

Remaining Gator Grid Games Offer Series Of Thrills

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 26—(Special)—It's out to Louisiana next week for a clash with the L. S. U. Tigers. Then after a week's layoff, the Florida Gators face a trio of major opponents and rivals in rapid succession.

Florida's annual classic with the Bulldogs of Georgia at Jacksonville on Nov. 8 promises to be played to a sell-out crowd. From all parts of Florida and Georgia grid fans converge on Jacksonville for a game that always commands national attention as one of the day's top attractions.

A week later the Gators are in Miami in three seasons, the Florida-Miami game has blossomed into a tremendous contest, and has drawn more fans than any other gridiron contest in this state, except for the Orange Bowl classic.

On Nov. 22, Georgia Tech comes to Sanford for the Florida Homecoming, and that's considered "the natural" for the occasion. Always colorful and long a principal rival of the Gators, Georgia Tech, augmenting the other many Homecoming features, is certain to bring a great galaxy of fans to Florida Field.

And to give a three weeks period, Nov. 8-22, grid followers will have three notable opportunities to see the Gators in action at three different points in Florida against three big rivals.

After that, it's all quiet on the Florida football front until the intersectional game with U. C. L. A. at Jacksonville Dec. 20, just four weeks after the Tech-Florida Homecoming affair.

200 HOMES A DAY

Miami Edison Paces Big 10 Football Race

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 26—(Special)—The ranks of unbeaten football teams in the Florida Big Ten High School Conference dwindled to three over the weekend as Hillsborough of Tampa handed St. Petersburg its first defeat, 7-6.

Miami Edison remained far in the lead with a 47-0 rout of Naples West-Palm Beach to bring its point total to 133 to 0 for the opposition. Edison has won four and lost none in conference games.

Plant of Tampa kept pace with Hillsborough by downing Clearwater, 19-6. Plant and Hillsborough have won two games each and lost none, although both have been tied.

Plant-City downed Lakeland, 13-0, and Orlando beat Lee of Jacksonville, 8-6, to move into a tie for fourth place at 6-7.

In an all-Jacksonville game, Andrew Jackson trounced Landon, 19-12. Gainesville, the remaining conference member, was idle.

St. Petersburg draws the assignment of trying to halt the surging Miami Edison eleven this week, meeting the conference leaders at St. Petersburg Friday.

Other games, all scheduled for Friday, follow: Hillsborough vs. Lee at Jacksonville; Jackson vs. non-conference Miami senior high at Miami; Landon vs. non-conference Daytona Beach at Daytona Beach; Lakeland at West Palm Beach; Orlando vs. Plant at Tampa; Gainesville at Clearwater, and Plant City vs. non-conference Bradenton at Bradenton.

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 26—(Special)—Interest in the elections next Spring will probably center on the race for the Supreme Court seat of retiring Justice J. B. Whitfield, who has held the post for the past 37 years.

Theo. (Tiff) Turnbull of Monticello, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee and attorney for the Florida State Railroad Commission and William P. Grapefruit Crop Will Be Off 6%

ORLANDO, Oct. 26—(Special)—The 1941-42 grapefruit crop will be off about six percent or around 4,300,000 boxes, according to estimates released last week by the Department of Agriculture. Total U. S. production may exceed 40,000,000 boxes.

Florida's grapefruit production was estimated at 20,300,000 boxes while Florida oranges, including Valencia, were estimated at 21,300,000 boxes, a 200,000 increase over last year.

Tangerine production was estimated at 1,200,000 boxes.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are way ahead of last year's schedule. It was not until June 6, 1940, that the Bucs left camp and launched the drive which landed them in the first division at the finish of the National League race.

Kimbrough And Harmon Fail To Please In Debut

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—Those darlings of the silver screen and radio, Tom Harmon and John Kimbrough, were only a couple of young fellows badly out of condition as they made their professional football debuts by helping the New York Americans gain a 7-7 tie with the Columbus Bulls in an American League tussle at Yankee Stadium Sunday.

In fact, the two famous All-Americans of last year spent much more time sitting on the bench trying to catch their breath than they did actually earning their $1500 honorariums out on the field. But that didn't keep them from packing 25,385 paying customers into the Yankee ball park and returning a fine dividend on the American investment.

The size of the turnout indicated that for the first time the National pro League might have some serious competition on its hands for this city's football patronage. A National League game between the Giants and Pittsburgh at the Polo Grounds a few blocks away drew only 24,604 spectators, which included more than a thousand service men who were admitted free.

