates have been set. "At this time we have no information which links the blaze to the attempted bombing of O.R. Cousineau's Casselberry home on Nov. 6, Kunkler said today. Six sticks of dynamite were found in Cousineau's front yard by his 15-year-old daughter, causing speculation that the bombing may be linked to the fire at Air Flow Designs, which is owned by Cousineau. After the attempted bombing Cousineau offered a $12,500 reward for information leading to the arrest or conviction of persons responsible for the arson or the bombing. Police have declined to specify if the arrests resulted from such a tip saying "that is Cousineau's business." Cousineau, however, has refused to talk to newsmen since a press conference following the bombing attempt.

AROUND THE CLOCK

By John A. Spolski

If the following doesn't cause you to have sleepless nights then I'd suggest you re-read it. When government gets out of hand and can no longer be controlled by the people, there are two sources of power which are used by dictatorial government to keep the people in line: the Police Power and the Power of the Purse (through which the necessities of life can be withheld). These powers have been taken over by the Executive branch of the Federal Government.

According to the Committee to Restore the Constitution, the dictatorial power rests on Executive Orders 11450 and 11847. The first order mentioned was signed by President Nixon on Oct. 28, 1969, and outlining emergency functions which are to be performed by some 38 Executive Departments and Agencies whenever the President of the United States declares a national emergency (as in the defiance of an impeachment edict, for example). Under the terms of E.O. 11450, the President can declare that a national emergency exists and the Executive branch can:

- Take over all communications media
- Seize all sources of power
- Take charge of all food resources
- Seize all forms of transportation
- Control all highways and airports
- Seize all railroads, inland

Herring Says Vihlen Knew Of Unsafe County Buildings

By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer

State Atty. Abbott Herring said today that Seminole County Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. and Assistant County Atty. Howard Marsee have had details of his probe into electrical hazards to life and property since Sept. 25 — prior to the grand jury investigation. Herring said today he will not make public the details of the report but will leave that to the county commission because "they are the ones who have chosen to take this to the press."

The state attorney did not say whether Vihlen's September response prompted his decision to push the case, which resulted in the indictment of one county electrical reviewer board member, and a revamped electrical ordinance. Vihlen, informed of Herring's statements, today conceded he and Marsee listened to a "verbal report" from the state attorney, but said he does "not remember (if) the report gave specific locations of any of the explosive locations and faulty wiring allegedly existing." "But even if (the specific addresses and locations) were mentioned, we still need the specifics now so we can initiate aggressive movements to correct them," Vihlen added. Vihlen said neither he nor Marsee took notes during the Sept. 25 briefing because he felt it was private and confidential information, and to have done so would have been out of order.

Today however, an obviously irate Herring said that the county commissioners could have had the information at anytime, in addition to the information he gave Vihlen and Marsee earlier "if they had asked for it." He pointed out that all of the information garnered during his probe of the electrical practices in Seminole came from county employees. Herring specifically pointed to a sworn statement by county inspector Douglas Kerr in which the inspector said, "I would hesitate to sleep in any two-story building in Seminole County because of the electrical wiring."

Herring continued blasting the commissioners for "their tactics in trying to get information about the probe via the news media." "They went to the newspapers first, and I'm going to answer them in the newspapers," he said. "We'll pass the bulk of the information we have to the commission, and they can take whatever action they may care to take," Herring said, adding he decided to speak out today "because I don't like to see them or anyone else say anything."

Boost In Social Security Sails Through The House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, rushing to its Thanksgiving recess, consumed just one minute registering enough votes to pass a Social Security bill to help aged beneficiaries deal with the rising cost of living.

After the full 15 minutes allowed for the electronic tally Thursday, the total was 391 to 20 as the House approved the bill giving $2.4 billion more to the 30 million Social Security recipients next year in a two-step, 11 per cent benefit increase.

What little controversy that developed centered on an issue involving federal vs. state funds for a new welfare program for several million old, blind and crippled people.

The House voted, 246 to 153, against a so-called "hold harmless" provision. It would have meant $175 million in federal money to some big states — mainly New York, California, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Michigan and New Jersey — that would provide supplemental benefits under the new welfare system.

Passage of the bill sent it to the Senate, where the Finance Committee already has agreed in principle to similar terms. The chief difference involves an earlier starting time for the first step in the Senate version.

The House-passed version calls for benefit boosts of 7 per cent beginning with next April's checks, followed by another 4 per cent increase starting in July's checks. Thereafter, cost-of-living raises in benefits would come automatically each

June instead of in January, as they do under the current law. The benefit boosts would be financed by expanding the taxable wage base from $10,000 to $13,200 — meaning that a worker and his employer who each paid a maximum $531 in Social Security taxes this year would be paying $722 next year, a 22 per cent increase.

The benefit increase would mean the average old-age, single recipient who currently gets $167 a month would receive $178 in April and $186 in July, while an aged couple's amount would rise from the present $277 to $296 in April and $310 in July.

The legislation would replace a 5.9-per-cent benefit hike, approved last July and due to take effect from June through December next year.

The measure also would speed and boost monthly welfare payments to the elderly poor, the blind and the disabled next year.

Tax Bill Mailing Delayed 15 Days

The 1973 tangible personal property bills for Seminole County, usually mailed on Nov. 1, were mailed 15 days late this year, on Thursday.

The 4 per cent discount due on bills paid within 15 days of the postmarked mailing date will therefore be honored through Dec. 15.

Thereafter the 3 per cent discount will apply until the end of December; 2 per cent discount until the end of January; 1 per cent discount until the end of February; and March is net.

The measure also would speed and boost monthly welfare payments to the elderly poor, the blind and the disabled next year.

Word Enduring

By REV. DOUGLAS E. PORTER
Sanford-Eastis Free Methodist Church

TEXT: Psalm 119:9-24, Psalm 119:97-105 and 105:2
Timothy 3:16 and John 1:14
In the front of John Wycliffe's English version of the Bible, he put a very significant illustration of a fire that is rapidly spreading. A number of individuals, including the devil and one named "Unfaithfulness," are trying to figure out a way to put out the fire.

False religious leaders in their red jackets are also active. But try as they will, they are not succeeding in their efforts to put out the fire. Finally one suggests that they make a united effort to blow it out. The only result, however, is that they all run out of breath. The fire cannot be extinguished. This vividly illustrates the vitality and enduring nature of the Scriptures.

We as Christians can put great confidence in the Bible, which over the centuries has not fallen to the attacks of Satan or the changing philosophies of the age. Men cannot destroy the Word of God any more than they can destroy the God of the Word.

A person may make a will, but it can be broken by unscrupulous legal maneuvers and greedy relatives. However, the Bible which is the revelation of the Divine Will to man is forever settled in Heaven. To destroy that Word, man would have to storm the gates of Heaven and drive God from His throne.

The Psalmist said, "...Thou hast magnified Thy Word above all thy Name" (Psalm 138:2). Others may prove false and their promises fade with the passing day, but you may look with confidence to the faithful Word. It forever stands sure!

A Thanksgiving Parable

By REV. W. LEE TRUMAN
Copley News Service

For those who know how to read a parable, the following can help you to find a different view of Thanksgiving. It grew out of the Senior High Youth Group in Morrovia, Calif., and this part was written by them for our Thanksgiving worship service.

Behold, the preacher mounted his pulpit, and to him one hundred faces looked up. And there were the sons of earth, three billion faces captured in that one hundred. And the preacher placed a lozenge on his tongue, so that his voice became both sweet and oily. And he smiled the smile of those who see but do not understand, he said, "Let us give thanks for home and hearth, for the families in which we dwell." And there departed out of the congregation, the old man from the welfare home and the young girl who had lozenge on his tongue, so that his voice became both sweet and oily.

