Courtroom Slip-Up Leads To Inmate's 'Escape'

A 22-year-old Sanford man escaped from the Seminole County Jail Thursday — only he didn't know it.

Nor did the sheriff's deputy who helped him on his way.

Arrested and jailed for grand theft Wednesday, Anthony Edwards, 22, made his first appearance in the Seminole County courtroom at the jail Thursday.

After the hearing officials asked if "Mr. Edwards" was ready to go home. He stepped up, signed out and was free.

Edwards, of Route 7, Box 193 Highway Ave., had been charged along with two other Sanford men in connection with the theft of a load of asphalt from their employer, Green Brother's Roofing of Sanford, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

As Edwards, who was dressed in civilian clothes for his court appearance, walked away from the jail at about 2:45 p.m., he flagged down a sheriff's deputy, told him he had just been released from jail and asked for a lift home.

The deputy complied. About the same time jail officials began to look for Edwards, he was already out.

It seems there were two "Mr. Edwards" before the judge Thursday and the wrong one responded when "Mr. Edwards" was asked if he was ready to be released.

"It was all very innocent," Polk said of Edwards' action. "He really thought he was being released. He signed out under his own name and just walked out the door." Polk said.

Edwards was free for about three hours before deputies showed up at his house to take him back to the lockup.

He was being held today in lieu of $1,000 bond. A charge against him.

Polk said the incident is under investigation, but Edwards has not been charged with escape.

No action has been taken against any jail officials involved in the incident, but policies will be reviewed and changes will probably be made to make sure the wrong inmate doesn't slip through the system again, Polk said.

One of two co-workers charged with grand theft along with Edwards, Leonard Carter, 32, of P.O. Box 351 Main St., was also being held in lieu of $1,000 bond. The other, Charles Grayson Jr., 35, of 135 Bethune Circle, has been released on $1,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court March 29.

Turner Extradited; Seminole Pair Plead

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

Motivational millionaire Glenn W. Turner arrived in Phoenix, Arizona, Thursday to face charges he and two other Seminole County men ran a pyramid sales operation that defrauded investors of $1.5 million in 1979 and 1980.

Turner, jailed in Hendersonville, N.C., Wednesday, was driven to Charlotte, N.C., by agents of the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation Thursday afternoon.

He was put aboard a plane at the Charlotte airport and arrived in Phoenix at about 4 p.m., according to Maricopa County, Arizona, jail officials. He was to be arraigned today on the charges.

Turner was in Flat Rock, N.C., with his family visiting his mother-in-law, who lives in a two-story mansion near Hendersonville, when he was arrested, according to arresting officer Sandy Jackson of the Henderson County sheriff's department.

Meanwhile, one of Turner's associates at Challenge Inc., a motivational sales company, was to be extradited to Phoenix today. Alan Oakes, 45, of 638 Elder Court, Altamonte Springs, was scheduled to be bound over to Arizona authorities at 2 p.m. He was booked into the Seminole County jail Wednesday.

Oakes insisted on being taken back to Arizona as soon as possible, according to attorney Gene Stephenson, whose firm represented Oakes at his extradition hearing Thursday.

"He wanted to get back as quickly as possible to clear his name," Stephenson said.

The third associate in the case, Edward Rector, 54, of 574 Whippoorwill Lane, Oviedo, turned himself in to

Water Cost Doubles For Top Users

By Deana Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The 8,000 to 9,000 customers of the Seminole County water system failed to respond to a call for conservation earlier this month. Now high water use is going to cost top users almost double.

County commissioners have authorized some $750,000 to $1 million in expansion and improvements at three of its water plants to generate more water, but they will take 8 to 10 months to complete.

In the meantime, effective today, households that consume more than 15,000 gallons of water monthly will begin paying a premium for the service. The cost per 1,000 gallons for those using up to 15,000 gallons per month will remain 40 cents. Those who use 15,001 to 20,000 gallons monthly will pay double, $1.40 per thousand gallons rather than 70 cents. For 20,001 to 30,000 gallons, the cost will be $1.60 per thousand versus the old rate of 80 cents.

Any amount over 30,000 gallons will cost $2 per thousand gallons, rather than the old rate of $1. The figures are according to Cindy Wright, acting director of environmental services.

Pam Hastings, county Environmental Services Manager, said the number of households using more than 15,000 gallons a month is not known. However, historically, the average household uses about 13,000 gallons a month, or 450 gallons a day. In the first 15 days of March, the daily water consumption was 576 gallons a day, or an average close to 18,000 gallons a month.

She said about 7 1/2 percent of the county's water customers use more than 20,000 gallons a month and just under 3 percent use more than 30,000 a month.

If residents do not cut back because of the water price increase, it will generate an estimated $10,000 a month which will be used by the water department, she said.

Mrs. Hastings said water usage was up at each of the county's seven water plants indicating widespread increases in consumption rather than a few users of extremely great amounts.

The new regulations, adopted by the board of county commissioners, also set hours for irrigation. Those using water for irrigation of nurseries, ferneries, golf courses etc. are prohibited from irrigating between the hours of noon and 6 p.m. Watering lawns is prohibited between 5 and 8 p.m. daily unless done through a heat pump air-conditioning unit which reuses water.

Those who use water commercially for lawns and landscaping are prohibited from irrigating from midnight on Fridays to midnight Sunday.

The new regulations have no ending date, Ms. Wright said. "The end of the enforced conservation is dependent upon the rainfall Seminole County receives during the spring and

Curb-Side Klunkers Target Of Police Sweep

Sanford police began a city-wide sweep this week tagging an estimated 300 junk cars in the yards and driveways of Sanford with citations. Owners who are cited will have 10 days to repair the vehicles and put license tags on them, or remove them.

If the vehicles are not repaired or removed, the city may remove them and charge the owners for the cost, City Clerk Henry Tamm said.

If the city chooses not to remove the vehicle, Tamm said the owner could be referred to the Code Enforcement Board, which could levy a fine of up to $250 a day until the vehicle is removed.

The sweep is part of the city's monthlong "cleanup, fixup, paintup" campaign. Commissioner John Mercer said regulations concerning junk cars have always been on the books but are rarely enforced.

But junk car owners are getting some help. Mercer said David Redwine, of Seminole Salvage Co., has offered to pick up klunkers free and split any salvage income with the owners.

In other "cleanup" action, the commission voted Monday to delay increased rates for special garbage pickup until after the city's cleanup campaign is over on Saturday.

Mercer urged the delay saying a fee increase may discourage people from participating in the campaign. The increase is expected to take effect some time in April.

The fee will be charged for pickup of larger, bulkier items like stoves, refrigerators and other debris. The minimum charge for a special pickup will be $15. The fee increases with the size of the item as follows:

- Three to six cubic yards — $30.
- Six to nine cubic yards — $45.
- Nine to 12 cubic yards — $60.
- Appliances are $5 extra.

The charges were increased from a $6.73 minimum because of higher dumping costs at Seminole County landfills.

In another move to beautify the city, the commission is considering replacing 45 damaged trees in eight locations in Sanford. The commission asked the Scenic Improvement Board at its Monday meeting to check on the condition of the trees. The trees, consisting mostly of palms and oaks, would cost $3,485 to replace using city workers to plant them.

Baird was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital for treatment of head cuts. He will be charged, police said.

Grocery Sack Picture Leads To Missing Girl

SEATTLE (UPI) — A child who vanished with her father two years ago in a custody dispute was found after an alert shopper recognized her picture on a grocery bag. It was the second discovery of a missing child in two days credited to the bags.

Carrie Lee Carter, who was 6 when she was taken by her father from her mother's home in Alaska, was found in Oak Harbor, Wash., Police Chief Frank Orr said Thursday.

Police arrested the father, Larry James Carter, 42, after an unidentified Oak Harbor resident saw the girl's picture on a Safeway shopping bag and called authorities.

In talking the girl, Carter had violated terms of a custody arrangement, police said.

Carrie's mother flew from Alaska and picked up the girl Thursday, 2 1/2 years after she disappeared. See FOUND, page 14A

Hugs, Kisses But No Honeymoon

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The honeymoon was over before it began for condemned killer James Briley, who embraced his bride through the bars of a prison cell where the two were married — and then kissed her goodbye.

The couple never had a chance for a honeymoon because Virginia forbids conjugal visits for prisoners.

And Briley faces execution in three weeks. But Evangeline Grant Redding Briley, 44, of Halifax, N.C., said she is a happy newlywed nonetheless.

"We touched through the bars," she said. "I even got a few kisses." Briley, 28, exchanged vows Thursday with the divorced mother of four in a 10-minute ceremony several paces from the electric chair.

The bride wore a white linen suit and the groom wore fresh prison denim for the ceremony. The wedding was scheduled for 5 p.m. EST but the groom was left waiting at the altar — in his cell — while prison authorities strip-searched the bride and Briley's father, James Briley Sr.

Briley, his brother, Linwood, and four other condemned killers escaped last May 31 from the Mecklenburg Correctional Center in the biggest death row breakout in U.S. history.

One of the killers was captured a few hours later eating cheese and drinking wine in a laundromat. Another was caught in Vermont and a fourth man surrendered after talking to his mother.

But the feared Briley brothers, blamed for 12 murders in Richmond in 1979, remained free for 19 days before they were found in Philadelphia. Linwood Briley was executed Oct. 12.

Bank Robber With Class

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A bank robber who wears expensive clothes and gold jewelry added a romantic touch to his latest caper: complimenting the gun held in one hand was a red rose in the other.

"We're not talking about the run-of-the-mill street person here," said Police Sgt. Jim Simonson. "He's got a little class."

The "red rose bandit," as the press dubbed him, is believed responsible for eight bank holdups in Oakland and Berkeley in the past 90 days.

He has taken between $1,000 and $2,700 per heist and pulled the robberies one to 10 days apart. Police said the robber almost always strikes at noon.

Simonson said the suspect has been photographed many times by bank cameras. On March 16, he robbed a Citicorp Savings branch, using a gun and holding a red rose.

Police said in addition to the suspect's gold watch, a gold necklace and a gold nugget ring, they believed the robber may own a Lincoln Continental seen at one of the heists.

Girl Ordered To Undergo Cancer Therapy Dead At 14

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — Pamela Hamilton, the frail 14-year-old daughter of a fundamentalist preacher whose religion forbade her from receiving cancer treatment, "fought to the very end" against the disease, her doctor says.

The sad-eyed, brown-haired girl died Thursday at her parents' home after slipping into a coma.

"I have never seen someone fight so hard," Dr. Brian Corden said of the girl who finally received treatment under court order, after the tumor in her leg had grown to the size of a football. "She fought to the very end."

Pamela's ordeal made headlines in September 1983 when the state of Tennessee sued her father, minister Larry Hamilton, to win custody of the girl.

Hamilton and his wife, Deborah, refused to seek treatment for their dying daughter because they are members of the Church of God of the Union Assembly, which bars medicine and teaches only God can heal the sick.

Doctors determined 2½ months ago that Pamela's cancer was incurable and recommended no further treatment. Pamela was allowed to return to her parents' home, although the state retained legal custody.

Economic Indicators Inch Upward

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's leading economic indicators rose 0.7 percent in February, anticipating moderate economic growth even though many current economic trends are depressed, the Commerce Department said today.

The 0.7 percent, while less than half the revised 1.5 percent increase in January, was far better than the October-December average — a 0.2 decline.

The report showed that the economy actually got worse at the same time it was sending signals of better times ahead.

While the sensitive leading indicators improved, the accompanying coincident indicators — which measure current employment, income, production and sales — declined by 0.3 percent, the second consecutive drop.

Manson Follower Stays In Prison

ALDERSON, W.Va. (UPI) — Charles Manson follower Sandra Good, scheduled to be released from prison today, refused to accept parole terms that included staying away from Manson Family members and decided to stay in prison.

Prison Warden Gwynne Stier said Good made her decision this morning after being informed of the conditions. She said Good was "not happy at all. She feels that the Manson Family is the only one she has."

Good earlier had said she did not want to be paroled while other members of the Family were still imprisoned.

Good, a disciple of the convicted murderer, was serving a 15-year term for passing threatening letters to corporate executives. She was to be released early because of accumulated good time.

Manson is serving a life sentence in a California prison for the Tate-LaBianca murders in 1969.

Senate Urges Reagan To Retaliate Against Japanese

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Without a dissenting voice, the Senate has urged President Reagan to retaliate against Japanese imports unless Japan gives U.S. products greater access to its markets.

The non-binding resolution was approved 92-0 Thursday as the United States urged Japan in negotiations here to grant U.S. firms the same ability to compete in Japan's vast telecommunications market as Japanese companies enjoy here.

The Commerce Department announced Thursday that the monthly U.S. trade deficit with Japan had worsened from $3.7 billion in January to $4.3 billion in February. That was partly accounted for by a nearly $500 million increase in imports of new cars from Japan.

The Senate denounced Japan's trade policies and warned that if more equal treatment is not forthcoming Congress will respond with retaliatory legislation.

The resolution calls on the president to seek an opening of Japanese markets to achieve at least as big an increase in the flow of U.S. products to Japan as the likely increase in Japanese auto exports to this country — which will result from Japan's relaxing its voluntary export controls.

Japan has said it intends to continue the controls at an export level 25 percent above last year.

If Reagan fails, the resolution urges him to take retaliatory action, such as restricting imports of Japanese goods.

Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., a sponsor, said it was not a "message" to Japan but rather the establishment of a U.S. policy that Japan's $3.7 billion trade surplus with the United States last year "is too much."

Senators complained of Japanese restrictions against U.S. products, including beef citrus, telecommunications equipment and pharmaceuticals. Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said, "I've reached the limit of my patience with the Japanese."

Two other bills were introduced, one to impose a 20 percent tariff surcharge solely on Japanese goods and another that said unless Japan allows $10 billion more U.S. goods to be sold in that country within two years, the president must retaliate.