Though neither of the big attractions played anywhere near his form in college, Kimbrough and Harmon collaborated to give the Americans their touchdown in the third period and tie the count. Alternating at toting the ball, they went 24 yards across the Bull's goal line, with Harmon covering the last four on a reverse from Kimbrough.

But that one burst was somewhat misleading. During his several appearances in the game, Harmon carried the ball a total of 12 times and showed a net gain of only 34 yards, which isn't bad, but scarcely is $1500 worth of ball-carrying. Also, Tommy had two of his passes intercepted.

As for Kimbrough, the big full-back from Texas A. and M. got hold of the sphere nine times and showed a profit of only 2 yards, being tossed once a loss of 12 yards by the Columbus one, which was enthusiastic about tackling the two famous newcomers. He had one 9-yard run, though, and a pair of 8-yarders.

To Kimbrough's credit, he did some great blocking for Harmon during their scoring drive.

Hull Requests War Zone Ban Off U. S. Ships

Secretary Says Neutrality Provision Should Be Replaced Or Modified

Secret Hearings Are Begun Today

Request Is Added To Recommendation Of Armed Vessels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Secretary Hull said today he believed the Neutrality Act provision which bans American merchant vessels from specified combat zones should "be replaced or modified."

He tossed this recommendation into the request that Congress repeal now the section of the act which prohibits the arming of United States ships. A half dozen senators—three Democrats and three Republicans—said the issue of complete repeal of the neutrality act before the Senate yesterday as the foreign relations committee brushed aside minority proposals to amend the act.

After the committee had voted, 12 to 9, to begin taking testimony today from Secretary Hull behind closed doors, Senators Bridges (R., N. H.), Gurney (R., S. D.), and Austin (R., Vt.), introduced in the Senate a resolution to repeal the entire act.

This bill reportedly acted after conference with Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee, who has urged his party to take the lead in an attempt to wipe out the neutrality legislation.

Not to be outdone, Senators Pepper (D., Fla.), Lee (D., Okla.), and Green (D., N. Y.), later in the day offered a proposal which would leave intact only the law's provisions giving the President control over munitions exports from the country.

The two major features of the neutrality act are (1) a clause prohibiting the arming of merchant ships and (2) a provision preventing such ships from going into combat zones and certain belligerent ports. The first prohibition would nullify the neutrality act repealers would, of course, wipe out both restrictions.

Two repeal bills were immediately referred to the foreign relations committee concerned officially as yet with only the house-approved measure for arming ships.

With administration forces firmly in the saddle, the committee overrode minority demands for extensive public hearings on the ship arming question, voting to wind up all testimony not later than 5:00 P. M. Friday.

Mrs. McLain was born April 20, 1849, in Lancaster, Wis., but has resided in Seminole County for the past 54 years. Prior to the 40 years she lived in Geneva, her home was in Orlando.

The 71 year old woman was a member of Geneva's First Baptist Church and active in its work for many years, as well as in community affairs.

New Method To Draw Tourists Is Described

Sporting Pictures Will Be Used To Advertise City

Pictures of hunting and fishing scenes are being sought by the Chamber of Commerce to be used in the advertising campaign to draw more visitors to this locality, Mrs. Mayna Hodgkin, in charge of tourist activity, said today.

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is in a position to get a great deal of free publicity for our county and Sanford through the medium of many advertising agencies and out of state newspapers," she said. "They write almost daily for pictures of fishing and hunting as well as other activities pertinent to this locality."

It is very difficult for the Chamber of Commerce to secure these pictures without the cooperation of the people. Therefore, it would be greatly appreciated if you hunters and fishermen, when you have been fortunate in your trips, would contribute to either call in by phone or in person and tell us of any particular interesting or unusual trip you have made. This makes good reading outside of our state."

"All this information helps to sell Sanford to out of town people, which is what we all want, and it will be published in papers and magazines throughout the entire east and middle west."

"If at the present time you are good strings of fish, we could use them now, and will be glad to keep your pictures intact and return them to you," she concluded.

Eyes Found As Secret Of Flying Balance

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The secret of an airplane pilot's balance is in good eyes, not good ears, an army medical expert reported Monday.

Dr. Leslie H. Bauer of Hopewell, N. Y., first commandant of the school of medicine in the U. S. army air corps, said military doctors in the first World War were through equilibrium was purely an ear problem.