And the preacher persisted and said, "Let us give thanks for our friends." And then from the congregation there arose prodigious men from lonely corners of large cities, the painfully shy who eat nightly in cheap restaurants alone, the us give thanks for peace." And there departed ten more, victims of wars undeclared and declared.

But the preacher spoke on, saying, "Let us give thanks for justice." And a Jew from Cairo, an Arab from Negev, a Negro from Mississippi, and all these deprived of recourse to law, medicine, and education, ten in number, left.

But the preacher spoke, "Let us give thanks for our beauty, surely no supernatural beauty, for we are humble men, but that which makes us graceful, gracious, and good to be with." And Sally, who knew her chin receded, and George, whose eyes were crossed, and Frank, who was bald, and Louise, who had piano legs and six more arose and departed that place.

Yet still the preacher spoke, "Let us give thanks for our wonderful minds, through which we understand art and science, literature and history, and probe the mysteries of the universe." And several people of average intelligence blushed, and a moron looked bewildered, and an imbecile stared blankly, but they all arose, ten of them. But the preacher, without a glance downward, almost sang as he said, "Let us give thanks for our virtues, for those virtues that make the path of life pleasant, as if bedecked by flowers." And there were those who were tortured by jealousy, stabbed by envy, and made miserably by thwartings in their potency to love, and ten more were no more part of that congregation.

FBI Makes Arrest In Sanford Murder

The FBI arrested a former Winter Garden man in North Carolina, Thursday, in connection with the shooting of a Sanford man on New Year's night 1972, sheriff's investigators said today.

An autopsy performed on Eugene Watson, 30, of Sanford Mobile Park, the place where the incident occurred, revealed the cause of death to be a gun shot wound in the head, Sheriff's Capt. L.J. Kriz said.

Seminole Loses Grant For Cultural Events

Of $500,000 in 1973 state matching fund grants for cultural and art organizations in Florida only $3,500 is going to Seminole, Brevard and Osceola counties, Sen. Lori Wilton said, due to lack of information on applying for the money.

She urges local art and cultural organizations to write the Department of State, Division of Cultural Affairs, Tallahassee, requesting to be put on the mailing list for information necessary to fill out applications for funding in the coming fiscal year.

The state will mail out necessary forms in December and organizations have a 90-day deadline to complete their requests.

All grants must be matched locally at least dollar for dollar, she said. "Funding was so low for our area by default, only one application was received by the department last year and it was funded," Wilton said. "It is imperative that these groups active in the arts be aware of state funding already available to them."

Wilton sent copies of his letter to Revell to Gov. Reubin Askew, Green, expressway authority members, county commissioners in Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties, DOT District Engineer C. A. Benedict and mayors and councilmen of all municipalities in Seminole.

Vihlen: Seminole 'Orphaned'

Seminole County Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. has blasted the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority and the state Department of Transportation for not notifying or inviting Seminole County and City officials to the Nov. 7 signing of agreements for a $130,000 preliminary study on the eastern loop of the proposed "bellino" highway.

A portion of the highway will be in Seminole and Vihlen said, in a letter to DOT head Walter L. Revell, the project is considered a top priority road project in Seminole and the county has pledged "cooperation and communication relating to any and all developments" with regard to the project.

"I am extremely shocked, and further dismayed," Vihlen said, that Revell, Expressway Authority Chairman James B. Green and DOT and Orange County officials were present at the signing when Seminole County officials and municipal officials weren't informed or invited to attend.

"At best, this oversight has slapped Seminole County officials square in the face and, hopefully, it was just that — an oversight," Vihlen said. "We are assuming that it was an inadvertent effort to skirt Seminole County's involvement."

Vihlen said Seminole feels "orphaned" since "intense interest" had been expressed in the bellino and the county had called for a meeting to discuss its status.

Vihlen said the related contracts signed Nov. 7 at Orlando "cover a major portion of the corridor with regard to the preliminary study."

"The occasion was untimely due to allegations last year that if given authority, the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority would run the project with no regard to local government participation or input and the expressed opinion that related county governments should weigh heavy in its management," Vihlen said.

"Incidentally," Vihlen said, "Seminole County was not a party to these allegations, but in the past has supported a strong role by the Expressway Authority."

Vihlen sent copies of his letter to Revell to Gov. Reubin Askew, Green, expressway authority members, county commissioners in Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties, DOT District Engineer C. A. Benedict and mayors and councilmen of all municipalities in Seminole.

W. Springs Backs Solo Name Plan

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS—City council Wednesday night approved the CALNO Council of Governments' position that the five cities should recommend one name to the county commission for appointment to the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council.

County commissioners in a letter two weeks ago to the cities requesting recommendations on the appointment. Longwood Mayor Eugene Jaques urged instead that the municipalities join forces making one recommendation rather than five from the member cities. Longwood and Lake Mary councils have both approved the suggestion.

The CALNO Council is expected to recommend either Altamonte Springs Mayor Lawrence Swafford, a strong opponent of the county commissioners, or Altamonte Springs Councilman Dan Dorfman, who has been highly critical of the county commission and the regional planning council. In other business, the Winter Springs Council instructed the city attorney to prepare an ordinance setting annexation fees to cover the actual costs of annexation. Mayor Granville Brown said the city currently charges the developers nothing to defray annexation costs.

Brown made the commission in a blast against the Morsey annexation law, insisting attorney costs in advertising to law requirements have tripled and legal advertising costs have also increased.

W. Springs Official Draws Realtor's Fire

WINTER SPRINGS—City building official Ray Bradshaw was under fire again Wednesday night as a real estate agent charged Bradshaw gave him advice contrary to city law and the acting city attorney gave the opinion the agent could sue Bradshaw.

James Carlee, who works out of Councilman Cliff Jordan's real estate office, said Bradshaw assured him there would be no problem obtaining two building permits for a five-acre parcel being split for sale to separate owners.

He said both Jordan and Councilman Vicki Baker witnessed the discussion, and Bradshaw continued in his remarks even though Jordan disagreed with Bradshaw.

The permits can be issued, "but make no mistake about it, it can't be done overnight," Acting City Atty. Ned Woolfolk said, noting the property split would place the land under subdivision ordinance requirements.

He said preliminary plans, final plans, engineering studies, surveys, plans and other requirements would have to be met by the owners with approvals by the city council and the zoning board before building permits could be issued. In addition, he said a $100 fee would have to be posted at city hall.

"Does the seller or the buyer have recourse against the building inspector?" Carlee asked.

"I would say yes, sir," Woolfolk responded.

He added Bradshaw was correct in saying building permits could be issued, noting they can be after all the provisions of the subdivision are met. He said the process would take a minimum of three weeks, if the city council chose to speed up the process and passed each item presented.

The council also approved a loan with the First National Bank of Midland for $250,000 at 5.50 per cent interest over a 20-year period to build the planned city hall complex.

Herring Claims Vihlen Knew Of Fire Dangers

thing to belittle the grand jury. Commissioners in the past two weeks have called on Herring or the grand jury to produce specifics, saying that if any fires occurred, the "blame" would not fall on the county.

"What I don't understand," Herring said, "is that the information, sworn testimony, given to the grand jury and my investigators, came from county employees and county inspectors."

"Let's remember, he said, that the information released by the grand jury was information that the grand jury obtained, and the report was not my report, but the grand jury's."

"If the commissioners were sincerely interested, they could have simply asked their employees," he said, adding the recent resignations of inspectors Will Lapointe and Rocky Brock were "unfortunate" maybe they were too conscientious.