Undersecretary of Commerce Lionel Olmer told a House subcommittee that "some progress" has been made in negotiations over U.S. access to Japan's telecommunications markets, but U.S. negotiating goals so far have been met on only a few of the issues.

Olmer said a "benchmark" of Japanese intentions will occur by Monday, when Japanese regulations breaking up its telephone monopoly become fully known.

No More Defense Work For GE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Electric Co., a giant in household appliances for more than a generation, has been barred in a rare move by the Pentagon from future defense business pending the outcome of a federal fraud indictment against the firm.

Effective Thursday, the suspension marked the first time in memory the Pentagon has cut off a major contractor from doing business with it — even temporarily. The move reflects the intensified Pentagon campaign against waste and fraud just as Congress begins deliberating the military budget amid calls for cutbacks.

The suspension stems from the indictment handed down against GE by a federal grand jury in Philadelphia Tuesday charging the company defrauded the government of $800,000 between January 1980 and April 1983 in building nuclear warhead systems.

The action does not affect contracts that have been awarded to GE, "but these contracts will not be renewed or extended during this suspension," the Pentagon said.

GE said it considers the suspension "highly unusual and disproportionate to the issues under dispute. We feel all the issues can and should be resolved promptly and, on that basis, there should be no significant impact on the company's financial results."

State Sues For Fraud In Milk Culture Scheme

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Comptroller Gerald A. Lewis is suing two companies he accused of fraudulently attracting investors in a cosmetics operation involving organic growth scraped from a milk and cheese mixture.

Lewis filed a four-count civil complaint against Culture Farms Inc. of Lawrence, Kansas, and Activator Supply Co. Inc., Las Vegas, in Orange County Circuit Court Thursday. No date for a hearing has been set.

Lewis said at least 250 Floridians had paid $350 for "activator kits" to grow organic cultures that supposedly could be sold to a cosmetics company in Las Vegas. He said as many as 2,000 investors might have been involved in the operation.

The complaint said investors were not told that testing of the cosmetic product to be made from the culture was not complete — or that Roland Nocera, president and director of Activator Supply Co., had been convicted of a securities violation in 1977 and had filed for bankruptcy last year.

Lewis also said the operation is under investigation in Kansas and Nevada and that a similar promotion in South Africa resulted in millions of dollars being lost by investors.

Florida Festival Closing June 1

ORLANDO — One of Central Florida's large tourist attractions is scheduled to close June 1 because its owners say it is not making money.

Florida Festival, a shopping and entertainment complex southwest of Orlando, will be torn down after its closing, the publishing firm of Harcourt Brace Jovanovich announced Thursday. The firm owns Florida Festival as well as nearby Sea World.

Company chairman William Jovanovich said Florida Festival's 300 employees have been offered jobs at Sea World.

Jovanovich said the $6.6 million attraction has been breaking even since it opened in 1979.

He said there are no specific plans for the 14-acre site, but he announced earlier this month that a $12 million aquatic theme park will be built adjacent to Sea World later this decade.

Acid Rain Moves West, Threatens Wilderness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Acid rain, long billed as a regional problem in the Northeast, poses "disturbing and increasing threats" to five popular national parks in the West and millions of acres of nearby wilderness, researchers said today.

The report by the World Resources Institute on "The American West's Acid Rain Test" also identified six other national parks as being sensitive to acid rain damage.

"We no longer have only suspicions," said Gus Speth, president of the institute. "Acids in the West's snow, fog, rain and dry air pose disturbing and increasing threats to the West's valuable commercial and recreational resources."

The five parks already affected are Yosemite, Sequoia, Mount Ranier, North Cascades and Rocky Mountain, said the study by scientists from the institute and the University of California at Berkeley.

"Millions of acres of wilderness and forest resources are in the threatened areas," it said.

In at least one case, a lake in Sequoia National Park reached temporary total acidification after a heavy rain storm. The report also found heavy ozone damage to California forests and acidification of soils and water in the Colorado Rockies and the Washington Cascades.

The six other parks named as sensitive to acid rain damage are Yellowstone, King's Canyon, Devil's Postpile, Olympic, Crater Lake and Glacier.

Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., said the report provides "credible, convincing evidence that there is a problem in the West, as there is in the East."

He endorsed many of the report's recommendations to reduce nitrogen oxide emissions from cars and trucks, increase energy conservation, and require new industry to limit the pollution that contributes to acid rain.

The report also called for ending the exemption of Arizona's copper smelters from the Clean Air Act.

The 18-month study provided evidence that acid rain, previously believed to pose a greater danger in the Northeast, is a national problem, Speth said.

But Mohamed El-Ashry, director of the institute's acid rain program, said, "We have the opportunity in the West to avoid damage similar to that occurring in the East. We should not wait until crises overtake us. ... The possible irreversible nature of acid-caused damage to water and forest resources requires action now."

Gordon MacDonald, chief scientist for the MITRE Corp. in McLean, Va., also testified at a House hearing Thursday that "now is the time for action" on acid rain. He said a new commission is needed to study controversial solutions for two years before recommending specific action.

Scientists blame sulfur and nitrogen oxide pollutants for creating acid rain, but the new report said the problem has different elements in the West, where nitrogen oxides emitted by cars and trucks are more damaging, and where industry — not electric utility power plants — generate the most sulfur dioxide.

The problem plagues not only Western wilderness, but also major coastal cities, the report said.

Man Appeals Sentence For Lewd Assault On Young Boy

A Sanford man sentenced to 9 years for a lewd and lascivious assault on a 4-year-old boy has appealed his sentence.

Leon Merton Palmer, 30, of 911-A Park Ave., has asked the 5th District Court of Appeal to vacate the sentence by Seminole Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. and order a resentencing.

Davis sentenced Palmer Feb. 27 to 9 years, the maximum allowed under state sentencing guidelines. Originally charged with sexual battery to a child, Palmer was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge of lewd assault after the victim refused to testify against him.

Palmer said in his appeal that Davis calculated his sentence incorrectly.

Under the guidelines, the recommended sentence increases as the assault becomes more intimate, Palmer said the judge gave him the harshest sentence possible for the assault even though he had not committed the most intimate assault possible.

Social Security Safe, Medicare In Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Social Security's old-age and disability benefits are safe well into the next century, but the Medicare program is now predicted to run short of money by the end of 1988.

In their annual report to Congress Thursday, Social Security's trustees said Medicare will be spending more than it collects starting in 1989. Over the next 25 years, Medicare benefits would have to be cut 19 percent, or income increased 24 percent, to keep the program solvent, the trustees said.

The new predicted bankruptcy date of 1988 is a seven-year gain over their forecast last year that Medicare would go broke in 1991, the trustees said.

They again reported good news about Social Security's old-age and disability funds, saying that 1983 legislation curbing benefits and raising taxes will keep the programs solvent for 75 years.

The trustees predicted the 36 million recipients of old-age and disability checks would get a cost-of-living increase of 3.7 percent in their checks beginning next January, unless Congress freezes benefits. The increase, which depends on the inflation rate, would add $7 billion to Social Security's costs.

The five trustees — the secretaries of health and human services, labor and treasury, along with two representatives of the public — credited the gain in Medicare mainly to new limits on hospital spending, including a proposed freeze on 1986 hospital rates.

HHS Secretary Margaret Heckler said the report shows "significant new gains for the near-term solvency of the Medicare trust fund." But she said Medicare's problems will require "good faith and strong medicine in the months and years ahead."

In late 1983, Medicare began paying hospitals flat rates based on a patient's diagnosis, instead of reimbursing institutions for every test, every day in the hospital and every service performed. The "prospective payment" system was designed to encourage hospitals to be thrifty.

The trustees' report assumed the administration would carry out its promise to freeze 1986 hospital payments at 1985 levels. The Senate Budget Committee included a freeze in its budget plan, but the House has not yet acted.

Medicare's hospital fund, financed by part of the Social Security payroll tax, finances health benefits for 30 million aged and disabled Americans.

Cities Involved In Creation Of 911 Phone System

The Seminole County Commission has signed a pact with Southern Bell Telephone Co. to begin generating a data base for an enhanced 911 emergency telephone system.

And Roann Rubin, the county's E911 coordinator, said she anticipates the system will be in operation by Sept. 1986.

Ms. Rubin Thursday held the first in a series of meetings with city officials to "make sure the proper amount of equipment is being ordered for each city and to set up a program where I will be notified each time the city extends a street, vacates a street or plats a new street."

She discussed the system with Lake Mary City Manager Kathy Rice, Police Chief Harry Benson and Fire Chief Bob Stoddard Thursday, and has scheduled a meeting on April 10 with Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles, Fire Chief Tom Hickson and Police Chief Ben Butler.

Meetings with other city officials will be scheduled the week of April 10, she said.

When Southern Bell conducted its study on providing a 911 system a year ago, Ms. Rubin said each city estimated how much equipment would be needed and how many answering stations they had for emergency calls.

"We must know this to be able to order the proper amount of equipment to bring the enhanced system to every municipality."

She also will be asking each city for maps and street addresses of every resident in the individual communities.

Ms. Rubin said when all this information is gathered, it will be compared with telephone company information and an error file will be produced.

"We will then resolve the differences concerning the names and addresses in that file and the telephone company will prepare the data base," she said.

Ms. Rubin said she is not concerned about the Sept. 1986 target date. She calls it "realistic."

When she worked as E911 coordinator in Minneapolis-St. Paul, Ms. Rubin said it took two years to implement the program, but that system involved 1.5 million telephones. Seminole County has only about 120,000 telephones, she said.

The cost of the emergency system will be $423,000 for a one-time installation fee, and $293,000 for annual maintenance.

The county is paying the costs from its general fund.

When the program is in place, persons will need to dial one three-digit number — 911 — for any emergency. That call will go into a dispatching center at the county's public safety complex where the name, address and directions to the household will flash on a screen and the call will be re-routed to the proper police, fire or emergency agency.

4 Nabbed After Agents Find Drugs In Home

Two of four suspects nabbed on drug charges when Seminole County drug task force agents searched a Longwood home and reportedly found LSD along with marijuana and other drug related items have been released from jail.

The four were arrested at 8:07 p.m. Thursday after agents with a warrant searched their home at 138 Burns Ave. The warrant was issued after the agents reportedly made two marijuana buys from residents of the house on March 20, a sheriff's report said.

The agents reported finding LSD, marijuana, hypodermic needles, scales, rolling papers, a cocaine sniffer, and other items in the home related to the use of illegal drugs.

An additional small quantity of marijuana was also found in a car outside, the report said.

Delbert Lisk, 26, and Joseph Henry Rusanillo, 29, were charged with possession of LSD as well as possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. They were being held in the county jail today in lieu of $10,000 bond each.

Staci Ivy Manes, 19, and Gene Kevin Scott, 27, have been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of pot and drug paraphernalia. They have been released on $500 bond each and are scheduled to appear in court March 29.

MACK SMACKED

Four people were injured Wednesday when their car overturned after hitting a Mack truck at 25th Street and Mellonville Avenue in Sanford.

Charles Edward, 42, of 218 Tuskegee St., Sanford, was driving west on 25th Street in the righthand lane when he tried to turn left onto Mellonville Avenue, a police report said. He cut his car across the left lane, striking a tractor-trailer driven by Laverne Heffron, 42, of 1114 Timberlane Trail, Casselberry, the report said.

Edward's Plymouth flipped and skidded into the intersection and Heffron's truck stopped a few feet beyond.

Edward, who was laying partially through the window on the driver's side, was taken to the hospital with shoulder pain. Three passengers in the car were also taken to the hospital with back pains, scrapes, cuts and scratches. They are: Bobby Givens, 33, of 1809 Southwest Road, Sanford; Florence Lamar, 72, of 2370 Randall St., Midway; and Samantha Charles, 16, of 2003 Summerlin Ave., Sanford.

Heffron was not injured. The truck he was driving belongs to University Towing, 2181 Rouse Lake Road, Union Park.

No charges were filed in the incident.

QUICK CHANGE

A regular customer at a 7-Eleven convenience store apparently thought he pulled a fast one when he gave a clerk a roll of what appeared to be dimes, but turned out to be pennies.

Clerk Pauline Mills, who works at the 7-Eleven on U.S. Highway 17-92, Five Points, told deputies she gave the man $5 for what she quickly discovered was 50 cents worth of change at about 11:30 a.m. Monday.

Ms. Mills told deputies she recognized the man and she got the license number of his vehicle. The investigation is continuing and the store is expected to press charges if the man is nabbed, a sheriff's report said.

SPOUSE ABUSE

A Sanford woman who had blood on her hands and clothes when sheriff's deputies arrived at her home Wednesday told them her husband had beaten her and cut her hand. The man was charged with spouse abuse and resisting arrest without violence.

Deputies reported that while they were questioning Beverly Dayberry of 114 Garrison Drive, a man came out of a bedroom and began cursing them and demanding they leave his home. When the lawmen tried to handcuff him, the man resisted and had to be wrestled to the floor.

Arrested at his home at 11:13 p.m. was Douglas Howard Dayberry, 34. He was later freed on $500 bond.

IDEAL ROBBERY

A 21-year-old Sanford man was robbed at gunpoint Wednesday as he left the ideal gas and food store at 13th Street and Park Avenue, a police report said.

James Fortson, of 601 S. Palmetto Ave., reported to police that a man approached him while in his car, pointed a .25-caliber pistol at his head and demanded all his money. Fortson reportedly gave the bandit $5 and told him that was all he had. The robber then fled west on 13th Street, the report said.

BOGUS PRESCRIPTION

A 29-year-old Sanford woman who reportedly tried to get a bogus prescription for a controlled substance filled at a Longwood pharmacy has been charged with forgery and attempting to obtain a prescription drug through forgery.

The woman presented the prescription at Palm Springs Pharmacy, 101 Palm Springs Drive, Longwood, and was arrested there on Wednesday.

Dozens of blank prescription forms were reportedly found in the woman's possession.