Now it has been found, he said, that a pilot is wholly unable to keep his ship on an even keel no matter how perfect the mechanism of his inner ear, unless he can see the horizon, or has learned to fly blind and depended on the mechanism of his inner ear.

Fuel Workers Strike Closes Defense Plants

20,000 Men Idle In District Due To Birmingham Gas Company Shutdown

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 21.—(AP)—From 100 to 150 gas plants, with many defense orders, were closing here today as a strike at the industrial gas plant cut off fuel supplies.

Industrial sources said about 20,000 workers in the district were idle because of strikes and shutdowns brought by the industrial gas curtailment.

Shortage of industrial gas which followed a strike of 800 Sheet Metal Workers and Iron Co. furnace and by-products plant employees, forced the Birmingham Gas Co. to shut off the main supply to many industries. The close shop is the main strike issue.

In Washington, labor interest centered for the time being on the dispute between the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers and the Air Associates, Inc. of Bendon, N. J., which make airplane parts.

The defense mediation board referred this case to the office of production management and President Roosevelt yesterday after Air Associates rejected the board's recommendations calling for immediate reemployment of strikers.

In two other cases—those of North American Aviation and Federal Shipbuilding & Drydock Company—such reference has been a preliminary to government seizure of the plants.

Many in Washington, it appeared, however, that there were differences between these two cases and that of Air Associates. Production at North American and at Federal Shipbuilding has stopped when the government stepped in.

Air Associates is operating. Its president, F. Leroy Hill, said yesterday that man-hours worked showed a substantial increase in October.

Those announcing from district one, Sanford, are Mrs. W. I. Morgan, R. B. Chapman and W. M. Haynes, and the new candidates, Mrs. Winnifred S. Moseley, Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson, S. O. Chase, Jr., and John L. Galloway. The Longwood district includes Roy L. Howell and L. J. North, all incumbents, and W. J. Hartley and W. W. Montgomery, new candidates.

Unions Reject Arbitration Of Rail Salaries

Representatives Of 900,000 Employees Refuse Efforts Of Fact-Finding Group

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Railroad employees today rejected the offer by President Roosevelt's Emergency Board to arbitrate the wage dispute between the carriers and 1,260,000 operating employees. Frank J. Mulholland, counsel for the 11 non-operating brotherhoods, said:

"Five operating brotherhoods with 900,000 members turned down the offer. The other seven non-operating brotherhoods, with 360,000 members, declined. Thus the unions reserved their right to strike if dissatisfied with the recommendations of the President's board, to be made after the fact-finding investigation. Non-operating unions are to advise the board today of their attitude toward arbitration of the dispute."

The operating unions are asking 30 percent wage increases and the non-operating brotherhoods increases of 30 to 34 cents an hour. Current scales vary among classifications and among the different railroads.

Health In The Army

Although many of America's young men are being rejected for military service on account of physical defects, the new army, as a whole, which is composed largely of selective service men, is a healthy one, and in better physical shape than the forces of 1917-1918, according to life insur-

Admissions to "sick report" are now running well under those of the first World War, and the death rate from disease—styled "the most striking evidence of the present army's good health"—has been under one per 1,000 per year, or less than one-tenth the rate for the army in the corresponding period of 1917-1918. The mortality in the new army is actually lower than that now prevailing at comparable ages in the general population of the country.

"It should be a source of great public satisfaction that the health of America's new army is being maintained at such a high level," says a bulletin from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. "This reflects both the careful selection of the men and the high quality of the medical supervision and care provided for them."

There are several diseases in which extraordinary improvement has been recorded in our new army, as compared with the draft army of 1917-1918, the company explains. In the Fall of 1917-1918, some camps were swept by serious epidemics of measles, mumps, and the upper respiratory infections, while there were local outbreaks of epidemic meningitis.

Measles incidence, for instance, reached a peak rate of nearly 240 per 1,000 per year in November 1917, and the death rate for that month from this disease was five per 1,000. In contrast, the maximum rate of measles incidence in the present army was 57 per 1,000 in March 1941, and has recently fallen to one per 1,000. Moreover, the measles mortality in the new army is negligible, while in 1917-1918 it was a major cause of death among the soldiers.