Vihlen today adamantly denied any "campaign" had been waged against Erott and La Pointe, and said the board did not talk to them because it felt it would be "improper" to question them on testimony before the grand jury.

The inspectors resigned in the wake of a public hearing called to air "citizen's complaints" against them.

Vihlen today conceded some of the complaints came from contractors the inspectors had worked with, but said many of the complaints involved use of foul language by the inspectors to members of the public.

None of the complaints involved the inspector's professional competence, Vihlen said, adding "we absolutely give credence to their professional knowledge."

On the grand jury report, Vihlen said the commission is "satisfied with it and the state attorney's investigation. We feel they are in the best interests of the county and as a last matter of clean-up we want to act as a matter of safety to the people."

City Approves Plans For New Crime Lab

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Zoning and Planning Commission Tuesday night approved the site plan for a new 8,750 square foot crime lab building at Sanford Airport.

The regional facility, now in a cramped 4,000 square foot airport building, serves law enforcement agencies in 27 Florida counties.

Airport Manager J. S. "Red" Cleveland said construction on the new $90,000 building should start within 30 days. He said attorneys for the state and Airport Authority have yet to complete documents on the project.

Z-P members approved the site plan with 30 off street parking spaces on a paved lot, noting the special use for the new building differs from an office building which, under city regulations, would require more off street parking.

Cleveland said if more parking is needed the authority has an acre to the west of the site that could be used for off street parking.

The Z-P Board informally indicated it favors medium industrial zoning for 9.3 acres north of Jewett Lane and east of Airport Boulevard near the Howe Industries and former Inmont Plastics plants.

Condev Corporation of Winter Park has requested annexation of the vacant land as the site for a 24,000 square foot manufacturing plant scheduled to start operation in May with 25 employees turning out floor systems, roof systems and wall sections for Condev apartment and housing projects within a 200 mile radius of Sanford.

City Commissioners have set a Dec. 17 public hearing on Condev's annexation request. In other business the Z-P board welcomed the city's new planning consultant David Farr, former Seminole County Planner, and approved a site plan for a new 2,800 square foot Krystal restaurant on the west side of U.S. 17-2 just south of the Airport Boulevard intersection.

The board, after public hearings, recommended medium industrial zoning to city commissioners for newly annexed Auto Train property west of Persimmon Avenue and two lots north of Wylie Avenue, west of the airport, for Bowers Septic Tank plant.

Wilco Promises Park For Terraces Project

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS—Wilco Group president Bill Baker today hit a "breakdown in communications" for the failure to follow through on park development on the Moss Road city property and pledged to back up the park commitment and any others made by company representatives.

"The problem is really a misunderstanding or failure in communications because very simply no one dealt with either Paul Mashburn, president of the Wilco Construction Co., or me," Baker said.

The city council Wednesday night after hearing complaints and receiving a petition from property owners who bought Wilco homes in the Terraces, asked the city attorney to research possible legal recourse against the company for allegedly using the city's name to sell homes.

The delegation of homeowners said company representatives assured buyers the city approved construction of a park on the city-owned one-acre Moss Road property. The group said the representatives now say the city "reneged" on its promises.

An angry Mayor Granville Brown replied that the city agreed to permit Wilco to build the park on the city tract in November 1972 while the developer's sales people were apparently using the "park gimmick" in October.

"If they (the builders) will build it, the city will maintain it," Brown said, noting the city has never intended to build the facilities.

The group said the developed park was to include two tennis courts, a basketball court and benches for a family recreation facility.

"Mayor Brown is certainly correct," Baker said today, "and any statement that the city has reneged on anything is wrong."

"I regret this had to come to our attention in this way. I am sorry it had to be so forcefully brought to your attention," Baker said, noting he will be meeting with Brown today and will attempt to find the members of the company organization, if any, who are making the statements.

Turner Fraud Trial Goes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A woman has testified in the mail fraud trial of businessman Glenn W. Turner and eight others that she heard comments at a promotional meeting endorsing something or other for Glenn Turner," she said.

Jackie B. Hefner of Little Rock, Ark., told a federal jury Thursday she heard the comments at a 1969 meeting of Koss-Int'l Interplanetary Inc., a cosmetics firm.

"They said President Nixon endorsed something or other for Glenn Turner," she said. Asked if she ever heard of a President endorsing a product.

Florida News Briefs

Bank Robber Sought

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—FBI agents say they are still searching for a North Miami man wanted in connection with two holdups of the same Long Island, N.Y. bank.

A spokesman said the unidentified man allegedly participated in the robberies of the Security National Bank in Halesite, N.Y.

Reba Petry, 23, was arrested here Thursday and charged with taking a total of $8,000 dollars from the bank in the 1972 holdups, the FBI said.

She was being held in Palm Beach County Jail in lieu of $75,000 bond.

Jail Term To Start

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Joe Distefano, former county election board chief, has been ordered to report to U.S. marshals on Jan. 4, 1974 to begin serving a two-year prison term.

Distefano pleaded no contest to charges that he failed to report $35,000 of income to the Internal Revenue Service.

In Thursday's ruling, U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Krentzman also ordered Distefano to begin serving a three-year sentence on a federal charge of bribing a Hillsborough County official in a 1970 voting machine scandal. A federal jury convicted him of that charge in February. The prison terms will be served concurrently.

Emergency For Beaches

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A state of emergency has been extended for beaches in Brevard and Indian River counties.

Gov. Reubin Askew's Thursday order gave the counties until Jan. 15, 1974 to repair erosion damage caused in October by high tides and winds from tropical storm Gilda.

"The extent of damage is so great as to require an additional period of time to facilitate repair and prevent further wasting of this important natural resource," Askew said.

Arraignment Delayed

KANAB, Utah (AP)—A 28-year-old man accused of murdering two hitchhikers including a 13-year-old Boca Raton, Fla. girl has been granted a postponement of his arraignment.

Judge Don V. Tibbs granted the delay Thursday to Kenneth J. Standrod so a defense attorney could prepare unspecified motions.

Standrod is accused of the Oct. 20 slayings of Thomas Earl Morris, 20, of Torrance, Calif. and Teresa L. Beatty of Boca Raton. Although the motive for the slayings was unclear, one official said there may have been a f.c.m. of devil worship involved.

Arraignment is now scheduled for Nov. 26.

Seven Jailers Innocent

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP)—Seven former St. Lucie County jailers have been found innocent of conspiracy and prisoner abuse charges.

The 12-member jury deliberated five hours before returning verdicts Thursday. The seven had been charged with deliberately placing four white prisoners in all-black cells to be beaten up.

During the trial, Justice Department attorney Richard Fishkin said the jailers set themselves up as "judge, jury and executioner—they made the laws and violated basic human rights."

FPL Strike Progress

MIAMI (AP)—The chief negotiator for Florida Power and Light Co. says progress is being made in negotiations to end the strike by 4,500 electrical workers which began 16 days ago.

"We feel at this time that we have made good progress," said L.C. "Bud" Hunter, chief company negotiator after more than two hours of talks Thursday with representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

"Tentative agreements have been made on many issues," said Hunter. "While progress has been slow because of the complexity of the issues, it does appear that we are moving along steadily."

Talks are scheduled to continue for the eighth straight day today.

Discipline For Lawyers

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A proposal to publicize serious disciplinary actions against lawyers has been passed by the Florida Bar Board of Governors and will be sent to the State Supreme Court for consideration.

The governors voted 15 to 11 Thursday to eliminate its secrecy policy when staff counsel and a designated reviewer so order. The proposal involves cases of felony or serious crime, general unfitness to practice law or where public interest outweighs the interest of the accused lawyer.