Sheryl Ann Robert, 29, of 404 Palmetto Ave., has been charged in the case. She was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

THEFT FROM BOSS

Three Sanford men accused of stealing a truckload of asphalt from their boss have been charged with grand theft and were being held in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

Roosevelt Green of Green Brother's Roofing, Beardall Road, Sanford, reported to deputies the asphalt was stolen from his business, and witnesses reported seeing three men at the scene where the asphalt was recovered at 2202 Water St., Midway.

Three Green Brother's employees were linked to the case, a sheriff's report said.

Charged at 3:27 p.m. Wednesday were: Leonard Carter, 32, of P.O. Box 351, Main Street; Charles Grayson Jr., 35, of 135 Bethune Circle; and Anthony Edwards, 22, of Route 2, Box 193, Hughey Street.

GUN THREAT CHARGE

A man who reportedly threatened another man with an automatic handgun during an argument at Club 436, Lake Howell Road, Altamonte Springs, has been charged with aggravated assault.

Sheriff's deputies charged the man after they questioned the victim, Christopher Gallon, at the club at about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday. He reportedly told them the suspect, who was still at the scene, had pulled a gun on him during an argument. Deputies reported finding a gun in the suspect's car.

Patrick Lan Stephenson, 33, of 2212 Bradshaw Drive, Sanford, has been charged in the case. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Jack Fredrick Hoover, 52, of 2884 Bermuda Ave., Apopka, reported to deputies that $3,679 worth of jewelry and other items were stolen from his ransacked home on Wednesday.

Tools, a trolling motor, two ski jackets, a water ski and other items were stolen from the home of Robert E. Starnes, 51, of 109 Oriole Drive, Altamonte Springs, on Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department responded to the following calls.

Wednesday
 —10:22 a.m., 2624 S. Sanford Ave., rescue. An 82-year-old man suffered a possible broken foot after falling in the bathroom. He was taken to the hospital.
 —12:29 p.m., 300 Bay Ave., rescue. A 57-year-old man who had chest pains was taken to the hospital.

DUI ARREST
 The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:
 —Louis Pena Aguilar, 35, of Tangerine, Fla., was arrested at 3:04 a.m. Thursday after a sheriff's deputy who had assisted him when his vehicle became stuck but warned him not to drive because he appeared to be intoxicated, later saw the man driving on Wekiva Springs Road in Longwood. The man was also charged with driving with a suspended license and having an unassigned tag on his car.

Out Of The Money

They were all smiles before leaving Sanford, but this group, winners in the recent Seminole Community College Dream Auction, came up a little short at the race track Wednesday. The seven shown, plus former state representative Bobby Haffaway, bid $4,305 on a chance to win up to $8,000 on a race at the Hialeah Race Track in Miami. If Lordship had finished fourth or better, the bidders would have split horse owner Ron Worswick's winnings. But alas, despite being the favorite, Lordship came in fifth. SCC gets the $4,305 and, from left, Robert Medero, Paul Watkins, Jim Sawyer, George Jochem, Joe White, Donalene White, and Russell Moncrief got a day at the track.

Crooks Sneak Off With Shoes

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Authorities say the latest fad for speedy teen thieves appears to be fashionable sneakers.

Once it was gold chains then expensive eyeglass frames, but Assistant District Attorney Frank Gilbert said he has prosecuted between 12 and 15 cases in the last few months in which youngsters were attacked and robbed of their shoes by other juveniles.

"It's just because the teenagers are into sneaks," Gilbert said. "It's just like any other thing of value. Value is what price people place on things."

So far, no one has been seriously injured in the robberies, which usually involve the victim being thrown to the ground and the shoes removed from his feet.

"It would appear it's like a spur of the moment thing," Galvin said. "A kid walks down the street and he's got on new sneaks. Because of the quality, as indicated by the name, somebody decides he wants a pair and if it looks like they fit, the kid is robbed."

Certain Nike brand shoes, which can cost as much as $70, appear to be a popular target, as well as the new type of patent leather sneakers, he said. In addition to being popular, the attraction of the shoes is their price is above what the thieves can afford to buy.

"I've noticed another trend," he said. "It's not enough just to have regular sneakers. After the designer sneakers took hold of kids' minds, then the next step was leather sneakers. They crack but they're very expensive."

Government Loan Program Abused; Rules Tightened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federally guaranteed medical and dental education loan program was so loosely run that one student was able to borrow money for a trip to Europe for "personal development."

Another was allowed to include money in his budget for expenses of his divorce and counseling.

An audit of the Health Education Assistance Loan program said growing numbers of defaults are endangering the program's insurance fund, and the government could be liable for up to $3 billion by 1990.

Alerted by auditors of the Health and Human Services Department inspector general, the government increased premiums to prevent the insurance fund from going broke in 1985, but that "is not sufficient to cover expected future defaults," the audit said.

The government had guaranteed $500 million in HEAL loans as of Sept. 30, 1984. As of last month, $6.6 million in insurance claims had been paid.

The audit recommended the government impose stricter requirements on borrowers, try harder to collect from defaulters, and raise insurance premiums still more. Some steps have already been taken.

The HEAL program, started in 1978, insures loans by private lenders to students in health profession schools — future doctors, dentists, chiropractors, podiatrists and others. Students may borrow up to $20,000 annually for four years, at market rates. The maximum is based on the size of a student budget, as determined by the school.

If the borrower defaults, dies, is disabled or goes bankrupt, the insurance fund repays the loan, but the federal government itself would be liable if the fund runs out of money.

The audit estimated 8 percent of loans were in default last year, but predicted that would rise to 10 percent or 15 percent. Auditors believe it can be held to 6 percent.

They said inflated student budgets, loose regulations and the government's failure to restrict loans to high-income borrowers let students borrow more money than they needed.

Auditors estimated $12 million in unnecessary loans went to seniors between 1980 and 1983, and millions more went to underclassmen.

The government has taken some steps, such as preventing most loans within 60 days of graduation. But the audit said the government should also require a test of financial need and should restrict loans to academic expenses only to prevent students from borrowing for personal needs.

The government already has stepped up collection efforts — requiring lenders, for example, to interview graduating students to get their addresses and agree on repayment plans.

Two years ago, government auditors uncovered widespread problems in the Health Professions Student Loan program for doctors and nurses. They reported some doctors drove luxury cars while failing to repay their loans. The program was later tightened.

It's Up To The Arabs

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak failed in Washington recently to enlist American support for the peace initiative that Egypt, Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization have agreed on.

President Reagan in his friendly, firm way declined participation and confirmed the administration's current wait-and-see attitude on the Middle East. He had no reasonable choice but to make clear again America's determination to avoid negotiations with the PLO until it recognizes Israel's right to exist. And he could not but refuse participation in an international conference on the Middle East that would include the Soviet Union and seek to impose Arab terms on Israel.

In a recent speech before the National Press Club, President Mubarak openly criticized the administration's cautious diplomacy as "almost a defeatist approach." The net result is that Mr. Mubarak returns to advise his Arab allies that he has tried and failed on the so-called Amman plan; he knows better now as to what is acceptable and what is not.

President Mubarak can be a decisive catalyst in resolving the Palestinian controversy, as President Reagan undoubtedly urged. He has gained the support of Algeria and Iraq, two former hard-line rejectionist states, and he sees Libya and Syria more isolated than ever in their obsession to destroy Israel.

Mr. Mubarak must realize now that his priority task is to persuade the Arabs to rescind their agreement made at Rabat in 1974 that made the PLO the sole representative of the Palestinian Arabs. The renunciation would permit Jordan's King Hussein to negotiate directly with Israel on the West Bank as Egypt's late President Anwar Sadat was able to do in winning back Egyptian territories from Israel through direct negotiations. Jordan needs to be liberated from the PLO's veto.

Meanwhile, instead of complaining about President Reagan's insistence that Camp David be the model for future peace organizations, Mr. Mubarak could set a good example by improving his own dealings with Israel; he could unfreeze Cairo-Jerusalem relations by returning his withdrawn ambassador to Israel.

We think President Reagan is right to insist that the United States be an honest broker between Israel and the Arabs just as it was in the Camp David negotiations between President Sadat and Israel's Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Israel has said time and time again that it is willing to sit down anytime with any Arabs who wish to discuss their mutual problems, except the PLO, which is closely allied with the Soviet Union and continues terroristic hostilities against Israelis everywhere. If the Arabs really want to work out an arrangement for the West Bank before it becomes inextricably linked with Israel, as they indicate, they have but to recognize Israel and negotiate. Until they are willing to meet that decent and minimal requirement, all of their churning peace initiatives signify not very much.

Wasteful SBA Is Giving Us The Business

WASHINGTON — When the National Federation of Independent Business asked its members what they thought of the Small Business Administration, two-thirds confessed they'd never had any contact with it, three-fourths said it had no effect whatsoever on them and half said they knew nothing about its programs.

This is the sobering reality behind this wasteful, ineffective and abuse-ridden program whose $3.6 billion in loans went to less than two-tenths of 1 percent of America's small businesses last year. In other words, only 21,461 out of more than 14 million small businesses received this SBA aid.

Furthermore, almost 80 percent of these SBA beneficiaries were receiving assistance for the second time — puncturing the myth that SBA primarily helps new businesses get started.

Nearly 600,000 new businesses are being formed each year — 80 percent more than in 1975. And it is these small businesses, more than any other sector of the economy, that have shrunk the unemployment rate to single-digit levels. Businesses with 20 or fewer workers generate two-thirds of all net new jobs in this country.

The truth is that SBA plays a minuscule role in all of this. Less than 1 percent of all U.S. businesses have ever benefited from SBA loan assistance.

This is the backdrop before which the Senate Small Business Committee, chaired by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut, recently voted down President Reagan's proposal to dismantle SBA and save taxpayers $5.3 billion over the next three years. "You didn't expect them to eliminate their own committee, did you?" a committee staffer later remarked.

That, of course, isn't going to happen if Republican Weicker and Rep. Parren Mitchell, the Baltimore Democrat who chairs the House Small Business Committee, have anything to say about it. They think SBA's elimination would "cripple" small businesses. Many lawmakers agree: More than 75 percent of them believe that SBA is a real help to small business, according to one congressional survey.

Most small businesses think otherwise, which is why there have been few, if any, complaints from the business community about Reagan's proposal. The screams of anguish have all come from the two committees that derive their power from this nebulous agency.

The myth is that SBA helps the small "mom-and-pop" enterprise — but the truth is that most SBA assistance goes to mainstream small business and service establishments that are fully capable of obtaining needed capital from the investment community without resorting to SBA subsidies.

For example, in 1982, restaurants and bars made up the biggest category of SBA loan guarantee recipients — reaping $153 million, or 7 percent of the loans. In the previous year, automobile dealers and related retail and service companies took the first-place category, sweeping up $346 million, or 11.1 percent of the total. Upper-income doctors and dentists, who are generally a good credit risk and shouldn't be getting SBA loan subsidies, gathered $143 million in loan guarantees for their investment enterprises.

Guaranteed loan defaults have been one of the heavy prices that taxpayers have had to pay for this program. The Treasury has shelled out more than $4 billion on defaulted loans in the past 10 years.

VIEWPOINT

Rather's Version Of Truth

By Robert W. Savage

Two apparently good friends sit down for tea and chat amiably about their health, the weather, President Reagan and other world problems. The talk digresses to subjects philosophical: Karl Marx and the joys of socialism. A scene from another doomed Broadway play? Part of another trite novel? No, an interview from the March 17 broadcast of the CBS newscast, 60 Minutes, between correspondent Dan Rather and the Cuban dictator, Fidel Castro.

Sen. Jesse Helms (R-NC) and his organization, Fairness in Media, have received a great deal of criticism from the nation's pundit brigade for their attempt to become Dan Rather's boss, by buying a plurality of CBS stock. But, as the recent Rather-Castro interview demonstrates, Sen Helms and his conservative friends have a legitimate gripe: liberal bias in the newsmedia, particularly exemplified by Dan Rather, who preaches his version of politics and the truth Monday through Friday to 40 million Americans.

Dan Rather's predilection for liberal positions is not a product of any hardline ideological belief. Like many in the newsmedia, he professes to hold the high principle of objectivity. But his moral relativism overwhelms any pretense of impartiality. Helms and other conservatives boil at Rather's acceptance of the stock answers of socialists and communists. Rather, trying hard to be objective, let Castro off the hook.

Some of the questions he could have asked:

How can Castro justify his huge military and its deployment around the world while his nation wallows in poverty? Castro's Cuba has 15,000 soldiers in Ethiopia, 20,000 in Angola, and 3,000 in Nicaragua?

How can Castro deny his almost total dependency on the Soviet Union which accounts for two-thirds of all its trade, while other Eastern Bloc nations account for almost all the rest?

How can Castro explain the military presence of a 3,000-man Soviet combat brigade in Cuba?

The orthodox Marxist that Castro is would respond with simple denials. But Rather doesn't even ask these tough questions. Apparently he prefers not to seem unpleasant. In the war of ideas between capitalism and communism Rather and many of his colleagues tolerate volumes of propaganda from leftists while reserving the rough interviews for conservatives.

Violence Warnings Ignored

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The volley of gunfire that took the lives of five people in a 1979 racial clash lasted only 88 seconds — but its echo has reverberated through the offices of law enforcement agencies for almost 5 years.

The shots were fired during a confrontation on a Greensboro, N.C., street between the United Racist Front — a coalition of the American Nazi Party and Ku Klux Klan — and the Communist Workers Party. Those killed in the Nov. 3, 1979 clash were all CWP members.

The participants in that bloody episode initially appeared to have been members of violence-prone organizations at the outermost edge of politics. Now, however, there is evidence of substantial involvement by undercover agents and informants working for federal and local law enforcement agencies.

Two of the undercover operatives whose activities have been challenged are Bernard Butkovich and Michael Sweet, both agents of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. They infiltrated North Carolina chapters of the Nazi Party during the summer of 1979 and are accused of acting as agents provocateurs in the ensuing months.