The admission rate for mumps in the 1941 army is currently under five per 1,000 per year, and the peak rate in April was 17.7. In contrast, in 1917-1918 the peak rate was over 200 per 1,000 in January and February 1918, and then fell to about 25. Cases of epidemic meningitis are now comparatively rare in the army and the number of deaths quite small. In 1917-1918, death came to nearly one-third of the much larger number of men who contracted the disease. Mortality from influenza and pneumonia in the present army is low.

The health record of America's new army up to the present has been gratifying, especially since the very conditions of military training have elements of extra risk, both from disease and injury, which are not present in ordinary civilian life. The American people may look forward with confidence to a continued record of good health among our soldiers, in so far as it lies within the power of the army and its medical staff.

Got To Be A Habit

History has given such a prominent place to the successes of great men, their weaknesses are sometimes obscured in the fog. Thus we find that Marshal Petain, whose chief claim to fame rests upon his valiant stand at Verdun where he popularized the slogan, "They shall not pass," actually was at the point of surrendering to the Germans more than once during the World War.

"Real, flaming patriotism is beyond all reason and knows no bounds," says the St. Augustine Record. "It does not know caution and quibbling. It does not truckle with the enemy. Marshal Petain, known during the World War
No 1 as 'a sensible, reasonable man,' was ready then to call quits when action was going badly at the front.

"Georges Clemenceau, then French premier, was called upon to make a momentous decision. He said, 'At Doullens I found myself between two men. One was saying that we were lost; the other, paing up and down like a madman, wanted to fight. I said to myself, 'Let us try Tech. At the very least we will die with gun in hand.' I dismissed Petain, the sensible, reasonable man, and chose the madman, Foch. It was the madman who pulled us through."

"Admirers of his cause have called General Charles de Gaulle the Foch of France's present-day plight. Even when all seemed lost, General de Gaulle strove to keep the French spirit alive. One day, Free France, and other Allied forces, will bring back order, peace, beauty, and calm to stricken Europe."

One Way To Get Ahead

People don't care about you. Quit talking about yourself, quit referring to your own problems, experiences. To use those words "I" or "My," "Me" or "Mine" is just the same as saying: "Quit listening to me, this is of no consequence!"

The world is interested in itself, not you. Your great opportunity for becoming popular, remembered, asked, and helped by others is to throw your entire interest into others' lives and stop talking about yourself.—James T.
Mangan in Your Life Magazine.

SHORT BURSTS FROM THE ARMY

FIRST ARMY BUREAU RE-LATIONS DIVISION, CAMDEN,
S. C. Oct. 21.—(Special)—Even to a soldier there will come a time when it may be coined, discretion is the better part of unhesitating obedience.

Lt. Sam E. McCroskey, an Air Corps observer who was spotting targets for the big guns of the 86th Field Artillery in the Carolina maneuvers last week,
found himself in a jam a position.
The opposing "Red" forces were suffering heavy damage from the accurate "shelling" of the 86th, and McCroskey's plane was directing the fire. They found his radio frequency, listened in for his code call letters, and then sent him this message:

"We are listening to you. Return to base. Then they aimed
the all letters of the 86th."

The message contained the names of the officers and crew. He reluctantly complied with the order. The "Red" station transmitted on my frequency. Then they said to the air, you are important."

The "Red" signed off, without a word.

"We are listening to you. Return to base. Then they aimed
the all letters of the 86th."

MANUFACTURER OF FARM IMPLEMENTS, CONVERTS
MACHINERY TO PRODUCE SHELL CASES FOR ARMY

"Beating plowshares into swords" might well be the theme for the remarkable defense work being turned out by a manufacturer of farm implements.

When defense production was getting really under way last Fall, this firm tackled the job of how to convert the great facilities to the production of ammunitions of other war participate in the defense program.

How this was accomplished is a truly remarkable story. Faced with the prospect of having to wait at least six months for the machine tools necessary to get into shell production, the technical experts on the company's staff sought to find alternative routes. What they finally did was to go to their own discarded and obsolete machines—the so-called "junk pile"—and reclaim whatever looked in the least adaptable to the new job.

And today, right down the shell production line, one old machine after another in this plant is doing first class work. Most of the lugs, cones, cross slides, gauges, tool blocks, lathes, and fixtures were either rebuilt or newly made right in the shop.

The bulk of the machine tools,
including all turning equipment,
was rebuilt from units salvaged
from the old storage yards.

An example: One of the big problems that had to be solved
before getting into production was how best to plan and lay out the shell-centering operation without waiting for a specially built unit from the hard-pressed machine tool industry.