Congress Concerned

What We Could Face Without Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — For all the controversy over the future of Richard M. Nixon's presidency, there is evidence of increasing congressional concern at one simple fact: Without him the nation would face three uncertain years with no elected leader in the White House.

The issue is raised directly by Nixon's defenders, and obliquely by some of his critics in proposals for a special election should the presidency be vacated.

Nixon says it will not be, vowing that he will not resign and declaring that he will face and fight impeachment if it comes to that.

There is uncertainty now, caused by the Watergate scandals. Nixon's credibility is admittedly battered. His rating in the public opinion polls has plunged.

But that does not undo the fact that he was elected, like all his predecessors, to a four-year term.

"That which the American voter has done, let no man undo except through due process," said Republican Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont. He said the duty of Congress is to impeach Nixon if he deserves it, and to leave him alone if he doesn't.

Even as Aiken accused the White House of "relentless incompetence" in dealing with Watergate, he warned of the risk to the system itself should Nixon resign.

"Those who call for the President's resignation on the ground that he has lost their confidence risk poisoning the wells of politics for years to come," the Senate's senior Republican said.

Sen. Henry I. Bellmon, R-Okla., said if the President were to be forced from office by public opinion, "I believe the question would quickly arise as to whether or not his successor could govern effectively over the next three years."

The successor, presumably, would be Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, Nixon's nominee for the vice presidency vacated by the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew.

Ford awaits confirmation by Congress. Until it comes, House Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma, a Democrat, is next in line for the presidency.

"In either case, the succession of Mr. Ford or

Mr. Albert, the country would have a president not elected by the people," said Sen. William D. Hathaway, D-Maine, in introducing legislation for a special election should both the presidency and the vice presidency be vacated.

The dispute over Nixon and Watergate involves personalities, parties, and the acts of individuals.

The deeper dilemma goes to the basis of the presidential system.

Nixon says it will not be, vowing that he will not resign and declaring that he will face and fight impeachment if it comes to that.

And again, Aiken of Vermont: "Within less than 10 years we have seen one presidency destroyed by an assassin's bullet, another by a bitter and divisive war. To destroy the third in a row through the politics of righteous indignation cannot possibly restore confidence either at home or abroad."

Timely And Needed The President's Energy Message

(Editor's Note: This column was written by John S. Knight, editorial chairman of the Miami Herald, and reprinted with permission of the Miami Herald.)

President Nixon took to the tube last Wednesday night and gave the American people some of the hard facts of the energy crisis. The message was timely and badly needed.

For, you see, Americans never want to believe that it (anything unpleasant) can happen to them. It has taken them a long time to discover that "we, the richest nation on earth," can't win a war in Southeast Asia; feed the world; dominate our "allies" in NATO; clean up pollution overnight without losing jobs; or provide enough gasoline and heating fuels for unlimited travel and the ultimate in bodily comfort.

As the President mentioned, he first asked Congress for energy legislation two years ago, then last April and again in June. "But this far," said the President, "not one major energy bill that I have asked for has been enacted."

The lack of congressional or other action at state and local levels can be attributed to the naïveté of citizens who swallow such nonsense as Ralph Nader's recent pronouncement that "the energy crisis was orchestrated for political and economic benefit by the oil industry." It is difficult to believe that the oil industry "chose to place the country in a short-term energy scare so they could gain dividends." For the oil people are long-range planners who simply cannot afford to think in terms of today if they wish to survive.

The Aaron Beacon Journal reminds us that Nixon's energy message could just as well have been delivered by the late President Johnson, except for the fact that "political leaders did not want to tell the nation of any more crises, and Johnson had a war on his hands." So everyone, says the Beacon Journal, "kept hoping scientists would come up with a way to make cars run on water and a way to air condition buildings in July with surplus January cold."

Seriously, it is part of the American credo that a nation which is able to put a man on the moon certainly can devise a way to overcome a shortage of petroleum products. Given adequate time, research and money — they are probably right. But future solutions won't be of much help this winter, or perhaps even for some years to come.

We have plenty of coal to do the job, you understand, but no one wants to breathe sulfurous fumes, or have homes covered with coal dust. And yet we may have to turn to coal even before suitable washing processes are installed. There are advances, too, in the field of nuclear fusion, a theoretical but promising technology, which the President says may "leapfrog" over the proposed breeder reactor.

Our present nuclear power plants and those under construction are under heavy attack by some scientists because of safety risks. Chairman Dey Lee Ray of the Atomic Energy Commission replies that nothing is risk free, but says the safeguards built into 37 nuclear power plants have helped the industry achieve an excellent safety record of more than 165 plant-years of operation without radiation injury to any member of the public or operating personnel.

Sen. Barry Goldwater has stated that we can solve the energy crisis within five years. While I find this view overly optimistic, it nevertheless suggests that we have a very real problem on our hands for a considerable span of time.

The current crusade by elements of the media and the political world to force President Nixon's resignation is serious business, but has its amusing aspects to which I shall now allude.

Time magazine broke 50 years of editorial silence to say that "the wise and patriotic course is for Richard Nixon to resign, sparing the country and himself this agony of impeachment."

Another Luce publication, the now defunct Life, had endorsed Richard Nixon in 1950, 1952 and 1954. Some members of the craft maintain that Time never denied an editorial page since its opinions could always be found in the news columns.

The we have The Detroit News, hawkish on the Vietnam war and until recently a faithful supporter of the President. Here is some of what The News had to say on October 26, 1972: "One mark of good leadership is the ability to pick good assistants." Shades of Ehrlichman, Haldeman, Mitchell and Dean.

And another: "Desperate, he (McGovern) now grasps at straws — the Watergate caper, the ITT episode, the wheat issue — and exaggerates flimsy evidence into irrefutable proof that this administration is the 'most corrupt' in U.S. history."

Now (November 4, 1973) The News concludes that "President Nixon should resign ... if he does not resign, serious could become critical.

The outlook for farm prices over the next year remains uncertain. Most major grain-producing countries have scheduled substantially higher goals; but weather conditions have remained poor in many parts of the world.

Meat supplies, say Bosworth and Farmer, will remain tight through the year. Substantial increases in supply will not come until 1974. Overall meat supplies for current consumption are forecast to rise but 2 per cent during 1973 as farmers rebuild their stocks.

High feed grain costs should begin to hold hog supplies below the forecast and may reduce planned expansion of cattle herds. Poultry production is also certain to be curtailed.

Fruit and vegetable prices, currently at high levels, are extremely dependent on future weather conditions. Consumer food prices rose sharply during the spring months and will continue upward throughout the year.

Oil Embargo And Depression

by Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Unless Saudi Arabia lifts its oil embargo, the U.S. can look forward to a bleak winter of electric power blackouts, chilly homes, restricted driving and factory shutdowns.

A severe 1970's or early 1980's could cause a major economic depression.

According to the Treasury Department's energy experts, who are regarded as the best in Washington, most disturbing is their warning that the Arab boycott, if it continues, will plunge the nation into an economic tailspin.

Already, some airlines and factories are laying off workers.

The petrochemical industry, which produces petroleum-based plastic products and synthetic fibers, was the first to feel the pinch. The shortage has forced some plastic plants to cut back production.

Alarmed industry leaders are circulating a private study, which warns ominously: "As little as a 15 per cent reduction in output of the petrochemical industry would result in a loss of as many as 1.6 million jobs and a loss in domestic production value in excess of $65 billion."

Aspirins, Herbicides — A vast range of products — from aspirins and autos to tires and toys — require petroleum. Pesticides and herbicides are another example. A cutback could cost the consumer billions in higher food costs as a result of crop damage.