Equally disturbing is the alleged role of Edward W. Dawson, a Klan member acting as a paid informant for the FBI beginning in 1967. By the late 1970s, Dawson also was acting as an informant for the Greensboro Police Department, where his contact was detective J.H. Cooper.

Dawson says that, a few hours before the fatal gunfight, he left a Klan meeting to call Cooper and warn that "they had guns, everybody had a gun."

Finally, there is the curious role of the FBI, which had been warned by Dawson and two Klanmen that violence was likely to erupt during the confrontation with the CWP. In addition, a Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms internal memo says "the FBI was kept apprised (of) the significant developments as they occurred."

BATF says it conducted an investigation of its agents' activities and found that they had not acted improperly.

Notwithstanding those denials, there is compelling evidence that both federal agencies and the local police department might have averted the killings — but chose not to try.

Profit Satellite Goal

By Virginia Isbell

TOULOUSE, France (UPI) — France has unveiled a $400 million Earth observation satellite to be used in the first attempt at turning a profit by taking pictures from space.

France's Spot satellite, due to be launched next October by the European rocket Ariane, is designed to produce up to 50,000 custom-ordered high definition pictures yearly for oil companies, farmers, land use planners and anyone else who can use them.

The new generation satellite is intended to upstage and perhaps replace its main competitor, NASA's Landsat Earth resources satellite, and tap the lucrative American market, estimated at 40 percent of world demand.

Spot marketing men plan to take advantage of the uncertainty over U.S. government efforts to turn such civilian observation satellites over to private enterprise.

The newest Landsat, launched last year, is designed to operate into 1987. The U.S. government has agreed to build and launch one final Landsat in 1988, but funds have yet not been approved and the launch date has been delayed to the end of 1988 due to difficulties in negotiating the takeover.

Spot Image, the marketing arm for satellite pictures from a "computerized" dial-up catalog, has already sold distribution rights to companies in 26 nations, including two Eastern bloc countries. An American marketing subsidiary is based in Washington.

"This is a purely commercial, apolitical enterprise — anyone and everyone can order and purchase the Spot pictures," said Gerard Bracher, the marketing president.

Spot is crowned by two HRV (High Visibility Resolution) lenses that will take pictures showing objects the size of a small garage.

Each telescopic lens, controlled from Earth stations, can focus on particular areas, unlike Landsat's unvarying aim. In Spot's 14 daily turns around the globe at an altitude of 515 miles, it can shoot the same area from a slightly different angle to make three-dimensional pictures.

City planners and governments working out regional development and ecology programs are likely customers, but satellite manufacturers stress that private interests will be the biggest clients.

"Right now, oil companies have expressed the most interest in the project, but our main clients will be in agriculture," said Couillard of CNES.

Claude Lallemand of the French National Petrol Company explained, "The stereoscopic images will mean more precise relief maps that reveal the earth's geological structure. It narrows down the areas to be explored for oil fields."

The high definition pictures will show crop ripeness, land dryness and types of soil in small scale fields of Europe, Africa and Asia, whereas the crop patchwork was indistinguishable in Landsat's shots, nine times broader.

Spot's base rate will be $250 for a black and white print of a 1,390 square mile area.

Hat-In-Hand Visit Worked For Mubarak

WASHINGTON — Poor-mouthing is a venerable technique used by the world's big-league beggars when they come to Washington. Needy potentates trying to extract a few billion from Congress tend to paint as dreary a picture as possible of their situations.

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, an expert at the game, was in town earlier this month seeking more aid for his impoverished country. He resorted to poor-mouthing, just like any national leader looking for a handout from Uncle Sugar.

Mubarak is torn between gratitude for the billions he has already received and the resentment that dependence engenders. But he regards the U.S. Treasury as a fat cow to be milked. And he left town with about $600 million in U.S. aid, which isn't bad in the international begging league.

The U.S. Embassy in Cairo tried to prepare the State Department for Mubarak's pitch by sending information on Egyptian oil revenues. The Egyptians claimed that the income from the Sinai oil fields, which Israel gave back to Egypt in 1978, has dropped significantly in the last couple of years.

In a confidential cable, the Cairo embassy confirmed that Egyptian revenues from the Sinai oil fields had indeed fallen since 1981-82: from almost $2.7 billion to an estimated $2 billion in the current fiscal year.

The embassy cable, obtained by my associate Lucette Lagnado, also reported a bit of plain and fancy poor-mouthing by the Egyptians: "Although the Egyptian government claimed that oil revenues declined significantly in 1983-84 over 1982-83 in its request to the United States for increased assistance, this claim is not supported by the revenue figures provided to the embassy by the (Egyptian) Ministry of Petroleum."

The Egyptians evidently made no attempt to cover up their little white lie. They gave the embassy revenue figures for the last three fiscal years, which showed that while exports from the Sinai oil fields had, in fact, increased some $112 million in 1983-84, they were still significantly below the figure for 1981-82.

The embassy also reported that the Sinai oil fields are expected to run dry in another 10 years. The Egyptian government is already considering rationing as a means of stretching the rapidly shrinking oil supply in the face of growing demand.

Egypt's oil resources obviously would provide little more than limousine maintenance for a country like Saudi Arabia, which makes administration sources feel that perhaps Mubarak should do a little more belt-tightening.

But Egypt continues to subsidize the energy consumption of its people to the tune of around $5 billion a year.

"A special cabinet-level committee ... is now examining energy price reform," the embassy cabled. "Electricity price increases for some users may be implemented this spring."

This falls into the category of interesting-if-true. In a country where a penny increase in the price of subsidized bread provoked bloody riots a few years ago, removing the subsidy on energy seems unlikely.

Meanwhile, despite Mubarak's apparent success at the White House, there is some feeling on Capitol Hill that aid to Egypt should be looked at more carefully. For example, Rep. Larry Smith, D-Fla., is investigating the Egyptian aid situation.

Judge: Husband Can't Stop Wife's Abortion

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — A convicted rapist accused of beating his estranged wife and refusing to support his children has no right to prevent the woman from having an abortion, a judge has ruled.

Judge Michael Curry Wednesday dissolved a temporary restraining order preventing Kim Hayes, 19, from ending her pregnancy. Her husband, Keith Hayes, 28, said allowing the abortion would amount to "family violence."

An attorney for Mrs. Hayes, Jerry Goldstein, said her estranged husband is "unfit to complain about family violence" because he had been convicted of rape and did not contribute to the support of two children he fathered in the past.

Mrs. Hayes testified her husband beat her and told her, telling her she could not become pregnant because he had a vasectomy.

Hayes said under cross-examination that he was convicted of raping a former wife in 1977, "paid a $40 fine" for assault involving another woman and had not supported two children he had fathered.

In ruling to allow the abortion, the judge cited the 1973 Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion, as well as the court's 1976 decision that ruled the wife has the right to decide whether to obtain an abortion when the husband objects.

Hayes had obtained the restraining order against his wife last week.

The couple married last October but separated in January. Mrs. Hayes learned she was pregnant Feb. 25. Testimony indicated this is the 14th or 15th week of her pregnancy.

"There was no way I wanted to see my baby end up in a garbage bag at some abortion clinic," Hayes testified.

Mrs. Hayes said she considered her pregnancy a "cancer" and was determined to end it.

"I don't want it," she said. "He told me he would help me with an abortion — that he would pay for it."

Under cross-examination, she said they had considered adoption, but that she became upset when he "went to the papers" about her.

Hayes testified his religious beliefs and information he obtained about abortions led to his request for the restraining order. He said he was willing to pay for the medical expenses and support the child if the abortion was stopped.

Donate Pliers To Squeeze Military Brass

DUBUQUE, Iowa (UPI) — A newspaper editor unveiled a plan to squeeze Pentagon brass to get a grip on outrageous defense department cost overruns: mail your pliers to the Air Force.

Mike Tighe mailed his pliers to the Pentagon and urged Dubuque Telegraph Herald readers in a column Wednesday to do the same in response to the disclosure of the latest military mark-up — $748 paid by the Air Force to Boeing for each pair of pliers.

Readers were asked to mail the pliers to Major General Bernard L. Weiss, The Pentagon, Washington D.C. 20330. Weiss is in charge of the Air Force pliers contract.

Tighe said most people would prefer the Air Force use the donated $5 models instead of the $748 version provided by the defense department contractor.

Tighe also said an idea on what Air Force officers could do with the extra tools.

"But," he said, "this is a family newspaper, so they'll just have to hire a consultant to find out where the pliers should go."

Plans Set For Allocating Iron Bridge Capacity

A policy outlining which developers will get portions of the 1.4 million gallons of capacity at Orlando's Iron Bridge sewage treatment plant is in place, despite uncertainty about when state and federal anti-pollution agencies will allow new connections.

Over objections raised by representatives of two developers, the Seminole County Commission Tuesday ratified all the details of a policy prepared by the county's Department of Environmental Services.

The policy restricts each of the 60 developers on the county's waiting list for sewer service to 52,500 gallons of daily capacity at the plant — the amount needed for 150 homes — until the county's portion of capacity is exhausted.

The developers on the waiting list are in chronological order depending on when they applied. Those who do not pay their fees will remain on the list for allocation of capacity when the plant, near Oviedo, is expanded or when capacity is increased through the use of hyacinth filter beds.

The experimental use of hyacinths is expected to filter the nitrates — an ingredient of fertilizer — out of the effluent before it is dumped into the Econlockhatchee River. The high degree of nitrates in the effluent is the reason the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Environmental Regulation working in concert stopped Orlando from accepting any further connections to the plant some months ago.

Although County Administrator Ken Hooper told commissioners two weeks ago he thought the capacity would be released then, it still hasn't.

He told commissioners Orlando and the DER have both signed consent orders agreeing to the hyacinth experiment, a decision is awaited from the federal agency in Washington.

Seminole County's 1.4 million gallons of capacity at the Iron Bridge plant is to be divided up among Seminole developers who pay connection fees of $2,071 per unit in advance.

And if planned developments for which connection fees have been paid have not begun construction within one year, those developers will begin paying the county's utility department $7 per connection allocated per month.

William Baker, representing General Homes of Florida, opposed the policy saying more than 150 homes are scheduled for development by that builder. He asked for special consideration.

Randy Rush, representing Ameri-First Development Corp., developers of Deer Run planned unit development near Casselberry, said planned unit developments should be treated differently than subdivisions. He said in PUDs several developers might build sections.

Commissioner Fred Streetman said nearby counties are allocating only 50,000 gallons of capacity per development, adding the area's Homebuilders Association supports the Seminole County plan.

The policy was adopted on a 3-1 vote with Commissioners Streetman, Bill Kirchhoff and Bob Sturm voting for the plan and Commissioner Barbara Christensen voting against. Commissioner Sandra Glenn was absent.

Mrs. Christensen said changes should be made in the plan. Earlier she said that developers should not be allowed to buy connections to the sewer system unless they already have plans approved for their projects. She called developers who pay for capacity, but have no county-approved plans, speculators.

In a related matter, the commission approved allocating 25,000 gallons of its sewer capacity to the city of Casselberry to be used by Greater Construction Co. for a Casselberry project in exchange for the capacity, the county is to receive an identical amount of sewer capacity at Sanlando Utilities. Private University Recruiting Berkeley Rejects

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The University of San Francisco has launched a $100,000 recruitment campaign, especially aimed at students rejected by the nearby University of California at Berkeley.

"Universities simply must become more aggressive in their marketing," said the Rev. John Lo Schiavo, head of the private Jesuit-run university. He said the campaign includes a month-long media blitz in 17 newspapers, one magazine and on five radio stations.

USF Director of Academic Affairs Eugene Muscat said the university saw a potential gold mine of new students among those rejected at UC Berkeley who might not want to leave the area to go to other UC campuses.

"If you have a high desire to go to school in the Bay Area, you have limited options," he said. Muscat said Tuesday that after 2½ weeks, almost 800 people have responded to the ads. Tuition at USF will be $6,450 next fall. Fees at UC for California residents will be $1,324 and tuition and fees for non-residents will be $5,140.

Payne Adds Gallagher To SCC Fold

Taking one more step to shore up his team's weakness at guard, Seminole Community College basketball coach Bill Payne signed Darius Gallagher to a scholarship this week.

Gallagher, a diminutive whiz out of the Spud Webb mold, was the leader of Edgewater's state-ranked squad this year. The 5-8, 110-pound speedster put together a spectacular senior year. He is the brother of former Raider David Gallagher, who played two years ago. David may also return to SCC, according to Payne.

Darius, meanwhile, became firmly entrenched in the Raider plans when he led coach John Edwards' cagers to the Oviedo Outlook Tournament title at SCC with a victory over Seminole. Gallagher, who can play point or shooting guard, was the tourney MVP.

He followed that up with another strong showing in the Kingdom of the Sun Holiday Classic at Ocala Vanguard where he made the elite 10-man all-tournament team. He was a shooin for All-Metro Conference and Rod Luck's All-Central Florida teams. Gallagher was an honorable mention choice on the AAAA All-State team.

Gallagher joins Lake Howell's Efram Brooks as the second Raider signee. Payne said he would love to add Sanford's Darryl Merthie to his list. The Lake Mary standout is deciding among SCC, Daytona Beach Community College and Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, where uncle Bernard will be a senior next year.

Two players that got away — Sanford's Willie Mitchell and Fred Miller — finished up with good season at Daytona Beach. Mitchell, a Seminole High grad, averaged 5.7 points and 6.7 boards per game. His high game was 18 against Indian River's 7-1 Kenny Roper. Miller, a Lake Mary alum, averaged 6.7 points and was eighth in the Mid-Florida Conference with a 57.2 shooting percentage. Fred's high was 17 against Florida Junior.

Payne, by the way, is in Lexington, Ky. for his annual trip to the Final Four. The third-year SCC coach is picking Georgetown to win it all. That's really going out on a limb, Bill.