Advantages Of State For Air Industries Told

MIAMI, Oct. 21. (Special)— Advantages of Florida as an ideal location for defense industrial manufacturing plants were stressed
by Commander Bruce G.
Leighton, president of Interconti-nent Aircraft Corp. here, in a talk to Miami's Rotary Club last week.

"This is probably the best place in the country for a plant such as ours," said Leighton. "Ining in the center of a ring of defense the extends clear across the Atlantic, Southeast Florida would be vastly less vulnerable to overseas air attack than any four great west coast manufacturing centers, New England, or the Middle Atlantic states, once our outlying defense bases are completed."

In addition to Southeast Florida's strategic geographical location with regard to safety and transportation facilities, Leighton pointed out that this offered the best undeveloped labor market in the United States today.

"More than 85 percent of 900
people working at Interconti-nent today," said Leighton,
"were obtained right in this population area. Many of them were men who had 'retired' to Florida."

Intercontinent is now performing on $5,000,000 worth of government defense contracts for vital airplane parts.

Circle Of Garden Club Has Meeting

Mrs. M. C. Swingle, horticulture chairman of the Sanford Garden Club reported at the meeting of the Dirt Gardeners Circle which met at the home of Mrs. W. B. Shippy on Friday morning, that October is the time to plant annuals, and gave the definition of annuals, biennials and perennials as follows:

An annual is a plant which grows from seed, and produces seed in one year.

A biennial is a plant which grows from seed, requires two seasons to come to maturity.

A perennial is a plant which lives more than two years.

Though trees and shrubs are perennial in habit, the term is usually applied to herbaceous plants rather than woody plants or to plants which die back each winter and send out new growth in the Spring.

Mrs. H. H. McCallin reported that the beautification committee is planning to beautify the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital grounds this year and hopes to add more azaleas to the Fourth Street.

Man Fined For Smuggling Pest Infested Plants

MIAMI, Oct. 21, (Special)—Dugone died with his jeans the other day, a passenger arriving on the Steamship Florida paid a $5 fine for smuggling pest-infested plants, remarking as he left the cabin deck: "It's all my own fault."

Searches by Customs Inspector Oscar Fontaine, the shakedown of the stevedores revealed top Area paths in his hip pockets, two small plants in an inside coat pocket, one bulb and two small bush garden plants in another of the pockets. Lately he was found on the palms and all the plants were rooted.

Admitted to be known about the Federal quarantine plant pest quarantine laws and therefore had no idea of the contents of the plants, the stevedore had a 30-day probation for the confiscated material and was fined $500 for failing to report the plants to the United States Department of Agriculture. Fully with the Agriculture Department and State Dept. he was told toward the end of the voyage and disallowed to disembark. A four-day agricultural quarantine was ordered for the plants.

Reporter Finds Feds Rejuvenated And Ready For Remainder Of Games

By Jack Herring
There just isn't enough news in the paper about our high school athletics. That was the complaint of the very active student-council which represents the 600 and some odd students who are pursuing their education at Seminole High School, so it is the idea and aim of your reporter to try to remedy this in some measure.

Minnesota And Texas Lead In Grid Performance

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—It was Minnesota and Texas still running one-two today as 127 of the nation's football experts scanned performances of the top color teams throughout the country and, in the second of the weekly Associated Press ranking polls kept these two teams at the head of the parade.

This is a very appropriate time to place the Celery-Feds nearer the public eye as the rejuvenated eleven of our local high school trumpeted the DeLand Bulldogs to the tune of 20 to 7 last Friday night.

When I say rejuvenated I mean rejuvenated. The team that took the field last Friday night was an entirely different team than the one that had faced Daytona the preceding week. This team knew where they were running. They were tackling and blocking their men harder. The change was a sight to behold, and a pleasant one at that.

The past week the Feds put in a hard and strenuous week in preparation for that encounter. Much of the time was spent on the fundamentals of the game and the rest was spent in executing the plays, getting the machinery running so that all eleven "cogs" would click together as one.

With another hard battle ahead next Friday night the Feds enter this week's practice with grim determination to work hard and "bring home the bacon" again this week.