The campaign to reduce pleasure driving will hurt out-of-the-way resorts and restaurants. The tourist and camping industries also depend heavily on nonessential driving.

Even President Nixon's call to hold highway speeds down to 50 miles per hour will slow freight deliveries and reduce truckers' income.

The teamsters' pay is based on mileage, and also have to tighten their belts.

Many Americans already are growing uneasy about job prospects, layoffs and loss of overtime. This has caused them to hold off purchases and save their money as a hedge against possible income loss, according to the Treasury's consumer studies.

This sagging consumer confidence is expected to cause a drop in sales. Already, the sales of durable goods, such as cars and appliances, have leveled off.

Our political leaders, meanwhile, aren't anxious to have millions of voters shivering in their homes this winter. The Treasury experts, therefore, expect the politicians to give households priority over industries in allocating fuel. This will shut down still more factories and throw more people out of work.

Chain Reaction The economic chain reaction, in the solemn opinion of the Treasury experts, will increase unemployment by 1975 to a dangerous seven or eight per cent. They believe the press is getting rid of a President without consulting the people. Nixon has been tried and found guilty by the press, and they now sentence him to resignation, depriving the people and the people's representatives of their constitutional voice in this matter.

Time's editors, together with many other editors, are making a very, very grave mistake.

My own view is that none of the nation's editors are taking themselves too seriously, and that they had better, as Mrs. Luce suggests, leave the matter of resignation or impeachment to President Nixon and the people's representatives.

772 Prisoners Freed In Mid-East Exchange

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt freed another 28 Israeli prisoners of war and Israel sent 294 Egyptians home this morning on the second day of their prisoner exchange.

Premier Golda Meir tearfully kissed the returning Israelis as air force Phantom jets swooped low over Lod International Airport to welcome them home.

By noon today, 54 Israelis had been exchanged for nearly 750 Egyptians, a Red Cross official reported.

The exchange is to take about a week and is arranged so that the last Israelis will leave Cairo simultaneously with the departure of the last Egyptians from Israel.

In exchange for Egypt's agreement to the prisoner swap, Israeli troops on Thursday transferred control of the Suez end of the Cairo-Suez highway to the U.N. peacekeeping force.

Traffic authorized by the agreement worked out earlier this week was moving in and out of Suez, the town at the southern end of the Suez Canal, under U.N. supervision today.

Kissinger, U.S. Oilmen To Meet

SEOUL (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will call in representatives of the major American oil companies when he gets home to discuss the impact of the Arab oil cutback on foreign policy, officials accompanying the secretary said today. Kissinger, who left for Washington today after a five-hour visit to the South Korean capital, found strong concern Thursday in Tokyo that Japan will not receive a fair allocation of the dwindling oil supplies.

Gasoline rationing, they add, is inevitable. The administrative machinery and the gas stamps will be ready in about two months.

Only a lifting of the oil embargo or providentially warm weather, they conclude, will save Americans from their worst winter since World War II. And it could get still worse during the winter to come.

Assad Celebrates

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — President Hafez Assad celebrated his third anniversary in power today. His popularity increased but facing more problems than ever as a result of the October war.

Diplomatic observers say no recent Syrian president has been as popular. But he must make the major decision of whether to accept peace or resume fighting with Israel. And he has to rebuild the economy, shattered in the fighting.

Assad is credited for the vastly improved performance of the Syrian armed forces, which the average Syrian is convinced fought Israel to a standstill and wiped out the shame of the 1967 defeat.

Combodian Battle

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Khmer Rouge insurgents drove back Cambodian navy craft trying to land two battalions of government troops on the south coast near the town of Kep, military sources said today.

The government's two-week effort to retake Kep, 85 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, has constantly run into stiff insurgent opposition about five miles northwest of the town. Casualties on both sides reportedly have been heavy.

The sources also said that a government night patrol intercepted an insurgent platoon of 40 men near Kep and killed 10.

Detente Protected

CAIRO (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Egypt's most influential newspaper editor that the United States will not allow the Middle East crisis to threaten Soviet-American detente, the editor reported today.

However, Kissinger added: "But at the same time we cannot allow the area to fall into the hands of the second superpower." Mohammed Hassanain Helwa wrote in his weekly column today in the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram.

The Japanese have about 59 days' oil stockpiled and hope to make it sufficient for a three-month by conservation measures.

Japanese officials meeting with Kissinger did not take "any cheap shots" at the United States for backing Israel during the October war, one U.S. official said. But Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, Trade Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone and other leaders appealed to him to use his influence to achieve an early solution to the Middle East crisis.

Kissinger, though, is understood not to expect any major move toward a settlement until after the Israeli elections at the end of the year. Current U.S. efforts are concentrated mainly on convening a Middle East peace conference and one official observed, "The pieces are beginning to fall into place."

Vesco Challenges Extradition Treaty

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Bahamian and British defense lawyers appear to be gaining in efforts to squelch affidavits in support of an American request for the extradition of wealthy financier Robert L. Vesco.

The 18-member Vesco defense team also pressed a strong challenge Thursday to the validity of an American-Bahamian extradition treaty.

They say the agreement was not in force as a result of Bahamian independence from Britain last July.

Headed by chief counsel Eugene DuPuch of Nassau, the defense posed strong objections to a deposition submitted by Laurence B. Richardson, a former president of International Controls Corp. of Fairfield, N.J.

Vesco, a former chairman of the board and chief executive officer of ICC, is charged with the embezzlement of $50,000 from ICC.

Pressing magistrate Emmanuel Oadesbay agreed with the defense that much of Richardson's testimony appeared to be hearsay, and he struck out large portions of the statement. In it, Richardson had said Vesco utilized $50,000 of ICC money in the purchase of stock from investors Overseas Services Ltd. early in 1972.

Richardson said Vesco told him to "write off the $50,000 as an expense and forget it." He said Vesco refused to give him a reason until pressed to do so. Then, Vesco gave different answers to him and the board of directors, Richardson said in his deposition.

Earlier, the defense produced an affidavit from one of the prosecution's own witnesses. Submitted last Monday by C. Henry Buhl of New York, the document contended Buhl had made "certain statements which are in error" in a deposition he made for the prosecution.

In his original affidavit, Buhl, an officer of Investors Overseas Services Ltd., testified he had entered into agreement with Vesco "for a person or entity selected by him" to sell 375,000 shares of IOS stock. The prosecution, headed by Bahamian counsel Cecil Wallace Whitfield, contended that Vesco fraudulently used the IOS funds as a partial payment for the IOS stock.

But the defense claimed that the second Buhl affidavit contradicted the first and that the charges against Vesco were politically motivated and therefore not a basis for extradition.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home. (Not the grapefruit diet!). This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder. Send only $3.00 ($3.25 for Rush Service)—cash is O.K.—to: NATIONAL HEALTH INSTITUTE, P.O. Box 39, Dept. 16, Durham, Calif. 95924. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do.

Connally Denies Knowing Of Politics In Milk Parity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, the focus of a Senate Watergate committee probe into a controversial milk producers' campaign fund, denies he was aware of any political deal when he recommended that President Nixon increase milk price supports.

In December 1971, an attorney for the Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI), wrote Nixon that the Texas-based dairy cooperative was making arrangements to contribute $2 million to the re-election campaign and asked for quick action on cutting imports of ice cream and other dairy products.

On March 25, Hardin reversed his decision and granted a price support increase estimated by the industry to be worth at least $500 million to the nation's dairymen.

Bradley's 22 Points Paces N.Y.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — We moved the ball better tonight than we have done for a while," said Bill Bradley.