I like Memphis State. The Tigers shouldn't have won their last three NCAA games but somehow they did. Georgia Tech, which has two pretty good big men in 7-0 John Bailey and 6-10 Yvon Joseph, gave Patrick Ewing and company all they wanted.

Memphis State's duo of 6-10 Keith Lee and 7-0 William Bedford is better. Most acute consider Ewing the top college cager. That's true with this modification. Ewing is the best "pro-type" college performer. His strengths — rebounding and shootblocking — dominate a physical game.

Lee, Oklahoma's Wayman Tisdale and St. John's sharpshooter Chris Mullin are the best "college-type" college players. All three have a great shooting touch, are good passers and play a finesse game.

If the Hoyas get past Mullin and St. John's and the Tigers whip Villanova Saturday, look for a classic duel Monday between Ewing and Lee. Memphis State is the last team to beat Georgetown in an NCAA tournament game. Two years ago, Lee scored 28 points and pulled down 15 boards to Ewing's 24 and nine.

Lee didn't have sophomore Bedford, who is a Ewing-type player, two years ago. Banksville Holmes gives the Tigers an impressive frontline, which will out rebound the Hoyas.

And, of course, little Andre Turner will throw in a jumper from 17 feet to win it in the closing seconds.

Lady Patriots Get It Together

Niki Burke, Brantley pinch runner, collides with Seminole's Shelly Sanders while scoring a run Thursday.

Hand Tribe 14-3 Loss

Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris says when his Lady Patriots play together they're hard to beat.

If the Lady Patriots had it together any more than they did Thursday afternoon, they could have qualified for Family Feud (that is if they could stand being subjected to Richard Dawson's lips).

Nine different players scored runs, six different drove in runs and five different Lady Patriots had two or more hits as Brantley destroyed Sanford's Lady Seminoles, 14-3, in Five Star Conference softball action at Sanford's Fort Mellon Field.

Lake Brantley, 6-8 overall, improved to 3-4 in the Five Star and moved into a tie for fifth place with Lake Mary, which dropped a 6-1 decision to Apopka. Seminole now stands at 2-4 in the conference and 4-9 overall.

"Anybody can win this district," Betris said. "Including us. We have a very strong team. It's just a matter of the kids all playing together."

The Lady Patriots turned in an impressive team effort Thursday with a 14-hit offensive attack and a strong defense that committed just one error.

Pitching was also a highlight for Lake Brantley as starter Kim Robinson gave up just six hits, struck out three and walked only one. Reliever Niki Burke came in and befuddled Seminole's hitters with her variety of spinning pitches. In two innings, Burke allowed no hits and struck out one.

Lake Brantley took advantage of two Seminole errors and a bases-loaded walk to take a 2-0 lead in the top of the first. With one out, Sherry "Ice" Asplen singled to left and both Laura Davis and Mandy Mathieson reached on Seminole errors to load the bases. Heather Meyer then coaxed a walk out of Jackie Suggs to force in Asplen and Davis scored on Michelle Brown's sacrifice fly.

Seminole answered with three runs on three hits in the bottom of the first with the big hit coming off the bat of Barbara "Taco" Silva. With one out, Sheri Peterson worked Robinson for a walk and Jackie Farr followed with a single to left. Silva then ripped a liner down the left field line which got by the outstretched glove of Dearia Jeffers for a three-run homer and a 3-2 Seminole lead.

After a scoreless second inning, Brantley regained the lead with two runs in the top of the third. Mathieson drew a walk to lead off and Heather Meyer doubled to left to put runners on second and third. Brown's fly ball to center scored pinch runner Denise Burke and Angie May followed with a sacrifice fly to left to chase home Meyer for a 4-3 lead and what turned out to be the winning run.

Seminole got two straight hits from Alycia "Pat" Dixon and Peterson to lead off the bottom of the third, but Robinson got the next three hitters out to end the threat. Seminole had just one hit and two baserunners the rest of the game.

Meanwhile, Brantley broke the game open with two runs in the fourth, five in the fifth, one in the sixth and two more in the seventh.

Key hits in the fourth included RBI singles by Wain and Asplen. Three of the runs in the fifth scored via errors while Asplen drove in one with a single and Wain picked up an RBI on a groundout. May's sacrifice fly brought in the run in the sixth after Michelle Brown almost went downtown with a triple and the two runs in the seventh came across on an error and a RBI single by Mathieson.

Wain and Asplen led the way for Brantley with three hits, two runs and two RBIs each. Brown was 2 for 3 with a pair of sacrifice flies and May also contributed two sacrifice flies. Davis, Mathieson and Wendi Jeffers added two hits each.

Defensively, Davis made several nice catches in left center while Brown turned in a strong game at shortstop.

For Seminole, Dixon, Peterson, Farr, Silva, Janet Hauck and Cindy Hogan had one hit each. The Lady Tribe also made 10 errors with six coming from four different third basemen.

Lady Hawks Drub Spruce Creek

Saunders Goes 4 For 4 In 20-1 Rout Of Conference Doormat

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH — There are a couple similarities between the Lake Howell and Spruce Creek softball teams. Both wear uniforms and both are nicknamed the Lady Hawks.

But that's as far as the parallel goes. Lake Howell's Lady Hawks hit, run, field and score while Spruce Creek would be having a good day by doing two of those things.

Lake Howell pounded out 16 hits, including a 4 for 4 performance by Beth Saunders. Thursday en route to a 20-1, five-inning drubbing of the Creek in Five Star Conference action at Sunnyland Field.

"Spruce Creek is very weak defensively," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "But it's a big conference win no matter who it is."

The Lady Hawks kept their half-game lead in the conference intact with the win. Lake Howell, 13-4 overall, is 6-0 in the Five Star while DeLand and Apopka are both 6-1. Apopka upended Lake Mary's Lady Rams, 6-1, Thursday. Spruce Creek fell to 1-6 in the Five Star and 4-7 overall.

Softball

Lake Howell had the win wrapped up before one complete inning of play Thursday. The Lady Silver Hawks scored seven times in the top of the first on four hits and five Spruce Creek errors.

Erin Hankins led off the game with a single and Chrissy Tibbitts reached on an error. Sandy Gillies followed with a single to drive in Hankins and Tibbitts scored when Eileen Thiebauth reached on an error. Gillies scored on Ava Gardner's sacrifice fly and Jaudon "Pee Wee" Jonas got on via an error to score "E.T."

Beth Saunders reached on another error and Alicia Dinkelacker followed with a double to drive in Jonas and Saunders. Tammy Lewis followed with a single and Dinkelacker scored the seventh run of the frame on an error.

Included in Saunders' 4 for 4 performance at the plate was a two-run homer, the senior outfielder's first round tripper of the season. Gardner was 3 for 3.

LADY BUCS TRIM LYMAN, 5-3

DAYTONA BEACH — A four-run fifth inning, boosted by three Lyman errors, lifted Mainland's Lady Bucs to a 5-3 victory over Lyman's Lady Greyhounds in Five Star Conference action Thursday at Mainland High.

Lyman had built a 3-0 lead after three innings, but five errors by the Lady Greyhounds the rest of the way enabled Mainland to comeback. The Lady Bucs improved to 5-2 in the conference and 7-4 overall. They are one and a half games behind frontrunning Lake Howell. Lyman now stands at 2-5 in the Five Star and 3-8 overall.

Lyman got on the board first with two runs in the top of the first. Mary Ryan drew a walk to leadoff, Valerie Price singled and Denise Stevens followed with a single to drive in Ryan. Price then scored on Lori Helms' sacrifice fly.

The Lady Greyhounds made 3-0 with a run in the top of the third when Price singled and scored on a double off the bat of Helms.

Livernois Regroups, Finds Errors Of Brantley's Ways

By Rob Laria
Special to the Herald

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Throughout this season Lake Brantley has had difficulties putting all the pieces together. When the hitting has been there, the defense hasn't and vice versa. And for the Patriots, Thursday night was a painful example of that dilemma, as visiting Lyman rode a porous Patriot defense to victory, 14-8, in Five Star Conference baseball.

Derek Livernois, despite not surviving the first inning, got the win, when he reentered the game in the second frame and settled down. Kevin Bass, hurt by five errors in an 11-run third inning, suffered the defeat.

Lyman, now 17-5 overall and 10-4 in the Five Star, will attempt to continue its winning ways Tuesday against Oviedo, while Lake Brantley will lick its wounds and wait to face Oviedo Thursday. The Patriots drop to 13-10 and 6-7 in the conference.

Lake Brantley, with its bats alive, assumed a 6-1 lead after two innings. After Lyman jumped on top 1-0, the Patriots got four in their half, thanks to a towering right-center field home run by shortstop Andy Dunn, a base-on-ball RBI by Bass, an RBI single by left fielder Dan Beaty, and a steal of home by catcher Mike Davis on an attempted suicide squeeze.

The fire-balling Livernois was chased following his third walk of the inning. He was replaced by Byron Overstreet. Overstreet could not hold down the Patriots in the second, as two singles followed by a triple by third baseman Mark Coffey, that scored Mike Beams and Tim Smith, gave Lake Brantley the 5-run cushion. During the inning Livernois went back to the mound for Overstreet.

However, while the offense for Lake Brantley did the job, the defense fell apart. Five errors plus four hits, a walk and a hit

IN BRIEF

5th Tulane Student Arrested In Alleged Point-Shaving Fix

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A fifth Tulane University student accused in a sports bribery scandal has posted $9,000 bond as prosecutors enlarge their probe into alleged point shaving by at least three members of the basketball team.

The three players, including NBA prospect John "Hot Rod" Williams, were booked Tuesday on preliminary charges of accepting drugs and cash supplied by a fourth student to fix the point spread in two Metro Conference games this season.

Two other players — who reportedly were granted immunity from prosecution — testified for nearly four hours Thursday to a grand jury probing the alleged gambling scam.

"I think we're getting some details now," Orleans Parish District Attorney Harry Connick said after the grand jury finished. "We're getting into some facts that may lead to more arrests."

Connick said the grand jury probably will reconvene next Thursday, and the investigation should be concluded in one or two more sessions.

The student who surrendered Thursday to Orleans Parish authorities, senior Mark Olenasky, was booked on two counts of bribery of sports participants, two counts of conspiracy to commit bribery of sports participants and one count of conspiracy to distribute cocaine.

Bellflower Hammers 2 Homers

Tony Bellflower is making up for lost time. The Oviedo sophomore third baseman was sidelined by a knee injury earlier this year but he's put that behind him and started to explode at the plate.

Bellflower ripped a pair of homers and drove in seven runs as the Oviedo Lions drilled Evans, 12-5, Wednesday at Evans High School.

The win was the third straight for coach Howard Mable's Lions and improved their overall mark to 7-13. Oviedo, 2-5 in the Orange Belt Conference, takes on Jones today at home at 4.

Along with Bellflower, Eric Shogren continued his lusty hitting as the senior center fielder ripped three hits to give him seven straight over the past two games.

Mable said Thursday that shortstop Dave Wood is no longer with the team. "He just got discouraged and decided to give it up a week ago," said Mable about the junior infielder.

Oviedo hosts Jones today at 4.

Cavs Make Believers Of Bulls

United Press International
It's taking a while, but the Cleveland Cavaliers are making believers out of the rest of the NBA. Thursday night, Chicago Bulls coach Kevin Loughery became the latest convert.

"This can't be the same team I read about last summer," Loughery said after his Bulls were defeated by Cleveland 122-114.

"They match up against people really well. Their bench outscored ours 36-13."

World B. Free led the Cavaliers with 32 points. He also contained Chicago's rookie sensation, Michael Jordan, in the third quarter when Cleveland broke away.

"When I was a rookie, (veteran Boston guard) Jo Jo White once ripped me apart," Free said. "He told me, 'Listen, kiddo, this is my turf.'"

"Well, I told the same thing to Michael Jordan tonight. When we're on our game, we're just unstoppable. We pushed Chicago around in the second half, and scored 37 points in the third quarter. It was great."

Elsewhere, Milwaukee defeated New York 121-116, the Los Angeles Clippers topped Phoenix 116-110 and Denver defeated Kansas City 133-115.

Bowersox Is Calling All Mutts

So you think you've got a championship pet dog at your house who is capable of beating the neighbor's pooch in a race, or better yet, running on a racetrack faster than the championship greyhounds who regularly work at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

Well, your opportunity is about to arrive as the 27th annual Mutt Dog Derby, co-sponsored by the SOKC and the Greater Orlando Jaxces, has been scheduled for Sunday as the SOKC continues through its 50th anniversary winter meet.

The annual "Mutt Dog Derby" is always on of the seasonal highlights at SOKC, the day when the youngsters — young and younger — can bring out their pets and show how they can compete in actual race surroundings.

The weight classifications, broken down in small, medium and large, are utilized for the racing, which has the dogs, hopefully, breaking from the 5-10ths of a mile starting box and "racing" down the homestretch towards the finish line and their awaiting owners some 250 feet away.

"I'll tell you, the Mutt Derby is always a lot of fun and laughs," said Bowersox. "Really and truly, you don't have any idea what these dogs are going to do once they get on the racetrack."

Ben White Races On Saturday

The Fifth Annual Ben White Matinee Racing Day will take place on Saturday, March 30, 1985 (April 6, if rain).

The Ben White Raceway, known as one of the finest harness racing training facilities in the country, is located on Lee Road at the North Orange Blossom Trail on Orlando. This program of twelve harness races with no parimutuel betting, starts at 1 p.m. Winners of the last 4 races will receive $1,500 purses from the Florida Breeders Association. The event is again sponsored by the Rotary Club of Winter Park West. Profits will be donated to the Edgewood Ranch and other local charities.

Tickets are $2 for adults, children under 12 are admitted free. Advance tickets sales are available at the Ben White Raceway office (293-8721) and at the Matinee Club. Tickets will be available at the gate on race day.