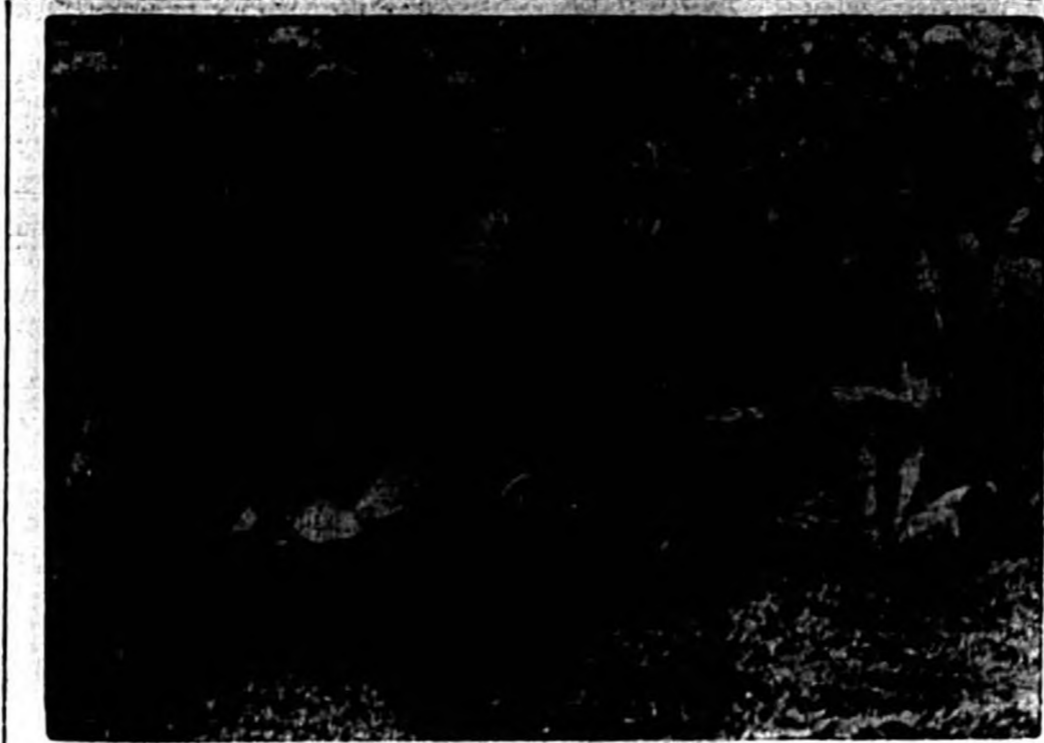

During September weeks were laid for 28 ships for the U. S. Navy, and 26 ships, including one battleship, two cruisers, one submarine and six destroyers, were launched. The battleship was the USS MASSACHUSETTS.

$16.57
Is all it will cost you for $5,000-$10,000 Bodily Injury and $5,000 Property Damage Liability insurance on your automobile?

The Golden Gophers, No. 1 team in the land a year ago, polled 60 first-place votes, worth 10 points each; 33 for second place, and only one vote for lower than fifth position.

Back of the Blue Devils came Navy, the east's ranking representative, which climbed from seventh to fifth; Fordham, dropped from fourth to sixth; and Pacific coast; Texas A. and M., Texas' strongest rival in the Southwest and the sector's best since 1940, and Tulane, only beaten team to crash the first 10 and doing so because of its thundering defeat of North Carolina.

Texas A. and M. and the Green Wave made the biggest advances, the Argies coming up from fourteenth place and Tulane from seventeenth. They showed Ohio State, still undefeated but only after a close call with Purdue down to No. 11.

By the narrow margin of a first-period safety, highly touted Ohio State defeated Purdue, 16-14, at Columbus, Ohio, before 68,000 fans and remained in the ranks of the undefeated. Dick Fisher, Buckeye halfback, whose spectacular runs were a highlight of the game, is shown skirting Purdue's end for a 15-yard gain.

Lieb Hopes For Gator Victory Against L. S. U.

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 21.—(Special)—One small ray of hope shown through the gloomiest "blue Monday" for Florida football in three years yesterday, as Coach Tom Lieb asserted, "the boys have a good football game somewhere in their systems, and this week may be the one in which it comes out."

Losers to Maryland in a stunning 13-12 upset Saturday, the Gators face the rising Louisiana State Bengals in Baton Rouge Saturday night.

The loss to the Old Line wasn't the only thing bothering fans in Gatorland today. The Gator coach announced that Nick Klutka, 197-pound right end who has been turning in great work in "iron man" stunts at his post, would likely be out of the L. S. U. game with an injury.