Which is why the New York Knicks beat the Buffalo Braves 97-86 in the National Basketball Association Thursday night.

The better the Knicks move, the better their game. "All our guys were moving better," said Bradley, who scored 22 points.

Once the Knicks began hitting the open man, it is their usual custom, it was all over for Buffalo. With Franzyr matched Bradley's point total and contributed the go-ahead basket late in the third quarter.

In the only American Basketball Association game, the Carolina Cougars topped the Virginia Squires 106-85.

The Knicks-Braves affair was relatively close until New York's racehorse offense took charge. Frazier's 10-foot jumper with 2:57 left in the third quarter gave the Knicks a 69-66 lead and they ran away from the Braves after that.

Along with Bradley and Frazier, Phil Jackson was instrumental in the Knicks success. Jackson came off the bench at the start of the second period and scored 10 of his 18 points in the first half as New York took a 45-44 lead at intermission.

Hawks 123, Trail Blazers 114. Lou Hudson poured in 38 points as Atlanta trimmed Portland 123-114. Walt Bellamy added 22 points as the Hawks overcame a 40-point performance by Portland's Geoff Petrie.

Suns 116, Nets 94. Charlie Scott scored 24 second-half points and 33 for the game to lead Phoenix to a 116-94 victory over Philadelphia.

Seminoles Face Rugged Lakeland

Coach Claude Woodruff should feel like a man right at home tonight when he takes his charges down to Polk County to face Lakeland.

Lakeland dropped a 21-14 decision to powerful Gainesville last Friday. Woodruff was there and said that Gainesville beat the Dreadsnaughts pretty bad physically despite the seven-point margin of victory.

Both Woodruff and Ge Knight have been viewing films of Lakeland games with Winter Haven and Bartow this week and both coaches feel the Dreadsnaughts really aren't that impressive.

"We feel like we can beat them," said Woodruff Thursday. "Their defensive line stands up quite a bit — and if our boys go down there to hit we may surprise them."

Sanford matches their 24 record against the 7-1 ledger possessed by Lakeland. The Dreadsnaughts could however be down in the dumps a bit as they are only just the Big Eight title to the Gaines last week.

Natural Foes Tangle Hounds Hosting Parker 'Cats

By JOHN CHERWA Herald Correspondent

In the animal world the enemy of the dog is the cat, and a cat's chief foe is the dog and Friday night the battle changes from the animal kingdom to the gridiron when the Lyman Greyhounds host the Winter Park Wildcats in a game that has more at stake than records.

In addition to the extreme team rivalry there are also some individual clashes. Starting Home Quarterback Al Latimer has great personal interest in the contest since his brother Clarence Latimer was the star running back from the north Orange County School.

Both squads have suffered recent defeats to the same team. Oak Ridge topped Winter Park two weeks ago 14-7 and last week the Lions demolished the Hounds 41-14. The last meeting between the two schools resulted in a 28-28 deadlock with both teams much in the same position.

Rookie Eyes $100,000 Crenshaw In Contention

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Suddenly, dramatically, rookie Ben Crenshaw has put himself in position to win an unprecedented second consecutive professional golf title — and this one for the biggest prize the game has ever offered.

The husky, hard-hitting 21-year-old from the University of Texas stamped past 25 players and into a share of second place with a brilliant, seven-under-par 64 in gusty, swirling winds and now is but six strokes back of commanding leader Tom Watson in the $500,000 World Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm still pretty far back, but at least I'm in contention," Crenshaw said after Thursday's sixth round in this two-week, 144-hole event that offers a record $100,000 to the winner. The tournament ends Saturday.

"I don't believe I'll shoot two more 64s, but I'd like to have two more rounds in the 60s, 68 or 69. I'd like to have two more good rounds like that and see what happens," said Crenshaw, the most highly-touted and exciting rookie since Jack Nicklaus turned pro more than a decade ago.

He had a 429 total, three over par for six rounds on the 7,007-yard No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club, and was six strokes back of Watson.

Watson struggled to a wildly erratic 76, five over par, but managed to maintain his six-stroke lead when only Crenshaw could take advantage of his lapses. He had a 423 total and, at three under, was the only man in the field at subpar figures.

Crenshaw, a three-time national collegiate champion and winner of the San Antonio Texas Open just two weeks ago when he made his first start as a full-fledged member of the pro tour, was tied at 429 with Miller.

McTier, Perez On Card — By LEE GEIGER Herald Correspondent

Solomon McTier, self proclaimed Central Florida Champion in a 10-round Saturday night at the Lake County Fair Grounds Exposition Hall in Eustis at 8 p.m. with Sanford slugger Vic Perez also on the card.

McTier, currently one of the finest trainers operating in Florida, fought his last pro bout back in June at the Orlando Sports Stadium, defeating an out-of-shape Henry Hall over the eight round distance.