Matadors Prick Raiders, 6-2

ORLANDO — Pedro Gonzalez came on in the first inning and silenced Seminole Community College's bats the rest of the way as Valencia's Matadors claimed a 6-2 victory in Mid-Florida Conference action at Valencia CC.

BCC scored both its runs in the first off former Lake Brantley hurler Mark Cochran but Gonzalez stepped in an halted the Raiders' rally. Valencia answered with two runs in the bottom of the first and added a pair in the fourth and eighth frames.

Kenny Brown had two of the three hits for SCC while Mike Sawyer had a double. The Raiders now stand at 16-12 overall and 3-6 in the conference. Valencia improved to 22-11 overall and 3-6 in the conference.

Blake's Ladies Race Away With JV Meet

By Chris Pister

"I've taken my lumps in the past — now it's my time."

That was the reaction of Seminole High girls track coach Emory Blake as his team compiled 136 1/2 to destroy the rest of the field in the Seminole County Freshman-Sophomore Meet Thursday at Lake Howell High.

"That's the most points one of my teams has ever scored at any level," Blake said. "Anytime you've got a Dorchelle Webster and Shownda Martin you're going to score a lot of points."

Webster and Martin, a pair of freshmen, combined for 46 1/2 points and sophomore Sheila Crawford won two events. The Lady Tribe also won all three relays.

Lake Howell and Lake Mary finished in a tie for second place with 59 points each followed by Lyman at 53 1/2, Lake Brantley at 41 and Trinity Prep at 7. Oviedo did not score in the meet.

Martin won both the 880 run and the 440 and ran a personal best in the latter. Her time of 57.4 in the 440 was almost seven seconds better than the second place finisher. "I told her (Martin) not to run that hard," Blake said. "And she still ran her best time." Martin won the 880 with a fine time of 2:19.8. She also took second in the long jump, 15-11, and third in the high jump, 4-6.

Webster took seconds in the high jump (4-8) and mile run (5:28.6) and was sixth in the long jump (15-1/2).

Crawford nailed to first places in the 100 (11.8) and 200 (26.8). Other first places for the Lady Seminoles included Adrian Smith in the shot put (35-0) and Diane Mitchell in the discus (98-4).

Seminole's 440 relay team of Crawford, Tracy Johnson, Antonio Grooms and LaShon Cash blazed to a first place time of 51.3. The winning mile medley relay team (4:23) included Grooms, Cash, Viola Posey and Webster and the mile relay team of Martin, Jennifer Roberts, Posey and Webster closed out the scoring parade for the Seminoles with a time of 4:14.1.

Track/Field

Oneykey Berry and Tonya Lawson led the way for Lake Mary's Lady Rams as Berry took first in the long jump (18-8) and third in the 220 (27.7) and Lawson was second in the 220 (27.0), third in the long jump (15-10) and sixth in the discus (67-6).

Lake Howell's sophomore distance standout Lisa Samocki claimed first in both the mile (5:18.8) and the two mile (11:33). Also taking first for the Lady Hawks was Kim Hammontree in the high jump (5-0).

Leading the way for Lyman was Maybelle Bryant who took first in the 110 hurdles (17.5) and Tracy Fisher who was third in the two mile.

For Lake Brantley, Jenny Burrows won the 330 hurdles (49.2) and was second in the 100 dash (12.8). Barbara Pantuso took second in the 440 (64.0). Susan "Little Ice" Asplen leaped to fourth in the high jump (4-6) and Ashley Thomas was sixth in the 100 (13.4).

Sophomore Katie Sams scored all seven points for Trinity Prep's Lady Saints with a second place in the 880 (2:27.5) and a fifth in the mile (5:40).

SEMINOLE BOYS DOMINATE, TOO

Seminole High's boys team added the County Freshman-Sophomore title to its trophy case as it piled up 132 points compared to 70 for second place Lake Howell.

Eric Martin blazed to a pair of first places for the Tribe including a 51.4 in the 440 compared to 54.1 for the second place finisher, Lake Mary's Richard Burkett, and the speedy soph also won the 220 as he edged out Lake Howell's Craig Derrington, 22.8 to 22.8.

Also taking first for the 'Noles were Arthur Hersey in the 120 high hurdles (15.9), Larry Cooby in the mile (4:42.8), Mike Pearson in the 330 hurdles (42.6) and Jerry Parker in the 100 (10.6).

Lady Rams' 11 Place 2nd In Bartow Invitational

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

BARTOW — Lake Mary's Lady Rams took just 11 juniors and seniors to the Bartow Invitational Thursday night, but it was well worth the trip as they came home with second place in the meet.

Led by first place finished by the mile medley relay team and Jill Buddenhagen in the two mile, the Lady Rams came away with 44 points compared to 35 for third place Winter Haven and 28 for Haines City. Oak Ridge won going away with 109 points.

"We only took 11 people and got second," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "I'd say that was pretty good."

Along with the two first places, the Lady Rams had seasons best in nearly every event they entered Thursday.

The mile medley relay team, which won with a time of 4:25.9, included junior Jodie McCurdy (220 yards), junior Tanya Gordon (220), senior Sonja Walker (440) and senior Fran "Flash" Gordon anchored with the 880.

Buddenhagen, a senior, ran exactly the way Gibson had planned as she won the two mile with a season's best time of 11:52.9 compared to 11:58.7 for Edgewater's Susan Nunn. Bud-denhagen's time also broke the meet record of 11:54.4 set in 1982 by Lake Brantley's Ellen Stern.

The Lady Rams also took second in both the 440 and mile relays. The 440 relay team of Fran Gordon, Anquetette Whack, Walker and Tanya Gordon ran a season's best 51.3 while the mile relay team of McCurdy, Niki Hays, Walker and Fran Gordon turned in a 4:22.1.

Shogren Is Hot (.542) — Metz Is Not (.432)

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Eric Shogren is hot. Rod "C.J." Metz is not. That explains to changing of the guard for the top spot in batting average for the county players.

Shogren, Oviedo's fine center fielder, is taking a page from Metz' attack. The Lion senior has seven hits in his last seven at-bats, covering victories over Kissimmee Osceola and Evans. All told, Shogren is 26 for 48 for a .542 average. He picked up 70 points in one week.

Lake Mary's Metz, who had 11 straight hits to set a Florida high school record earlier this year, had just one hit in 13 at-bats. His average tumbled .102 points from .523 to .421.

Lyman's Paul Alegre capped a great week by boosting his average 58 points to .420. Alegre hit two homers and drove in nine runs. Alegre trails Mike Schmit by one RBI, 24-23.

Schmit hasn't played since Saturday due to mononucleosis. He leads in homers with six. Alegre and Andy Dunn, who ripped two roundtrippers Thursday night, are next with four HRs each.

Shogren wasn't the only Lion to roar. Oviedo has won three straight since Saturday and although coach Howard Mable's team won't win its fourth straight Orange Belt Conference title, it might snap its district jinx if the surge continues.

Mark Merchant swiped eight bases to increase his stolen base lead to 25. Shogren is next with 22. Alegre still leads in triples with three and Andy Dunn is tops in runs scored with 23.

Andy's brother, Brad, continued his excellence on the mound. Dunn ran his record to 8-0 with a shutout against Mainland. Anthony Lessaic, who picked up two wins for Lake Mary, is right behind at 7-0. Dunn's scoreless inning streak has now reached 21. He has shutouts in his last three starts and three carryover scoreless frames before that.

"Brad is throwing the ball much harder than earlier in the year," said Brantley catcher Mike Davis. "It's made his curve more effective. His control is a lot better, too."

batman resulted in a horror show for Lake Brantley, as 11 Greyhounds crossed the plate in the third inning.

During the inning there were miscues by all four infielders — excluding the pitcher and catcher — and the right fielder. The highlight of the uprising was a three-run blast over the left field fence by Mike Henley. When the smoke had cleared the scoreboard read 12-6.

"We played well except for one inning," said Lake Brantley Coach Gary Smith. "And we have been playing good for the past four games. But it seems we either hit well and play bad defense or play good defense and not hit. I do think, though, that we're starting to really hit the Mary. Greyhound coach Bob McCullough is still optimistic. "We hit the ball well, and our pitching is coming around again. I'm pleased," he said.

Lake Mary puts its 13-1 mark on the line at Apopka at 1 p.m. Saturday. DeLand, which plays Spruce Creek tonight, trails by two games with a 10-3 mark. Lyman and Apopka are both 10-4.

In one other Five Star Conference game Thursday, Lake Howell broke loose for 11 hits en route to a 14-4 victory over Seabreeze at City Island Park in Daytona Beach.

Red-hot Ed Taubensee ripped three hits while John Canfield and Mark Schnitzer punched two apiece. Each drove in a run and Schnitzer had a double. The Hawks made it easy for starter David Martin by scoring four runs in the first inning.

St. Augustine Grass Most Versatile In Florida

We all seem to be looking for the perfect grass — the super grass — for our lawns. And, that can be a difficult choice. If you're thinking of changing the type of grass in your established lawn, or are about to plant a new lawn, you may want to consider St. Augustine grass. Because of its versatility and adaptability, St. Augustine grass is the most widely planted lawngrass in Florida.

St. Augustine grass is a favorite for many reasons. It grows well on just about all types of soil, from pure sand to muck and marl. It will grow in moderate shade to full sun, produces a dense sod that withstands wear well, and when properly maintained, has an attractive deep green color. In short, St. Augustine grass produces a lawn of excellent appearance under a variety of conditions.

The most popular varieties are Bitter Blue, Floratam and Floratine. Bitter Blue has the dark green color most people prefer. Floratam is a vigorous type with good color, rather coarse textured, and is highly tolerant of Chinch bugs, the most serious pest of St. Augustine grasses. Floratine is finer-textured than Bitter Blue, and it tolerates closer mowing than most other varieties. This is a good time to start a new St. Augustine lawn. Before planting, you should work fertilizer and organic material, such as peat moss, into the soil to a depth of four to six inches. Use a 16-4-8, 10-10-10, or 6-6-6 analysis fertilizer, including minor elements. To be sure the soil pH is at the right level, have your soil tested. The Agricultural Center in Sanford provides this service for a small fee. Established St. Augustine lawns should be fertilized twice a year.

Seed is not available for St. Augustine grass, so you will have to use sod, plugs or sprigs to plant your lawn. Sodding is the quickest, but the most expensive. Plugs are smaller pieces cut from sod blocks. You plant them about a foot apart. Sprigs are just the separated, individual runners. These are planted end-to-end in rows six to 12 inches apart. With proper care, a plugged or sprigged lawn should cover in one season.

A newly planted St. Augustine lawn needs water every day for the first two to four weeks, and fertilizer every three to four months the first season. Of course, the lawn will need less care once it's established.

Maybe St. Augustine grass isn't for you. You do have a choice! The first runner-up is Bahia grass. It's a grass that produces a very durable sod which withstands heavy traffic, has fewer pest problems than other lawn grasses, tolerates drought, and grows well in sun or shade. But, it's not fault-free.

Bahia grass needs a fairly acid soil. The pH should be between 5.0 and 6.0. In alkaline soil, important minor elements are tied up in compounds that the grass can't use, and it will turn yellow.

Four Bahia grass varieties are available. Of the four, the Argentine variety is best for home lawns. Its dark green blades are long, narrow and closely spaced. So, it produces a dense sod with good color. The other three are pasture-type grasses not recommended for home lawns.

One of the good things about Bahia grass is that you sod it, or grow it from seed. Of course, seeding takes longer, but it's a lot easier and cheaper than using sod. It takes about 10 pounds of seed per thousand square feet of lawn area. Be sure you use scarified seed — seed that's been treated to speed up germination. From April to June is the best time to seed Bahia.

The fact that Bahia grass grows from seed can be a disadvantage. From May through November, the grass produces tall, ugly seed heads. They make it harder to mow the lawn. And, you'll need a heavy-duty rotary mower to cut this tough grass.

Of all the popular lawngrasses, Bahia tolerates insects and diseases the best. Bahia is plagued by mole crickets, though. These burrowing insects damage the roots and cause the grass to wilt. Caterpillars sometimes cause problems, too. Both are relatively easy to control with timely insecticide applications.

'Take your choice — St. Augustine grass or Bahia. These are the two best for our area. There are others, but they have so many problems that they are not worth growing.

Remember—St. Augustine for lush beauty and relative high maintenance, or for a low-maintenance lawn. Bahia may be just the grass for you.

Happy Gardening!

High Price For Lodging No Excuse For Taking Souvenirs

DEAR ABBY: My 17-year-old son and several of his buddies went on a skiing trip, after which I found two bath towels with the name of a motel on them.

I told him I couldn't believe that he would steal. He said he didn't consider that stealing — the owners of the motel were thieves because of the prices they charged.

I told him that nobody forced him to stay there, and in my eyes he was guilty of stealing.

Please print your opinion, Abby. He reads you faithfully.

towels from a motel doesn't wash.

Don't throw in the towels. Insist that your son send them back with an apology. (That's what my twin and I had to do when our father found some hotel "souvenirs," acquired after a football excursion to Sioux Falls, S.D., circa 1935.)

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 14 years. This is the second marriage for both of us.

My husband lies awake nights yearning for another woman. He actually tells me this! Although he told me that he went to bed with her only once, he won't tell me who she is. He says I know her. My hunch is that it's a woman at our club who boasts that she and her husband have an open marriage. I did not agree to an open marriage when I married this man.

When I found-out-my-first husband was the town stud, I divorced him.

My present husband insists that he wants to keep our marriage intact. He can't have it both ways. What do you think?

NOT WILLING TO SHARE

DEAR NOT WILLING: Your husband really knows how to hurt a woman. Why are you holding still for this abuse? You say he can't have it both ways. I say, apparently, he can. And has.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have retired to a wonderful community in a warm climate. We love people and have always been able to get along with our neighbors, but there is one couple who are making our lives miserable. He is very crude, swears, hogs the conversation and is an insufferable braggart! His wife is a non-stop talker and a terrible gossip. We have had to them in order to get out of going to their house, but we cannot keep them from coming to ours.