Great German Losses 57 Miles From Moscow Pictured By Russians

Soviets Admit Withdrawals To New Lines In Face Of Larger Opposition

First Winter Snow Reported

Hitler Headquarters Silent On Moscow; Lists Donets Gains

A high-ranking neutral military observer today said reliable information from Russia indicated the German attack on Moscow and in the north was definitely halted. He added Hitler would be able to carry out new attacks but "he will not again be able to muster anything like the strength he has used up in the past two weeks."

The Red army as well as the Nazis are exhausted by the gigantic struggle, the observer asserted. Which may mean a small factor may tip the scales one way or the other.

Soviet officials today pictured tremendous Nazi losses on the Moscow front as the Germans drove toward the Russian capital from the Moshak sector 57 miles distant.

Hand-to-hand fighting was revealed as the Nazis hurled tanks, infantry, and aviation units against the city.

Winter's first snowfall was reported in the Moshak region, piling snow on the roads and forests in many areas.

Hitler's headquarters was silent on the Moscow operations, but claimed advances in the Donets river basin.

Five successive waves of R. A. F. bombers attacked Naples, Italy, for five hours in the heaviest raid there since Italy entered the war.

Russian resistance to the full might of German armor entered its fifth month at dawn today with Moscow and Leningrad still strongly defended and Soviet determination to fight as strong as ever.

Four months have passed and the Germans appear far from accomplishing what many observers at first had expected in as many weeks—the occupation of Moscow and the crushing of Soviet organized resistance. Both the USSR and the Nazis have suffered terrible losses in the city's bloodiest fighting, but the issue is far from decided and the end not yet in sight.

Later Soviet communiques asserted that an all-out assault on besieged Moscow by the Germans were held at bay in fierce fighting. But in the far south of Stalin claimed the capture of the Nazis, industrial and fuel center in the vital Donets basin, and on the Baltic they said they took Dogo Island.

London heard, without confirmation, that southwest of Moscow a German spearhead had driven to within 40 miles of the Red metropolis. But not even Berlin claimed that Nazi troops were so close and it appeared that Moscow's ring of powerful fortifications—being strengthened hourly by thousands of civilian patriots—still held.

The defense of the city was under the personal command of Josef Stalin, again in uniform as in revolutionary days.

OPM Calls For Un-interrupted Defense Work

Office Declares That Strikes And Slow-downs Are Great Aids To Aggressors

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Office of Production Management today called for un-interrupted defense production and declared in a formal statement of labor policy that "the interruption of work by strikes or slow-downs is the greatest help the aggressors can get."

The defense program, the statement says, "which is growing larger every day, depends for its success on the patriotic support of labor and management."

The task of seeing that little business gets a chance to participate in the vast rearmament program through subcontracting or new plants received increasing attention yesterday.

In an effort to dramatize the drive to spread defense production, the OPM arranged for three exhibit trains—appropriately named in patriotic Red, White and Blue—to start touring the nation Nov. 10 and spread the gospel of subcontracting.

Director Odium, of the contract distribution division, said the move was designed to ascertain that "no qualified manufacturer—no matter where he is—misses an opportunity to get a defense contract for lack of information."

Bold Venture Flew Panama Flag, Was Not On U. S. Business, Say Nazis

40 Convoy Escort Ships Authorized

Roosevelt Asks Early Action On Allowing Ships In War Zones

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Maritime Commission today said it had been advised of the rescue of all 39 Americans of the torpedoed American freighter Lehigh.

Twenty-two men were layed at Bathurst by the British ship Vithury and 22 at Freetown. Since the crew included only 39, officials expressed the belief the others were stow-aways.

The news gave relief to the capital, perturbed as it still was over the loss of two more American-owned ships to Atlantic raiders.

Authorized German quarters declared the American ship Bold Venture, sunk in the Atlantic, was flying a Panama flag and was not the U. S. business. The facts are "not clear" in the sinking of the Lehigh, say the Nazis.

In Washington, reports disclosed the earmarking of $325,000,000 for 50 "convoy escort" ships, while Navy patrols searched for the 32 men missing from the two American ships sunk in the Atlantic.

The White House emphasized President Roosevelt wanted early attention by Congress to a further Neutrality Act revision to permit United States vessels to enter belligerent ports.

In the Senate, a campaign to scrap the act completely and authorize American ships to go anywhere was given impetus by a record of 23 American-owned ships sunk in as many weeks.