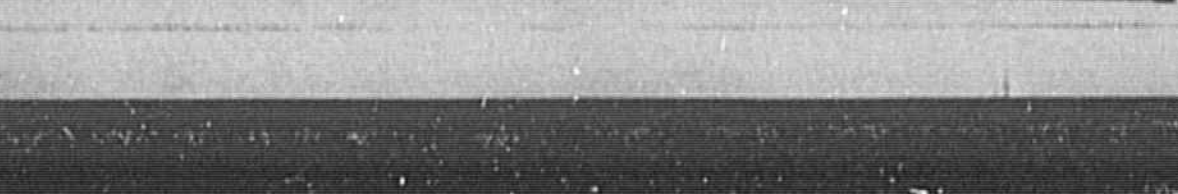

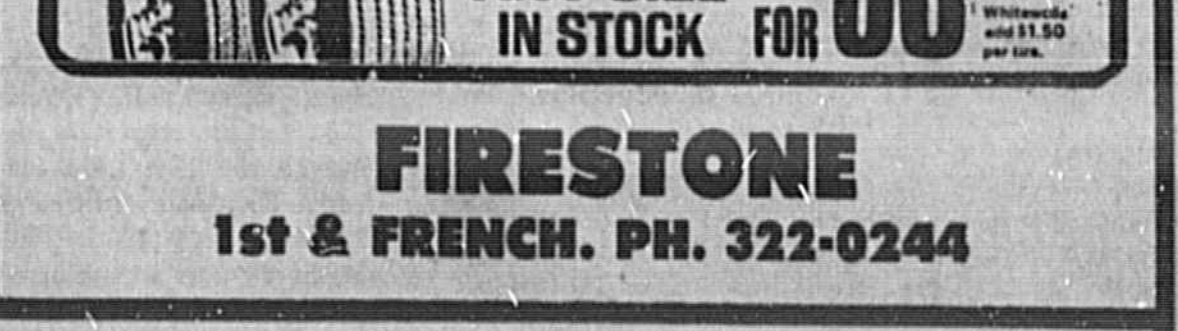

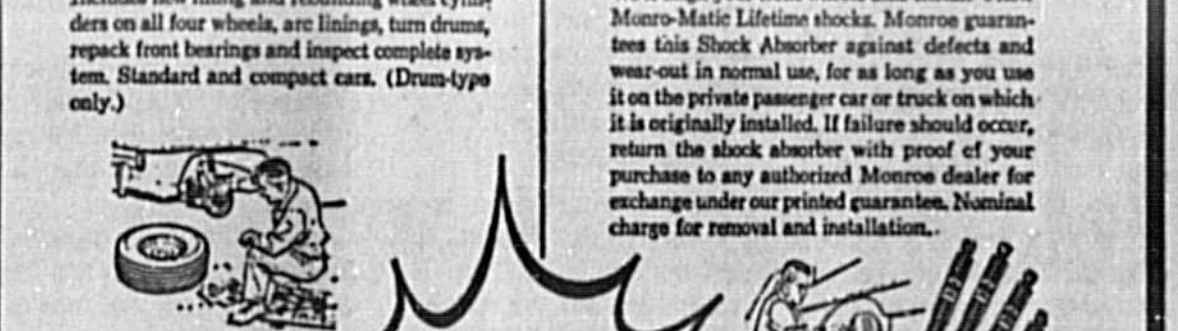

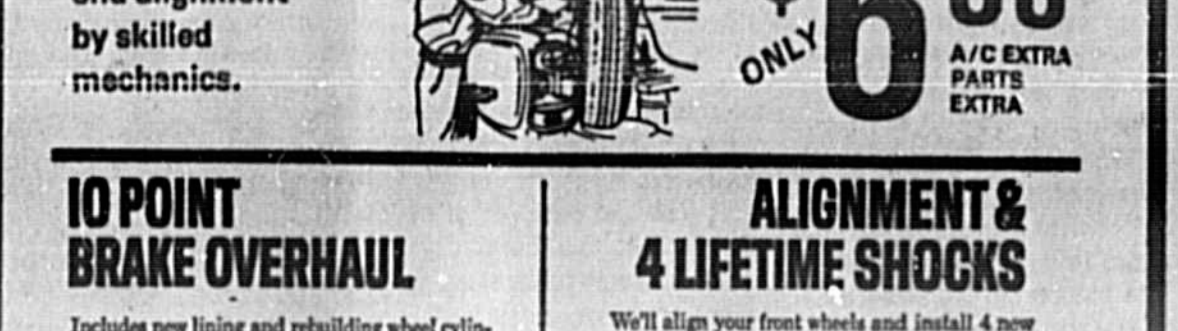

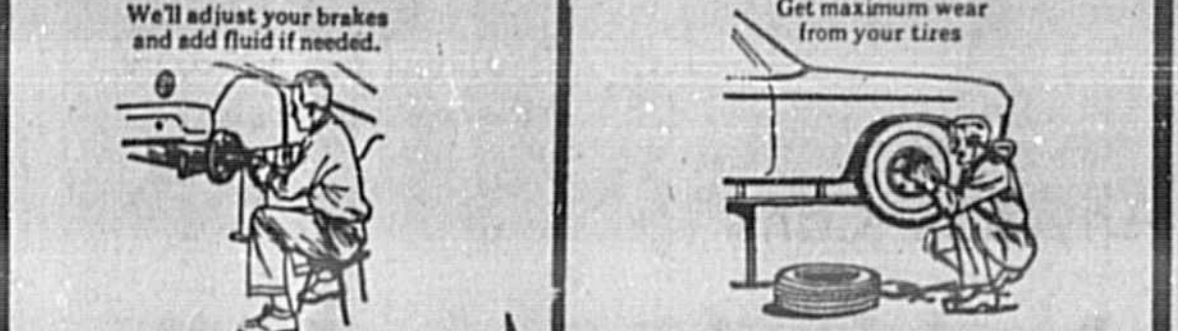

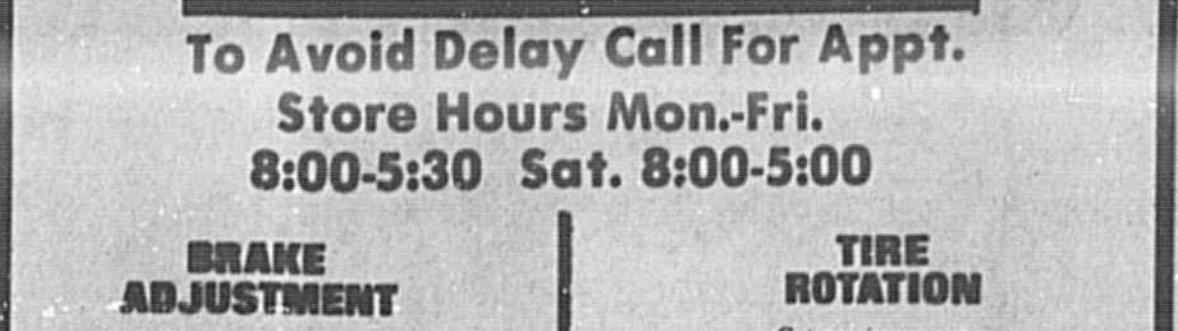

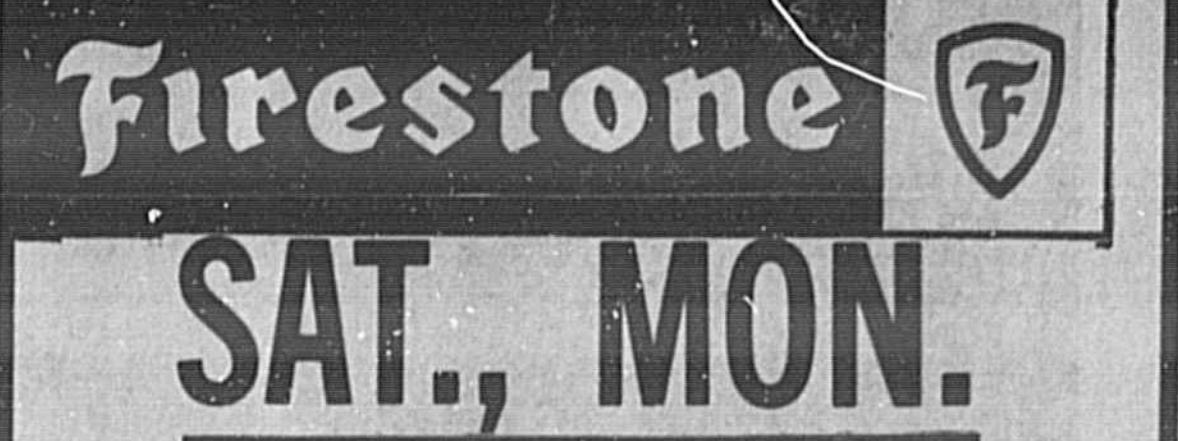

In a career that dates back to Orlando, he has always been counted on to give an all out effort. McTier is a fine physical specimen of a fighter and he can punch as good as he looks if he is a great encounter.

Sanford's Vic Perez is slated to go up against Irv Gifford in the semi-windup. Wednesday Perez showed a fine fighting heart while losing a decision to John Pinney in Orlando.

If Perez doesn't suffer too much of a let-down from that battle he should have little difficulty with Gifford, who only recently entered the punch-for-punch ranks.

The rest of the card will be rounded out by David Rube vs. "Fony Tail" Edwards, Paul Powell against Frank Sims and James Solomon takes on Eddie Walker.

Notre Dame is idle Saturday but faces Air Force on Thanksgiving Day. Top-ranked Ohio State and fourth-ranked Michigan tune up for their clash next week with routine opponents Saturday. The Buckeyes entertain winless Iowa and the Wolverines visit Purdue.

Battle of the Hudson: Fish, History Vs. Light

NEW YORK (NEA) The Hudson River rises from a small lake named Tread-Cloids in the Adirondack Mountains and flows straight south, emptying into the Atlantic at New York City. In 1609, Henry Hudson discovered the river that was to bear his name. "It is a fine place to found a town and the river is rich with fish."

Indeed, the Hudson abounds with wild life. There are white perch, bluefish, spot, herring, needlefish, seals, muskrat, crabs, the famous Hudson shad, and sturgeon, a colonial delicacy that was known as "Albany beef."