When we have company, they see the cars in our driveway and come over to join us and our guests. When they are around, no one can get a word in — he takes over the conversation in a loud voice, bragging about what he has, what he does and what he spends. Everything he has is better than anyone else's, and he gets into noisy arguments with our guests.

We have never met anyone like this couple. What can we do? We hate to insult them, but how else can we get these people out of our lives? They know who they are, but don't mention our name or town.

OUT OF PATIENCE

DEAR OUT: The next time they appear at the door while you're entertaining, say, "I'm sorry I can't invite you in now; we have company." And if they never speak to you again, what have you lost? Two overbearing, intrusive, obnoxious, insensitive neighbors.

State Loses Sentence Appeal In Murder Case

The 5th District Court of Appeal has upheld a Seminole circuit judge's order sentencing a woman to less than the recommended sentence for second-degree murder.

The State Attorney's office appealed Judge Dominick J. Salfi's decision in the case of Louise Rice, 56 of 308 E. 5th St., Sanford.

According to court records, Salfi sentenced Ms. Rice in May to 5 1/2 years for the shooting death of Don N. Atkins, 30 of 409 Palmetto Ave., Sanford. Ms. Rice was also ordered to serve 1 1/2 years probation and pay Atkins' funeral costs.

The sentence was far less than the recommended 10-year sentence and the prosecution appealed. The decision was issued earlier this month.

According to the court, Salfi departed from the recommended sentence because Ms. Rice's age and her lack of a prior criminal record. The justices wrote that the law says a judge with a valid reason can depart from the recommended sentence, giving a stiffer or less harsh penalty than recommended. They said the law provides for such sentencing departures particularly in split sentences involving prison time and probation.

"We find no abuse of the court's sentencing discretion in reducing the period of incarceration below that recommended by the guidelines," the court's ruling said.

Ms. Rice pleaded no contest on Jan. 19, 1984 to the Sept. 8, 1983 shooting death of Atkins.

According to court records, Ms. Rice confronted Atkins in his apartment and argued with him about some missing money from her home. She shot him once in the forehead after he got up and approached her. He died a week later at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

Marchers Protest Killer Road

FORT MYERS (UPI) — Carrying strongly-worded signs and white wooden crosses, 150 residents of East Fort Myers walked for their lives down State Road 80.

The one-mile march during rush-hour traffic Thursday was the latest attempt by Survivors of State Road 80, a perennial political pressure group, to draw attention to the highway's dangers.

The group's goal is simple: It wants the state to hasten a planned four-laning of the highway.

Current plans call for no major improvements until 1990.

IN BRIEF

Honduran Government On The Verge Of A Coup

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Legislators voted today to restructure the Supreme Court in open defiance of the president following a rift within the ruling party that brought out army troops to patrol the National Congress.

The 82 lawmakers, voting 50-29 with three abstentions, approved a six-article decree subjecting the court to congressional control and expelling five of nine Supreme Court justices, including Chief Justice Manuel Ariza Palomo — a presidential appointee.

"There is no coup under way," said a Western diplomat who asked not to be identified. But "it may be close." He described the situation as "a very serious crisis."

President Roberto Suazo Cordova condemned the decree in a nationwide radio broadcast after the vote, saying he had given the army instructions to maintain order and announcing the military had pledged to support his government.

Minister of the Presidency Hubodoro Ariaga said earlier if the crisis continued, Suazo Cordova could declare a state of siege. But the president stopped short of the move, saying only he had given orders to the army to maintain order.

Common Market Now 12

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — With toasts of sparkling Spanish wine, European ministers welcomed an agreement early today that will bring Spain and Portugal into the European Common Market, the world's largest trading bloc, by Jan. 1, 1986.

Spanish journalists broke into song as Italian Foreign Minister Giulio Andreotti, who led the tense negotiations, appeared with his Spanish counterpart, Fernando Moran, and Portuguese Finance Minister Ernani Rodriguez Lopes.

The six original members of the community — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — began the process of European integration in 1951. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973 and Greece in 1981. The community of 12 will have a population of nearly 320 million.

There were problems in the negotiations. Details were not immediately available, but the difficulties included the degree of access Spain's huge fishing fleet should be given to community waters, the amount of Iberian wine, fruit and vegetable exports and the freedom of Spanish and Portuguese workers to settle in other community countries.

With the technical details out of the way, the heads of government were free to deal with broader issues, including the difficulties of managing a larger community. But the chief item on their agenda was the concern over Europe's declining technological competitiveness against the United States and Japan.

Arms Negotiators Still At Odds

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators reached the halfway point in the first round of their superpower arms control talks apparently at odds on all major issues.

Statements have indicated the two superpowers were far apart in the three categories into which the talks have been divided: arms in space, strategic nuclear weapons and intermediate-range nuclear forces.

The talks began March 12 and the first round is scheduled to end April 23. The second round is expected to begin at the end of May after the sides receive fresh instructions from their governments.

The first two weeks saw four meetings between full delegations to organize the negotiations, the most ambitious and complicated ever undertaken by the two superpowers.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A record spring storm that dumped up to 4 feet of snow on the mountains of the West stranded truck drivers today along impassable roads, while record warmth allowed residents of the East to enjoy the pleasures of summer. Thunderstorms soaked the Great Lakes, prompting flood watches today in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania and a flood warning in western New York. More than 3 inches of rain Thursday washed one Indiana road with floods 3-feet deep. Four tornadoes struck Ohio Thursday night, including one that cut a 5-mile path through Ashland County, damaging houses and destroying two mobile homes, police said. Winds overturned trailers and caused injuries in Fort Wayne, Ind. Snow fell today from Utah and Arizona to the Plains, where blizzard conditions were expected in North Dakota. This week, up to 4 feet of snow has blanketed the higher elevations of Nevada and Utah, where 20.6 inches blasted Millard Thursday, the most in one day since records began being kept in 1906. Interstate 80, leading from California to Reno, Nev., was closed early today at the Donner Summit because of "multiple accidents," a spokesman for the Nevada Highway Patrol said. Hotels along the icy road said they were filled to capacity, thanks to stranded truck drivers. "Business is booming," said Wally Neenan, desk clerk at the Prospecter in Reno.

Police, Army Guard U.S. Embassy

Price Increases, Anti-American Sentiment Fuel Riots

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI) — Police and army units guarded the U.S. Embassy today after three days of anti-government and anti-American rioting sparked by increases in the prices of food, gasoline and other basic commodities.

The official Sudan News Agency said 300 people had been arrested in the violence which has left at least five people dead and scores of others injured.

The British Broadcasting Corp. said Thursday the rioting had spread to the eastern city of Port Sudan and the western towns of El Fasher and El Geneina. The Sudan News Agency said it had no reports of any disturbances outside the capital.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said reports had three people — two policemen and a taxi driver — killed Thursday when more than 2,000 demonstrators marched on the U.S. Embassy in downtown Khartoum before being dispersed by tear gas fired by troops.

The spokesman said "shooting incidents" had been reported near the embassy compound. There are about 50 American staff in Khartoum.

The violence erupted Tuesday at the Islamic University at Omdurman across the river from Khartoum and spread to the capital Wednesday only hours after President Jaafar Numeiry left for a U.S. visit.

Diplomats confirmed that two people were killed Wednesday when police opened fire to disperse rioting mobs in Khartoum's business district.

The Sudanese government has blamed the rioting on the Moslem Brotherhood, a fundamentalist Islamic sect which has close ties to Iran and Libya.

Two weeks ago Numeiry ordered the arrest of more than 160 of the sect's leaders after uncovering a coup attempt led by the Brotherhood. On Thursday police issued arrest warrants for 17 more Brotherhood members including People's Assembly Speaker Ali Osman Taha.

In Thursday's violence, diplomats and witnesses said more than 2,000 rioters looted shops, smashed windows and set fires to businesses in the downtown area before marching toward the heavily fortified American Embassy across the street from the main University of Khartoum campus.

Khartoum police and army troops dispersed the mob several hundred yards short of the embassy gates with a volley of tear gas.

A Marine guard said police and soldiers were sent by the government to beef up embassy security.

The demonstrators, described by the Sudan News Agency as "students, vagrants, tramps and saboteurs led by ideologists," carried placards denouncing the government, the United States, the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank for the price increases.

Gasoline has soared 66 percent to $2.50 per gallon and a bread roll has gone up from 5 cents to 8.5 cents.

The end of government food subsidies was part of an IMF-World Bank austerity program supported by the United States to revive Sudan's near bankrupt economy. The United States has suspended $194 million in development aid pending Sudan's implementation of the austerity program.

summer.

"This law will probably remain in effect until Seminole County feels comfortable with the amount of rainfall, until system improvements are completed or until there is a reduction in demand," Ms. Wright said.

Authorized improvements to the water system include:

- Drilling a fourth well and constructing an additional 300,000-gallon ground storage tank at the Consumers plant near Casselberry.
- Constructing an additional 400,000-gallon ground storage tank at the Indian Hills system, also near Casselberry.
- Drilling an additional well and 300,000-gallon ground storage tank at the Lynwood-Belair plant in the Bear Lake area.

Ms. Wright said the improvements at Consumers and at Indian Hills are expected to be completed by the end of November while the improvements at the Lynwood-Belair plant are expected to be completed by January, 1986.

Cost of the engineering services for the expansion by the Orlando consulting firm of Post, Buckley, Schuh & Jernigan total $51,500, Ms. Wright said.

Preliminary estimates show the improvements will cost between $750,000 and $1 million.

Mrs. Hastings, earlier this month, responding to a call from the St. Johns River Water Management District to conserve water, asked residents to voluntarily cut back on water consumption.

Water use in Seminole was up 40 to 50 percent during the first 15 days of March compared with the same time a year ago.

Compounding the problem, Mrs. Hastings said, was the low

Inc. and Beekman was president, Woodburn said. Both men will not be sentenced until the Turner case is decided in Superior Court, he said.

The indictments, handed down Wednesday, charge that Challenge Inc. sold motivational courses, consisting of tapes and lectures, to "investors" who recruited others to buy and sell the courses. The alleged activities occurred in Arizona in 1979 and 1980, according to Woodburn.

Turner was a consultant and lecturer for the company, which was registered in Nevada but headquartered at his "Village of Anything is Possible," on Bear Gulch Road, Goldenrod, said Chris Lindamood, of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, which participated in the three-year investigation of Challenge Inc.

The FBI said it had taken over the investigation because Carter allegedly took the girl across state lines.

On Wednesday, Safeway Stores and a Seattle-based missing persons organization reported that a 15-year-old Tacoma girl who had run away from home four months earlier was returned to her family because a woman in Montana spotted the girl's picture on a grocery bag.

conducted under heavy security with Briley inside his cell and his bride outside. The pair held hands through the bars as they repeated the vows they composed themselves.

"Many have tried to dissuade us from this love which we share," Briley said, "but succeeded in only making us more determined to make this our life's beginning. God has made for me no other than you."

The bride, who had proposed to Briley last year, responded: "I take thee, James Briley, to be my lawfully wedded husband because you are indelible in my blood and brain."

"For tomorrow, I will walk alone, but I will walk proudly as a woman. I will wear your love and your name, how beautiful your name and love becomes me."

Briley is scheduled for execution April 18 for the murders of Judy Barton, 23, and her son, Harvey, on Oct. 19, 1979. The Supreme Court rejected his latest appeal Monday.

His new wife, however, said the wedding strengthened her belief that Briley is innocent and plans to write a book charging Richmond authorities conspired to prosecute him.

Briley's mother was too ill to attend the wedding, and his 11-year-old daughter was denied permission by authorities.

Does Blushing Cool The Brain?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Frowns, smiles, blushes and other expressions may all be part of the body's complex way of keeping the brain's temperature under control, a Michigan psychologist says.

Many facial expressions formed automatically when strong emotions occur apparently regulate cerebral blood flow, which in turn influences the brain's indoor climate, said Robert B. Zajonc, a professor of psychology and social science at the University of Michigan.

Brain temperature may influence production of brain chemicals that further influence mood and brain function.

"Thus, many facial 'expressions' are not expressions at all, but physiological relief mechanisms 'no different from sneezing, coughing and yawning,'" Zajonc wrote in the journal Science, published today.

This would explain why some expressions are common to all cultures, he wrote.

Celebrated Painter Marc Chagall Dead At 97

By United Press International.

Artist Marc Chagall died Thursday at the age of 97, leaving a legacy that includes paintings and stained glassworks in such diverse buildings as Rheims Cathedral, the United Nations in New York and the Hadassah-Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

He was considered one of the 20th century's greatest colorists and was one of the last surviving artists of the celebrated school of Paris that included such modern art luminaries as Picasso, Matisse, Kandinsky and Modigliani.

"When (Henri) Matisse dies," Pablo Picasso once said, "Chagall will be the only painter left who understands what color really is."

Mystical colors, whimsical folk imagery and an irreverent disregard of perspective were the hallmarks of Chagall's style.

His paintings — from the early "I and My Village" in 1911 to the decorated ceiling of the Paris Opera in 1964 and the murals at New York's Metropolitan Opera in 1965 — blend the fairy tale with the real in an ordered melange of flying cows, green roosters, black moons and lovers turned upside down.

For the Russian-born artist, a painting was "a surface with representations of things — objects, animals, human beings — in a certain order in which logic and illustration have no importance."

Chagall was born July 7, 1887, in the small Russian town of Vitebsk to Zakhar, a laborer in a herring plant, and Ida Tchernine Chagall.

Although influenced by the cubists, surrealists, fauvists and expressionists, the fiercely independent Chagall refused alignment with any particular art movement.

Watch That First Step

For some, there's no thrill like stepping out into thin air at 10,000 feet. These people are called skydivers. Sometimes they are called crazy.