More crucially, the Hudson is the main artery of the Hudson Valley. The Hudson River is a major source of power. The electric power generated at the hydroelectric plants along the Hudson River is used to power the city of New York and the surrounding area.

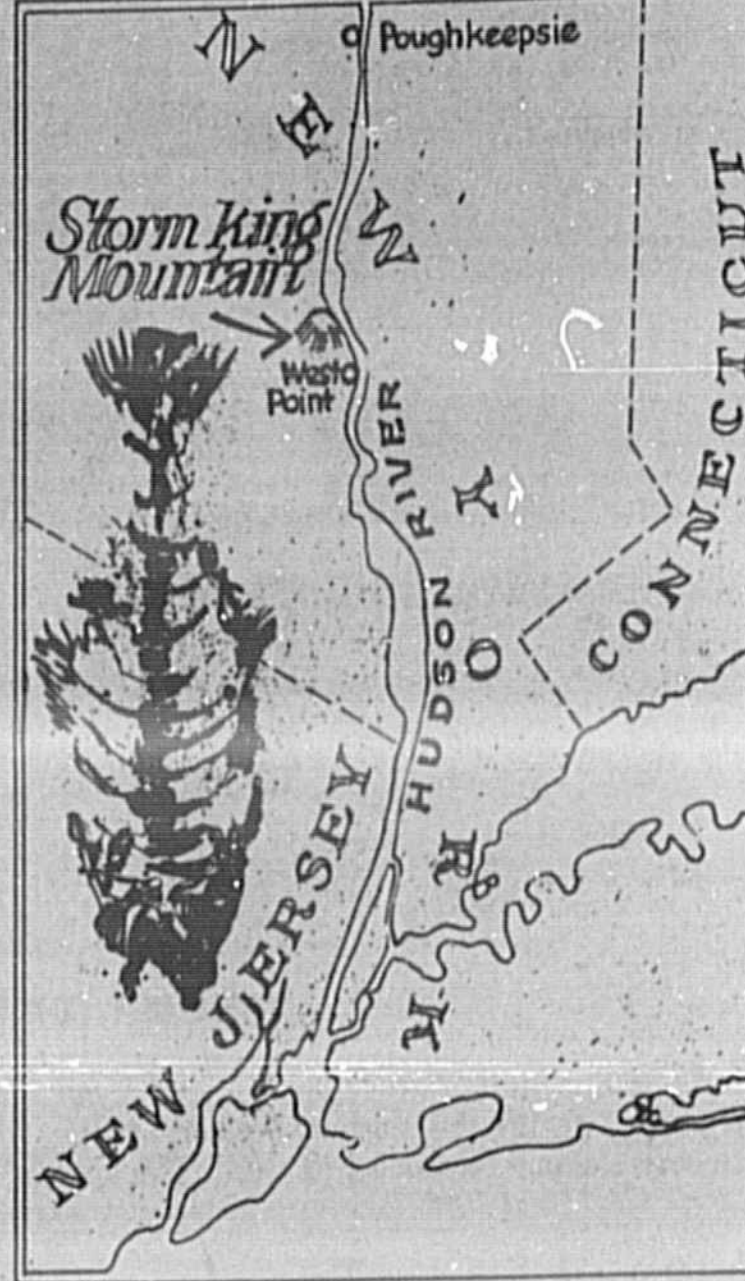

Sportsmen, historians and conservationists from as far away as Texas and Oregon have joined the Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference (545 Madison Ave., New York) to prevent the despoiling of the river. The 25,000 members have contributed over a million dollars to stop Con Ed from dynamiting historic Storm King Mountain in the fall.

Con Ed has spent $20 million on legal and public relations efforts to gain approval for the plant over the last 10 years. The Conference says:

To build the hydroelectric pumped storage plant, 580,000 tons of rock would be blasted from majestic Storm King, defacing its rocky face with a gouge 600 feet by 250 feet. Fifty-seven acres of rock debris would be dumped into the river.

The chain of five mountains around Storm King would be bricked in with dams, forming a water storage reservoir 200 feet deep. The storage reservoir would be pumped into the river at night, and during the daylight electrical peak, the reverse flow of the stored water would generate needed power.

Theoretically, Con Ed would plug the dam in a giant batch tub, to make mid-day electricity. Gurgles, gurgles, gurgles - instant, man-made, under Niagara Falls. But that is the largest bathtub in America, and there are other ill effects to be considered. Larvae, eggs and young fish life in the river would be sucked into the storage tank as it filled. The resulting crumpled eggs would annihilate a new generation of fish.

ARCHIE MOORE AND COMPANY...Fires questions to his boys

Any Boy Can Archie Moore Affirms Youth

By RON WELLS

Picture: A lineup of boys ranging from college age to grade school age answering questions in rapid-fire succession which are being asked by their instructor, Archie Moore. The youths are crime-prone and almost machine-like as they assume fighting stances and snuff-kick jobs at imaginary opponents.

Picture: A bearded, graying Archie Moore clad in blue-striped overalls carrying a chain of ammunition, water and handkerchiefs, a sponge and window squeegee. There is laughter and joking as Archie makes good on his agreement to wrestle the windows of Sam Tringali's bakery after having wrongly predicted the outcome of the second All-Northon fight.

Picture: Archie Moore, now 58 years old, relaxing in the wood-paneled den of his home in East San Diego, Calif. Surrounding him on the walls and shelves are mementos of 20 years in the fight game which saw him record 103 victories - 69 by knockouts - in 224 fights.

It would take a lot of such pictures to show every side of Archie Moore's personality and life-style when all that's really needed is three letters - A, B, C. These three letters stand for Any Boy Can which is Archie's program of youth guidance and motivation through sports.

Archie Moore says the program's principal of fair play, persistence, self-respect, respect for others, reverence for the game, and patriotism and personal achievement are the same principles which Archie has used to guide his own life through its many ups and downs.

"Around 1958 I reached the point in my boxing career where I asked myself if I really was doing what I wanted to do with my life," said Archie in an interview. "I was light-weight champion then but I knew I wouldn't be that forever.

"So I decided that when I retired I'd go into youth work and help boys, especially those in the ghettoes, to strive to better themselves and not be lured into crime or drugs," he said.

Archie knows about the lure of crime. As a member of a street gang in St. Louis, Mo., during the depression he and a couple of buddies stole $7 from a streetcar conductor.

Archie was caught and spent the next 22 months in the Missouri Training School at Booneville.

"I took the plug out of my life," he said, "but because of it I learned how to make stepping-stones out of my mistakes."

From that lonely time in the Missouri Training school to now, Archie has made his share of mistakes and suffered his share of disappointments.

"But the things which have kept me going through the years are the goals I set for myself," he said. "Everybody should set goals for themselves."

For Archie, his first goal was to become champion of the world and his second was to

PACES NVRA TRAINERS
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) - After the first 27 days of racing this season at Aqueduct and Belmont Park, 29-year-old Joe J. Garcia, the New York Jockey Association's trainer with 68 winners. He is the son of Frank (Pancho) Martin. Young Joe has had more winners than W.P. King as the thoroughbred moved to Saratoga Springs for the annual four-week meet.

"ABC and Instructor Moore have really changed my life," he said. "He made me see how important self-respect is and how showing respect for others gets respect in return."

"Before I met Instructor Moore I was always getting in trouble with the cops, but in 1965, a lack of money has been the program's biggest stumbling block."

Archie from a three-year period when his San Diego ABC program was sponsored by Gerald Aves of Lucky Stores, a chain of supermarkets, Archie has supported the program through lectures, acting roles, training lectures and setting up ABC programs for the military.