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

To soar freely and drift unencumbered through the clouds has always been the dream of the earthbound. For Superman it's no big deal. The rest of us might try a plane, a helicopter or even a balloon. But for a true free flight you've gotta jump.

When you take the big plunge from a plane into the wild blue yonder, betting your life a mess of colorful nylon canopy and strings will soften your landing, you're on your own, dropping like a rock for 75 seconds from 12,500 feet in free flight.

Within the first 12 seconds you reach a speed of about 120 miles per hour. You soar through birds' domain, a cool wind rushing past you. On a clear day the view is incredible. But you can't afford to totally drift away with it all, lest you wind up a crumpled heap in some farmer's field. You have to remember to pull the cord when the altimeter strapped to your chest reads 2,500 feet.

"You have a real sense of freedom. You're in total control of yourself when you're free falling through the air," said 23-year-old skydiver Sam Gibson.

"Of course when you open up your canopy, your parachute, you more or less fly it. You can go about where you want and do what you want to. It's a real high.

"This is an airgasm. That's what they call it," Gibson said. "You don't have a sensation of falling like on a roller coaster where the ground rushes at you. You're high enough up. The ground doesn't rush at you.

Porky's Rides Again

'Revenge' Has Enough Adolescent Raunch For Just About Anyone

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Since the original "Porky's" made its screen debut three years ago, the sexual hijinks of a Florida high school's faculty and students have been the standard for Hollywood raunch.

The plethora of teenage nude-sex romps that followed "Porky's" were measured against that landmark for gross-out.

"Porky's" did, after all, earn $140 million and influenced quick buck artists to vie for the teen box-office dollar with as much T and A, lewd dialogue and erotic material as the ratings allow.

Also, "Porky's II, The Next Day," failed as a sequel. One supposed moviegoer had seen the last of the randy kids of Angel High.

Wrong. Playing 1,230 theaters at this very moment is the second sequel, "Porky's Revenge," starring the same pack of aging teenagers and their long-suffering teachers.

But this third installment isn't as shocking as the original or as disgusting as the sequel. Copycat films have stolen and improved (if that's the right word) on the raunch.

Also, Bob Clark, who wrote and directed the first two "Porky's," was replaced by James Komack, making his movie debut after producing three hit TV series, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," "Welcome Back, Kotter" and "Chico and The Man."

'I went for more depth of character and more class this time. But there's still a swimming pool orgy. Only the girls trick the boys into going into the pool naked while they remain dressed. But we have our share of T and A, including a scene between one of the women school teachers and the school chaplain who get into some kinky sex while the kids look on.'

-'Porky's Revenge' director James Komack

All were classy shows by TV standards. So why did Komack, a former stand-up comedian decide to enter the movies by perpetuating "Porky's?"

The question answers itself. In its first three days of release, "Porky's Revenge" coined $6.2 million.

Also, "Porky's" is a going concern and a good entry into feature films for me. And raunchy as it is, it's still a good picture.

"They brought me in because Clark had run out of raunch, and so have I. I got to use a lot of wild stuff. But I couldn't do another sequel without getting an X rating which I don't want to do."

Komack spent four months in Florida shooting his picture with the original cast, Don Monahan, Wyatt Knight, Tony Ganio, Mark Herrier, Scott Colomby, Nancy Parsons and Chuck Mitchell along with some nubile newcomers.

Nudity and four-letter words are de rigeur in any "Porky's" epic and Komack did not back away from them in this film.

"I went for more depth of character and more class this time," he said.

"But there's still a swimming pool orgy. Only the girls trick the boys into going into the pool naked while they remain dressed. But we have our share of T and A, including a scene between one of the women school teachers and the school chaplain who get into some kinky sex while the kids look on.

"But we cut another nude scene involving Porky's daughter because it didn't work.

"You can't go too far with the young audience or they won't accept sex and nudity. You can't curry to the base side with bad language and nudity for its own sake.

"There is no simulation in these pictures. The young audience gets what they pay to see." Raunch.

...Skydiving

"It's more like you're standing in front of a big fan and you float. Even though you're falling it feels like you're floating," he said.

Gibson, a Seminole County sheriff's deputy who started skydiving about 18 months ago, said all neophyte skydivers are a bit nervous. "The first couple of times, because it's hard to tell your body, 'Okay, I'm going to jump out of this airplane,' because it's not natural to want to jump out of a perfectly good airplane."

But, he said, it's safer than scuba diving and "if you do what you're told and have respect for the sport, as long as you don't panic, you'll be alright."

Well ... most of the time. In 1983 there were 29 skydiver deaths out of 3 million jumps. Not a bad ratio, actually.

On the off chance your canopy doesn't open, which would probably mean you made a mistake in packing it in your rush to get ready for another jump, you have a reserve chute that will bring you safely down, Gibson said.

Beginners' chutes or rental chutes are packed by a licensed rigger, he said, but once you buy your own gear you'll pack your own and that takes only about 5 or 10 minutes.

You also carry a small knife to cut away your main parachute if you become tangled in its lines or if you cross lines with another skydiver, he said.

The possibility of a sudden, and messy, demise are no deterrent to the die-hard skydiver. Gibson, for example, tries to take to the skies every weekend to get in two or three jumps with the "Paragators" at the Eustis Airport on state Road 44-B, off state Road 441.

"What's nice about the sport is I can go out by myself and do my own thing or it can be very competitive. You can go out with three or four other people, hook up with each other and do different formations," he said.

You can pick up the basics of skydiving in an eight-hour instructional session that focuses on the design and workings of the parachute and how to handle packing and malfunctions. Including rental gear and your first jump, initial cost is $95.

On that first 3,000-foot plunge you will be secured by a safety static line hooked to the plane that automatically pulls your ripcord just after you've taken a flying leap, Gibson said.

You'll be required to make four more static line jumps before being allowed the freedom of an untethered leap, called a freefall. The total cost of the training session plus six jumps is $195, he said.

After that the price is based on how high you fly before the jump. The fee is about $1 per

A group of over-40 jumpers pile into a small airplane for the flight up to 10,000 feet or so where they'll take a flying leap

1,000 feet and you can jump from as low as 3,000 feet to a maximum of 12,500 feet, Gibson said. Chute rental is $7-10 in Eustis, $25 in DeLand.

Once you're hooked you'll probably want to buy your own gear and that will set you back about $400 for a helmet, altimeter, goggles and jumpsuit. Plus you'll probably want to start out with boots, although you can jump barefoot, Gibson said.

A square-canopy parachute with a reserve chute will cost from $1,500 to $5,000. The glider-like square chutes have for the most part replaced their round predecessor and are more easily controlled in flight and bring you in for an easier landing, Gibson said.

If you want to jump into the sport more quickly, Skydive DeLand at the DeLand Airport offers two different types of instruction with less emphasis on the basics.

For $90 you can take a tandem jump from 4,000 feet, hooked to an instructor who will pull your ripcord.

"You don't learn to jump with this," instructor Tom Piras said. "It's more of a test to see if you want to."

Or you can try the accelerated free fall training for $245. In that program, you get ground instruction and one jump. But you don't have to make any static line falls. You jump from 11,000 feet with two instructors, one holding you from each side by your arms.

After a 60-second free fall you pull the cord yourself and sail a square canopy, Piras said.

Once you're off student status and are licensed by the United States Parachute Association, diving fees are the same as the Paragators', Piras said.

To hang onto your license, Gibson said, you have to follow rules established by the Federal Aviation Authority, or "they'll pull your license and you can't jump."

You have to be at least 16 to skydive, but after that the sky's the limit depending on your physical condition. "You don't have to be a super athlete, just in moderately good condition. We don't allow super obese people to skydive," Piras said.

Piras, who has been world champion twice and has made 4,500 jumps, said what keeps him in the sport is "the thrill of the jump and the serenity of flying around seeing the world from above. Skydivers know why birds sing."

"It's as exhilarating as it is peaceful. There's nothing like it that gives me as much joy."

Gibson adds: "It's a personal challenge. When you skydive it instills confidence in your ability to overcome a basic fear of falling."

"I don't mind taking off in an airplane. I just don't like to land," he joked. "I figure there's nothing to taking off, but landing scares me. That's when you tend to crash and burn. I want to jump so I can land myself. I like to be in control."

CBS Investor Backed Helms Campaign

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — A New York investor who contributed to Sen. Jesse Helms' last re-election campaign reportedly bought $240 million worth of CBS stock, but spokesmen refused to say whether he backs Helms' attempt to take over the network.

Ivan F. Boesky and his wife, Seema, each contributed $2,000 to Helms' campaign last year, according to finance reports filed with the State Board of Elections.

The New York Times reported that Boesky had bought a $240 million block of CBS stock — 7 percent to 8 percent of the outstanding shares. In a national mailing this year, Helms urged his conservative followers to end what he called the liberal bias of CBS News by buying network stock and becoming "Dan Rather's boss."

A lawyer for Fairness in Media, the group formed to run the CBS takeover effort, has declined to say whether Boesky is part of the campaign.

"Delighted as we were to see Mr. Boesky, who obviously is a Helms supporter, had purchased a large block of CBS stock, we cannot comment on any relationship between Mr. Boesky and Fairness in Media since we have not disclosed to the Securities and Exchange Commission the identity of any third parties with whom we've been conducting discussions," lawyer James Cain said.

A spokesman for Boesky said, "He neither confirms nor denies that he has any CBS stock. As a result, your second question, whether he is working with Mr. Helms, is irrelevant."

According to records at the Federal Election Commission, Boesky also made political contributions to Democratic candidates, including Walter Mondale. A lawyer who has done business with Boesky described him as "an apolitical type."

"He's after money. He isn't after ideology. He is a careful and cagey character," the lawyer, who asked not to be named, told The News and Observer of Raleigh.

Actors Make Or Break Show

'Moonlighting' Is A Cuddly Show Without Cuddly Stars

By David Handler

If nothing else, "Moonlighting" answers the question I know had been on your mind for some time:

Q. Can Cybill Shepherd play comedy?
A. No.

Beyond that, there isn't much reason to watch "Moonlighting," the umpteenth cuddly, cutesy crime-stopper show to hit the airwaves recently (and there are many, many more to come).

This ABC mid-season entry got off to a rip-roaring start in the ratings as a glossy two-hour movie. But then it began to quietly slip; ABC recently announced it is putting the show on hiatus April 2. But a network executive expressed confidence in the show and odds are it will be back.

Still, one thing does interest me about "Moonlighting." Why did it falter when other shows that are just like it find audiences?

There really is no difference between it and "Scarecrow and Mrs. King" or "Remington Steele" or "Crazy Like a Fox" or half a dozen others. Same emphasis on personality and jokes. Same kooky, dumb, soft plots. Same tug of war between the leads.

What's the answer? I think it all comes around to casting. Network people, producers and writers can turn blue trying to find fresh series ideas, or failing that, fresh wrinkles on stale ideas. But I really don't think that matters much to audiences anymore. They've seen it all before.

They watch a show because of the performers. If they like the performers, they'll watch them in anything. If they don't like the performers, they won't watch them in anything. Hence the apparent failure of "Moonlighting." For all of its similarity to successful shows, this one differs in a key area — you dislike the lead performers. Intensely.

Miss Shepherd plays Maddie Hayes, who is lovely and elegant and — not unlike herself — a former top model. Maddie used to be the Blue Moon Shampoo girl. Now Maddie's cheeks are bouncing. Turns out her business managers ripped her off.

"I don't like being poor," she says. "Poor doesn't become me."

She has little left except for some tax write-offs, among them a struggling detective agency, which is run by a brash, obnoxious young fellow named David Addison. He is played by Bruce Willis, who may not be the worst actor ever cast as the male lead in a series, but he is the most irritating.

It's hate at first sight when Maddie drops by to tell him she's folding the agency.

"Knock that high-school locker room grin off your face," she huffs.

"You got your nose so high in the air it's snowing on your brains," he sneers.

Naturally, they go into the detective business together (though why Maddie doesn't just go get her own TV series I don't know). One silly plot after another ensues. Meanwhile, Addison sings, plays the harmonica, cracks wise, calls Maddie names and, most importantly, never stops talking. She pouts, flirts, stamps her foot and even actually screams "eek!"

Like Ali MacGraw, Cybill Shepherd still looks terrific but she still has the acting mannerisms of an ingenue, rather than a mature woman. Personally, I find it a painful thing to watch. "Moonlighting" is a cuddly show without cuddly stars. These days, that's a death sentence.

Bo And John Derek 'Razed' For Worst Movie

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bo and John Derek's "Bolero" was the unenviable runaway "winner" of the Golden Raspberry Awards, an annual spoof of the staid Academy Awards.

"Bolero" was branded in six out of 10 categories during the recent Oscar parody. It "lost" in only three categories, having not been nominated for "Worst Song." It did, however, pick up a "Razzie" for worst movie score, which is pretty close.

A mustachioed Brooke Shields got the worst supporting "actor" award for her efforts in "Sahara." Lynn-Holly Johnson was "razed" as the worst supporting actress for "Where the Boys Are '84." Sylvester Stallone got the top male award — worst actor — for his role in "Rhinestone," which was also cited for worst song, "Drinken Stein," words and music by Dolly Parton.

"Bolero," in which Miss Derek appears nude through much of the film, galloped off with the rest.

The Golden Raspberry Award Foundation — with its 150 film critics, publicists, filmmakers, students and ragtag moviegoers who average 50 pictures a year — picked "Bolero" as the worst movie among flicks with some name value and some pretention to artistic merit. Lesser efforts were not considered.

Derek won worst actress for her lead role in "Bolero." Her husband, John, was cited twice — for directing the picture and for writing the screenplay. Worst new actress Olivia D'Abbo won for her work both in "Bolero" and "Conan the Destroyer."

Notably absent among this year's worst actress nominees was Pia Zadora, a perennial favorite.

"Losing" to Bo for worst actress were Faye Dunaway for "Supergirl," Shirley MacLaine for "Cannonball Run II," and Tanya Roberts for "Sheena."
